THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

Most Appropriately Celebrated by Americans in Dawson Yesterday.

MAGNANIMOUSLY ASSISTED BY THEIR COUSINS AND FRIENDS

All of Whom Entered Into the Spirit of the Occasion With Zest of Yankees.

The Clear, Bright and Beautiful Day Was Ushered In With Burst of Artillery Which Caused the Hills to Tremble—First Industrial Parade in the History of the Yukon—Long List of Sports Successfully Carried Out—Not a Serious Accident During the Day.

Never did the king of day rise and shine on a more perfect day than yesterday, the Fourth of July. But for hours before the sun arose and before the day was more than a few seconds old, in fact, the midnight hour had scarcely arrived, when there was unmistakable evidence of the presence of the irrepressible "Yanks" on every hand. Such a din was never before heard in Dawson. Old blunderbusses, horse pistols, repeating rifles, anvils, giant powder and everything else that would make a noise, were turned loose and the verberations and reverberations that were awakened where the mighty Yukon rolls were such as can only be produced by the descendants of those who dared to throw overboard tea in Boston harbor a century and a half ago. By one minute after midnight as the great natal day of American independence was ushered in could be seen flashes of light and clouds of smoke issue from in front of hundreds of cabins as the air was being punctured by everything that would shoot from the 44-calibre Colts down to the little 22 pepper box. The fact that giant powder sold in Dawson only four short months ago at $3.50 per pound did not prevent hundreds of pounds of it from being exploded in honor of the advent of the glorious day. Love of the land left behind surged in every Yankee breast, and American patriotism from every pore. It was "the day we celebrate" and most royally it was observed. Nor was it a selfish celebration, for at the elbow of nearly every "Yankee" could be seen a son of Britain who, inspired by the spirit of the occasion, rejoiced with his fellow man on the glad some occasion, and helped his American neighbor in doing honor to the event; and to the honor, credit and good sense of both American and Briton it can be said that not a whisper was heard during the entire day that savored or smacked in any way of international difference or discord.

Everywhere were seen unfurled to the breeze the stars and stripes. They were worn on hats and coats, carried and waved by children, men and women; they floated from a thousand buildings and side by side with the flag of England they spoke silently but impressively: "peace on earth, good will toward men."

As the morning advanced the prevalence of good feeling became more marked, and by the time the hour arrived for the commencement of the celebration there seemed to be a general sentiment, regardless of nationality, that it is "our celebration and we will make it a success." This sentiment did not in any respect cool or lessen during the day, and it was still very apparent as late as two o'clock this morning.

It was after 11 o'clock before the grand parade began, but when seen it was in every sense a pageant of ingenuity, taste, royalty and grandeur. First came the band followed by 16 members of the N. W. M. P. force, veritable models for fashion plates in their neatly fitting uniforms; following them were Grand Marshal H. Te Roller in a carryall, accompanied by the guests of honor, U. S. Consul McCook, Governor of the Yukon Territory Wm. Ogilvie, Territorial Judge James Craig and Inspector Cortlandt Starnes of the N. W. M. P. Then followed floats representing various industrial and business interests. Among the floats in line were: The Dawson Mill Co., O. W. Hobbs, proprietor, a fine display of hand, lathe and scroll work. This float, like all which follows it was beautifully caparisoned in flags and bunting.

N. A. T. & T. represented Uncle Sam and Queen Victoria with a large golden nugget between them which both were carefully guarding. Around in a greedy and grasping attitude were their children all eager to possess the nugget. The representation was of the Klondike in which the sons of both nations are striving to seize the nuggets.

The Yukon Telephone Syndicate. George J. Apple & Co., stoves and tinware, a splendid display.

Dawson fire department, hook and ladder wagon. Dawson fire department, chemical engine.

Dawson fire department, heavy fire engine, which required four heavy horses to handle. S. Y. T. Co., large, richly decorated float 10x20 feet, with pictures of George Washington, Queen Victoria, President McKinley, the American eagle, British lion and the present and future home of Oom Paul Kruger. In large plain letters appeared the most interesting topics of the day: "War in Africa," "War in China," "The high grade goods for sale by the S. Y. T. Co."

Dawson Power & Electric Light Company, a brilliant display of artistic decorations in which flags, bunting and electric light globes were prominent features.

Daily Klondike Nugget, full-fledged printing office in operation, editor at chair and job press turning out miniature Nuggets which were distributed along the line of parade, towering above the handsome and artistic decorations was a telegraph system, the poles, crosses, insulators and wire all being in evidence. On this float the national colors of America were to be seen even on the spokes of the wagon.

McCauley Bros., appropriate grocery advertisement. Orpheum theater, Goddess of Liberty, with attendant pages, very elegant decorations.

Atwood & Cantwell, photographers, quaint, curious and komic animal that looked as though it might be a cross between the late jumbo and a Texas steer, but which in reality was a relic of Paul Bordman, as it was his erstwhile dancing cow. It was the most ludicrous feature of the entire day; and as Mr. Cantwell is an expert taxidermist it was a splendid advertisement.

Prizes to floats were awarded as follows: First, N. A. T. & T. Co.; second, Dawson Sawmill & Building Co.; third, Geo. J. Apple & Co.; fourth, Dawson

Power & Electric Co.; fifth, Daily Klondike Nugget; sixth, S. Y. T. Co.

After the parade the regular program of sports opened on Front street, at which time the big grand stand had not an empty seat; Lancaster & Calderhead's private gallery, the second floor of their warehouse was crowded full and on the top of every building along the street were seated hundreds who sought vantage points in order to see all there was to be seen. From the postoffice to the A. C. Co.'s store the street was a surging mass of humanity, and the celebration was on "in earnest."

The sporting events of the day as set forth in the program, were commenced a little late, but the delay was unavoidable, owing to sundry delays that occurred in forming the parade.

The first event on the program was the 100 yard free for all race. There were six entries for the race, all ambitious to break records and get the purse. Of these, W. H. B. Lyon possessed more speed than the others and captured first prize. Clark followed him closely and Roy Agee got the show. The rest of the field followed as they saw fit and were able.

The next event was one which is nearly always in order on the Fourth of July; why, none knows, but 'twas ever thus. The Murphys were gathered in by Roy Agee, who was the most active in the bulbus harvest. Harry Agee, not wanting to see a good thing get away from the name, was second in his efforts, and Knebel got what was left.

The 2:20 yard race was scooped by the speedy W. H. B. Lyon, Joe Clarke wearing his national colors and a bland smile pursued him to the finish, arriving in time to get second money. J. Browning was third.

The veterans were shown the way to the end of the 50 yard course by Mr. Stablefield, who might have been leading a charge of home guards anxious to arrive at their domiciles, instead of trying to outrun two other veterans, from the way he burned up the ground under his feet. Duff was after him, and in turn was chased in by Osborne.

This ended the morning events and a recess was declared before taking up the afternoon program.

If any event or set of events of the day may be said to have taken precedence over the rest of the program in the matter of attention and interest it was the horse racing.

To begin with, the races went in the matter of first money, to the favorite, Blossom. This was due, not wholly to the speed of the Whitehorse Stable's entry, but in a large measure to the misfortunes and poor handling of the dark horse in the races, Hobbs' Sleepy John. This horse was ridden, part of the time, by four different riders. Two of them finished on his back, and the other two are thinking of entering the six days' walking match. They began their training on the track yesterday where the old horse left them. He is a hard mouthed, stiff necked old soldier, and knows his business. There was no saddle for him and he cannot be properly handled without one. Possibly Blossom's victory was in a measure due to this. At all events he was the only horse in the race who could make the mare remember afterwards that she had been in a race.

The second money in the first race went to the handsome little sorrel, Fred, entered by McCleod. Fred is a good horse, but small for the kind of ground he had to get over. He showed himself an animal of spirit and nerve, and although he only got second money his owner has no cause to be anything but proud of his performance.

The quarter mile race was also taken in by the speedy mare; Diamond, entered by C. F. Smith, taking second money from the rest in the final.

In the first race there were five entries, in the second seven. A horse which attracted much attention on account of his good form and handsome carriage was Flannery's Gold Run. He CASUALTIES REPORTED AT TIENTSIN.

Chinese Who Reported Legations Burned Were Killed.

YALE WINS VARSITY RACE.

U. S. Will Not Interfere With Bonding Privileges—Portland Back From Nome.

London, June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—The relief force sent to the aid of Admiral Seymour found the latter strongly entrenched near Peking and surrounded by immense hordes of Chinese. Seymour's force had made a brilliant defense during 15 days of continual fighting. For ten days the men subsisted on quarter rations. Chinese prisoners affirm that the foreign legations had been killed and the foreign ministers killed. Railroad communication between Taku and Tientsin has been restored. Huge preparations are on foot to reinforce the relief column. Twenty thousand troops, largely Japanese, have been landed. One thousand two hundred American troops left Manila for Taku today.

In Sore Straits.

Washington, D. C., June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—News from Peking is so indefinite and uncertain as to give the administration no small concern. The latest reports state that Admiral Seymour's force is surrounded and unless speedy relief arrives will be reduced to dire straits owing to lack of food and other supplies. Two cables from Admiral Kempff state that Li Hung Chang does not credit the reported fate of the foreign ministers and their families at Peking.

Casualties.

London, June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—The following are casualties which have thus far resulted to the international forces at Tientsin: American, killed 3, wounded 21; British, killed 2, wounded 1; Germans, killed 15, wounded 27; Russians, killed 10, wounded 37.

More Fighting at Tientsin.

London, June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—After the departure of reinforcements in aid of Admiral Seymour, the Chinese again attacked Tientsin fiercely. The foreign settlement was bombarded fiercely, and a terrible fire ensued. Casualties are not stated.

Yale Wins.

New London, June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—Yale won the eight-oared Varsity shell race today beating Harvard by six lengths. Near the finish the Harvard stroke oarsman collapsed from too hard work.

Alaska Judges.

Skagway, July 5.—Judge Myers and staff are now en route to this city on their way to Nome. Judge Wickersham and assistants are also en route to Eagle City.

THE CELEBRATION.

The celebration of yesterday was everything which could have been desired. We doubt if any city in the United States of the same size as Dawson ever undertook and so successfully carried out a celebration on such an elaborate scale as was done here yesterday.

The various committees had their work well in hand and although unavoidable delays occurred everything went off with comparative promptness and dispatch. The parade formed an important feature of the day's program, and while it was anticipated that more of the business concerns would be represented by floats, there were enough to furnish a display creditable alike to the town and to the individual firms who participated. It should be said here that no small measure of the day's success is due to the fact that Canadians and other British subjects entered as heartily and enthusiastically into the celebration as did the American citizens. Every one of the committee men seemed to work with a determination to make the day a memorable one and at midnight last night popular judgment seemed to be that they had succeeded admirably.

A most commendable part of the committees' work was the care taken to provide for the comfort of onlookers. The erection of the grand stand was a happy idea and was greatly appreciated by the assembled crowd who availed themselves of the structure to its utmost capacity. The plan of holding the tug of war contests on a platform was a vast improvement on the methods used in previous events of a similar nature and also added to the enjoyment of onlookers. A word must be said for the general good order that prevailed. The crowd was happy and good-natured and the day passed off with scarcely any disturbances whatever. The Nugget again congratulates the able gentlemen who had the celebration in charge, and believes that general public sentiment is voiced in the opinion that the occasion could not have been in charge of better hands.

Several of the ditches leading from the rear of the townsite to the river are badly in need of flushing again. They are partially filled with stagnant water, which, under the influence of the prevailing hot weather, is daily becoming more and more offensive. Although the general health of the town has been very good thus far during the summer, there should be no laxity in taking precautionary measures to guard against the outbreak of typhoid and kindred diseases. In past summers Dawson has had to deal with the typhoid scourge in such proportions as to impress every one who is familiar with the facts with the necessity of guarding against it. The fire company should be utilized regularly to flush the ditches and thus keep them as free as possible of stagnant water and its danger to the public health.

The news from China published in today's dispatches is decidedly unsatisfactory. The belief expressed a few days since that the insurrection would be under control within a short time does not appear to be justified by the facts which indicate that the Boxers are by no means diminishing their efforts to compass the extinction of foreigners. Arrangements are being made for the transportation of a heavy relief expedition to the scene of the trouble, and it appears that the powers must resort to extreme measures before a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty is effected. In view of the fact that another contingent of American soldiers has been withdrawn from the Philippines it would seem as though the United States government regards the situation as of increasing seriousness. It is a well known fact that there are now no more troops in the Philippines than are generally regarded as being requisite to properly protect American interests there, and no troops would be withdrawn did not the situation portend serious trouble.

In the last issue of our contemporary, the Sun, the announcement of Capt. Woodside's withdrawal is made and the name of T. S. Cunningham now swings at the mast head. With the change in the personnel of the Sun management comes a change in the paper which hereafter is to be issued as a semi-weekly. The Sun will still continue to act as the local government organ.

Many inquiries have been made at this office for copies of the small souvenir issue of the Nugget which was given out from the Nugget float yesterday. To supply those who may desire them several hundred extra copies have been printed and as long as they last will be given free to all who call at this office.

The Treating Habit.
"I had a rather embarrassing but instructive experience recently," remarked a clubman of this city. "A gentleman from Breslau, who had just arrived in New Orleans on a pleasure trip, was introduced to me by a friend, who had met him on the cars, and we strolled into the St. Charles cafe. Going in, we encountered another friend, making a party of four altogether, and we sat down to chat.
"In a moment or two the stranger from Breslau beckoned a waiter and ordered a glass of Rhine wine. To my utter amazement he said not a word about our joining him, and when the wine arrived he proceeded to sip it with perfect sang froid. In spite of all this, I saw that he was unquestionably a gentleman of breeding and refinement, and, while I was strongly tempted to order something for the balance of the party I refrained from doing so lest he would observe me paying and feel mortified. The others looked bewildered and said nothing, but the friend who joined us at the door took early occasion to excuse himself and walked off. He is a fine type of the old school, hospitable southerner, and I am sure he felt extremely indignant at what he considered an exhibition of foreign boorishness.
"The fact is that our American custom of 'treating' is almost entirely unknown in many parts of Germany and elsewhere in Europe. There it would be considered very bad form to offer to pay for the refreshments of a chance acquaintance, and our friend from Breslau was simply deporting himself according to the custom of his country. When he becomes better acquainted with American idiosyncracies, I am sure he will be covered with chargin. After all, however, treating is an idiotic usage, and I must confess a private sympathy with the foreign point of view."
"That reminds me of a whimsical little incident which I witnessed in 1895 in a cafe in Antwerp," said one of the listeners to the foregoing. "I was spending a few weeks in the city and used to drop in at a place to which I refer to read my paper over a glass and cigar. The public room was equipped with a number of little tables on a sanded floor, and ranged along one of the walls were several cabinets or lockers where residents kept their private bottles. The house supplied the liquor, and they strolled in whenever they felt like it and helped themselves to a nip.

"One day when I was sitting in my favorite corner a stout gentleman, who was evidently an old citizen, came in with an American whom he seemed to be showing the sights. The American was erect and slender, with a dignified carriage and an iron gray, semi-military mustache. They took the adjoining table, and presently the portly native waddled over to the cabinet and returned with a long necked wine bottle and one glass. He poured out a drink very deliberately and then rerecorded the bottle, the American looking on with an expression of amazement. "Your health, captain," said the native in French and raised the glass to his lips. The American's eyes blazed. "Perdition!" he roared, springing to his feet. "Do you mean to insult me?" And he swept the bottle off the table with a blow of his cane. Of course there was a frightful row. Everybody talked at once, and the gendarmes rushed in and took several reams of memoranda.

"The funny part of it was that the portly gentleman couldn't understand how he had possibly given offense. I heard him discuss it several times afterward, and when left it was still a profound mystery, only to be explained by the well known eccentricity of all Americans." — New Orleans Times Democrat.

TO PREVENT TYPHOID FEVER

A Few Timely Suggestions Worthy of Note.

Milk the Most Common Vehicle For Transmission of Germs. Cleanliness is Next to Godliness.

This is the beginning of the season of typhoid fever, and here are some rules for its prevention:

The disease is usually contracted by way of the mouth, eating impure or poorly prepared food or drinking impure drinks. The mistress of every home should take double her usual care to see that the food is thoroughly cooked and the drinkables are thoroughly purified.

The most common vehicle for the transmission of typhoid fever germs is milk. Extra care should be taken to insure the purity of the family supply. Learn where the milk comes from and, unless you know that it is handled properly, seek another dairyman. Unless you know that the milk is all right be sure to boil all that goes on the table. Milk should never be kept in an open vessel in the refrigerator, because it absorbs all kinds of poison with remarkable rapidity, and is one of the best natural culture media for disease germs.

Being assured that everything you eat and drink is pure and wholesome, the next step is to watch your general health and see that you do not "run down." Everyone takes into his system an untold number of active disease germs every year, and the reason that he does not become ill is because he is in a condition to throw off the poisons. No man or woman in perfect health will contract typhoid fever, except under the most unfavorable circumstances, and even then the disease will not get a firm hold on the constitution. On the other hand, if one becomes debilitated, he is liable to contract the disease no matter how careful he may be.

Don't overestimate. Drink sparingly of alcoholics and don't take things to increase your energy. Keep cool. Don't rush.

Drink plenty of water (only be sure of its purity), but avoid ice water in large quantities or when overheated.

If possible, take a cold sponge—not plunge—bath every morning. This will give tone to the system throughout the day. In order to keep the pores open take one to two warm plunge baths a week.

Let the housewife see that every sink, drain, tub—in fact, everything about the kitchen and the yard—is clean. Don't rely on antiseptics, which destroy odors, but do not kill germs, as is generally supposed.

See that nothing is allowed to accumulate on the premises that will breed germs, and there will be none. Have the cellar whittewashed throughout and sprinkle lime in all damp corners and around the back yard.

Eat any kind of wholesome food that your taste dictates and in such quantities as you know by experience that you can digest.

If you are afraid of the city water, get some other kind. Whatever water you drink, don't be sparing with it. It is hard to drink too much water, especially in hot weather.

Remember that nine tenths of the precautionary measures are simply the application of the law "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" and keep clean and keep everything clean.—Exchange.

Northern Railways.

The minister of railways made a very important statement in the house of commons a few nights ago, when he declared that it was not the intention of the government to permit the incorporation of any companies this year for the construction of railways into the Yukon country from Alaskan points. The Colonist is almost the only British Columbia paper that has taken strong ground in favor of this policy, and it is naturally very glad to see it adopted by the Laurier ministry. There can be no question as to the soundness of such a course. There is now one railway from Lynn canal into the Yukon valley, and one is enough unless the head of the canal is declared to be Canadian territory. While that part of the coast is in the possession of the United States and there remains a probability that it will so continue, it would be the height of folly to permit other railway companies to construct lines into the Yukon valley, and build up important towns in territory that may never be ours. The White Pass & Yukon line will meet every requirement in the way of a short line to the coast. When any new railways are provided them must be all-Canadian lines. The interests of British Columbia demand that nothing should be done that will delay the construction of a railway from some point on the British Columbia coast to the valley of the Yukon. There is an extensive country behind the coast range that ought to be opened up without delay. Apparently the Dominion government contemplates giving any aid to such a line, but no company would accept any assistance that is likely to be offered, and undertake to build a long line through an undeveloped country, if there are to be several competing roads from points in United States territory. We repeat that we are glad to see the stand taken by the Dominion government in this matter, and I believe the provincial legislature will be of the same mind. There would, indeed, be very little use for the province to incorporate a company to carry out a project against which the federal government has declared itself. The charter would be disallowed.—Colonist.

Men of Mark.

William J. Bryan, Congressman Williams and Richard Yates were members of the same class at Illinois college.

Rev. Dr. Norman Fox, a retired Baptist clergyman, has been elected mayor by the Republicans of Morristown, N.J.

General Cronje appears to be thriving in exile. Since his surrender he has gained 10 pounds of the 40 he lost in his recent campaigning.

Senator Tillman said recently, "I have two colored men in charge of my plantation, men who think the world of me and to whom I would trust everything I own."

J. W. Robinson, of Butler county, Kan., owns a farm of more than 10,000 acres, of which he works 4500 acres himself. "In my 15 years' residence in Kansas," he says, "I have never known a year that I did not make money."

Dr. Edson Fessenden Gallaudet, head coach of the Yale crews and an instructor in physics, will resign at the close of the present rowing season to accept a place with the Cramp Shipbuilding Company, of Philadelphia.

Julius Fleischmann is one of the youngest mayors of a large city in this country. He is but 28 years old and is the mayor of Cincinnati. When only 20, he was made a colonel on the staff of President McKinley, then governor of Ohio.

A New York paper is authority for the statement that Thomas B. Reed is growing more portly and that he uses the fact as the basis for a claim of extraordinary politeness, because he is able to give two ladies a seat by standing up in a crowded car.

James J. Clark, once a prosperous restaurant owner of New York, who made $50,000 a year from the Bijou cafe alone until that notorious resort was shut up by the police, has opened a clam chowder stand at Coney Island. At one time Clark was rated as a millionaire. He lost his money in speculation.

Half of the 22 dukes who sit in the British house of lords have no sons to succeed them. The dukes who are without heirs apparent are the present Duke of Argyll and the Dukes of Beaufort, Hamilton, Devonshire, Leeds, Manchester, Newcastle, St. Albans, Somerset, Wellington and Westminster.

Two years ago Louis Patnaud resigned his place as assistant postmaster of Everett, Wash., to try his fortune in the Klondike. Three of his friends made up $400 as a "grub stake" for him. No word came from the recipient until he returned to Everett, when he divided $11,000 among the three friends who had helped him.

Nineteen years ago Lord Roberts received the thanks of both houses of parliament for his march from Kabul to Kandahar. He is the only man living entitled to wear two Victoria crosses. His own he wears on his left breast, but—according to army regulations—the cross earned by his son he is not only allowed but commanded to wear on the opposite side.

Representation of the Yukon.

In reply to Sir Hibbert Tupper, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated yesterday that it is not the intention of the government to ask parliament at this session to provide for the representation of the Yukon in the house of commons, "but to wait until after the next census, when the exact condition of the population will be better known." The premier is learning wisdom by sitting at the feet of the senate. This is the same Sir Wilfrid Laurier that a few months ago wanted to redistribute the representatives of the whole of Canada; and without knowing half as much about the population of the other provinces as the government professes to know about the population of the Yukon. Why, when the government wants to spend $20,000,000 on a few miles of tramway, it knows the population of the Yukon within seven-tenths of one small boy. The fact of the matter is the government knows the population of the Yukon too well to trust it to elect a member of the house of commons. Under the census system which the government are going to use the Yukon will not be entitled to any representation, because anybody who claims to be a "permanent resident" of that rich, but inhospitable country will be disqualified from voting through lunacy. Ninety-nine per cent of the actual population of the Yukon will be counted under the Liberal census as being somewhere else.—Montreal Star.

Creek Items.

Messrs. McKenzie & Miles, of Magnet Gulch, are feeling jubilant over their victory. Mr. McKenzie is an old newspaper man and knows how to treat the fraternity.

Messrs. McGregor, "Check" Brownie and partners on Magnet Gulch, have thus far only sluiced sufficient gravel to pay expenses. "Check" says "We have $100,000 still in the dump, and if we do not get rain soon we will put in a pulsometer and wash up as soon as possible."

Senator Lynch when seen yesterday regarding the reported theft of 400 ounces of gold dust from his claim on Chechako Hill said, "Yes, it is true; the gold is gone and the cook, too, but we will shortly hear from both."

A nugget weighing 43 ounces was found on the Hanson & Peterson claim opposite upper quarter of 4b below Bonanza, left limit, a short time ago. The nugget is a fine specimen, as large as a goose egg, and almost the shape of one, containing a large quantity of white quartz and washed smooth and round.

IN CAPTAIN SCARTH'S COURT

No Fines Imposed Today for Shooting Firecrackers.

Lilly Charpentier, Who Accidentally Shot Rowan, Gets Off Luckily—Paid Small Fine and Hospital Bill.

In Magistrate Scarth's court this morning there was but one man against whom there is even a taint of suspicion of having cultivated a taste of the chestnut brown order, and he was an old man, a Highlander over whose head must have passed not less than 75 winters and as many, if not more, summers. Nor was it certain that even he had looked upon "home brew." He had been picked up on the street at an early hour this morning when he was "hors de combat." As he was in the same tone of voice when in court this morning, he was remained for a sleep, after which his case will be diagnosed.

Humboldt Gates is "Melican man," his entire length, and to "Hum," home without a night key, is not to be compared with a Fourth of July with out firecrackers, so he had them, and to him they sounded good. They likewise sounded good to other ears. In court this morning the young mining magnate did not whine or wince; but when accused of shooting firecrackers on July 4th, said "Guilty." The court spoke of danger that might accrue from such loose practice, and the court was eminently right, but as no danger had occurred, the man with the swinging name was told in effect to go and sin no more.

Two other young men, Messrs. Kilgore and Payne, had also allowed the impulsiveness incident to yesterday's festivities to lead them to "putting off" firecrackers. They were also dismissed with reprimands.

Mrs. Thompson was assessed $25 and costs for emptying slops in an alley in the thickly settled portion of the city, and in connection with this case the court took occasion to remark that, in view of the fact that hot weather is upon us and that precaution in the matter of sanitation can not be too strict if fevers and death are to be prevented, the next person arraigned on a similar charge will be given the full extent of the law.

Miss Lilly Charpentier, the Fourth avenue amazon who, before the Fourth of July had reached the tender age of three minutes, emerged from her crib with a pearl handle, 38-calibre, double action, hair trigger revolver in her hands, shut her eyes and began to puncture the atmosphere with leaden balls, one of which found a resting place four inches under the skin that covers the left hip of Dominick Rowan, who was quietly sitting on the grand stand of the race course an interested spectator of the six day race, was up this morning on the charge of discharging firearms contrary to law. Lilly was not slow in pleading guilty in a contrite and good Samaritan tone of voice. She was sorry—hulley gee, but she was sorry—for what had happened, and was willing to do anything to repair the injury she had done. Although very lame and suffering greatly from his wound, Mr. Rowan, the punctured man, was in court and stated that he had no wish to prosecute the woman for the accident, but admitted that it had seriously inconvenienced him. Lilly was anxious to pay his hospital bill and pay him for his time which he must necessarily lose before he is again able to work. As the hospital and surgical bills amount to $50, the order of the court was that Lilly pay them; that she also pay Rowan $50 "himp" money, and that she pay a fine of $10 and costs for her free use of a gun. Lilly said she was born in France, but several years residence in San Francisco had gotten her into the habit of celebrating on the Fourth of July. She paid her bills, concealed the pearl handle, double action, hair trigger Smith & Wesson beneath the fold of her raiment and left the court room.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

might have given a better account of himself if he had been worked out to finer lines, but that would have taken more time and better training facilities than is afforded here, or the event merited. The knowing ones, however, recognized in the high stepper a horse of metal and power, but raw as a racer. "He jumps too high to suit me," said a man in the grand stand, and he exactly expressed the opinion of the majority of experienced horse men. The third race went to a horse entered as the Cream Horse. This was supposed to be a saddle horse contest, yet Queen was in it and finished not a very hot second.

Next in the order of the program and interest was the wheel race. There were many entries, and all sorts and conditions of wheels. One individual who wore a happy and expansive smile together with a suit which would have made Solomon in all his glory turn green with envy, passed many times in slow parade before the grand stand, greeted each time with the malamute howls which his magnificence drew from the throats of the throng. Even Joe Clark, the terror of small boys who got on the track, and of the few dogs who braved the threatened pound, w stricken dumb. This glorious unknown finished in the ditch and was seen no more. Eddie Allen, late of Spokane, won the race to slow music, though much muscle was expended in the effort to have set an exceedingly hot pace on a faster track. The two or three raised crossings precluded the possibility of much speed, even if the space between had been in trim for bicycle speeding. The gravel just before the finish was a sad obstacle for the wheelmen to contend with as it took the speed out of them in an instant. The first three to pass the chalk line were Allen, Sewall and Severn, who finished in a bunch with Allen very slightly in the lead, Sewall a hot second and Severn a close third. Just after the finish in this race Allen fell from his wheel, but fortunately received no serious injury beyond the shaking up he got. He lay for a little while under the tug of war cleats, covered with a blanket. When the next wheel race was called, however, he was on deck again, and did his best, but the heaviness of the track and the combination of things against him, gave him second, instead of first place. This rider is in no kind of condition to race to begin with, unaccustomed to the heat of such a day as yesterday. Taking these things into consideration together with the effects of his fall at the close of the first race, he did remarkably well to finish second in the last race. Wright was an easy winner, Allen a not too impudent second with Dove leading the field third.

Owing to the fact that the track is unmeasured it would be useless to give times, and if any timing was done it could only have the effect of showing how remarkably slow the races were.

The rest of the afternoon events, while not attracting so much interest, were productive of much spontaneous mirth and witty sayings. Everyone was out for fun and everyone seemed to be having it. Pretty nearly everyone who took an active part in the sports came in for a share of the josh business of the grand stand, but no ill will was shown on any side. Eddie O'Brien was on hand with his kodak, and as he wore a yellow ribbon on the lapelle of his coat it is presumed that he was official snap-shotter of the day, and will take pleasure in furnishing everyone with free pictures of the sports.

The pack race was a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." One who was ambitious to carry a load (done up in a sack) and incidentally gather in the twenty apertaining to the winner, had the misfortune to forget or neglect to have his whiskers removed before appearing in the lists. The crowd saw the whiskers and joshed the hairy one till his strength was sapped and had it not been for the next race, for which the ground was wanted, he would have been struggling towards the finish yet. As it was, he called it off, tucked his whiskers up and entered himself for the next. Lyon got to the finish first with the pack, and was closely followed by Browning second and Knebel third.

The sack race was, as is always, the occasion for the contestants (as Mark Twain hath it) "to cover themselves with dust and glory." The man with the hirsute appendage was on deck and was warmly greeted by the grand stand. He selected the inside track, and as a preliminary exhibition showed the admiring multitude the merits of his new system. It consisted in a series of delicately executed hops under cover of the troublesome sack. Under his method all the difficulties of this means of locomotion melted away. The only thing he was shy in was time and a pair of crutches. Given these he could have easily distanced the field. As it was the crude, main strength tumblers passed him by, and at a late hour this morning he was seen daintily and cheerfully hopping along the inside track. If no bars intervene he may be expected to arrive some time this evening.

The race was won by H. Agee, R. Agee getting through with difficulty to second and W. Smith third.

The three legged race was finished in good time without incident, the money going to Roy Agee and his brother, who were united in the bonds of hay rope, and Kennedy and Young taking second place. They were followed in good time by Lyon and Watson.

Obstacles were placed in the paths of the next seekers after glory and dough and the finish, so far as second and third place are concerned, is yet veiled in mystery. All the contestants got through the barrels in good shape, and the first three plunged as one man under the canvass which was nailed down at the ends. They came out on the other side and Wright was first to mingle with the maddening crowd beyond. Who came next will probably never be known, as they emerged from under the canvass, even as they had gone under it—"Two minds with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one"—and the result was a tie which was not decided.

This being the last stem of the afternoon program, a recess of an hour and a half, principally for refreshments, was declared, and a general stampede resulted.

After everyone, including the judges and those who wore the yellow ribbon had refreshed the inner man, the evening program was commenced.

There were four entries for the tug of war cleat pulling contest, of which the A. C. team took first prize and the Brimstones from Sulphur made things hot for them. They received second money. There was also a French team and one from Australia, both anxious and willing to tear the cleats off or break a four-inch hawser. The spirit was willing but the flesh was weak. Besides the cleats had been securely fastened down, and the rope had good suff in it and refused to part. For those reasons the polite Frenchmen, and the colonists from the antipodes have left to them only the memory of a duty well performed.

The first prize in the high jumping contests was given to Brimstone who soared higher towards the apex of things than his competitors. Lyon and Browning were second and third respectively.

In the pole vaulting Bert rose higher towards the blue ether than his competitors, and when he got back to the earth he was told that the citizens of Dawson had decided to give him the first prize. Wright and Sugrue got the second and third prizes.

When it comes to getting ready to run and hop step and jump, Eddie Allen can do it more successfully than any athletic student in the Northwest. When it comes to the actual performance of the deed—the lights too soon to make much noise. The agile Agee carried off the first prize in that affair, while Wright and the lurid Brimstone got the other two prizes.

The running broad jump was won by Watrous, with Wright and Browning second and third.

Three broad jumps were next successfully indulged in by H. Agee, to whose pace Childs and Egbert played a lively second and third.

Log Rolling is a pastime which E. C. Smith puts in his leisure moments dotting upon. In fact, last evening Mr. Smith was the only ambitious log roller in the town who had the courage to lay bare his ambitions before the eager multitude and roll. He was given first prize not only for his unchallenged proficiency but for the elegant simplicity of his costumes. He had no disputers so his efforts to please the public were laudable and much appreciated.

The Canoe races were the last events on the program and were won by the following canoeemen:

Single paddle contest, won by Holder, Solomon second, Gardner third.

Double paddle race, Holder and Donovan first, Solomon and Drapertig second and Whitehouse and Gardner third.

The Indian canoe race was won by John and Albert, who had no competitors.

In the four paddle race Holder, Brown, Larson and Donovan got home first, and second money was taken by Bruce, Sorch, Solomon and Joyl.

When the third crew got their wearing apparel sufficiently dry to paddle back from the other side of the river, where they capsized, they may be given third money. That is, provided they get in this week.

The baseball teams played a short match earlier in the evening, which resulted in a snow storm followed by heavy frost for the Monarchs, who scored ten runs, while the Townsend and Rose team basked in the sunshine of seventeen small marks in the score book. The names of the players were published in yesterday's Nugget.

Steamboat News.

The steamer Columbian arrived last night and was watched with interest as she came down the river before thousands of people who were on the docks awaiting the commencement of the aquatic sports. The people who came in on her say that the view of the city from the boat was an inspiring scene, the throngs of people who were visible making Dawson look like a city with a vast population. There were but a few passengers on her. The list is published below:

A. Hirpe, Mrs. Hirpe, Miss Meta Hirpe, W. H. Parson, Mrs. Parsons, P. H. Brighton, H. S. Miller, Mrs. Miller, Geo. Malcolm, W. C. Moarsh, Mrs. M. E. Mortimer, Mrs. Frank Mortimer, Miss Lulu Hall. No mail came down on the Columbian. She had but 25 tons of freight.

The steamer Lightning arrived from her first trip to Whitehorse under the flag of the Dawson & Whitehorse Navigation Co. She was delayed at Selkirk 12 hours owing to a fire having to be repaired. She sails today on her return trip. Only a few people came down on her as there are practically no passengers at Whitehorse. Her manifest shows 80 head of cattle and 25 tons of freight as her cargo.

The Canadian left Whitehorse yesterday. She is loaded with 140 tons of freight, the largest shipment, by 40 tons, this season.

The steamer Victorian is reported to have arrived at Whitehorse this morning.

The Nora is due to arrive tonight in Dawson. She was reported at Selkirk early this morning and was flying along at record-breaking speed.

has issued a ruling in which it is stated that no reason exists for interfering with Canada or other nationalities in the matter of transporting bonded goods across American territory.

Trouble at Nome.

San Francisco, June 29, via Skagway, July 5.—The steamer Portland has arrived here from Nome. She brought eight passengers with $330,000 worth of gold. Her officials state that there were 20,000 people in Nome June 15th, and that there is wholesale riot jumping, there and no end of trouble resulting therefrom.

Skagway Celebrates.

Thanks Extended.

On behalf of the executive committee of the Fourth of July celebration, I desire to extend the thanks of the committee and also of the citizens of our republic to Gov. Ogilvie for the freedom of the city so generously and heartily extended for the celebration of the National Holiday.

To Sergeant Wilson, of the N. W. M. P., for invaluable assistance rendered the committee. To the deputy, assistant marshals and their aids for the efficient and cheerful service.

To the miners, business men and citizens for most liberal contributions of the "sinews of war," and last but not least to the British subjects and the general public for the hearty good will and harmonious spirit in which all cooperated with us in making the celebration so eminently successful.
