The Song of the Unknown Heroes. Let me sing a song for the hero Who fell unnamed, unknown-The common soldier, lying eath no costly stor Who fought where the foe was strongest And after the day was done, Was merely among "the missing Nine hundred and sixty-one."

Let me sing a song for the bero
Who knelt at the rail to pray
While the boats with the weeping wome
And children were rowed away—
Who being a man and gifted
With the strength God gives to men,
Was one of the "hundred sailors"
Who will ne'er tread deoks again.

Let me sing a song for the hero Who weary, wasted wan— With disease and the world against him— Toiled hopefully, bravely on— Who robbed of earth's choicest pleasures Could smile as he wrought away,
And lies with the unnamed millions
Awaiting the Judgment Day.

Let me sing the song of the heroes
Who died unknown, unnamed,
And my song shall be of the bravest
That Death and the grave e'er claimed
And my song shall live the longest Of all the songs e'er sung, And still be the song of heroes When the last sad knell is rung!

Over and over and over, the songs of our

-To the average observer it would seem that this county is about to enter into an era of prosperity such as it has not hitherto known. Throughout the province a steady though this development has been more apparent in other localities, still the leaven has been working here, and now the people are able to point to the signs by which they hope security, at moderate interest. Apply to O. S. MILLER. to achieve a great industrial gain. Within town to Victoria Beach. This means unbe in operation, and without straining at the possibilities for local profit, which will follow the establishment of these enterprises, it will be sufficient to count them as ready week in June and sold from $2.50 to $2.75 agents in the distribution of currency that | per bbl. would not otherwise be put in circulation here. The county cannot fail to benefit largely by their establishment from the start. Then we have every reason to believe that the county is a to be seen largely by their establishment from the stat.

Then we have every reason to believe that the extensive iron mines at Torbrook will soon be re-opened and mining and smelting carried on on a large scale. There has been carried on on a large scale. According to promise Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave up the day to the discussion of the Prohibition question on Tuesday. Mr. Flint opened the debate speaking in support of his motion for Prohibition by Provinces. Several members spoke to the question, smog them Sir Wilfrid, who defined the position of the government on this matter very clearity. He held that Mr. Flint's proposal to enact prohibition by provinces was contrary to the national idea, and would not be entire tained by the present government. He for the he enactment of a prohibitory law, but will be charged, and the public are cordially invited to attend.

H. Munro, Centre field. H. Phinney invited to attend.

The prohibition by provinces was contrary to the national idea, and would not be enter tained by the present government. He further held that the time was not ripe for the enactment of a prohibitory law, but promised to amend the Scott Act, and make it more effective. The Parmalee amend ment, declaring that the plebiseite did not warrant a prohibitory law, carried 98 to 41.

This action of parliament mat be very disappointing to right-thinking citizenter. Better things were hoped from the present government but it is now painfully evident that the prohibition plebiacite was farce number two. The present government and their predecessors are quite. It only remains now for the people of Canada to change the completion of parliament by eliminating therefrom in so far as possible every buyer, seller and dinker of intoxicating liquor, and everyone who will give counter ance to any of these classes. We must look to temperance organizations and the good clean people of the community to effect the schange.

most capacity when the moment arrived for the nomination to be made. When the call of States began, for the purpose of placing candidates in nomination, Alabama yielded its place at the head of the list to Nebraska, and Oldham of that state made his way to the platform for the initial speech, placing Mr. Bryan in nomination for the Presidency. This was a signal for the demonstration of the day and in a common purpose the great cencourse joined in a tribute of enthusiastic devotion to the party leader.

Next to the demonstration for the party candidate, the announcement that imperialism was to be the paramount issue of this compasign was the most spontaneous and significant of the day. Senater Tillman read the platform and with measured ferce brought out the fact that imperialism was now given the first and supreme place among the issues of the party.

That the delegations were in complete sympathy with this expression was shown by the terrific and leng sustained applause lastinglover twenty-two minutes, and exceeding the ovations usually accorded the faverites of the party.

It was in December, 1894, that Miss Kingsley started on her se ond journey to the Congo, her chief object being to study the fishes. Her fishing ex pedition she carried out mostly by "paddlin her own canoe." She used to go down the river to watch the natives fishing with their traps, and when she saw an interesting fish success in dealing with the natives to the fact that she never lost her temper with then and used jokes instead of hard words.

Miss Kingsley considered that the Africa women's position had been greatly exagger ated by travellers, who being men, had had small opportunity of judging. As a woman she could, and did, mix freely with them an study their domestic life. The marriage b purchase system was the only one held them in any respect, and to have marriag merely for love was considered by them quit a disgrace. Tooothache.

THERE ARE SEVERAL KINDS DUE TO VERY DIFFERENT CAUSES. There are several kinds of toothache, du to very different causes, and as not all sorts are capable of relief by the same means, it is useful to be able to distinguish among them. One form of toothache is due to disease of parts about the tooth, and still another to neuralgia of the nerves, the teeth themselves being perhaps perfectly sound. The most common toothache is caused b toosth. The pulp is a soft materia filling the centre of the tooth and sefving as a bed for he nerve and the blood vessels. When the blood vessels are charged, as they are in case compressed, since the hard walls of the tootl prevent expassion, and so the nerve is pressed

The ache so caused is fierce and throbbing (a jumping toothache). It is worse when he sufferer stoops or lies down, and is in creased by contact with cold or hot water r food, with sugar or salt, or with the all The only difference between the pain of a congested tooth-pulp and that of an inflamed pulp is that the latter is worse.

If in a case of toothache of this kind there is a cavity resulting from decay of the tooth, the pain can usually be relieved by the in sertion of a little pledget of cotton soaked in oil of cloves. Severe toothache may be caused by inflam mation of the socket of the tooth, which may go on to an abcess, with swelling of the face and great distress. In this case the tooth is sore when tapped or pressed upon. The pain is severe and continuous- not intermittent, as in inflammation of the pulp-and is usual ly relieved a little by cold, but aggravated

Sometimes relief is afforded by cold applications to the cheek: but of sourse should be sulted as early as possible in order that the inflammation may be controlled be it re sults in the formation of an abcess. The worst form of toothache, or at least

-Sam Taylor. When the Prince Bored Her. Here is the latest anecdote concerning the Prince of Wales. A young lady was presented to him at a social function, and, not knowing how long she should talk to him, she naively requested him to tell her when she should leave him. "On the contrary," said the Prince, "it is for you to tell me when you are bored." Later His Royal Highness asked where the young lady was born. "At X. I have lived there all my life." "How many years did you say you lived there?" inquired the Prince. "I am bored, sir," said the lady quietly. Little Johnny Knew Why. A good story is told of Lady Minto's visit permission to ask the pupils a few questions She chose as her topic the war in South Africa, and asked why the English were not successful at first. "Because there were no Canadians there,"
