CHAPTER V.

"Have you thought over the words that passed between us this afternoon, Blair?" he asked.

"Well—I'm afraid I haven't," he admitted, frankly.

The earl frowned.

"And yet they were important ones—especially those which referred to your future, Blair. We have not seen much of each other—perhaps wisely."

"I dare say," said Lord Blair, cheerfully. "People who can't agree are better apart, sir."

"But," continued the earl grimly, and not relishing the interruption, "but I would wish you to believe that I have your best interests at heart."

"Thank you, sir. I will take another glass of port."

"And in no surer way can these interests be promoted than by your marriage with Violet Graham."

Lord Blair frowned slightly, then he smiled.

"Pon my word, sir, I'm sorry to refuse you anything, especially after all your liberality; but it isn't to be done."

"Why not?" demanded the earl coldly.

Lord Blair hesitated, then he laughed grimly.

"Well, I suppose we can't hit it off; we don't care for each other."

The earl frowned.

"I have reason to believe that Violet would be willing—"

"Oh, it's all a mistake, sir!" broke in Lord Blair quickly. "Nothing of the kind! Violet doesn't care a straw for me! As to breaking her heart, as you said this afternoon, why—she laughed—she's the last girl in the world for that sort of thing! No, we thought we could manage it, but we found pretty soon that it wouldn't work, and so—and so—well, we just broke it off!"

"I can understand!" said the earl, grimly. "You wearied her with your disipation, and stung her by your neglect."

Lord Blair flushed.

"Put it so, if you like, sir," he said, thinking what a good thing it was that they did not see much of each other.

"And so lost the chance of restoring your ruined fortunes," said the earl. "Violet's fortune is a large one. I am one of the trustees, and can speak with authority. It is large enough to repair all the mischief your wild, spendthrift course has produced. And you have lost, not only the means of your salvation, but one of the best girls in England. Great Heaven!"—he spoke quite quietly—"how can a man be so great a fool, and so blind!"

At another time the young man might have retorted, but he had had a good dinner and two glasses of the wonderful port, and so he only laughed.

"I suppose I am a fool, sir," he said good-temperedly. "Perhaps it's part of my constitution. But don't let us quarrel. It isn't worth while."

"You are right. It isn't worth while," said the earl, sinking back in his chair. "After all, I ought to be thankful that Violet has escaped; but blood is thicker than—water and I have thought of you more than of her. But let it pass. You are bent on following the road you have set out upon, and not even she nor I can stay you. As to Ketton, you refuse to accept my offer—"

"Yes, sir," said Lord Blair, gently but firmly. "I shall mortgage Ketton. I can't take any more money from you. If we were—well, better friends, it would be different, but—it's a pity you can't touch this port! The best wine I ever tasted!"

The earl sat in silence for a few minutes, then he rose.

"Coffee will be served in the drawing-room," he said. "You will excuse me?"

"Oh, certainly," said Lord Blair, jumping up. "I don't care about the coffee, I will go out and get a cigar on the terrace. Perhaps I sha'n't see you again, sir, I started early in the morning. If I should not, I'll say good-bye," and he held out his hand.

The earl touched it with his thin white fingers.

"Good-bye," he said, and with a sigh he passed down the corridor to his own apartments.

Lord Blair took out his cigar-case and stepped through the open window on to the terrace.

"Yes, I'm on the road to ruin, as my uncle says," he mused, "and going along at a rattling good pace, too! Sha'n't be long before I reach the terminus, I expect. Hartwell gone, Parkfield gone, and now Ketton. I'm sorry about Ketton! But I'd rather pawn everything that's left than take any more money from him! Heigho! I wonder whether any of the fellows who are so thick now will cut me when I can't come up on setting day and my name's on the black list! And I could put it all right by marrying Violet Graham. Just by marrying Violet. But I can't do that. I suppose I am a fool, as the old gentleman politely remarked. It's wonderful that I'm the only man he is ever rude to. They say he is the pink of courtesy and politeness to the rest of the world. 'Courtly Ferrers,' they used to call him. Ah, well, what does it matter? All the same in a hundred years. I've had my fling, or nearly had it, and after me—"

Before he could conclude with "the deluge," a girl's voice rose softly and sweetly in the distance, and seemed to float in and harmonize with the

Ends Dry, Hoarse or Painful Coughs Quickly

A Simple, Home-Made Remedy. Inexpensive but Unequaled.

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant-tasting home-made cough syrup has caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It gives almost instant relief and will usually overcome the average cough in 24 hours.

Get 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any drug store, pour it into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This makes 16 ounces—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy at a cost of only 50 cents or less. You couldn't buy as much ready-made cough medicine for $2.50. Easily prepared and never spoils. Full directions with Pinex.

The promptness, certainty and ease with which this Pinex Syrup overcomes a bad cough, chest or throat cold is truly remarkable. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and soothes a painful cough in a hurry. With a persistent, loose cough it stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the annoying hacking.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, and is famous the world over for its splendid effect in bronchitis, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and winter cough.

To avoid disappointment in making this, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounce Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

rather melancholy strain of his musings; and yet the voice was blithe and joyous enough, too.

Lord Blair leaned over the stone rail of the balustrade and listened.

A spell fell upon the wild young man, and for a few minutes a strange feeling—was it of remorse for his wasted life—possessed him. Then there rose the desire to see the singer, and as such desires were far stronger in Lord Blair's breast than remorse, he moved quickly along the terrace in the direction of the voice. It did not occur to him that it might be Margaret Hale, and he experienced a sudden thrill of gratification as he saw the dove-colored dress shining, a soft patch of light against the shrubbery of the small garden.

At the same moment Margaret saw his shadowy cast upon the smooth lawn, and the song died on her lips.

He stopped short, and stood on top of the steps leading to the little garden, looking down at her.

"May I come?" he said quietly.

Margaret inclined her head gravely and rose. It was quite unnecessary to tell the Viscount Leyton that he was at liberty to step into a part of the garden that would belong to him some day.

"I'm awful unlucky, Miss Hale," he said, flinging his cigar away and coming up to the seat where she had been sitting. "This is the second time today I have disturbed you; and yesterday—oh, yesterday won't bear thinking of! You were singing, weren't you?"

"Yes, my lord," said Margaret gravely, for her grandmother's words had suddenly occurred to her, and she moved away.

"Are you going?" he said. "Now, I have driven you away! Please, don't go. I'll take myself off at once."

"I was going, my lord," said Margaret.

"Oh, come," he retorted pleadingly; "it's almost as wicked to tell stories as it is to fight; and you know you were sitting here comfortably enough until I intruded upon you."

His voice, his manner were irresistible, and produced a smile on Margaret's face.

"It is getting late," she said, "and Mrs. Hale may want me."

"I don't think she will. It isn't late," he looked at his watch—"I can't see. Your eyes are better than mine, I'll be bound. I've spilt them sitting up studying at night. Will you look? But upon this condition," he added, covering the face of the watch with his hand, "that if it isn't ten o'clock, you will stay a little while longer; of course I'll go—if you want me to!"

His eagerness was so palpable, almost so boyish, that Margaret could not repress a soft laugh. Rather gingerly she came back a step, and he held out his watch.

"It is half-past nine," she said.

"There you are, you see; it isn't late at all! Now, you stop out till ten, and I'll take myself off"—and with a nod he walked toward the steps, with Margaret's anticamassar shawl in his hand.

"My lord!" she said, in a tone of annoyance, for it seemed as if he had done it on purpose.

"Yes," he responded, turning back very promptly.

"Will you give me my anti-may shawl, please?"

"Er? Oh, of course, I beg your pardon," he said. "I took it up intending to ask you to put it on—nights are chilly sometimes. Here you are. Let me put it on for you."

"No, no, thank you," said Margaret, taking it from him.

"Well, it is warm," he said, looking up at the sky, and then quickly returning his gaze to her face. "It's a pity you can't paint this; but you artists get rather handicapped on these night scenes, don't you? Want a big moon and a waterfall, and all that kind of thing?"

Margaret smiled. Certainly, in matters pertaining to art he was a perfect savage.

"To-night could be painted, my lord," she said, just stopping to say it, then moving away again.

"You think so?" he said, displaying, with boyish ingenuousness, his desire to engage her in conversation. "Well I don't know much about it; rather out of my line, you know. But I like seeing pictures, and I think you must be awfully clever—"

"Thanks, my lord!" said Margaret, with admirable gravity. "But your avowed ignorance rather detracts from the value of your expressed approval, does it not?"

He looked at her.

"That's rather hot and peppery, isn't it?" he said, ruefully. "Look here, you know, if I'm not up in painting, I know a little of other things. There are three things you might put me through a regular exam. in, and I shouldn't come out badly."

"For instance, my lord?" said Margaret, dangerously interested—and slowly stopping.

"For instance. Well, I know a horse when I see it."

"Very few people take it for a cow," retorted Margaret.

He laughed.

"Oh, you know what I mean. Many flats take a screw for a horse, though. Well, I know what a horse is worth pretty well, and I know a good dog when I see him, and I can tell you the proper kind of fly for most of the rivers in England and Scotland; and I know the quickest and surest way of stalking a stag; and—I can play a decent hand at cards—that is, if it's not too late in the evening; and—and—" he paused and looked rather at a loss.

"Is that all, my lord?"

"That's—that's all. It seemed rather a long list, too, while I was running it over," he responded.

"And what use is your knowledge to you, my lord, unless you intend turning horse-dealer or gamekeeper—but perhaps you do."

He laughed.

"By George, you're hard upon me! Won't you sit down?" Insensibly, Margaret sank into the seat, and he dropped carelessly on to the arm.

"Well, I might do worse."

A "timhorn" duke might well have cursed, and nursed a sore and aching head, and vowed his treatment was unjust, and groused around till he was dead. But, smiling, Nicholas retired, and led his bunch of also-rans, a group of has-beens, worn and tired, to play before the bush league fans. ## Opening of the Legislature.

This afternoon His Excellency the Governor opens the Legislature. The text of his speech will be found appended. In the Legislative Council the Address in Reply will be moved by the Hon. A. P. Goodridge, and seconded by J. J. Murphy. In the House of Assembly, a similar motion will be in the hands of Mr. W. J. Walsh and Mr. J. S. Currie. Probably the part of the opening ceremony that will attract most attention will be the Hon. P. T. McGrath taking his seat as President of the Legislative Council. This is announced editorially by the chief Government organ in the oldest fashion, with an absolute absence of approval or comment. In place of this space is found for the views of Yorkick, which are anything but complimentary. This writer observes: "He (Mr. McGrath) has beaten all aspirants and secured the coveted prize. Why he was able to do so is of course best known to himself and to his cronies in the Executive and it is not for me to suggest that the appointment was either the best or most judicious that could be made. Public opinion, judged by the comments in the streets, in the clubs and elsewhere, rather resents it, as do most of the members of the Legislative Council."

The Government has made its bed and must lie on it. They have treated it as a political appointment, pure and simple, and on that ground it cannot be denied that Mr. McGrath's claim was superior to other legislative councillors. Apart from other matters, we cannot fail to recognize that the recipient of the honour is a fellow editor.
As to the speech itself the most gratifying feature is the announcement that the revenue has responded to the increased taxation of the past few sessions and gives grounds to the anticipation that by the end of the fiscal year the year's expenditure can be met. There is however the ominous warning that provision will have to be made for the increased obligations brought about by the war. Beyond the intimation that powers will be sought by the Government to enable them to deal with the "Tonnage difficulty, there is nothing foreshadowed by way of legislation but the Consolidation of the Statutes and the City Charter.

Governor's Speech.

Mr. President and Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council:
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly:
Since the last session of the Legislature the terrible struggle between the warring nations of Europe has continued to rage with unabated violence. The splendid traditions of the fighting forces of the Empire have been admirably upheld, and in conjunction with our Allies, substantial progress has been made towards achieving the result which is inspiring us all, the conclusion of a peace that will preserve the liberties of the world and the advancement of the nations along the pathways of enlightened civilization. The contingents from this country for military and naval service have, I am proud to say, conducted themselves with such gallantry and devotion to duty as to have won the highest praise from the responsible authorities, and the enthusiastic response made during the past year to the appeals for further recruits is, I am glad to say, likely to be continued on a similar scale during the present year.
At the beginning it was hoped and expected that the war would be short and the end attained without exceptional demands upon the manhood or resources of the Mother Country and the Oversea Dominions. Instead of that, however, the conflict is proving one which threatens the very existence of the British Empire and of the nations associated with her in the effort to maintain civil liberty and the rights of free states. Unexampled calls have been made on the Mother Land and the other portions of the Empire, and they have been nobly met. A measure of compulsory enlistment has been enforced in the British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have undertaken obligations proportionately great, and I have every confidence in the new invitation now being addressed to the young men of the Colony to do their part in the fighting line and to the test of our people to recognize what is required from those who remain at home, that there will be a response that will keep Newfoundland where she was at the outset, in the very first rank in proportion to her population and resources.
In view of the growing seriousness of the tonnage problem to the Colony as evidenced by some of its phases at present, measures will be introduced to invest my Ministers with further powers to enable them to deal with this matter in the general interests of the Colony.
The industrial operations of our people during the past year have been attended with highly satisfactory results. The high prices obtained for the staple products of the fisheries, forests and mines have enabled the working classes to enjoy a high degree of prosperity. This is all the more gratifying when we remember how the economic interests of every country have been disturbed by the far-reaching effects of the war and we have surely cause for thankfulness that here in Newfoundland we have suffered so little.
One of the lessons which this War has taught the peoples of the British Empire is the desirability of promoting inter-imperial trade, and we may not unreasonably hope that one of the results will be a very great increase in the demands for the products of our fisheries, and that the development of our forest and mineral resources will be even more actively undertaken than heretofore.

Bills will be submitted to you for the consolidation of the laws of the Colony, a work I have undertaken twenty-five years ago; for bringing up to date the Education Law; for bringing the law with regard to Weights and Measures into conformity with the standards existing in other countries; and to provide for the Municipal Government of the town of St. John's, as well as other measures.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly:
The accounts for the past fiscal year, and the Estimates for the coming one, will be submitted to you in due course, and I am sure that you will make suitable provision for the requirements of the Public Service, with special reference to the increased obligations which the War will impose on the Colony.

You will be glad to know that there is a very substantial increase in the revenue from all sources, encouraging the hope that, at the end of the fiscal year in June next, our receipts will suffice to meet the expenditure on current account. It is now apparent that the decrease in revenue for the last fiscal year of $720,000 was largely due to the reduction in imports, consequent on the uncertainties as to trade development during the first year of the War; but we may reasonably expect, seeing there has been such a marked recovery the present year, that there is no longer any reason to fear a return to the conditions of twelve months ago. On the contrary we may hope, as the months pass and the outlook for the Allied cause grows brighter, that this condition will reflect itself in still larger imports and more enhanced prosperity.

Mr. President and Honourable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council:
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly:

In accordance with the Act passed at the last session of the Legislature providing for the submission to the electors of the Colony of the question of the prohibition of the importation and manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors, an election was held in November last resulting in the number of votes polled in the affirmative being a majority of the total number of votes cast and amounting to over forty per cent. of the total number of votes on the register, as required under the Statute. Under these circumstances a Proclamation called for by the Statute will issue at an early date, prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors into or in this Colony, at any time after the first day of January, 1917, except as provided for in the said Act.
I commend the duties of the session to your assiduous care and pray that the guidance of Divine Providence be afforded you. The sentiments of profound loyalty expressed by the Colony and the practical manifestations of patriotism which have supported the same since the beginning of the war will, I feel sure, stimulate you all to the zealous performance of the session's tasks.

Marine Casualties.
News has been received at Port de Grave from the British Admiralty, that Alfred Andrews and John Charles Tucker, Royal Naval Reservists, of that town, both of them married men, are wounded, through the blowing up of the Auxiliary Cruiser Alcantara. Two men, Nathaniel Muggford and William Dawe, married, both Reservists from Port de Grave, are reported missing. There were at least two other Newfoundlanders on the Alcantara, but the Admiralty not permitting any information to be given to the press, we can only hope that the casualties are not more extensive. All four of these brave men were experienced seamen, and sailed with the first contingent in the Franconia.
That the missing may have been rescued and that the wounded may speedily recover, will be the hope and prayer of all. The wives, children and little ones in the old Conception Bay town will have sincere sympathy in their period of great anxiety.

Mr. Ernest Chafe, of St. John's, who was with the Stefansson Expedition Party a few years ago, where he was badly frostbitten, underwent a successful operation in Hospital at Vancouver, recently. MARKHAM SNUBBED

LONDON, Feb. 15.—Considerable resentment was expressed in the Commons yesterday in the attack on Asquith by Arthur Markham, Liberal, who said that Asquith was a professional politician. He quoted Asquith as saying that the Premier said he was at nothing to end the war, and the only thing he will stick to is salary. This brought loud disapproval from every quarter. House and also demands the withdrawal of the accusation. Mr. Markham then calmed the tumult and said incident to an end with the war. "The member's remark is utterly derogatory, but members will form their own judgment of its value."

DEMY SUBMARINE SUNK

BERLIN, Feb. 15.—Official investigation by the Navy has established the fact that the German submarine, Demy, was sunk by the Norwegian Silius, says the Overseas News.

BRITISH DEFEAT SEEN

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Secretary of War has issued the following announcement: "The force under Major General Gough yesterday occupied Sullium, a port on the Mediterranean coast of the Tripoli frontier, which was held by the British last year. The enemy on the 13th blew up the ammunition stores, and only offered a slight resistance. The retreating enemy was pursued by armed motor cars, cavalry and camel corps, and 25 prisoners, including three officers, three guns and many rounds of rifle ammunition, were captured. One hundred rifles were taken."

KITCHENER'S APPEAL REBRIED MEN.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—"I cordially endorse all that has done to obtain these men, but have not the slightest doubt that they are the best men in the world. In the meantime, we must have more men trained to meet the requirements of the war. Men who have attained to that level that even if we obtain a million men we are still short. Under the group system we have attempted to place a large number of marriages in the next few months. I earnestly appeal to married men who have attained to that level to consider the national cause before them without hesitation and to open it in his presence," shyly asked Claude.

Permanent

Sixteen Years Ago This

You might almost say that is only one actual cure that is Dr. Chase's Ointment. This conclusion is based on reports from persons who have used one thing and another, but have only to have the ointment, and finally to obtain use of this ointment. Why not avoid waste of money and needless operations by using Dr. Chase's Ointment? Some will say "that is for itching piles, but not for bleeding piles." Well, a letter from a man who has used it for twelve years, and most keenly. For sixteen years had no return of the old ailment. Mr. O. B. Peters, Salem, writes: "I was troubled with piles for about twelve years, and tried everything but failed. I could scarcely walk, though I tried many times."

Answering the Cynic.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON.

Some time ago the Wants-To-Be-Cynic took the floor and told women how they could be more efficient about their housework. One thing he complained of was the way in which the average woman rushed from one thing to another.

A most interesting letter in answer to the Cynic has been overlooked in a pigeon-hole. For the sake of the sex it so ably defends, I want to give it even at this late date.

"Yes, Mr. Cynic, we would save time if we didn't rush from one thing to another; but suppose, on her way to cellar or refrigerator, the doorbell rings, or the telephone, or the delivery boy comes in, is it any wonder if, by the time she has attended to any one or maybe all these demands upon her time and mind, she should have forgotten half of the things she started to get?"

"Can a man work in any place and have the child or children always around and asking questions? I say no, and write it with a big 'N'."

"You step into a bank or place of business—do you interrupt the cashier or business man? No, indeed; be you in ever so much of a hurry, you must wait until he is at liberty to attend to you. Not so the woman in her kitchen. Her good husband never thinks he is adding to her already overtaxed mind when he says, 'Be sure you take correctly the telephone call from Mr. W.—it's very important.'"

"I say with all reverence—God never permitted to live upon this beautiful earth—a more helpless creature than some men are.

"What the Minister's Wife Has to Do." "Let me cite one instance of many we know. I was standing in the vestibule of our church one Sunday morning when the wife of our pastor, a very brilliant man, came in, followed by her three small children. She usually had a quiet and serene face, but she now had an anxious expression on her face. I am so ashamed to be late, but we had editors last evening and I failed to do some of the many things I always do Saturday night. Mr. G. never can do one thing Sunday morning. I must lay out all his clothes, see that he takes his Bible and notes, that he has a clean handkerchief in every pocket, that his breakfast is on time, and get it too, get myself and three children ready for church, all under a nervous strain, for it annoys him if we are late."

"Was she an inefficient woman?" "I will let the Cynic answer."

Women Would Make Excellent Train Dispatchers. "A very good man once said, 'Women would make excellent train dispatchers.' The man to whom he was talking, said, with great astonishment, 'Why? The first man replied, 'Because they are able to attend to so many things at one time.'"

"What the man who said that died. He was lonesome!" "I am not asking that men give us the right to vote, but I do ask that they respect our endurance, perseverance and efficiency."

Side frills on spring blouses have returned. Navy blue voile is used over a foundation of silk in watermelon pink. Black tulle and black net are used for some of the best evening dresses.

Use "Cascarets" for Liver and Bowels When Constipated.

When bilious, headachy, sick, for sour stomach, bad breath, bad colds.

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret to-night to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, a bad cold, are bilious, nervous, disordered stomach, or have hiccups and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

"Here Am I, Send Me"

At a recruiting meeting, held at Harbor Grace last Thursday, this fine response came during Canon Noel's speech, as reported in the "Standard":

Rev. Canon Noel, who surpassed himself in his fatherly, forcible and practical presentation to the assembly, the young fit men in particular, of the great object of the meeting—to gain recruits. He carried the audience with him when he wound up by asking was there no young man present that would do what he would do but for the weight of over 70 years, and would represent him at the front. A prompt response came from the body of the hall when Mr. James Garland arose in his seat and offered to go as the Canon's substitute. "Here am I, send me!" Whereupon there arose a storm of applause, and Mr. Garland was invited to a seat on the platform.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district."

He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, more child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.15 A.M.

OCCUPY ISLAND OF MURTO.

LONDON, To-Day.—French troops have occupied the island of Murto, which lies north of Paxo Island, off the coast of Epirus.

MARKHAM SNUBBED.

LONDON, To-Day.—Considerable resentment was aroused in the Commons yesterday by a bitter attack on Asquith by Sir Arthur Markham, Liberal, who asserted that Asquith was a professional politician. He quoted Asquith's remarks that the Premier said he would stick at nothing to end the war, and added the only thing he will stick to is his salary. This brought loud cries of disapproval from every quarter of the House and also demands for a withdrawal of the accusation. The Speaker calmed the tumult and brought the incident to an end with the remark: "The member's remark is not disorderly, but members will form their own judgment of its value."

DENY SUBMARINE SUNK SILIUS.

BERLIN, To-Day.—Official investigation by the German Navy has established the fact that no German submarine was concerned in the sinking of the Norwegian bark Silius, says the Overseas News Agency.

BRITISH DEFEAT SENUSSI.

LONDON, To-Day.—The Secretary of War last night issued the following announcement: "A force under Major General Peyton yesterday occupied Sollum, an Egyptian port on the Mediterranean, near the Tripoli frontier, which was evacuated by the British last December. The enemy on the 13th blew up their ammunition stores, and on the 14th only offered a slight resistance. The retreating enemy was successfully pursued by armed motor cars and a cavalry and camel corps, with the result that 25 prisoners, including three officers, three guns and nine machine guns were captured. About 50 of the enemy, including three officers, were killed. Over a million rounds of rifle ammunition and nearly one hundred rifles were destroyed."

KITCHENER'S APPEAL TO MARRIED MEN.

LONDON, To-Day.—"I cordially endorse all Earl Derry has done to obtain these men, whom I have not the slightest doubt we shall finally bring in," Earl Kitchener said in addressing the House, "but this requires time. In the meantime we require men trained to meet the calculated requirements of war. Married men who have to place patriotism and duty even if we obtain all the millions of men we anticipated we could secure under the group system and the Military Service Act, we shall still require a large number of married men within the next few months. I therefore earnestly appeal to married men who have attested to place patriotism and the national cause before any personal consideration and come forward without hesitation and join the ranks. The position is an anxious one owing

Permanent Cure of Piles Certified By Minister

Sixteen Years Ago This Man Was Cured By Dr. Chase's Ointment—Had Suffered Keenly For Twelve Years.

You might almost say that there is only one actual cure for Piles, and that is Dr. Chase's Ointment. Every day this conclusion is corroborated by reports from persons who had tried one thing and another without success. Some have even been operated on, only to have the old trouble return, and finally to obtain cure by use of this ointment.

Why not avoid waste of time, waste of money and needless risk with operations by using Dr. Chase's Ointment at once? Some will say "that is all very well for itching Piles, but my trouble is from bleeding Piles." Well, here is a letter from a man who had bleeding Piles for twelve years and suffered most keenly. For sixteen years he has had no return of the old trouble, and naturally considers the cure permanent.

Mr. O. B. Peters, Salmon Arm, B.C., writes: "I was troubled with bleeding Piles for about twelve years and suffered everything but death. I was so bad I could scarcely walk about, and though I tried many things, could to the disappointing numbers which have joined for general service, but we shall not rest in this endeavour until we have secured all single men who cannot really be said to be indispensable to the national interest."

ATTACKED TURKISH POSITION.

LONDON, To-Day.—A British official communication concerning Mesopotamia operations received last night: General Lake reports March 10th information received that the Turks had occupied an advanced position on Tigris. A column sent before dawn of the 11th to turn the enemy out. Infantry assaulted the position and bayoneted a considerable number of Turks. The column then withdrew with two officers and fifteen men prisoners. There has been no further developments.

SMALL ENGAGEMENTS.

LONDON, To-Day.—A British official statement on the campaign in France and Belgium was received last night: Last night our troops carried out a small raid, south-east of Verlorenhook with satisfying results. To-day there has been artillery activity by both sides about Hulluch and Ypres. There was also considerable aerial activity and many combats took place. A determined attack on our reconnaissances was driven off. An hostile observation balloon was forced to descend when attacked with bombs.

NO FREE TRADE WITH GERMANY.

MANCHESTER, To-Day.—The election of directors of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce yesterday resulted in the return of eighteen out of twenty-two directors, who are definitely committed to the policy of no free trade with Germany after the war.

PURSuing VILLA.

SAN ANTONIO, To-Day.—Brigadier General Pershing with more than four thousand troops, began the pursuit in Mexico to-day, of Francisco Villa, whose raid across the border last week caused President Wilson and his Cabinet to decide to use the United States army to run him down.

DUTCH PASSENGER STEAMER TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-Day.—A despatch from Hook of Holland, says that a wireless message has been received there stating that the Jig-dutch, a passenger steamer, Tubantia, outward bound from Amsterdam to River Plate, has been torpedoed, and is in a sinking condition near Moord-hint lightship. All passengers have been taken off in boats.

GOOD NEWS FROM RUSSIANS.

LONDON, To-Day.—Advices from Petrograd describe the remarkable progress in Persia of the Russian troops who are moving swiftly over difficult roads in face of considerable opposition towards the Mesopotamia front, where shortly they expect to be in touch with the British forces at Kut-el-amara and the relieving column under Generals Lake and Aylmer. The Russians are now said to be within 50 miles of the last difficulty, which will place them in the rear of the Turkish Bagdad army, and their object is to cut the railway north of there preventing the Turkish army from receiving supplies and to co-operate with the British against Bagdad. In their advance against the Turks along the Black Sea littoral to ward Trabzon the Russians captured additional Turkish officers and men and two machine guns. The British column attacked an advanced position

Northern Sealing Fleet in the Fat.

Prospects Bright -- More than All Last Year's Catch Accounted For -- Neptune has a half Load Killed.

It now looks as if we are going to have a successful seal fishery and that quick trips will be made, as the appended wireless messages from the front show a fact that the whole country will be delighted to hear. So far there are 52,000 seals accounted for and with the exception of the 5,000 that the Diana is reported for, all the rest are reported from six ships on the northern sealing. The ships struck the seals early and at the opening of killing time, as all the seals slaughtered and panned are reported for yesterday's work, but it is also evident from Capt. Kean's message that the main body of seals have not yet been struck and that the steamers are in the southern patch. An unfortunate circumstance is that the equinoctial gale or more commonly known as "Sheelah's Brush" is approaching according to the Toronto forecast, and our Marine and Fisheries Department have been ordered to put a storm signal up, indicating the probability of a N.E. gale with snow. It is hoped that the Toronto man will be disappointed in his predictions.

St. Pierre Bulletin.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

Official, Midnight, 15th.—In Belgium there was a successful bombardment of German trenches in the district of Hetsas and Langemark and also north of the Aisne. In Champagne an attack against German positions south of Salsouplet enabled us to capture a German trench and 99 prisoners. West of the Meuse, cannonading was considerably decreased during the day on the Bethancourt-Cumieres front, where no infantry engagement occurred; on the right bank it was rather active. In Vaux Damoupy a truce there was a few engagements with grenades by our advance troops of eastern slopes of Vaux fort favorable. In Woivreux our artillery was very active, shelling the German lines and dispersing convoys and causing heavy explosions in the German batteries.

"Winsor's in the Fat."

Hear the joyful tidings. The stuff which makes the "plunks." There's good news from the "swilers." A few miles from the Funks. Here's to the "bone and sinew." The men of gall and hardihood. The town is in commotion. For Winsor's in the fat.

The news is in at Bowring's. And Eric wears a smile, I know he feels delighted. Since "Sam Bob" has "struck oil," "Jack" Mun is feeling cheery. And open for a chat, And all the clerks are merry. Since Winsor's in the fat.

And now the sealing prophet. Is busy as we know. He is found at every corner. He says "I told you so." The spring he was with Jackman. That's where he struck the fat. Oh, everyone feels happy. For Winsor's in the fat.

Now knives are getting sharpened. Upon the stone and steel. And skimmers are preparing. To "strip" the precious seal. We smell the toothsome slipper. In fancy, as we chat. Upon the coming prospects. Since Winsor's in the fat.

Good luck to you, "Sam" Winsor. Our hearts you've raised to-day; There's many smiling faces Down in Bonavista Bay; And good luck to the Bowring's. For they deserve it all that. We're chatty and we're happy. For Winsor's in the fat.

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas.—“After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's sister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go.”—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

If you are suffering from any form of female ill, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and commence the treatment without delay.

One of the best St. Patrick's Day shows you ever witnessed will be at the Crescent Picture Palace to-morrow. "Arrah-na-Pogue" a special Irish feature in 3 reels is the headliner; there will also be a Ham and Bud Comedy. Lloyd V. Hamilton and Bud Duncan are a gale of fun in "A Flashlight Flivver." Mr. Dave Paris sings two splendid Irish Ballads: "Aurachna MacChree" and "For Freedom and Ireland." A special programme of Irish music is being prepared to accompany this big show. Afternoon sessions, at 2 o'clock; night, at 7 o'clock; no extra charge, usual price, 5 cents. Don't miss seeing "The Confession of Madame Barastor" to-day, the great three reel Russian Military drama.

BRITISH THEATRE.

The tenth episode of the Black Box, entitled the "Ship of Horror," proved one of the most gripping productions of the whole series. The elusive Craig manages to fool his pursuers again, and Quest has another close shave from death. The acting and serial effects are both of a high standard of excellence and evoked much praise from the large audiences. "The Girl of the Secret Service," with Grace Curd in the title role, was also a good lively production and contained many exciting situations. The whole programme was most excellent and should be seen to be appreciated. On St. Patrick's Day a right royal programme will be run which will include a two-reel comedy in which the famous Billie Ritchie will be featured. There will also be special music and Mr. McCarthy will sing one of his popular Irish songs.

War News.

Messages Received Previous to 9 A.M.

FRENCH RECOVER TRENCHES.

PARIS, March 15. The Germans last night made no further aggressive movement to the west of the River Meuse, according to an announcement made this afternoon by the French War Office. French counter-attacks between Bethancourt and Cumieres resulted in the re-occupation of certain trenches captured by the Germans yesterday. French troops still hold the heights of Mort Homme. Artillery exchanges have been active between Bethancourt and Cumieres, but elsewhere the night passed with relative quiet.

GERMANY AND PEACE.

NEW YORK, March 15. A News Agency despatch from Paris to-day says: That the desire for peace is rapidly increasing throughout Germany, was the information brought to Paris to-day by Dr. Sidonio Paes, former Portuguese Minister to Germany, who was recalled when Germany declared war on Portugal. The spirits of the people are dropping rapidly, said Dr. Paes. The economic conditions are very bad. The recent issue of potato cards shows the desperate food situation. Prussia is hardest hit of all the German States. The situation there is positively painful.

SITUATION AT VERDUN SATISFACTORY.

PARIS, March 15. General De La Croix, military critic of the Temps, concludes a technical review of the battle of Verdun thus: One may presume that the third phase of the battle has begun. We will have again to overcome severe attacks, but my humble opinion is that the German offensive will not succeed. We have ample means to repel it, and the Allies will, when their hour comes, take a liberating offensive. Deputies Lauraine and Pate, sent to Verdun by the military committee of the Chamber to report on the supply services, declare that the work of provisioning the men and bringing up munitions is going on satisfactorily, owing to the greatly enlarged automobile truck service which compensates for insufficient railway extension.

GERMANY PLAYING THE ALLIES' GAME.

NEW YORK, March 15. Germany is playing the Allies' game by continuing her offensive at Verdun, according to J. E. Braithwaite, shipowner, of London, who arrived here to-day on the Baltic. Reports from the front, said Mr. Braithwaite to the Evening Post, are all to the effect that the war will be over soon, anyway before another winter. In about six weeks the weather will be such that the Russians can resume their offensive. The same applies to the Allies. In the meantime, Germany is playing our game, playing it pertinaciously by her attack on Verdun. Her losses are becoming tremendous. She cannot hold out much longer at the pace she is going. As long as she continues her offensive we shall be satisfied, as the attacking party always suffers greater losses, but if her attack slackens, the Allies will take the offensive in turn, as they are determined that the war shall be prosecuted to a successful end as soon as possible, and not drag through the policy of digging soldiers in.

KITCHENER APPEALS FOR MEN.

LONDON, March 15. Speaking on recruiting in the Lords this afternoon, Secretary of War Kitchener earnestly appealed to married men to come forward and join the ranks. The position is an anxious one, he said, owing to the disappointing numbers that have joined for general service.

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ.

NEW YORK, March 15. Information reached New York from Berlin to-day, that Admiral Von Tirpitz, German Minister of Marine, either has resigned or is upon the point of resigning. The Evening Post so announced this afternoon.

POSTED AS OVERDUE.

LONDON, March 15. The Japanese steamer Hokoku Maru, posted at Lydis as overdue, left Portland, Oregon, on November 8th for the United Kingdom ports. She was last reported as leaving Singapore on Dec. 20.

Your Boys and Girls.

"Let not the sun go down on your anger" is one of the firm beliefs a fond mother has impressed on her little ones. From babyhood her little folks have been encouraged to settle each day's accounts before bedtime and then sink quietly into refreshing sleep.

Indeed, so fixed has this teaching become in their childish minds that it is extremely easy to forgive the playmates who have wronged them. In cases where other children impose upon them they are urged to let them alone, but in the little petty cares of the child world the slate is wiped clean every night.

By all means teach the boys and girls that it is noble and just and kind to forgive. They may be imposed upon occasionally by other children, but that is nothing compared with a clean record every day. There is real joy in forgiving, but many never experience the sensation.
