

PRESIDENT OF CHILE DIED LAST NIGHT

Leading Statesman In Powerful South American Republic Succumbs To Attack Of Heart Failure At Bremen.

HAD DONE MUCH FOR HIS COUNTRY

London, Aug. 16.—President Pedro Montt of Chile, arrived at Bremen on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm Der Grosse this morning. His death occurred there at 11.50 o'clock tonight. It was due to recurrence of heart failure, following the recent attack of angina pectoris.

Pedro Montt became president of Chile on September 18, 1906, and his term of office extended to 1911. He succeeded German Riesco, as chief executive. He was elected by an enormous majority and was supported by a really national party.

Pedro Montt was a member of one of the best families in Chile, for his father Manuel Montt, was president of the Chilean republic from 1881 to 1891 and to him chiefly because of his strong will, national history gives high credit for a firm and productive administration. President Montt was elected to the lower house soon after his admission to the bar in 1888. He held his seat for many years and was then returned senator for one of the southern provinces, and later for the province of Santiago. During those years he had often been a member of the cabinet and was more than once premier.

At various times he was speaker of the chamber of deputies and a councillor of state, and during a brief but trying period was minister plenipotentiary in Washington. In all the offices he held Senator Montt was distinguished for his conciliatory and well defined policy. His avowed ambition as president was to return to the country its former high position in the financial world, to govern the nation with the greatest economy compatible with efficient public service, and to live in peace with all its neighbors. He was the champion of a sound financial system and was unceasingly working against the policy of prodigal expenditures.

In debate on foreign policy his voice was raised in favor of a peaceful and honorable settlement of difficulties. In the years between 1889 and 1892, when the frontier dispute with the Argentine Republic brought Chile near to war, when practically every one was ready and awaiting the order to march, Senator Montt untiringly poured oil on the troubled waters. To him was given much of the credit for a happy result finally secured. He was re-elected once for the presidency.

President Montt devoted considerable of his time to travel and while in the United States, England, France, Germany and Italy gave much attention to the technical branches of education, public service, irrigation and measures connected with the welfare of the laboring classes.

Early last June the president suffered a serious attack of angina pectoris, and on his partial recovery the trip to Europe was planned. Accompanied by his wife and suite, he left Valparaiso on the cruiser General for the United States by way of Panama. On July 27 the party sailed from Colon on the Royal Mail steamship Tague, arriving in New York, Aug. 3.

THEY'RE STILL AT QUEBEC

Warrants For Removal Of Dr. Crippen And Miss Leneve From Quebec Jail Not Yet Received.

Quebec, Aug. 16.—The warrants in the Crippen case reported to have been signed at Ottawa yesterday were not received this afternoon by Acting Sheriff Begin and until they arrive Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve cannot be removed from the jail although this document is supposed to be addressed to the acting sheriff it is the general impression that it will be forwarded to Assistant Attorney General Lanctot, who will immediately have the warrant over to either Inspector Dew or Detective Mitchell.

When the prisoners will leave is not yet known, although Crippen expects and hopes to be sent home on Thursday. The Scotland Yard detectives and the police and jail authorities tonight state that they do not know when the prisoners will leave but the impression exists that they will be moved out of the jail shortly after the warrant is received from Ottawa.

The newspaper men now in town are paying particular attention to the jail and when Inspector Dew decides in removing his prisoners he will probably be surprised to see the newspaper correspondents facing him at the jail. At Crippen's request Jailer Morin is giving him a regular dinner from his own table every day and Miss Leneve also enjoys that privilege being confined to the hospital. It is reported that Crippen's dinner is paid for by Scotland Yard detectives.

MR. BOURASSA ADDRESSES ACADIANS

Eloquent Speeches Delivered At Annual Gathering Of Representatives Of The Race—3,000 Present.

EULOGY OF JUSTICE LANDRY

Special to The Standard. Moncton, Aug. 16.—Thousands assembled at St. Joseph's, Memramcook, today to participate in the National feast of the French Acadians. The weather conditions were most favorable and the celebration was in every respect a success. The grounds surrounding the university of St. Josephs were in holiday attire and a festive spirit prevailed everywhere. The Union Jack and French tricolor were much in evidence and the spacious college grounds presented more than the usually beautiful appearance.

Special trains from east and west, and autos and other conveyances brought in large numbers of people and upon arrival at the depot the procession headed by the Shediac Band was formed with the college band in the rear, marched to the grounds.

High Mass was celebrated in the parish church at ten o'clock by Rev. Alfred Trudel of Paquetville, being assisted by Rev. J. S. Gauland, P. E. Island as deacon and Rev. D. LeBlanc, Moncton, as sub-deacon. An eloquent sermon was preached by Father Doucette, Grand Anse. Many priests and prominent laymen were present, among the latter being Henri Bourassa, M. P. P., for St. Hyacinthe, Quebec, Judge Landry, Hon. D. Y. Landry of the New Brunswick government, Dr. Belliveau, O. M. Melanson and Postmaster Bourque of Shediac, A. J. Leger, Dr. L. N. Bourque, E. Girouard, J. O. Gallant, L. C. Daigle, Dr. Richard, Conn. J. J. Bourgeois, C. H. Bourdeau of Moncton, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Dorchester, F. B. Black, Sackville, Dr. F. Bourque, M. P. P., Richibucto, and many others.

The afternoon speech making took place about 2 o'clock on the college grounds and was listened to by about 3000 people, all being in French. Judge Landry presided and in the course of his remarks paid an eloquent tribute to Father Letourneau, the apostle of education among French Acadians and founder of St. Josephs College.

Judge Landry spoke of the loyalty of the French Acadians to the British Crown and referred to the progress of the people in recent years. Rev. A. Roy, parish priest extended hearty welcome to the visitors and referred to the noble career of Judge Landry, also paying high tribute to Mr. Forth, editor of the Standard, an Acadian, who with his pen had always been ready to fight the cause of the people. Addresses were also made by Rev. F. X. Cormier, Joseph R. LeBlanc, president of local branch of L'Association society; Father Guertin, president of St. Josephs and others.

When Mr. Bourassa rose to speak the large gathering grew most enthusiastic and throughout his forcible and eloquent address there was much applause. Mr. Bourassa said he had always sympathized with the Acadian people and thought the loyalty of different races and creeds comprising this Canada of ours would depend upon the freedom they were allowed. French Canadians and Acadians had always been loyal to the British Crown. The English understood the act of governing nations and were well disposed towards the French. As long as French Acadians and French Canadians keep their language and creed they will remain loyal to Great Britain and the fact that Canada is a British possession was largely due to them.

Speechmaking was continued in the evening when Mr. Bourassa was the principal orator. The celebration of the day was one of the most successful every witnessed in these parts.

THESE ARE DAYS OF GREAT OPPORTUNITIES

Free Trip Candidates are Waking Up to Realities in City and Province—Offer of $25 in Gold to Nominee of Winner is Attracting Attention.

MANY NOMINATIONS RECEIVED YESTERDAY

The Greatest Contest Ever Promoted in New Brunswick is Receiving the Endorsement of Many Prominent Business Men—All Women Interested Send Names in at Once.

We have had several enquiries about the coupons appearing daily, which may be voted up to the 30th of August. Clip these neatly for filing, write on the name of the contestant you want to win and vote them altogether on Tuesday, August 23rd. During the last few days we have had a number of ladies ask: "What do I have to do to win A Trip to Bermuda?" Below is

A Sure Way To Win.

The way to go about helping your self is this:—

First—If your parents are not regular readers of The Standard and New Star, ask them to subscribe. This will give you upwards of a 1000 votes and nine cases out of ten they will say yes, and admire you for your business ability and envy you when you sail on the trip to New York City and Bermuda.

Remember, the Contest Manager stands ready to help you in any way and will.

Now, having learned the way to win, do not hesitate to start. Once you have come to the decision you will find the rest comes easily. We give you a simple plan of winning and ask you to adopt it.

Now is the time to enter and secure the advantage of being an early one in the field. Fill out an application blank, send it to The Standard and New Star office, then choose a campaign manager and plan your system of working along lines similar to those adopted by the shrewd and energetic politicians. Subscription blanks, circulars and letters will be furnished all contestants free of charge. Come in and get a supply and distribute them among your friends. They will only too glad to give you their votes, and to help you win the right of being one of the party to make the New York City and Bermuda trip. And think of the honor of winning. The race is exhilarating, exciting, and outside of the educational advantages of a trip of this kind, it is a splendid training for any lady.

The utmost care has been exercised that every influence on this trip shall be for good.

A prominent educator, whose daughter had won a trip to the Bermudas in a contest run on the same lines as The Standard and New Star contest is planned, made the statement that the experience she had gained in the contest was of more benefit to her than all the training she had in her life. He says that it teaches young lady to talk intelligently, to think quickly, and gives her an experience along lines that can never be learned at school or in the home. He says: "We have Latin Greek courses in our schools, not for the practical good it will ever do students, but for the mental training; but the experience and training my daughter has had in this contest have done her great good and been a wonderful preparation to her schooling."

It is not a difficult matter to secure votes in The Standard and New Star contest. Get your friends to save the daily coupons for you and give you a present on their subscriptions; the papers will continue to be sent by a regular carrier.

As heretofore, our friend would as soon pay you as they would anyone else and a little more ready, we guess; and then you will get the votes you are entitled to, when turning the money into the office. It does not take paid subscriptions long to count up rapidly—so get busy, and make hay while the sun shines. Another opportunity might not come to you very soon.

Voyage Reveals Many Delights. In regard to a voyage such as the successful contestants will take, it may be said that, following the temporary stoppage necessary to discharge the pilot, our steamer quickly regains her former speed. The passengers, scanning the horizon for signs of other craft, not that in the distance can be made out those two sentinels of the port—the Scotland and Sandy Hook Lightships, each of their pair of masts bearing at the tops basketlike frameworks of iron, from which at night shine large globes of light, thus enabling the inward bound mariner to ascertain his exact position, no matter how black the night may be.

Our winners by this time have inspected almost every portion of the steamer and are fast becoming proficient in the use of those nautical terms employed to describe the various sections of the ship. As they stand at the stern watching the long wake of white churned up by the twin propellers of the "Bermudian," the cry of the watch "Sail ho, on the port bow," is heard and all instinctively rush forward to assist, if possible, in identifying the oncoming traveler of the seas.

It is soon ascertained that she is of that type of vessel which relies solely upon wind and sail for progress through the water, an insignificant appearance she makes, too, as with all canvas set, she runs swiftly before a fair wind. Our captain graciously permits a nearer view of this now quite unusual marine picture by altering his vessel's course a trifle. The multi-colored flags dangling from her yardarm reveal her identity to our ship's officers and as she passes her British ensign is saluted by the inspiring strains of "Rule Britannia" from the Bermudian band, which has been given the first of our afternoon concerts, thus reviving the spirits of the storm-tossed sailors who are about to end the one hundred day voyage from Calcutta to Sydney.

Considering the relatively prosaic life ashore, it is any wonder that the anticipated pleasant thrills which accompany the ever unfolding incidents of a voyage at sea, are causing many to enter the contest and decide to be on the look out for the murderer as it was thought he was endeavoring to escape to Newfoundland.

Late Wednesday night a mysterious looking man arrived on the Boston express and bought a ticket for the Bruce. The captain became suspicious and notified the police, but after a thorough search of the ship he could not be found. The police were about to give up the search when they were attracted by a noise underneath the bunk, and on investigating, the man was found hidden beneath the mattress and the bottom of the bunk. He made a desperate dash for freedom and was armed with revolvers and knives, but was finally overpowered and lodged in jail. The Quincy authorities were notified of the arrest, and Detective Griffin came to Sydney to identify the man. He arrived last week and his dead body was found this morning. Sydney is the centre of the Cape Breton collieries and a large number of Italians are employed in the mines.

IT DOES NOT COST A CENT TO ENTER, NOT A CENT TO WIN AND NOT A CENT TO MAKE THE TRIP, COULD ANYTHING BE MORE LIBERAL?

TO-day is always a lucky day to make application and get in the race. "Never put off till tomorrow," you know. Also "Procrastination is the thief of time," is another good precept. Do not have your friends say: "I would have liked to have helped you, but So-and-So asked me first." The application blank which will be found another page of this issue and mail it to the Contest Manager.

ATTEMPT PARIS-LONDON FLIGHT

Latham and Maissant Contesting In Great Air Race—Both Obligated To Stop For The Night.

Amiens, France, Aug. 16.—An aeroplane race between Paris and London started today when Hubert Latham and Moissant left Issy, in the suburbs of Paris, announcing that they intended to fly to London with stops. Latham ascended first and drove through the air at great speed, but motor trouble forced him to land in a field near La Faloise. He expects to resume his flight tomorrow. Moissant reached Amiens in two hours and stopped for the night.

CRIMINALS AT LARGE ARE DESPERATE

Believed That Moir And Taggart Have Been Supplied With Rifles And Will Not Submit Quietly To Capture.

AUTOMOBILE SEEN NEAR THE GROUNDS

Special to The Standard. Hamilton, Aug. 16.—Provincial Detective Miller is working hard on the trail of Moir and Taggart, the men who escaped from the asylum for insane early yesterday morning. The detective has satisfied himself that Moir, who is slightly built could easily have squeezed through a six inch transom.

It was reported by Supt. English that it had come to his knowledge that an automobile without lights was seen or heard in the asylum grounds early yesterday morning.

It was further reported that about three o'clock yesterday an automobile without lights passed through Beamsville.

It is generally accepted in police circles that the hunt will be a long one. Moir is desperate, and it is thought that if surrounded he would not be taken without the sacrifice of some lives. It is even suggested that he would shoot himself before submitting to capture.

The police claim to have a clue to the party who furnished the automobile. Chief Smith also states that they have proof that both Moir and Taggart were furnished with rifles as soon as they left the asylum grounds.

MURDER OF DETECTIVE CARLETON CO.

Quincy Officer Who Went To Sydney To Identify Resstelli Found With Throat Cut—Another Suspect.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, N. S., Aug. 16.—Detective Griffin of the Quincy, Mass. force, who came to North Sydney to identify an Italian supposed to be Resstelli, who is wanted in Quincy for a double murder, was cruelly murdered in Sydney last night. He was found in an alleyway this morning with his throat cut from ear to ear. A large razor lay in a pool of blood beneath his head. The theory is that the man was murdered by Italian friends of Resstelli. The man supposed to be Resstelli was arrested Wednesday night on board the steamer Bruce bound for St. Johns, Newfoundland. The Quincy authorities have been in communication with the North Sydney police for some time to be on the look out for the murderer as it was thought he was endeavoring to escape to Newfoundland.

Late Wednesday night a mysterious looking man arrived on the Boston express and bought a ticket for the Bruce. The captain became suspicious and notified the police, but after a thorough search of the ship he could not be found. The police were about to give up the search when they were attracted by a noise underneath the bunk, and on investigating, the man was found hidden beneath the mattress and the bottom of the bunk. He made a desperate dash for freedom and was armed with revolvers and knives, but was finally overpowered and lodged in jail. The Quincy authorities were notified of the arrest, and Detective Griffin came to Sydney to identify the man. He arrived last week and his dead body was found this morning. Sydney is the centre of the Cape Breton collieries and a large number of Italians are employed in the mines.

Those who voted against the motion were Tracey, Smith, Lamont, Britain, Tompkins, Milville. Warden Stevens appointed the following councillors as delegates to the convention of the union of municipalities to be held in Woodstock this fall: Councillors Williams, Lamont, Alex. Bell, Thompkins and Milville. The convention will be held if it is thought next month.

BUILDING OF ALLAN LINERS IS DELAYED

Tenders For New Mail Steamers Found Unsatisfactory And Vessels Cannot Be Launched Now In 1912

FUTURE OF THE MAIL SERVICE.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Aug. 16.—That the new Allan Line mail steamers, for which tenders were called this year, will not be launched in the spring of 1912, is the opinion of Mr. Andrew A. Allan, who returned to Montreal today.

Mr. Allan said the tenders had been opened in England by Mr. Hugh A. Allan, president of the company. He had found them unsatisfactory, and owing to that fact no contract had yet been let. The new liners, which are to be of 22 knots capacity, and larger than any vessels in the Canadian trade, will undoubtedly be in readiness to enable the Allan Line to continue their mail contract with the government. It is hardly probable that the government will renew the contract with the Allan Line on their present tonnage.

With two new steamships of 22 knots the Allan Line will outstrip competitors for the subsidy. The royal liners can make only 21 knots, and the Empresses less, but it is understood the Canadian Pacific Company is soon to build new steamers for the Quebec and St. Lawrence trade. If this is so and they are ready for 1912, the C. P. R. and Allan Line will be able to continue their co-operation on North Atlantic mail carriage.

GREEK STILL ELUDES ARREST

Somersworth Police At a Loss To Locate Fugitive Send Out 3,000 Circulars To Police Departments.

Somersworth, N. H., Aug. 16.—Three thousand circulars bearing photographic likenesses of Nicholas Capsalatos, who is being sought to answer to the charge of murdering Maritza Capsalats and giving a minute description of him, were sent out to the police departments of as many towns and cities today. The circulars ask for the immediate arrest of the man if he is found.

It is taken as an indication that the police are not quite so sure today that they are on the track of the man as they were. He was first trailed from here to Dover, then to Biddeford, Me., and it was believed that he had left Biddeford for Portland or Lewiston. Today however, the belief prevails that he is in Biddeford, either having remained there all the time, or having returned from Portland. With the aid of a Greek officer from Lowell who has been assisting in the search for some days, a thorough search is now being made in the foreign section of Biddeford. Meanwhile there has been no relaxation of the search in Portland and Lewiston.

Seen At Rochester.

Rochester, N. H., Aug. 16.—Nicholas Capsalatos, who is being sought in connection with the murder of Maritza Capsalats at Somersworth is believed to have been in Rochester today. The suspect made his escape taking a train for Manchester. The man appeared at the Rochester station about half an hour before the 2.19 train was due, and purchased a ticket for Manchester. The station employees remarked on his similarity to the published pictures of Capsalatos and finally decided to notify the police. An officer was summoned and after a few moments scrutiny decided to confer with his superiors before taking the man into custody. He took an electric car to the centre intending to board the train at Rochester if it was decided to hold the man, but before a decision was reached the train had departed. Word was sent to the Manchester authorities.

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH AND THE PUBLIC ROADS

A Correspondent Deals With the Attitude of the Dredgers' Organ Toward the Provincial Highways.

The following letter to the editor of the Fredericton Gleaner which was published in that paper yesterday will throw some light upon the motives which inspire the petty criticism of the provincial highways such as has appeared in the Telegraph:

BETTER THAN MAINE OR N. S.

I will go further and say from experience that the roads of New Brunswick are in much better shape than the roads of Nova Scotia. It has already been admitted that our highways are vastly superior to those of the State of Maine; and only two years ago both the Nova Scotia and Maine roads were much better than ours.

Two treasures such as that our province, buoyant as it is at present, could not possibly fully repair in two short years the damage to the roads which the dishonesty of the old government, supported by the Telegraph, wrought in every part of this province.

Steeves for shooting a steer in the year 1907, was dismissed, Mr. Steeves stating that he and three others were out hunting and the steer if shot by them was accidentally shot when firing at long range at big game and that nothing was known of such shooting until the carcass was accidentally found.

A TIP FOR THE TELEGRAPH

To the Editor of The Standard. Sir—Not very long ago the sanctimonious editor of the Telegraph, who has never been guilty of any indiscretion himself, was calling upon one of the local members of this county to resign because of certain alleged indiscretions. Here in Kings we are daily expecting an editorial in the Telegraph calling upon Dr. McAllister to resign and declaring the federal seat vacant.

SUFFRAGETTES FROM ENGLAND

Three Young Women from Across the Water Assisting in Campaign in Lawrence and Haverhill, Mass.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 15.—Three young English suffragettes are assisting in the summer campaign of the Massachusetts Women Suffrage Association. They were in Lawrence all last week, carrying on six meetings a day and today they stopped in Boston for a few minutes before going on to Haverhill where they are to carry on this week's campaign. In Lawrence, the leader of the trio, in her own country she is an organizer, being a member of the Shop Assistants' Union, which corresponds to the retail clerk union over here. Her companions are Miss Gardner and Miss Ward. Miss Gardner is a college girl, having studied at Cambridge, England. She expects to go to the state of Washington, at the close of the suffrage campaign here, the first of September, as the question of suffrage is to be put to the vote out there this fall. Miss Gardner says that the conditions of the work are very different in the two countries. "In England we have about 17 different societies," she said, "Every different kind of person who becomes interested, starts a new kind of an organization. Each political party has its organization, and the churches, the actresses and the writers have theirs. They all work together in a way, but they all have their own policies and methods, and ideas, which makes it much more complicated than it is here."

The visitors are all much impressed with the courtesy and intelligence of American audiences. "Why," said Miss Bonfield, "even the small boy who does not want to be polite, is made to keep quiet by the rest of the audience over here. We find that we can give much longer and more serious talks to outdoor audiences here than we can in England. The other night Miss Ward talked for an hour and a half to those mill people in Lawrence, and held every one in the audience the whole time. In England we should never think of trying to give such a talk to any but an indoor audience, and sometimes we could not get them to listen so long even then."

Miss Margaret Foley, the manager of the expedition, has not yet decided just what special features will mark next week. She had a balloon last week, and a brass band the week before, and an automobile and megaphone the week before that. She says that she has to wait until she gets into a place and breathes the spirit of it before she can become inspired with the actual details of just what she will do.

EARL AMHERST DIED SUNDAY

At One Time Owned Notable Rare Treasures With Which He Was Forced to Part—Born in 1836.

London, Aug. 16.—William Archer Amherst of Hackney, third Earl Amherst, died on Sunday. He was born in 1836.
Lord Amherst's peerage was of quite modern creation, dating from 1832, and not to be confounded with that of Earl Amherst, whose honors were bestowed upon that commander-in-chief of the British forces in North America in the middle of the eighteenth century. While Earl Amherst could show a direct descent from Gilbert and Roger Amherst, who flourished during the reign of the Plantagenet kings, Lord Amherst of Hackney could prove a descent from them only through the female side of his house. His real descent was from a Kentish squire of the name of William Daniel, who a little over one hundred years ago married Amelia Amherst, of Didlington Park. This William Daniel's son William dropped the name of Daniel and assumed that of Amherst—the patronymic of his mother. His son was the Lord Amherst who died yesterday.
Lord Amherst's peerage by virtue of a special provision, will go to his eldest daughter, married to Lord William Cecil, a younger brother of the Marquis of Exeter, and a great-great-grandson of that Marquis of Exeter who married the peasant girl, Sallie Hoggins, the romance forming the theme of Tennyson's beautiful poem, "The Lord of Burleigh." Lord William Cecil is a principal member of the household of Princess Henry at Battenberg. It may be recalled that Lady William was the only English lady-in-waiting who attended the young Queen of Spain on the occasion of her marriage.
Didlington Hall, the home of Lord Amherst's mother, has been in the Amherst family for generations, and is one of the finest places in the County of Norfolk, standing on the banks of the River Missey, on the border land of the Fens. It was already in existence in the reign of Edward II; and the house once contained many books and treasures of all kinds and descriptions. Owing to adversity through dishonesty of a family attorney, Lord Amherst about two years ago was forced to part with his treasures, by means of an auction of the sale approached £200,000. Several of the articles came to the United States.

GIRLS DON'T HAVE TO TALK

By Cynthia Grey.
"I am miserable," writes a girl of sixteen. "I don't enjoy company a bit because I can't think of anything to say, while other people are such good conversationalists. Oh, if I could only say clever things!"
This is not the first time I have heard this cry of anguish. Thousands of people are fretting and sorrowing because they "can't talk in company."

And yet it is one of the most groundless of worries. Let me say to all people who are uncomfortable because they are not good conversationalists:
First rid yourself of the notion that you must keep up a conversation with all people who are with you. Do not let anything at all until some thought comes to your mind that you really wish to tell the other person; until it would be a hardship on yourself to retain it.
If you but knew, dear girl, that we suffer rather from too much conversation, than too little!

At these times when you think you ought to talk, you are with some other person, are you not? If he, like you, has nothing to say, then he would have as much reason to be embarrassed as you, wouldn't he? (Which as I said before, is no reason at all.) He cannot expect you to do something he does not, and you cannot expect him to do something you do not. So why discomfort yourself? Enjoy the sweet silence which is evidently the proper thing, as there is nothing you wish to impart to each other.
But if the other person is a talker, the situation is even more simple. Talkers don't like to meet talkers; they like to meet listeners. So just look straight at your companion and take it all in. If you let go of yourself, if you relax, if you drop your strained anxiety to please, you will naturally grow interested in what our companion is saying, and will talk a little, too.
There need be no "awkward silence" in an ordinary conversation, for if there is a silence it is just a sign that the people would rather not talk.
It will be hard for you to believe, dear girl, that people who are brilliant talkers admire nothing so much as the calm, sweet silence of a little girl like you, which says more than all their quips and stings.
But it is pleasant to talk sometimes and to have that pleasure you must make something of yourself through study, reflection and work. Only that talk is worthy which comes out of True Being.
But never give way to this nervousness again. Remember, it is never necessary to talk. But if somebody else talks, it is necessary to listen.

QUEEN MARY'S HOUSEHOLD

Duties of the Women Who Occupy Posts of Honor About the Person of England's Queen.

The ladies of Queen Mary's household are divided into four classes, says the Gentlewoman. First comes the mistress of the robes, then ladies of the bedchamber, usually styled ladies-in-waiting, women of the bedchamber and maids of honor. Queen Victoria as a reigning sovereign had eight ladies of each class in her household. The number retained by a queen consort, however, varies according to her pleasure and convenience. Queen Mary has at present in her service only one lady-in-waiting, three extra ladies-in-waiting and four women of the bedchamber. Maids of honor had not been appointed at the time of writing. The duties of mistress of the robes to a queen regnant is a political one and changes with the government; but that of a queen consort is in her own gift and may be held for an indefinite period. The mistress of the robes must always be a duchess, widow, in case of a queen consort a widowed duchess may be appointed if more convenient.

The duties of a mistress of the robes are limited to two occasions. The first is official in the royal suite of courts, palace balls and at the meeting of parliament. At such times she stands behind the queen, and she walks behind her royal mistress in any State procession. Also when a procession drives through the streets the carriage in which she is seated follows next after the State carriage of the sovereigns.
Her duties are many at the time of a coronation, and during the ceremony she is in close attendance on her royal lady. When their majesties are in London a mistress of the robes resides in her own house and is conveyed to and from the scene of her duties in one of the royal carriages. But if the court is at Windsor she remains under the roof of Windsor Castle.

TRIBUTE TO LATE NURSE

Boston Paper Has Eloquent Eulogy of Florence Nightingale, the Angel of the Crimea—Her Place in History.

In Monday's issue the Boston Transcript discusses editorially the work of the late Florence Nightingale as follows:
"Full of honor and years," Florence Nightingale has died at her London home. She had long been an invalid, and in her retirement, it might have seemed that she would be forgotten, but of such ingratitude there was never any danger. Modest woman that she was, she brought upon herself the tributes of respect and affection that the world, not her countrymen alone, would gladly have paid her; but more than one of her recent birthdays witnessed the outpouring of public affection; she was the only woman who ever received the Order of Merit, and governments and nations of Great Britain in her honor of hospitals sought her advice and followed it sedulously. It seems a grievous thing that her later years should have been clouded by the suffering and the interest of her great work she brought upon herself; it is the universal testimony that it never embittered her, and that no occasion found her disregarding of the comfort of others.
In the Red Cross movement, Miss Nightingale fairly won the titles of pioneer and discoverer. There were nurses before her day, and she received valuable training in a French and a Prussian hospital; but the condition of army hospitals was frequently a public scandal, and probably in modern times no such system ever broke down more completely than that of Great Britain in the Crimean War. Invalids slept in infected blankets and starved within sight of great loads of provisions and the Sairey Gamps, that represented all they knew of the world, tended them; were so incompetent that the War Office had decided to send no more women to the front. Circumstances reversed that decision. Miss Nightingale was invited to organize a nursing service, the letter from the authorities "crossing," it is said, a letter of her own in which she volunteered to take this very step. Within thirty days she had organized a corps, she went to the Crimea in the autumn of 1854. Conditions were worse even than she had anticipated, but she promptly began to mend. Beside a group of nurses, Miss Nightingale had a gift of executive ability and a will to cut the red tape that imperilled her success. The nation had placed her in charge and she exercised the quiet but persistent force that commands obedience.
Nothing in Miss Nightingale's subsequent career had the picturesque and dramatic quality of her work in the Crimea, yet that does not signify that this was her most important work. In 1854 she helped to organize the Geneva Convention, of which the Red Cross is the symbol. The Sanitary Commission, that proved its usefulness in our civil War, may be said to have been one of the labors of her hand. She was constantly consulted by both sides during the Franco-Prussian War, and Britain and Boer South Africa, as well as the regular service in India, felt the benefit of her influence. She wrote valuable books on nursing. She founded a great training school. Above every other good deed, perhaps, was her contribution toward raising the standard of her profession—one might almost say, toward founding that profession and enlisting in its ranks so many women of education and refinement. Even though wars should sometime cease, that would stand as her perpetual distinction. Meanwhile there are few more appealing figures in modern history than that of "The Lady with the Lamp," and few women of any period who have better deserved the loving admiration of humanity."

Thil Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble
There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, stinging pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."
Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifying the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's.

THE HIGHWAY ACT.

The Telegraph has been paying some attention of late to the condition of the roads between Westfield and St. John in the parishes of Lancaster and Westfield. If the editor of the dredging graters organ had thought for a moment he would have realized that he was casting reflections upon his own friends. Councillors Barnhill and Curran constitute the majority of the Highway Board for Lancaster and control and direct all the road expenditure in that parish, while Councillor Ballantine is a resident of that portion of Westfield in which the roads, of which the dredging graters complain, are situated.

The Telegraph thinks the roads should be taken out of politics. So they have been by the Hazen Act, which has given the control to the County Councillors in every parish in the province irrespective of the party to which they belong. The responsibility for the maintenance of the roads today, and for the expenditure of public moneys upon them, except in a very few sparsely settled districts, rests upon the municipal councillors who are directly responsible to the electors of the parishes for their acts. The present act is a direct measure of "Home Rule," and the very opposite of the act so much lauded by the old government which centralized the control and expenditure in the office of the chief commissioner at Fredericton.

The Hazen Act has taken the management of the roads out of politics. All the road officials are appointed by the highway boards. They were formerly appointed by the government. The boundaries of different road districts are also fixed by the boards. Yet the Telegraph with canting hypocrisy that will deceive nobody, asks that the roads be taken out of politics. Were it not for the Telegraph's desire to make political capital against the Hazen government by any means fair or foul, not one word would be heard in antagonism to the act, and nothing but praise for the improved conditions of the highways.

Hon. J. P. Burchill's remark to the effect that he never heard any complaint about the Highway Act in Northumberland, would be equally true of the other counties were it not for the Telegraph's course in misrepresenting the law and its operations. The fact that after a year's practical experience of the act, not a single amendment was moved to it by the opposition at the last session, speaks so eloquently in its favor that columns of editorials in the mendacious Telegraph cannot counteract the effect.

THE GREAT FIASCO.

After four weeks touring the West, during which he probably received more rude shocks to his self-complacency than in any period in his long political career, Sir Wilfrid is now recuperating at Banff. Speaking of the farmers of Western Canada, many of them of his own party, who charged him with failing to redeem his promises, the Premier at his closing meeting in Alberta airily described them as "a few croakers," adding with his fondness for scriptural allusions, "We read that even in Heaven there were bad angels. They fell, and I do not think these croakers will be any more successful than the bad angels." The "croakers," however, can point to one striking difference between their position and that of the bad angels. The former have discovered from practical experience that in trusting Sir Wilfrid they were living in a fool's paradise. Lucifer and his friends failed to realize when they were well off.

There can be no doubt the tour will have a profound effect upon the political fortunes of Sir Wilfrid and his party, and an effect he least expected. The farmers of Western Canada have had an opportunity to tell the Premier exactly what they think of his administration. He started out to tour the West to be educated as to its governmental necessities, and whatever he may have learned in that direction, there is no doubt the West has received a liberal education as to his true character.

Some very definite questions were asked Sir Wilfrid about the tariff—the people of the West strenuously object to a tariff which is obviously unfair to them, and among other matters he was asked to define his position on the Manitoba boundary question, terminal elevators, the chilled meat trade and the Hudson Bay Railway. To each and every one of these inquiries he replied in an evasive strain, "with the added impertinence," as the Winnipeg Telegram points out, "of attempted jocularity," which reached its climax in a wretched joke "about the discrimination of Divine providence between Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and the witticism of that 'blissful lieutenant of his who suggested that the Hudson Bay Railway would be beneficial to the chilled meat trade, amid laughter from the Ottawa trough-fed hogs."

Summing up the situation the Winnipeg Tribune points out that during the fourteen years he has been in power Sir Wilfrid has abandoned the old Liberal planks of Free Trade, Reduced Taxation, Reciprocity, Purity of Administration, Condemning Corruption, Strict Economy, Decreased Expenditure, Independence of Parliament, Responsible Government, The Land for the Settler, Senate Reform and Opposition to Railway Subsidizing.

"He was advised," continues the Tribune, "to take a 'Hooray Tour' through the West, face the music and carry the people with a new stunt of 'Blending the Races, Banners and Big Things Before I Die.' At nearly every joint the Great Bluffer and Jollier has been called. As the Grain Growers at Regina said: 'We do not wish to ask from you an expression of sympathy with our wishes. What we seek from you is a definite assurance that your government will adopt measures to give us relief by affecting a reduction in the general tariff and especially in respect to agricultural implements.'

"At last the farmers have 'jumped on' jolly tactics. They ask Sir Wilfrid to be a man and discuss public questions like a man. Everywhere throughout the West and in British Columbia the electors should speak to the Premier plainly and directly. If he evades the point call his attention to the fact that his evasion has been noted.

"Sir Wilfrid will never make another western tour. This is his last. He has bedevilled a great party; he has been the enemy of great principles. Even pity for old age should not prevent him hearing the whole truth. An unfaithful servant, particularly a public servant, is deserving of little pity."

NEW EXPERIENCES IN LONDON.

The Canadian teachers, who are at present touring the Old Country, are learning, like many others who visit England for the first time, that their pre-conceived notions are strangely at variance with conditions as they find them. One of the first things the visitors did was to go for a three hours' drive round London. They thought the city very quiet—so quiet, indeed, that they found it difficult to believe they were in the London of their imagination.

"We are all astonished," said a lady teacher from Winnipeg to a newspaper representative, "to hear so little noise. We had imagined a noisy, nerve-racking place, but we find it quiet and restful. We know now that in Canada we make a great deal of unnecessary noise. The trains, the trams, and all the traffic there make ear-splitting sounds with whistles or bells continuously. Here the whistles of your trains seem to us like penny toys, and all the other sounds are on the same level.

"The only real noise we have heard is the whistle for a taxi. That is the one thing that upsets the surprising peacefulness of the streets. Your squares have an almost deathless stillness. There are no such places in Canadian or American towns. There it is impossible to escape from the noise of the streets, but here you seem to be able, at any moment, to get into the country. Hyde Park is amazing. In the very middle of your city you have a piece of country almost as quiet as one of our own prairies, and far more beautiful. It is so green, so wooded, and so natural.

"I like your chimneys. In Canada we usually have only one to each house, as we have no separate fires; but here you have whole battalions of grotesque shapes against the sky. What are those distorted little imp-like figures that curl about so funny? Many look just like human beings. Your steeples are fine. We have scarcely any because Canadian winds are too strong, and all we can have are solid towers. We have nothing to compare with your beautiful, delicate skyline. London is very clean. We were surprised to find how clean even the side streets were, and the people are so leisurely. We expected to find hurrying crowds, but we saw only a number of leisurely people, walking along as if there were no need to hurry. In Canadian towns every man looks as if he were just spending his last five minutes and as if no one else was of any interest or importance. Here in London, however, you seem to have time for everything. You crowd round a fallen horse, you stop and talk in the street, you go from one shop window to another.

"You are so very polite, too. We have been very agreeably surprised by the courtesy shown to us. Even your railway porters seem to have time to be polite. We gave them a good deal of trouble when we arrived, but they did their work cheerfully and courteously. The same cannot be said of Canadian porters."

"The programme for the six weeks' visit of the teachers, who number about a hundred, includes calls at all the chief places of historical and picturesque interest in England, Scotland, and Ireland. The National Union of English Teachers, the Victoria League and the London Teachers' Association are combining to make the tour inexpensive but interesting.

MUSIC IN THE HENNERY.

A news item from Springfield, Ohio, tells of the wonderful success of a woman near that city who has combined her hennerly and music conservatory. Through an accidental discovery, she was enabled to supply the tables of the rich and near-rich with strictly fresh eggs at prices as low as the "treated" variety from the embalming establishment and cold-storage houses.

When her hens struck, she was well launched in the egg business, and simply had to have eggs to supply her customers. Someone jokingly told her that hens were fond of music and she decided to experiment. With the house door open so her fowls could hear, she played the piano nearly all of one day. To her surprise, the next day she gathered six eggs more than had been her daily allotment. She then placed a phonograph, supplied with catchy and seductive airs, in the room adjoining the hennerly, and kept it wound up all day.

The hens, apparently touched by the effort to relieve them from ennui, fairly outdid themselves. There is a suspicion, not yet verified, that some of the pullets laid two eggs a day, not stopping to remember that this was against the law. The tunes which she has found most conducive to egg production are said to be "Work for the Night Is Coming," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and "December's as Pleasant as May."

CURRENT COMMENT

(Ottawa Free Press.)

Who will say that the resources of civilization are exhausted? A woman appeared in court in Indianapolis for slapping a piece of well-used fly-paper over the mouth of an abusive mother-in-law. The effectiveness of the novel weapon of self-defence was in evidence, and should enhance the value of adhesive papers as something no afflicted family would willingly be without.

(Ridgetown Dominion.)

Sir Wilfrid is a democrat to the hilt, but wears a title; he is a free trader, but practises protection; he is a British subject, but his heart is French; he is a promoter of peace, but reached office through a religious school war; he is an honest man, who "respects and loves" Pugsley.

(Lethbridge Herald.)

Fernie reports that a man married a woman the second time after being separated for a great many years. Guess he found out in the meantime that they are all alike and that he might as well stay with the one he started with.

Sales of sewing machines are reported to be showing large increases. This is a healthier development than the boom in the automobile trade.

(Vancouver World.)

It is strange but true that many of the sign posts on the road to success were put up by men who were failures.

TACT.

Hail, graceful Tact! That to no fool denies
A charm to tame the wild and cheat
the wise,
And, without lying, reaps the gain of lies.

That, courteous ever, kills without a blow,
And with a Yes, contrives to act a No,
And can compress a volume into
"Oh!"

That wins by losing, and by serving reigns,
By silence argues; and by giving gains;
That throws its stones, yet saves its window panes.

That looks like porcelain, when 'tis made of felt;
And, pilfering by its very storm of Tricks all the world; yes, even tricks—itself.

LACKING A SOVEREIGN POWER, MEN ARE AT WAR.

During the time men live without a common power to keep them all in awe, they are in that condition which is called war; and such a war, as is of every man against every man. For war consisteth not in battle only, or the act of fighting, but in a tract of time, wherein the will to contend by battle is sufficiently known; and there is no intermission thereto of many days together; so the nature of war, consisteth not in actual fighting, but in the known disposition thereto, during all the time there is no assistance to the contrary. All other time is Peace.

GOOD STORIES

An Irishman dying in a remote village in Ireland, his relatives were anxious to have his name and date of his birth and death engraved upon a coffin plate. The village tinker was sent for.

"How old was he?" asked the tinker.
"Twenty-eight," was the reply.
"Well," said the tinker, "I'm afraid I can't do the job, for I can't make an 8; there's too many circles in it. But I could make you four 7's, if that will do you. Four 7's is twenty-eight."

The compromise was accepted and the coffin plate finished and nailed to the coffin. At the funeral the officiating clergyman said:
"Brethren and sisters, we are gathered together to pay the last tribute of respect to our deceased brother who passed away at the early age of— here he paused and readjusted his spectacles—"at the early age of 7777 years! Great Scott, brethren, he was born before the flood!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Then it Happened

Antonio Caesere was a good section hand, but a mighty poor hod carrier. Thus it happened that when he had climbed a ladder three stories with his load of brick he suddenly lost heart and his balance at the same time.

Passing leisurely along the sidewalk with his eyes firmly fixed on Hasty Helen, the Hash Hustler, was Flirtatious Freddy. He carelessly wended his way beneath the ladder on which was Antonio.

"Ah, there, Helen," quoth he.
But just then Antonio let the hod slip.

Headaches or Glasses?

The choice is yours. Headaches are a result of eye strains. Medicines will not effect a cure. Glasses will.

Do not think because your vision is good that you do not need glasses, for headaches come usually when the vision is good, because there is a strain on the muscles of the eye to get that good vision.

If you "don't like glasses" and "won't wear them till you have to" don't complain—that's your choice.

If you want to be rid of your headaches let us make you a pair of glasses that will relieve the eye strain.

City Council Will Hold a Sworn Investigation Into Work on Main St. Paving

Yesterday's Exploration of Indicated Pavement Surface Throws Little Additional Light on the Charges and Counter Charges Made by All Concerned.

Base Was Found to be Less Than the Required Thickness and Apparently of Inferior Quality--Mr. Carleton, the Contractors and City Engineer Tell Conflicting Stories.

As a result of the discoveries made by the exploring party which invaded Main street yesterday, and the conflicting explanations made by the contractors and the ex-inspectors, Mayor Frink has called a special meeting of the Common Council for 10 o'clock this morning, at which evidence will be taken under oath with a view to solving the riddle.

Not As Good As Sample.

The portion of the foundation torn up yesterday was decidedly inferior to the samples cut out some time ago. The contractors and the assistant city engineer say that this particular piece was laid according to the directions of the ex-inspector, the crushed stone being repeatedly rolled before the grout was applied. On the other hand the ex-inspector is emphatic in his assertion that the crushed stone was rolled before the grout was applied in defiance of his protests.

ROSSI SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Preliminary Examination Completed in Police Court Yesterday--Prisoner in Statement to Dep. Chief Admitted Killing

In the police court yesterday morning Andrew Rossi was sent up for trial on the charge of murdering Diego Siracusa. He will be tried at the session of the Supreme Court on the fourth Tuesday in September. The feature of yesterday's session was the reading by Deputy Chief of a statement made to him by Rossi in which the Italian admitted the killing of Siracusa. The statement was as follows:

"Andrew Rossi, I'm going to ask you some questions, but I'm going to warn you as the law directs. At present I have arrested you for assault causing actual bodily harm to Diego Siracusa at his house, 37 North street, on the morning of the 26th inst., and robbing him, and the charge may be more serious than assault. Now you need not answer me unless you wish, but anything you do say to me the deputy chief will take it down in writing, and I may use it in evidence against you at your trial."

At this point the witness told the prisoner to thoroughly understand what had been said to him: "If you would rather not say anything don't do so, but if you desire to talk remember I am going to write it down." The detective then asked the prisoner some questions.

Mr. Logan objected to the statement being read, stating that the statement would go out to the public through the press. The witness was allowed to read the statement, which was as follows: "Andrew Rossi is my name in full. I was born in Padua, Italy, near Naples, on February 21st and am 21 years of age. I came out to this country in 1904 and was in Montreal five years. I worked from Montreal to Moncton and worked in the woods. I then worked on the railway. I came to St. John and was here a month and a half. I worked for John deAngelo and for Siracusa. That night Siracusa went out early, about eight o'clock; he later returned and went out again. He returned about 11.15 o'clock. Siracusa laughed at me. Siracusa was mad, we both were mad. I was mad because he went out with Minnie Jones, who I used to go with. He kept laughing at me. He laughed at me about because he took off his clothes and went to bed. When he left he kept laughing at me. I stayed outside and was writing a letter to my mother. Siracusa kept on laughing. He was laughing at me still. I was mad. I got my gun from under my bed and I shot him on the head. I did not hit him with a stick. I took his watch and chain. I stayed in the house for one hour and a half after I shot him. I then went out the road and drove the gun back, returned to the house not about eight o'clock and then walked to Fairville at nine o'clock and went to Weisford. I paid one dollar and eighty-five cents for a ticket to McAdam."

"Siracusa never spoke after I shot him. He was awake, his eyes opened, then he was crying after I shot him. I did not go to him. I knew he was going to die. I only fired the one shot."

Witness then stated that he handed a pen to Rossi and he signed his name to the statement above given.

RUSSIAN WRESTLER IS OUT FOR BLOOD

Jack Leon, the Russian Lion, Passed Through Yesterday to Sydney, Where He Will Meet Dan McLeod.

Jack Leon, the Russian Lion, passed through St. John yesterday on his way to Nova Scotia, where he is anxious to meet any wrestler, Dan McDonald of Cape Breton preferred. Leon, who is a young fellow, has been in this country but a short time. He hails now from Bangor. He has wrestled all corners in Maine, as well as the top notches in the middle and east, and he has won the world's champion. It took Gotch 28 minutes to throw Leon. Last week he won from Farrill the Italian champion in Manchester, N. H.

Leon says that he is willing to take on any man in the Maritime Provinces with or without a side bet, and with any conditions that may be suitable to them.

He is certainly a husky looking man, standing well over six feet, and wrestles at 210 pounds. Leon is also something of a boxer, and is willing to take on any of the Maritime pugilists except of Frank Gotch, the world's champion. He intends stopping off at Amherst.

Fire in West End.

Jack Sherwood's Body Found.

The body of Jack Sherwood, who met death by drowning in the river two weeks ago, was discovered yesterday morning about 7 o'clock by Charles Rodgers lying face down in the water near the shore at Indiantown. Dr. Roberts viewed the remains and decided that an inquest would be held. The funeral will be held this afternoon.

New Pictures and Comedy Sketch at Nickel.

The Nickel presents another new programme today, the chief feature of which in the line of pictures will be the late Biograph story "The Call to Arms." This is a melodramatic tale with gorgeous investiture. The laugh-making matter will be supplied in Selig productions "A Mad Mad Scare" and "The Sleep Walking Cure." By special request and because it is so notable a film, the great cowboy picture "Life in the Great Southwest" will be repeated. During Monday and Tuesday the thrilling acts performed in this carnival of daring deeds were commented upon by Nickel patrons in all sections of the city. Miss Prescott will sing that old favorite ballad "The Son's My Mother Used to Sing" and the orchestra will have a new clever little comedy which will conclude the production of the dainty French comedy "The Diplomacy of Susanne" tonight and on Thursday will have still another new piece "The Heart of May Blossom."

Trading More Active and Cheerful Sentiment Rules on 'Change—Reading Interests May be Merged.

New York, Aug. 16.—The stock market today manifested a very decided disposition to awaken from its lethargy of the previous day by making a number of substantial advances.

On the other hand, marked improvement was reported in the general situation, and much of the day's news respecting crops was at least favorable.

On the stock exchange sentiment was more cheerful, traders taking the ground that the immediate outlook seems conducive to a better market.

In the late session the market became more brisk and a generally higher level of prices was recorded.

YACHT CLUB IN SESSION

R.K.Y.C. at Quarterly Meeting Appoint Committee to Act on Mr. Lantulum's Charges Against Steamer Hampton.

The quarterly meeting of the R. K. Y. C. was held last evening, with Commodore Thomson in the chair. Reports of the executive submitted showed the club to be in good financial standing and that the past quarter was a most successful one from the standpoint of pleasure and interest manifested by the members.

After considerable discussion on the matter some slight changes in the present system in force was adopted. A feature of the meeting was the action of ex-Ald. T. Lantulum, a veteran member of the club, demanding that an investigation be started by the club into the action of the navigators of the steamer Hampton in neglecting to observe the navigation rules.

A Narrow Escape. Mr. Lantulum who is one of the best known amateur sailors in the province in demanding the investigation said his escape from death by reason of the action of those navigating the Hampton was the narrowest he had ever had.

While sailing on the port tack he saw the steamer Hampton coming up, and after a time realized that they were likely to come close together. Later it became apparent that unless the steamer changed her course the two craft would collide.

Mr. Lantulum said his first impulse was to jump aboard the steamer, abandoning his own boat. He said the steersman of the Hampton, if attending to his duty, must surely have seen him, and he could not understand why he had not give way.

Committee Appointed. The members of the club present were all of the opinion that the rights of sailing craft on the river should be protected, and favored a committee being appointed to interview the management of the Hampton with a view of finding out why the Hampton's captain failed to comply with the rules.

On Saturday the best race of the season is scheduled when the cruising yachts of the R. K. Y. C. will compete for the Beveridge cup. Nearly all the club boats have entered and keen competition is looked for.

CALAIS WON GAME FROM EASTPORT

St. Stephen, N. B., Aug. 16.—The Calais diamond saw a good game this afternoon when the Braves of Eastport were defeated by the Calais Stars. The latter team sometimes makes mistakes when abroad but plays ball all the time on its own diamond and the team that defeats it has to put up a superior class of goods.

The game opened with Ferguson pitching and Dana catching for Eastport. The Stars batted the southpaw pretty freely getting one, two and three in the first three innings. Then Eke Johnson replaced Ferguson in the box and it was surely the tall fellow's day. Only one safe hit and not a single score was made off him in the remaining five innings.

O'Neill and Cobb formed the Calais battery throughout and did splendid work, holding Eastport down to single runs in the sixth, seventh and ninth innings. O'Neill struck out eight men, Johnson three. Ferguson, who is usually very effective, struck out none.

The score was 6 to 3 in favor of Calais. E. Doyle was a thoroughly satisfactory umpire. Woodland plays on St. Stephen diamond tomorrow and Woodstock on the Calais diamond Thursday.
