The war to the German people now the Exchange Telegraph Co. seems to drag on for the sole purpose of losing more men. As more elderly men are thrown into the melting pot of the combat, the tendency will be for discontent to grow more widespread. If the allies go on with the killing of a few hundred thousand more Germans and Austrians discontent with the war will grow, perhaps, beyond bounds in the central empires. It is said that by this time the dead losses of the Germans are close on four millions of men. They have had over one million killed or died of wounds or of disease. PRO-GERMAN PASTOR TOLD TO LEAVE CANADA

LONDON, March 7 .- Major-Gen.

BERLIN. Ont., March 7.—It was learned tonight that as a result of the visit of a Dominion police officer to Conestoga recently Rev. He has resigned, but has not left the country, as he was seen in the city this afternoon, but could not be interviewed.

ed, as a few months more of this war is bound to do, will take the stomach for fighting pretty well out of the enemy. Cola, 26 miles from Kermanshah, has been occupied by the Russian forces on the Persian front in an advance towards Bagdad. This news came from Petrograd in an official communique last night, and it appears to confirm the belief that the Russians will push on to effect a junction with the British expeditionary force in Mesopotamia. The Russians are now about 120 miles east of Bagdad, or about the same distance the British are south of that and the near future. are south of that ancient capital. Good news may come from Kut-el-Amara

The Russian troops which were landed at Atina, east of Trebizond, are still engaged in driving the Turks from Maprava, which they reached on Sunday. Another Turkish gun was captured in the fighting.

Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, told the British House of Commons yesterday that since the war began the personnel of the navy had been doubled, and the new vessels approximated one million tons. This is equivalent to about forty ships of the Queen Elizabeth class. "No German cruiser is in a position to menace British commerce on any ocean of the world at this moment," said he. The Moewe had escaped the British fleet by sailing around Iceland disguised as a neutral trader. In celebrating the success of this raider, the Germans showed that their standard of naval achievement was low. sit

The stories which were being circulated in England about the placing of big guns on German warships and about the imminence of the German high seas fleet taking a spin on the high seas to give the British navy its long-looked-for chance, have partially effected their object, for the British Government has decided to employ Lord Fisher "in a new capacity." The bulk of the many recent stories of pending activity by the enemy fleet were started by friends of Lord Fisher for the purpose of abetting his candidacy started by friends of Lord of the admiralty.

The culminating point in the Fisher boom came last night in the house of commons in the speech of Col. Winston Churchill, who said that he wanted to see his lordship head of the admiralty. This points to a reconciliation between Lord Fisher and Col. Churchill, whose open enmity upset the Liberal cabinet ten months ago and led to the resignation of Lord Fisher and the shelving of Col. Churchill.

. . The net results gained for the Germans by the furious and widely extended fighting of yesterday and the night before in the region of Verdun are the capture of Hill 265, the making of slight progress down the railway and the galning of a footing in Crow's Wood, near Goose Hill. Attacks also succeeded in taking a redoubt for the Germans in the neighborhood of Hardaumont Wood, but this was immediately recaptured by a French counter-attack. So far the German advance on the western bank of the Meuse has only touched the French outposts.

The vicinity of the Hohenzollern redoubt was the only brisk theatre of action on the British front yesterday and the preceding night. The scene was enlivened when it was dark by the launching of three successive bombing attacks by the 'ermans. These were all checked, and, failing in this plan, the enemy tried another by exploding a mine in the same place. But he lost out in attempts to occupy the crater, which fell into the hands of the British, who now command it. Trench mortars, grenade throwers and guns kept up an active din all day on the front between the Hohenzollern redoubt year, securing a grand-total of $11,102,-000. Win the War Great Object. In the closing part of his address Mr. McGarry emphasized the urgent need of the province maintaining its present high credit standard in the money markets, of keeping within its income and of pro-ceeding only with those capital expendi-tures that were necessary. There were, of course, expenditures that should be proceeded with, but if these were care-fully considered there was no reason to think that the great financiers would discourage them. The winning of the war was the great object and nothing should be done that would in the slight-est degree weaken the striking forces of the empire. Mr. McGarry also empha-sized the need for general economy to provide against the heavy burdens of taxation still to come.

sized the need for general cooling to provide against the heavy burdens of taxation still to come. The work of the department of agri-culture in increasing production in On-tario as a patriotic duty was touched upon, the increased value of the wheat crop alone being $7,000,000. The treas-urer stated that the T. and N.O. had shown net profits of $256,000, of which $250,000 had been turned over to the gov-ernment to apply against interest pay-ments. With the development of the north that was to follow the war, Mr. McGarry prophesied that the railway would in a few years pay the whole amount of the $800,000 interest. The treasurer also announced that the government was considering taking ac-tion in the courts against the G.T.P. to enforce the contract in respect to run-ning rights under which the T. and N. O. was to receive $300,000 annually in addition to sums based upon mainten-ance, expenditure, etc. Proceed Against G.T.P. "We are holding intact our rights un-

If they persist in that policy, it will be part of the policy of the government to have the courts invoked, in order that we may get from the G.T.P. that which is justly our due." Treasurer's Statement. The provincial treasurer opened by congratulating Premier Hearst, Hon. Messrs. Hanna, Duff and Lucas on all having sons either on the firing line or in training. Hon. Dr. Pyne, who was in training. Hon. Dr. Pyne, who was back in his seat, also was warmly com-mended for his work in organizing the Ontario Hospital at Orpington, and Lieut-Col. During the coming year the revenue of the T. & N.O. would be considerably in-creased, and within a few years the gov-ernment would be receiving from the T. & N.O. enough to pay every cent of in-terest on capital, amounting to $800,000 altogether who had done valuant work at the front. He then settled down to the financial statement of the province. He had a different story from last year to relate. he said. Instead of a deficit he had a surplus of $271,000 to report. The total ordinary receipts for the year amounted to $12,975,732 and expenditures to $12.-704,862. "In case any person should think the war tax had something to do with this showing let me say that the war tax is not considered in this at all." he declared. Also the interest of the T. & N.O. over and above the $250,000 re-ceived in net earnings had been paid from current revenue, approximately $44,000. Hitherto this amount was met terest on capital, amounting to $800,000 altogether. Mr. McGarry stated that the expendi-ture on northern development for the year had been $659,000. and that the gov-ernment considered the work being done was too important to be dropped, even during war time, since it was preparing that great country for the settlement that would come after the war.

Hydro Extensions. Reference was made to the heavy ex-penditure upon hydro extensions, the to-tal for the year being $2,600,000. The total investment in hydro-electric sys-tems now amounted to $12,315,000. The government was giving every help to the municipalities, and during the year had spent $219,000 for investigation outside of that for which the municipalities pay. Further votes for hydro expenditure would be asked for such extensions as the government decided should be pro-ceeded with, and the government would in this continue to serve the people to the best of their ability. Mr. McGarry announced that, in addi-tion to $41,000,000 of liquid assets, and $20,000,000 invested in public buildings and lands, the province had assets of timber, water powers and agricultural lands conservatively valued at $475,000. 000—a potent argument to present in go-ing into the money markets for loans. He announced that legislation would be brought down im-posing upon all race tracks doing busi-ness in the province a tax of $1250 for-each day they do business. That tax at the present time is $500 a day, and with the increase it will give a revenue from that source from $40.000 to $100.000. "In addition to that, we intend taxing the people who like to spend an evening at a picture show or some other kind of a show. We have considered carefully this legislation, and taken an inventory of the amount of business these people are doing, and we have decided to place a tax on the patrons of these shows. That shall mean all theatres, amusement halls, circuses, base'all parks, skating rinks, dance halls and all other places of amusement. That tax will be made one cent for admission. That may be in-creased to 25 cents by regulation and order-in-council." Hon. Mr. McGarry estimated that the new tax wou'd give the province a reve-nue of $350.000. Mo Tax on incomes. This Paper's Unexampled Offer to Its Readers

It is customary to think that history is dry reading. As a rule this is true but the readers of Josephus Nelson Larned's great History of the World will find it one of the few works of the kind that read like a novel. This is due to the author's wonderful clarity of style, and his natural genius for narrative. He is one of the few great historians who seem to be born for that special vocation. He has told in history the story of seven thousand hollow, wood and thicket within range years of the life of mankind, and told of the fortress-and modern artillery

The allies had been driven by the Germans from Belgium munitions, more munitions, and still more munitions. The allies had heen driven by the Germans from Belgium to France and from the frontiers of France to the gates of Paris. We know now our troops had retreated because they lacked munitions and especially high explosive shells. Lator on they had attacked the Germans and driven them across the River Aisne. They could not drive them further and they could not drive them further and they could not drive them macross the Rhine because they still lacked munitions.

Of course rowing has been not only a hobby but actually a part of Mr. Wright's life since boy-hood. Altho strictly an avocation-he has always been and still is an amateur modern "Viking" smiled. "Why, yes," he drawled, "Tve done all manner of weight-throwing. played baseball, and even run one-quarter of a mile; but that was, of course, many years ago. In fact, my last running race, one-quarter of a mile in 53 seconds, was 45 years ago." Wright's record in the shot-put was 39 feet-not a point-winning distance in the track championships of today, but it was quite a creditable performance a genera-tion ago. The hammer thrown was from a standing position, as contrasted with the allowance of a swinging start now, hence his figure in this event would not be illuminating. In 1889 Wright, as a young baseball "phenom." pitched on a team from Toronto in a game against Cornell University. At a more recent date he emerged as a football star, play-ing on the Canadian championship team for eighteen consecutive years, while quite indirectly I learned that a certain Loe Wright to work wing coach at Penn.

ing on the Canadian championship team for eighteen consecutive years, while quite indirectly I learned that a certain Joe Wright, now rowing coach at Penn, won the Canadian amateur heavyweight boxing championship! As I have said, when the Penn crews were disastrously defeated in the re-gatta of 1915 and Vivian Nickalls was inopportunely called away, the rowing committee was placed in a difficult posi-tion. The problem ahead of the com-mittee was a big one. It had to select one man among countless applicants— one who combined ability as an oars-man, coaching experience, and ingenu-ity, and one who was a natural leader ity, and one who was a natural leader in the bargain. None of the applicants seemed to be just the man for the posi-tion, and the committee therefore sought a man who preferred to stay in the background until he felt that he was needed needed.

Here on Leave of Absence.

This man was Joseph Wright of Toronto. Canada, coach of the Argonaut Rowing Club, a thorobred sportsman and a man who knows how to produce crews. At this time Mr. Wright was superin-tendent of the Toronto general postoffice, but it so happened that his eyes had be-come a source of trouble to him, and he felt that a rest from his work would be beneficial. The result was that, granted a six months' leave of absence, he im-mediately plunged into his work of build-ing up the sport at Penn, which he placed on so firm a basis in Canada. He is un-der no contract at Penn, for the particu-lar reason that his time is limited to his leave of absence and that he is anxious to maintain his amateur standing. He is "helping out," as he puts it, for his ronto, Canada, coach of the Argonaut to maintain his amateur standing. He is "helping out," as he puts it, for his expenses alone. Above all, Wright loves the sport of rowing ardently, and to him the maintenance of his amateur

There were still a few minutes left before the junior varsity eight was to have its turn on the rowing machines, and I essayed the question as to how he was impressed with Penn and the men of Pennsylvania. Here Mr. Wright waxed enthusiastic.
