A Child of Sorrow.

CHAPTER XIV.

"She's a sweet child," said Maida, looking at the mite perched on his shoulder, and looking out of the tail of her eyes at the owner of the shoulder. "But you shouldn't give them pennies," she added, severely. "I don't; it's never less than a shilling. Oh, it's all right, they share it with the others—as a reinforcement bore down upon them. 'Come along or we shall have to surrender unconditionally.'"

They went off together, and Heroncourt, to keep her with him, talked of the children they had escaped and their condition. It appeared that the parents wanted new cottages; the children wanted new schools; the church wanted a new roof and bells and seats; the men wanted a reading room, and the women wanted sewing clubs.

"And I wish they'd get them," he said, with an assumption of indifference which did not deceive Maida.

"Yes, I am sure you do," she said, very quietly.

"Yes, I do," he admitted with a touch of suppressed fierceness. "And I wish I didn't; I didn't care a fig a few months ago—"

"Ah, but a great deal can happen to change us in a few months!" she said, with her rare smile. "I turn up this lane. Thank you for telling me so much, Lord Heroncourt."

He raised his hat and stood bare-headed looking after her. He had admired her for her beauty, was well-nigh loving her for it; was he going to adore her for her goodness?

They met nearly every day, at dinner parties—the dinner party at the Towers was as great a success as that of the Court, and it put the coping-stone to the Carringtons' popularity, for Maida rectified and set the whole county ablaze with her name and extraordinary talent—sometimes at garden-parties, and sometimes in the green lanes and the village, where Maida's presence as a general guardian angel and Lady Bountiful was frequent.

And Lord Heroncourt was not happy. You see, when he was away from her he was longing to be near her; and when he was by her side he was discontented and devoured by that aching longing which comes to the man and the woman when they love. He fought against the spell that was working its charm over him, and tried to keep away from her, to banish her from his mind, for the thought that he was poor and she was rich, the loathing for the construction which the world would put upon his love, if he declared it, made him resolve to crush out that love.

But the gods smile at man's struggles with his fate, and, when it pleases them, just push him across the board like a chess-piece.

One afternoon the two girls and their father were coming over the hills from a long walk; they were walking rather fast, for Ricky was coming by the five-o'clock, and Carrie had set her mind upon meeting him. "Come along, father," she said, "we shall just be able to do it. I wouldn't miss meeting Ricky for a king's ransom. I want to drive him home in the dog-cart—"

"I should have thought the carriage would have been more suitable and comfortable; and it's going to rain; it's making for a storm," said Mr. Carrington, puffing—for, like Hamlet, he was fat and scant of breath. "And more dignified, if you will permit me to say so, my dear."

"That's just why I am going to take the dog-cart—fancy me and dignity! Besides, we sha'n't melt. I'll take a mackintosh for Ricky; he's sure to have forgotten one. What are you stopping for, Maida? If it's going to rain you'd better get home or you'll take cold, and then what would Lord Heroncourt say—"

"Lord Heroncourt!" said Maida, with a touch of colour on her cheeks, but a look in her eyes that made Carrie add, quickly:

"I mean all of them, if you are not able to recite at the Percys' tomorrow. Do come along!"

"I must go down to the village," said Maida in her quiet, decided way. "I promised to read to that poor girl of Mrs. Oatway's. I shall not hurt; I have a cape on; and I will go through the plantations, where I shall be sheltered. Give my love to Ricky."

"Most absurd, this—this district visiting of yours, I must say, Maida. You'll catch the measles or scarlet fever or something."

"It is consumption in this case, father," said Maida.

Carrie, knowing that remonstrance was useless, shrugged her shoulders.

"Well, look sharp and come back to tea!" she called out as Maida turned off at the lane. "Oh, what a gust! There's going to be a storm! Tell poor Martha I will send her some more books."

Maida went on quickly; but the storm, which had been threatening for some time, was still quicker, and before she had reached the plantation the black sky sent down the beginning of a torrent of rain; the wind stopped while the rain fell, but when the shower ceased the wind rose again with renewed force. The plantation was a comparatively new one, and the young trees bent under the scouring blast.

Maida was not a nervous girl by any means; but as a sapling elm came down with a swish almost in front of her, she stopped and looked round her, rather inclined to go back; but to go back was to face a danger almost as great as that which she would meet by going on, and she continued her way, keeping a sharp lookout for the swaying trees which threatened to fall at every gust.

But presently there came a terrific wind which howled like a pack of demons through the wood, and she stopped uncertainly, drawing her cape round her. Her hesitation was only momentary, however, and she went on again. She was fearful now; but with the fear was joined a strange excitement which thrilled her, the charm woven by the fierce hands of the Storm Fiend. Her heart beat swiftly, the young blood ran hotly in her veins. If she were to die, how better than this, with this grand chorus of the heavens as her requiem?

"It is worth the risk!" she murmured.

Then, as the words left her lips she shrank back with a faint cry. An elm rather larger than the rest, and right in the way of her path, bent downwards suddenly with a crushing of its breaking branches and a shrieking of its strained roots.

She looked up, unconsciously putting up her arm as if to shield herself, for the tree seemed falling straight upon her. Death and she looked, for the first time, in each other's face. A prayer rose from her throbbing heart, and she shut her eyes, for she felt as if she had not the power of moving.

Then suddenly she heard a cry—was it a human cry or the sound of tearing branches and rending roots?—and felt herself caught up and swung aside. The next moment the elm fell with an awful, sickening thud; and she tried to put up her hands before her face.

But she was held fast, and, looking down mechanically, she saw an arm encircling her. She raised her eyes, and Heroncourt's were looking into them.

She did not speak—she could not. She could not even withdraw her eyes, for something in his held her by a spell more potent than even the fear which had stricken her motionless.

"My God, how near!" he said, hoarsely. "What are you doing here? No, don't speak! You are frightened. Come—this way! Ah, you can't walk, can't move! I know! I know!"

He raised her in his arms and carried her—was it only a few steps or a long way? she did not know—to a comparatively clear space.

She caught her breath, fought for her words, as she put up her hands to her head. The wind had swept off her hat and blown her hair loose, and it was partly flowing over her shoulders.

He held her in his arms, almost strained her to his breast. His face was white, his eyes glowing with something more than fear on her account; and his breath beat hotly on her cheek.

"Maida!" he panted. "Maida! Oh, thank God! If it had fallen—if it had killed you! Oh, my dearest!"

A shudder shook him silent; but his lips still moved.

She gazed at him as if she scarcely heard—comprehended; then suddenly the blood rose to her face and a startled look came into her eyes.

His arms fell away from her and he slipped to his knees—the man was shaking with the horror of her danger—and catching at her hands he pressed them to his lips.

"Maida! Don't you know? I love you! I love you! Forgive me, forgive me! But to find you here, to see you so near death. Death! You! Oh, if you had died—Dearest, dearest, I love you! I love you!"

Household Notes.

It is a good idea to have mustard and flour already prepared and kept in the medicine closet, then in case of hoarseness and cold, water may be added and a plaster made without having to go to the kitchen to hunt for the mustard box.

If lemons have become dry, do not throw them away. Put them in a pan of hot water and put it where it will remain at about the same temperature without boiling, for two hours. After that the lemons will be soft and juicy.

REGULATING COAL SUPPLY AND PRICES.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Assurances that the Government and public will be furnished with coal at reasonable prices was given by representatives of both hard and soft coal interests, who again to-day conferred with the National Defence Council's Coal Committee. This is the coal operators' answer to the warning by Secretary Lane and Daniels of the Interior and Navy Departments and others that unless they established fair prices and proper regulations their output would be taken over by the Government. The price of coal is to be determined with the Defence Council's coal committee and approval by a special Producers' Committee, which aims to increase production and facilitate distribution.

PETROGRAD, To-day. Lt. LeBedoff has been entrusted by the Russian Provisional Government with the direction ad interim of the Ministry of Marine. This post up to the present has been held by Minister of War Kerensky.

SMALLER SHIPPING LOSSES.

LONDON, To-day. The aggregate number of vessels flying the British flag destroyed by mines or subs last week shows a net falling off of five as compared with the losses reported the previous week, which number 32, 27 of more than 1,600 tons, and five in the smaller division.

MONGOLIA EVIDENTLY LOST.

LONDON, To-day. The Mongolia was bound from London. Full details of the disaster have not yet been received here. The information so far at hand does not indicate precisely whether all the passengers and crew were saved.

LANDING OF AMERICAN TROOPS.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The successful landing, (of American troops) while a source of gratification to officials here, viewed from the point of being a military operation is regarded as of added significance for its moral effect on Germany if it is permitted to become known there. The reference in the cable despatches to the duplication of yesterday's surprise, intimating that there was also a landing of a contingent not recorded in yesterday's despatches.

CONTROLLING COTTON SUPPLIES.

LONDON, To-day. The Central News says it understands a decision has been reached to appoint a board representative of all interests in the cotton industry to control the supplies of raw cotton. This decision, according to the News Agency was made as the result of a conference of Sir Albert Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, with representatives of the operatives and master spinners.

WASHINGTON THRILLED.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The advance guard of the mighty army which the United States is preparing to send against Germany is on French soil to-day. In defiance of German submarines thousands of seasoned regulars and marines, trained fighting men, with the tan of long service on the Mexican border or in Haiti or in Santo Domingo still on their faces, have been hastened overseas to fight beside the French, British, Belgian, Russian, Italian and Portuguese troops on the Western Front. News of the safe arrival of the troops sent a new thrill through Washington. No formal announcement came from the War Department, and none will come probably until Major-General Pershing's official report has been received. The American forces will be a net gain to the Allies. It will throw no single burden of supply upon them. The troops will be fed, clothed, armed and equipped by the United States. Around them at the camps on French soil to-day are being stored supplies that will keep them going for months and more will follow.

NEW GREEK MINISTRY TAKE OATH.

ATHENS, To-day. The new Greek Ministry, headed by Eleutherios E. Venizelos, took the oath at the Palace to-day and was acclaimed by an enthusiastic crowd on returning to the Government building, where M. Venizelos delivered a speech from the balcony, warmly thanking the people for their plaudits. Strong military precautions had been taken to prevent possible disorders, but they proved unnecessary, the malcontents showing themselves in a small minority.

Methodist Conference.

YESTERDAY'S SESSION.

The thirty-fourth session of the annual Conference of the Methodist Church opened in Cochrane Street Centennial Church on Wednesday morning, June 27th, 1917 at 9.30 a.m., with Rev. Edwin Moore in the chair. The usual devotional exercises being gone through, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place with the following results:

President—Rev. Jabez R. Saint, S.T.L., elected by first ballot.
Secretary—Rev. O. A. Whitmarsh, M.A., B.D., also elected by first ballot.
Rev. N. M. Guy, M.A., was appointed Journal Secretary and Rev. R. H. Maddock was appointed Statistical Secretary with Revs. W. J. Morris and Ezra Broughton as assistants. After the officers for the year were appointed a very helpful prayer meeting was conducted at the close of which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

The meeting adjourned with the Benediction and the singing of the National Anthem. The afternoon session was occupied with apportioning resolutions from the Districts to the various Conference Committees for consideration. The third session of the day opened at 8 p.m., President Saint in the chair. The usual devotional service was gone through. A report of the Sunday School Committee was then read, whereupon the Conference, on motion, resolved itself into a Round Table Conference and a lively and interesting discussion upon Sunday School work followed. Some of the questions discussed were:

1. What should be the ultimate end of all Sunday School work?
2. Who is directly responsible for the success of our Sunday School work?
3. How can we retain our old scholars?
4. What is the "Big Boy Problem"? How are we solving it?

COURAGEOUS CHAPLAIN.

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, (By Associated Press), To-day. A French military chaplain figured prominently with the French troops in a brilliant successful attack on Dragon Cave on the Chemin-Des-Dames in the neighbourhood of Hurtebise. While advancing with a stretcher bearer the detachment chaplain was confronted by the figure of a German officer, whose clothing was aflame. The Chaplain raised a crucifix and offered religious consolation to the burning man who pointed to the rear, where another German officer was creeping out of a hole. The Chaplain, still holding the crucifix aloft, advanced shouting to the Germans to surrender. The officer replied: "We are ready, but we will only surrender to an officer." A French officer approached and entered the cave, where 150 Germans, including three officers, laid down their arms.

Military Funeral of Late Private Quinton.

The remains of the late 3525 Private A. E. Quinton, whose death occurred at the Jensen Camp yesterday morning, were set out on today's express to his home in Southern Bay, B.B., by the military authorities. The remains, enclosed in a white casket with silver mountings, were conveyed to the railway station on a gun-carriage drawn by a squad of volunteers. The order of parade was:

- Firing squad with arms reversed.
- Remains on gun-carriage drawn by volunteers.
- Bugle and drum band.
- Officers Nid. Regiment and Forestry Company.
- Volunteers and Foresters.
- General public.

Included in the number of beautiful floral offerings were wreaths from officers of the regiment, N.C. officers, volunteers and foresters, Mrs. Dr. Peterson, Mrs. John Brown and others. At the railway station the casket was placed in a suitable covering by Undertaker S. G. Collier and when placed on board the baggage coach, the firing squad presented arms while bugler Fitzgerald sounded the "Last Post." Mr. Albert Quinton, father of the deceased, will meet the remains at Clarenville where the casket will be transferred to the Bonavista train. The dead soldier, who was not quite 19 years of age, enlisted on March 14th, but for the past nine weeks has been off duty owing to the severe complaint from which he suffered.

Train Notes.

Tuesday's outgoing express arrived at Port aux Basques at 9.40 p.m. yesterday. The incoming express is due at 4.30 p.m. to-day.

Methodist Conference.

YESTERDAY'S SESSION.

The thirty-fourth session of the annual Conference of the Methodist Church opened in Cochrane Street Centennial Church on Wednesday morning, June 27th, 1917 at 9.30 a.m., with Rev. Edwin Moore in the chair. The usual devotional exercises being gone through, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place with the following results:

President—Rev. Jabez R. Saint, S.T.L., elected by first ballot.
Secretary—Rev. O. A. Whitmarsh, M.A., B.D., also elected by first ballot.
Rev. N. M. Guy, M.A., was appointed Journal Secretary and Rev. R. H. Maddock was appointed Statistical Secretary with Revs. W. J. Morris and Ezra Broughton as assistants. After the officers for the year were appointed a very helpful prayer meeting was conducted at the close of which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

The meeting adjourned with the Benediction and the singing of the National Anthem. The afternoon session was occupied with apportioning resolutions from the Districts to the various Conference Committees for consideration. The third session of the day opened at 8 p.m., President Saint in the chair. The usual devotional service was gone through. A report of the Sunday School Committee was then read, whereupon the Conference, on motion, resolved itself into a Round Table Conference and a lively and interesting discussion upon Sunday School work followed. Some of the questions discussed were:

1. What should be the ultimate end of all Sunday School work?
2. Who is directly responsible for the success of our Sunday School work?
3. How can we retain our old scholars?
4. What is the "Big Boy Problem"? How are we solving it?

COURAGEOUS CHAPLAIN.

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, (By Associated Press), To-day. A French military chaplain figured prominently with the French troops in a brilliant successful attack on Dragon Cave on the Chemin-Des-Dames in the neighbourhood of Hurtebise. While advancing with a stretcher bearer the detachment chaplain was confronted by the figure of a German officer, whose clothing was aflame. The Chaplain raised a crucifix and offered religious consolation to the burning man who pointed to the rear, where another German officer was creeping out of a hole. The Chaplain, still holding the crucifix aloft, advanced shouting to the Germans to surrender. The officer replied: "We are ready, but we will only surrender to an officer." A French officer approached and entered the cave, where 150 Germans, including three officers, laid down their arms.

Military Funeral of Late Private Quinton.

The remains of the late 3525 Private A. E. Quinton, whose death occurred at the Jensen Camp yesterday morning, were set out on today's express to his home in Southern Bay, B.B., by the military authorities. Sad Case of Ignorance and Neglect.

For the second time within the past week a little girl who has a fondness for roaming the streets, was taken to the police station for safe-keeping. In court to-day she told the judge that she did not know her name, neither did her father, but she apparently was about 12 years old. The Supt. of Police stated that the girl was constantly on the streets at night time and a company with bad characters; also intimating that the father said he could not control her. Mr. Hutchings, J.P., ordered that the father be sent for and told to bring home his daughter and keep her indoors at night, and if he failed to do his duty that the court would deal with him.

Reid's Boats.

The Argyle left St. Kyran's at 4 p.m. yesterday, outward.
The Clyde left Beaverton at 10 p.m. yesterday, inward.
The Dundee left Salvage at 8.25 a.m. yesterday, inward.
The Ethie left Humbermouth at 5.20 p.m. yesterday.
The Glencoe left Port aux Basques at 3.30 p.m. yesterday.
The Home left Three Arms at 5.25 p.m. yesterday.
The Wren was not reported since leaving Trinity on June 26th.

Undersirable Woman

ROUNDED UP FOR THEFT.
A 25-year-old female named Bussey, who is known in police circles as an undesirable character, and who only a few days ago came out of prison, was arrested last night for theft. She had been living in the open, mostly in the suburbs, and during the absence of the occupants, entered a residence on Waterford Bridge Road and after taking observations of the wardrobe purloined a mackintosh and umbrella. The matter was reported to the police, and Detective Byrne was not long in rounding up the culprit, who had the coat in her possession, but had got rid of the rainshade. She was before court to-day and sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

WEATHER REPORT.

The weather across country is fresh, southwest wind and raining, temperature 44 to 60 above.

UNCLE SAM GETS ACROSS.

The pessimists have had a bad week of it. The shipping losses have been cut down again, though they are still unacceptably high; both the British and French have advanced their lines in France; Venizelos at last holds the reins of government in Greece, with what result the world will soon see; and the first considerable contingent of American soldiers have defect from submarines and set a safe and firm foot on French soil. The last of these items alone is cause for jubilation.

There has been no official report from General Pershing yet, and of course no official figures. But it seems evident that quite a large body of troops has gone over, apparently in two distinct lots, and since they include a division they must number at least 20,000 men. This is no light contribution. Most gratifying is the announcement that they will be quite independent of French and British assistance and will be supplied and equipped entirely from America. That is perhaps the greatest problem our new Allies have to grapple with, and it will grow in magnitude with their forces, entailing a very heavy demand upon the none too abundant shipping resources. It is another reason why the method of successive small drafts is preferable to fewer and larger contingents, and the experience of these pioneers will probably provide many others.

It will not be long now before Pershing's men have their baptism of fire, and America will be truly and literally "in it." Their arrival must be known in Berlin, where the shortsighted folly that brought them across will begin to be realized. The messages speak with reason of the moral effect the American soldiers will produce upon the enemy, quite apart from the physical. It will be very great. It must be remembered that the German soldier at the front knows little or nothing of the politics of Potsdam and is told what it is to his political masters' interest that he should be told. We are informed that he was promised peace by September, possibly with an irony that came near the truth. Whether or not, we know that he was assured that the American threat was the merest bluff, that America had no men to send or could not send them if she had. The mental process of reconciling this assurance with the sudden appearance before him of a division or more of seasoned American troops, fresh to the fight, organized, armed and finely equipped, will not add to his comfort or his friendly disposition towards those who have misled him. This is not a small matter. Twenty thousand American soldiers, whatever their fighting qualities, are worth far more, at this psychological moment, than twenty thousand British. The behaviour of Fritz will be worth watching in a month or so. If in this latest development he cannot see inevitable defeat written across the sky, he will deserve the thrashing that awaits him, if not for his past bestial performances, for his sheer stupidity, which after all is only another mark of the beast.

Well-Known Banking Skipper Injured.

WHILE DISCHARGING GUN.

The banking schr. Metamora, Capt. John Lewis, reached here yesterday for four members of her crew, lost on Friday last, but who, luckily, were picked up and brought to land. Since the beginning of the season the Metamora has landed over thirteen hundred quintals of codfish, and by the time finish up time arrives expects to be amongst the high-liners, as she usually is, Capt. Lewis being one of our best known and most successful banking "lowers." On the present trip she was ten days operating on the Grand Banks, fish were fairly plentiful, but the weather was bad. It was very foggy on Friday last when four men, two in each dory, strayed away from the vessel. In an endeavour to find them Capt. Lewis fired off guns. Accidentally this time a charge of powder entered his face and hands, which were very much burnt and swollen, causing extreme pain. On arrival yesterday the sufferer went to a doctor for medical treatment. Meanwhile the four stragglers were picked up safely, two on the Southern Shore and two off this port. They rejoined their vessel yesterday.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Naval Reservist N. Snow arrived by last night's train from England on a month's furlough. All his friends are pleased to see him.

Master Bert Munn is in town on a visit from St. John's where he is spending his vacation. He is attending St. Andrew's College, Toronto.

Another load of lumber arrived today to the Shipbuilding Co. The work of discharging will be rushed.

Mr. C. A. C. Bruce, the general insurance agent, is in town on a business trip.

The Road Board are still making necessary improvement in the roads, which are likely to be in first class condition soon. We are convinced that if the Board could get the necessary money, there would be no need to grumble about roads, as they appear to know all about road making.

Caplin are in all the coves in abundance at present, and the farmers are carting them away for manure. The time will surely come when there will be some way of preserving them that will make them too valuable for manure.

Mrs. K. S. Munn and two children are taking passage to Labrador by the steamer due here this afternoon.

There appears to be a number of dogs about here without owners, or at least the owners are without proper knowledge of the law, as the brutes are wandering about unclogged. The sheep are on the increase, and if we wish to keep them we must keep the dog in his place with his clog on.

Opening Baseball Game

Under ideal weather conditions over 1700 fans saw the Wanderers out the Red Lions by one run in the opening baseball game of the season at St. George's Field last night. What is left of the bleachers was packed with enthused spectators, while the League had the foresight to secure as many chairs as possible in order to accommodate the crowd. Even these were not sufficient, but we are requested to state that this difficulty will be obviated at the next game as it is the intention of the League to erect temporary seating.

Precisely at 6 o'clock Umpire-in-Chief Chesman called "Play-ball" when U. S. Consul Benedict put "the first one over" amid the plaudits of the fans. Owing to the illness of one of the principal cornetists and the absence from town of another, the C. C. C. Band was thus unavoidably absent, which was much regretted. The game started immediately with the Red Lions going to bat. Major Montgomerie controlling the bases, with Mr. Outerbridge in the scoring box.

Red Lions: 0 0 2 0 2 0 2-6

GAME BY INNINGS.

1st.
RED LIONS—Ellis died at first but Quick and Cooney mastered Brown and were at third and second respectively when McCaskell, and Hiltz both failed to connect, thus retiring the side. No runs.

WANDERERS—Dobbin and Brien had no trouble in hitting McCaskell's offerings, and before MacLeod fanned they were occupying the second and third cushions. Ford hit safely scoring Dobbin, who thus made the first run for the season. Berteau sacrificed scoring Brien, but was left on the bags when Britt failed to reach first. Two runs.

2nd.
R.L.—Punky steamed nine strikes over, sending Power, Mullins and Gowans back to the bench. No runs.

W.—Jerrett banged a grounder to McCaskell, but McCordie was given free transportation to the initial sack. Brown singled, but when McCordie tried to steal third, Ellis pinned him on the base line. Dobbin fanned. Two runs.

3rd.
R.L.—The circuit of the Lions' batting list was now reached. Ellis slammed the first one over and made his way safely to third on second. He scored when Quick bungled. Cooney hit safely, and McCaskell's bunt made a tally to Quick's credit. Hiltz took his three "healthies." Power popped a weak fly to Britt. Two runs.

W.—The Lions' pitcher went right to wing at the beginning of this inning, walking Brien and MacLeod. Ford slammed out a hot grounder scoring Brien. Berteau hit safely letting MacLeod in. Britt's feeble attempt availed him nothing, but Jerrett's not one scored. Ford, McCordie fled to Quick, when Berteau who had reached third started for home, thus allowing a double play—Quick to Ellis. Three runs.

R.L.—Punky here showed a touch of his original form. Mullins' bunt was fruitless while Gowans and Jerrett took "batter" benefit, swishes each at the air and thus retire the side. No runs.

W.—Brown's pop fly was nabbed. Dobbin's grounder was ineffective but Brien nabbed one right on the nose, which was good for 2 bags. McCaskell walked MacLeod; Ford fanned. Two runs.

4th.
R.L.—In this inning the gray-and-maroon aggregation took on a new lease of life. Ellis swung the willow without avail, but Quick waited Brown out and was walked. Cooney's fly found a resting place in Jerrett's glove. McCaskell, however, was more successful and by dint of cleverly stealing, reached third, and on Ford's allowing a hit to get past him crossed the plate safely. Once more Hiltz failed to negotiate the path to first, retiring the side. Two runs.

W.—This inning showed McCaskell in fine form. Berteau could not find him. Britt's hot grounder was cleverly secured by Ellis after a difficult running catch in foul territory, evoking the fans' applause. Jerrett could not find the groove.

5th.
R.L.—Short and sweet was their session this inning. Power fled to Jerrett. Umpire Chesman sweetly warbled "Strike three" in Mullins' ear before he was aroused from his lethargy, while Gowans failed to secure a safe resting place in Britt's environment. No runs.

W.—McCordie hit safely but was submergined before dropping his anchors safely on the keystone. Once more Brien popped off an infield fly. Dobbin connected with the pill end and was left on third when Brien's bungle failed to result in anything. No runs.

6th.
R.L.—With Jenkins at bat, the Lions at this juncture started a batting rally. S't's hot grounder was fumbled at short. Ellis hit safely to rightfield enabling Jenkins to reach third. Quick smote a dandy but if he lost its sweetness on the desert air when Jerrett stabbed it. Cooney singled scoring both Jenkins and Cooney on an error. McCaskell's pop fell into Brien's mit. Hiltz once more failed to connect. Infield fly on third, thus making the Wanderers victors by one run.

NEXT GAME.
The next game will be on Tuesday night at 7 o'clock when the Cubs and B.I.S. will clash.

Mechanics and Laborers on Strike.

To-day at 2 p.m. many of the mechanics and jobmen in the employ of the Reid Ntd. Company went on strike, demanding an increase of pay. The Company, we understand, offered them a ten per cent. rise, but they would not accept, less than twenty per cent. A mass meeting was held in the Longshoremen's Hall shortly after 2 p.m.

Increase Soldiers' Pay To Get Rid Of Conscription.

(St. John's Telegraph.)

That if the Canadian soldier were given higher rates of pay there would now be no need of conscription in Canada, was the statement made to this Telegraph last night by a prominent citizen of Ottawa who was here on official business. This most unusual argument was backed by the contention that the government of a country could scarcely ask a man to offer his life at $1.10 a day and the same government pay men from $2 to $4 per day for working on the roads of the country, with no personal risk. The gentleman in question is a former officer of an imperial regiment and came to Canada some years ago. On the outbreak of the war he offered his services, but was turned down on account of physical disabilities. He contended that the young men of sporting instincts who did not look at the remunerative side of a soldier's life had already gone overseas and the circle of demand was now narrowing down until the question became a very pressing one upon the man of physical fitness but with dependents. No red-blooded Britisher, he said, thought for a single moment of his own personal safety, but very often the heaviest weight they threw into the balance against offering was the question as to the future creature comforts of their dependents. After the war was over and posterity engaged itself in paying the bills, it would not matter so much whether the cost be a few billions more or less, while at the present time the big factor is the winning of the war.

Fully conversant with the political affairs as conducted at Ottawa, and a man of keen understanding, he expressed the view that Sir Robert Borden's request for coalition was first, fast and all the time an admission of weakness. If the request had come immediately after August 4, 1914, or before the end of the first year of the war, then it would have stood clearly as a desire on the part of the ruling political party for co-operation. Coalition to-day, he said, was a last resource so far as the Borden government was concerned. There was no system, no cut and dried plan utilized in the raising of the first Canadian contingent. That could not be expected for the first expeditionary force was raised in a hurry and with little but the necessary equipment to speed it on to immediate completion. The fault and great mistake of Canada in the present war was made, he said, when the second, third and successive contingents were raised by the same haphazard method that characterized the formation of the first Canadian contingent. "If the rates of pay to the Canadian soldier were increased sufficiently," he concluded, "and I am aware that the Canadian to-day is the highest paid soldier in the world, then I contend that sufficient men to tide the dominion over this crisis would be forthcoming, and at once."

who really win the war are doing it for $1.10 a day."

Your Boys and Girls.

Any little girl over seven years old may be taught to knit. Here is a simple direction for making a knitted sweater for dolly. Use one hank of shetland wool in any pretty color and a pair of knitting needles about number five size. Cast on twenty stitches for the back of the sweater and knit twenty ribs. Then cast on ten more stitches, knit across and cast on ten at the opposite side. You now have on the needle forty stitches which gives the width from sleeve-edge to sleeve-edge. When you have knitted up as far as the shoulder line. About eight stitches may be bound off for the back of the neck. Eight stitches from the forty on the needle leaves thirty-two stitches, so when you have knit half of the thirty-two, or sixteen stitches, bind off eight for the neck and continue to knit across the remaining sixteen stitches. Now cast on six stitches to make the front wide enough and knit across the twenty-two stitches for ten rows. This completes the sleeve. Bind off under sleeve for ten stitches the original number you cast on for the sleeve and then knit across and across, straight down the front until the front is long as the back. Finish the opposite front until the front is long as the back. Finish the opposite front the same way and sew up the underarm seams with a bit of worsted.

To make cheese balls, mix cream cheese with sufficient cream to form balls. Season with salt and paprika. Roll each in chopped nut meats. English walnuts preferred.

The One Important Person.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Said the Author's Wife to the Lady-who-always-knows-somehow: "I think it's an outrage the way you did all the work on that committee and the other people shrieked. I should think it would make you just wild." The Lady smiled gently. "I didn't do all the work nor half of it, but even so, why should I be wild about what other people did or didn't do?" "Why?" said the Author's Wife. "Because it was outrageous the way they shrieked." "But I didn't do any more than I wanted to," said the Lady, "so what difference did it make to me what they did? How did it hurt me if they shrieked? If I had shrieked that would have been another thing. That would have hurt me." It would certainly have annoyed her. The Author's Wife looked perfectly unconvinced. "Well," she reiterated, "it would have made me just wild." Doubtless it would have. And yet, as the Lady said, why should it? Why do we trouble ourselves so much about whether other people do their duty or not? Why such a pother about our neighbor's righteousness? After all, it isn't our affair. We really don't have to keep him up to the mark. Not one's Brother's Critic Being one's brother's keeper means being his helper, his friend, not his critic. It does not mean that one ought to constitute oneself inspector of beams in one's brother's eye. After all, the only person you need to be greatly concerned to keep up to the mark is yourself. The chief person whose character you are developing by your daily actions is yourself. The one person whose respect it is supremely important you keep is yourself. The one person you will certainly have to live with until death you part (and presumably forever after), and whom therefore you must desire to make into an honorable, livable person is yourself. As for the rest what they do—well here is a little story which I read a few weeks ago and have thought of perhaps a hundred times since. A Blacksmith and a Philosopher Frances Elwell, the Concord Sculptor, was brought up by an uncle who was a blacksmith, and a philosopher. Someone had treated him very unfairly and the blacksmith had refused to retaliate. Several of the village people felt so hot about the matter that they went to him and protested, saying, "If I were you I'd go and knock him down." The blacksmith drew himself to his full height, and, towering over his anvil, answered: "Sirs, in time he will have his reward, in time I will have mine."

THE EX-PRESIDENT. The ex-president is a plain American citizen who has made an enforced and reluctant exit from the White House, and would like to have somebody show him the way back. Although the species is almost extinct, we still have two ex-presidents who are in vigorous health and a receptive mood, neither of whom would duck under a wooden culvert to escape being hit by lightning. The duty of the ex-president is to pass judgment upon his successor, and show why a change of administration would be a good thing for all concerned. It is also his business to lay the new president across his lap and castigate him in the region of his foreign policy. From time to time the ex-president contributes long, throbbing articles to the magazines, at $1 per throb, which are read with much pleasure by people who would prefer to vote in some other direction.

Two ex-presidents who disagreed about something in 1912 and lost their entente cordiale. This country now supports two ex-presidents who disagreed about something in 1912 and lost their entente cordiale and other things. Both are men of great intellect and cavernous vocabulary, and it is a painful sight to see them refer to each other in the cold, slighting terms which the 'no-ling picture actor has made popular. Neither would accept the presidency again unless the presidency threw its arms about his neck and strangled him into submission, and both are revered by a large following of independent voters who cannot agree on anything in particular. If the independent voters in both parties could be suppressed with a hickory club, there would be fewer ex-presidents at large.

It must be very sad to be an ex-president, and not have anything to say about who shall get the post-office at Sandy Bottom, Ky. How depressing it must be for an ex-president who believed in civil service reform, but was not able to practice it, to sit in the dim twilight of private life and watch a mournful procession of time-tried United States marshals, district attorneys and revenue collectors who have been decapitated by the incoming administration, as they stagger toward penury and away from the permissimms! No wonder the brows of our ex-presidents are furrowed with care and freckled with the non-erasable crow's-foot!

Let us value the ex-presidents we have and heed their counsel, when by doing so we will not give needless pain to our convictions.

Disappointed.

There is a certain inspector of schools who prides himself on his method of examining. In a kindly, fatherly way he gathered a very young class about him, and soon had their open-eyed, breathless attention.

"Now, suppose that you and I were playing a game of marbles," he said to Jimmy Green. "You have ten marbles, and I have eight." The class gathered round. "At the end of the game you have won half of my marbles, and, of course, I want to play again, to win them back." The pupils pressed even nearer. "At the end of the second game I win half of those you now have. Tell me—excitement waxed intense—"tell me," he continued, "how many marbles are you left with?"

With a look of inexpressible disgust the boy addressed fell back. "Why, Billy," he said, "blowed if it ain't sums!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Russia's Youngest Minister.

When Mr. Bark, the Russian Financial Minister, was arrested in the early days of the revolution another man almost immediately took his place, for it was essential that there should be no muddling of the country's financial affairs. The new Financial Minister was M. Tereshchenko, who straight away set to work on the important task before him, that of laying the foundations of financial reform in Russia.

M. Tereshchenko is only thirty-one, and the youngest member of Russia's Provisional Government. The new Financial Minister is a prosperous sugar manufacturer, and besides being well-known in the business world, he is a familiar figure in artistic circles, for he has always taken a keen interest in matters connected with literature and all the arts, and before the war did important work for some years for the big Russian publishing firm of Sirin.

M. Tereshchenko has a good head for business, and is a splendid organizer. Soon after the war broke out, he joined the Red Cross, and worked indefatigably for the wounded in Galicia.

In the autumn of 1915, when the need for more munitions for the army made itself felt, he took an active part in the munitions campaign, and has held the important positions of President of the War Industries Committee in Kieff, and Vice-President of the Central War Industries Committee in Petrograd.—Pearson's Weekly.

Addresses Of Welcome

TO THE GOVERNOR AND LADY DAVIDSON FROM THE PEOPLE AND CHILDREN OF ST. MARY'S.

To His Excellency Sir Walter Edward Davidson Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and Over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies.

May it Please Your Excellency:— We beg to extend to you and Lady Davidson a hearty welcome on this your first visit to St. Mary's, and regret that owing to the men being away at their usual avocation (the fishery) it is not as demonstrative as it would be were they all at home, nevertheless we assure you it is whole hearted.

Coming, Sir, as the representative of His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth, we take this opportunity of assuring you of our deepest loyalty to His Person and throne. Never in his story had His Majesty's Subjects greater reason for showing their loyalty than at the present, when the Empire is surrounded by His enemies, and His Army and Navy are fighting for justice and freedom, owing to the savage war brought on by German Militarism, which we hope will in the near future, with the co-operation of His Majesty's Allies, be overcome and the war brought to a victorious end.

The people of St. Mary's have as well as the other parts of Newfoundland and the Empire given some of their young men to the cause of freedom. Four have already made the supreme sacrifice, namely, three with the Canadians, and one in the Newfoundland Regiment, while five others have been wounded, four so seriously that they are no longer fit for active service.

We hope when next your Excellency visits us, the cause for which Britain was forced into the war will be victorious, and that peace will once more be restored to the whole world.

Signed on behalf of the people of St. Mary's:—
 Rev. S. O'Driscoll, P.P.; William Hogan, J.P.; John Critch, James Bishop, S. Gibbons, J. D. Burke, S. Hearn, John Bowen, John Nolan, J. McCarthy, John Mounsey, John Meehan, A. Stapleton.

Dated in St. Mary's, June 26th, 1917.
 To His Excellency Sir Walter Edward Davidson, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and Over the Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies.

May it Please Your Excellency:— We, the children of St. Mary's, extend to you, and Lady Davidson a hearty welcome on this your first visit. We feel proud of the honour conferred upon us to-day in having in our midst the representative of His Majesty King George the Fifth.

Owing to the short notice of your arrival we regret that our demonstrations of joy are not as we would wish them.
 Still we assure you that our greetings are loyal. We beg you to excuse our many defects, being unaccustomed as we are to entertaining distinguished visitors.
 Trusting, your next visit, we shall be better prepared and thanking you and Lady Davidson for your gracious presence.

We remain, Your Excellency's Most Faithful and Dutiful Children,
 THE CHILDREN OF ST. MARY'S CONVENT SCHOOL.

Clergyman Has Recovered

Was Unable To Fill Appointments and Greatly Discouraged by Continued Ill-health.

Gananoque, Ont., June 28th. — The many friends of Rev. George Alton are pleased to learn of his recovery after a long period of ill-health from biliousness, stomach troubles and severe headaches.
 Mr. Alton had become very much discouraged over his inability to obtain relief, and thought he would have to quit the ministry, when fortunately he read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and began their use. He tells the particulars of his case in this interesting letter:

Rev. George Alton, Gananoque, Ont., writes: "I had been suffering from bilious attacks for four years. I was very weak, had headaches, and my stomach was so bad that I could hardly eat anything without being troubled by it. I had tried many cures, herbs, pills and salts, and was under the doctor's care for some time, but instead of getting better I seemed to get weaker. I was unable to fulfill my appointments on Sabbath and had to secure help. I used to take dizzy spells and could not walk across the floor straight. I had almost given up all hope, and my wife said that if I did not get better we would have to quit the work of the ministry. However, in looking over the 'British Whig,' the well-known Kingston paper, I saw Dr. Chase's advertisements in it, and read how Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills had helped others who were troubled as I was. I resolved to give these Pills a trial, and I must say that in a short time I obtained relief. I continued taking them for some time, and now I am able to resume my work again. From the benefit I have obtained from these pills, I would recommend them to all who suffer as I did."
 Rev. C. Cunningham, 124 First Avenue, Toronto: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Rev. George Alton of Gananoque, and believe his statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be true and correct."

WRECKED SCHOONER AT BURGED.—The ill-fated schooner Elsie Burdett, which for the past four weeks has been a menace to shipping along the South West Coast, and was reported off Connoire Head, on Monday last, was located by the S. S. Glencoe and towed into Burgeo.

Monsignor Veitch Laid To Rest.

The funeral ceremonies of Right Rev. Monsignor William Veitch took place at Conception Harbor Church at 10.30 yesterday morning. The spacious church was crowded to the doors with the large congregation comprising representatives from most parts of the Bay and the City who had assembled to respect and honor the dead priest. After the chanting of the office of the dead, High Mass of Requiem was sung by His Lordship Bishop March, assisted by Rev. J. Joy, Deacon, and Rev. Dr. Whelan, Sub-Deacon, and Revs. J. J. Walker and Dr. Murphy Masters of Ceremonies; and seated within the Sanctuary were: Right Revs. Monsignors St. John, McCarthy and MacDermott; Revs. Fathers Shean, Finn, Gough, O'Brien, Rawlins, O'Neill, McGrath and Kelly.

The panegyric was preached by the Right Rev. Mgr. McCarthy, who is decidedly a great preacher, and the great priest Monsignor William Veitch, who was the subject of his discourse, was well worthy of all the encomiums which Mgr. McCarthy with a masterly touch bestowed upon his dead brother priest, and to behold some of his activities and his works, "circumspice." His Lordship Bishop March officiated in the ceremony at the catafalque and then the funeral took place from the church to the cemetery adjoining, the procession of clergy and altar boys preceding the corpse and the mourning relatives and congregation following. The funeral appointments were in charge of Undertaker Murphy from the city who came thither Tuesday evening with a handsome polished casket with which to enclose the remains.

The final blessing and recital of prayers at the grave side were given by Mgr. McDermott and then the remains were interred under the shadow of the church he built so well, and amongst his people he loved and worked with so well.

To the bereaved people and relatives of the deceased priest of God we tender our sincere sympathy and pray he has attained the reward of the faithful servant and worker in the vineyard of the Lord.—R.L.P.

THE SUN

The clouds were strung across the sky; day after day, week after week; they wouldn't let the earth get dry, for every hour they'd spring a leak. There was no let-up to the rain, it wouldn't do a thing but pour; all day we heard all day we heard, and sobbing, slopping at the door. All night it sloshed and streamed and wept, and beat and pounded in the dark, till weary people, as they slept, would dream of Noah and his Ark. At last the rain no longer dripped, no longer soaked the aching land; the dingy clouds broke up and skipped, the sun appeared at his old stand. Then did the air with joy resound, and it was most instructive fun to see the people stand around, and heap their blessings on the sun. The matron and the lovely lass, the husky man, shod tears and cried, "It takes the sun to cut the grass! It is all wool and three ells wide!" We don't appreciate the sun while it pursues its daily course; but when it hides two weeks or one, we hoot and howl until we're hoarse. And if it shines a bit too long, as in the middle of July, we groan beneath our load of wrong, and throw some dornicks at the sky.

Entertainment At Cape Race.

An enjoyable social, dance and entertainment was arranged by the ladies of Cape Race on the evening of the 21st. Friends fishing at Cripple Cove and residents from Long Beach were also in attendance. The proceeds, namely, Twenty-five dollars, will be donated to the St. John's Patriotic Fund. A lantern lecture was given by Mr. A. S. Farnell and a musical programme was provided by Miss Nettie Murphy, of Trepassay.

Wedding Bells.

TESSIER-SMITH.

A charming wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's mother, "Germondale," the grounds of which made an ideal setting for such an event, being a picture of lovely foliage and bloom. Miss Geraldine Tessier made a charming picture in her gown of white crepe-de-chene, veil and orange blossoms, carrying a large bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Tessier, and Miss Violet Dickinson, wearing frocks of pink georgette crepe, black picture hats, and carrying pink carnations. The groom, Mr. Henry O. Smith, was attended by his brother, Mr. H. C. Smith. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Cyril Tessier. Under a beautiful bower of palms, ferns and white lilac, at one end of the drawing-room, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gordon Dickie. Mr. F. J. King rendered delightful musical selections. Tea and coffee were served in the dining-room, the table of which was decorated with pink tulle, smilax, pink and white sweet peas in silver loving cups. The bride wore a travelling gown of blue tulle. The happy pair, showered with good wishes and congratulations from their many friends and relatives, left by motor for Holyrood, where they will join the express for Canada, their future home. The presents were numerous and useful.

MOORE-JOY.

At 8.30 o'clock at the R. C. Cathedral last night, Miss Paula Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore, LeMarchant Road, and Mr. Richard Joy, of the Evening Herald reportorial staff, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. Rev. Dr. Greene performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was attended by Miss Lizzie Joy, sister of the groom. Mr. Leo Moore, brother of the bride, supported the groom. After the nuptials the party drove to the residence of the bride's parents where a reception was held and the usual congratulations extended. The bride was the recipient of many useful and costly presents. The Telegram joins with their numerous friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Joy a life of unalloyed happiness. The happy young couple will reside on Garrison Hill.

SECOND CONTINGENT OF U. S. SOLDIERS ARRIVE IN FRANCE.

FRENCH SEAPORT, June 27.

A second contingent of American troops arrived and disembarked this morning. The troops landed amid frantic cheers from the people. The port was speedily beflagged in honor of the occasion. All the troops now arrived were transferred to-day to a camp not far distant from this point, where Major-General William L. Short is installed. From thence they probably will go soon to a point near the front. All the troops are in excellent shape and enthusiastic over the successful trip, and their reception, and are eager for action. The harbor is dotted with convoys, and the streets are filled with soldiers in khaki with blue jackets. Great numbers of trucks are transporting the immense supplies to the camp, in which the troops are concentrating.

Washington.—The landing of the American troops in France cannot be fully discussed at this time for obvious reasons, concerning the safety of other contingents. It is entirely permissible to say that they are part of a force which will be under the command of Major General Pershing, and for whose arrival the General and his staff have been arranging for ever since they landed on the other side. The American troops will be entirely under independent command, just as are the British troops, but working, of course with the French as head of operations as they are on French soil. When the troops have had their period of preparation behind the lines, they will take their place on the battle front. All the troops under General Pershing's command are regulars, and comprise a division which President Wilson directed to proceed to France at the earliest possible time.

SHIPPING LOSSES.

LONDON, June 27.—Twenty-one British ships of more than 1,600 tons each and seven under 1,600 tons, have been sunk by mines and submarines last week, according to the weekly report of losses issued by the Admiralty to-night. No fishing ships met with disaster.

IN MACEDONIA.

SALONIKA, June 27.—In a successful raid on Brest, east of Lake Doiran, we captured eleven Bulgarians, says the British statement to-day. British airplanes bombed and damaged enemy camps and dumps.

ARTILLERY FIGHTING CONTINUES.

PARIS, June 27.—Heavy artillery fighting continues in the region of Hurbise, says to-day's official announcement.

QUESTIONED IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, June 27.—Andrew Bonar Law was bombarded in the Commons to-day with questions regarding what action the House intended taking in regard to those accused of culpability in the report of the Mesopotamia expedition, made public last night in a blue book. He replied that he would rather make no statement till the House had time to consider the report, but it was obvious that it was the duty of the Government to take immediate action with regard to those who specially were accused of culpability. Asked by Joseph King, Liberal member for North Somerset, whether Baron Hardinge, formerly Governor-General and Viceroy of India, was in a position of great authority at the Foreign Office, Law replied: "Those questions assume that Baron Hardinge has been guilty. I don't wish to make any such assumption at present."

THE PRESS ON MESOPOTAMIA.

NEW YORK, June 27.—An Associated Press cable from London this morning says the report of the Commission which has been investigating the Mesopotamia Expedition, is treated by the press to-day as a first-class sensation. Editorials contain bitter reproaches of the persons concerned, and demand their dismissal. Efficacious tradition, cheese-paring policy and general dry rot and inefficiency of the Indian command are condemned by the newspapers. The anti-Asquith press largely blames the late Government. One paper calls for former Premier Asquith's impeachment. On the other hand, the Times says it is only fair to admit that his Cabinet was led completely astray by the military advisers. The Times thinks the culpability of J. Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for India, almost wholly technical. The Times places a large share of the blame on the late Lord Kitchener's highly centralized control of the Indian Army. The paper says the report goes far to vindicate Lord Curzon's resignation as Viceroy of India twelve years ago, on the ground of disagreement with Kitchener's scheme. General approval is voiced of the Government's decision to publish the report and tell the country the truth. A comparison is drawn of Germany's attempts to explain Messines and other reverses on the Western front. Amid a flood of recrimination, room is found for satisfaction that nobody who is chiefly blamed is now associated with the Mesopotamia force, that the blunders have been retrieved, and that to that extent they are less tragic than the irrevocable collapse of the general expedition.

DUTCH TO GET GERMAN SHIPS.

LONDON, June 27.—According to a Hague official communication forwarded by the Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Limited, an agreement has been reached between the Dutch and German Governments concerning the seven Dutch merchantmen which were torpedoed off the English coast last February. Germany undertakes to replace the lost vessels, by the possession of a number of German ships now in the Dutch East Indies of equivalent value; but Holland is to pay Germany a sum equivalent to the total compensation value of the lost ships. Germany will compensate the crews of the lost ships for moral and material damage. The ceded vessels may be only for trans-ocean passage during the war, and not until the belligerent powers recognize transfer of the flag and the right of these vessels to undertake voyages.

GERMANS PROTEST.

LONDON, June 27.—Reports received here from Norway say that the German legation at Christiania, formally protested against the breaking of German official seals on the baggage of Aren Bauenfels, a German, who is among those arrested in connection with the conspiracy to blow up seized ships. The legation demanded the surrender of his trunk, but without success. There is no confirmation of the statement printed in Paris that Germany asked Norway to apologize for breaking the seals. The recall of Germany's Minister Machalia is attributed to Norway's insistent demands. He has been succeeded by Admiral Paul Von Hintze, former Minister to Mexico and China.

SOCIALISTS' REFUSAL.

LONDON, June 27.—The section of British Socialists led by Henry Hyndman, has declined the invitation of the Russian Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates to attend the International Socialist Conference at Stockholm. The refusal is based on the fact that the conference will be attended by German and Austrian Socialists, and that it cannot serve the cause of peace or Socialism as long as the Germans remain in possession of the territory they seized and devastated.

TRAFFIC WITH ROTTERDAM.

HAMBURG, June 27.—A despatch to the Times from Rotterdam says that the German shipping there is steadily increasing. Twenty German ships from Hamburg and Baltic ports entered last night. Two German ships were torpedoed or mined by the British, but traffic was unaffected.

MORE SINKINGS.

LONDON, June 27.—A despatch from Copenhagen, says the Norwegian steamship King Haakon has been sunk by a German sub, and that only six of her crew were saved. The American sailing ship Galina, 981 tons, was sunk by bombs on June 25th, no casualties.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IN RUSSIA.

PETROGRAD, June 27.—The Minister of the Interior has submitted to the Provisional Govern-

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive. Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A Gas Range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. THE CLOW GAS STEAM RADIATOR WAY. MAY 22, 1917.

ment a bill establishing freedom of conscience, in which it is proclaimed that possession of civil and political rights no longer depends on religion. For change of religion, official permission will not be needed. Up to nine years of age a child's religion is determined by its parents; if there is a disagreement the child takes the mother's religion. Over nine years of age religion cannot be changed without the consent of the child itself; over seventeen years of age religion can be changed without the parents' or guardians' consent.

PROHIBITION AMENDMENTS.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—With drastic prohibition amendments to prohibit the manufacture of beer as well as distilled liquors, and giving the President discretion to permit manufacture of wine only, the Administration Food Bill was agreed on today by the Senate Agricultural Committee and favorably reported as a substitute for the bill now under consideration.

DEWEY'S OLD FLAGSHIP ASHORE.

BLOCK ISLAND, R.I., June 27.—The United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila, ran ashore in a fog off Block Island early to-day. The cruiser was reported in a bad position with considerable water in the hold. Chief machinist mate, Wm. M. Rabb lost his life when he was hit on the head by a falling hatch. The crew of the Olympia abandoned the ship on orders, and were brought to the Naval Station here. Other warships were standing by her.

STEAMER SUNK.

BOMBAY, June 27.—The Peninsula and Oriental liner Mongolia struck a mine and sunk off Bombay on June 23rd. The passengers and crew arrived here. The mails are believed to have been lost. The Mongolia was a British steamer of 9,565 tons gross, built in 1903 in Greenock, was 520 feet long, 58 feet beam and 24 feet deep.

LIBERAL VICTORY.

REGINA, Sask., June 27.—At 2.30 this morning the standing of the parties in the Provincial general election was: Liberals, 48; Conservatives, 6, with three seats in doubt, in two of which the Conservatives were leading. Not one of the many independent candidates was elected.

AMERICAN WOODSMEN.

LONDON, June 27.—Ten units of American woodsmen who were sent over by the New England States for organizations in various forests of the United Kingdom, have arrived in England. The woodsmen brought with them not only necessary machinery but were fully equipped in every way even to lubricating oil. Their arrival found them ready to establish their saw mills and begin work at once.

GREEK STEAMER SUNK.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Greek steamer Hadzirikos was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine about 300 miles off the English coast May 31, with the loss of 22 lives. It was announced here to-day by the agents for the owners. The vessel, 2,503 tons gross, was on her way from South America to England.

PRESSURE ON BULGARIA.

COPENHAGEN, June 27.—Germany is bringing strong pressure on Bulgaria to induce that country to break off relations with the United States.

THE QUESTION OF REPRISALS.

LONDON, June 27.—In the House of Lords, to-day, Lord Derby, dealing with the question of reprisals of German air raids, emphasized the fact that our air craft were daily bombing positions in the enemy's rear. He declared on the authority of the head of our aircraft service in France that he would be well within the mark if he said that for every bomb the Germans dropped behind our lines we dropped a hundred behind the German lines. All that bombing was done with an military object, but the idea of an eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth of massacring women and children was absolutely repulsive to the British nation. Lord Derby thought that while the country would associate itself with the suggestion that we should not try to retaliate German brutality, he emphasized that all reprisals must have definite military objectives, such as the blowing up of bridges and munition works. The military authorities must be allowed to use aeroplanes in whatever way they thought fit in order to bring the war to a successful conclusion. He did not want to see war waged with kid gloves; we must hit back, but the military authorities should be left to decide where and when we should hit back. Continuing the Minister of War said that the Government has given the military authorities an absolutely free hand in the use of their air craft in order to secure the best military results. Everything possible was being done at present to secure the defence of the country by means of anti-aircraft guns. There was the closest possible co-operation with the Army.

THE GREEK CABINET.

ATHENS, June 27.—The resignation of Premier Zaimis was occasioned by its decision that he could not assume the responsibility for the convocation of the Parliament of 1915 which King Constantine dissolved. M. Jannart, diplomatic representative of the Allies demanded the assembling of this Parliament in which M. Venizelos had a majority. In resigning M. Zaimis announced that King Alexander was willing to comply with the demands of the Entente. It is understood that Venizelos will be premier. Nicholas Colits, Foreign Minister of the Provisional Government set up at Salonika by M. Venizelos, probably will have the portfolio in the Venizelos Cabinet. It is expected that Admiral Condouritis will be Minister of Marine, and General Danalis, Minister of War or Chief of General Staff. Neither the Archbishop of Athens nor the members of the Holy Synod who took part in the anathematizing of M. Venizelos will be present at the administration of the oath; they will resign. Cretan Gendarmerie will act as a body guard for M. Venizelos. Proceedings have been instituted against the ringleaders in the recent demonstration.

WILL MEET THE PREMIER.

The select committee of the Newfoundland Industrial Workers Association will meet the Premier at his office at 8 o'clock to-night for the purpose of discussing the appointing of a Board of Food Control.

Patriotic Family.

Mr. J. R. Martin, of Long Pond, has recently joined the Forestry Battalion. One cannot but admire the loyalty and true patriotism of Mr. Martin. He has only one son living, and he was one of the first to enlist in the 8th Regiment, Berkley, as he is known, has gone through the Gallipoli campaign and is now taking a course in Scotland. Mr. Martin is an elderly man, quite unfit for active service, yet he offers his assistance to the Forestry Battalion. Mrs. Martin has given her only child and now her husband. What a wife! What a mother! She is quite happy, yet what a sacrifice she has given. Well can Long Pond and Newfoundland, too, feel proud to possess such a patriotic family.

Our New Ships.

How They are Being Standardized. The standard ship now being built in British shipyards to make good the loss of tonnage due to submarine warfare, is of about 8,000 tons, and all the ships already laid down are of identical pattern.

Eight thousand tons seems to have been hit upon as a middle size between 6,000 and 10,000 tons. An 8,000 ton ship shares with the 6,000 tonner the ability to enter virtually any port—a matter of considerable importance—and it has this advantage over the 10,000 tonner, that for every 40,000 tons built, the risk of loss is divided among five ships instead of four.

An eye has also been kept on the after-war value of the ships, and it is claimed that the owner who would prefer either a 6,000 or a 10,000 ton ship could, without much inconvenience, put up with a ship to carry coal or grain of 8,000 tons. There is, of course, no question of the capacity of the shipyards to make good the wastage of merchant ships when their energies are turned in that direction, but the trouble has been to get the rolling mills to turn out the plates and sectional parts with the necessary quickness.

An Increased Output.

The standardization of a large number of ships will allow the rolling mills working for long spells without alteration of the machinery, and this will greatly increase the output. The north-east coast engineers have already solved the problem of standardizing the reciprocating engine. There are two opinions on the standardization of the hulls. Some shipbuilders contend strongly that the best and quickest method would be to allow individual yards to standardize their own type of ship.

As a matter of fact, shipyards already have what may be called their standardised ship, with which their designers, foremen and workmen are perfectly familiar; and the argument is that, provided the requisite materials are forthcoming—a rather big proviso—the yards would build more quickly when working in the accustomed groove.

The opposing argument is based upon the fact that the materials cannot be produced fast enough when the orders received are for sections of varying sizes, and that rapid output is at the moment of supreme importance. Pearson's Weekly.

Many Votes Passed.

LEGISLATURE STRONGLY FAVOR NON-DENOMINATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS.

A long talk on Agricultural and Educational matters together with good headway made on the Estimates marked yesterday's sitting of the House of Assembly. After the provincial volleys of stereotyped petitions were discharged by several "over-worked" outport members, the House went into Committee on Supply. Mr. Grimes and Mr. Coaker criticized the Government's Agricultural work which is in charge of two fishery experts, Messrs. Devereaux and Downey. It was pointed out that to Providence and the high cost of living last year should be attributed the potato surplus. Messrs. Devereaux and Downey replied in long speeches. They avoided the main issue with a "red herring" in the nature of profound eloquence, the war and the future being touchingly referred to.

While dealing with the vote for the Government Engineer's Office, Dr. Lloyd pointed out that the reason a big increase of salary was given Mr. Hall was not that an agreement had been entered into with Sir Robert Bond, as the Premier and Mr. Cashin told the House a few days ago, but because the Ex-Premier had promised to consider an increase after 5 years' service.

Mr. Cashin, in reply to a question of Dr. Lloyd, said that the work of paying the extra amounts due the Naval Reservists, to bring their pay to the level of the Volunteers, had commenced.

Dr. Lloyd asked for a proportionate increase for civil service pensioners in view of the high cost of living. Mr. Cashin stated that these men were able to engage at other work if they liked.

The Central District Court scandal was again referred to and the Premier gave Dr. Lloyd the assurance that the appointment would be officially announced "at an early date."

As the Committee were discussing the vote for Education, Dr. Lloyd drew the attention of the House to the fact that the Superintendents of Education, with the approval of the ecclesiastical heads, had agreed upon establishing a non-denominational professional training school for teachers. He hoped the Government would aid the undertaking, which he thought would help to make rapid strides in educational advancement in the Colony.

The Premier endorsed the Leader of the Opposition, pointing out that it was a move in the proper direction. It was high time the difficulty of getting trained teachers was overcome by united effort as our success regarding education depended upon the ability of teachers. The House then adjourned, the votes for Civil Government, Pensions, Administration of Justice, Legislation, Education and Public Charities being passed. It is expected that the estimates will be concluded to-morrow.

Soldier Dies in Jensen Camp.

At Jensen Camp yesterday morning, No. 3525 Private A. E. Quinton, a young volunteer, passed to the great beyond. Deceased came here a short while ago from the peaceful little settlement of Southern Bay, B.B., and offered his services to the 1st Newfoundland Regiment. Being apparently in good health he was accepted, and shortly afterwards donned the King's uniform. Proud to be a soldier, he longed for the day when he would stand shoulder to shoulder with his comrades on the blood-stained fields of France, fighting for the Empire and right. But that great privilege was denied. Death came not in the form of a shell or bullet, but calmly on the wings of a peaceful morning. Though not permitted to see active service, Private Quinton has done his bit and his name will be placed on the roll of honour among those of other Newfoundland heroes. The remains were removed to the residence of Mr. Pippy, Young Street from where they will be sent to his late home.

The Beauty Baby Contest.

Hurry up for a seat to-night at Rossley's Theatre. The names have certainly come in for this competition. There will be a lot of lovely children to-night. Come and see the rising generation. Names may be sent in until 6 p.m. to-night; the ages from six months to two years. 1st prize, a lovely baby's cot; 2nd prize, silver cup, gold lined; 3rd prize, silver cup, gold lined; 4th or consolation prize, 1 dozen large photographs of baby or mother and baby as desired. This is one of the most exciting contests ever seen.
