TWENTY WORKMEN KILLED AT THE WOOLWICH ARSENAL

A Terrific Explosion Through a Bursting Lydite Shell Blows a Score of Men to Pieces.

THE ROOF BLOWN OFF AND BUILDING COLLAPSES

London, June 18.—Fourteen men were killed and thirteen injured by an explosion in the lydite factory at Woolwich arsenal this morning. Several of the victims were literally blown to pieces.

The building was completely wrecked, the roof was blown off and the interior collapsed.

The explosion is attributed to the bursting of a shell.

There were many pathetic scenes about the gates of the great arsenal, where thousands of relatives of the employes besieged the officials for information.

LATER.

London, June 18.—Six additional men are missing and it is believed they were blown to pieces. The remains of the victims were collected in buckets.

SENSATION IN THE MARCUM CASE

Witness of Assassination Approached With Big Bribe.

$5,000 TO PERJURE HIMSELF

When the Offer Was Rejected He Was Threatened With Destruction of Property and Death.

Lexington, Ky., June 18. — From a staff correspondent sent to Jackson to learn definitely the facts as to the offer of $5,000 made to Capt. B. J. Ewen, to alter his testimony as to seeing Jett in the corridor with pistol in hand when Marcum was assassinated, the Herald has received a sensational dispatch. It says: "From a source that is reliable and authentic it has been learned that the full details of the offer of $5,000 to Capt. Ewen to perjure himself, was communicated to State Inspector Hines upon his last visit here, and that he reported those facts to Gov. Beckham last week. The facts, in substance, are that a man went to Capt. Ewen, made him the proposition to pay him the sum stated if he would either leave the county or would swear on the witness stand that he did not recognize the assassin of Marcum. Capt. Ewen told him that he would have to think the matter over and made an appointment for the man to come to his house, and told him to bring the money. He called upon three of his friends, and told them of the offer. Arrangements were made that when the emissary returned everything he said or did could be heard and seen by two men. That there might be a sufficient number familiar with the facts two other men were selected to conceal themselves to overhear the conversation when the emissary returned. He returned at the appointed hour and brought with him five $1,000 notes. He repeated his offer. Capt. Ewen refused it and told the man to take the money back, and that he could not use it. Upon his refusal the emissary lost his temper and said it was the worst mistake he ever made —that he would find that he would be burned out, destroyed and absolutely wiped out of existence."

Ladies' Day at Ascot.

London, June 18.—King Edward, Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family drove from Windsor Castle to Ascot today in semi-state, with postilions and outriders in scarlet and gold liveries. As usual, the gathering of society on Ladies' Day at the races was very large, and their Majesties were accorded an enthusiastic reception. The Gold Cup was won by Maximum II.

Bulgarian Ministers Sentenced.

Sofia, Bulgaria, June 18.—Former Premier Ivantchoff, former Minister of Public Works Tontcheff, and former Minister of the Interior Radoslavoff, who were indicted in November last on the charge of malfeasance in office, were sentenced today to eight months' imprisonment at hard labor. The two first-named were charged with illegal expenditure of public money. Radoslavoff's offenses were of a political nature.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR MR. ROWLEY

He Is Charged With Stealing Four Thousand Dollars.

ALL SUMS FROM SAME ACCOUNT

It Is Said That Many Deposits Have Been Made That Do Not Appear On the Books.

St. Thomas, June 18.—The excitement caused by the suspension of the Atlas and Elgin Loan Companies is at an end. The run on the other three loan companies, the Southern, Southwestern and Star, spent itself, and business is normal. Instead of money being withdrawn deposits are being made.

A warrant was isued by Police Magistrate Glenn on information of Thos. H. Weldon, representing the London and Western Trusts Company, which is winding up the affairs of the Elgin Loan Company, against the defaulting manager, George Rowley, charging him with stealing $2,000 in March, 1900, $1,000 in April, 1900, and $1,000 in May, 1902, all from the same account.

What the amount of Mr. Rowley's defalcations will be only the closest scrutiny of the books and affairs of the company will reveal. It has been discovered that persons hold deposit books showing deposits made, of which there is no record on the books of the company at all.

NO TRACE OF ROWLEY

Whereabouts of Defaulting St. Thomas Manager Unknown.

St. Thomas, June 18.—The whereabouts of Manager Rowley is still a mystery. Some claim that he is in Detroit, others that he is staying with relatives at New York, while stil another rumor states that he is at present at a sanitarium in Michigan. All this, however, appears to be speculation, and the police claim that they are in the dark as to his present residence.

7,000 Are Homeless.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—Acting Governor Kinzie has received a message from McClue, Alexander County, stating that 7,000 people, who were victims of the flood, are homeless. He ordered provisions and clothes sent to the afflicted.

May Be Lost.

Seattle, Wash., June 18.—Fears are entertained for the safety of the British ship Bermuda, which sailed Dec. 22 from Antwerp, cement laden, for this port. The British ship Bedford left Antwerp after the departure of the Bermuda, and she reached the Sound about two weeks ago.

Fatal Kansas Fire.

Arkansas City, Kan., June 18.—The mills and elevator of the Kansas Milling Company were destroyed by fire last night, entailing a loss of $100,000. Thomas Yount, an employe, was burned to death. Major C. H. Seavering, president of the company, was severely burned.

REMARKS SLIGHTING COLORS OR SOLDIERS WERE NOT MADE

Members of Rev. Dr. Sowerby's Church Say Pastor Referred to People, Not the Militia.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

We, the undersigned have had our attention called to an article in your paper referring to certain remarks that were made by Rev. Dr. Sowerby during the delivery of an address last Sunday evening.

We believe that we are all well known in the city, and that we are reputable citizens, and we flatly contradict the statement that remarks of a slighting charater in reference to the soldiers and colors were made. It is not so. Some of us were upon the platform at the time, and we know whereof we speak. Dr. Sowerby was speaking of the trend to Sabbath desecration at the time, and had no reference whatever to the soldiers, but to the people who flock there on Sundays, to pass the day as a holiday, and not as a sacred day of worship.

Caged With Monkeys.

East St. Louis, Ill., June 18.—Locked up in cages with monkeys and other animals, his face and hands discolored to disguise him, and his clothing taken away to make him as near to an animal as possible, was the fearful experience of an East St. Louis 6-year-old boy, according to his story, told to the police.

It was a training to be a "wild boy" with a circus the little fellow was given, and for a week after he was kidnapped from his parents he underwent the tortures that have driven him almost insane. Even now, safe at home and guarded by the police, the child is in terror and flees at the sight of a stranger to some hiding place.

An Overdue Gunboat.

San Francisco, June 18.—The steamer Acapulico, which has arrived from Central American ports, reports that fears are expressed at Panama for the safety of the Costa Rican gunboat Cariari, bound from Punta Arenas to Panama. This gunboat was long overdue at Panama.

SMALL PLACES DO WELL

Stand High in Competition of Cadet Corps.

The annual competition for the shield offered last year by Mayor Beckis to take place on June 24 at the headquarters of the several cadet corps throughout the London military district. Among the companies already entered are St. Thomas, Strathroy, Goderich, Arthur, Woodstock, Mount Forest, Seaforth, Galt, London and Chatham—a total of ten, which is an assurance that the competition will be keener than a year ago. The shield is now held by the Mount Forest Company, and will remain in its possession until the corps is defeated.

Col. Peters, the D. O. C. for the London district, said last evening that the cadet corps in some of the smaller towns were remarkably good, and he could not understand why the London Collegiate Institute, with its large number of pupils, should not take a far better position than it does. Mount Forest, St. Thomas, Strathroy and some of the other places—some of them where the cadets did not even have uniforms—were in a close race for the top of the list. This was due in no small measure to the enthusiasm which prevailed among the members.

In Honor of Loubet.

London, June 18.—The review of troops at Aldershot, which was to be held by King Edward on June 22, and the unexpected postponement of which caused some alarm regarding the King's health, has been fixed to take place July 8 in honor of President Loubet, who will then be on his visit to England.

THE SECOND DAY OF GAMEY DEBATE

Provincial Secretary in a Powerful Speech Scores Accusers for Cowardly Attacks.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 18. — The second day of the Gamey debate opened shortly after 11 o'clock this morning with a large attendance in the galleries, and but few absentees on the floor of the House. There was no routine business to be disposed of, and Mr. Stratton at once resumed the address which was interrupted by the adjournment of the previous night.

Mr. Stratton first contrasted Mr. Gamey's refusal to produce his bank books with the free access given the prosecution to Mr. Stratton's business papers. Mr. Gamey arose and informed the House that the Gore Bay bank manager had brought his bank books to Toronto and allowed the defense to investigate them.

THE PIANO OFFICE INCIBENT.

Speaking of the piano office conversation, Mr. Stratton said that because Gamey chooses to discuss with Frank Sullivan has perfidy and his intent to purloin property from the province, it was not evidence of wrong-doing on the part of the minister or the Government. "I am under no obligation to Frank Sullivan, nor he to me," said Mr. Stratton. "I never had any transaction with him in any shape or form or never asked him to do anything for me."

Mr. Stratton then reviewed at length the piano office talk. He said that it was plain that Mr. Gamey had not only deceived the Opposition and deceived the counsel who sought to protect him. Referring to Mr. Whitney's complaint that the evidence was excluded, Mr. Stratton said that one of the two excluded witnesses was said by the Rochester police to be a useless loafer. Referring to Hammond's evidence, Mr. Stratton explained that he had been discussing with Hammond the Carnegie library and the Niagara power question, of which he had written a letter to the papers signing himself "Taxpayer." It was these things that he wished Mr. Hammond to forget.

Mr. Stratton said he would resign his seat tomorrow if Mr. Hammond would state that he believed the request to have been made with a wrong intent or if it had caused him to withhold any evidence. Mr. Stratton said that he felt no personal boastfulness on the outcome, as all right-thinking people expected such a verdict. He had not flinched under the lash of the Tory hireling. He had been denied British fair play, and every effort had been made to deprive him of his ground, while his accuser played the part of the coward and fled. All his private affairs had been gone over, but not one incriminating fact could be found.

IS NOT RESENTFUL.

"I feel no resentment against those of my opponents who have been misled," said Mr. Stratton in conclusion, "I can only say to my accusers that I hope they will learn from this that falsehood works its own revenge and deceit brings its own just punishment." Mr. Stratton was followed by Mr. Lucas, of Center Grey, who spoke till the noon recess. He said that Mr. Stratton had brought his trouble on himself by his failure to give immediate public denial to the charges. The judges' finding was not a verdict of innocence. It was only a favorable charge to the jury.

ARIZONA MINE TROUBLES

U. S. Regular Troops May Be Placed at Morenci.

Clifton, Ariz., June 18.—Fully one-half of the miners at Morenci have returned to work on the company's terms. The remainder are discontented. As only 25 strikers were disarmed, the miners still have possession of their arms, and the absolute withdrawal of troops is not deemed advisable. The mining companies have called upon the Governor of Arizona, asking that at roop of regulars be stationed at Morenci for a number of months.

WILL COST $1,000.

City Engineer Graydon estimates that the repairing of the asphalt pavement this year will cost about $1,000, That is, the city's portion of the expense. The street railway company will have fully as much, their track allowance being in a very bad state of repair. The work will occupy a week or ten days. The repairing this year is being done by the Warren Company at $1 89 a yard, whereas the price charged by the Barber Asphalt Company, who constructed the roadway, in former years, was $2 50 a yard.

KINGLY POWERS TO BE CURTAILED

New Constitution Makes Him a Figurehead.

REMAINS CHIEF OF THE ARMY

Large Treasure Found in the Konak—Austrian Emperor Disapproves of Massacre.

Balgrade, June 18.—It is understood that the chief modifications in the constitution of 1888 deal with the curtailment of the King's prerogatives, but his majesty will still remain chief of the army. There will only be one chamber having a proportional representation of the various parties. The constituion altogether will be very liberal, and the changes made are important in this respect that they will completely alter the existing cumbersome machinery to modify the constitution.

The King will be deprived of the power of incurring supplementary expenditure and the ministers will be made solely responsible to the Skupshtina which will have absolute control of all budgets, the senate being abolished.

It is reported that the treasure found in the Konak included the sum of $1,600,000, being part of the proceeds of the recent loan, and $400,000 which had been secretly reserved from the amount credited to the war minister and given to Queen Draga.

The telegram of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria to King Peter has not been published here, because of the Emperor's strictures on the murders of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

RUSSIA FAVORS PUNISHMENT.

St. Petersburg, June 18.—An official note was published in the Gazette today, recognizing Prince Peter Karageorgevitch as King of Servia and welcoming his accession. In brief, the note declares that it is incumbent on King Peter to avenge the assassinations of King Alexander and Queen Draga, and expresses the conviction that he will know how to severely punish the regicides, whose misdeeds should not be visited on the entire Servian nation or army. The note adds that it would be dangerous to the tranquility of Servia to leave the crime unpunished.

NATALIE AND THE POPE.

Rome, June 18.—An investigation of the report, published by a news agency in the United States yesterday morning that former Queen Natalie, of Servia, mother of the late King Alexander, had written to the Pope announcing her intention to revisit Rome shortly to consult with the pontiff regarding her entering a convent, shows that the Pope, on receiving the news of the tragedy at Belgrade, merely conveyed his condolences to Queen Natalie, adding that he hoped she would find in religion sufficient consolation to enable her to endure her affliction. Queen Natalie replied, thanking the Pope for his paternal solicitude and recalling, with emotion, her visit to the pontiff in May of last year.

KING PETER'S RECEPTION.

Belgrade, June 17.—Nothing is now heard but talk of the approaching reception of the new King. The municipality of Belgrade is also sending a deputation to meet King Peter, and intends erecting three triumphal arches between the railroad station and the town. Large crowds are constantly gathering before the windows of a shop in the main street of Belgrade, where, since the receipt of the Czar's massage, a large photograph of the chief military actors in the late drama has been displayed. The municipality of Belgrade has voted a large sum towards the reception of King Peter, which promises to be elaborate.

THE KING'S MANIFESTO.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 17.—King Peter today telegraphed to Belgrade the following manifesto to be proclaimed to the Servians, the substance of which was cabled to the press, June 15: "Thanks to the favor of God and the will of the people, I am called to the throne of my ancestors. I submit myself to the popular decision, and today ascend the throne of Servia. I consider it to be my first duty to thank God for the favor accorded me, and I express the hope that the powers will hail my succession as an event which will give Servia an era of repose, progress and order. I give my word to respect the rights acquired by all. I will be the protector of the legality and well-being of the people. I call upon the heads of the church and the military and civil functionaries to retain their functions and execute them conscientiously. I declare that I banish from memory all acts committed during the last 40 years having bearing upon me. Every honest Servian will find under my reign protection for his moral and material life. The motto of my dynasty is 'for the sacred cross and cherished liberty.' It is with that motto, assured of the attachment of the army and church that I ascend the throne as Peter the First, King of Servia."

DRIVEN FROM DIET

The Ban of Croatia Given Warm Reception by Opponents.

Agram, Croatia, June 18.—The Diet held its first meeting here yesterday since the outbreak of the recent disorders in Croatia. When the Ban of Croatia entered the chamber he was received with insults by the opposition, and shouts of "Criminal, may you be hanged," etc. The Ban remained quiet, though pale, for some time, but as the uproar continued he left the chamber. He reappeared later and his reappearance caused a renewal of the scenes. Finally the sitting had to be abandoned.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS

Results Show That Working Classes Are Greatly Dissatisfied.

Berlin, June 18.—The lesson of the general election is that the Germany of industrial progress, military strength and renown, and inordinate naval and colonial ambition is honeycombed with unappeasable discontent. It means that the workingmen, large sections of the middle classes and the petty officials have no part and no lot in the policy and aims of the Government. They do not consider the liberty and dignity of the individual is adequately recognized in an empire where militarism and class privilege is rampant, and where the ordinary citizen is expected to shut his eyes, open his mouth and swallow what the authorities are pleased to toss to him.

SUDDEN DEATH OF REV. DR. DEWART

Noted Methodist Divine Passes Away From Heart Disease at Toronto.

Toronto, June 18.—The sudden death yesterday afternoon of Rev. Dr. Dewart came as a great shock to thousands of Toronto's citizens, and the announcement will be received with deep regret throughout Canada, for the name of Dr. Dewart was well known from ocean to ocean.

On Tuesday he consulted with Dr. Cotton and was advised to seek peace and quiet. Dr. Dewart was a prominent figure during the recent deliberations of the Methodist conference, and had been a constant visitor at the Legislature during the sessions.

REV. DR. DEWART.

Dr. Dewart, who was 75 years of age, is survived by a widow and two sons, Hartley H., K.C., county crown attorney, and Edward, of the Bank of Commerce. The former was in Ottawa yesterday, but left last night for Toronto. At the regular weekly prayer meetings held last night in the Methodist churches throughout the city, the sad news was alluded to in feeling terms by the ministers and others.

MILITARY MEN IN COURT

Two Officers of Camp Regiment Answer to Disorderly Conduct.

Taken to Police Station Because They Made No Satisfactory Explanation.

A captain and a lieutenant of one of the regiments in camp were arrested last night and appeared in police court today. The offense with which they were charged had been committed innocently by them. P. C. Green did not get an explanation he wanted, after waiting behind a tree for some time, watching the two, and he subsequently took them to the police station. The charge was one of disorderly conduct. A lady residing on Pall Mall street had been disturbed in the small hours by knocks at her door on various occasions, since the camp started. The matter was made known to P. C. Green, who kept his eye on the house all evening. The two officers came along Pall Mall street about 12:20 p.m., the policeman said, and going up to the house rapped twice with a cane. The officer was standing back about ten feet in the dark, and after the knocking stopped, he walked up to them and asked why they were there. They said that they had been asked by a fellow-officer to call for a stick and a pair of gloves, which had been left at the house on another occasion. P. C. Green did not ask their names. The soldiers willingly proceeded to the station with him. Lack of explanation was the reason they were placed under arrest, P. C. Green said.

They said in court this morning that they thought they were the victims of a practical joke.

The magistrate freely discharged them, but at the same time justified the officer for making an arrest on the grounds that no sufficient explanation had been given. He regretted that the arrest had been made, but said that a better time might have been chosen by the officers to do favors for their friends. No costs were inflicted.

A young man named Parker, charged with breaking into a car, was discharged, the complainant failing to appear.

It was reported that two teamsters' licenses had been paid since yesterday, those of Maurice and Robert Baldwin.

AMES & COMPANY TO PAY THEIR CREDITORS IN FULL

Banks and Other Institutions Holding Securities as Collateral Are Asked to Co-operate.

LIABILITIES REDUCED FROM TEN TO THREE MILLIONS

Toronto, June 18.—Those who thought that the suspension of Ames & Co. would result in disastrous loss to their creditors will be pleased to learn that there is a very good prospect of the company paying its liabilities in full, with interest at 6 per cent. That the announcement as to the firm's position will bring relief to many in both town and country goes without saying. The losses of the company's clients by reason of the sudden and extraordinary decline in stock values cannot be restored save by the gradual appreciation in the value of securities. It is a matter of congratulation that the depositors who trusted Ames & Co. with their savings will not lose anything if the plan of payment proposed is adopted. The document issued by the company shows that the liabilities have, in the two weeks that have passed since the firm's suspension, been reduced from over ten millions to considerably less than three. The firm's liabilities are threefold. The greatest item is $2,815,319, borrowed from banks, etc., on the security of stocks held for clients. The second is $230,114 to savings depositors and the third is $359,111, due to stock clients in credit balances and surplus margins.

THE PROPOSAL.

We respectfully propose settlement of our liabilities upon the basis of payment in full, with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, as follows:

(1) To unsecured creditors, being savings depositors, clients with credit balances, and clients with surplus margins, 25 cents on the dollar, payably on July 15 next, and the balance in three equal payments at six, twelve and eighteen months thereafter.

(2) From banks, institutions and other lenders holding securities as collateral, and whose individual positions differ, we ask that they will be good enough to continue to co-operate with us upon the satisfactory basis under which, with practically no exception, we have been acting, exercising such additional patience as may be necessary until our accounts with them become quite normal in character.

The foregoing proposal is made publicly in view of the impossibility of getting creditors quickly together. Notice of the proposals, with forms of consent, will be mailed to creditors as soon as they can be put out.

The proposal is made with the feeling that the programme can be worked out if the consent of creditors is given. We have greatly appreciated the confidence evinced during the last two weeks by creditors leaving us in charge of the conduct of business. This confidence has been respected to the last detail. No single preference has been given, and where varying conditions and fluctuations have necessitated apparent inconsistencies we have tried to deal fairly under all the circumstances. If the creditors will accept this proposal, the members of the firm will devote their time and energy to working out the plan to the best advantage, and feel confident that they will thereby be able to pay their liabilities in full.

A. E. AMES & CO.

GAVE THEIR FAREWELLS

Addresses Delivered by Salvation Army Officers.

Several Now Leave to Take Up New Field of Labor.

Farewell addresses occupied the attention of those who attended the Salvation Army meetings yesterday afternoon, last night and this morning. Quite a number of the officers from Western Ontario leave after today to take up new fields of work. Besides Brigadier and Mrs. McMillan there are Ensign and Mrs. White, who go to the Pacific Province, and Capt. Weber, who goes to the territorial headquarters at Toronto. Ensign White will act as special financial officer.

Staff-Capt. Coombs and Staff-Capt. Goodwin gave addresses, conveying to those leaving the appreciation of all for the excellent work that has been done in the last three years, and the other speakers also expressed the same feelings of thankfulness.

At this morning's session Lieut. West, of London, was appointed to the rank of captain.

Tonight's session will be the most important yet held. Statistics will be quoted which will show the number of converts added to the list, also the number of stations. Preparations are completed for the Hindoo parade, and everything points to a most enthusiastic gathering. This afternon the officers are enjoying a tea at Somerset Hall.

AUDIT COMMENCES SOONER

Owing to Long Vacation Auditors Begin Work First Monday in July.

The auditors of criminal justice accounts will meet on the first Monday in July for the purpose of dealing with the accounts for the current quarter. It is customary to begin the audit on the second Monday in July, but as the long vacation of the court house officials begins on July 1 and a number of the attaches will be absent for some time, it was decided to commence the business earlier. The auditors this year will be Judge Edward Elliott, Capt. T. E. Robson and George F. Jewell.

New Power Plant.

Detroit, June 18.—A special dispatch to the Tribune from Alpena, Mich., says: George P. Smith, of Syracuse, N. Y., has promoted a project for eastern capitalists for the utilization of the water power of Thunder Bay River. The new concern will have a capital stock of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, and expects to furnish power for manufacturing plants.

FLOWERS FILL CITY HALL

Gorgeous Display Occupies All the Space Available.

Show Is Free and Is Attracting Much Attention.

The early summer flower show at the city hall was the center of attraction for many Londoners yesterday afternoon and evening, particularly in the evening, a continual stream of visitors arriving from 8 o'clock until 10.

The show is now at its best, and can be seen to the greatest advantage this evening. Exhibits continued to come all day yesterday, and this morning the display was so large that it was found necessary to secure four extra tables to accommodate the exhibits. The platform across the north end of the hall has also been utilized, and yet there is no room to spare.

The hall presents a very pretty sight with its vari-colored flowers of all kinds, nicely arranged under the direction of such enthusiasts as Mr. Balkwill and Mr. C. J. Fox. Although this is the month of roses, the exhibits of them are not so numerous as might be expected, but those that are on the tables are good, Mr. John Stevenson and Mr. Thomas Alexander, collector of inland revenue, both of whom are admirers of roses particularly, have large collections. Mr. Alexander's are principally of the light colored varieties, while Mr. Stevenson has many of both. Each collection is greatly admired.

The largest exhibitor is Mr. Ion B. Bond, of Elmwood avenue, South London. His collection is the most varied ever staged by an amateur in London. Mr. Bond's home grounds are entitled to the name of botanical gardens, as they contain one of the finest collections of rare and curious plants in Ontario. Mr. Bond is a commercial traveler, and though "on the road" a great part of the time, he is a devoted horticulturist and has gathered from all parts of the globe a magnificent lot.

Something extra is always looked for from Mr. C. J. Fox, also of Elmwood avenue, South London. This year Mr. Fox keeps up his record as one of the city's most enthusiastic and successful amateurs.

Among the exhibitors whose names appear on the tickets at the show are: Thos. Alexander, W. C. Furness, Jas. Lutnam, Ed. Weld, W. Hunt, Mrs. A. Ellis, I. B. Bond, C. P. Butler, Mrs. Healy, Mrs. C. Finchamp, John Stevenson, Mrs. T. Clark, W. W. Hunt, W. R. Garner, Thos. Yerex, Mrs. J. Paine, Mrs. J. Stewart, Miss Bethune, Mrs. Morgan, E. J. Liddicoatt, Mr. Good, C. J. Fox, Miss Buttrey, R. W. Rennie, Mrs. C. F. Cox, Wm. Moore, Mrs. Geo. Pritchard, J. A. Balkwill, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, H. W. Givens and Charles Gilbert.

PRESIDENT JOHN MITCHELL SUED FOR TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND

London's Quick-Lunch.

London, June 18.—London's first quick lunch restaurant was opened for business on the Strand Tuesday. Despite the solemn warnings of the Lancet against these places, and a downpour of rain there was a great rush of curious cockneys, to whom buckwheat cakes with maple syrup, etc., presented an absolutely novelty. The services of the police had to be enlisted in a short time to control the crowd. The rush continued throughout the day.

The Pope Receives.

Rome, June 18.—The Pope today received in private audience Right Rev. F. Z. Rooker, Bishop of Jaro, Philippine Islands, and Right Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, Bishop of Nueva Segovia, Philippine Islands.

By Lawyer Who Says It Was He Who Furnished Plan for Strike Settlement.

Scranton, Pa., June 18.—A Binghamton lawyer named C. H. Wales has brought suit against John Mitchell, the United Mine Workers' president, for $200,000, alleging that he furnished for the Mine Workers the plan that resulted in the settlement of the great strike of last year. Mitchell went before a magistrate and made an affidavit of defense. James L. Lenahan, of Wilkesbarre, has been retained by Mitchell as his attorney. Lawyer Lenahan said that Wales came to last October, and submitted plans for the settlement of the strike, and later sent in a large number of other writings, for which he was eventually asked to submit a bill. He did not do so, but kept on writing, and eventually sent in a bill that was considered unreasonable.

The heavy selling for the past few weeks has left us with some broken lines and the law here is that these oddments must go. Of course it is sacrificing, but it is expedient. JEWS TAKE REVENGE

Editor of The Bessarabetz Stabbed in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, June 18.—Kroushevan, the notorious Jew-baiter and the editor of the anti-Semitic organ in Kishineff, the Bessarabetz, the articles in which are believed to have been largely responsible for the massacre of the Jews in Kishineff, was attacked by a party of Jews in the street here yesterday. He was stabbed in the back by one of the Jews, but the wound is not believed to be fatal. His assailant was captured and proved to be a former student of the polytechnic school at Kieff.

Broke Her Neck.

San Juan, Porto Rico, June 18.—Miss Jean Ankrom, formerly of Wainsburg, Pa., the only woman school supervisor in Porto Rico, was thrown from a carriage in a runaway accident at Ponce last night and died in the local hospital a few minutes later. Her neck was broken.

COMPETITIONS TO ENLIVEN THE CLOSING DAYS OF CAMP

Cavalry and Infantry Are Both to Indulge in Them.

County Council Entertained by Officers of Twenty-Sixty.

Little Sickness Among the Troops This Year—Colors Are To Be Deposited.

The closing days of the camp on Carling's Heights are to be enlivened by two competitions for cavalry and infantry and the tactical movements arranged for Saturday last, but which had to be postponed on account of the unfavorable weather.

The competition for the cavalry is entirely new, so far as London camp is concerned, and it is the outcome of the visit paid to the camp last week by Lord Dundonald. Its approach has stirred up the men of the four squadrons, and at every opportunity they are to be found practicing for the event, which is to take place on the camp grounds on Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. There is no prize offered this year, but Lord Dundonald has promised that next year he will donate a cup for the competition.

The details of the competition have been drawn up and made known to the Hussars to give them time to prepare. The men are to start at a given point dismounted. They are to mount their horses there, ride a mile at a gallop, coming to within 50 yards of a position, where they will again dismount and attack the targets—the miniature ranges. Each man is to have five rounds of ammunition, and the squadron's score will be made up acording to the number of targets made, combined with time made, drill and discipline during the operations.

There are four squadrons in the First Hussars, and each of them will have a competing team of 30 officers, non-commissioned officers and men. The judges of the movements are to be Lieut-Col. Gartshore, the former commanding officer of the regiment; Lieut.-Col. Stothers, who is at present in command, and Lieut. Peters, son of Lieut.-Col. Peters, who is an officer of the Bengal Lancers. The competition is looked upon by staff officers and others in camp as being of the utmost importance.

FOR BANKERS' SHIELD.

The competition for the infantry takes place at the miniature ranges this afternoon. The prize is known as the Bankers' Shield, given by the managers of the London branches of the Montreal, British North America, Commerce, Dominion, Toronto and Molsons Banks. It was though the efforts of Lieut.-Col. Peters that the trophy was offered, and the outcome is expected to be an increase in interest in musketry, which is gradually getting a stronger hold upon the military men of the district. The trophy is to be competed for by companies of the infantry regiments in camp, 15 officers, non-commissioned officers and men to a company, and every one to be a bona fide member of the company in which he is competing. Each officer and man is to have seven rounds, with only one minute to fire in. The score is to be made up from the number of "heads" made. The conditions of the competition were left entirely in the hands of Lieut.-Col. Peters, who has yet to decide whether the trophy will become the property of the company winning it the first time, or whether it will have to be taken a number of years. Every regiment in camp is expected to have several companies in the competition.

The rifle practice at both the miniature and the cove ranges will likely conclude today, when the Thirtieth, Thirty-third and the First Hussars will go to the cove for their 20 rounds per man at the 400 yards range. Should the Hussars not finish today they will go to the ranges again tomorrow.

FINALLY DEFEATED.

The officers of the divisional staff got up their courage yesterday and had a musketry competition with the officers of the regiments in camp. The majority of the corps were represented by teams of five, and most of them went down before the staff of the division. The latter, however, got so encouraged by their success that they challenged a team from the officers of the entire division, the result being that they met a sorry defeat. The conditions were seven rounds each, to be fired in a minute. Col. Denison, of No. 1 Company, did some remarkably good shooting, not only having good scores, but firing his seven rounds in quick time. The officers of the first and second brigade came together during the day, 25 men a side, the second brigade winning. The non-coms of the two brigades have a match arranged for today.

COUNTY COUNCIL ENTERTAINED.

The dinner tendered by the officers of the Twenty-sixth Regiment to the members of the county council is one of the events of the camp which always gives satisfaction to the staff of the county's excellent corps and those who enjoy their hospitality. It was held in the officers' mess on the heights last night, and it was attended by Col. McEwen and staff, with many guests, among them being Judge Edward Elliott, Sheriff Cameron, Rev. Mr. Cluff, Strathroy; Col. Irwin, of Strathroy, former commanding officer of the regiment; J. A. Thompson, London; Col. Young, Major Belton, P. M. O. of the district; Capt. Ross, of the permanent force, and Warden Grigg, Ex-Warden Murray, of Westminster, and Councilors Bradley and Cousins, of the Middlesex Council. Many addresses were made, those who spoke on behalf of the county giving the assurance that as long as they were representing the people they would continue to support the granting of a sum yearly to the regiment, of which they felt they had good reason to be proud. Solos were given during the evening by Major Welch, Capt. Becher, Mr. Thompson and Roy Walsh.

NOT MUCH SICKNESS.

There has not been very much sickness among the soldiers in camp on Carling's Heights this year. Two men have been confined to the divisional hospital on account of kicks received from horses, and a number of others have passed under the doctors' care, suffering from slight illnesses. None have been in the hospital for more than two or three days.

The reasons attributed for the scarcity of sickness are many. The principal medical officer for the district, Surgeon-Major Belton, says the good health of the men is in a large measure due to the cool weather, and he has also noticed that the men as a rule are a fine lot of fellows, who appear to take the very best care of themselves. The improved means for the serving of the meals may have something to do with it, while the better class of food served up may also share in the credit.

TO DEPOSIT COLORS.

An interesting ceremony is to take place in St. Paul's Cathedral this evening. It is the depositing of the colors of the Twenty-sixth Regiment.

A board of officers assembled at the camp this morning for the examination of a number of officers in equitation, among the candidates being Capt. A. Wilson, of the Thirty-third, and Lieuts. Bentley and McDonald, of the Army Medical Corps. Col. Peters was the president of the board, and the other members were Capts. Ross and Layborn.

Capt. Anderson, who has been giving lectures on guide work, leaves today for the camp at Three Rivers, where he is to continue his work.

The time-table for the departure of the troops will be issued today. The last of the corps will likely be out of camp early in the morning to enable them to reach their homes at a good hour.

REV. J. C. FARTHING APPEALS FOR NORTHWEST WORKERS

His Address One of the Features of Synod Meeting.

Delegates Discuss Bishop's Power of Making Appointments.

An appeal for men to take up the work of the Anglican Church and a plea for an independent spirit in the management if mission fields within Canada were features of one of the strongest missionary addresses heard here in some time, that delivered last evening by Rev. J. C. Farthing, rector of new St. Paul's Church, Woodstock. The missionary conference was held in place of a regular business session of the Synod of Huron, at present in session in Bishop Cronyn Hall.

The business session of the synod yesterday afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the proposed changes to the canon by the bishop. The proposed change was to provide for the selection of a committee of church to form a committee for conference with the bishop in the matter of appointments. The bishop pointed out that under the present canon, the bishop submitted names to a congregation who often could not come to a decision as to who was wanted for a vacancy, and on the other hand, it would not do for him to have the power of appointment in his own hands. A long discussion upon the matter took place and an amendment was made to the effect that a representative committee be elected by the synod, to consist of five clergymen and five laymen to represent the congregations in regard to appointments, an objection being taken to the itinerancy of the clergy. The hour for adjournment was reached before any decision had been arrived at.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GOOD WORK.

The report of the Anglican Young People's Association was read, and on a motion for its adoption, a number of the delegates took the opportunity to tell what an excellent organization of the church the association was, and to make suggestions. At the close of the first year there had been 32 branches with 900 members.

The evening meeting was attended by a large number of those interested in missions, the audience including a number of ladies. Before the addresses were made the report of the board of missions was read and adopted, the board being reappointed.

Rev. Mr. Farthing, the first speaker, opened his remarks by saying that a church that was not a missionary church was inconceivable. There were national churches in the world which were not missionary churches, but these would be cast out. Wonderful work had been done in Canada by the church and it was prepared for more, one preparation being the burning up of all party spirit. He referred to the Indian work of the past being done chiefly by the Church of England. They had been supported by the church in England, and the speaker appealed to them to rise to a sprit of independence. The church in Canada had been too much of a "remittance" church in the way of getting remittances from the old country. They should rise and face every phase of the work at least within their own borders.

The future strength of the Canadian church lay in the Northwest and British Columbia. In the latter province the Anglican Church was the strongets denomination. In the vast Saskatchewan district which was rapidly filling up the Church of England was three times as strong as the next Protestant body, and in the unorganized territories it had a thousand more followers than the next Protestant church In Alberta and the Yukon, while the English Church was not leading, it followed very closely. Therefore efforts in missionary work were not to regain lost ground. It was to have the church strengthened there so that the new people coming into those vast provinces would have their church. But it was to be done now, or forever left undone, and the church could not afford to be apathetic now. The movement inaugurated by the General Synod was a men's movement and should be carried out by men.

The crying need of the church today was not money, but men, and the speaker pointed out how the Canadians had volunteered to go to South Africa, and he thought they might do the same thing for the church. Of course it meant small pay, but the man who went into the ministry for money was a knave and a fool for expecting it and the church did not want either knaves or fools. The compensations were ten times the sacrifices—the compensations of opportunities to do good work. He asked parents to give their sons for the great work of the church and he thought when the responsibility were laid on the laity that they would respond. The work must be done from a patriotic standpoint. Looking back on British history, what was it gave Britain her wonderful influence? It had been the moulding of character and that moulding had been done by the church. If Canadians roused themselves to sacrifice and to surround these new nations that were pouring into the West with that influence that made their forefathers great, then the future would be a great one, not only for the church but for the nation.

Mr. Farthing's address was interrupted by frequent demonstrations of approval and at the close he was enthusiastically applauded.

Three other missionary addresses were delivered last evening. A second on obligations to domestic missions was given by Mr. Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, who was well received. "Our Obligations to Foreign Missions," was spoken of by Rev. J. R. S. Boyd, missionary to China, and by Dr. Tom Jays, missionary to Africa. The latter made his address the more interesting by exhibiting a number of curios from the fields of his labors.

The bishop, who presided, brought the meeting to a close.

THEY SUPPORT LORENZ

Doctors Say Lolita Armour Can Run About as Other Children.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 18.—A statement authorized by Dr. Adolph Lorenz, of Vienna, has been issued by two local physicians, answering repeated attacks which have been made on Prof. Lorenz's treatment of hip dislocations. The statement says:

"We deem it due to Professor Lorenz to contradict the rumors that have been afloat for some time to the effect that Prof. Lorenz's treatment of little Miss Lolita Armour was unsuccessful. Prof. Lorenz treated but one hip in this case, the other having been more or less successfully reduced by other surgeons in a former operation by Lorenz's methods. The family is more than satisfied with the result. Miss Lolita now runs about and up and down stairs and plays like other children."

Death of Rev. Dr. Dewart.

Pains in the Back for Twenty Years

Could Not Turn Over in Bed—Kidneys and Bladder Affected—Experienced Great Suffering.

Old people learn to trust in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for when all other treatments fail this great medicine seems to go directly to the diseased part, and promptly affords relief and cure.

Mr. David Misener, farmer, Port Robinson, Welland County, Ontario, writes: 'I wish to state to you that I had a pain in my back and left side for over 20 years. At times I could not turn over in bed, I was so badly used up. I had cramps in my feet and legs, and my hands were so entirely useless that I could scarcely lift anything.

"Kidney disease was, no doubt, the cause of all my suffering, and sometimes the urinary trouble would be so bad that I would have to get up five or six times during the night. Fortunately, I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they cured me completely. I am 79 years old, and quite well now, but still occasionally use these pills to keep my system in good order. Several persons to whom I have recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been equally benefited."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the comfort of old age, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers. Portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on every box.

When a man finds money in a coat he hasn't worn for some time it is unkind to question him too closely as to his condition when he took it off.

DO NOT DELAY.—Do not let a cold or a cough fasten upon you, as it will if neglected. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will break up a cold and cure a cough, and should be resorted to at once when the first symptoms appear. It can be disguised so that any unpleasant taste it may have will be imperceptible to the delicate. Try it and be convinced.

Tradition has it that the June bug left the ark with the dove and has been returning to the arc ever since it first had the chance.

THEY ARE A POWERFUL NERVINE.—Dyspepsia causes derangement of the nervous system, and nervous debility once engendered is difficult to deal with. There are many testimonials as to the efficacy of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills in treating this disorder, showing that they never fail to produce good results. By giving proper tone to the digestive organs, they restore equilibrium to the nerve centers.

MR. TARTE TALKS OF PROTECTION

He Expresses His Admiration for Mr. Chamberlain's New Policy —His Motion Defeated.

Ottawa, June 17. — In the House of Commons today Sir Wm. Mulock stated that 11,800,000 acres of land have been patented since 1883 by railway companies which have earned land subsidies in the west. The amount of land remaining in the hands of the Government is 308,403,546 acres.

Mr. Tarte, in moving his resolution in favor of further protection, read a long list of articles with regard to which the Government had been asked to revise the tariff. He said that the manufacturing interest in Canada, though important, was less so than that of the farmers. The first object should be to protect and develop the farming interest. Free trade had brought agriculture in England to the verge of ruin. The direct loss to England in this way had been enormous. So also had been her loss in the balance of trade. On the other hand, protection had made the United States prosperous, both in agriculture and manufactures. Mr. Tarte quoted a long array of figures. A revenue tariff opposed to high protection he regarded as trying to fight modern artillery with old-fashioned guns. For labor in this country he asked the development of existing industries and the bringing into life of new ones, higher wages, a better standard of living, permanency of employment. For capital he asked security and fair dividends, and for all Canadian industries preference over foreign industries.

Mr. Tarte expressed his admiration for the general policy enunciated by Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, and thought that it would be an improvement if there were a French-Canadian in the British House of Commons.

Mr. Brock seconded the motion.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Reid, Hughes (Victoria), Sproule, Bell, Gourley, Osler for the motion, and Messrs. Demers (St. John and Iberville), and Ross (Victoria) against.

Mr. Borden indorsed the motion cordially, and Mr. Fielding spoke briefly on behalf of the Government.

The vote was taken at 2:45 a.m., and resulted in the defeat of Mr. Tarte's motion by 102 to 50.

CREAMY TEA

Blue Ribbon Man Tells What It Means.

One of the most attractive features of today's issue is one of a series of advertisements for the Blue Ribbon Tea Company, of Toronto. This enterprising company are entering upon a very extensive advertising campaign throughout Canada for the purpose of educating the public on the value of the celebrated Blue Ribbon Tea.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, the company's energetic advertising manager, was in the city today and in conversation with a reporter suggested that the public would be benefited by following carefully the tea story as told in their series of advertisements which are to appear in this paper.

"Many people are under the impression," he said, 'that they can buy for 25 cents a pound of tea worth 40 cents."

"How do you account for that?" the reporter asked.

"Many people do not know that 25 cent tea is produced from the poorer grades and is shipped to this country specially to sell at 25 cents."

Mr. Roberts went on to explain that Blue Ribbon Red Label Tea is composed of the delicate top leaves and tender shoots of the tea plant. They do not, like the lower, coarser leaves, contain the woody fibers that secrete the tannin and other bitter substances. The Blue Ribbon Tea Co. control many acres of tea gardens in Ceylon, these gardens being located in the upland district of the interior where the climate is cool and the tender shoots and leaves are developed under the most favorable circumstances. The treatment of the tea plants in these gardens is on scientific principles, they being carefully cultivated and grafted to produce the proper flavor for the delicious Blue Ribbon.

"What do you mean by the expression 'creamy tea' in your advertisement?" the reporter inquired.

"Have you ever tasted Blue Ribbon Tea?" Mr. Roberts answered quick as a flash.

The reporter was forced to admit that he had not.

"That accounts for it," was the reply. "Just as there is a difference between good fruit and cheap fruit, there is a difference between Blue Ribbon and other teas. The delightful flavor of the Blue Ribbon is such that it leaves a delicious smack on the palate that you can't swallow. No other word will describe this so well as 'creamy.'"

For Provincial Rights.

The Ontario Legislature has entered a formal protest against what it terms the tendency on the part of the Dominion Parliament to encroach on the Provincial field of legislation, especially in the granting of charter rights to corporations. There is no suggestions that the Dominion authorities, in recent years at least, have deliberately pursued a policy of this kind. In the specific cases complained of, charters have been granted without the slightest intention or desire on the part of the Federal Parliament to encroach on the Province. The question of jurisdiction has not been raised till now in the Legislature. The Liberal party stands by the doctrine of Provincial rights, for which Sir Oliver Mowat fought many a gallant battle. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has proclaimed it to be an article of his political creed, and reaffirmed his position only a few weeks ago in his eloquent eulogy of the late Lieutenant-Governor. The Dominion Government is not turning its back on Liberal traditions, and the Ontario Legislature will no doubt find a sympathetic response to any representations it may make on the subject of Provincial rights. While the spirit of the protest entered by the Legislature is praiseworthy and will find a unanimous support in the Province, it is probable that the purpose would have been served equally well by friendly negotiation. Mr. Pattullo's resolution conveys the impression that there is a clash between the Federal and Provincial authorities, but there is no reason to suppose that both are not ready and anxious to work in harmony. The question is of great importance, as it involves the rights of municipalities. Works of a local character, with purely municipal or Provincial objects, should be, as a general principle, under Provincial jurisdiction. It is hard to get at a company operating under both Provincial and Dominion charters, as it can play off one against the other. The Bell Telephone Company is an example. The municipalities, in the effort to regulate the monopoly and obtain control of their streets, have to chase the company from Toronto to Ottawa and back again. No corporation should be able to get a Dominion charter by merely declaring its undertaking to be "for the general advantage of Canada," an expression which needs to be more strictly defined. If a man digs a ditch or plants a garden he may claim, with some reason, it is for the general advantage of Canada. The Attorney-General of Ontario suggests that any Dominion bill containing these words shall go before two judges of the supreme court for a confirmation. Some such arrangement is needed.

The Gamey Debate.

The debate on the report of the Gamey Commission opened yesterday in the Legislature. The Premier was remarkably moderate in his utterances. He had every temptation to score the Opposition and impale the member for Manitoulin. Mr. Whitney and his colleagues were plainly in a corner. They had assumed the truth of Gamey's charges and had embraced the author of them, but they now find themselves tied to a political scoundrel, who betrayed them into a false and ridiculous position, from which they cannot retreat without self-repudiation. This vulnerability gave the Premier a rare opening, which must have appealed to the fighting instincts of an old parliamentary gladiator, but he forbore to attack, evidently wishing to avoid recriminations and raise the discussion to a higher level. He contented himself with a dispassionate and a logical analysis of the evidence. His example failed to induce Mr. Whitney to keep the debate on the same plane. Mr. Whitney's address was the most malignant attack on the judiciary ever launched under the shelter of parliamentary privilege. He went so far as to impugn the personal integrity of Sir John Boyd, one of the most venerated figures on the bench, accusing him of being biased in favor of the Government by mercenary considerations. He said he believed that Gamey's statements were "mainly" true, a confession that he does not believe them to be wholly true. By discrediting a portion of Gamey's testimony, Mr. Whitney does not leave the member for Manitoulin a shred of reputation for veracity; yet party exigencies impel him to cling to the fallen idol, though he has to stoop very low to do it. The leader of the Opposition indulged in his usual intemperate exaggerations. "Scratch one of these men (the Ministers), and you will find a mixture of demagogue and tyrant such as even Russia cannot boast of." Language of this kind excites only mirth. How can Mr. Whitney expect to be taken seriously, when he is guilty of such balderdash? The Provincial Secretary spoke in his own defense in a very spirited manner. Naturally, he resented the dastardly tactics of his enemies, who violated every principle of justice and British fair play by prejudging the case and finding him guilty without a trial. The public is curious to hear what the member of Manitoulin will say in his own behalf.

Lord Rosebery says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the most influential voice in the Empire, outside the British Isles. This is a lofty tribute to Sir Wilfrid, but it is well within the mark. When Sir Wilfrid speaks on an Imperial topic all England listens.

The United States steel trust will erect a branch factory in Canada to employ 3,000 men. This is a pretty straight answer to the charge that the Canadian iron and steel industry is suffering for lack of higher duties. The trust is so satisfied with the prospects in Canada that it intends to spend millions here, and the trust is reputed to know something about the business.

The Anglican Synod of Toronto has declared almost unanimously against denominational schools. The denominational movement originated among members of the Church of England, and they have established the only two schools of the kind in the Province, as they have a perfect right to do—at their own expense. But they have been asking for state aid and recognition which, if granted, would mean the disintegration of the public school system. The Synod of Toronto has taken the proper view. Religious instruction in the schools can be provided for without breaking up the educational system of the Province.

The late Rev. Dr. Dewart was a remarkably gifted man and one of the great figures in Canadian Methodism. He had the courage of his convictions on public and moral questions and his virile pen made the Christian Guardian a force in the country. He had a fine literary aptitude and produced some graceful verse worthy of a place in any Canadian anthology. In politics he took more than a passing interest, his sympathies being strongly Liberal. In 1898 he offered for the Legislature in North Toronto, and was defeated by only a few votes. His talents as a controversialist would have greatly reinforced the debating power of the House. In many ways he was equipped for public life and if he had entered politics earlier in life, he would probably have taken a front rank. The country loses a potent voice in the death of Dr. Dewart.

A Farmers' Trust has been organized in Indianapolis. It is said to have a membership of 100,000 and the promoters say they will reach the million mark by September. The plan is to determine from the reports of crop specialists in every part of the country what is an equitable minimum price for each commodity. Once fixed, this price will be sent to all members of the society at the same time and no member will sell for less. The directors believe that by September the members will hold so much grain and keep it from the market that prices will have to go up. The United States has a meat trust, a coal trust, an oil trust, a steel trust, a rubber trust, a sugar trust, a tobacco trust, a furniture trust, and a multitude of other trusts. Why not a farmers' trust? The farmer is fleeced by every other trust, and why should he not organize one in self-defense? Perhaps the only reason why he hasn't already done so is the difficulty of making a corner in agricultural products. But the farmers may yet find their Pierpont Morgan.

The June Bride.

[Baltimore American.]

A veil,
A trail,
A face that's pale,
A gorgeous bunch of flowers to carry;
A smile,
An aisle,
A little while
Before the minister to tarry;
A bow,
A vow,
"I thee endow,"
And so forth—you know how they marry.

The hush,
The rush,
The happy crush,
The kiss and the congratulation;
The bride,
The ride,
Her lord beside,
The breakfast, then the railway station.

A tour?
Oh, sure!
I thought you knew her!
O, yes, indeed, in month or more
She spent
While bent
On enjoyment
Of the new world spread out before her.

At home!
Friends come
And make things hum,
And married life seems joy blended.
It's fine;
Hub draws the line,
Her little fairy dream is ended.

Tarte and Chamberlain.

[Goldwin Smith.]

Why did not Mr. Tarte stay in the Laurier Cabinet? He would have been warranted in doing so by Mr. Balfour's theory of Cabinet government. Nobody supposes that all the members of a cabinet can be entirely of one mind on all subjects. But they are expected to show a united front, and at all events to abstain from proclaiming their differences on any important question. Upon no other principle can cabinet government be carried on. A good deal of latitude has probably been assumed by holders of the foreign office, who might feel themselves acting in a sphere apart. It is more than doubtful whether Lord Granville or Lord Rosebery went heartily into Mr. Gladstone's policy of home rule. But they kept their dissent to themselves. Now we have a cabinet minister, the most prominent of them all, loudly and ostentatiously proclaiming a commercial policy at variance with that of the finance minister and of the government as a whole. This is clearly subversive of the unity and collective responsibility on which the cabinet system is founded. Either that system or the present government, apparently, must fall.

A Glimpse of Laurier.

[Toronto Telegram.]

The nine years from 1894 to 1903 would leave their traces on a stronger man than Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It cannot be said of Sir Wilfrid that Time has written "no wrinkles on his azure brow." The years have thinned and hardened his face and developed his powers of parliamentary debate. A good deal has happened to Sir Wilfrid Laurier since 1893. He was not a young man nine years ago. He never was a strong man, and considering these facts the visitor who expects to see in the Premier the mere ghost of his former self will be pleasantly surprised at the signs of strength in his presence.

Wilfrid Laurier is still the master of the parliamentary assemblage in which he has made his fame. A keen look on his face saves him from the appearance of weakness, even in repose. When he rises there is no thought of weakness. His voice is strong and clear. His fine dexterity in the use of words is still revealed in the sword-play of parliamentary debate, and Sir John A. Macdonald lived for many a year after he looked worse than Sir Wilfrid Laurier is looking this week.

Almost.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Nodd—I tell you, old man, married life, with all of its manifold responsibilities, is a serious problem.

Todd—That's so! It's almost as serious as the servant girl problem.

Balfour and the Scotch.

[Toronto News.]

Mr. Chamberlain with the English constituencies and Mr. Balfour with the Scotch are two telling forces in an election. The former's hold upon the Midland district is unshaken, and in the eyes of English voters none of the present statesmen has his influence. In Scotland Mr. Balfour is also very strong. In his northern campaigns he ostentatiously says: "We Scotchmen," and only once in a long career has he made the dreadful error of calling Britain England. It used to be related that the Scotch Tory members could drive up to London in a hansom. In 1885 they numbered but ten out of 72 members. To-day they are 20, and with 18 Liberal-Unionists give a practically Conservative majority in the erstwhile Radical stronghold.

Adsum!

[On Thackeray's Death, Dec. 23-24, 1863.]

The Angel came by night—
Such angels still come down—
And like a winter cloud
Passed over London town;
Along its lonesome streets,
Where Want had ceased to weep,
Until it reached a house
Where a great man lay asleep;
The man of all his time,
Who knew the most of men,
The soundest head and heart,
The sharpest, kindest pen.
It paused beside his bed
And whispered in his ear;
He never turned his head,
But whispered, "I am here."
Into the night they went
At morning, side by side,
They gained the sacred place
Where the greatest Dead abide,
Where grand old Homer sits
In godlike state benign,
Where broods in endless thought
The awful Florentine;
Where sweet Cervantes walks,
A smile on his grave face;
Where gossips quaint Montaigne,
The wisest of his race;
Where Goethe looks through all
With that calm eye of his;
Where—little seen but Light—
The only Shakespeare is!
When the new Spirit came,
They asked him, drawing near,
"Art thou become like us?"
He answered, "I am here."

Even With Edward.

[New York World.]

It is intimated that the medal bestowed by King Edward upon Architect McKim for his alterations in the White House is meant as a delicate atonement for the incident of 1814, when the British invaders ate Mrs. Madison's dinner and then burned the house. Really we had almost forgotten that little episode, and never laid it up against Edward anyway. Besides, we got even for it some time ago in the invasion and permanent occupation of England by William Waldorf Astor.

DEBATE IN LEGISLATURE ON COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

Approval of Commission and Mr. Stratton by Premier.

MR. WHITNEY ABUSES JUDICIARY

He Accuses Them of Unfairness and Injustice—The Provincial Secretary Pillories Gamey.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 17.

The Gamey debate in the Legislature today proved unmistakably the strength of the Government's position and the weakness of that taken by the Opposition. It showed also in a striking manner the relative strength and weakness of the two party leaders. No greater contrast could be presented than the rambling and hysterical speech with which the leader of the Opposition followed up the masterly and convincing address of the Premier. Mr. Whitney, in effect, reiterated the famous utterance of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, "I still stand by Gamey." He declared his conviction that the Gamey charges were substantially true, and that all but the actual payment of the money had been proved. The major portion of his address was devoted to abuse of the commissioners, and the judiciary in general. Mr. Whitney was followed by Mr. Stratton, who made his first public statement of his position. He occupied one hour of the afternoon and all of the evening session, and he will again have the floor when the House resumes tomorrow morning. He gave a complete and circumstantial denial to every allegation of wrong-doing on his part, and reviewed thoroughly the circumstances of the case. He scathingly arraigned the contemptible tactics pursued throughout the whole case by the Conservative journals, and reserved a special castigation for the "treacherous independent press of Toronto."

THE FINAL JURY.

Speaking for his colleagues and his party, said the Premier, he was glad that the case had reached its present stage, which he knew was not the final stage. There was a jury beyond the House, and to that jury he was ready to appeal without any misgivings. Their verdict, he felt sure, would be that of the commissioners.

The Premier said he did not wish to speak in any boastful spirit, but he was proud of the confidence the Liberal party had shown in their leader. Had it not been for that confidence, there might have been a stampede, which would have proved disastrous to the Government. But with a commendable courage and devotion, not a single supporter had shown any signs of weakening. It was not any blind party spirit which had caused them to do this. It was the confidence of men who knew the Government's record, and who refused to believe evil of it till satisfactory proof was adduced.

If the Government had gone down, every member of the House would have had a cloud over his name.

The proper course to pursue in the debate, and the one which would commend itself to the best men of both parties, would be for the house to at once accept the report in the terms proposed, and so close the present chapter in the case. The Premier said he was not asking this in order to escape criticism for the Government, for they had nothing to fear from criticism. He and his colleagues had not borne the burden and heat of the political strife to sell out at last to a political malefactor, merely that they might keep themselves in office a few days longer.

Speaking of the Provincial Secretary, the Premier said he had been returned at every election with constantly increasing majorities. He had occupied a high standing in the financial world. Surely such a man must possess the elements of integrity and political morality. His demeanor through his trying ordeal had not been that of a swaggerer, but that of the man who knows that no charges against his honor could be proven. For that reason, when he had tendered his resignation to the Premier, he had been told by his leader and his colleagues that they would not believe the charges against him till they had been proven in a court of law.

As for the Opposition, said Mr. Ross, he would have esteemed its members still more and placed them upon a higher plane, if they had maintained the same attitude as the Government members did. They should have waited for some proof before condemning the accused minister. If charges were to be believed on first hearing then every man who entered public life did so at the hazard of his reputation and of his moral and social standing. The press also had failed to treat the Government with the consideration it deserved. The cabinet members were not brigands. They were men with as good standing as any in the community. They were not deceivers, pharisees and whited sepulchers. Who would dare to say that after thirty years of service the Government should be denounced as an assemblage of hypocritics and villains unmasked, and condemned to oblivion? This treatment was not deserved.

The Opposition were as much custodians of the honor of the House as the Government.

In conclusion the Premier said that he appealed with confidence to the people of the Province. He hoped the House would never be wearied again with such an investigation, but that it would be left free to devote itself to its proper functions of legislation for the welfare of the Province.

MR. WHITNEY SPEAKS.

When the House reassembled in the afternoon, Mr. Whitney rose to reply to the Premier. He prefaced his address with the observation that he had no complaint to make because of the time the Premier had taken. He was perfectly justified in dealing exhaustively with the subject.

QUOTES KIPLING.

Rudyard Kipling had said that if a Russian were scratched a Tartar would be found under the skin. If some of the honorable gentlemen opposite were scratched, one would find a mixture of demigod and tyrant such as Russia had never produced.

Mr. Whitney went on to say that the Premier denied that the member for Manitoulin had received any patronage from the Government. But in considering Mr. Gamey's position it should be borne in mind that Mr. Gamey declared that his object in negotiating with members of the Government was to deceive and thus expose them. He declared that Gamey had been given patronage.

Mr. Ross interrupted Mr. Whitney with the explanation that what he had asserted was that Mr. Gamey had received no patronage from the Provincial Secretary's department.

Mr. Whitney replied that there was all the more reason why the other members of the Government should have cleared themselves from the charge of giving Mr. Gamey the patronage.

The Premier had spoken on saw-offs, and had endeavored to show that the Manitoulin saw-off was arranged in the usual way between the party solicitors. If that was so,, what was the reason for all the negotiations between Mr. Gamey and Mr. Aylesworth? Perhaps the truth was that the saw-off had been actually arranged, and that the member for Manitoulin was being deceived into believing that if he did not support the Government his protest would be pressed.

ATTACKS JUDICIARY.

The Globe and other Government organs had been endeavoring to inculcate the doctrine that the report of the commissioners was a verdict given by judges, acting as such. The commissioners had no standing as judges in the present case. They had no right to complain if they were criticised for their actions.

The judiciary of Ontario had long been looked upon as examples for the whole world. Now one could go upon the street and learn from the passer-by that the reputation of the judiciary was not what it was two years ago.

Mr. Whitney then quoted extracts from the Toronto News, the Hamilton Herald, the Ottawa Journal and other independent papers, all more or less condemnatory of the commissioners' finding.

Mr. Whitney said he believed that the charges of Mr. Gamey were mainly true. That was a serious statement to make, but he had thoroughly weighed the matter, and came to the conclusion that he could make that declaration and look his fellowmen honestly in the face. It might be true that if the question as to the alleged payment of money was the only one to be considered that a jury would be justified in expressing an opinion either way. But outside of this one point every other charge was proved.

One opinion in the judges' report was particularly objected to by Mr. Whitney. It was to the effect that because Gamey said he had no motive other than the welfare of his riding in his mind when he was negotiating with the Government, that that negatived the idea that he received money.

MR. STRATTON'S ADDRESS.

The Government members applauded vigorously when, at 5 p.m., Mr. Stratton arose to speak. In commencing, he craved the indulgence of the House for making necessary references of a personal character. It would hardly be denied that he had been the center of attention throughout the Dominion for some weeks past. When Mr. Gamey had made his extraordinary charges he made them in an extraordinary and theatrical manner. These charges, however, were nothing but malignant fiction woven with harmless fact. They were deliberately made for the purpose of placing him in a position he never occupied, and were made, they were told, under legal advice. The Opposition's faces were radiant with unholy joy when the charges were made; they were delighted with the success of the plot which was apparently going to destroy the Government. Figuratively speaking, they folded their arms around the member for Manitoulin, laid down beside him to sleep, and dreamed happy dreams of what was to come. But the charges all collapsed like a bubble; they had been built on shifting sand, and the builder went down with them in the wreck. Gamey, the public hero, had been dropped.

Whether or not all the Opposition were aware of the existence of a plot to overthrow the Government, Mr. Stratton would not say, but he believed that some of them knew that Gamey was scheming, and they all certainly indorsed the plot, as was exhibited by the glee they exhibited in the House. Mr. Gamey's handing over of the documents to his leader, and the manner in which that gentleman grabbed them, as if they were title deeds to the premiership, went to confirm the belief that the plot was approved of by the Opposition. These same papers, however, were examined and found worthless, and handed back to Mr. Gamey, who stole out of the House with them. Mr. Whitney had been too ready to accept the word of a practically unknown man as against men who had spent the best part of their lives in the service of this country; he was too ready to enjoy the fruits that were expected to be plucked, and finally, for the sake of appearances he was bound to go on, and stood by the member for Manitoulin, although he never expected to be able to prove the charges that had been made.

On every possible occasion, he said, the accusations of the member for Manitoulin had been distorted and exaggerated; the party press was most malignant, and this applied more particularly to the "treacherous independent press of this city." Their haste to assume guilt and prejudge the case was one of the most disagreeable and deplorable features of the whole affair, and decidedly not in the interests of the people of the province. He was condemned on sight, without being given an opportunity of repudiating the charges, but when the charges were proved false, then assertion took the place of proof.

The most violent paper and the one which had most unfairly dealt with the charges was the Mail and Empire. It had misjudged and misrepresented the case all the way through. On the day after the charges were made, it announced in bold type that "The Ross Government Has Been Trapped." The reports, the headings and the editorials, while the debate was taking place in the House, were prejudiced and misleading. When the inquiry opened these indecent articles were repeated, and they culminated in the proprietor of the paper being summoned for contempt of court, and warned not to offend again. One plainly gratuitous attempt to malign him which the Mail and Empire made, and which was the result of their being summoned to court was headed: "Startling Discovery Made by Lawyers in Gamey Case: Ontario Bank Cashes $3,000 Check Drawn by Trust Company of Which Stratton Is President." The black type in which this was displayed was as black as the groundless charges made by the member for Manitoulin.

GAMEY'S CRUDE CONCOCTION.

Mr. Stratton resumed his address at the evening session. He showed that Mr. Gamey's "crude concoction" was absolutely false, and that it had not been supported by a single creditable witness. Mr. Stratton expressed his pleasure at the confidence shown in himself by both the Premier and the late Lieutenant-Governor. He then made the startling announcement that since the charges had been made he had been dogged by sleuth hounds, and dogged with a vindictiveness that the people of the province would resent. Never, said he, was a man so malignantly and maliciously pursued as he had been, because of the unsupported statements of a political adventurer, made for his own political benefit. The speaker then referred to Mr. Blake's efforts to overthrow the Government, and said that the able counsel's motive had been to vent a private spleen. His motive was therefore no higher than Mr. Gamey's.

Mr. Stratton then reviewed portions of the evidence, that established Mr. Gamey's unreliability.

The House rose at 10 o'clock.

There are people who say that the benefit derived from the use of put-up medicines is imaginary. It is not the case with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. A woman may imagine she's weak, or may fancy she's sick, but her imagination can't add forty pounds to her weight. The positive proof of the curative power of "Favorite Prescription" is found in the restoration of health which is recorded in face and form, of strength which can be tested, and weight which can be registered in pounds and ounces.

The general health of women is so intimately connected with the local health of the womanly organs that when these are diseased the whole body suffers loss. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am very glad to let other poor sufferers know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass. (Box 70.) "You know I wrote to you last summer. I read what your medicine had done for other people, so thought I would try it, and I found it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine, and three vials of 'Pellets.' I took your medicine a year when I had a ten-pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my three children. I have been very well since I took your medicine. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' I had no appetite and could not eat much without it distressing me before I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I only weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 175."

SCHOOL CHILDREN AND THEIR FRIENDS THOROUGHLY ENJOYED THE GREAT PICNIC

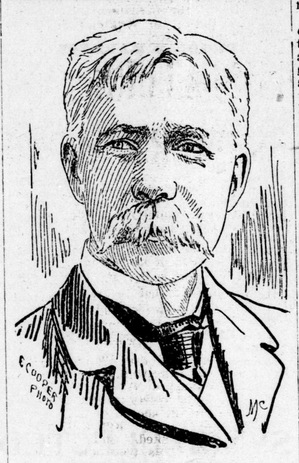

Big Day Passed Off Without a Hitch—Only One Slight Accident Reported to Have Occurred.

Teachers, Trustees and Parents Assist in Fun-Making.

LISTS OF THE PRIZE-WINNERS

Races, Baseball and Basketball, Tugs-of-War and Other Contests on the Programme.

The conclusion of the annual public school picnic was as successful as the beginning was auspicious. Last evening The Advertiser gave 5,000 as the number of children who had come out with the different schools, and in addition a thousand or more parents. As pointed out then, the spirits of the youngsters were high all morning and such they continued. The gaiety of the scene was increased in the afternoon when the entire Collegiate Institute, consisting of 600 pupils, went down to Springbank and several thousand more citizens. The board of education was present in full strength and chief among the sports of the day was the tug-of-war between the teachers and trustees, followed by a burlesque presentation, the humor of which at once caught with the crowd.

TRUSTEE HAMILTON,
Chairman of the Board of Education.

The morning had been a little chilly, but the afternoon was so bright that better could not have been wished. After the luncheons partaken of in grades and groups, the principals of the schools and trustees started the games. Naturally the crowd was too big to permit of a general competition, but each division had its sports, about $200 worth of prizes being divided among the whole number. The names of starters are given hereafter, and in the majority of cases the prize winners. In one or two divisions, however, those in charge kept no record of who won.

There was the genuine picnic spirit in these races and at every division the boys and girls thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The races and tugs-of-war were such as to cause plenty of merriment, while the gifts delighted many a little one. Among the school trustees who contributed prizes to the West London school, and thus added to the joy of the pupils, were Chairman Hamilton and Trustee Blackwell. School Trustee Gammage had a treat in store for the children in the section he was acting in. It was in the shape of a donation of 1,500 bags of peanuts. These were thrown into the crowd of boys and girls who scrambled after them. The fun they had might be imagined!

On the arrival of the Collegiate Institute students, they took up their position in front of the pavilion, a brief football match being first pulled off. Other sports followed, including basketball games, one between girls and one between boys. The matches were witnessed by a large crowd, which had ample space on the open green in front of the pavilion.

LOTS OF ROOM FOR ALL.

Altogether the crowd of 10,000 people who spent part of the day at Springbank were scattered over a good-sized area, numerous parties preferring to group themselves in shady spots and have a picnic by themselves. In this manner there was no crushing, and perhaps one of the most enjoyable features was the fact that no one was required to go any particular place or do any particular thing, but all were allowed to follow their own inclinations.

The drill competition pleased the many who saw it and the playing of the Seventh Fusiliers Band was a means of constant enjoyment, while others found in the open air theater a happy resort, the matinee put on being of a high-class vaudeville order. The swings as far east as the waterworks were in use, and the perpetual motion of youth seemed to have been well started. Nor did it stop until at night the last of them were brought back to the city.

The teachers vs. trustees' tug-of-war, the closing sporting event, was indeed a great affair, and was witnessed by an immense crowd, all of whom were afterwards invited to surround the band stand. Adjourning to that place numerous well-known citizens were brought before the police magistrate. With his usual leniency Mr. Love dealt with the trustees and teachers who answered to their names. In introduction, he said that the day had been a great success, and he thought the citizens would be well satisfied that some money had been spent in order to give the children such an outing as this had been. As the prizes were handed to him, he made appropriate remarks, drawing attention to the values of the presents—also the recipients.

The first blushing member to be called to the front was Chairman Hamilton. As the magistrate slowly untied a parcel he told the audience what a good chairman Trustee Hamilton was and how well he could fill the chair, which he dramatically brought to view. It was a toy one, and being unprepared for such a presentation, only a couple of members of the board and the magistrate being in the secret, Mr. Hamilton took a few minutes to decide whether he should make a speech or sit down. He sat down.

The other presentations followed one after the other very quickly. Mr. McCormick, who was introduced as "the man so much in favor of domestic science," received a shower bouquet of lettuce and like flowers. Mr. Love said he had a rare Cremona violin for the musical member of the board and when he took the potato bag off the broken-down guitar and gave to Trustee Ziegler there was a good laugh.

The audience howled with laughter when Mr. Love explained what an enthusiast Trustee MacRobert had been in domestic science, and how he wished to encourage it, and so donated the prize, which Mr. Love called Mr. Ferguson to take. It was for first year in domestic science—a feeding bottle.

One prize, Mr. Love explained, was for the sportsman of the board, Trustee Gammage—a gun that he said had not been fired off for a hundred years, and which he admonished the trustee to keep pointed towards himself. The gun came from Lord Dundonald.

The magistrate started to get warlike, and when handed a sword, the gift of the Collegiate Institute Cadets, he pulled it from the scabbard like the hero of a historical novel. It had been used by Paul Kruger or somebody else, and was accepted by Drill Sergeant Gregory, who promised to use it as a substitute for a cane.

Trustee Blackwell was presented with a fine old Louis XV. clock, which the magistrate pointed out was too valuable to be got on "tick." A rusty minnow can from Col. Leys was given to Trustee Strong, who was described as the fishing expert.

The magistrate took delight in getting Chief of Police Williams on the platform. Then he told how the ladies, with whom the chief was such a favorite, had sent a satchet bag filled with sweet odors. It contained onions. A leg(acy) from the old Union school, the gift of Mr. Nicholas Wilson, was given to Dr. Teasdall.

Principal Graham, who had a model school, said Mr. Love deserved the bicycle, which he then presented. This relic the magistrate thought would increase the police revenue, as he predicted its being ridden on the sidewalk.

Trustee Fitzgerald got a silver-mounted umbrella—without any silver—almost without any cover.

"Outing Pants" was the label on some overalls, but Mr. Love preferred to call them "unmentionables." They went to Mr. Horton.

A number 6 Dunlop hat of a style in vogue many years ago was given to Trustee MacRobert. He set it on the top of his head and the magistrate ventured the opinion that today his head would be too big for it. Two more teachers received prizes, Mr. Govenlock tennis shoes, and Mr. Downing a racquet. The gentlemen were introduced as wonderful tennis players, so the gifts were appropriate.

A jug "from the ruins of Pompeii" was Mr. Little's prize, and a horseshoe in a frame (by Rosie Bonner), went to Principal Kirk, while Principal Gibbs got a hobby-horse, "the Queen's Plater," the gifts of Mayor Beck.

When Trustee Dr. English got as his prize "an antiseptic surgical bag," the magistrate added, "but the Lord help your patients."

The proceedings were not over as soon as the magistrate thought, for Principal Graham came forward and after some "jolly" presented his worship with a wig "to cap the climax," as he put it. This was received with roars of laughter, and the presentation to Collegiate winners then went on.

The manner in which the crowds were conveyed back to the city won more praises for the street railway than the company has heard in a long time. It was almost miraculous that some were not severely hurt, but there was only one accident, Joseph Sage, a little 12-year-old boy, getting in front of a car and being cut on the head, though not seriously. Outside of this there was not an incident to mar the success of the day. The crowds were transported by a good car service and all came home well satisfied with Springbank and its attractions, the street railway company, the board of education and themselves, for the picnic had been the greatest that ever has been held in the City of London.

The results of the various sports as far as they were kept, were as follows:

TEN KILLED BY COSSACKS

Fatal Semitic Demonstration in Russian Poland.

Berlin, June 18. — The Tageblatt yesterday, in mail advices from Lodz, Russian Poland, gives an account of disturbances there on Monday last. About 5,000 young workmen—Jews—paraded the streets in an orderly manner, but as a Socialist demonstration. The police, in view of the number of those engaged, called on the Cossacks for assistance, and then the police and the Cossacks charged the workingmen, beating them with the flat of their swords, and with their fists and mercilessly continuing the beatings after a number of the men had been arrested, and were helpless, and further beating them when the prisoners were taken into the police station, where according to the mail advices, "blood ran in rivulets." It is reported that ten young men were beaten to death and that of the 100 who were arrested, all were seriously wounded. Surgeons worked for five hours sewing up wounds after the fury of the police had been spent.

LACTATED FOOD

Is Baby's Best Nourishment

When mothers take the trouble to test Lactated Food, they are soon convinced that it is far ahead of all other prepared foods as a nourisher and lifegiver for the baby.

The manufacturers of Lactated Food are anxious that every mother in Canada should give their food a trial; and, in order to have this done, they offer to send free of charge, by mail, a full sized tin. It is earnestly hoped that all mothers who have babies, and who have not yet given Lactated Food a test, will send in their names and addresses to the Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain street, Montreal, P. Q.

Lactated Food is a source of life, health and strength for weak and sickly babies, and the free trial tin offered to mothers may be the means of saving some little life.

THE BIG FIGHT IS ON

English Liberals Start an Anti-Chamberlain Campaign.

London, June 18. — The Liberal Opposition have decided to fight shy of a direct parliamentary conflict, and have decided not to move any resolution in the House of Commons on the subject of Mr. Chamberlain's programme, because a division in present circumstances would only result in uniting the ministerialists on the basis of the necessity for an inquiry, while placing the Opposition in a pronounced minority. Nevertheless, the Liberal party organizations have already started preparations for an elaborate anti Chamberlain campaign during the autumn recess. It is stated that Mr. Chamberlain has himself intimated to the cabinet that he will make no more speeches about his programme until the end of the session, in order to enable the Irish land bill, and the other measures on the legislative programme to be passed. He and his supporters will, however, begin an active campaign in the constituencies in September. Mr. Chamberlain himself expresses to his friends his complete conviction of victory. He knows that the colonies are with him, and believes that he can convince the Englishman, and especially the working classes, that it will be good for them and the empire. An enthusiastic Chamberlainite says that 100 ministerialist M. P.s have already declared themselves supporters of imperial reciprocity. These members will meet on Monday to discuss their future course of action. A hundred free traders in the Conservative ranks will also meet to discuss their position.

THE SOMALI CAMPAIGN

Extra Troops Are Rushed to the Assistance of Gen. Manning.

Aden, Arabia, June 18.—The British lines of communication between Berbera and Bohole, Somaliland, East Africa, are threatened by the forces of the Mad Mullah. Three companies of the Hampshire Regiment and 300 native troops have been ordered to proceed from here to Somaliland, June 20. Further confirmation has been received of the reports that three British officers are prisoners in the camp of the Mullah.

About 14,000 Abyssinians are now cooperating with the British against the Mullah's forces.

A TAX ON HEIRESSES

But Canadian Girls Would Be Given a Reduced Rate.

London, June 18.—A touch of humor has been given to the imperial reciprocity discussion by a disinterested bachelor, who, "realizing the desirability of perpetuating our glorious race," solemnly proposes in today's papers a 10 per cent ad valorem duty on all foreign heiresses entering Great Britain. He says: We should then be in a position to negotiate. We might admit Canadian and Australian heiresses at a reduced rate of 5 per cent only. The money realized could go to provide pensions for ladies of the old country who are debarred from the matrimonial market.

RIDE-STEALERS KILLED

Fatal Collision Between a Passenger and a Gravel Train.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., June 18.—Three men who were stealing a ride were killed, and three of the crew injured as a result of a collision of a Rock Island passenger train and a gravel train twenty miles south of here early yesterday. The accident was caused by the failure of the gravel train to clear the main track before the passenger train arrived. A number of passengers sustained minor injuries.

POSTMASTER TALKS.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Bright's Disease and He Tells All About It.

Lovett, Ont., June 15.—Though well past the three score and ten mark, C. A. Harris, postmaster here, still carries his age well, besides holding the respect of the entire community. And Mr. Harris credits a large share of his wonderful health and vitality to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Speaking of the matter the postmaster says:

"In 1897 I was at the point of death from Bright's Disease. I was a complete wreck. I could not even dress myself. But now I am, I may say, a well man and I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Harris' experience has led many people here to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and they have proved that the remedy that always cures Bright's Disease makes short work of any of the earlier stages of Kidney Disease.

It frequently happens that the man who has least to say it really the mainspring of the business.

The Pain of Sore Feet.

Just about the most tantalizing of all pains comes from sore feet. To get relief bathe the feet in warm water and then rub them with Polson's Nerviline. It penetrates through the pores of the skin, takes out the soreness, reduces swellings, invigorates the tired muscles, tones up the circulation, and prevents the feet from becoming sore again. Nerviline is a protection and safeguard against the pains and aches of the entire family, and cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, etc. 25 cents.

Noise bears about the same relations to oratory that fat does to strength; it is more of a burden than anything else.

IF YOUR CHILDREN are troubled with worms, give them Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator; safe, sure and effectual. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child.

BROKE ALL RECORDS

Mexico Now Champion of International Claim-Payers.

Washington, June 18.—Ambassador Clayton has cabled the American State Department that the Mexican Government Tuesday deposited to his credit $1,420,682 on account of the Pius fund award. This promptness on the part of the Mexican Government in meeting its obligations has broken all records in arbitrations. The money will be remitted to Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, the titular claimant, as there have been no assignments to attorneys in interest.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

They Are the Filters of the Body—Danger Signals.

Into everything we eat and drink, no matter how "pure" the food is labeled nor how careful we are, poisons enter. Were we not provided with organs especially designed to look after these poisons, human life would soon perish. The kidneys are the filters of the blood. They catch the poison in the food and expel it from the system. That is, they do these things when they are in healthy and vigorous condition. When they are weak, or overworked, or clogged, or handicapped by the ravages of disease in even a slight degree, they do their assigned work more or less imperfectly, or not at all. When the kidneys are not working well, the poison which should pass from the system is returned to the blood, to circulate through the body. Excess of uric acid in the blood causes inflammatory, muscular or articular rheumatism, for one thing, and those who have suffered from any of the forms of this distressing and dangerous malady will say that this is enough. The best authorities on the subject, however, believe that this is only a small part, and that to kidney irregularities are due a long train of bodily ailments. The kidneys often give warning though not always, and not always in time, of the dangers which menace the body from their abnormal condition. Among these danger signals are weakness of the back, pains or aches in the region of the kidneys, irregularity of the bowels and kidney action, chills, feverishness, puffy eyes, brick dust deposit or cloudiness, and a dropsical appearance of the ankles or wrists. When any of these symptoms appear blood poisoning to a certain extent is undermining the fabric of life. The result of the latest research into kidney troubles and their cure is the vegetable preparation known as Bu-Ju, which is put forth by the Claflin Chemical Co., Limited, of New York, N. Y., and Windsor, Ont. It may be purchased at any drug store in boxes of 50 pills at 50 cents. It were well to pay no heed to efforts to substitute other so-called remedies for this dangerous condition, as Bu-Ju embodies all that these have with the addition of the latest-up-to-date discoveries and enhanced skill in preparation.

Too Many Banks.

Montreal, June 18. — At the annual meting of the shareholders of the Merchants' Bank of Canada yesterday Mr. Thomas Fyshe, the general manager, stated that the banks recently started in Canada were not needed any more than the fifth wheel of a coach, and probably would cause trouble later on.

Lacrosse Caused Lockjaw.

Guelph, Ont., June 18.—Harry Hugill, a 9-year-old son of Jonathan Hugill, London road, died at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday of lockjaw. The boy was playing lacrosse a few evenings ago, and was struck by a stick in the hands of one of his playmates. The stick had been broken, and the point penetrated Hugill's jaw and went some distance into the head from which lockjaw resulted.

KIDNEY TROUBLE EIGHT YEARS.

Lumbago and Tired, Worn Out Feelings Were the Portion of a Toronto Machinist.

He Is Well Now—Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets Have Cured Him.

Mr. James J. Walsh, a machinist in the employ of the Kemp Manufacturing Company, and whose home is 391 Adelaide street west, Toronto, told the story of his cure as follows:

"For eight or nine years I have been troubled with my kidneys. I first had a severe attack of lumbago, then was troubled with intermittent pains in my back, and felt tired and worn out all the time. I used a number of remedies, but did not get much benefit from them. I heard of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and decided to try them. I have taken in all three boxes, and can positively state the Tablets have completely cured me. I recommended them to my brother, and they have cured him already. They are certainly splendid."

Every form of kidney trouble, from backache to Bright's disease, is cured by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and the cure is permanent. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, Toronto.

STOCK MARKETS.

NEW YORK.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Co. today:

New York, June 18—Noon.—At the opening there was a good deal of animation and a fair display of strength, Pennsylvania being the leader, owing to covering of shorts and scattered commission house buying. The traders were decidedly bullish and were free buyers around the room. The upward movement was checked by the sudden development of weakness in the steel stocks. Both common and preferred broke sharply, their sellers being room traders, who were successful subsequently in reaching a good many stop orders. There was no reliable news, but there were rumors that cuts had been made in the prices of iron and steel products. Another weak stock was Metropolitan. The statement made by Mr. Vreeland in regard to the earnings in 1901 and 1902 have started a bad impression. The market generally sold off rather easily, and buying continues scarce; in fact, the market is, if possible, more professional than yesterday. Sales to noon, 350,100 shares.

for a new article when it becomes immediately popular. There must be a reason for it. Only twelve weeks after the first box of left the factory in New England they were selling in every State and Territory except Alaska, Delaware and Indian Territory.

Why Was It?

It you try the Tablets, or ask any person who has tried them, you will have the answer.

It is a great medicine for the Stomach, for the Blood, for the Nerves.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Thursday, June 18.

The market was well attended this morning by the farmers and others. Strawberries were again the feature of the market, and formed the principal part of the offerings. Sales were brisk and prices steady.

Grain—Fully 25 loads of oats were offered; sales were brisk, at 93c to 95c per cental. Wheat sold at $1 20 and $1 22 per cental.

Hay and Straw—Twenty-four loads of hay were on the stand; sales were good for the best loads at $9 50 and $10 per ton; the demand for the inferior loads was slow, at $8 to $8 50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was a dull sale, at 15c to 16c for crocks and 17c for pound rolls. Eggs did not seem to be in brisk demand, and prices are a shade easier; country store lots sold at 12½c per dozen from the farmers; 13c per dozen was most frequently paid.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes went beyond the reach of the average purse; the few small lots offered sold at $1 50 per bag by the load; dealers are asking $1 75 for the single bag. Green peas are scarce, at 20c to 25c per quart; cucumbers, 40c to 50c per dozen; new beets at 30c to 40c, and carrots at 30c per dozen; other vegetables as quoted.

Poultry—There was not a great deal offered, and prices were as quoted.

Fruits—There were over 50 loads of strawberries on sale; most of the loads went at 4c and 4½c per box wholesale, and 5c retail. Gooseberries sold at 8c per quart.

Dressed Hogs—Not over a dozen carcases offered, at $8 to $8 10 per 100 pounds.

Wool—Most of the lots went at 16c per lb for washed.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 17.—Wheat—A bull movement was started in wheat today, mainly on the strength in corn, and assisted by disappointing harvest returns from Southern Illinois and Indiana. The Northwest complained of lack of rain in portions of North Dakota. Fine weather and lower cables affected the market temporarily at the opening. Shorts became anxious, fearly a continual advance in corn would start a sympathetic movement in wheat. Weather in France unfavorable and the crop reported to be 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels short of an average. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 25 cars.

Corn led the grain markets in strength again today. Long corn was offered freely at the opening, but was well absorbed, and prices quickly resumed their upward tendency. The trade was large and general. Country acceptances were light, but cash demand somewhat slower on the advance. Our advices, covering a number of the largest corn states, are not encouraging regarding the outlook for the crop. The Liverpool market was unchanged to ⅜c higher. Cars tomorrow, 480.

Oats—The trade in oats was disposed to take profits early. The July option was strong and very erratic, and the more distant futures firm and higher. The demand for local receipts and for shipment excellent. Estimated receipts for tomorrow, 155 cars.

Provisions—The pit has been dull all day, with lard and ribs a trifle easier on moderate offerings, presumably for packing interests. Pork has been lifeless, a few small trades being the sum of the day's transactions. Hogs for tomorrow, 28,000.

Wheat—Receipts, 48,875 bu; sales, 40,000 bu; the wheat market was active and stronger this morning on bullish cables, a higher corn market, small Northwest receipts and liberal covering; July, 82⅞c to 83 7-16c; Sept., 78 13-16c to 79 7-16c; Dec., 79c to 79 9-16c. List of Members Appointed by Popular Vote.

Bishop Baldwin Refers to Progressive Euchre in London.

The election of delegates to the General and Provincial Synods and of members of the executive committee of the Synod of the Diocese of Huron took place this morning, and the results announced when the synod resumed this afternoon for business. The only other matter under consideration this morning was a report dealing with the question of gambling and bucket-shops, in which the synod took a strong stand.

The election of delegates is one of the most interesting events of the synod, and there was a full attendance this morning when the balloting took place. To the General Synod there are four clerical and four lay delegates elected, and as many substitutes. To the Provincial Synod twelve clerical and twelve lay delegates and four substitutes, in each class. On the executive committee there are thirty clerical and the same number of lay delegates. In posting the elections the names are given in order of the largest number of votes cast, hence the interest that is naturally taken. From the list it will be seen that the most popular member of the clergy is Rev. David Williams, of Stratford, while Rev. Dean Innes, of this city, and Rev. J. C. Farthing, of Woodstock, are the next two in order. Of the lay delegates, Mr. Charles Jenkins, of Petrolea, leads in the votes received on this occasion. The delegates and substitutes for the several synods, etc., as elected today, are as follows:

EXISTENCE OF BUCKET SHOPS.

The report of the committee on gambling was presented by Rev. J. C. Farthing, recommending that Parliament be petitioned for an act to do away with "bucket-shops," which were "a chief source of the evil of gambling at the present day, and fostered the gambling spirit among young men." The committee requested his lordship to issue a pastoral upon the subject.

This report aroused some discussion, the feeling of the meeting being expressed by the bishop when he said that it was high time a stop was put to gambling. He referred to "progressive euchre" of ladies in society in London, whose actions he rebuked. Gambling was one of the curses of the community and he favored the adoption of the report.

Only two delegates raised the point that it was difficult to draw the line between bucket shops and legitimate businesses. The report, however, was unanimously adopted.

The synod then adjourned until this afternoon.

APPEALS WERE ALLOWED

Harry Scott and Edward Luckhurst Relieved From Fines.

Six Claims Were Heard by Judge Edward Elliott and All Granted.

Six appeals against the decisions of magistrates were allowed by Judge Edward Elliott at the adjourned sessions of the peace this morning. This means that the parties concerned are relieved of fines and costs which had been inflicted by the magistrates.

On May 21 Harvey Scott, a West Nissouri farmer, was convicted before Squires McGuffin and O'Flaherty of using abusive language and wrongful behavior towards his neighbor, Mrs. Robert Higgins. On the first charge he was found guilty and fined $1 and $3 76 costs, and on the second $20 and $2 70 costs. On hearing the appeals, Judge Elliott quashed both charges. No one appeared on behalf of the complainant.

Four appeals by Edward Luckhurst against decisions arrived at by Squire Smyth were allowed. The fines and costs imposed on Luckhurst amounted to nearly $20. Luckhurst appealed the cases in which he was charged with assaulting or abusing the Gilmore family and an order made by Squire Smyth directing him to find sureties for keeping the peace. Mr. Graydon appeared for the respondent, but offered no objection to the allowing of the appeals.

HER EARNEST TROTH

"Does this look like victory, think you?" said Beatrice. "Do you not know that I could not take a husband of my own proposing? Do you not know that my love is too deep to chance winning a husband by losing his respect? Let us part; it were better so, but part in kindness, and know that what is passing pain to you is life-long misery to me—for, oh, I love you too well to be your unloved wife!"

A light sprung to the good doctor's eyes, as, taking her in his arms, he said gravely:

"Darling, will you believe me when I tell you that I buried the old passion for that other when I took you to my heart; since then all my best affections have turned to you, my best and dearest. I know now 'tis you I love. Say, sweet, that you will be my wife, the wife of my own free choice, without whom I have no hope again in life."

His earnest voice, aided by his impassioned eyes, spoke so well for his sincerity, that madame allowed him to lay her head upon his breast, as she said softly:

"Is it really true that you love me? Really and wholly true that you cannot do without me?"

"Indeed, it is, I swear."

"Now, I can't allow that," putting her pretty hand across his lips to stay his speech—a hand he held and kissed, as she said:

"'When a man talks of love with caution, trust him,
But if he swears, he'll certainly deceive thee.'"

"All right, then, I won't swear; but you shall, and your oath shall be to marry me next month. Come, take the oath."

She did, and after this they decided as to the color of their drawing-room upholstery; and he complimented her on the tasteful dress she was wearing, and on her pretty looks, and she told him, fearing lest he gave her credit for greater attractions than she possessed, that she nightly put her hair in paper, wore three false teeth, and sometimes used rouge when feeling she had not a good complexion. All of which confessions quite enchanted the doctor, because, you see, he knew it all before; but he liked her all the better for refusing to sail under false colors. If all ladies were as confiding to their future possessors, much disappointment would be avoided.

So they were married before the first of September, and went down to Lufton for the shooting season.

Beatrice protested that a wife should never spoil sport (clever little witch! how well she knew mankind).

Lufton was crowded with guests, shooting at Lufton being confessed one of the best things going. Brinley was there, looking wan and ill. He had kept his word to Lady Leigh by spending all his spare time at her house. Margery had brightened up wonderfully and now was recruiting still further on the sunny shores of la belle France.

Brinley was conscious of a great change in himself, owing to his continued companionship with that pure, suffering girl, who seemed to have given up all thought of this world in preparing for the next. His standard of female excellence was raised considerably, and though he still cherished his hold on Bethel he was conscious of a falling off in his esteem for her as a good woman and as the future mother of his children. He owned to wishing her more like the gentle, womanly girl whom he had refused. Still, such was the rare witchery and fascination of this vixen that her smile dispelled his doubts, and raised his passion by self-reproach for his want of faith in the fairest woman in the world, for such he believed her. Truly, she was a glorious woman!

After a splendid day's sport, the gentlemen gladdened the hearts of the ladies by returning in high good humor to dinner. During the meal the great topic, of course, had been the events of the day, which were more or less amusing, and Bethel was clever at shaping her questions and drawing her guests out and setting them chattering in an excitable fashion enjoyable to all.

Tonight the name of James Frost was on every lip, for he had met with an accident that day; his right hand had been shattered by the explosion of a gun. The gentlemen extolled the courageous manner with which he bore the injury, and the patience, fortitude, and composure he exhibited in tramping the long way back before his hand could be dressed, as Dr. Pyne had not accompanied them that day.

No one noticed how breathlessly their hostess hung on the recital, or how strangely she looked, except Mrs. Pyne; she was amazed to see her old friend so greatly moved, for it was not in Bethel's line to be generally sympathetic. Now she sat motionless, with set, hard looks, and eyes which shone with suppressed excitement. Her nervous hands picked at the table-napkin in her lap, till it lay a mass of rents, crushed and torn by her nervousness.

"My dear Lady Lufton, are you ill?" asked Mrs. Pyne anxiously. "You look so strangely."

Bethel's dark eyes flashed round on her savagely, for her remark had drawn the attention of all present to her emotion.

"What has disturbed you?" asked Brinley.

"Nothing," said Bethel curtly, by a supreme effort of will forcing herself to assume an outward composure. "Do not notice me; a mere spasm of pain. 'Twas nothing, and is gone. Go on with your story. I am glad that my head keeper has given you all such satisfaction, he seems a clever fellow; that a man in his position can command so much sympathy surprises me."

"Nonsense," exclaimed Brinley sharply, "your ladyship is the first to feel for him."

Bethel's strange little silvery laugh rang out, as, rising from the table she said:

"Oh, your lordship gives me more credit than I deserve; I am not nearly so tender-hearted as you imagine."

When the ladies were all chatting together in feminine fashion about dress, fancywork and such matters, Bethel stole out of the room, and with winged feet sought Lucy West. She found her in her own sitting-room busy at some dainty embroidery. She looked up as Bethel entered, and seeing her strange looks sprung to her feet crying:

"What is the matter, Bethel?"

She took Bethel's cold hand in hers and seated here in a low easy-chair, then said:

"Come, tell me, something has happened to upset you; compose yourself; you wear yourself out with the fret and worry of such frequent excitement."

Bethel's breath came fast, and her heart beat as though to suffocate her as she said:

"Dan is hurt; go at once to the lodge and say I will follow as soon as I can steal away unnoticed. You know his jealous, exacting love. He'll swear I am indifferent to his sufferings, work himself into some foolish fury about Brinley, and perhaps lose caution and endanger all by some burst of passion or distrust of me. Lucy, this life is killing me. How glad I shall be when we can leave it behind, and be happy in our own way, out of the fret and worry of the world."

"Don't give way," said Lucy, "all will be well with us soon. Come, come, try to compose yourself. You look so ill. For God's sake, don't give way. I will go at once and manage my brother; only do try to seem yourself. Go back to your guests; remember it is not for long. Courage, think how much is at stake for us all."

"Yes, Lucy, I will be brave, but it is such a strain upon me; I feel as though my life will not sustain such continued shocks. See, I am better; get me a glass of wine, for I still shake like an aspen. Ah, that will revive me; now run to my room and get me some rouge —I feel white to the lips."

Lucy ran away as she was bid, and Bethel awaited her, sitting in the low chair, rocking herself to and fro as though she held her soul in her arms, and was rocking it to rest. Lucy returned, gave the rouge to Bethel, who cleverly tinted her face to its usual lovely color; then she flashed round in her strange, quick way, a song upon her lips.

SLOAN SAYS HE IS NOT TRAINER.

Paris, June 17. — The gallop which Tod Sloan gave Rose de Mai at Chantilly, when the horse was so unsuccessful, is having many sequels. Charron, who trained Rose de Mai, is suing Cri de Paris for $20,000, on account of the article that paper published commenting adversely on the horse's victory.

Edmond Blanc, whose horses finished first, second and third, in the grand prix, donated $2,000 to the jockey's hospital in commemoration of his success.

AT HARLEM.

Chicago, June 17. — The Derby trial special at Harlem today furnished one of the most sensational finishes of the year. Savable, Linguist, and Judge Hines, in a fierce drive that commenced at the head of the stretch, came under the wire as named, heads barely apart. Savable, the American Derby favorite, held at 1 to 2 in the race today, showed wonderful gameness at a time when he appeared beaten, but Gray rode him out to victory. Probably the most remarkable run by any of the seven starters was that of Judge Himes, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Hawthorne handicap. Trailing along far back until reaching the stretch, he closed with a hair-raising rush to third position. Bernays, highly touted for the Derby, and second to Savable in the Lewis Clark stakes, was never a factor in today's contest. Savable was made favorite, with Bernays a second choice at 4 to 1. Weather and track conditions were perfect.

First race, 4½ furlongs—Pat. Hammon, 4 to 1, 1; Mastap, 6 to 1, 2; Lonsdale, 9 to 1, 3. Time, :54⅘.

Seventh race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Alfred C., 3 to 1, 1; Lord Touchwood, 25 to 1, 2; Milas, 30 to 1, 3. Time, 1:46.

CLOSE AT GRAVESEND.

New York, June 17. — The spring meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey Club came to a close today. The attendance has been up to the average and the racing generally clean and spirited. CALLAHAN'S HISTORY.

Ten years ago the Philadelphia National League Club broke baseball traditions by signing a youngster right off the town lots; one who had never had any experience except that which he gained by playing around with the boys in his native town. He was Jimmy Callahan, the present manager of the White Sox and one of the best pitchers and all-around players in the business. It did not take him long to demonstrate to the Quaker magnates that he had the right sort of material in him to make a diamond star. Although he was used but little the first year he was carried along on the salary list until almost the close of the season, when he was sold to the Springfield, Mass., Eastern League Club. The following year that team won the pennant and it was largely due to Callahan's work in the box. He had been offered a place with Pittsburg and had agreed to go there the following season, when he was drafted by Kansas City, of the Western League. Before the season of 1896 was finished he was bought by Chicago. He has been in that city ever since, a part of the time with the Nationals and the remainder with the White Sox. Although this is his first season as a manager, he has already demonstrated that he is the right man in the right place. He has taken a team that was selected as one of the tail-enders and has brought it to the front so rapidly that a lot of old-timers have almost been lost in the shuffle.—Cleveland Press.

DELAWARE WON.

Yesterday Delaware defated Mount Brydges by a score of 27 to 7. The batteries: Delaware, Ackland and Hall; Mount Brydges, Badge, Fisher and Bond. Umpire, Tom Graham.

GODERICH BEATEN.

Blyth, Ont., June 17.—The Blyth baseball team defeated Goderich baseball team in Goderich on the 16th inst, in an eleven-innings game, by 12-10. Bateries for Blyth, Douglas and Semers.

THE RING.

FOUGHT A DRAW.

Fon du Lac, Wis., June 17.—"Tommy" Mowatt, of Chicago, and Hugh McFadden, of Philadelphia, fought a draw after eight rounds here yesterday. McFadden punished Mowatt severely, while Mowatt was equally successful in landing heavy blows.

YACHTING.

MAST WAS BROKEN.

New York, June 17.—The Reliance, Constitution and Columbia today competed for a cup given by Commodore Adams, of the yacht club. The race was over a course providing a six mile run down the Sound, a beat back of six miles to Glen Cove, and a short reach across the Sound of three miles to the starting buoy—a 15-mile triangle sailed twice over 30 miles in all. At 1:30 when the warning signal was sounded the wind was blowing seven or eight knots. The yachts went across the line at 1:46 with the Columbia leading. The yachts had just crossed the line when the topmast of the Reliance was carried away, breaking off about ten feet from the masthead. After the accident the Reliance held across the Sound off the course, while the crew were busy clearing away the wreckage of the broken topmast. The Columbia and Constitution continued in the race, the latter gradually gaining. C. Oliver Islin, managing owner of the Reliance, was on board the yacht when the accident occurred. When he came ashore in a launch he said none of the rigging parted and he could not understand just what caused the accident. "No one was hurt," he said, "and we shall be in Friday's race at Greenwich." He treated the accident lightly and seemed not at all discouraged. The Herreshoffs were immediately communicated with at Bristol and another topmast ordered shipped to City Island. Columbia held her lead on Constitution down to the first mark and beyond it in the thrash to windward.

DERBY VICTOR IS HARD PUZZLE

History Proves That Novice Is as Safe a Guide as the Expert—Battle of Rich Owners.

The American Derby, which is the only counterpart of the Derby at Epsom Downs, will be run at Washington Park next Saturday to the accompaniment of a big display of fashion. For nineteen years Derby garb has been a feature of the day, but the absorbing interest has always been in the Derby winner.

If the weight of expert opinion can decide the race it will be a duel between Irish Lad, of New York, and Savable, of Chicago. It will again be the story of the east against the west. It will be a battle of millionaires. The son of William C. Whitney, America's greatest turf patron, will be pitted against John A. Drake, Chicago's most enthusiastic horseman.

It will be a match of trainers. John W. Rogers, the silent man of the east, will measure strength with the peculiarly effective methods of Enoch Wishards, who trained the last Derby winner and the last Futurity winner. The race, if opinion is to have its way, will bring about a strife of jockeys. Jockey Tommy Burns, a great rider, will have for his rival Jockey Charles Gray, the new western star.

Expert opinion, however, seldom picks the Derby winner. It chose Heno last year and Wyeth galloped away with the prize. It picked The Parader the year before and Robert Waddell upset all hopes. It guaranteed Lieutenant Gibson in 1900 and Lieutenant Gibson finished third to Sidney Lucas.

Popular opinion is not with any particular horse. It expects the experts to go wrong. There is a deep-seated belief in the minds of the average follower of the Derby that there will be a surprise. The history of the race has taught that such expectation is more reasonable than that form will triumph. The best horse has not always won, but that fact does not cash tickets after the race is over.

The stranger to form is as apt to pick the winner of the Derby as the man who spends hours in figuring the performances of each horse in the race. A wide knowledge of the turf does not presage a winner. So far as Derby history goes a dream is as good as a column of figures.

Should Savable win thousands of dollars will pass from the future books to the pockets of Chicagoans. It will be a distinctly Chicago victory. Savable is now the positive favorite for the race. After his great victory in the M. Lewis Clark stakes at Harlem yesterday, his odds were cut from 4 to 3 to 1. Irish Lad is still 4 to 1, but his arrival on the ground will probably be a signal for cutting his price.

It is the magnificent uncertainty of the race that makes it great. Last year 60,000 people, according to the estimates, found room within the inclosure of the Washington Park Club. Perhaps one-third of them had a financial interest in the result of the race. The remainder were there for the spectacular features of the great event.

Rheumatism is a Constitutional Disease.

The pain and localized conditions are mere results of constitutional conditions. Poisoned blood sends its evil influence to various parts of the body, and to cure permanently you must treat it constitutionally. Nothing so completely dispels those poisons from the system as Ferrozone. It makes new blood. It imparts vitality and vigor, enabling the system to throw off the poisons that engender rheumatism. Ferrozone also fortifies the system against the weakening effects of rheumatism, and cures, not simply relieves, as most medicines do. Sold by all druggists.

The fire insurance men have about finished the adjustment of the losses incurred by the recent fire at the wholesale house of McMahen & Granger on York street. It has been found that some of the cotton goods were not burned, although they were watersoaked and thoroughly smoked, and it is likely that they will be worth about half of the usual price. Mr. C. W. Andrus, the owner of the building, has already secured figures for rebuilding, and expects to have the warehouse ready for occupation inside of two months. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $8,000. McMahen & Granger have taken the premises formerly occupied by Messrs. Fraser & McMillan on Richmond street.

Tells What Dodd's Kidney Fills Did for Mrs. Bishop.

Drove Away Her Pains and Aches After Three Years of Suffering.

Clark's Beach, Nfld., June 17.—No remedy is so popular in Newfoundland as Dodd's Kidney Pills, and it is cures like that of Mrs. Christopher Bishop, of this place, that have given them their popularity. The story of Mrs. Bishop's cure is told by her husband.

"My wife suffered for three years," says Mr. Bishop, "with a weakness in the lower part of the back, followed by shivering, causing weakness. Her legs were swollen from the knees down to the feet, and she had a pain in the left side just under the ribs.

"After using five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills the pain is gone, and the swelling has disappeared.

"There are hundreds of sufferers in Newfoundland, who, if they knew of the good that is to be found in Dodd's Kidney Pills, would get them and prove for themselves."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure all Kidney complaints from Backache to Bright's Disease. No case is of long enough standing to stand before them.

FEARS ABDUCTION

Husband of Dorothy Hunting Gets Injunction.

Justice Ferguson, at Osgoode Hall, has continued until June 23 a temporary injunction to restrain Mrs. Peter Filman from abducting her son from his father's care at Hamilton. His lordship directed that service of the order be made on Mrs. Filman at once, and the case will come up on the 23rd.

Mrs. Filman, who was soloist of the Centenary Methodist Church, at Hamilton, in May, 1901, left home and joined the "Princess Chic" Opera Company under the name of Dorothy Hunting, and made a hit. Later she became understudy to Marguerita Sylva, and a few weeks ago appeared with "The Strollers" in this city. Her husband, who is a civic employe at Hamilton, says she has twice taken their 10-year-old son away from Hamilton since she left Filman, and he argues from the following telegram that she intends to repeat the act:

"Philadelphia, Pa., June 12, 1903.

"I want Jack, and no monkey biz. Send him to New York. Leave Saturday evening. Wire me today. OLLIE."

Mr. Filman thinks his wife will be aided by some of the members of her family, who reside in Hamilton, particularly Geo. W. Carey, Abiathar Carey and Talbot Carey.

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—"A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look for some other means of restoring my health.

"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated me, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose or two of Peruna is all that I need."—Mrs. J. Catarrh Cures Female Diseases.

America is the land of nervous women. The great majority of nervous women are so because they are suffering from some form of female disease. By far the greatest number of female troubles are caused directly by catarrh. These women despair of recovery. Female trouble is so common, so prevalent, that they accept it as almost inevitable. The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that it is catarrh which is the source of their illness.

In female complaint, 99 cases out of 100 are nothing but catarrh.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.
