

CHURCH NOTES FOR BUSY MEN

ROMAN CATHOLIC EDUCATE OUR OWN.
In a recent address Bishop McPhail speaks as follows:
"There are families in this country that are sacrificing their Catholic faith and their church taught morality in their fanatic and unchristian desire to get into society. That's why they send their sons to Harvard, Princeton and Yale. They want to get into society through the associates their children meet at these institutions."
"What we want," the Bishop continued, "is to send them to Catholic schools, where we teach them that there are such commandments as 'Thou shalt not steal,' 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.' No power, but the Catholic Church can stem these evils."
"The Catholic Church is here today to cure the social evils, to bring a mission to uplift socialism, to destroy divorce and teach Christianity. The salvation of the Republic depends on Christian teaching."

WARMLY APPRECIATED.
The Presbyterian Witness notes in a very hearty manner the generous donations given to the building fund of the Y. M. C. A. in several cities of the Dominion. It says:
"Among the liberal contributors to the building fund of the Y. M. C. A., Montreal was a prominent member of the Roman Catholic church—Rudolphe Forget, M. E., who gave $1,000. Among the thousand dollar contributors to the Ottawa Y. M. C. A. was also a Roman Catholic, Mr. J. O'Brien, of the O'Brien Mines, Cobalt. We believe a number of our Roman Catholic friends gave liberally to the Halifax Y. M. C. A. building fund."

RELIGIONS IN NEW YORK.
A recent magazine article on the religious situation in New York says that half the city belongs to the Roman Catholics and the Jews, and that half the rest is practically churchless. Of the Protestant bodies, the Baptists, Presbyterians, Methodists and Lutherans are almost equal in number.

THE ANGLICAN.
A WISE BISHOP.
The church at Atlantic City in which Rev. John S. Goodman invited men to smoke their pipes and cigars during services, has been closed. Mr. Goodman is an Episcopalian minister, and his bizarre ideas of church service scandalized his bishop so greatly that a peremptory episcopal veto fell on him in full career. The church will stand idle until the smell of smoke disappears from it.

SAMUEL JOHNSON AT PRAYER.
A stained glass window in memory of Samuel Johnson has been placed in St. Clement Danes church, in London. Howard has pictured the great Englishman in prayer, and his worship there. "His behavior was, as I had imagined to myself, solemnly devout. I never shall forget the tremulous earnestness with which he pronounced the awful petition in the Litany. In the hour of death and in the day of judgment, good Lord deliver us."

CANON WELCH.
Speaking of the departure of this gentleman from St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, the Presbyterian says: "Not only has the Anglican church but Canadian Christianity has lost a great asset. His removal to the old land, he has been a fearless preacher and a strong upholder of personal and civic righteousness. The good will of his brethren in all the churches go with him."

A STRANGE SERVICE.
The dawn of May day saw the choir of Magdalen on the top of the Tower and the rising sun was greeted with words that remain to us, and the Magdalen choir has been known to sing sometimes that the custom were more honored in the breach than in the observance.

THE PRESBYTERIAN
ONE ONLY.
Rev. Murdo Mackenzie was the only representative of the Wee Press attending the Pan-Presbyterian Council in New York. His former associates in the Free Church say of Mr. Mackenzie that "he is the best of the Wee Press" and seem to retain for him an affection which they feel for none of the other twenty-seven ministers who bolted the Scotch union. But they always add that they cannot understand how a man of his character went with that crowd.

BECOMING AN EVANGELIST.
Rev. John McNeill has announced his decision not to accept the pastorate of Christ Church, South London, whose pulpit he has been supplying since the departure of Rev. E. J. Meyer on his long evangelistic tour. Mr. McNeill gives no reason for this step, but it is said that he is "moved to decline because of any opposition, since so far as he can discover the church is harmonious and unopposed," he leaves it to be inferred that he does not intend to become a pastor anywhere.

A LAY PREACHER.
Sir Andrew Fraser, K. C. S. L., Lieutenant Governor of Bengal from 1902 to 1908, and who took an active part in the work of the General Assembly held in Belfast, Ireland, was much in demand during the seasons of that body, and on one Sabbath preached three times to crowded congregations in different parts of the city.

THE BAPTISTS
A FINE ENDORSEMENT.
The First Baptist Church of Port Worth, Tex., had a minister from that church in Atlanta, Georgia, who letter to the people of that city. The letter contained this certificate of character: "I, your pastor, butchers and retail clerks, and also bankers, to trust him implicitly, for he is a man of his word and a consecrated Christian gentleman, one of God's truest and noblest of men, holding the confidence, respect and esteem alike of saint and sinner, whether rich or poor, rich or poor, humble or great. His promptness in paying his debts has made him a power in Fort Worth."

RUGGLES ST. CHURCH, BOSTON.
The public class for women connected with this church numbers about 40 members, mostly mothers, and is under the leadership of Miss Elsie Fairbank. The class meets for prayer, and once a month in a social way, besides on Sunday afternoon for the study of the lesson. The church is located in the tenement district of Roxbury, and many of its members have to work for their living. But they are generous in their contributions, and its influence through these mothers' meetings is very great.

THE METHODIST
THE CHURCH PAPER.
A Methodist pastor in Pennsylvania, who had sent one hundred and forty-six paid subscribers to the denominational paper, being asked how he secured them, said: "I have no secret. I simply went after them. No argument given from the pulpit will do it. Let the pastor go after them and they will get them." There may be a hint in this for other pastors. The church paper in the homes of his people is the best assistance a pastor can have.

AN ARGUMENT FOR UNION.
A writer in the Christian Guardian furnishes some interesting facts concerning the hymnals of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches. Commenting on the oft-repeated statement, "We read the same Bible, and sing the same hymns," and that on this is based the argument for union, the writer shows the argument is practically without foundation. "In the three books now counting the Presbyterian Psalter, or the second part of Congregational book, are 1,838 hymns of which number only 125 are found in all three, and that the remaining 1,713 are of the whole number. In the Methodist book there are 522 of Charles Wesley's hymns. In the Presbyterian book 28, and in the Congregational book 42." It is evident from this statement that "we do not use the same hymns."

PROGRESS.
The Methodist church in Korea reports an increase of a thousand in its membership roll for the past year.

VACANCIES.
When the station sheet was finally read at the recent conference seven places were to be supplied. Men are needed here as well as there, and a something which must not be overlooked.

SAUNDAY SERMONETTE
WANTED—CLEAN NEWSPAPERS.
The "Journal of the Home" ought like "Cress" to be above suspicion. There was a time when "I saw it in the newspaper" settled disputes. Tell your opponent that today and he laughs at you. The newspapers have been crying "wolf" so long when there was no wolf, that a pack of them might come along and cry "wolf," and "wolf" would be laughed at.

A reputation for accuracy is supposed to be a good business asset. A great many men lost their working capital when they lost their reputation for dependability. Newspapers cannot afford to lose their reputation for reliability. If all the newspapers in town were to tell the truth and nothing but the truth for a week, who would believe them?

The shade of George Washington has been editing this paper of the "home" for as long as ever since the last election. Who found out the last time? Seriously, newspapers are just about as venacious as their readers, and there is still a great deal of truth in the city. To quote from the "black market," "We are 'long on truth.'" The public can get what they want, and ask for it if they want their newspapers to tell the plain truth without any mental reservations whatever. The reporting of a sermon to a horse trot and tell what the man said—grammar and all—and give the exact time the horse made. Well the public can have it for two cents (evening edition one cent) and we had better think it over, and decide which we will have, truth and dollars, or lies and no imagination, or no Evelyn Thaw speech forecastrs; nothing but obituaries and sermons.

NAHANT, Mass., July 26.—Rev. Dr. Wm. R. Huntington of Grace Episcopal Church, New York City, died early today, after a lingering illness caused by intestinal trouble. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Coss married Miss Almina Cougley of Rochester, N. Y., and she is also survived by five children. Besides his family in Rochester he is survived by his father, Edward Coss, of McDonald's Corner, and by two brothers and six sisters. The brothers are John and Carlton, and Harry of Boston. The sisters are Mrs. B. A. Mabel Coss of Spring street, Mrs. E. J. Rupert of Carlton, Mrs. E. M. Pleasant Point. Deceased was forty-four years old, and a member of the United Baptist Church.

REV. DR. WATSON HEARD YESTERDAY
Speaker at Big Open Air Meeting
TEMPLARS PARADE
Present a Splendid Appearance—Meeting Most Successful

Rev. Dr. Watson of Mt. Allison had a large audience at the open air meeting yesterday afternoon. The members of sections of the Junior Templars of H. and T. parade to the grounds, Le Tour de Temple Hall, H. and T. parade to the grounds. The four sections of the parade turned out strong. The boys were accompanied by Most Worshipful Templars, Rev. W. R. Robinson, E. E. Logan, George Blewett and other Templars. Rev. George Tins and Rev. A. B. Coss were also present. The orchestra played, and was accompanied by the club's new organ, a small instrument of large volume that can be carried about with ease. The musical programme included a hymn very sweetly sung by Miss Orm. The day's events were a most successful one in every way. The day's programme presented a very fine appearance as they marched, and the club's band played good marching music.

Dr. Watson began by speaking in the highest terms of the Templars' play-ground work, and commending it to the sympathy and support of St. John people. Noting the fact that St. John would always remain a part of this great empire, he said that he had great opportunities there are in Canada for the attainment of material prosperity. He pointed out some of the dangers of which the people are subjected. One of these is that materialism which places wealth and position above the things of life. The children are the real victims of this evil effect, and he pointed out the danger of the individual and upon society. He said that the danger that lies in political corruption and with the problems of cities, and expressed anxiety that St. John had the Every Day Club, engaged in work along the lines for the benefit of the children and of men who needed encouragement to make their lives more effective in good citizenship. Dr. Watson referred to the cosmopolitan character of Canadian citizenship. There are in this country representatives of seventy nationalities.

Wm. R. Huntington of Grace Episcopal Church, New York City, died early today, after a lingering illness caused by intestinal trouble. He was 71 years old.

"THE SIMPLE LIFE" WITH CHAMPAGNE ON THE SIDE

Mrs. Thaw's First Act at Campbellton is to Order Wine Registers at the Minto Hotel as Mrs. Stillman
Leaves Later Over Rough Road to Join Her New Soul Mate

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., July 25.—Considerable interest has been aroused locally in the now famous Thaw case by the appearance of the star Evelyn Nestlé Thaw at Campbellton. Evelyn, with a maid and a male attendant, arrived here on the Limited from Montreal Wednesday morning. She was in the company of a half-Italian in the public conveyance and registered as Mrs. Stillman and servants. New York. She ordered the best suite in the hotel and a quiet room. At dinner hour considerable interest was manifested when a well-known commercial traveller who dined at the same table, recognized her from her published pictures and passed around the word. The only incident of the day was when liquid refreshments were ordered. The champagne was ordered, but as there is no bar in connection with the Minto, the man servant asked if the lady would care to go to the hotel bar. He went to a nearby tavern, procured two quart bottles of choice vintage and refusing the offer of a carrying a bottle in each hand.

Sixty-Five Miles Away
During the afternoon it was necessary to make arrangements to join Mr. Stillman, who is taking her to the Lodge on the Kedgewick, about 65 miles from Campbellton, a visit to the International station, was made on foot and then word was sent to the only train on the International as yet is the construction train, to which an ordinary day coach is attached.

Bright and early Mrs. Thaw and her attendants were on the scene and boarded the train. She was fittingly attired for the journey, which is an exceedingly rough one after the railway is left, with a short skirt of grey cloth, tan leggings and shoes, and a fedora that set jauntily on her head she presented an attractive picture. The road to Restigouche Lodge is one of the worst on the river. It is a new portage road over rough country and the party could not ride in a carriage and only sure-footed horses can safely accomplish the journey, so that for most of the trip they were walking. This trail, and it is likely Mrs. Thaw had the trip of her life. But all discomforts will be amply repaid when Restigouche Lodge is reached and her loved one joined. This is one of the most picturesque spots in a most picturesque country and the fishing especially this season has been good.

Mrs. Thaw seems to be failing, and already her hair and eyes are unwell. She is being attended by a doctor, and it is believed that she will be interviewed by the press representative, sending them word that she has nothing to say. It is believed that she is doubtless here for a quiet time, and Restigouche Lodge will prove quiet enough no doubt.

WHITE SLAVE PLOT FOILED
Immigration Men
GIRLS TURNED BACK
Two Married Women Stranded Here—On Way to Join Their Husbands

Several applicants for liberty to cross the American border were refused admission yesterday by the United States immigration department here on the belief that the moral intention of the couples would not bear strict investigation. One pair were taken off the Boston boat after they had begun to think they were on the last stage of their journey. Questioning by the officials elicited the information that the man was married and a citizen of the United States. The girl was from a point near Montreal. She had $25 in her possession, but the man had not a sou. On a very strong suspicion that the man was a procurer and that the girl was his victim, the immigration authorities prevented them from proceeding further. The pair are still in the city, subsisting upon the girl's slender supply of cash.

In another case a young Newfoundland girl was attempting to reach Boston in the company of a half-Italian half-French breed. They were held back until the girl should secure from her mother a statement that she was cognizant of her daughter's trip in the company of the man. This the officials refused to furnish, the girl was able to furnish. The story told by the inspectors of a night spent by the couple in a hotel, led to a belief that there was something strongly irregular about their companionship.

The stories told by the two were considerably at variance. It appeared that they had come from New York to Newfoundland together, but the half-breed stated that he had stayed white on the island at the girl's home, but the girl's story was that she boarded elsewhere.

Each of them had tickets for Boston, but neither had any money. The girl is trying to get to her husband, who has already procured employment in the city. Two married women from St. Johns, Newfoundland, are stranded in the city, without funds to proceed further. They were in the company of a half-breed, one in Madisson, Me., and the other in Boston. They arrived by the one o'clock train Sunday morning, but had no money to pay for their trip. They were held back until they had secured from their husbands a statement that they were cognizant of their trip. The girl's husband is a procurer and the girl is his victim. The immigration authorities prevented them from proceeding further. The pair are still in the city, subsisting upon the girl's slender supply of cash.

LOST IN THE FOG ON BOARD A MOTOR BOAT

North End Young Men Put in a Harrowing Night on the St. John River—Bring Up in the Neighborhood of Drury Cove

Just how exciting a time he had on the boom of the liver St. John can be very readily told by five North End young men who spent Saturday night somewhere upon—just where they are unable to tell. The limit of their knowledge as to their wanderings is the point from which they started, and that where they ended up. Their "outing" was not altogether a personal either, for their respective families spent a bitter night under the impression that they would never see them alive again. None of their immediate relatives slept a wink during the night and all sorts of inquiries were made until the bedraggled mariners arrived in Portland at 5 o'clock on the morning following the evening of their start.

Under the impression that the vessel was clearing they spent about twenty minutes franking up the motor boat owned by one of their party, which when it fully started and galloped upon a mud bank, where she remained, in spite of their combined efforts, for a full half hour. The mud bank led behind, everything went hunky dory, and splendid time was made during the evening. From which port they cleared for Kennebec Island. At the Island a mutual friend was visited for a season, but the tales were cut short, as the evening was advancing.

For a while the good gasoline yacht beat a merry chug-chug upon her homeward way, but suddenly an impenetrable bank of fog settled down upon the little boat like a huge elder down quilt. A lookout was posted at the bow, but for all those at the aft end could see, he might have been along for a couple of hours, the quintette finally heard a bill ringing near at hand and soon the sound of a train rattling over the rails came to their ears. They realized that they must have strayed away across South Bay, instead of rounding Boat's Head. Putting the boat about, the bewildered boys headed for the direction in which they thought Millidgeville should be. At that moment they stole on for over an hour, some apprehensive, others drooping in their seats.

REFERS TO THE LOSS ANOTHER HEADLESS BODY IS DISCOVERED

Rev. W. G. Watson in Centenary Pulpit Speaks of Late D. J. McLaughlin

NEW YORK, July 24.—A headless body of a well-dressed man, found floating in the Sound near Cove, L. I., adds another count to the long list of unsolved and gruesome murder mysteries with which the police of New York have been confronted this summer.

The head had been cleanly severed from the body with some sharp instrument, close to the shoulders. There was no clue to the man's identity beyond a newspaper clipping so stained and muddied that it could not be read.

MRS. CURREY CURREY W
Continues Her Evidence Saturday—Declares Free With the Children

The Currey divorce case was resumed Saturday before his honor Justice McKenna. Mrs. Mary A. Currey was recalled and her examination was continued by Mr. Teak. Mrs. Currey denied that she called her husband a devil on any occasion, but admitted that on one occasion she called him a brute, or that she ever used the expression: "I'll kick the damn son of a bitch out of you."

Mrs. Currey said that she often made the expression: "I wish that I could die."
Mr. Teak read at some length the evidence of Dr. Currey, as given a Frederick of killing her father, Currey with unkindly language.

Mrs. Currey emphatically denied these charges.
Witness swore that as time went on Currey continued to treat her in a brutal way and called her "the devil" and "damn thing" that Currey had been treating her in a brutal manner. He grieved over his daughter's condition so much that he ultimately killed her. Previous to 1908 Mrs. Currey did not know of the affairs in the Currey household, and it was only on the occasion of the 1908 visit that she first learned of his daughter's unhappy life. Repeatedly Mr. Skinner objected to Mrs. Currey's method of questioning which brought out the fact that Currey had brought out some heated arguments. His Honor allowed several of the questions put by Mr. Teak.

On the second night after her partner's arrival, Currey for two hours damned witness right and left. Witness perjured himself. Witness broke down when she repeated a conversation between Currey and her father. Currey had been treated Currey to speak one kind word to his daughter.

The last word of her parents' visit to her was "You are a damn thing." Currey did not come near the house at all. Coming back to the right of Dec. 20, 1906, and the morning of Dec. 21, Currey denied she threw a heavy chair at Currey.

A Mr. Cushing made arrangements for Mrs. Currey to attend her father's funeral. Mrs. Currey did not attend anything for her in this regard except to purchase her ticket. On this occasion Currey did not arise until noon. It was after 4 p. m. that Currey got her ticket. He also gave her $40. Out of this $40 she had to buy her ticket from Boston to New York. Mrs. Currey took her son Willie with her. Currey swore when he learned that Willie was going and said he would have police men to watch the train.

Witness stayed at Jackson for two months and only received one letter from her husband. The tone of this letter was cold and was addressed as "Mrs. Mary Child Currey." Currey did not send her any money with which to get back to St. John, although she wrote him for it.

Her father did not leave her anything. All the property went to her mother. Witness denied that she stole $40 or any other sum from Currey as he alleges in his testimony.
On her return home on February 14, 1907, Currey was cold and was addressed as "Mrs. Mary Child Currey." Currey did not send her any money with which to get back to St. John, although she wrote him for it.

As witness was giving this evidence she repeatedly broke down. On this occasion Willie was not present. Currey followed her to the train and subjected her to humiliation before the servant.
On the night of this day, witness was in the basement with Willie. Currey came in and acted very brutally towards the boy. When she was putting the children to bed on this occasion Currey became very violent and threatened to strike her. With three of the children she ran from the house to Dick's drug store, near at hand.
Witness remained only a short time in the drug store. While there she told the proprietor, Mr. Dick, about the occurrence.
For five days immediately after her return from Jackson, Currey spoke nothing but curses to her servant of the terms he used was "bitch of hell," "hellion," "she devil," "damn bitch," "whore," and many other unkind epithets.
Witness described Currey's conduct during the critical illness of their daughter Julia. According to witness Currey was most brutal toward her. Currey in his evidence said his wife neglected the child. This Mrs. Currey most emphatically denied.
Mrs. Tapley, a nurse, assisted witness in the care of Julia.
During the child's illness, according to witness, Currey very seldom inquired about the baby.
During the child's illness, Currey was either indifferent or "brutally cruel." During this period and subsequent, Currey only ate Sunday dinner with them and sat on his chair and "glowered." It was just after the child's recovery that witness discovered asleep in Mrs. Currey's room and Hamilton with reference to her domestic unhappiness.
On the night of July 10, 1908, Mrs.

MRS. CURREY WAS TERRID CURREY COULD KILL HER

Continues Her Evidence in Divorce Court Saturday—Declares Currey Was Too Free With the Use of the Cane on the Children

The Currey divorce case was resumed Saturday for the honor Mr. Justice Dickson. Mrs. Mary A. Currey called her examination was continued by Mr. Teed.

Mrs. Currey denied that she called her husband a devil on any occasion, but admitted that on one occasion she called him a brute. Witness also denied that she threw a glass of water on the occasion when she called him a brute, or that she ever used the expression: "I wish that I could die."

Mr. Teed read at some length the evidence of Dr. Currey as given at Fredericton, charging Mrs. Currey with unkindly conduct.

Witness swore that as time went on Currey continued to treat her in a brutal way and called her "the devil" and "a damn thief."

Witness refused to sleep with Currey and changed her room. On Dec. 20, 1917, she went back to Currey's bed, but that night she was awakened by the phone. The message he received was that witness's father was dead.

Witness stated that as time went on Currey continued to treat her in a brutal way and called her "the devil" and "a damn thief."

BLENDING MONOPLANE CROSSES THE CHANNEL

DOVER, July 25.—This sleepy seaport town experienced the keenest thrill known in a generation when at sunrise this morning a white-winged bird-like machine with loudly humming motor swept out from the base obscuring the sea toward the distant French coast and, circling twice above the high chalky cliffs of Dover, alighted on English soil.

Blériot left the Barques, three miles from Calais, about 4.30 a. m. on one of the smallest monoplanes ever used. He crossed the channel in a little more than half an hour, twice as swiftly as the fastest mail boat. His speed averaged more than 45 miles an hour; sometimes it approximated sixty miles.

The wind was blowing about twenty miles an hour and the sea was choppy. The aviator was swathed in a single garment of drilling, impervious to the wind, which covered him from the top of his head to his feet, only his face showing. He wore also a cork life-belt.

Very early in the morning, a wireless message was received from Calais that Blériot intended to make the flight. Then in quick succession came the news that he had left land, that he was flying high and was making good time.

Blériot's friends took him quickly to the pier, from which mail boats depart. In the meantime his wife arrived on the destroyer. She embraced him weeping, but they were soon sitting at breakfast, the centre of a proud gathering of French people.

STOLE GOLD WHILE WORKING IN MINE

William Muse Pleads Guilty—New Lead is Very Rich

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S., July 24.—A case of stealing gold from the Pothook Mine, Molega, was brought before Judge Forbes at Liverpool on Friday last, when William Muse, one of the men working in the pit, was found guilty and sentenced. The facts are that gold had been missing and Muse was suspected of being the thief, and a warrant was issued to search, when gold was found in his trunk, to the extent of forty dollars worth. Muse was arrested and placed in jail. The stolen gold was discovered in the Pothook Mine a few weeks ago, and which mining engineers claim is one of the richest finds in the history of gold mining in Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Sarah Upshaw, a colored woman near Lockheartville, aged ninety years, met with a serious and exciting accident one day last week. She went into the yard to turn out some cattle that had broken into her garden, when one of them, a cow, turned on her. Mrs. Upshaw was caught on the horns of the animal and tossed in the air. As she landed on the ground the infuriated animal made another assault on her and ripped open her high top shoe. By this time neighbors hearing her cries drove the animal off, and carried Mrs. Upshaw, who was lying in an unconscious condition, into the house and summoned medical aid.

Youthful Thief to Come Before Magistrate Today

HAMPTON, July 25.—Fred Bell, the young man who stole a horse, harness and express wagon from the premises of Charles Stackhouse at Upper Loch Lomond Friday and drove through to Hampton, where he left the wagon and took a lighter driving motor and harness from the barn of Dr. J. Scovil Murray, with whom he was until recently employed as groom, and once on the embankment into the creek started up the country, with the evident intention of selling the whole outfit and making off with the proceeds, was captured on Saturday p. m. by Sheriff Prosser at Case settlement, in this county, and before night was behind the bars of the county jail, within a few hundred yards of the place from which he started on his second venture. Enquiries on Saturday morning in various directions brought reply that he had been early in the morning in the parish of Norton driving eastward. Although Bell had about ten hours start in Sheriff Prosser, who has been in pursuit since the trail had no difficulty in running down his prey. It is said Bell was so much under the influence of liquor when he left Loch Lomond as to hardly be accountable for his actions, yet he seems to have wit enough to plan a profitable exchange, provided he could go away. He will be brought before Stipendiary Magistrate John March at his court house tomorrow.

Young Oscar B. White, who has been in jail for a week under remand, charged with stealing a gold watch and chain from the residence of Central Norton, will come up for his preliminary trial tomorrow, afternoon. ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 28.—Today's session of the Board of Inquiry at the Naval Academy, which is investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton of the Marine Corps, was a private one. The testimony given by Charles W. Kennedy, now a private in the Marine Corps at Norfolk, Va., and Surgeon A. D. McCormick, U. S. N. Kennedy said he had been reluctant to mention his part in the affair, because Lieutenants Sutton and Adams, his superiors, had both admonished him on the morning following the shooting to keep quiet. On his way to relieve a sentry at one o'clock in the morning, Adams, Oesterman and Utley in an angry argument, the witness said. Adams was in his shirt sleeves ready for a fight, and Sutton had accosted him (Kennedy) and asked him to hold his blouse, cape and cap. "All right, Adams, if you want to fight, I'll fight you," he heard Sutton say, the witness testified. They fought hard for a few minutes, when Lieutenant Utley interfered and stopped the fight, saying the guard would be out if they did not stop. A second time he saw Adams and Sutton come together as he was going away to his post, Kennedy said. Half an hour later Kennedy heard the shots from his post at the naval hospital, and soon after Adams appeared at the hospital and volunteered the information that Adams had shot him. Utley also told him at that time that Sutton had killed himself, the witness said.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO MEET AUGUST 10

Mrs. Kingdon Among Arrivals in Fredericton Yesterday

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 28.—The local government is to meet here on August 10, the second Tuesday of the month instead of the first Tuesday as is customary. Among the arrivals in the city today are Mrs. Kingdon, and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Edgcombe, of St. John. Mr. Arthur Hannay is among the visitors to the city this evening. Mr. Hannay, who is a son of Dr. Hannay and is reporter of the senate, is spending the summer vacation in the provinces.

BELL ADMITS STEALING RIG

Magistrate Sends Him up for Trial

UNCLE TAKES CHARGE OF HIM
Will Send Him Back Home
HAMPTON, N. B., July 28.—In the preliminary examination into the charge against Fred Bell, of stealing a light wagon and a set of driving harness from his barn, Dr. J. Scovill Murray, at Hampton, on or about Saturday, the 24th inst., was gone into, identification of the property made by James H. Sprout, and evidence given by Sheldon W. Freese, that on learning of the theft on Saturday morning, he instructed Constable D. O. Laughey to proceed towards the Bell's barn, where the party described if found in that direction and hold the rig until his (the sheriff's) arrival. Following another search, the sheriff and J. H. Sprout reached the residence of a Mr. Bates, in the Parish of Springfield, where he found Laughey and his prisoner, with him back to Hampton and placed him in jail. This morning the prisoner pleaded guilty and was sent up for trial before the Kings County Court at sitting on the second Tuesday in September, being returned to goal until that date unless he in the meantime takes advantage of the speedy trial act.

MY THIS BAD ACTOR! BATHING WITHOUT

He Wasn't Dressed—Oh, Well, Even New York is Shocked

NEW YORK, July 28.—Boston has received an awful shock since the Bathing without a shirt case was reported. The rest of the world as a model of deportment. But this morning a man from Boston—from the Back Bay of Boston—was seen swimming in the Harlem Meer. He went swimming without any clothes on, he wasn't dressed for Broadway, he wasn't even dressed for Central Park; he didn't have—the truth is he was clad in nothing except his cotton briefs and a pair of shoes. It was a man who later described himself as John A. Cantwell, 41 years old, of 42 Beacon street. He quietly took off his clothes at a point in the park very near to Central Park West, and he was seen to be in the water several blocks away from the shore. He more he posed for a moment and took a perfect dive. It was a shock to the morning. Mr. Cantwell was disporting himself with every evidence of satisfaction. With the fact that he was in the water, he turned over on his back and floated with great skill just as Policeman Crosby came within view. "Suffering cats!" Crosby exclaimed. "Swimmin' in the middle of New York!" "Come on out of there!" Mr. Cantwell turned over and surveyed him with unwinking eye, and with the utmost courtesy replied as he changed the shoulder stroke to a crawl stroke. "I would like to, but you see I don't know where my clothes are." "You'll come out at once, clothes or no clothes," replied Policeman Crosby, very abruptly. The swimmer rose to his full height, and Crosby glanced around nervously to see if any nurse girls or other morning frequenters of the park were about. By a lucky chance there were none. "How am I going to get you to the station like this?" "That's your problem," said Mr. Cantwell, as he killed a hungry mosquito on his left thigh with a resounding slap. "You'll keep behind me," said Crosby, averting his face. They passed through glades, fair meadow land and along the most unpopulated paths, while the lark's wild chirps were heard. It was something of a walk to the station and the mosquitoes were voracious. Mr. Cantwell was kept so busy killing them that the operations of his hands reminded him of a vaudeville show. Crosby had palpitation of the heart for fear some one would hear it and come to what was under. He heaved a great sigh of relief when the station house loomed in the perspective. He walked in, his ward following. When the morning bath had been decently garbed the lieutenant consented to make an entry in the book and a short time after Mr. Cantwell from Boston took his journey to the Harlem Police Court. Magistrate O'Connor stared at the papers in the Harlem Police Court, and then eyed the defendant very severely. "What is this?" he asked. "Swimming, eh? In the park, eh? Oh, my, oh, my! What have you to say to this charge, sir? Are you guilty or not guilty?" "Guilty," responded Mr. Cantwell. "What's your business?" queried the magistrate. "I am an actor." She distinguished herself as an athlete at the first private school that she attended, and at the second the physical examination proved her the strongest girl in the institution. Just now, at Miss Knox's school, Briarcliffe Manor, New York, she is a member of the basketball team and the champion long-distance runner. She stands well in her studies, and is an excellent musician. Miss Booth's parents decided not to influence their daughter in any manner in her choice of a career, but she has decided to give her services to either the work of the Volunteers in general or to that branch of their work in the prison, which her mother, Maud Booth, has so wonderfully developed. "As most people know," said Miss Booth recently, "mother has had greater success with missionary laborers among convicts than any other woman, and it may be that I shall assist her. My father, however, wants me to help him, the more so as my brother, Charles, has just taken up my mother's work."

Wm. McALLISTER RUN OVER BY PLASTER CAR

Leg So Nearly Severed That Amputation Was Necessary

HOPEWELL HILL, July 25.—William McAllister, an employe of the Albert Manufacturing Co., Hillsboro, was run over by a plaster car last week and had one of his legs so nearly severed by the car wheels that amputation was necessary. The unfortunate man belongs near Moncton, and was only recently married. Hearing in the recent Scott Act cases resumed on Friday before the stipendiary magistrate, the case against Constable O. G. Steeves was dismissed. Steeves was charged with treating a driver through that parish. The wrong man was evidently arraigned, as Steeves' companion on the trip went on the stand and swore that he was his liquor and that he did the treating. In the meantime the period for laying information had elapsed, so the matter went by the board. The cases now before the court are against W. L. Hopper and Wm. Fullerton, the former is charged with importing a case of whiskey into the county for fiscal.

CANADA TO HAVE FLYING MACHINE

Experiments Will be Made at the Petawawa Camp

PETAWAWA, July 28.—Messrs. McCurdy, Baldwin and Lieut. Perrin and William McDonald are putting the aerodrome Silver Dart together and will rush work on it during the next four or five days. No ascent is likely before the end of the week. The fifth and last aerodrome the young inventors have made will be tried out at Petawawa Camp, but it is not here yet. The intention is to experiment with the Silver Dart and later on with the new flying machine which has been christened Baddeck, No. 1. Later on some military officers, from Ottawa, may visit here, but none have arrived as yet. The time will be taken up in getting the machine together. Some new equipment is to be placed in this, and it is found to work well it may be used later on in Baddeck No. 1.

MONARCHS MAY AD PRINCE IN DISGRACE

Emperor William and King Edward are Expected to Champion Prince Alfonso

LONDON, July 26.—King Alfonso's position in the Spanish throne is still the subject of considerable discussion and argument in court circles. There is no disguising the fact that feeling runs pretty high about it. By a lucky chance there were none. "How am I going to get you to the station like this?" "That's your problem," said Mr. Cantwell, as he killed a hungry mosquito on his left thigh with a resounding slap. "You'll keep behind me," said Crosby, averting his face. ENGLISH PRINCESSES ON OR NEAR THRONES

Relatives of King Edward Queens in Many European Countries

LONDON, July 26.—Despite the denials of the King Manuel of Portugal is to be betrothed to Princess Alexandra of Fife, daughter of the Princess Royal of England, and granddaughter of the King. There is every reason to believe that the announcement, although premature, is true. Like young King Alfonso of Spain, the more youthful ruler of Portugal will set forth in a short time to seek a bride and in all probability the selection will be the Princess Alexandra. The Princess Alexandra, who until recently was merely the Lady Alexandra, is a most charming and attractive girl and is most popular in court circles by reason of her childhood in the Scottish Highlands where her father, the recently created Duke of Fife, who was but a mere earl when he married the King's daughter, has vast estates. It was only quite recently that the Princess Alexandra was presented at court, where she made a most excellent impression. One of the difficulties in the way of the princess' marriage to King Manuel would necessarily be the question of religion. The members of the royal house of Braganza are strict Roman Catholics, while the princess, of course, belongs to the Protestant church. But such difficulty would not necessarily be insurmountable. Similar conditions existed in the case of Princess Beatrice of Battenberg and the King of Spain, and the obstacle was removed by the princess embracing the Catholic religion. She did this with the entire approbation of her uncle, King Edward. Of course there was a mild wave of virtuous indignation throughout Protestant England, but it ended there and the inevitable was accepted with the semblance of good grace. During her life the late Queen of Denmark was known as "the mother-in-law" of Europe. Now her daughter may well be designated the "mother of queens." In almost every country in Europe some descendant of Queen Victoria occupies, or is close to, the throne, and in every case the relatives of King Edward and Queen Alexandra made what are known as "good matches." The King's third daughter, the former Princess Maud of Wales, is now Queen of Norway; her husband, a Danish prince, having been elected sovereign of that country under the title of King Haakon VII. Princess Beatrice of Battenberg, daughter of the King's sister, Princess Henry of Battenberg, is Queen of Spain, while the former Princess Margaret of Connaught, eldest daughter of King Edward, is Queen of Sweden. Then the daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh, another brother of King Edward, is the Queen of Greece. Princess of Roumania and will succeed to the throne when the venerable King Charles passes away. Of the English princesses who still are single there is the Princess Victoria, daughter of the King, who probably will never marry, the Princess Patricia of Connaught, his niece, and the Princess Maud of Fife, his grand daughter.

MISS BOOTH PREPARES TO FIGHT AGAINST SIN

Third Generation of Famous Family Enlists in Holy War

NEW YORK, July 26.—Miss Myrtle Booth, daughter of General and Mrs. Ballington Booth of the Volunteers of America, and granddaughter of General Booth, chief of the Salvation Army, is preparing to take up the fight against sin. She is now 15 years old. She distinguished herself as an athlete at the first private school that she attended, and at the second the physical examination proved her the strongest girl in the institution. Just now, at Miss Knox's school, Briarcliffe Manor, New York, she is a member of the basketball team and the champion long-distance runner. WRECK OF A FINE STEEL STEAMER EAR CANSO, N.S.

Word received here of Word was received by the Robert Reford Company here yesterday to the effect that the steamer Cairncrag had been wrecked near Canso, N. S. H. S. Schofield of the Robert Reford Company left immediately for Canso to look after the steamer for the owners. The following dispatch was received by The Sun from Canso last night. After feeling her way from Boston through fog which enveloped the coast for a week past, the fine steel steamer Cairncrag of Newcastle, England, struck on Shorting Rocks, Dover Island, eight miles west of Canso, today. With all possible despatch boats were launched and provisioned, as the ship began to fill forward, and when daylight broke boats were able to land in sheltered place on Dover Island, where they still are awaiting the effect of another tide upon their ship, or waiting to see her break up. The last day of the wrecked steamer and crew were rescued by fishermen, who lent every assistance in their power. As soon as the news of the disaster reached Canso the government steamer thirty-three was despatched to the scene of the wreck. She was unable to get near the wreck, but was able to land on the sheltered side of the island and convey offers of assistance to Capt. Hyslop and crew. Capt. Hyslop refused to leave the scene of the wreck, and hopes that the sea may moderate with the prevailing west wind to enable them to get on board again and perhaps save some more of their effects. That no lives were lost is fortunate. The wreck where the Cairncrag struck is one of the most exposed on the coast and breakers were today thirty feet or more over the ships' bow. Should the steamer survive the pounding of the seas throughout the night, it is possible she may remain unbroken for some days as the sea is now moderating fast. The forward hold and engine room are full of water, but the stern seems to be afloat. The Cairncrag was bound to Bathurst, N. B., to load. She is a fine steel steamer of 2022 tons, built by Newcastle in 1892 and owned by Messrs. Cairns, Noble & Young, of that place.

WOMAN GETS HER HAIR TANGLED UP IN AIRSHIP

An Asbury Park Damsel Has to Loae Her Coiffure

ASHBURY PARK, N. J., July 25.—Miss Helen Bull today mourns the loss of a beautiful coiffure, lost through her father's desire to conquer the air. The treasure became badly tangled in the clock motor of a miniature airship and it became necessary to close it up the young lady before the machine could be released. The model aeroplane was completed but recently and, desiring secrecy, Mr. Bull decided to hold the first test in a large room at the home, and was surrounded by the eager and highly interested little family circle. The inventor carefully set the planes, adjusted every part properly and, with eyes sparkling with anticipation, released the lock-spring motor with whirling propellers. The machine gracefully rose and, in a rapid dash, finished its initial flight by fastening in Miss Helen's luxuriant growth of hair.

DANIEL BRITT RESCUES A BOY FROM DROWNING

Daniel Britt, the well known ball-player, last evening saved the life of Robert Knowles, the young son of Joseph S. Knowles of 143 Orange street, who had fallen from a raft at the foot of Orange street, and was sinking for the third time in the waters of Courtney Bay. Young Knowles was rescued in an exhausted condition and had to be worked over some time before he recovered.

The accident happened at about 7:30 p. m. A party of eight or ten boys were upon a raft which was tied by a rope to the breakwater at the foot of Orange street. In some way this rope was broken, and Young Knowles trying to reach the part attached to the breakwater fell in the water, which at that point was too deep for him to find bottom. The boy was unable to swim and could only struggle helplessly. One of the boys on the raft named Percy Holder tried to help Knowles, but was unable to reach him. As the lad was sinking for the last time Daniel Britt, who was attracted to the scene by the cries of the boys, dived from the breakwater fully dressed as he was, and caught him. The rescuer was able to get the boy up on the breakwater and after working over him for some length of time, restored him to consciousness. White Knowles was in the water, another of the boys named John Seely, son of Frank R. Seely, of 219 Princess street, fell from the raft. His claims were able to pull him out safely, however. Mr. Britt deserves great credit for his courageous act. Had his action been delayed but a few seconds a young life would have paid the toll to the sea. The cries of the boys attracted a large number of the residents of the neighborhood to the scene and willing hands were soon at work in an endeavor to restore the Knowles boy to his normal condition. Young Knowles was resting easily at a late hour last night.

RUSSIAN WOMEN HANG BELLE OF THE VILLAGE

Refuse Any Longer to be Outdone by Prettv Maiden

LONDON, July 25.—Details of the lynching of a young and beautiful woman by a crowd of jealous members of her own sex are to hand from St. Petersburg. The affair took place last week in the village of Volechik. The victim had incurred the hatred of the other women in the village by her flirtations with the man of the neighborhood, both married and single, and feelings reached a climax when it became known that on her account one of the young men of the village had broken his promise to marry another girl. On coming to the church the other day the women, both old and young, threw themselves upon the flirt, and in rescue her cries for mercy tore all her clothes off. They then dragged her through the village by the hair of her head, beating and stoning her mercilessly.

PLOT TO BLOW UP MANAGER'S HOUSE FAILS

Diabolical Scheme Mis-carries--Part of Ver-
 and Wrecked
Charge of Powder
 Placed, Fuse Attached and Lighted
Six Persons in Simpson's
 House at Dominion
 No. 10 at Time

GLACE BAY, N. S., July 27th.—Intense indignation prevails throughout Cape Breton over the attempt to blow up the house of Manager Simpson Dominion No. 10 early today. It is the main topic of conversation all over the county, and everywhere an utmost condemnation of the action is expressed.
 An investigation has been started by Crown Prosecutor Horn for the attorney general's department, and everything possible is being done to run the would-be assassin down. Two theories are held regarding the deed. The fact that the explosive was placed on the veranda of the house and not stamped down or confined in any way is used as an argument that the explosion was only intended to frighten Simpson and his family. To others this fact indicates that the perpetrator placed the explosive lost his courage at the last moment, and rather than risk detection by spending any time in disposing of the powder under the veranda it was placed on the veranda, the fuse and ran. It is now pretty well asserted that the explosive used was explosive powder used in Emory shaft (Dominion No. 10), of which Simpson is manager, and the manner in which the charge was laid and the effects of the explosion, all tend to prove that this was the material used.
 The charge was placed on the verandah apparently against one of the supporting posts. To the charge was attached a fuse used in shot firing in collieries. The fuse was six feet six inches long, and an experiment made by the company's police demonstrated that it would burn for three minutes before igniting the powder. The explosion tore the post against which the powder was laid completely out. Portions of this post were found forty-five feet from the verandah, partially imbedded in the soil. The verandah was partially forced from the main building in front of the house. Every window in the front of the house was shattered and the window in the house of a neighbor was also broken by time intonation. Plaster came down in places and in other places it is still hanging to the ceiling. Crockery was damaged by being shaken from shelves, and the front frame of the house was started so that the front door could not be opened. The explosion occurred at 1:20.
 The report was so loud that it was plainly heard in Glace Bay. Persons in the general offices heard it, and the Caledonia colliery, where it was first thought the explosion came from, when called on telephone, said that they thought the explosion was at some of the houses near their pit, the report was so loud. The explosion was for New Brunswick shippers was thoroughly discussed. Nothing definite was done until another meeting is held in St. John.

MESMERIZED
A Poisonous Drug Still Freely Used
 Many people are brought up to believe that coffee is a necessity of life, and the strong hold that the drug has on the system makes it hard to loosen its grip even when one realizes its injurious effects.
 A lady in Baraboo, writes: "I had used coffee for years; it seemed one of the necessities of life. A few months ago, my health, which had been slowly falling, became more impaired, and I knew that unless relief came from some source, I would soon be a physical wreck."
 "I was weak and nervous, had sick headaches, no ambition, and felt tired of life. My husband was also losing his health. He was troubled so much with indigestion that at times he could eat only a few mouthfuls of dry bread."
 "We concluded that coffee was slowly poisoning us, and stopped it and used hot water. We felt somewhat better, but it wasn't satisfactory."
 "Finally we saw Postum advertised, and bought a package. I followed directions for making carefully, allowing it to boil twenty minutes after it came to the boiling point, and added cream, which turned it to the loveliest, rich-looking and tasteful drink I ever saw served, at any table, and we have used Postum ever since."
 "I gained five pounds in weight in as many weeks, and now feel well and strong in every respect. My headaches have gone, and I am a new woman.
 My husband's indigestion has left him and he can now eat anything."
 "There's a Reason."

CHORUS GIRLS PLAY BALL FOR NEWSBOYS
 NEW YORK, N. Y., July 26.—All the "newsies" in town who could spare time from crying "Wuxtry! Wuxtry!"
 crowded American League Park this afternoon to see Mable Hite umpire a baseball game between two teams of chorus girls in full costume. There was some dispute as to the final score, but at the end of the third inning it stood 3 to 25. All gate money will go toward the maintenance of the newsboys' home club, at Woodland Beach, Staten Island.
 Other attractions were Estling Nelson, who auctioned copies of his book; Annette Kellerman, who gave an open air exhibition of "Diavolo"; and Mike Donlin, who was widely cheered by the baseball fans.
 The French distance runner, Henry
 St. Yves, Tom Morrison and Mat Maloney ran a two-mile race. St. Yves winning. Tommy Murphy and other les-sioning sports celebrities gave short boxing bouts.

and drove away for parts unknown
 about midnight, supposedly in the direction of Bellisle.
 Bell is a short, young man about twenty-five years of age. He formerly belonged to St. John, was the son of a shoe maker who lived on Duke street, and as a boy sold papers on the streets. Mr. Stinchcomb came here this morning and put a constable on the supposed track of the fugitive.
 Dr. Murray is on a trip to the Pacific Coast, and his horses are being cared for during his absence in the stables of neighbors.
 Shortly after ten o'clock three boys found a set of harness in the grass where it had been thrown from the embankment, so that it looks as though Bell also stole a set of the Doctor's harness and kept it in the wagon all he reached the embankment, where he exchanged it for the lighter set, and threw the other into the creek.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 22.—Tag day for the supervised playgrounds yielded $1,700. Some eighty girls took the tags which are the minimum in cents and in some cases brought $10.

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 26.—Meetings are to be held this week at Cape Bauld and Cape Tormentine respectively by W. Wakeham for the purpose of inquiring into the state of the lobster fishing industry in this part of the province. The meeting at Cape Bauld will take place on Wednesday and that at Cape Tormentine on Thursday. Mr.
 Wakeham has been appointed commissioner under the order of the Dominion Cabinet to hold an inquiry into the condition of the lobster industry.
 At all meetings held by him opportunities will be given anyone wishing to go to give evidence regarding the industry. Upon the evidence gathered Mr.
 Wakeham will pass his report which will be given to the government.
 It is hoped, will make possible action by the authorities which will be of benefit to lobster fishermen.

MONTROSE HAS A CLOSE CALL
 ST. JOHN'S, N. F., July 27.—The Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Montrose, London, via Newport for Montreal, reported from Cape Race this morning after an enforced halt for four days for the purpose of effecting temporary repairs following a collision with a giant ice pillar. The plight of the steamer which is conveying passengers and freight from Europe to Montreal was not known here until today, when the British warship Brill-liant reported standing by the Montrose for four days off Cape Race and helping to repair the damage. Those repairs, which necessarily are of but a temporary nature, were not finished until midnight and the Montrose got under way early this morning. So far as is known here, no person was injured.

MOTHERS
 WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS
Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
 Winchester, Ind.—"Four doctors told me that they could never make me regular, and that I would eventually die. I would eventually I would bleed, and suffer from down-pains, cramps and chills, and I could not sleep nights. My mother wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and she began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's
 Vegetable Compound.
 After taking one and one-half bottles of the Compound, I am all right again, and I recommend it to every suffering woman."—Mrs. MAY DEAL, Winchester, Ind.
 Hundreds of such letters from girls and mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.
 Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, faintness, or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.
 If you would like special advice about your case write the confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The conference on the tariff bill late this afternoon agreed to report a provision for freebies providing the house in advance, authorizes its conferees to reduce the leather and shoe schedule by four hours rates.
 TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 26.—Mike Schreck defeated Marvin Hart in the fourth round of a ten round bout tonight.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Wall Street—
 The opening stock market offered very little interest. The Central Leather stocks and Canadian Pacific advanced large fractions and U. S. Steel rose 1/2.
 The general tendency was a hardening one but a few of the Grangers showed small declines. Dealings were very light.

BREAK INTO LEAF AGAIN

Second Foliage on Trees This Season
STRANGE PHENOMENA
Billions of Army Worms Stripped Trees—Second Foliage Follows
 Along the fourteen miles of C. P. R. E. line between Prince William and Tracy station, the trees are breaking into leaf for the second time this season. This peculiar natural phenomenon is due to the invasion of the billions of army worms which stopped the trains regularly for a month, caused a large addition to the C. P. R. running expenses for the division, and defoliated the trees of everything green for miles away from the track.
 The caterpillars have been gone now for two weeks, and the trees are beginning to resume appearance of life.
 The appearance of the country along the fourteen miles of road has been completely changed by the passage of the caterpillars. Formerly the district on either hand of the track was well clothed with verdure, which obscured the view at a short distance from the rails. Since the voracious little creatures made their appearance, however, the country is visible for miles, and a shining appearance has replaced the former rich shades. These army worms have peculiar tastes as well as other living things. They do not relish the taste of maple leaves, the least, and the birches, willows, poplars and elms, all of which were given short shift.
 Whether or not this exception of the maples is intended as a compliment to the national emblem, would be a question for Gordon Leavitt to answer.

ENGLAND AWAKE TO NEW PERIL

Aeroplane No Toy, but an Instrument of Warfare in the Near Future
 LONDON, July 26.—The London morning newspapers publish editorials on Bleriot's feat. A new point brought out is its striking appeal to the imagination of Englishmen that Great Britain's insular strength is no longer unchallenged; that the aeroplane is not a toy, but a possible instrument of warfare, which must be taken into account by soldiers and statesmen, and that it was the one thing needed to wake up the English people to the importance of the science of aviation.
 According to the statement made to one of the newspaper correspondents, Mr. Bleriot has practically decided to abandon aviation in the near future. He said that, and I have promised my wife that my coming attempt at the Rheims races shall be my last flight."
 Replies to a question as to whether it would have been possible to cross the channel in a bi-plane, Bleriot said emphatically that it would not, because the increased surface of the planes (and never have withstood such a wind as he experienced.

The list of contestants will be published each day. Many of those entered are not actively at work; there is plenty of room for energetic candidates to enter and win one of the many prizes. In fact the contest is only getting fairly started. Many who have sent in inquiries claim that they have not the time to devote to campaigning. We want to convince you that these prizes may be won with votes secured during your leisure moments. You are not asked to neglect your business or occupation, whatever it may be. We could not consistently expect that of you. We want you when this great contest is finally over to have nothing but the very best of feeling toward the SUN and STAR. We would not expect to look for this were we not fair and square to each and every contestant whose name appears in the list. The Contest Department is ever at your service in the matter of advice or suggestion which may help you win the prize which you want most. So do not delay, but fill out a nomination blank at the bottom of next page and send to the Contest Manager. He will either call or send some one to convince you of the vast importance of having your name in this list when it next appears. You really cannot afford to miss this opportunity.
