CASCARETS 10¢

For Constipated Bowels, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Bilious Liver

The nicest cathartic-laxative in the world to physic your liver and bowels when you have Dizzy Headache, Colds, Biliousness, Indigestion, or Upset Acid Stomach is candy-like "Cascarets." One or two to-night will empty your bowels completely by morning, and you will feel splendid. They work while you sleep. Cascarets never stir you up or gripe like Salts, Pills, Calomel, or Oil and they cost only ten cents a box. Children love Cascarets too.

Sweet Eva!

CHAPTER XX.

"The man I cared for never knew it, and wouldn't have cared if he had," she said quickly. "If he had done, I would have stuck to him if he hadn't had a shilling in the world. Do you think I would have put money and—wretched things like that—first?" She laughed shakily.

"So I did the next best thing," she said again. "Because I could not do what I wanted, I didn't callibrately throw over someone I loved for your money, as you did for . . ."

"It's a confounded lie! I never threw Kitty Arlington over. I would have married her if she would have had me. Ask her, and see if she'll deny it. I told her what my position was. I begged her not to chuck me up, and she only laughed—said she couldn't bear to be poor, and . . . oh, what does it matter what she said!"

He looked at his wife with stormy eyes, and was struck by the stony pallor of her face. Somehow, in spite of all that she had suffered since her wedding day, Eva had never suspected the truth to be so bad as this. That Philip should never have loved her had been a terrible thought, but that he should have cared for someone else all the time was the crowning blow.

She drew a long breath, and for a moment closed her eyes; then she said with an effort:

"Well, at least you are honest, and I now know where I am. It only remains to be seen who can bear it the longest."

Somehow I—somehow I don't think it will be me."

"What do you mean?"

"I've told you nothing fresh—if you think you are the only one who is having the devil's own time, I can tell you that you're not. I'd give ten years of my life to be able to go back and undo all this."

Eva turned her head away; every word she spoke was like a blow on her heart.

Philip blundered on in his man's stupidity. "With regard to your brother—"

She turned on him with a little cry. "He shall never marry her. I couldn't bear it; I couldn't stand by and know that all the time you—and she . . . Oh, you can't really care for her if you can even think of allowing it; if you can even think of letting Peter bring her here . . ." She was sobbing now, tearless sobs that seemed to rend her.

"Eva . . ."

Philip put his hands on her shoulders, turning her face to the light so that he could read her expression; he was rather pale and there was a struggling uncertainty in his eyes.

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N.B., writes:—

"For years I was in a very nervous, run-down condition, was much depressed in spirits and suffered a great deal at times. The least noise would irritate me and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I consulted different doctors to no effect.

"A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can truly testify today to the great benefits received. There was a marked change before I had finished the second box and when I had used dozen boxes my nerves were thoroughly restored and I was entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have. I shall ever be ready to testify to the benefits of this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will give to others the quick and permanent relief it has given me."

happy in all her life. This was said with a downward sweep of long lashes. "Were you very angry when you 'new'?" she asked, ingenuously. "Angry!" Eva echoed. "Why should I be angry? I only want Peter to be happy."

Peter was not in the room then. "I shall do my best," Kitty answered meekly, but beneath her veiled eyes there shone an angry little light.

The Highway House seemed more beautiful to her than ever now she knew herself finally dethroned; there was something about it that all the Dennisons' wealth had failed to impart to their palatial mansion. It angered her, too, that Eva seemed so much at home and was yet quite unchanged.

Newfoundland Delegate at Irish World Congress.

W. J. Brown Opposes Backwood's Conference--Canada Will Organize Expedition to Arctic--Millions Pay Last Tribute to Dead Pope.

HARDING TAKES A HAND.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. The aid of President Harding has been enlisted by the Arms Conference for bringing Japan and China into agreement. Taking a direct hand in the negotiations for the first time, the president urged the Chinese to accept the latest compromise offer, and thus remove from the field of controversy the subject, which has been a serious obstacle to the progress of the World Conference. Whether the move is to meet with success rests with Peking. The settlement plan sponsored by Harding dealt with the return of the Peking-Tao Tsinan-Pu railroad to China under certain conditions. Other details were considered settled or likely to be.

NEWFOUNDLAND DELEGATE OPPOSES SECRECY.

PARIS, Jan. 25. After a heated debate the World Congress of the Irish Race decided today to hold secret sessions for organization of the International Irish League. The action was hotly contested and much speculation as to its purpose was provoked. W. J. Brown, Newfoundland, one of the youngest delegates, made a vigorous fight for open meetings when it was declared that the question was one of discussion in public or private "the promotion of the trade, commerce and industry of Ireland." Brown was outvoted, however, a majority of the delegates favouring secrecy for such sessions. Delegate Cleary, of Australia, severely berated the press. Eamon Dwyer, who was presiding, smiled at the members of the press during an attack, as if he deprecated this attitude, but he indicated later that he would secrecy on the question of the promotion. Delegate Brown, during his fight against the secrecy motion, criticized the general attitude of the Congress which, he said, had been in a manner worthy of a backwoods camp. Delegate Cleary in reply said there has been no fault-finding reports of the proceedings, even in the Irish press.

AMHERST TO EXPLORE ELLSMERE LAND.

AMHERST, N.S., Jan. 25. The Department of Interior will endeavor to organize a scientific expedition to the Arctic regions during the coming summer for the exploration of Ellsmere Land, according to reports received here. With the expedition would be a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the establishment of a post. Nominally Ellsmere Land belongs to Canada, but owing to the abundance of game and the whale fishery, Denmark has had a long eye fixed on the country for some time past. It lies but a few miles from their stations on the coast of Greenland. The U.S.A. have also been attracted to the country. A mounted Police post would be established to stop all speculation and make Canada the sole owner.

FUNERAL OF POPE TO DAY.

ROME, Jan. 25. The body of Pope Benedict will be buried in the Basilica of St. Peter's tomorrow. The funeral ceremony will be private, though officials of the Vatican, members of the Pontifical household, officers of the unit of the Pontifical armed force, and diplomatic officials accredited to the Vatican will be admitted to the Basilica.

FUNERAL AND CONCLAVE.

ROME, Jan. 25. With the funeral of Pope Benedict set for to-morrow, pilgrims to-day continued to arrive from all parts of Italy, camping in the open air before St. Peter's in the hope of getting a glimpse of the body. More than a million persons have filed past the catafalque in the two days in which the body has been exposed. Meanwhile foreign Cardinals continue to arrive for the conclave. The Sacred College, at which the new Pontiff will be elected, Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, is looked upon somewhat as a 'dark horse.' It is acknowledged on all sides that he is certain to poll more votes on the first ballot than any other foreign Cardinal. Interest in the election centres greatly upon its possible effect on relations between the Vatican and the Italian Government. Cardinal Maffi is represented as being supported by a group favouring rapprochement, while Cardinal Gasparri, now acting head of the church, favours a continuance of Pope Benedict's policies of tolerance without recognition. Cardinal Merry Del Val is supported by the faction favouring absolute separation. This group is thought to have a majority in the conclave. A two-thirds vote, however, is necessary for election.

SOMETHING SIMILAR HERE.

LONDON, Jan. 15. Illustration of the chaotic conditions of the political parties of the United Kingdom is afforded by the statement of Lord Robert Cecil who still styles himself as Conservative although he was elected Coalitionist in the last general elections but subsequently developed a strong antipathy to the economic and foreign policies of the Government. In a speech yesterday his lordship declared that any Government with Viscount Grey as Premier would be bound to be composed of honest men with an honest straight forward policy and whatever it was called he was prepared to support it; if formed. In a speech delivered at the Liberal Convention on Monday, Viscount Grey was given an ovation when he said his reason for returning to

DANGER OF JUST LETTING A COLD RUN ITS COURSE

Common Coughs and Colds That Hang on Persistently Are Apt to Lead to Serious Complications, Declare Authorities.

Public Warned to Beware of a Three Days' Cough and Break It Up Before It's Too Late, by Taking Asprolox, the New Scientific Discovery.

Money Refunded in Every Instance Where Asprolox Fails to Bring Relief.

Leading authorities are using every effort to arouse the public to the danger of letting common colds just run their course, for it is now definitely known that many serious lung complications such as pneumonia, grippe, etc., are the direct result of colds that hang on persistently. Colds are curable and preventable and it is a duty everyone owes himself as well as his neighbors to break up any cold they may contract before some serious disease gets him in its clutches. It is pointed out that a three days' cough is nature's warning and the time for immediate action has arrived.

Of all the cough and cold remedies, Asprolox, the new scientific treatment, which has been accomplishing such remarkable results all over the United States and Canada, probably provides the safest, surest and quickest, as well as the most practical, treatment for colds yet discovered.

According to the statements of thousands who have used it, Asprolox is almost magical in its effect. The first dose usually stops the tendency to sneezing and coughing, and relieves the feeling of discomfort, and the second and third doses usually suffice to stop the progress of a cold altogether.

The wonderful efficiency of Asprolox in breaking up a cold is best shown by the fact that all druggists are instructed to refund money in any case where it fails to give satisfactory results after three doses have been taken. Jan 24, 28, 31.

public life was that he felt it was absolutely essential "to restore wholesome and straightforward policies in the country and by the revival of the Liberal Party."

Another Denial.

Mr. George W. B. Ayre indignantly denies the imputation that he, as president of the Gas Company, abrogated the rights of Mr. Moore and selected for ulterior motives the play to be presented at the Casino by the B.I.S. Players on Monday night. This explanation is made in justice to all concerned. The "Telegram" therefore has pleasure in informing its numerous readers that "Under the Gaslight" is a high class standard production and one which it feels sure will delight capacity audiences when presented next week.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians

First Appearance of Edmund Kean.

Several new actors appeared at Drury Lane Theatre in the early part of the last century, but all paled until on January 26, 1814, an obscure country tragedian named Edmund Kean—who had been engaged in sheer desperation—a very model of a strolling player, shabby, almost shoeless, whom the mediocrities treated at rehearsal with unceasing contempt—made his appearance as "Shylock" to an indifferent and half-filled house, but when the curtain fell upon the fourth act, it was upon such a burst of enthusiasm as had not been heard since the night Mrs. Siddons first played Isabella. The next day all London was ringing with the name of the new actor, whose next impersonation was "Richard." "Just returned from seeing Kean in 'Richard,'" wrote Byron in his diary. "By Jove, he is a soul! Life, nature, truth without exaggeration or diminution." Coleridge says: "It was reading Shakespeare by flashes of lightning." The receipts rose from £100 to £600 nightly. After his third appearance Whitebread raised his salary from £8 to £20, which was considered in those days a princely wage. One week the committee presented him with £100, the next with £500, while splendid presents flowed in upon him from all sides. Society fastened upon him, flattered him, courted him, and made him the idol of the hour.

THE KINDLY NEIGHBOR.

I have a kindly neighbor, one who stands Beside my gate and chats with me And comes at times to help with willing hands.

No station high or rank this man commands. He, too, must trudge, as I, the long day's mile; And yet, devoid of pomp or gaudy style, He has a worth exceeding stocks or lands.

To him I go when sorrow's at my door. On him I lean when burdens come my way. Together oft we talk our trials o'er And there is warmth in each good-night we say.

A kindly neighbor! Wars and strife shall end When man has made the man next door his friend.

One of the best known guides in Nova Scotia gives this testimonial of MINARD'S LINIMENT:

Have used Minard's Liniment in my home, hunting and lumber camps for years, and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as sprains, bruises and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for colds, colics, etc. which one is liable to catch when log driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly. (Signed) Ellison Gray.

Fashions and Fads.

Tiny veils, formerly known as tea veils, are being worn. Silver cloth and monkey fur are combined for evening wear. Hats of black lace and taffeta are worn with sheer frocks.

A charming new jersey model has its edges bound in silk braid. The cape sleeve now appears among the smartest of frocks.

A smart beret of dark blue velvet is pierced with a matching quill. Organdie dresses have wide sashes tying in the back in a bow. A unique frock of brown velvet is veiled with chiffon of a lighter tone.

Stafford's COD LIVER OIL Compound

TONIC and TISSUE BUILDER

This combination possesses the curative properties of cod liver oil without any of the latter's disagreeable features, as well as the medicinal virtues of the other standard remedies that enter into its composition. It is palatable, effective, and does not, even in the most delicate, produce stomach disturbances and other bad after-effects that are such a drawback to the best action of cod liver oil in its crude state and many other disagreeable medicines.

BEAVER PRICES.

We thoroughly and heartily agree with the Advocate when it declares editorially that some people enjoy being fooled. Of such a class is the trappers who disposed of their beaver skins to the department of Marine and Fisheries, the special act not permitting them to do otherwise, this said act having been passed for the sole purpose of controlling the whole purchase and sale of all beavers taken in accordance with its provisions. The Minister of Fur saw to it that all pelts taken had perforce to pass through his hands or those of his assistants, but did those who sold them, as per act, participate in the profits made over and above purchase and sale prices. The Advocate claims that they did, but with such ambiguity of phraseology that it is by no means convincing. Here are its exact words, "These beaver skins are sent in by the trappers, and they are disposed of by the Marine and Fisheries Department at the best prices possible, the trappers getting the full advantage of these prices." Let the trappers who shipped beaver pelts on consignment to the Marine and Fisheries Department, tell us exactly the prices they received from the Fur Minister. We will quote directly the prices fetched by beaver quite recently at Montreal, one of the greatest fur markets on this side the Atlantic. But the point is that if the trappers reaped the benefit of advantageous sales by the department, they either did not receive their money on receipt of their parcels, or if remittances were made at once, the pro rata of profit on sales has not yet been distributed. We are rather inclined to the belief that furriers were paid outright, and that if profits accrued from the sale of skins, it went into the Treasury, and the trappers themselves did not share in the excess.

The following excerpt from the Editorial Column of the Advocate of January 17, reads rather strangely, and is altogether unconvincing of the fact that trappers were participants in the profits made by the department on beaver sales. "The department of Marine and Fisheries courts the fullest enquiry into its actions, and will be only too pleased to show the thousands of dollars which have been circulated amongst the trappers by reason of the wise legislation put forward by Mr. Coaker, and also the thousands of dollars which have been obtained because of good judgment in disposing of the skins." Very attractive language indeed, but who shared in the extra thousands of dollars obtained by the good judgment of Mr. Coaker (we presume) in disposing of the skins? If the trappers were paid C.O.D. for skins, then they are owed their ratio of extra profits which according to the Advocate have been made. We are quite willing to await the corroboration of this by the trappers themselves and if they are shown in the gain, to give due credit where it is deserving. If the thousands of dollars of extra profit went into the Treasury then the furriers have not been fairly or equitably dealt with, and they should at once demand their proportion. We do not know just what prices were paid these men by the Marine and Fisheries (Fur) Department, but we are in a position to give some prices for beavers at Montreal, as quoted in the report of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company Ltd. Out of a lot of 5,370 skins offered, realised prices were, No. 1 Extra Large $33.50 to $35; No's 1 and 2 Extra Large and Large $31.50; No's 1 and 2 Large $24.75; No's 1 and 2 Extra Large and Large $31; Dark $38.50; No's 1 and 2 Extra Large and Large $33.50; other lots $33.25; No's 1 and 2 Large $25; 1 and 2 Medium $20; 1 and 2 Small $15.50 to $15.75; Cubs $10.75 to $11.25; We have not given the whole Catalogue, but have taken several lots, in order that trappers who sold their peltries to the Marine and Fisheries Department, may obtain an idea of their value, and can compare the prices given above with those they received from the Ministry of Fur.

Twenty Years Ago To-Day.

At the House of Assembly, Sir Robert Bond, Prime Minister, delivered an eloquent speech on the second reading of the Newfoundland French Treaties Act.
A very large congregation attended the Mission given in the R. C. Cathedral by the Rev. Frs. O'Ryan, Devlin O'Doherty and Devine.
A Newfoundland team was defeated in a hockey match at Sydney by a score of 9 goals to 3.
Lord Rosebery, to test his strength against the Liberals authorized the formation of a new Liberal League, with himself President, and Asquith, Fowler and Sir Edward Grey Vice-Presidents to work in conjunction with the Opposition.

700 Men Employed

SNOW SHOVELLING ONLY.
A large crowd of unemployed assembled at the Militia Building this morning seeking work. Tickets were distributed to about 100 and these will be sent shovelling snow from around the various Government Institutions and the churches. On the Southside Road about 170 men are at work shovelling snow. The road from the Long Bridge to the Imperial Oil Co's premises was made passable during the past few days but yesterday's drift filled the cuts, which are, on an average, four feet deep and this morning the men were again sent to make a clearance. Owing to the depth of snow, work on widening the Southside Road West, has not yet started. Nor is the quarry work. On Signal Hill, however, a number of men are employed clearing away the snow drifts, and in a day or two it is expected that quarrying will begin. There are over seven hundred men from the city now on relief works.

Mr. Coaker Charges Libel.

The following letter has been received from the Hon. W. F. Coaker. We should very much like to know where the libel complained of in our items, on fish sales occurred. In any case we do not withdraw our statements.
"Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Your paper of yesterday's date again refers to the Export Company and Mr. Murrell and quotes cables in an attempt to prove that the Advocate article is untrue. Your article of last night is false from beginning to end and contains a libel upon the Company's business. No matter who sent you the cable, its contents are absolutely untrue. The assertion that Mr. Murrell is offering 550 casks in Spain has no bearing upon the broad statement that he has broken prices from 65c. to 52c. You obtain information locally from someone which is borne out by your reference to 3000 casks. I must ask you to withdraw the article of last night, or I shall be compelled to take proceedings for libel in order to protect the business of the Company. Yours truly,
W. F. COAKER."

Requiem High Mass.

Requiem High Mass for the Rest of the Soul of the late Pope was sung at the R.C. Cathedral this morning. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, was celebrant with Rev. Fr. Flynn deacon and Rev. Fr. McGrath, Sub-Deacon. Rev. Dr. Greene was Master of Ceremonies. Representatives of all the Catholic Societies and a Guard of Honour from the C.C.C. were seated near the Sanctuary. Amongst the other representatives were Hon. W. R. Warren, Minister of Justice, Sir Patrick McGrath, Legislative Council; and Sir Michael Cashin, leader of the Opposition.

Commercial Travellers' Dinner.

The annual dinner of the Newfoundland Commercial Travellers' Association will be held on Thursday next in the Grenfell Hall. This was decided at a meeting which took place this morning in the office of R. E. Innes & Co. Preparations are being made on a most elaborate scale, and this dinner promises to be the most successful in the history of an association which has been noted for events of this kind. Covers for 120 will be laid, and the guests will include several of the most prominent men in the public and commercial life of the community. Mr. R. G. Ross, president of the Association, will occupy the chair.

Clearing the Line.

The work of clearing the railway line began to-day. No trains are moving to-day but a plow special left for Carbonear and it is expected that this line will be clear to-day and that the regular shore train will be able to leave here to-morrow.
Last night was one of the stormiest ever known along the line. Strong N.W. gales raged with heavy snow drifts. The cold was severe and averaged from 8 to 10 degrees below zero. All over the line the snow lies, in many cases, to a depth of 10 feet. The storm had abated this morning.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

ENTOMBMENT OF POPE.
ROME, Jan. 26.
Final preparations went forward this morning for the entombment of Pope Benedict XV. The ceremony was to begin at three o'clock in the afternoon, and at noon the huge bronze doors of St. Peter's swung shut, excluding the public from the vast Basilica, until after the funeral. All the morning a seemingly endless stream of humanity flowed past the bier. High Masses were planned in virtually all the churches of Rome, simultaneously with a solemn and impressive service in St. Peter's, which will be held in the strictest privacy. Those attending are limited to Cardinals, members of the Pontifical household, diplomats accredited to the Vatican, and members of the Papal nobility. Benedict will be buried in the crypt beneath the floor of the Basilica, near the right of the entrance to the cathedral, the body being enclosed in three caskets, the inner of cypress, the middle of lead and the outer of polished hardwood.

GRAVELY APPREHENSIVE.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.
The Executive Committee of the Irish Unionist Alliance has adopted a resolution, declaring, "viewing with alarm the increasing anarchy prevailing in Ireland, we are gravely apprehensive that when the Crown Forces have been withdrawn, there will be no reliable protection for life and property."

BIG FIRE IN GOTHAM.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.
A fire, which broke out at six-twenty this morning in the plant of the Morse Dry Dock and Repair Company in Brooklyn, threatened a half hour later to sweep through that section of the water front covered by the Company's structures. At that time four big shops and a fire in dry dock were burning, and the fire had spread to a nearby building occupied by a contracting firm. Property owned by the Brooklyn Union Gas Company was menaced. The Morse Company's plant is one of the largest of its kind in the East. Fire originated in a garage, and exploded a large acetylene tank, which spread the fire over a large area. An oil tanker owned by the Standard Oil Company caught fire shortly before seven o'clock.

MILLIONS STARVING.

GENEVA, Jan. 26.
Nineteen million persons are suffering intensely for want of food in Russia, and fifteen million will certainly die, unless succored, Dr. Mandel told the League of Nations International Committee on relief in Russia here. He declared that the total population affected was 33,000,000 and it is now too late to save all.

Burns' Night Celebration

MANY NOVELTIES INTRODUCED.
Many novelties were introduced into the Burns' Night celebrations held by St. Andrew's Society in the C.C.C. Hall last night. Chief among these was the supper room, which by the expenditure of considerable time and care, was transformed into a creditable representation of a cafe-taria. Instead of the usual long tables several small ones, which seated four people, were installed, and these were gaily decorated with flowers. The ceiling, too, was floridly adorned and at the end of the room, a palm garden had been arranged and comfortably furnished. An Edison gramophone over which Mr. A. R. Stansfield presided, furnished music during supper. The supper room was open from 8.30 p.m. to 1 a.m., and thus prevented the congestion, too often found at local public dances. An open buffet, presided over by Ladies of the Auxiliary, provided light refreshments free of charge. The ballroom was nicely decorated and a portrait of Bobbie Burns and flags of the Society were prominently displayed. Over 150 couples attended, despite the stormy weather. Another innovation was the continuity of the dances. This obviated the long supper interval which is usually so tedious. The C.C.C. Band provided the music and had several of the latest dance selections in their repertoire. Every dance was encored several times. During the evening, a net containing multi-colored balloons, floated down upon the dancers, and presented a very pretty spectacle. The dances were interspersed by Scotch songs rendered by Miss Marguerite Mitchell, Mrs. C. F. Garland and Mr. A. Lawrence. These were very well sung and were greatly appreciated, judging by the vociferous applause which greeted these vocal efforts. To St. Andrew's Social Committee and the Ladies' Auxiliary is the credit due for the splendid success of Burns' Night, and the ultimate result and the enjoyment so plainly apparent on the faces of all present, should be sufficient reward for their efforts.

Streets Want Clearing.

A SERIOUS MENACE.
The condition of the higher levels at present is such as to make them absolutely impassable for horses and residents of that section of the city have the greatest difficulty in leaving their horses owing to the great height of the snow drifts. Several horses were bogged on LeMarchant Road this morning and had to be untacked and left to get out of the snow as best they could. This snow should be immediately removed, as it constitutes a serious menace to the whole section of the city, inasmuch that if a fire should break out it would be impossible to get the fire engines on the streets in time to prevent the conflagration from assuming serious proportions. There are hundreds of unemployed in the city, and they could be put to no more useful work than the clearing of these streets. The City Council is not in a position to do anything as it is handicapped by lacking of funds.

Smuggling Jewels in Lunch.

Sandwiches spread with gold pieces or diamonds and eggs spread with uncut gems have been successfully used by international smugglers to get such valuables out of Germany until in two recent cases the customs officials became suspicious of these travel lunches and discovered the deception. Now all "snacks" are carefully examined at the frontier.
A German merchant, whose lunch basket attracted the attention of the Polish customs officials at the frontier station of Konitz, was found to have a layer of gold coins interlarded between the layers of every sandwich and covered with a thick coating of butter, while each egg nestled a valuable diamond. The total of his confiscated hoard was estimated at 18 million Polish marks.
His fellow smuggler, a Dutch merchant, was intercepted at about the same time at the Holland frontier.
While the officials were vainly searching his baggage, they were struck by the fact that he was ostentatiously but rather nervously devoting himself to a huge sandwich. They found embedded in the bread and butter three diamond rings, a diamond brooch and a number of loose diamonds. Further search disclosed forty-four unset diamonds concealed in a cigar lighter.

Mr. P. F. Moore, M.H.A.

IN "UNDER THE GASLIGHTS" It was Shakespeare who said "Man in his time plays many parts." This is certainly true of the illustrious Phil Moore, who for forty years has been continuously before the footlights and whose bright and cheerful personality never fails to captivate his audiences. It is related that he was once cast for the part of a heartless landlord in a play called "The Foundling" produced under the direction of Mr. George E. Power, and, as ferociously moustached, he entered the lavatory cabin of the aged widow to threaten her with immediate eviction if the rent was not forthcoming, the gods of the gallery cheered him to the echo; and the more odd bloodily did he berate the good widow for her paucity of this world's goods the more did the audience rock with laughter—so much so that Mr. Moore broke down and had to join in too. Needless to say, it was his first and last attempt to depict the villain.

In "Under the Gaslight" next week he portrays the popular character of Snorkey, the one armed veteran of the Civil War, those whose instrumentality the heroism is eventually rescued from the clutches of the villainous Byke. It was Tommy Craig (reported in the world's news as recently becoming a millionaire through the discovery of an oil well in the West) who first did Snorkey here, and his jig upon the head of the pier at the wharf-rats' soiree to the tuncful accompaniment of the late Dr. George Bowden's banjo, literally brought down the house.

Doing the World in 17 Days.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF AERONAUTICS. Paris, (Associated Press)—A trip around the world in 17 days by international mailplanes is regarded as one of the possibilities of the future by airplane experts. They say 17-day schedules, with stops for deliveries at the chief cities en route, may be realized when transatlantic flying becomes a reality. A suggestion for even reducing the time to 300 hours was made by one expert, who said this would be possible if "airmen's islands" or floating fuel bases were stationed at points in the Atlantic, where the mailplanes could replenish their fuel. Such a scheme would make possible a speed of 100-miles an hour, he estimated. It is claimed that in a recent test a letter despatched from New York by land and sea went around the world in 89 days and that this is the world's record to date.

Japan Butts Into the Doll Business.

Paris.—Nonette and Rintintin, those funny little French dolls so long regarded as good luck charms, at last have a rival, who bids fair to be even more popular. He is Nikki, a chubby, plump, porcelain, Japanese doll, with painted features and sleek hair, short, fat arms and legs full of character. A pudgy hand holds a Japanese fan and his eyes and mouth are wide open as if in amazement at the approaching future. Nikki is regarded as the most attractive in the class of charms which have appeared since 1914. His quilted satin coat gives him a friendly freckle air which endears him to everyone.

Things Ain't So Worse.

Don't talk to me 'bout normalcy; 'Things ain't a hang sight worse. I've got the whole wide world in front. An' I don't need no nurse. So long as I hev got my health, I'll get my po'k and beans. Just work a little every day—An' live within my means.

Some fellers feel that they're abused If they can't live in style. Hev pie 'n' cake three times a day, To clutter up their bile. Now I was never raised a pet— Sometimes we fed on greens. Though dad he allus hed a job, An' lived within his means.

Things may look kinda glum for some— According to their notion, But folks do best who gossip less An' keep up a workin' motion. It never hurt nobody yet. Not even kine or queens. To learn a trade, or earn their feed, An' live within their means. Our little shack may somethin' lack— We don't know what just yet. It sure don't sound like normalcy But I am keen to bet. A place to sleep, a place to eat And a kettle full o' beans Would sound right smart to some folks If they lived within their means.

So let's talk of normalcy Or worry 'bout our rights. My woman says the man who wins Takes off his coat and fights. I've worked all day for 50 cents When I had money in my jeans. That's why I ain't a grumbler now— 'Cause we live within our means. —J.J.O.

Margin Trading

This is a simple and convenient way of buying good investments on account—in fact, the word "margin" means account. Ordinarily, a man who wants to buy 100 shares of a stock at $10, in the expectation of an advance, must pay down $1,000, but by the margin plan, he simply deposits $300 and the broker finances the balance, all dividends being credited to the investor. Should the stock advance to $13, the investor may sell and take $300 profit in addition to his own deposit.

It costs nothing to have a detailed explanation of the whole business—call, phone or write us.
