PRIVATE CAR TELESCOPED

Heavy Train, Running Fifty Miles an Hour, Crashes Into Passenger Express—Son of Former Secretary of War of United States Among Dead

(Canadian Press) Central, Ill., Jan. 22.—T. Harahan, former president of the Illinois Central Railroad, F. O. McElher, second vice president of the Rock Island Railway, and two others were killed in a collision this morning when the Illinois Central, running fifty miles an hour, crashed into the rear of a passenger train No. 25.

In addition to Harahan and McElher, R. P. Ferris, general solicitor of the Rock Island, and Edw. E. Wright, son of the former secretary of war, Luke B. Wright of Memphis, Tenn., are numbered among the dead. Twenty passengers were more or less seriously injured.

The engine of the heavy loaded ploughed through Mr. McElher's car, and jammed into a Pullman coach directly ahead of it. The train stopped. The terrible impact of the collision drove the brakes locked on train No. 25, two hundred feet down the right of way.

Both trains were late. Train No. 25 was late at Kimmunity at 11:25 o'clock, last night, but did not arrive until nearly one o'clock this morning. The limited, which does not stop at Kimmunity, was scheduled to pass through at half past twelve. It was running half an hour late.

ANOTHER NEGRO FAMILY VICTIMS OF MURDER

After Mother and Three Children Slain—Investigation on Door of The Home

Lake Charles, La., Jan. 22.—Bodily mutilated the bodies of Felix Broadus, his wife and three children, aged eight, six and three, negroes, were found in a home here, making the second wholesale negro murder in this state within a week and the sixth in the year.

A blood stained rug was found beneath the bed upon which the bodies lay. No clue to the immediate cause of the murders except the inscription, written on the front door of the Broadus home, "When he maketh the inquisition for blood he forgetteth not the cry of the humble human being."

STEEPLEJACKS FALL 130 FEET FROM ROOF OF A CHURCH IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—Two steeplejacks fell 130 feet to death, when one of them attempted to save his companion, who had slipped from a ladder on the top of the North Broad street Presbyterian church.

When a passerby, who had seen their terrible fall, reached their bodies, he found the hand of Herman Greenwald still clutching the clothing of August John, who he had vainly attempted to save.

The men were engaged in placing new steeple on the high steeple of the church. John was on a ladder, slipped and started to slide down the steep incline. As he went past, Greenwald, who was standing on the ledge, the ladder slipped from his hands, and he was dragged to death with him.

CHURCHILL WILL BE THERE

ORANGE SHIPYARD MEN WITH BOLTS AND RIVETS AS WEAPONS; HIBERNIANS TO ASSEMBLE FROM ALL PARTS—POLICE TO BE STRENGTHENED

(Canadian Press) London, Jan. 22.—The Daily Telegraph this morning announces authoritatively that Winston S. Churchill will go to Belfast to speak for home rule on February 8, so matter what opposition may be offered. The newspaper's Belfast correspondent declares that both sides, Orange and Nationalist, have fire arms and that Churchill is certain to be shot.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Belfast says eight thousand Orange shipyard workers will march down the streets with their pockets filled, as on previous occasions, with bolts and rivets, which are more formidable than bullets.

The Daily Chronicle's Belfast correspondent says the Liberals are determined not to submit to any law. Huge contingents of armed members of the Hibernian order will travel from many parts to Belfast to protest Mr. Churchill, and police from all the neighboring districts will be summoned to the city.

New York, Jan. 22.—A London cable to the Sun says: "All the elements are present for most serious trouble in the North of Ireland if Winston Churchill, John Redmond and other prominent leaders carry out their intention of making speeches in favor of home rule at the meeting scheduled to be held in Belfast on Feb. 8."

The Honor of the Big Snows

By James Oliver Curwood Author of THE DANGER TRAIL

(Synopsis of Previous Chapters) As Melissa, with a gasp, saw the Canadian man, she knew that she was in the presence of the man who had saved her life.

CHAPTER XIII.—(Continued) Cummins and Jan sat their last supper together, with Melissa sitting between them.

CHAPTER XIV.—A Long Waiting. The next morning Jan struck out over his old trail to the Hasabala.

"They have gone up among the Eskimos," he said to himself. "Ah, Kanan, what is the name of the Eskimo is that?"

"The leading dog dropped upon his haunches with a menacing growl as a long figure staggered across the snow toward them."

"The fend himself has got into my cabin, and for three days I've had nothing but snow and a raw whiskyjack."

"Sick!" cried Jan, drawing a step away from him.

"Yes, sick from an empty belly, and this, and this!" He showed a forearm done up in a bloody rag, and pointed to his neck, from which the skin was peeling.

"I was gone ten days with that red cloth you gave me; and when I came back, if there wasn't the horror itself grinning at me from the top of my own shanty!"

"I tried to get in, but my wife barred the door, and said that the world about me if I didn't get back into the woods. I tried to steal in at night through a window, and she drowned me in hot water."

"I built a wigwam at the edge of the forest, and stayed there for five days. Hoop! Hoop! Hoop! I had no matches, no grub; and when I got close enough to yell these things to her, she kept her word and plunked me through a crack in the door, so that I lost a pint of blood from this arm."

"I'll give you something to eat," laughed Jan, undoing his pack. "How long has the red flag been up?"

"I've lost all count of time, but it's twelve days, if an hour, and I swear it's going to take all winter to get it down!"

"You're not the plague, O back and forth your wife so."

"And get shot for my pains!" roared Croisset, digging into meat and biscuit. "I'm bound for Lac Beau, if you'll give me a dozen matches. That whiskyjack will remain with me until I die, for when I see him I forget to take out his insides!"

"You're a lucky man, Croisset. It's good proof that she loves you. If bullets and hot-water and an empty

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

To be truly happy is a question of how we begin and not of how we end. OF WHAT WE WANT AND NOT OF WHAT WE HAVE. An aspirant who can be a joy forever, a possessor of joy, year by year, a revealer of pleasurable activity.

The daughter of one of the wealthiest men in our town has recently been married.

Her father's wedding gift to her was a house completely furnished. The house stands on the edge of a fine lawn. It is a beautiful big building with wide front, open fireplace, and a splendid view.

By most of the young girls in the neighborhood this girl is considered quite the most fortunate girl who ever was married.

Don't you pity her, you people who have known all the best grand ladies in the city, all the interest of planning and waiting and contriving, and all the satisfaction of acquisition and a hundred-fold interest by the delay?

And how can she experience the excitement and elation which possessed you, when you found the particular Oriental rug you had admired for years, had actually been made down within your grasp?

Now, planning and contriving are equally good sauces for the meal of life.

In my mind, the young people who start out with the necessities and a few of the luxuries, are far better off than the young folks who have almost everything.

An Actress Who Married Son of Egyptian Prince—Bona Law's Course

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company)

As there is a report in the United States American press who figured on the stage as Orla Humphrey, but who now styles herself "Princess Ibrahim Hassan," is a woman who has never recanted in her marriage to the Egyptian prince.

It is simply a matter of fact that the prince and princess are now in Egypt, and the prince is the son of the late Khedive of Egypt.

Now Ibrahim Hassan, who married Orla Humphrey at a registry in London, is the oldest, but the second son of the late Prince Hassan, who was the brother of the late Khedive of Egypt.

Moreover, it is just as well that the prince and princess, authorized by the prince, are of doubtful legality, or that the prince is a man of no rank.

THE LAND TAX

Toronto. Saturday Night lately published an illustrated article showing how the land tax works out in Edmonton, and presents the speculator on holding vacant lots without improvement. One photograph shows a block on which is a fine building, the assessment being $36,800 which is the value of the land. The opposite corner has only a small frame building and this property, too, is assessed at $36,800.

BAD MANNERS

Mr. Joseph Fels may know a good deal about taxation, but if he is correctly reported in the Toronto press he still has something to learn about manners. Mr. Fels is alleged to have said to the Liberator present in a Toronto audience: "I consider that your defeat of reciprocity was really a victory, although you snored your own party under to do it. I was very sorry I was not here to put a couple of respectful dirt on top. The reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States was a fraud on Canada. By scientific tariff reform (God forgive the expression) the Yankees were trying to trick you. But you would not be tricked, and I congratulate you from the bottom of my heart."

DEAD ONES WAKING UP

The following interesting statement appears in the Ottawa Citizen (Conservative): "Steel interests and stockholders in those concerns are vitally interested in the report that the government is likely to grant, temporarily at least, a bounty of ninety cents a ton on pig iron pending an enquiry by the tariff board into conditions surrounding the industry in general. This amount is suggested probably because it was that figure which was paid when the bounty expired at the end of 1910. The total payments in that year on pig iron were $270,000."

THE NEW AGRICULTURE

There are still very many farmers in Ontario as well as in others of the older provinces of Canada who have not adopted right methods and are therefore not making the profit they should on their operations. The number is increasing, however, of those who do realize that old methods will no longer serve their needs. The Toronto Globe, in an article on "the new agriculture," discusses the subject in the following interesting and instructive manner: "The agriculturists now in the lead in their art are the heirs of those who were wise enough a few years ago to adopt methods whereby the old wasteful treatment of the soil was superseded by a system that not only conserved soil fertility but improved its texture and added to it the elements essential to vigorous and complete plant life. Perhaps the chief discovery they made in this respect was the value of clover as a soil renovator and manure lifter. Then there is the class of farmers who have conserved their farm resources by feeding farm products rather than selling their hay and grain. The best of this class have studied balanced rations, both for their fattening cattle and for their dairy herd. No pains are spared to supply each animal with the requirements of its individual need. Such stock no longer feed their animals fodder simply because it is cheap, but they feed the food that brings about the largest profits. A further refinement is made in this regard when the herd is carefully culled, with a view to feeding only the animals that are paying their way. The star boarder no longer finds a place in the thrifty farmer's byre. "The farm and its equipment represent capital invested, and when the farmer reckons up his year's work he must compute his profits and losses in view of his labor and capital expended. The up-to-date farmer no longer stumbles along trusting to luck or to the new or the dark of the moon, but he applies in the light of his most deliberate judgment and experience the best that careful observation can teach him. "Then there is the ever-growing necessity of the farmer utilizing his labor and his products to the needs of the time. In Canada of late years there has been an ever-growing home market. Indeed, the cry of the consumer is that the farmer is not keeping up a supply adequate to the demand. There is something wrong when Montreal merchants feel that they must import eggs from Russia. "In fact, the 1912 farmer regards himself as a manufacturer, and estimates his profits and losses with the same attention to detail that marks the alert, progressive manufacturer."

One portion of China is facing a famine which is far more devastating than civil war. Several millions of people are destitute and great numbers literally starving. Yuen Shi Kai has a special train in readiness to hurry him away from Peking. That does not suggest the spirit of a conqueror, or one who is master of the situation in China. When the people of St. John see the new map, showing the farms subdivided into city lots, with streets and lanes, they will realize that at least the forward movement has embraced the Courtenay Bay district.

The trouble in Belfast is not political but religious, although the Tory politicians are responsible for stirring up religious prejudice. Appeals of that sort are not in the public interest, whether in Belfast or in a Canadian city, and whether made by the spokesman of one church or another. Certain civic politicians in Montreal who were defeated two years ago, after the exposure of their methods by a royal commission, are again seeking to secure control of the city's affairs. Their return to power would be bad for Montreal, especially at a time when the city is confronted by problems arising out of a period of rapid expansion. In Montreal, as in St. John, this is a time for the citizens to make choice of able and reliable men to direct civic affairs.

The Montreal Herald says: "When the Conservatives were out of office the gentlemen who expressed their official views on questions of patronage in contracts were Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster and other adepts in the expression of righteous horror. Now that they are in office their spokesman is Major Currie, whose official admonition to the opposition is: 'Let them remember that the patronage belongs to the Tories and they'll get along better in this House!' How things do change."

The Victoria Colonist says: "Present indications are that New Zealand will adopt prohibition. The recent vote on the question showed a great territorial majority in favor of it and a very large numerical majority. Almost the whole northern island voted for prohibition—that is, nearly all the constituencies so voted. The greater part of the south island did the same. A New Zealand paper says that when once prohibition is adopted it will be the real thing, for the nearest whiskey shanty will be more than a thousand miles away."

There was a great sufferer for five years from dyspepsia. Dyspepsia is one of the most prevalent troubles of civilized life, and thousands of people suffer untold agony after every meal, for nearly everything that enters a weak dyspeptic stomach acts as an irritant. The long train of distressing symptoms, which render life a burden to the victim of dyspepsia, may be promptly cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. Mrs. Wm. J. Boyce, Leppas, N.B., writes: "I would like to write and tell you of the good Burdock Blood Bitters has done me and also tell you how thankful I am. "For five years I had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and tried different doctors and proprietary medicines, but could get no relief. One day a friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have much faith in it, but I thought I would give it a trial. To-day I am completely cured, and I will always recommend it."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about thirty-five years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHERE HE AIMED A prominent American, traveling abroad, was the guest at a royal hunt when he, pheasant and other game were driven before the emperor and his followers, and the servants picked up the victims of the sport. Among all the members of the hunting party, the American alone had no trophy to display. "How does this happen?" asked some one. "Where game is so plentiful," replied the American gravely, "the most remarkable scene is in its hitting nothing; so I fired between the birds."

THE CARELESS RESCUER. Lifeguards at a Jersey seaside resort tell with great gloom of an accident that happened there last summer. A German, with his boy of ten, was standing at the rail of one of the piers, quite out of the water. The boy, who suddenly the youngster tumbled through into the water. As no lifeguards were out that far at the time, a well-dressed young collegian on the pier, without waiting to divest himself of shoes or clothing, jumped in, and, after battling with the waves for some minutes, got the half-drowned boy to the beach. In the meantime the father had hastened from the pier. The parent, however, bore himself with great coolness. As the rescuer placed the dripping lad at his parent's feet the German calmly required: "Many thanks, but what has you done with his hat?"

MR. BARNHILL'S REGIMENTATION (Bangor Commercial). A. P. Barnhill, K.C., of St. John, chairman of the International St. John River Commission, has resigned, and the new government in Canada has appointed M. G. Ford, K.C., a prominent Conservative, to succeed him. It is given out in St. John that the reasons for the resignation of Mr. Barnhill are purely political. He was also a member of the International Waterways Commission, but was superseded on that commission by Mr. Powell of St. John as soon as the Conservatives came into power. Mr. Barnhill was head chairman of the International St. John River Commission, and general regret is felt on both sides of the boundary that he has withdrawn from the important post which he occupied. The commission has been at work over two years in an investigation of the conditions and uses of the St. John river and the advisability of the development of water storage, together with the expense involved. A great deal of work has been done by the commission and at its direction, and the end of it is as now in sight. The engineers are now completing a report on a scientific investigation of the river, and, with a little more testimony, the work will be practically over.

MR. BARNHILL HAS WORKED HARD in the interests of the commission, and he is to be regretted that he has felt it wiser to withdraw now that his duties are nearing an end. He is one of the ablest lawyers in the Dominion, and a prominent Liberal in politics. He is held in the highest esteem by the other members of the commission.

MR. EMMERSON'S SUGGESTION (Moncton Transcript). The Hon. Mr. Emerson early in December proposed, and the Hon. Premier Borden late in December borrowed the idea of establishing a railway car ferry across Northumberland Straits between the mainland of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. That the establishment of a railway car ferry, as proposed by the Hon. Mr. Emerson, is perfectly feasible is beyond question, but if Mr. Emerson proposes and Premier Borden borrows the idea merely as a temporary expedient in solving the problem of freight transportation between the island and the mainland, it is worthy of adoption, but it should be made clear at the outset that it is only a temporary expedient, and subject to the same limitations of continuous maintenance in the winter time as exists now.

AXE TO FALL IN ST. STEPHEN? Cor. Bangor Commercial. It is said that the political axe is about to fall in St. Stephen, and that a well-known immigration official holding appointment under the late Liberal government is among those slated to go. Inspector Sullivan has many friends on both sides of the line who will be sorry to have him booted, but it is the fortune of political warfare, and the victors are shouting for the spoils. Several customs officers across the line who have been receiving $100 per annum additional to their salaries as assistant immigration officers will find their little century cut off, as it is the intention of the powers that be in Ottawa to appoint two inspectors instead of one, who will have charge of the district now covered by Inspector Sullivan and his customs aides. Samuel McQuay and Herbert C. Maxwell, two well-known supporters of the Conservative party, are said to be slated for the positions. The dismissal of Inspector Sullivan will be made, it is said, on the ground of undue political activity in the recent election, but this is considered by the Liberals as being merely an excuse to give the job to party workers.

LOCAL NEWS

DEATH IN FAIRVILLE. John McFarlane of Mill street, Fairville, died on Saturday after a short illness. He is survived by his wife, three sons and one daughter. Mrs. Charles Anderson of north end. His funeral was held this afternoon.

FISH BUSINESS MERGER. The Halifax Chronicle says: "William Duff of Lunenburg, and his solicitor, J. Frank Matheson, were in the city on Thursday in connection with the completion of a deal concerning a merger in which a Halifax concern is interested. Organization in virtually completing Railway Commission with $200,000 capital, and the combination includes a running fish business in all of the fish centres of the province."

TO OTTAWA. The Fredericton Gleaner says that Premier Fleming and Attorney General Grimmer will return to Ottawa this week and on Friday will have a conference with Major Leonard, the chairman of the National Transportation Railway Commission, as to the province's claim for re-authorization for provincial timber lands used for right of way for the railway in this province. On Saturday they will present the fisheries claims at a meeting of the cabinet.

THE PHILHARMAS. The Philharmonic Club of German street met on Saturday for their social evening at the home of Miss Mabel Lera. The subject for the evening was "Witch Night," and after the reading of the story by Miss McNally, a scene from the play was acted. Miss Lewis, Miss Compton, Miss Staple, Miss Currier, Miss Babbitt and Miss Vaughan assumed the characters of Olivia, Maria, Marcello, Sir Toby Belch, the Clown and the Duke respectively and, dressed in costumes of the sixteenth century, provided much amusement. An extremely pleasant evening was spent.

THE BATTLE OF S. S. TUBIN. The Battle of S. S. Tubin, which went ashore on Cape Looe on the 17th inst., was acted off on the 17th inst. and proceeded under her own steam to Norfolk, Va., where she arrived on the 18th. A survey was held by Lt. Lloyd's inspectors and the steamer was found apparently undamaged and cleared seaworthy. After banking, the cleared steamer, having been given the name of "The S. S. Tubin," was cleared for salvage. The S. S. Tubin arrived at Norfolk on the 21st inst. and left for her home.

NOVA SCOTIA TIMBER MAPS. Kenneth C. Clark, one of the woods superintendents for Appleton & Sewell, foresters of Bangor and New Brunswick, returned from Nova Scotia, where, since early last fall, he has been engaged, together with a crew of eighty men, in making topographical timber maps for 250,000 acres of valuable timberland owned by the Dominion Lumber Co. of New York. The job is by far the largest one of the sort which has ever been done in Nova Scotia and one of the largest ever done in eastern Canada. Mr. Clark and his men are now engaged in working up their data and in writing their reports.

RAILWAY CLERKS HAD A PLEASANT EVENING

An enjoyable and successful smoker was held on Saturday evening in the O'Regan building by the Railway Clerks' International Union, which was well attended, and at which an entertaining and interesting programme was given, music being furnished by the club orchestra since the capable leadership of W. J. Conway. C. E. Jones gave a brief address on the advantages of St. John from many points of view. R. J. Macdonald followed with a piano solo and W. F. Hatfield, M.P.E., was heard in a short speech in which he referred to travel he had made to various parts of the province, but he was always glad to be again hearing St. John, and he cited several humorous incidents in his own experience.

Christopher Nichols' singing of "Marguerite" was a scene of commensuration, and then the chief centre of attraction was a four-round bout between two aspirants for honors, in fact, as the chairman, George McKean, announced, two local "white hopes." They were introduced by the chairman as "Cody McDonough, the Valley whirlwind," and "W. N. Collins, the North End Cyclone." They boxed four rounds. The returns from the auction picture rights were turned over to a pension fund for bachelor clerks of the order. Messrs. Eddy and Bailey gave a comedy sketch, followed by a solo by Walter Brown and a piano solo by K. Mills. Mr. Doherty of the Allan line staff was heard to advantage in "Casey Jones," and, as stated by Messrs. Baird and Inches, P. W. D. Campbell sang "Come Back to Erin," very pleasingly, after which the closing number was given by the orchestra, and a happy time brought to a close after refreshments were served a little before midnight.

IMPORTANT DEAL IN NEW BRUNSWICK SHALES

Word Is Expected From London at Any Time

The Times learns today that an important deal affecting New Brunswick oil shales is about to be consummated in London, in fact that word of the completion of the large transaction is expected very soon. No particulars are available as yet, but it is said this matter is apart from the Colborne-Lodge proposition, before referred to in the newspaper.

FATHER LUCKING DEAD

Provincial of Redemptorists and Had Visited St. John Several Times

Word was received in the city yesterday of the death of Rev. Father Lucking, C. S. R., provincial of the Redemptorist order, of which the preside in charge of St. Peter's, North end, is rector. Rev. Martin Maloney, C. S. R., of St. Peter's, will leave this evening to attend the funeral, which is to be held on Wednesday. Father Maloney will represent the local Redemptorist house.

SAYS DREW HELD HIM UP AT POINT OF REVOLVER

An incident of 1910 is Recalled in The Police Court Today

A very interesting case came up for hearing in the police court this morning, when George Drew, arrested last week on drunkenness charge, and who has been in jail on remand ever since, by Albert E. Dreyfus, who is claiming to hold him up and rob him in St. James street on December 21, 1910. The story, which was told in the Times, was that on that night in question, he was held up by some one who wore a big silver and black cap and who had his eyes covered with a blue bordered handkerchief. The holdup man had a revolver. Mr. Dreyfus, who was in the street at the time, did not see the holdup man, but instead called for help. The intruder took to his heels and ran up Spring street. Mr. Dreyfus gave chase but could not catch him.

In court this morning Mr. Dreyfus testified that the young man who had held him up, he said that the prisoner had formerly been in his employ and was just at the time of the hold up. He said that he would have had Drew arrested before but he had understood that he had money and was located in Ankerst. Drew denied all knowledge of the affair and said that he was not near St. James street on the night in question. He was remanded to jail.

PURCHASE COMPLETED

A. H. Harrington Now Owner of Prescott Property in Charlotte Street

The purchase of the Gleason Prescott estate property in Charlotte street by A. H. Harrington was completed on Saturday and the property is now in Mr. Harrington's name. The property consists of the Gleason Hotel with 100 feet frontage in Charlotte street and running back 200 feet to the Masonic Temple property, and two large brick buildings three stories in height forty by thirty feet each, facing Charlotte street. Mr. Harrington has not yet decided what changes, if any, he will make in the buildings of the tenants.

"JACK THE PEEPER" IN VICTORIA STREET

The presence of a "Jack-the-Peeper" was detected in Victoria street on Saturday evening and for a time about midnight proceedings were quite interesting, and with one family excepting until Policemen Jones was called and no more was seen of the visitor. Through a rear bedroom window in the house of a respectable family, a man was seen peering and the indignant master of the house went at once in pursuit but too late. A man was seen in the vicinity of the peeper. It is thought to be the "peeper." It is believed he could be identified. People living in the vicinity are prepared to receive another visit from the peeper in a manner which is calculated not to be particularly having.

PROBATE COURT

In the probate court today the master of the estate of John S. Nickerson came up on return of a citation to pass the accounts of James Myles, builder, and John J. Johnston, painter, executors and trustee of the will of the late John S. Nickerson, and from that time the accounts of the surviving trustee only. The accounts as filed were found to be satisfactory and were passed and allowed. J. A. Campbell is proctor for the trustee, J. A. Nickerson is proctor for Mrs. Annie Nickerson, the widow and chief beneficiary.
