DR. RAINSFORD POPULAR

Support for Him in the Canvass for Bishop Coadjutor of Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1 .- A conference of delegates to the Minnesota Episcopal Diocesan convention, to elect a bishop coadjutor, was held Saturday, and a clergyman who was present gave out this statement: "Those who are strenuous in their support of Dr. Rainsford have nothing disrespectful or discourteous to say of Bishop Edsall, who has been mentioned as a candidate, but are open in the expression of the opinion that the New York rector would better sub-serve the interests of the diocese. The expressions in favor of Dr. Rainsford were many and warm, and it was evident that the majority of those present espoused his cause.

"It is true that the main strength of Dr. Rainsford lies with the laity and that his forces among the laymen are receiving constant accretions. But on the other hand, there are members of the clergy of the diocese who are open in their expressions of preference of the New York divine." The diocesan council will meet on Wednesday.

HE RODE A RAM AND WAS KILLED

Daring Youth Proposed a Novel Ride and Met Death as a Result.

Cumberland, Md., June 3.-Luke Mallon, a youth residing along the south branch of the Potomac, met his death Saturday in a manner that was novel. In company with others he was trying to conquer a vicious ram that was grazing on a mountain field. In a spirit of bravado he offered to lay a wager that he could ride the animal. His banter was accepted. His companions had no sooner assisted him to mount the ram's back than the animal bounded off down a steep mountain side. When near its base the ram collided with a tree with such force that he was knocked senseless, while the rider was so badly injured that he died a few hours later.

The ram is an extra large one and had been running in the mountains so long that he was as savage as a wild animal. Mallon was the son of a well-known farmer and was about 16 years old of the Potomac, met his death Saturday

A dispatch from Pretoria announces that the constabulary have captured Abram Malan, son-in-law of the late General Joubert. Malan was an energetic, progressive politician before the war and since it began he had been very active against the British and had filled several important commands, including that of Pietersburg, until the British occupied the place. MILITARY MEN NOT ANXIOUS. London, June 3.—It is not probable that the war office is deliberately sup-pressing dispatches from Gen. Kitchener, and that a serious reverse has occurred. Gen. Kitchener has told the story of the battle briefly, and is not disposed to magnify the importance of anything connected with the campaign, but cannot withhold the list of casualties. The absence of Mr. Brodrick may explain the reticence of the officials in Pall Mall. The stronghold of red tape and the details of the battle may not be accessible to the few straggling war correspondents remaining in the field. There is no anxiety among military men, since the Boers are known to have been finally repulsed, but there is strong suspicions that the Brtish were again OFF THEIR GUARD, and that the heavy losses were caused by their being attacked unexpectedly Delarey's commando has been allowed free range of a large district for a long period, while Gen. Kitchener has considered it more important to clear other portions of the Transvaal. Gen. Smith-Dorrien, who has been welcomed home at Berkemstead, reports that while the war may be ended by September, the bulk of the army will be needed in South Africa for twelve months. This

A SENSATIONAL STORY.

London, June 3.-The Sun publishes a sensational story to the effect that General Botha has arrived at Standerton, and is communicating by telegraph with M. The Sun further hears that 10,000 Zulus have gone on the warpath, owing to Boer raids in Zululand.

Their visit seems to have greatly disconcerted Kruger and his entourage, who are busy in explaining that there is no truth in the suggested request for Dutch mediation, and FRENCH that the burghers were never in better spirits or more resolved to fight to the end. The jingo newspapers here are also somewhat disconcerted at the news, and the London Daily Mail says the country will ratify no such demands as were made by General Botha on a previous occasion.

THE CASUALTY LISTS

The daily lists of casualties are anxiously studied, but those lists do not fully indicate the actual number of deaths among British soldiers caused by the war. A good many men invalided home have died in England without being included in the list. At the present moment all the military hospitals in the United Kingdom are crowded with patients, a large number of whom are suffering from enteric fever, contracted in South Africa.

Reports From Delegates Guarantee Increased Success for This Year's Celebration.

Report of the Annual Meeting and Accompanying Banquet at the Tecumseh House on Saturday Night.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 5, 6 and 7, are destined to be memorable days in the annals of London for the year 1901, for they are the days when London's Old Boys and their ladies will come from all over the continent of America, and even from across the broad Atlantic, to view once more the scenes of their childhood, to note the changes that the years bring, and to renew the friendships and associations which are linked in their memories and hearts with many fond

The fixing of these days as the date of the annual reunion was part of the business transacted at Saturday night's meeting of the executive of the International London Old Boys' Association, held at the Tecumseh House. Delegates present from other places were: W. A. Small, and Thos. Wes-ton, of Chicago; Atwell Fleming and Thos. Duff, of Toronto; Dr. Bert Leys, C. Sullivan and John McPherson, Detroit; Harry Jenks, Rochester, and James Smyth, Windsor. The members of the home guard present were: President Frank Love, Secretary Jas. S. Bell, Mayor Rumball, Dr. Fred. L. Wood, Ald. Cooper, Dr. J. N. Wood, Wood, Aid. Cooper, Dr. J. Frank Cooper, Wm. Wanless, John Macaberson, James Herrick, J. W. Macpherson, James Herrick, J. W. Jones, Robt. Carrothers, Alf. Talbot, John R. Minhinnick, jun., P. H. Bartlett, James Tytler, J. M. Daly, Hugh McLean, E. W. M. Flock, E. J. Mac-Robert, S. H. Craig, R. W. Bennet, John Stevely, Ed. Struthers and Harry

The delegates were welcomed by Mayor Rumball and President Frank Love. The former assured the executive that, despite the refusal of the city council to vote financial aid to the Old Boys, he felt sure that every member of the council was ready to go down into his pocket and contribute to assist in the success of the annual reunion. The president, in welcoming the delegates, spoke of success attained everywhere by London Old Boys. He assured them of a hearty welcome from the city in August and a more enjoyable time than even former reunions have provided.

Thomas Weston, chairman of the executive, replied on behalf of the dele-He expressed his confidence that this year's celebration would eclipse the successes of former occafor the reunion, even far-off Edmonton promising a quota of twenty.

Geo. H. Bennet, of Glasgow, Scotland, and Chas. Bennet, jun., of London, England, wrote reporting the formation of a London Old Boys' Association in those cities. If informed in time of the date of the reunion, they said, they will be present. Mention was also made in their letters to the way in which the fame of the Old Boy movement has traveled.

Verbal reports from the delegates present were then made. Harry Jenks, who has just moved to London from Rochester, reported that the association there was not as large as some others, but just as enthusiastic, and its members will be on hand in August. James Smyth, of Windsor, reported a membership of 50 in that city. Dr. Leys and Messrs. Sullivan and McPherson said that the Detroit association is as enthusiastic as ever, and that their special train is already chartered. Messrs. Duff and Fleming of Toronto, and Mr. Small, of Chicago, all reported the same determination on the part of associations to make the reunion a thorough success.

The fixing of the date for the reunion in August was then taken up. Toronto delegates wanted it on The Saturday and Monday, Aug. 3 and 5, but learning that Detroit favored Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 5, 6 and 7, the Toronto men gracefully gave way and moved that the latter date be adopted.

Following the meeting a tasty luncheon was served in the dining-room of the Tecumseh, at which the delegates and members of the home guard sat down. The following test list was afterwards introduced: "The King," response by J. W. Jones; "The International Association of London Old Messrs. DELUGE OF MARRIAGE PROPOSALS

Ambitious Women Wished to Wed Thomas A. Edison.

A Multum in Parvo Letter and What It Brought About.

Mr. James Symington Gives an Advertiser Reporter Some Interesting Reminiscences of the Man Who Made a Machine Talk.

Were it not for his well-known indifference to public attention, Thomas A. Edison, the wizard of the electrical world, might be suspected of having himself penned the threatening letter addressed to him and now in the hands of the New York police. Nicola Tesla's meteor-like leap from obscurity to fame rather dimmed the luster of the wizard's name, but his recent experience with kidnappers, who threatened to carry away one of his children un-less $25,000 were left at a specified place has started a new series of anecdotes about the man who made the talking machine.

"Edison's marital experience has been most happy," said Mr. James Symington, of Port Huron, Mich., to an Advertiser reporter, "and his family is an interesting one.'

Mr. Symington, who, by the way, was born within a stone's throw of Abbotsford, and who distinctly remembers genial old Sir Walter Scott, has been a life-long friend of the Edisons. He has watched the inventor grow from a delicate, precocious child, with an abnormally developed head, to be the unchallenged king of the realm of science. He knew Tom Edison, the railway newsboy, and Tom Edison, the telegraph operator, quite as well as he knows the man whom Lord Kel-vin termed "the master mind of the century.' DELUGE OF MARRIAGE PROPOS-

"The inventor has been twice married," continued Mr. Symington, "and his choice in both instances was a wise one. It is needless to say it was not influenced to any material extent by the constant deluge of letters he received from matrimonially-inclined women throughout the United States In a conversation with the inventor some time after the death of his first wife, I casually touched on the topic of marriage. The master laughed quietly, and stepping to a drawer, drew forth a huge bundle of letters.

"'All these,' said he, 'are from eligible, and, I trust, estimable ladies in the United States, and each contains an offer of marriage, highly flattering to my vanity.' One from a California woman betrayed unusual culture and education. She was confident that with her knowledge of the world and polite society she would be able to preside over Mr. Edison's household, and to train up his children in a manner befitting his rank and wealth.

In other words, said Mr. Edison. commenting thereon, 'she proposes to educate my children in the spending money gracefully. Well, unfortunately for her aspirations, I do not wish my sons educated into spend-

A MULTUM IN PARVO LETTER. The simplicity and directness of Edison was never better illustrated than in a letter in which he invited his father to go to Europe with Mr. Symington. This letter, which has never before been reproduced, is now in the possession of Mr. Symington, and he cherishes it as one of his greatest treasures. It reads:

From the Laboratory of T. A. Edison, Menlo Park, N. J., U. S. A. May, 18, 1878.

Dear Father,-How would you like passed his 30th year when this traordinary epistle was dispatched. Ten years before, he was a telegraph operator with not enough money to engage steerage passage for a cockroach. Five years before that he was

$2,000 FOR POCKET MONEY.

The elder Edison, at the time he received this letter, was 74 years of age, but so well preserved as to appear twenty years younger. The invitation was accepted, and Mr. Symington thus land. tells how the trip was carried out:
"In response to Edison's proposition," he says, "I and Samuel Edison journeyed to Menlo Park. As we entered the laboratory, T. A. E. accosted us thus: 'So you two propose to do Europe, eh?' as if it were not his own proposal. 'How much money do A. E., coming to our rescue, 'do you think $2,000 would put you through?" -our trip was to last two months. I replied that I thought, by rigid economy on our part, it might, providing did not get robbed or get drunk. The necessary preliminaries being dis-posed of, Mr. Edison took us to town, engaged berths for us on the State of Pennsylvania, and saw us safely aboard and off."

Coming to Canada, in 1844, he was ordained deacon, 1846, and priest shortly afterward. For eight years he was a professor at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, where he obtained the degree of Doctor of Divinity, 1854, and was incumbent of St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke. He was then appointed general superintendent for the Colonial and Continental Church Society in the British North American colonies. While holding this position in 1861, he was chosen by the late Bishop Cronyn to proceed to England to collect funds for the establishment and endowment of a theological college in the Diocese of Huron. Having been created archdeacon of Huron, he set forth on his mission, which was entirely successful, the necessary funds being collected in a very short time. On his return to Canada he was appointed principal and professor of divinity in the new institution, which was opened in 1863 as the Huron Theological College. On the retirement of Dr. Cronyn from the rectorship of St. Paul's Cathedral, Dr. Hellmuth was appointed dean and rectorship the stable of the control o tor. A few years later, on the death of Dr. Cronyn, Dr. Hellmuth succeeded him as bishop of Huron, and continued to direct the affairs of the diocese up to his resignation in 1883, he being then appointed commissary bishop of Ripon, England. His crowning achievement in Canada was the establishment of the Western University here, for the endowment of which he personally contributed the sum of $10,000. He received the honorary degree of D. C. L. from Trinity University, Toronto, in 1871. After the death of Bishop Bic-kersteth, 1896, he retired from the Diocese of Ripon, and was named rector to Bridlington, Yorkshire. His lordship was distinguished as a writer upon theological and Biblical subjects. He was twice married, first to Catherine, daughter of the late Gen. Evans, C. B., and in 1886 to the Hon. SAD MESSAGE FROM FAR AWAY FORMOSA!

Rev. Dr. McKay, the Noted Missionary, Died at His Work.

Toronto, June 2 .- "Dr. McKay is dead." This message, cabled from Tam-Sui, Formosa, reached the Presbyterian Foreign Mission office here today. It marks the close of perhaps the greatest missionary life since that of Livingston, with the possible exception of Paton, of the New Hebrides.

Rev. Dr. McKay, of Formosa, was born in Zorra, Oxford county, in 1844, and after his ordination to the min-istry decided to take up mission work in the Island of Formosa, which was inhabited by Chinese, without much civilization, and with greater ferocity than their brethren of the mainland. Dr. McKay's life work in Formosa was splendidly fruitful. He established be-tween 60 and 70 churches, together with schools and colleges for the higher education of women. He married a Formosan lady in 1878, adopted the native costume, and identified himself thoroughly with the people. When Formosa was transferred to Japan as part of the spoils of war, he took an important part in soothing the feelings of the people and making the transfer less bloody than it otherwise would have been. His last visit to Canada was in 1894, and he was then elected moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly as a token of appreciation of his great work. He leaves a son and two daughters, who are engaged in the work of civilization of Interesting Series of Meetings at the Christian Workers' Church.

At the Christian Workers' Church, on king street, there was begun yesterday a series of meetings under the auspices of Friends of Israel Union, having for their object the furthering of the work of evangelization among the Jewish people.

In the morning Rev. Mark Lev delivered an address on "Israel as a Missionary Nation," showing that Israel has been in the past and will be again the divine instrument in the evangelization of the world. He showed the unique place which Israel has, as the center of all God's dealings with humanity. Mr. Lev is the editor of Immanuels Witness, of Cleveland, Ohio, and has had large experience in the work of reaching the Jews with the Gospel.

At 3:30 Rev. H. Denning delivered a lecture on the "Seven Dispensations." using his large prophetical chart. He showed that God had a purpose from the beginning, which is to bless the world through the Jew, and that the Bible is best understood as seen in its dispensational aspect.

At 7 p.m. both gentlemen spoke to a large audience on the subject of Jewevangelization, as a Jew sees it and as a Gentile sees it, removing many of the misapprehensiones of the popular mind toward the subject of Jewish evangelization. A number of Hebrew citizens were attentive listen-At the close a number of them ers. came forward to greet Mr. Lev, one of whom came from his own home, Odessa, in Russia. Mr. Lev was formerly associated with the work of the McAll Mision in France, and preaches in French, Yiddish, German, Russian and Hebrew to his fellow-countrymen. The subsequent meeting to be held

If the person who suffers from Asthma could only see the thousands of letters on file at our different offices he would no longer doubt that Asthma can be cured by Clarke's Kola Compound. Mrs. J. Wise, Mount Pleasant, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "I have been a most unfortunate sufferer from Bronchial Asthma for the past eight years, and I con't think any person with this disease could have suffered more during that time. Many times for weeks I could not lie down at all. My doctor told me I lie down at all. My doctor told me I could never get better. Just then I heard of a Vancouver gentleman who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound, so I tried it. The first bottle did not relieve me much, but soon I began to improve, and before I had finished the fourth bottle the attacks ceased altogether, and during the past six months of damp, cold and foggy weather have not had a single attack. It seems like a dream to be free from this worst of all diseases after so many years of suffering. I have since regained my lost strength and after so many years of suffering. I have since regained my lost strength and weight, and don't think I ever felt better than now. I consider Clarke's Kola Compound a marvelous remedy, and would urge any person suffering from this disease to try it."

SORE ALL OVER

Back Sore, Head Sore, Hands Sore-The Terrible Experience of Mrs. Rousseau, of Ottawa. Ottawa, Ont., June 3.-(Special).-

The following written statement, made and signed by Mrs. J. William Rousseau, of 10 Flora street, this city, shows what some women can go through, and yet live:

"I have been ailing for three years. My back was dreadfully sore. My head ached all the time. My hands were swollen and very painful. "I cannot tell the pains I indured. No words can describe my torture.

"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills-three boxes altogether-and I am well. "They did more for me than anything else in the world, and I recommend them to every suffering woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills have wrought some miraculous cures in and around Ottawa, but none more satisfactory, than in the case of Mrs. Rousseau.

MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER A SCRUB GIRL.

St. Joseph, Mich., June 1.-Isadore Roth, the New York man who was lodged in jail here on Friday, when told that the officers from New York would reach here on Sunday, said: "The whole thing is a simple love affair in which Rosie, the daughter of Millionaire Geist, was too young to marry without the father's consent. The par ents' refusal prompted the elopment and, though a highly accomplished girl, whose ability in art had won her much favor, I left her six weeks ago at Buffalo, employed at the hotel as scrub girl, and there she had pledged herself to remain until I could secure money enough to remove her. Our plan was to wait until she was of proper age and then to marry. Now the whole thing is up."

Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

Every drop of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent communicates through the blood, sweat, urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life; for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated venereal in its many forms (send 10 cents for illustrated book, "Radway on Venereal"), glandular diseases, ulcers in the throat, mouth, tumors, nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, sore eyes, strumous disparts of the system, sore eyes, strumous dis-charges from the ears, and the worst forms of skin diseases, eruptions, fever sores, scald head, ring worm, salt rheum, crysipelas, acne, black spots in the flesh, tumors, cancerous black spots in the flesh, tumors, cancerous growths, female complaints and all weakening and painful discharges, night sweats, nocturnal losses and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this Wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them. If the patient, daily becoming reduced by wastes and decompositions, that are continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes and repairs thesame with new material made from healthy blood, and this the Sarsaparillian will and does secure, a cure is certain, for when once this remedy commences its work of purification and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and the flesh and weight increasing.

SCROFULA FROM BIRTH.

Dr. Radway—Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicine called Sarsaparillian Resolvent. I have a girl 3 years sid last September, who has sunered with corefula ever since she was two years old. In fact the doctor told us she was born with it. We had our best local doctors with her, and it seemed like all hope was gone, for they told us if the disease settled on her lungs she could not be cured. This frightful disease seated or seized upon her lungs severely. I began to think that our little girl could not live very long; our physician's medicines doing no good. In the meantime I received a copy of your medical publication called "False and True," which you sent me. After seeing the accounts medical publication called "False and True," which you sent me. After seeing the accounts of so many cures effected by your treatments I at once resorted to them, and by the time she had used one bottle she was well. The ulcers that were making their appearance on her body are entirely gone, her lungs almost healed, or, at least, she has quit coughing. She has begun on the second bottle, and I believe by the time she uses all of it she will be well. She had a very bad cough, I am yours with respect. had a very bad cough. I am yours with respect, SAMUEL S. BARKER,

Dr. Radway-Dear Sir: For a long time past I have been suffering in a most distressing manner from a long train of symptoms which have baffled the skill of all the medical men down here, and which, I fear, if not arrested in their progress, would terminate in the total prostration of my strength. Loss of appetite and desire of stimulating and artificial means of sustenance at irregular times, want of healthy eleep and consequent depression on healthy eleep and consequent depression on arising in the morning, rendered life quite a burden to me, until a friend induced me to burden to me, anth's triend induced me to try your medicine. So I got a bottle of Rad-way's Sarsaparillian and a box of Radway's Pilis, and took them according to directions. I soon found relief. I got three boxes and three bottles more, and I am better in health than ever before. I remain your humble ser-

SNUBBED HENRY!

The Emperor William Devoted All His Attention to Queen Wilhelmina.

Provisions for the Emperor's Safety Temporarily Relaxed---King Edward Receives a Score of New York Chamber of Commerce Delegates.

London, June 2.-Queen Wilhelmina (W. Pinchot, Vernon H. Brown, George and her husband, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, who have been visiting Emperor William at Potsdam, left for Schwerin yesterday afternoon. They were bidden farewell at the station by Emperor William, the empress, the crown prince and many other distinguished personages.

The visit of Queen Wilhelmina and her husband, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, and the military and court festivities, were favored with exceptionally fine weather, though hot, bringing thousands of foreign guests to Berlin. It was remarkable that Gen. Bonnal and his suite, throughout the week, wherever they went, met with a courteous reception by the populace, even by the commonest laborers when driving through the town, parks and other described by Col. Gallet, who accompanied Gen. Bonnal. The colonel said that while driving past a group of asphalt street laborers, they all stopped work, drew up in a military attitude, and saluted, some of them shouting, 'Vive la France, our next ally."

For a time the provisions adopted for Emperor William's safety were somewhat relaxed.

LITTLE ATTENTION PAID TO HENRY.

It was noted that Queen Wilhelmina yesterday was greeted by the Berliners with special fervor. She was ceaselessly bowing and smiling. In court circles the report that Queen Wilhelmina was in a delicate state of health finds credence. It was noted that very little attention was paid to her husband, who looked gloomy. The emperor seldom spoke to him, but frequently spoke to the queen.

On the occasion of the parade of the Potsdam garrison today, Emperor William conferred on Queen Wilhelmina the Queen Louise order, inscribed "1813-1814," and decorated her husband, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, with the Order of the Black Eagle.

KING EDWARD ENTERTAINS FIN-

ANCIAL PRINCES. Twenty-two American gentlemen, dressed in the deep black of British court mourning, representing many millions of money, and vast commercial interests, were the guests of King Edward at Windsor on Saturday. They were the delegates of the New York Chamber of Commerce The visit was Chamber of Commerce. The visit was arranged by the London Chamber of Commerce, the president of which, Lord Brassey, accompanied the American party. The visitors were greatly impressed and pleased by their audience of the King, who was just as interested at meeting them, as they were at meeting him. The King had expressed considerable curiosity to see what manner of men these multi-millionaires might be, and especially Messrs. Morgan and Carnegie. As regards the latter, the King was disappointed, for Mr. Carnegie was unable to be present.

MORGAN THE MAN.

From the King down all the officials centered their attention on Mr. Morgan. Their curiosity was not unmixed with awe. One of the high officers of the household humorously confessed that an inspection of the list of visitors made them tremble lest Mr. Morgan or one of the other millionaires should take a fancy to Windsor and

Apart from this personal point of view the King regarded the presence in England of such a representative body of American business men as highly significantly of the close and friendly relations existing between the countries, and, in furtherance of that feeling he was delighted to welcome them to his castle and make their ac-

KING RECALLED VISITORS.

After an expression of greetings the gentlemen were taken to the east terrace, where they were received by the King. They were surprised to find the Queen was also present, for her appearance was quite unexpected. With the King and Queen were the Princess Victoria and the children of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York. Each delegate was formally presented to both the King and Queen, shaking their hands. This ceremony over, the king asked the visitors to replace their hats on their heads, and both he and the Queen commenced to chat in the most friendly way with the little group. The King remembered meeting previously William Butler Duncan and James W. Pinchat, much to their astonishment. This little reminiscence over, the royal party indulged in small talk regarding the weather, the King pointing out the beauties of Windsor chestnut trees and referring to the need the country had for rain, and so forth. His majesty regretted the state apartments were so upset as to be invisible. He apparently avoided business and politics.

When the audience was over, the delegates partook of a small feast and repassed the King and Queen, who were having tea in the garden. The King stood up, took off his hat and bowed his farewell. The delegates then returned to London.

HOW VISITORS WERE IMPRESS-ED.

President Morris K. Jesup said: "We were warmly welcomed and spent a most pleasant afternoon. One of the most pleasing features was the unexpected presence of the Queen. Both she and the King were extremely af-I regard the occasion as one that will greatly strengthen the re-lations between the two countries." All the delegates said practically the

THE KING'S LOVE FOR DANCING. The past week has been an especially gay week with the numerous dances. In the fashionable slang of the day a dance is now called a "band." The former word must not be mentioned since society is still in mourning, so it asks you to dinner and a band instead.

A new "Life of the King," by one of his majesty's servants, was published this week. Much of its contents is new and it is full of anecdotes and details. It may surprise some of his subjects to know that his majesty is "inordinately fond of dancing," and that for many a year his friends declared he danced the Highland fling better than anyone else in the king-dom. These years, one would think, must be long passed. He, however, is a fine skater, plays hockey well, is a good sailor and has, of late years, patronized the sport of pigeon-flying. Among his minor hobbies is that of collecting arms of all kinds. The king's wardrobe is immense, due to a considerable extent to the many complimentary naval and military appointments he holds. About the fit of his private clothes he is most particular, and gives employment to three tailors. The King has a great dislike for eccentricity in dress, startling neckties and fancy waistcoats, and above all a profusion of jewelry is strictly tabooed by him.

CRANBORNE LODGE. The King has now turned his renovating energy in a new direction. Cranborne Lodge, a forgotten royal residence, which lies in a beautifully wooded glade between Virginia Water and Ascot, is to be made a fit habitation. The lodge is a quaint house, built in the reign of Charles II. by the famous Lord Ranelagh, and has come interesting rooms of that period. It was occupied for some years by Prin-cess Charlotte of Wales after her marriage to Prince Leopold of Saxe-Co-burg. Since then the house has not been occupied. THE LATEST ELECTION. The Liberals have not gained a seat in the Saffron-Waldren election, but they have increased their majority in a remarkable degree. It is the first stroke of good fortune which has fallen to them since the general election. They had a popular candidate and the increased majority was due mainly to local causes MILNER'S POPULARITY. The prominent figure of the w been Lord Milner, of Cape Town. His return, his reception by the King, his peerage and his speech have been Thorndale: A. M. Munro: J. K. Little. the general theme of political conversation. It may be reckoned a sign of the times and of the feeling of the country with regard to the war that Lord Milner's elevation has been received with such general satisfaction.

The fact that such an elevation is quite unprecedented in the case of a colonial governor at this stage of his career has increased that satisfaction. The only other instances in which peerages have been conferred on such functionaries are those of Lords Lisgar, Loch and Rosmead. Lord Lisgar was a governor-general, and was, besides, an old minister of the crown, who had held high office in England. Moreover, Lord Lisgar, in common with the others named, did not receive the peerage till after years of service as gov-ernor, while Lord Milner received it before his first term in that capacity had expired.

THIS WEEK.

This week there will be as much liveliness as is consistent with court mourning. The King will return to London on Monday and hold an investiture at St. James' Palace, and the most brilliant banquets of the year will follow the Derby. There will be international amenities, for the New York Chamber of Commerce will be feted four days and Maitre Labori will be honored by the English bar. In due course parliament will reassemble, the Royal Ascot will come and many other fixtures. These events will fill the newspapers, but will not satisfy Jenkins, who is inconsolable because there is no season. He fumbles over his engagement notes, and finds nothing after the Whitsuntide holidays ex-cept a few little dinner dances. No balls are announced, and the season will be eked out with boy and girl dances after dinners with a restricted number of guests. The holiday entertainments at the great country houses has been on a small scale. Many fashionable people preferred to remain in town for the opera and resturant suppers when there was little going on at the country houses.

The Atlantic division minimum $1 50 per day, and the maximum $3, except in the case of foremen, snow-plow men and flangers, the rate being $3 per day and expenses, which is also the figure for this class of work on the entire system. On the Ontario and Quebec division the minimum is $1 50, and the maximum $3 per day. The minimum on the eastern division is $1 65 per day, and the maximum $3. On the western division the pay is by the month, except in the case of sectionmen, which is $1 65 per day. The minimum for the other classes is $50 per month, and the maximum $80 per month, and the maximum $80. It is also required that that no boarding house keeper shall charge more than $4 per week for board. On the Pacific section there is a daily and monthly minimum and maximum. The lowest rate for the day is $1 75, and the highest $4. By the month the rates are $75 and $55. The company is also asked to make arrangements to have its checks cashed without inconvenience to the men. The concluding paragraphs of the report are the comments of the grand president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen. It is stated that the position which will probably be taken by the general manager is that the company is now paying more for its maintenance of way labor than any other railway in the country. The fact that they are paying more is admitted, but these wages, it is contended, do not enable the men to maintain themselves and their families in a manner becoming to citizens of a great empire, and furthermore, it cannot be conceded that one employer of labor should not increase the wages of workmen because he is paying more Ballantyne, of this city.

The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. R. Venning, of Mossley. In his opening address he spoke of the increasing interest that was being taken in farmers' institutes. At the several meetings during the year the best of speakers had been secured, and he believed it was their banner year as regards interest and success. president recommended also a visit to the fat stock show at Guelph, as a special educational institution. A discussion on the president's address followed. The report of the executive showed that two regular and six supplementary meetings had been held during the year, with a total attendance of 1,970. The delegates sent to the meet-

Owners of the Isolation Hospital Property Object to It Being Sublet.

The members of the board of health were summoned from their various occupations Saturday, to formally indorse the chairman's action in allowing horses to pasture on the isolation hospital grounds. The owners of the property claimed that the board had no right to rent the pasturage; while, on the other hand Dr. Campbell and his colleagues, having rented the place, considered that they could relet it if they desired. In order to avert a lawsuit before, the board agreed to pay the owners $300 damages, and $200 a year, while they use the property. This being the case they saw no reason why they should not reduce its cost by sub-letting the pasturage.

Port Arthur, June 1 .- Fireman Mackenzie, of the Northern Pacific Railway, saved three men from drowning in Atikokan River Thursday. The men were fishing, and had three sticks of dynamite with them to throw into the water. One stick had been thrown out, when one of the men became frightened and upset the canoe. The men, who were unable to swim, were in the greatest danger when Fireman Mackenzie jumped into the canoe and went after them. Mackenzie managed to get two of the men to shore, and rescued the third man as he was sinking for the last time. When about half way back to shore the three sticks of dynamite exploded all at once, and upset the canoe. Water was shot up into the air for about 40 feet, and the shirt was torn off the man Mackenzie was taking to shore. Neither he nor Mackenzie sustained any injury, how-

TROUBLES OF LABOR CULMINATING

Ottawa.

C. P. R. Trackmen Present Claims to the Company—The Machinists' Strike.

Ottawa, June 1.—Monday, June 2, may be a marked day in labor's history in Ottawa, several branches of the trades unions connected with the recent move for increased wages have not been successful in obtaining the na, in consequence will, in all probability, quit work on Monday. About 300 carpenters are included in the list of possible strikes. Some time ago they proffered a request for a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, but while some of the employers granted the increase others held out against it, and the employes of the latter, at a meeting held the other evening, decided to give them until today to fall into line, otherwise the carpenters will go out on Monday. There is also talk of the woodworkers and plasterers quitting on the same day. The metal workers of the city have not been granted the demand they recently made upon the employers. time allowed the employers to accede to the demand expired today. The men asked for a nine-hour day and a ten per cent increase in wages, which at present runs from $1 50 to $2 25 a day. In their ultimatum to the employers they stipulated that only union men should be employed in the local shops.

C. P. R. TRACKMEN. The grievance committee of the C. P. R. trackmen had another conference with Mr. McNicoll, the general manager, at Montreal, and presented their claims. AT SYDNEY, B. C.

Sydney, B. C., May 31.-Before tomorrow is over, carpenters, plasterers, bricklayers and other laborers belonging to the Sydney labor unions will be out on strike. The decision was reached at a meeting held tonight, which was largely attended by members of Sydney and also from North Sydney. It is understood that next week all laborers employed by the steel company will go out unless the demand for a nine-hour day is grant-

AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., May 31.—The carpenters of Halifax some time ago gave the employers notice that they would ask for an advance in their pay of 7 cents an hour. The men are receiving 18 cents. Tonight the employers met and appointed a committee to meet a similar committee from the workmen next Tuesday.

AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 1.-Chicago's machinists' strike is on and also a sym-pathetic strike by the metal workers. It is expected the sympathetic movement will spread to other trades, but large numbers of men in allied unions who work in conjunction with the machinists, will be forced into idleness soon by lack of material. It is estimated that this will swell the numbe of men in the machinery shops of this city to 10,000 within a week.

AGAINST TRADE UNIONS. Pittsburg, Pa., May 31 .- At the opening of the third session of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod of North America, Rev. John Wiflie, of Colorado, chairman of the committee on secret societies, presented his report, which went into a discussion of labor and trades unions, and showed a tendency to consider them in the same class a the secret orders. He advocated the appointment of a committee for the special purpose of making a more true examination into aims, purposes and principles of labor organizations. The report severely criticised secret societies, and defined their cardinal principles and morals as Christless, ensnaring in their nature, pernicious in their tendencey and perilous to the liberties of both church and state."

London, June 1.-A dispatch from Paris says Maurice Bernhardt, son of the famous actress, has received the seconds of another journalist, and that a duel will possibly result. The trouble arose over a political discussion. According to the story Mme. Bernhardt is suffering from extreme ner-vous excitement. She is due in London to act with M. Coquelin on Monday, but may postpone her first appearance. She is quoted as saying: "If my son's life is in peril how can I go? I am a mother first and an actress afterwards." PLAY TABOOED

GAMBLING ALL THE RAGE. London, June 1 .- The passion for gambling prevading the smart set in London threatens to lead to much scandal. Stories are already current of well-known women in financial diffiof well-known women in financial difficulties over gaming losses, in one case amounting to, it is said, $40,000 at a single sitting. The World exposes the universality of the craze, saying:

"Every one is bent on beggaring his or her neighbor. It is the smart hostess, who, regardless of all considerations of hospitality and friendship, invites guests to her house for the express purpose of winning their money. Her only aim is to get together those who will play roulette or bridge and can afford to pay up handsomely when can afford to pay up handsomely when the hour of reckoning comes. "There is no less danger for the gilded youth in the country house, on his friend's yacht, or in a London drawing-room than on the turf or at Monte Carlo, Night after night women encourage gambling in their houses and watch complacently the pecuniary scourging of their friends.

"To be at home a certain afternoon in the week has become the way of announcing to those who can play and pay that they will find the hostess' drawing-room a private gambling saloon, and so firmly has the passion for snatching money from others' pockets taken possession of the feminine mind that women of position no longer hesitate to act as steerers for those who are ready to provide sport if birds are found for them."

BIG LIBERAL GAIN.

London, June 1.-The election in the north, or Saffron Walden division of Essex, for a successor in the House of Commons to Armine Wodehouse (Liberal), deceased, has resulted as follows: J. A. Pease, Liberal, 3,994; C. W. Gray, Conservative, 3,202; Liberal majority, 792.

At the last election the Liberal majority was 110, showing a Liberal gain of 682 votes. IAN MACLAREN ON CREED RE-London, June 1 .- Ian MacLaren, the Rev. John Watson, D.D., who last year was moderator of the English Presbyterian Synod, was asked by a representative of the Associated Press for his opinion of the American decision to revise the confession. He writes: 'Many on this side of the Atlantic are glad to know that their Presbyterian brethren in the United States propose to revise the confession. It is an intellectual wonder, but would be improved by a reduction in size and an infusion of love."

HAVE BEEN ASKED TO

Local Americans to Join Movement for Memorial Monument.

In Old London-Consul Culver Requested to Secure Their Interest-American Society's Project.

United States Consul, H. S. Culver, of this city, has received an interesting communication from the honorary secretary of the American Society of London, England. A movement has been inaugurated by the American residents in England to participate in the fund which is being raised to erect a monument to the late Queen Victoria. In the words of the circular issued, they desired to associate themselves with this tribute to her memory, for by her wise administration of domestic and foreign affairs they have not only been protected in their person and accorded equal liberties and privileges with her subjects, but have been given the largest encourage-ment for the practice of their professions and the development of their business interests. An inclosed let-ter from Viscount Esher, honorary secretary of the Queen Victoria memorial committee, made it seem more than probable that American offerings will be devoted to a special part or parts of the memorial, so that it shall designate for all time the offering made in memory of the Queen by the citizens of the United States. Col. Culver is requested to interest Americans in this district in the project as it would be participated in by all the colonies and dependencies of the crown and Americans all over the world.

MR. R. L. BORDEN

The Conservative Leader's Visit Closed-

Charmed With the "Forest City." The visit to London of Mr. R. L. Borden, K.C., M.P., leader of the Conservative party in the Dominion, came to an end on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Borden were entertained Friday night by Mr. R. Shaw-Wood at his residence, London township. At noon Saturday Mr. Borden

SERVANT GIRLS' UNION A FAIL-URE.

New York, June 1.-Mrs. St. Justin Beale, who tried some months ago to form a union of domestic servants, is very much discouraged. She says she is tired of the plan, and that she would be glad if some richer philanthropist would take it off her hands and finish the work.

FROZEN TO DEATH.

from Council City says: "Rescuers have returned with the body of Thos. Welch, who was frozen to death on the trail 50 miles from here. It is also thought Hank Stuart perished. Chas. Watson was found frozen to death two miles below Fort Davis."

Next to Warsaw, Berlin is the largest Polish city. Among its inhabitants there are about 70,000 Poles. HIS WHOLE BODY A MASS OF BRUISES

Pitiful Story Told by a West Nissouri Boy.

PARTICIPATE. Expected to Work Like a Man and Thrashed If He Didn't-Prosecutions to Follow.

> Inspector Sanders, of the Children's Aid Society, is now working up a case that he believes will disclose the existence of a deplorable state of affairs in a West Nissouri household. He was told some time ago that a boy was being harshly treated on the farm of James Murphy, and when he investigated, he learned that the treatment was not simply harsh, it was positively inhuman. The boy's story, which has yet to be proved, is that he is not Murphy's child, his name being John Lott. Though only 13 years of age, he had to work hard in the fields early and late. When he did not do enough to satisfy Mr. Murphy, he was thrashed with a heavy strap; and when he slept past 4:30 or 5 o'clock in the morning, often after having worked till past 10 o'clock the night before, he was thrashed again. Often, he says, Mrs. Murphy thrashed him after he had gone to bed. The poor little chap shows the effects of this punishment. He was taken to Mr. Sanders' office and examined by Dr. J. D. Wilson, who said that the case beat all that he had ever seen. From his shoulders to his heels he is literally one black, ugly bruise. His condition is truly pitiable. A warrant for Murphy's arrest has been issued, and his wife has been summoned. intention is to push the case against them to the law's fullest extent.

MISGIVINGS AROUSED

By Reticence of the British War Office Regarding Losses at Vlakfontein.

London, June 1 .- The reticence of the government regarding the battle of Vlakfontein, and other military events of some importance which have recently occurred at widely-separated points in South Africa has led to considerable anxiety. This is in no way allayed by the answer of the war office today to a question regarding the accuracy or otherwise of the recent Boer report that the British were severely defeated near Pretoria May 2, losing 46 killed, 80 wounded, 600 prisoners and six guns. The reply which the war office vouchsafed, "We have no official information," has aroused some mis-

THE ARMY CANTEEN

Military Surgeons Unanimously Disapprove of Its Abolition.

St. Paul, Minn, June 1 .- By a unanimous vote the Association of Military Surgeons in session here yesterday passed a resolution in favor of the repeal of the anti-canteen law. The resolution recites "that the abolition of the army post exchange or canteen has Seattle, Wash., May 31.—A letter resulted, and must invariably result, in rom Council City says: "Rescuers an increase of intemperance, insubordination, discontent, desertion and disease in the army." It deplores the abolishment of the "sald post, exchange or canteen, and in the interest of sanitation, morality and discipline, mends its re-establishment at the earliest possible date."

CHICAGO, June 1.—Wheat showed renewed strength today, mainly on the drought. July closed ½c to 1c higher; July corn closed ¾c, and July oats ½c improved. July wheat opened quiet, a shade to ¼c to ¾c higher, at 74½c to 74½c, under the influence of dry weather in the spring wheat states. Upon the receipt of numerous reports of the need of rain, business quickly became active in both September and July, shorts, who sold on yesterday's bulge in hope of a reaction, being the best buyers. July advanced to 75½c to 75½c during the first hour. Realizing sales were made on the advance, but although these were liberal the price worked back only ½c to ¼c, and later, with the additional help of the heavy seaboard clearances, advanced to 75½c, at which the market closed, ½c to 1c over yesterday. Exporters reported 8 loads taken. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were equal to 1,118,000 bu, while primary receipts were 473,000 bu, while primary receipts were 473,000 bu, compared with 734,000 bu last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 300 cars, against 230 last week and 596 a year ago. Local receipts were 118 cars, two of contract grade. Corn was steady, in sympathy with wheat, on the dry weather and because of a private report saying the prospect is without improvement and that a sensational condition in the crop is likely to develop. Provisions were quiet. Estimated receipts on Monday: Wheat, 55 cars; corn, 460 cars; oats, 290 cars; hogs, 44,000 head.

The leading futures closed: Wheat—No. 2, June, 75½c; July, 75½c; Sept., 73%c to 73½c. Corn—No. 2, June, 44c; July, 45½c; Sept., 45½c to 45½c. Important Link To Be Built in Canada—Fast Sydney, N. S., June 3.—A dispatch from New York says that Mr. Van Aken, chief engineer of the Manhattan Construction Company, with a staff of engineers, left that city Saturday for St. Peters, C.B., to begin work on a railway from the Strait of Canso to Louisburg. The company is known as the Cape Breton Railway Extension, and is backed up by the Vanderbilts. Dr. Webb, a family connection, is president of the company. The railway will touch Caribou Cove, terminating at Louisburg. A number of mineral areas along the line have been bonded by American capitalists.

It is said that the new railway is a link of a new railway system from New York to Cape Breton, whence a fleet of fast steamships will run to Europe.

MR. SCHWAB'S "JOLLY MONK"

A Notable Picture Which Enlivens Carnegie's Board Room.

How It Came To Be a Feature of the Great Manufacturer's Industries.

Writing of "Carnegie's Thirty Young Partners," in last week's Saturday Evening Post, Paul Latzke tells how the picture of the "Laughing Monk" came to be a feature of the great Carnegie industries. The picture hangs on the north wall of the big Carnegie board room in Pittsburg—a portrait about three feet high, done in oils. It belonged originally to Mr. Carnegie. That gentleman presented him some ten years ago to Mr. Charles M. Schwab, as a tribute to that remarkable young man's capacity to look M. Schwab, as a tribute to that remarkable young man's capacity to look at the bright side of things. The board room is a very handsome apartment, beautifully furnished in polished oak. Taking up most of the space are two enormous round tables of quartered polished oak. About these table "The Great Thirty" are wont to gather every Saturday to discuss business plans and policies. All the problems that are to be met by the company come up for discussion at these weekly meetings.

WANTED HIS MEN TO BE JOLLY.

WANTED HIS MEN TO BE JOLLY. Until Mr. Schwab became president of the Carnegie Company in 1896, the meetings were held very soberly in an atmosphere of proper business gloom. On the second Saturday after his election the young president faced his colleagues and delivered himself in this fashion:

"I have noticed with much pain," said he "that as soon as you gentlemen sit

"I have noticed with much pain," said he, "that as soon as you gentlemen sit down here you seem to forget all the cheerfulness that lurks in life. Your countenances become solemn and your eyes grow serious. To one who did not know what you are capable of socially, it would appear that you had come to attend a funeral service rather than a business meeting where the proceedings deal with living issues and not with dead ones. This, to my mind, is distinctly detrimental to the best interests of the Carnegle Company. It is my belief that more business and business of a better quality can be transacted with a smile carnegie Company. It is my belief that more business and business of a better quality can be transacted with a smile than with a frown. I therefore suggest that hereafter at these meetings we all try to look pleasant, and, that we may have before us a proper example. I propose, with your permission, to hang in this room a picture presented to me by Mr. Carnegie. This is the picture."

The board room door opened and there ontered a porter bearing in his arms the "Laughing Monk." One glance was sufficient to make everybody give a broad responsive grin. No living man can look the "Laughing Monk" in the face without laughing back. He is the jollies, fattest, and altogether the most delightful person ever put on canvas.

The monk was hung then and there, and Mr. Schwab told the story of its presentation to him. presentation to him.

A LAUGH FOR A DEFICIT.

"When the Carnegie Company was younger than it is today, and money was considerably scarcer, I obtained a large appropriation for a mechanical experiment at Homestead. Before I had finished the experiment had consumed four times the amount appropriated, and there was the deuce to pay. Mr. Carnegie was mad clear through, and took no pains to conceal the fact. He sent for me, and gave me fits. He scolded as I seldom heard him scold."

Mr. Schwab's eyes took on a far-away, reminiscent look, and fell into silence. Naturally the partners were tremendously interested and waited for the end. When their chief showed no disposition to finish in a hurry, several of the partners asked:
"And you—what did yon do?"

"I," replied the president, "I did as A LAUGH FOR A DEFICIT.

"I," replied the president, "I did as Altman did under similar circumstances." "Altman? Who's Altman, and what did he do?"

Altman did under similar circumstances."

"Altman? Who's Altman, and what did he do?"

"Altman, gentlemen, is an old German, who worked for me many years. During the strike at Homostead he remained with the company, thereby adding nothing to his popularity with the men. One day the strikers got hold of him and thew him into the river. Some time afterwards Altman hunted me up and told me about his experience, whereupon I asked him, as you have just asked me: 'And you, Altman, what did you do?' 'I,' he replied, 'oh, I yoost laffed.'

"And that is how Mr. Carnegie came to give me this picture." the president concluded, when the general hilarity had died down. "I hope it may serve to keep us in a pleasant humor on the occasion of our regular business meetings."

From all accounts the picture has served excellently in this respect.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

In the same house where Madame Marton and Shirley roomed, although not in the same suite, there lived two maiden sister by the name of Marshall. They were ladies of some means, and had three delightful rooms on the second floor, while they also took their meals with Shirley's landlady, Mrs. Wilbur.

"I wish you would allow me to come in and do this every morning for you."

Gracious." cried Miss Martha, in the same breath. "We could not think of such a thing."

"But, really, I am in earnest," Shirley gravely answered, but with increasing color. "I was wondering, just as I was coming down the stairs, what I could do to earn a little money out of school hours. I am only a substitute, you know, and my salary is small. It takes most of it for my expenses here, and I find that I cannot afford to ride to and from school, which is so far from here that I am fatiguing myself every day by trying to walk the distance; so if you will allow me to assume the duties

"But it seems a very menial service for a young lady like you," Miss Martha finally remarked

Again Shirley flushed. She well knew that it would be so regarded by many people; bu it seemed as if her case was desperate, and she had no choice in the matter.

Her present income was not sufficient for her needs, and it was absolutely necessary that she should find some way to increase it. It is true that she had a little money in the bank; but the interest on this would scarcely keep her in shoes and gloves during the year, while there was a future coming, she told herself, when madame's money would be gone, and she might be obliged to provide for her altogether; so it behooved her to be as saving of her funds as possible.

Here was an opening by which she might at least earn enough to pay her car fares. She felt that it was a peremptory duty to save her strength; therefore she resolved to put aside all false pride and make the most of this opportunity, which had so strangely fallen in her way.

She straightened herself slightly, then her own sunny smile broke over her face again.

"When one cannot do as one would."

When one cannot do as one would, "When one cannot do as one would, one must do as one can, you know," she said. "I must do something to earn a little more money, and I am not ashamed to do what is honorable. Miss Martha, who was sitting behind Shirley, nodded her head and winked significantly at her sister, and Miss Elizabeth frankly replied:

They were great favorites in the house, for they were great favorites in the house, for they were great favorites in the house, for they were of manufactured and folly; with they were of manufactured to the superabundance of flesh, finding it very difficult to get about or to perform the simplest services for themselves.

They had been greatly attracted toward Shirley from the day of her coming into the house, and seemed quite incline to make a pet of her.
One morning, as the young teacher was starting off for school, she found the clied Miss Marshall standing at her form the starts in order.
Shirley greeted her pleasantly, and was about to pass on, when the lady inpuired if she had seen anything of the woman stairs in order.
No, Shirley told her, she did not think that she had come in yet.
"Oh, dcar," the woman said, with a little low, gurgling laugh, "I'm sure door, keep the halls and tole, we cannot get our boots buttoned."
Shirley repeated, in a tone of surprise, and wondering how they were in the habit of getting it done.
"No, we have had a little girl come in every morning to do that and some other little things for us; but she has moved away from this part of the city, and we have not been able to find anyone to take her place yet." "Let me come in and do it for you, Miss Marshall," said Shirley with ready accommodation, as she slipped off her gloves; "it will take me only a few minutes, and I should be very glad to help you out of your difficulty."

Miss Marshall hesitated about accepting the favor, but Shirley persisted, and was soon kneeling on a stool at their feet performing the simple service, while they all had a jolly laugh over the unfortunate plight which they would have been in but for her opportune appearance and friendly offer.

A bright idea popped into Shirley's head while she was thus engaged.

Why could she not take the place of the girl who had been serving them in this way, and thus add a little to her slender resources?

"Thank you," said the younger sister, Miss Elizabeth, as she arose after Shirley's little deed of kindness was done. "You are very good, and it has been a pleasure to see your bright face for a few minutes."

Shirley flushed, hesitated an instant, then looked up with a frank smile as she remarked.

The Norwodd's seemed to have forgute he hotel. They never came to call upon her, nor even wrote to inquire regarding her health or comfort. Thus six weeks passed and they had been such busy ones that Shirley had not even found time to go and see her faithful friend, Abby Knapp. She had though take an afternoon to pay her a little visit, but it was not until her sixth one came around that she found an opportunity to do so. Her surprise and grief can well be minuted when, upon arriving at her humble home she found it closed and broken up housekeeping and gone to another part of the city to board.

BASEBALL.

WATERLOO WON. Waterloo's deep field hits and London's failure to send the ball past the infield accounted for the score of 11 to 5 in the former's favor Saturday afternoon. Seven short singles were all that London could total, while the men from the Buffer Town welted out many fair ones, good for a score of bases. Both teams fielded splendidly, and London's skill in that line was given severe tests. Hutchinson was the fans' white-haired boy in the fielding game. Twice he made running catches that brought the London lungs into prominence. In the fourth inning he put two out and assisted the third time in sending the side to the bench. Wanless, too, was a delight to the onlookers, and a corresponding source of sadness to the men from Seagramville. Everything that went his way he wanted to throw home, and in two instances he caught his men, Blair at the plate and Zacker at third. Sharp liners were corraled by Ashplant and Sippi. Once Ashplant sent the ball to the track instead of first, where it would have caught Hardy, nearly allowing him to get game. In the fifth the sun put goo-goos into the eyes of Wanless, and he missed a short fly that fell at his feet result was a gain of four runs for Waterloo. The next inning, the sixth, Kil-

THE GREAT KIDNEY SPECIALIST.

The Famous Physician Who Has Made Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Diseases a Life-Long Study.

DR. ZINA PITCHER.

For many yars in the hospitals of Urinary Diseases in Michigan College of Medicine, Dr. Zina Pitcher devoted his time to the scientific study of diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary System.

By this exclusive devotion to one branch of medical investigation, Dr. Pitcher was enabled to perfect a treatment for Kidney Troubles that far surpasses any other remedy.

After testing it extensively in private and hospital practice and demonstrating its incomparable superiority to all other forms of treatment, Dr. Pitcher decided to give this great boon to suffering humanity at large and not confine it exclusively to the circle of his private and hospital patients.

He has placed his remedy before the public under the name of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and so confident is he of the positive curative qualities of these Tablets for backache, lame or weak back, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, drowsiness, headaches, pain in the loins, brick-dust deposits in the urine, scalding, irritation, frequent rising at night, dribbling, inflammation or ulceration of the bladder, gravel, rheumatism, Bright's disease and diabetes (except in the last stages), bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, constipation, pasty and puffy appearance of the face, dropsy, backache and weakness of women, urinary weakness of children and old people, or any symptomic indications of Kidney Disease, that to any one suffering from any of the above troubles who uses the Tablets faithfully according to directions, and derives no benefit therefrom, their money will be cheerfully refunded.
