Chaplin's Saw Works Destroyed—Loss About $75,000.

St. Catharines, Nov. 7.—The Chaplin Saw Works were entirely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire was first discovered about 6 o'clock, but before the firemen could get to work the entire rear portion was in flames, and the building, machinery and stock were entirely destroyed. The loss will be about $75,000, with insurance of $25,000.

ALBANY NEWSPAPER BURNED OUT.

Albany, Nov. 7.—Fire started at 6:30 last night in the candy factory of Kreischer & Co., and soon the immense building running through a block was a mass of flames. Next door on Beaver street was the Press-Knickerbocker Express, the oldest established paper in this section of the state. So rapidly did the flames spread that the employes in the building preparing to get out the election returns for the morning paper had to run for their lives. Not a thing of value was saved, the Associated Press operator at his key having to leave without his typewriter. The flames were confined to the two buildings. The office of the Argus is in the same block, and the Times Union, another newspaper, across the narrow street, and it was at first thought that both would suffer. At 8 o'clock both buildings on fire were gutted and the loss is entire. The Press-Knickerbocker Express at once started to find means to issue its paper, and every Albany paper lent assistance. Mr. McCarthy, the proprietor, accepted the offer of the Albany Argus. The loss to the Press-Knickerbocker Express is $60,000; insurance, $30,000. The other losses will average $75,000, with insurance of about $35,000.

McKinley

Re-Elected President of the United States.

Decisive Victory for the Republican Party.

New York Gives a Largely Reduced Majority for the McKinley-Roosevelt Ticket—Illinois, Connecticut and Other "Doubtful" States in the Republican Column.

New York, Nov. 6.—Midnight.—It became evident at a very early hour this evening that the election of McKinley and Roosevelt was assured. At 8:30 o'clock returns from nearly two-thirds of the election districts of Greater New York had been received, indicating beyond question that Bryan and Stevenson could not expect more than 25,000 or 30,000 plurality in the Democratic stronghold. Later on it was shown unmistakably that the State of New York had declared for the Republican ticket, although by a greatly reduced majority.

The returns from Illinois showed a like condition. The Republican plurality of 1896 was greatly reduced, but it was still far too large to be overtaken. On the other hand, the returns from Indiana, Michigan, the two Dakotas, Utah and Wyoming, as well as Nebraska, seemed to indicate strong Republican gains over 1896. Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia had given decisive Republican pluralities, and before ten o'clock the Democratic leaders had given up the contest.

REDUCED REPUBLICAN PLURALITIES.

The whole story was easily and briefly told. The Republican ticket would have a larger electoral vote than that of four years ago, but in the larger states of the east and middle west, the pluralities had been greatly reduced. Massachusetts had fallen from 174,000 to 50,000; New York from 268,000 to 150,000, and Illinois from 142,000 to 100,000 or less. The roll call of states at this hour is as follows:

State.	McKinley. Elec. Vts.	Bryan. Elec. Vts.
Alabama	—	11
Arkansas	—	8
Connecticut	6	—

California	9	—

The following to hear from: Idaho, 3; Kansas, 10; Kentucky, 13; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; Oregon, 4; South Dakota, 4; Washington, 4—Total, 49.

If all of the unreported states, shown above, should turn out as Democratic—a highly improbable contingency—it would not change the result. Returns from Nebraska indicate a Republican plurality. The 57th Congress seems to be Republican by a substantial working majority.

McKINLEY CONGRATULATED.

President McKinley received the election returns at his home at Canton, Ohio, surrounded by a large number of his old friends and neighbors, including many ladies, who came as the guests of Mrs. McKinley. Direct wires connected the house with the Republican national headquarters at New York and at Chicago, with Senator Hanna at the Union Club in Cleveland, and with the home of Gov. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, so that the president was in constant telegraphic touch with his associate on the ticket, and with the campaign leaders. The president made his headquarters in the library, where most of the gentlemen guests congregated, while Mrs. McKinley entertained the ladies in the parlor. The president was in his usual good humor, showing no signs of anxiety over the result. Later the president began to receive congratulations on his re-elehtion.

At a late hour Judge Day, who was with the president, said that Mr. McKinley had carried 27 states, with 284 electoral votes.

AT BRYAN'S HOME.

A dispatch from Lincoln, Neb., says: Bryan's friends practically concede McKinley's re-election, but none of them will stand for a statement.

At 11:45 p.m. Mr. Bryan was sleeping soundly and had given no attention to bulletins for two hours.

Mr. Bryan received election returns at his residence in Lincoln, Neb. His house was fairly overrun with newspaper men and telegraph operators. Not only was the first floor of the house largely given up to them, but two of the rooms in the second story above. Fourteen telegraph wires were run into the house. Bulletins came in thick and fast after that, and while Mr. Bryan did not comment, it was evident that he was disappointed in the returns from New York and Brooklyn. His reports up to the last concerning the cities had been encouraging, and his observation had led him to believe that there would be a large increase in his vote rather than a loss. On the other hand, there was considerable encouragement from the interior of New York State, and especially satisfying was a message from National Committeeman Mack, saying that Buffalo had given McKinley a majority of only about 3,000, against a majority of 12,000 four years ago. Coming closely upon the heels of the Buffalo dispatch was one from a friend in Boston, announcing that city to have gone for Bryan by a majority of 7,000, as against 17,000 for McKinley four years ago.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT ELECT.

Governor Roosevelt, surrounded by his family, received the returns at his home at Oyster Bay. The governor at no time during the evening seemed anxious about the result. He did not make any special arrangements to receive the news. The first definite information of the Republican victory was conveyed to the governor at about 10 o'clock.

After reading the message he said: "Isn't that fine. It shows what the people of the United States are. It shows that they want the good times to continue and that they are in favor of honest money and the flag." The governor, in his dispatch to President McKinley, says: "To President William McKinley, Canton, Ohio,—I congratulate you and far more the nation. You have my heartfelt gratitude over the result. (Signed) Theodore Roosevelt."

CROKER'S MESSAGE.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Mr. Croker said: "I do not admit that Mr. Bryan has been defeated, but if he has been I do not wish to be construed as saying anything whatever as to the cause of it. I know we have done our whole duty in New York, and that is all that I have to say." The following telegram was sent tonight: "W. J. Bryan, Lincoln, Neb.—As you no doubt already know the state has gone heavily against us, but, whereas this county in 1896 gave McKinley 23,000 majority, it gives you today 33,000, a gain of 56,000. We are defeated, but not discouraged. (Signed) Richard Croker."

GIVES IT UP.

Ex-Governor Stone at midnight, said: "I give it up."

Mr. Stone then closed the Democratic national headquarters in New York for the night.

SCATTERING RETURNS.

The Democrats elect all congressmen in Arkansas.

D. S. Henderson, speaker of the House of Representatives, is re-elected from the third Iowa district.

The Detroit News estimates that Bliss (Rep.) has carried the state by 40,000.

In New Hampshire the legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican in both branches, and the governor's council will be solidly Republican.

New Jersey has gone Republican by a majority which will exceed 40,000.

In New York the following cities give majorities for McKinley: Syracuse, Rochester, Rome, Auburn, Poughkeepsie and Elmira. Bryan gets majorities in Oswego and Hornellsville.

The election in North Carolina was very quiet. Returns indicate that Bryan's majoritiy will not be less than 30,000, and that the Democratic congressmen are elected, with two in doubt.

A dispatch from Providence says: McKinley has carried Rhode Island by about 17,000 plurality.

The Democrats elect all congressmen in South Carolina.

The Democratic state ticket in Texas, headed by Gov. Sayers, is elected by a majority in excess of 100,000. The legislature is almost solidly Democratic.

COAL DIVIDEND.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6. — The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, or ½ per cent more than its usual rate. This places the company on a 6 per cent basis. The company also contributed $25,000 to the miners' benefit fund. This represents a percentage deducted from the tonnage of the mines that is devoted to the relief of injured miners.

CAUTION!

The popularity of the new toilet lotion, Hazeline, has encouraged a host of imitators, who endeavor to sell some article of their own manufacture when Hazeline is wanted and asked for.

This new toilet luxury is a secret and scientific combination, and differs entirely from any other lotion. It is healing and soothing, and keeps the face and hands delightfully smooth and velvety; prevents tendency to wrinkles, improves and beautifies the complexion. There is a charm about the use of Hazeline that you do not find in any other preparation for the skin.

WELCOME FOR GEN. BULLER

Preparations for Receiving the Returning Hero.

Departure of Lord Roberts May Be Further Delayed—British View of McKinley's Victory.

GEN. BULLER.

London, Nov. 7.—In the south of England Gen. Buller's friends are turning up with great vigor for the return of the conquering hero. The Duke of Westminster has received a cordial welcome at Chester from his friends and tenants.

ROBERTS MAY BE DELAYED.

According to a dispatch from Pietermaritzburg the Times of Natal says that the return of Lord Roberts to England may still be delayed for several weeks.

ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT.

The Anglo-German agreement, far from exciting dissension, has helped to bring the powers together by providing a counterpoise for the dual alliance. The comments in the Russian press on the relations of Germany and England are so friendly that it is clear that the powers are likely to stand together virtually on the lines of the French proposal. There is a complete lull in political affairs here while Lord Salisbury is putting the finishing touch on his work of cabinet-making. Mr. Brodrick spoke last night for the first time since his appointment to the cabinet, and the Unionist press has so much leisure that it has resumed the attacks on the opposition leadership. Lord Rosebery delivered an amiable address at the Edinburgh Philosophical Institution, and Sir William Vernon Harcourt remained silent.

SOCIETY WEDDINGS.

London has had a brilliant society wedding, and there will be a dozen more before the week is out. Yesterday's bridegroom was Lord Chelmsford's son, Percy Thesiger, and the bride was Miss Wallace, daughter of one of the directors of the Bank of England. The ceremony was at Christ Church, Lancaster Gate, the bride being attended by eight bridesmaids, in cream color dresses, with touches of gold, and in black hats.

A marriage of great interest in social as well as in theatrical circles will shortly take place between Mr. Forbes Robertson, the well-known English actor, and Miss Gertrude Elliott, sister of Maxine Elliott.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS.

London, Nov. 7—6 a.m.—The result of the presidential election was not received here in time for definite comment by the morning newspapers. Some of them, however, refer to the contest, and the Telegraph speaks of it as a momentous decision upon the most remarkable issue placed before the United States people since the civil war. The Standard takes the view that the election of Bryan would have meant the development of unfriendly feelings between England and America.

TURNED BACK.

Victoria, Nov. 7.—The captain of the Duke of Fife was forced to turn his vessel back to Victoria when eight days out for the Orient, and reached here with six feet of water in the hold, after a terrible experience.

$60,000 FIRE IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Yesterday morning fire destroyed the lumber mill of Mr. Alex. Maclaren, at 107 Papineau avenue, notwithstanding every effort being made by the men of the fire department. The damage done is estimated to amount to upwards of $60,000, which is covered by insurance in the Liverpool and London and Globe, Imperial and other companies.

Strathconas, Artillery and Mounted Rifles.

Royal Canadians En Route for England.

General Smith-Dorien's Name Among Britain's Great Captains.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The militia department has received a cablegram from Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, which indicates that the assistance of the colonial troops now in South Africa will be dispensed with at an early date, and that the remainder of the Canadian contingents, horse, including the Strathconas, foot and artillery, will speedily be on their way to home and rest. The members of Canada's contingents will probably reach home in time for Christmas.

CASUALTIES.

A war office cable reports that Corp. A. E. MacDonald, 1st Hussars, is missing; Lieut. T. W. Chalmers was killed, and Major Saunders, superintendent N. W. M. P., R. C. R. I., Northway, Calgary, and Pte. E. C. Pratt, Regina, slightly wounded. Lord Roberts speaks most highly of Lieut. Chalmers' great gallantry, who was killed trying to save Saunders.

GRAND RECEPTION FOR ROYAL CANADIANS.

London, Nov. 7.—The remainder of the Royal Canadian Regiment, now on the Hawarden Castle, will come direct to England, where they will be the guests of the mother country. A grand reception awaits them, as the gallant conduct of the Canadians has won the admiration of every Englishman. The scenes on the arrival of Lieut.-Col. Otter and his men will rival, and likely surpass, those witnessed on the return of the troops up to date.

SMITH-DORRIEN SPECIALLY MENTIONED.

Lord Roberts' fresh bulletin includes the record of a gallant march from Belfast by Gen. Smith-Dorrien, and the complete surprise of a Boer camp. Although the general's name has been seldom found in the dispatches, South Africans consider him one of the best men in command, and even credit him with having military genius. Dr. Jameson, for example, describes him as a really great general, who has not made a single mistake during the campaign, and has done much brilliant work. He will be remembered as having commanded the 19th Brigade, which formerly included the Canadian Regiment. Two other generals whom Dr. Jameson praises are Generals Ian Hamilton and Hunter, whom he knew at Ladysmith, and he also admires Gen. French intensely.

Dr. Jameson does not court publicity. He has recovered from the terrible attack of fever, contracted in the Ladysmith hospitals, but has had a return of older ailments, and has come to London to consult specialists. He gives a thrilling account of the siege of Ladysmith, and lacks words in which to express his admiration of the rank and file of the British army. He does not believe that the guerilla operations will last long.

REGAL CONGRATULATIONS.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—The following cable has been received by the minister of militia: "London, Nov. 5.—Pray convey to officers and men of the contingent hearty congratulations on safe return. (Signed) Louise and Lorne."

GUNNER WELCH.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—A cable received from Sir Alfred Milner says: "Cape Town, Nov. 5.—345, Welch, Canadian Artillery, dangerously ill, Watervel Onder. (Signed) Milner."

Welch was a gunner in D battery, and was enlisted at Toronto. His next of kin is not known.

The department of militia has received a cable from Mr. Chamberlain, stating that the ammunition which was supplied the Canadian contingent in South Africa by the Canadian government would be returned at Cape Town by the British government.

A LAW UNTO HIMSELF.

Every Man Must Be That to Retain Hi Health and Digestion.

There are thousands of people in this world who eat no meat from one year's end to another, and certain savage tribes in Africa and Polynesia are almost exclusively meat eaters; but while there are thousands of these, there are millions who live upon a mixed diet of meat, vegetables and grains, and if numbers is a criterion, it would seem that a mixed diet is the best for the human family.

The fact that you will find many vegetarians who appear healthy and vigorous and meat eaters equally so, and any number of robust specimens who eat both meat and vegetables and anything else that comes in their way all goes to show that the old saw is the true one, that every man must be a law to himself as to what he shall eat and drink.

To repair the waste of tissue in brain workers as well as to replace the muscle and sinew of the laborer, can only be done through the process of digestion.

Every nerve, muscle, sinew, every drop of blood is extracted from the food we eat and digest.

In these days of hustle and worry, and artificial habits of life, scarcely one person in a thousand can lay claim to a perfect digestion; dyspepsia is a national affliction and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a national blessing.

Most cases of poor digestion are caused by failure of the stomach to secrete sufficient gastric juice, or too little Hydrochloric acid and lack of peptones and all of these important essentials to perfect digestion are found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in convenient palatable form.

One or two of these Tablets taken after meals insure perfect digestion and assimilation of the food.

Cathartic pills and laxative medicines have no effect whatever in digesting food, and to call such remedies a cure for dyspepsia is far fetched and absurd.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain pepsin free from animal matter, diastase and other digestives, and not only digest all wholesome food but tend to increase the flow of gastric juices and by giving the weak stomach a much needed rest bring about a healthy condition of the digestive organs and a normal appetite.

Nervous, thin-blooded, run-down people should bear in mind that drugs and stimulants cannot furnish good blood, strong muscles and steady nerves; these come only from wholesome food, thoroughly digested; a fifty cent box of Stuart's Tablets taken after meals for a few weeks will do you more real good than drugs, stimulants and dieting combined.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is probably the safest, most popular and successful digestive on the market and sold by druggists everywhere in the United States, Canada and Great Britian.

The Home-Comers

HEARTILY WELCOMED.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Another demonstration was given to the returning soldiers at Lansdowne Park, in the Aberdeen Pavilion. Several thousand were present, and the affair passed off very successfully. Sheriff Sweetland, who was chairman of the citizens' committee, presided. Lord Minto delivered an address. He spoke of the sacrifices which the men had to make in throwing up their employment and going to the front. He hoped that employers would think of this, and be animated by the same patriotism which actuated the men. Major-Gen. O'Grady-Haly also delivered an address. The citizens' committee presented an address, which was accompanied by a gold locket to each of the men.

PICTON BOYS.

Picton, Ont., Nov. 6.—Messrs. Wall, Bradshaw, Holland and Croft, the Picton members of D company, first Canadian contingent, arrived home last evening, and received a most enthusiastic reception. The town was attired in a patriotic garb that eclipsed anything ever before witnessed. On the arrival of the boys a procession was formed, headed by the citizens' band, and they were escorted through the principal streets of the town, ending up at the Market Square. Here a very flattering address of welcome was read by ex-Mayor Boulter, which was accompanied by the presentation of a sovereign to each of the boys. Addresses were also delivered by Mayor Williamson, Col. McDonnell, of the 16th Regiment, and others. Mr. Holland made a brief reply, in which he heartily thanked the citizens.

A GRAND RECEPTION.

Alvinston, Ont., Nov. 6.—Pte. Frank Trolley, of B company, arrived home from South Africa this afternoon, and was given a grand reception by the citizens of Alvinston. He was met at the depot by the Alvinston Cornet Band, school children and citizens, who formed in procession and marched to the square in front of the fire hall, where a platform was erected. A welcome home address was presented to the returned hero, and speeches were made by the ministers of the village and others. In the evening a reception was given in the music hall, and Pte. Trolley was presented with a purse of money. The village was decorated with banners and flags, bells were rung, whistles blown, anvils sounded, and everything possible done to give the returned veteran a good reception.

BRANTFORD'S HERO.

Brantford, Ont., Nov. 6.—Alf Sherritt, the first volunteer accepted of the Brantford detachment to South Africa, arrived home last evening. The Dufferin Rifles, with their bands, marched to the station, as well as thousands of citizens, to meet and welcome him home. As he stepped off the platform a cheer went forth, and the bands started playing. After shaking hands with friends, Sherritt was escorted to a carriage, and a procession formed, headed by the band, marched to the drill hall, where addresses of welcome were given, after which Sherritt was escorted to his home. The house and surroundings were nicely illuminated with Chinese lanterns. All along the line of march there was a display of colored lights, Roman candles and rockets.

SHE'S A ROASTER

Monitor Monadnock So Hot That Its Officers Die.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The health of the men on the monitors Monadnock and Monterey is so bad that the vessels are likely to be laid up in ordinary at Cavite.

Every commanding officer of the Monadnock since she has been stationed in the far east has suffered from serving on such a hot ship. After six months, Capt. H. E. Nichols suddenly died from heat prostration. Capt. John McGowan, who succeeded him, was invalided home last spring, and now Capt. Strong has been ordered before the retiring board.

BALLOTS BOYCOTTED

Were Printed in a Non-Union Office and Union Men Would Not Use Them.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 6.—The Hartford Typographical Union, at a special meeting, officially declared the office of the New Britain Herald a non-union office.

The Herald is owned by ex-Congressman Vance, a well-known Democrat, who received the contract for printing the Democratic ballots for this election from the state committee. When it became known that the Democratic ballots were coming from a non-union office, the members of the typographical unions declared they would not cast one of them under any circumstances, and other trades unionists agreed with them. The question whether the Herald office was union or non-union then arose, and was decisively settled as stated. The state committee, in an effort to square itself, had 100,000 more ballots printed in a rush by a union office in Hartford.

INSURANCE AGAINST STRIKES.

Washington, Nov. 7.—A number of Austrian manufacturers have formed an association for insurance against strikes, according to United States Consul Hossfeld, at Trieste. It is the object of the association to indemnify its members for all losses sustained by them through unjust strikes which may break out in their respective establishments. Each member is to pay a weekly premium equal to from 3 to 4 per cent of the amount of his pay roll. When a strike occurs a committee will be appointed to investigate all the circumstances, and if the cause of the strikers be found just, no indemnity shall be paid. A similar insurance association, although on a smaller scale, is said to have been organized in Germany. "Both the Austrian and German associations, it appears," says Consul Hessfeld, "recognize in principle the justness of strikes, which is, in Germany at least, an important concession to labor."

TO DEPORT SOME METAL POLISHERS.

Mr. E. Williams, Dominion alien labor officer, arrived here last evening to investigate two reports. One of them was that metal polishers were brought here from Connecticut to work in the Hamilton brass foundry, in which there was a lockout some time ago, and he says the men will be ordered out of the country.

The other was with regard to the experts brought here from the United States by the Smelting Works Company to instruct Canadians in steel work. He will allow these experts to remain here a year to teach young men the trade, but at the end of that time they will have to go back whence they came.—Hamilton Times.

AFTER 19 YEARS

Dennis Donovan Returns to Chatham to Claim an Estate.

Chatham, Nov. 7. — Shattered in health, Dennis Donovan has returned to his native country to claim the property he is heir to. After an absence of over nineteen years, Donovan, by his return, clears up a mystery—one which three or four years ago created widespread interest.

Dennis Donovan was a son of the late Jeremiah and Bridget Donovan, who at one time resided at the corner of Gray and West streets, this city. The parents were very comfortably off. Besides property in Chatham, they owned 50 acres of most valuable land in Harwich township. Jeremiah, the father, died some years ago, and Bridget, the mother, passed away some four years ago in St. Joseph's Hospital. Dennis Donovan, the son, thus became the rightful heir to the valuable estate left by his mother. The difficulty encountered then was the locating of this heir. The executors advertised far and near for tidings. It was known that Dennis had been in Chicago, Ill., and Milwaukee, Wis., but no trace could be found in these cities of the much-wanted heir. The courts were finally appealed to and letters of administration granted to Dennis Donovan's nephew, one Guernaey, a son of a deceased sister. Guernaey has been in full possession of the estate ever since.

Now the rightful heir has appeared to claim his property. Dennis Donovan arrived in Chatham on Thursday last, sick near unto death, yet still with sufficient strength to make known and prove his identity. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is now in a critical condition, but the doctors expect him to recover.

Many a hard working young woman spends her noon hour in an endeavor to get a little rest to carry her through the remaining hours of the day. She is weak and weary, but she cannot give up the occupation which supports her. She must go back to the office and the typewriter, to the store and its duties, with tiresome customers to wait on and exacting employers to please.

For people who are weak and run down there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Many diseases in organs remote from the stomach have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs. When the stomach is "weak" there is a failure to properly digest and assimilate the food which is eaten. Hence the whole body, and each organ of it, suffers from lack of nutrition, so that as a consequence of "weak" stomach, there may be "weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" or torpid liver, "weak" nerves, etc. By curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, "Golden Medical Discovery" enables the assimilation of the nutriment necessary for the requirements of a healthy body. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of blood which is the vital fluid of the body.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Sick and ailing people especially those suffering from disease in its chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no similar offer of free medical advice which has behind it an institute of national note such as the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., presided over by Dr. Pierce, its chief consulting physician, with the assistance of nearly a score of skilled specialists.

"The Wonderful Medicine."

"I must again send a few lines to you to let you know how I am getting along since taking the wonderful medicine which cured me two years ago," writes Miss Bertha Ebeler, of 1416 Benton Street, St. Louis, Mo. "I still continue in very good health and think there is not a better medicine on earth than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. We would not be without it in the house, and also the little 'Pellets.'

"I have recommended Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to many friends, and they all think it will do just what is claimed for it. It is the best thing for nervousness and for a weak, run down condition that any body could want. I was very nervous and weak last summer. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it just made me feel like a new person. It gives a person new life and new blood. I can now work all day long without feeling the least bit tired. In fact I feel like a new person.

"My mother was also cured by it of a very bad state of stomach trouble about three years ago. I thank you a thousand times for what you have done for me and for your kind advice."

Wasted to a Skeleton.

"About six years ago my health failed," writes Miss Alethea E. Green, of Coopstown, Harford Co., Maryland. "I kept getting down lower and lower, until I could scarcely walk across the floor without struggling and gasping for breath. My home physician pronounced it general debility and catarrh of the throat, but although he did all he could, he failed to even relieve me. I tried various remedies, but all of no avail. I soon wasted away to a mere skeleton. Finally I was persuaded to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., which I did immediately. And on receiving his very kind advice I commenced the use of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription.' I took fourteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and nine of the 'Favorite Prescription' and to-day I am a well woman. I do heartily thank God and Dr. Pierce for my good health."

By Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the book in cloth binding, or 31 stamps for the paper covered volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A MISSIONARY'S AWFUL FATE!

Untellable Tortures Inflicted on Miss Mary Morrill.

At Last She Was Hacked to Bits Outside Pao Ting Fu by Chinese Fiends.

Pao Ting Fu, Oct. 26, via Taku, Nov. 6.—The awful fate of Miss Mary S. Morrill, the only one of the American missionaries about whose end there was any doubt, was revealed today at the trial before the allied court, over which French Gen. Bailloud is presiding.

Chinese fiends have a refinement of ingenuity in devising agonies of which Westerners have only a remote idea. They knew that the pure Christian woman could be hurt more by shame than by physical torture. After making her watch the burning of the mission houses with her faithful male defenders in them, after compelling her to stand by while the streets ran with the blood of the native converts, they stripped her of her clothing and tied her by the hair to a long bamboo pole. Coolies forced her to march naked through the crowded streets of the great city and the savage mob spat on her and threw vile refuse as she passed.

Through the miles of crowded streets she walked, stained and bleeding, bravely on, alone, to her martyrdom.

UNTELLABLE TORTURE.

A highly educated Christian Chinaman who managed to escape the massacre, and who witnessed the scene, told the court that her eyes were raised to the blue heaven with a look in them as if she saw it already open ready to receive her.

She was like Hypatia among the savage Christians of Alexandria, alone, naked, with death her only hope.

Outside the city walls her torture stopped. The indignities that they heaped on her were such as the devils in hell devise for the torture of damned souls—unprintable, untellable. When the fiends had salted their malignant ingenuity, a soldier chopped off the young martyr's breasts with his sword.

Her wrists were tied with a rope behind her back and she was forced to her knees. One blow of a sword severed her head from her shoulders, and she was at rest. Her body was burned.

So died this young American missionary, firm in her faith, confident in the hope of a glorious resurrection, full of love for the benighted, cruel heathen to save whom she had given the best years of her life and for whom now she had given her life.

This was a day for vengeance. Five of the great Chinese officials were tried by the allied court, found guilty and sentenced to death for this crime and that against the other missionaries.

Mary Morrill's home was Portland, Me., and her character may be judged from her last letter, which her father received early in August. It was dated May 30, and was a brave farewell:

A BRAVE FAREWELL.

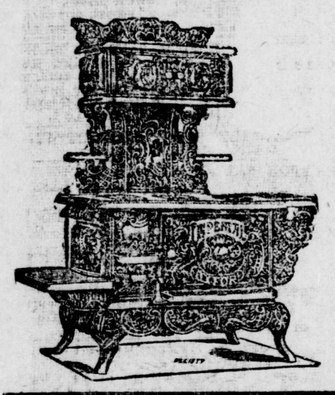

"Miss Gould and I cannot leave if we would and would not if we could," she wrote. "Our 22 girls may be able to leave after examination on June 15, but most probably will not. With the country in its present state it would not be expedient, to say the least, for girls and women to be on the road. Their large feet would at once show their affiliation with the hated foreigners. So we are bound to stay here and care for them. * * * Of course, if the worst should come, we could only say that we are at our posts."

After telling of the killing of a Chinese general who had tried to suppress the Boxers, and some unimportant matters, she went on:

"I am afraid it will not be so easy to send away the girls. Some of them live in an infected district. Of course, if we could see them safe with their parents it would be easier for us to leave at a moment's notice. It may be that the bands that have destroyed the railroads will move in another direction. It may be that some check will be put upon their movements. The Lord can do as great things as he has done in the past, 'for his arm is not shortened that he cannot save, nor his ear heavy that he cannot hear.'

"Do not feel too troubled about us. The danger is all around and near, but God is nearer. Good night."

Those who take Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism or dyspepsia, say it cures promptly and permanently, even after all other preparations fail. You may take the medicine with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. What it has done for others you have every reason to believe it will do for you.

FOOTBALL.

THE PROTESTED MEN.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Ontario Rugby Football Union was called for last night in Toronto, to consider the protest entered by the Peterboro club against Gilmour, Hennessy and Kerrigan, who played on the London team in the championship match. But the meeting was called off. During the day R. F. McWilliams, manager of the Peterboro club, sent the following "kind" message to Frank Hobbs, of the Londons: "You need not come to executive meeting to night re protested men. I will not push charges till after Saturday's match, as we want to play your full team." When the Peterboros come to London again on Saturday next they will find the home team greatly strengthened. Gilmour, Hennessy and Kerrigan will again be in the game, as all are eligible. The wings are having splendid practices daily. Frank Reid is playing in his old form, and is expected to be a tower of strength to the team. Gilmour is also in splendid condition.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION LEAGUE.

Chatham Planet: James W. Couse, captain of the London Association football club, was in the city the other day, and held an interview with F. D. Laurie, representative of the Chatham club, concerning the proposal to extend the district of the Central League to include Chatham. Mr. Couse is enthusiastically in favor of the project, and thinks it would be of mutual benefit to Chatham and the league to affiliate. The central district will include London, Listowel, Aylmer, Stratford, Chatham and probably St. Thomas and other towns, now making application for admission. Mr. Laurie will say nothing definitely upon the result of Mr. Couse's visit, but patrons here would certainly like to see Chathamites try conclusions with the eastern teams of the W. F. A.

SPORTING NOTES.

Ice skating begins in New York this week, but it will be on artificial ice.

In an interview printed in a London paper Sir Thomas Lipton is quoted as saying that Mr. John Jameson would be in chief command of Shamrock II., and that he would be assisted by Capt. Sycamore.

The story telegraphed from New York that a syndicate of six members of the New York Yacht Club had been organized to build an America cup defender, to be managed by E. Willard, is denied by all the gentlemen mentioned.

George F. Considine, until recently Corbett's manager, has issued a statement that the Corbett-McCoy battle was an affair in which it was aranged Corbett should win—which is something everybody knows—but that Considine was ignorant of the arrangement—which nobody believes.

STORM ON LAKE ONTARIO.

Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 6.—The schooner Fred J. Wells, of Sackett's Harbor, went ashore on Four Mile Point, east of here last night, during a storm. The crew was rescued by the life-saving crew of the Oswego station. The boat is a total loss. The storm broke over Lake Ontario at 6 o'clock, and continued until early this morning.

Attached to No. 36, M. C. R. express, on Monday, were three cars loaded with raw silk, the value of which was $102,000.

From Near-By Places.

The theft of a horse and buggy was reported to the St. Thomas police on Monday by Alex. McRae, hotel-keeper, of Glencoe. The theft was committed after midnight on Sunday, the supposed culprit being a young man, 26 years of age, name unknown, who had been stopping at the hotel for a week. Horse, rig and man were missing early in the morning, and an examination of the premises showed that the boarder had reached the ground from his bedroom window by means of a rope, and taken the horse and buggy from the stable. The alleged thief is 5 feet 11 inches in height, medium build, and wore eyeglasses and very light colored trousers. The horse is a chestnut, 15 hands high, and the buggy is an old-fashioned open affair.

DORCHESTER STATION.

Dorchester Station, Dec. 6.—Mr. Samuel Wilson sustained a stroke of divering a lot of hogs, and is in a serious condition.

Dr. Creighton, of Mount Elgin, has arrived here to practice his profession, and will occupy the premises vacated by Mrs. Lester.

Reeve Neely shipped a lot of 200 hogs yesterday for the London Packing Company. Price, $4 25, live weight.

GLANWORTH

Glanworth, Nov. 6.—An "at home" was given on Friday evening in the basement of St. Andrew's Church. The attendance was good, and the programme excellent. Rev. John Currie, of Belmont, presided. The choirs of the North and South Westminster congregations, about 30 in number, with Miss Mary Nichol as organist, opened the programme with an anthem, which elicited hearty applause. Solos were sung with good effect by J. C. Nichol, Misses Maggie Murray, H. B. McColl and Irene McKellar, of St. Thomas, with Miss Mary C. Nichol, of Hubrey, as accompanist; quartet by Messrs. Duncan McColl, Daniel McPherson, Miss H. B. McColl and Miss Flora McInnis. Miss Mildred Godwin, of Alma College, St. Thomas, a clever elocutionist, gave six recitations. Rev. Dr. McCrae and Rev. Mr. Moffat made stirring addresses.

McPherson Bros. and Dougald McPherson shipped three carloads of prim steers on Saturday for the Glasgow market. Messrs. Daniel McPherson and John J. Taylor accompanied the consignment to Montreal.

THAMESFORD.

Thamesford, Nov. 7.—Mr. A. F. Bain has completed the foundation for his new house, and expects the bricklayers to begin work at an early date.

Mrs. (Dr.) Kester and son, of Ingersoll, are the guests of Mrs. W. Kester.

Miss Jessie Alexander, the talented reader, will give a recital in St. Andrew's Church on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Proceeds in aid of the public library. This is Miss Alexander's second appearance here, and it is altogether likely she will have a large audience. Those who fail to her the lady miss a great treat.

Messrs. N. P. McCarty & Son have commenced the improvements on their store. They intend putting in a plate glass front, extending it nine feet nearer the street, and will rearrange the interior.

The flax mill has commenced operations for the winter months.

Messrs. Haney & Mackay have been endeavoring to give the citizens of Thamesford better light, and have succeeded in securing enough patrons to put in an acetylene lighting plant. They intend supplying the stores and dwellings on Dundas street this fall, and the remainder of the village in the spring, providing it proves satisfactory. They expect to commence operations this week.

The bricklayers finished their work on the new school house last week, and the carpenters have the roof under way.

The trustees expect to be able to open school in the new building at the first of the year.

Green seems to be the prevailing color here at present. A large number of our townsmen are having their dwellings and shops ornamented with its different shades.

Mrs. Brackstone is ill with typhoid fever. Mr. Brackstone and son are just recovering.

Wm. Lane, an old man who took $1,220 of the funds of the Emerald Benefit Society, appeared in the Toronto police court for sentence. He explained that he wrote to the executive committee of the society acknowledging his shortage and offering to refund the amount, partly in work and partly in cash. The magistrate sent Lane to the Central Prison for six months.

IN PEKIN IN 1860

How French and British Allies Occupied It at That Time.

[London Chronicle.]

At the present moment it is interesting to recall the circumstances and some of the incidents of the entry of an allied force into Pekin 40 years ago. After a long period of friction between Great Britain and China Mr. Edward Bruce was, early in 1859, appointed special envoy to Pekin to formally ratify the treaty of Tien Tsin. Admiral Hope, in charge of the China squadron, made special arrangements with a view to protecting the envoy, having been warned of a threatened anti-foreign demonstration—and not without reason. Mr. Bruce was stopped on his way to Pekin, near Tien Tsin, and the admiral attempted to force a passage up the river past the Taku forts to provide him with an escort, but met with stronger opposition than he expected, and was repulsed with a loss of 81 killed and 390 wounded.

Stronger measures were necessary, and France agreed to join Great Britain in a military expedition. The British troops, 13,000 in all, drawn mainly from India, were commanded by Gen. Sir Hope Grant (with Col. Wolseley, now Lord Wolseley, as deputy assistant quartermaster-general), and the French by Gen. Montauban. On Aug. 21, 1860, the British and French forces captured the Taku forts, losing 500 killed and wounded, and then marched toward the capital. The emperor seeing that the allies were in great force, as well as in earnest, declared that he was ready to conclude the treaty, but the generals insisted that it could only be done after they had reached Tung Chow. Consul Parkes, accompanied by Henry Loch, Mr. de Normann and Mr. Bowlby, the Times correspondent, and and escort of 26 sabres under Lieut. Anderson, started ahead of the army to Tung Chow to make arrangements for a meeting. These arrangements having apparently been successfully concluded, Mr. Parkes and his party, on their return to meet the allied forces, found themselves hemmed in by the Chinese, and were eventually taken as prisoners to Pekin, and Capt. Brabazon, who had just joined the party from the British column, was beheaded.

The allied generals ordered their batteries to attack the Chinese, and a hot engagement ensued, in which the Sikhs especially distinguished themselves, and both parties held their ground. Attempts at negotiations were followed by other engagements, and the British and French gained the outskirts of Pekin and captured the emperor's summer palace, from which an enormous amount of prize property was secured and divided among the troops.

Again the Chinese professed themselves willing to treat, and as a preliminary Mr. Parkes and Mr. Loch were released, after having suffered many indignities; Lieut. Anderson and Mr. de Normann were never seen alive again, having succumbed to the cruelest forms of torture. Lord Elgin then refused to negotiate until this barbarous crime had been purged by prompt punishment; Sir Hope Grant destroyed the summer palace by fire, and $100,000 was demanded and subsequently paid as a compensation to the relatives of the murdered men. It had been outside the summer palace where the British prisoners had been most barbarously treated for the edification of the emperor, who watched the proceedings from his window.

Negotiations then followed, and on October 12, the allies, without firing a shot, occupied Pekin, the palace of Prince Tsai, who had instigated the anti-foreign movement, being appropriated by Lord Elgin as his official residence. The treaty was signed on October 24, and on November 9 the last of the allied forces marched out of Pekin.

A $15,000 BANQUET

How Li Hung Chang Disposed of the Precious Gift of a Wealthy Friend.

[Cleaveland Plaindealer.]

The reappearance of Li Hung Chang in the field of international politics recalls vividly the last time that he figured prominently when some of his peculiarities and the circumstances which surrounded his visit to England came near injuring the prospects of his country.

When Li was in London four years ago he occupied Holford House, one of the most palatial residences in the British metropolis. The Oriental Bismarck's retinue, however, did not admire the English style of architecture and decorations, and showed their contempt for all this magnificance in various ways. For instance, they cooked their indescribable eatables on the drawing room floor and cast the fragments where they pleased. They played Chinese leap-frog with the priceless Chippendale furniture. They decorated the walls with designs of their own. They rearranged the hangings and upholstery. In fact, they enjoyed themselves so much that when they departed the owner of the house put in a bill for $50,000 to the British government for repairs and fumigation.

Among Li's most frequent visitors was Mr. Panmure Gordon, of Panmure Gordon, Hill & Co., one of the most prominent London brokerage houses. The cause of the intimacy was that the Chinese diplomat was endeavoring to float a Chinese loan for $80,000,000, and the broker was assisting him. Panmure Gordon, Hill & Co. were acting as brokers for the Hong Kong & Shanghai banking corporation, which institution was primarily interested in the proposed loan.

In the matter of magnificance Mr. Gordon is only to be surpassed by Earl Li himself. He had the distinction at the time of being the only man in England who owned a private railroad car with a kitchen attached, in which he rode every day from his home—50 miles away—to the city. Mr. Gordon had one great hobby—collie dogs. He was president of the Collie Club, and would have been ready to sacrifice the well being of all his wife's relations to further the interests of these sagacious animals.

After various conferences Mr. Gordon had undertaken to seek public subscriptions for the loan and nothing further was necessary than the signature of a few documents. Both the broker and the statesman were well satisfied with themselves and each other, and as is customary when dealing with Orientals, a number of valuable gifts were interchanged. To show especial honor to the distinguished Chinaman, Mr. Gordon determined to present him with an offering which which would eclipse all others. His most precious collie, valued at $15,000, which had taken several prizes, was set aside for the purpose. Li Hung Chang duly received the quadruped, for which he returned thanks in the following terms in his letter:

"Li Hung Chang presents his compliments to Mr. Gordon, and is deeply grateful for the magnificent gift, but regrets to say that he does not eat meat himself. Several of the staff, however, enjoyed the dish immensely, finding it vastly superior to any western dish they had partaken of."

The remarks which Mr. Gordon made on the receipt of the above missive, may not be published, but so enraged was he that he refused to have anything to do with the floating of the loan, and remained obdurate for several weeks. The matter was finally arranged, but the fact remains that a transaction involving $80,000,000, was held up for a considerable time all for the sake of the honor of a sheep dog.

"For some years I have been very much troubled with lumbago and kidney derangement, although I have used many remedies and been treated by several doctors.

"About three months ago I saw an advertisement in the Toronto Globe, and sent for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Before I had used more than half of the box the lumbago entirely left me, and has not troubled me since. I would highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted with lumbago or kidney trouble."

The United States Presidential Election.

As will be seen from our telegraphic dispatches in this issue, President McKinley and the Republicans have again carried the Presidential election against William J. Bryan and the Democrats. Mr. McKinley has proved himself a strong, moderate President. He will henceforth have the cordial co-operation of a very able and energetic man in Theodore Roosevelt, the Republican Vice-President-elect. There is no doubt, indeed, that Mr. Roosevelt's unexampled speaking tour throughout the country materially promoted yesterday's result.

The main issues were those of "Sound Money" and "Imperialism." The Democrats did their best to keep the silver issue—16 to 1—in the background; but it is not surprising that they did not succeed, seeing Republicans were equally determined that it should be kept to the front.

As to "Imperialism," so-called, Mr. Bryan and his friends vigorously assailed the retention of the Philippine Islands, and the mixing up of the United States with European and Asiatic entanglements, as being opposed to the earlier traditions of the Republic. The Republican position, per contra, was broadly this — that the Philippines had come to the United States in the unsought course of an expanding Providential destiny which they could not escape, and did not desire to evade.

Probably this election finishes Mr. Bryan as a Presidential factor, in the only way in which he could have been extinguished, and it dismisses the silver craze at the same time.

Both candidates are worthy, exemplary men, personally, and Mr. Bryan is an unusually graceful and magnetic speaker.

It must be said for President McKinley and his associates of the Executive that they have reciprocated, in the Chinese troubles, and otherwise, the goodwill shown to the United States by Great Britain during the Spanish-American war of a year or two ago. For that and other reasons, we consider the result of yesterday's Presidential election satisfactory and beneficial, alike as to the best interests of the Great Republic and equally of the world at large.

The Anglo-German Policy.

With regard to China, all the great powers have now had their turn at making proposals, and at present it looks as if there was, in this matter at least, going to be an Anglo-Saxon alliance in the widest sense of that term. Germany and England, we are told, have made proposals looking to the preservation of the territorial integrity of China and the keeping open of the ports to the trade of the world. The United States finds that this is quite in agreement with her policy, hence there is a powerful combination formed to prevent, if possible, the partition of the Chinese Empire. This, we are informed by the people who know, will postpone the European war for some months at least. There are some people who always have a big European war coming on.

The proposals put forward now in the name of Britain and Germany are, of course, set forth in such a way as to meet the advances of other powers. Russia and France have been treated respectfully, and it looks as if the "concert" was really beginning to work. Germany has a special position on account of the murder of her ambassador, and the appointment of one of her generals as commander-in-chief. Britain has large interests in China which she wishes to protect without taking over Chinese territory. The great American Republic has now gained a real footing in the far east, and she wishes to keep free for the present from fresh adventures, but desires to see China pacified without conquest, and kept open to the trade of the world. From the point of view of abstract theory these two demands may seem to be inconsistent. It might, theoretically, be more consistent to take the responsibility of governing China or to leave the great empire to itself. Politics, however, is a matter of compromise, and an attempt must be made to make a practical working arrangement, even if it is not logically consistent. This will give China one more chance; and if the time comes when it has to be divided, there will, at any rate, be the consolation, that such a thing was done only after every other means had failed. The poor Chinese will have to stand a double squeeze, to pay their own officials, and to settle the damages for all the mischief, and so the patient, toiling multitudes will find, as the net result of all this rioting, their own burdens made still heavier.

The Right Hon. Max Muller.

The other day there passed away, at the age of seventy-seven years, Frederick Maximilian Muller, known to the world as Professor Max Muller. Max Muller's father, Wilhelm Muller, was a German poet of no small eminence, and some of his lyrics, especially those set to music by Schubert, enjoyed great popularity. The son, however, was destined to fame in another direction. He has done his work and made his name in the realm of pure scholarship, and specially in the departments of philology and comparative religion. Max Muller settled in Oxford 50 years ago, and identified himself fully with the life and interests of that great university. He practically became an Englishman, and in recent days, when there was bitter feeling in Germany against England, he was ready to plead with eloquence and force the cause of the land of his adoption. We have not space to mention all his works on Oriental religions and the science of language, but we feel that it is a duty to pay a brief passing tribute to one who attained such eminence in the sphere of pure scholarship, and who, apart from the soundness or otherwise of his particular theories, exerted a widespread and wholesome influence.

That he was active up to the last is shown by the fact that, suggested by the state of affairs in China, a series of articles from his pen on the religions of China had begun to appear in the Nineteenth Century. These possess a said interest now, as specimens of his latest work, in a line for which he manifested lifelong interest. Some time ago a volume of his reminiscences, entitled, "Auld Lang Syne," appeared, which contains much autobiographical matter of the best kind. We called attention to some of these chapters when they were first printed in Cosmopolis, and we mention them now as revealing a very genial side of the aged scholar's life. Max Muller's name will long hold a high place in the annals of Oxford and the literature of England.

THE POPE'S ENCYCLICAL

His Holiness Discountenances Rebellion.

Opening of the French Senate—A Schooner's Crew Rescued.

Rome, Nov. 7.—The pope has addressed to the bishops an encyclical, dated Nov. 1. The pontiff says he rejoices at the assemblage of Catholics from all parts of the world in Rome during holy year, which, he adds, demonstrates that the peoples are marching towards Christ. He exhorts the world to seek the Redeemer, which, the pontiff points out, is th eroad to truth and life, adding:

"As Christ's coming to the world reformed society, so the latter, in turning to Christ, will become better and be saved by following the doctrine and divine law, by discountenancing revolt against the constituted powers and avoiding conflicts."

If the peoples acted so, the encyclical continues, they would all love one another as brothers and obey peacefully their superiors. Neglect of God, the pontiff further says, has led to so many disorders that the people are oppressed with incessant fears and anguish. He concludes with urging the bishops to make known to the entire world that the Redeemer and Savior of mankind alone can bring salvation and peace.

CREW RESCUED.

Queenstown, Nov. 6.—The Cunard liner Saxonia (Capt. Pritchard), from Boston, Oct. 27, has brought here 15 members of the crew of the fishing schooner Mary Mosquito, which the Saxonia sank off Gloucester on the day of her departure from Boston. One member of the crew was drowned. The Cunarder was not damaged.

THE FRENCH SENATE.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The French Senate reopened its session yesterday afternoon. The house proceeded to formal business. After a very brief and uninteresting session the house adjourned until Thursday, after M. Piot had introduced a bill with the object of arresting the depopulation of France.

Hearing Restored After Physicians in Toronto And Winnipeg Failed.

Neglected catarrh is the cause of deafness in nine out of every ten cases. When you hear a little buzzing, roaring sound occasionally in your ears you can be sure partial deafness will follow sooner or later, unless Japanese Catarrn Cure is used.

Mr. D. N. Spencer, 11 Coolmine avenue, Toronto, writes: "I have been troubled with catarrh and deafness for a number of years; finally I could not converse with any person at a distance. I spent money on advertized remedies, and doctored with specialists in Toronto and Winnipeg (while there three years ago), but my hearing became no better. About a year ago I procured a sample of Japanese Catarrh Cure. I afterwards followed up this treatment as directed, and shortly I found my hearing completely returned and my catarrh does not trouble me now in the least. I can conscientiously recommend it to any person troubled with catarrh or catarrhal deafness."

Japanese Catarrh Cure is a volatile, healing pomade, pleasant to use, and permanently cures catarrh wherever located. Sold by all druggists; or mailed on receipt of price, 50 cents, by The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., Limited, 121 Church street, Toronto.

British Commander's Report on Operations.

Gallantry Recognized — Russia's Reply to the Anglo-German Proposition.

London, Nov. 6. — The Gazette tonight prints Gen. Gaselee's dispatches to the secretary of state for India, referring to the operations for the relief of Pekin, and Gen. Dorward's report of the operations about Tien Tsin. Gaselee, among half a dozen others, mentions for special services two Americans, "who gallantly supported our fighting line, viz., Major Quinton and Capt. J. R. M. Taylor," both of the Fourteenth United States Infantry.

Gen. Dorward's reports little news, but relating to the withdrawal of the Ninth United States Infantry after it had suffered so heavily in the attack at Tien Tsin, he says:

"I would specially bring to notice the conduct of Major Jesse Lee during the retirement. In him the regiment possesses an officer of exceptional merit. Among many instances of personal bravery during the action, I would specially bring to notice the conduct of Captain Smedley Butler, United States Marines, in bringing a wounded man in from the front under heavy and accurate fire. Butler was wounded while so doing, and was himself carried out of the firing line by Adjutant Leonard, who, I regret to say, was dangerously wounded in so doing. Capt. Lawton, of the Ninth United States Regiment, brought me news of their condition under a heavy fire. When returning and guiding the reinforcements of his regiment, he was severely wounded."

RUSSIA'S REPLY.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 6. — The text of the Russian reply to the Anglo-German agreement note is published. The first point, providing for open ports on the rivers of the Chinese littoral, is favorably received, as it does not alter the existing treaties. The second point is all the more in harmony with Russia's intentions, as the integrity of the Celestial Empire is the fundamental principle of Russian policy. As regards the possibility of a violation of this principle, in the third article, Russia refers to her note of May 28, and repeats her declaration that such violation would compel Russia to modify, as circumstances might require, the attitude she has taken up.

RUSSIA AND MANCHURIA.

London, Nov. 6.—A dispatch to the Times from Pekin says that Vice-Admiral Alexieff has addressed a communication to Li Hung Chang, asking him what the intentions of China are regarding Manchuria, in inviting China to resume the government of the country under the protection of Russia, which Admiral Alexieff assures him will be to the advantage of both countries.

Thus, adds the correspondent, another step is reached in the absorption of this magnificent province by Russia, for protection in such a case spells empire.

DUTY OF PARENTS

To Help Lower the Death Rate of Children in Ontario.

The startling fact that of the total number of deaths in Ontario every year, between one-third and one-half are those of children under the age of 4 years, is one that may well cause every parent to pause and realize that it is a sacred duty they owe alike to themselves, their helpless offspring, and their country to adopt the best means possible of reducing this frightful mortality. How many fathers and mothers could have been saved lifelong sorrow, how many homes, now darkened and mourning, could have been brightened by innocent, childish laughter, had only the parents exercised the proper regard for their children's welfare. Parents of pale, weak, delicate children should rejoice to know that there is a means of making their darlings strong and well, and the happy parents of healthy children should know the best way to keep their children so. The following letter, received by the Battle Creek Health Food Company, 651 Colborne street, London, is from Mrs. A. Fennell, of Guelph, Ont. She writes:

"I have much pleasure in testifying to the excellence of Granose Flakes as a nourishing food for infants. My little girl, at 2 months old, had not grown any, but was very delicate. I heard of Granose and tried it. Since then baby has grown rapidly and is now a strong healthy little one." b

DASHED DOWN HILL!

Trolley Accident at Montreal—Score of Persons Injured.

Montreal, Nov. 6. — There was a pilgrimage Sunday afternoon from the archbishop's church to Cote des Neiges Cemetery, attended by several thousand people. While a street car loaded to its capacity was ascending the steep Cote des Neiges hill the trolley slipped from the wire.

The motorman immediately applied his brakes, but the car began sliding backwards slowly. There was a rush for the front vestibule. So many crowded in that the motorman was rendered powerless to do anything further. People broke the vestibule windows, the windows of the car and jumped from the rear platform. Fully a score were more or less injured, several receiving broken arms and legs.

The car, gathering speed, dashed into a car following, and that one crushed into another before all were finally brought to a standstill.

KILLED BY A LITTLE GIRL.

Pinkerton, Ont., Nov. 6. — A very sad accident occurred Saturday about two miles from here. A little boy named Walter Dobie, aged about ten years, went on an errand to a neighbor's. The family were absent, excepting a little girl of about the same age. A rifle that had been borrowed was returned a few minutes previously and the girl playfully picked it up and pointed it at him, when it was discharged, killing him instantly. An inquest will be held.

Curious Clocks And Watches

The oldest clock in the world is in the city of Rouen, France. It was made by Jahan de Felains, and was completed in 1389. Its case is 6 feet 8 inches high, and only 5 inches broad; and so perfect is its construction that it is still used to regulate the time in the town. It strikes the hours, half-hours and quarters with the most exact regularity. A pendulum was added to this remarkable clock in the year 1714, for up to that time it had only possessed what medieval clockmakers called a "foliot."

But though the Rouen time-regulator is the most remarkable in point of antiquity, the most ingenious and unique production of its art is owned by a wealthy Hindu prince. This clock has no dial, a richly-toned gong being suspended in its place. Beneath this gong, on a metal plate, lie a quantity of artificial skulls and bones in a heap, there being just sufficient of these to form twelve complete skeletons.

Precisely at 1 o'clock, one skull, together with the other bones necessary to make one skeleton, fly into position. The skeleton, by some invisible and mechanical force, leaps to its feet, seizes a mallet in its bony hand, and strikes the suspended gong a single blow. This being done, the mechanical operations are reversed. The mallet falls back into its former place, the skeleton returns to the heap of skulls and bones, falls prostrate upon them, and drops instantly to pieces. Whatever the hour happens to be, a corresponding number of skeletons go through this remarkable maneuver, and at noon or midnight the scene is gruesome in the extreme.

Another curious instance of the ingenuity expended in this branch of mechanical art appeared at a sale in Paris a few years ago. A timepiece, given by Philippe Egalite of France to George IV. of Great Britain, when the latter was Prince of Wales, was then sold for a large sum of money. This remarkable clock is shaped like the head of a negress. Jewels are skilfully set in the hair, and a richly-jewelled clasp takes the place of the usual handkerchief. Pendant from each ear is a beautifully-chased, open-work earring, and by pulling one of these the hour is shown in the right eye, and the minutes in the left. On pulling the other earring a set of sweet-toned bells chime the hour.

One of the most wonderful watches in the world was made some years ago at Geneva, Switzerland, by M. Sivan, the well-known clockmaker. This watch has been made to speak by applying the phonograph to the old-fashioned repeater. The springs and hammers have been replaced by a disk of vulcanized India rubber, over whose surface the point moves. Articulate sounds denoting the hour are thus emitted. The furrows on the disk are identical with those produced on the ordinary phonographic cylinder by the human voice. The utterance is loud enough to be heard in an adjoining room.

A man's career from infancy to old age is shown by a clock made in one of the large watch factories at Waltham, Mass. The clock displays, at the hours, twelve distinct silhouette groups, beginning with a woman with a very small child in her arms. At 1 o'clock the little mother and her minfature baby are clearly depicted, the infant being in long clothes. At 2 o'clock the same figures appear, but the child has perceptibly grown. At 3 o'clock the little mother is still the same, but the baby is in short clothes. At 4 o'clock the child again appears, and so on up to 8 o'clock, when he goes to school for the first time. At 9 o'clock he is seen in college gown, standing beside the now elderly mother. At 10 o'clock the death-bed is brought to view, the young man taking leave of his loved parent. At 11 o'clock he is aged with the snows of many winters, and at 12 o'clock he makes his appearance as an old and decrepit specimen of humanity, praying for his end. During each twelve hours, the same scenes from infancy to old age are again presented.

For beautifying the skin, for the stopping of falling hair, for softening and whitening red, rough hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, for too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, for many sanative antiseptic purposes, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery, it is incomparable.

JUDGMENT HANDED DOWN.

At Osgoode Hall yesterday, Mr. Justice Rose handed down the following judgment in the case of Armstrong vs. Merchants' Mantle Manufacturing Company, an action tried at the recent assizes in London. The action was brought to have it declared that a call made upon certain stock of the defendants was invalid, and the attempted forfeiture for its non-payment ineffectual. The plaintiff is the assignee for the benefit of creditors of one Watkins, the holder of the stock. Held, that to the shareholder only must the company, the defendants, account for his interest in its capital stock. Leave to plaintiff to amend by adding Watkins as plaintiff, and assuming that he is added, held, that under section 35, R. S. O., chapter 191, the forfeiture was invalid, the resolution authorizing the call not limiting a time; see re Cowley & Co., 42 Ch. D., 209. If Watkins is added as a plaintiff, there may be a declaration that the call was invalid and the forfeiture ineffectual. No costs. If Watkins refuses to consent to be added a plaintiff application may be made to see whether under any circumstances he may be added a defendant. Gibbons, Q.C., for plaintiff. A. Mills, for defendant.

THE OAR.

GAUDAUR MAY RACE TOWNS.

London, Nov. 7.—It is four years since Jake Gaudaur won the title of champion sculler of the world. Jake was always willing to race, and so it is probable he will accept the challenge to row for the world's championship of George Towns, the champion of England and Australia. Towns has twice won the championship of England.

YACHTING.

THE NEW CHALLENGER.

London, Nov. 6.—Sir Thomas Lipton is conferring at Glasgow with George L. Watson, the designer of the new challenger for the America's cup. It is known that Sir Thomas' visit to Glasgow was for the purpose of signing contracts for the building of the yacht by the Hendersons, Meadowside, the builders of the Thistle, the three Valkyries, the Britannia, the Meteor and the Syparita.

The date specified in the contracts for the handing over of the vessel is March 30. The framework will be laid down this week.

The greatest precautions are being taken to preserve secrecy regarding the design. A footpath along the banks of the Clyde, which skirts the Henderson yard, is already closed.

FELONIOUS WOUNDING.

Brantford, Nov. 7.—Samuel Martin, who has been employed on the Rickson farm near this city, was placed under arrest on a charge of feloniously wounding a fellow-worker, Thomas Forde. It is alleged that the two men had a quarrel in the morning, and that in the afternoon Martin struck Forde twice with a heavy club, inflicting two very serious cuts in Forde's head. Forde is now in a precarious condition.

MILD IN THEIR ACTION.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are very mild in their action. They do not cause griping in the stomach or cause disturbances there as so many pills do. Therefore, the most delicate can take them without fear of unpleasant results. They can too, be administered to children without imposing the penalties which follow the use of pills not so carefully prepared.

AGREED TO HIS FLIGHT

General Belief That He Did Not Act on His Own Initiative—Congress of Dutchwomen.

Paris, Nov. 6.—The French consul at Pretoria has informed M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, that Gens. Botha, Delarey and Dewet and President Steyn referred the question of ex-President Kruger's trip to Europe to the burghers, who consented thereto.

A strong belief is growing in Paris that President Kruger did not act on his own initiative, but on the invitation of a European power. Dr. Leyds, the European agent of the Transvaal, has stated that the czar promised him that he would offer to mediate between Great Britain and the South African Republics when his hands were free in China. It is well known, however, that the czar is a good-hearted but weak man, whose performances are not likely to equal his intentions. The czar is quoted as saying to Dr. Leyds, "What will Emperor William do?" Dr. Leyds replied: "You know better than I do."

DUTCHWOMEN MEET.

Cape Town, Nov. 7.—Several members of Lord Roberts' staff, who are on their way home, arrived here today.

The Dutchwomen of Cape Colony will hold a congress at Paarl next Saturday. It is stated that the object of this congress is to bring to the notice of the world, and especially to the people of Great Britain, the alleged harsh treatment of women and children in the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal.

THE RETURN OF THE GENERALS

London, Nov. 7.—Of the generals who took a leading part in the operations of the war up to the capture of Lydenburg, a relatively large proportion have already returned or are on their way to England. The following is a list of the principal generals, an asterisk indicating those who have already left South Africa:

*Sir Redvers Buller, *Gen. Hunter, Lord Kitchener, *Gen. Pole-Carew, Gen. Ian Hamilton, Gen. Rundle, Lord Methuen, Gen. Tucker, *Gen. Gatacre, Gen. Baden-Powell, *Sir Charles Warren, Gen. Clery, *Gen. Colville, *Gen. Chermside, Gen. Lyttelton, Gen. Hildyard, Gen. Kelly-Kenny, *Lord Dundonald.

In addition, Gen. Wavell, formerly commanding the 13th brigade, is on his way home, also Gen. Nicholson, one of Lord Roberts' staff. Gen. Ian Hamilton has left the front, and is believed to be now in Pretoria.

Lieut.-Gen. the Hon. G. N. Lyttelton, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the reversion of the chief ommand after the departure of Lord Roberts, will, it is understood be granted leave of absence for a brief rest.

ADVENTURES OF AN AMBULANCE

Standerton, Nov. 7.—Major Copeland's convoy of sick and wounded men from Gen. French's column has arrived here after an adventurous journey from Machadodorp. It was twice stopped by threatening commandoes and ordered to return. Major Copeland refused to return, and warned the burghers that if they interfered with the sick and wounded General French would exact a fitting retribution. This had some effect, for the Boers contented themselves with taking the wounded from eight wagons and clearing off with the vehicles only.

Over a thousand Boers, the remnants of several commandoes, are hovering on the line of French's approaching column, and there are scattered bodies of train-wreckers between here and Carolina.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 6.—In the course of a quarrel over factional politics at the rooms of a colored Republican club, Ottrey Thompson was fatally shot by his brother Charles.

SUICIDE.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 6.—A special from Lisbon says: James Elliott, jun., a son of James Elliott, of Walker Hill, committed suicide by shooting through the head yesterday afternoon. He did not agree with his father in political belief, and it is understood that this difference led to the suicide.

WIFE MURDER.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7.—Charles Davis, aged about 30 years, shot and killed his wife at their home here, and then attempted to take his own life. He has a bullet wound in his head, but may recover. The story of the affair shows that owing to the quarrelsome disposition of Davis, his wife had refused to live with him. He called on her, and the couple almost immediately became engaged in an altercation.

BAYLEY'S

GLENCOE'S WELCOME

To Private Rae of the Canadian Contingent.

Glencoe, Nov. 7.—Pte. Al. Rae, of the Canadian contingent, returned on the 3 o'clock train yesterday. A meeting was called for 10 o'clock in the morning, at the town hall, to make arrangements for a demonstration in his honor on his arrival, and never in the history of this town was an undertaking carried out so completely and in such a pleasing manner. The council donated $25, and a committee was appointed to call upon the citizens for subscriptions for a purse to present to Pte. Rae. The Wardsville band was engaged for the occasion, and when the London train pulled up to the station a crowd of fully one thousand citizens of Glencoe and surrounding country had gathered to do him honor.

A procession was formed and marshaled by R. Balkwell as follows: Wardsville band, Mr. R. R. McKellar's carriage, containing Pte. Rae and Messrs. McKellar, Calvert and McAlpine, Glencoe council, school children and teachers to the number of 300, and citizens. The march was up Main street to the town hall, where Mr. G. M. Harris, town clerk, who had been asked to take the chair in the absence of the reeve, filled the position nobly, and after kind references to Pte. Rae and a few remarks as to the necessity of England going to war with the Boers, called upon Revs. Jas. Wilson, Phillips, W. H. McTavish, Mr. W. S. Calvert, M.P., and J. C. Elliott, who all gave short, spicy, patriotic speeches.

The speeches were interspersed with patriotic songs by the school children, which were much enjoyed by all, and spoke well for the training they have received from an efficient staff of teachers. Councilor Simpson read an appropriate address from the council and citizens, and Messrs. Currie and McFarlane presented Pte. Rae with a well-filled purse from the citizens and a check from the council. Pte. Rae was taken too much by surprise to make a lengthy reply, but heartily thanked his friends for their kindness. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the young ladies of the town. The demonstration closed with "God Save the Queen."

PTE. REDGE HONORED

The Pupils of His School Present Him With a Diamond Ring.

When the opportunity to join the South African forces was presented to the men of this city, two ex-pupils of St. George's school, Charles Redge and W. G. Adams, were among those who accepted it. Pte. Adams was wounded and ill, and he died in the south. His picture adorns the wall of the old schoolhouse. Redge was his chum. He erected a monument over young Adams' grave, continued on the march towards Pretoria, and at last returned to his friends here. The pupils of the school decided that they would also honor him. They did so yesterday afternoon. All the teachers, the pupils and several invited guests, assembled on the lawn yesterday afternoon. Pte. Redge, in his khaki uniform, was escorted there by ten men from Wolseley Barracks. Trustee E. J. MacRobert presided, and both he and Principal Baker made patriotic and appreciative addresses.

Pte. Redge was introduced by the chairman and was cheered lustily. Lieut.-Col. Holmes, D. O. C., made a neat speech before presenting the young soldier with a handsome diamond ring, as a testimonial of the love and goodwill of the pupils of St. George's school.

Pte. Redge made a few appropriate remarks, thanking the pupils and friends for their gift. Between the speeches Miss McLoud sang "When the Boys in Khaki All Come Home," and Miss Janes sang "Her Majesty."

Before dispersing, patriotic songs were sung by the pupils, who also gave hearty cheers for the Queen, B Company, Col. Holmes, Principal Baker, and Pte. Redge.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

Philippi, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The latest reports from the ill-fated mine at Berrysburg show that 13 are dead, 8 of whom have been recognized. Two men were found dead in a part of the mine which had been abandoned. The door at the mouth of the mine was shut, and the two men had been blown 250 feet from the mouth.

DROWNED

Miss Maggie Johnston's Body Found in Speed River.

Guelph, Nov. 7.—The body of Maggie Johnston, well known in the city as a bookkeeper in the Ontario Investment Savings Society Bank, was found yesterday afternoon in the Eramosa branch of the Speed at Rice Island, about a mile and a half from the city hall.

An inquest was held in the evening before Coroner Mackinnon. It appears that Miss Johnston had not been very well since last Thursday, complaining of weakness and depression, but intended to return to work on Wednesday morning. Yesterday morning, after she had her breakfast, she started out for a walk about 8 o'clock, and nothing further was heard of her until the afternoon about 3 o'clock, when the body was found in a partially upright position in about three or four feet of water. Several witnesses were examined and the inquest was adjourned until Thursday evening.

Lewis Jones, of Port Stanley, has sold to Bruce Davis, who is now in Winnipeg, five carloads of apples, containing 900 barrels, at a good figure. Mr. Davis could take ten carloads more, but Mr. Jones cannot supply them.

A very pretty wedding scene occurred on Nov. 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Macdonald, of Kincardine, when their only daughter, Winnifred, a solo singer of wide reputation, was united in marriage to Prof. James I. Hill, bank manager, of Watford. Rev. Dr. Murray officiated. Both of the contracting parties are singers of note.

Two brothers named Whitecroft were arrested early Sunday morning near Mapleton by Constable Huffman, on a warrant charging them with stealing grain and other articles from a farmer named Brown. The prisoners were taken to Aylmer and brought before his Worship Mayor Glover and J. Bradley, J.P., for trial. After hearing the evidence their worships found the prisoners guilty and gave them each three months in the county jail.

BOGUS POLITICAL CLUBS.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—One of the funny incidents of the campaign has just come to light, when half a dozen young men of the east end were arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It appears that they formed two clubs, which they called "Conservative Workingmen's Club," and "Liberal Workingmen's Club" respectively, and collected several thousand dollars from each party. They had no authority to do so, and are now in trouble.

VETERAN VOTER—AGE 100.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—On Friday morning Mr. Davis and Mr. Campbell visited Mr. Thomas White at Kleinburg, probably the oldest man to vote at this election. Mr. White is in his 101st year, and is strong and erect in figure and active in his mental faculties. He came to Canada from the north of Ireland in 1837, and settled near his present home when there was no clearing whatever. He has been an active Liberal in his day, and intends to add one vote to Mr. Campbell's credit on Wednesday.

MANAGER HAYS' RETURN.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Mr. Charles M. Hays, general manager of the G. T. R., has returned to Montreal from his western tour, which was undertaken mainly in connection with the purchase of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway on behalf of the stockholders. Mr. F. H. McGuigan, the general superintendent, who accompanied Mr. Hays out west, returned to headquarters yesterday. There are no developments whatever in connection with the appointment of a successor to Mr. Hays as general manager. Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the president of the company, who sailed from Liverpool Saturday, is expected to reach Montreal next week.

ISTHMUS CANAL

Panama Route, If Adopted, Would Save Two Years' Work.

New York, Nov. 7.—Walter Schlect, of the Nicaragua Canal commission, was a passenger on the steamship Finance, which arrived from Colon yesterday. He is the last of the commission to return. His headquarters on the isthmus were in the Gorgona section. Besides his duties in connection with the Nicaragua route, Mr. Schlect spent some time in studying the proposed Panama route.

"I have been on the isthmus seventeen months," he said, "and have studied both of the proposed routes. The commission studied both of them carefully, and in their report will impartially consider the merits of each of them. Both of the routes have many advantages. Should the Panama route be chosen, two years' work will be saved. Most of the obstacles in the way of building the canals can be overcome by engineering skill.

"I do not believe that the Panama people will finish the canal in years. Its estimated cost is $100,000,000, while the company is spending only about a million a year. The cost of the new canal will be about $150,000,000."

REPTILES IN CAPTIVITY.

The most striking single feature of the Reptile House interior, in the New York Zoo, writes Dr. W. T. Hornaday, in the November Century, is the alligator pool, which is another new departure in the keeping of saurians. The pool is 35 by 9 feet, and contains four feet of water, heated to 80 degrees F. On the farther side of the pool are spacious gravel banks, beyond which rises a dense maze of palms, Spanish bayonets, and other tropical plants, representing a living jungle. Leaning over the pool is a tree resembling a live-oak overgrown with tillandsias, orchids, and Spanish moss from Florida. A flood of light streams down upon the pool and its banks, the water is warmed by concealed pipes, and the six alligators are so contented that they have long since ceased to be vicious. Being properly warmed, they feed freely, grow rapidly, and are always ready for a meal. The largest specimen, called Jumbo, now twelve feet six inches in length, has added six inches to himself since he was placed in the pool last November.

Live Stock Markets.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Activity in export cattle was feature of trading at Toronto cattle market today. Several fine loads sold at fair prices, but quotations were no higher. Other grades dull. There was light run, and demand was indifferent. Good butchers' cattle were wanted, and buyers were willing to pay well for them; very few to be had, and volume of trade in that line was small. Same might be said of feeders; they were not plentiful, and good were quickly bought up. Prices generally were steady, and receipts were 40 loads, including 600 cattle, 600 sheep and lambs, 20 calves and 137 hogs. Export cattle—Larger supply; finer shipping cattle than usual, and they were all sold; top price paid was $4 60 per cwt, and a few loads sold at $4 40; these were heavy cattle; light exporters sold at $4 25; approaching close of season of navigation is responsible for good deal of demand for these, but buyers are always willing to take extra choice cattle, and animals sold ranked in that class; prices are firm at $4 40 to $4 60 per cwt for heavy and $4 20 to $4 45 for light. Butchers' cattle—Demand was not keen and supply of good small; one load of prime sold at $3 80, and that was the top price paid; choice and picked were in good demand, but were not to be had; the poor grades are plentiful, but there is little sale for them; prices are unchanged; common to medium cattle sell at $2 to $3 per cwt; good at $3 25 to $4, and choice to picked at $4 to $4 50. Export bulls—Demand fair; good bulls were wanted; prices for best were little weaker; $4 was the highest price offered, and $3 50 was the general quotation; heavy are worth $3 50 to $4 per cwt, and light $3 to $3 50; only few were offered, and trade was quiet. Feeders—Trade was dull on account of small demand; dealers are well supplied at present, and do not care to make additions to their stocks unless they have an opportunity to purchase good cattle; these were scarce today, and the cattle offered sold slowly; prices are steady at $3 65 to $4 for short keep, $3 25 to $3 65 for heavy, and $2 50 to $3 25 for lights. Stockers were steady, with prices unchanged; light animals in good condition sold readily at $3 per cwt; but other grades were dull; quotations range from $2 25 to $2 for light stockers, and $1 75 to $2 25 for off colors and heifers. Milch cows—Good milchers were scarce and high; only a few were offered and they sold slowly, as they were not up to the mark; as high as $55 would be paid for a good cow, but the general run of prices is in neighborhood of $40. Sheep and lambs—Lambs are higher, selling from $3 75 to $4 12½ per cwt; there was keen demand for them, and all on market sold readily; sheep steady at $3 25 to $3 40 per cwt for export ewes, $2 50 to $3 per cwt for bucks, and $2 50 to $3 for butchers; there was a moderate run, but trade was good and everything was sold; large shipments of sheep and lambs expected towards the close of the week. Calves steady at $2 to $8 each. Hogs—There was light run, and trade was quiet; lower prices induced farmers to hold back; quotations unchanged at $4 75 per cwt for selects of 100 to 200 lbs, natural weights, and $4 25 for lights and fats.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Cattle—No offerings and no particular demand; feeling steady. No change in the calf trade. Skin, Hides and Tallow.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Hides—The receipts are fair and about as large as usual at this season; there is a good demand and the market is firmer, at a slight advance, in sympathy with higher prices in the Chicago market. We quote green caws at 8¼c and steers at 8¾c; cured cows are quoted at 9c and steers at 9½c.

Sheepskins—Are firm at the recent advance, which was due to local competition. The receipts are fair, there is a good demand for them, and the market is firm at 80c.

Calfskins—Are in fair demand and steady, at 8c for No. 1 and 7c for No. 2.

Tallow—There is a local scarcity, but larger receipts are expected soon. The market is steady. Local dealers are offering 5c and asking 6½c.

The first hour in nearly every section was a heavy one and the electors were compelled to line up and await their turn. The rain that threatened to make things disagreeable in getting around, fortunately cleared off, and the day is considered a good one to get a big vote out.

"THE MAN FROM MEXICO."

If the man who adds to the wealth and prosperity of a nation is a public benefactor, what term of honor should be applied to the man who has contributed so largely to the gaiety of a nation as H. A. Du Souchet, the playwright, of "The Man from Mexico"? The unanimous verdict of the large audience who enjoyed the play at the London Opera House last night would certainly be that this play is just what is claimed for it by the management, "the cleanest, brighest and cleverest farce-comedy of the century." Describing as it does the misadventures of the sporty benedict who supposedly goes to Mexico, but in reality goes to do his 30 days in prison, unlimited opportunities are afforded for the manufacture of mirth, and of these opportunities full advantage is taken by the clever company, headed by the popular young comedian, Walter E. Perkins. His work compares favorably with that of Willie Collier, who played the title role in the original production of the play. The balance of the characters were all taken in a manner that was eminently satisfactory, Nagle Barry as Col. Majors, Jerome Harrington as Sheriff Cook, and John F. Beck as Von Bulow Bismarck Schmidt being especially worthy of mention. The four ladies of the company are all clever actresses and attractive women.

Surprise!

McKinley's Majority in New York State 146,000.

Democrats Carry Greater New York by Only 27,500.

McKinley Gets Oregon and Probably Idaho, Utah and Other States.

New York, Nov. 7.—Returns received this morning indicate that the Republicans have carried New York State by about 146,000, and that the Democrats have carried Greater New York by about 27,500. This forms one of the surprises of the campaign. The Republican chairman and candidate for governor, Mr. Odell, estimated the state in his pre-election figures Republican by only 100,000, and the Republicans generally were willing to concede that Mr. Bryan would carry Greater New York by at least 50,000. The Democrats, while not giving out detailed figures on the state, said that Bryan would carry New York city by from 80,000 to 90,000.

CROKER TO BRYAN.

Richard Croker sent William J. Bryan a telegram informing him that though the state had gone heavily Republican, that New York county, which in 1896 gave McKinley 23,000, had been carried by the Democratic electors by 82,000, a gain of 56,000. Mr. Croker was also quoted as saying:

"No power on earth—nothing but his death—can prevent Mr. Bryan from remaining the natural leader of the people."

The entire Republican state ticket has been elected, and the Republicans made gains in both houses of the State Legislature.

Oregon has given McKinley the largest plurality ever given a candidate for office in the state. With more than half the total vote of the state counted the result is as follows: McKinley 27,126, Bryan 17,073. Republican total plurality will likely be 15,000.

This morning's incomplete dispatches indicate that Mr. McKinley has carried Utah and Idaho.

The distinguished merit of a piano is best indicated by the opinion of the world's greatest artists. Nearly all of these who have visited Canada have testified to the excellence of the Heintzman & Co. piano, but it has remained for one of the greatest English singers of his own motion to give sincere tribute to this splendid Canadian instrument. Mr. Ffrangcon-Davies, who is recognized as the most impressive singer of the day, sang to a Heintzman & Co. piano at Massey Music Hall, Toronto, a few weeks since, and his opinion is best explained in the following letter:

"Messrs. Heintzman & Co., Toronto:

"Gentlemen,—I have great pleasure in begging you to allow me to say that the Heintzman & Co. pianoforte which you supplied me with during my visit to Toronto, was a source of unadulterated enjoyment and of inspiration to me. The tone has a mellowness and brilliance, the bass being full and organlike, and the treble clear and crystal. It is indeed a delight to have such an instrument to work with. Yours very truly,

"KERRY GOW."

Today, standing like a stone wall, guarding the precincts of true Irish drama, are Joseph Murphy's two plays, "Kerry Gow" and "Shaun Rhue." For nearly twenty years the first-named play has stood the test, and during the past fifteen years it has had "Shaun Rhue" as its companion. Clear, connected, and interesting in plot, wholesome and beneficial in motive, and thoroughly delightful in incident, music, humor and the finer sentiments, these plays stand today as the legitimate, leading representatives, worthy of Ireland and her people. "Kerry Gow" will be seen at the Opera House tonight. Dominion election returns will be read from the stage.

Lola's Secret,

A Romance.

CHAPTER XXII.

Two years and a half had passed since Sir Karl had married Dolores, Lady Rhysworth, and taken her home to his stately mansion of Scarsdale. The wedding had been a quiet one. Dolores would not hear of this second marriage being celebrated in the same church where she had been married before; it would not be lucky, she averred, and above all, she would dislike the memories it would recall. So the squire, who had certainly grown younger in his daughter's happiness, took her up to London, where Sir Karl joined them, and they were married at St. George's Hanover Squire, but it was perhaps the most unpretending ceremony ever performed in that fashionable church. They went down to Richmond for their wedding breakfast, and from there proceeded to the Isle of Wight for their honeymoon. Dolores could not leave Kathleen for more than a week; in her opinion no nurse or servant could ever take her place, were she ever so devoted. They spent one happy week on the island, and then went home to Scarsdale.

It seemed strange to Dolores to live in the same neighborhood, but in a different home. From the woods on the western side of the Hall a glimpse of the towers of Deeping Hurst could be obtained; and, believing that his idolized young wife would be pleased to be able to see her old home, Sir Karl had the trees cut down which obstructed the view.

The excitement caused by the sudden departure of madame had departed. It was believed that she had gone away from some political motive. No one knew how relieved Sir Karl and Lady Allanmore were that madame and her daughter had left the neighborhood.

They fell into the usual routine of life, and were very happy. One day Dolores put her arms around her husband's neck and said to him—

"This is too bright to last, Karl; it is impossible."

"Why, Dolores?" he asked in astonishment.

"It is perfect happiness," she answered, "and that never can last on earth. It is meant only for heaven."

"Shall I do anything to make you a little less happy?" he inquired, with a smile. "Shall I, for instance, form a phantom friendship with some of the beauties of the neighborhood? Shall I try to be impatient or quarrelsome?"

"No, certainly not!"

They were sitting in a shady nook on one of the garden seats. Sir Karl threw his arms around the beautiful figure and kissed the beautiful face. The simple expression of great happiness had touched him inexpressibly.

"Are you really so well content, Dolores?" he asked.

"I am almost afraid to say it, but I am perfectly happy, with the happiness that the performance of duty always gives." Now married to the man she loved, and who loved her, she was supremely happy. The only cloud in her happiness was caused by the thought that it was too bright to last. Sickness, death, sorrow or discord was almost sure to mar it. She could not understand this nervous feeling of coming sorrow, but in after years she understood only too well.

They had been blessed with one little daughter. At first they had been a little disappointed that it was not a son, but Sir Karl replied that there could not be too many replicas of Dolores. They named the little one Gertrude after one of Sir Karl's favorite heroines in poetry—"Gertrude of Wyoming."

"I should give her your name," he said to Dolores, "but I think there is a burden of sorrow about it, and the little one must have no sorrow."

Even those few words had roused his wife's nervous anxiety.

"Karl," she whispered, "do you really think my name means a burden of sorrow?"

"The word 'Dolores' means sorrow," he replied.

"But, my darling, what sorrow can come to me?" she asked. "How strange it is. Do you know, that that is what I have feared all my life? It has been hanging over me like a dark shadow—the feeling that I had in some way to work out the mystery of my name."

"It is but fancy," he replied. One thing is certain, Dolores; while I live no sorrow shall ever reach you. Forget the fancy. The little one shall be called Gertrude."

So it was settled; and, after his wife, Sir Karl worshiped his child, though he loved Kathleen but little less.

The Squire was wonderfully happy. Sir Karl devoted himself to him as though he had been his own son. He knew that nothing gave his wife greater pleasure than to see her father. Very often during the summer mornings he would rise early, drive over to White Cliffe, and, when Dolores came down, she would find her father at the breakfast table, and his happy laugh at her surprise was like music in her ears. Sir Karl liked to hear the old man call him "my son," for then the sweet eyes of Dolores beamed upon him with delight and gratitude. There was the greatest possible affection between these two, which added immeasurably to the happiness of the household. There was not one discord to mar the full and perfect harmony. The Squire loved the children. If he had a preference it was for little Gertrude rather than for Kathleen.

Scarsdale was, everyone declared, the most pleasant house in the country. The new Lord Rhysworth, who had taken up his abode at Deeping Hurst, was of the same opinion, and a constant visitor there. Sir Karl and Lady Allanmore were the most popular host and hostess in the neighborhood.

News had come to Lady Fielding that Madame de Ferras was dead. She had died at Heidelberg after a long and protracted illness. She had left Lady Fielding a cameo which she had once admired, and Lola had sent it to her through the post. That event made people talk of the family and of Beaulieu. The house was closed now; not even a servant was left in it. It was rumored that it was to be sold, and the rumor proved to be correct. Once more Beaulieu was in the market; and this time it was purchased by a rich manufacturer, who wished to make his entree into society. So there was an end to the history of one family, and the beginning of the history of another. No other information was received, and it seemed that even the name of De Ferras was forgotten. For some short time after madame's death there was a fear of coming danger in the heart of Dolores, but it passed with the summer days. Kathleen was now about five years old, and little Gertrude, a pretty winsome creature, not quite two.

Sir Karl drove over early one morning to White Cliffe.

"The day is very fine," he said to the Squire; "and I am sure Dolores will not enjoy it without you. Come over to breakfast."

The old man was only too delighted. As they were driving back to Scarsdale Sir Karl drew off his glove from his right hand, and the Squire's attention was attracted by a ring which he wore.

"What a beautiful ring, Karl," he said.

"It is a gift from Dolores," he answered. "I have never seen one half so beautiful!" It was a large ruby in the midst of which was a tiny white rose composed of minute diamonds. "I used to call her the white rose," he added, "and she has given me this in memory of it."

"What a happy surprise!" cried Dolores, when she saw the Squire. "But, papa, I ought to know what to expect when Karl goes away early; it is always for you. Now, the children must come in for breakfast."

Sir Kard declared, laughing, that his wife spoiled them. Dolores always brought the same accusation against him.

"We have a large correspondence this morning," said Sir Karl, opening the letter bag. "This is Lady Fielding's handwriting—a ball or dinner party for you, Dolores." There were several letters for himself, some on business, some from friends. "I must say," he cried, looking round, with a happy, beaming face, "that I do like a number of letters."

"Then you have what you like," laughed the Squire.

Sir Karl's eyes fell suddenly on a small, square envelope addressed to him in a lady's handwriting. His countenance changed when he saw it, his lips trembled, and all the light of happiness went out of his eyes.

He opened it and read these few lines:

"I must see you. I can take no refusal. My mother is dead. I am desolate, and most unhappy. You professed friendship for me in former times. By the pledge of friendship that you gave me, and by the memory of my mother, I appeal to you to let me see you. I will not enter the house where the woman who stole you from me lives; but for her you would have been mine. Let me see you this evening; I want a favor from you—the last I shall ask from you in my life. You must not tell Dolores. Tonight at eight o'clock, I will be at the white gate which leads into your woods. Meet me there. LOLA."

"I thought that old chapter was finished," he said thoughtfully to himself. For what can she want me The girl is a perfect—"

The Fad

Of the modern woman is health by exercise. It's an excellent fad, provided that it is always remembered that exercise cannot cure womanly diseases.

Indeed, where such diseases exist exercise is apt to aggravate the condition rather than to help it.

The first step toward establishing the general health is to establish the local womanly health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. When these are cured, backache, headache and nervousness are things of the past. The universal testimony of weak and sickly women, cured by "Favorite Prescription," is this: "It has made me feel like a new woman."

"My wife has used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and I never saw such results," writes A. B. Haynes, Esq., of Aurora, Lawrence Co., Mo. "It was wonderful in its work. We had used lots of medicine, also had one of the best physicians in Aurora, but my wife got no better; we heard one pitiful groan after another, day and night. A friend handed me a copy of Dr. Pierce's book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, and after reading the testimonials of Dr. Pierce's successful treatment, and seeing that the cases described were similar to my wife's, I bought for her a bottle of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Before she had taken all of the medicine she was up and helping to do the work. She has taken three bottles and is now about well. Has better health than she has had for years."

A thousand men are at work on a barren sand beach near New York, which is to be turned into a summer resort, with a huge "amusement palace" and several hotels. The harbor will be created by dredging.

This season of the year when coughs and colds are so prevalent, it would be advisable to keep a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in the house.

It allays all inflammation and irritation of the breathing organs, and cures coughs and colds of young and old more quickly and effectually than any other remedy.

Mrs. Arthur Molaskey, White's Point, Queen's Co., N.B., writes: "In the fall of 1899, I was taken down with a severe attack of La Grippe which left me with a bad cough. I tried several remedies and could obtain no relief and was almost in despair of a cure when a friend advised me to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took three bottles in all and it made a complete cure."

SUCTION OF A FAST TRAIN

It Is Well for Bystanders to Keep at a Safe Distance.

"The theory that a moving train carries along an enveloping air is very interesting," said an engineer, "and I believe there is a good deal of truth in it. I first had my attention attracted to the subject by a curious incident that happened several years ago at a crossing near Birmingham, Ala., where trains pass twice a day at a speed of about forty miles an hour. The tracks are seven feet apart and there would seem to be ample room to stand between them in perfect safety. One afternoon a small fox terrier dog belonging to a section boss was asleep in the middle space and woke up just as the trains closed in from each side. There was a barrel on the ground near by and the dog in his fright jumped on top of it. That possibly brought him into one of the rushing envelopes of air; at any rate he was whirled off his feet and thrown clear to the roof of the opposite car, where he was subsequently found, jammed against a ventilator chimney, with no injury except a broken leg. How in the world he ever made such a journey and escaped alive is a mystery, unless his fall was deadened by a cushion of air.

"Apropos of atmospheric pressure, it is a well-known fact that there is a 'vortex space,' or 'zone of suction,' directly behind any rapidly moving train, and its presence accounts for a grotesque happening that took place some time ago on the Northern Pacific. While the California-bound express was going through western Arizona at a clipping galt a passenger who was on the verge of the jim-jams rushed out to the rear platform, climbed on a rail and jumped off. He was wearing a very long linen duster and a muscular tourist who happened to be on the platform at the time grabbed it by the tails as it sailed by and yelled for help. When some of the others ran to his assistance they found the lunatic stretched straight out in the air behind the platform, howling like a Comanche, but safely anchored by his duster, which had turned inside out and caught him at the shoulders. The muscular gentleman was hanging on for dear life, but had it not been for the fact that the would-be suicide was virtually sustained and carried along by the suction of the vortex space something would certainly have given way. They reeled the man in like a kite and he promised to be good. We have very little exact knowledge at present of the atmospheric conditions that surround a moving train. A fuller knowledge of them may lead to the solution of some baffling problems in traction."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

IF THE LIVER IS DERANGED

There Is Sallow Complexion, Fullness About the Stomach and Pains in the Shoulders and Back—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Act Promptly and Directly on the Liver.

By a careful consideration of the following symptoms you can decide for yourself if your liver is torpid or inactive. The liver is the largest organ connected with the digestive system, and as a filterer of bile from the blood is to a very large extent responsible for the health of the whole body.

A sense of fullness and oppression about the stomach, a pale, sallow complexion and pain in the shoulders and back are among the first indications of a disordered liver.

Then there comes indigestion, wind on the stomach, headache, coated tongue, a bitter taste in the mouth, depression of spirits and despondency.

The bowels become irregular, and constipation and looseness alternate. The bile left in the blood by an inactive liver poisons the blood and causes liver spots, blotches and pimples.

So great is the influence of the liver over the health of other organs that physicians have called the liver the governor or controller of the body.

The prescription from which Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prepared was perfected by the doctor in his immense practice, and has proven the greatest liver regulator ever discovered. It acts directly and promptly on the liver, making it active and vigorous as a filtering organ. At the same time it regulates and tones up the kidneys and bowels and sets the whole filtering and excretory system in healthy working order.

Notwithstanding the fame of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills throughout this continent, you will never fully realize and appreciate their value until you have actually used them, and only then can you fully understand why they have such an enormous sale.

In these days of experimenting with all sorts of new, untried remedies, appliances and treatments, it is a comfort and pleasure to know that you can turn to this prescription of Dr. A. W. Chase and find in it a safe and certain cure for the many dangerous and complicated disorders of the liver, kidneys and bowels. Fit-Reform and Its Mission. . .

Fit-Reform was produced to fill three wants.

First—To give tailor-made clothing at ready-made cost.

Second—To give tailor-made style and fit without tailor-made delay.

Third—To do away with tailor-made guess work as to how a piece of cloth will look when made up.

Fit-Reform is not merely a name. Its name is useful only to distinguish it from make-shift clothing.

Fit-Reform led the way to good clothing ready made. It still leads where other branded clothing is unsettled and uncertain, following an idea without the experience to carry it out. Fit-Reform has passed through the primary grades and stands at the head of the ranks of the best.

Suits and Overcoats—$10, $12, $15, $18, $20.

The Russian government has decided to adopt the metric standard of weights and measures, and the ministry of finance is now engaged in considering the time and manner of introducing this reform.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become 'the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist, of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why. Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves, Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co., druggists.

A sanitary Testament for the use of court rooms has been put on the market. It is bound with white celluloid instead of leather, and it can, therefore, be washed and disinfected from time to time.

"MY KIDNEYS ARE ALL WRONG! How shall I insure best results in the shortest time?" It stands to reason that a liquid specific of the unquestionable merit of South American Kidney Cure will go more directly and quickly to the seat of the trouble than the "pill form" treatment, and when it strikes the spot there's healing in an instant. For sale by C. McCallum & Co.—78.

CORP. PIPER AT LUCAN.

Lucan citizens tendered a warm welcome to Corp. James Piper, when he arrived at that place yesterday from South Africa. Piper was a member of B Company, and Lucan's sole representative on the contingent, and he was met some distance out of the town on the Proof Line road by a large body of his fellow-townsmen, who escorted him in a carriage. The Lucan band was in the procession, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. On reaching Lucan, a leading resident made an address of welcome, to which Corp. Piper suitably replied. The jubilation over his safe return was continued until the evening.

ANNIVERSARY CONCERT.

The tea meeting and concert held last evening in connection with the anniversary of Centennial Methodist Church, was in every respect a success. A hot supper was served by the Ladies' Aid Society from 6 to 8 o'clock, when an adjournment was made to the church, where an excellent programme was carried out. The edifice was well filled. Dr. White occupied the chair, very acceptably, introducing the programme, which included solos by Dr. Ziegler, Miss Rowntree, Miss Hance, Miss Stewart, and Mrs. Anthistle; a selection by the choir, and addresses by Rev. J. W. Holmes, of Ashin Street, and Rev. A. K. Birks, of Colborne Street Church. Mr. Percy, organist at the Centennial, played the accompaniments for the vocalists.

GIRL DISAPPEARS IN LONDON.

Woodstock Express: A prominent Ingersoll man is in a quandary to know what has become of his 15-year-old adopted daughter. She left on Friday last in company with her foster father for London. They were to part there, he returning home and she proceeding on a visit to friends in Exeter. When he arrived home in Ingersoll he received word that the Exeter people had received a telegram signed by him, saying that his daughter would not arrive there until Tuesday or Wednesday. He declared that he sent no telegram to Exeter, and is at a perfect loss to know where his adopted daughter is, or who counterfeited his signature. He notified the London police, and after some inquiry they found that the girl had stated to some London friends that she was going over to call on some people in the city with whom she was acquainted. Further inquiry from the people she was going to visit shows that they do not reside in London now, but removed to Woodstock only on Friday themselves. They are in Woodstock now, and when seen about the affair Monday morning said that while they know the girl they saw nothing of her before leaving London. The foster parents are very anxious about the safety of the girl, because of her extreme youth. It is hoped, though, that she has only decided to remain in London for a couple of days visiting friends, and that she will turn up in Exeter tomorrow or Wednesday all safe and sound.

Where to Get Shoe Bargains

Boots and Shoes are being sold at the Bargain Shoe Store, 143 Dundas street, at less than manufacturers' prices. If you will require any new footwear this fall or winter, it will certainly pay you to purchase at that establishment now. The price you would have to pay for one pair of shoes at other stores would very nearly buy two such pairs at the Bargain Shoe Store. We are advised that while the present stock lasts, boots and shoes will be sold at lower prices than ever known in London before for such goods. It is not old, shelf-worn stock one is getting when purchases are made at that store, but new, up-to-date, reliable footwear. We would advise our readers to not let this opportunity pass. A good supply of superior footwear may be procured at the Bargain Shoe Store now for a very small outlay. The proprietor, F. A. Brown, is selling at extremely low prices in order to make a complete clearance before moving into his new shop adjoining Strong's Drug Store.

THE ROMANCE OF GIBSON'S MODEL

Arthur Stringer, London's Brilliant Son, Weds the Famous Beauty.

The Poet's Appreciation of Jobyna Howland's Marvelous Loveliness—A Quiet Marriage—Metropolitan Recognition of the Groom's Worth.

Under the caption "The Romance of a Real Gibson Girl, who Fell in Love with a Real Poet," the Chicago-American prints an account of a marriage that it absorbingly interesting to Londoners, that of Mr. Arthur J. Stringer, of South London, and Miss Jobyna Howland, the famous "Gibson Girl." Mr. Stringer has won favor of the goddess of love as of the muse. He is the oldest son of Mr. Hugh A. Stringer, of No. 64 Elmwood avenue. He was educated at the public schools and Collegiate Institute here, Toronto University, and Oxford. He has taken no degrees, but sought always to prepare himself more thoroughly for the career he had chosen, and in which he has been so successful. The article in the American is accompanied by full-page illustrations of the groom and his beautiful bride:

"Lips that curve deliciously, vividly carmine, hiding Hogarth's fourfold line of beauty; challenging, imperious, tender; eyes that are tawny, shadowy, tigerish, one minute the eyes of Artemis of the Arcadians, and the next those of the brooding Juno of the Romans, sometimes languorously alert, sometimes indolently masterful, quiescently sorrowful, yet opalescent always, with dormant and dangerous fires; hair that is golden, heavy, luxuriant, like that of Homer's Helen; a neck like the daughter of Diana, supple, full-throated, tower-like; brow rather low and broad, not unlike the Venice of Milo, with the coldness of the classic profile, endeared and humanized by a womanish dimple; tall, in truth, tall as a daughter of the gods, tall enough to have delighted one of those cold Greeks who left their broken dreams of beauty in the Parthenon of the Athenian Acropolis; tempestuous, subdued, affectionate, tyrannical, loving, incongruous, inscrutable—the last strange gift of the gods—a lovely woman."—Arthur J. Stringer's appreciation of Jobyna Howland.

Charles Dana Gibson is looking for another favorite model, and despairs of finding her. She who for years held that position will pose for him no more, and for a very good reason. Jobyna Howland has married and will pose only as the inspirer of the poems and stories of her husband, the young Canadian poet and novelist, Arthur Stringer, who a year ago lauded the charms of his love in the paragraph just quoted.

It was on October 2 that the wedding of the model and the poet took place at the Little Church Around the Corner. It was an evening wedding. The sun was just setting behind the cedars on the parsonage lawn. The tall, handsome young woman who threaded her way between the cedar to the chapel doors might have been recognized by any one of scores that were passing in haste to join the throng on Broadway.

The tall figure, the sloping shoulders, the haughty poise of the head, the clear, cold features, the arched lifted eyebrows, the proudly curving lips were curiously familiar. One had seen them hundreds of times in the Gibson groups. The girl was always standing, always tossing her head back a bit, always smiling with the superciliousness of a patrician. There was never a Gibson group without her, and never a Gibson group in which she was not the most conspicuous figure. She was known to lovers as "Gibson's best," to frequenters of the artist's studio as "Gibson's favorite model."

The man who gave her his arm as she threaded her way through the cedars to the door of that church of romance was taller than she and handsome. In the inner circle of the literati of New York he was as familiar a figure as was his companion's in the studio. To readers he was known as the author of "The Loom of Destiny," the collection of studies of child life, published by G. P. Putnam's Sons; of the collection of verse, "Watches at Twilight," and of vagrant poems and stories in Harper's and other magazines. He was known to Shakespearian scholars as the iconoclast who claimed, and wrote learnedly in support of his claim, that Cordelia and the jester of "King Lear" were one and the same.

Three friends followed them into the chapel and heard Dr. George G. Houghton read the marriage service. When it was over they went to the studio appartment, No. 146 Fifth avenue, to offer congratulations and see Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stringer installed in their new home.

Destiny's strong fingers draw many a pair together from opposite parts of the world. Three years ago Jobyna Howland was a High School girl at Denver, Col. Her world was bounded by a range of the Rocky Mountains on one side and the far-stretching eastward prairies of Colorado on the other.

At the same time Arthur Stringer was a student at Oxford. He knew High street and Addison's Walk as well as do all students. His early recollections were of his birthplace in that land on our northern border that Kipling calls "Our Lady of the Snows." He had boundless ambitions, too, and no thought of love. He was center scrimmage of the Oxford football team, and despite that fact distinguished himself in Greek. So was Arthur Stringer's world constituted. It was bigger than that of the Denver High School girl. And the two worlds were far apart.

The fortunes of Miss Howland's father dwindled. The habitat of the high school girl changed from a fine house on Capitol Hill to that indefinite, unfashionable quarter one-time friends describe as "further downtown" and then forget. True, the cottage was neat and rose-vined, but it was a cottage nevertheless, and the quarters were cramped for Jobyna Howland. She pined and fretted because she was "a burden to papa." She resolved to go to New York to "seek her fortune." She talked with theatrical managers. She called at studios. But always there was one objection. Spoken or unvoiced it was the same: "You are too tall."

The girl wept because of that statuesque height of six feet. She wore ultra common-sense, low heeled shoes. But the objection remained until she called on Charles Dana Gibson. Every one knows that the artist's ideal is a tall woman. To him Miss Howland was a divinity of models. Thereafter prosperity smiled upon the statuesque young woman from the West. She was James K. Hackett's leading woman for a season. Now she holds the same position in "Miss Print," Miss Dressler's new play. She made many friends in the literary and artistic set. Among them were Captain and Mrs. Michael Gifford White.

Arthur Stringer finished his course at Oxford. He determined that literature should be his profession. He returned to his home in Canada for a brief vacation. He engaged in literary work in Chicago, later in New York. He soon, by right of place, found himself a part of the literary and artistic circle of New York. He formed, with other acquaintances, a formal calling association with Captain and Mrs. Michael Gifford White. During an evening call at their apartment on Washington Square, he met Miss Howland. A circle of destiny was completed.

MACHINE TYPE SETTERS

Said To Be Hard on Operators.

The work of a typesetter in a modern printing office is very exacting, particularly if he runs a linotype or typesetting machine. It requires the closest attention and rapid and sympathetic action of both brain and hand. This machine works much like a typewriter. Such workers fed on ordinary food give up because of nervous prostration, some in a short time, and some are able to stand it longer.

One of these workers says: "I have been at the linotype three years. It has made a great change in my once robust health. About three months ago, after long expecting it, I completely collapsed from indigestion and extreme nervousness. The daily physic I had not dared to omit for years, now and then, refused relief and a physician was consulted.

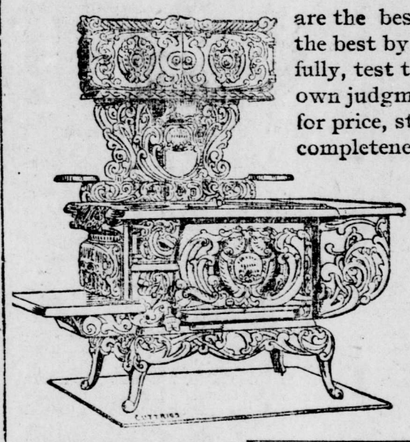

"'Change of occupation and diet,' read the prescription; 'advise eating Grape-Nuts food twice daily.' I had often set up the advertisements of the Postum Cereal Company, but somehow printers are apt to think advertisements are not intended for them to make use of. I could not well change my occupation, but did change my diet.

"Since then have used Grape-Nuts, both at breakfast and supper, daily. The results are truly remarkable. The first perceptible change was in the matter of digestion. It has been six weeks since I have had to swallow an aperient of any kind. At the beginning of my experiment I weighed 124 pounds; last evening I tipped the beam at 157½.

"My nerves, which were completely shattered three months ago, are now strong and steady, and I do not tire easily, though I go to bed an hour later on an average than formerly, and have increased my capacity at the machine fully two columns of type a day. I am convinced that Grape-Nuts food is the food for persons of sedentary occupation, especially for those who work with brain in lieu of brawn." Charles H. Eckhard, 177 N. Chambers street, Galesburg, Ill.

EIGHTEEN MONTHS' PAIN.

Ended Effectually and Permanently by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Central Waterville, N. B., Nov. 5.—These dull and damp days of November are terribly hard on the Kidneys. Not one person in a hundred escapes. Backache, pains in the loins Lumbago and similar Kidney troubles are as plentiful as fallen leaves.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only sure and certain cure for kidney complaints. They never fail to cure.

In proof of this read what Mr. F. W. Harris, of this place, says: "After having suffered for eighteen months with kidney disease, being unable to work, most of the time, and having grown worse while taking other medicines, I used three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which effected a complete and permanent cure."

After great labor, time and expense the newly-formed Paloutnotchnie Canal, situated at the mouth of the Danube and passing through Russian territory, is now officially declared open.
