The work of constructing the telegraph line between Peterboro and Toronto has been commenced, and the posts are now put up for a distance of about six miles west of Peterboro.

A Grand Trunk Engine Runs Into a Passenger Train.

CHICAGO, May 5.—As the Chicago and Eastern Illinois train, with passengers coming into the city this morning from Auburn, during a dense fog, was stopped at South Englewood, and just as it was pulling out there a heavy locomotive of the Grand Trunk road, which enters the city over the same track, plunged into the rear of the train, splitting the last car and telescoping the other two, pinning the passengers among the broken timbers and flooding the interior with steam from the boiler.

It is extremely gratifying to see the amount of interest taken by the alumni of the university in the approaching senate election. This is evinced both by the number of good candidates brought forward, as well as the anxiety shown by friends for their success.

The gentlemen nominated are Prof. London, Dr. Thornburn, W. B. McCormick, M.A., R. E. Kingsford, M.A., M. Crombie, M.A., and J. H. Coyne, M.A., of St. Thomas. From these, three are to be elected. No doubt Prof. London, who has always worked hard in the interests of the university, and who is so popular among university men, will easily head the poll.

Those who prosper by stocks very often fail by them. The latest exploded millionaire, James R. Keene, rose from poverty to affluence in San Francisco, but Wall Street is the grave of the fortune which he brought east from the golden gate.

It is not probable that the reward offered by the Ontario government for the conviction of the parties who planted the dynamite cartridges in the legislative buildings will ever have to be paid over. The more the matter is coolly considered the stronger becomes the impression that the affair was a job, put up with some other than a serious intent.

Monks of Carleburgh, under whose chapel the coffin of the Count of Chambord was placed, have received from the count's widow several sets of black velvet vestments, finely embroidered with silver. A colored ceryman, now awaiting trial in New London, Conn., has made a comfortable living for the past ten years by collecting money from benevolent people for the purpose of forming a home for aged colored people in Senegambia.

Rev. Mr. Pierce was in his pulpit at St. Edward's, on a recent Sunday when Mrs. Mary Smith, a young widow, left her seat in the body of the church, and, going into the pulpit, stood beside the preacher and delivered a sermon on the text, "The church is the temple of God." She was determined to become Mrs. Pierce.

The House of Representatives, Lord Randolph Churchill, does not increase his following, but he continues to keep himself before the public eye. His latest exploit is the resignation of the chairmanship of the conservative national union, after a violent quarrel with the marquis of Salisbury. He is one of those gingery mortals who make neither good followers nor good leaders, and would require to make a star of the world all over again themselves to be suited.

For their own newspapers go out of their way to assert that they are incapable of producing a man qualified to handle a few regiments of militia. Were this true—which it is not—it would reflect severely upon our folly in spending money in supporting military schools and other institutions of the sort.

The Pittsburg man who has discovered a way of solidifying whisky, so that it can be carried around in the pocket and chewed like a cigar, has found the philosopher's stone. Every man will now become his own saloon, and the quarrel between federal and provincial license officials will peter out from sheer lack of raw material.

A large demand for gold dollars for hangings is reported from New York. This barbaric taste surprises people who have other uses for dollars than the ornamental.

The presidential campaign seems to have developed into a kind of go-as-you-please contest. New candidates are cropping up, and the Chicago convention will have a nice time in weeding them out.

His Name Saved Him. Thomas Sand, alias Perpetual Lightning, was a cognomen that so paralyzed Justice Miner at the early session of the police court this morning that he only recovered breath in time to let Thomas off on suspended sentences for being drunk.

Flowers for Editor Farver. Prairie flowers are already in bloom. Mrs. A. J. Link of Broadway, N.Y.T., picked some beautiful specimens a few days ago, and has presented the Times with a bunch. It is quite early in the season for wild flowers.

From the Montreal Star, May 1. The commercial travelers and the mercantile community generally are somewhat exercised over the announcement of the authority of some high officials of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific, that the railways in the domain have come to an agreement not to grant any special privileges to commercial travelers in future other than those afforded to the general public in the shape of thousand mile tickets, with additional privileges in regard to baggage and samples.

The Mail and the Archbishop. To the Editor of The World. Sir, One would imagine from the amount of dust kicked up by the archbishop, that the archbishop was engaged in the conspiracy case, or in some way plotting against the constitution. It works itself into a terrible fury and talks about his grace's politics in '67, and contrasts them with those entertained by him in '83, as a matter of course showing the degradation to which the learned prelate has fallen, or in other words because he saw through the tory machinations and gave his influence to the reformers.

Another gentleman, one of the oldest members of the association, remarked that he was not surprised that the railway companies were taking action to protect themselves, as they had been defrauded to an almost incredible extent by dishonest traveling agents. This, he said, he had applied more to the members of the association than to the Montreal Board, as numerous means are resorted to, to defraud the company. Some travelers had entered into collusion with the conductors and baggage men, and using pass words, etc., to operate as members of a secret organization.

Mr. Woodworth, secretary of the Dominion Travelers' Association, stated that he did not think that a change in railway rates could be enforced until next year, as an agreement had been arrived at in November between the railways and the association for that purpose. He said that the rates for the year. Although he did not think that that effect had been fully understood that some change in the direction referred to was pending.

Went of the Cloister. From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Miss Louise K. Taylor, daughter of the late George B. She has commenced a suit in the circuit court against her sister, Ida R. Taylor, John McElroy, and a trivial matter to recover possession of a large amount of real estate which was bequeathed to her by her father's will.

Solved the Mystery. An optical illusion show came to an abrupt close in Menominee, Wis., the other day. After Mr. and Mrs. Rhoda had exhibited the "living head" a party of hibernians, full of whisky and curiosity, jumped over the rope, separating the audience from the show, tore away the curtains, found a whole woman standing between mirrors, and were so mad at finding themselves so grossly deceived, that they snatched her up in small pieces, and came near making the exhibitors dine off her.
