MARSHALL, BUCHANAN AND LESSARD TAKEN INTO CABINET

Hon. W. T. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, Resigns, Owing to Ill-Health and Cabinet Changes Follow.

DUNCAN MARSHALL TO BE MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

W. A. Buchanan, M.P.P., For Lethbridge, and P. E. Lessard, M.P.P., For Pakena, Without Portfolio

By the official enactment of the Lieutenant Governor in Council this afternoon, a change in the cabinet representation of the province is to be made, which will doubtless prove of much interest to the Alberta electors.

Owing to continued ill health, the Hon. W. T. Finlay, M.P.P., for Medicine Hat, who has been minister of agriculture since the inauguration of the Alberta government, has handed in his resignation to the Premier and Duncan Marshall, M.P.P., for Olds, will be called to accept a position in cabinet as Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary.

Other cabinet appointments which will be made provide for the elevation of two legislature members to be ministers without portfolio. These members are W. A. Buchanan, M.P.P., for Lethbridge, and P. E. Lessard, M.P.P., for Pakena.

It is understood that at the next session of the Legislative Assembly legislation will be passed creating a portfolio for Mr. Buchanan. What this will be has not been announced by Premier Rutherford.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall, the new Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary, was born September 24th, 1879, on a hush farm in the township of Elderslie, in the County of Bruce, Ontario, and is consequently only three years older than his father, the late John Marshall, who was one of the pioneers of the township, and a character of whom it is said that he has contributed so much to the development of Canada. Industrious, thorough and careful he exacted the same rigorous discipline from his sons, who early in life were called upon to perform their part in clearing and developing their father's homestead, which in later years was regarded as one of the best cultivated farms in the township.

Mr. Marshall was educated in the public and high schools of his native province. Passing from the public school at the age of 14, he spent one year at the Walkerton High School and another year at the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, whence he was matriculated and granted a teacher's certificate. The next four years were spent in teaching and farming. It was at this period that Mr. Marshall first became identified with politics. The hard times of the early nineties spread disaffection and discontent among the farmers of Ontario, which expression through the Patrons of Industry. The ambitions of the "Patrons" as they were called, were sufficiently altruistic and their aims and methods of political reform sufficiently practical and necessary to enlist the sympathy of any young man, especially one of energetic spirit and eloquent address. Although he was only 16 years old, Mr. Marshall became the organizer of the Patrons of Industry movement and the real leader of the farmers' revolt in his native county against the fiscal and political conditions that prevailed at that time. He organized almost every "Patron" lodge in the electoral district of North Bruce, which was the first in Ontario to elect a "Patron" member to the Legislative Assembly in the by-election in 1893. In the provincial elections which followed, in June, 1894, Mr. Marshall placed himself at the disposal of the Grand Lodge of the "Patrons." His services were eagerly accepted. He was called to address meetings in at most every constituency in Western Ontario where a "Patron" candidate was contesting the seat and was generally regarded as one of the strongest exponents of the farmers' support of the Rutherford government and he was elected by a large majority in the provincial elections in March.

The new Minister of Agriculture is well and favorably known in Alberta, Saskatchewan and as well as it may be stated in this connection that he has delivered more speeches in more provinces of Canada than any other public man, whether chosen from the federal or provincial arenas. And further, possibly no young man in the Dominion is acquainted with and known to so many of the public men of this country as the subject of this sketch. There is not a constituency in the Dominion where he has not spoken and where his forceful eloquence and lucid discussion of public questions is not still remembered by political friends and opponents. His natural taste and thorough practical knowledge of farming, combined with an excellent business experience, speaks for him a successful career as the administrator of one of the most important departments of the executive government, and one that has the most direct bearing upon the welfare of the people.

Mr. Marshall returned to Ontario, spending the next three years in Toronto, where he was engaged on the news staff of the World and News, and as a traveling correspondent for the Weekly Sun, an independent farmers' paper established by the Patrons of Industry and controlled by Goldwin Smith.

In the spring of 1903 Mr. Marshall purchased the Thornbury Standard and Clarkeburg Reflector, merging the two papers into one. It was in the general elections which occurred in that year that he first became identified with the Liberal party and conducted a vigorous campaign on its behalf throughout the whole of Western Ontario. The policy of the Liberal party, as enunciated in their 1903 platform, which was practically the same in word and principle as that of the Patrons of Industry, attracted him to the standard of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, especially tariff reduction, the British preference and the land for the settlers, lectures which had been strongly emphasized in the "Patron" platform during the Ontario elections of 1894 and Dominion elections of 1896.

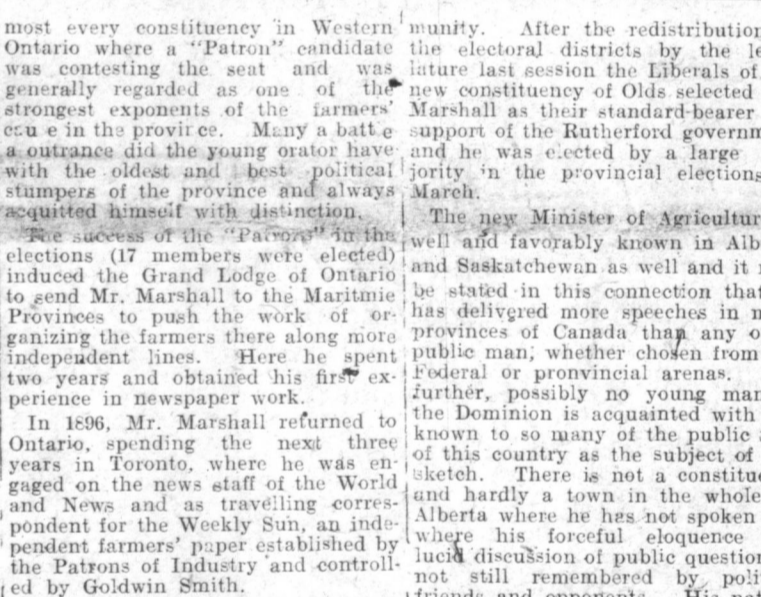

In October, 1903, Mr. Marshall sold his paper in Thornbury and moved to Muskoka, where he purchased the Bracebridge Gazette. In the following year the Liberals were looking for a strong candidate to contest Muskoka, which has always been hopelessly Conservative. The choice fell upon Duncan Marshall. Although his opponent had lived twenty-six years in the constituency and was one of its best known citizens, Mr. Marshall cut the usual Conservative majority in two and gave the party its first experience of a political fight.

In 1905 Mr. Marshall decided to come west. When Hon. Frank Oliver was appointed Minister of the Interior he became the manager of the Edmonton Daily Bulletin, which position he has since held. At the beginning of the present year he decided to go into farming, a determination that he has always entertained since the days spent on his father's farm in Ontario. Accordingly he purchased 300 acres in the vicinity of Olds, which has been named "Elderslie," after the name of his native township, and where he has already established a considerable herd of cattle and horses and intends to go in, not for fancy farming, but for practical and profitable agriculture.

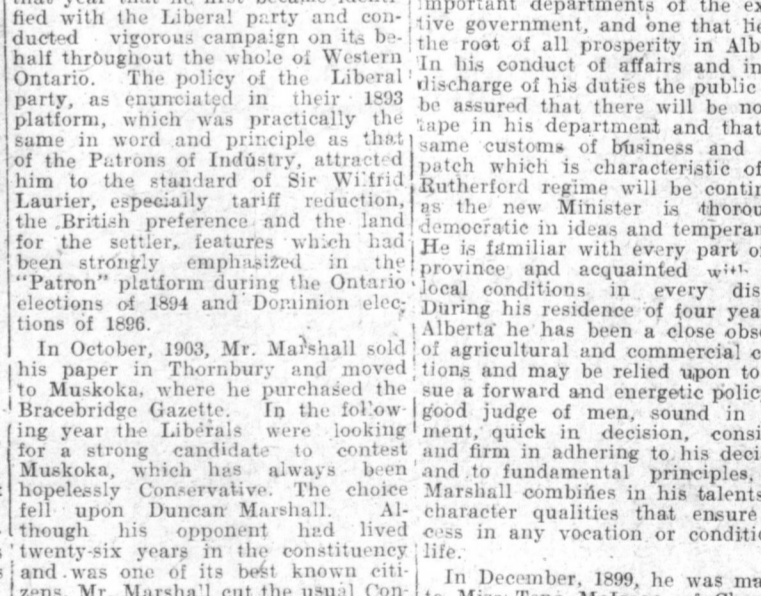

Since his coming to Alberta the new Minister has been one of the most prominent supporters of the Rutherford government in the province and has given valuable assistance to the Liberal party by public speech and counsel. It was impossible that any citizen with such a gift of speech, knowledge of political history, and a turn for public affairs should not soon be called to play a leading part in the commercial and political development of this young com-

SENTENCED TO BE HANGED DEC. 21ST

Mundare, Wife Murderer Will Pay the Full Penalty of His Horrible Crime.

Chief Justice Sifton this morning passed the death sentence on the Austrian, Zybly, found guilty of murdering his wife on Sunday, Sept. 12, at the home of his son near Mundare. Zybly was sentenced to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan on the twenty-first of December. The condemned man, 32 years of age and called neither read nor write. He came to Canada from Austria in 1907 with his wife and three children and settled on a homestead twelve miles from Mundare. He belongs to the Greek Catholic church.

The trial of S. Zybly arranged on a charge of wife murder before Chief Justice Sifton in the Supreme Court, was continued yesterday afternoon. Six witnesses were heard during the day. The first witness to take the stand in the box was John Zybly, the son of the accused, who lived about a mile from his parents and at whose home the alleged murder took place on Sunday, September 12. Answering the questions of E. B. Cogswell, the prosecuting attorney, through an Austrian interpreter, the witness said that his mother had come home on Thursday, September 9, having left her husband. The accused came on the same night to his home and he had seen his mother. He told him that she was in the house and refused to see him. He went away and came again on the 10th. He asked again for his wife and was told that she had gone away. He came in the evening and asked again. He was told she had not returned. He went inside the house, looked around and left to return on Saturday evening and again on Sunday. This time the father and mother and son and his wife were all together in the house. The accused asked his wife to go home with him, and she refused. He was afraid that she would be hurt if he did not go. He went away to help stack hay and did not receive word of the occurrence until the morning. When he came home he found his mother lying on the floor, smashed out about the face. He took her to Mundare in a hay-cart and left her at an hotel in charge of Dr. Field, of Vegreville.

Cross-examined by J. E. Clarke, counsel for the defence, the witness said that his mother was bigger than his father but not so strong. She was quite temperamental. The father had been drinking and was very angry. He was afraid to get along with her. The trial concluded this morning. Joseph Clark, counsel for the defence put in a strong plea for the verdict of manslaughter on the extenuating circumstances, but after an hour's deliberation the jury returned the unanimous verdict of guilty of murder.

Placed in the witness box, this morning the accused confessed that he had indicted the blows upon his wife which resulted in her death. Examined by Mr. Clark, he made the following statements in a broken voice, sobbing when he reached the story of his awful deed.

"What time on Sunday did you see your wife?"
"About two o'clock in the afternoon."
"What did you do when you saw her?"
"I wanted to know where my money was and my trunk and she wouldn't tell me."
"What happened then?"
"I am ashamed before these people to say. My son John put me out of doors."
"Where did you go then?"
"To Colax's place."
"What did you do there?"
"I asked him to come to John's and make her pay as it was a shame that she should steal the money."
"You then went out of doors?"
"Yes."
"While you were talking with her out of doors what happened?"
"She picked up an axe, split at me and went to strike me."
"What did you do?"
"I took the axe from her, struck her several times on the head and ran away."
"Where did you go?"
"To Maxin Ferris's."
"What did you do with the axe?"
"I don't know; I was frightened and don't remember what I did."
The charge of Chief Justice Sifton to the jury left little doubt what the verdict would be. The evidence said that the accused was of a clear and distinct nature. The jury would probably agree with him that only two verdicts were possible as shown by the evidence. The crime having been admitted, removed the question of accident or guilt. The question of insanity could not be raised as there was no affirmative evidence to support it. Unless the jury could come to the conclusion that there was sufficient proof for the eight distinct blows on the head of the deceased with the axe it was their duty to find the accused guilty of murder as charged.

HON. P. E. LESSARD, M.P.P. FOR PAKENA. Who Enters the Provincial Cabinet as Minister Without Portfolio.

"Did you see the accused on that day?"
"Yes."
"Where?"
"On the prairie."
"When?"
"I went to church and coming from the church I saw him on the prairie."
"What did he do?"
"He asked me to come to John's place with him."
"Did you go?"
"I did."
"What happened when you and the accused went into the house?"
"He asked his wife to come home. She said 'no' and he went out. He gave me my money. She replied I have none of yours. He threatened to get a policeman and have her up in court. She said she would sooner go to jail than live with him. He then beseeched her to come home. She said she would stay where she was."
"What time was this?"
"It was not watch out; it must have been 7 or 7:30 in the evening."
"When you left the house where did you go?"
"Towards home."
"Did you get home?"
"No."
"Why?"
"I heard John's wife shrieking."
"What did you do when you heard her yell?"
"I turned back."
"What did you do when you got back?"
"Ten yards from the house I saw a man running."
"Trial Concluded."

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1909.

The Toronto News admits though with little show of remorse, that "Janus, the two-faced god was probably a prophetic type of some "Canadian editor."

A venerable rhyme might with slight modifications be made to read: Cook and Peary set us thinking What a fine set this would be If these men had both got stranded Far up in the Northern Sea.

Their Lordships seem to have decided that there will be no battle of the budget after all. At least they have passed a bill for spending part of the money to be collected by the distasteful clauses; and a willingness to spend must be taken to denote a willingness to collect—that is, to contribute. Their Lordships must be credited with sagacity, also with good sense.

They have discovered that the humble burgher is not so much alarmed about their having to pay more taxes as he was about having his favorite bibery closed up. The discovery took time, but it came at last. Also, having made the discovery, they have the good judgment to acquiesce. They would sooner keep three-quarters of the unearned increment and the "privilege of over-hauling the crude bills sent up by the House of Commons than lose their status as part of the governmental machinery, suffer the gangs of a wounded pride, and perhaps have a vengeful House come back and take all the increment besides. In time they will no doubt come around to the conclusion that after all the budget proposals do not amount to so very much; that the Old Nobility will still be able to fitly celebrate the Christmas season; that they may even be able to distribute the customary alms among the needy about them, and to donate their annual subscriptions to the local football clubs; at least that the wild socialist innovations will not immediately extinguish order and order and send the State crashing through chaos down to oblivion.

FORSAKING THE TRADITIONS. Mr. Borden has consented to allow a party convention to be called. This is significant. It marks the elevation of the Toronto News to the position of chief newspaper counselor to Mr. Borden. Rather it is Mr. Borden's formal acknowledgement of the position occupied by the News for many months. For though that journal carries still the badge of independence its conduct has been conspicuously out of keeping with the token. It has given opposition a steady and vigorous support. It has alternately lauded Mr. Borden and admonished him to get drift from certain gentlemen who were no strength to him. It has attacked the Government from about every standpoint, on about every phase of policy and with probably every weapon that was offered.

By the Must Stand Trial. Toronto, October 18.—Notwithstanding the arguments of T. C. Robinson, K.C., that the mind of the people of the province of Ontario have been prejudiced against Walter By the, charged with the murder of his wife, it is the opinion of Justice Magee, who opened the criminal assizes court this afternoon, that twelve men could be found who would give the prisoner a fair trial.

ABSORBINE ON "TINKLE BOND." The owner of this horse is a friend of ABSORBINE, and reports as follows: "In regard to your ABSORBINE that I commenced to use in the Spring on my horse 'Tinkle Bond,' will say that his legs are as high now as ever. We are tracking him and he seems sound. We have worked him 50 days and he steps at present a mile in 2:30, the last eighth in 17 seconds with plenty of speed. I hope 'Tinkle Bond' and ABSORBINE will take the lead. I give your medicine all the credit."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS. Chicago, October 19.—After so long a time the farmers have almost made up their minds that the present level for cash wheat is not to be despised. Down at Kansas City and St. Louis there was sharp price losses, both markets suffering 1 to 2 cents and interior points in both Kansas and Nebraska reported the movement of winter wheat as much larger. Northern western cars were considerable excess of a year ago. Primary receipts reflected plainly the "motion" of the farmer and his willingness to let go of at least a portion of his

TUESDAY'S GRAIN MARKETS.

Winnipeg, October 19.—Wheat markets weakened in the face of extremely bearish figures from almost all parts of the world and though there were no startling breaks the tone of the market was heavy and export demand was very light. The decline in wheat, Winnipeg December, was only 1/4, but the close was at 94 cents and last Friday December sold freely for export at 97. A drop of 3 cents in three working days is a fairly significant factor. Other options showed relatively the same decline. Receipts for Monday were 577 cars, and as there was a large percentage offered for sale than has been the case for some time, it looks as if the farmers were beginning to sell more freely. Oats were moderately active on a decline of 1/2 to 3/4. Flax again advanced sharply, evidently there are still shorts unworked. The Chicago market was active and weaker, the drop for December being 1 1/2, May 1 1/2 and July 1/2. In Minneapolis the market was firmer than had been anticipated in the early hours, but fell off later and was dull and heavy with the close with December a further decline of 1/4 for December and 1/4 for May.

PITTSBURGH THE CHAMPIONS

Detroit, Oct. 16.—It's all over. The Pittsburgh National League team, not the Detroit Americans, are champions of the baseball world.

In Bennett Park this afternoon, Pittsburgh won the deciding game in the presence of 18,000 persons. It was not simply a defeat. It was a rout. The score was 8 to 0. Bravely did Detroit fight and fighting did she fall. Mullin, the Iron Man, and pride of Detroit, was humbled and fearfully. Yet they knew not why.

The afternoon had been raw and cheerless, but when the ninth inning opened with Detroit going to her death, the sun broke from behind the western clouds and for the first time in the whole afternoon the crowd rose at the coming of the sunlight, and cheered madly, tearfully and fearfully. Yet they knew not why.

The crowd cut loose in earnest when Umpire O'Loughlin announced that the Detroit Americans were out of the game. It was fully two minutes before the "Wild Bill" could start the game owing to the cheering. The crowd screamed as he got the first two strikes on Byrne but there was choking sounds from the mob as Byrne was hit by a pitched ball. Leach bunted and through a mix on signals there was no one to take Donovan's throw to second as the tossed Leach out at first. Byrne tried to steal and was out by Schmidt's throw.

Byrne and Moriarity came together so bitterly, however, that both rolled over, completely knocked out. The crowd carried from the field unconscious, while after ten minutes delay Moriarity resumed play. Leach taking third, Hyatt taking centre field and Abstein returned to first base for Pittsburgh. Clarke got a base on balls and stole second. Wagner walked. Miller forced Wagner at second. Bush to Delehanty on a close play. No runs.

Davy Jones gave Leach a high foul and Adams hit Bush. Cobb flew to Clarke. Gibson's beautiful throw to Miller got Bush at second and Adams got another great hand from the fans as he walked to the bench.

Abstein, who had broke into the game by the skin of his teeth, came first and got a base on balls. He had second, aided by Schmidt's head throw and took third by a mighty slide on Wilson's scratch infield hit. Moriarity wanted to fight because Abstein came in feet first.

Gibson flew to Bush and this time Abstein held third. Adams was a good water and walked. Hyatt lined to Crawford. Abstein scoring. Leach got a base on balls, hitting the bases. Clarke walked. Wilson scoring. Wagner flew to Cobb. Two runs and a few thousand Pittsburgh fans went insane.

Second, Detroit—Crawford out at first to Abstein. Moriarity ran so badly that after a fight, O'Leary was sent to second to run for him. Tom Jones, the other cripple, got a great hand, but he helped to Wagner. Schmidt trying to get out of the way of a wide pitch bumped into the ball with his bat and was out. Adams to first. No runs.

Third, Pittsburgh—Miller almost knocked down by a rifle shot which passed into middle field. Abstein doubled to left but a moment later Wilson's hit to short started for third forcing Miller to run. Miller started out, Bush to Schmidt. Abstein then lost his head and started back to third being out O'Leary to Bush, a great double made possible by dumb playing. Gibson forced Wilson at second. Bush to Delehanty. No runs.

Third, Detroit—A mighty yell went up from the mob as Mullin, the invincible, was trotted out by Jennings. He lined to Miller. Davy Jones sent the crowd wild by bunting and beating the throw. Bush was out, Adams to first. Cobb to Miller. Fourth, Pittsburgh—The crowd rose again and cheered Mullin for a full minute.

Fourth, Detroit—Crawford out at first to Abstein. Moriarity ran so badly that after a fight, O'Leary was sent to second to run for him. Tom Jones, the other cripple, got a great hand, but he helped to Wagner. Schmidt trying to get out of the way of a wide pitch bumped into the ball with his bat and was out. Adams to first. No runs.

Fourth, Pittsburgh—The crowd rose again and cheered Mullin for a full minute.

He went into the box. Adams and Davy Jones to the bleachers for his fly. Hyatt got a base on balls. Leach hit one over Bush's head. Bush went two feet in the air but could not reach it and it went for a single. Clarke sent both runners down by a beautiful sacrifice. Mullin to first and the crowd cheered as big Wagner came to bat. Wagner was given a base on balls, filling the bases. Clarke led "Dottie" Miller up to the trough. It was do or die. He did. The ball tore past Tom Jones like a cannon shot, scoring Hyatt and Leach. Wagner taking third, Miller, a moment later stole second with a throw. Abstein struck out. Two runs. And the few thousand Pittsburgh fans were speechless from rooting.

Fifth, Detroit—Mullin out. Leach to first; Leach making a wonderful running one hand break down of the ball and lightning throw at which even the Detroit rosters applauded. Davy Jones struck out. Bush out at first, Wagner to first. No runs.

Sixth, Pittsburgh—Hyatt out. Delehanty to Tom Jones. Leach into the centre field bleacher and two bases according to the ground rules. It would have been a home run but for the rule. Clarke walked once more and again came the mighty Wagner who hit the three bases, scoring Leach and Clarke ahead of him. The Dutchman never stopped running as Davy Jones' turn of the ball to third was had and Wagner scored. The three runs were too much for the Pittsburgh rosters who simply fell upon their chairs, like so many dead people. Miller more sent Crawford to the front for a fly. Abstein flew to Bush. Three runs.

Sixth, Detroit—Cobb out, Adams to first. Crawford flew to Clarke. Delehanty flew to Leach. No runs.

Seventh, Pittsburgh—Wilson flew to Davy Jones. Gibson doubled to middle. Adams out. O'Leary to Bush to first. Hyatt out. Delehanty to first. No runs.

Seventh, Detroit—O'Leary playing third fouled to Gibson. Tom Jones, out. Wagner to Miller. Wagner flew to Clarke. Delehanty flew to Leach. No runs.

Eighth, Pittsburgh—Leach out, Mullin to first. Clarke got a base on balls. Clarke stole second. Wagner flew to Crawford. Miller hit to middle, Clarke scoring. Crawford made a hard try getting the ball in his hands but dropped it. Abstein flew to Davy Jones. One run.

Eighth, Detroit—Davy Jones flew to Miller. Bush fouled to Wagner, a great running catch near the grand stand. Cobb fled to Clarke. No runs.

Ninth, Pittsburgh—Wilson flew to Crawford. Gibson hit to centre, the ball carrying off the shins of Bush. Adams got a wonderful hand as he came to bat and he sacrificed Gibson along to Tom Jones. Unassisted. Hyatt fouled to Schmidt. No runs.

Ninth, Detroit—Crawford out, Wagner to first, fast play by the Dutchman. Delehanty doubled into the crowd. O'Leary fouled to Leach. Tom Jones flew to Clarke. No runs.

Official attendance at game 17,562. National receipts for day $19,670. Total commission $1,967.70. Each club, $854.45.

A MAINSTAY FOR ALL MEN

All Breadwinners Who Find Health Declining Should Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Thousands of men throughout Canada are suffering today from a declining failure of strength without knowing that they are the victims of nervous exhaustion. The signs are plain. The sufferer cannot keep his mind on work, passes restless nights, grows against food and cannot digest it, feels exhausted after exertion, while headaches and fits of dizziness attend to his misery. These symptoms denote that the nervous system is weakened and insufficiently nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will promptly cure them because they enrich the impure weak blood and thus give new strength and tone to the exhausted nerves. No other medicine can do this so promptly and so surely.

Mr. W. H. Hipson, East Pubnico, N.S., says: "For a number of years I was troubled with violent headaches, when these spells came on the pain was so severe that I feared I would lose my mind. I would come on about once a week. I doctored for the trouble and did everything possible to get relief, but without success, and as time went on the attacks grew both in frequency and severity. The pain was terrible and with each attack seemed to grow worse. The only relief I could get was from a hot mustard foot bath, and the application of hot water and ammonia to my head. I would then have to be led to bed where I had to remain until the attack passed away. At this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my notice, and while I scarcely hoped they would cure me, I decided to try them. After taking a few boxes I found that the attacks were not so severe, and I joyfully continued taking the Pills until I had used ten boxes when every symptom of the trouble had passed away, and I was in better health than I had ever enjoyed before. It is several years since my cure was effected, and as I have not had a headache since I feel that the cure is permanent. This is a plain statement of my case, but no words can tell what my sufferings really were and I believe that but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would have been in my grave for longer, and doctors did not do me any good."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

When Children Are Injured! Children are always sustaining cuts, bruises, burns, etc., and not infrequently contract ringworm, scalp diseases, and similar skin troubles at a school. Mothers will find Zam-Buk without equal for all these accidents and diseases.

Mrs. Thomas Allen, 156 Water street, St. Mary's (Ont.), says: "My daughter, Mildred, 4 years old, was severely burned on the head, instead, on the third day. I at once applied some Zam-Buk, which eased the pain, and in the course of a few days the wounds were thoroughly healed."

Mr. George Aldridge, 12 Louise Street, Stratford, says: "While playing barefooted about the yard my son Bernard, 6 years old, stepped on a broken glass bottle, which cut very deep into his big toe. The cut was so deep that I sent for a doctor and had the foot properly dressed, the doctor leaving a lotion to be applied daily. Under the treatment, however, the wound seemed to get no better, but on the contrary inflammation set in. A kindly neighbour then recommended Zam-Buk. We obtained a supply, and after a few applications the child seemed to feel better, and the pain was very much reduced. In a few days, using the Zam-Buk treatment, the wound assumed a better appearance, and soon the inflammation was very rapid. Inflammation and soreness were finally completely banished, and in ten days from the first application of Zam-Buk, I felt sure that but for Zam-Buk the child would have had a very bad time, and might have had to sacrifice the toe."

Not only for cuts, bumps, bruises, etc., is Zam-Buk effective, but also for serious skin diseases such as ringworm, scabies, etc. It also cures poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad leg piles, festering sores, chapped hands, cold sores, frost-bite, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores everywhere sell it. 50c a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto; 3 boxes $1.25.

You are warned against harmful imitations sometimes represented as "just as good."

London, October 17.—Spanish anarchists in London are openly threatening the life of King Alfonso and boasting that they will not be permitted to live the year out.

Malateta and others of the more radical anarchists are actually inviting reporters to accompany them to secret meetings to listen to firebrand speeches. Some of them have shown reporters laboratories with newly devised bombs, where they hope to be able to take the lives of European monarchs. The outbreak of Ferrerism, which is convulsing the continent, reached England this afternoon and evening and London witnessed scenes duplicating those enacted in Paris and other European capitals. Following a demonstration in Trafalgar Square, 10,000 militant men rushed to the Spanish embassy in Grosvenor Gardens, by way of Whitechapel and Victoria streets, and succeeded in reaching it despite frequent charges of the police. The embassy, which was guarded by a strong force of police, escaped damage. Hand to hand fights occurred, missiles were thrown and sticks and umbrellas were used. A demonstration occurred outside Westminster Cathedral, where a Catholic priest was threatened. The police were unable to stop the rioters or keep them in check, and not a single arrest was made. Victor Grayson, the storm petrel of parliament, made a violent speech in Trafalgar Square this afternoon in which he announced the expulsion of the Spanish ambassador would be moved in the House of Commons on Monday. His speech is the strongest one delivered from any rostrum in England. He said the murder of Ferrer was a local outrage on cosmopolitan feeling.

"It means not only the death of one great worthy man, but was an insult to the intelligence of Europe," said he. "I believe the price of Ferrer's life will be paid long hence. If the heads of all the kings in Europe were torn from their trunks tomorrow it would not pay the price of Ferrer's life. Let us make no mistake. If all the heads were rolled in the dust tomorrow we would not have one like Ferrer's, who, by his acts as a loyal son, lost his life for the people of the world. If I had lived in Spain this last week I should have forgotten I ever attended a political meeting. Do the Spanish authorities think, or does Alfonso think, that the murder of Ferrer has killed the enlightenment of Spain. Calamity will follow. We have a responsibility here in London. Paris has been doing things. They are a number of spiritual champions there. In London we are small compared to them. If we had only a hundredth part of the spirit of our forefathers, there would be more done than passing resolutions. It is for us to say that the results of such a crime as has been committed in Spain, resolved through England, I will undertake to say that if the czar had been out of Britain, if we had but the spirit in his face, saying, 'Tyrants like you stink in our nostrils,' there would never have been this murder in Spain. When we find the population willing to acknowledge the presence of a dirty monster like the czar, then Alfonso would be a chip off the block of aristocratic tyranny. It is the duty of the Socialist party in parliament to demand that the Spanish ambassador should leave the shore. If he cannot walk away, we will move him."

NEW BRIDGE FINISHED.

The new east end bridge over Rat Creek at Kinnaird street, constructed at a cost of about $7,000, is about completed. There is no entrance to the bridge at the north end or at the south end and it has not yet been decided whether the bridge will be constructed this fall.

SEATTLE MEAT PACKER HERE.

Charles Bruhn, of Seattle, of the firm of Fry & Bruhn, proprietors of the largest meat packing plant on the Pacific coast, is in the city today, in company with Edwin Auld, along with whom he is interested in large real estate properties in this city. Mr. Bruhn has made a tour of the farming country around Edmonton and visited the J. Y. Griffin packing plant of which so much has been said among the meat trade at the coast. He was surprised to see the extent of the plant and did not wonder that the Edmonton concern is making a strong bid for the coast business.

ARE EDMONTON PEOPLE.

The men Demers and the two girls Gilbert and Sherman, mixed up in the shooting affair at Camrose, Saturday night by which John Thompson now lies in the hospital with a number of shots in his body, came from Edmonton several weeks ago. Demers now out on $2,000 bail pending hearing on Friday. Four young farmers, said to be under the influence of liquor visited the house which was one of ill-repute in North Camrose on Saturday evening. They started breaking windows. The shot which is thought to have been fired from the house was the result.

TOFIELD TO BATTLE RIVER.

George H. Webster, contractor for the first fifty miles of the Tofield to Calgary branch of the G.T.P., told the Bulletin today that he expects to have the grading completed as far as the Battle River and that the steel laying will probably be finished about as far as the lower of Camrose. Thirty-five miles of the grade takes it to the Battle River, and the entire out-of-the-ground work on the line is now working south of the Battle River in the Stettler direction. Mr. Webster said that the first week in July and August there was no assurance that the Alix survey would be the one chosen. The delegation asked the Premier that some effort be made to give the desired assurance and the Premier promised to see what could be done.

ALIX WANTS PARLOR.

W. F. Puffer, M.P.P. of Lacombe, introduced a delegation from Alix to Premier Rutherford at the government buildings yesterday to urge that the influence of the government be exerted to the end that the G.T.P. line from Tofield to Calgary run through Alix.

It was pointed out to the Premier that it had been the intention of the C.P.R. to run north from Cheadle to Alix, but that this plan had been changed and the C.P.R. did not run north of the Red Deer river. Several surveys of the G.T.P. had been made and one of these ran through Alix but there was no assurance that the Alix survey would be the one chosen. The delegation asked the Premier that some effort be made to give the desired assurance and the Premier promised to see what could be done.

MAILS TO THE NORTH.

The Post Office Department has arranged for a special mail service similar to that of last winter to Fort Resolution, Fort McPherson and intermediate points. Mail will leave Edmonton on November 22nd for Fort McMurray, or Fort McKay, Fort Chipewyan, Smith Landing, Fort Smith, Fort Resolution, Harewood, Fort Providence, Fort Simpson, Fort Wrigley, Fort Norman, Fort Good Hope, and Fort McPherson.

Gladstone Pioneer Dead.

Gladstone, October 19—John F. McQueen, one of Gladstone's pioneer merchants, of late years a farmer near Gladstone, died this morning. Three daughters at home, Eva at Alexander, and two sons, Gordon at Winnipeg and John at home survive. Flags are flying at half-mast on the business houses. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

A GREAT CONVENTION.

Reports from every part of Alberta go to show that there will be a large attendance at the big Sunday School Convention in Edmonton, Oct. 27, 28 and 29. All denominations are interested and will be well represented. General Secretary Kenny expects fully 40 persons to travel 300 miles, or over each way in order to be there. Marion Lawrence, General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association, and Paul E. O. Excell, of Chicago will assist. A choir of 300 voices and a host of the most prominent workers in Alberta will also take part. The committee is certain that much over 100 delegates will attend and single fare will thus be secured on C.N.R. and C.P.R.

CAR SHORTAGE IS FACT.

J. H. Thamer, Alberta representative of the Grain Growers' Grain Co., of Winnipeg, informed a Bulletin representative this morning that his company handled 1,000,000 acres of grain per week in the West in the month of September and that in the two weeks of October have handled nearly 1,200,000 bushels per week. "I have just come from Calgary," said Mr. Thamer, "where I found that the farmers along the line from Calgary to Macleod are taking every opportunity to contract for cars. The cars were idle and that there was no such thing as a car shortage in sight. That statement is entirely wrong. In the short distance from Gravelly to Claresholm, 500 cars are wanted at once for grain shipments and they cannot be had. While in Calgary, I called at the grain inspector's office and found that only eleven cars have been inspected more than last year at this date. This represents an increase of 12,000 bushels of grain. This would go to show that the C.P.R. is not moving the cars with any greater speed than last year."

DEATH OF C. R. W. BIGGAR.

Word reached the city Sunday of the sudden death of Charles Robert Webster Biggar, father of O. M. and Dr. J. L. Biggar, of this city. Mr. Biggar left his home in Toronto on Saturday to go to Hamilton, and at about eleven o'clock his body was picked up beside the G.T.P. tracks near Bronie street, about three miles from the city. The coroner decided that no inquest was necessary. It is believed that Mr. Biggar, who was subject to apoplexy, from which his father had died, felt an attack impending and sought relief in the freer air on the platform of the car, from which he fell.

The deceased, who was city solicitor of Toronto from 1908 to 1924, was in his 63rd year. He was a native of Murray, Ontario. He graduated from the University of Toronto in 1884 and was called to the bar in 1872, and was assistant to Hon. John Beverley Robinson, city solicitor, from 1872 to 1876 and his appointment to the city solicitorship in 1888. He was a member of several leading legal firms, and was the father-in-law of the late Sir Oliver Mowat, who predeceased him in 1908. He leaves six children, three sons and three daughters. He is survived by Mrs. C. F. Biggar, of the Bank of Commerce, Winnipeg; Mrs. C. C. Robinson, of Toronto; and Mrs. W. H. Biggar, Montreal, general solicitor of the G.T.P., and the Misses Maitland, Ottawa, are brothers.

TWO MEN INJURED.

The snapping of a cable Monday morning, resulted in the serious injury of two men employed on construction work at the new Parliament buildings. The accident occurred at 7:30 a.m. and had been commenced. A small gang of men under Robert Abram, the engineer, who has had charge of the line since the first of the work, was engaged in removing the heavy steel portals from the cars on the railroad track at the foot of the hill. The portals, of several tons weight, were to be swung by the steel crane on the river side of the bridge, eight feet. One end of a portal, had been placed on the bank and the other was being swung into position when a link of the chain which the hook burden was connected with the steel of the crane, gave way. The portal tumbled into the ditch and one of the beams struck Robt. Abram and Ernest Summers, who were standing by, breaking the leg of the former near the thigh, and hurling Summers over the track against the side of the hill, a distance of twenty feet or more.

The ambulance was summoned and the unfortunate men were removed to the Misericordia Hospital. It was feared at first that Summers' back had been broken by the fearful blow he received, but on examination Dr. Nicholls found the injury to be in the muscles only. An anesthetic was administered to Abram and the leg was successfully set by Dr. Nicholls. From latest accounts both men are resting easily.

IMMIGRATION HALL.

The majority those immigrants who are able to take up homesteads are now being located along the projected line of the C.N.R. west from Morinville. Next week W. J. Webster, immigration agent will make a personal inspection of the land lying in that direction to a point some distance beyond the Athabasca. Mr. Webster is anxious to be possessed of the most thorough information regarding the suitability of the land for cultivation by intending settlers. It is expected that there will be quite a rush of settlers to the north west early next spring. "We are annexing Germany," says Mr. Webster's epigrammatic way of conveying to the Bulletin an idea of the extent of German settlement here during the past few months. The number of German immigrants received at the hall has far exceeded that of the other nationalities and is

DO not be misled. The only kind of sound-reproducing machine that is perfect is the one that Edison invented and the one that Edison makes. It is the one with the smooth and perfect sapphire point, that doesn't require changing with each record and that doesn't scratch—two points alone that should influence your decision. Only in the Edison do you find the music-reproducing idea at its best. Don't take our word for it. Compare the Edison Phonograph with all other instruments side by side, on the same music, if possible, and then you will know better than we can tell you.
