

Another term of the Normal school has ended and another class of well qualified teachers has gone out into the different sections of the province to take the positions which have been so well filled by their predecessors. The large attendance at the closing exercises attests to the fact that our citizens are fully aware of the many advantages which result from having such an institution in our midst. Year by year the work of the school increases; new subjects are taken up; the advanced work in the common schools calls for an advance in the work of the Normal school. The institution must keep pace with the times—in fact must be in advance of them, and this calls for earnest work and untiring energy on the part of the principal and staff. Mr. Mullen has so brought the routine work down to a system that it leaves nothing to be desired or incomplete, while the discipline of the school has been excellent. Although a large number of students attend from all parts of the province, yet good behavior in the building and outside has been invariably the case. Of course this is only what is expected of those who go forth to teach the young, yet expectations are not always fulfilled. It is also gratifying to note that the most cordial relations exist between the chief superintendent and the staff of the school. This tends to increase the efficiency of the work done while it makes the daily routine more pleasant, occasions less friction and elevates the moral tone of the institution. The students who have now gone forth to the actual work of school teaching compare favorably with any former class. They have had a thorough drill in the work of the term shows that they were well prepared both in knowledge and professional skill, and that the progress of education will not be retarded when they take their places behind the desks. A final examination for license there were forty-eight for first, one hundred and twenty-eight for second and forty-five for third class.

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.
Germany is in the throes of a violent agitation. On Thursday an election was held in that empire, which was to decide whether the aristocracy led by the youthful emperor, or the Reichstag, the popular chamber of the German parliament, and the people should rule. The emperor wishes to increase the standing army from 485,000 to 575,000 men, with an equal increase in batteries and other forces, when on a war footing. At present it is called to war, the available force is 3,350,000. By the passage of the contested bill, this force would be increased to 4,400,000, at an increased cost of $16,000,000. This enormous tax, the people oppose, and although the bill to authorize its being levied has been thrown out by the reichstag, yet the emperor is determined that it shall become law. Bismarck, the man of blood and iron, is at present supporting the people, and affairs are about as bad as they can possibly be. Germany, though having a parliament, has no responsible government, and though the reichstag rejected the army bill, which in this country would be equal to a vote of confidence, yet the government was not defeated, the result being simply that the emperor dissolved the reichstag and asked the people to elect men as he desired, and not what they believed in the best interests of those who had elected them. The result of the election is the triumph of the people and the defeat of the emperor. It is highly probable, however, that the new reichstag will not be called together, but that another election will be at once declared.

THE BATHURST INVESTIGATION.
The Bathurst school investigation commission completed its labors on Thursday and adjourned to meet in this city on August. All the press reports of the investigation have given very full details, and it is self evident that the matter has been very much distorted.

YORK MILLS.
JUNE 12.—The weather is all that can be desired and the crops in this vicinity look very promising. Business is very lively here at present, the woolen mill is turning out a lot of cloth, the boys and the roads are strewn along with piles of newly sawn lumber, while the teams are kept busy hauling, now that the farming is done. Mr. Skene has brought his family from Pennfield, as has Mr. Robinson. Business was here last week, he has quite a lot of homespun for sale or exchange, for wool. The several Sabbath schools of the parish of Mansfield, held a convention in the church at Harvey, June 9th at 2 P. M., also at 7 P. M. They met for the purpose of organizing themselves into a parish association. The Field Secretary, Rev. A. Lucas, and S. J. Parsons, were present. Mr. Lucas opened the convention with devotional exercises, and then gave an address on the work, which was followed by a normal lesson on the books of the Bible, by S. J. Parsons. A committee was appointed to nominate officers for the association. At the evening session the officers nominated were: A. W. Coburn, pres.; T. R. Spaulding, vice pres.; Mrs. Made Lambert, secretary; J. Rutherford, as executive committee. Prof. Robertson was present and spoke very effectively on S. S. work. The machinery for the butter and cheese factory has arrived and is rapidly being placed in position. Mr. Lister has secured the services of a competent manufacturer and expects to commence operations on the fifteenth.

UPPER GAQUETOWN.
June 13.—Rev. Ezekiel Hopper has moved his family here from Hampton, and has entered upon his duties as pastor of the Baptist church. Rev. W. R. Reid, whose marriage to Miss Laura Ebbett, of York Co., has already been mentioned in the "Herald" is expected here with his bride this week. We extend to the happy couple our hearty congratulations. The third big lumber saw built here this season for Alex. Gibson was launched this morning. Daniel Currier launched his saw on Saturday. Mrs. James Currier has gone to St. John for a few days. Leverett and Bradford Currier left yesterday morning in the little schooner "Dawn" with a load of fish for St. John. They had on board 150 barrels, their total catch this year amounts to about 175 barrels. Jarvis Estabrooks has been successful in getting all his logs rafted and away to market. Last year there was insufficient water to raft, hence his lumber was hung up till this year. Leslie Estabrooks has trapped this spring 150 muskrats. Charles Hobbs, with his wife and child and Miss Wood, are visiting at Joseph Hobbs'. Summer boarders have already commenced to come. Two gentlemen and one lady are here from Boston, boarding at Henry Coy's.

LIZZIE BORDEN'S TRIAL.

Evidence Flatly Contradicting the Testimony of Government Witnesses.

New Bedford, Mass., June 15.—In the trial of Lizzie Borden for the murder of her father and step-father, this afternoon Jerome T. Borden testified that he entered the Borden front door without difficulty the day after the murder. Walter P. Stevens, reporter of the Fall River News, testified that he went into Borden barn immediately after the murder. He heard three people walking in the loft. Under cross-examination he said he made a search of the yard with no result; he tried the cellar door and found it fastened before he went to the barn. Delia Manley testified that she saw a man at the Borden gate about 9:40 o'clock of the morning of the murder. He was neither Mr. Borden nor Mr. Morse. Simon Robinson testified to passing the Borden house about 11:05 of the morning of the murder. He saw a bare headed, cross-legged man in a dark colored dress walking slowly from the barn to the house. The time was corroborated by other witnesses. Two boys testified that they passed the Borden barn just after the murder and walked all around the loft. The jury retired while counsel argued the admissibility of the evidence of J. M. May, who found a man covered with blood near Steep Brook, on August 10th, who talked about the Borden murder. The question was reserved till the morning.

New Bedford, June 16.—The weather was delightfully cool this morning, but the crowd in attendance on the opening of the 11th day of the Borden trial was smaller than on any other day of the proceedings. Among the early visitors was Miss Emma Borden, who, it is understood, is to be called by the defence, although she was set down as a government witness. After the jury had been polled the court rendered its decision in the matter of the admission of the evidence of Joe Lemay, who saw a man with a bloody hatchet in the woods at Steep Brook twelve days after the murder. The court said it was clear this evidence could not be admitted. Mr. Jennings desired his exceptions noted, at the same time stating he would put in writing just what he intended to show.

The first witness was Sarah R. Hart, of Thetford. She said that on the day of the murders she passed the Borden house with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Manley, about 11 o'clock. She spoke to her nephew, who was in a carriage which was standing in the Borden and Churchill houses. She saw a young man standing in the Borden gateway, leaning against the gate-post. She did not know the man. Charles S. Sawyer, painter of Fall River, said he came to the Borden house about 11 o'clock on the day of the murder and he told of the arrival of the officers and there about the place. He didn't see officer Medley there very early in the day. John J. Manning, reporter, Fall River, said he came to the Borden house the day of the murder and looked about the place. He tried the cellar door and found it locked. He never saw Medley there during his stay about the premises. He got back to his newspaper office at 11:50. In an interview with Mrs. Regan regarding the "you gave me away" story, witness said Mrs. Regan told her face in nothing in it. He wanted to know whether the reported story was true or not and desired a negative or affirmative statement. Cross-examined he did not recall what he said to him about believing what he saw in the newspapers, but he would not say she didn't say she would tell her story in court.

Thomas F. Hickey, reporter, of Fall River, testified he called to interview Mrs. Regan on Friday about the story referred to above. He said: "I see you're getting yourself in the paper, Mrs. Regan." She replied, "Yes, but they have got to take that all back." I asked her about the quarrel and she said there had been no quarrel. I asked her if she had repeated any of the words of the sisters. I asked her if there was any truth in the report and she said absolutely none.

Mrs. Mary R. Holmes, Fall River, testified to defendant's connection with the religious and charitable work of the Central Congregational church. Continuing witness said she was at the Borden house the day of the murder. Officers were not hindered in any way from making a thorough search of the premises. On the day of the funeral Lizzie shed tears looking at her father's remains. Concerning the quarrel story witness said she had a talk with Mrs. Regan about the story after its publication. Mrs. Regan said to witness, "Mrs. Holmes, you know, it isn't so, for that was the time we were talking about the eggs." The prisoner sat with her face in the hankers during much of Mrs. Holmes' testimony. Witness continued: It was on Friday that this occurred. Later, the same night, I think, while I was sitting in the matron's room, some men came and talked with Mrs. Regan. She went out and came back seeming quite undisturbed. I heard Mrs. Regan say she would sign the paper if Marshall Hilliard was willing. This was to the men who came into the room. Charles J. Holmes, Fall River Banker, saw in the newspaper a knowledge of the paper given Mrs. Regan to sign. The paper was produced and identified. It was essentially a denial of the quarrel story as it was read to Mrs. Regan and after the marshal refused to allow her to sign. Witness heard part of the altercation which ensued. Mrs. Regan never signed the paper.

John R. Colwell, reporter, said he saw the paper read to Mrs. Regan, when she was asked to sign it. She took it to Hilliard, and he said if she signed the paper, it would be against his orders; then she went out and the marshal ordered witness out.

Mrs. Mary E. Brigham, Fall River, a life-long friend of the prisoner, who visited her frequently at the jail, said she heard Mrs. Regan say she would sign the paper if the marshal would let her; that she would rather leave her place than stay where she had been lied about; that was all a lie and that there had been no quarrel. Emma L. Borden, sister of the defendant, was the next witness. She said the search in the house by the officers had been thorough; that Dr. Dolan had said it could not be more thorough unless the papers were torn from the wall and the carpets taken up. She and Lizzie went to the attic and assisted the officers in opening a trunk. She never hindered the search in the slightest. The Bedford cord dress was made in May at our house; Lizzie got some paint on this dress within two weeks after the dress was made while painters were at work on the house. On the day the witness came home she went to the closet to hang up a dress; saw the Bedford cord dress there and said to Lizzie: "You haven't destroyed that old dress yet; why don't you do so?" It was very dirty, badly faded, and could not have been made over, being of very cheap material. Next I saw of this dress was when I heard Lizzie, on following Saturday, in the

AROUND THE WORLD.

The Week's Events in Brief—The Ocean of Our Exchange.

The Northwest is experiencing terrible heat this week—probably the hottest June weather in years. Charles Harrison was crushed to death near Ingersoll Wednesday by a gravel pit caving in upon him. Wm. Shorter, colored, aged nineteen, was lynched at Stanton, Va., on Tuesday, for assaulting a white woman. The American ship A. McCallum has been run down and sunk by the Cunarder Servia. One sailor was drowned. At New Orleans the river is seven feet above low water mark and still rising. The levees in some parts are overflowed. Three lives were lost and a dozen persons badly injured during a fire in a six-story sweater shop in New York Tuesday. There were two more choleraic deaths in Alais, in southern France, Wednesday. This makes eighteen deaths for three days this week.

Dairy commissioner Robertson suggests that the dairy made of Ontario should make cheese for a present as a wedding gift to Princess May. The number of paid admissions to the World's Fair Wednesday, was 84,452; the total number of paid admissions, including June 14, is 2,328,759. Columbia has decided to enter a formal protest to Holland against the continued traffic in Indian children by the Dutch traders on the Goajila coast. The grand lodge of the world, Independent Order of Good Templars, in session at Des Moines, Iowa, has changed its name to the supreme lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Whitmore, of Brookline, were drowned in an arm of the Ottawa river twelve miles from that town on Monday. Their boat upset. The fisheries department has sent two Quebec salmon by express to the world's fair. They are fresh, fine fish, one weighing thirty-eight and the other thirty-three pounds. The arbitration proceedings in reference to the payment of the accounts between the dominion and the province of Ontario and Quebec began at Ottawa on Tuesday. The government of Canada has sent a reply to the city clerk of Toronto that the cabinet has no power to order a celebration on Indian Day on Monday instead of Saturday. W. S. Piper of Fort William, Ont., is seeking a divorce from his wife now at Seattle, Washington, on the grounds of adultery. This is the third notice of the kind for next session.

The local Ottawa committee expect between 1,000 and 1,200 Liberals to the convention opening there on Tuesday. Mr. Laurier will reach there on Monday and enter into consultation with party leaders who will also be on hand. Hon. Samuel Locke, M. L. C. of Lockport, was found dead in bed at his home on Saturday. He was seventy-nine years of age. He had been failing for some years and had not attended the last two sessions of the legislature. Carter and Connolly, the two prisoners who escaped from Dorchester penitentiary were captured Wednesday afternoon at Meadowbrook, nearly twenty miles away. They had travelled mostly through woods and had a rough time of it. J. G. Richardson, of New Haven, Conn., has started a suit for $5,000,000 damages and profits, for infringement of patents. The action is against nearly all the reaper and harvester manufacturers of the United States, including the general agents, Near Parkersburg, W. Four other children were saved by the struggles of her fourteen-year-old daughter.

Two doctors were summoned, and to-day he died from the effects of the kick. The Bishop will sail from Montreal for England about the twenty-fifth of June. New Brunswick's representatives will be color sergeant, M. G. B. Henderson and private W. Langstroth of the 62nd Fusiliers. They will leave for Montreal on Thursday next. Sir William Dawson will retire next week from the principality of McGill university, and will be given an annuity by the institution. If a McGill man is chosen, it will be probably vice-president Johnston, yet the new principal may be chosen outside the university.

A. Vizard, who has charge of H. M. P. Naval yard at Halifax, says that H. M. P. Blake, will leave Halifax on the 24th inst. for a visit to St. John. This will be pleasant news to the citizens, who will most heartily welcome the vessel that was the centre of the greatest attraction at the recent New York naval parade. Dr. N. R. Colter, M. P., met with a serious and painful accident Wednesday evening at Woodstock. While sitting in his carriage his horse quickly started. The seat broke loose and he and his attendant were violently thrown on the hard street. The doctor fell heavily, sustaining a fracture of the collar bone, and was badly lacerated and shaken up.

The engaging subject in most circles throughout the whole of this country this week is the trial going on at New Bedford of Lizzie Borden for the murder of her father and stepmother. Opinion has greatly divided on the question of her guilt or innocence, but it is now generally thought that the prosecution will fail in convincing the jury of her guilt. While the Duke of York was attending a public meeting at Richmond on Saturday night, June 10th, after a long walk through the crowd and attempted to present the Duke with a brown paper parcel containing a patchwork quilt for the Princess May and a pair of worsted stockings for the Duke himself. Their business in this country is being greatly developed in the new route, is being rapidly developed. The Chatham World says: It is currently reported that John O'Brien, M. P. Mr. Adams has recommended him, or offered to do so, but as the district includes more counties than one, other members may assert their right to have a voice in the filling of the office. Mr. O'Brien's acceptance of office would oust the W. B. Snowball as spoken of as the government candidate, and Mr. Morrissey will probably be to the front again.

POETRY.

MY FATHER'S WAY.

"I must look to the sheep in the fold. See the cattle are fed and warm. So, Jack, tell your mother to wrap you well. You may go with me over the farm. Though the snow is deep and the weather cold. You are not a babe at six years old."

SELECT STORY.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

"Lillian Wrenmore will marry Francis Devlin, mark my words." The speaker was one of those infallible dowagers who parcel out people's lives like so many cakes.

"What can she see in him? He is not young, nor particularly handsome, nor especially rich."

"That's it, you may depend. Women of the cold-blooded unemotional sort, and Lillian Wrenmore is one—are often attracted by a thorough-going rake."

"Is she so cold? I don't believe it. If she had any real feeling she would have left Wrenmore. She can inspire devotion, as we know—men have gone silly for her—but she cannot return it."

"Cold-blooded or not, Lillian Wrenmore is hard hit at last. I've seen her with Sir Francis Devlin—trust an old woman's eyes. They'll marry; it is a fait accompli, you may be sure."

"I am astonished that she should sacrifice her independence; and since her widowhood she has revelled in it, as we know."

"I cannot, will not believe it!" cried Lillian, very loath to surrender faith in her lover.

Then a second letter came, more positive and explicit, giving the most damning details. There had been a ball, a big ball. Devlin and Lady Lina Croacroft had danced together continually, had sat out together, and flirted all night in the most open and barefaced way.

"Lillian Lady Wrenmore has an important communication to make to Mr. Croacroft, and begs that he will call upon her at once. It affects Mr. Croacroft's domestic happiness, and the reputation of one of most nearly allied to him."

"What does it mean? Make a clean breast of it. Tell me all you know or suspect."

"I did not expect to see Lady Lina," she began, with a cruel little smile; "still, as she has done me the honor—"

"P. S.—You may say I broke it off, or that you did, whichever suits you best. I don't care."

"What do you know? What can you do?" she asked.

"Enough to make the most chronic scandaleuse generation has seen. I have letters of hers, written by her, signed by her which will brand her as a liar."

"I should not advise you to print or circulate them," said the old lawyer, dryly. "You might find yourselves at odds with the law, to say nothing of what people will think and say of you."

CARL DUNDER'S GAS METER.

"Sergeant," whispered Mr. Dunder, as he softly entered the station house on the other day, "maybe you haf experience with a gas meter?"

"Maybe you vvas all right, but I dunno, I like to speak mit you about him. Three weeks ago I make a change from lamps to gas. I feels afraid, but eafery-body says it vvas all right and dot meter doan' blow me oop sky high some time. I doan' lika dot gas. You can't feel her and she doan' haf no way to turn oop down. She vvas in shuck one hour when a feller comes in and shute und shmilts und listens und says:

"Mr. Dunder, do you wish to be at der head gate of heafen in about four minutes?"

"Of course not."

"Vvhel, it vvas lucky for you I came in shust now. You doan' know about gas. Der pressure on dot meter vvas shust sixteen times too much, und pretty soon you vvas exploded all oafder town. I shall reduce him for you."

"He goes by der place under der stairs und makes it all right. Dot vvas kindness in him, und I ask him to take a glass of beer. He vvas mooch obliged, und he takes two glasses und a cigar."

"Der verry next eafening a feller comes in und begins to look all around as if he vvas scared, und pooly soon he says to me:

"Mr. Dunder, if you vvas so anxious to die, vvy doan' you go out und hang yourself und put der liver of fifty others in peril?"

PEOPLE'S KITCHEN'S IN VIENNA.

As a general rule, the cost of any given article depends on the quantities in which it is manufactured, and to this rule cooked food is no objection.

The large consumption of food, which allows it to be bought in cheap markets, is, of course, one of the causes enabling the establishments to maintain such low prices. A more important cause is to be found in the perfection of their organization and management.
