The Great Indigestion Cure

Read this testimonial: Barren Road, Coley's Pt., May 17, 1915.

Barlo & Mercer, Shearstown. Dear Sirs,—I want to tell you of the wonderful good that your Great Indigestion Cure has done for me. I have been suffering with a bad stomach and indigestion for twenty years. I could not keep down my food for pain. I tried everything from the doctors but all failed in curing me, and I tried one bottle of the Great Indigestion Cure and now I can say I am feeling perfectly cured. I can recommend it to any person who is troubled with the bad stomach or indigestion. Don't fail in trying one bottle of the Great Indigestion Cure. I am more than glad to say it cured me. Try it. Yours truly, MRS. JOHN BRADBURY, Aged 81 years.

Dr. Pritchard and The Guardian

Last week we published the following item of news:

Dr. Pritchard's horse became frightened at Spaniard's Bay Wednesday by Dr. Atkinson's automobile. It backed the carriage over a wall and then immediately dashed forward, colliding with a cart as it rushed along. Mr. H. C. Thomson, who was in the carriage at the time, was thrown out, and slightly injured, the carriage was badly damaged and the horse received a few scratches.

On Saturday we received the following ambiguous communication from Dr. Lionel Pritchard, M.D., C.M.:

[Copy.] Editor Russell

Sir:—Seeing that my return to Bay Roberts was not considered by YOU of sufficient public interest to give space in your paper: I would ask you in future to refrain from referring to me, horse, or my belongings in any way when compiling your "FILE" of Bay Roberts notes.

Such a thing as a free add. (advertisement) from YOU would be most obnoxious to me. I can quite understand that a bit of the sensational would appeal to your news-writer's disposition, but at my expense, never. The real important news of the town naturally is overlooked by YOU. It is only necessary to read your weekly issue to see that. However, I do not in future wish you to exhibit my name in your print.

Enough said. Yours truly, LIONEL PRITCHARD, M.D., C.M. Bay Roberts, 29, S. E.

Whenever people have come to us requesting that their names do not appear in public print, at all times we have been aware that there were excellent reasons for their names not appearing.

The next time the learned doctor desires to cover any news that belongs to the public, he can write it in his usual prescriptive style. Whilst it may not be sufficiently intelligible to our readers, still it may cover his point. It seems that the doctor has been writing more than prescriptions lately. Is he trying to qualify for the editor's chair? Perhaps he would consent to take the Editor's chair for a week or two and give the readers of the Guardian "the real important news of the town."

This Homeopathic dose can be supplemented by an Alapathic pill. So come again, doctor, even if it is 2 o'clock in the morning, and get your next prescription filled from yours truly, THE EDITOR.

Obituary

On Wednesday night, May 26th, at French's Cove, Herbert, son of Mr. John Barrett, passed peacefully away to his eternal rest. He had been ill for the last four years, but was resigned to God's will, and bore all his sufferings without murmuring. He hoped until the last month that he would get better, yet when he knew that God would call him, he was quite satisfied to die. The sympathy of all will go to the father and sister who are left to mourn their loved one; also to the three brothers who are gone to serve their country, and another who is in Sydney.

Funeral took place on Sunday at 1 p.m. in the C. of E. Cemetery, the number of Yeagris Lodge, I. O. O. F., and a number of friends attending. The deceased was a Scarsdaleman.

Loving friends, weep not for me. I long to be at rest. How happy, happy I shall be. When followed on my Saviour's breast.

Note of Thanks

Mr. John Barrett and daughter desire to thank all who visited his dear son, Herbert, during his illness, and who helped to cheer him in his last hours. Also those who sent wreaths to adorn the coffin, viz: Miss Lizzie Badoek, Miss Irene Dale, Mrs. Eau Badoek, Mrs. Eau Mercer, Mrs. Reb, and Mrs. Wm. Dale, Miss Lizzie Churchill, Mrs. Abram Menchions, Mrs. Alan Parsons and Miss Lena Barrett, Mrs. Elisha Barrett, Miss Maggie Earle, Mrs. Edward Sparks, Mrs. Richard Bradbury, Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Wm. J. French, Mrs. Miss Eva Barrett, Mrs. John Marshall.

The family of the late Susanna French wishes to thank all those who assisted them in their recent bereavement; Also those who sent wreaths:—Miss Emily French, Miss Stella French, Mrs. Isaac Dawe, Miss Patience Russell, Miss Mary C. French, Mrs. Edward Snow, Mrs. Fanny Dawe, Mrs. Abram Seeley, Mrs. James Norman, Mrs. William H. French, Miss Selma French, Miss Letta LeRouch and Mrs. Joseph T. Parsons.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY

SYNOPSIS

Tuesday, April 27th, 1915.
The House met at 8 p.m., pursuant to adjournment.
Petitions were presented by Mr. Higgins, Mr. Halfyard, Mr. Clift, Mr. Winsor, and Mr. Stone.
Various questions were asked and answered.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on Supply.
Mr. Kest requested that the Government had not been fit to give a general statement of the finances of the Colony before going into supply. Our public expenditure was constantly increasing. The Estimates ought to agree more closely with the expenditure, and Supplementary Supply should thus be reduced. There were too many irregular expenditures, too many accounts overdrawn, and there were cases where amounts were transferred improperly from one account to another. Salaries and pensions had been created by the Executive Government which had not been voted in the Estimates. This was objected to every year, and it should not continue. Our gross public debt at present was about $2,000,000.00. The present Government had contributed greatly to this by their railway expenditure. A general statement covering temporary loans ought to be furnished before expenditure was gone into.

HON. MINISTER OF FINANCE justified some of the extraordinary expenditures which had been made. For instance, the losses of life in the sealing disaster called for a very large expenditure for attending to the condition of the country's finances. The Estimates were not an emergency payment in any sense; and, together with a small amount for war purposes spent before the September session, it accounted for almost all the extraordinary expenditure objected to. The Government could not foresee the pensions; they were not put in the last year's Estimates, because they were then not applied for. The same applied to the Government analyst and other officials; they were not appointed till after last session, so they could not then be provided for.

Mr. CLIFF thought the explanation a poor one. He emphatically protested against going on with Supply until some general statement had been given as to the condition of the country's finances. The Estimates were said to cover indispensable requirements only, but they were not reduced at all. The Public Service ought to be cut down (he did not refer to Civil Servants' salaries), so as to effect economy.

Mr. LLOYD said the Government were proceeding blindly, in spite of warnings. It was useless to go to the London market; now for a loan at 4 per cent. Canada had just had to give 4 per cent. on a loan at 6, and yet our Government talked about seeking one at 4 per cent.

Mr. MORINE said it had not been the practice in the past always to pass Supply before the financial statement. He, himself, in 1898 had made his Budget Speech simultaneously with the introduction of the Estimates. He also considered that the Government could not raise the proposed loan at 4 per cent. to replace the temporary loan.

Mr. COAKER said that it would mean a considerable delay to the proceedings of the House if the information asked for was not given before the Estimates were taken. Large subsidies were being paid to the Reid-Newfoundland Co. for railway and steamer services, but he considered that the services were inefficiently carried out. The railway tracks were in a rotten condition in some parts, accidents were bound to occur. He objected very strongly to expenditures made on Executive responsibility, as was reported year after year by the Auditor General. Many accounts were overdrawn.

Mr. LLOYD said we had started last year on July 1st with an adverse balance of $301,000. That was paid out of the Reserve Fund in the Bank of Montreal. On March 31st, this year, the Colony's cheque account was overdrawn $304,000, besides about $170,000 of overdrafts in other departments. Besides this, there would be debenture interest of half a million owing in June. On this year's running we would be $800,000 behind. And yet we are asked to vote Estimates equal to last year. The Government were not going to economize. Would they put on extra taxation? The country could not respond to it. That was shown by the poor response to increased duties last year.

The Committee resumed at 8 p.m.
Mr. LLOYD (continuing) said the Government was not observing due economy. Why did they so unreasonably refuse a statement of existing conditions? Our present bad circumstances were largely due to an Election Budget; the duties then taken off had been replaced by others, which entirely failed to produce what was expected. Yet the Government persisted in their course in spite of repeated warnings, and disregarded economy and legality.

HON. MINISTER OF FINANCE reiterated that he was prepared to furnish all reasonable information, but he saw no reason to depart from the regular rule of the House. The Opposition had prophesied blue ruin in all directions. One would think that the Colony had not a deficit, before that every other British Colony had not a deficit now. Things would not remain dark forever. The revenue was beginning to look up now. All this talk of ruin was only from an Opposition standpoint.

Mr. MORINE said we should not talk too much about our troubles at present. But we should take care. There was no reason to expect a rise of revenue. The shops had considerable stocks of goods, because trade had been slow. There was a needed increase of trade. Now, after the war, there would be enormous debts, millions of men deprived of their pay and thrown back upon civilian employment. The world would happen to our trade if Mediterranean countries went into the war. Was it prudent to go on as usual with all these possibilities ahead of us? We were told that the Colony had, in the past, recovered wonderfully after bad times. But conditions to-day are not what they were then. Why had not the Government put away their surplus instead of spending them? The fixed charges we had to meet to-day, that we could not reduce, were far bigger than before. But there was about $1,000,000 of the expenditure that could be reduced, and should we not reduce it now? Besides a great current deficit, we had military expenditure to meet; there were railway contracts, and a variety of other obligations. Under such circumstances we should be very careful. If the Bank of Montreal were to cut off supplies, where would the Government get a loan? Or, what price would they have to pay. He also referred in strong terms to expenditure contrary to the Audit Act. These were quite illegal.

HON. MINISTER OF FINANCE said the conditions of the country was shown by this. In 1898, the country had only $8,000,000 in Saving Banks; today, we had $11,000,000 in banks, and $11,000,000 in other investments. If the Colony had twenty-two millions saved to-day, that would be three millions then, was it not likely that the Colony could recover better to-day from bad times.

Mr. MORINE, Mr. Lloyd, and Hon. Minister of Finance discussed certain points in the accounts, asked and answered questions, etc.

THE PREMIER produced an estimate which had been prepared by the Auditor General, showing that, in the Auditor General's opinion, the total deficit at June 30th, 1915, would be, at the very worst, $500,000, instead of $1,000,000, as estimated by the Opposition. This was the rainy day for which our nest-egg of $500,000 reserve fund had been laid aside. $500,000 was not a great deficit in the affairs of a country. Such deficits were no new thing; they had been met before, and the revenue had risen to give surpluses again. The Government, when they came in, had, in the first place, to meet a deficit of $100,000 left by the Bond government. Every year after that they had surpluses. Those surpluses they had spent for the people, because they considered that the nest-egg in the Bank was large enough; and so it would have been large enough but for the great war, which no one could but for the great war, which had said conditions were not good for making a recovery as they were in 1898. But to-day the people's earnings were twice what they were in 1898; their savings were seven times as great. The exports and imports were twice as great. We could go forth to-night and meet the future without any fear; and we could forget the doleful walls of the Opposition, that tended only to frighten our suppliers and our foreign creditors, and to make things harder for the country. Mr. Morine had quoted what Mr. Harvey had said in the Upper House. He, the Premier, did not agree with any prediction of bad time. As to what had been said about the Audit Act, exactly the same course had been followed by this government as by every government in the past. There would always be unforeseen emergencies that had to be dealt with; and this had been approved by the House year after year. As to economy, you could not cut down the salaries of civil servants, mostly underpaid already; you could not keep public institutions, like hospitals, and so forth, short of coal and light, you could not reduce subsidies paid under contracts; roads and bridges were under-provided for already. It was not necessary to take any desperate measures as yet.

Mr. Lloyd considered the Auditor General's statement was absolutely wrong, and quoted figures at length. THE PREMIER pointed out that the total expenditures estimated by the Auditor General precisely agreed with our average annual expenditure, including all the figures which Mr. Lloyd was attempting to add.

Mr. MORINE said that in certain years there had been no expenditures on Executive responsibility. The practice was a bad one. The Committee passed a vote, and rose, asking leave to sit again on Thursday. The House rose till to-morrow at 3 p.m. (To be Continued.)

A Kindly Superintendent

A Chicago man with business interests in Missouri tells of an incident at a railway junction therein. He was very hungry, with only two minutes before the departure of his train. "Sandwich and coffee, quick!" he said to the counter man. "Haven't time for anything else." "Easy, friend," said the other. "Take all the time you want. Cast your eyes over this bill of fare, and I'll phone the superintendent to hold the train a while." "Hold the train while I eat?" "Sure. This is a branch road and there's another train coming or going over it this morning. The superintendent will want you to have a good meal—he owns this lunch room."

Doctors Did NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Bradley's Health—Her Own Statement.

Winnipeg, Canada.—"Eleven years ago I was taken to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth. The doctors said it was a tumor and could not be removed as it would cause instant death. They found that my organs were affected, and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in."

"After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper, and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 224 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba, Can.

Why will women take chances or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Newfoundland Notice to Mariners

No. 14-1914.

Burnt Islands District of Burgeo-South West Coast

Latitude 47° 28' 40" N. Longitude 58° 53' 00" W.

Notice is hereby given that two Red Lights have been placed on Great Burnt Island for the guidance of fishing craft of that harbour.

Structures—Wood, square in plan with sloping sides, 15 feet high from base to centre of light.

Colour—Both towers painted with two red and two white horizontal bands, lanterns white.

Remarks—Lights will be put in operation during month of January, 1915, without further notice.

M. E.—Burnt Islands Harbour affords good and sheltered anchorage for vessels of moderate size, but even with a small vessel no stranger should attempt to enter without a pilot.

For the channels are not easily distinguished from seaward, and the numerous rocks give but little room for manoeuvring.

A. PICCOTT, Minister Marine & Fisheries, Department Marine & Fisheries, St. John's, Newfoundland, Dec. 21st, 1914.

Every young man and young woman should have a copy of Dr. Stall's

Self and Sex Books

They cost only $1.00 a copy. It will be the best investment you have ever made. Read what the Rev. F. B. Meyer, B. A., of London, England, has to say regarding these books:

"The questions which are dealt with in the 'Self and Sex Series' of books are always being asked and if the answer is not forthcoming from pure and wise lips it will be obtained through vicious and empirical channels. I therefore greatly commend this series of books, which are written lucidly and purely, and will afford the necessary information without pandering to unholy and sensual passions. I should like to see a wide and judicious distribution of this literature among Christian circles."

Public Notice

Censorship of Telegraphs, Cables, and Wireless Stations.

By direction of the Chief Censor, London, the following Regulations will be in force on and after Friday next, January 15th, namely:

1. Cablegrams in authorized editions of A.B.C., Lieber's, Scott's and Western Union Codes only may be exchanged between British, Allied or Neutral Territory on extra European Telegraph System, on one side, and British or Allied Territory, wherever situated, on the other side.

2. The term "Extra European Telegraph System" means the places outside the Telegraph System of Europe. Besides the places in Europe proper, the following are also counted as being on the European Telegraph System, namely:—Russia and Asia; the following French possessions in North and West Africa, namely:—Algeria, Mauritania, Upper Senegal and Niger; and French Morocco. The island of Cyprus is regarded as outside the European Telegraph System.

3. Until further notice cablegrams in the following three Codes, namely:—Meyer's Atlantic Cotton Code, Thirty-ninth Edition; Bentley's Complete Phrase Code, not including separate Mining and Oil Supplements; Broomhall's Imperial Combination Code, not including Special Rubber United Kingdom and places in Extra European Telegraph System.

N.B.—As all messages sent under the above Regulations have to be decoded and censored the carrying out of this work will be greatly facilitated if persons sending such messages would hand in at the Telegraph Office, at the time of presenting the message, the translation of the same.

Official Exposure of German Brutality

Atrocities of Huns Proved to British Commission

Women Mutilated and Babies Bayoneted

(Lloyd's Weekly News, May 16.)

The report of the British Committee appointed to inquire into German outrages just issued is a terrible indictment of a nation.

The Report—signed by men of such authority as Lord Bryce, Sir Frederick Pollock, K. C., Sir Edward Clarke, K. C., Sir Alfred Hopkinson, K. C., Sir Kenelm Digby, K. C., Mr. H. L. Fisher (Vice-Chancellor of Sheffield University), and Mr. Harold Cox—shows that the frightfulness alleged has been proved to the hilt.

The Committee, indeed, definitely declare it to be proved:—

That there were, in many parts of Belgium, deliberate and systematic organized massacres of the civil population, accompanied by many isolated murders and other outrages.

That in the conduct of the war generally innocent civilians, both men and women, were murdered in large numbers, women violated, and children murdered.

That looting, house burning, and the wanton destruction of property were ordered and countenanced by the officers of the German Army, that elaborate provision had been made for systematic incendiarism at the very outbreak of the war, and that the burning and destruction were frequent where no military necessity could be alleged, being, indeed, part of a system of general terrorism.

That the rules and usages of war were frequently broken, particularly by the using of civilians, including women and children, as a shield for advancing forces exposed to fire, to a lesser degree by killing the wounded and prisoners, and in the frequent abuse of the Red Cross and the White Flag.

The Report proceeds—Sensible as they are of the gravity of these conclusions, the Committee conceive that they would be doing less than their duty if they failed to record them as fully established by the evidence.

Murder, lust, and pillage prevailed over many parts of Belgium on a scale unparalleled in any war between civilized nations during the last three centuries.

RECORD OF HORROR.

The greater part of the report is a grim narrative of the actual incidents of savagery proved by the evidence to have occurred. The following extracts are typical:—

At Herve some fifty men escaping from the burning houses were seized, taken outside the town, and shot.

At Melen forty men were shot. In one household, the father and mother were shot, the daughter died after being repeatedly outraged, and the son was wounded.

Over 300 houses were burnt at Herve, while mounted men shot into doors and windows to prevent the escape of the inhabitants.

Visé was completely destroyed. Officers directed the incendiaries. Antiques and china were removed from the houses, before their destruction, by officers, who guarded the plunder in hand.

German soldiers gave themselves up to debauchery in the streets of Liege, and on the night of Aug. 20 a massacre took place in the streets. Long before the shooting a citizen was warned by a friendly German soldier not to go out that night.

At Pepinster, two witnesses were seized as hostages and were threatened, together with five others, that unless they could discover a civilian who was alleged to have shot a soldier in the leg they would be shot themselves. One of the hostages convinced the officer that the alleged shooting, if it took place at all, took place in the commune of Cornesse, and not that of Pepinster, whereupon the Burgomaster of Cornesse, who was old and very deaf, was shot forthwith.

In Malines a witness saw a German soldier cut a woman's breasts after he had murdered her, and saw many other dead bodies of women in the streets. On a side road at Hofstade the corpse of a civilian was seen on his doorstep with a bayonet wound in his stomach, and by his side the dead body of a boy of five or six with his hands nearly severed.

Two young women were lying in the back yard of the house. One had her breasts cut off, the other had been stabbed.

A young man had been backed with the bayonet until his entrails protruded. He also had his hands joined in the attitude of prayer.

In Sempt the corpse of a man with his legs cut off, who was partly bound, was seen; a girl of seventeen. She alleged that she and other girls had been dragged into a field, stripped naked and violated, and that some of them had been killed with the bayonet. Two children were bayoneted in Weerde as they were standing in the road with their mother. They were three or four years old. A small farm burning close by formed a convenient means of getting rid of the bodies. They were thrown into the flames from the bayonets.

At Haecht a child of three with its stomach cut open by a bayonet was lying near a house.

BRITISH EVIDENCE.

There is abundant British evidence of atrocious German outrages upon women and children in Belgium and France. Thus, to quote some depositions of our soldiers:

At Basse Ville, in one particular house, we saw an old man in a bed in a room off the kitchen, who seemed to have been strangled. In an orchard we found a young girl of about fifteen or seventeen; her dress was opened, and a bayonet in her heart. Both breasts had been cut off.

I came into a village called Wytchete. I went into a house. A woman and two children were in the house. They belonged to it. The woman was thirty-five. She said her husband and a son had been killed in action. She said the Germans had been to her house, and had taken most of her possessions, including money, and had knocked her furniture about. She had practically every woman in the village had been maltreated.

In a yard I saw the dead bodies of two women, one forty to fifty, the other about twenty. Their clothes were up above their heads, and the lower parts of their bodies, from the waist down, exposed to view. There were no wounds on either body, and it appeared plain to me that the women had died as the result of violence by the Germans, who had just left the place.

Germany's policy of assassination—as revealed by the above report of the committee over which Viscount Bryce presided—holds America appalled. Seathing and passionate denunciations occupy columns of the New York Press, the tone of which may be gathered from headings, of which the following in the "Evening Sun" are a fair example:—

"Beyond the Pale."

"The Beast Has Lapped Blood."

"The Super-Brute."

"Germany Revealed."

"Now We Know."

"Let Us Now Act."

FIRST LONG STEP TOWARDS RECOVERY

is to Find if Your Symptoms are of Kidney Disease

Kent County Lady Did This—Then She Used Dodd's Kidney Pills and Was Cured.

Upper Bonetouche, Kent Co., N. B., May 31st, (Special).—Miss Genevieve Bastarache, an estimable lady living near here, is telling her friends of the benefit she has received from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am indeed happy to be able to state that I have been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills," Miss Bastarache says in an interview.

"I was often so feeble I could not work. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, I had headaches and cramps in the muscles.

"I suffered from Rheumatism and Backache and was always tired and nervous.

"I was in this miserable condition when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and I had not taken two boxes till I felt better and three boxes cured me."

Miss Bastarache made a long step towards recovery when she discovered that her symptoms were of Kidney Disease. She then had only to use the old reliable Kidney remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, to find a cure. She did it and was cured. Are your symptoms those of Kidney Disease?

Our Foreign Fish Markets

And the Growing Importance of the Cure

In looking over the latest Customs Returns for the year ended 30th June, 1914, we find that the total amount of exports from this country were valued at $15,134,543.

These facts prove how wholly we are dependent upon the fisheries for our living, and how necessary it is for us to do all in our power to preserve them and to exploit them judiciously and cure the products in the best manner possible.

But a few years ago an outcry was raised against the manner in which the beef packers of the United States prepared their products for market, and so great was the opposition to their careless and dirty methods that they were forced to change their methods, purify their factories, and guarantee an absolutely clean article.

STEVENS The Barrels and Lugs of STEVENS Double and Single Barrel SHOTGUNS

took thousands of quintals of fish from us. We have long lost that market, and last year we were ousted from some of the Italian markets.

The Norwegian and Icelanders have long ago recognized the fact that in order to compete with us in the fish markets they must make their fish in a superior manner to ours, and realizing this their governments have instituted a supervision of fish-curing, and are successfully invading the markets that we had a monopoly of.

Last year the Italian markets, to which we sent large quantities of our Labrador catch, was invaded by Iceland fish beautifully washed and cured, every fish clean split to the tail fin, and showing white as a hound's tooth.

Another remark often made by the curers and sellers of fish is that "The poorly made fish is good enough for the Spaniards and others that eat it." Is it possible that our people cannot realize that the people who eat codfish do not know good from bad?

It is not high time that we, as a people, should agitate for a better cure of our fish, so that we may be able to hold the markets we now have and to regain that which we have lost.

A BOTWOOD MAN CURED

Suffered for Four Years—One Bottle Completely Cured Him

Botwood, May 8, 1915. Saunders and Mercier. Dear Sirs,—I want to tell you of the wonderful good that your Arctic Indigestion Cure has done for me. I have been a wonderful sufferer from indigestion for four years. I tried everything I heard of, but it all failed to cure me. I heard of your A. I. C., and I made an effort to try it, and I am not sorry that I did try it, for I believe it saved my life. I recommend it to any person suffering from stomach trouble, for it's the only cure that you can have. I took one bottle and it made a complete cure of me. Yours truly, JOSEPH SHERPARD.

The number of German males in the United States of voting age is but 1278,763—probably 3,700,000 Germans in all in that country, of the voters as above, only 889,000 have been naturalized. The population of the United States is 100,000,000 and yet it is surprising the influence of these Teutons the publicized that great Republic. It is the old time aggressiveness of the German. Assuring itself with the "might makes right" theory.

Special Offer

Everyone who sees the 'Imperial' Engine says it is a dandy. Takes up little room in a boat. Exhaust piping is kept cool and will not burn your boat. All the fittings are of the best quality. Don't take our word for it, but call and see the engine yourself. If you don't know very much about motor engines, bring along someone who do. We are not afraid of comparisons. C. E. Russell, Agent for the Imperial.
