Local Affairs.

Mr. Jas McLaughlin was in Elora early in the week on a business trip.

Mr. Philip McIntosh has added a neat wire fence in front of his place during the past week.

We understand the Gorrie Foresters intend to take part in the great demonstration at Wingham on Dominion Day.

Rev. Mr. Torrance starts this morning to attend conference at Guelph. He expects to return the latter part of next week.

At a joint meeting of the Presbyterian congregations of Fordwich and Gorrie, held here on Tuesday last it was decided not to extend a call to any minister for the present.

In the absence of the pastor at Conference, Mr. C. C. Kaine will conduct the Methodist services in the town hall next Sunday morning, and Mr. Deachman, of Orange Hill, will preach in the evening.

Active preparations are being made for the corner stone laying of the new Methodist church on July 1st. It is expected that Revs. Livingstone and Rupert will be among the speakers.

Wool-growers certainly ought to find a profitable outlet for their wool this year. We invite an inspection of our advertising columns where no less than five firms, in Gorrie, Wroxeter, Fordwich and Listowel, are offering to buy wool.

Methodist District meeting was held at Listowel last week. The reports showed that Gorrie and Fordwich circuits were again in the van in the matter of increase of membership, notwithstanding Rev. Mr. Torrance's protracted illness. The different funds of the District were shown to have been well supported during the past term. Rev. Jas. Livingstone was appointed to the Stationing Committee of the Guelph Conference, Rev. T. Amy to the Sabbath School committee, and Rev. J. W. Pring to the Epworth League. A public temperance meeting was held in the evening in which Rev. Messrs. Pring, Rogers, Torrance, Bell, Dr. Philip and others delivered addresses.

That tack which the Goderich Signal set for the Victor man must have been sharper than we expected—at least it made the latter yelp terribly. But, like the dog that didn't know what hit him, he turns his yelpings at the GAZETTE instead of the Signal. And he threatens to yelp more at us, too, if he gets hurt again. He makes great promises of what he will do when he leaves Gorrie, and it is to be hoped he will keep them better than he kept the promise he gave us in writing last winter to sell out, which promise it was that brought us to Gorrie. We had heard the threat even before the GAZETTE was started, that the Victor intended to rake open that old page in our private history, but we did not believe—even after the Signal said so—that he was low down scavenger enough for that. The Victor man claims to be "mountain high" above us. Well, his head is on top of a pretty tall stature but he evidently don't carry his brains up there, or the wide-awake business men of the town would not have been compelled, in self defence, to buy and establish a newspaper of their own to properly represent them and the section in which they do business.

"A wet May makes long hay" is an old saying that contains much truth.

The Foresters have purchased a lot on Main st., and intend to erect a fine hall, costing about $1,000.

The crop outlook all over this section is of the most promising nature and farmers may look forward to a bountiful harvest.

Mr. K. Knechtel, late city reporter of the Stratford daily Beacon, was in town last week, putting a new register in the Albion hotel.

Rev. W. F. Brownlee, of Lion's Head, has been appointed by the Bishop to the charge of the Gorrie English Church. He will arrive here about the middle of July next.

Mr. Smith, cooper, has been ill with pleurisy. He was successfully tapped by Dr. Tuck, five and one-half pints of fluid being removed, and he now appears to be improving nicely.

The Howick Fire Insurance Company took 28 new applications for insurance and renewed 60 during the month of May. The property covered amounts to $129,900 for which premium notes have been given amounting to $6,495.

Miss Minnie Smith, of this village, who is at present at Tara is very sick caused by a gathering on her neck similar to the trouble she had last summer. Word came to-day that lockjaw had set in and her sister Emma started at once for Tara to bring her home.

Mr. Dane, proprietor of the Albion hotel, is making a complete change in the interior appearance of that house. The halls, sitting and dining rooms are being cleaned and papered with elegant patterns at an expense of about $100. Mr. Edgar Veal, who has the contract, has reason to be proud of the fine work he is doing.

Dr. J. A. Wilson, son of ex-Deputy-Reeve Chas. Wilson, has successfully passed his examination before that crucible, the Medical Council, and has thus gained his full title as an M.D. We congratulate our young friend upon his success. Mr. Will Armstrong, brother of Mr. Jas. Armstrong, V. S., has also successfully passed the Council.

Early on Tuesday morning Mrs. John Haskett, of Lakelet, quietly passed to her eternal rest. Deceased came with her husband to Gorrie about thirty years ago and has remained ever since up till a year or so ago, excepting three years in Trowbridge. When the Maple Leaf hotel, Gorrie, was burned down, her nervous system received a severe shock, from which she never fully recovered. She was a kind-hearted, gentle lady and is truly mourned by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She was in her sixty-ninth year. Her funeral occurred yesterday at Gorrie, a large number being in the cortege. Mr. Haskett, who is himself not at all well, has the profound sympathy of all in his irreparable loss.

There is still much grievance felt over the unnecessarily bad state of the roads through the swamps north of Gorrie. If roads are ever in good condition it should be at this time of the year when there is neither mud, frost or snow-drifts to obstruct them, yet this particular street, upon which hundreds of dollars has been profitably spent by past councils is allowed to remain in a shameful condition. Through the swamps the roads are cut by the wagon tracks made in the early spring when the road was soft, and remained so (on account of insufficient drainage) long after the other roads had dried up. In the northern swamps there are, in addition to the track-ruts, large numbers of roots and ends of logs projecting from the road in such a manner as to endanger both horses and vehicles and make the passage of a heavy load very difficult, especially after night. If the council feels too economic to properly drain and gravel this road, it surely can stand the slight expense of having the projecting roots, etc., chopped off and the ruts filled in. Gorrie is entitled to better treatment from the council. This village has paid more than its share into the treasury of the township, yet, through the "economic" action of the Board, hundreds of dollars worth of Howick trade which justly belongs to Gorrie, finds its way every year to Mildmay merchants' coffers. The farmers to the north of Gorrie express themselves as confident they can deal better in Gorrie, but prefer to take a longer journey rather than travel the side-line in its present condition. This state of affairs is an injustice to the farmers north, and our Reeve has here a chance to distinguish himself.

Mr. John Edgar, of Tara, was in town this week.

Mr. Will H. Smith, of Toronto, called on Gorrie friends on Tuesday.

The People's cheese factory commenced operations on Monday last.

A newsy letter from Fordwich reached this office too late for publication in this issue.

Frank, the 17-year-old son of Mr. James Young, died at his father's home in Fordwich last Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Carter delivered a temperance lecture in Wingham last Monday evening under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Rev. Mr. Wright and family were cordially received by the members of St. Jude's Church, Brantford, on their arrival there. The Courier gives a glowing description of the reception, which was held in the school house, when a fine program was rendered.

Slanderers' Reward.

Editor Gazette—Please allow me a small space in the columns of your paper, as it is read by nearly every person in this section, to show those who have heard of the slanderous falsehood circulated against me that it was untrue and without the least foundation. A few persons reported to the effect that I attempted to deal dishonestly with Mrs. Thomas Campbell, of this place, just previous to her departure for Manitoba. I send you a statement signed by Mrs. Campbell's brother for publication, showing that the parties who reported the slander are base falsifiers and unworthy of the name of men or women. I was forced to defend myself from this charge against me, and ask my accusers to establish their charges or make a personal acknowledgement, which request two promptly complied with, making the personal acknowledgement. Some others did not and I was forced to hand in their names to my solicitor to enter an action against them in the High Court, and they were glad to acknowledge they had lied against me, signed a libel, paid the costs and went home I hope fully determined never again to use their slanderous tongues against any person. I withhold their names from public print as they have suffered enough and hoping this lesson will be a warning for the future.
Resp'y,
B. S. Cook.

I, William Henry Newton, of the township of Howick, do hereby certify and state to whom it may concern, that the report circulated against B. S. Cook, of Fordwich, of having attempted to deal dishonestly with my sister, Mrs. Thomas Campbell, in the leasing of her house and the improvement on her premises, were absolutely false, as the proposition by Mr. Cook was made to me, and which proposition I made to my sister, knowing the same to be fair and just; but through some way a false report was spread by evil-disposed persons, as I know, and also my sister, Mrs. Campbell knows, that both Mr. and Mrs. Cook were very kind and the best friends she ever had in Fordwich.
[Signed.] W. H. Newton.

Wroxeter

Mr. Thomas Miller returned from the North West last Friday.

Wampole's tasteless Cod Liver Oil for sale at Fox's drug store.

The Temperance Lodge here has a membership of 85.

Messrs. Hamilton and Sanderson shipped 200 fat hogs on Wednesday. The perverse creatures went to Manitoba.

The nimble mosquito has arrived and the Hessian fly is daily expected.

Twelve drummers were showing their goods at once at the Gofton House the other day. The place looked like a fancy bazaar.

What ducks of hats are to be seen on the streets of Wroxeter! But anything looks pretty on lovely women.

Pure, fresh Hellebore for currant worms, at Fox's drug store.

There is a party here who declares he saw the sea serpent in the mill pond. He was coming home from a party, which accounts his magnifying a slab into a serpent.

Fordwich.

Mr. Alex. Johnston's hens, in looking over a copy of the GAZETTE which had floated to their neighborhood, made the discovery that eggs are now sold by the pound. Instead of standing around on one leg meditating over the change, they at once commenced business on a new scale, and Mr. J. was able to bring in, as a present to Dr. Spence, four eggs which weighed 15½ ounces, and one of them measured 8½ in. x 6¼ in.

Wynnes wants wool. He has a connection with one of the best woollen mills in the Province. Highest market price paid.

Mr. David Mahood, who had his hand so badly injured at the mill a few weeks ago, is improving though slowly. The wound proves to be unusually painful and troublesome.

Postmaster Mahood has made a grand improvement in the Fordwich office a week or so ago. A new set of boxes with wire bottoms, has been put in hundreds of feet of wire having been used for the purpose. The work was done by Mr. Dicks, and Mr. Mahood now presides over as convenient and tasty a post office as can be found in any village of this size in the Province.

Mr. Burns has been making considerable improvement upon his hotel property here lately.

Mr. John Southeran, 6th con., has his fine new bank barn nearly completed.

A verandah has been erected around the post office building which will be used as an entrance to the new Masonic hall.

Mr. Young, the popular Ethel insurance agent, was in town on Tuesday.

Huntingfield.

A. Wynn & Son shipped a car load of choice cattle to Toronto last week.

Mr. Samuel Vogan has returned from the North-west having disposed of his fine horse "Scotland Yet." He also purchased a very desirable tract of land near Neepawa.

Mr. John Halliday shipped three carloads of fat cattle from Mildmay and two loads from Wingham last Monday. They were billed to Glasgow.

Mr. Whitwell Lowish, who had the misfortune to break his leg a few weeks ago, is progressing very favorably.

Lakelet.

Business is good in our village. We hear talk of a wedding, about a mile south-east this week.

D. W. Dulmage, merchant, of London, with his little daughter Agnes, visited his brother here last week.

George Horton lost his peddling horse on Thursday last. It got in a mire hole near the creek and next morning nothing but its head was above mud.

Lakelet water band has begun its evening practice. As soon as the bass voices arrive music will be kept up during the summer nights. We challenge Huron to equal the force and ability of our water band.

Pathmasters are beginning to look at the roads. We hope they will get good work done this year. Nineteen rainy days in May has left them badly in need of repair. Lakelet people appear well pleased with the division of their beat.

Some lamb buyers are moving about in this locality offering good prices. Lambs are a good crop in this section.

Farmers say fall wheat has the most promising appearance for a number of years.

Fishing has commenced and every small boy in the village is busy with his hook capturing perch and bass. They appear never to tire of the sport, even when they grow old, they will have a day of fishing now and then but require a pistol to make the sport enjoyable.

Lakelet Lodge I. O. G. T. visited their Brethren in Fordwich Friday evening last. A very enjoyable evening's entertainment was provided and they speak highly of the visit to their brother lodge.

George Horton jr., we understand, is moving from Gorrie to our village this week.

Springbank Cheese Company began operations Monday the 30th. Mr. Sam'l Howard, late of Gorrie factory, is in charge, he having bought out Mr. Laird, who has returned to Brussels. Mr. Howard's record as a cheese-maker is good and it is to be hoped that he will be able to maintain the high reputation this factory has obtained on the cheese markets. He has one of the finest buildings in the county for manufacturing cheese, well equipped with all necessary appliances.

The funeral of Mrs. Haskett occurred on Monday afternoon and was largely attended. Mrs. Haskett had endeared herself to all by her kindness and courtesy during her residence here.

Belgrave wants a school house. The nearest one is two and a half miles away.

The West Huron Teachers' Association meets in Goderich June 3rd and 4th. Brussels has a Young Men's Conservative Club.

Dr. Holmes, of Brussels, will shortly locate in Detroit.

During last winter a smooth-tongued, well dressed fellow travelled through sections of this county, representing that he was an agent for a wholesale supply company, which was generously going to supply farmers with goods of all kinds, at one half the prices usually charged. He had his blank forms already printed, showing the prices at which the various articles were to be supplied, and an admission fee of $1 entitled the payer to full membership and all the benefits of the association. He was so scrupulously honest that he would not accept free hospitality from the farmers, but allowed them to charge 25 cents each for meals and bed. The inducements were so tempting that a great many are said to have paid their membership fee, and he consequently went away with a full order book. The delivery wagons were to be around early this spring, but as they have not yet turned up, nor have the members heard anything more about it, they incline to the opinion that they have once more got the wool pulled over their eyes.

Come to me, sweetest, from thy far-off place—
Come close, and lean above me thy fair face!

A BOYCOTTED BABY.

CHAPTER IV.—THE DAY OF WRATH.

Lord Polonius was, from his own point of view, quite as interested in the marriage of his daughter to James Bulbous as the latter's father.

Matthew Bulbous was aware of all this, but regarded the whole matter as one of business in which there must be advantages on both sides, and he was satisfied with the bargain.

The letter came at an opportune moment, when the only obstacle to the marriage had just been removed; and Matthew Bulbous was able to regard the situation now with satisfaction.

Her request that he would unlock the door or leave the key, reminded him that the room was still locked up.

"There's no accounting for these tricks!" was his relieved reflection as he looked at the photograph contemptuously into the fire and watched it burn to ashes.

The incident, connected with the effect of Lord Polonius's letter, put Matthew into high spirits as he proceeded to London.

He expected a call from his brother, and decided that Joseph might as well emigrate at once, now his last duty was finished.

Matthew Bulbous was a man of very quick apprehension when there was sign of danger.

One agency of intelligence he fancied, yet feared, might throw some light on his situation.

dared not send any person from his office to procure one. He seized his hat, and pulling it as low as he could over his ashy face, proceeded to Charing Cross station, and buying a paper, carried it to the farthest end of the platform, over the embankment, before he opened it.

The flaring headlines made him stagger the moment he opened the sheet. They announced an "Alleged Child Murder in Chelsea—Arrest of the Baby Farmer—Startling Disclosure!"

The significance of this ominous warning Matthew Bulbous, now thoroughly terrified, took wholly to himself.

"What good. There is, then, no evidence of that transaction. And the assistant kept by Mrs. Griffon—good heavens! what a place it is! an idiot; she can give no evidence."

"I had," said Bulbous, with a sudden stop which the lawyer understood as a silent malediction. "The fellow sent me a certificate yesterday, and he had a cheque for it."

With an ashy face and a heart that quaked at the sight of every policeman, Matthew Bulbous walked to the cab-rank and jumped into a hansom, giving the man an address.

Matthew Bulbous passed a bad afternoon. He was afraid to return to his office, dreading what might have taken place there during his absence.

He found thinking a painful and useless effort under the burden of suspense that oppressed his mind.

"Oh, it's you, Mr. Clove?" he observed with perfect command over his countenance, and pointing to a chair.

"I sometimes stay here for the night when I am pressed with business," said Mr. Bulbous; and then he sat down and looked at the solicitor.

"I have been to Chelsea. The doctor has been arrested. You had no relations or correspondence with him, I understand?"

"Well?" inquired Bulbous, after a pause. His face, stiffening in rigid, desperate lines, was that of a man who felt himself being driven to a desperate step.

"The inquest will be opened to-morrow." "What inquest?" "The inquest on the child—the body."

"I had," said Bulbous, with a sudden stop which the lawyer understood as a silent malediction. "The fellow sent me a certificate yesterday, and he had a cheque for it."

Matthew Bulbous, with silent cursors, thought also of the two telegrams from his brother. He told Clove about them, and Clove was ready to cure likewise.

"Do you know," Matthew asked, with a start, "whether the police are—are looking for me?"

"Why, no. If they were, of course they would quickly find you. The warrant will not be issued before to-morrow; very likely when the coroner has received some evidence—that is, in all probability," said Mr. Clove.

After the lawyer left him, Mr. Bulbous lay down again on the sofa, face upwards. The woman came by and removed the things from the table, leaving the task to him to clear away and place the cigars beside them.

Resting his elbows upon the parapet, and looking down at the dark water, the beaten man was at last able to get a clear view of his own reflection in the water.

A despatch from St. Petersburg, says:—Gen. Gresser, the Protect of Police of this city, is supposed to have been poisoned by Nihilists, died to-day.

There was a sudden sound in the midnight air which gave him a start. "Big Ben" was chiming the hour from the high tower of Westminster Palace.

HIS PREMONITION.

A True Story of a Weird Event on a Home Station Cruise.

It was a sweltering night early in September in Florida. The usual night breeze had not set in and all the nature was panting for breath.

"The moon is just getting up and I want to talk to you." "The speaker was one of the finest specimens of a man that I have ever known—tall, broad and fair-haired—well beloved for his unflinching good-nature and his merry moods, our most popular man."

"I suppose you think it rather strange that I should insist upon your coming out to-night, but I must talk to you."

"I want you to listen to me with close attention," said Bob. "I am not going to have any argument with you as to the sense of what I am going to tell you."

Wingham.

The meetings conducted here by the evangelists Crossley and Hunter are being conducted with entire earnestness and at the end of the second week over 250 persons were converted. The farewell meeting will be next Sunday evening, May 29th, at seven o'clock.

The celebration here on the 24th was one of the best, and was attended by great crowds. The principal features of the day were foot-ball matches and a lacrosse match. The foot-ball teams were the Cedarville Rovers, Ironsides and Wingham. In the forenoon the two former played which resulted in a victory for the Ironsides by one goal to none. Then immediately after dinner the Kincardine and Wingham lacrosse teams lined up for an hour and a half of "slashing." This was one of the most exciting matches ever played here, and was marked by rough playing on both sides, one of the Wingham boys getting his hand broken while not a few were bleeding freely. After an hour and a half the game was declared a tie both clubs having got a goal. Then came foot-ball match between the Ironsides and Wingham for the prize of $20. It is needless to say that this was the great centre of attraction. Considerable dispute arose over the Ironsides taking fresh men that had not played in the morning and thus Wingham had no advantage by having drawn the "bye." But they were allowed their new men and the game was commenced, the Ironsides getting the choice of goals. During the first half time the play was pretty even. At one time the Ironsides were pressed so closely that the ball struck the stake of their goal and a dispute arose. Some said it went through while others said not; however the Ironsides got the benefit of the doubt, and ball was put in play by giving them a goal kick. When half time was called no goals had been scored. In the second half time the ball was kept close on the Ironsides goal. Their goal umpire called a corner kick for Wingham but both sides kept playing as the referee had not called corner kick, and soon Wingham scored. It was not allowed a goal as the referee took the umpire's word and said a corner kick should have been taken, this was the cause of some pretty hot words and led to blows but the chief interfered and order was soon obtained but as time was near up the game was declared a draw and each club got $10. The game will likely be played soon again.

The county Warden and two other county councillors were in Wingham on 24th to see if it was necessary to rebuild the Graham's bridge. They also took in the sports.

There will be good prizes offered here on the 28th June at horse races.

The C. O. F. will hold a monster demonstration here on July 1st. Over 100 Courts are expected to visit here on that day.

On Sunday evening last the evangelists Crossley and Hunter preached their farewell sermons to an audience of about 1400 people. So great was the crowd that hundreds of people could not get in to hear these men who have won for themselves the past few weeks the best wishes of thousands. The crowd outside were so anxious to hear them that they sent in a petition asking them to come out of the Presbyterian church and speak on the park as it was such a warm evening. Mr. Hunter expressed his regret that so many anxious people had to be deprived of their last words to the people of Wingham, but thought it would not be prudent to leave the church and go to the park. The meeting was opened with prayer led by Mr. Hunter. Then Mr. Crossley and Prof. Scott gave a duet, "Tolling Bells." After which the special requests for prayer were disposed of. Then Mr. Crossley sang the song, "Come unto me all ye that Labor." After which each of the local preachers spoke a few words expressing their thanks for the great work which had been done. Then Mr. Crossley spoke giving the young converts advice and also those who have not been converted. He was followed by Mr. Hunter who greatly affected the congregation by his farewell recital.

The Evangelists left on Monday morning train to go to St. Thomas to Conference after which they will go to Europe and return in a month or two and will hold a series of revival meetings in Goderich. It is estimated that over 800 have been converted in Wingham, more than one infidel being among the new converts.
