

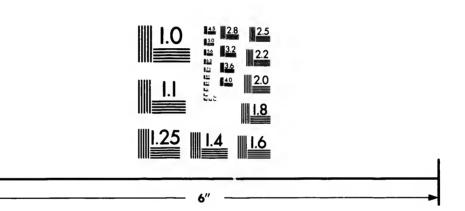

IMAGE EVALUATION TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic Sciences Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580 (716) 872-4503

STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

CIHM/ICMH Microfiche Series. CIHM/ICMH Collection de microfiches.

Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions / Institut canadian de microreproductions historiques

(C) 1982

Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

TI to

Profile file

O be the side of fire side or

Ti sh Ti

M dif en be rig re-

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.						L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui cont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.
	Coloured of Couverture		r					ed pages/ de couleui	•
	Covers dar Couverture		gée					damaged/ endomma
	Covers res Couverture								nd/or lami et/ou pell Cover title Le titre de	_	manque			V			d, stained s, tachetée
	Coloured r Cartes géo	•	en coule	ır				detached/ détachées
	Coloured in Encre de c		_		• •	V	Showt Transp	hrough/ arence
	Coloured p							of print v i inégale d	aries/ e l'impress	ion
	Bound wit Relié avec	h other ma d'autres de							nentary ma Itériel supp		re along inter	ing may ca ior margin serrée peut le long de i	/ causer de	l'ombre o			Seule	dition avai adition dis		oscured b	y errata
	Blank leaves added during restoration may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming/ Il se peut que certaines pages blanches ajcutées lors d'une restauration apparaissent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont pas été filmées.					slips, tissues, etc., have been refilmed to ensure the best possible image/ Les pages totalement ou partiellement obscurcies par un feuillet d'errata, une pel etc., ont été filmées à nouveau de façon à obtenir la meilleure image possible.				ed to nt ne pelure comments sires supple		B:
	item is film
10×	locument es (it filmé au 14X	taux de ré	duction inc	diqué ci-d	essous. 22X		26X		30X
		j
	12X		16X		20X		24X		28X		32X

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

ails

du difier une

nage

rata o

elure.

32X

Library Division
Provincial Archives of British Columbia

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the lest page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Library Division
Provincial Archives of British Columbia

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant per le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents.
Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

1

1	2	3
		•

4

5

			2 3
1	2	3

6

Pacific N. W. History Dept, PROVINCIAL LIBRARY
VICTORIA, B. C.

Fa

Pri

ANEW

DESCRIPTION

OF THE Live

WORLD:

OR, A

Compendious Treatife of the Empires, Kingdom, States, Provinces, Countries, Islands, Cities and Towns of Europe, Asia, Africa and America: In their Scituation, Product, Manusactures, and Commodities, Geographical and Historical.

WITH

An Account of the Natures of the People, in their Habits, Customes, Warrs, Religions and Policies, &c.

AS ALSO

Of the Rarities, Wonders and Curiofities, of Fishes, Beasts, Birds, Rivers, Mountains, Plants, &c. With several Remarkable Revolutions, and Delightful Histories.

Faithfully Collected from the best Authors,

By S. Clark.

LONDON,

Printed for Hen. Rhodes next Door to the Swan Tavern, near Brides-Lane, in Fleet-Street, 1689. 910.3 CE95

Licensed,

August the 11th. 1688.

bal con fo

top nes to Do

李李泰泰泰泰泰泰泰泰泰泰

THE

Introduction

Addressed to the

READER

tor of the Universe thought it in Eternal Wisdom convenient to build the Mansion, all Creatures now inbabited, he left nothing undone that might contribute to the Glory and Magnificence of so great a work; and lest Mankind, the top of the Creation, should grow supine, and neglect the filling or peopling every part of so admirable a Frame, he even compelled them to do it by confounding their Language at Babel, and thereby obliging them as they multiplied, to scatter over the Face of the 365512

The Introduction

Earth, that none of his windercus works might remain obscure or unobserved to those for whose use and pleasure they were made; by which means the people in sundry Tribes, wandering from place to place, increaching by degrees, as men began to multiply, planted themselves in the most advantagious Countries, every one striving for the hist: howe-ver, through Wars, Pestilence, Irondations, and other strange Revolutions and Accidents, it is past all peradventure, that the bad as well as the good found possessions, as at this day. Though, Reader, I shall not trouble you in this place, with entring upon the crigi-nal Peopling of Kingdoms and Countries, its to particulars; but let you know that my care has been to present you with Geographical and Historical Description of the World as it formerly stood, and at present stands: and though upon first thought it may seem strange, that in so small a Volume so large a one can be contained, yet upon perusal you will find that nothing material is omitted, that can be required to render satisfaction upon this occasion: insomuch, that by well considering this Wirk, a mean Capacity may suddenly know bow the Worlds mighty Fabrick is disposed, and Soon become acquainted with every Country under Heaven, enough to render him capable.

Goo Cre the Lar Rol

than Aff Pole

King ting and

men I re

Addressed to the Reader.

s work's

to those

Tribes,

oaching

planted

Coun-

howe-

lations,

cidents,

bad as

at this trouble

e crigi-

intries;

nat my

aphical d, as it

: and

range, ne can ll find at can this dering know (posed, Counr him apable

Goodness of the Almighty, in his VV orks and Creatures, but readily Discoursing, even with the most knowing Travellers, and without he karding the danger of treacherous Seas Winds, Robbers, and a VV orld of Inconveniencies that attend an expensive search into these Affairs; securely Travel in Imagination from Pole to Pole. For to be brief, there is no Kingdom, Province, or Estate, that is wittingly left out of this History or Treatise; and as to what is most material, the Account is considerably large; wherefore recommending it to the benefit of my Country Men, I remain Reader,

Your Friend to serve,

In what I may,

S. Clark.

Of

of EUROPE, a brief DESCRIPTION.

UROPE is the least of the Four parts of the World, yet nothing inferiour in Goodness to the rest, in the Generosity of People, Riches, Worth and Vertue, and exceeding them, if we confider the Flourishing of the True Religion; and is said to take its Name from Europa the Daughter of Agenor King of Phanicia; containing many Flourishing Kingdoms and Provinces; as will appear in the sequel. And is accounted in length 2800 miles; In breadth 1200; bounded on the West, with the main Ocean; on the East, with the Ægean Sea, Pontus Euxinus, the Fenns of Mastis, and the Kiver Tanais; from which a right Line conjecturally drawn from the Bay of Granvicus, it is dis-joined from Asia; In the North, it is bounded with the Hyperborean Sea; and on the South, with the Mediterranean, divided into Continent, and Islands, the Continent Intire, and the Islands dispersed, In the Greek, Ionian, Ægean, Adriatick, Mediterranean, Cretan, and Northern Seas; divided chiefly into ce, Spain, Italy, the Alps, Germany, Britain, ium, Denmark, Swedeland, Hungary, Sclavonia, Russia, Poland, Dacia, and Greece; with the disperfed Islands. And in Europe, beside the Latin Tongue, ium, Denmark, Swedeland, Hungary, Sclavonia, Russia, Poland, Dacia, and Greece; with the dispersed Islands. And in Europe, beside the Latin Tongue, which is now rather Scholastical, than National, there are other diversities of Language, besides the Italian and French, supposed to be corruptly derived from the Latin; and has been Famous by twice giving Laws to the World, during the flourishing of the Greek and Roman Empires; and at this day, though the least of the sour parts, it excels, in what may be called solid good, the other Three, &c.

A Queen she Reigns, upbeld by strictest Fate, Whilst th'other Three, on her on Hand-Maids wait, With Tribute Glories, to enrich her State.

scrip

TION.

irts of the odness to Riches, n, if we ion; and ughter of Flourishear in the o miles; with the ean Sea, the Kiecturally lif-joined h the Hy-Mediterinds, the i, In the erranean, efly into Britain, clavonia. e disper-Tongue, National, fides the otly deriby twice urishing his day, in what Gc.

ait.

Geographical

AND

Historical Description

OFTHE

KINGDOM

FRARCE.

In its Particular Countries, Provinces, Cities, Towns, &c.

HE Flourishing Kingdom of France, being the nearest part of the Continentuon which we border; I have thought, for the observing the most regular method, to begin this History of the World, with the Description of it, and its appendances,

As for France, or so much as is generally under flood of it; it is bounded on the East with a brance of the Alps, passing between Dauphin and Peimon Switzerland, Savoy, some part of Germany, and the Neitherlands; on the West with a Branch of the P reenian Mountains, dividing Spaine, and with the A quitane Ocean; on the North with the Britis Seas, and part of Belgium, and has on the South the rest of the Pyreenian Mountains, and 5the Mediter ranian Sea, being in a manner Square; accounted it Length, from Calais to Toulon 620 Miles, reckoning 73 to a Degree, and in Breadth from the border of Lorain to Brest, or from Nice in Peimont to Bay Norbo on 492 Miles, though of late the Teretories hav led the been much inlarged by the new Conquests and Ac Lang quisitions, but being to speak of them in the Coun heir tries where they properly have their Scituation, mous willingly here omit them. makin

This Country is called by the English France, by for the Italians Francia, and so by the Spaniards; by the Germans Franckreich, by the Turks Alfranguabili, and is the ancient Gallia of Casar and Pliny; lyin while and is the antient Gallia of Casar and Pliny; lyin excellently in Compaction, between the most Flor other rishing Kingdoms and States of Europe, Scituate is and the middle of the North Temperate Zone, between the North Temperate Zone, between the middle of the North Temperate Zone, between the North Temperate Zone, bet the middle of the North Temperate 2011e, between and the middle Parralells of the Fifth Clime, where the middle Parralells of the Eighth Clime, where they extend to 10 the Hours and a half: So that the Air is very Health The ful, the Country every where Rich and Fertile, and ales Towns, no less than 4000 being reckon'd of note, of De specially the greatest part of them, and was Distinge K guished by four Parts or Divisions, when the Right the mans (not without great blood-shed) brought with under their Subjection, viz.

by the I. The Narbonensis, or Bracatta, containing Daw eroling phin, Languedock, and a part of Savoy. 2. Aquita nd h mica

co,

ugu

mini

Pereg

mana

pirt

of Bu

conta

and t

norius

Spain

3.

eco, taking is denomination from the City Aqua Augusta, and now known by that of d' Ae que. conmining Gascoigne, Limoisin, Guinne, Sanctogne, Querci, Peregort, Bourbonnois and Aurergne.

ally under

th a brance

ind Peimon

y, and the

of the P

with the A

he Brittil

ccounted i

3. Celtica, comprehending the Provinces of Nor. mandy, Britagne, Anjou, Tourain, Maine, Labeaufe, pert of Campagne, the Isles of France, the Dukedom e South the of Burgundy, and the County of Lionoise. 4. Belgica, the Mediter containing Picardy, a part of Campaigne, Burgundy, and the Spanish Netherlands: But in the time of Hos, reckoning norius the Emperor, the Goths having over-run the border spain and Italy, sent their Forces to Invade the ont to Bay Norbonensian Gauls, and having Subdued them, caletories hav led their Country Langue de Goth, and from thence ests and Ac Languedock; nor did they stay here, but extended n the Counseir Conquests to the River Ligeris, now the Facituation, mous Loire, founding themselves a Kingdom, and making Tholouse the Regal Pe'dence; nor was it long France, b before the Burgundines, or Burgundians, who had aniards; b sated themselves in a part of the Country of Cass Alfrangua bii, and some of the Teretories of Brandenburg, Pliny; lyin syning with the Vandles and Sweths, seized upon Pliny; lyin syning with the Vandles and Sweths, seized upon ther parts of France, and grasped them with so Scituate is and a hand, that they in spight of Opposition ne, between sounded themselves a Kingdom, called the Kingwhere the continuous of Burgundy, but afterward reduced to a Dukement of Burgundy, but afterward reduced to a Dukement of French King.

The Kingdom of France is Hereditary to the Fertile, and the Heir or Eldest Son is stilled.

Cities and Saliq; Law, and the Heir or Eldest Son is still d of note, Dauphin of France; nor can the Younger Son of was Disting King, by the Law of Apennages, have any part brought archy has been upheld ever fince the Year 420, taining Dan arolinian and Capitine, in a Descent of 63 Kings; 2. Aquita and here the Christian Religion is held to be first

mica

Planted amongst the Gaules by Martialis, but a Planted amongst the Gaules by Martialis, but a mongst the French, or the latter settled People of porder the Kingdom, by Remigius, much latter: as for the ugment Arms Royal, now boren by the Kings, they are siles of Three Flower de Luces Azure, in a Field Or, be the ming a Device taken by Charles the Sixth.

This Kingdom is composed of Estates, and Orden near the threefold, viz. the Clergy, the Nobility, and the lock and Commons; and here are usually found 16 Arch-Billianed Chaps, and 106 Rishard not accounting these of Arch-Billianed Thops, and 106 Bishops, not accounting those of Ar side of ras, Tournay, and Perpignan; 16 Abbots Heads of bove Orders and Congregations, and about 30000 Cu Burgum rate-ships: and not accounting other Governments Frehen there are 12 Peers chiefly appointed, or ancient he; u Peer-ships, besides others of new Creation, and the e, Sa. Order is that of the Holy Ghost. There are like ne; a wise 11 Parliaments, 8 Chambers of Accounts, 22 The Publick Places of Receipt, or Generalities of the of Fra Rings Revenues.

The Rivers of this Kingdom are principally Four Riches viz. the Rhone, or Rosne, the Loire, the Garonne, and ficent the Seine; who receive into them many other Rie dorne vers, and wash the Walls of the chief Ciries and and nu Towns, &c. the first arising about 3 Miles from most in the head of the River Rhine, the second about the ince.

Mountains of Avergne, the third from the Pyree Englar nian Hills, and the Fourth has its Spring in Bur the El zundy.

The Mountains of most note are those of Averg pain, ne, part of the Alps, and the Pyreenes, on the late leaux, ter of which Nature strangely expresses her self, for Claren by Ea wealthy France, are altogether barren, but that to of the wards Spain exceeding Fruitful, as if it had divested of Quit self to cloath the one, and robbed the other.

In the Year 1614 Lovis the 13 convened the Ening lates of the Provinces under 12 Heads, or great ed who Governments, four of which lying towards the North, Heart he Cl of Pen

bor of no

s, but a

eople of porder upon the Seine, and the other Rivers that is for the higment its Stream, viz. Picardy, Normandy, the they are illes of France and Campaigne, adjoyning towards Or, be the middle to the Loire, Orlenoise, Britagne, Burguudy, and Lionoise; and the other Four towards the South, d Orden mear the Garonne, viz. Dauphin, Guienne, Laugueand the lock and Provence; and under the Orlenoise are con-Arch-Bi sained Maine, Perche and Beauce: on the hither see of Ar side of the Leire, Nievernois, Anjou and Touraine; and Heads of above this River beyond Pollou, ernments prehended Lionois, Auvergne, Burbounois, and Marr ancien he; under Guienne is Bearne, Gascogne, and Guien-, and the e, Saintogne, Perigort, Limosin, Querci, and Roverare like he; and under Languedock is found Cevenes.

ounts, 22 The chief Cities are, r. Paris, situate in the Isle es of the of France, anciently called Lutetia, by reason of the Clayeness of the Ground about it; which for ally Four Riches, Stateliness of Building, the many Magniconne, and licent Pallaces and Churches, that every where other Richest and number of its Inhabitants, may compare with liles from nost in Europe. 2. Lions, or Lugdunum. 3. Orleabout the ince. 4. Bullogne. taken by Henry the Eighth of the Pyree England 1544. 5. Amiens. 6. St. Quintiens, where ig in Bur the English Forces under the Command of the Earl of Pembrook, in the Quarrel of Philip the Second of of Pembrook, in the Quarrel of Philip the Second of Averg Spain, overthrew the French, Anno 1557. 7. Burn the late leaux. 8. Roane or Rovenysenlis. 10 Rhemes. r felf, for Claremont. 12. Tholouse. 13. Calais, which being taken rich and by Edward the 3 of England, remained in the hands it that to of the English 220 Years, and was lost in the reign diversed of Queen Mary, soon after the Battle of St. Quintither. nes, and the occasion, as many conjecture of hasted the E. ning her end, she giving out, That if she were openor great ed when dead, they might find Calais written on her the North, Heart, &c. Many other Cities and Towns there are bor of note, whose names for brevities sake I must omit and in general proceed to say; there is no Kingdom better stored with considerable places, nor more abounding in plenty of what ever may conduce, to the Commodity and suport of Humane Life; abounding with almost all the sundry sorts of Fruits that Europe produces, as also store of River and Sea-Fish; a great number of Cattle, plenty of Wine, Corn, Salt, Linnen Cloth, Flax, Hemp, Wool, Saffron, Paper, and many other Products and Manufactories, very considerable; for which the Natives, Gre. as it were command the Commodities, or ready Money of most Countries; as for the Coins those chiefly in use, are the Pistole of Gold, and the Crown of Silver.

As for the people of this Kingdom, they are great pretenders to Antiquity, deriving their Original, as to the Inhabitants of the Country from Meseck the fixt Son of Japher, though the first Inhabitants mentioned with any credit in History, were the antient Gauls, a people thrifty and valiant; who under the leading of Bellovessiss, conquered the heither part of Italy called Gallia Cisalpina, and soon after under the conduct of Segovesus, subdued a great part of Germany, nor resting there, under Brennus another of their Commanders; they discomsited the Roman Army and Sacked even Rome it felf, and so passed Conquering on into Asia, where they fixed a Government, calling it Gaul-Asia, since corruptly Gallatia, on which the Learned Dubartas discants, viz.

The Antient Gaul in roving every way, As far as Phoebus darts his Golden Ray; Seiz'd Italy the Worlds proud Mistriss sack't, Which rather Mirs than Romulus compact: Then Spils Pissidia, Missia doth Inthraul And midst of Asia plants another Gaul.

at Gentral, being ck Rent thinks ti- verty

Wine aft th atter In

The

ffick

haviou

Comp

ly: fam

taking

too Au

The

than Q

though

others

and a

ing th

and th

penic but w abate of the yet b frequ Thir Fort brou with abov

ty W

less

to le Nob

re is no aces, nor conduce, Life; 3of Fruits and Seaof Wine, ool, Saf-H Manuthe Nabmmodis for the of Gold, are great Original, 1 Meseck habitants the antino under ther part er under part of another the Rod so pasfixed a orruptly discants,

The present Inhabitants though somewhat fanaffick, are generaly of a free and curreous Behahaviour, kind to strangers, and extremely given to-Complement; the Women are likewise wonderfully familiar even with Strangers especially in Speech, taking it for a great peice of breeding, not to be too Auftere or Reserved.

Their Apparel for the most part is rather Gay than Costly, made of light Stuffs and slight Silks, &c. though the Country people are distinguished from others; by the Men's wearing a large pair of Breeches and a Coat to their Knees; and the Womens attireing their Heads, or rather wraping them in Linnen, and these are in a manner Drudges, or Slaves, to the Gentry, especially such as are their. Land lords, they being all of them Tenants at Will, and have their Rent raised as the Land improves, or as the Lord hinks fit; which is the occasion of their great Po-verty; for although many of them hold Farms of Wine and Corn, they have scarce the happiness to ast the first, or eat any good Bread made of the atter.

In Arts and Manufactury, the French are very Ingenious, and in War very furious, at the first onset, but with the change of Fortune their courage soon abates; though Cafar confessed that he slew 110000. of them before he could bring them into subjection; yet by a small power of the English, they were frequently worsted; in the Reign of Edward the Third, and almost the whole Kingdom, after the Fortunate Battle of Azin-court, Conquored and brought under subjection by Henry the fifth, who with 15000. men, only overthrew an Army of above 100000. in which the flower of their Nobility were either Slain, or taken Prisoners: Nor is it less the Fortune, or rather missortune in all Battles, to have the greatest storm of War fall upon their Nobility.

The

The.

The things worthy of Note in this Illustruous Kingdom, are the Cathodral Church of the Bleffed Virgin in Paris, Vulgarly called Notrodam; supported by 120. Pillars, whereof 12. are very great, but the remainder indifferently large, and in the midst of the Church is a Chancel, accounted 7 1 paces in length, and 60 in bredth; and in the Circuit or Circumference, it hath 45 Chappels, and is closed with Iron Gates, and two double doors in the front, adorn'd with the Statues of 28 Kings; and on the fides are four Towers of Bell-fries of 44 Cubits in height, and a Bell so large called St. Mary, that 24 Men The Seven Wonders are required to Ring it out. of Dauphin, viz. The burnig Fountain, the Inaccessable Mountain, the Tower of Sanevenin, the Wine-fats of Sassinage, the Wine Fountain, the Manna of Briancon, and the Fountain of Barberon; which Rarities see at large in Allard Sylva: The Statue of Joan the Pencelle, who affisted the French against the English, and raised the Seige of Orleance, acting many Wonders in feats of Arms, till taken by the English and burnt for a Witch: As for the Building, in Cities and confiderable Towns, it is mostly of rough Stone, Plastered and rough cast over flat roofed; and commonly 4, 5, and 6 Stories. And now to France I might add the new aquisitions, but more of them hereafter.

The chief Islands are Rhee the our-work of Rochle, in attempting the Relief of which the English lost many brave men in the year 1627. The strong Bell Isle, Venetica San. Colosus, Salt, Nermoustier, Oleron Vliaras, where our King Richard the Third, as Lord of the Sea, gave those Laws Marine so much in request, and known as the Laws of Olerone, Rochle, famous for the fiege it sustained against the whole power of France; Ovissant over against the Lizard, and in the Mediterranian are the Isles of de Eres by Rtolomie, called the Stanchades.

Hisper towa the P are Ocea on th the F is for conta the n Zone hour bred A their fome Son who that peop it, c cert plan nor till

cam

into

race

don

file

Eaf

The Discription of the Kingdom of Spain, in its Provinces, &c.

Europe, formerly called by the Greeks Iberia and Hiperia enviored on every side by the Sea, except towards France; from which it is parted only by the Pyreenian Mountains: The Seas that bound it are the Cantabrian on the North, the Atlantick Ocean on the West, and the Straights of Gibraltar, on the South; on the East with the Mediterranian; the Pyreenians bearing only to the North East, and is formed by Strabo, in the shape of an Oxes Hide; containing as well Pritugal as Spain, Scituated in the most Southern part of the Northern Temperate Zone; so that the longest day exceeds not 15 hours, accounted 760 miles in length, and 600 in bredth.

As for the Original of this People in Relation to their possessing the Country, Authors disser; for some will have them to be of the Progen; of Tubal Son of Japhat, as being the decendants of the Iberij who entred the Kingdom under Pannus: Others that they are derived from the Celta, a powerful, people decended from Alchenaz, who first peopling it, called the whole Country Celtiberia; but more certain it is, that the Phonicians sailing from Tyre, planted Collonies here, and after them the Rhodians; nor did the Carthagenians fail in a manner to subdue it, till being worsted in the second Punick War, it became Tributary to the Romans, who devided it into 3 Provinces, viz. Bætica, Lusitanica and Terraconensis; the first of these containing the Kingdoms of Andeluzia and Granata; part of New Castile and Estremadure, Inhabited by the Turdulic Eastward, and by the Celti towards the West; Lufitania.

The

llustruous e Blessed

suppor-

d in the 7 r paces ircuit or

ofed with tadorn'd

fides are n height,

24 Men

Wonders

he Inac-

enin, the

ain, the arberon;

French

Orleance,

ill taken for the

ns, it is cast over

Stories.

uisitions,

f Rochle,

lish lost

e strong

tier, Ole-

hird, as

o mnch

, Rochle.

whole Lizard,

Eres by

The

situatia contained Portugal, and part of Old and New Caffile, and the remaining part was comprehended in Terragon; and again they laid it into two parts, comprehending the two first Provinces in one; and fo it remained till the time of Honorius the Emperor. when Gundericus King of the Vandels, broke in and over-run it with a numerous Army, Anno 400; but had not well settled themselves before the Goths Invaded, it and drove the new possessors into Affrica; and in the year 720. under the conduct of Musa and Tarrif, who were invited in by Julian, with a greatArmy of Moors and Saracens entred warring upon the Goths and after a Battle of seven days became Victorious dividing the Countrey amongst them; so that at last it fell into 12 divisions, viz. Leon Oviedo. Navarre, Corduba, Gallicia, Bisca, Tolledo, Murica, Castile, Portugal, Valentia, Catalonia and Aragon; and fo they stand at this day: wherefore I proceed to speak of them in their order and due places.

Leon had heretofore the Name of Austria, and is a very pleasant Country, yielding Mines of precious Mettal, some Gold, Red Lead, and Vermillion, though otherwise not very fruitful, as being some-what Mountainous, yet gives Title to the Eldest Son of Castile, notwithstanding sew Towns of note are found in it.

Navarr is a Kingdom of great Antiquity, bounded on the East, with the Pyreentan Mountains, on the West with Iberim, North Biscay, and South Aragon; being a Campaign Country, not subject to Woods, or Inclosures, yet abounds with Trees in the nature of Hedg-rows, considerably fruitful, and has for Its chief Cities, Visteria, Sanguessi, Viana, and Pampelune, Garisoned as the chief desence of the Spaniards, against the Incursions of the French in time of War, who's King, though wanting the Possession, has the Title of that Kingdom, the Revenues whereof has been cstimated at One hundred Thousand Duckets.

Corduba

Cordi Fish, vers fa which ath. C which other ble; Gompo St. Jarrhey plants breed many thoughten below Bilbon try, have hund

Mine To the or T Refid Trac fhop King

dred

and New ehended vo parts, ne; and Emperor, e in and oo; hur Goths In-Affrica; of Musa n, with a rring ups became them; so n Oviedo. urica, Cagon; and occed to tria, and of pre-Vermilas being e Eldest of note y, bounains, on Aragon; Woods. e nature has for nd Pame Spanitime of dessiion, wherenouland

Corduba

Corduba, is a very fruitful Province, accounted and judged, (as it is) the richest in all Spain, abounding in Cordivant Skins, Mallago, Sherry, Oranges, Cattle, Fish, Corn, great store of Fowl; and has in it divers fair Cities; as 1st, Corduba the Principal from which it takes its Name. 2d. Xeres. ath. Granada. 5th. Mallaga. 6th. Almeria. Guadalcanal, where the rich Mines are found.

Galicia, is a Country very Mountainous, many of which cannot be passed without great difficulty, and others by reason of their Craggyness, held not passible; yet in this Province are found the Cities of Gompostella, the Seat of an Arch-Bishop, St. Fago, in Honour of St. Fames the Apostle, whom they impute to be buryed here; Bajonna a place ve-. y pleasant for its Scituation, and Correnna, or Groynne. This Country is held the Principal in Spain, for the breed of Jennets; and here is found the Promontory Nerius, formerly held to be the Ne plus ultra.

Bisca, makes a Famons Bay into the Ocean, yet many times proves dangerous to Sailers; and al-. though the Country is Mountainous, yet it has many pleasant Valleys, and is adorned with Cities, and Towns of note, as St. Sebastian, Toolosa, Fonterabia, Bilboa, &c. And from the Mountains of this Country, the Rivers that water the greatest part of Spain have their Springs, being accounted no less than One hundred and fifty; and great store of Timber for Shipping is found in those parts, with some Iron Mines, cre.

Toledo, a part of New Castile, takes its name from the principal City, scituate on the banks of Tagus; or Taio, exceeding pleasant, and is ordinarily the Residence of the Nobility, and of Merchants that Trade in these Parts; being the See of an Arch-Bishop, who is above the rest of the Bishops of that. Kingdom, his Revenue being accounted Three hurdred thousand Crowns; and here the Kings of the Goths ..

Goths and Moors held their Courts: there are likewife found the Cities of Calatrava and Talboia, one scituate on the Ava, and the other on the Tagus.

Murica, contains the City Murica, the Town of Alicant, and New-Carthage, being a Country very plentiful, though thinly peopled; and hence come the Alicant wines and curious Earthen Vessels, with much fine silks: Nor did the Romans in their Conquest for some time reap a less benefit than Twenty five thousand drams of Silver a week, from this Country only.

* west 18.

Castile Old and New contain the Towns of Soria, Segovia, Valodolid, Salamanca, a University, Gc. Madrid the Kings Principal Seat; Alcala and Alcaltura, most of them very pleasantly scituate, as being posited in the heart of the Kingdom of Spain, abounding with Corn, Fruits, and Cattle; and the latter watered with the River Tagus and Ava, which much inrich the Country. As for Portugal it is now a separate Kingdom, wherefore I intend to speak of it in its due place, as more proper in a work of this Nature.

The Principal Rivers appropiated to Spain, are the Tagus or Taio, the Duero or Duerius, the Guiadiana or Anas, which for a good space Ingulss it self, and runs under ground, giving the Spaniards Occation to boast, that they have one of the fairest Bridges in the World, on which Ten thousand Cattle seed, and over which an Army with extended Wings may March; the other Rivers of note are Gualdahquiver, and the Ebro, called by Strabo, Batis, and Iberus. As fot the Mountains they are distinguished into six great Ridges, continued knit together, whereof the lesser are but parts, the chief of which are the Pyreenians that extend from the Cantabrian Ocean to the Mediterranian Sea.

As:

Con

ftate

ver

dia ful

mati

ver Art

gen

for diff

are bar

Ro

Tol

for pa

of

bu

wl

th

th

Go

Re

tr

R

A

at

F

are-likeoia, one
agus.
Fown of try very nce come ith much quest for ive thouCountry

of Soria, ity, Gc. nd Alcale, as beof Spain, and the a, which it is now speak of this

dain, are e Guiadiis it felf, ds OccaEridges the feed, ngs may abquiver, into fix reof the the Pyeean to

As for the People of Spain, they are swarthy of Complexion, black-Hair, and of a good Proportion, stately in their Actions, and grave of Deportment, very serious in their Carriage, and Offices, much addicted to Religion, and very Observant and Faithful to their Prince, not prone to alter their Determination, but patient in Adversity, in War they are very Deliberate and Cautious, not much regarding Arts, but adict themselves much to Women, and are generally very much conceited of themselves; As for the Women they carry themselves very sober and discreet, and are tolerably handsome: Those that are marryed are in great Subjection to their Husbands, and extream loving; though the men are naturally Jealous. In matters of Religion, they are Roman Catholicks, only there are some Churches of Toledo, where the Mus-Arabick Office is used. for the Language, it is not all the same, for in some parts, it has a mixture of French, in others much of the Moorish, and in some again the Gothish Arabick, but generally and vulgarly, the Old Spanish is used, which has much Affinity with the Latin; and as for the Civil and Imperial Laws used amongst them, they are intermixed with many Customs of the Goths, and the King governs his Provinces by Vice-Roys, or Ministers of State; and though this Couutry is not very fruitful in Corn and Cattle, yet it generally abounds in Wines, Oyls, Sugars, Rice, Silk, Liquoras, Honey, Wax, Saffron, Annifeeds, Rosin, Almonds, Oranges, Lemmons, Cakes, Soap, Anchovies, Soda, Barrilla, Shumack, Wool, Lamb-Skins, Tobacco, befides the great Treasures of Gold and Silver that comes from America, from whence it is conjectured fince the first discovery, that above Fifteen hundred thirty fix Millions of Gold has been brought into Spain.

As for the Buildings, they are every where more folid and durable, than stately and magnificent, unless at Sevil; in Relation to which, the Spaniards usually say, he that has not been at Sevil, has seen no stately Building. As for Apparrel, they affect rather Gravity than Gaudiness; and their Diet is as sparing, consisting for the most part of Herbs, made into Potrage, with minced Meats and Salads; though there is scarcely a Mechanick in any noted Town, but when he goes abroad, has his Cloak on, and his Rapier by his side, and walks in as much State as the greatest Don in the Kingdom.

A Description of the Kingdom of Portugal.

HIS Kingdom was in the time of the Roman Conquests accounted a Province of Spain, but fince, been a Kingdom of about Five hundred years standing, bounded on the North, with the River Minio, and Ava, which parts it from Gallicia; on the East with the two Castles, and Estremadure; on the South, with Algarve; and on the Well, with the Atlantick Ocean; and was anciently called Lusitania, deriving its present Name from Porto, a Haven Town, sciruate in the mouth of the River Dueras, the usual Landing place of the Gauls; and thence corruptly called Portugal, or the Gauls Port; and is accounted to be in length, from North to South, about Six score Leagues, running along the Sea-Coast; and confequently, not answerable in breadth, in which it disproportions, as in some places Twenty five, some Thirty, and in others Fifty Leagues.

its fo

its I

no '

Kno

tuga

Gen

105-1

Kin

Min

Fru

Lea

fand

Bri Par

its

Co

fou

and

to

the

WY

gar

fid

Pri

an yo

th

th

du tle

- This Kingdom, especially of late years, has made its felf famoully known throughout the World, by its Discoveries, and Trafficks, in Navigation; so that no Trading part of the Universe, has escaped its Knowledge. As for the Provinces attributed to Portugal, they are principally Six, which are as many General Governments, Inter-Dueras, and Minho, Tralos-Montes, Beyra, Estremadure, Aleuteio, and the Kingdom of Algarue; and of these, Inter-Dueras, and Minho, are the most noted, as being exceeding Fruitful, and well Peopled, that for Eighteen Leagues in length, and Twelve in bredth, it possesses One hundred and thirty Mozasteries, One Thoufand four hundred and fixty Parishes, Five Thousand Fountains, or Springs of Water, Two hundred Stone-Bridges, and Six Sea Ports: The chief City in these Parts, is Porto, called by the English Port à Port, from its delightful Scituation, and the Advantage of the Commodities of the Country, there in abundance found; this place contains Four thousand Houses, and is much traded to by divers Nations; the next to this is Braga, famed for the many Councils held there.

Trales Montes, is a part of this Kingdom, stored-with Rich Mines, and in it is found the City of Braganca, the Capital of the Dukedom of that Title, besides which there are Towns of lesser note, and the Princes who are derived from this Title usually reside at Villa-Viciosa, being now in Possession of the Crown; and had before their coming to it, a Prerogative, beyond the Grandees of Spain, to sit in publick under the Royal Canopie of the Spanish Kings; Beyra another part of this Kingdom is exceeding sertile, producing store of Millet, Rye, Apples, Chestnuts, Catle, Corn, Gre. And in it is seituate the Famous City of Coimbra, noted for its University, and the See of a Bishop, Gre. Estremadure abounds in Wines, Oyls, Salt, and Honey, gathered from Citron Flow.

This.

more:

mards

s seen

affect

t is as made .

hough

, but

his Ra-

as the

c Ro-

Spain.

e hun-

1 Gal-

Estre-

n the

ently

from

of the

auls:

Gauls

Vorth:

along fome -

thers.

with.

ers; and in it is seated Lisbon the Principal City of the Kingdom, upon five little rifing Hills; on the Right bank of the River Tagus, or Taio, an Arch-Bishops See, the usual Residence of the Kings of Portugal, and a City of great Trade, having the Advantage of the Ebing and Flowing of the Sea, as being but Five Miles from it, held to contain Thirty two Parishes. Three hundred fifty Streets, Eleven thousand Houses, and One hundred fixty thousand Inhabitants; the Compas computed to be near Seven Miles accounting the Subburbs, and was once the greatest Emporium of Europe. Santarim, a place much in Request for the abundance of Olives, that grow about it; infomuch, that the Natives boaff, but how truly, I know not, that they could make a River, as big as the Tagus of their Oyl: Setuba, an other Town in this Tract, is accommodated with one of the best Havens in the Kingdom, being no less than Thirty Miles long, and Three broad, abounding with Salt-Pits, and Wine, which bring a great Revenue into the Kings Coffers. Alenteio, extreamly abounds with Corn, insomuch, that it is held to be the Grainery of the Kingdom, and has in it the City of Elvara, the second to that of Lisbon, near which, the Portuguez won a confiderable Victory against the Spaniards in 1663. And next this, Elvas claims Place, for the many Sieges it has held out against the Spaniard, and the plenty of Oyls the Neighbourhoods produce, Gr. Ourique is the place, near to which was fought the Famous Battle, which occasioned the proclaiming the King of Portugal of the House of Braganca, Portelegar, is a Bishops Sec. Algarve, though little in extent, has the Title of a Kingdom, and was re-united to the Crown by the Marriage of Alphonse the Third, with Beatrice of Cafile, abounding in Eggs, Almonds, Olives, Wines, Corn. Cattle, &c. And for the Chief Towns, they are Tavila, Faro, Silves, and Lagos.

Th ve i where ner c deur Draffi ring ble an none fwart the ! Bart T y p W17: prick t, h ces l the Live

Indi

King

Affr

ded

year

as a

To it of passes it is

The

The Natives of this Kingdom, are very frugal, yet live in much plenty, the Earth producing every where abundance: Nor did their Navigation in forner days, less conduce to their Support and Grandeur; being held the first Europeans that publickly prafficked into the remote parts of the World, to ring it to any confiderable Perfection. The Peoble are generally straight Limbed, and well proporfloned, very fost skinned, but somewhat inclined to swarthiness, by reason of the heat in those parts; the Air is very healthy, and the Country for the most part Hilly, though few of note.

The Roman Catholick Religion, is only publicky professed. There are three Arch-Bishopricks, viz. at Lisbon, Braga, and Elvora; and Ten Bishopricks. They have Parliaments as occasion requires it, held at Lisbon and Porto, and Twenty seven places have their Generalities; and the Revenues of the Kingdom is held to be about Ten Millions of Livers, not accounting their Collonies in the East-Indies: And although Portugal was seized on by the King of Spain, after the fatal Battle of Alcazar in Affrick, and the Death of King Henry, who Succeeded Sabastian, slain by the Moors; it revolted in the year, 1640. And is governed by a King of its own, as a separate Kingdom from Spain, and thus much for Portugal,

A Description of Italy, In its Kingdoms and Dominions, &C.

Taly is a very Fruitful Country, and held for its Pleasantness to be the Mistriss of all Countries, as it once was Empress of the World, and is incompassed with the Adriatick, Jonian, and Tyrrian Seas: Except, towards France and Germany, from which it is parted by the Alps, which renders it in a man-

The

City of

on the

Arch-

of Por-

he Ad-

as be-

Thirty

Eleven

ousand

ear Se-

is once a place s, that boaft,

make

Setubas

d with ing no

aboun-

a great

tream-

held to it the n, near fory a-

Elvas

out ails the place.

which

ugal of ps Sec. itle of

by the

of Ca-Wines,

, they

ner a Penjusula, but more peculiarly, it has on the East the lower part of the Adriatick, and the Jonian Sea, deviding it from Greece; on the West, it has the River Varus, and some part of the Alps, parting it from France; on the North, a part of the Alps divides it from Germany, and on the other parts, the Adriatique Sea devides it from Dalmatia, being held by the Antients to be in form like an Oak-Leaf.

This Country branched out into fundry principalities and Provinces, is scituate in a most Fruitful and temperate Air, under the fifth climate of the North temperate Zone, which is totally taken up; so that the Longest day is 15 hours, and three sisth parts of an hour, Northward and Southward, not much above 14 hours, and the parts mentioned; and is reck oned in length, from Augusta Pratoria, now called Aost, unto Otranto the most Easternly part of Naples 1020 miles, and in bredth from the River Vare, which parts it from that Province to the Mouth of the River Arfa in Friuli; where it is the broadest 410 miles, and where the narrowest, which is about Otranto, exceeds not 23. so that the whole compass by Sea, reckoning windings and turnings, is held to be 3448 miles, but reckoned in a straight line upon the coast, it falls much short as not above 2550.

As for the first Inhabiters of this Country, they remaine doubtful, for as soon as Historians make any considerable mention of it, we find it Inhabited by divers Nations, held to be Greek Colonies, who transported themselves at sundry times; the people of the Sea Coast being said to come thither under Janus, Anno Mundi, 1925. After them Saturn out of Greet; then Evander or Oenotrus out of Arcadia, and then Aneas with his Trojans, with many others; but after the Romans grew powerful, they brought the whole Country into subjection, and, held it in spite of the frequent Invasions of Phyrus

Ha-

Hani

of H

Vano

ons,

vide

dom

man

les, l

us K

part

but

der of R

com

was moi

into

Nap

but as fo

the

dor

Sta Qr

Sp

by

In

Ou Ca

e Fonian it has parting the Alps rts, the ng held af. rincipa-Fruitful e of the ken up: ree fifth ird, not tioned; Pratoria, afternly rom the vince to iere it is rrowest. that the gs and oned in hort as

on the y, they make a-habited es, who he peo-her unSaturn of Arcamany o-ll, they not have and, Phyrus

Ha-

Hanibal, the Gauls, Cimbri, and others, till the time of Honorius the Emperor, at what time the Goths Vandals, Herulies, Huns, and other Barbarous Nations, passing the Alps, rent it from the Empire, and devided it amongst themselves establishing many Kingdoms and Principalities; and when these were in a manner subdued by the Valour and Conduct of Nar-Jes, Bell wins, and other Imperial Generals. Albonius King of the Lumbards, seized upon the greatest part of it calling it Longobardia, vulgarly Lumbardy; but they a confiderable time after were brought under by Pepin King of France, called in by the Bishop of Rome, who reduced their Kingdom to a straight compass; after which the seat of the Roman Empire was fixed in Germany, and Italy, parcell'd out amongst fundry Princes, and the usual Division is into fix parts viz. Lumbardy, the Land of the Church, Napels, Tuscany, Genoa, the Signory of Venice; but more particularly into five greater and fix leffer; as for the first, the Kingdom of Naples, the Papacy, the Signory of Venice, the Dukedom of Florence, and the Dukedom of Millain, the leffer are the Duke doms of Mantoua, Urbine, Modena, Parma, with the States of Genoa and Luca; and of these in their Order.

The Kingdom of Naples Described, &c.

A S for the Kingdom of Naples it is Governed at this day by a Vice-Roy, under the King of Spain; and is scituate in the most pleasant part of Italy, devided from the Territories of the Church, by the River Axofenus, being on the other parts Inviornd with the Seas; making many commodious Havens, and contains the Provinces of Lavaro, Calabria Inserior and Superior, Otranto, Apulia, Puglia, Abruzzo.

In Lavaro is founded the City of Naples, from whence the Kingdom takes its Name, and many others of lesser note; but that which is most noted, is the Mountain Vesuvius lately called Somma, being exceeding high, and casting Flames out at the top of it, in a dreadful manner; though all the borders or parts of it are otherways very pleasant and fruitful, abounding in Vines, Flower-Gardens, Olivc-Yards and rich Pastures; many of the Houses of the Gentry, and Country Villages; the City it self being feated at the foot of the Mountain, and other Hills that branch from it, extending from the South-West to the North-East, in a manner Triangular; and so Fruitful is the Country in Corn, that the Importation of Bread is forbidden upon great pcnalties.

As for the Buildings, they are of free Stone; mamy of them four Stories in height, and the Tops flat, the Windows are generally covered with fine Linnen or Tiffany in ftead of Glass, which gives an equal Light and keeps out the heat of the Sun: Nor confifts the City of Naples of any more than three considerable broad Streets, called La Vicaria, La Lapuan, and La Tolerano; the rest being inconsiderable Lanes, and places of less note; having 8 Gates towards the Sea, and as many towards the Land; strongly walled and defended with three Castles. The Women here, are very beautiful, and through the abundance of Silks found in these parts, the meanest Citizens Wives go clad in it; the pecpleare very thrifty and industruous, especially about their Gardens, from whence they derive a great part of their Food, in Fruits, Herbs, Roots, &c. as living very spare and temperate, hough the Country abounds in plenty. The Estates of the Kingdom of Naples, as we may properly call them, under the Spanish Vice-Roy, are held to be 14 Princes, 25 Dukes, 30 Marquesses, 54 Earls, and 400 Barons and. and Seg por ing

Na and in c bria tia tia Bui in in ing and on dul fel for by Sh mid fik pl fie

Gri

Li fe F

fte

W

ai S and Gentlemen; having 4 publick Houses, called the Segii, in which they meet to consult Affairs of Importance; as also places are appointed for the meeting of Merchants in the way of Trade.

, from

many noted, na, beat the

he bor-

nt and Olive-

of the

f being

r Hills

South-

gular;

hat the

eat bc-

; maops flar,

ie Lins an c-

Nor

three

ia, La

nsider-

ites te-

Land:

Castles. brough

the

ne pec-

about great

&c. as

Coun-

ngdom.

ler the

es, 25

Barons and.

Calabria is another Province of the Kingdom of Naples, bounded with the Jonian and Tyrrenean Seas, and with the River Jano, said to be 500 miles in compass, divided into the higher and lower Calabria: The chief Cities of the former being Confentia and Salernum, the chief resort of Italian Physitians, pleasantly scituated and well inhabited; the Buildings agreeing with those of Maples, though not in the General so sumptuous, and all the Neighbouring Countries are full of Villages, and very Fruitful; and in the latter Calabria, Cuterzary, is seated as principal, being a strong City well Walled, and Fortified; and formerly this Country was called Magna Gracia, from the many Greek Collonies that leated themselves in it.

Otranto is on three parts bound with the Sea, and on the other with Puglia, having Tarentum and Brundusum for its chief places; formerly boasting it self one of the best Havens in Europe; but for some years past choaked up, or much obstructed by shoales of Sand carry'd in by the Sea; so that a Ship cannot without some difficulty enter, by which means the places are much reduced: Here are found likewise the Towns of Otranto and Gallipolis, very plentious in Oyls, Wines, and Manufacturies of Silks. and other matters of value; there are found great store of Corn, Mellions, Citron, Saffron, Gc. and what is one thing observable, no Partridges pass the Limits of this Country.

Apulia another Province of Naples, extends it felf from the confines of Brundusium, to the River Fortore, and is properly devided into two Provinces. and has for its principal City that of Manfredo; Scituate beneath the Hill of St. Angello, accommowith vita the and dated with many stately Buildings, and is the Seat of the Arch-Bishop of Siponto; and that which adds more to its advantage, is that it has a capacious Harbour, capable of receiving Ships and Galleys of great burthen, and is defended with a very strong Castle, the Country all about it being very Fruit-ful.

Puglia is bounded with the Rivers Tronto and Fortore, and has for its chief Cities Barlet, which has a good Haven belonging to it, and held to be one of the 4 strong holds of Italy; and Canna the Country though somewhat Hilly, or Mountainous; abounds with Cattle, Sastron, and many other Commo dities incident to Italy.

Abruzzo is in like manner a part of the Ringdom of Naples, having for its chiefest Cities or Towns Aquino, giving Birth of Thomas Aquinas, and Sulmo Famous for the Birth of Ovid the Poet, both pleafantly seated and well inhabited.

The Papacy Described, &c.

A S for the Papacy, commonly called the Estate of the Pope, Inherent to the See of Rome; it consists of two Natures or Jurisdictions, as Spiritual and Temporal principalities, as touching the latter of which it has under its Jurisdiction many large Berretories lying between the River Fiore and Cajerta, between Prenesta and the Truentian Straights, the Dukedom of Orbin excepted, containing the Provinces of Romandiola, Murchia, Spolletto, and that usually called St. Peters Patrimony is accounted Spiritual.

The first of these extends to the Venetian Terretories on the West, and to Rubicon on the East, a lintle River so called from the Redness of the Waters, over which in the flourishing time of the Romans; the Consuls were forbiden to come armed homewards, reast the sear of any designed might bring rer cities verfice with and cure vife vife the l aftr thate

Provious Horizon

Cor cond and and

tor cor

Min Spo tua

TC

it i

the Seat hich adds capacious falleys of ry strong y Fruit-and Forich has a e one of Country abounds mo dities Kingdom r Towns nd Sulmo th plea-ie Estate

Spiritual Tellatter
Ty large
Ind CajerTy large
The ProvinThe Usual
TerréTit, a lifWaters, omans;

home-

it bring terror upon the City of Rome. As for the chief Cities in this part, they are Bonomia, the prime University of Italy, and where the Civil Law is very much studyed: This City is Round of form Built with Brick and Free-stone, commodiously scituate, and has towards the Streets, Arched Cloysters to sebure such as pass them from Rain, &c. Here is likewise found the City Ferrara, scituate on the banks of the River Po, and fortified on all other parts, with frong Wall in which the former Dukes held the Lately Pallace of Beluedevere, so named from its pleaant scituation; as also Ravenna of great antiquity, enowned in Antient History; accommodated about wo miles distant with a famous Port or Haven. This Province or Country, produces Corn, Wine, Cyl, ome Drugs, plenty of Cattle, and especially good forfes.

Marchia extendeth from Puglia to Otranto between the Appenine and the Sea, commodiously divided into little rising Hills, and sertile Plaines, by which means it is very Fruitful, greatly abounding with Corn, Wine, and Oyl: Its principal Empori is Antonia, by reason of the commodiousness of its Haven, and is a fair City incompassed with three Mountains, and hath the form of a half Moon, the Streets are tarrow and paved with Flint; the Haven is Triantular, where are curious Walks, and a place called a Loggia, where the Merchants that resort thither for Trade, do meet and is very healthy: the other considerable Cities are Firmo, and Ascoli, and in this province stands Loretto, so Famous for our Ladies Miracles.

Spolletto, anciently Umbria, has for its chief Cities Spolletto, from whence it takes its name Onietto, scituate on a high Rock and Asis, where St. Francis was born; and though this Province is not large, yet it abounds with Wine, Corn, Oyl, Saffron, Cattle, Figs, Oyc.

St. Peters Patrimony, so called, and accounted the Spiritual Jurisdiction, contains all the ancient Lati um, or Campaigna di Roma, and the chief City i Rome, formerly the Capital of the most cousiderable Empire in the World, Mistris of the fairest part of the Universe, and said thro' the excess of her many Conquests to extend by Degrees, from 2 Miles in compais to 50, and had on her Walls 740 Towers spreading over, or taking in her circumference Mountains or Hills, viz. Pallatinus, Capitolinus Univalis, Aventinus, Esquiliuus, Calius, and Queri. nalis; and is scituate on the banks of the Famous River Tiber; though at this day it is not accounted above I Miles in Circuit, however containing many stately Structures and Monuments of its ancient Greatnes: But what renders it most Eminent is the Popes Pallace on the Vatican Hill, the Famous & Chi Church Dedicated to St. Peter, one of the goodliest Structures in the World, accounted 520 Feet in pend, Length, and 385 in Bredth, adorned with Paintings, felly Tombs, and other choice Pieces of Antiquity, almost Innumerable; the Vatican Library, and many Monuments of the Roman Emperors; and not far re from this City is Pont Mill, where Constantine the great was shewed the Cross in the Clouds, with this Motto, viz. In hoc incis, in this you shall over come; which made him take the Insign of the Cross in the Cross come for his Banner; and accordingly prevailing over his is Enemies he not only Imbraced the Christian Religion himself, but commanded it should be observed wile throughout his Empire: And indeed in Rome centers the Plenty and Glory of Italy, the Inhabitants being accounted two Hundred Thousand, most Mark M Clergy-men. The

The The ha

dun

mic

of Fe

West

with

with

reat

il A

As

Iffund

rts

The Seignorie or Common-wealth of Venice Described, &c:

Torth of the Alps from Roman-di-ola, are the Italian Provinces, appertaining to the State of mice, bounded on the South with the Territories Ferarra, and the rest of Roman-di-ola; on the West with the Dukedom of Millain; on the North with the main Body of the Alps; and on the East with the Adriatick Sea, and the River Arfia which, accounted theres them from Libarnia: besides it commands a cat part of Greece, especially by the late success-Acquificions and Victories, as well as divers frinds in the Sea, and has all along been the Bulwark ne Famous of Christendom against the Turks.

As for the chief City upon which the rest de-Paintings, fully fituate, or seated at the bottom of the Adriiquity, al wick Sea, or Gulf of Venice, upon 72 Islands, five and many alles distant from the main Land, desended from nd not far rage of Sea and Storms by a prodigeous work; antine the ing a bank of (some say 60 other) 35 miles in with this length; open in 7 places for passage, with Boats and shall over Gelys, Gr. of small burthen, of which they have f the Cross amonly 1300, but for great Vellels the only pas-ing over his is at Malamacco, and Castle Lido, strongly fortioffian Relie observed in circuit; having for its better conveni-Rome cen- 12 4000 bridges, one of which is very famous, pas-nhabitants over the Great Chanel; and the rest, pass wand, most of lesser note, which in divers places resreste

The Arfinal is the most beautiful, bigest, and best missed in Europe; being about 2 miles in circuit The all has a Magazine of all forts of Arms, Engines and aunition for Sea or Land Service, amongst which

unted the ient Lati

ef City i

usiderable est part of her many 2 Miles in

Towers,

ference

apitolinus,

nd Queri-

e Famous

ning many

ts ancient Eminent is he goodli-

are 1000 Coats of plate Garnished with Gold, and covered with Velvet; but what is most admirable is the Church of Sc Mark, their Titular Saint; wrought with Mosaick work, supported with Pillars of Marble and Porphery; adorn'd with Images, Tombs, Voc. that for the abundance of Jewels, Pearls, Gold, and Silver, that cover and adorn them, and their Altars it may be thought that the whole Treasury of the State might be Imployed to that purpose; and besides there are sound 200 Pallaces built of Marble, and adorned with Collumnes, Statues, Pictures, and other things of great Value; that for their grandure, they are capable of entertaining any Prince; They have likewise 73 rich Hospitals; 56 Tribunals, or Courts of Justice; 67 parish Churches, 26 Monasteries of Nuns 54 Convents of Friars, 18 Chappels and 6 Free-Schools; and so powerful once they were that they held War with all the Prince of Europe, &c England excepted, for the space of seven years, and wanted neither men nor money; and if we confider what Wars they have had for near 200 years (at times) with the Turks; we must needs proceed to wonder how they should support themselves under that expence of Treasure, and loss of men; but their Income is mostly by Navigation, and the fruitfulness of their Islands; so that according to a Modern account, it has amounted in the Treasury, (not reckoning the Effects of particular men,) to five millions and 320000 Duckets yearly: as for the City it is Governed by a Duke, and the Sennate; and so consequently all the Countries and Cities under its Jurisdiction, many of which we shall have occasion to mention hereafter, and therefore purposely omit them in this description: only by the way take notice, that the Terretories of this Signorie, are divided into Land and Sea; and in Lombardy, Marca, Trevigiana, Friuli and Istri, part of Dalmatia, Stloyonia, Albania, and the Morea; and

ind it Padulor the Zant,

The I

on the monliola, and or and 1

Th of Flo ver A with, eft ly Statel on th with ' tree tone which heat d most Nortl gentl helte lye b like a Flow the G

Gent

Ind in their Jurisdiction are the samous Cities of Padua, Brescia, Bergame, Vicenza and others; as or their Islands the principal are Corfu, Cephalonia, Zant, Ithaca, and others lately regained.

The Discription of the Dukedom of Florence, or Tuscany.

His Dukedom now under the Grand-Duke of Tuscany, is divided from St. Peter's Patrimony, on the East, by the River Pisco, on the West by the River Macra, from the Common wealth of Genoa; on the North from Romandiola, and Marca Anconitana, by the Apennine Hills; and on the South, has for its boundard the Tyrrean and Tuscan Seas.

old, and

irable is wrought

of Mar-

Tombs, is, Gold,

d their

easury of ofe; and Marble, ares, and

randure,

; They

unals, or

Monaste-

Ghappels

nce they

e of Eu-

of seven

ey; and

d for near

ust needs

rt them-

d loss of

avigation,

it accord-

d in the particular

ts yearly:

and the

ntries and

h we shall therefore only by

of this

Istri, part

ie Morea;

and

This Country formerly had its name from the City of Florence, Scituate nigh the confluence of the River Arno, round in form and strongly sortified with a Wall, &c. and 8 Forts, whereof the greatest lyes towards the South; the buildings are very, stately, errected with Free-stone and Marble, flat on the roofs, except the Pallaces which are adorned with Towers and Pinacles; the Pavements of the Streets being likewise for the most part broad Freestone, a River running through the chief of them, which greatly cools and refreshes the City in the hear of Summer; and over it is a stately Bridge allmost in the middle of the City, and towards the North East it is Encompassed with pleasant Hills, gently rising and planted with choice Fruits, and heltered from storms by the Apennine Mountains that lye behind them; nor does the South fide want the like advantage, whilest the West Exposes it to the Flowry Vaileys of Arno; and withour the Wall are the Garden houses and Pallaces of the Nobility and Gentry, which likewise scatter over all the plea-

fant

ant Fields; insomuch that it is accounted the Glory of Italy, frequently stiled its Garden, and takes its name from the Flowry Plains, and Gardens that inclose, or expend themselves about it. The next City of note is Pifa, through which the River Arno runs, from East to West, its Scituation being in a plain; and towards the North-west by North is a Gate, and a fair Cathederal Church, most curionfly wrought and Paved with Marble; and here the Duke of Florence or Tuscany has a Pallace, scated on the bank of the River Sienna; another City is scituate on a rising Hill, indifferently ascending above the Valleys; the streets of which, a thing unusual, are paved with Brick, wherefore no Carts nor Coaches are allowed to pass through them, but the burthens are carry'd by men Mules and Asses; and has in it several stately Towers and Fountains, the Women of this place being likewise reckoned the fairest of all Italy. Massa is a Town most noted for the Quarries of Marble in its neighbourhood.

In this Dukedom is the famous Legorne, so much traded to by Merchants of most Nations in Europe; opening to the Sea a spacious Port or Haven, and is a Mart or Emporis for all the principal commodities of Italy, and many that are brought over-land out of remote Countries; and here our Merchants have frequently settled a Factory, the people being generally sair dealers, and wonderfully obliging to strangers; so that the Custom of this place is the greatest part of the Dukes Revenues, being very

As for this City it is seated in a fruitful Plain, with commodious Avenews, being somewhat long in form from North to South, and is defended with two Towers that stand inward to the Sea, for the guard of the Haven, that for great Ships lying farther into the Sea, than that for Gallies and lesser Vesses, which is shekered by a Wall drawn almost round

roun ing t

1 held

Ics whic o le Hill r t fi Lomb with well rifica and ' Caffile Dache O C hial. re b culp eed ocs, nuch Glove Ward The c

en 1

As they a by Ch round it; and here it is the English Merchants trading to Italy have their Lading.

The Dukedom of Milain Described, &c.

HE Dutchy of Milaine, is very pleasantly scated, in the Country of Lumbardy, amongst fruitful Plains, and little rifing Hills; and held the most desirable Place of these Countrys. Its chief City is Milain, Anciently Mediolanum, which though so often ruined, as having been taken no less than Twenty times, and befiged Forty, has fill rife out of its Ashes, more fair and splendid than at first, being now accounted the greatest City of Lombardy; seared in a large Plain, and incompassed with Rivers, strongly guarded-with a spacious and well fortified Castle, and other extraordinary Fortifications. As for the Building, it is very stately and magnificent; but the most remarkable Castles or Cittadels, the Hospital or Lagarette; the Cathedral or Dome: besides there are 36 Monastries, so Convents of Fryers of fundry Orders, 96 Parothial, and 11 Collegate Churches, most of which re beautified and adorned with Images, Paintings, culptures; there is moreover, a Cabinet of exeeding Rarieties, not to be paralelled, as report oes, in any place. The City in circuit is accounted fen miles, very populous, imagined to contain ooooo Souls; the Inhabitants mostly Rich, as very nuch Trading in Merchandice, especially Silks, Gloves, Ribbons, &c. from whence our Millinary Ware-men derive the Denomination of their Trade: The City being much Traded to from France, Spain. and all parts of Italy.

As for other places of note in this Jurisdiction, they are principally Pavia, Papia, made a University by Charles the IV. guarded by a strong Castle, and has in it a fair Cathedral Church, supposed the riches!

ing very ill Plain, hat long defended Sea, for ips lying and leffer n almost round

the Glo-

and takes

dens that The next

he River on being

by North

most cu-

and here e, feated

er City is nding a-

thing un-

no Carts

hem, but

nd Asses;

ountains.

reckoned

oft noted

so much

n Europe;

ven, and commo-

over-land

lerchants

ple being liging to ce is the

rhood.

richest of Revenue in Italy, viz. 300000 Crown per. Ann. And near this place, King Francis the sirst of France, was overthrown in a great Battle and taken Prisoner by Lanoy the Duke of Burbon and others, commanding for Charles the V. Alexandria or Alessandria, the strongest work in the whole Dutchey; Cremona seated on the Banks of the River Poe, accommodated with a good Trade, stately muildings, large Streets, and pleasant Gardens, noted for its Tower and Cathedral Church. And here it was that Vitellus his Souldiers were deseated by those of Vespatian, and the Town fired by them.

The Lakes found here are Lago. Magiore, in length 36 miles, and 6 in breadth, having in it 2 Islands called the Boremeans, fruitful and pleasanr, even to a wonder, Lago Delcoma, and Lugani Lacus, and the Rivers are Olgio Adde Lambro, Tesine, &c. As for the Hills they are of no remark.

The Ancient Inhabitants of this Country were the Insubres, Conquered by the Romans, then by the Gauls, and next by the Lombards, but now the Country is under the protection of the King of Spain, who appoints a Governour to reside in Millain, where St. Ambrose once was Bishop.

The Dutchy of Modena described.

City of Modena, and Reggio, with the adjoyning Territories: As for the Capital City of Modena, it was known, and is so still in Roman History, by the Name of Mutina, samous for the first bloody battle between Marcus Antonius, and Augustus Casar; and is at this day the Residence of the Duke, whose Pallace, though not appearing very large outwardly, is nevertheless very Famous and Magnisicent, by the sich Adornments within; his Cabin or Museum being

Jew Other

for thin ima rend Cou Mod ter lutio Frie

. 1

Mil.
The

Stru Gen Arn Itur

Mill flee is for for bell

for

Jewels, &c. to an extraordinary Value: And here Otho the Emperor slew himself, upon his Army being descared by Vitellus.

bo Crown

rancis the

at Battle

of Burbone

V. Alexan.

the whole

the River

le, stately

ens, noted

and here it cfeated by

, in length

2 Islands

r, even to

acus, and

e, &cc. As-ntry were to then by ut now the ke King of ide in Mil-

ontains the

he adjoyn-

of Modena, liftory, by

loody bat-

us Casar;

ike, whose outwardly,

nt, by the ibed.

them.

As for the Country, though it is not large, it nevertheless is very fruitful, and abounds with great store of curious Fruits, Corn, Cattle, and other things fit mans for Subsistance, watered with many small Streams, and mostly plain, but that which renders it more Famous, is its being the Native Country of our present Queen Mary, Consort to his Most Sacred Majesty, King James the Second.

The People of this Dukedom are faid to be better natur'd than most of Italy; quick in their Resolution, easie to be pacified when wronged, and Friendly in their Entertainment of Strangers.

A Description of the Dukedom or Princi-the South the Appennine Hills, on the West Milan, and on the East the Country of Modena. The chief City is Parma, seated on the River Pirma, in a Fruitful Plain, being about 4 miles in compass; adorned with many Rich and Stately Structures, well Peopled, and much frequented by Gentry, greatly Addicted to Learning, Arts and Arms; the adjoyning Plains produce excellent Pasturage, which feed abundance of Sheep, of whose Milk is made the Parinasan Cheese, so much in esteem in all Countries; and here the Duke's Pallace is seated, where he holds a Court in great State: as for the Churches they are beautified, and rarely imbellished with Pictures and Images.

Piacenza or Placentia is the second City, samous for the Resistance it made against Hanmbal, and his luseum be-

Dt.C

ver onfi

mlav ithe

h d t

Berr

ith

lare

rea

in

e.

r.

mt

Is:

bic

hie

far

h ne

10

Brother Afdrubal, upon their cutting their way shrough the Alps, and Invading Italy; and now as much effecemed for the Fairs and Marts kept here, to which the Merchants and others refort from the Neighbouring Country to make their Exchanges: The Principal River is Trebia, where the Romans in a Fatal Battle were overthrown by the Carthagenians, and 40000 of them computed to be flain; and near to Placentia are many Salt-pits and Mines of Iron.

'A description of the Dukedom of Mantoua.

HE Dukedom of Mantona is a very fair Country, very plentiful in Corn, Wine, Cattle, and rich Pastures, and Fruits of sundry Kinds: As for the chief City that gives it the Name, it is Seated in a Lake of 20 Miles compass, by Nature very strong and fencible, there being no Land access to it but by Cause-ways, and in it stands the Dukes Pallace, very fair and stately, though he has another Pallace for Pleasure and Delight exceeding this, at Marmirolla, five Miles from this City; As for Mantoua it is in a manner round, save that the Lake on the North-East sides, enters it like a half Moon: The Buildings are partly of Brick, and partly of Free Stone, and the Streets large and clean: In the midst is a large Market-place, where all manner of Scrangers are admitted to vend their Ware, though the greatest Traffick is in the hands of the Jews, who grow Rich by the Impoverishment of the Citizens, and is in compass 4 Miles, having 8 Gates, and strengthened by a good Wall-This City is of antient standing, and contains about 50000 People, and has often been brought into Di-Aress by the Germans, especially in the Year 1619. and 1630. As for the Dukes Revenue, it is counted heir way d now as ept here, from the changes: Romans
e Cartha
be flain;
nd Mines

antoua.

very fair ine, Catof fundry ne Name. , by Nano Land tands the th he has xceeding City; As that the ke a half ind partd clean: here all nd their e hands overish-4 Miles, d Wall. ns about nto Diir 1619. countcd ot credit it, seeing some sew Years since, he made ver part of his Dutchy to the French King, for a onsiderable Sum of Money; and here it is held nlawful to wear a Sword, or any other Weapon ithout Lisence; and in this City the Famous Virlad had his Birth, as by his Ecclosus appears, Go. In this Dukedom partly appertains the Dukedom Montferrat, in the South-East of Piemont, and other Territories.

The Dukedom of Urbin described:

HE Dukedom of Urbin may be said to lie within the Territories of the Church, bounded on the North with the Adriatick, n the South with the Apennine Hills, on the West ith Romagna, or Roma-di-ola, and on the East with Marca Aconitama, being in length Sixty, and in. readth Thirty five Miles, and is accounted to conin Two hundred Castles, and Seven Principal owns, the chief is Urbin seated at the bottom of e Apennine Hills, and built in the fashion of a Mi-The next to it Pisauro, containing an excelint Haven, for the Reception of considerable Vesis; and a Third is Belforto, more inward, and suposed to be in the middle of the Country: The hief of the Castles are, the Rocks of St. Leo, and farivolo; and at Urbin, Polidorus Virgil was born, tho being a Collector of Peter Pence in England for he Pope, wiete a History of the many remarkade Transactions of our Country, and is quoted by oft of our modern Historians

The Est ste cr Common Wealth of Genoa Described.

HE Estate of Genoa, formerly contained a large part of Italy, and were accounted the most expert in Navigation of all Europe, but of late, through the many Wars they have maintained against the Venetians, and other neighbouring Princes, their own Intestine Broils, and their neglect of Navigation and Traffick, they are greatly reduced, holding little more than Liguria and Corfica: The first of these has on the East the River Varus, on the West parted from Tuscan by the Magura, on the North the Apennine Hills, and on the South the Ligurian or Tyrrenian Seas. As for the City of Genoa, it is seated on the sides of small rising Hills, tho' behind it are those of great ter height, lying open on the South fide to the Seal where it has a goodly Haven, in the form of a Crefant or half Moon, upon the Horn whereof, towards the East, is the Sea Bank Lamila, about 600 paces in length, keeping off the Waves that beat upon the City on the East side; and in the middle of this Bank is a Fort built to defend the Navy that may Anchorthere, so that the circuit of this City is accounted Eight miles, and though the Streets are narrow, yet the Palaces of the Dey, and Houses of the Senators, are very stately; nor are their Walls less strengthned with Bull-warks, and other Forti-The Houses in the High-streets are Four Stories, and many Five, the Windows being Glazed, which is not usual in Italy, many of them built of Marble, but all of Freestone: The Streets paved with Flint, and the Suburbs full of Gardens and Houses of the Nobility and Gentry. As for the People, they are Masters of other Cities, as Noli, Sar.

San nei to the and aid gai Bat like wit

Fli full fen cou of

wel

and don Hus to t the Luc

ftro fed fcer

r- Knc

Genoa

ontained a accounted of all Eu-Wars they and other ine Broils, ffick, they than Lion the East m Tufcan e Hills, and Scas.

n the ficles le of president to the Seal of a Cre-600 paces beat upon idle of this that may his City is Streets are Houses of heir Walls ther Fortisare Four ng Glazed, n built of ers paved rdens and Sar.

Sarazena, and Savon, being noble minded and generous in all their Actions, formerly much inclined to War and search of Adventures; insomuch that they affifted, with a great Fleer in the Holy War, and taking of Ferusalem by the Christian Army, and aided Phillip the French King with 10000 Men, against Edward the Third of England, where in one Battle they were most of them slain. likewise the Spaniards in 1588 to Invade England, with several great Carracts and Galleys; which were either lost upon the Coast, or cast away in their Flight homeward, which loss they have never fince fully recovered; yet they lately made a stout Desence against the Naval Power of France, which could effect no more, than beating down some part of their City, by Bombing it at a distance, as being well affured they had no Fleet capable of Engaging. .

The Country abounds in all the Plenties of Italy, and here only the Women have the greatest Freedom, without the Jelosie or Suspition of their of, towards Husbands of any Italians; and as a further Honour to this place, it gave Birth to Christopher Columbus, the first Discoverer of the New World or Country of America.

The State of Lucca Described.

He State of Lucea is held to be scituate within the Dukedom of Tuscany or Florence, comprehending the Town and Terretory of

As for Lucca, it is scated in a fruitful Plain, strongly fortified with a good Wall, and incompassed with pleasant Trees, so that at a distance it scems to stand in a Wood, and the Plain wherein it s for the seated, is invironed with Mountains or large Hills, s, as Noli, except towards Pistola, where it opens to the Sea, and is three miles in compass; as for the Streets,

F

D

th

m

they are narrow and paved with broad Freeftone. and in it are many Palaces, and Merchants Houses, curious built of Free-stone, according to other Building in Iraly, and was formerly a place of great Trade for Silks, Stuffs, Carpers, Cloth of Gold, and the like; there being a great concourse of Merchants, call'd Luccois Merchants, that were wont to meet there at several Fairs or Marts, held for that purpose, but of late the Trade is declined: however the Inhabitants inrich themselves by their Manufacture, which they fend to other places of greater Trade. And here there is a strict Law, that no Person shall wear any Weapon, no not a Knife, unless it be blunted; the People being gene. rally ver, precous to Strangers. And thus much for what may be properly call'd Italy, which taken in general, is one of the most fruitful and pleasant Countrys of the World, of which Europe being call'd the Head, this is accounted the Face. But for brevity sake I must desist any further Comment, and proceed to other parts adjoyning.

The Dukedom of Lorrain Described.

Belgium, Alfatia, the Country of Burgialdy and Gampaign, and is about 180 Miles in compass, exceeding Fruitful in Corn, Wine, store of Cattle, but especially Horses of an Excellent Breed; the Rivers and Lakes abounding with Fish, and the Soil with rich Mines: The chief Town is Nancy, seated upon the River Mense, and in it the Ducal Pallace, much resorted to for Wines, Brandies, and other Commodities; the Buildings are very stately and commodious, most of them of Stone, and well fortified with a Wall of great Strength: The next to this are St. Nicholae, and Vancoleus very strong and well Garisoned by the French into whose hands the Country sell, in the Reign of King Lewis the 13. though the present Duke of Lorain now warring in Hungary, is on all hands concluded to be the rightful Prince. As for the manners and Customs of the people they are a mixture of Germany and France, as being seated between those Countries, Gr.

The Dukedom of Savoy, and Country of Peimont Described, &c.

S for Savoy, it is a very Mountainous Country A bounded by the Dauphener, Bress, Switzerhand, Peimont and the Alps; the Antient Inhabitants were the Allowroges, who submitted to Hanibal, when he entered Italy with his Carthagenians to War against the Romans; at what time Bruncius and his Brother being at variance about the Succession to the Kingdom, he reconciled them; afterward it was made a Roman Province, and was called from one of the Kings that then Reigned being a Favorite to Augustus Casar, Alpes Codia; but in the declining of the Roman Empire, it became a part of the Kingdom of Burgundy, and passed: with other rights of the Empire to Germany; but now is independent under a Duke, who is soveraign Lord of the Country.

The Chief Towns of Savoy are Chambiers, Scituate in a pleasant Valley amongst Mountains, and is graced with a Ducal Pallace and many stately buildings of the Nobles, who are for the most part very Gentile, Active and Airy, though the Country people on the contrary are very Imbicil and Slugish. Tarantaise, an Arch-Episcopal See, Scituate amongst Mountains as the former, sull of pleasant building:

ibed.

ecftone,

Houses,

other

of great

old, and

of Mer-te wont

held for clined : by their laces of

et Law,

ng gene.

us much ch taken

pleasant be being

But for omment,

Miles in the ith Fish, Town is not the s, Branings are them of great las, and Van.

ings: Aquabelle, Mauridune another Arch-Episcopal See.

Under the power and Jursdiction of the Savonian Duke, it is Peimont unlessa small part of it claimed by the Duke of Mantoua, seared at the Foot of the Mountains, and bounded on the East with Milain, on the West with Savoy, on the North with Switzer-land, and on the South with the Mediter. ranean, being more fertile than the other; containing 52 Earldoms, and 15 Marquefars, befides Barronies and Lordships; and here dwell the progeny of the Albigenses, who about the year 1100 stood, for the Liberry and Doctrine of the Church of their Predecessors and about the year 1250, were near all destroyed and ruined by the Popes and French Kings; when the remainder prefering their. Concience before their Country, retired up into the Mountains. and by their Industry and Indefatigable Husbandry, made the very Rocks bring forth Grass and Herbage for themselves and their Cattle, &c. and here they worshiped God, according to the Worship of rhe reformed Churches; greatly increasing in number, as being followed with bleffings, untill the latter end of the Reign of Francis the first, at what time happened the Massacre of Merinia. num, or Mariguan Gallis and Chabriers, and in the year 1662 and 1663, they were again persecuted by the Savoiard, and fince that in the year 1684 we had a Mellancholy account of their treatment: and although there are many good Towns under the Government of Savoy; yet the Duke chiefly resides at the City Turin Scituate on the River Po and is the feat of an Arch-Bishop and a University, where Erasmus took his degree, and for Scituation is accounted one of the plesantest in Enrope.

fle

al

of

di

It

6.0

ra

lie

lit

in

tl A R

yd Cald

The Seignory of Geneva, and the Alps Described.

ENEVA is within the Limits of the Dukedom of Savoy, the whole Seignory not exceeding Eight Leagues in compass, Scituate on the Lake Lemanus, and devided into two parts by the River Rosne. The City strongly walled and fortified, as being the head of a Free state; containing a flourishing University, Governed by a Common Courcil, or 200 of the chief Burghers, four of which are called Sindiques: As for the Church Government it is composed of Lay-men, Elders, and Ministers founded by John Calvin 1541. and although this City has been beseiged by the Duke of Savoy, and others who have undertaken to reduce it, yet it has manfully defended it, self against all Invasions; and as for the revenue it is reckoned 60000 Crowns per annum. The building is generally of Free-stone, and the North side of the City lies close to the South fide of the Lake, where is a little Haven for Gallies, built to keep free passage on the Lake, defended by a strong Fort; a River Isluing from the Lake runs through the lower part of the City, and is passed by two commodious Bridges. And although it is a Receptacle for all manner of Religions, and people that fly from Persecution, yet fuch is the Law, that even a Malefactor is Condemned there for a Crime committed in his own Country, if proved against him, and Adultry punish. able with death; Fornication the first time with 9 days fasting or living with Bread and Water in Prison; the second time with Whipping, and the third with banishment; notwithstanding which and although the Women be more reserved here than in any

The

pisca-

onian

ot of

h Mi-

with

ntain-Bareny of

d, for

r Pre-

all delings;

ce be-

itains,

erbage

l here

hip of inum.

e first,

in the rlecut-

r 1684

ment:

chiefly

verfity;

uion is under any other place, those Affairs go forward in pri-

This Signory abounds with all manner of Fruits, great store of Fish; and is much Traded to especially by the Italian Merchants for Velvets, Tassatas, Musquer Barrels, and Calevers, &c.

The Alps are the greatest Ridge of Mountains in Europe, parting Germany, France, and Italy, and in some places require five days to ascend them. There being five passages through them into Italy, viz. 2 out of France and 2 out of Germany. The 1 from France is through Provence, close upon the Tirrenian Seas, through Liguria, being the Easiest; the 2 through the Hill Geneara, into the Marquefat of Zaluzzes, and so into Lumbardy: The third is over the Mount Cemis, and through the Country. of Turin. As for those out of Germany, the first is through the Country of the Griffons, by the Province of Valtoline; the last through the County of Tirol, near to the Towns of Juspurk and Trent; and as for these Mountains, they are in many parts very fruitful; divers Villages and Towns, being Scituate on them, though mostly barren, and in many places the Snow and Frost continues all the year, without the Suns having power to dissolve it, by reason the affent is so near the cold Region; and through part of them Hanibal cut, diffolving, or loofening the Rocks with Fire and Vinegar, when he broke unexpectedly into Italy and defeated the Roman Army; and indeed in some places they are dreadfull. even to look on.

The

Oil

nto

erp

he :

cic

25,

our ren

his l

y 7

ran

e m

Expl

Dyn:

talia

eld

ues

hips

nha iw) nen.

rield

hou irm hou city in pri-Fruits, o espeaffatas,

ains in and in There y, viz, I from ne Tir-Casiest; larquee third ountry. first is rovince of Tirol, l as for ry fruituate on places without son the gh part ing the oke un-man Ar-

readfull

The

The Description of the County of Roussillon and Catalonia.

D Oussillen by the French Included between the branches of the Pyreenean Mountains, if we bein at Mount Cave, the one extending to Colibre. ind C. de Creux a Promontary, that is the furthest point East of Cattalonia; as for the other it passes. nto Salfee, and as for the places of note, they are Perpignan, Pupirianum; and Perpinianum built out of he ruins of Ruscinum, by Guinard Earl of Roussillon, cituate upon the banks of the River Thelis or The is, in a pleasant fruitful plain, &c. A rich and ourishing Emporie, and a strong hold against the French, till the year 1644; and of fuch esteem was his little Country in former times, that it was pawned y John King of Aragon in 1462, to Lewis the 11th. of France for 300000 Crowns, and restored to Ferdeand the Catholick, by Charles the Eight, that e might not be diverted from the Conquest of Raples. and abounds with plenty, 49c.

oyns to the Country of Roussillon, is accounted 170 talian Miles in length, and in breadth 130, and eld to contain the Dukedom of Cardona, 3 Maruesates, 11 Earldoms, divers Barronies and Lordnips, and 45 Cities or walled Towns, and 600000 hhabitants; amongst which (in the time of Bovenum) were 10000 French Shepherds and Husbandnen. As for the Country, some Authors inform as, that it is generally Hilly, and full of Woods, rielding but small store of Corn, Wine, and Fruits; though others speak more savourably of it, and assembly it affords plenty of Corn, Wine, and Oyl, hough indeed it is mostly inriched by its Maritime cituation.

The

The chief Town is Bracelonia stated upon the Mediterranian Sea, between the Rivers Besons and Rubricat or Lobrecat, and is a rich noted Port much Traded to: The buildings are very stately, and contain a Bishops See; an Academy, and sundry other advantages of Gardens and pleasant places that render it delightful and well Inhabited,

A Description of Belgium, or the Neitherland Provinces, &c.

HE Tract now called Belgium or the Neitherlands, is bounded on the East With Westphalia, Gulick, Cheve, Triers, and the Provinces of the higher Germany, on the West with the main Ocean. which divides it from Brittain, dec. on the North with the River Ems, which parts it from East Friezland, and on the South with Picardy and Campaign, two French Provinces, and upon the South-East with the Dukedom of Lorain; and as for the Country in its present Estate, it is divided into 17 Provinces, viz. The Dukedoms of Limburg, Luxenburg, Gelderland, Brabant, the Marquisate of the Holy Empire, the Earldoms of Flanders, Artois, Hamault, Namurre, Zutphan, Holland, Zealand. the Parronies of West Friezland, Utrecht, Overysel, Machlyn, and Groyning, or Groningen, and of these in their Ordera Limburg.

HE Dukedorn of Limburg is pleasantly scituate, and a very fruitful Province, having the Famous City of Mastreich, so lately renowned for its Sieges, as its Capitol, though the 15 de the and Sto the mo Me acc the and per tail Lin fan sar

Wit

ma

licl

No Tri W Mi lag on ch

ly m ei

- m

on the ons and t much ly, and funoleafant I Inha-

Vei-

Neitherstephalia,
of the ocean, ne North
st Friezampaign, outh-East
ne Coun17 Prouxenburg, loly EmHainault,
arronies Machlyn

antly sciice, have , so latel, though the

in their

the Bishoprick of Leige is its appendent, in which is the City of Leige, the Bishop Regents usual Residence, the See at present vacant by the Death of the late Bishop, and hath under it 32 Barronies, and in it a University, where at one time (if the Story may be credited) Studied 9 Sons of Kings, the Sons of 24 Dukes, and 39 Earls; it being commodiously and healthfully scienate on the River Meuse; the Buildings very fair and spacious, and is accommodated with divers Monasteries and Abbies, the whole Bishoprick containing 24 walled Towns, and 1800 Villages; as also the Eastern part, properly termed a part of the Dutchy of Limburg, contains 5 walled Towns, and 23 Villages, where Limburg (that gives the Province Name) is pleafantly scituate on the River Wesa or Wesel, or Wesar; and from this Fertile Country, abounding with whatever is necessary for the Support of Humane Life, is found that Stone so much used in publick, called Lapis Calaminaris.

Luxemburg.

Tries, having Limburg for its boundard on the North, Lorain on the South, the Bishoprick of Triers on the East, and the River Meuse on the West, and is accounted in circumserence 240 Miles, containing 23 walled Towns, and 1169 Villages of the former, of which Luxemburg scituate on the River Asnains, Danvillees and Bostonake are chies: The upper part of this Dukedom is generally Inhabited by Germans, but the French possess most of the lower part, and indeed they speak either Languages in most of the Villages, and in manners participate of both Nations; and bordering upon this Dukedom is the Famous Forrest of Ardena, formerly accounted the greatest in Europe, as being 500 Miles in compass, consisting mostly of Chest-nut Trees, but now burnt, and otherways destroyed to the circumference of 90 Miles, and near it are sound the Spaw Baths, so much frequented by divers Nations for the restoring them to Health, by removing sundry Malladies and Diseases; and in this Region are held to be 7 Earldoms, and many other petty Governments. The Soil is naturally Fruitful and Pleasant by Scituation.

Brabant.

B Rabant has for its boundard on the South-East and North, the River Meuse, on the West the Schald, or the Sclade; in length it is accounted 70 Miles, and in breadth 60, containing 26 walled Towns, and 700 Villages; the principal of the former being Lovaine, a City 6 miles in compass, inclosing beside the stately Building, pleasant Hills, Valleys, Meadows, Fragrant Gardens, and is a noted University, confisting of 20 stately Colledges. The nex i of note is Bruxelles, or Brussels, the usual feat of the Governor, for the King of Spain, pleafantly seated and Inviorned with Gardens and little riseing Hills; and near it is the City of Bergeaupzone, a garrisoned place, strongly fortified; and here is found likewise, the Town of Breda, surprised by the Prince of Orange, and taken from the Spaniards by a small number of Gentlemen, who came upon it in the night time, in a Eoat covered with Turfs, and desperately setting upon the Garrison possessed themselves of it; and yet more samous for the Treaty between his Late Majesty of England, and his Subjects, whereupon enfued his happy Restauration; and in this Province is contained the Marquelate of in the state of in the stat ved latte ver l Plac Thir

łu

and of a post of

are

uzre

n Europe, mostly of ther ways iles, and frequent-them to Diseases; oms, and soil is naouth-East

West the united 70 6 walled

al of the compass,

fant Hills, is a no-

colledges.

the usu-

in, plea-

and little

geaupzone, ad here is

prifed by Spaniards

me upon

th Turfs, possessed the Trea-

his Sub-

auration;

arquelate

orrest of

of the Empire, whose chief Town or City is Antwerp, 7 Miles in ompass, once a famous Empori, or the Scale of ope, by reason of its Scituation on the River—having two Marts yearly, and for the more safe Resort of Strangers, qualified with extraordinary Priviledges, and here the Portugals exposed their East India Goods to Sale, and dispersed them through Europe, but of late the Hollanders growing powerful at Sea, and great Traffickers, have removed the Scale for the most part to Amsterdam.

Flanders.

HIS Province which amongst the valgar passes current for the 10, is divided into Galicam, Imperialem, and Tutonicam, the latter being separated from the two first by the River Ley, where is found the City of Gaunt, the Birth Place of John Duke of Lancaster, Son to Edward the Third of England, from thence called John of Gaunt; 'd is so large within the Walls, that there is large tures, and Corn Fields, besides many Gardens, and other pleasant places, and is Commodiously seated upon the River Schald, which devides it in many parts; so that for the conveniency of the Inhabiants there are 98 Bridges: The next to this are Bruis and Tpres, walled and well fortified, and withn the Jurisdiction of the Province, are the samous lea Ports, or Frontier Towns of Dunkirk, taken from he Spainards by the Valour of the English, and since delivered to the French: Schife, which has a spacious Haven, capable of containing 500 Sail of Ships; nd to these we must add Newport and Ostend.

Imperial Planders, so called for Distinctions sake, is levided from Brabant, by the River Dender, and in are found the Towns of Alost and Dendermond, scienate very pleasantly upon the Banks of that River

with

of

with Hulft, a confiderable Town, indifferently fortifled, the Country is generaly fruitful, and the people very thrifty and sparing, &c.

Gallicam, or Gallica Flanders, taking its Denomination from its dependency on the French, or the nearness to that Country, has for its chief Town. Life or Lile, a Town of great Trade, and much Resort, where fundry Merchants have Ware-Houses, and some petry Factories; the next to it in Dignity is Doway, much noted for its University, and the great Refort of most Christian Nations thirher to see the curious Library, and other Rarities; and here likewise stands Tornay, taken from the French by King Henry the Eighth of England, and ranfomed by the Inhabitants at 100000 Ducats, there are moreover 32 walled Towns of leffer note, and 1178 Villages, within the Jurisdiction of this Province, adorned with stately buildings, and pleasant Gardens, replenished with Fountains, and pleasant Streams; and is in all parts very Fruitful, as lying low, and not any where incumbred with Mountains, from which indeed the Provinces are generally free, &c.

Artois is a very pleasant Province, and was once intirely French; but now (as the rest I have mentioned) under the Government of the King of Spain, quitted by Henry the Second of France, to Philip the Second of Spain, in the League of Chambray; and is said to contain 854 Villages, and 12 Towns of note; the chief being Arras, from whence our Cloath of Arras comes, and Lilliers. The Principal Frontier Towns that opposes Piccardie are Hedinfort, Ayre, Pernes, and St. Omers, most of them very strong and fencible.

Hainault is confiderably spacious, as being Sixty Miles in length, and Fourty Eight in breadth, in which are computed 950 Villages, and 24 considerable Towns, as Monts Famous for the overthrow of the French Army, under the command of the Duke communithis feater derail Bava fupper Belgin fruiti Nathe II and II what Cole bright are for vince about fture Cattl MI in the o Vil es its the r upon may the V ment happ Maga those therla most per F right SWOI

Spani

ly fortind the

or the Town, Refort, es, and ignity is he great of fee the ere like-by King d by the noreover

Villages, adorned lens, reams; and and not om which was once mentionpain, quitip the Scy; and is of note; Cloath of Frontier Ayre, Perrong and

ing Sixty eadth, in 4 confideenthrow of the Duke of Luxemburg, by the Dutch and Germans, under the command of the Prince of Orange, &c. routed near this Town 1676. Valenciens very commodiously feated, so that it cannot be besieged but by a considerable Army, divided into three parts: Conde and Bavais. Towns of considerable strength, the latter supposed to be built upon the ruins of the antient Belgium, the Province in general is very pleasant and fruitful.

Namurre is very commodiously scituate, and yields the Inhabitants great Advantages from the Iron Mines, and Marble Quars; as also those of Free Stone, and what is indeed a wonder in nature, viz. The Stone Cole which is extinguished by Oyl, but burns the brighter for having Water cast upon it; and here are sound the City Namurre, giving name to the Province as also Charlemont, Valen-court, or Bornies, with about 182 Villages, accommodated with rich Passures, pleasant Gardens, with store of Fruits and Cattle.

Machlyn, though it is reckoned to be scituate within the circuit of the Province of Brabant; yet has in it 9 Villages, with several Castles and Places of strength. as its dependences being a strong Town, seated in the midst of the Waters of the River Dole, so that upon drawing up the Sluces, the Country about it may be drowned; and was of fuch efteem before the Wars with Spain, that it was the feat of a Parliament; but now is somewhat impaired by a fire that happened some years since, by the blowing up of a Magazine of 800 Barrils of Gun-powder. These are those properly called the Spanish Provinces and Mei. therlands, which were formerly free Estates, and most of them Independent, governed by their proper Princes and Magistrates; but under a claim of right by Title, and the more prevailing Power of the Sword, wearied by War, they were reduced by the Spanish Kings part, of whose Dominions they are at this day accounted: However, the 7 consederated Estates, commonly called the United Provinces, viz. Zealand, Holland, Utretch, Guelderland, Zutphen, Gromingen, Over-Isel, and some part of Brabant, and Flanders, have yet those Priviledges the sormer enjoyed, making for their better desence against the Incroachments of their powerful Neighbours, a strict League and Union in the year 1381. which has ever since inviolably continued, called now the Estates of the Low-Countries.

A Description, particularly of the Low-Countries.

Ealand or Sealand, is a Country standing upon 7 Islands Northward in the Sea, commodiously scituate for Shipping, and Harbours, so that it may in a manner be questioned, whether the Inhabitants live on the Water or on the Land, and though it consists of 7 Islands only at present, it formerly was 15 whereof 8 have been swallowed up by the Waves, with their Towns and Cities, so that we may well alude.

Invenies sub Aquis, & ad-buc austendere nauta, Inclinata solent, cum manibus opida versis, &c.

The Waters hide them, and the Sailers show, The Ruined Waiis, and Steeples as they Row.

The chief Towns of this Province, are Middleburg, Famous for Traffick, and the Staple for French and Spanish Wines; Flushing, a strong and sortified Sea Town. All the Islands are fertile, much abounding with Pastures, Corn, and plenty of Cattle, yielding a great deal of Madder, for dying, Wooll, Greating a great deal of Madder, for dying, Wooll, Greating a great deal of Madder, De and on, wh of ant not land refe Eft Wit 400 con and man ed.

men bert of C vere of w 101 dow ordi ther fel,

and

Pro

its N a Pr derla the

Hot-

HOLLAND, (the chief of the Provinces, under the federated Denomination of which the rest are vulgarly called, inces, viz. and is the most powerful in Shipping, and Navigatiphen, Gree on,) comprehends the Famous City of Amsterdam, by ant, and which the River Tay flows like a large Sea, and is one ormer enof the chief Empories of Europe, Rotterdam, Leyden gainst the anUniversity, Doort, Delph, Harlem, and other places of rs, a strict note, as the Hague, &c. the which, though but an Inhas ever land Village, is much honoured by the Concourse, e Estates reforting thither, and the frequent affembling of the Estates; and this, more than any other part, abounds with Woods, esteemed though but small, to contian

UTRECHT, another of these Provinces has five considerable Towns in it, of which Utrecht, Mont-fort, and Rhenen, are the principal; as also 70 Villages, many of them very fair and pleasant, all well watered, and accommodated with Gardens, Pasturages, and other things necessary for the use of Man; the Province was anciently called Antonia, but since took its Name from a Ferry that was kept there, for the 400 Villages, and 20 walled Towns in its Jurisdiction.

Transportation of Passengers, &c.

over-TSSEL, another of the Provinces, is memorable for the City of Daventree, won by Robert Earl of Leicester, an English Peer, in the time of Queen Elizabeth, from the Spaniard, and delivered to the States, and has besides 11 good Towns of which Campene, Swall, and Daventree are the chief, 101 Villages, and abounds with good Pastures, Meddows, Corn and Cattle, producing yearly an extraordinary quantity of Butter and Cheese, and the rather Fruitful, as being well watered by the River Tsel, from which it appears to take its name.

a Province, yet it is no more than a Town in Guelderland, free, and independent, before which (to the great Grief of all good Men) the Famous and Learned Sir Phi ip Sidney, received the Mortal wound

the

ling upon nodioully lat it may habitants hough it ierly was e Waves, may well e naute, sis, &c.

s show, y Row.

id dleburg, rench and rified Sea bounding e, yieldoll, Gc. Helwound of which he dyed, though the Town was notwithstanding won by his Conduct and Valour, be-

W

W

in 10 is

an

th

W

mi

15 th

in

So

be fe

qu

ra

th

fir

ing a very antient Earldom.

note, abounding with Plenty of all forts of Provisions, and many curious Manufactures, and is held to contain 24 Towns, and 300 Villages. The chief of the Towns being Nimegen, seated on a branch of the River Rhine, and much noted for the Treaty held there, Ruremond and Arnheim, and is recounted in Historians to take its name from Geluba, once a samous Town Scituate in the Province, but now altogether ruined or reduced to a strait compass.

West Friezland, so large that under its Jurisdiction it has 154 Towns and Villages, the principal being Old Haven and Keikerk, and boasts of great Plenty and much Riches.

FRIEZLAND contains 11 chief Towns, the most considerable being Harlingem, Lewarden, and Zwichen, with about 345 Villages, Incompassed with Excellent Pasture grounds, abounding in Herds of Cattle, of a more then ordinary bigness, and is in a manner, every where refresh'd with pleasant Streams; and not far from it is the Island of Scelinck, on the Coast whereof the Fishing trade is continually maintained; and there are found Dog-Fish in abundance.

The Air in these, and the other Provinces, is at this day very temperate; so that, although the Winters last long, yet are they not excessive; and as sor the Summer it is gentle and mild, resembling the Spring, in the more Southern Countries; as sor the People they are generally corpulent, well proportioned, and great Artists, being quick of Invention, and very curious Artisteers. The Women are for the most part tolerably handsome, and constant House-wifes much in subjection to their Husbands, and fiderable f Provision is held The chief branch of the Treaty ecounted to the money alto-own was als.

arrony of arriddiction ipal being ear Plenty the most den, and assed with Herds of nd is in a t Streams; k, on the ally mainin abunnces, is at the Winand as for abling the s; as for well preof Inveromen are d constant Husbands, and very careful in the management of such Affairs as they understand: They are (both Men and Women) frequently great drinkers; nor do they come behind hand, especially those of the 7 Provinces last mentioned, in eating; and as for their Warfare they are better Soldiers, and more fortunate by Sea then Land, for indeed Navigation is in a manner their greatest busines; many of those, we properly call the Dutch, being born on Shipboard, and there brought up; their Parents having no Land, Houses or Tenements, but live on board for the most part, and are seldom in Lodgings which is all they take care for, rejecting any settlement; and thus much in brief for the 17 Provinces, or Lower Germany, from whence I proceed to the Higher, Oc.

Germany, properly so call'd, Described in its Province and Principalities.

ERMANT, in which at this day the Reman J Empire has its Establishment, is bounded on the East with Prussia, Poland and Hungary, on the West with Belgium and France, on the North with Denmark, and the Main Sea called the German Ocean, and on the South with the Alps, and is Scienate in the Northern Temperate Zone, under the 7 and 11 Climates having 17 hours and a half in the longest day Northward, and 14 and a half Southward; the compass of this spacious Country, being accounted 2600 English miles, held to be esfectually the largest sim Europe, and in most Parts is exceeding Fruitful, the Air wholsom; and consequently the Natives (were they more temperate) would be exceeding healthful; however the Inhabitants for honesty of conversation and firmness to their Governors, are much to be applauded plauded; Valiant they are, and very deliberate in their Actions; the Women are corpulent and to-lerably handsome great breeders, and very fruitful; though for the Vulgar sort they are generally poor, notwithstanding they are curious in invention, and performance of Arts; and the World is beholding (if we may rightly so term it) to this Nation for the Invention of Printing and Gun-powder.

of it abounding with Corn, Wine, Cattle, Minerals, as Tin, Copper, Silver, and some Gold, Quicksilver, Linnen Cloath, Allom, and many other valuable Commodities, and is properly divided into the upper and lower Germany. The first of these more bordering upon the Alps, may be reckoned to contain Austria, Bavaria, Suevia, Helveria, Switzer land and Alsatia; and of these in their order, Gr.

The Upper Germany Described.

USTRIA, a Hereditary Province of the Empire, or Arch-Dukedom of the House of Austria, Antiently Pannonia Superiour, is accounted the most fertile of the Provinces, in Corn, Wine, Fish, Cattle, &c. And has for its Metropolis, the famous City of Vienna, called by the Dutch Wien; more noted for the great overthrow, the Turks received before it, in the year 1683. after it had sustained a Siege of near 3 months; and is commodiously Scituate upon the dividing of the River Danube, antiently called Ister, adorned with a great number of stately Buildings, and has not only frequently baffed the Ottoman power, by putting a stop to their further incroachment into Christendom, but is usually the Imperial Residence, being strongly defended with a Wall, and several Towers: and under the Jurisdiction of this Arch-Dukedem are

In

Se

W

ro

N

it

M

Bo

th

th

th

up

Se

an

ar

ar

Tyrolis and Carniola. The first Scituate on the Spurs of the Alps, yet considerably fruitful, and has for its chief Towns Gretis, Hall and Marpurg, with many pleasant Villages. The second is considerably large, as containing many good Towns and Villages: Those of note being Spital, Veit, and Vellach, with good Pastures, and fruitful Plantations of Gardens, Orchards, &c.

The Third borders, or is rather Scituate on a part of the Alps, very montainous, and but indifferently Fruitful, yeilding more in Mines then in other Commodities; yet contains the noted Towns of Inspurch, Tyrol and Trent, so much known by the Council that was held there, in the year 1546. Seated on the banks of the River Odesis: The Country is in a manner square; as being 72 Miles, without any considerable difference, every way.

The Fourth is larger than any of the former as being 150 miles in length, and 45 in breadth, Invironed with Sclavonia on the East, Italy on the West, Istria on the South, and Carinthia on the North; a Country, it is very fruitful, and has in it many good Towns the principal being Essing and New Marcht; Scituate on the Banks of the Rive:

Save.

berate in and to-fruitful;

ttion, and

cholding

ation for any parts

le, Mine-

e Gold.

many o-

ly divide first of

e reckon-

Helvetia.

in their

the Em-

se of Au-

ccounted, Wine,

olis, the

Turks re-

t had fu-

commo-

he River

with a

not only putting a

frendom,

g strong-

ers: and dcm are

the

ally poor, "

BAVARIA is a large Country, and has for it's Boundards Styria and Austria on the East, Leike on the West, the Danube and part of Franconia on the North, and Carinthia together with Tyrol on the South; and has for its principal City Munich, upon the River Asser, being the Dukes principal Seat; Ingolstadt on the Danube, comprehending an University Ratisbon, Passaw, Donow, Saltzburg, and others; and is watered with the Rivers Danube and Saltzech as principal streams, and with Rivers of lesser note; and so opulent is it, that Travellers affirm.

firm 34 Cities and 46 confiderable Walled Towns, are found within its circumference, and is fruitful in every thing except Wine, with which it is sup-plyed out of other Parts.

SUEVIA called by the Dutch Schwaben, is bounded. Eastward on Bavaria, Westward on the Danube, Northward on Franconia, and Southward on Tyrol and Retia, or the Country of Griffens; and has for its Principal Towns Vlm or Elmus, Lindair, a free City Seated in a Peninsula, made by the Lake Acronius, Auspurg, Ravenspurg, Wherlingen and Norlingen; most built with Free-stone, with Houses of an extraordinary height, as four and five Stories, and many stately Pallaces, Churches, &c. The Country is gemerally well peopled and with those of a good Complexion, tall and well fet; the women Ruddy and Fair, and the Plains abound with rich Pastures, Cattle and Corn; for Hills there are none of confiderable note; and the principal River that passes through it, is the Danube, receiving other Rivers into its stream; and although Auspurg is accounted a City of this Province; yet in it self and dependencies, it is a Marquizat.

HELVETIA, now more vulgarly known by the name of Switzerland, is a very Mountainous Country, as being posited amongst the Alps, for the most part, or spurs of that mountain, accounted the highest habitable Region in Europe, bounded on the East with Tyrol, on the North with Lorain, on the West with France, and on the South with Italy; and is at this day cantoned or divided into 13 Divisions or Jurisdictions, under a United Consederacy and League, the better to oppose the Invasion of any powerful Neighbours; and these have for their Capitals considerable distinct Cities and Countries, from which they hold their Regulation; as Zurich, Berne, Lucerne, Glaris, Prenij, Zugh, Friburg, Basil, Schaffbansen, Apensel, Soloturn, Vandenew and Suits; befides

fide: City divi form yet but For A it is mild Rive note and four ing men dicapter pea falle

Pairs the whole being the rel pal

on

th fri ev fu Towns, fruitful is sup-bunded. Danube. n Tyrol for its. ree Cicronius. ; most raordid many y is ged ComndFair. Cattle derable ough it. nto its.

by t e country; e most e highhe East e West and is evisions by and of any eir Caa City

intries, Zurich, Schaffs; befides fides in the Confederacy is comprehended, the City and Marquesat of Baden, and although they are divided in Matters of Religion, 5 being of the Reformed Church, and the rest Roman-Catholicks, yet that makes no Separation in the commonInterest, but against any opposer, they mutually joyn their Forces.

As for the length of these Countries thus United, it is accounted 240 miles and the breadth 180 miles, and from these Mountains Issue the Famous Rivers Po, and Rhone or Rosne, with others of lesser note, which pass through many Famous Kingdoms and Provinces; and indeed the Plains that are found amongst the Mountainous places, are exceeding Fruitful, and produce many Cattle, and the men are accounted the best Soldiers in Europe; and for as much as their Country is poor, they much addict themselves to the Sword; serving for pay any Prince that will entertain them; whereby it appears, that no less than one Million of them have fallen in sundry Battles within One hundred years past.

ALSATIA is bounded on the East with the Rhine, on the West with Lorain, on the North with the Palainate, and on the South Helvetia; having for its Metropolis the famous City of Straiburg, on the Rhine; lately taken, or surprized by the French, who undertook the Quarrel of the Bishop that layed claim to that Dignity; though indeed it has been held a free City: As for the Building, it is very stately, mostly of Free-stone, and contains several fair Churches, Senate-Houses and Stores; the Streets, though not very wide, are in most parts refreshed by the Streams of Water that pass through them, and all the Country about it abounds with fruitful Fields, Vineyards, Cattle, Gardens, and every thing that may be termed pleasant and delightful, and has in the circuit a confiderable number of

D. 41

Towas -

Towns and Villages, and was reckoned, as is faid, amongst the free Imperial Cities.

To these in this division of the Empire, we may add Rhetia, or the Country of the Grisons, bounded on the West with Switzerland, on the East with Tyrol on the South with Milain, and on the North with Suevia, lying half in Italy and half in Germany; so that the People for the most part are Familiar with either Language, and is a Region well peopled and pleasantly Scituate, only somewhat Mountainous. The chief Towns are Coyra, not far from the Rhine, Musocco and Bormia; and in these parts the Reformed and Romish Religion are indifferently Practiced; and thus much of the upper or highest Germany.

The Lower Germany Described, in its Provinces, Free-Towns, &c.

HAT which we properly term the lower Germany, may be conveniently divided into Franconia, and the appendant Territories, the three Electorates of the Palatinate, Brandenburgh and Saxony; with its dependencies, Pomerania, Medenburgh, Brunswick, Luneburg, Hassia, East Friezland, Westphalia, Cleveland, Wetteraw or Vetravia, &c. and of these in their order.

FRANCONIA, supposed by some to be the first Seat of the Franks or French, has for its boundards, on the East Saxony and Bohemia, on the West Elsas, on the North Hassia, and on the South Bavaria; and contains many sair Cities within its circle or circumference, as Bamber, Weirtzburg, and Metz or Mentz, the Seat of a Bishop, and moreover has in it the Pallace of the chief Electoral Bishop; and as for the City, it is commodiously seated upon pleasant rifeing Hills, incompassed with a Valley and spacious

Pla

Paff

led

the

fort

pire

the

by

Inh

the

hel

on

and

mor the in c

rou

Hill ftle ftat

Fru

an c Tir

As

non Wi

brc

W

of

in the Sea

by

joi di as is faid,

we may bounded aft with he North Germany; Familiar II peopleat Mount far from ele parts lifferent or high.

in its

he lower vided in-Territo-Branden-Pomera-Jia, East or Ve-indards, ift Elfas, Bavaria;

circle or Metz or has in it
ad as for oleafant pacious

the first

Plains, yielding great abundance of Corn, Fruits and Pastures; being Antiently the Seat of a King, called the King of Mentz: And in the Province are the free Cities of Novemburg, Rotenburgh, and Franction, at the latter of which the Electors of the Empire meet, as occasion serves, for the Election of the Emperor; all three pleasantly Seated, either by the nature of the Soil, or the industry of the Inhabitants, well fortified and of great concourse; there being two of the most noted Fairs in Europe, held twice a year, and in one of it's streets on the East side, the Jews are permitted to Trade and Inhabit.

The Kingdom of Bohemia, is an Antient and Famous Kingdom; containing the Dukedom of Silefia, the Marquesates of Lusatia and Moravia; accounted in circuit 550 English Miles, being cast in a manner round or circular, Walled with Mountains or large Hills, and was once held to contain 78 Cities, Cafiles and Walled Towns, and 32000 Villages and stately Buildings of the Nobility.

As for the Soil of this Kingdom, it is generally Fruitful producing great increase of Corn and Wine, and in many parts there are Mines of Iron, Lead, Tin, Copper, Gold, Silver, and some Quicksilver: As for the Natives, they are of a chearful Countenance, modest behaviour, and strong of Body; the Women very fair and comly, tall of personage and broad Shouldered. As for the King of Bohemia, which now rests in the house of Austria, he is one of the Electors of the Emperor, and has precedency in the casting voice; and is great Cup-bearer on the Coronation day.

The chief Cities of this Kingdom are Prague; feated on the River Mulda, confissing of three parts, by reason of the division the River makes, though is joined by Bridges, and has in it many stately Buildings of Free-stone, though in the generality, the

Dog Houses

Houses are Timber built, and the Walls of Clay or Loam; Egra, a place very commodious, and much traded to, watered with a pleasant Stream, and accommodated with curious Gardens and Orchards, Budweis and others.

of Bohemia, extending in length 240 Miles, and in breadth 80 Miles, divided almost in equal parts by the River Oder, into which many lesser Rivers discharge themselves, and so well water the Country, that it is exceeding fruitful almost every where, though the Air is much colder than with us at all times, and what the Soil wants, the Inhabitants by their industry make out; and in it is scituate the samous City of Breslam, or Preslam, accounted for stately Building, and Commodiousness, one of the chief Cities belonging to the Emperor. There are moreover the Cities of Jadendorf, and Glogam, with a great number of pleasant Villages.

LUSATIA, or Lusutia, is divided into the Higher and Lower Countries, and though but small, yet exceeding Populous, so that Historians affirm, that this little Province has sent 20000 Armed Men, into the Field, and is in most parts Fruitful, as being watered by the River Nise or Nisso, and other Streams, and has as chief Cities Trabel and Groliz, with many walled Towns, and a great number of Villages, though several have been destroyed, by the Incursions of the Turks and Tartars, and the Intestine Wars.

Moravia is a very pleasant Country, affording store of Wine, Corn, and curious Fruits, with some Myrrh, and Frankincense, the Shrubs and Trees growing naturally wild, as well as in Gardens by Improvement; the Country being very Wooddy and Mountainous, and is a Marquisate of the Empire, the chief Towns being Almutz, an University, and Brinne, the Seat of the Marquess; the Country receiving its name (as most conjecture) from the River Moravia that runs.

rut

110

Lai

Scl

unc

Lo

lon

be

Rh

gre

wh

Cy

tina

nos

tak

the

Am

Sea

hig

dal

of i

W

day

Bri

an gia

th

of

gr

G

F

Ot

in

le la lay or much , and hards, and in arts by ers diftry, that though hes, and ir induus City uilding, ties beover the number e Higher yet exthat this into the g waterams, and any walthough rions of

offording ith fome es grow-mproved Mounthe chief inne, the its name at ia that runs,

runs through it; and although the Territories are not large, the People are nevertheless divided in Language, between the Teutonick, Bohemian, and Sclavonian.

The Electorate of the Palatinate, or the Country: under that Denomination, contains the Upper and Lower Palatinates, and extends for the most part along the Rhine 96, and is in breadth 72 Miles, said to be the fruitfullest of all others, affording abundance of Rhenish Wines, pressed from the Grapes that grow in great plenty on the Binks of that famous River, from whence the Wine takes its Name; and in any vacancy of the Empire, the Prince Elector of these Palatinates has a far larger Jurisdiction, which terminates not till the Coronation of the Emperor, where he takes his place as Arch-Sewer, and in the Upper of these Palatinates is scituate, the City of Newburg, Amburg, and Castel; and in the Lower Heidelburg, the Seat of the Palfgrave of the Rhine, incompassed with high Hills, on the North-East, and South Frankendale, Openheim and Crutznach; and on the East-side of this Country are Lauden, and Winheim, and on the West Keifers and Newstadt.

The Electorate of Saxony has for its Eastern boundard Lusatia, for its Western Hassia, for its Northen Brunswick, and on the South Bohemia and Franconia; and contains the Countries commonly called Turingia, Missia, Voitland, and the proper Saxony; as for the first of these, it comprehends the Principalities of Mansieldt and Anhalt, the Prince of it being a Lantgrave; and although the Country exceeds not 12 German Miles, either way, yet the Soil is exceeding Fruitful, and soabounds that its Fruitfulness supplies other Places of greater extent; and being divided into 12 Counties, is held to contain 44 Cities, walled Towns, and terong Castles; and about 2000 Villages, and great Houses of Noble Men; as for the Duke of Saxonies chief Seat it is Ersdorf, though there are other samous Places within his Jurisdiction, as Dresden, seated on the River Albis, in a pleasant Plain, passing between two Mountains: Leipzich, a Famous University, especially for the study of Physick, and Philosophy; built mostly with free-stone, and pleasantly invironed with Corn-Fields: Wintenburg, the place where Faustus studied Necromancy, with many others; and this by some is held to be the Country that gave Birth to those Saxons that invaded England, and brought it under Subjection.

The Electorate of Brandenburg (though no more properly held than a Marquisate, notwithstanding the Elector is stiled a Duke) is a very spacious Country, bounded on the East with Saxony; on the West with Poland, on the South with Lusatia, and on the North with Pomerania; accounted 500 Miles in Circumference, containing fifty considerable Cities, and 64 walled Towns, besides a great number of Villages: This Elector being held the most potent of the Empire, as it has been evident by his contending with the Sweeds, Danes, and others.

The chief Cities are Brandenburg, curiously scituate, and adorned with many stately Buildings, and rare pieces of Antiquity: Berlin, the place of usual Residence, and where the Duke has a Magnissicent Pallace, seated on the River Spree: Oderam and Hayelburg, the See or Seat of a Bishop, though the Resormed Religion is that which is maintained and supported by the Prince: And this Marquisate is divided into the New and Old, Water'd by the Oder and Albis, and the Elector is great Chamberlain of the Empire, all the Country being exceeding Fruitful, and naturally bringing forth abundance of Corn, Passurages, and some Wines.

POMERANIA is on the East bounded by the River Vistula, on the North with the Baltique Ocean, on the West with Ecdenburg, and on the South with Brand nburg; and here is found the samous Steetin,

which

Mo Bra

tref

dio

Co

VCI

lics

per Ru

Por hav

Jur

the

cha

ver

the ony,

We

fan

mia

tru

Ga Ha

biti Sta

bų: ed

pr

F

tion, as at Plain, Famous k, and pleading, the ith mase Councided Eng-franding spacious on the tia, and oo Miles able Cinumber to potent ontend-ciruate, and rare al Refire Pale Reformed fup-divided and Albis, he Emful, and Paffu-the Ri-Ocean, th with Stetim, which which with a very small Garrison, held a Siege of 3 Months, against the whole Power of the Elector of Brandenburg: Wolgast, Gripsmald, Wallin, and New-trepon, with many other places of strength, commodiously seated on the banks of Rivers, or the Sea-Coast; and although this Province is not large, it nevertheless yields great store of Corn, Cattle, Gr. and lies very advantageous for Sea Traffick, and to it appertain the Islands of Volinia, Wisedonian, and Rugia.

MEDENBURG is scituate on the West part of Pomerania, and is the more Fruitful of the two, as having many Populous Cities and Towns within its Jurisdiction, the chief being Steremberg, from whence the Late Governour of Vienna derives his Title, Malchaw, Wosmar and Rostock, the latter of these a University, and is watered with pleasant Streams, Gr.

LUNBURG, and Brunswick, have for their Northern boundard Denmark, for their Southern Saxony, and Hassa, and East and West Brandenburg, and West-Phalen, being properly two Dukedoms, pleasantly scituate; as for the chief Cities, they are Brunswick, a free City of the Empire; from this place the true Mum is brought over, and is a strong sortified Garrison, no ways in Subjection to the Emperor; Halbertstadt, or Herbertstadt, a Bishops See; Wolfbitten, the Residence of the Duke, where he has a stately Pallace: And Lunburg the Seat of the Lunburg Duke, a very pleasant City, commodiously seated for Trade and Pleasure: The Country about it producing store of Fruits, and Corn, and the Pastures breeding up a great number of Cattle.

HASSIA, is governed by a Lant-Grave, and lies East-ward of Saxony, South-ward of Franconia, West-ward, and North-ward of West-Phalen, being a Mountainous Country, though in many Parts, there are fertile Plains, which yield great store of Corn, and Fruits: nor do the Mountains that rise by degrees

fail

fail, especially about the skirts of them, to bring forth considerable encrease, and as for this Country, at present it is divided into two Families, the one of Cassel, and the other of Darmstat, being of the Younger House: As for the chief places that appertain to the Lantgraves, they are Cassel, or Castel, on the River Fuld, Marpurg on the River Lohn; an University founded Anno 1426, by Limis Bishop of Munster, and near it is a stately and well fortified: Castle, seated on a Hill, high and steep, so that it is accounted impregnable, if well defended; and is the chief Place of Residence in time of War, or Danger, giving a prospect of the whole Country. Darmstadt, is another chief Town, guarded by a strong Castle, and is the Inheritance or Seat of the Younger House of the Lantgraves; and part of this Country belongs to the Abbey of Fulda, accounted one of the greatoff Revenues in Europe; and was founded by St. Boniface an English-man, insomuch, that the Abhot is accounted a Prince of the Empire; and takes Place, as Chancellor to the Empres, stiling himself Primate of Gallia.

EAST FRIESLAND, has on the West, the River Ems; on the North, the Ocean; on the West, the Weser; and on the South, West-Phalia; and though it is a Country of no large extent, yet it is in many parts very Fruitful; and is divided by the River Ems only, from the Provinces of the United Netherlands; and has Embden, the utmost Borders of the Empire for its chief City, pleasantly scituate, and contains many stately buildings, though in general they are built of Brick; and the next to this is Oldenburg, considerable for its Trade, and is of it self an Earldon.

WEST-PHALIA, has for its boundards on the East, Brunswick; on the North, the Ocean; on the South, Hassia; on the West, Belgium; being a Country sull of Woods and Forrests, which yields

them

the

fon

Said

a So

W

flee

Wel

to 15 I

Sas

lon

ers

Ex

fler

Riv

far.

Fe

tle

COI

no

an

E

bc

E

fh

b bring them notwithstanding great Commodities, by reaountry, son of the abundance of Wild Hogs found therein; the one faid to take their beginning from one Farrow, which of the a Sow, straying from a Farm-House, cast in these apper-Woods; and of the Legs of these Hogs, taken in great Castel, numbers, are our West-Phalia Hams so much in Ebn; an steem. &c. And although this Country is properly ishop of West-Phalia; yet the Northern part, changes its name fortified: to that of Bremen; and is governed by a Bishop, who that it is is Lord of this Tract; notwithstanding, the Duke of nd is the Saxony claims a part, and other parts are held to be. Danger, long to the Bishopricks of Cullen, Munster, and Tri-. rmstadt; ers: The chief Cities are Asdrop, Clappenburg, and g Castle, Exenburg. er House As for the chief Towns under the Bishop of Munbelongs ne great-fler, they are Munster, scituate on the bank of the River Ems, Warendrop, and others, and have a pleafant Country, all about their Neighbourhood, very Fertile, and abounding with store of Corn and Cattle, plain for the most part, there being few or no.

confiderable Hills in this Tract.

y St. Bo-

Abhot is

s Place,

self Pri-

he River

eft, the l though

in many

e River

d Nether-

s of the re, and a general

nis is Ol-

of it self

on the

; on the

being a

ch yields them

CULLEN, or the Bishoprick of Collen, though not large, is nevertheless a very Fruitful Country, and greatly to be defired, whose Arch-Bishop is Chancellor of Italy, and held to be the fecond chief Elector of the Empire; and has in his Jurisdiction. besides the City of Cullen as chief, those of Lintz, Ernance, and Bonna, much noted for the Arch-Bishops Pallace, held to be one of the most stately in . the Empire.

TRIERS is a Bishoprick of note, and contains many fair Cities and Towns, as Triers, from whence it takes its name, Coblents, Boport, and Engirs, in chief; and is pleasantly watered with the Moselle, which renders the Country in its passage, very Fruitful, the Bishop whereof is accounted the third Spiritual Elector of the Empire.

borders upon Gelderland, a small Country, yet as the rest in this Tract of Land, by reason of its commodious Scituation, very Fruitsul, containing the Regiments or Territories of Gulick, Cleve, and Berge: As for the Dutchy of Gulick, it contains the City of Akan in chief, and some other Towns of note, with sundry pleasant Villages, and claims the honour of the Emperors Presence, soon after his Election, as taking here a Silver Crown, and performing some other customary Ceremonies.

As for the chief Cities of the Dutchy of Cleveland, they are Cleve, Wefel, Emmerick, Calkar, and others, with their Villages and Dependancies; and those of the Dutchy of Berge, or Mont, are Mursourg, Dusledorp, Hattingen, very commodiously scituate, and the whole Country watered with pleasant Streams, so that the Soyl yields naturally an extraordinary increase to the Husbandmen.

VETERAVIA is another Country of this Tract, accounted a Province of the Empire, lying to the South-West of Hassia, somewhat larger than those lately mentioned, as comprehending the Countrys of Nassaw, Hannaw, and Friburg a Free City; as for Nassaw it contains many considerable Towns, and is Famous for the Princes of that House, who in defence of the Netherlands, so long opposed the Power of Spain; and from which House, the Illustrious Prince of Orange is descended; this Country yields abundance of Corn, and many Vines, yet producing no great store of Wine; and in them, besides the Towns I have mentioned, are found the Towns of Dellinbourg, Windeck, Hebron, and Catzenelbogen, which latter has been accounted an Earldom.

As for the Nobility of Germany, the Title descends to all the Sons, which makes them numerous, though the Younger Houses want for the most part Estates ..

Esta the

Sw

priz We way on t Balt Suec Stoc Mile man whe nute which poin treau Nigl posi ing fland the: chy, the ' imm that one felve ces of I thy, and, yet as its comning the nd Berge: e-Gity of te, with onour of, ion, as f Clevekar, and es; and Murfourg, nate, and Streams, ordinary ng some

s Tract, g to the n those ntrys of as for s, and is o in dee Power ustrious y yields produbesides Towns escends 'nerous, ost part Estatés Estates to support them; and thus much briefly of the Empire, and its dependencies.

Sweedland Described, in its Countryes and Provinces, &c.

OWEEDEN, or Sweedland, is a Famous Northern Country, renowned for its many great Enterprizes, and Undertakings; and is bounded on the West with the Doffin Hills, dividing it from Norway; and on the North with the Frozen Ocean; on the South with Denmark, Leisland, and the Baltick Sea, taking, as many hold, its Name from Sueci, Suetheans, or Suethedie; and is in length from Stockholm to the Borders of Lapland 1000 Italian Miles, and about 600 in breadth, reaching in a manner, from the first Parallel of the Twelfth Clime. where the Pole is elevated 38 Degrees, and 26 Minutes, as far as to the 71 degrees of Latitude, by which account, the longest day in the Southern point, exceeds not 18 Hours, though in the extreamest Northern parts, they have scarcely any Night for Two Months; and this Kingdom, though posited in an extream cold Region, is notwithstanding kept so warm by the Mists that arise from the Iflands, that much of the Rigor other Countries in the same Latitude suffer is abated, and is a Monarchy, one of the Antientest in the Northern Parts of the World (if their report be true who boast the immediate Succession, from above 100 Kings; and that the first amongst them was the Son of Japher, one of the Sons of Moah.)

As for the Kings of Sweedland, they stile themselves Kings of Sweeds, Vandals, Goths; great Princes of Finland, Dukes of Estonia and Carolia; Lords of Ingria, and bear three Royal Crowns for their Arms; and the present King of this Country is

Charles

Charles the 11. of the Family of the Palatine of Deuxponts; as for the Soil (by the industry of the people) it is render'd exceeding fertile, and the Air very healthful; unless in places where the Moorish damps arise from Fenns, by the neglect of not opening the Water course; so that the Inhabitants generally live to an extream old Age: And as for the Country it abounds with Corn, Cattle, Fruits and Minerals as Silver, Copper, Lead: There are found confiderable quantities of Furs, and other Commodities, and is divided into, or distinguished by the Provinces of Lapland, Gothland, Finland, and Sweeden.

LAPLAND or LAPPIA is the most Northern Part of Scandia, and is divided into the Eastern and Western parts: The first containing Biarmia and Corolia, which properly appertains to Russia, or the Jurisdiction of the Czars of Muscowy, and the latter comprehending Lappia and Scrisinia, under the Government of the King of Sweeden; and the people in many parts, especially the most extream are Heathen Idolaters, or such as pay Adoration to Creatures; especially such as they first see in the Morning, and are held to deal in Magick and Witchcraft, and to sell Winds to Saylors that Navigate those Seas; however they are miserably poor, as living in the most barren part of the Country, and pay their acknowledgement or Tribute only in Furs of Foxes, Martins &c. which tolerably abound in those parts; and they dwell for the most part in Cotts, where they are by reason of their Temperance very Healthful; some of them living to 140 years.

Next to the before mentioned Division is Fin Port, land, between the Finland Bay and the Baltick of the Ocean of confiderable Extent, and is full of pleafant Pastures, yielding very much Corn and Fruits, the Cand is properly a Dutchy which some of the Sweet Sound and is properly a Dutchy which some of the Swee-dilh 1 their Albo. confi Helm Cour Load

G antie Prov patin vide bein fix c appe Mon Ifile b as fo it is t ing o of N from duvi( land. SV tribu Provi noc barre Holm with is in many

ner, o

alatine of try of the nd the Air ne Moorish not openirants geas for the ruits and There are and other tinguished nland, and thern Part aftern and armia and Russia, or y, and the da, under ; and the st extream loration to fee in the agick and that Namiserably the Counor Tribute ich toleraell for the reason of

on is Finthe Sweedish dish Kings were wont to assign, for the security of their Brothers Portions; and has for its chief Cities Albo; a Bishops See, Viburg or Viborch, a Fortress of confiderable Strength; Narve, Rangia and Caftle-Helm, and near a place called Razeburg; in this Country is a Province in which the Needle-touch by a Load-stone keeps continually turning.

GOTHLAND held to be the Birth-place of the antient Goths, is accounted one of the most fertil Provinces appertaining to this Monarchy, participaring both of Island and Continent; as being divided into both the Islands, lying in the Baltick Sea, being the biggest in these parts, containing five or fix commodious Ports; and on some of the Rocks appear yet divers Inscriptions (by way of Monuments) in the Antient Gothish Characters, one Is being 18 miles in length, and 5 in breadth; and as for what is of this Province, on the main Land, it is posited in the hithermost part of Scandia border-ing on Denmark, where is Seated the noted City of Norkoping, commodiously on the Sea, the place from when abundance of Copper is brought: Loduvisa a place much traded to, Colmar, fortified. with a very strong Castle, Waldburg and others, and is in all parts very fruitful; so that it is called by many of the Sweeds Goodland, instead of Gothland.

SWEDLAND properly to called, though conributing its name in general to the rest of the Provinces is fertil in many parts; but it holds not throughout by reason of the many Rocks and ne of them parren Hills, and the chief City is Stockholm, or Holmia, defended with a Castle Royal on a Sea Port, at the Mouth of the Lake Meler, which some he Baltick of the Sweedish Kings designed to cut into the Wen-ull of pleaturer, or Lake, thereby to have joyned the Baltick and ind Fruits, the Ocean, frustrating thereby the Passage of the Sound, but it proved a Work of so much Difficulty, that it was laid afide; and this Lake is held to reeeiveTwenty Four Rivers, and disburthens it self with fuch noise and fury, that it is by some called Devils Mouth: But as for the Kings Ships, and Vessels of great Burthen, they generally lye at Elsenore, defended by a strong Castle, and so shelter'd from the Wind, that they may lye without Anchors. contains the Metropolitan Church, where the Kings are usually Crowned, and formerly held their Court; and is a University of this Kingdom, and the most remarkable Mart; Carlstat upon the Wenner, abounds with Brass and Copper: Strongues is a Bi-Thops See.

There are yet two other Provinces, or Divisions of this Kingdom; viz. Livonia, by the Germans: called Liefland and Ingria, vulgarly Ingermanland; the first deliver'd by the Poles upon treaty, and the Last taken from the Muscovites, and are both of them indifferently fruitful, and have in them many considerable Villages and some Towns of note.

The Commodities of these Countries, in general are Copper, Brass, Lead, Ox-hides, Tallow, Furs, Goat-skins, Elks-skins, the Skins of Deer; Honey, Allom, Corn; and in many places there are Silver Mines, but of no confider able advantage. men are Active, Naturally strong, indifferent good Seamen, and resolute Soldiers; Industrious, Ingenious, and very courteous to strangers; and had the Christian Faith first planted amongst them, by Ausgarius Arch-Bishop of Bremen; and in matters of Judicature, or deciding Controversies, each respective Territory has its Viscount, every Province its Lans-men, or Consul, and every Town it's Lay-man or Consul; and there lyeth an Appeal from the Consul to the Laymen, and from the Lay men to the Viscount, and from him to the King, in whose only power it is absolutely to determine the marter. As for the Women they are generally. well well court ftran

ed o of S on th full 1 South temp cle; tenth joyn Ocea Sout for 2 all in guish

Dith of D Hem Norn Illan belo

danc

T

land is in acco ing Pall eld to retielf with d Devils Vessels of enore, defrom the s. Upsat the Kings eld their dom, and ne Wenner,

Divisions Germans
manland;
and the h of their nany con-

es is a Bi-

n. general low, Furs, ; Honey, are Silver ge. The ent good ous, Ingeand had them, by n matters each re-Province Town it's. in Appeal from the the King, letermine generally.

well

well featured, proper in person, very modest and courteous, loving to their Husbands, and assable to strangers.

A Description of Denmark, in its Countries, Provinces, &c.

ENMARK, Quasi, Danes-Mark, comprehending its intire Circuit or Territories, is bounded on the East with the Baltick Sea, and a part of Sweedland, on the West with the Main Ocean on the North East, with another part of Sweedland, full North with the Frozen Ocean, and on the South with Germany; lying partly on the North temperate Zone, and partly within the Artick Circle; extending from the middle Parallel of the tenth Clime, or 55 degrees of Latitude, where it joyneth to Germany, and 71 where the Frozen Ocean bounds it; the longest day in the most Southern parts, being 17 hours and a quarter; but for 2 Months and 3 Weeks they have no Night at all in the extream North, and is commonly distinguished in these parts, comprehending the Appendances.

The Dukedom of Holstein, containing Wagerland, Dithmarsh, Stormaria and Holstein. The Kingdom of Denmark containing the two Juitlands, and the Hemodes or Baltick Islands, and the Kingdom of Norway (now in subjection to the Danes) with the Islands in the North Sea, &c. that properly belong to it; and of these in their order.

The Cimbrick Chersonese, in which the two Juitlands, and the Dukedom of Holstein are contained, is in length 120 miles, and in breadth 80, and accounted to have within that Tract of Land; being in a manner a Peninsula, 20 Royal Castles and Pallaces; 28 Cities of note; 4 Bishop Sees, and a confiderable number of Villages; in many places very Fruitful, and affording fundry curious Havens; and on the South East is Wagerland, and has for its chief Towns Hamburg on the Elbe. Lubeck seated on the confluence of the Trave and Billew, near the fall of that River into the Baltick Sea; much traded to by sundry Merchants, where they find great store of the Commodities of those Countries which are accounted the most fertile.

Dithmarsh spreads the West side of the Chersonefus, Scituate between the River Albis and Endera, giving Title to the Eldest Son of the King of Denmark, and has Meldrep and Marnes for its principal Towns; and although by reason of the many Marishes and Moorish grounds, the soil in many places is not commodious for Tillage, yet nevertheless it feeds great store of Cattle.

stormaria or stormarsh lying between the River Elbe, and the Rivers Billew and Store, and has for its chief Towns Crampe on the Bank of a little River of the same name, falling into the Store, and is well fortified and reckoned one of the Keys of the Kingdom; nor less noted for the great resistance it made against Walestein the Imperial General; who's powerful Army it resisted 13 Months, and at last brought him to good terms of Composition. Tychenburgh on the Banks of the River Elbe; Bredenburg, Jetzebo, Gulickstadt and others.

south Juitland, or the Dukedom of Sleswick, is that part of the Chersonesus that lyes next to Holssein; having for its chief Towns, Fleusburg on the Baltick shoar Scituate amongst high Mountains: Sleswick on the River Slea; from which the Dukedom of Sleswick has its name, Goterp and Londen a Haven Town upon the Banks of the River Ender.

North Juitland is the most Northern part of the Chersonesus and has for it's chief Towns Halne, Ring and ftore grea othe proj they man habi Arfe Heuc ly th Citi den lace City are g ber only fenc ther don threda; 48 i fant shrecipa yiel lyin Tov s Havens; has for its ubeck seatlew, near ea; much they find Countries

c Chersone of Endera, of Dense principal lany Mariny places is reheles it store, and alto the Store, the Keys great refifted 13 pool terms nks of the stadt and

Slefwick, ext to Holourg on the fountains:
the Dukel Londen a ver Ender.
part of the Halne, Ring
copen,

topen, Arhausen and Nicopen; the soil very Fruitsul, and much abounding with Wheat, Barly, Rice; store of Cattle, producing Butter and Cheese in great abundance; and able Horses for War, or any other service, here are also found Rich Furs.

As for those that are called the Baltick Islands; properly belonging to the King of Denmark though they are 35 in number dispersed in the Baltick Sea, many of them are Inconsiderable, and some not Inhabited; the chief are Zeland, Fionia, or Funen; Arsen or Aria, Langland, Laland, Falster, Mone, Henen or Wern, Island and Bornholme; of which only the first is very considerable, as having in it 12 Cities, the chief of which is Copenhagen the Residence of the Danish Kings; where the Regal Pallace, though not very stately, is seated; and is a City of confiderable Trade, though the Buildings are generally mean, as Erected of Loam and Timber; there is a Market constantly kept, and is the only University within the Government; it is defended with a strong Wall and a Castle, and thither are brought all forts of Commodities the Kingdom affords.

SCANDIA that part which appertains to Denmark, is in the South of a Peninsula, divided into three Provinces; as Scandia, Hallandia, and Blescida; the first of these is 72 Miles in length and 48 in breadth, reckoned the most fruitful and pleasant of all the Countries lying about it, as being on three parts bounded by Sea, and has for its principal Towns, Lonpen a spacious Haven. Falskerbode, Elbogue and Elsinburg one of the Keys of the Sound.

HALLANDIA is but a small Tract of Land, yet yields much Fruits and Corn, many Cattle, and lying South of Scania, has Halanego for its principal Town, from which it seems to take its name; and is well watered with pleasant Streams.

BLESCIDA lies North of Sweedland, and though it has many fertile Plains, yet it is generally Mountainous or Craggy hilled, having for its chief Tradeing Town, Malmogia and Colmar, a strong Fortress bordering on Sweedland.

A Discription of Norway.

JORWAY, though under the King of Denmark, is however a Kingdom of it self, being bounded on the East with Denmark, on the West with the Ocean, on the North with Lappia or Lapland, and on the South with Sweeden; but lying so much in the extremities of cold, though it is a vast tract of Land, it is for the most part Rocky, Mountainous and Barren, not being furnished with stores of its one Production, fit for the support of these sew People it contains, the greatest Commodity it affords being Stock-Fish, Ship Masts, Deal Boards, Tackle for Shipping, Pitch, Tann'd Leather, Train Oyl, As for the Towns or Villages, Furrs, and Tallow. they are very thinn, and the Houses for a great part are made of Dirt and Hurdles, covered with Thatch, and windowed with Lattice; and the whole Country is divided into 5 Præsectures or Governments, according to the Number of the Royal Castles, built for the defence of the Country, known by the Names of Bohus, Ager-Huis, Agger-Huse, Trundheim, and Ward-Huis. The chief Towns in these several Jurisdictions, are Anslo'or Astoia, on a Bay opposite to Juitland, an Episcopal See, Bergen, an Episcopal Sea, and the ordinary Residence of the Governour for the King of Denmark; Marstrand seated in a half Island amongst Rocks &c. Tranditteim, Antiently Nicrosia an Arch-Bishops See who is Metropolitan litan of W with natti abou Locu fume way, there much these drop Nor great the i imall have throv wher mise

> T Ocea thuai

and g

acco 3300 the with Russ nt- divi 0- two nd though ly Mounef Tradeg Fortreß

Denmark,

ing boun-West with land, and much in st tract of untainous ores of its few Peoit affords s, Tackle rain Oyl, r Villages, great part h Thatch, e Country nents, actles, built n by the Trundheim. ese several y opposite Episcopal Governour ated in a , Antient-

Metropolitan

litan of Norway; and Ward-huis seated in the Island. of Ward; and although the Country (abounding with horrid Woods, and desolate Mountains) is naturally Poor, yet at certain Seasons little Beasts, about the bigness of Field Mice, over-spread like Locusts the Fertile Parts of the Field, &c. and confume every thing that's green or pleasant in their way, and then gathering together they die in heaps, thereby occasioning a Pestilential Noisomness, that much afflicts the Inhabitants with Diseases; and these they call Lemmers, affirming them to be dropt out of the Clouds in Tempestuous Weather: Nor do the Whales, that appear on that Coast in great number, less disturb their Fishing Trade, by the indangering the finking of their Boats and small Vessels; which monstrous Creatures they have lately found the Art of chasing away, by throwing Oyl of Castor into the Sea, at the Scent whereof they fly: And though the People are miserable Poor, they nevertheless hate dishonesty, and greatly delight in Plain Dealing.

A Description of Russia, comprehending the Dukedom of Muscovy.

West with Livonia and Finland; on the East with Fartary; on the North by the Frozen Ocean, and part of Lapland; on the South with Lithuania, Crim Tartary, and the Euxine Sea; and is accounted in its greatest length from East to West 3300 Miles, and in breadth 3065, being subject to the Czar of Muscovy, or great Duke, who not withstanding stiles himself Emperor of Russia, or Russland, which is part in Europe, and part in Asia, divided by the River Tanais, the boundard of two parts of the World.

E

1

The chief City is Mosco, the Seat of the great Duke, and the Patriarch, and of most of the Nobility, being very large, though not stately; there are besides this of note, Roscovia, and Novograd, Archepiscopal Sees, Vologan, Smolensko, and Plefcovia, held to be the only walled Town in Museovy, Uftium, Mosayce, St. Nicholas, Sugana, Gragapolis, and the chief Maritime Port is Arch-Angel, seated in the proper Russia, whither our Merchants Trade, and the Ruffia Company have a Factory, whe Country yielding store of Furrs, as Sables, White Fox, Martins, Black Fox, Honey, Wax, Cattle, Tallow, Red Deer-skins, Hides, Hemp, Flax, Tar, Brimstone, Salt Perre, Train Oyl, Tongues, and the like; and the Soil towards the Southern Parts is exceeding Fruitful, producing abundance of Corn, and rich Pastures, with Fruits of various Kinds, watered by the River Volga, that passes from thence through a part of Tartary; but to the Extream North, which lies in upward of 76 Degrees, the Weather is fo Cold, that lie tle but Rocks, Woods, Mountains, and Ice are found there, containing a Vicissitude of Light and Darkness; for the Day, if we have a respect to the Twy-light, lasts fix Months, and a great part of the other fix they see not the Sun, but have the Country covered with Snows and during Frosts, the Sea being never free from Rocks and Mountains of Ice, over great Arms of which the Inhabitants pass with Wagons, Sleads, and other Carriages: Nor are there found any Inhabitants in those desolate Parts during the Winter Season, but in that little Summer they have, the Shepherds and Fishermen, set up Hutts or Tents, though in the Woods on this Coast, are the tallest Trees in Europe.

The

tall,

COU

grea

gard

or ( othe

own

are t tione

not

gard

gel ti

rees

but h

their

vernn

Peopl

havin Hilpo

Good with pon

houg

ame

art o

our i

s has lifest.

nd u

e great The Inhabitants of this Country are Thick, not he Notall, but rather square, habiting themselves in Furrs, ; there course Cloth, and Feeding to excess, given ovograd. greatly to Drinking, though it be strictly forbid, nd Plesand are generally Falle and Perfidious, not re-Muscour, garding their Words, but studying to Over-reach, agapolis, or Cozen all they can, infomuch that being in , seated other Countries, they strive to dissemble their erchants own, the better to be Credited: The Women Factory; are tolerably handsome, well Limbed and Propors Sables, tioned, and have a strange Custom amongst them. , Wax, not to think their Husbands either Love or Re-Hemp, eard them, unless they once or twice a day Cudiin Oyk kel their Sides. Their Religion in most things aards the crees with that of the Greek Church, not making roducing my acknowledgment to the Pope, or See of Rome. th Fruits but have a Patriarch of their own, to whom all olga, that their Ecclesiasticks submit: And as for the Getary; but vernment it is absolute, the Czar, who is by the pward of People in extraordinary Esteem and Veneration, that lie having in his Hands the Power of Life and Death, d Ice are disposing at his Pleasure both of the Body and Light and Goods of his Subjects, and is seldom our of War ect to the with the Tartars, a Roying People that border at part of ppon the most Fruitful part of his Country; and have the hough the Armies of the Muscovites are generally ng Frosts, humerous, yet are they composed for the most nd Mounart of stragling People, and seldom answer in vahe Inhabiour the least that may be expected from them, er Carriahas not only in times past, but lately been mats in those sifest, and the reason is, because they go poor, on, but in nd unfurnished into the Field. herds and igh in the Trees in

The

17 8

win 57. 13.0 1 18

A Description of Poland, &c.

DOLAND is a very confiderable Kingdom bounded on the East with the River Boris thenes, on the West with the Vistula; on the South with Hungary; and on the North with the Baltic Sea; and is for the most part plain and level, tho in some places there are little rising Hills. abound ing with Woods, and is properly divided into the Provinces of Livonia, Lithuania, Volhinia, Samogitia Prussia, Massovia, Podalia, Russia Nigri, Podlassia and Poland; and the chief Ciries are, Guesna, an Archiepiscopal See, Posnavia, Cadissia, Siradia, U. ladistavia, Cracivia, and Caminiec; the latter in the Policilion of the Turks, who hold it as their Frontier in those parts; and in Cracovia is a famous University.

The Buildings in this Kingdom, and the Provinces that compose it, are for the most part of Timber and Loam; the Land full of Forrests, with many Rivers, yielding notwithflanding abundance of Corn, but is defective in Wine; Honey and Wax, are likewise found in great store, with Fruit of divers Kinds, and a great Number of Cattle and wild Beafts; there are also Salt-pits, and in som places Mines of Brimstone, Copper and Iron. The Polanders are generally Tall, well Proportioned Courteous, and. Pleasant of Behaviour; their Gar ments are rich, and of divers Colours, being mud conceired of their own worth, and loving to be Praised, or rather Flattered: As for Lithuania, on of the Provinces of this Kingdom, though it is very large one, yet it is so full of Fenns, and pe Rered by the over-flowing of Rivers, that it is no currantly passable, but when the Frosts are great at what time they have no hindrance, neither b River part) a: ma they and I patie Activ whic.

Rive fifts Lang and Tow of Si to le livin.

rally can Head their TI be co are f Profe of th of W King bly F Inger Husb sant i ger o wher try a they for t Prov Mile So th Kingdom, iver Borif. the South the Baltick level, tho ls. aboundled into the , Samogitia, , Podlassia, Guesna, an Siradia, V. he latter in it as their is a famous d the Pronost part of rrests, with with Fruits f Cattle and Iron. The oportioned their Gar ithuania, one ough it is t

River

Rivers nor Fenns, and their greatest Wealth confifts in Cattle, Honey, Wax and Furrs: As for the Language generally spoken, it is the Sclavonian; and in the North Extremities, where Villages and Towns are very scarce, the People dwell in Hutts of Straw and Loam, with Holes at the top of them. to let in the Light, and give vent to the Smoak, living in miserable Poverty, as do (for the major part) the Peasants or inferiour People, being in a manner Slaves to the great ones, whose Tenants they are, though the Richer Sort are very Profuse and Expensive, rather Prodigal than Liberal, Impatient of Injuries, Delicious in Diet, and costly in Attire, often shaving their Heads, except one Lock, which they preserve with great care, being generally good Soldiers, and much Glory if they can kill a Turk in Battle, and bring off his Head, in Token of which, they wear Feathers in their Caps.

Theft in these Parts is very rare, especially to be committed by a Native Polander, and all Crimes abundance Profess, in Relation to the Government, it is that are severely punished: As for the Religion they Honey and of the Romish Church, though the Reformed way of Worship is allowed and tolerated; and the King is of late Elective; the Women are toleraand in some bly Fair and well Proportioned, very Witty and Ingenious, great admirers, and observers, of their Husbands, and very neat in their Houses. sant in this Country (unless in time of great Danbeing much ger or Invasion) is not suffered to bear Arms; and loving to be when the Gospel is Read in the Churches, the Genger or Invasion) is not suffered to bear Arms; and try and Nobility draw their Swords, in token that they are ready to defend it with their Lives. As that it is not Provinces appertaining to it, some Account it 2600: s are great Miles, and is Scituate under the 8 and 12 Climates; neither by So that the longest Day Southward, is 16 Hours, and Northward 18; bordering upon it are the huge Carpathian Mountains, where fundry Rivers have their Springs, that Water the Provinces, and pass through many Countries

A Description of the Kingdom of Hungary, &c.

Countries of Europe, before Wasted and Destroyed by a Tedious War, is bounded on the East with Transilvania and Wallachia, on the West Stinia, Austria, and Moravia, on the North with the Carpathian Mountains, on the South with Sclavonia, and some part of Dacia; accounted in Length 300 English Miles, and 109 in Breadth, lying in the North Temperate Zone, between the middle Parallels of the 7 and 9 Climates, so that the longest Day in the South is 5 Hours and a half, and 16 in the North, and was Anciently called Pannonia.

The People of this Country are strong of Body, boisterous of Behaviour, and have no great real gard to Liberal Arts, or Mechanick Occupations, as giving themselves mostly to War, and taking it for the greatest Astront Imaginable to be esteemed a Coward, which they find no other way to obliterate, but by killing a Turk, after which they have the Liberty of wearing a Feather, as a Trophee of their Exploit; and though they are extreamly Coverous, they are no ways willing to Labour, but rather defire to live upon the Spoil: As for the Females they have no claim to any Inherirance, so that the Male Line failing, the Estate goes to the common Treasury; nor have the Daughters any other Portion given them, than a Wedding Garment, and are for the most part obliged

blig are are Hun Tra the Gra Raid Peft tune flro good dom whice Auft noty whe place ing, likey dance mad Foul bidd Silve time are part Cou

Hun, at p The Wan this nono plai

are the y Rivers ices, and

of

ruitfullest and Denthe East West Sti-with the h Sclavo-in Length lying in e middle ne longest half, and led Pan-of Body, great recupations, taking in efteemed by to obhich they a Troy are exvilling to he Spoil: b any Inhe Estate have the h, than a t part o.

bliged

bliged to lie on hard Quilts, till such time as they are Married. As for their Cities and Towns, they are fortified for War, as having for upward of two-Hundred Years been Imbroiled with the Turks, Transilvanians, and other Neighbouring Nations; the chief of which are, Presburg, Buda, Belgrade, Gran, New-hausel, Great Warradine, Alba Regalis, Raab, commora, Temeswar, Gyula, Agria, Esseck, Pest, &c. which have strugted with various Fortunes and Success, though at present most of the strong Holds of this Kingdom, through the late good success are in the Imperialists hands; the Kingdom being Hereditary to the House of Austria, of which Joseph the Emperor's Son, and Arch duke of Austria, is now Crowned King.

The Soil, though for the most part Untilled, is notwithstanding wonderful Fruitsul, yielding Corn where they Till it, thrice in a Year, and in some places the Pastures are so rank for want of Feeding, that it rises the height of a Man; it abounds likewise with Fruits of all Kinds, especially abundance of Rich Vines, of whose Grapes rich Wine is made, and Deer, Goats, Hares, Conies, and wild Foul are here in great Plenty, though none be formulated to take them; there are likewise Mines of Silver, and in some places Gold is found; and in time of Peace the Cattle so multiply, that they are obliged to send great store of them into divers parts of Europe, to prevent their over-running the Country.

The Religion Established in the Kingdom of Hungary, is that of the Romissi Communion, though at present the Reformed Worship is Tollerated. The chief Rivers are the Danube, the Gran, the Wang, and the Nitrea; though many other Water this Fruitful Country; but for Mountains there are none considerable, the Country being generally plain, unless a sery pleasant rising Hills, many of hem.

E. 4

them Crowned with Vines; and here is the Famous Bridg of Esch, 7 Miles in Length: passing over 3 Rivers, and divers Marshes, though lately it has been much ruined and destroyed.

The Description of Sclavonia.

Sclavo NIA is a considerable Country, bordering on Hungary, which bounds it on the North; as the Adriatick Sea does on the South; Carniola, Histria, and the Seignory of Venice on the West; and Servia, Epirus, and Macedonia on the East; accounted in Length 480 Miles, and in Breadth 325, of Italian Measure, Scituate in the North Temperate Zone, between the Middle Parallels of the 6 and 7 Climates; so that the longest Day exceeds not 15 Hours and a half.

This Country contains many small Provinces or Divisions, as Windishland, Croatia, Bosnia, Dalmatia, Contado-Di zara, and the Sclavonian Islands; and the chief Cities or Towns are, Zatha, Zacaocz, Windisretz, Sagona, Ragusa, scituate on the Adriatick, being a place of great Traffick, Sebenicum or Sicum, Zara or Jadera, Scodra or Scutary, before which the Turks lost 100000 Men, Lissa, Gradiska, Buman, Novigrad, and Sisse, or Sisseck, with others of lesser Note, scatter'd throughout the Provinces, which are partly in the Hands of the Turks, and partly in the Possession of the Imperiatists and Venetians.

These Countries for the most part afford abundance of good Pasture, abound in Fruits, and are rich in Corn, yielding some Mines, and great store of Cattle, watered in many places by the Danube, Save, Drave, and other Rivers of note; and as for the People they are hardy, and inured either to War or Labour; and though they give themselves

110

th

ce

as

ly br

m

fer

W

tha

SI

un Ve

jeε

ligi

tha

kno

hei

ma till

Scl

tia.

affi

ing

Ga

Bo

fha

CI

me

if 1

de

is the Fath: passing ugh lately ia.

Country, s it on the he South; Venice on cedonia on es, and in the liddle Parne longest ovinces or a, Dalman Islands; ha, Zacate on the ck, Sebenior Scutary, len, Lista, or Sisseck, ghout the cds of the e Imperia-rd abunand are reat store Danube, and as for either to temselves

nos

not much to Till the Ground, because the Turl's and Venetians for the most part, reap the Benefit of their Labours, yet they want nothing that is necessary for the support of Humane Life; for smuch as the Cattle and Sheep bring forth their Young twice in the Year; and although Corn be but barely cast on the Ground, without Tillage, it will bring forth Increase.

As for the People, though they are stubborn, and much addicted to Pride, yet are they put to many scrvile Labours, by their more proud Conquerors, who Lord it over them as if they were no other than their Drudges; for which reason the Word Slave, is derived from these Sclaves, through the unmerciful Usage they found at the hands of the Venetians, when they were first brought into Subjection by the Seigniory of Venice: As for their Religious Worship, it is in most parts according to that of the Greek Church, whose Patriarch they acknowledg Supream in Ecclefiastical Matters; and here they permit their Women very rarely to marry, till they are 24 years of Age, nor the Men till 30. And at this time, the Venetians have 3000 Sclavonian Horse-men Involled amongst their Militia, and have at all times drained this People to affift in their Wars against the Turks and neighbouring Christians: And as for the Native Sclaves, their Garb is half Sleeved Gowns, of violet Cloth, and a Bonnet of the same, much like to that of the Scots, shaving their Heads all but a Lock of Hair on their Crown, after the Fashion of the Turks; the Women likewise cut their Hair indifferent short, and if so it be not naturally Black, they use Arcto reder it of that Colour.

A Description of Dacia, in its sundry Principalities and Provinces, &cc.

flourishing Roman Empire, is bounded on the shourishing Roman Empire, is bounded on the North with Podolia, and some other part of the Realm of Poland; on the South with part of Thrace and Macedonia; on the East with the rest of Thrace; and on the West with Hungary and Sclavonia; held at present to comprehend the Principalities of Transilvania, Moldavia, Wallachia, Rascia, Servia and Bulgaria; extending from the 7 to the 10 Clime, so that in the most Southern parts, the days are 15 hours 3 quarters at the longest, and 17 in the most Northern.

TRANSILVANIA the first Division of Dacia. takes its name from its lying behind the great Hungarian Woods, and is in time of Peace an exceeding Fruitful Country; abounding in Fruits, Corn, Cartle, Fish, Salt-pits, Stone-quarries, Mines of Gold and Silver, Quickfilver, and other Metals; and in. the Woods are found many wild Bulls, and wild; Cattle; and the Pastures breed many fair Horses, the best for War in all those parts; and in the Frontiers they have Seven Towers to guard the approach from Hungary, which gives the Dutch occasion to call it Seven-Burg; though the chief Towns are Clusenburg, Carolftadt, Harmanstadt, and many o-. thers, and are Governed by a Prince of their own, who has a long time been Tributary to the Turks; but fince their late bad success, put himself and his Country under the Protection of the Emperor.

MOLDAVIA Quasi Metavia, said so to be called from its nearness to the Fenns of Meotis, is a Country abounding with Woods, yet very plenteous in

Wine

o

to M

G

th

he

Oi

V

to

E

al

0

in fic

tle

Se

pi

W

CC

th

al

7 lry Prin-

ne of the ed on the rt of the of Thrace; Sclavonia; palities of the 10 the days and 17 in f Dacia, eat Hunexceedts, Corn, s of Gold and in nd wild orics, the rontiers pproach alion to vns are nany o-. cir own. Turks; himfelf he Em-called Counteous in Wine Wine, Corn and Pastures, producing great store of Cattle though thinly peopled, by which means it is but slenderly Tilled; however they have out of this Lall Province, supplyed the great and populous City of Constantinople, with store of Provisions; so that together with what they send to Poland, the tenth Peny, by way of Custom, amounts to 150000 Growns yearly; though the Gentry and Clergy are excused from paying any thing of this nature; Constantinople receiving from hence every year 500 Ship Loads of Provision.

The chief Towns are Occazema the Seat of the Vaivod or Prince Cotiim a strong Fortress Biolograde and Bender, and has in it two Arch-Bishops Sees; the people in Religious matters sollowing the Traditions of the Greek Church...

WALACHIA is another Province of Dacia, held to derive its name from Flacciu, a noble Roman, who was Governor of it in the time of Trajan the Emperor; so that the people at this day speak a kind of a corrupt Latin or Italian; and this Country is in length 400 miles, in breadth 120, being for the most part plain and full of Pastures, flourishing Medows which feed a great many Cartle, and bring up excellent. Horses for War: and Service of any kind; here are found likewise Saltpits and Iron Mines; Mines of Gold and Silver, the which for fear it should entice the Turks to seize. their Country, they keep for the most part con: cealed; they also in fundry places have store of Vines, yielding plenty of Wine; and have for their chief Towns Galatza on the Influx of the River Pruth, into the Danube; Frescortum, Prailaba, and Zorga; and is watered with the Rivers Danube, Teln, Alluta, Fulmina, Stertius and Herasius; and is as the former, Governed by a Vaivod, and dependant in Religious matters on the Greek Church; the: Ecclesiastical Assairs being Governed by an Arch-Bishop and two Bishops, and pays at this day.

Tribute to the Turks.

RASCIA, another Province of Dacia, has in it the Towns of Bodon, Zarnovia, Covin, Novebard, Severire, Colambes and Columbella; but continually lying in the way of War; the Turks and Tartars, by their often marching through it, have by the Waste and Plunder they made, so impoverished the Inhabitants, that the Towns and Villages are extreamly thin; and although the Soil is in many parts capable of producing Corn and Fruits, yet wanting men to Till it, it produces nothing material; nor are those that Inhabit it any ways incouraged to Manure the Fields, as knowing others will reap the Fruits of their Labour.

SERVIA is a Country by Nature more Fruitful, and was Antiently very Rich and Flourishing, till the Turks made themselves masters of it, by the stal overthrow of Lazarus the Despot, on the plains of Cossovia, and was well stored with Mines of Gold and Silver, especially near the Town of Zorbenick; but now they are either Exhausted, or thrown in, so that little advantage accrues by them; and the people indeed are degenerated from their former manners and behaviour, as being Rude, Glurronous, and much given to Wine.

Their principal Towns are Nissa, Vidina, Cratonia, Zorbenic and Semunder, and the Province is commodiously watered by the Rivers Colubra, Lem, Ibra and Moravia, with some others, very pleafant and plentiful in many places.

BULGARIA was Antiently a Kingdom, and called by the Romans Missa Inferior, as Servia was Missa Superior; and is a Country very Mountainous and full of rugged Hills, steep Rocks, and fearful Water-falls, taking its name from the Bulgars a Scythian people, who in the year 566 seized upon it, driving out the

the Thrand Kin info the recent the Axi the the Tur tive Da on fro

in con div

ba III

of

Vi

l by an this day has in it lovebard, atinually stars, by e Waste the Inare examples, yet many materies, yet incou-

g others

Fruitful,
ning, till
y the fae plains Mines of
of Zorsted, or
y them;
om their
z Rude,

na, Cravince is Colubra, cs, very m, and vas Missa and full ter-falls, people, ing out the the Antient Inhabitants; and is divided from Thrace by the great Mountain Hamus, whose Spurs and Branches in a manner over-run it; yet the Kingshereof have been accounted very powerful; insomuch that they have worsted in sundry Battles, the Latin and Greek Emperors of Constantinople: and received the Christian Faith, towards the end of the Reign of Justinian the Second.

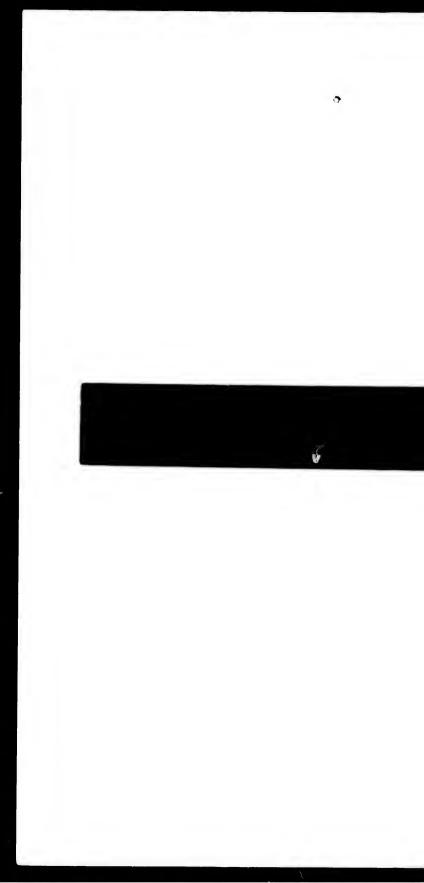

The places of most note are Mesembria, Divogatia, Axium, Nicopolis, Marcionopolis, and are watered by the Danube; which in part of this Country takes the name of Ister, and is now Tributary to the Turks; who for the most part imploy the Natives in their Wars, as being very Valiant and

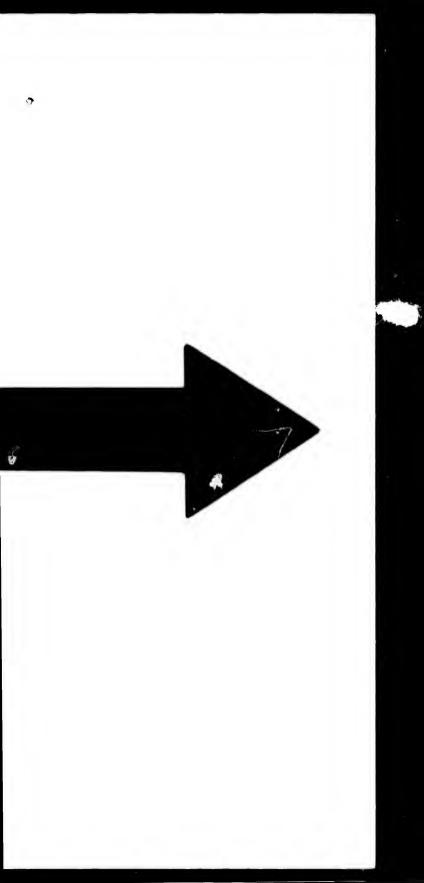

Daring,

A Description of Greece, in its Kingdoms and Provinces, as Antiently it stood, &c.

Tonthe East with the Propontick, Hellespont, and Agean Seas; on the West with the Adriatick; and on the North with the Mount Hamus, parting it from Servia and Bulgaria, and some part of Ilhricum; and on the South with the Ionian Sea; being in a manner a Peninsula, or rather a half Island, commodiously Scituate for Navigation, and has had divers notable Revolutions, being now intirely in the possession of the Turks, unless what the Venetians have preserved, or wrested from them; and as this large Country properly stands at present, I think it highly necessary, for the better conveniency of describing it, to divide it into respective Provinces and Countries, &c.

1. Peloponejus. 2. Achaia. 3. Epirus. 4. Alsbania. 5. Macedonia. 6. Thrace, and as for the Islands of the Ionian, Agean and Propontick Seas; together.

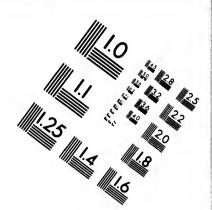

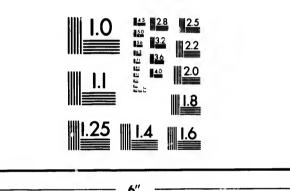

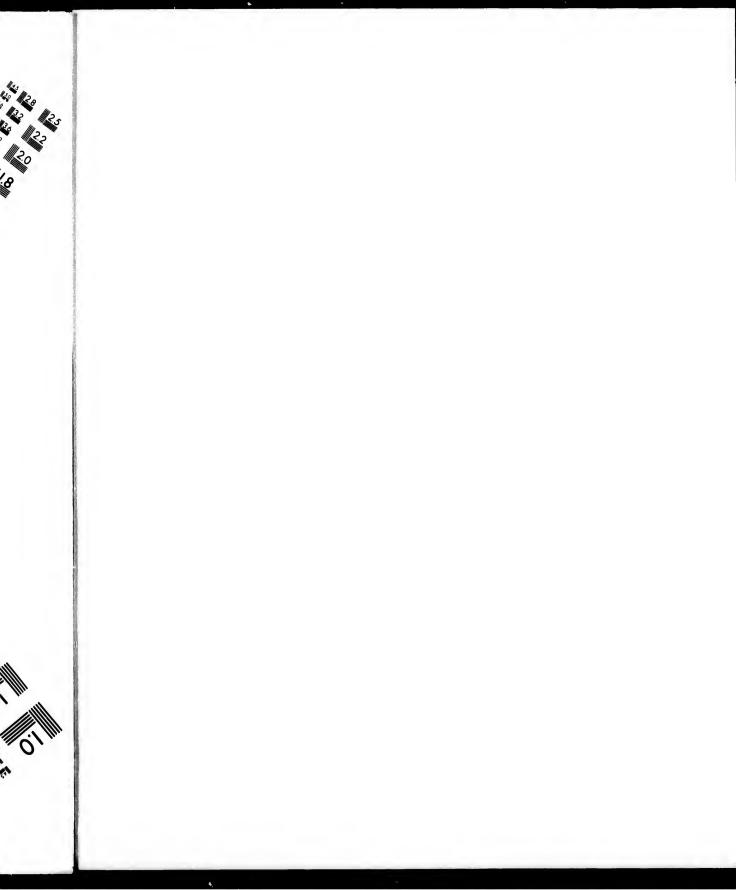

IMAGE EVALUATION TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic Sciences Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580 (716) 872-4503

together with the famous Greet, I shall leave them to a particular description of all the Islands of

İŧ

th

de

M

Bi

th

of

Ŵ

ViI

an

in

bit

GY

26

Go

wi

the

Me

nar

fto

chi

Alp

wh

60

CON

Wei

cule

oft

Me

Gol

Ven

of.

note, doc.

Peloponesus is in a manner inclosed by the Sea. only where by a small Ishmus it is joyned to the European Continent, of no more than fix miles in breadth; which the Greeians and Venetians formerly fortified with a great Wall and five Cassles, Antiently called Hexamilium; but in the Wars with Amurath the second Turkish Emperor they were overthrown; and this Country is accounted 600 miles in circuit, and though it has passed under divers names, it is now called the Morea, and heldto be the most pleasant Country of Greece, abounding in fruitfulness, and all things necessary for the Support of Human Life; adorned with many goodly Plains and pleasant rising Hills, surnished on every fide with fundry commodious Ports and Havens; and though for the bigness of it no Country has suffered more in the ruin of so many stately Cities, yet it remains at this day, the most populous and best Inhabited of all the Grecian Continent; and near the middle of it, in Laconia is the Mount Taygetus, the top whereof gives a prospect over the whole Country, which is properly divided into 7. Provinces, viz. Achaia-Propria, Elis, Messene, Arcadia, Laconia, Argolis and Corinthia.

Achaia-Propria has on the East for its boundard Argolis and Corinth; on the West the Ionian Sea; on the North the Gulf of Lepanto; on the South Elis; so named from the Achai once Inhabiting it; the Adjuncta Propria being added to difference it from Achaia in the main Land or Continent of Greece.

In this part the confiderable places are Chiarenza. Antiently Dyma, Scituate in the most Western point of it, on or near the Promontory, Araxum, Agria, once the chief City of this Tract, now called Xilocastro, Chaminisa, Antiently Olneus, Patrea, a pleasant e them ands of the sea, to the siles in remerly, Anti-vith A-vith Avere od 600 under nd held boundfor the goodon end Ha-ountry

ely Ciopulous
nt; and nt Tayver the into 7

undard Sea; on h Elis; t; the it from reece.

iarenza Vestern Iraxum, v called irrea; a bleasant pleasant Town Scituate opposit to the Mouth of the Gulf Lepanto; being a place of confiderable Trade. and most note on the Bay of Corinth, from whence it is called Golfo-di-Patras and here the English had: once a Consul for the establishment of Trade, called the Conful of the Morea, and is memorable for thedeath of St Andrew, the Apostle, who there suffer'd. Martyrdom; and next to these are Pellene, Hellice. Buris, the latter two much ruined or rather funk in the Sea by a Tempest, about the time of the Battle of Leudres; Tritea and Phera; but the chief Town which separated from the rest, we may term a Province is Sicyon, Scituate in the most Eastern part. and gives name to the Country of Sicyonia abounding in Olives, Wine, and Iron Mines; the Inhabirants whereof count themselves the Antientest of Greece, and have been Governed by a Succession of 26 Kings, before they fell into other Methods of Government.

The Country of Elis, is bounded on the East with Arcadia, on the West with the Isman Sea, on the North with Achaia-Propria, and on the South Messens; and has for its chief City Elis, giving name to the Province, and was sounded as some Historians have it, by Elisha Son of Javan, and Grand-child of Japhet; and near unto it runs the River Alpheus: In this Tract is sound Olympia, near to which once stood the Statue of Jupiter Olympicus 60 Cubits in heighth, and every way proportionable, composed of Gold and Ivory, by Phidius; and here were held the Olympic Games, Instituted by Hercules.

MESSENIA is seated in the most Southern part of the Peninsula, and takes its name from the City of Messen Scituate on Sinus Messenaicus now called Golfo-di-Corone, lately taken and possessed by the Venetians; in this Tract stood Pylos the chief City of King Nestor, but now called Navarino, a small Village.

m

its

th

Ki

ha

to

Ty

tir

Ki

ftr

an ne

to re

A

Co

m

In

m

th

alt

th

an

Ift

th

ìn

m

th

th

ka

Village of little note Metron or Methone, is commodionly seated in a half Island, and has on the South side a capacious Bay about 3 miles over, fit for the reception of great Vessels. Corone the City that gives name to the Golfo-di-Corone, &c. Cyparissi now called Arcudia, from which the Bay adjoyning takes its name; and although this Province abounding with Corn, Cattle and Fruits, was taken by the Turks in the year 1500, yet in this last War it is mostly recovered by the Venetians.

ARCADIA is bounded on the East with Laconia, on the West with Elis and Messene, on the North with Achaia-Propria; and on the South with the Sea; and is said to take its name from Arcas the Son of Jupiter and Calisto, called before that Pelassia, and has for its chief City Mantinia; near unto which the Thebans in a mortal Battle, overthrew the Spartans and Athenians; and then Epaminondas that samous Leader received his Mortal wound. This Province is exceeding fertil, abounding in Cattle and rich Pastures, Fruits of sundry kinds, and divers Minerals; insomuch that for its pleasantness, many curious sancies have been Fabled upon it; and in this Country Sir Philip Sidney layed the Seene of his samous work.

LACONIA has on the East and South the Sea, on the West Arcadia, and on the North Argolis, Antiently called Lelegia; and was once reck and to contain 100 Crties, though now it comes very short of that number: The chief are Leustres, Amycla, Thulana, near to which Hercules is said to kill the Hydra; Salassia, Epidaurus seated on the Bry of Malvasia, a Town well Built and Fortisted; and Sparta so called from Spartus a Prince of Argos; as for this part it is wonderful fruitful, and lies very commodious for Traffick and Navigation, greatly abounding in all the Commodities common to Greece; being pleasantly watered with the River Eurotas

Eurotas, and other Streams of lesser note; having many fair Promontories, Bays, and Havens.

commoe South

for the

ity that Cyparissi

joyning abound-

i by the

ar it is

Laconia,

North

vith the

reas the

that Pe-

i; near

e, over-

en Epa-

Mortal

ertil, a-

ruits of

uch that ive been ir Philip

the Sea,

Argolis.

oned to es very.

Leuctres.

d on the

ortified;

f Argos;

lies ve-

, greatly

mon to

Eurotas

is said

ARGOLIS is bounded on the South with Laconia, on the West with Corinthia and Achaia-Propria, and on the East and North with the Sea; taking its name from the City Argos, its Metropolis, once the Head of a samous Kingdom; and in this City King Pyrrhus the great Grecian Conqueror, after he had Victoriously forced his entrance, was slain with a Tile thrown at him by an old Woman, from the top of a House; and besides this, it has Trazan, Tyrinthia, Memea, and some others; and grew in times past from a small Province, to a powerful Kingdom; being once the chiefest of Greece in strength giving Birth to many renowned persons, and the most samed for the breed of Horses.

CORINTHIA, though but a little Region, is yet nevertheless exceeding pleasant and fruitful, lying towards the Istmus or neck of Land that joyns the rest of Greece to Peloponesus, between Argolis and Achaia Propria; containing only the Territories of Corinth, and the chief Towns are Cincrea, Corinth, memorable for the Epistles Saint Paul wrote to the Inhabitants; commodiously Scituate for the command of all Greece, but that the Inhabitants give themselves more to Merchandise than War; and although it has been a long time in the hands of the Turks, it was the last year taken by the Venetians; and is Seated on the bottom of the neck or Istmus, the Ionian Sea being on the West, and the Agean on the East, washing its walls; and makeing on each fide a Capacious Haven, and was formerly exceedingly Fortified but of latter times the Security, the Turks supposed themselves in, on that part of their Empire, made them little mind keeping it from running to decay.

And thus much may briefly fuffice, as for that part of Greece called Peloponesus.

As for the other Achaia, it is properly divided into Anica, Megaris, Batia, Phocia, Atolia, Doris, Locris; and the chief City accounted amongst these is Athens, once the head of a samous Common-wealth, and sometime a Kingdom; and is Seated very advantagiously, making a Port into the Sea, and was once the Mistris of Arts and Arms; and in St. Pauls time, who wrote his first and second Epistle from hence to the Thessalonians a very flourishing City, but by the Wars and Missortunes it has sustained, is now only noted, for what it has been, more than for what it is.

MEGARIS is but a small Region, yet very pleasant and much abounding in Corn and Fruits, and has for its chief City Magaria.

BÆTIA is much larger than the former, and was once all the Dominion or Kingdom of Thebes, that famous City, so much noted to be built by Cadmus the Phanictan, being the Metropolis: and in this Tract are found likewise Aulis and Platea, and is watered with divers pleasant streams.

nassus, and was much noted for the Mountain Parpollo at the foot of it, but now that stately Structure where the Delphic Oracle gave Answers is ruined, and scarcely any part of it remaining.

Tract, divided by the River Pindus from Epirus; once a country of great note, and full of Towns and places of strength, but now retains at present few of note except Chalcie and Thermum; however the whole Country is pleasant, abounding in Pastures, watered with many Rivers, yielding some Mines, and great store of Cattle.

L.0-

lies

ICS C

four

Turi

whi

tak

Sun

in l

Ric

the

rati

To

tail

the

Pa

10 j

Ri

Py

Ki

Re

ha

of

th

de

ha

an

for ne

at

an

or that divided, Doris, mongst Comand is ort into res and ote his Thesfaloars and ly no-y pleaits, and

Thebes, uilr by
and in tea, and in Pare e of A-ructure ruined, of this Epirus;

Towns prefent owever aftures, Mines.

L.0-

lies Commodiously on the Sea Coast, and has for its chief Town Lepanto; in fight of which was fought the semous Battle or Sea fight, between the Turks, Venetians, and consederate Christians; in which 29000 of the Turks were killed, 4000 taken Prisoners, 140 Gallies Burnt, Taken, and Sunk, and 1200 Christian Slaves rescued, in the year 1571. and as for the Trade here, it consists in Leather, Oyl, Tobacco, Furrs, Wheat, Barly, Rice, Oc. And is again in the Possession or under the Power of the Venetians.

DORIS is a small Province bounding upon, or rather appertaining to Locris, and has for its chief Town or City, Amphissa, bordering upon the Mountain Parnassis; here is also found Guidas, where the stately Temple of Venus stood, and where St. Paul continued a long time: And as for this Tract it is very Pleasant and Fruitful, watered with small Rivers, but none of note.

Epirus, was once a Famous Kingdom, of which Pyrrhus (who Invaded the Romans in Italy) was King, but more memorable for being under the Regency of the great Scanderbeg, who with a handful of Men stood out against the whole Power of the Turkish Empire, in the Reigns of Amarath the Second, and Mahomet the great, defeating and destroying Prodigious Armies of the Insidels; and has for its chief Cities Croija, Petrela, Petra, Alba, and Stelnsia; the Country is very Fruitful, tho somewhat Mountainous, and was once accounted next to Macedon, the most powerful in Greece, and at this day greatly abounds in Cattle, rich Pastures and Corn.

ALBANFA is bounded with Macedon, Sclavonia, Epirus, and the Adriatick Sea, and has for its chief Cities Duraggo, and Albinopolis, memorable for its Breed of Horses, which the Turks use mostly in their their Wars, and the Courage of its Inhabitants. whose Country being but Indifferently Fruitful, and too firait for the Inhabitants, they like the Swiss, rather choose the Exercise of Arms, than Husbandry.

MACEDON, once Famous for being Head of the Greek Empire, is bounded with Missa Superior, Migdonia, Epirm, and Achaia, and is a very Rich and Flourishing Country, though the Turks greatly oppress the Native Greeks, and make them labour that they may reap the greatest Profit; and abounds not only with Cattle, Corn, and some Wine, but in it are found Mines of Gold, and other Mettals; and of this Country Alexander the Great was King, who not only Conquered the greatest part of Asia, but brought all Greece into Subjection, founding here the third Empire of the And as for the chief Cities, they are World: Ædassa: Andrastus, Eriba, Scidra, and Philippus, or Philipopolis, Built by Philip the Father of Alexander; and to the People of this City it was, that St. Paul Wrote his Epistle.

THESSALT was once likewise a Kingdom, lying on the South of Macedon, abounding with Pleasant Valleys and Hills, and amongst the latter are found that of Olympus, so famed for Transcending the Clouds, Othris, Pelion, and Offa, so often struck with Thunder, and Fabled to be laid one upon the other, when the Giants went about to Storm the Skies. The Country indeed is very Fruitful in many Parts, and produces an Excellent Breed of Horses, the Natives being held first to Invent the Art of Breaking and Backing them; and here Achilles Reigned, who was Slain at the Siege of Troy: The chief Towns of this Country are: Lamia, Tric ca, Pharsalia, on whose large Plains Casar and Pompey fought for the Empire of the World; as also

A

by

mo

in.

an es

are of

ca

Pa

Ot.

mo

the

bla

wi

an

lar

VII

6 etl

lot

Qu

Ci

Gr

En

pi

nis

Ar

tW

Ad

ed

N

Se

nabirants, Fruitful, like the ms, than

Head of Superior, ery Rich ks greatthem laeft Profit; and fome l, and oander the ered the reece into re of the they are Philippus, of Alexanis, that St.

om, lving Pleasant ire found ding the n Aruck upon the torm the ful in mad of Hort the Art e Achilles of Troy: nia, Tric and Pomas also Phi: Philippi, in whose Fields Augustus Casar and Marcus Antonius, overthrew Brutus and Cassius.

by most a part of Thrace, and famous for nothing more than the Hill Athos, held to be the highest in the World, as being 3 days Journey in Ascent, and 75 Miles in Circuit; so that its shadow reaches (upon the declining of the Sun) 40 Miles: nor are there wanting in this Country Cities and Towns of considerable Note, as Thessalonica, commonly called Salonica (to whose Inhabitants two of St. Pauls Epistles are directed) Appollonia, Nicladia, and others.

THRACE, properly so called, though now Romania, as it lies at present circumscribed is within these Boundards, viz. on the East the Euxine, or black Sea, the Propontis and Hellespont; on the West with Macedon; on the South with the Agean Sea, and part of Macedon, and on the North with the large Hill Hamus, and is a large and goodly Province, accounted 20 Days Journey in Length, and 6 in Breadth, and in Relation to the Heavens reach. eth unto 44 Degrees North Latitude, so that the longest Day in Summer is about 15 Hours, and 2 Quarters; and in this Country is Scituate the great City of Constantinople, so Named by Constantine the Great, and made by him the Capital of the Roman Empire, and is now the like to the Turkill Empire, and the chief Residence of the Grand Seigniour; Built in a Triangular manner, the one Angle thrusting into the Main Land, and the other two bordering upon the Sea; Adrianople, Built by Adrian the Emperor, and Trajanopolis, Founded by the Emperor Trajan; with others of lesser Note.

This Country as to the Soil, is very Fruitful, but by Reason of the sharp cold Air coming off the Seas, they ripen not kindly, nor do the Inhabitants trouble themfelves much with Husbandry, as knowing they labour but for others, however in their Gardens towards the Sea, they are very curious, so that much Wine is produced from the Grapes that grow there, which is properly called Greek Wine, and mostly sent into other Countries, the Turks by their Law being forbidden to Drink it: They have large Plains likewise where Corn grows indifferently Plentiful, but more Pulfe which is amongst them in great use. The Natives of this Country, as indeed of all Greece, are much declined from what they formerly were, in Learning, Arts, and Arms, as being no better than Slaves to the Imperious Turks, who Lord it over them, whereby they are discouraged and dulled, even to a kind of Stupidity; nor does the Eloquence of their Original Language continue pure amongst them, but is mostly corrupted, insomuch that they in few parts perfectly understand the Antient Greek.

tants

The Commodities found in the Principal Trading Towns of this, and other Sea Provinces, are Grograms, Carpets, Silks, Drugs, Leather, Chamlets; and indeed the chief Commodities of Europe and Asia, which Pay great Customs to the Grand Seigmour. And thus much for the main Land of Europe, whose Islands we shall hereafter consider, with those of the other Three Parts of the World, when we come to treat of the Respective Seas in which they are posited, and therefore, for Orders Sake, Omit them here, and proceed to Alia.

dra bou wit dry, as ever in ery cuom the called untries, Drink e Corn e Pulfe Natives e much Learnr than it over dulled, ne Eloe pure fomueli nd the Trades, are Chamof Eu-main reafter Parts of the Re-I therend pro-

A

A

Geographical and Historical Description

O F

ASIA

In its Kingdoms and Pro-

Of Asia in General.

SIA held to be larger than Europe and Africa, is bounded on the West with the Mediterranean and Agean Seas, the Hellespont, Propontis, and the Thracian Bosphorus, the Euxine Sea, Palus Meotis, the Rivers Tanais and Duina, a Line in that case being drawn from the first to the second River, as its boundard to Europe; on the North it is bounded with the main Scythian Ocean, on the East by the Streights of Annian, the Indian Ocean, and Mare del Zur,

Zur, on the South, with the Mediterranian, or so much of it, as is called the Carpathian Sea, bathing the Shoars of Anatolia; and the Main Southern Ocean, passing along the Coasts of India, Arabia, and Persia; and on the South-East, with the Arabian Bay, or Red Sea, parting it from Africa, and is indeed washed on all sides with the Sea, but where a narrow Istmus joyns it to Africa, and the space of ground between the Tanais and Diuna, where it is joyned to Europe.

This large Tract of Land, is held by some, to take its Name from Asia, the Daughter of Oceanus, and Thetis the Wife of Fapetus, and Mother of Prometheus, and others, from Afrus, Son of Atu, a King of Lydia; but Originals of this kind, being generally uncertain, it will be convenient to wave them, and proceed to what is more Material, viz. In Antient times Asia was divided into the Greater and Lesser; but by modern Writers, it is divided into five parts, according to the Divisions it is settled in as First, that which Borders upon Europe, is alorted the Great Duke of Muscowy; the Second, the Great Cham of Tartary; the Third, the Turk; the Fourth, the King of Persia; and the Fisth, held by the Great Mogul, and others, known by the Name of the East India; not accounting the petty Princes, who have independent Provinces, nor what remains in the Hands or Possession of the Europeans in sundry Parts, &c. To which five we may properly add China, a large Country, very populous, and powerful, accounted one of the Fruitfullest in Asia.

This part of the World, may rightly be held or termed, the Noblest of all other, as conjectured, on all hands, once to contain the Earthly Paradise: Here the Law was given, and here our blessed Saviour, wrought the stupendious, and amazing work of our Redemption: Hence sprung the Noble Sciences, that the Greeks learned of the Hebrews, and flow Wor ver, Odor Sweet to the it is a taken.

Asia

Wef lefpon Euro Black and terra gitue and the berot

and

flourished under the Monarchie of the Medes, Persons and Assirians: And is divided into two Parts, or Divisions, as Asia Major, and Asia Minor, the latter called Anatolia; the whole Country sciruate East and West, from $2 to 169 Degrees of Longitude; and Northand South, from $2 Degrees of Latitude, to the very Equator or Equinoctial Line; some sew Islands only lying beyond that Circle, which occasions the longest Summers Day in the most Southern part, to exceed little above 12 Hours, though in the most Northern Parts, for near the space of Four Months, they have no Night at all.

As for the Commodities, this great part of the World abounds with in general, they are Gold, Silver, all forts of Minerals, Jewels, Pearls, Spices, Odours, Ivory, Drugs of fundry kinds, Silks, Dyes, Sweet-woods, Perfumes, Occ. But to come nearer to the Description of the Countries, for Orders sake, it is convenient to begin with Asia Minor, or Andtolia.

Asia Minor, or Anatolia, described, in its Kingdoms, and Provinces, &c.

Anatolia, is bounded on the East, with the River Eurhrates; on the West, with the Thracian Bosphorus, Propontis, Hellespont, and the Agean Sea, parted by them from Europe; on the North with Pontus Euxinus, or the Black Sea; on the South by the Rhodian, Lydian, and Pamphilian Seas, and several parts of the Mediterranean; extending from 51 to 72 degrees, of Longitude; and from 36 to 45 degrees of Latitude, and is accounted in length, from the Hellespont to the Euphrates 630 Miles, and in breadth from Traberond, a City so called to Sinus Issues in Edicia, 200, and is under the middle Parallel of the Bourth, to powerheld or aradife:

ed Saving work le Scienms, and

or fo

n Oce-

rabian

and is where

pace of e it is to take , and etheus, of Ly-

lly uni, and Antient

Lesser;

parts,

rft, chac

Great

ie King

Great he East es, who nains in fundry

rly add

the Sixth Clime, by reason of which, the longest Day in the Summer Southward, is but 14 Hours and a half, and differs not above an Hour in the extreamest North, which is longer, insomuch that the Air is very Temperate, and the Soil very sit for any sort of Grain or Fruit; but that Husbandry neglected by reason of its being under the Turkish Yoak, though the Rich Pasture of its own accord breeds great store of Cattle, and an excellent Race of Horses; and here stood the Famous City of Troy, so much renowned for its sustaining Ten Years Siege, against the whole Power of Greece: nor did this Country formerly boast of less than 4000 Cities and Towns, but at this day most of them are sound to be Ruined by War and Earth quakes.

As for the Division of this part of Asia, it is properly divided into Bythinia, Pontus, Paphlagonia, Calatia, Cappadocia, Armenia minor, Phrygia minor, Phrygia major, the greater and the lesser Missias, Eolis, and Ionia, Lydia, Caria, Lycia, Lycaonia, Pisidia, Pamphilia; and what in the time it appertained to the Roman and Greek Empires, were under the Province of the Rhodes; and of these in their Order.

BITHINIA, is a very pleasant Province of Asia minor, formerly called Bebrycia, and afterwards Migdonia, taking the present Name from one Bithynius, who was King thereof when a Kingdom, though some will have this Name derived from Thynia People of Thrace, who Subdued and Possessed it. The Country is naturally Rich on that part bordering upon the Bosphorus, opposite to Constantinople, which is Scituate on the European Shoar, full of little rising Hills, and grassy Plains, and was once the Delight of such as sailed those Seas, or Streights; but the Turks (who affect neither Art nor Sumptuousmess in their Recirements or Recreation) have neimels in their Recirements or Recreation) have neimels ther Improved, nor kept up the pleasant Gardens and Palfaces they found in it.

The Principal Towns of Bithynia, are Scutari, facing Constantinople, Chalcedon, memorable for the Fourth General Council there Assembled, for the Suppression of the Nestorian Hereticks, Nicomede, so named from Nicomedes once King of Bithynia, Libusla, memorable for the Death and Sepulchre of the Famous Hannibal, the Carthaginian General, who fell by Poison, Prusa, once a considerable City, and the Residence of the Turkish Kings, till Mahomet the First removed to Adrianople: Nice, or Nicea, Scituate on the Fenns of the River Ascanius, Famous for nothing more, than the first General Council held there under Constantine the Great, Anno 314. to Settle the Peace of the Church, greatly diffurbed and put out of Order by the Arian Herefie, where there Assembled no more than 318 Bishops, yet in fuch Esteem for Learning and Piety, that to this Day, it is highly approved by all good Men; and here after the taking of Constantinople by the Latin Princes, the Greek Emperor held his Residence; and the Rivers of this Province are Phillis, Ascamius, Sangaris, or Sangri, but for Hills or Mountains none of note appear.

pontus, or Metapontus is a Bordering Province on Bithynia, has for its chief Cities Flaviopolis, Claudiopolis, Juliopolis, Diospolis, Heraclea, Amastris, Phillium, and others for merly very famous, but of later Times not of much note; and in that Paracalled the Eastern Pontus, is Sinope, pleasantly seated on a long Promontory, shooting into the Main, and memorable for the Sepulchre of King Mithridates, who held a Forty Years War against the Romans; Themisciyra, now called Fanogoria; Amassia, the Birth Place of Strabo the Geographer; Cabira, afterward called Diopolis, noted for the overathrow Lucullus gave King Mithridates near it, when

F 2

to

than 4000 them are uakes.

Asia, it is appliagonia, regia minor, er Missias, Lycaonia, it apper-were unof these in wards Mig-Bithynius, n, though byni a Peoit. The bordering ble, which ittle rifing the Deights; but umpruoushave ncither ged to scatter his Treasure in the way, and thereby escaped their Hands, with the greatest part of his Forces: As for the Rivers in these Parts, or any other Division of Pontus, they are not (except Thermodon, on whose Banks the Amazonians formerly Inhabited) of any confiderable note.

PAPHLAGONIA, though a Country of little compass, yet once was the chief Seat of a Powerful People, but ruined by Cyrus for their Assisting the Lydians against him, and the Principal Cities were Gangra, now memorable for nothing more than the Council held there in the Year 339. Conica, or Coniata, Pompeiopolis, Germanopolis, Xoana, and Andrapa; and from this Country the Venetians had their Original, as sprung from a People called Hemeti, antiently Inhabiting a part of it; and, as the reft, the Soil is very Fruitful in places where it is Manured: The Inhabitants are a mixture of Greeks and Turks, with some Christians and Jews amongst them, but not very many; nor have they any considerable Traffick at Sea, which renders the Province poor.

GALATIA, deriving its Name from the Gauls, when they over-ran these Parts, who called it Gaul-Asia, and corruptly Galatia; it was likewise called Gallo-Gracia, from the mixture of Galls and Grecians; and here to this day the Antient Language of the Galls is much spoken, or at least mixed with that of the Greek.

This Country (above v hat we have mentioned) is very plentiful in Fruits, and other things necessary for the Support of Man-kind; and in this part only is the Amethist (that great Preservative against Drunkenness) found; and here the People of Old had the Vanity to throw Written Papers into the Funeral Fires of their Friends, as conceiting they would read them in the other World, and thereby know obliereby of his any oexcept ermer-little werful ng the s were an the or Go-nd Anns had ed He-re it is Greeks mongft ny con-

Gauls, it Gaulcalled Greciuage of d with rovince

ioned) necellanis part against of Old theFug they hereby know

know the Sorrow they made for their Departure; and were so much given to Sacrifices, that it is Noted by Athenaus, how a Rich Galatian for the space of a Year, Feasted the whole Province with the Flesh of such Beasts, as were ordained for Sacrifices. To perswade them from which, and confirm them in a more Glorious Religion, St. Paul: Wrote his Epistle to this People: As for Rivers of sore, there are none that rise in this Country, however it is supplyed with restelling Streams, from Halys and Sangarius.

The chief Cities are Acoyrana, now called angauri, Olenus, Agriama, Tavium, or Tanium, Androffia, Fabarona, Therma, and Talachbacora; there are likewise sundry lesser Towns and Villages, but of no Note.

CAPPADOCIA, is on the East of Galatia, and is-Country abounding with Wine, and fundry kinds. of curious Fruits, many Mines of Brals, Iron, Silver, and other Minerals in the Mountains, and other Parts, as also store of Allom, and Alabaster; moreover the Chrystal, Jasper, and Onyx Stone; it asfords a great number of Cattle, but more especially a great many Horses, insomuch that they are sent into most parts of Asia; and as a boundard of this-Country is the Famous Ante-Tayrus, a ridg or chainof Mountains, bending towards the North, and in it were Born most of the noted Ring-leaders of those Seds of Herecicks, that so much opposed the Church in its Infancy, infomuch that it grew into a custom, to call a wicked Man a Cappadocian; and has for its Principal Cities and Towns Erzirium, upon the Borders of the great Armenia, where the Turkish Army usually Wintered in their return from the Berfien Expeditions, and is the Seat of a Baffa. Mazaca once the Refidence of St. Bafil: Sebaftias so named in Honour of Augustus, whom the Greeks called Subaften; Trepefus or Trepefond, once F. 3. the:

the Seat of an Empire, but now under the power of the Turks, where the Amazons were faid to Inhabit, at the time Troy was razed by the Greeks, and till displaced by Alexander the Great.

ARMENIA MINOR, though somewhat mountainous, is however a very sertile Country; and is held by some to be that Ararat, upon whose Hills Noah's Ark rested after the Deluge; and so consequently sirst to have been peopled after that Universal Calamity, and is only parted from Armenia Major by the samous River Euphrates, and is so inclosed in most parts, with that and the Mountains Taurus and Ante-Taurus, that it is difficult to be entred, though in other places it is delightful, and well watered by pleasant Streams issuing out of the Mountains; the chief being Melas, which falls into Euphrates, and is so called from the blackness of the Waters.

This Country was once a part of Cappadocia, till the Armenians wrested it by force, and planted their Colonies here, from whom it took the prefent name; and has for its chief Citles Nicopolis, Suur, antiently Melitene, Oromandus, built by Pompey the Great, in token of his Victory over Tigranes the Syrian King, under whom was both the Armenia's, Garnace, Caucusum, and Arbyssus, whither St. Chrysistom was Banished by the means of the Empress Eudoxia, who took part with the Hereticks: and these Countries had the Blessing to be converted to the Christian Faith, by St. Paul and St. Peter, as appears by the Epistle of the first to the Galatians, and of the last to the Strangers scattered or dispersed in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia, &c. And what remains is more properly called Asia, though circumscribed in Anatolea, or Asia Minor, viz.

Asia Propria, was formerly held to be the most rich and slourishing part of this Peninsula, as Tully affirms,

af

ch

F

F

P

pa

re

Ti

C

o

in tl

fd

: power d to In-Greeks, lountai-

and is se Hills fo conat Uni-Armenia. fo inuntains be enout of ch falls lackness

cia, till planted he preticopolis, by Pom-Tigranes : Arme: ther Sta ne Emeticks: e cone and St t to the attered Afia, re pro-Anata-

e most

as Tully

affirms,

affirms, when he certifies that the Roman Tributes from other parts were but sufficient to defray the charges of keeping them; but Asia fays he, is for Fertile and Rich, that for the fruitfulness of the Fields, variety of Fruits, largeness of Pastures, and quantity of Commodities, which were brought from thence, it abundantly excelled all other Countries; and it properly includes Phrygia Minor, Phrygia

Major, Mysia, Æolis, Ionia, Lydia and Cario.

Phrygia Minor, so called, as many hold it, from the River Phryx, descending from the greater Phrygia, is a very fruitful Country, mostly Champaigr and watered with fundry noted Rivers, as Scamander, Kanthus, Simois, and others to much renowned by Hom r. In this Country, upon the Banks of Scamander, stood the samous City of Troy, whose goodly Ruins, appear in some fort, to this day; and from the Inhabitants of which City most Nations labour to fetch their Original. Near to it flands Trom or New Troy, begun by Alexander the Great, and finished by Lysimachus, one of his Captains, who yet named it Troos Alexandri, in honour of his Master. Here are found likewise the Ports of Lyrnessus and Sigaum, with many other things, upon which the Poets especially have been large, who keep them alive even in their Ruins; for indeed little ele remains at this day; for as Ovid has it, Fam seges est ubi Troja fuit, resecanday, falce, Luxuriat Phrygio sanguine pinguis humus..... Corn ripe for Sciths, grows where Troy once flood, And the Soils fatted with the Phrygian Blood.

PHRTGIA MAJOR, joyns to the former, and is a very fruitful Country, abounding with some Corn, Wine, and some Olive-Yards well watered, by the River Sangarius and Marsyan; the former taking:

hin

And

and

Seft

mai

pre of

che

hér

fice

pla

her

To

Aly

Cot

fere

bou

Aca

the

ONE

hele

Fin

mad

Ped

and

mu

Arr

mif

of I

que

me

Leb

a fa

1

taking its Spring in this Country, discharges, it selfinto the Euxine Sea. And the Towns are Gordian. quice the Residence of Gordins, who of a Husbandman being made King, hung up the Furniture of his Waggons and Ploughs in the Temple of Apollo, tied in such a knot, that an old Prophecy run, That be who could unty it should be Monarch of the World; which Alexander the Great, upon his coming thither, trying to do and failing therein, cut it in funder with his Sword, shewing thereby, what Policy could not do Force should effect. Colosse, where the Coloffians, to whom St. Paul wrote one of his Epistles dwelt: Miedaum, once the Seat of Midas; Pelinus where the Statue of Cibele was held in great Veneration, and being from thence shipped for Rome, the Ship by no means could be brought to pass up the Teber, till a Veltal Virgin, who had been accused of Incontinency, to clear her Innoeence, by taffiling her. Girdle to it (if you will believe the Story I drew it up the River; and the reason why the Romans so covered it was, that the Empire of the World had been promised to those that could get it into their possession.

MISIA is a Country lying, as it were, between the Phrygia's, supposed antiently to be a Phrygian. Nation, being much the same for Fertility: And here is found the Asian Olympus, a vast Monneain. but inferior to that of the same name in Greece, and has for Rivers of note Cacus and Alepus; on the Banks of the former franch the once famous City of Pergamus, but now of little note. There is likewife the River Granicus, having its Fountain in Myfia Major, and falling into the Proposits, on the Banks of which Alexander gained the first Victory against Darius the Persian King; who upon his first coming into Afia, had made to little account of him, that he sent Order to his Lieutenant in Anatothe to take him alive, and after having whipped him him with Rods, to fend him bound to his Presence, And this Mysia is divided into the lesser and greater; and here stands the Tower of Abydes, over against Seftes in Thrace, memorable for the Story of Hero and Leander; with many other things more remarkable; as the Inhabitants flaying themselves, to prevent falling into the hands of Philip the Father of Perfens King of Macedon, its being betrayed to the Turks by the Daughter of the Governour, upon her falling in Love with Abderachmen, a Turkish Officer; upon her Dreaming the fell into a miry place, and he coming by took her up and wiped A her clean, got. Cyciew, famous for its Port, Marble Towns and starely Buildings, &c. And in Mysia: Major are found Apollmin, Dainta, Trajanspotis, Alydda, and others.

Countreys much depending on each other, indifferently Fruitful, and contain fundry good Harbours. The principal places in the first are Pitana, Acurrea, Elea, Myrina, now Sebastopolis, Cone the the chief in this part; Cumaa the Birth-place of one of the Sybils, and Photia; and the People are held by Josephus to descend from Elisha the Son of Juvan, but by the many Conquests that have been made of this and other Countreys, whereby the People have been either destroyed or carried away, and others planted in their steads, such Originals must needs be uncertain.

sie felf

iordian.

usband-

Apollo,

cy run,

16 COMI-

cut it:

Coloffe,

ote one

e Scat

as held hipped rought ho had

r Inno-

Uiw HO

and

s, that

ised to ctween

brygian

: And

ndtain,

er, and

on the City of

like-

ain in

on the

lictory

vis first

unt of upped

him

IONIA, Has for its principal Cities Mins on an Arm of the Sea, which Artanernes affigued to The-missioles the noble Athenian, when the ingrateful City of Athens had banished him after the glorious Conquests he had Atchieved in their behalf. Erythra, memorable for the Habitation of one of the Sybils, Lebedson, Clasomene and others, especially Smyrna, a fair Haven City, on a Bay named from it the Dines Smyrna, and is not only samous for comprehending handing one of the Seven Churches of Afia, written to by St. John, but is at present a place of great Traffick, where the English have a Factory, and most Enropeans trade for Chamlets, Grogran, and other Stuffs, Drugs, with many fuch like Commodiries: The Grand Signior having there a Custom-House which brings in a vast Revenue; and in old times there stood a goodly Temple, dedicated to Homer the Greek Poet, as supposed to be the place of his Birth. In this Tract is likewise found the City of Ephesus, so renowned for the Temple of Diana, accounted one of the Seven Wonders of the World, and was in its Splendour 42 & feet in length, and in breadth 220, supported with 127 Pillars of polished Marble; curiously wrought, and was indeed a very goodly Structure, and so it had need, for after it was modelled by Ctefphon, a most expert Architect, it was 200 years in Building, though Burnt in one day by Erastrotus, on purpose, as he alledged to get him a Name, though of Infamy.

LTDIA once a famous Kingdom rill ruined by the Persians, under the leading of Cyrus; took its name, as many Historians will have it, from Lud the Son of Sem; the People of which Country are said to be the first Coiners of Monies, and Inventers of fundry Games; and here is the Mountain Tomalus covered naturally with Vines and Sipplus; and which are very fruitful Valleys; and yield the best Saffron of Asia: the Rivers of note are Hermus, which taking its source in Phrygia Major, passes by the skirts of Lydia, pleasantly watering the Pa-Aures, Grc. and falls into a fair Bay of the Agean Sea, opening towards the Island of Clazomene; likewise Pattolus Castros, and the Meander; the which though upon a direct line not exceeding 60 miles is nevertheless in measuring the winding, accounted 600 which greatly tetters the Country; in which are found Mines of Gold and Silver, and some Stone written

of great

Factory,

Grogran,

ike Com-

Cuftom-

nd in old

icated to the place

found the emple of

ers of the

in length,

Pillars of

as indeed

need, for

of expert

though

ofe, as he

ed by the

its name,

the Son

e faid to

enters of

Tomalus

ylus; and i the best passes by

g the Pane Agean.

ene; like-

he which

60 miles

ecounted

in which

nd fome Stone

nfamy.

Stone of confiderable value; and has for it's chief City Sardis, seated on the River Pallalus. Philadelphia near to the bank of the River Caistras: Thyaryra, Laodicea and others; nothing more renowned than to be of the number of the 7 Churches, to which St. John wrote his Apocalypse; and of this Country Crasus the Rich was King, who was deceived by the Oracle, in these words, viz.

CROESUS Halyn penetrans magnam subvertit

Thus Englished?
When Crasus over Halys goes A mighty Nation he o'erthrows?

Which he Interpreting according to his own hopes, croffed the River, and was vanquished and taken Prisoner by Cyrus; overthrowing indeed his own People, and was the last King of Lydia.

Caria is on the North of Lydia, in which is the Hill Latmus, where Endimien retired for the better privacy in the study of Astrology, and there finding out the course of the Moon and her changes, gave occasion to the Fable of his being beloved by her and her kissing him, we and the River Salmacis which enfeebles any Person that enters into it or drinks of the water; and has for its chief Cities, Gr. Miletus, Mindus, Heraclea and Latmum, Borgilia or Borgilos, Milusa, Primassus, and others; and in the Southwest of this Province, thrusting it self into the Sea like a Promontory, flands the little Country; of Dories so called from Dores a Greek people that first Inhabited it; and has for its chief Cities Cnidus, Cressa, formerly a noted Haven Town; Halicarnassus, where Queen Arthemisia in Memory of King Mansolus her Husband, raised at van expence a Monument, accounted one of the 7 Wonders of the & the World of from which all great Structures of that kind are called Manfoles.

As for the people of Garia, their name or denomination, is conjectured to be derived from Cares the Son of Pharmen King of Argos; though Bocharthe rather alludes it to the Phanisian word Car, fignifying a sheep or Ram, because they were formerly dealers in Flocks, with which their Country abounded, and is indeed full of rich Pastures.

LTGIA lyes on the West of Caria & faid to take its name from Lycius, Son to Pandion King of Athens; and is a Country inclosed in a manner with Sea and Mountains; the principal Mountain being Taurus, the biggest in Asia; which begins in this Province, and extends to the Eaftern Sea; one of its branches in this Country is the Ghimera, casting out Flames like Mount Aina; which gave occasion to the Fablers of former times, to render it dreadful, by likening it to a Monstrous Beast, with a Head like a Lyon, a Belly like a Goat, and a Tail like a Serpent; though, some to justific this Fiction, will have it to be infested at the bottom by Serpents. grazed in the middle by Goats, and commining nearer to the top dens of Lions, alrogather framing the Monster, said to be destroyed by Bellerapbon; which indeed tended to nothing more than that he first caused the Monntain to be Inhabited; and this Country in former days was fo opulent, that so Cities of note were found in it, but now most of them Ruiped; the chief in it being Are, Phaselis, Myra, Solima, Rhodia, Pataras, Mylius, and Podelia; and so powerful were the Lycians in the time of Eggs the Berlian, that they were not without great difficulty brought under, but from thence forward followed the Fortune of the Conquerors as the Greeks, Romans and Turks, &co.

counces, a people of Lycin; or from the Lycanians a people, the Inhabitants of Lyconia a Town in a Bongia Major; and has for its chief Ciries Icanium, once the chief Residence of the Caramanian Kings, who so stouchy opposed in its beginning the Growth of the Oneman Empire; Lystra, the birth place of Timothy the Evangelist; and here it was that the superstitious people would have done divine Sacrifice to Panl and Barnabas; Darbe, Laranda, Parabas, Adopisses, Gama and Caratha; but as for the Inhabitants, they are not found in History to be of any considerable note; nor does their Country much abound in Fruits or Corn, for want of Convenient streams to water it.

PISIDIA is on the South of Lyannia, and is a finall Country, yet surnished with great plenty of all things necessary for Human subsistance; where the Plains extend themselves, though in some parts it is much Incumbered with Barren Mountains; and has init the Towns or Cities of Antioch, Selencia, Lysinnia, Selge, Sagalassa, Cremua, Termessar, Clanassa and Plutanessa; the Antient Inhabitants being said to descend from the Solimi, a people on the Borders of Lycia; and were formerly daring and valiant, as appeared in their opposing Crus, and did more wonders than any of their more powerful Neighbours, but now being in subjection to the Turks, who hold them as Valials or Slaves, they have lost much of their Courage and Industry.

PAMPHTEIA has Pildia on the North, and is feparated from it by the Mountain Tamus; and its hold to take its name from its being Inhabited by a mixture of Nations; which word in the Greek expresses no less, and is much over-run with the Spura or Branches of Tamus; rendering it Barren in many places; yet on those Mountainous paces abundance of Grata are sed, whose Field serves for -

Food

s of chan

in Cares

Bochar-

ar, fig-

former-mery 4

Athens;

Sea and

Taurus,

ovince,

ranches

Flames

to the ad like

like a

Fidion,

erpenus,

feaming

ropbon 3

that he nd this

hae do

Pode-

time of

r great prward .

s the

most of haselis.

res. to take Food, Hair for making Chamlets, and Skins for Leather; yet that part which is the Sea coast, and runs 150 miles on the Mediterranean, is well-Inhabited, and enjoys sundry Towns of Note, as Attalia, Perge, Side, Magidis, Aspendas, Oliba, Caracensium, Colobrassius, Cretopolis, and Menedemium, and is watered with the Rivers Cestrus, Catarassus, and Eurymedon; and since they first planted this Country, they have been frequently brought under subjection by the Pontois, Persians, Romans and lastly by the Turks, who at present remain Lords of all the lesser Asia, and good part of the greater.

CILICIA has Pamphylia on the West, and is a very fruitful Country, especially on the Eastern part; and is said to take its name from Cilice the Brother of Cadmus; and though it is but meanly Inhabited, yet it is much traded to; and has in it many Towns of Note, as Tarfus the Birth place of St. Paul, Anchiala, Epiphania, Adena, Mopsuestia, Nicopolis, Amavara, Scandelora, and others watered with the River Pyramus, now called Malmistra, Orismagdus, Calicadnus, and the samous Cydnus, whose waters are so Cool, and withal so Rapid that they had like to have proved fatal to Alexander the Great, and did so to Fredrick the first German Emperor; for whilst he was bathing in the stream, he was carried away by the violence of the Current, and smothered in the waves. As for the chief Mountains they are Amanus, and Taurus accounted the largest in the world.

ISAURICA is a distinct Province from the former seated on both sides of Taurus, which renders it altogether Mountainous, being East to Pamphylia; parted in the midst by the River Calecadnus on whose banks are many Vines and pleasant Pastures and has for its principal City and Towns Seleucia, Inauria, and Claudiopolis; and as for this and the Province :

Province of Cilicia, they were Anciently famous for Piracies; but Pompey breaking their power at Sea placed them in a more Inland Country, and especially on these Mountains in a strait compass, but they have since inlarged their borders.

And thus for Anatolia or Asia Minor, except such Islands as are reputed to appertain to it, which shall be treated of in another place; it being our definition that nothing shall be omitted, though we are obliged to be brief, constrained to it by the narrowness of our compass; only note that it is wholly subject to the Turks.

The Kingdoms and Provinces of the greater Alia Described.

A S to the Boundards and Scituation of this Part of the World, it has been already laid down in general, wherefore now nothing remains, but to describe it in particular, &c. and to do this in order, we will begin with

The Kingdom of Syria.

bounded on the North with Cilicia; on the South with other parts of Asia minor; on the East with the River Emphrates; and on the West with the Mediterranean Sea: And is Inhabited by divers forts of People, Professing sundry Religions, as Christianity, Judaism, Mahomerism, and in some places not altogether, freed from Paganism; for upon the Borders next to Armenia minor, there dwell the Cardi, or Coerdes, a People who pay Venneration ins for all, and well-Inlote, as ba, Calemium, arallus, ed this ans and Lords of the nd is a ght un-

Eaftern lice the meanly las in it lace of bueftia, others famous thal fo fatal to ick the pathing tolence

s. As he forenders ophylia; on aftures eleucia, ond the covince :

neration to the Devil, and the sender excuse they alledg for it is, to prevent his doing them Mischief, they being on the contrary assured, that God being in his Nature good, he will not injure them. And the whole Country is divided into 3 Provinces, viz. Phanicia, Celo-Syria, and Syro-Phanicia.

- PHAENICIA, is bounded on the East and South with Palestine; on the North with Syria, so propert ly called; on the West with the Mediterranean Sea; and has this Name given it by the Greeks, from the abundance of Palm Trees that are found growing therein, the Word fignifying in that Language a. Palm: As for the Country it felf it is not great, for though in Length it reaches to the further fide of. Mount Carmel, and again to the River Volume on the North, the Breadth however is so inconsiderable, that it rather seemeth a Sea-Goast, than a. Country; nor did the Phanicians less improve the opportunity in former times, but were accounted the chief Navigators of the World. As for the Cities of nore they are, Acon, seated in a Pleasant Plain of great Length, Befieged by the Western Christians in their Expedition for the regaining: the Holy Land. Sarepta, the place where the Woman sustained Elias, or rather he her, by Miracle in the time of Famine: Tire once a Famous Sea Town, but now little of it remains: Siden a Pleafant Place, but wants of its former Largeness and Grandeur, being reduced to a narrow compais. As for the chief Mountains they are Libanus and Garmel; and as for Rivers there are few of note the principal being Adonis, however the Country is Fruitful in Olives and Vines.

mer, and is watered with the Rivers Abana and Pharaphar, called in Scripture the Rivers of Damagene and has in it the Mountains of Assadames,

th

ch

th

TA

H

AC

ar

110

Se

ne

Mift God them. Pro-Pheni-

South rope of the second of th unted he Cilafant eftern ining Woracle Sea Plea-and pais. and e,the ry is forand Damus, a ridg of Hills beginning at the Baft Point of Ame Libranes, and bending directly Southward, Ihuts up that part from the Land of Ifrael, and has for its chief Towns Heliopolis, to called from an Image of the Sun formerly Worshipped there; Chalcis, Abila, Adida, Hippus, or Hippone, Capitolias, Gadara, Cerafa, Scythopolis, Philadelphin and Damafous, the Head of this Province, once a Famous City, but now reduced to a small compass, however it is Sdituate in a large Plain, Invironed with Hills, and watered by the River Chrysonheas, having about it many pleasant Gardens, Orchards and Fountains; and indeed the whole Country, where the Mountains interpose not, is a Terrestrial Paradice, which made the Impostor Mahomet refuse it for his Regal Sear, left swallowed up in the Delights and Pleafores of that Country, he should forger his Business.

STRO-PHANICIA is a third Province of this Ringdom, and has for its chief Cities and Towns Alepso, a confiderable Mart Town, though not bordering on the Sea, but standing within the Land, for hither the Merchants of Epps, Arabia and Perhas come over Land with their Camels Laden with Silles, Cloth of Gold and Silver, Brugs, Spiocs, Gen Biblis, Tripolit aplace takes and puffeffed by the Western Christians, in their Expedition to the Holy Land, and is a very confiderable Sea-Post Town, Fortified with a floor Wall, and many Towns, and his many Storz-houles for the Accommoderion of Merchants; and sharpast of the Mousteath Librard, that Aresches upon in like a Curtain, about the with Fruit Trees, Vines, and Trees harbouring abundance of Silk Worms; but of this Country Antiochistis accounted the Metropolis, and not far from it is the River Orantes, which beginning in Cele-Spria, ingulfs it fell and rifeth near Apamea, watering Antischia, and palling thence 16: Miles,

Miles, falls into the Mediterranean Sea, and from hence come the greatest part of our Tapistry Hangings.

The Building in this Country, and indeed in all Syria, is one high Roof, with a plain Top, Plaistered or Terrassed to walk on the Plat-form, and Arched Cloisters before the Doors, so that People may walk dry in the Streets, in all Weathers. As for Religion they are as the first, a mixture, Gre.

A Description of the Land of PALESTINE.

ALESTINE is bounded with the Hills of Her-I mon; on the East parted by them from Cah. Syria, and Arabia Deserta; on the West with the Mediterranean Sea, and some part of Phanicia; on the North with Ante-Libanus, and the remaining part of Phanicia; on the South with Arabia the Stony, called Palestine, from the Philistines, a People that Inhabit it; but it is not conjectured they held any more than a part of it, but being very Powerful gave a general Name to this Country; as the Asiaticks usually call the Europeans Franks, from France, which is only a small part of it; however we will take it as formerly it stood, viz. its Divifion into Galilea, Judea, Idumea, and Samaria, accounted 200 Miles in Length, though not above 50 in Breadth, possessed by the Tribes of Israel, as the Land Promised to Abraham, Gr.

of Palestine, being divided into the higher and lower, the first allotted to the Tribes of Napthali, Asher, and part of the Tribe of Dan, is a pleasant Country abounding with all manner of ruits, and Exuberant, that for its Plenty this Conjunct with the rest, was called a Land slowing with Milk and Honey; the chief Cities being Apheck, whose Wall falling slew 27000 of Benhadad's Soldiers. Giscala, the Birth-.

Birt

tool

Capa

Cen

and

tuna of:

the

mat

of Z

the wro

of S

T.b

of like

Lo

Gle

the

of ab

de

of

and from ftry Hangleed in all o, Plaister. and Archeople may ers. As for &c.

Is of Herfrom Cælot with the lanicia; on remaining Arabia the les, a Peotared they being very ountry; as anks, from ; however . its Divi-

above so

chern Part r and lowhali, Afber, it Country id Exubeh the reft, id Honey; all falling ifcala, the BirthBirth-place of Jehu, who Slew Joram his Master, and took upon him the Kingdom; here is likewise found Capernaum, where our Blessed Saviour healed the Centurions Servant, and Fed 3000 with 5 Loaves and 2 Fishes; not far from it Ribla, where Unfortunate King Zedekiah, after he had seen the slaughter of his Children, had his Eyes pur out, and to these we may add Genesareth, Hamath, and Ramath.

As for the lower Galilea, it contained the Tribes of Zebulon and Isfachar, and the first of these had for their chief Cities Cana, where our Bless'd Saviour wrought his first Miracle; Bethsaida, the Birth place of St. Peter, St. Andrew, and St. Philip. Hippopolis, Tiberias on the Sea Coast, and some other Towns of lesser note, as Nazáreth, and Bethulia; here is likewise sound the Mount Tabor, on which sour Lord was Transsigured, as a manifestation of his Glory; as also the Brook Kishon, our of which slows the Famous River bearing that Name.

The principal places apperraining to the Tribe of Isfachar, were Furiched, on the fide of the Lake, about Eight miles from Tiberias; and was so stoutly defended against Vespatian, that it cost him the Lives of 1200 men, before he made himfelf Mafter of it; Chishon a City of the Levites, Rameth, called also Farmouth, another City of the Levites, where the Hills of Gilboa take their beginning, and pass Westward to the Mediterranean, and East to Fezreel; En-haddad, near which Saul being discomfreed by the Philistins, slew himself in dispair. Naims on the Banks of the River Kifon, where our bleffed Saviour raised the Widows Son to Life; and on the Banks of the same River standeth Haphraim or Aphraim, Endor, the place where Saul confulted the Witch, about the raising Samuel; Deborath, one of the Cities of Refuge, Arbela, &co. And although these Tribes are held to be carried away byr Salmanasser,

Lev

or A

300 or F

of i

lofe

the

San

four

OF I

OVC

and

imp

pen

leaf

in t oth

ren

bus

ftin

At

fro

10 gri

and

Ifr

the

an

to re

W

an

th

14

A

W

Le

Salmanaffer, and the Galileans placed in their stead, yet they were striff Complyers with the Jewish Coremonies and Customs, and so zealously affected that neither. Threats non Force could oblige them to offer Sacrifica to the Health of the Roman Em-perors.

SAMARIA, The Country taking its name from the chief City, is bounded on the East with the River Jordan; on the West with the Miditerranean Sea; on the North with Galilee; and on the South with Judea: And gives in all parts a curious Prospect of pleasant Fields and Valleys, with little rifing Hills, from whence iffice refreshing. Streams; and is every scarrenal over with Bountains, affording abundance of Grais, and confequently a great number of Cattle; and the People were for the most pare Affrians, sent thither by that Conquezing King to Inpply the places of the Captive Ifraeliter, and were Gentiles at fieft, till better instructed by the Lyons God fent amongst them, and afterward by the Priest, who remmed with the Rive Books of Moles, and rought them the manner of the God of the hand, 2 Hings 17. However they frequently relipfed and forfook their living Strength, as may be free in Hely Writ: and this Province upon its being first possessed by the Children of Heael, was allotted to the Tribe of Ephram, and the uve half Tribes of Manaffer; the one feated on the Addrerranean, and the other beyond Jordan. In the half Tribe of Monafes, on the Mediterramenn, the chief Cities were found to be Bethfan, Terra, Acrabata, Thebes, Ephra or Mophia, Afophon, Bezeki Jerreel Megiddo, Dura or Der Cafarea; and others, many of them memorable in Scripeure upon fundry occasions.

The Tribe of Ephysim had for their chief Cities, or most considerable places, Saren, on the Mediterranean, Lydda, Ajalen or Helen, a City of the dieir stead, he Jewish sty affected blige them toman Em-name from t with the diterranean the South rious Prowith little Streams 18, affordly a great ere for the it Conqueprive Ifraeinstructed and afterthe Bive mer of the they from Strongth Province hildren of m, and the feated on nd Fordan. Mediterrae Bethfan, bon, Bezek, d others, ief Cities, he Mediicy of the Le-upon fun-

Levites, Thenath-Chares, given to Josuale, Adase or Adarfa, where Indas Mucchabeus overthrew with 2000 men, the vast Army of Nicanor : Jefferi or Pelethi, giving name to the Pelethites, that were of David's Guard: Bilo femuate on the top of a lofty Mountain, and the receptacle of the Ark, till taken bysthe Phillstines; Michma, Najoth, Bethoron, the City of the Levitos, Pirhathon, Simor, and Sameria, the Merropolis of the Kingdom of Ufrael, founded by Omni, one of their Kings, on the top of the Mountain Samron, taking thence its name. overlooking the Sea-coast, and was very stately and magnificent, vying with Jerufulem, but much impaired by the Wars that have frequently happened, and at this day scarce to be found, least extreamly wanting of its former Glory ; and in this compais mixed together in a manner the other Tribes mentioned were contained.

JUDEA, The Country of the more peculiar remnant of the Jews, containing the Tribe of Juda, but may be said to be divided between the Philiflines, the Tribes of Dan, Simeen, and Benjamin: At first the Philistines commanded the Sea Coast from the South of Phanicia, to the North of Idumea, or from the City of Gaza, to the Castle of Pilgrims, taking both, except Joppa, into the Accompt. and but that and all the Northern Towns were the Israelites; and though the Philistines held no more then fix of note, yet they were of fuch importance and so strongly fortified, that having the Edomites to back them, and some other Neighbours, who relished not the Jewish Nation, they perplexed and wearied them continually with Wars and Inroads. and became more troublesom, than the whole body of the Canaanites; which Towns were Gath or Geth. where the Giant Goliah flain by David was Born; Accaren on the South of Gath, a Town of great Wealth and Power; Ashdod, by the Grecians called Azotos, Memorable for the Temple of Dagon, whither the Ark of the Lord was carryed when taken by the Philiftines, Ascalon, Scituate on the Coast of the Mediterranean, and first Founded by a Noble Lydian; Gaza more Inland, signifying in the Persian Language the Place of Treasure, where indeed Cambyses layed up the Tribute of those Countries; and Majoma the Port Town of Gaza: And in these they had their strong Holds, from which they so often vexed the Israelites.

The chief places possessed by the Tribe of Dan were Joppa, finge called Juffa, once a Famous Mart Town, and the Principal Haven of those parts, taken by the Christians in the Holy War; Rama or as the Moors call'd it Romula, built with Freestone, and scituate upon rising Hills, in a Sandy Plain, where yet remain the Ruines of a Monastery and several Christian Churches. Imnia, the place where Judos Mecchabeus Burnt the Syrian Fleet. Ceder, or Cedron; Modini, where the Macchabees were Euried; Gibbethon, Cariathjarim, Beth-shemesh, to which the Ark was broughe by the Oxen, when dismis'd by the Philistines; Tifrah, Caspin, Lacin, Ajalon, a City of the Levites, mentioned before in the Tribe of Ephraim, in the Borders whereof it is Scituate; which occasions Authors to disagree in which Tribe to place it, and therefore leave it indifferently to either.

To the Tribe of Simeon is ascribed the Cities and Towns of Gerar; Siceleg, or Ziglag; Haijn, a City of Levites; Cariath-Sepher, Interpreted the City of Books, within the Borders of Simeon, but appertaining to Judah; and Chorma, with others of finaller note, rather Villages than Towns.

The Tribe of Judah, so called from Judah the Fourth Son of Leah, had for its Lot Arda, Scituate in the Entrance of Judea; Hebron, one of the Antientest Cities of the Canaanites, formerly Inlabi-red

te

ca

for

01 vi

"pa

Be

14 tu

or

be

D

E

it

pl

Iņ ele

tie

in

O

tid

ric

re

H

th

tu

fid

an

P

red by the Giant-like Sons of Anakim, or Anak the Word fignifying a Chain, and here it was that Abraham bought a Buryal Place for his Dead, and Buried his Wife Sarah; Tecoa, the City of Amos; Jether, or Jutter; Marefa, where the Propher Micab was born; Emmaus, fince called Nicopolis; Hafor, or Chatfor, one of the Frontier Towns of Idumea; Odalla, or Hadullun; Ceila, or Keila, where David hid himself when he fled from Saul; Eleutheropalis, or the free City, not far from Hebron; Azeca; Beth sur, or Bethsora, fignifying the House of Rocks, alluded from its standing on a Rocky Hill; Adoram bordering on the Dead Sea; Zore, in former times called Bela, but took its Name from the words of Lot, the word Tjobor, Importing Refuge, Safery, or Deliverance; Massada a strong Hold; Libna a strong Fortified City, seated in the Corner of Juda between the Tribes of Dan and Benjamin; Ziph in the Wilderness, where Saul came to pursue BETHLEHEM call'dBethlehem-Judah, to distinguish it from one of the same name in Zebulon, the Birth place of our Bleffed Saviour, and the Grave of those Innocents that suffer'd on his account by the Cruelty of Herod. As for the Territories of these Cities and Towns, they are exceeding fruitful, and in many of the Valleys are Gardens of Balfam or Opobaliamum Trees.

David.

The Tribe of Benjamin had for its Portion the Citics of Mizpeh, Gebah, Gibeah, Ai, Gibeon, Fericho, Anathoth, Nob, Gilgal, Bethel, Ramath, differrent from what has been mentioned; Chadi, or Haidi, Lod and Ono; but the chief Magnificence of this Tribe, was the Famous City of Ferusalem, scituate upon a Rocky Mountain, yet in most parts easie of ascent; Invironed with Neighbouring Hills, and confifted in its most flourishing time of four parts, separated by several Walls, resembling diflin& f Dagon, d when e on the led by a fying in , where of those f Gaza: ds, from of Dan Famous ole parts, Rama or ith Freea Sandy Monastethe place ian Fleet. abees were bemeft, to ken, when in, Laciu, before in whereof it disagree in ve it indif-

Cities and in, a City the City of but apperothers of Fudah the a, Scituate of the Anrly Inhabi-

red

flinct: Cities, divided into the upper, lower and new Cities; together with the City of Hend, which made the Fourth division; all the Walls fortified with Towers and Castles, and the Cities should with stately Buildings, Fountains, and pleasant Gardens; burall these exceeded by the magnificence of the Temple, sheld to be the chief wonder of the World; the Description of which is lively set down in the Old Testament; wherefore it will be superfluous here to delineate it, though at this day its Glory is laid in the duft.

The Tribe of Levi, though properly a Tribe of the Ifraelites, had no Possessions assented it, but had the Priesthood for its Inheritance; and therefore feattered or planted in divers Cities, alligned for the Levitical Residence 5 being as Facob sheir Father had before Prophesied: divided in Jacob, and scartered in Imel, their Portions being to live on the Altar, and the Tenchsof the Offerings, document as it is in Foshua 18. 17. The Priesthood of the Lord was their Inheritance. And of these there were some Kinds or Distinctions. 1. Punies or Tirones, which from their Childhood, till the 25 year of their Age, were obliged to Learn the duty of their Office, 2. Graduats which were obliged for 4 years to fludy the Law, or till they were well grounded in it. 3. Licontinues who actually exercised the Priestly Office: And 4 the Doctors or Rabbins, who whereof the highest Order, and expounded the Law to the People.

TDUMEA is a part of Palestine, separate from the Tribes commonly called the Land of Edom; bounded on the East and South with Arabia the Stony; on the North with Judea; on the West with the Mediterranean Sea; Inhabited by the Children of Esau Brother to Jacob; and is a very fruitful Country towards the Sea coast; but that bordering on Arabia is somewhat Barren and Mountainous

though

Per flei and diti

tho

for City City other Berz noch Caff Hori

Bleff the thou inhe more with and

ly be rea, tains with the Amn ben.

Ti Side Cour More

ous by h

though they heretofore afforded Balm, and now a great many Palm-trees grow there; as for the People, they are, and antiently were, rude, boisterous and untractable, given much to Violence, and were no small contributers, by raising a Scdition in Ferusalem, to the Destruction of that samous City by the Romans, under Titus; and had for their chief Cities and Towns, Dinhahath, the City of Bela, the first King of Edom, Aniath the City of Hadad, and Pan the City of Hadar; two other Kings of this Country, mentioned in Genelis, Berzamna, Caparosa, Gamuraru, Elasa, Rossa, Rhinocurura, Raphia, and others, with many scattered Castles and Villages; and of this Country the Horites are thought to be the first Inhabitants; amongst whom Esau, upon the discontent he received by his Brothers circumventing him of the Bleffing, went to dwell, and took to him Wives of the Daughters of the People of the Land; and as though the two Brothers Difference had been inherent to Posterity, the Edomites alwaies proved mortal Enemies to the Israelites, not only siding with their Enemies, but making continual War and Inroads upon them their selves.

The other Parts of Palestine, which may properly be so called, are the Divisions of Peraa and Ituraa, and the first of these lies between the Mountains of Arnon, and the River Jordan, abounding with Olives, Vines, and Palm-Trees, the Soil every where being exceeding Rich, and was formerly the Habitation of the Midianites, Moabites, and Ammonites, as also of the two Tribes of Gad and Renben.

The Quarter of the Midianites was at the South Side of the Dead Sea, at the very entrance of the Country, and were held to Descend from one or more of the 5 Sons of Madian the Son of Abraham, by Keturah, mentioned in Gen. 25. 4. and bad for rate from

of Edom; Arabia the West with Children
ry fruitful bordering outsainous

sver and

ed, which fortified

or'd with

ant Gar-

nificence

ler of the fet down

be super-

s day its ibe of the ut bad the fore feat-

for the

eir Father

and feat-

ve on the

and as it

Lord was

were four es, which their Age,

Office, 2.

to Rudy

n it. 3. Lily Office :

w to the

for their chief Cities Recome, Built by one of the 5 Midianitish Kings, slain by Joshua; and Midian on the bank of the Dead Sea; and these were they, that by the advice of Balaam, sent out their Beautiful Women to Insnare the Israelites, upon their entrance into the Land of Canaan.

The Moabites Possessed all that part of the Country, from the boundards of the Midianites on the South, as far as Efebon on the North, on both fides the River Arnon, having the River Jordan on the West, and the Hills of Abarim on the East, first possessed by the Emmins, a Race of Giants, whose Principal City was Sheneth Kirjathaim, but they being Vanquished by Chedorlaomer, and driven thence, their forsaken Seats were possessed by the Moabites, Descended from Moab one of the Sons of Let, and had for their Cities in chief Rabbat, the Regal Seat of Balak King of Moab; Diblathum, Gallim, Muthana, Nathaliel, Bamath, Mispha, Hor, Kirhaja. reth, and some few others of little note; and this Country God commanded Moses to spare, because he had given it for an Inheritance to the Sons of Lot.

The Ammonites had their Habitations on the North-East of the River Arnon, and possessed all that Tract from Arnon on the Head of the River, to the City Rabbah, and on both sides the River 7a. boc, as well within as without the Mountains of Galaad, Antiently the Seat of the Raphaim and Zamzummins, a Race of Giant-like People; had for their chief Cities Rabbah, before which Uriah was Slain on the account of his Wife; Dothema, Mitspa, and others of lesser note, and had continual War with Israel, God appointing them as a Thorn in their fide, because they had not at first rooted them out of the Land.

The Reubenites or Tribe of Reuben, had their Dwellings appointed on the East side of Fordan, havi Defa Moal ties Maci a Ci Buile Tiber bal; bo, f of C fay 1 > of 7 had Reu naffe and bite Rive Nat calle zor, famo

T

try pare who han got Go bed

La ly. Mo as Pa

having

ne of the Midian on ere they, neir Beau-the Couns on the both fides n on the Eaft, first ts, whose they been thence. Moabites, Let, and Regal Seat llim, Mu-, Kirhaja. and this , because e Sons of s on the offessed all River, to River Jauntains of haim and ole; and ore which Vife; Doand had ing them ad their f Fordan, having

d not at

having the Gadites on the North, and the Arabian Defarts on the East, and on the South the Land of Moab, parted by the River Arnon; whose chief Cities were Abel, Sittim, Bethabara, or Beth bara, Macharus, Lasa or Lesha, Medeba, Bosor or Bozra, a City of Resuge to the Levites; Livias, a Town Built by Herod, in Honour of Livia the Mother of Tiberius Casar; Kedmoth, Adom, Heshbon, Bamothbal; and within their Territories is the Mount Nebo, from whose Top Moses took a view of the Land of Canaan; and joyning to it is the Hill Pissa, or to say more truly, one of the Tops or Spires of the same Mountain.

The Gadites, so called from Gad the Seventh Son of Jacob, begot on Zilpha the Hand-maid of Leah, had their Lot of the Promised Land, between the Reubenites on the South, and half the Tribe of Menasses on the North, the River Jordan on the West, and the Mountains of Arnon on the East; and inhabited the Cities of Areer, upon the Banks of the River Arnon, Dihon, towards Jordan; Bethnimrah, Natoroth, Beth-haram, Beth-ezob, Mahanaim, fo called from the Apparition of Angels; Succoth, Fah. zor, Ramoth, Penuel, &c. All the Plains of this Country being exceeding Fruitful, as on purpose prepared for the Favourites of Heaven; yet the People who had been brought out of Slavery with a mighty hand, growing fat in these fruitful Fields, soon forgot their Maker, and went a Whoring after the Gods of the Strangers, for which the Canaanites had been cast out of the Land.

There were moreover in this Track, called the Land of Palestine, the Trachonites inhabiting the Hilly Country, bordering on the Ammonites, called the Mountains of Gilead, extending Northward as far as Libanus, living, as Josephus tells us, for the most part, in Woods and Caves, upon Prey and Spoil, Ge.

The Batanea a People living in a part of the Kingdom of Basan, but their Kingdom, upon the Arrival of the Children of Israel, was given to the other half Tribe of Manasses, and contained many fenced large Cities: The chief was Pella, formerly called Butis, but the Name changed by Seleucius, the great Assyrian King, of the Greek Race; destroyed by Alexander Janeus, a King of the Jews, for refuling to admit the Law of Moses, but afterward by Pompey the Great restored to its former Luster: And more memorable in Church History, for the Voice heard from Heaven, admonishing the Christians then in Ferusalem to retire thither, that they might escape the Destruction that the Roman Army, under the leading of Titu, was about to bring upon that great and finful City.

Gessur, since called Aurantis, the last Division of Ituraa, is North of Basan, and was once accounted a Ringdom; and had for its chief Cities Hauran, Gefsur, Mahacath, Chatsar, Hevanus, and others of les-der note.

As for the Country of Palestine in general, or the promised Land, it is taken by some to be the place where the Terrestrial Paradise stood, and is indeed Fruitful, even to a miracle; for in most places there is an Eternal Spring, and in Summer the Flowers alwaies smiling, and the Vernant Trees seldom casting their ripe and mellowed Fruit before Blossoms and green Fruit take place, and are naturally of extraordinary growth; infomuch, that we read, when Caleb, Josuah, and others, went up to spie the Land, they brought a cluster of Grapes, as an earnest of the rest, so large, that they were obliged to carry it upon a Staff, between two of them. And thus much for the Land of Palestine, as it flourished in its most glorious daies, but now its antient Inhabitants are scattered over the face of the Earth, and Turks possess their pleasant places.

I.

The

Com Nor thef with take are f in pa rial over bury little very

Phar

U

H

and Ou ma giv in not

he Kinghe Arrio the od many formerly ucius, the lestroyed for refterward
r Luster:
for the

ivilion of accounted our an, Gefeers of lesal, or the

the Chri-

that they

an Army,

ing upon the place is indeed aces there. Flowers dom caste Blossoms turally of we read, p to spie oes, as an re obliged of them as it flourits anti-ce of the

- The

es.

The three ARABIA'S Described, in their Countreys and Provinces.

RABIA DESERTA, called by the Turks Beriara, is bounded on the East with the Babylonian Territories; on the West with some part of Palestine and Arabia the stony; on the North with Mesopotamie and Palmyrene; the first of these parting it from Euphrates; and on the South with Arabia Petran part, and Arabia Felix; and takes the name of Deferra from the great Defarts that are found in it, all of loose Sands, taking eight daies in passing over them, which at certain times are carrial so violently by the Wind, that Travellers are overwhelmed under heaps and mountains of Dust, and buryed Alive: as also are the Shepherds, who build little Cots on the borders of these Desarts, though very poor and despicable: as Lucan has it in his Pharsalia; and thus Englished.

The greatest part of Land, the Winds do bear Unto the Skies, which hangs not fixed there. His House and Land, the Nasamonian Seas, Fly in the Wind their little Cottages. Blown o'r their Heads into the Air as high, As from a Fire the Smoak and Sparkles fly, Till mounted, Dust like Smoak obscure the Sky. Mountains of Dust, the South Winds surious hand, Rolls o'r them till their drown'd in heaps of Sand.

And indeed this whole Division of Arabia yields nothing pleasant, being mostly inhabited by Thieves and Rovers, who having committed Robberies and Outrages, in more populous and wealthy Countries make this their retreat, as knowing sew will give themselves the trouble of looking for them in so waste and desolate a Country; yet there are some sew Cities and Towns sound in it, but those mostly on the Borders, viz. Sabe or Saba, the Habitation of the Sabsans, that was so called from the Grandson of Abraham by Keturah, mentioned Gen. 25. 3. And these were they that plundered 70b of his Cattle; Thema, supposed to be the City of Eliphaz the Themanite, one of Job's Visitants; Shua, Tharsacas, Zagmais, Phunton, Oboth, and Reganna; though they had no formal Government, as being a disjoynted People, the poverty of the Country obliging every one to shift as he could; although now counted part of the Turkish Empire, it is so only in name rather than in effect, as paying little or no Tribute to the Grand Signior.

G. 3.

fome

2. Arabia Petraa, or the Stony, is bounded on the East with Deserta, and a part of Sinus Persicus, on the West with the Isthmus, that joyns Africa to Afia, and part of the Red Sea, or Arabian Gulph, on the North with Palestine, and on the South with a long ridge of Mountains, dividing it from Arabia Felix, and is called Petrae, from its rockyness, and the abundance of large Stones that are found every where in it; and is indeed barren in a manner, as the former, but more firm and folid, which gives it the preheminence in Fruitfulness; and is full of woody Mountains, wherein the wild Arabs lurk and fortifie themfelves, being reduced under Captains of Tribes, as also untravell'd Desarts, unless by such as carry their Provision with them for fear of starving, and for that they are many times fet upon and murthered by the Thieves and Rovers; so that the general passage to Egypt and Babylon is by Caravans, to defend which there seldom go less than 4 or 500 armed men, where they carry their Merchandize upon Camels, one of these Beasts carrying ordinarily 6 or 800 weight, and sometimes a 1000, and are the fittest of all Creatures the the maei held of a plac it h Ron of ' and Bosr Aug

for

or fe whe

chan

the it 1 in pro rac Ar

Nat

Rep

Col

cla Cl Ho of ge m an but those the Hafrom the oned Gen. ed 70b of City of Visitants; , Oboth, Governpoverty of he could; h Empire, t, as payignior. unded on nus Persijoyns Ar Arabian nd on the dividing aa, from ge Stones is indeed nore firm nence in Sountains, fie them-Tribes, as as carry starving, upon and so that on is by n go less irry their se Beasts nd somereatures.

for

for this Journey, because they will endure three or four daies together without drink, in a Country where Water is not to be found, but rather by chance than any certainty; and of these Desarts the most memorable are those of Sinan, Pharan; the Inhabitants said to descend from Chus and Ishmael, intermixed with the Medianites, who are held to be of the posterity of Madian, the Son of Abraham by Keturah, and have for their chief places, Petra, memorable for the many Sieges it has held out against the Syrians, Fews, and Romans, &c. And was much aimed at in the time of the Holy War, even covered by the Turks and Christians, as a Gate or Inlet to Palestine; Bosra, said to be built, or rather repaired by Augustus Casar, to curb that wild and untractable Nation; Phara, Bernice, Sur, Havilah, Madian, Rephaim, Kadesh-Barnea, and Thara; and in this Country stands the famous Mount Sinai, on which the Law was given; and here for the most part it was that the Children of Israel suffered so much in the Wildernesses and Desarts, during their progress to the Land of Canaan. And the Character Marcellinus gives more particularly of these Arabians, is viz.

That they are a martial People, half naked, clad only as far as the Groin, with painted Cloatlis, ranging up and down upon Camels, swift Horses, and Dromedaries, as well in Peace as times of Trouble, not used to Plough, plant Trees, or get their Living by Tillage, but wander for the most part, from one place to another, without any setled Habitation; nor have they the use of Laws, neither can they long endure the Air or Soil in one place: Their Food is chiefly upon Venison, and store of Milk, Herbs, Fruits, and Wild Foul; but as for Corn and Wine they have none: their Wives are hired only for a time, though for a shew of Marriage they present their Husbands with a Spear and a Tent, as their Dowry, though they part when they please; and both Sexes are extreamly given to Lust, the Women as rambling as the Men, leaving their Children to the help of Providence, where they fall without any surther care of them.

As for the Rivers in this thirsty Land, there are but few, and the chief are Trajanus Amnis, Trajans River passing through the Country, and ending its course in the Red Sea, Rinocorura, called in Scripture the Torrent of Egypt, rising in this Country, and passing by the Borders of Idumea, falls into the Lake of Sirbon.

3. ARABIA FELIX, or the Happy Arabia, so call'd from its Fruitfulness, supplying in a manner the defect of the foregoing, is bounded on the East with the Persian; and on the Wolf with the Arabian Gulphs; on the North with a continued ridg of Mountains; and on the South with the main Ocean, whose bounds is not known. In this Arabia, the Fields, Valleys and Hills are exceeding Fruitful, abounding with Myrrh, Frankincense, Balsamum, Spices, Fruits of sundry. kinds, very delicious; as also Gold, precious Stones, grc. and lying so commodiously, on the Seas, is acquainted with what ever Blesling, either Element can afford, well furnished with quiet Bar bours, and Roads for Shipping the Towns of Lagar and Merchandise standing near together, and the retiring Houses of the Kings near and very sumptuous, the Countrey being generally accommodated with wholsom Fountains, and Medicinal Waters, with fundry Brooks and Rivers cool and clear, and the temperature of the Air exceeding healthful.

calle

ple

they ther

hold

no (

Ditt

of t all a

a.N

tlia

bou

the

Co

fou

Re

tril

Bin

Cit

Ta Se

fto

th

an

th

fe

CL

ent their Dowry, and both Jomen as ildren to without d, there

s Amnis, try, and
inocorura, rifing in rs of Idu-

rabia, fo a manner d on the mich the continued with the

and Hills Myrrh,
of fundry,
as Stones,
as, is acher Eleniet Har
of The
ner, and
and very accom-

Medici-

ers cool

exceed-

And

And this Countrey by the Arabians themselves is called Jeman and Al-jeman; and although the people are more Civil here than in the other parts, yet they had had have many Barbarous Customs amongst them, as Carnally knowing their nearest Relations, holding Community of Wives; and of dead Bodies no care is taken, but they cast them into some Ditch or a Dung hill, and are frequently a bragging of their descent from Jupiter, soolishly neglecting all Arts and Sciences, as disparagements to so great a Nobility; however there are some amongst them that apply themselves to Grazing, the Countrey abounding with Cattle and rich Pastures, and obtained to Merchandize, tho the chief Product of the Countrey is managed by Strangers.

The chief Cities or Towns that are at this Day found in this Tract are Elgra, on the Shoar of the Red Sea, called Sinus Elgranaticus; Fathrib, or Fatrib, in the way between Algiar and Medina, the Birth-place of Mahomet the Impostor; and in the City of Medina (to which is added the Name of Talmabi, fignifying the City of the Prophet) is the Sepulchre of Mahomet, not drawn up with a Loadstone as the Vulgar rumour goes, but inclosed in the manner of our Sepulchres with an Iron Grate, and covered with a green Velvet Carpet, which the Grand Seigniour sends every Year as his Offering; so that when the New arrives, the Old is cut into innumerable Shreds, and Sold to Pilgrims by the Priests at large rates as Holy Reliques; and in this Temple, which is large and Magnificent, are 3000 Lamps continually burning: Meccha a Town Scituate in a barren Soil, not far from Medina, but of greater Resort and Traffick, the Commodities not only of Arabia, but of Persia and dia flowing thither, from whence it is dispersed into all parts of the Turkish Empire; and here it is made Death for any Christian to some, so made to prevent the Dif-G.S.

ther

fcrib

Per

the

reff

No

wh

110 ma

Ba

Sc

th

re

ed

of

b

Discovery of the Fopperies in their Religion, and is utterly destitute of Waters, except such as is taken in Cisterns when it Rains, or brought on Camels Backs from distant Places, though three Carravans with Troops of Merchants and Pilgrims Visit it every Year: Zidon accounted the Haven Town of Meccha, though distant 40 Miles, Scituate on the Red Sea; Zebit, held now the Metropolis of the Country, much Traded to for Spices, Sugar, and Fruits; Elter a Port Town, where the Christians are suffered to Inhabit. Aden on the entrance of the Red Sea, and is the most Famous Empory of this Country, well Fortified, and has a very capacious Haven for the reception of Shipping, once the For of a distinct Kingdom, but now in Subjection to e Turks, being Treacherously surprized by them in the Year 1538, and soon after all the rest of the Country, Hor, Zarnal, and Muskahat, overagainst Surat in the East-India's: As for the Woods that are found here, they naturally abound with Spices, and Odours, which in their Bloom send forth a grateful Smell, which accosts the Mariners before they can see the Land, and the Rivers are many, the chief Harman, Lar, Prion, Messinatis, Betius, Oc. and in the Arabian Fields, or no where, the Phœnix is said to Inhabit.

A Description of Chaldea, Assyria, and Mesopotamia, in their Countries and Provinces, &c. As also the Mountains Kingdoms, &c.

HESE three Countries or Provinces, are held to lave been the Principal Body of the Affirian Empire, wherefore it is thought fit to place them them together, though in our Proceeding to Describe them, we shall do it severally; and First

1. CHALD ÆA, is bounded on the East with a Persian Province, called Susina; on the West with the Defert of Arabia; on the South with the rest of Deserta, and the Persian Gulf; and on the North with Mesopotamia. As for the Original from which this Country has its Name, is uncertain; however it is exceeding Fruitful, yielding Corn in many places 2 and 300 Fold; and Pliny affirms the Babylonians Mow their Corn twice a Year, and Seed it a third time, or else it would Produce nothing but Blades; and here many hold the Terrestrial Paradice, a Select Garden, more Inriched by the Bounty of Heaven, than any other part of the World; and the Reason they give for it is, because the Rivers mentioned in Scripture to flow from it are found in this Tract, according to all circumstances the same, though length of Time has caused corruption or alteration, but rather in name than place, oc. and in this Country, on the large Plains of Shinar was founded Babel, fignifying in the Hebrew Confusion, where happened the first Confusion of Languages, a work so Stupendious, being the Business of almost all the Inhabitants of the Earth, that before it was left off, it began to rear a Head of Majesty, 5146 Cubits from the Ground, having proportionable Basis and Circumference, the Passages going up winding, and so easie of Ascent, that Horses and Carts might not only pass up it, but meet and turn, having Lodgings and Stations in them for Men and Beast, and Earth spread upon the mighty Work for Corn Fields; and all this foolishly underraken to secure themselves in case of a second Deluge; and would however (had it not been prevented by the Divine Power) according to the Model devised, have Transcended the Clouds. In this Tract was the City of Babylon in its Antient Glory, a, and ies and ountains and is

s taken

Camels

rravans

lit it e-

own of

on the

of the

gar, and

hristians

rance of

pory of

ry capa-

once the ubjection

rized by the rest

at, over-

e Woods

ind with om send

Mariners

ivers are

natis, Be-

o where,

ces, are ly of the to place them

Glory, the Walls of which was 46 Miles in Circuit, 50 Cubits in heighth, and of such a thickness, that Cares and Carriages might meet on the top of it, Finished in one Year by the daily Labour of 20000 Work-men, Built on both fides the River Euphrates, having its Communication by stately Bridges, and is said when taken by Cyrus the Persian, that he had possessed one part of it three days, before the more remote Inhabitants knew the Enemy was entered; but it has been fince that time destroyed and removed; so that at this day Bagdat is taken for Babylon, Scituate on the River Tigris, and now in the Possession of the Turk; the other Places of note are, Ctefiphon, Sipparum, Apamia, Vologesia, Borsipha, and Balsora, the Port of Bagdat or new Babylon, Scituste at the Fall of Euphrate, into Sinus Persicus, a Place of great Trade and Wealth, now in the hands of the Persians.

· As for Mountains this Country affords not any; and for Rivers, the chief are Emphrates and Tigris: The People anciently were much addicted to South-faying and Divination, and held to be first Idolaters, but now they are divided into several Sects, and become a mixture of Christians, Jews, and Mahomerans, though once the Christian Faith Flourished here altogether, as Planted by St. Peter, who affures us that he was at Babylon in the latter end of his first Epistle.

2. ASSTRIA is bounded on the East with Media; on the West with Mesopotamia; on the South with Susiana; and on the North with some part of Turcomania, and part of Chaldea, taking its name from Affur the Son of Sem, who first Inhabited it, though of late it has been called by other Names, but this being warrantable by Scripture, we shall the rather continue it.

less s ing v

is ev

ancie

Arm

tend to th

in t

grou

so 1

mid

Tew

Wo

Scer

fton

in o

as V

of th py f amo

riag

fees

tak

oth

Par

and

gro

on

hei

OY

he

th

go

15.

iţ,

Circuit, ess, that op of it, 20000 Euphra Bridges, an, that , before emy was estroyed îs taken nd now Places of Vologefia, ew Baby-O Sinus , now in not any; d Tigris: cted to be first · several s, Jews, an Faith r. Peter, ne latter Media ; th with of Turne from though but this the ra-

As for the Countrey, it is free from Hills, unless such as render it very Commodious, so that being watered with pleasant Springs and Rivers, it is every where very Fruitful, and the People were anciently very Warlike, making themselves by their Arms Lords of the greatest part of the East, extending their Dominion from the Mediterranean Sea to the River Indus; the Men especially very formal in their Habit, wearing Robes trailing on the ground, their Hair exceeding long, and their Caps so steeple Crowned, that they seem like Pyramids, Perfuming themselves, and Adorning with Jewels, Rings, &c. and a Staff of Ivory, Rich Wood, or some precious Mettal in the form of a Scepter in their Hands; and as for the ancient Cuflom, it was to expose the fairest Women to Sale in open Market, not as Slaves, but to be purchased as Wives, and with the Money they put off those of the courser fort that were more deformed; happy for our English Doudies, were the Custom in use amongst us: And as for the Celebration of Marriage, it is a little strange; viz. The Bride-groom sees not his Bride before the Wedding-day, but takes her upon the good report of his Friends and others, when having made the Bargain with her Parents, they meet in the Chancel of the Church, and there the Cassisse or Priest obliges the Bridegroom to put his hand through the hole of aPartition, and take the Bride by the Hand, which done, her Mother with a sharp Bodkin pricks his hand all over with much eagerness; and if so, for all that he holds her faft, and wrings her hand till she squeak, they term it a presage of lasting Love, but if he let go, the contrary; and if the first Year a Male child is born, the Father loses his Name, and is called Abba or Father, the Sons Name being added to Ite.

in

fo

it

ar

or

C

du

ny tre

te

ra

de

Ro

al

th

T

na

Al

mi

by

Ro

de

be

Ti

ASSTRIA is principally watered with the Tygris; so named from its swiftness and rapidity: Into which, as Ptolomy affirms, discharge themselves, the Rivers Cuprus, Lycus and Gorges, with fome other Streams, or Rivulets, and the whole Affiria was divided into six parts, viz. Araphachits, Adiabene, Calacine, Sitacene, Arbelites, and Apo. loniates, and has for its chief Cities Calach, one of the four Cities built in the Land of Affur by Nimrod; Sittaca, about Two Miles from the Banks of Tygris; Athela, Apollonia, Geguamela; Memorable for the first great overthrow given by Alexander to Darius the Persian, wherein 90000 Persians are accounted to be slain, with the loss of 300 Macedonians only; Reboboth another City, said to be built by Nimrod, but now supposed to be that called Birrha. On the Tygris; Rhesen another, said to be built by the same party; Ninive, first built by Nimrod, and fo named from Ninus his Son or Nephew; the City to which Jonah was sent, and in those days accounted Sixty Miles in Circuit, which may properly enough in those hot Countreys be accounted three days Journey: Mosul, seated on the Tygris, Arzeri and Scheheruzal, the chief Residence of the Turkish Bassa, Governour of this Countrey. As for the Profession of the Natives, and some Strangers mingled amongst them, 'tis that of the Nestorians, but the standing Religion is Mahometism imposed by the Turks.

3. MESOPOTAMIA has on the East for its boundard the River Tygris, parted by it from Assiria; on the West the Euphrates; on the North Mount Tauryus; on the South Chaldea and Arabia Deserta, and is frequently in Scripture called Padan-Aram which in the Latine signifies Syria Culta, and was, anciently Inhabited by the Aramites, and is full of Rich Pastures, the Soil very fruitful in Corn, abounds with Vine-yards and store of Cattel, and is indeed so well furnished with all things necessary for Humane Support and Pleasure, that Strabo calls it Mesopotamia Felix, tho in the extream South, there are a few barren Desarts and some rough Mountains or Hills; and though it is a kind of a Compounded Countrey, yet the people are very Active and Industrious, improving Natures Bounty more than any in this Tract, though being but a small Countrey, it has always been in Subjection, and is watered with the Rivers Tygris, Euphrates, and Caboras or Abaras.

The chief Cities found in this Countrey, are Edelfa, Cologenbar, Nisibius, and Ur; as for their Religion, as far as relates to Christianity, it is in a manner Orthodox, agreeing in most Points with the Reformed Churches of Europe.

I might now proceed to say something of the Two Kingdoms in the great Mountain Taurus, named from their two last Kings, the Kingdoms of Aledeules and Bahaman; the first subdued by Selimus the First Emperour of the Turks, and the last by Abas the Persian Sophy; but having nothing but Rocks and barren Mountains to deal with, and indeed the difficulties the Inhabitants struggle with, being more to be wondered at than any thing else, I shall thus briefly pass them over, and proceed to Turcomania.

Turcomania described in its Pro-

TORCOMANIA, or the Land of Turky, so called from the Turks Inhabiting it before they got by Stratagem the Persian Empire, is on the East bounded with Media and the Caspian Sea; on the West with Cappadocia, Armenia Minor, and the Euxine Sea; on the North with Tartary, and on the South is for the ingers minorians, but imposed by iff for its from Affyorth Mount in Deserta, adan-Aram, and was, and is full of 1 Corn, a-

tel, and is 113-with the rapidity:

ge themes, with hole Affy-

aphachits,

and Apo.

th, one of

y Nimrod;

of Tygris;

ble for the

to Darius

account-

lacedonians

e built by

led Birrha.

e built by

imrod, and

; the City

s account-

roperly e-

ted three

Arzeri and

e Turkish

tai

AT

Ar

the

ma

an

W

fid

civ

du

th ere

foi

tin da

in

ma

fie

lik

tai

be

ob

ne

to

tu

th

th no

he

ri

ne. Pł

 G_1

th

ho

South with Assyria and Mesopotamia; and is properly divided into four parts, viz. Armenia Major, held to be the true Turcomania; Colchis, now called Mengrelia; Iberia now called Georgia; and Albania called by some Zuirca, and of these in their order.

ARMENIA MAJOR, now called Turcomania, is a very Hilly Countrey, as much overspread with the Spurs of Mount Taurus and Anti-Taurus, though between them are many fruitful Valleys, that produce store of Cattle: The greatest business of these people when exempted from War, being to feed Sheep upon the Mountains, and other Cattle on the lower ground, driving them from place to place where the Pastures are best, and where they find the most commodious Springs, carrying with them their Families, Tents, and Provision, and usually go Armed, not so much for fear of Rovers; as Wild Beasts that possess the Caves of those Mountains: The People being large of Body, comely of Personage, much used to the Bow and Spear; patient of all kind of Labour: The Women are very homely, but of a manly aspect, and when occasion requires, addict themselves in Disguises to the Wars, and mingled with the Men, perform equal Exploits; and in Towns, where they are letled, their Families are very great, by reason they co-habit under one Roof to the third or fourth Generation, the eldest commonly bearing Rule, and being in all things absolute as King of the Family, yet those live not idle, but employ themselves in making Tapestries, Gograms, Watered Chamlets, and other Manufactures, dispersed into all parts, and some, the not many of them are considerable Merchants, dispersing themselves over the Eastern Countrey, and from a Mountain of this Armenia called A'as has the great River Araxis its Fountain, d is pro-Mujor, held ow called nd Albania. their or-comania, is read with es, though that proess of these g to feed Cattle on place to here they ying with fion, and of Rovers. s of those of Body, Bow and e Women and when Disguises perform ey are leteason they ourth Getule, and e Family, nselves in Chamlets, all-parts, nsiderable e Eastern s Armenia its:Fountain,

tain, and the people generally are Christians. The chief Cities and Towns of this Country ares. Artaxata the Royal seat of the Antient Kings of Armenia; Sebastia, now called Suassia; seared on the Euphrates, Tigranes, Gerta, Arsamosata, Clamaffum, Cholna, Baraza, Chars, Colonia, Thespia, and others of leffer note: as for Forrests or Woods, this Country has very few, and none con-

COLCHIS the second Division of Turcomania on the North of Armenia is Inhabited by a rude uncivillized people; however the foil is fertile producing naturally much plenty, and the Vines of their own accord, twist themselves about Trees, creeping up into the spreading Branches, and affording much Wine, but that which in Antient times rendred it most memorable, was the abundance of Gold found in the Sands of the Rivers isfuing from the Mount Caucasus; for which Fason, made his Expedition; and thereby gave the occasion of the Fable of the Golden Fleece: there were likewise found divers Veins of Silver in the Mountains, though at present for want of working, or being exhausted, the People deficient in Coin, areobliged to Barrer Goods for such things as their necessities require; however they are much given to Riot and Excess, nor do they refuse to prostitute their Wives and Sisters, to the pleasure of their guests upon any slight Entertainment, as not thinking they can be otherways sufficiently welcom; nor do the Women refuse a complyance. And here the chief Cities are, or were Dioscurias, Sibaris once the Royal Seat of the Colchine Kings; Siga-. neam, Æopolis, Neapolis, Phasis; from whence the Phesants were first brought into Europe by the Greeks; Alvati, Mechlessus, Zadris and Sirace; though at present none of them considerable; however the Christian Religion continues here, though though the Turks have possessed themselves of the Country.

IBERIA takes its name from the River Iberius, running through it, though lately the name is changed to Georgia; as some will have it from St. George the Capadocian Martyr; who first planted, or at least greatly improved the Christian Religion amongst them.

Country is Mountainous, Woody, and a great part of it covered with Snow three quarters of the year; so that the Soil not being very fruitful, the people addict themselves much to War; fo that for a long time they lived in freedom under their own Princes, till the Persian War; at what time they partly by force, and partly by submission, became Tributary to the Ottoman Emperors; so that it contains not any Cities of note; however amongst them are reckoned Artaxisfa, Vasada, Lubium, and Armastica, in named by achet are Ptolomy; though at present Cremen at in most esteem; and to keep the people in aw, the Turks have fortified many places; and amongst others the strong Castle of Tessis, the Key of Media, now called Servan, Garrisoned with 6000 men; and has in it besides other Ammunition 100 pieces of Ordnance.

ALBANIA in Asia, distinct from that in Europe, East of Iberia is accounted to be first peopled by Gether Son of Aram, and Nephew of Japhet, and rested out of the way of War till the Romans time; when siding with Tigranes King of Armenia Major, and Mithridates King of Pontus, they were brought under subjection by Pompey.

The Soil of this Country is very rich in many parts, as being watered with the Rivers Saoma, Cyrus, Gerrus and Albania; and on the latter is seated a City of that name, the chief of the Province; here are likewise found Chabala, Thelbis, Getara,

Co has tric in t

form form fia gia het alle part Lan by t

Cou

lity

ful :

rus

tha

and

Fru

qua div Med par Sali of the Iberius, ame is t from planted, Religion dy, and three t being nuch to in free-Persian nd part-Ottoman Cities of d Artaxamed by ichet are aw, the offgnor f Media, ien; and Europe, opled by phet, and ins time; inia Major, ought un-pieces of

in many s Saonia, ter is feat-Province; Getara, Na-

Namechia and Teleba: The chief commodities are Corn, Cattle, Wine, and some Manusactures, and has over it a Turkish Bassa; and from these Countries the Turks are held on all hands to descend, as in the History of that people, appears more at large.

Media and Persia described, in their respective Provinces, &c.

MEDIA (the first that occurs in order) is bounded on the West with Armenia Major, and some part of Assyria; on the East with Parthia, and some part of Hyrcania, and the Provinces of Persia; on the North with the Caspian Sea, and Georgia; and on the South with other parts of Persia; held to take its name from Madai, the Son of Japhet, who first planted it; though at this day it is alled by the Turks (in whose possession the greatest part of it is) Sheirvan, or Servan; the word in their Language fignifying a Milky plain; alluding thereby to the great plenty of the Country, and is of large extent; once famous for a warlike people, that over-run the greatest part of the East; yet this Country like all others, differs in degree of fertility, for although the South part is exceeding fruitful; yet the North part lying between Mount Taurus and the Hyrcanian Sea, is very barren; insomuch that the people make their Bread of dryed Almonds, and their drink of the Juice of certain Herbs; no Fruit trees flourishing there, nor any considerable quantity of Corn.

As for the Kingdom of Media, we may properly divide it into two Provinces; viz. Atropatia and Media Major; the first of these contains the northern parts of the country; and is held to be that, where Salmanasser, the Assyrian King placed the Israelites, whom.

whom he carryed into Captivity, and is watered by the River Gonza; and had for its chief Cities or Towns Hamadum, Gonzavia, Mandagarsis, Gelin, Bochu, Erea, Sumachia, or Shamaki; the last built by Cyrus the Persian, and much Illustrated by others; and in it as a Monument, stands a Pillar Interwoven with the Heads of Noble men all of Flint, curiously wrought, Go. This Province is very Mountainous, as having the Spurs of the Tannus branching out, and the body of the Mountain it self. Go.

MEDIA-MAJOR, on the South of Mount Tauriu, is a very pleasant Country; yielding Corn and Vine in abundance, with many pleasant Fruits, and good Pastures, watered every where with fresh streams; so that Cattle, especially Horses encrease in great numbers; the men being generally expert Riders, and much redoubted in War.

The chief Cities that were here found are the great Echatana, to which Semiramis took such liking, that she caused for its better Accommodation, water courses to be cut through the Mountain Orontes, reckoned to be in compass 24 Italian miles and fortified with a Wall of 70 Cubits high, 50 broad, with 100 Gates, and Towers built over them of smooth stone, and had formerly fix lesser. Walls, though now little of it remains. Taurus a City pleasantly scituate, under the shadow of Orontes; opening to a curious fertile Plain on the South; once a place of great Trading, but having been often ruined by the Turks, in their Wars with the Persians; it has lost much of its former splendor. Arfacia built, by some of the Parthian Kings, their Conquest of this Country: Casbin scituate in an open Plain, on the Banks of a small River, but: of no confiderable Trade, though the Persian Sophies have a Pallace in it: Rages, Nassivan, Ardovile, Sultania, Turcoman, and Marant. The Chris stian

st. bra duc Pec

No Oc Per fro try and fro in

So ter Ai Ea an ha

EH

fix ed ma Ar an th

Wi th to m

me

s watered f Cities or s, Gelin, e last built ted by o-Pillar Inc. l of Flint, e is very he Taurus buntain ic nt Taurua, and Vine and good aftreams; in great at Riders, d are the k fuck mmodati-Mountain lian miles high, 50 uilt over fix leffer. Taurus a v of Oronhe South; ing been with the splendor. ings, in cituate in iver, but: ersian Soin, Ardohe Christian stian Religion is held to be first planted here by St. Thomas; and though it was not Universally Embraced, yet it flourished till Mahometism was introduced, more by the power of the Sword than the Peoples Inclination.

Perfia Described.

DERSIA has for its Eastern boundard India; for the Western Media, Assria, and Chalden; the Northern Tartary; and the Southern the main Ocean; so named, (if you will credit the Story) from Perseus, Son to Jupiter and Danae; though rather from Persis a small Province; or part of the Country which took its name from one of their Kings: and the whole Region of Persia, is found to extend from 82 degrees of Longitude, to 120. 36 degrees in all, and in bredth from 32 degrees North Latiude to 42, scituate under the sourth, fifth, and fixth Climates; so that the longest day in the Southern parts, is 13 hours and almost three quarters but in the most Northern 15 and a quarter; the Air for the most part pure and wholsom, though the Earth by reason of the great hear of the Sun, is dry, and fandy in many parts, and destitute of water; having few Rivers, and not many Lakes; however taking the Country in general, it abounds with all things necessary, and may properly be divided into 12 Provinces, viz. Susiana, Persis, Carmania, Ormus, Gedrosia, Drangiana, Aria, Parthia, Arachosia, Paropamisue, Hyrcania, and Margiana; and held to be one of the Antientest Kingdoms of the East; the people as the Chaldeans, giving themselves up to the Study of Astrology; and as to their Religion, its the Sect of Haly, differing in many things, from the Tenets of the Impostor Mahomet; tho amongst them are many Christians and more

of

ehe

T

wit

of I

Oce

froi

Riv

the

casi

Sea

the

Nat

We

moi

big thic

tho

of:

on (

the

kin

pan

the

dee

the

of r

alto

pan

Fews; and the chief Rivers that visit Persia, are Araxis, some windings of Euphrates and Tigris; and here are found Mount Taurus, the Seriphian Hills, and some others of less note: And has for the most material Cities, Persopolis, Aracca, Tarsiana, and others; the Country affording Dates, Myrrh, Drugs, Spices, Mines of Silver, Brass, Quarries of of Marble, Cedar-wood, and rich Manufactures of Silks, and Embroideries of Silver and Gold, and has been much traded to, by the European Merchants, especially the Island of Ormus; accounted the most fruitful in the World; so that those who have compared the World to a Ring, have allowed this to be the Jewel, that ought to be set in it; for the Portugals upon their first coming hither, so much inriched themselves, that they easily commanded the whole Trade of Europe.

As for the Perfians, they are generally good natured, courreous to Strangers, exceeding obedient to their Prince, whom they in a manner Idolize; they are tall of Stature, well Limbed, and for the most part handsome (especially the Women) Patient of Labour, yet through the Plenty of the Country much given to Luxury, Valiant in Fighting, as well the Women as the Men, who accompany their Husbands to the War in disguise, and frequently die Fighting by their fides, as appeared by the great number of them found upon the stripping of the Slain in many Battles fought between them and the Turks. And within this Jurisdiction we may include Ballria, lying West of Margiana, watered by the River Oxus, so that it is partly Fruitful, and partly Barren and Defert, possessed by a rough and untractable People, and has many Woods and Forrests full of wild Beasts, which renders the Passage dangerous to Travellers, and has its Name from Bactria the Metropolitan City, Seated at the Foot of the Mountain Sogdij, and is now in Subjection to the Persians.

rsia, are

Tigris;

Seriphian has for

Tarsiana,

, Myrrh, uarries of Aures of old, and

an Mer-

ccounted

nat those

ng, have to be set

ming hi-

hat they

od naturbedient to · Idolize;

d for the nen) Pati-

the Coun-

ighting, as

pany their requently

ed by the

ripping of them and we may watered

itful, and

rough and s and For-he Passage lame from

t the Foot

of

of Eu-

Tartaria Described, in its Kingdoms and Provinces, &c.

Northern part of Asia, and shooting out considerably to Europe, bounded on the East with China, and the Eastern Ocean; on the West with Russia and Podolia, a Province of the Kingdom of Poland; on the North with the Frozen Scythian Ocean; and on the South with another part of China, from which it is separated by a mighty Wall, the River Oxus parting it from Bastria and Margiana, the Caspian Sea from Media and Hyrcania; the Caucasian Mountains from Turcomania, and the Euxine Sea from Anatolia and Thrace, and is possessed under the general Name of Tartars, by many powerful Nations, accounted to be 5400 Miles from East to West, and 3600 from North to South.

The People are generally Rude, giving themselves more to War and Rapine, than to Arts or Husbandry, big Podied, broad Faced, ittle and hollow Eyed, thick Lipped, and flat Nosed, Swarthy of Complexion, tho diftant enough from the Sun, hardy and capable of induring extream Hardships, loving to ride, tho on Cows, Oxen, and other Beafts, not used in other parts in such Services; their Speech carries a kind of a whining Tone with it, and when a Company are got together a Singing, one would imagine them a confort of Wolves a Howling, and have indeed in their many Excursions and Wars proved the Terror of the World, yet are seldom Covetous, of more than is sufficient to support them, as being altogether regardless of Silver, Gold, or costly Apparel, going for the most part clad with the Skins and and Furrs of Beasts they take by Hunting, and are by some held to be the Ost-spring of the Ten Tribes removed out of Palestine by Salmanasser; for many of the great Lords of the Tartars still themselves Naphthalites, Danites, &c. and Canton themselves into Families and Tribes.

This Countrey is usually divided into these following Provinces, viz, Precopensis, Asciatica, Antigua, Zagatha and Cathaia: The first contains Taurica Chersonesus, and the Asciatican Banks of Tanais, taking its name from Precops the chief City, and has in it, befide the Towns of Ozaclow, Capha, Crim, and others of leffer note. The second contains Asciatica Deserta, or Deserta Muscovita, held to be the ancient Sarmatia Asciatica, remaining unciviliz'd at this day; as feeding upon Raw Horse-fielh, sucking Blood from living Creatures, and oftentimes preying upon each other, and neglecting all manner of Tillage. The Third contains the Cities of Noyhan, Cashan, Charackzicke, Astracan, and some others of lesser note, as Coras, Caracora, and the whole Kingdom of Tendock, and affords the Drug called Rhubarb, not any other where to be found. The fourth Division contains Scythia, Inter Imaum, inhabited by a more civiliz'd Peo. ple of the Tartars, and have for their chief Cities Istigias, scituate in a very fruitful Plain, to which flow the principal Commodities of the whole Kingdom, and Samarchand, usually the Residence of the Tartarian Chams, where Tamerlain the Great was born and died; but the most pleasant of all, and indeed the Glory of the whole Countrey, is the Kingdom of Cathia.

The Soil of this part of Tartary yields a superabundance of Fruits, Corn, Hemp, Flax, &c. and the other Merchandise are Woolls, Rhubarb, Musk, Silks, and Manusactures of its own, and also those of China, that are brought hither, and has for its Chief du, larg Park in a trar ing

Chi

Fembut in O

the Imai

T

boun and Chair furni may it of The a Pro on the

on all and A Trav Greys

Wel

and are in Tribes many of emselves emselves

Antigua, Antigua,
Taurica
nais, tay, and c, Capha,
ond conuscovita, remainpon Raw

reatures,

and ne-

ird conackzicke, as Coras, ock, and er where s Scythia, c'd Peoief Ciries to which ole Kingdence of

he Great

t of all,

ntrey, is

fuperafoc. and tb, Musk, lfo those s for its Chief Chief Cities Cambalu, Tebeth, Carraran, and Zeamedu, all of them very stately; containing in their large Circumferences, Pallaces, fixed and moving, Parks, Pastures, with many other Rarities; but in all these Countreys, the Government is Arbitrary, the Lives and Estates of the People depending upon the pleasure of the Prince.

There are yet another fort of this people called Crimesian Tartars, inhabiting the Crim, on the Fenns of Maotis and borders of Moscowy and Poland, but much of the nature of those already mentioned. As for Religion, they are in many places divided in Opinion, as being a mixture of Armenians, Christians, Jews, Mahometans, and some Idolaters.

The chief Rivers that Water this Countrey, are the Tanais and Volga, and the principal Mount Imaus, which runs in a long Chain or Ridge, branching however into divers Spurs, &c.

A description of the Kingdom of China in its Provinces, &cc.

HINA is a large Kingdom, though not well known, till the latter times to the Europeans, bounded on the North with the Eastern Tartars, and Altay; separated from them by a continued Chain of Hills, and a Wall of 400 Leagues in length, furnished with Towers, and so broad, that a Cart may be driven on the top of it, built (as they give it out) by Tzaintzon the 117th King of China. The Southern boundards are partly Cochin-China, a Province of the East India, and partly the Ocean; on the East with the Oriental Ocean, and on the West with part of India and Cathaia; and is indeed on all parts so hemmed in with Mountains, Seas, and Artificial Fortifications, that it is no wonder Travellers missed it in their way to other Gourstreys. This

the

and

pre

the

ren

eft

tha

the

afte

the

mo

and

ren

live

ent

by 1

chi

dic

for

inc

Bu

are

thò

leff

bro

feld

gre

fels

Me

the

for

a l

th

al

fee

fer

them

This Kingdom, according to the account of the Natives, contains 15 Provinces, viz. Canton, Foqueit, Olam, Sifuam, Tolenchia, Canfay, Minchian, Ochian, Hionam, Paguia, Taitan, Quinchen, Chag. man, Susnam, and Quinsay, in which are Computed 591 Cities, 1593 Walled Towns, 4200 Unwalled Towns, and 1154 Castles; the whole Countrey being accounted 3000 Leagues in Circumference, reaching from 120 to 160 Degrees of Longitude, and from the Tropick of Cancer to the 33 Degree of Latitude, lying under all the Climes from the Third to the Ninth, so that the Air is very Temperate and Healthful, by which the Natives are for the most part exempred from Sickness, and live to an extream Age: As for the Riches and Fertility, it is very much, even to admiration, the people being very Industrious, and the Soil as suitable; so that in many places they have two, and in most parts three Harvests in a Year, nor do they spare to Plant and Sow, the best of all kinds they can compals.

The chief Commodities coming from hence are Pearls, Bezora Stones, Wooll, Cotton, Olives, Wine, Flax, Metals, Fruit, Chiha Ware of sun dry kinds, Stuffs, Carpers, Embroideries, Music, Amber, Gc. The People are of a Swarthy Complexion, especially those living towards the Southern patts, short Nosed, black Eyed, with thin Beards, wearing long Garments, with loofe Sleeves, and Hair at its full growth; they are much given to often eating, but then they do it very sparingly, not touching their Victuals with their hands, but take it with a Fork made of Ebbony or Ivory, from whom the Europeans learned the Fashion. Men are very Jealous of their Wives, insomuch that they will not fuffer them to go abroad, nor fit at the Table with them if any Stranger be there, untels some very near Kinsman; however they permit unt of the Canton, For : Minchian. ben. Chag. Computed Unwalled punercy beumference, Longitude, Degree of o the Third Temperate are for the l live to an rtility, it is cople being e; so that most parts y spare to ey can com n hence are on, Olives are of funries, Music, erthy Comne Southern in Beards eves, and ven to often ingly, not but take ory, "from ion. The omuch that nor fit at there, un-

hey permit them

them to go as Gay as they please about the House. and one Trick has been brought into a Custom, to prevent their defiring to ramble, the which is by the hard binding up their Feet when Children, to render them small, that being accounted the greatest Ornament or Beauty, so that being Cripled by that means, they cannot go without pain. As for their dead, they bury them in Fields fifteen days after their decease: They that are buried within the Walls of Cities, & being by them accounted most miserable. Knowledge they have of the Deity, and some marks and foot-steps of Christianity is remaining amongst them, but so obscured, that they live for the most part after the manner of the ancient Gentiles, offering Sacrifices to the Devil, thereby to appeale him, that he should do 'em no Mischief; and will needs have the date of their Actions, or the beginning of their Kingdom, long before the World was made, telling many strange and incredible Stories about the Greation, Go. In their Building, and indeed in all their Actions, they are very near, and the Countrey so populous, though the Wars with the Tartars have somwhat lestened the number; that some of their Kings have brought a Million of People into the Field, and has feldom less, than 1000 Ships of War, though of no great Service, in a readiness, and 10000 lesser Vessels on several Rivers, for carrying of Goods and Merchandise from place to place; yer so jealous are they of Strangers, prying into their Affairs, that in some Cities'tis Death for any but a Native to lodge a Night within the Walls, nor is he permitted in the day time to enter, without giving his name to a Publique Motary, which when he returns, he must fee crossed out, or where ever he is found, he suffers for it.

The Towns and Cities are too Numerous to be particularly recited, but the principal are Quinsay, 100 Miles in Circuit, with a Lake of 20 Miles compass within the Walls, in the middle of which is an Island, where the Emperor (as he stiles himfelf) has a Magnificent Pallace, and is thought to contain Two millions of People. Pequin or Pekin, not much inferiour to the former in bigness, but mothing in Trade, and all the Countrey is so free from Hills or Mountains, that the Chinese ride in Charriots made of Reeds, or Canes, which by the help of Sails is driven by the Wind, as if drawn by Horses, or floating upon the Water. As for the Rivers, they are but few, and those proceed from great Lakes, as wanting hills to give them Springs; the principal are Aspthara, Senus, Ambastu, and Cotiaris, all Navigable; and have over them a great Number of Bridges, the Arches of some of them rising so high, that a Ship under Sail may pass with as much ease as a Boat: And as for the Customs arifing by Trade, they are so great, that no Prince whatsoever receives so much upon the like occafion.

East India described, in its Kingdoms and Provinces, &c.

INDIA the largest Tract in the World, going under one entire name or denomination, except Tartary and China, is bounded on the East with the Oriental Sea, and a part of China; on the West with the Dominions of the Persian Sophy; and on the North with Branches of Mount Taurus, that divide it from Tartary; and on the South with the Indian Ocean: The whole Countrey (as most considerate persons affirm) taking its name from the River Indus, the most samous and noted in that part of Asia;

the ed from of N form

7 pari

Alia

heal fons part that Sun war or v > oth they oth Vin use Dro

wit

nali

The wite per Will and not oth ing a S

Bo Ex me

ble

rous to be re Quinsay, f 30 Miles e of which Itiles himthought to in or Pekin, gness, but is so free se ride in ich by the f drawn by as for the ceed from n Springs; actu, and em a great e of them y pals with ustoms a-

loms and no Prince

like occa-

going un-, except t with the West with d on the at divide he Indian onfiderate e River t part of - Alia;

Asia; the some will have it to be to called from the end or furthest extent of Asia, and is extended from 106 to 159 degrees of Longitude, and from the Equinoctial or Equator, to 44 degrees of North Latitude, as to the main Continent, tho some Islands reckoned within the compass of India; extend to 9 degrees South Latitude.

This Countrey, to give it its due, is in most parts exceeding pleasant and flourishing, enjoying healthful and Temperate Air, unless at some Seasons, when the heat is excessive in the Southern parts, the Summer continuing there much longer than with us, so that they have in a manner Two-Summers giving a double increase; so that they want nothing fit for the sustaining the Life of Man or whatever may tend to Recreation or Delight: The Kingdoms and Provinces generally abounding with Precious Stones, Spices, Perfumes, Medicinals, Mines of Gold and Silver, and Minerals of all other kinds, Copper and Lead excepted; and that they may not so abound as to reject the Traffick of other Countries, they are deficient in Wheat and Vines, and have but few Horses; the Creatures they use for Service, being Camels, Elephants, and Dromedaries, with other Creatures of lesser note: Though the Woods, Plains, and Rivers abound with Tygers; some Lyons, Rhinocerots, Apes, Serpents, and Crocodiles; and in the Seas are found Whales of a monstrous fize, as 66 Cubits in length: and 20 in thickness, with lesser Fish of sundry forms, not found in the European Seas, nor perhaps in any other. The Natives of India are different, according to the Climates they inhabit; but in general of a Swarthy Complexion, Tall of Stature; Strong of: Body, and in most places very much Civiliz'd, and Exact Dealers; and altho the common fort are but: meanly clad, and many only with Garments capable of hiding their Privities, and others meerly for H:3 Decency

Deceney, yet those of the better rank observe a Majesty in both Sex, as to their Raiment and Attendants, Perfuming themselves, and wearing besides Rich Attire, Jewels, and other Ornaments of great value; and tho the Women are barred of that Perfection of Beauty the Europeans polless, yet have they many lovely and attractive Features, wearing their Hair long and loose, yet covered with a Veil of Calicut Lawn; their Ears hung with Rings and Jewels, so heavy, that the weight distorts and disproportions them; they have also Jewels in their Noses, according to their degree, and are very submissive and loving to their Husbands, insomuch that they frequently leap into the Funeral Fires, and perish with the dead Body, in hopes to enjoy him in another World; those that refuse it, being looked upos worse than common Prostitutes, and not only hated, but severely persecuted, to the hazard of a worseDeath by their own Relations.

The Religion of the Indin's is mostly that of Genthism, the Mahomerism has made a considerable progress; and fince the Europeans have Traded here, Christianity has considerably prevailed or rather revived; it being held on all hands that St. Thomas the Apostle planted the Christian Religion in these parts, of which upon the first Arrival of the Portugals, many marks remained; and in this Countrey it is held he suffered Maryrdom, being run through the Body with a Spear as he was at his Devotion, by the Command of an Indian King ; and if we take India in general, it confifts of a mixture of five forts of people more especially, viz. Indians, Moors or Arabians, Jews, Tartars, and EuropeanChristians, who have planted divers Colonies on the Sea Coast, and in the Islands, strongly fortifying themselves against the Power of the Natives and other Strangers.

This

is p

Indi

Kin

in, p

Del

pro

m (

Gre

of

rai

tre

ple

bu

apo

the

To

N

observe a ment and descring Ornaments barred of possess were ornaments barred of poffess, yet Features,

vered with with Rings
liftorts and els-in their e very subomuch that tes, and pejoy him in log looked ad not only azard of a hat of Genonfiderable re. Traded iled or rads that St. n Religion Arrival of nd in this im being he was at lian King; of a mixelly, viz. and Euro-Colonies gly fortiThis large Countrey, especially on the Conthent, is principally divided into India intra Gangem, and India extra Gangem, and then subdivided into Kingdoms and Provinces, and the chief contained in the former, are Narsinga, Mallabar, Balassia, Cambaia, Mandoa, Bengala, Ostrian, Conora, and Dellie; and of these in their order.

properly accounted a Kingdom, and is 3000 miles in Compass, the King whereof is not subject to the Great Mogul, but for his support, and the defence of his Countrey, keeps 40000 Men in pay, and can raise upon occasion a far greater Number; the Countrey is very fruitful, as being watered with many pleasant Streams, besides what the Ganges contributes towards it, and has for its Chief City Melleger, otherwise called St. Thomas, in Memory of the Apostle said to be Marryred in it; Bisnagar a Town of considerable Beauty and Trade; as also Narsinga, from whence the Kingdom seems to take with their Husbands.

MALLABAR, formerly called Aurea Chersonesus, is a Countrey extreamly well peopled; yielding Corn, Spices, Cocoes, Jaceroes, and although it has not above 25 Leagues of Sea Coast, yet it has in its Tract the Provinces of Kanonor, Calecut, Cranganor, Cocbin and Cariolam, and is of large Inland extent; the people upon many parts of the Coast addicting themselves to Piracy, and prove very inhospitable to Strangers, earing Humane Flesh, and giving their Virgins to the Priests or Strangers to be deflowred, before they suffer them to be Bedded by themselves when Married; with many other Barbarous Customs, as their changing their Wives, and their having sometimes but one between seven or eight of them. I at a raid as a testingual. H 44 170 171 1 ... BA-

This

e Narives

BALASSIA, called the Kingdom of Becan, tho but very small, is nevertheless famed for the Mines of Gold and Silver sound therein, by which the Neighbouring Countreys are enriched, having for its Chief Towns Senergian, Balassia, and Bocan, very Fruitful in many parts, and much Traded to.

CAMBAIA, called by some Guzant, is accommodated with 500 Miles of Sea Coast, very Fertile, and is full of Cities and Towns, many of them considerably Traded to, and altho Cattle of sundry kinds abound here, the people are so Superstitious, that they will eat no Flesh, but live upon what else the Countrey affords, fancying, like the Pythagoreans, that the Souls of Men pass into Beasts, &c. though they spare not to kill the Elephants for their vory, and have for their Chief Sea Towns, Daman, Curate, Bandora, Ravellum, and for those more inland, Campanel, Tanaa, Mollar, and Cambaia; the last giving Name to the whole Kingdom.

MARDOA, a Province very Fruitful, and stored with considerable Towns, and above the rest Mandoa, from which it takes its name, being 30 Miles in compass, and said to be so well Furnished for Desence, that it held out a Twelve years Siege against the Armies of very Powerful Kings; Molta, where the Women imitating the Men, ride a stride with Boots and Spurs on, Gc.

BENGALA, is a very large, and no less Fruitsul Kingdom, lying upon the great Golf of the Sea, to which it gives Name, making 120 Leagues of Sea Coast, watered by the River Chaberis, on which are seated many considerable Inland Towns, sull of people, but such as are exceeding Crasty and Deceitful, thinking it no crime to cozen or over-reach Strangers, nor the Women to prostitute their Bodies to any that will give them Money; the Fathers letting the Daughters to hire for so long as is desired so do the Work at Bed and Board, it being the Custom

Cuff forte ther and Beng Sati the yet f Stuff Lon mod Ship Prov from in th whe or with the Statha

Con

pur

a G

on his tro

wi Wi Ba ocan, tho the Mines which the having for Bocan, veraded to. accommovery Feray of them of fundry erstitious, what else Pythagoeasts, Gc. s for their Daman. more in-

m.

itful, and
itful, and
being 30
Furnished
ars Siege
s; Molta,
le a stride

Cambaia 3

s Fruitful Sea, to s of Sea on which was, full and Dever-reach their Boe Fathers is defired eing the

Cuftom

Custom of the Countrey, being a place much resoluted, by reason of the rich Commodities sound there, as Ginger, Long Pepper, Silks, Cottons, and others, Go. As for the Chief Cities, they are Bengala, scituate on the Bay or Golf Chatigan, of Satigar, and Gouro, and in this Tract the beast called the Rhinoceros, is chiefly found.

or Orixa is a Province not very large, yetfurnished with Rice, Cloath of Cotton, a fine Stuff like Silk made of Grass, and there called Teva; Long Pepper, Ginger, Mirabolans, and other Commodities; So that from the Haven of Orissa 25 or 30 Ships have been laden with the Commodities of this Province in a Season; and here the people differ from the foregoing, as being very honest and just in their Dealings, and has for its Chief City Raman, where the Governour for the Mogul resides.

canora is a kingdom of confiderable strength and largeness, but samed for nothing more than the Quarries of Adamant, where sikewise Diamonds of Considerable Value are sound, and that none may purloyn them, a Wall is drawn about the Hill, and a Guard set upon the Gates: As for the chief Cities or Towns, they are Lispeo, Dangar, and Ultabat, with some other of lesser note.

the Prince, or rather Governour of it living in great State, and is so highly Reverenced by his Subjects, that they not only kneel when he passes in a Rich Chair of State carried on Mens Shoulders, but upon Notice given that he shaves his Beard, or has his Hair Cut, a Jubile is kept throughout his Countrey: As for the Soil, it is not very Fruitful, as lying considerably Northward, and more subject to Frosts than the rest: Its Chief City is Dellie, from whence the Kingdom takes its Name; besides which, there are of note, Fremet; Faltaber and Besmer; and these People above other Indians additional difference in the state of dist themselves much to the study of Magick. In this Tract of Intra Gangem, are found the Provinces of Gochin, where the Portugals hold a considerable Trade, and have some Collonies; Crangam a small Kingdom, mostly inhabited by such as still themselves the Christians of St. Thomas, and a very plentiful as well in Product as Manusacture: Conlam is a small Dominion of about 80 Miles extent, Governed by a Petry King; but for want of good Havens or Sea-coast, not much Traded to though it comprehends Three and twenty Walled Trans.

India Extra Gangem.

N this part of India are found divers Rich Cour Lereys, vig.

ARACHAN, an Inland Region invironed with Mountains and Woods, yet exceeding Fruitful, and in it are gathered from the Rough Rocks, eye. great quantities of Precious Stones; as for the Chief City it is Aruchan.

MACHIN a little Kingdom, wherein grows the Wood Aloes, much effectived and valued, and has Machin for its Chief City.

ing with Elephants and Rhinocerots; also with Gold Silver and Aloes, and other Commodities of confiderable value, put to Sale in Cambria its Chief City.

the Chinese, but now under the Mogul, Governed by his Departed Kings; abounding with Porcelain, Aloes, Silks, Gold, Silver, &c. having its Chief City of the same.

by the Conquests the Kings have made, it has under its power Calam, Pruna, Melinta, Meranda,

Decan

h

f

n

bin

V

7

of Magick und the Pro old a confide es; Cranganor fuch as stile omas, and is Manufacture: 80 Miles ext for want of in Traded to enty Walled

s Rich Coun

vironed with Fruitful, and ks, erc. great ne Chief City in grows the ued, and has ople, abound fo: with Gold of consides Chief Chy. belonging to Governed by weelain, Aloes, ef. City of the won tud, truc ade, it has ta, Mranda, Decan

Deran, Tangu, Ava, Machin, Aracan, Odia, Pegus, Siam, and others; so that it is the most powerful in: this Tract; and the City of Pegu is the Royal Refidence of that King.

SIAM, once a powerful Kingdom, the King thereof styling himself Mighty, but now, as before intimated, it is Tributary to the King of Brama, and is however a very Fertil Countrey, having Malucca. for its Chief City, possessed by the Portugals, and much Traded to by other Nations for Spices.

PEGU was formerly to powerful, that the Kings thereof have brought Armies of 11 and 900000 men into the Field, extending their Conquests very wide, . but now the good Fortune of the Brainanian holds it in subjection. These are the places of chief Note upon the Continent; however there are found in this large track the Provinces or Kingdoms. of Dulfinda, Pengab, Agra, Sanga, Camboia, Decan, Betanter, Patanam, and Jangoma; many of them very spacious, abounding with Praiss, Cattle, Minerais, Precious Stones, and the like: This Countrey rarely failing any where to produce fomething worthy of Note.

The Principal Rivers are Ganges, Indus, and Hydahers the hoffield sindhrefredm with the Matives, charchey come many miles on Pilgrimage to it, Superfictionly imagining, that if they wink the Water of the Biver before they die, they shall undoubtedly policis their Imagined Edicina in another World; and in the last are found a great number of Pretions Stoner, we alled the can the Ricks, and Mountribis, by the fuddet Sodrals wand to thefe Streams above to confiderable Reins contribute; farning and enriching the Soil in every pare where they flow." As for Mountains of nose; except fame:

Thanches of Tawnis there are but fewer amount to

A

Geographical and Historical

Description

O-F

AFRICA,

In its Kingdoms and Provinces, &c.

FRICA larger than Europe, but less than Asia, is bounded on the East with the Red Sea and Arabian Bay, parted by them from Asia; on the West with the Main Atlantick Ocean, separating it from America; on the North with the Mediterranean Sea, dividing it from Europe and Anatolia; and on the South with the Athiopick Ocean, separating it from the Southern Continent; and joyns only to Asia by an Isthmus of 60 Miles, over which Cleopatra the Queen of Agypt when she sled with Antony from the Naval Fight at Assium, purposed to draw by main force her Ships and Galleys into the Red

Red Sea, but was difficaded from it, by being put in hopes of a better Fortune.

AFRICA is held to have taken its name from Affre or Apher, descended from Abraham, and is properly held to contain Six principal Regions, befides other of lesser note, viz. Barbary, Egypt, Numidia, Sarra, the Countrey of the Negro's, and the Dominions of Preftor John, and is in form like a Pyramid reversed, the Basis of which, from Tangier to the Straights of Gibralter, to the Point where it joyneth to Asia, is counted 1920 Italian Miles, the Cone of it very narrow, but to reckon from the Cone or Pyris, to the Northern parts of the Basis, it extendeth it self 4155 Miles, and is scirnare for the most part under the Torrid Zone, being crossed by the Equator almost in the midst, which made some of the Ancient Writers conceive it not habitable, by reason of the excessive Heat in the middle and more southern. parts, in which they deceived themselves; for althoin some places it is full of Sandy Desarts, yet the greatest part of those Regions that lie near or under the Line, are furnished with so many Founrains, Rivers, and little Brooks, Cedars and other lofty Trees, cafting a large Shade as well as bearing delicate Fruits, and at all times stored with Blosfoms, that the place is not despicable, but much to be defired, and especially places more Northward, but leaving it in general, we proceed (for the better satisfaction of the Reader) to parriculars.

A Description of Egypt, &c.

GTPT, once a Famous and Flourishing Kingdom, now in the hand of the Tirks; is bounded on the East with Idumea, and the Arabian Bay; on the West with Munidia, Barbary, and part of Libra;

prical

ro-

t less than with the parted by West with separating Mediserra-Anatolia; sean, separer which d with Anarosed to see the Red

Lybia; on the North with the Mediterranean Sea: and on the South with Achiepia Superiour, containing in length from the Mediterranean to the City of Asua or Syene bordering on Athiopia, 562 Italian. Miles, and in breadth from Roseta to Damiatia, or from the most Western Branch of Nile to the farthest East 160 of the like Miles; said to be first Inhabited by Mifraim the Son of Chus, and Grandchild to Cham, scituate under the Second and Fisch Climates, making the longest Summers day but 13 hours and a half, and altho by reason of its Southerly scituation, it must consequently be in a hor and fultry Air; it has nevertheless fresh Gales of Wind to temperate it, and once a Year the over-flowing of the River Nilus, which renders it to Fruitful, that it abounds with rich Paftures, store of Camels. Hones, Oxen, Affes, Sheep and Goats of extraor-dinary growth; also with infinite store of Wild and Tame Fowl, with plenty of Minerals, Precious Stones, Wine, Choice Fruits, as Oranges, Lemons, Citrons, Pomegranars, Cherries, Gc. and has Palm Trees in great numbers growing Male and Female, and the Female bears not which me grows by the Male; a Tree universally unefull as ferv-

As for the People, they are of a Swarely or Tawny Complexion, very much inured to Labour, tho the Countrey yields great Encrease of its own accordivery service and obedient to their Conquerers, who Lord it over them; the Richer soft generally addicting themselves to Mecromancy and Sorcery, and are said first to Teach the use of Letters to the Phancians, though the Magi, and those that were stilled their Priess, struggled all that in them, lay to obscure Learning, by representing the meaning of what they intended to express in Hieroglyphicks, stadowing it under divers forms of Birds and Beatt, Oc. and here are to be sound the Ruins of mighty.

Structures, as the Pyramids and Tower of Phato's, built of Marble, exceeding high, nightly hung with Lights, as a Sea-mark to Sailors, and many other rare Matters to demonstrate the Magnificence of a Plenteous Kingdom.

inean Sea;

, contain-

e City of

62 Italian

natia, or

o the far-

e first In-

hd Grand-and Fifth

ay but 13

s Souther-

hor and

of Wind

flowing of

icful, Mar

f Camels,

extraor-

Wildand

Precions

ges, Le-

GC. and growing

unless file

Mas feet.

archy or

Labour,

Conduct-

oft gene-

d Sorcery.

s to the lat were lay to ining of

d Beaff,

mighty

SERU!

lyphicks,

As for the Cities of Egypt, they are generally built upon Hills or high rifing Ground, to stand dry during the over-flowing of Nilas, from whose Waters the Countrey receives its Fertility; so that whilst it carries its Stream over the Land, they Commerce with each other by little Boars, which beginning on the 15th of June, lasts 40 days, standing 15 Cubits in many places, and in 40 more gathers its Waters within the Banks, by which means the Earth is fo well tempered (for in this Kingdom there falls no Rain) that the Encrease is fixty and eighty fold, their Harvest being commonly in our March and April; and if the River flows too feating or too. immoderate, then it betokens fearcity or some misfortune to the Prince, Governour, or State, and whilst its Waters are abroad, which at the first issuing create a Plague for the space of a day: The Carde feed on the Hills; and when the Famine was -here in the Reign of Pharath, this River refused to spals its bounds on give any Affiftance to the Thirsty brind. · . . pc . 1. 12-60 [11]

This Countrey was formerly divided into two parts, viz. Delta and Thebais; the first lying between the two extream Branches of the River Nitus, in form of the greek Letter, from whence it takes it's name, and the last taking name from the City of thebes, containing all the rest of the Rivers Course; and these again with some odd Angles, are divided by some into many Parts, Shires, or Counties, and is said in the time of King Amasis the Second to contain 20000 Cities, Towns, and considerable Castles, but now a far less number; as being ruined in their several Wars, &c. they being Gaire.

Cairo or Grand Cair, Alexandria, Pelufium, fince called Damiatia, taken and possessed by the Christians in the Holy War, yet held out so obstinately upon the Siege, that 70000 persons died of the Famine and Pestilence: Heres or Heroum, scituate on the Arabian Ishmue, at the very bottom of the Golf, where Jacob and Joseph had their first interview: Heliopolis, the City of the Sun, now called Betsames in the Land of Goshen: Arsinoe, on the Shoar of the Red Sea, Cleopatris built by Queen Cleopatra: Gleba Rubra, by the Greeks called Hierabolm, and sometimes Erithia Bolm, of which there goes a Story, That King Amenophis the Fifth being Blind, was informed by one of his Magi, that if he could procure the Water or Urine of a Woman that had been Married a Twelve-month and upward, who had known no Man but her Husband, it would re-Store him to Sight, when having tried in vain a great number, at last one was found, whose Urine effected it, upon which he took her as a mark of Honour, to be his Queen, and caused the rest to be brought into this Town, and to be burnt together with it-

As for the Egyptians, they are a great many of them Mahometans, and some maintain their first Idolatrous Custom, in Worshipping an Ox, Onions, Leeks, and Jother Foolish Matters, and when they have a great Increase, they Offer to the God Nilus, as they term the River, in which Feast the poorer fort spend almost all they have Laboured for through the course of the Year; and indeed, this Country in Fruitfulness, occasioned by that River, affords them no finall Store, alluding to which, thus the Poet Lucad ;

lyc

nat

tur

to app

anc

pro

fur

the

the

Ste

tha

and

Ch

wh

wh

biş

and

fur no the Riv

Terra suis contenta bonis, non indiga Mercis, Aut Jovis; in solo tanta est Fiducia Nilo.

The Earth content with it's own Wealth doth crave No Forreign Wares, nor Jove himself they have, Their Hope's alone in Nitus Fruitful wave.

And one thing extraordinary in this Kingdom, we think not fit to pass by, which if true (as indeed it is confirmed by People of known Credit) may justly create a wonder in all, coming to pass by a supernatural means, and not the work of Art and Nature, viz. about five Miles from Cair, there is said to be a place which every Good Friday shews the appearance of the Heads, Legs, Arms, &c. of Men and Children, as if rising out of the Ground, to a very great Number; however if any Person approach them, they shrink in again: A strange forerunner, or earnest, if true, of the Resurrection of the whole Body, presented Yearly by the rising of the Members; and to confirm the Truth hereof. Stephen Dupleis (held to be a sober discerning Man) affirms to be an Eye Witness of the Wonder, and that he had touched diverse of the rising Members, and as he was once about to do it to the Head of a Child, a Carian forbad it, telling him he knew not what he did. Another Wonder is the Crocodile. which coming from a small Egg, not exceeding the bigness of a Turkies, grows to be 30 Feet in length and proportionable in thickness, living at Pleafure in the Water, or on the Land, destroying not only Fish, but Men and Beasts; and with these the Nilus abounds, as also with a Fish called the River Horse; and thus much for Egypt.

Time

em, fince

oftinately

d of the m of the first in-

now call-

on the y Queen

iere goes

ng Blind.

he could hat had rd, who

rould re-

in vain a

se Urine

mark of

e rest to nt toge-

many of

r first I-

Onions,

hen they

God Ni-

east the aboured

indeed,

by that

ding to

Bla tha

fily

vet

OU

mo

are

So

cal

for

Fe

bu

no

on

Le

M

A

QD

CA

tci bu

of

W

PC

W

le

di

ta

zł

r

A Description of Barbary.

DARBART, (a considerable part of Africk, fo called) is bounded on the East with Cyrenaica; on the West with the Atlantick Ocean; on the North with the Streights of Gibraltar, and some part of the Atlantick Ocean; on the South with Mount Atlas, separated by that Mount from the Desarts of Lybia, scituate under the third and south Climates, so that the longest Summers Day in the most Southern parts, amounts to 13 Hours 3 Quarters, but in the North 4 and a Quarter, accounted in Length 1500 Miles, and in Breadth in some places 100, and in others near 300 Miles, taking its Name from the Word Bar made double, signifying in the Saracens Language a Desart.

The Part of Barbary lying towards the Mediterra. nean, is full of craggy Hills and Mountains, shaded on the Top with Woods, where Lyons and other Beafts of Prey Inches themselves, shough the Valleys are very Fruitful, but deficient in Wheat, insomuch that the Inhabitants Eat Barley Bread, yet between these and Mount Atlan, the Country is Champian, watered with many Pleasant Rivers, issuing from that Mountain, rendering the Soil rich and ferpile, so that it affords great store of Plums, Pears, Figs, Cherries, Apples of fundry Kinds, Oyl Honey, Sugar, and some Mines of Gold, called Barbary Gold, being the finest of all other; And Pliny reports that near Leptis we may behold a Date Tree over-shadowing an Olive, and under the Olive a Fig-Tree, and under the Fig, a Pomegranate-Tree, and under that a Vine, and under the the Yine, Peafe or Corn, &c. all Flour hing at the same time, and this they do the rather, that they may shelter each other from the heat of the Sun. The

The People are of a Dusky Colour, inclining to Bla' : s, held to Descend from the Arabians, so that the Language they Speak in most parts is the Arabick, or so bordering upon it that it may be eafily understood, and are Impatient of Labour, Coverous of Honour, Grafty and Deceitful, yet studious in matters of their Law, and some Sciences, more especially Philosophy and the Mathematicks, and are in Religion generally Mahometans; they are also stately of Gate, exceeding Mistrustful, Implacable in their Hatred, and Jealous beyond compare; for the Women indeed are comely of Body, well Featured, delicate, soft Skinn'd, and want nothing but Colour to make them Accomplish'd Beauties; nor has this Country failed to produce Persons, not only Famous for Arts and Arms, but for Piety and Learning, as, Amilcar, Hannibal, Septimus Severus, Massinissa, Tertullian, Cyprian, Arnobius, Lastantius, Augustine, and others of no less Note; and here once Ruled Queen Dido in the Famous City of Carrbage, which City so long and strongly contended with Rome for the Empire of the World, but at last was destroyed through the Importunity of Cato, as which time there was found in it (notwithstanding the charge of a tedious War) 470000 pound weight of Silver.

As for the whole Country, called Barbary, it was Divided into 7 Parts, viz. Africa Propria, called also Zugitania, Byzantena, Tripolitana, Munidia, Mauritania, Casariensis, Sitisensis, and Tingitania, under diverse Kings and Governours, who then held it as Tributaries to the Roman Emperors, but since reduced to sour Divisions, viz. Tunia, Tremesen or Algiers, Fesso, and Morocco; and of these in their order.

of Africk,

with Cyre-

Ocean; on

, and some outh with

from the third and

mmers Day

12 Hours 2

uarter, ac-

Breadth in

Miles, tak-

de double,

Mediterra.

ins, shaded and other

gh the Val-

Wheat, in-

Bread, yet

Country is nt Rivers.

e Soil rich

of Plums,

inds, Oyl,

old, called

er: And

old a Date

der the O

Pomegra-

under the

ing at the

that they

the Sun.

The.

efart.

TUNIS is accounted a Kingdom, containing whatever the Antients called Africa Propria, or Minor, and Munidia Antiqua, the Air very Temps-

rate,

rate, considering the degree it lyes in; the Soil very Fruitful, divided again into 5 parts, viz. Bugia, Constantia, Tunis, Tripoley and Exab, accommodated with many curious Havens, the chief being Tripoley, where the Turkish Bassa resides; and Tunis a considerable City giving Name to the Kingdom, supposed to be founded on the ruins of the Antient Carthage; and hath in it a Temple of fingular Beauty and Greatness.

TREMESEN, or the Kingdom of Algiers, commonly called Argie, now in the hands of the Piratical Turks; has for its chief City Algiers, from which the Country takes its name, Scituate near the Sea in the form of a Triangle with a Haven, but neither great nor secure from the sury of the North Winds; though the City is strong and beautiful, having not only in it spacious Inns, but Baths, and Mosques, very commodious and sumpruous; and here every Trade takes a Street to themselves; the Streets standing even one above another, upon the riling of the Hill; which renders it a very pleafant prospect, to such as sail by it, and the Harbour or Mole defended with strong Castles, and other works, which render the Approach inaccessible and was formerly a place to which Merchants traded; but now only a nest of Pirates, studying and strive ing all they can, to endamage and molest, such as fail those Straits or Seas; and though they have been often curbed by the English, French, and Dutch, &c. and brought to terms of Peace; yet like thorow paced Thieves, they never kept it longer than they found an opportunity, to break it to their advantage; and were in the year 1688, so resolute when the French Fleet lay before it, and had with their Bombs fired the Town about their Ears, not only to reject the offer made, but in contempt to that puissant Monarch, to shoot his Conful out of a Mortar, or piece of Cannon, towards ward the U and yard of fu one and perly peop of the I Tang worth large Gard an iceller Beaf Beaf Inavi M whic it ab Hone bein rocco ing t Trib infor to D Beaf Subj Prof home and Rive Land wards the French Ships in the Road, &c. As for the Upland Country, it has many pleasant Towns and Villages in it, abounding with Gardens, Vine-yards, Pastures, Cattle, Corn-Fields, and Fruits of sundry kinds.

FEZ and MOROCCO, are now joyned under les; and

e to the e ruins of

emple of

ers, com-

the Pira-

ers, from uate near

laven, but

he North

beautiful.

Baths, and ious; and

emselves;

ier, upon

very plea-

e Harbour

nd other

Mible and straded;

nd striv-

fuch as ney have

nch; and

ace; yet

kept it

break it

1688, fo

it, and

out their

, but in

Thoor his ion, towards FEZ and MOROCCO, are now joyned under one King, who fondly stiles himself Emperor; and contain the whole Country of Mauritania, properly so called, which took its name from the Mauritania, properly so called, which took its name from the Mauritania, a people that Antiently Inhabited it; and the sirst of these has Fez for its chief City, giving name to the Kingdom; and here was scituate the City of Tangier, lately demolished by the English, as not worth the keeping; nor is the Country wanting in large Forrests, Green Fields, Vineyards, flourishing Gardens, abounding with Fruits, and producing an infinite number of Cattle, a breed of excellent Horses, and the Mountains many wild Beasts, watered with the Rivers Buringrug and Inavis for the space of 100 Miles.

MOROCCO is Scituate in a warm breathing Air. which renders the Country very fertile; so that it abounds with Figs, Dates, Grapes, Apples, Olives, Honey, Sugar, and Cattle; the whole Country being divided into 7 parts, viz. Guzzula, Mo-rocco, Hea, Duccala, Hascorasus and Tedles, all holding under the King of Morocco, and paying him Tribute, his Power being Absolute and Tyrannical; insomuch that he causes whom he pleases to be put to Death, that is, cast to the Lyons, or other wild Beasts, to make him sport; nor can any of his Subjects, account what he has his own; as for the Profession of Religion these people make, it is Mahometism, though there are a great many Jews, and some Christians, living amongst them; as for Rivers there are not many in this Country, the Land being watered mostly by Brooks, and little Springs; Springs; nor do they know in most pares what Winter means as never having seen Ice or Snow, but what hangs on the Top of the Atlas a huge Mountain, held to Transcend the Clouds; the top of it Crowned with Pines, and so steep and rugged, that it cannot but with great difficulty be ascended; lying in the upper part, so near the Cold Region; that not withstanding the people beneath fry with the scorching heat of the Sun; it is covered with Snow and Ice: of which Virgil thus writes.

Atlantis Cinclum, &c.

Atlas whose Piny Head, with Clowds Inclosed, Is to the Storms of Wind, and Rain exposed;
Now hides the Snow his Arms, now tumbleth down, Upon his Chinn, his Beard with Ice o'regrown.

Lybia Interior Described, &c.

TBIA INTERIOR, has for its Northern bound Mount Atlas, parted by it from Barbary and Cyrenaica on the East; Lybia Marmarica on the South; Athiopia Inferior, and the Land of Negro's and bounded with the Atlantick Ocean on the West distinguished from the other Lybia by interior, as lying more in the main Land of Africk.

This

gui

Zer

COI

Ne

N

Pal

Sal

by

ne

to tyi oth

Spi gai

and

We let

CO

ini

Sti

po

Scan

th

w

ga

P

pares what in Ice or the Ailuathe Clouds; id so steep great diffiipper part, withstandscorching Snow and

Clowds In-

d Rain ex-

now tum-

Tee o're-

XC.

tern bound tarbary and ica on the of Negro's n the West interior, as

This

This Countrey, however it anciently was diffins guished into parts, stands how divided into Bileduzerid or Numidia; Lybia Deferta, or Sarra, and a confiderable Portion of the Countrey called Terra Negritarum, or the Negro's Countrey; and as for Numidia, it abounds in many places with Cattle, Palm Trees, and Forrests of Wild Beafts, not more Salvage than the People, who live for the most part by Rapine and Murther, inhospitable to Strangers, neglecting Tillage, and giving themselves up chiefly to the feeding of Cattle upon the Mountains, Cartying like the Tartars their Families and Tents, with other Provisions from place to place, by reason of the scarceness of Water; for where this day a Spring is found, the next it may perhaps be lunk again; yet hear the River Dara, and in some other parts, the Countrey people have scattered Villages, and those of better Rank Castles. As for the Towns we find of Note, they are or were Timigedit, Tafileta; Talfet, a Town of 400 Houses, but no place confiderable near it in 300 Miles: Techort, where inhabit the most Courteous People of all the Countrey, and chole rather to Marry their Daughters to Strangers than to Natives, with some other of lesser note, not worth mention, as being exceeded by most of our Countrey Villages.

LTBIA DESERTA, is a place so destitute and poor, by reason it mostly consists of wide Desarts, and barren Sands, breeding numbers of Poisonous Serpents, that sew People Inhabit it, unless Thieves and Robbers, who live upon the Spoil of those that attempt to pass them; yet near the Borders, where there is any Green, they have some petry Towns, such as go for Cities in those Pasts, as Tagaza, 20 Days Journey from any other Peopled Place, yet assorts Veins of Salt, which they Exchange for Victuals with the Tombutan Merchants, or else must Perish for want, and are many times over-whelm'd with the Sands, driven like Clouds upon them by the South Wind; Guargata, Scituare on the Brink of a Lake; Huaden, and Tombu. raum; nor was this Country ever fought after by the great Conquerors, as not being worth their Travel, Oc.

TERR-ANIGRITARUM, or the Land of Negroes, is partly in Libya Interior, and partly without it, and is exceeding Hot, by Reason of its Scituation under the Torrid Zone, yet full of Black People; and though a great part of it be Desart, yet some places by the favour of Springs are so well knit and fastened, that they appear Green and Flourishing, and especially those that lye within the compass of the over-flowing of the River Niger, infomuch that they have Pleasant Gardens, Pastures, Corn Fields, and store of Cattle, Woods full of Elephanes, and other wild Beafts, whose Flesh they Ear, when taken by Hunting, and Clothe themfelves with their Skins, but have very few Fruit-Trees, unless such as bear a kind of a Fruit like a Chesnut, very bitter, nor have they, unless very rarely, any Rain in this Country, but are sup the ply'd, like Egypt, by Dews, and the over-flowing of Miger.

The People of this Tract were to simple, that at the first coming of the Portugals hither to trade, they took their Ships to be great Birds, with white Wings, and the Roaring of their Guns to be the Voice of the Devil; nor could they conceit their Bag-pipes to be any thing but Living Creatures, and when they were permitted to convince themselves of the contrary, they would not yet be beaten out of it, but that they were Immediately the Work of God's own Hands; yet are they very Reverent or Respectful to their King, who exceeds not in Manners, or Breeding one of our Coblers, never daring when they come before him foot nant Cou like to le

war

his

But

thei

bom

Lak dive Curr man

Ptol Sele COL any the not 1

I up: ten Lo the of (ing > in his Gi bea the

> > Sa

CO

ike Clouds

ata, Scituand Tombu.

ht after by

orth their

of Negroes, without it, Sciruation k People; , yer some ll knie and lourishing, e compass infomuch ures, Corn all of Ele-Flesh they the themfew Fruitruit like a nless very t are fuper-flowing nple, that r to trade, rds, with Suns to be ey conceit ing Creaconvince of yet be mediately they vewho exe of our fore him to look in his Face, but cast their Eyes downward, and when they sit, though the chiefest of his Favourites, it is at his Feet, blut on their Buttocks.

As for the Religion (if it may be so termed) of these Negroes, it is a mixture of Idolatry and Mahometism, though formerly, as appears by some footsteps yet lest, Christianity was predominant in divers parts of the Land; and through this Countrey the River Nilus passes, and 'tis Watered likewise with Senaga, a River arising out of the Lake Guaga, little inserior to the former, and has divers Mountains, as Arualtes, Arangus, and Deorum Currus, thrusting into the Sea, and reaching in a manner the Clouds.

The chief Cities of this Countrey in the time of Ptolomy, were Nigra, Thumondacana, Malachath, Seleuce, Anigath, Panagra, with some sew of lesser tote, but most of them are ruined, and scarce any thing but their names remaining; however there are some crept up in their sleads, but those not many, as Argina, Porto Dio Porto del Riscato, either built or so named by the Portugals.

In this Tract (for it is a very large one, taking up above a third part of Africk) are Guinea, creended from Sierra Leona in the 10th Degree of Longitude, to Benin in the 30th, where they have the Juice of a Tree as strong as Wine, as also blines of Gold: A place very Fruitful, and much abounding in Rice, Barley, Ivory, and Guinea Pepper.

TOME UTUM, a Kingdom of it self, very Rich in Mines of Gold, yet a greater store is gained by his Warring on his Neighbours; as also Mell, Cano, Gialosia, Guber, Guangara, Gaoga, Gambra er Gambea, Gialosi, Bito, Temiano, Zegzeg, Zassara, Gethan, Medna, Daum, Gualta, Agadez, Cano, Casena, Savaga, most of them Petty Princes, not of any considerable Note.

BORNUM, a large and populous Countrey, accounted 500 Miles in Length, yet mostly Inhabited by keepers of Cattle that abound here, by reason of the abundance of Pastures; and here they use no Marriage, but mix together as they think convenient, giving their Children Names by some mark or token of their Body; however the Rings Revenues are grear, his very Dogs being coupled in Chains of Gold.

th

w. th en

gy

an fro

cn

ra

ed

bo

CO

fo

A

re

th

la

III ta X A a

Sep

BENIN, Eastward of Guinea; the King whereof hath 600 Wives, with whom he Marches in State Twice a Year to show them to Strangers, and the Subjects following the Example of their Prince, get as many as they can, sew having less than Ten, and here the Men and Women go naked till they are Married, and then have only a Covering from the Waste downward, Superstitiously raising the Skin with three slashes of a Knise, from the Navel to the Privy Parts, as a mark of their hopes of Salvation.

NUBIA, a confiderable Countrey, stretching from Gaega to Nilus, has Dangula for its chief Town, and some other of lesser note, and assords, amongst o ther Drugs the mortalest of Poysons; insomuch that the tenth part of a Grain will dispatch a Man in a quarter of an hour; and affords moreover Civir, Sugar, Sanders, Ivory, &c. The Kingdom to king its Name from the Nubian, a certain people that anhabit it, and is well refreshed with Rivers and Lakes, and the people were generally Christians, a strong and potent Nation, well Skill'd in War, in so much that Cyrincus one of their Kings, hearing the Christians were oppressed in Egypt, raised an Army of 100000 Horse to succour them, but being about to enter that Kingdom, to the great Terrout of the Turks and Sarazens, he was met by the Paeriarch of Alexandria, at whose Supplication and Esperaty he returned, without enterprizing any thing ntrey, acthing Memorable, nor has it been long fince they, for y Inhabited want of Spiritual Guides to strengthen and confirm y reason of hey use no ik convenine mark or

s Revenue

in Chains

ing whereof

ies in State

rs, and the

Prince, get

in Ten, and ill they are

ig from the

ng the Skin

Navel to the

es of Salva etching from

ef Town, and amongst o

; infomuch

arch a Man

norcover Ci-

them, have faln off from the Christian Faith, and embraced the Superstitions of Mahomet.

Æthiopia Superior described in its Kingdoms and Provinces.

THIOPIA SUPERIOR has on the East Sinus Barbaricus, and the Red Sea; on the West, Lybia Interior and the Kingdom of Nubia; and parc of Congo in the other Æthiopia on the North; Egypt and Lybin Marmarica on the South; the Mountains of the Moon parting it from Æthiopia Inferiour, and had its present name from the Grecians, and is scituate on both sides the Equinoctial, extending from the South Parrallel of 7 Degrees to the North end of the Isle Meroe, scituate under the Fisth Parallel on the North of that Circle, being accounts ed in length about 1500 Miles, and in breadth about half as much, in Circumference 4300 Miles; containing the whole Countrey of Athiopia, as before limited; the greatest part of it being the Abiffine Empire or Dominion of Prestor John; the rest comprehending the Kingdoms of Adel and Adea, the Provinces Quiola and Melindi, though the last are reckoned parts of Athiopia Inferior; the Island of Meroe in the North possessed by Mahometans Enemies to Prestor John, all on the South of Nubia and the West of Nilus, is Inhabited by the Anzichi, a Cannibal and Idolatrous People, who have a King of their own; and all the Coast of the Red Sea, as well within the Coast of Babel-mandel, the Port of Erocco only excepted, is in the Possession of Moors and Arabians, who pay Homage to the Kings of Adel and Adea.

Kingdom ta people than Rivers and Christians, a in War, in gs, hearing t, raised an , but being ear Terrout t by the Pa dication and

prizing any thing

As for the People of Athiopia, properly so called, they were formerly held to be great Astrologers, the first Ordainers of Sacred Ceremonies, from whom the Egyptians had their Instructions, always counted good Archers, yet Treacheroully shooting with Poisoned Arrows; they go ill Cloathed, and as bad Housed, for the most part extreamly inclined to Barbarism, and unless they Swear by the Life of their Emperor, not to be credited in matters of Weight; their Colour is an Olive Tawny, inclining more to Swarthiness, except their Emperor, who as a mark of the true Prince, and are held to be Converted to the Christian Faith, by the Eunuch of Queen Candace, Converted by St. Philip the Evangelist, which Flourishes amongst them to this day, and comes very near in all the Marerial Points, to the Orthodox Religion of the Reformed European Church, &c. and are under a Patriatch.

The Country of the Æthiops, is like all other Countries in this Tract, Fruitful in some Places, and Barren in others, yet it generally abounds in Rice, Barley, Beans, Pease, Sugars, Minerals of all kinds, Cattle, viz. Goats, Oxen, Sheep, Horses; and have great store of Flax and Vines, yet make neither Cloth nor Wine, unless peculiarly for the Emperor, Patriarch, or great Men, being much given to Sloth; nor do they indeed know how to bring their Minerals to Persection, nor will they trouble themselves to Fish or Hunt, tho the Woods and Rivers are infinitely stored with Fish and Vewishin the bounds or limits of Athiopia, they are, Guagere, Tigremaon, Angote, Damut, Amma, Guamma, Goijami, Adel, Adea, Barnagassum, Danculi, Debus, Fatigar, Xoa, and Barus; though not all, as I intimated within the Circuit of the Abassum bassin viz.

tendi Streig ly Po Turk opian pay

> Ango exte to be nucl > > betwing ble Loa pass mat Cat and maj

> tha of we try

Hi ca be

bassine Empire; and of Note amongst these are; viz.

BARNAGOSUM Scituate upon the Red Sea, extending from Suachen, almost to the Mouth of the Streights, and hath for its Sea Port Frosco, the only Port of the Empire, held Tributary from the Turks, who sometimes since took it from the Æthiopians, with the Town of Suachen, for which they pay yearly 1000 ounces of Gold.

TIGRAMAON, lying between Nilus, Marabo and Angore, is a pleasant Kingdom, though of no great extent, and has for its chief City Cazunia, supposed to be the Regal Seat of Queen Candace, whose E-nuch Se Philip Baptized.

ANGOTE is a Province confiderably Barren, lying between Tigramaon and Amare, insomuch that being deficient of Gold or Silver, or any other valuable Commodities, Iron, Plate, or Rings, and hard Loaves of Salt, made to fundry degrees of bigness, pals as Current.

XOA is more Fertile than the former, as having many green Pastures, where a great Number of Cattle Feed, as likewise abounding with Fruits, and is almost in all parts Grateful to the Husband-

man, y fo cal-

Affrolo-

monies,

ions, al-

héroully

loathed,

treamly

vear by

dired in ve Taw-

pt their ice, and

n Faith,

rted by amongst

all the n of the under a ell other

Places,

unds in uls of all

Horses;

et make

for the

g much

how to ill" they

Woods

ind Vc-

is time

ley are,

, ig 4-, Dan-

igh not

the Aba fine

FATIGAR is noted for having in it a Lake of that Name 12 Miles in compass, being on the Top. of a high Mountain, from whence divers Rivers, well stored with Fish, descend to water the Country.

GOIJAMI is famed for the Mines of Gold found, as also for the Unicorn, who makes his abode in the Hills of the Moon, large Mountains so called, because the Moon upon her rising, appears first from behind them to that Country; and although the Beafts are rarely taken by reason of their Swiftness, yet their Horns, to famous for expelling Poison are found found, which at a certain Period of Time they med.

Which we intend to speak hereaster; and in this Country is sound the Hill Amara, which is a Days Journey to ascend, and 30 Miles in compass, in Form round, and on the top of it are sundry pleasant Plains and Pallaces, the Air being much cooler than that beneath, and here the Princes of the Blood dwell. As for the Emperors Stile, by reason of the strangeness of it, we think fit to insert it, viz.

P. I. Supream of his Kingdoms, and the Beloved of God, the Pillar of Faith, sprung from the Stock of Judah, the Son of David, the Son of Solomon, the Son of the Column of Sion, the Son of the Seed of Jacob, and the Son of the Hand-maid of Mary, the Son of Nahu, after the Flesh, the Son of St. Peter, and St. Paul, after the Spirit, Emperor of the bigher and lefter Æthiopia, and of the most mighty Kingdoms, Deminions, and Countries of Xoa, Goa, Cassares, Fatigar, Angote, Balignazo, Adea, Vangue, Goijami, (where are the Fountains of Nile) Amara, Banguamedron, Ambea, Vangueum, Tigremean, Sabaim, (the Birth-place of the Queen of Saba) Barnagosum; and Lord of all the Region unto the Consines of Egypt.

And is faid to have for his Arms, a Lyon Rampant, in a Field Or, with this Motto, viz. The Lyon of the Tribe of Judah shall overcome. Which gives many occasion to think, he either descended of the Jewish Race, from the Stock of David, or from the Off-spring of the Queen of Sheba, or Saba, called the Queen of the South, supposed to be Begotten by Solomon; but leaving these Conjectures to those that that into pia.

Æt

A on griting Sci

kn cor Za an

> th Cl

Pos

Time they

Island of nd in this is a Days mpass, in ndry pleasuch coolers of the to insert e Beloved e Stock of mon, the

mon, the leed of Jay, the Son er, and St.
er and leflows, Deares, FaGoijami, BanguaSabaim,
magofum;

on Ram-The Lyich gives d of the rom the , called egotten o those that es of E.

that are disposed to make a more strict Inquiry into them, we proceed to the Inserior Æthispia.

Æthiopia Inferior Described, in its Kingdoms and Provinces, &c.

THIOPIA Inferior has on the East the Red Sea; on the West the Æthiopick Ocean; on the North the Higher Æthiopia, and Terra Nigritarum; and on the South the Main Ocean, parting it from Terra Australis Incognita; being lower in Scituation than the sormer; a Country but little known to the Ancients, but since more sully Discovered, and is divided properly into 4 Parts, vizzangebar, Monomotapa, Castraria, and Manicongo; and as for the People, they differ little from the other Æthiopia, either in Customs or Manners, going Clad with striped Plads, or Skins of Beasts, part Mahometans and part Idolaters.

ZANGEBAR is a Country Low and Fenny, by reason of the over-flowing of the Rivers, and so pestered with Woods and Forrests, that for wait of the free motion of the Air it is very unwholsome; and so little are the people skilled in Shipping, that the Moors who dwell on the Sea Coasts use to adventure in little Vessels sowed together with Leather Thongs, and Caulk'd with Gum, having no other Sails than the Leaves of Palm Trees; and this Province contains 15 lesser Provinces, as Melindi, Mombaza, Quiola, Mosambique, a very Fruitful, Populous Countrey; Sofala, supposed the Ophir of Solomon for its flore of Gold, Ivory, and other Rich Commodities; Moenhemago or Monemug, an Inland Province, affording Mines of Gold, which the People barter with the Portugals for Silks, Taffata's, and the like, Moenerem ige, Corova, Calen,

4

Anzu-

Anzuga, Mombira, Mombiza, Bandi, Monzala, Macaos, Benda and Embreo, and has for its Chief Cities or Places of refort, Mombaza, Ampaza, both taken by the Portugals; Quiola, Mosambique, Jafola, and others of lesser note; and in this Region are divers Cannibals of a black and horrid Aspect, who War upon their Neighbours for no other end than that they may eat them when they take them Captive; and amongst others, having taken Mombaza; they made a great Feast of the King and such Citizens as escaped not their hands, and would have no Commerce held with them, were not their Countrey exceeding Rich.

MONOMOPATA lies mostly upon the Sea, and is in Circuit 3250 Italian Miles; the Air very Temperate, and wholsome and pleasant, and is Watered with the Rivers, Panami, Aurug, Luanga, Mangeano, in whose Sands is found much Gold. and as for the people of this Tract, they are black of Complexion, mean of Stature, swift of Foot, and very strong, covering themselves only with Cotton Cloath, and diet upon Flesh, Fish, Milk, Rice and Oyl of Susiman, being Pagans in Religion, Worshipping a God called Mozimo, yet invisible, for they have Idols; and here above all Countreys in Africk, the Women have the greatest priviledges. They punish Theft, Adultery, and Witch-craft with Death, yet have no Prisons, but execute the Offenders as soon as taken; and the leffer Provinces into which this greater is divided, are Moruca, Rich in Mines of Gold, Torra or, Butna, Boro, Quiticut, Inhambran, and some others of lesser note, they being all very Fruitful, but most famed for their Mines of Gold; but their Towns are very inconfiderable, the people mostly living in stragling Cotts, the meaner fort not suffered to have any Doors.

CAFRA,

15 a

Dc

Oft

trid

Cor

the

to

Wd

par

ven

Lip

wh

by

for

der

div

im

fho

a p thu

Bo

be ad

N

fai

Of

dy

th

in fi

d

b

to

t

Chief CiDaza, both
que, Jafola,
gion are dilipect, who end than them Capnbaza, they Citizens as no Comuntrey ex-

Sea, and is ery Tem-, and is rug, Luanuch Gold, are black Foot, and th Cotton Rice and on, Worlible, for untreys in iviledges. itch-crafe cute: the Provin-Motuca. , Quitier note, med for very intragling

AFRA,

ive any

CAFRARIA, A third Division of this Athiopia, is a Country greatly abounding with Herds of Cattle, Deer, Antelopes, Baboons, Foxes, Hares, Pelican, Ostriches, Herons, Ducks, Geese, Pheasants, Partridges; exceeding well watered, but deficient in Corn, by the neglect of the Natives, who choose rather to live idly upon the bounty of Nature, than to improve it by Art; making their Aboads in Woods and Forrests, and building, for the most part, their Houses of Branches of Trees, interwoven Hurdle-waies, and are black of Colour, thick Lipped, flat Nosed, long Headed, but longer Eared, which reach beneath their Shoulders, occasioned by their hanging extraordinary Weights in them for Ornaments, as Rings, Chains, &c. And to render themselves more beautiful, slash their Skins in divers parts, carving it out into fundry Forms, in imitation of the Antient Britains; and the better to show it in all parts, they go mostly naked, unless a piece of a Beast's Skin over their Privities; and those that go best attired, it is only in Skins of Beaits, rough as they take them off, their Dyer being raw Flesh, and with the Guts of Beasts they adorn themselves, by hanging them about their Necks, and indeed are altogether Brutal and Bestial. And in this Tract live the Imbians, not far from the Cape of Good-hope, Tall, and of considerable Strength, living by War and Rapine, feeding on the Flesh of their conquered Enemies and dying Friends, whose Deaths they hasten, that they may the sooner Eat them, and make Drinking Cups of their Scuils; and in their Wars they fight with Poisoned Arrows, and a long Pole, hardened at the end with Fire, carrying likewise Fire before them, fignifying thereby that they intend to Roast and Boil all they shall overcome; and these were they that Eat up the King of Manbaza and his People; their King if such a Monster deferve oc

T

H

Se

F

b

R

gr

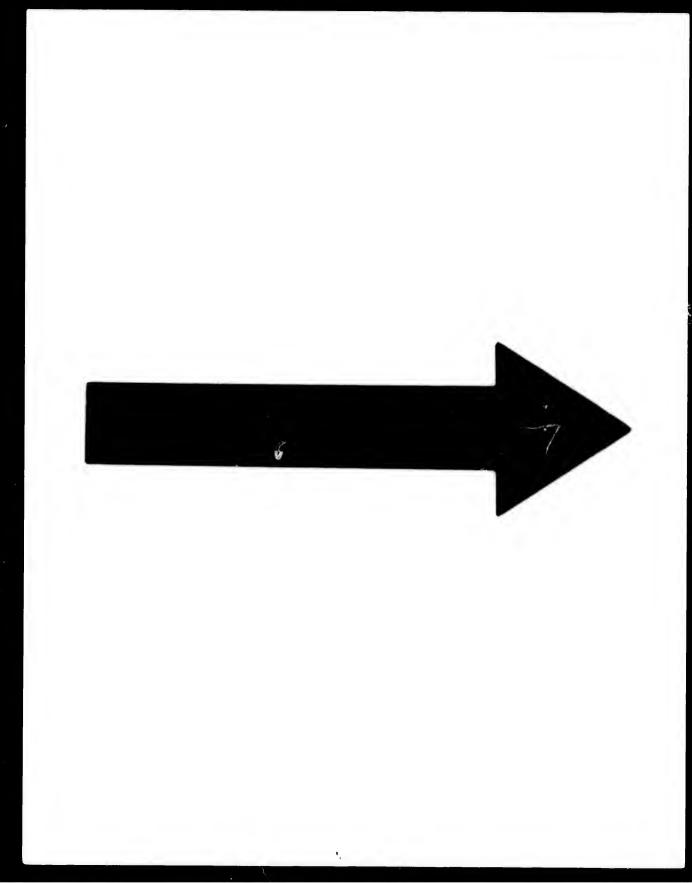

le

N

Caviloriori

descrive that sacred Epithete, accounting himself Lord of all the Earth; and when at any time the Heat er Rain offends him, he dares his Poisoned Arrows at Heaven, by way of defiance: As for Towns, they have none of any note, living in Hutts, stragling Villages, and Woods; and in these parts is the Cape of Good-hope, frequently touch'd by such as Sail to the East-Indies; and the better to dis. cover the customs of these People, in the beastly and inhumane condition they live in, take the following account, viz. It happened that some English Ships, in their way home from the Indies, fortuned to take two of the Natives, near the Bay of Soldania, in order to learn from them, when they could be brought to speak English, a farther account of the Country, and one of them, named Goore, they brought to London, the other dying by the way, when the better to please him, they not only arayed him in fine Cloaths, but gave him Beads, Bells, and other things, wherein the Natives of his Countrey most delighted. yet not these, nor the sumptuous Farehe mer with, could alter his inclination, for he altogether appeared Dogged and Melancholy; and when he had a smartering of English, he would often throw himself upon the Ground, in a melancholy posture, and passionately cry'd out, Home go Saldania, go Coore home, go. So that all hopes being lost of bringing him to any better manners, than what he had naturally imbibed, they fent him back again by the next ships, and fet him, to his no small joy, on Shore where they found him: So that at any time when he saw Ships with English Colours, he would come running to the Bay with Gur and Garbidg about his Neck, to them, doing them. all the good Offices he could, being more pleased! with that Beastly manner of Living than any other. MANI-

MANICONGO, is a very temperate Regig himself on, free from extream Colds, as being fcie the Heat mare under the Equator, rendring by that means ed Arrows the Soil exceeding fruitful, affording Fruits, Plants, or Towns, Herbs, store of Passurage; abundance of Bulls, ... utts, ftrag-Cows, Goats, Hares, Deer, Elephants, and e parts is Serpents so large that they will swallow a Man; d by such Fowl of fundry kinds, they have in great plenty, ter to difboth wild and tame, as being watered with the he beaftly Rivers Coanza, Bengo, Barbela, Ambrizi, Dande, take the Loza, and Zare, and has in it the Mountains of that some Siera, Complida, the Chrystalline Mountain, the Indies, great store of Chrystal is found, the Mountains of near the the Sun, the Mountains of Sal Nitri affording hem, when great quantities of that kind of Minerals, and the h, a farther Mountains of Cabambe, rich in Mines of Silver. . m, named And this Province of Manicongo, contains fundry r dying by lesser; the King stiles himself, King of Bomba, Congo, Sango, Sundi, Bangu, Batti, Remba, Abundi, nim, they but gave Marana, Quisoma, Angolu, and Cacanga, Lord of herein the Congemes, Amolaze, Langelum, Anzuichi, Chucchi, d. yet not and Zoangbi, though several of them are undiscovith, could vered to the Europeans, the whole Coast being r appeared first discovered by the Portugals; who opened a had a smatway on this fide of Afric, to the Wealth of India : ow himself. in Asia; and although the King of Congo, has no sture, and other Current Money but Cockle Shells, yes his, go Coore Revenues are great by Presents, for none may of bringing come to him empry handed, as also by his share he had naof Gold and Silver, digged out of the Mines; an I gain by the in this Tract are fundry Nations of Cannibals, who nall joy, on greedily devour Mans Flesh, rather than that of nat at any Beasts, and of these there are the Igges, or Giachi, h Colours, inhabiring the Mountains of the Sun, the which : with Gut though they have Wives 10 or 20 a piece, yet t doing them. have they no Children to be their Heirs, for ore pleased they unnaturally strangle them as soon as Born, than any and Eat them as Dainties, supplying the Decrease in number by such as they take Prisoners of either Sex, stealing none under 16 or 20 years of Age, which by force and custom they bring to be as bad as themselves, against whom the Batti, a neighbowring Province, keeps 70000 Men in Arms, to prevent the Stealing or Eating the rest. Another fort there are of these Monsters in Zazichana. who Eat not only their Enemies but their Friends and Kinsfolks; and if at any time they can make to the value of a penny more of a Slave Dead than Alive, they kill him, and cut out his Body in Joynts, selling it publickly in their Shambles, as Beef and Mutton with us; and when they have any that are Lean, they fat them for the Slaughter. And great pitty it is, that so good and fruitful a Country, as these Regions of Africk, should be possessed with such impious Wretches; wherefore lest a further Relation of such a barbarous People, should prove ingrateful to the Reader, we will put a period to the Discourse of this Country, and of Africa, till we come to the Islands, and so proceed to the Description of America, the fourth and last part of the World, yet discovered Continent, Ge.

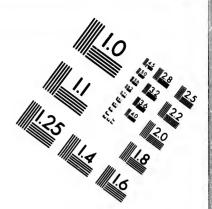

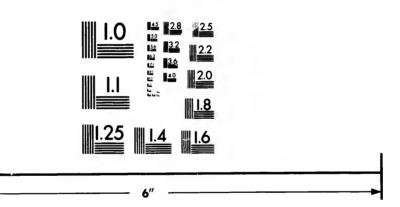

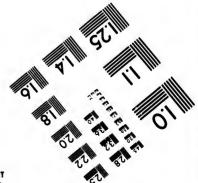

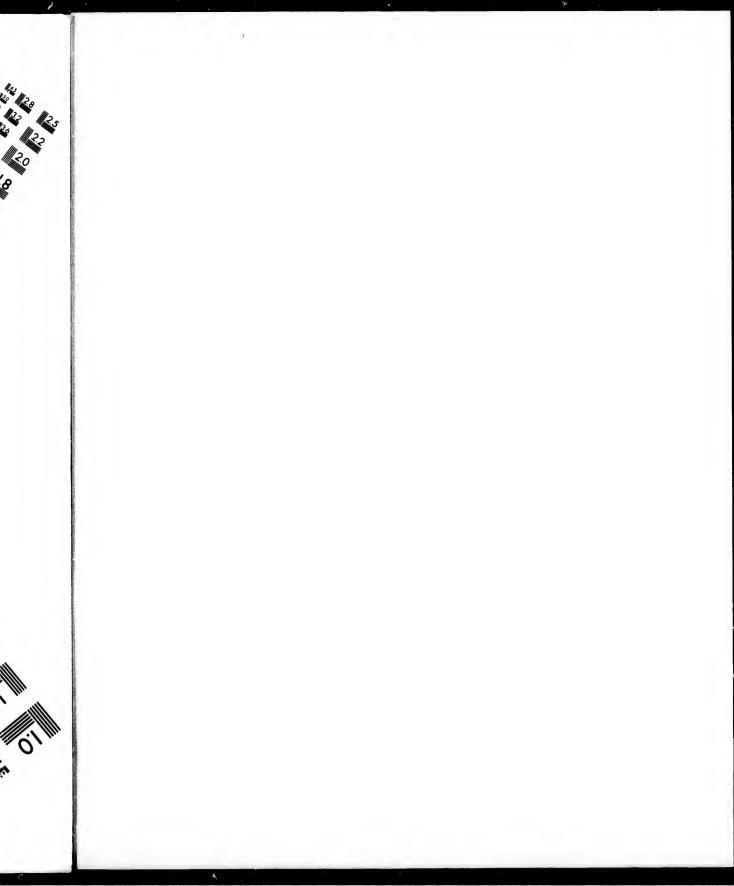

IMAGE EVALUATION TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic Sciences Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580 (716) 872-4503

s of either rs of Age, g to be as i, a neigh-Arms, to. est. Ano-Zazichana, eir Friends can make lave Dead t his Body Shamibles, vhen they em for the at so good of Africk, Wretches; ich a barful to the riscourse of me to the tion of A-

Vorld, yer

A

ΔΡΗΙΟ ΔΙ

GEOGRAPHICAL

AND

Historical Description

OF

AMERICA,

In its Kingdoms and Pro-

MERICA, the fourth Division of the World, so named by Americus Vespucius, an adventurous Florentine, who discovered a part of the Continent, is bounded on the East with the Atlantick Ocean, and the Virginian Seas, called Mare del Noort; on the West with the Pacifick Ocean, called Mare Del Zur; dividing it from Asia on the South, with part of Terra Australia Incognita, from which separated by a long narrow narrow Streight, called the Streight of Magellan, but on the North reaches, as some suppose, to the Artick Pole; the bounds are not known, and although this Country has been but lately difcovered by us, yet it is conjectured to be as anciently P. opled as Europe it self, and though some have guessed it was known to the Antient Greeks Romans and Carthaginians, yet they are but Conjectures, only the Arguments or Probabilities, they bring to confirm or strengthen them, being much too weak to hold with a confidering or Judicious Reader, and therefore coming to more certainty, we must be impartial, and ascribe the Honour of the Discovery of this great Country, called by many A New World, to the Honour and Memory of Chri-Stopher Colon or Columbus, a Genoese, born at Meray in the Signiory of Genoa, who being a man of confiderable Abilities of mind, could not upon considering the motion of the Sun, perswade himfelf but that there must in reason be large Countries not found out, to which it communicated its influence, and being strongly possessed with these thoughts, he imparted them to the State of Genoa, in the year 1486, whereupon he sent his Brother Bartholomew to propose the Discovery to Henry the Seventh of England, who unluckily, by the way, was taken Prisoner, though some time after, being set at liberty, he performed his Trust, and was received with much chearfulness, infomuch that Columbus was fent for by the King: happy for the Natives had they fell into such merciful hands; but Providence otherways ordered it, for Columbus ignorant of his Brothers being taken by the Pyrats, not hearing any return or answer, concluded his Proposals rejected, and thereupon he made his Overtures to the Court. of Castile, where after many delays and fix Years Attendance, he was furnished with three Ships, not :

Magellan, not for Conquest, but Discovery, when having Sailed ose, to the fixty days on the Main Ocean, he could descry nown, and no Land, so that the disheartned Spaniards growlately difing out of love with so tedious, and as they cons anciently cluded, fruitless a Voyage, began to Mutiny, reome have fuling to pass any further, at what time, as fortune ks Romans would have it, Columbus espied a bright Cloud anjectures, rise, growing still more light, from which he gay bring to thered, that they must ascend from the Fumes of too weak the Earth, and not the Ocean, whereat taking Cou. s Reader, rage, he prevailed with them to stand three days , we must course, and if in that time no Land was discovered. f the Difhe would engage to return; when towards the end by many of the third day they espied Fire, which they afy of Chri. terward found to be on the Coast of Florida, where n at. Neray Landing his Men, he caused a Tree to be cut down, a man of and making a Cross, he erected it on the sirm Land not upon on the Eleventh of Ollober 1492, taking thereby posvade himsession of this New World in the name of the Spanish rge Coun-King, finding it exceeding pleasant and promising, municated: and so by degrees proceeded further, and after essed with him divers others, till they brought to light the the State Kingdoms and Countreys Intended here to be den he sent scribed. the Dif-The Countrey of America on the Continent, is , who un-, though erformed ch chear-

nt for by

they fell

ce other-

his Bro-

iring any rejected,

he Court.

x Years

ee Ships,

not :

properly divided into two great Peninfula's, whereof that toward the North is called Mexicana from Mexico the Chief City, computed to be 13000 Miles in Circumference; the South is called Peruana, the Sailing about which is reckoned 17000 Italian Miles, and the Isthmus that joyns them together, is very long, but narrow in some places, not above 12 Miles from Sea to Sea, and in many not above 17; called by the Spaniards the Streights of Darien, from a River of that name near the Isthmus, which Ishmus has been often proposed to be cut, that by the joyning the two Seas, the passage might be very much shortened to China, and the Molucca's, but The . never yet enterprized.

The Mexican Province is properly divided into the Continent and Islands. The Continent containeth the Provinces of Estotiland, Nova Francia, Virginia, Florida, Califormia, Nova Gallicia, Nova Hispania, and Guatimalia, and these sub-divided into lesser Countries. The Peruan Province, or the Southern Peninsula, taking in some part of the 19th-mus, hath on the Continent the Province of Castela Aurea, Nova Granada, Peru, Chiele, Parognay, Brasil, Guiana, and Paria, with their several Members, and particular Regions, of which in their order, and then of the Islands of the Universe.

Estotiland, and its Regions described.

ſ

t(

The Northern Regions of the Mexican Province, as also those on the East; and 'tis bounded Eastward with the Main Ocean; on the South with Canida, or Nova Francia; on the West with undiscovered Tracts of Land; and on the North with an Inlet or Bay of the Sea, called Hudsons Bay, taking its name from Henry Hudson an Englishman, who first discovered it.

ESTOTILAND, properly so called, is the most Northern Region on the East side of America, the Soil sufficiently inriched by Nature; the Natives Rude and void of Civility, Arts, or Tractableness, going many of them Naked, notwithstanding the extream Cold, living by the Flesh of Wild Beasts they kill in the Woods, and is but little Inhabited but by the Natives, by reason of the lasting Winters; the greatest Advantage drawn from this extream Region, being the Fishing Trade, where in the Rivers at the Season, are such a Number of Cod, called New-land-sish, that with a red Rag and a Hook, a Man may catch forty or sisty in an hour, which rided into nent cona Francia, icia, Nova ivided into e, or the of the Ishof Castela agnay, Braeral Memi in their Iniverse.

cribed.

mprehend Province,
Eastward
h Canida, liscovered
an Inlet taking its who first

the most rica, the Natives tableness, ading the Id Beasts inhabited Winters; extream the Ricof Cod, ag and a an hour, which which dried and salted, are brought into England and other parts of Europe; besides they Trade sometimes with the Natives for Feathers, Furs and Skins of Beasts; and the most noted places (for Cities you must expect none) are such as have been named by the English, viz. Prince Henry's Fore-land, Charles Cape, King's Fore-land, and Cape Wolstenham at the end thereof, where the Streights open in a large and spacious Bay, called Hudsons Bay; but to come more Southward, the next Region is Terra Corterialis.

In Tirra Corterialis, the people are found to be of a little better Understanding, Cloathing themselves more decently in Skins of Beasts, and such other Garments as they can conveniently obtain, being generally good Archers, getting their Provision thereby, yet Strangers to Towns and Cities. as living in Caves and Swamps, or fortified Woods, to which they gave the Names of Towns or Villages; not Marrying, but living Common, most of them Idolaters, and those that are their Guides, pretenders to Southsaying and Witchcraft, much delighting in Fish, which they eat more gladly than any thing though a French Colony feeling here, have built some inconfiderable Towns, indifferently Inhabited, as Breft, Cabo-Marzo, Santia Maria, and some others: and this part was first discovered by Sebastian Cabot in the Year 1499, at the Charge of King Henry the Seventh, though not Improved, but took foon after its name from Gaspar Corterialis a Portugal, who some years after, Sailing upon Discovery, seil in with it; and here are found Staggs, White Bears, and Scut-fish a Yard long, and such shoals of Cod-fish upon the Coast, that they retard the Sailing of the Ships. Think I olis to pulmon our a end

hea

Kit

ty,

ma

Lit

the

fou

im

an et ly

in

pa

W

E

al

C

O

fi

NEW-FOUND-LAND, another part of this Tract lies on the South of Corterialis, parted from it by the Frith or Streight, called Golfes des Cha-Steaux, pretty well Inhabited, though not free from the Extremities of Cold, and has on the Coast such abundance of Cod-fish, Herrings, Salmon, Mussles, with Pearls in their Shells, &c. that it is to be wondered at; as also Thornbacks, Smelts and Oysters; the up-land Country well Manured, producing naturally Roses, and bears Pease in extraordinary Crops, Flourishing with Trees of fundry kinds, as well for Fruits as Shades; and in these Parts the Natives, scaping the Bloody Cruelty of the Spaniards, are pretty Numerous, being of a reasonable Stature, broad Eye'd, full Faced, and Beardless, their Complexion the Colour of Oaker, and their Houses for the most part made of Poles, their Tops meeting together, and covered over with Skins, their Hearth, or Fire-place in the middle, after the manner of the Laplanders; their Boats, with which they Sail in the Rivers, and on the Sea near the Shoar, are made of the Bark of a Tree, that Country affords, 20 Feet in Length and 4 in Bredth, yet one of them weighs not I Hundred Weight; and on this Coast are many curious Bays, safe for Ships; and before this Part, which some term an Island, as being divided by the Frith from the Continent, lyeth a long Bank or ridg of Ground of many Hundred Leagues extent, but not above 24 at the Broadest, and all about Islands, called by some Cabo Baccalaes, from the Swarms of Cod-fish found about it, which by the Natives are called Baccalaos, so that the Bears frequently pull them out of the Water with their Paws and eat them: As for the Natives (upon the coming of the Christians) they Inhabited the Sea-Coast, but now for the most part have betaken themselves to the Woods and Fastnesses, and used to express their Duty and Rever ence ence towards their King, by stroaking their Fore-heads, and rubbing their Noses which if the King accepted, or was well pleased with the Party, he turned his Head to his lest Shoulder, as a mark of Favour: And at this day the Fishery for Ling and Cod, chiefly draws the English thither, though some Furrs and Civit are likewise to be sound, which the Colonies there setled have much improved.

Canada, or Nova Francia, Descri-

Nother part of this Tract, is called Canada, A from the River of that Name that Waters it; and New France, from a Colony of French that settled there, who at their first arrival were gladly received by the Natives, with Singing and Dancing; and this part (as well as Nova Scotia, and Norembegue) is considerably Woody, in the up-land parts full of Stags, Bears, Hares, Martins, Foxes, whose Flesh (till more Civiliz'd) the Natives did Eat raw, as they did their Fish, only being dryed in the Sun, or Smoak'd in their Hovels; they have also Coneys, Land and Water Fowl in great Plenty, taking great Pride in Bracelets and Chains of certain Shells, called Esurgnie, which they gather on the Coast; and here are many great Rivers of fresh Water, which together with Mountains of Snow, render it very cold, yet Wheat and Pulse grows pretty kindly, though but few Fruit Trees; and here the Women Labour more than the Men, and if so the Man (who is allowed two or three Wives) dye, the Widows will not be induced to Marry again, but continue in their fort of Mourning, which is to daub the naked parts of their Body ds and Fastand Reversence part of this parted from lfes des Cha-

ot free from

e Coast such

on, Mussles,

it is to be

elts and Oy-

red, produn extraordiandry kinds, of the Spani-

a reasonable L Beardless, r, and their their Tops with Skins,

aiddle, after

Boats, with the Sea near

Tree, that

4 in Bredth,

ed Weight;

ays, fafe for me term an

om the Con-

and of many

re 24 at the

ed by some

od-fish found ed Baccalaos,

out of the

: As for the

stians) they

he most part

dy over with Coal-dust, for in some parts of this Tract they go Naked, both Men and Wo. men.

VIRGINIA is a Country somewhat more pleafant than what we have described; bounded on the North with Canada; on the South with Florida; on the East with Mare del Noort; and on the West with the Woods of the Country, the end of them not Discovered, and is a Colony of the Eng. lish, along the Sea Coast, and considerably upland, so called in Honour of Queen Elizabeth, that Virgin Queen, and Glory of her Sex, by Sir Walter Raleigh, in the Year 1584. though by the Natives called Apalchen, from a Town of that Name, the Sea-coast only being Pleasant, for as much as what lies more In-land, is full of barren Mountains and rough Woods, where notwithstanding the Natives Inhabit in poor and miserable Houses, under fundry Chiefs, or Petty Kings, and yet frequently at War amongst themselves, for those wretched Dwellings, and somerimes make Inroads, and Plunder the English Territories, killing as many as fall within the compass of their Power, and then Fly to their Woods and Fastness, where they know they cannot without great hazard and danger be conveniently purfued.

The Country properly called Virginia extends from 34 to 38 Degrees of North Latitude, and is very Temperate, by reason of the frequent Breizes, and refreshing Gales of Wind that allay the heat, so that it affords abundance of Pleasant Valleys, Spacious Fields, Fruit Trees, as in England, yielding a greater Increase, and has sundry Veins of Allom, as also Pitch, Turpentine, Cedar, and Oalive Trees, with many Pleasant, Hills, which are Planted as Vineyards; store of Fish, Fowl, Cattle, and above all sundry large Plantations of Tobacco, especially upon James and Tork Rivers, and have

con-

con

well

who

obli

if a

tori

the

the

as

in

Tra

dia

our Wi

Pal

mo Hu

as | wi

his

the

W

ba

fo

W

Pl

al

ti

CC

P

İ

th

sl

9

ne parts of n and Wo.

more pleabounded on with Floriand on the the end of of the Eng. derably upizabeth, that by Sir Walby the Na. that Name, as much as n Mountains ling the Nauses, under t frequently se wretched nroads, and as many as r, and then they know d danger be inia extends ude, and is uent Breizes, uy the hear,

ant Valleys,
yland, yieldry Veins of dar, and Owhich are owl, Cattle,
of Tobacco,
i, and have

confiderable Towns and Villages, many of them well Fortified, to prevent Incursion of the Savages, whose Neighbouring Petry Princes, the Governour obliges to pay Tribute, and to send their Slaves if any outrage be committed by them in the Territories of the English, to James, Charles, or any other Town, appointed to be Punished according to the degree of the Fact; and here the Natives (such as border on the Plantation) are much Civiliz'd, in confideration of those that are more remote, Trading with the English, for Furrs, Skins, and Indian Corn, which they fet with a Stick, as we do our Beans, which is the work and business of their Wives, as foon as they have bought them of their Parents, and Built them a House, which for the most part is of Poles, pleated on the Sides and Tops Hurdle-wise; and if Female Children be Born, they as soon as they are able, go into the Field to work with their Mother, but the Male goes along with his Father to shoot in the Woods; and so Lazy are the Men, that if they kill any confiderable Game, they leave it at a certain remarkable Tree, and when they come home fend their Wife to fetch it, who dares not on pain of Death disoblige her Husband. But this is only meant of the Natives, for the English are there, as here, Governed by wholfom Laws, and live for the most part in great Plenty.

MARTLAND lies on the South of Virginia in the same Tract, divided from it only by some considerable Rivers, and is as the former a Tobacco Plantation, abounding likewise with Corn, Cattle, and considerable Gardens and Orchards of Fruit Trees, Planted by the English. As for the Natives Bordering it, they differ not in manner and quality from the former, going mostly loosly Arrayed in Beasts skins, Feathers compacted, and armed with Bows and Darts.

tr th

> a P

li

NEW ENGLAND, an English Colony in this Tract is bounded on the North-East with Norumbegua, on the Southwest with Novum Belgium; and on the other parts by the Woods and Sea coast; scituate in the middle of the Temperate Zone, bc. tween the degrees of 41 and 44, equally distant from the Artick Circle, and the Tropick of Cancer, which renders it very temperate and very agreea. ble to the Constitution of English Bodies, the Soil being alike Fruitful, if not in some places exceeding ours; all forts of Grain and Fruit trees common with us growing kindly there: The Woods there are very great, wherein for the most part the Na. tive Indians dwell Fortefying themselves as in Towns or places of defence, living upon Deer and such other Creatures, as those vast Wildernesses whose extents are unknown to the English abound with: there are in this Country store of Ducks, Geese, Turkies, Pigeons, Cranes, Swans, Partridges, and almost all fort of Fowl, and Cattle, common to us in Old England; together with Furs, Amber, Flax, Pitch, Cables, Mast, and in brief whatever may conduce to profit and pleasure; the Native Indians, in these parts are more tractable, if well uled, than in any other; many of them though unconverted, often faying, that our God is a good God, but their Tanto evil; which Tanto is no other than the Devil, or a wicked Spirit that haunts them every Moon, which obliges them to Worship him for fear, though to those that are converted to Christianity he never appears.

This English Colony after many Attempts and bad Successes was firmly Established 1620, at what time New Plymouth was Built and Fortified; so that the Indians thereby being over-aw'd, suffered the Planters without controul to Build other Towns, the chief of which are Bristol, Boston, Barstapk, and others, alluding to the Names of Sea Towns

hy in this ch Norumbeium; and on coast; sci-Zone, bc. hally distant k of Cancer; ery agreez. es, the Soil s exceeding es common roods there bart the Na. elves as in on Deer and Wildernesses lish abound of Ducks, , Partridges, e, common ars, Amber, rief whatee; the Na. table, if well n though una good God, other than tempts and 20; at what ortified; fo d, suffered other Towns, , Barstaple, Sea Towns nts them e-

Torship him

onverted to

in Old England; and are accommodated with many curious Havens commodious for Shipping, and the Country watered with pleasant Rivers of extraordinary largeness; so abounding with Fish, that they are not taken for dainties: The Religion professed is Presbyterial; and for a long time they were all Governed at their own dispose, and Laws, made by a Convocation of Planters, &c. but of late they have submitted to receive a Governer from England

NOVUM BELGIUM, or the New Neither-lands, lies in this Tract on the South of New England, extending from 38 to 41 degrees North Latitude 3 a place, into which the Hollanders intruded themselves, confiderable Woody ; Woods naturally abound with Nuts and wild Grapes, replenished with Deer, and such Creatures as yield them store of Furrs, as the Rivers and Plains do Fish and Fowl; rich Pastures, and Trees of extraordinary bigness, with Flax, Hemp, and Herbage; the ground very kindly bearing the Product of Europe; and here the Natives, such as live in Hutts and Woods, go clad in Beasts Skins, their Houshold goods consisting of a Wooden dish, a Tobacco Pipe, and a Hatcher made of a sharp Flint Stone, their Weapons Bows and Arrows; though the Dutch unfairly to their cost, out of a coverous Humor, traded with them for Guns, Swords, &c. shewing the use of them which the Indians turning upon their quondam Owners, found an opportunity to fend 400 of their new Guests into the other World; and here the chief Town is New Amsterdam, commodiously Scienate for Trade, and the Reception of Shipping.

FLORIDA is a large part of the Province, bounded on the North-East with Virginia; on the East with Mare Del Noort; on the South and some part of the West, with the Golf of Mexi-

D

CI

CO

fu

an

of

ca

ce

wi ne

Ma

on

the

pa

Sr.

Ch.

Poi

Na

tag

gre

Št.

Sp

no

Mo Ri

th

ca

CO

br th

ur

na

OI Ca

St

p

France, extending from 25 to 34 degrees North Latitude; and first discovered to any purpose under the Conduct of Sebastian Cabot an English man, 1497, and now mostly possessed by the Spaniards so named from the many Flourishing Trees and Flowers that enammed the Country; the Soil being naturally so Rich, that a long Manuring cannot impair it's rendering 60 fold increase; so that they have two Crops yearly of Maize and Corn; and here flourish most forts of Fruits, as Grapes, Cherries, Mulberries, Chesnuts, Plumbs, &c. The Country yielding Cattle, Fowl, Fish, and many Medicinal Drugs; likewise Pearls, Precious Stones, and some Mines of Gold and Silver, though not much improved.

The Indians Inhabiting this Tract, are of an O. live Colour, great Starure and well proportioned going mostly naked, unless a cover made for their Privity with a Stags Skin, painting their Arms and Legs with divers Colours not to be washed out; their Hair is Black, hanging down to an extraordinary length, cunning and much defirous of revenging injuries; infomuch that they are continually at War amongst themselves; the Women upon the Death of their Husbands, cut their Hair close to their Ears, and Marry not again till it's grown fufficiently long to cover their Shoulders (a very commendable way if used amongst us, to prevent our over hasty Widdows, who are frequently provided before hand;) they have amongst them many Hermaphrodites which they hold in such detestation that they are marked out for Slaves as foon as Born; and though they have a kind of a Ghmmering of Immortality, yet they worship Idols, representing the Devil; and when Ferdinando Sotto a Spaniard, went about to perswade them he was sent from God, to bring them to places of Joy and Spaniards Trees and re Soil beuring can-; so that and Corn; as Grapes, , drc. The and inany ous Stones, hough not e of an O. oportioned e for their Arms and ashed out; in extraor. s of revengcontinually n upon the r close to it's grown rs (a very to prevent uently pro-

them maachdetesta-

es as foon of a Gfim-

ship Idols,

inando Sotto em he was

of Joy and

De-

with New

ees North

arpole un-

nglish man.

Delight; they at that time Reflecting upon the Cruelties of that Bloody Nation, told him they could never believe it, forasmuch as they were asfured that God was good, and never would fend any amongst them to kill, slay, and do all manner of mischief; which indeed is not one of the least causes, why so many of these poor Wretches, conceiving an Aversation to the Religion for the wickedness of the Professors, remain yet in darkness, and obstinately shut their Eyes against the Marvelous Light that should guide them to Salvation: As for the chief Towns, mostly Inhabited by the Christians (for the Natives here, as in other parts, live in Woods and small Cotrages) they are St. Helens, scituate on a Promontory of that Name; Charles Fort, upon the Bank of the River Maio; Port Royal, a Haven on the Mouth of a River of that Name; Apalche, formerly a Town of Forty Cottages, taken by the Spaniards, and plundered of great store of Wealth; Ante, Ocalis, St. Matthews, St. Augustines, taken by Drake 1585, from the Spaniard, where he found 18 Brass Pieces of Cannon, and 20000 Florens in ready Money: Mountains here are not very confiderable, and the Rivers of note only 11, abound with Fish, where the Crocodiles haunt not.

califormia is another Countrey of the Mexicanian Province or Division of the West India's, comprehending a vast Tract of Land, by some branched under divers Denominations; it hath on the East some parts of Nova Gallicia, with the vast undiscovered Countreys lying on the West of Canada, and Virginia on the opposite Shoar, bounded on the North with the unknown parts of the Mexicanian Province, on the North West with the Streights of Anian; on the West with the Sea interaposing between it and the Island called Mer Veramiglio; on the South and South West with the rest of Nova Gallicia, divided at first into the Provinces of Quivira and Cibola; the former of these taking up the most Northern parts of this side America, being very barrer in the extreamest North, yielding few Houses, Trees, or Herbage; the Natives Rude and Savage, eating Raw Flesh without Chewing, Cloathing themselves in Bull and Cow Hides, living in Hoords and Clanns, like the Tartars, and are thought to be upon the Tartarian Continent; but the Mountains of Snow and Ice interrupts all Communication between the Nations; but more Southward the Countrey appears green and pleasant, Flourishing with Herbs and Trees, breeding store of Cattle, not much differing from those of Europe, for bigness, tho in make otherwise, for they have Bunches like Camels between their Shoulders, and Bristles, like Logs upon their Backs, their Mains like that of a Horse, and Beards like Goats, having short Horns and Legs, infomuch that they look frightful to those that first behold them; but in these the Natives place their greatest Riches, making them serve their turns fundry ways, as their Hides for Cloaths and the Covering Houses; their Bones for Bodkins and Needles; their Hair for Thread, their Sinews for Ropes; their Horns, Maws, and Bladders for Vessels to drink in; their Blood for Drink; and the Calve-skins for Budgets to carry Water in; the people generally Roving from place to place, and feldom being at a stay.

fu

20

CIBOLA, the second Division of California, lying more Southward, is pretty Temperate, so that the Natives go Naked, unless a short Mantle of Beasts-skins cast over their Shoulders, and a Flap to hide their Privities: As for Fruit-Trees, they are rarely found, except Cedars, of which they make their Boars and Fuel; yet they have Maize and small white Pease growing Naturally, of which they make their Bread; some quantity of Sheep they have,

Province5

le taking

America,

, yield-

Natives

it Chew-

w Hides,

tars, and

nt; but the

Communi-

outhward -

Flourith-

of Cattle,

for big-

e Bunches

d Briftles.

se that of

ort Horns

ul to those

e Natives

em serve or Cloaths

r Bodkins

eir Sinews

adders for

; and the

r in; the

lace, and

formia, ly-

te, so that

Mantle of a Flap to

, they are they make

Maize and which they

heep they have,

have, and as for Venison, though they have store, yet they rarely eat it, but rather kill it for the Skins, and so much the Woods abound with Lyons, Bears, and Tygers, that those who border on them are continually obliged to stand upon their Guard; they are very Civil to Strangers; however, the Spaniards, tho they entered this Countrey, withdrew again their Forces, as not thinking the Countrey worth their maintaining; as for Cities or Towns there are none of note.

NOVA ALBION, so named by Sir Francis Drake Anno 1577. is another part found in this Tract, lying about 28 degrees. North Latitude, which rene

NOVA ALBION, so named by Sir Francis Drake Anno 1577. is another part found in this Tract, lying about 38 degrees North Latitude, which renders it considerably Fruitful, abounding in Cattle by reason of the pleasant Pastures it affords, and such store of Deer and Conies, that it is greatly to be admired; and of the Skins of these, those of most Dignity make them Robes, but the meaner fort go Naked, except the Women, who have only an Apron of Bulrushes to hide their Privities; and here it was the King of the Countrey offered up his Crown of Net-work, and Feathers, to Sir Francis Drake, who received it on the behalf of the Queen of England, erecting a Pillar and fixing her Arms thereon, as a mark of the Countreys Subjection to her, naming it thereupon New Albier.

NOVA GALLICIA, so called from a Province of Spain of that Name, to which it is likened for Temperature of Air and Production, is bounded on the East and South with New Spain; on the West with the River Buena Guia; and on the West with the Gulf of California; so Leagues in Length and 100 in Breadth; the Air is generally very temperate, but rather inclined to heat than cold, and tho often the Inhabitants are disturbed with great Storms of Thunder and Rain, yet is the Air very healthy, so that no Contagious Disease happens pens amongst them, and when they are deficient of Rains, the Dews refresh the Earth, and the Countrey withal being Mountainous, affords Quarries of Stone and Mines of Brass and Silver, but none of Iron or Gold, and amongst the Metal a great mixture of Lead happens; however the Plains wonderfully abound with Corn, yield Wheat 60 fold, and Maize 200 fold; they have Bees likewise with out stings, who make their Honey in Trees of the Woods to great quantities; and here grow Citrons, ·Figgs, Malacotoons, Cherries, and Olives; the people wavering and inconftant upon the least discontent betaking themselves to the Woods, and deserting their Houses; their Garments being for the most pare Cotton Shirts, with a Mantle over it, given much to Singing and Dancing, and sometimes to Drinking, and have their Tribes, whose Heads Command in Chief, and succeed Hereditarily, yet those Chiefs Commanded by the Spanish Officers, inhabiting those parts; and in this Tractare the leffer Provinces of Cinaloa, Conliacan, Xalifco, Guadalaiara, Zacatecas, New Biscay, and New Mexicana: All of them, as to the Natives and Quality of the Countreys, little differing, the greater part of them Commanded in Chiefby the Spaniards, to whom the Petty Princes and Governours of the Natives are Subservient and Tributary, and have for their Chief Towns, Sr. Philip and Jacob, Sr. John de Cinaloa, Pistala, Xalisco, Nombre de Dios, plundered of great Treasure by Sir Francis Drake, St. Lewis, St. Barbara and Chia, every one the Chief of a Province, and hold some Trade, tho not confiderable, the Spaniards not defiring to have Commerce with any other Nation, nor suffer the Natives to do it, lest they should be incroached upon; for they hold the poor ignorant people in hand, that they are the most powerful Lords of all Europe, and the invincible People of the World. NOVA

NOVA HISPANIA, or New Spain, is another large Countrey, in the Mexicanian Province, bounded on the East with an Arm of the Sea, called the Bay of New Spain and Gulf of Mexico; on the South with part of Nova Gallicia and Mare del Zur; on the North with the rest of Gallicia, some part of Florida and the Gulf on the South of Mare del Zur; or rather the South Sea, and is so called, in reserence to Spain in Europe, extending from the 15th degree of Latitude to the 26th. Measuring on the East side. from the Bay of Mexico to the North of Panuco, but less by 6 degrees, if the Measure be taken to the Vest side, and tho it is scituate under the Torrid Zone, yet the Air is very Temperate, hy reafon the Heats are allayed by the Cooling Briezes that come from off the Seas on Three fides of ir, and the Ground being Cooled by the Showers that seasonably fall in June, July, and August, when the Weather is at the hottest; and here are found Rich Mines of Gold and Silver, some of Brass and Iron, great plenty of Coco Nuts, store of Cassia, and vast quantities of Cocheneal growing upon Shrubs or little Trees, planted by the Natives and Spaniards; they have likewise store of Whear, Pulse, Barley, Plants, Roots, Oranges, Lemons, Pomegranats. Malacotoons, Figgs, Apples, Pears, Grapes, Birds and Beafts, both Wild and Tame, almost of all forts; and in the hottest part of this Countrey, their Seed time is in April, and their Harvest in Ollober; but in colder places, lying low and moift, they Sow in O Rober and Reap in May, by which crossing, they are Supplied with Two Harvests in a Year.

The Natives of this Tract are more Ingenious than any other of the Salvages, giving themselves up to Curious Arts, especially to the making of Feather Pictures, which they perform so lively without Dying the Feathers, but taking them in their deficient, and the

NOVA

Quarries of

t none of great mix-

ains won-

it 60 fold,

wife with

ees of the

w Citrons,

; the peo-

east discon-

and desert-

ng for the

le over it,

fometimes

hose Heads

tarily, yet

ish Officers,

act are the

alifeo, Gua-

New Mexi-

nd Quality

reater part

niards, to

irs. of the

and have

Jacob, St.

cis. Drake,

one the e, tho not

g to have

fuffer the

ached up-

e in hand,

all Europe,

their natural Colours, that they will imitate Men, Beafts, or any other thing, so lively, that at a very small distance, any one not knowing the contrary, would verily believe them to be drawn by the most Curious Master with a Pencil, &c. Working in Gold more near and dextrous than any Europeans, yet fo little esteeming it, that at the first-coming of the Spaniards, they Barter'd it for Knives, Beads Bells, and such inconsiderable Matters, and not having been used to Ride on Horse-back, they took their new come Guests for Centaurs; they were exceeding Populous, which appears by the Spaniards, having destroyed Six millions of them in 17 Years, Roasting some, plucking out the Eyes of others, Confuming them in their Mines, and Inhumanly casting them amongst Wild Beasts to be devoured, insomuch that the Women, many of them not only refused the means for Generation, but such as found themselves pregnant, destroyed their Children in the Womb, that they might not be brought up to serve so Bloody a Nation.

In the great Province of New Spain, are found the lesser Provinces of Panuco, Mechuacan, Mexicana, Thascala, Guaxaca, and Jucatan, all plentisulty abounding with the pride of Art and Nature; the whole Province taking its name from Mexico, a great City upon a Lake, as likewise all that I have hitherto written relating to this New World, and because the taking of this City proved of such Importance to the Spaniard, we think it not amiss to give a brief Relation of it, viz.

Hervando Cortz, born in Medeline a Town of Estremadure, a Province of Old Spain, rising from an obscure Birth to become a private Adventurer in these parts, raised by Industry his Fortune to so high a pitch, that with the help of his Friends, he Manned Eleven Ships, with 550 Men, and after some contending with the Seas, arrived at the Island itate Men, stand now called Santia Crux, and passing up the t at a very River Tabasco, sacked Potonchon a small Town on e contrary, the Banks of it, upon the Inhabitants refusing to y the most fell him Victuals, and by the help of his Horse and ing in Gold Cannon, put to the Routan Army of 40000 of the ns, yet so Salvages, and so receiving the King a Vassal to the ng of the Crown of Spain, he passed onwards towards the eads Bells. Golden Mines, Landing at St. John de Ulls, where not having he was met by order of the Governour of the King took their of Mexico, with rich presents of Gold and other rich exceeding Things, which so inflamed him, that forgetting the ds, having Civility, he found means to pick a quarrel with ars, Roastthe King, by building Forts in the Countrey, and hers, Con. claiming it for Charles the Fifth, King of Spain and hanly cast-Emperour of Germany, and getting the Flascalians bured, inon his part, a party of the Natives who were at van not only riance with the King of Mexico, and increasing, his h as found Spaniards by fuch as he found in the Countrey, to hildren in 900 Foot and 80 Horse, he with the whole Force ght up to of the Flascalians, being 100000 Men, and the help of 17 Pieces of Cannon, 13 Galliots, and 6000 Caare found noa's or Boars, befieged that great City by Land , Mexicaand Water, and in 13 Months took, sacked, plentifuland burnt it, by which means this Rich Kin dom fell to the Spaniards.

Nature;

Mexico, a at I have

orld, and

such Im-

amis to rown of

ing from

venturer

ne to fo

nds, he ad after

the I-

fland.

icanian Province, bounded on the North with Jucatan and the Gulf of Honduras; on the South with Mare del Zur; on the East or South East with Cassella Aurea; and on the West with New Spain; extended 300 Leagues upon the Coast of Mare del Zur, but upon straight measure not above 240, and in breadth about 180 Leagues, comprehending the lesser Provinces of Chiapa, Verapaz, Guatimala, properly so called, and from which the whole Tract takes its Name; Hondura, Nicaragua; Veragua; and has for its Chief Towns Civida Real; St. Augustines, St. Salvador, St. Jago de Guatimala;

K. 4

St. Maria de Comyagena, Leon de Nicaragua, and La Trinidada, with divers others of lesser Note.

This part of Mexicana, by reason of its nearness of Scituation to the Line, is Fruitsul in all parts, unless where the Rocky Hills thrust up their heads abounding with Fruit, Trees, Corn, Cattle, Foul, Fish, and Mines of Gold, Silver, and Brass; and in the Rivers, which are considerable, much Gold is found, as washed from the Mountains, and here the Natives bear the Spanish Yoke more uneasily than in other parts.

A Description of the Peruanian Province, or the Second Devision of America.

His great Province, divided into many lesser, resembles a Pyramid Reverse more properly so than Africk, joyned to that we have mentioned by the Isthmus or Streights of Darien, deriving its Name from Peru the Chief Province of the whole, which stands thus divided, as far as is hitherto Inhabited by the Spaniards or other Europeans, viz. Castela Aurea, the new Realm of Granada, Peru, Chiel, Paragnay, Brafil, Guyana, and Paria, not accounting the Islands, which are reserved for another place; and as for the boundards in general, having already described them; we now proceed to deferibe the particular Provinces, and of them in their order, viz-CASTE.

aragua, and of lesser

its nearness
n all parts,
neir heads aattle, Foul, ass; and in much Gold trains, and te more un-

ruanian nd De-

into many
I Reverse
, joyned
y the Isthits Name
e, which Inhabited Castela
u, Chiel, accountanother
having
I to dein their

ASTE.

CASTELA DEL ORE, or Castela Aurea, is bound ed on the West with Mare del Zur and some part of Virginia; on the South with the New Realm of Granada; on the East and North with Mare de ! Noort, called Castile, in reference to that in Spain, as being discovered by the Influence of those Kings, and Aurea added, by reason of the abundance of Gold found there, and contains Panzma, Darien, Nova, Andaluzia, St. Martha, the Provinces De La Hacha, the Air in most parts is very Healthful, especially to those that have been there for any confiderable time, or born there; however the In-land Countrey is thinly peopled, by reason the Spaniards upon their first setcling there, destroyed in a manner the whole Race of the Natives, whose Assistance now they want to Manure the Soil; there were likewise found at their first Coming, an extraordinary number of Swine, which they also destroyed and suffered to rot upon the ground in such multitudes, that now, tho they would fain retrieve that loss, it is not in their power; however the Earth brings forth a confiderable Encrease, where the Fields and Valleys are found, tho the Countrey as bounds with barren Mountains and Woods, so that in this Province, besides the Mines of Gold and Silver that are found, enriching the people with great Treasure; they have Corn, Wine, Oyl, Mellons, Balsom, sundry sorts of Drugs and Trees of fundry kinds, producing Fruits different from what are found in Europe; and in the Province of Andaluzia, the Spaniards upon their Arrival, greedy of Gold, found in the Graves of the Dead, which were brought from all parts to be buried there, as held to be the most Sacred ground, so much Treasure, that for a time they took no care to dig it out of the Mountains: As for the People Inhabiting this; Tract, they are mostly Spaniards, those few Natives, that are left, being in a manner their Slaves: The K. 5 County Countrey is full of great Rivers, as Rio de Lagartus, the River of Crocodiles; Sardinila, Sardino, Rio de Comagres, Rio de Colubros, and others, being in many places overspread by the Spurs of the great Mountain Andes, held to be as big as any in the World.

The Chief Towns in this Province are Panama, Darien, on the bank of the Gulf of Umbra; Carthagena, scituate in a Sandy Peninsula, and consisting of 500 Houses; St. Martha scituate on the shoars of the Ocean; Lahach, scituate upon a River of that name; all of them under the Power of the Spaniards, governed according to the Laws of Spain, to which the Natives are obliged to submit.

NOVA GRANADA, or the New Realm of Granada, lies on the North of Castela Aurea, being about 130 Leagues in Length, and not much less in Breadth, and is divided into Granada and Popayana; the Air for the most part well, with a mixture of Heat and Cold, but more of the former; neither differ the days any thing considerably in length; the Countrey extreamly Woody, and somewhat Mountainous, yet stored with Fertile Plains, and breeds a number of Cattle, affording Veins of Gold and other Mettals, and in a part of it called Tunia, are found Emeralds of great value: The Natives that are yet remaining, go very decent, and are by their Conversation with the Spaniards (amongst whom they live in (mall Towns) much Civiliz'd; the Women being more White and Comly than in any other part, very Industrious, Tall, and well Proportioned, most of them embracing the Roman Catholick Religion, much delighting in Singing and Dancing; and as for the Chief Towns in this Province, arethey Sr. Foy an Arch-bishops See; St. Michael a Market Town, well Traded to; Trinidado feared on the River of that name; whose Fields are full of Vines of Chrystal, Emeralds, Adaments, and de Lagartus, ardino, Rio rs, being in f the great s any in the Panama, Da-; Carthageconfisting of he shoars of iver of that e Spaniards, n, to which ilm of Graa, being ahuch less in nd Popayaa mixture r; neither in length; fomewhat Plains, and ins of Gold lled Tunia, he Natives and are by (amongst Civiliz'd; ly than in and well he Roman nging and this Pro-; St. Mi. Trinidado Fields are ients, and Cal-

Chalcedons; Tunia, Pampelonia, Papayan, the usual Residence of a Governour, and a Bishops See: Antiochia, Carthage, Sebastian de la Plata, so called from the Silver Mines in its Neighbourhood, with some others of less note: As for the Rivers and Mountains, most of them want names, wherefore for brevities sake, we pass over any tedious Enquiry into them.

As for this Province, it had its Name given by Gonsalvo Ximenes de Quesada, in reference to Granada in Spain, who having Murthered (contrary to Faith given) Sangipa the last King of Bagota, whom he had made use of in subduing the Panches, he seized his Treasure, which amounted to 191294. Pezoes of fine Gold, 35000 of courser Allay, and 1800 large Emeralds; by which the Riches of the Province may be guessed.

PERU lying South of the former Province, is. accounted in Length 700 Leagues, but disproportional in Breadth, as not exceeding in some places 60 and 40 Leagues, tho in others 100, and is divided into three parts, but so differing in nature and quality, as if they were at a larger distance: from each other, being called the Plains, the Hill Countreys and the Andes; the first extending on the Sea shore, in all places level, without Hills; the second composed of Hills and Plains, stretching out from North to South; the whole Length of the Province; and the third a continual Ridg of huge Mountains without any Valleys; however, tho the Mountains and Hills are Woody, or otherways Barren, by reason of their Minerals, yet the Plains and Valleys produce store of Corn, Fruit, and Herbage, Flourishing with an Eternal Spring, the Southerly Wind continually blowing on them, bringing no Rain, though on the Mountains all manner of Winds have power, and bring Rain, Thunder, and Fair Weather by turns, as in other Countries, and to supply the want of Cattle, they have in the Woods and Mountains, a Beast like a Goat called Vicagues, and a kind of Sheep as big as young Bullocks; bearing large Fleeces, which they use as Horses, to carry their burthens; but if at any time they find themselves over-laden, neither force nor fair means can oblige them to move forward, before they are alleviated, living upon slender diet, and will sometimes Journy three days without Water; and amongst Plants, the Fig-Tree in this Country has a strange effect, viz. the North part looking towards the Mountains, bringeth forth Fruit in the Summer only, and the South part looking towards the Sea in the Winter; and in this Province grow Coco's in great plenty, whose Leaves dryed in little Pellets, satisfie Hunger and Thirst, and are a great part of the diet the Spaniards afford their poor Slaves in the Mines, so that it is said 100000 Baskets full of them have been devoured in a year at the Mines of Petofia; and a plant they have, by which they try fick Persons, when ther they will live or dye, for if the Patient look chearful when it is fast grasped in his hand, then is it a fign of Recovery, but if fad, the contrary ; and have Beafts called a Huanagu's, the Males of which stand Centinals upon the Mountains, whilest the Females descend and seed in the Valleys; and if they perceive any man approaching them, they give warning, by making a terrible noise; and hastily running to their assistance, interpose their Bodies till they make their retreat; and many other things are found worthy of note; and the whole Province is divided properly into three juridical Reforts, viz. Quito, Lima and Charcas, these having under them other Divisions of lesser nute, Es Las-Quixos, Cusco, Collao, &cc.

e, they have. like a Goat ig as young they use as tt any time force nor rward, bc-. nder dier, ithout Waee in this the. North ngeth forth art looking is Frovince aves dryed hirst, and erds afford t it is said devoured id a plant fons, wheatient look rand, then contrary ; Males of ns, whilest lleys; and hem, they oise; and pose their nd many ; and the three juri-. Charcas, s of lesser

As for the People they were not so ignorant, upon the first Arrival of the Spaniards, of Letters, whereby they might acquaint themselves with other parts of the World, but that they labour to keep them so still, that they through Ignorance may the better brook their Yoak; however they are couragious and industrious, searless of Death, animated to contemn Life in hopes in the other World to live in Luxury and Riot, and injoy delicate Women; so that when any of their Chiefs or perry Princes die, some of his Servants willingly submit to be Buried with him, that they may wait upon him afterward; some of them dwelling in the most Mountainous parts, go half naked; but the rest have long Mantles reaching to their heels, though in dressing their Heads they differ, each having a peculiar Fashion: And to guess at the Riches of this Country by some part of it, 'tis affirmed, that the Mines of Petozi, discovered in the year 1545. afforded for the Kings Fifth's payable to his Exchequer III Millions of Pezoes of Silver, every one valued at 6 s. 6 d. of our money, and yet a third part of the whole was discharged of that payment; and in some parts as much Gold is digged as Earth, &c. As for the Rivers of most note, they are St. Jago, Tombez, Guagaquil, and others of lesser note. The Towns are principally Carangues, Peru, Cusco, Andreo, Truxilo, Archidona, Baeza, Lima, Collao, Potozi, Plata, Chiquita, with others; but to draw to a conclusion of this rich Province, we need only fay for a further Demonstration, that when Atabalaba was overcome by Pizarro and his Spaniards, he gave (besides what infinite Sums the Spaniards had plundered before) for his Ransom, a large Room full of Gold piled up to the Ceiling; yet this prevailed not with those Unchristian like Christians, for falling out about the sharing, and willing to conceal it from the King, King of Spain; they notwithstanding contrary to their Oaths and promises, Strangled that poor Peruanian Prince, the last of the Race of the Inga's, or Emperors of Peru; for which violation and persidy, God was not slow in punishing them all that were concerned in it, dying a miserable and untimely death: And in this Kings Pallaceat Cusco, all his Utensils were of Gold and Silver, even to his Kitchen Furniture, and in his Ward-robe were sound Statues of Giants, the Figures of Beasts, Fish, Birds, Plants, &c. in their proper shape and largeness of the same Mettal; and thus much for Peru, &c. whose Gold proved the ruin of the Natives, and the Impoverishment of Old Spain.

CHILE, is on the North bounded with the Defart of Alacama Interposing between it and Peru; on the West with Mare del Zur; on the South with the Magellan Streights; and on the East as far as Rio dela Plata, with the main Atlantick Ocean, Scituate in the temperate Zone, beyond the Tropick of Capricorn; if we reckoned to it some other Countries bordering on the Atlantick, not yet fully discovered called Chile or Chil from the extream cold it indures, when the Sun is in our Summer Solstice, that it is reported Horses and Riders in the extream parts are often Frozen to death, or lost in the Snows, which extreams on this fide, and beyond the Equinoctial demonstrates the Continent of America to be larger than Asia; the Soil of this Tract in the mid-land parts is Mountainous and unfruitful, but towards the Seafide, level and full of Trees abounding with Gold Silver, Honey, Cattle, Wine, Maize, Corn, &c. The Natives are of a Gigantick Stature, but very civil, if not too much provoked; cloathing themfelves with Skins of Beafts, and Arming with Bows and Arrows; shaggy Haired, and whiter of Complexion than any we have yet spoken of 112 :

in the Peruanan Provinces; and the Countrey is Watered with the Rivers of Rio de Copayapo, Rio de Coquimbo, La Ligna, Canten, Cacapool, Topocalma, and some others of lesser note, especially one, though we find not the name, which falls into the Sea with a violent Torrent all day, but in the night its Channel is dry, and the reason is, it has its Waters from the melted Snow falling from the Mountains, which cease when the Sun is gone down: The Towns of note in Chile and Magellanica, for into these two parts is the Province divided, are St. 7ago the Chief, tho not above 80 Houses in it, because it is the Pesidence of the Governour and Court of Judicature. Serena on the Sea-shoar, having in it about 200 Houses, and near it many Mines of Gold Conception. Delos Confines, Imperio. ale and some few more in the part called Chile, but in Magellanica, we find nothing but Capes and Rivers Inhabited, a Savage and Barbarous People afflicted with sharp Winds, and the Mountains continually covered with Snow, wherefore as a Countrey not fit for Commerce, we leave, it and proceed to Brafili BRASIL is a large Tract, reaching from 29 to 30 degrees South Latitude, 1500 miles in Length, and soo in Breadth, bounded on the East with Mare del Noort or the Main Atlantick; on the West with undiscovered Countreys, on the North with Guiana, and on the South with Paragua," or the Province of Rio de la Plata, and is a great part of it possessed by the Portugals and Dutch: The Countrey intermixed with Rivers, Mountains, Woods, and pleasant-Plains; the Air wholfome, by reason of the purging Winds which rise from the Southern Coast, every day about Ten in the Morning; the Countrey yielding great store of Sugar Canes, which is brought to perfection by the working of many Thoufands of Slaves, so that the Portugals brought thence 10

in:

ontrary to that poor the Inga's,

ation and

them all

erable and

ceat Cusco,

r, even to

robe were of Beafts,

per shape

hus much uin of the n it and

on the

on the main At-reckoned

he Atlan-

or Chil

ne Sun is

d Horses

Frozen

eams on onstrates

an Asia;

parts is

the Sea-

h Gold

rn, Gc. at very

g them-

ig with whiter ken of Spain. with the in few Years 150000 Arobes of that Commodity, each Arobe containing 25 Bushels of our Measure; and here it is the Brasil Wood grows, whereof there are Trees of such bigness, that when the Rivers overflow, as frequently they do in the level Countrey, the Inhabitants dwell in the Branches of them, like Birds in their Nests, till the Waters abate.

The People in this Tract nearest the Line, are of a reasonable Understanding, wearing Apparel, but further off they are Barbarous, both Men and Women going stark naked, gladly eating Humane Flesh, insomuch that when they can privately catch any of the Christians, they Roast them, and invite all their Friends, feafting on the Flesh, with great Merriment; and here the Women are wonderful quick, and eafie at Child-bearing, never lying by it, but in two or three days feem as well as ever: Beafts are found in this Tract of strange forms; one with the head of an Ape, the Body of a Man, and the feet and paws of a Lyon; a Plant they have called Copiba, the back of which being flit, affords a precious Balm, which is so well known by the Beasts of the Forrests, that when they have taken in any Poison, or are bir by Serpents or other Venemous Creatures, they fly to it for succour, as to a Sanctuary for Life, and by sucking in the Antidote, find a foeedy Cure: An Herb they have, that being roughly touched, as in Modesty, shrinketh in its branching Leaves, and opens them not till the party who offends is gone out of fight. The People in this Tract, both Men and Women, are good Swimmers, and foused to Diving, that they will remain under Water an hour without respiration, and many of them are so over-grown with Hair, that they seem rather Beasts than Men; the Divisions of Brasil are St. Vincent, Rio de Janeiro, Del Spiritu Santo, Porto Se-Euro, Des Ilheos, Todas Los Santos, Paraguay, Rio de de la Plata, Tucaman, St. Crux de Siera, a Province full of Palm Trees; Fernambuck rich in Tobacco and Sugar; Tamaraca, Paraiba, Rio-grande, Siara, Maragnon, and Para, being termed Captainships or Prafectures, possessed by the Portugals, Spaniards, French, Dutch and other Nations, who in some places live promiscuously with the Natives, and in others, some coming in search of Adventures, others driven by Distress, as being not suffered to live quietly at home; insomuch that tho the Brasilians had but sew Houses and sewer Towns, yet now the encrease of them has rendered it in many parts a pleasant Countrey, the Plains enriched like those of Egypt, by the overslowing of the Rivers, which are exceeding large.

GUIANA is another Tract of this Peruanian Continent, bounded on the East with the Main Atlantick Ocean; and on the West with the Mountains of Peru, or an undiscovered Countrey interposing between them; on the North with the River, Orenoque; and on the South, as some will have it with the Amazons; tho indeed we find no such Countrey; however it is undiscovered, and therefore Travellers have liberty to name it as they please.

Tho Guiana is scituate on both sides the Line, extending from the Fourth degree of Southern to the Eighth degree of Northern Latitude; notwithstanding by reason of the fresh Winds and cool Air that comes off the Sea and Rivers, it is indisterently Temperate; towards the Sea side it is level, but the Inland swelled with rising Hills, and the Trees and Fields wearing a lasting green, as knowing no Winter, there being always ripe and green Fruits and Blossoms at the same time; so that it may be compared for pleasantness, with any we have yet named in this Tract.

The

e Waters ie, are of Apparel, Men and Humane ely catch nd invite ith great onderful ng by it, r : Beafts ne with and the e called a precileasts of in any nemous. Sanctufind a roughbranch-... ty who s Tract. rs, and r Waof them rather ire Sr. rto Se-

de

mmodity,

Measure;

eof there

Rivers o.

el Coun-

inches of

in

th

of

The People (Natives of Guiana) have no fettled Government, yet reduce themselves into Tribes, under several Heads or Chiefs, though this is left to their own discretion, and every one may separate when he pleases, and all the punishment they have for Offenders, is only in case of Adultery and Murther, for which when proved, the Criminal makes an Expiation with his Life; the poorer fort are allowed but one Wife, and the rich two or three; not owning any God, but either not regarding from whence they had their being, and are by Power sustained, or Atheistically ascribing all to Fate and Chance: As for their Accompts they keep them in bundles of Sticks, which they increase or diminish according as the Debt or Business grows more or less; and at their Funerals the Women howl extreamly, whilst the Men on the contrary are Singing and Feafting.

This Country is divided into the Provinces of Rio-de-Las, Amazons, Wiapoco, or Guiana, properly so called, Orenoque, Trinidado, and Tobago; and are full of great Rivers stored abundantly with Fish, and wild Fowl, but most of all they refresh the Countries with the Dews that arise from them and the principal of these are Orenoque, Arrawari, Conawini, Caspurough, or Cassipure, falling into the Atlantick Ocean, Wiapoco, the River of the Amazons, and a great many of lesser note; and in this Tract are said to be Mountains of intire Chrystal; Mines there are of Gold and Silver, with many strange Plants, Fruits, and Beasts; as also Tobacco and Sugar Canes, and at Comolaha, on the South of Arenoque, they hold a Fair for the Sale of Women, only where an English-man left by Sir Walter Raligh, reports to have bought 8 for a three halfpenny red hasted Knife, the eldest not exceeding 18 Year, which he says without making any Burglarys upon their Virginities, he liberally bestowed in e no fettled nto Tribes, this is left may fepa-hment they dultery and e Criminal poorer fortch two or ler not reng, and are ribing all to mpts they into the Bufiunerals the

len on the

ovinces of a, properbago; and with Fish, fresh the them and pari, Conathe At-Amazons, this Tract al; Mines y strange acco and South of Women, alter Raree halfxceeding iny Barestowed

in

in Marriage on fundry of the Natives: And near this place is the mighty Water-fall, or Catarast of the River Arenoque, whose horrid noise makes the Mountains tremble, which may well fit the Words of the Poet, viz.

Cunsta tremunt undis, & multo murmure Montis, Spumeus invistis albescit Flustibus amnic.

The Noise the Mountains shakes, who roar for spite,

To see th' Unvanquish'd Waves clad all in White.

In an other part of this Province they have a firange custom with their Dead, for when the Flesh is worn off the Bones by Putresaction, they hang up the Skeleron in the Chamber or House where the party died, decking the Skull with Feathers of divers Colours, and hanging Jewels and Plates of Gold, about the Arm and Thigh Bones. As for the Towns of note in this Tract, they are Mano, called by the Spaniards El' Dorado, from the abundance of Gold and Silver Coin, Armour, and Utenfils found there, held to be the largest of all the Country, though some question the Truth of this place; Caripo, Gomeribo, Tanparanume, Morequuto, St. Thome, and St. Foseph, with some others of lesser note, which they are obliged to build upon Hills, Rocks, or the like advantageous Places, forasmuch as the Rivers yearly overflow a great part of the Country, obliging the Natives to live in Trees with their Families, building them Hutts in the Branches like Birds Nests.

PARIA, another confiderable Province, lies on the West of Guiana, divided into the lesser Countries of Cumana, Venezuela, St. Margaita, Cubagna,

mi Ho

inf

ma

pla

riti

En

Un

Afi

the

fer

att

the

bagna, and some Islands; and here the Nature of the Soil and People are different, though in general the Country is very Pleasant, being watered with the Rivers of Rio-de-Cacioas, Rio-de-Neveri, Cumana de Bardones, and others of lesser note, and has for its chief Towns, Maracapana (once a Spanish Garrison) Venezuela, New Cadiz, and some others; and in this Truct the Pearl Fishery is used, those valuable Commodities being gotten by Diving, and they bring up a Fish much like an Oyster, out of the Shells of which they take the Pearls, supposed to be Ingendred there by the falling of Dews, when the Fish opens to receive the Air upon the Shoar: and though the People in the Province of Cumana have Plenty of Fruits and Cattle, with other things whereby to subsist even to Riot, yet they rather chuse to feed upon Insects and Vermin, as Batts, Spiders, Horse-leaches, Worms, &c. each Man being allowed as many Wives as he can maintain, though they never have the Maidenheads of any, proftituting them the first Night to their Piacos, or Priests, or their appointment, who for small matters turn over that Drudgery to Strangers; nor do they at any time think their Guests welcome, unless they will do the Office of Men to their Wives, Sifters, dyc. blackning their Teeth, and Painting their Bodies of diverse Colours; in this Tract are found diverse Mines of Gold, some of Silver, and other Minerals; and here the Spaniards mer with many disasters, as well the Ecclesiasticks, as Military, being frequently expulsed or cut off by the Salvages, who are in general a Stout and Warlike People; and here are found the Capa, a Beast, the Soles of whose Feet are like a Shooe, and a Hog of monstrous fize, with Horns like a Goat, living altogether upon Ants, Pilmires, Parrots, and Batts; and could I have added to this Bill of Fair, Booksellers and Printers, the World might Nature of in general ered with i, Cumana nd has for anish Gara e others; sed, those iving, and out of the profed to ws, when he Shoar:

her things ney rather as Batts, each Man maintain,

s of any, eir Piacos, for small ngers; nor welcome,

to their

s; in this , fome of Spaniards lefiasticks, or cut off

Stout and e Capa, a a Shooe, ns like a ires, Pard to this world

might

might have taken this Monster for a meer Robin

Cattle this Country affords in great Quantities, infomuch that Instructed by the Europeans, they make Butter and Cheese of their Milk, in sundry places, which the Natives take as the Prince of Rarities. And thus much Reader may suffice for the Empires, Kingdoms, Provinces, and States of the Universe, relating to the Continent of Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, from which we proceed (for the greater Satisfaction of the Curious) to the Description of the Islands scattered in the several Seas, attributed to the sour Parts of the World; and of these in their Order.

A Description of the Islands of Europe, and their various Scituations in their sundry Seas, &c.

Great Britain Described.

ner known to most that Inhabit it, may occasion some to reslect upon this brief Description as superstuous; however, having undertaken to omit nothing material in this great Undertaking, which indeed wanted nothing but the permission of a larger Scope, to render it more Illustricus, we will not be wanting to give a more modest Account of the Princess of Islands, or Epitome of the Universe, being properly, and not without just Reason stiled, the World Minature; and in this case we must divide it into two Parts, viz. England, Wales, &c. and Scotland, comprehending the Ocean Islands.

England, described, &cc.

The state of the state of NGLAND has for its Eastern boundard the Gera man Ocean; on the West the Irish Sea; on the South the British Ocean; and on the North, parting it from Scotland, the River Tweed and Solway; Invironed as to the whole Island, with the main Sea, guarded in most parts by such Rocks, as render it Inaccessible from Forreign Invaders, if the Shoars be but indifferently Defended, though its Walls confifts in its many more Powerful and Impregnable Defendants, than those of Stone; which notwithstanding it had not always to defend it, as appears by its becoming a Prey to the Romans, its being harassed by the Pilts, Scots, and wild Irish, and the Subjection it was brought under by the Saxons, Danes, and Normans; but at this day the often Languishing Island lifts up her head as high as the tallest of the Daughters of the Nations upon Earth.

As for the Soil, improved by industrious hands, it is in most parts exceeding Fruitful, as well in Grain as Herbage, Fruit Trees, Rich Pastures, &c. as all other things necessary, and conducing to the support of Life; with Mines of Iron, Tin, Lead, &c. but exceeds other Nations in the Woollen Manufacture; nor is making of Stuffs, Silks, and other Curious Arts wanting in a great measure, but more especially the Traffick abroad, where for our Native Com-

Co thi

Te the wh bli

all vid fex. Son

Cai byst ton am shir

mon force all Par

for Ci Ar Pa

> un tec th me

dc ty

ri V and not Minature; wo Parts, uprehend d the Gera a; on the rth, part-Solway; the main s, as renrs, if the hough its and Ime; which nd ir, as Romans, nd wild under by this day das high ons upon hands, it in Grain, Go. as g to the lead, Go. en Manuald other out more ar Native Com-

Commodities, we command the most valuable things in the Universe.

ENGLAND in particular, holds from 50 to 54 degrees of North Latitude; the Air Pleasant and Temperate, by viciffitude of Heat and Cold, as also the varying of Night and Day; but more for the wholesome Laws, good Constitution of the Established Government and Nature of the People, whose Generosity and Valour has samed them in all parts of the known World, and the whole divided into 39 Shires or Divisions, viz. Middlesex, Essex, Kent, Sussex, Hampshire, or the County of Southampton, Surry, Buckinghamshire, Bedfordskire, Cambridgshire, Cheshire, Cornwal, Cumberland, Darbyshire, Dorsetshire, Durham, Glocestershire, Huntingtonshire, Lancashire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Northamptonshire, Notinghamshire, Rutlandshire, Shrojshire, Somersetshire, Wiltshire, Warwickshire, West-morland, Yorkshire, Norfolk, Northumberland, Oxfordskire, Staffordshire, Barkshire, Devenshire, Hartfordshire, Suffolk, and Worcestershiye, Herefordshire; all of them extreamly replenished with Woods, Parks, Rivers, Cities, and Towns of Note, infomuch; that of confiderable Rivers there are found 352, and on them 847 Bridges of Note, Cities 25, Market Towns 588, Parishes 8760, Arch-Bishopricks 2, Bishopricks 23. Forrests 61, Parks 752, Chaces 12, and had before the grand unnatural Rebellion, 134 Castles, but during that tedious VVar, many of them were demolished: the whole Countrey confifting of pleasant Valleys, moderately rising Hills, flourishing Fields and Medows, that it may suffice to live upon its own plenty, without the help or affiftance of any other Nation, and for stately Buildings and many other Curiofities too many to be contained in a much larger Volume, if no other Countreys were spoken of : We must wave them, seeing we are at home, and suffer the Experience of the knowing Reader to supply the omission.

m

re

u

h

C

le

m

WALES is properly a part of England, but seeing it is generally divided, or accounted a Principality, &c. we think it not amiss to speak of it by it self, viz. This Countrey is from East to West about a 100 Miles, and from North to South 120; and in it are found 965 Parishes, 55 Market Towns, 4 Bishopricks, 67 Castles, 230 Rivers, 99 Bridges of note, 28 Parks, 6 Forrests, and 1 Chase, and is divided into the Shires of Brecknock, Anglesey, Cardigan, Carmaerthen, Carnarvan, Denbigh, Flint, Radnor, Glamorgan, Merioneth, Montgomery, Pembrook and Monmouth, containing both North and South Wales, stretching into the Sea like a large Promontory, Fruitful in many places, where the Mountains raise not their Heads, especially the Isle of Anglesey, which of it self is held sufficient to seed the whole Countrey, for its store of Cattle and abundance of Corn; this Countrey yielding fundry Commodious Harbours and Landing Places, commercing at once with England and Ireland; and has for its Chief Towns, Radnor, Carnarvan, Brecon, St. Davids, Cardriff, Carmaerthen and Monmouth, most of them very pleafantly seated, and of considerable Trade; the Natives very Industrious and much given to Labour, Frugal, and for the most part Thrifty; nor may we spare to sum up these two Countreys, so mostly distinguished in the Epitome of the Poet, viz.

For Mountains, Bridges, Rivers, Churches fair; Women and Wooll, they both are past compare.

SCOTLAND is the next confiderable part that compacts the British Empire or Kingdom of Great Britain, separated from it only by the Tweed and Solway, and the Hills extending from one to the other, and is held to be 406 Miles in Length, tho in Breadth ut seeing ncipality, t self, viz. ut a 100 in it are Bishopof note. divided Cardigan, Radnor. brook and th Wales. montory, ains raise esey, which ole Counof Corn; ious Haronce with ef Towns. , Cardriff, very plea-; the Na-Labour, or may we mostly diiz.

ipply the

es, fair ;

part that m of Great Tweed and one to the gth, tho in Breadth Breadth not proportionable, being in some parts but 60 from Sea to Sea, divided properly into two parts by the River Tay, viz. South and North, the former Division being both Fruitful and Populous, and again sub-divided into the Counties of Merch, Teviotdale, Lorbian, Liddesdale, Eskedale, Annandale, Niddesdale, Galloway, Carrick, Kyle, Cunningham, Arran, Cliddesdale, Lennox, Sterling, Fife, Stratberne, Menteith, Argile, Cantire, Lorn, all comprehended in South Scotland: Loquabrea, Braidalbin, Perth, Athole, Angus, Merns, Mar, Buquhan, Murrey, Rosse, Southerland, Cathaness, and Strathavern, North Scotland; and in this Kingdom are found Two Arch-bishopricks, viz. St. Andrews and Glascow, under whom are Eleven Suffragan Bishops; and here the Chief City is Edenburg, a City principally composed of one large Street, about a Mile in length, of very good Building; the rest less confiderable, the throughout the whole Kingdom are many fair Ciries, Towns, and Villages.

The Principal Islands lying upon the coast of Great Britain and Subject to it, are the Islands of Wight, Man, Anglesey, Fersey, Guernsey, the Orcades or Isles of Orkney 30 in Number; the Chief of which are Pomania, Hethy, and Sheathland, all very Fruitful, abounding with Carele and Corn: The Hebrides ao in number, but many of them rather Rocks than Islands, the Chief being Illa and Jona, the ancient Burying place of the Scottish Kings: Mulla, where the Redshanks Inhabited, once so frightful to the English: The Swlings containing 145 Islands, but none of note, except Armath, Sanfad, and Scilly, after the name of which the rest are called for the most pare; some others there are on this Coast, but fearcely worth noting, as yielding little Trade or Commodity.

IRELAND, a Kingdom in Subjection to Britain by right of Conquest, separate from England only by by a tempestuous Sea, of about a days Sail; and is as all other Islands of note, scituate in the Ocean, or invironed with Sea, &c. containing in Length 400, and in Breadth 200 miles; and especially divided into four Provinces, viz. 1. Munster, divided again into the Counties of Limrick, Kerr, Cork, Waterford, Desmond, and Holy Cross in Tipperary, 2 Lemster again divided into the Counties of the East and West Menths, Kilkenny, Caterlough, Kings County, Queens County, Kildare, Weixford, Dublin, and Wicklock; 2. Connaught, divided into the Counties of Clare, Thumond, Galloway, Majo, Slego Letrim and Roscommon, 4. Ulfter, divided into the Counties of Tyrconnel, or Dunhal, Tyrone the upper and nether, Fermanagh, Cavan or Cravan, Monaghan, Colrane, Antrim, Down, Armagh and Lough. And of this Kingdom the chief City is Dublin, mostly in abited by the English, pleasantly seated and very commodious for Trade, which renders it the chief Seat of Justice, and a Bishops See; besides which are Waterford, Tredagh, Limrick, Armagh, and others of leffer note. The Country is in many parts very f uitful but being incumbred with Hills and Boggs, a great deal of it lies wafte, and the more for the fluggishness of the Natives, who agree not with Labour, though otherwise Sharp and Crasty, hardy of Temper, and Living upon slender Fare; however the Rivers abound with Fish, especially Salmon, and the Hills and Valleys with Cattle; insomuch that a Cow or a Horse may be purchased at about half a piece of our Money; and one thing remarkable here is, that no poisonous Creature can five upon this Coast, and of such force is even the Wood brought from Ireland into England and other Countries, that no Spider will fasten a Cob-web on it.

The Isle of Oleron, is scituate against the French Province of Xaintoigne, South of the Isle of Rhee,

i

C

al

d tc

po

in

th

el C

of

Ce

famous for the Maritime Laws, established here by Richard King of England; tho for nothing more than the quantities of Salt sent hence into France, and other parts.

RHEE or REE, is a pleasant Island about 10 English Miles in length, and 5 in bredth, and has in it the Towns of La Butte, de Mont, St. John de Mont, St. Hillary and St. Martins, famous for the defence, the Protestants made here against the power of France, but fatal to the English in their attempt to rescue them.

ALDERNY is an Island distant about 6 miles from Cape Hagge in Normandy, very Rockey and hard of access, and not exceeding 8 miles in compass consists but of one considerable Town, called from the name of the Haven Lacrab; it not containing above 100 Families, nor is the Island of any considerable Trade.

The SARK is an Island about 6 Miles in compass not much distant from the former; and is subject to it, being of little Trade or Moment, and these being all of note in the Neighbouring Seas, we proceed to those more Northern and Remote, which are

GROEN-LAND under the Frigid Zone, where the Cold is so extream that it is scarce habitable, though accounted in length 600 miles; yet having St. Thomas, and Alba for its chief Towns supported mostly by the Fishing trade.

ISELAND an extream cold Country, extending 400 Miles, yet thinly Inhabited; and from this Region come the Shock Dogs, so much in esteem; and here contrary to Countries, the Oxen and Rine have no Horns; the Trade to it being mostly upon the account of the Fishery, and that for Ling; few Trees except Juniper growing in the Country.

FREEZ-LAND is an Island reforted to by the English, Flemings, Danes, Scots, and Hansmen, upon the account of the Fishery.

ne French of Rhee, fa-

Sail; and

the Ocean,

in Length

ecially di-

er, divided

Cery, Cork,

Tipperary,

of the East

gh, Kings

d, Dublin.

e Counties

go Letrim

counties of

d nether.

n, Colvane,

hd of this in!:abited

ery com-

chief Seat

which are

nd others

parts very

ind Boggs,

ore for the

with La-

ty, hardy

re; howe-

y Salmon,

insomuch

at about

remark-

can five

even the

ed and o-

Cob-web

NOUA-ZEMBLA lies extream North, under 78 Degrees, so cold that no Human Creature is capable of Inhabiting of it in Winter, unless driven by Distress, or Fatal Necessity; as were once about 14 Dutch-men, who during their abode there, strugled with so many Miseries, as are almost unexpressible; however Bears and Foxes are sound there, and great store of Sea Fowl, 1900.

fq

m

m

0 lv

fe

ir

n

tl

0 u

G

ec

So to co pic

SIR HUGH WILLOUGABT'S Island, rather infamous than famous, as having its Name only from that Adventurous Gentleman's being found Frozen to Death in his Ship, upon the Coast.

GREEN-LAND, doubtful whether Island or Continent, noted only for the Whale Fishery, Ge. otherways so extream Cold, as not to be Habitable after the Season, unless by force; which Fate several English sound, by overstaying the Ship, Ge. and were forced to subsist on the Flesh of Bears, Foxes, and Whale Fretters, in a little Hutt under Ground, induring a lingring Torment, worse than Death, will the Ships returned; at what time some of them (though unexpectedly) were found alive.

Having thus far proceeded briefly to the Northern Islands, we now proceed to the more Eastern Islands.

TENEDOS is an Island seated in Pontus Enxinus, for the Black Sea, so called from the dark Mists that arise, where it charges name into that of the Hellessipont, not very big, but Fruitful, and pretty well inhabited, samed for nothing more than its being taken upon the Greeks Expedition against the Trojans.

SAMOTHRACIA, called by fome Samos, from Samia the name of its Chief Town; feated in the Algean Sea, as also are Lemnos, Lesbos, or Mittelene, Chios, or Scio, Eubaa, Scyror, Salamis, the Sporades, and the Cyclades, or the Isles of the Arches, most of them in the hands of the Turks, and of no considerable note, though heretofore divers of them were independent, and notable Sca-saring Islands, samed for under 78 eure is caless driven re once a. bode there, almost unare found

, rather inonly from nd Frozen r Island or thery, Oc. e Habitable Fate fevep, &c. and ers, Foxes, er Ground nan Death, e some of nd alive. e Northern ern Islands. es Euxinus, Mists that he Trojans. mes, from ed in the Mittelene. e Sporade:

file Helle-

ty well ins being ta-

es, most of considerahem were

ids, famed for

for many Wonders, and other strange matters by the Poets, the at this day they are exceeding Fruitful, many of them bearing Lemons, Oranges, Dates Figgs, Grapes, Olives, Apricocks, Mulberries, &c. affording a great number of Sill-worms, which yield much Silk; the Towns which are generally Havers. or Sea-ports, are pretty numerous, inhabited mostly by the Greek Christians, Turks, and Jews; and f om Lemnos is that Earth brought, so much in use for curing Wounds, stopping Fluxes, and expelling Poifons; and indeed all these Islands standing like Studs in the Sea, are so well refreshed and tempered by a mild and healthy Air, that for their Fruitfulness, they may be termed little Paradises of Delight, most of them having Towns or Cities of the same name for their Metropolifes or Chiefs. The Sporades, tho under one seeming denomination are in number 125. and the Chief of these are Mile, Canaton, and Affine; and the Chief of the Cyclades, are Delos and Coos, as likewise Parmos, where St. John was banished and wrote his Revelation: Giarras and fome few others of little note, lying some in Greece, and some in Asia; so accounted, as lying farther or nearer the shoar of either Countrey; especially in this case it cannot be distinguished to which of the n properly the Island belongs, especially if it be free from the Jurisdiction of any Monarch reigning upon the Continent.

A Description of the Isle of Creet, and other Islands.

THe Isle of Creet was very famous in former times, for being Mistress of those Seas, nor less for its Fruitfulness, and commodious Scituation for Traffick, as being posited between the Ionian, Libyque, Agean, and Carpathian Seas, and is now better known by the name of Candia, taken at several times by the Turks from the Venetians; and is in Cira.

Li. 3.

circuit about 650 Miles, abounding with Oyl, Wine, Corn, Cattle, and many other things of value, which made the Turks contend with the loss of much Blood, to posses themselves of the whole, when they had sound the sweetness of a part of it: As for Hills, Mountains, and Rivers of note, this Island affords not many, but has for its Chief Cities Rhetimo, Candia, and Canea, or New Candy, built by the Turks to secure their first possession in the Island; and in this plenteous Countrey Titus was Bishop: As for the other Islands lying about it there are only Claudia and Egelia; very Fruitful by reason of their seituation, but not considerable by reason of their smallness.

The Islands in the Ionian Sea described, &c.

CITHERA commonly called Serigo, held Sacred by the Poets to Venus, who took her other name from hence, lying about 5 Miles from Cape Mello in Peloponness; and altho it is not above 60 Miles in Compass, yet it yields such store of Fruits, Corn, and other Commodities of value, that it is esteemed the Jewel of this Sea, and was formerly called Porphyrus from the abundance of that fort of Stone digged out of its Mountains; and has for its Chief Town Capsalo, scituate on a small Haven, tho not so much frequented, by reason of its shallowness.

The Strophades are a brace of Islands, where Vlisses and Aneas are said to find the Harpy's, and indeed fit for such kind of Creatures only, by reason of their Rockiness, which renders them so barren, that only a few Greek, and some others (out of a desire to exercise their Religion without molestation) possess them.

. ZANT, an Island of the Venetians, not exceeding 60 Miles in Circumference, is yet so abundantly

ly E

por

whi

Por

Gra

wh

ver

and

to-

ind

jor

ing

hav

be'

the

cor Ri

M

as

D

of value, of value, e loss of e whole, art of it: te, this ef Cities of, built n in the Titus was about it Fruitful fiderable

ed, &c.

C. 2117

igo, held her other rom Cape above 60 of Fruits, hat it is formerly it fort of as for its ven, tho shallow there U-, and iny reason ren, that lesire to on) pos-exceedoundantly ly Fruitful, that it almost exceeds the credit of Report, producing the Grocery sort of Currants, for which it is famed above all other Places; also Pomegranates, Citrons, Oranges, Lemons, Olives, Granadires, Grapes, that make strong Wine, both white and red, and has for the Desence of its Haven a strong City and Castle, Inhabited by Greeks and Venetians, yet has the Missortune to be subject to Earth-quakes, though not extraordinary; and indeed the Country is not so Fruitful, but the major part of the Inhabitants are as wicked, not making it a scruple to Murther any, against whom they have conceived a Grudge.

The Echinades are five small Islands, supposed to be made by the Seas cassing up Sand Banks, and the Mud that comes out of the River Achelous, according to Poets speaking in the Name of that River, viz.

Flustus Nostriq; Marisq; &c.

The Fury of the Sea Waves, and my own, Continual heaps of Earth and Mud drew down, Which parted by the Inter-running Seas, Made as thou feeff the five Echinades.

And indeed they are rather Rocks, or hardened Earth, than any Island of note and so we leave

Miles, and contrary to the Eshinades, very Fruitful, as yielding Figgs, Olives, Rafins, Currants, Hony, Sweet Water, Mulberries, Pine, Date, Malvaff, Mulcadel, Vino Leatice, Wooll, Cheefe, Turkeys, Drugs, and Dyes, befides Cattle, Corn, and Rich Pastures; and has for its chief Towns, held under the Venerians, Guisardo, Nolo, and Argostoli, Inhabited by Greeks and Venetians; the people Civil, and very honest Dealers.

CORFU is another Island in the Ionian Sea, 44 Miles in Length, and 24 in Breadth; taking its name from the City of Corfu, seated at the soot of a large Mountain, on which to strengthen it, tho strong in it self, are two Fortresses, but chiefly out of the natural Rock; and tho the Southern part of this Island be mountainous and subject to hot Blass, yet the whole in general produces Corn, Oranges, Lemons, Pomegranets, Fig Trees, Olives, Wax, Honey, some Drugs, and many other pleasant Fruits, tho it has not in it any Rivers of note.

Who porn there, the new it has lest its own name, and is called Wal de Campare; in compass not above 56 Miles, and of little note, unless for the Reception of Pyrats that haunt this Sea.

St. MAURO, formerly called Lencadia, is a small Mand inhabited mostly by Jews, formerly the Venetians, but taken from them by the Turks; and altho at present it is not much set by, yet formerly was it of such esteem, that the Inhabitants cut an Isthmus of Two Miles breadth, that joyned it to the Continent, and was famous for the Temple of Apollo seated in it; from the top of which, those that leaped into the Sea were held to be cured of extravagant Love; better believed than experienced.

Of the Adriatick Sea, and the Islands therein.

The Adriatick Sea is that at the bottom of which the City of Venice is seated, it being accounted 700 Miles in Length, and 104 in Breadth, and has in it these Isles, viz.

MESINA, an Island about 150 Miles in Circumfetence, yielding considerable Plenty, and has only ple Civil,

n Sea, 44
tits name
of a large firong in of the naof this Ilafts, yet iges, LeVax, Hot Fruits, o Ulysses, its own npass not for the is a small the Venelaltho at was it of thmus of ontinent, ceated in into the we; betberein.

f which counted and has cumfeis only a strong Foreress for its Desence, the Towns being mostly unwalled, and but indifferently stored with Houses or Inhabitants.

LISSA or Clissa, is another of the Adriatick Islands 20 Miles over, and 60 in Circumference, very Fruitful, and in Subjection to the Venetians, who only defend the Sea Ports, and by that means hold the rest in Subjection.

CURZOLA a place not exceeding 60 Miles in Circumference, yet of great moment to the Venetians in rendring them Wood sufficient to build their Ships and Galleys; having the Chief Town of the same name with the Island, defended by Two strong Fortresses, Commanded by a Governour, revoked or changed yearly; and altho the Island it self affords no extraordinary Merchandise, yet it lies Commodious for Ships Trading in those parts.

The Mediterranean Sea Considered, together with the Islands therein.

The Mediteranean Sea is so called from its Midlard Scituation, as being environed with the Earth, drc. and in it are sound these Islands of Note, viz.

SICILT, about 700 Miles in Circumference, famed throughout the World for its Fertility, producing Oyl, Corn, Wine, Rice, Sugar, Alloms, Salts, Fruits, Mettals, Corral; and of Cattle fuch abundance, that it feeds not only it felf but a great part of Italy and other Neighbouring Countries, and was accounted the Granary of ancient Rome; nor can the New well subsist without its supplies: And here is found the Flaming Mount Ætna, which frequently has such horrible Eruptions, that it not only sends Stones and Cinders with Fire into the Air an incredible height, which scatter over many parts of the Countrey, but to the great Missortune of the Inhabitants, and many times to the overthrow of Towns and Cities, emitteth streams of Liquid Fire or melted Minerals, which have been known to run in a Fiery Torrent a mile into the Sea, before the Waves could extinguish them; and here the Chief Cities are Mesina and Syracuse; and the whole Countrey at present is under the King of Spain, tho formerly it was an entire Kingdom Governed by a King of its own; the Kings of Sicily, larely stiling themselves Kings of Jerusalem; and the people are much of the nature of those in Italy, from which the Island is divided by a small Arm of the Sea only.

Ļş

MALTA, anciently Melita, the Landing Place of St. Paul in his way to Rome, when the Viper clave to his hand, and he shook it into the Fire, is a fair. Island, the but little in Compass, yielding store of Oranges, Lemons, Figgs, Citrons, Corroons, Pomgranats, and many other delicious Fruits; but is so unhappy to be mostly deficient in Wine and Corn, by which it is supplied from Sicily and other. parts; however it is one of the Chief Sea Fortreffes or Bulwarks of Christendom against the Turks, Commanded by an Order of Knights, called the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, tho vulgarly termed or named the Knights of Malta; the whole Territory being to Leagues in Length and 4 in Breadth, yet contains 60 Villages, and 4 principal Cities; the Chief Valet, a strong and well Fortified City, where. in the great Master of the Order has his Palace, and the Knights their Chambers; as also a Tower from whence a Prospect may be taken of the whole Island.

CORSICA, Scituate over against Genoa, being 325 Miles in Circumference, and of a very Fruitsul Product, yielding Corn, Wine, Figgs, Raisins and Hony, and has in it Iron Mines, Mines of Allom, and other Minerals, and has for its chief Cities, Baflia, (pleasantly seated on the North East part of the Island, on a commodious Haven) Mara, Gallera, St. Florence, St. Bonsface, and some others of lesser note, and is under the Government of Genoa, and to run

bre the he Chief
e Counin, tho
ed by a filling ople are ich the only.
Place of er clave
is a fair tore of

is a fair fore of s, Pombut is ne and d other reffes or Com-

Knights ned or erritory h, yet s; the where, and r from Island.

being ruitful ns and Allom, es, Bapart of, Galleers of Genoa, and and affords a Beast, rarely sound but in this Island, called Musoli, with a Skin like a Deer, but harder by many Degrees, and Horns like a Ram; and here are bred an Excellent Race of good Horses, and is an Island much noted for its good Havens, upon the Account of the Reception for Shipping, Trading in the Mediterranean.

sARDINIA is another Island of this Tract, nor above 7 Miles distant from the former, though much larger, as not held to be less than 560 Miles in compass, abounding with Corn and Fruit, as being but little troubled with Hills; and though the Soil is Rich, yet no Poisonous nor Offensive thing is found in the Island, having for its principal Cities. Coliaris, (well Inhabited and Fortified, seated upon a good Haven, being an Arch Bishops See) Reparata, Bossa, and Aquilastra, and in the whole Island are two other Arch-Bishops, and 15 Sussingan Bishops; the People throughout this Island demeaning themselves courteous to Strangers, and are very just in their dealings.

The Baleares are fundry Islands found in this Sea, and the greatest of these are Majorca and Minorca.

MAJORCA is an Island about 300 Miles in Circumference, lying about 60 Miles from the Coast of Spain, all the Borders of it being Mountainous, and for the most part Barren, but the Inland Countrey, Fruitful, bearing Corn, Olives, Grapes, Fruits of sundry Kinds, and has in it the City of Majorca, a University; and that of Palma.

MINORCA is about 9 miles distant from the former, and 150 miles in Circumference, having for its Principal Cities or Towns, Minorca, and Javan, and is a Flourishing Island, especially the Inland Parts, both of them under the King of Spain: near to these are two other small Islands, viz. Ebrisa, and Olibusa, considerably Fertile, but not large, well Inhabited, or of any considerable Trade, there are moreover the lesser Islands dispersed abroad as the Vulcanian or Æslian Islands, on the Sivilian Shoar; the principal of which is Lipra, not exceeding 10 miles in Circumserence, and are both properly called the Liparean Islands, and abound with Sulphur, Allom, Bitumen, hot Raths, and some Fruits, though not much, as being very Rockey and Mountainous, yet Inhabited by some Spaniards.

of Vulcan, where he made Thunder-bolts for Jufiter, by reason it cast out Fire in three rising Hills, like the Funnels of Chimneys, casting up Stones, and horribly Roaring like a Smiths Forge.

STROMBOLO is another Æhan Island, or rather a Burning Mountain in the Sea, carrying its Flames and Fire so bright, that it appears like a Beacon, and may be seen in the dark for many Leagues; held by some who know no better, to be the mouth of Hell; when indeed this and all other Burning Mountains are occasioned by the firing of Minerals, or the unchous Quality of the Earth; thro the vehement Agitation of Heat and Cold, strugling for mastery in the vacant Caverns, &c.

There are in this Tract 18 Islands, called the Isles of Naples, but only Isica, and Capra, and Anaia are of any moment, and these so small, that they render little Trade: There are others called the Ligurian Islands, viz. Elba and Gallinara and some others, rather Rocks than Islands; wherefore we pass them over as unworthy a place in this Book; and thus much to these Islands.

The Oriental Islands are those of the Eastern Seas, and to these by many (tho somewhat improperly) are reckoned Rhodes and Cyprus, Two samous Islands in the Mediterranean, exceedingly abounding in all manner of Plenty, and have for their Chief Cities Famagusta and Rhodes, both Famous for their Strength

Strongeh, and the Sieges they fustained against the whole Power of the Turks.

ORMUS, lying upon the Athiopian Coast, and a place much frequented, spoken of before.

ZELON, a Famous Island for Plenty, lying not far from the Indian Coast called Cape Comerein.

MOLOCOES, Six Islands in Chief, but have many other subject to them, viz. Tidar, Tarnate, Mactr., Rachian, Machin, and Bostone, the only Islands, fruirfully abounding with Cloves, Nutmegs, Ginger, Cinamon, Aloes, and Pepper, for which they are much Traded to by the Europeans.

AMBOTNA is an Illand Fruitful in Lemons, Oranges, Cloves, Cocoa's, Bonanus Sugar Canes, and other valuable Commodities; and here it was the Dutch executed their Inhumane Cruelties on the English, and is called one of the Islands of Sinda or Selebes; the other Three being the Selebes, Magassar, and Gilolo, considerably Rich and Plemisul, but Inhabited partly by Canibals, and partly by a rude fort of people, little inferiour to them; and next to these is Banta or Banda, abounding with Nutmegs.

JAVA MAJOR and Minor, are Two extraordinary Islands abounding with Spices, Rice, and Corton and all other things necessary for the subsistance of Life, Governed by many Kings, which are in continual War with each other; and in this Tract arc Bala and Madara, Bosuro, Burnes.

dia, as indeed are most of the Oriental Islands named, 700 Miles in Length, and 200 in Breadth; and to these of this Tract we may add the Philippne Islands, many in number, but most of them small spots or specks in the Sea; and the Chief of these Islands, being in the possession of the Spaniards, are Minbanao, Lusson, Tandain, and Pollshan, abounding with Fruit, Cattle, pleasant Rivers, Fowls, Gr.

Sicilian
not exre both abound hs, and g very y fome

abroad

e Forge or Jupiig Hills, Stones, rather Flames Béacon, es; held outh of Burning linerals, the veling for led the and Æill, that is called in and nerefore is Book; operly)

famous ounding
F Chief
for their Strength

Here are also the two Islands of Avira, lying West ward of Sumatra.

The Islands of Africa Described.

MADAGASCAR, a large Island of 1000 Miles in Length, and 230 Miles over, Inhabited by Negroes, where either Sex go Naked, and confequently there is no Imployment for Taylors; yet with the Natives the Europeans Trade, tho mostly for Slaves, Copper, Gold, Silver, &c. and in this Tract are found the Islands of Chameree, Meottey, Mohelia, Mauritius, Johanan, an a Woody Island, called Englands Forrest, but of no Trade, though considerably Fruitful.

Socotora, is an Island lying at the Mouth of the Red Sea, 60 miles in length, and 64 in breadth, abounding with Gums, Aloes, Spices, &c. Here are also the Island of St. Thomas, the Princes Island, and the Gorgades, in number 9, viz. St. Vincent, St. Anthony, St. Lucius; Buenavisita, Insula, Salu, Del Fogo, St. Nicholas, St. James, and St. Majo.

The Canary Islands are in number 7, viz. The Grand Canary, La Palma, Teneriffa, Lancerota. Hictorio, Forte Ventura, and La Gomera; all of them very plentiful, abounding with Fruits, Cattle, Coc. But above all, the Canarys yield us the Wine, taking its name from the Country; and in one of them is found the Mount Teneriff, much transcending the Clouds, as being 15 miles in ascent.

Madera is a famous Island, first discovered by an English Ship, cast away upon the Coast, now abounding with Corn, Wine, Honey, Sugar Canes, and Madder, wied in Dying: and upon the Coast is Holy Port, an Island, though but 15 miles in compass, very fruitful and pleasant.

The

Ve

tle

m ar

an

T

CO

pr W

th

Well

o Miles habited nd conrs; yet mostly lin this Meottey, Island, though

of the creadth, Here Is Island, cent, St.

iz. The ota, Hicof them ttle, Gc.
e, taking of them cending ered by now a-Canes, ne Coast in com-

The

The Azores are 9 in number, viz. Tercera, the principal, St. Michael, St. George, St. Mary, Fyall, Gratiofa, Pico, Corno, and Flores, not being very Fruitful, except the first.

Hesperides, or the Hesperian Islands, are 3 in number, viz. Buanista, Mayo, and Sal, lying about an 100 miles from the Continent of Africk, being in themselves not only Fruitful, but exceeding pleafant, by reason of the remperate Air, which occasioned the Poetical Fictions, of their being the Elizium Fields, or aboad of happy Souls after their departure.

The American Islands, &c.

In breadth, very pleasant and temperate, considerably Fruitful, abounding with Oranges, Lemons, Cocoa Nuts, Pomgranates, and other curious Fruits, abounding with Cattle as England, the Trees alwaies Green, Oc.

BARBADOES, an other English Colony, is very well inhabited, yielding store of Sugar, Cattle, Corn, &c. though not exceeding 14 or 15 miles in length.

BERMUDES, called the Summer Islands, are very pleasant, abounding with Oranges, Sugar, and other Commodities, breeding in their Mulberry Trees, great store of Silk-worms, which return to considerable account.

ST. CHRISTOPHERS is a small Island, yet produces store of Tobacco, Cotton, Ginger, sull of Woods and steep Mountains, and is possessed by the English and French.

NEVIS, about 18 miles in circumference, is a Colony of the English, and produces Cotton, Sugar, Ginger, &c.

AN.

MNTEGO is about 7 Leagues in length, and as much in breadth, with very rocky Shoars, unfafe for Shipping, yet abounding in Fruit, Fish, Venison, Tobacco, Indico, Sugar, &c.

HISPANIOLA, 350 Leagues in Circumference, very Fruitful, as are all the Islands in this Tract, viz. Cuba, Laba, Balima, Lucayoneque, Abacoo, Biminy, Labaquene, Viemo, Curateo, Gotao, Oquaato, Samana, St. Salvador, Le Triangedo, St. Vincent. Dominica, Anguila, and some others, scarcely taken notice of by Historians, as for the most part not inhabited, yet visited frequently by the Neighbouring Islanders, upon the account of the wild Cattle and Fruits found in them; and for the conveniency of the Fishing Trade. And upon these Coasts of America; are lately settled two Colonies of English, in Penlylvania and Carolina, very prosperous and thriving: But not having more room for a further Description, we must, after having thus far proceeded pura period to this our History of the Universe.

Hoping 'twill find acceptance, since Mank' To struggle for the World is much inclined.

FINIS

and as unfafe enifon, rcumfein this Abacoo, Iquaato, Vincent, y taken not inighbouighboud Cattle eniency oafts of English, ous and further proceediverse.

