At the Mouth of the Treacherous Pit
STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXIV.

"If I had known Harry when I was four years old, I should never have forgotten him," declared Gertrude. "Did he really love me so much when I was only a weak, little baby? How good of him! Kathleen, how little we know what a day will bring! How little we dreamed, when we started for the Pitt palace, that all this would result from our visit! And mamma must have told us soon. We would not have lived here until we were old women. I have never complained; but in reality I am just a little bit tired of the monotony, sweet as it is, of the Villa Balra. Kathleen, what a dear English name that friend of yours, Harry, has! He is the ideal Englishman one reads about—fair, honest, and true!"

CHAPTER XXV.

It was all over; the two friends had met, and the meeting had been less terrible than Dolores had feared. It touched her greatly to see the difference that years had made in the stately figure and handsome face of Lady Fielden. Her hair was white as snow and deep lines marked the fair face. "I suffered much when my husband died," she said, "and it has changed me greatly; but you, Dolores—I expected to find you grown old. Why, my dear, you look as young as—oh, and far more beautiful than—when you left us sixteen years ago! Dolores, it was very cruel, because I loved you so."

will rest upon them, no matter how beautiful or how good they are; people will point to my bright, beautiful Gertrude as the daughter of the man who deserted his wife and home."

"I cannot," said Dolores. "You do not understand. I have had no life or energy, or spirit since he left me." "Ah! Dolores, it was a mystery; for he loved you! We will talk more about it before we leave; we shall remain in Florence for a month at least, and I shall come every day to see you."

cupled. She was longing to begin what she had grown to consider the work of her life. A month passed, and letters arrived recalling the young nobleman to England, business affairs on his estate requiring his attention and presence. They were all together in the vine walk when Lord Fielden told them this. Dolores looked sad; she did not like the idea of losing the friends with whom she had been so happy. There was a short silence, broken only by the murmur of the river and the song of the birds. It was Gertrude who spoke at last. She stood up alone, a perfect picture, framed by the bougainvillee and the luxuriant lemon-tree above her and purple violets at her feet.

"Mamma, I have something I wish to say. May I say it?" she asked. Dolores looked up in surprise. "Certainly, my dear," she replied; "say what you will."

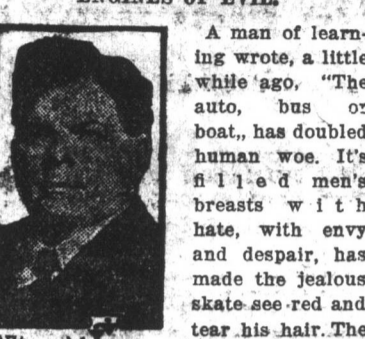

"Dear mamma," Gertrude began, "I ought to beg your pardon for taking what Lord Fielden calls the floor of the house; but I want to say something to you, and I wish also to say it before our best friends."

"Then the violet eyes shot a glance at Harry, which said: 'I am obliged by courtesy to include you; but do not think too much of that—it means nothing.' Harry interpreted the glance correctly, and turned away with another sigh. 'You must not think I am Quixotic,' she continued. 'Elizabeth of Siberia was not much older than I am when she began her long journey. Her father, for whom she undertook so much, was living; mine may be dead. She had his life to save; I have my father's memory at least to clear from stain. I have my mother to restore to happiness. No girl living could ask for a higher, nobler task. I shall devote myself to it, and think of nothing else.'

As time passed on, Lord and Lady Fielden seemed almost to live at the Villa Balra. Harry had his wish, and took the young girls, with his mother as chaperon, to see all the beauties of France. And very happy days they were, save in one respect—Gertrude appeared so frequently to be pre-

ENGINES OF EVIL.
A man of learning wrote, a little while ago, "The ship, the bus, or boat, has doubled human woe. It's killed men's breasts with hate, with envy and despair, has made the jealous skate see red and tear his hair. The poor man's eyes turn green with envy when he sees the rich man's limousine go forth and split the breeze." Much more the learned man wrote, in words that seemed to skid; he struck a ringing note—at least he thought he did. I thought of olden days when horses were the style, when down the public ways we drove, mile after mile. His pony's back was swayed, its disposition sour, its pep had been mislaid, it made two miles an hour. And as the poor man drove along the dusty ways, there came the banker cove behind his trotting bay, with flashing hoofs beneath his bit a dizzy gait; the poor man smashed his teeth, and hummed his hymn of hate. And jealousy was rife a million years ago, when Cave Man took his wife to see the wild beast show. His club was made of pine, a cheap and awkward thing, his neighbor's club was fine, a weapon for a king. No evil passions new came in the choo-choo boats; they all took root and grew when Adam herded goats.

What Do You Think of a Fluid

- That will draw roaches and ants out of every hole, crack, or crevice before killing them and not poison food?
- That will kill bugs instantly and not leave an unpleasant odor?
- That will knock flies off the wall and not harm paint or paper?
- That will keep the bedroom, kitchen, or verandah clear of flies, mosquitoes, etc., for several hours after a few sprays?
- That will take fleas off a dog and not harm the dog?
- That will destroy chicken lice without any injury to your stock?
- That applied in small quantities to the exposed parts of the body will insure you from Mosquito bites?
- That as a general disinfectant is stronger than the ordinary carbolic solution.

THAT FLUID IS SAN-O-SPRAY.

No insect can live where San-O-Spray is used. Yet San-O-Spray is non-poisonous to human beings and can be used with perfect safety in pantry, kitchen, dining room, and cellar, moreover San-O-Spray has an agreeable and delightful odor, removing all fetid or unpleasant odors. Outcome of Earthquake.

"The fundamental strength of Japan has not been affected by the disaster," states Frank R. Eldridge, Chief of Far Eastern Division, Department of Commerce in an economic survey made public to-day. "The principal agricultural and industrial areas of Japan were not seriously damaged." Mr. Eldridge adds, "If a true economic balance sheet of the losses were drawn the cost of replacement would be greatly modified by other factors. First, the Japanese people can and will produce more goods under the impulse of this need than normally. The plant and equipment of the Empire will run at a higher ratio of capacity. The people will especially in the damaged regions, work longer hours and more energetically. Second, they will expend less upon consumptive goods, especially in the damaged regions. Wherever they can produce more and consume less, this is a mitigation of the theoretical loss. In fact the losses will amount in reality to the imports into the destroyed regions which are necessary to them to rebuild and to replace stocks of goods, plus the reduction in surplus that this region might have exported had it been undamaged. What the ratio of this is to be the theoretical replacement cost can not be determined, but it is very much less."

"Agricultural crops such as rice, silk, barley, wheat, fruits, and other food crops, which in 1921 totaled nearly $2,000,000,000 in value, have not been touched by the disaster which struck the distributing and commercial centers of Yokohama and Tokio. "The food situation seems to be completely in hand, and the stimulus which the destruction of a little over one month's production of silk has given to the reeling in the interior will cause raw silk stocks to accumulate for shipment at Kobe within a few weeks and will postpone the actual shortage in the silk crop to May or June of next year, when the present crop of cocoons runs out. As the cocoon crop for the present season, however, is estimated at three per cent. above last year's crop, a destruction of eight per cent. will not have as much effect on the whole situation as it at first appeared."

"The principal question now only for the speedy recuperation of Japan's silk industry, which is the backbone of Japanese agriculture, but also for the American silk mills is how speedily the new crop of cocoons can be reeled and delivered to the port for shipment so as to prevent an actual scarcity in the American market."

"The manufacturing industry of Japan has been relatively little affected, the spinning industry, which is the backbone of Japanese textile growth, being largely outside the earthquake zone. Manufacturers of electrical goods, metal ware, paper, and chemical products in Osaka and Nagoya will undoubtedly increase their capacity so as to take care of the shortage caused by destruction of factories in Tokio. "The question of how far the insurance companies will make up individual losses will undoubtedly rest ultimately upon a decision of how far the Government wishes to make grants through insurance companies to re-habilitation of industry."

"Out of the whole disaster Japan will probably emerge with stimulated productive capacity due to the necessity of large rebuilding programme, modernization of public works and buildings and advanced methods of sanitation, drainage, and the planning of a newer and greater Tokio."

Mr. Eldridge discusses in some detail the estimated economic losses caused by the earthquake. He shows that in a considerable portion of these losses the labor element is a large factor in replacements. "Fuller realization of Japan's productive capacity," Mr. Eldridge states, "will greatly reduce the labor factor in reconstruction and replacements."

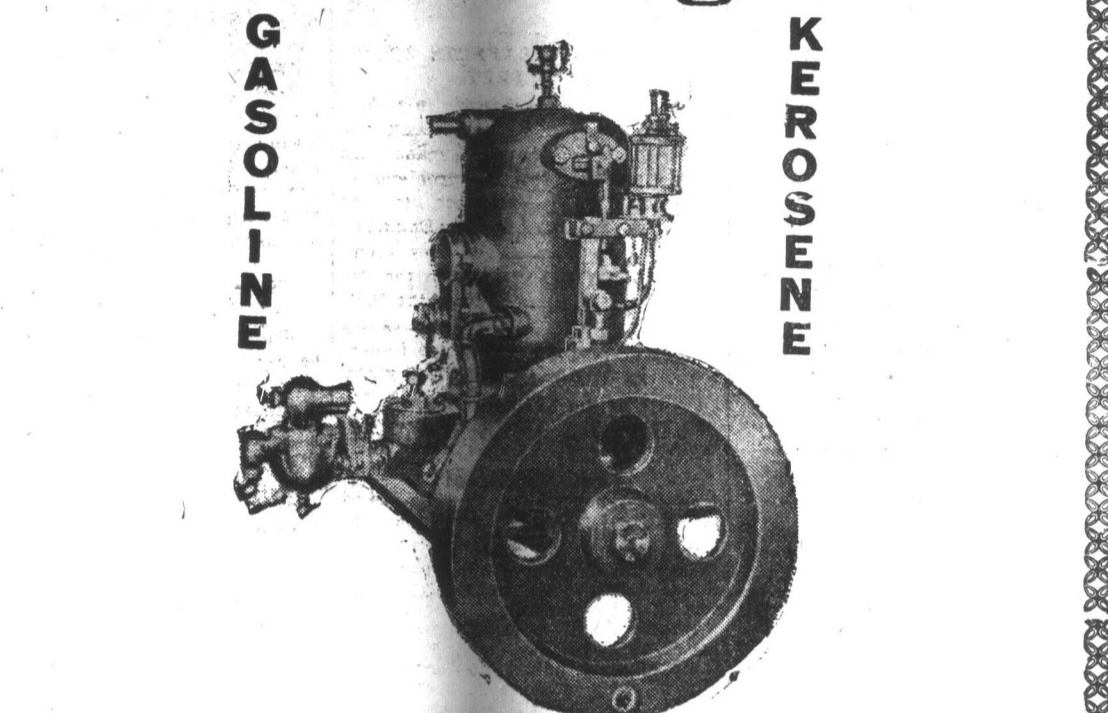

A review of the credit and financial situation causes Mr. Eldridge to conclude that Japan will be able to finance readily the re-habilitation programme. The Japanese will probably purchase necessary raw materials and machinery to replace property destroyed in the disaster through coordinated purchases by centralized agencies or possibly a purchasing syndicate, Mr. Eldridge believes.

Ten Lives Lost in Mine Explosion in Pennsylvania—Fishermen Adrift for Six Days, Rescued by French Liner—Argentine Flier Will Follow MacLaren Route.

KING REVIEWS NAVY.
PORTSMOUTH, Eng., July 27. King George, accompanied by the Duke of Canning and Prince of Wales, Saturday reviewed the 134 warships which, with 30,000 officers and men comprise Great Britain's naval strength in home waters. The King's yacht Victoria and Albert steamed along the lines of warships accompanied by the Admiralty yacht on which were members of the Labor Government.

REPARATIONS EXPERTS VISIT THE FLEET.
LONDON, July 27. Most of the Allied Plenipotentiaries and Experts and Advisers and the visiting bankers left the problems of the inter-Allied Conference to the smoothing influence of England's leisurely week end, when they themselves sought relaxation from the Reparations parties away from the British capital. Most of the delegates were on board the guest ships following in the wake of the Royal yacht, from which the King reviewed the British fleet at Spithead, Saturday afternoon. Informal conversations among the few experts remaining here continued to-night but it was stated in British official quarters that the position between the conference of financial experts and the bankers remained unchanged. The opinion was expressed that little could be done to reconcile the differences until after the plenary session at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

ADRIFT IN DORY FOR SIX DAYS.
NEW YORK, July 28. When the French liner France arrived yesterday from Havre she had on board two Breton fishermen, Francois Huedos, 36, and Francois Allain, 45, who were picked up at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, 100 miles south of Cape Race. They had been adrift in a dory for six days. For seventy-two hours the men had no food or water, and were almost exhausted when rescued. Forty-eight hours rest and good food and rosy wine soon restored them. Huedos and Allain were members of the crew of forty-four fishermen who sailed on the schr. Esquadrana from St. Malo on April 23. They strayed from their ship on July 17th.

TEN LIVES LOST IN MINE EXPLOSION.
GATES, Pa., July 26. The bodies of ten miners who met death last night when an explosion wrecked a section of the Gate Mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, were brought to the surface this morning. Seventy-five miners were at work when the blast came and a check of the company list showed that sixty-five reached safety.

THE FEAST OF ST. ANNE.
STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE, Que., July 26—More than twenty thousand people are here to-day attending the Feast of St. Anne, and only for the fact that the old Basica has not yet been replaced the spectacle presented would have all the splendor of former years. In the courtyard of the hundreds of people have been coming in from all parts of the country to attend the preparatory mission, but since yesterday the flow has increased vastly. Cripples of all descriptions with hope in their eyes have been seeking intervention of Thaumaturgia, some of them spending part of the night in one of the numerous chapels, while others have been waiting for hours for their turn to go to Confession. The Redemptionist Fathers spent a busy evening and were engaged from early hours this morning in answering calls from the Pilgrims.

LONDON, July 26. A despatch from Rotterdam states that Major Pedro Seanni, Argentine flier, who has announced his intention of attempting to fly round the world, arrived there this morning at 9.45 o'clock from Amsterdam and left for Le Burget. The route to be followed by Major Seanni will be the one used by Stuart MacLaren, British flier.

WIRE TAPPERS ARRESTED.
MONTREAL, July 27. What is thought by the police to be part of an international wire tapping organization with elaborate ramifications in North America and Europe, was given a severe jolt Friday when detectives raided a downtown office and discovered a number of dummy telephones without any connection with central. Later two men were arrested. They gave the names as Edward Long, Alias "Chaplin" Lewis, 52, and George Wallace, 53, when they appeared before Judge Casson in the Arraignment Court Saturday, charged with theft, and were remanded for preliminary trial August 1st. Wallace was granted bail in $10,000, but Long was committed to the Extradition Court as he is wanted on two serious charges in Florida.

CHIEF JUSTICE OF ALBERTA DIES SUDDENLY.
EDMONTON, July 27. Hon. D. L. Scott, Chief Justice of Alberta, died suddenly at his home at Cooking Lake, Alta., Saturday, aged 78. He was born in Brampton, Ontario.

STOCK PRICE IMPROVEMENT.
NEW YORK, July 27. Stock prices continued to respond to-day to reports of improving business conditions, moving upward on a large volume of trading under the leadership of rails, sugars, public utilities and merchandising issues. Twenty-four stocks established new high prices for the year, including six rails, five public utilities, six merchandising issues and seven miscellaneous American Can, which crossed 120 for the first time since its sharp decline earlier in the year, was one of the day's features. Other pivotal issues also improved, Baldwin closing a point higher at 119, and United States steel and Studebaker closing fractionally higher at 101½ and 37½ respectively.

C. N. R. REFUSE TO INCREASE WAGES.
TORONTO, July 26. After negotiations lasting about a year the Canada National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday notified the Brotherhood of Conductors and Train men that they had decided to refuse the rates of pay which have gone into force on lines of similar standing in the United States, it is stated in labor circles. The increase given on United States roads is about five per cent.

COAL LADEN STEAMER WRECKED.
HALIFAX, July 27. (By Canadian Press)—The steamer Liberne of Nantes, France, coal laden, from Newport News for Three Rivers, Que., struck yesterday afternoon at 2.30 on Big Gull Ledge, two and a half miles from Whitehead Light, N.S., and will likely be a total wreck, according to information reaching Mr. C. H. Harvey, local agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department. The tug Ocean Eagle arrived at the scene of the wreck from Sydney at daylight this morning, and a fleet of smaller tugs were alongside but the craft was hard aground, the advice stated, and in a dangerously exposed position. The Liberne was new in 1921 and is 4,180 tons.

CIVILIANS WARNED TO GET OUT.
WASHINGTON, July 26. By radio broadcasting and leaflets dropped from airplanes, the Secretary of War of Brazil last night warned the remaining 300 civilians in Sao Paulo to abandon the city leaving the rebels to their fate. The State Department received this information to-night in cable from Sheldon L. Crosby, in charge in Rio de Janeiro. The cable indicated that the Government of Brazil had definitely decided to use heavy artillery against the rebels of Sao Paulo to a degree not attempted heretofore.

TAR AND FEATHERS OUTRAGE.
FREDERICK, Maryland, July 26. Eight men and one woman, arrested on warrants charging them with tarring and feathering Miss Dorothy Grandon, 20, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, were arraigned before Magistrate Brust and held for September Grand Jury under $2,000 each. Bail was fixed at $5,000 for Miss Grandon as a material witness. Among those arrested are Mrs. Mary Shank, whom the girl charges with applying tar and feathers, her husband, Calvin Shank, and her father-in-law, Roma Shank. At the Magistrate's enquiry, Mrs. Shank admitted applying the tar and feathers. The episode took place about midnight Thursday while Miss Grandon, Miss Mabel Willis, two men companions, names have not been learned, and Miss Viola Kennedy, were returning from Myersville to the latter woman's home where all had been staying. Miss Grandon and Miss Kennedy were walking ahead of the others when the mob arrived in an automobile; Mrs. Shank's Magistrate said, confessed to beating the Grandon girl, stripping her and applying tar and feathers. She was then abandoned in a semi-conscious condition, being found half an hour later by James Whip, a farmer, who took her to his house. The girl to-day was still suffering from burns, bruises, and shock.

CUBANS SAY REPORTS EXAGGERATED.
HAVANA, Cuba, July 26. Charges that British West Indian subjects have been mistreated in Cuba have been investigated and found to be matters for action in civil courts and not for diplomatic intervention, says a statement to the press, issued to the Press by Secretary of State De Cospedoe. "The British version, as published in London," the statement adds, "appeared to exaggerate the treatment given to Jamaicans," and did not give full details including the Cuban viewpoint. President Zayas will send a message to Congress on the subject and the Department will issue a gray book, giving all correspondence.

Fortunes Waiting to be Found.
Hunts for Buried Treasure.
Treasure-seeking is a subject that holds a never-ending fascination for most of us, and has always been a favourite theme with the writers of romance—perhaps Stevenson's immortal story is the most enduring and alluring of all the tales that still delight old and young.
And who is too old to be roused and thrilled by accounts of hidden treasure, whether under the sea or buried in lonely tropic isles—of hidden galleons, sunken galleons, buccaniers and pirates, and the walking of the plank?
Countless fortunes lie on the sea-floor, for the ocean-bed is strewn with wrecks and treasure, and if ever we are able to explore the deeps, mankind will be astounded at the revelation.

Riches or Death.
It is probable that many of the most wonderful stories of sunken treasure are but legends, but one need go no farther back than the late War for reality. Enough substantial stuff was sent below during that long drawn conflict to make a nation prosperous for many a day.
Somewhere in the Pacific is a little island—where the pirates stored their loot. A party of adventurers that went in search of it, believing they had unearthed the secret of an old chart, was never heard of again.
An Australian miner spent part of his life in the bush trying to re-find a mine his partner found and died in describing. But he never succeeded, and, eventually, the bushmen stumbled on his skeleton.

A party of French scientists narrowly escaped death from thirst in the Sahara seeking traces of a lost caravan of precious stones that never reached Timbuctoo, and was supposed to have been overwhelmed by a sandstorm, lost its tracks, and missed the wells.
Diamonds Mislaid.
Many an expedition has sought the famed mines of King Solomon. The wonderful platinum mine, said to have been discovered in 1805 by a German doctor, who died of exhaustion on emerging from the Kalahari desert, has never been traced again, though at least two parties have come to grief in further search and several solitary secret trackers have never returned.
The Afriander still believes in the "cave of gleaming gold" that was described by an excited Kafir in the Krugersdorp; and in the Orange River country a Boer family have sought for years for a parcel of diamonds handed hastily to one of their ancestors by an Englishman flying from pursuing justice, and supposed to have been secreted in an ant-heap in the dusk. The Boer, finding the packet contained many big stones, and fearing the mounted police, hid it and forgot the place.

Somewhere in Western China there is believed to be a buried temple where the Manchu emperors of the old dynasties stored their precious stones, manuscripts, and other treasures in times of trouble. If the Chinese know of its exact whereabouts they have kept the secret well among themselves, though many furtive searches have been made by others.

By Road to Placentia

To the timorous or fool driver, to the man whose wrists are not of steel...

We are not one of a clique who wish to monopolize the delights by writing scare stuff...

The road from St. John's to Holyrood, as our roads go, is good, thanks to the Road Commissioner...

However this is only a diversion, provided the bog is not bottomless, and the old timer knows that he has to take the rough with the smooth...

Four of us recently decided to make the trip or bust. We succeeded in our object and were fortunately spared the latter contingency...

We arrived. We swept up the entrance in style and already were railing ourselves in imagination on ham and eggs and all the other incidentals...

Haricot Road, which branches off from the Salmonier Road, near the church, leads of course, to Haricot on St. Mary's Bay...

From Colinet to Placentia—about twenty-four miles—the road is good, and for sixteen miles out of Placentia is excellent...

AN ALTERNATE ROUTE. From Colinet Bridge to Sir Robt. Bond's House (Whitbourne)...

Rocky River is picturesque. A peaceful lake is suddenly converted into a raging torrent that plunges into a dark foam flaked pool...

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR RHEUMATISM. On Saturday night about nine o'clock, street car No. 7, proceeding over the grade on Theatre Hill...

another fall, formed by the waters of the lake, which, at this point finds an outlet. Salmon collect in great numbers below the bridge...

Pulford's, on the beautiful waters known as Southeast Arm, was reached just as dinner had been cleared away, but with that genial hospitality for which the place is famous...

After a sixty mile run along a road of this kind one feels grateful to those who have made such wonderful improvements in the road to town, and in particular to the old Cow Path...

A GUIDE TO OUR MOTORISTS. The following table of distances, together with information on the condition of the roads, will undoubtedly prove of interest and value to our motorists...

Table with 2 columns: Route, Distance. Includes entries for Seal Cove Bridge, Salmonier Line, Halfway House, Pinsent Falls Path, Hicks, Haricot Road, Haricot Bridge, Colinet, North Hr., Placentia.

DESCRIPTION OF ROADS. From St. John's to Colinet via Salmonier.—The road to Salmonier Line is in good condition...

From Colinet to Placentia—about twenty-four miles—the road is good, and for sixteen miles out of Placentia is excellent...

One word of caution—Beware of the "corduroy" bridges! They are treacherous.

In the Realms of Sport

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL.

The contesting teams at St. George's Field to-night will be the Guards and C.L.B. Many of the fans are of the opinion that the Guards are due for a fall in this game. Their exhibition last week against the Star was considered very poor, and to win to-night they will have to play like real champions. The C.L.B. team has made a big improvement in previous games, they carry several good players in their ranks, and are determined to fight their opponents to the very end. It is likely that a large crowd will witness to-night's game. Players are requested to be on time.

FOOTBALL FIXTURES FOR THIS WEEK.

The football fixtures in the Senior League are now drawing to a close, and only six games remain unplayed with the championship still in doubt. The Guards are likely winners, with four wins and no losses to date. But with three games yet to play, viz: C.L.B. vs. C.E.I. and Saints. Anything is likely to happen. The games for this week will be as follows:—

Monday, July 28th—C. L. B. vs. Guards.

Tuesday, July 29th—Star vs. C.E.I.

Thursday, July 31st—Guards vs. Saints.

Friday, August 1st.—B. I. S. vs. Felidians.

The remaining two games of the series, viz: C.E.I. vs. C.L.B. and Guards vs. C.E.I. will not take place until after the Regatta.

CALCUTTA VS. CITY.

Lieut. Leech, of H.M.S. Calcutta, now in port, was in communication with Mr. Robert Innes this morning, and made arrangements for a football game between a team from the Calcutta against the city, the match possibly to take place on Thursday night of this week. The Calcutta's team are the undisputed champions of the North Atlantic Squadron, and the last time they played the Constance's team they handed them a decisive beating. The League has very kindly placed St. George's Field at the disposal of the Calcutta's players for practice every afternoon this week, and as soon as they get rounded into condition and familiar with the playing field, they will be ready to defend their title against the city's best. This football exhibition promises to be one of the most hotly contested games played at St. George's field in years, and if the fans and spectators are craving for better football they should see the game on Tuesday night.

A DAY WITH MOUNT CASHEL.

Fine Sports Programme Arranged. Besides the many side shows and other attractions, too numerous to mention, the Committee in charge of Mount Cashel Garden Party are putting on a programme of sports events that will be pleasing to all. Great interest will be centred this year on the 3 mile road race, particularly when we have in existence to-day two of the greatest speedsters ever developed in this country, namely Linegar and O'Keefe, both of whom will toe the mark side by side. Again, we must not forget that Gower Stone who made such a plucky race last week, will also be a starter in this race. Gower is rapidly getting to the front, and is a likely winner. Other good boys, nightly in training for the big Telegram Road Race, will be lined up ready for the gun to send them on their way, and in view of the fact that the race will take place on the field, we feel sure that the spectators in attendance will witness a very thrilling race. Linegar's 3 mile record of 15 minutes, 13 4-5 seconds is not likely to be beaten on turf. Another feature of the sports programme will be the pony race. The event in itself has for a number of years past been one of the leading attractions, and with a big list of entries, together with an improved racing track, the heats and finals promise to be even more thrilling than other years. The full programme is as follows:—

- 3 p.m.—Football Fives, first round: (1) C. C. vs. Star. (2) B.I.S. vs. Saints. (3) C.E.I. vs. Guards. (4) Felidians vs. C.L.B.
- 4.15 p.m.—Pyramid Exhibition C.L.B. Relay Race, Junior Football League.
- 5.14 p.m.—Football Fives, 2nd Round. (a) Winners 1. vs. Winners of 2. (b) Winners of 3. vs. Winners of 4.
- 6.45 p.m.—Pony Race, Preliminary Heats.
- 7.15 p.m.—Football Fives, final. Winners of (a) vs. Winners of (b).
- 7.30 p.m.—Pony Race, final heat.
- 8.30 p.m.—Dance in Play Hall.

HARNESS RACING NOTES.

Fayette National and Jenny H. The Big Winners At Windsor.

WINDSOR, Conn., July 28th.—That speed is not all that is required to win a horse race was proven here to-day when Jenny H., owned by Wilfred L. Easton, of Calais, Maine, and driven by Aubrey Rodney, won the first $10,000 race ever contested for by pacers over a half mile track. For two heats she was fairly outpaced in 2:07 1-2, and 2:07 1-4, first by Hal N.C.A., then by St. Louis, but in the next two rounds her staying qualities prevailed and heats in 2:10 1-4 were all that were required to land the big end of the purse.

2.15 Trot.
Spreddagging the field, Fayette National captured first honors and material things that go with them in the $10,000 race for 2:15 trotters. In addition, there, he clipped two seconds off the track's trying record in the first heat when he rambled round the course in 2:07 1-2, a great performance when it is considered that the pacing record is only a half second faster. By the Milwaukee track he did not set up the new mark because he did not have to, as it was Eleanor Guy that was on his heels at the finish. But she went to a wild break in the second heat and was distanced with the result that the next two heats were timed in 2:10 1-4.

SIKI WINS BY KNOCKOUT.
MANCHESTER, N.H., July 18.—Bating Siki, the Senegalese fighter, knocked out Blacksmith Russell in the 7th round to-night.

Siki was tied up by Russell all the way until the last two rounds, when he was able to land effective lefts and rights. A right swing, which caught Russell on the jaw, floored the blacksmith for the count.

Religious Ceremony

AT THE PRESENTATION CONVENT, CATHEDRAL SQUARE.

Friday, the Feast of the Martyr-Apostle, St. James the Great, the always solemnly interesting ceremony of Religious Profession and Reception took place in the Oratory of the Immaculate Conception, Presentation Convent, Cathedral Square.

The young ladies who, by laying aside the trappings of the world and assuming the religious habit, took the first step towards that irrevocable consecration of themselves to a Heavenly Spouse, were: Miss Kathleen Wall, (Sister Mary Anita) daughter of Mrs. Thomas Wall, Springdale Street St. John's, Miss Margaret Hogan (Sister Mary Brendan daughter of Mr. Thos. Hogan, Carboner, Miss Bride Curran (Sister Mary Patrick) daughter of Mrs. Patrick Curran, Ferryland, Miss Mary Walshe (Sister Mary Stephanie) daughter of Mr. Nicholas Walshe, Renewa, Miss Mary Angas Smith (Sister Mary Faustina) daughter of Mr. Patrick Smith, Whittle's Bay, Miss Angas Fifield (Sister Mary Monica) daughter of Mr. William Fifield, Trinity, and Miss Lucy Petty (Sister Mary Celine) daughter of Mr. Elijah Petty, Chapel Arm, Trinity.

The ceremony was conducted in the most impressive manner, for Our Holy Mother the Church deems it but fitting to honor this heroic of self renunciation with a ceremonial which is typical of the holocaust offered and the blessing bestowed.

His Grace who presided, was assisted by Rev. Dr. Carter and Rev. Father Flynn. There were also present, Rev. Father Harman, S.J., New York, who had conducted a retreat for the Sisters of the Order during the week preceding the ceremony, Very Rev. Dr. Greene, P.P., Whittle's Bay, Rev. Father McGrath (Chinese Mission) Rev. M. J. Kennedy (Renews) Rev. R. Murphy and Rev. J. Millar (St. John's).

After the "Te Duem" and the "Ecce Quam Bonum" had been said, the young ladies, in words of rare eloquence and impressiveness, he spoke in the most eulogistic terms of the high honor conferred on them by having been called to dwell apart from the world and its allurements, the duties and responsibilities of the religious life, the sublime end of their noble calling and the reward eternal in duration which will be theirs. He congratulated the young Sisters and also their friends on the solemn contract which had just been concluded between the Eternal God and His chosen children whom Angles hovering by reverenced and envied. These young ladies had left the world and their dear ones to walk with Christ in the way of humiliation and abnegation, to despise wealth, pleasure and honors and to embrace Poverty, Chastity and Obedience. Loving fathers, mothers and friends kneeling by had made a generous sacrifice that day in giving their dearest and their best to the service of God, the separation had inflicted on them, growing in intensity of pain from day to day, but what consolation in the thought that those whom they will miss so sadly from the family circle had been called like Mary to choose the better part, and by their prayers and active co-operation in the work of the Church for the spiritual well-being of her children to help to win back to God that world which has gone astray, that world which stigmatizes all that the religious life stands for, which shuns pain, ridicules humility and refuses obedience though it is just enough to admire and respect those who, stronger, braver and more generous than itself, leave all to cast in their lot with Him who, having joy set before Him chose the Cross. The Rev. Preacher exhorted the Sisters to be ever faithful and true to the traditions of the illustrious Order of the Presentation and the enjoyment for endless ages of the Vision of God face to face would be their exceeding great reward.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament imparted by His Grace the Archbishop brought the Religious Ceremonies to a close.

Dr. G. N. Murphy's Office will close August 6th, for two weeks. July 28, 21.

The O'Regan Memorial Presented to Mount Cashel Is a Most Munificent Gift

There is a widespread enthusiasm that makes itself felt at this season of the year, and it carries thousands of interested supporters of Mount Cashel back in thoughts and generous desires to the assistance of the great work undertaken there by the Christian Brothers, whose hearts and ambitions are so closely bound up in the welfare of the helpless orphans of Newfoundland. Apart from the ready workers and generous individuals who worked so staunchly and made the advancement of this institution their regular duty, there are large numbers who invariably avail of the annual Garden Party to renew their acquaintances with, and their interest in, the institution and the yearly improvements that they learned to expect to find there. This week they are due to have presented to them the greatest addition yet made, and one, which for years, has been most necessary—the O'Regan Memorial.

To the few people in St. John's who are not acquainted with the Mount Cashel Orphanage, it might here be said that it was founded twenty-six years ago by the late Archbishop Howley, and placed in charge of the Irish Christian Brothers. Beginning with a small cottage and boarding school, caring for some thirty pupils, it has to-day grown to an institution providing free education, a comfortable home, and excellent moral and manual training to one hundred and fifty parentless boys. Besides the huge pile of buildings that have made their appearance during the last fifteen years bear eloquent testimony to the continuous generosity of citizens of all denominations, and to the unflinching efforts of the reverend gentlemen who have devoted their life's best to this worthy cause. Only a year or two ago the second and main wing of the building was completed and improvements made to the various other departments. But without delay a new structure has been raised and everyone will be delighted to learn that provision has at last been made for those who, in the interest of their work, have put everybody else's comfort before their own. The new building at Mount Cashel is fittingly to be termed the O'Regan Memorial, and will serve as Brothers' residence. It is a handsome concrete building of attractive and neat architecture, and by the manner of its planning will render a maximum of service, comfort and convenience, and provide, as well, many long felt wants such as a Priest's House, accommodations for the lay-assistants attached to the Orphanage, and temporary Hospital Wards for the boys.

Well Laid Out.

On entering the splendid vestibule visitors are immediately attracted by the height and width of the hallway and corridors, and the ingenuity with which the various rooms are laid out in the best advantage and convenience. A reception room is situated within the portals, and on the ground floor next to it is a spacious dining room, quite close to which is the kitchen, with pantries and storeroom annexed. At the other end of the corridor is a magnificent community room and library combined, while divided from that by folding doors, and available at all times, is a drawing room. The front portion of the second floor contains four very comfortable, airy, and well lighted bedrooms and the office of the Brother Superior. A storeroom, two bathrooms and lavatories are at the centre and back. The third storey has five bedrooms, a spare room, and washrooms identical with those immediately below. While these provide so adequately for the Brothers' requirements and afford them entrance and exits to the various departments of the Orphanage, the building has been so arranged as to include within its walls, yet completely separate from the Brothers' House, a Priest's residence, which is situated at the western end, and is entered through a private porch on the side. Here the resident pastor of the parish has exceptionally comfortable quarters, comprising on the first floor reception and dining rooms, as well as a kitchen, pantry and china room. Immediately above are a study, bedroom and washrooms, while the third floor contains a spare room, more bathrooms and comfortable provision for a housekeeper. In this way the institution, the Brothers and their pupils, and the numerous residents and farmers of the neighborhood, will in future, always have available the assistance of a resident Pastor, and already Mount Cashel is possessor of a very handsome little chapel.

Possesses a Hospital.

But this new building has another remarkable surprise for the visitor. The northeastern corner is also separate from the main section, and by two entrances provides accommodation on the second-floor for the lay assistants to the extent of a dining room, library and several bedrooms. The third floor of this section provides a most important adjunct to Mount Cashel—a hospital, comprised of an observation room and a bright, well ventilated ward, long enough to hold seven hospital cots. Adjoining is a nurse's room, who will be on duty whenever required.

Throughout the building hot and cold water is everywhere available, while a special size furnace in the basement provides the necessary hot-water radiation. All the walls and ceilings are plastered and in the main section of the building the panels and corridors are really beautiful. All good friends of Mount Cashel will be pleased to learn that this magnificent structure was raised under the personal direction of Rev. Brother Ennis, and will join in the congratulations he is receiving on his work and the success attending it. A notable achievement to the credit of Brother Ennis and his willing assistants is the rapidity with which the structure has been brought to the final stages of completion. A year ago not even the plans had been decided upon, but with the energy and application of thorough workers the task was undertaken and carried through without delay. To-day there remains but the finishing touches to be done, and the actual arranging of the various appointments and furnishings.

Magnificent Donation.

This beautiful edifice was made possible and owes its inception to the generosity and kindly interest of the O'Regan family, who knowing the particular need of a Brothers' residence at Mount Cashel, voluntarily donated the entire amount necessary for its completion. Not alone will such munificence be of tremendous benefit to the Brothers, but in its magnitude will prove to be of great assistance to the furtherance of the aims of Mount Cashel, and this gift will ever stand as a great work in the cause of caring for the orphan boys of Newfoundland. Truly and worthily can the building be "The O'Regan Memorial," not alone to the late

Michael O'Regan, whose love for Mt. Cashel was well known, but as a perpetual monument to the kindly interest and philanthropy that inspired its erection.

We are glad to be able to say that a personal inspection of the building will be afforded on next Wednesday to all who attend the Annual Mount Cashel Garden Party, and with the many features of interest to be seen, the opportunity is well worth availing of.

Random Remarks

I daresay it is generally understood that an eye specially constructed with blue lenses for detection of blue conditions can never run off its job in new discoveries. If as some writer has said "a person's degree of pleasure in life runs exactly proportionate to the state of his liver" we shall sooner or later discover that in many cases eye and liver are closely related. That all through life real causes for complaint will be found goes without saying; persistent stormy weather and scarcity of fish make a real complaint for fishermen. Mosquitoes, tropical sun and slavish bores make ideal ground for complaint from the lumberman, and continued drought can make the most cheerful of famous pessimistic over the loss of his wheat. These are real grievances which curiously enough a real blue eye seldom detects because it is trained to discover petty grievances only. The other kinds are designed as special tests for the man who boasts of and for the development of stamina.

HARD BREAD.

By the way speaking of wheat reminds me of another species of complaint, that is to say to all intents and purposes a real cause for grumbling and one which must still be substantiated by actual facts before any legal dig can be given it. Making comparisons from past conditions, when a barrel of flour cost $6.00, a bag of No. 1 hard bread could be purchased at a figure around $4.00. This spring flour (real good quality) could be purchased at $7.00, while hard bread No. 1 and apparently No. 2 alike cost $8.00. Now the question is, while this is special ground for complaint could it be called a real complaint? In other words have the manufacturers been driven by circumstances of increased expenditure to resort to apparent extortion to keep the bakeries going or is it an extenuation of the system of huge profits which invariably incidentally a peculiar blindness to the possibilities of fair play.

GOVERNMENT PATRONAGE!

The matter of coining new words and phrases and then branding them as "slang" may be perfectly right in some cases, but there are many occasions when new circumstances arise and because of entire novelty demand altogether a brand new specification. Having just read the incident where a government member refused government patronage because of his public position, I first wailed up with thankfulness over the act, then set about to find a name for such phenomena. First I said we have honesty, second dishonesty, third robbery, and next what shall we call this action? "I'll tell you," says the village waz, "why, too-honesty." Now the christening is easy—Simple Honesty. Waiving jokes, which cannot, by the way, do less than advertise a splendid example I am glad indeed to see such promise of better government than we have had in the recent past. Our Prime Minister will, doubtless, find moments of hesitation in taking up the different paths to his several duties, but since if he works with sincerity his honesty of purpose must always "show through" it will always be his guarantee that the large majority which elected him are still with him in his onerous task. Let gamblers grumble; that is their part of the play. We are bound to bear of refusal to act on behalf of those suffering minor losses, but mums the word from some quarters on the private generosity of that same party in rendering personal aid. Economy is Monroe's watchword. We back him on that.

COD LIVER OIL.

It seems to me that when we consider the very high recommendations given our cod liver oil because of its supremacy in vitamins, and also the beggarly price paid for it that some one is making a very notable contradiction. Just think of it! A full imperial gallon of vitamins (A) for 60¢ or 70¢ cents, when a pint of poisonous moonshine fetches $2.00. It would be very interesting to learn if the oil experts now in this country can encourage us with the hope of prices according to value. It really ought to be worth as much as moonshine or even real whisky, as, judging by the colossal bootlegging trade into which it seems this country is taking a share, the supply ought never to get even with demand. Poor vitamins, see how we despise you! But you'll do to preach about.

"Pioneer Trails" True Picture of Early West

Historically correct are the settings used in "Pioneer Trails," a Vitaphone special production, which will be exhibited at the Star Theatre to-day. For many weeks before production was begun, the Research Department of Vitaphone was busy checking scenes in the film and obtaining information and descriptions of buildings and towns of the gold rush period of '49 for use in "Pioneer Trails." The Burnt Boot Saloon in the picture is an exact replica of the famous "El Dorado," a saloon and gambling den of the days of the early fifties. The bar and dance hall are exact copies of this famous place.

David Smith, who directed "Pioneer Trails," insisted that every detail be correct before he began filming the picture. He required the town and sets to reflect the spirit and life of the West thoroughly so that there would be no need for sub-titles to carry over the impression of the early days which should be shown in actual scenes.

He spared no expense in the building of the city and furnishing of the interiors of the structures with furniture and knock-knacks in vogue during the period portrayed. Considerable difficulty was met with in obtaining these relics of the past and many items used had to be purchased at almost prohibitive prices because of their rarity.

Actors and actresses used in the scenes were chosen because of their rarity.

Actors and actresses used in the scenes were chosen because of their resemblance to types commonly found in that period. The casting director put in several days studying photographs of persons bearing in early Western days to enable correct selection of types needed. Historical nouns furnished much of the information necessary in this work.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE MARRIED MAN AND THE NICE GIRL.

Do you remember that a few weeks ago I wrote about the young woman who is flattered by the attentions of some married man, a D. perhaps her employer. I tried to make

1. ze that such a conquest was slier than the ordinary conquest less romantic, and far more to her charms because a man looking for an affair choosy than the unconsciously or unconsciously brought me this letter: "My dear Ruth, I hit the bull's eye, but how about the R?"

2. I wrote flattery or sympathy case may be; but is the presence all that the about, do you think? Rather her only contact with a man, a man of affairs, who matters is intelligent and in a position to receive from the romantic point of view but the advantage to the decent the respectable, susceptible W—how can you counteract phrase. Your opinion would be cited."

3. The Camouflages Her Interest. I glad that letter came. It's such a fine cross section of the mind of just the kind of girl I mean. The girl who isn't cheap or fast, the nice girl of good family who does perhaps lack contacts with men whom she regards as marriageable, and who camouflages herself her interest in her employer and his in her, by just such phrases as she uses "her only contact with a successful man; the intellectual advantage."

I suppose when she reads this she will want to ask me indignantly if there is no such thing as intellectual contact and stimulation between the sexes. There most certainly is. And it can be perfectly harmless and an end in itself. But, on the other hand, it can also be the masquerade for sex attraction.

I Can't Open Them.
How is one to tell. Well, there are various ways if you don't already know in your secret heart. For one thing, you can ask yourself if this intellectual contact would mean just as much to you if the other party were a woman. For another, you can ask yourself if your meetings and talks are coming to be the most absorbing things in your life, the things you look forward to, the things you think about as you go to sleep at night. You can see the danger signals without my help, if you will open your eyes to them. . . . And I can't make you see them if you won't.

There is another part of this girl's letter that interests me deeply, and that is where she says that the attention she is in a position to receive from other men are scarce, of such value. Meaning, doubtless, men of her own age and position, as contrasted with this man of forty or fifty.

The Other Woman's Side Of It.
Does she ever look back and realize that he was probably no different than some of them at their age? That the woman who married him accepted an unfinished product. And perhaps helped finish it (whatever impression he may give to the contrary)? That it isn't especially sporting to try to step in and grab that finished product. That if she has the courage to accept an unfinished product and to work and wait and grow with it she may sometime be the wife of a successful, worthwhile man.
And perhaps find out then how the wife feels about all this.

Great News

It's Fashionable Now to Have Splens Removed, Not Appendices.

Appendix Operations Are Passe, Dr. Mayo Tells Medical Association.
Chicago, June 13.—Going to the hospital for an appendix removal is likely to become a little less fashionable than it has been in the past. The mode, it seems, changes in operations as in other things. Appendices are going out and splens are coming in. Dr. William J. Mayo, of the Mayo Brothers, Rochester, Minn., hinted here, addressing the assembly of the American Medical Association.

"An enlarged spleen," he said, "may in a measure supplant the diseased appendix on the operating table. The chronically enlarged spleen must be regarded as a menace, and it rests with the physician to show why it should be removed.
"The spleen in such a condition is dangerous because of its excessive destruction of red cells that carry oxygen from the lungs to the body tissues, and the blood plasma in carrying carbon dioxide to the lungs for exhalation, and transport vital substances to the tissues.
"One of the proper functions of the spleen is the destruction of deteriorated blood cells. When it is enlarged, this destruction may become excessive and produce a chronic anaemia that leads to death, directly or indirectly."

Invented very recently, a new disease was presented at the convention by Dr. Marshall Clinton of Buffalo. He called it "subcostalgia," but a much better name, his colleagues agreed, would be "housewife's rib."
The disease manifests itself by a sharp, shooting pain in the side. Until Dr. Clinton's diagnosis was accepted many physicians mistook it for appendicitis, gall bladder infection, kidney trouble.

What is more and worse, many patients have been operated on for these diseases, when "housewife's rib" was all that was wrong, Dr. Clinton said. And many persons are suffering from mysterious pains, thought to be due to neuralgia and pleurisy when the same new and readily curable ailment was what was wrong with them. The cure consists of an operation to remove the tip of the floating rib.
Warning was issued by several speakers of the peril in the prevailing American quick lunch. It was said that the quick lunch counter is producing a nation of dyspeptics, resulting eventually in a general nervous breakdown.

Visiting surgeons and physicians were kept on the move with nine big clinics in progress. Among the things discussed was the danger in cosmetics containing mercury and arsenic. Constant use of these will give the user a dull leaden color that never can be improved, it was said. Many skin diseases, it was pointed out, can be traced to the use of cosmetics that clog the pores and prevent the natural cleansing action necessary to a delicate and finely-tinted skin.

Other speakers dashed the hopes of bald-headed men when they declared his condition was due to the activities of a germ and that there was no known cure.
One doctor gave out good news for heavyweights when he said fat persons could grow thin and at the same time use plenty of good food and enjoy life. Simple sweets, starches and the like may be taken, but especial warning was given against freak "diets" which reduce a person too rapidly.

THE THRILL.
In the good old days when I was young I loved excitement, too. I hungered for variety and yearned for pleasures new.
And when my kindly dad would say, "Come, sonny, get your hat. Now you and I will fishing go"—I'd get a thrill from that!

Sometimes he'd take me by the hand and lead me into town.
And talk to me of all the ways by which men gain renown;
Then to a theatre we'd go, where side by side we sat.
And as the drama moved along—I'd get a thrill from that!

At times they'd let me sit up late when company dropped in;
I shared the laughter and the song and gloried in the din.
With friends we knew and loved about, right merry was the chat.
A party was rare sport to me—I'd get a thrill from that!

We'd read together, dad and I, the books I liked he knew;
We'd lived through many a stirring tale and talk it over, too.
On summer evenings oft he'd say: "Now get your ball and bat; I'll hit some tall ones out for you"—and, oh, the thrill of that!

Oh, fathers, in these modern days get out and know your boys.
Stay close to them throughout their youth and share their cares and joys;
Show them that healthy-minded fun is never tame or flat;
Lead them to clean and honest sport—they'll get a thrill from that!

Tunneling to Empire Through Continental Divide.

We are generally inclined to believe that the age of great railroad pioneering has passed long since, and that no more great engineering feats remain for modern builders.

But fifty miles west of Denver work has been started on the six-mile Moffat tunnel which will pierce the continental divide at an altitude of 9,000 feet and which will be the gateway to an undeveloped empire larger than the three states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island. Furthermore, the railroad will pass through a rich agricultural region and cut the very center of a territory which contains enough coal to last the entire United States for nearly 3,000 years, more than seventeen times the amount of oil thus far taken from all the oil wells of the country, and over 700,000 undeveloped horse power in electricity. Although estimates have been made, the extent and amount of such minerals as iron, copper, zinc, lead and hydrocarbons such as ozokerite, gilsonite, wurtzilite, nigrite, elaterite, are still little more than a rough approximate waiting for development and closer exploration for fairly accurate estimates.

That region is the western corner of Colorado and the eastern part of Utah—a hinterland filled with vast natural resources and waiting only for adequate transportation to begin a boom of tremendous prosperity.
Moffat tunnel has not attracted much attention outside Colorado. At first it was the dream of one man, but now it is a district affair, sponsored especially by Denver because it is expected to make that city a future distribution point for the oil eventually to be extracted from the oil shale of the Uinta basin. And, when the six-mile tunnel is opened, the Carbon County coal fields will be able to ship coal across the short cut to Denver and thus reach the states northward at a much lower cost for transportation.—Wyman S. Smith, in Forbes Magazine, New York.

C. L. B. Cadets

"Haig weather" for the Church Ladies Brigade Cadets at Topsail Camp so far this year. Everybody is happy, enjoying perfect health and a glorious holiday, says the Chief Medical Officer, Dr. F. Burden, who watches daily over the two hundred and odd in camp. The Regiment again camps on the old historic grounds. Many old veterans of former years are there and a large number of lads, are enjoying themselves for the first occasion under canvas. Twenty-four tents are erected. The Camp Artist, Mr. Gerald White, M.A., who has kindly offered his services in running the camp canteen and assisting with the Red Cross tent has made a splendid job of the Brigade motto and crest in stones neatly whitewashed near the camp entrance faces, while the dates "C.L.B. Cadets 1891-1924" serve to remind us that the Brigade is thirty-three years old, and going strong. This year the camp has a couple of mascots. A Bullfrog, Big Black Bat, which has caused lots of interest. The Cooks have the former in care, whilst the Quartermaster Lieut. Mott takes paternal care of the latter. Grand Falls Company under Company Sergeant Major Constable sent in twenty-one lads. The train was met by the officers who waited at Manuels Station from eleven o'clock Thursday night when the train was due until about 2.30 a.m. when it arrived. During the interval the Brigades "Charlie" Chaplin and the "Chocolate King" entertained the party very royally as the time passed very quickly. Bell Island Company has four lads enjoying camp and who splendidly are representing J. Company which has carried on so successfully under Major Lindsay's Command. Mr. W. K. Chancey of Grand Falls has sent in two splendid photographs of that Company which does photography there, great credit to the Company is well set up and shows the benefit of the training of their War Veteran and C. O. Major Windler. That Prince of Sportsmen Mr. Chas. H. Hayward of the Allied Candy Store who is keenly interested in the boys sports and the Brigade generally has sent in three valuable Gillette Safety Razors as prizes for the camp sports. Wednesday, Thank you, Mr. Hayward. The staff also wish to acknowledge a very handsome donation towards camp from The Dominion Iron and Steel Company. Bell Island through our good friend Major Lindsay, for which we are very grateful. Orderly Officer Sunday was Captain P. B. Rendell and Corporal Rabbits of No. four and of No. 1 Company was doing guard duty. The cooks are the same as last year. Sergt. Cook, Roberts and Corporal Cook, Harry Butler. No complaints are heard of the food or cooking so this feature of camp life is satisfactory. On Saturday morning Lieut. Colonel Walter F. Rendell, C.B.E., Officer Commanding made a special trip to Wabana, Bell Island on important Brigade duties, and the result of his visit will be made known later.

Wednesday next the annual C.L.B. camp sports will be held. This year the ladies of Topsail Church will hold a Garden Party the same afternoon on the camp grounds and serve tea to all visitors to the Brigade Camp. This will be a great convenience to parents and friends who like to pay the boys a visit. A small admission fee of ten cents will be made to the grounds. Mrs. Tasker Cook and Mrs. W. H. Hynes and other ladies are assisting with the tea tables.

Yesterday, Sunday, was a busy day. Reville 7 a.m. Holy Communion served at 8 a.m. at which over fifty communicants attended. Breakfast of fish and brewis served at 9 a.m. Shortly after breakfast, Lieut. Col. W. Rendell, Brigade Major Williams, Rev. Canon Bolt arrived being kindly met in by Old Comrade Doctor Ar-

Mr. H. Carnell who is always doing his bit for his old Regiment. The following officers also came in—Major Herbert Outerbridge, M.B.E. second in command, Captain Lewis Paymaster Lieuts. Reeves, Eric Jerrett, Regt. Sergt. Major Andrews, Company Sergt. Major Sidney Bursell, Company Sergt. Major Thomas Ricketts, V.C. and many others.

Capt. N. French (Bay Roberts) commands No. 1 Company, Capt. R. W. Sheppard, No. 2 Company, whilst Sergt. F. Martin and Sergt. L. Hooker, are acting Sergt. Majors. Pte. W. Cake is acting Lance Corporal in charge of No. 3 tent and Old Comrade R. Knight, is attached to the Quartermasters Department. Two hundred and fifty-seven all ranks were in camp to lunch on Sunday. The menu was boiled beef, cabbage, potatoes, pudding and sauce, bread, butter and tea. Thirty-five loaves of bread are used at one meal, or over a hundred loaves a day. A sack of beans is almost used up for breakfast alone. The boys were all delighted to have another gift from Lieut. Col. Sir Joseph Outerbridge in the shape of a bunch of bananas, for which they thank him, as well as a box of ginger cakes from James Maher of the East-End Bakery.

At eleven a.m., the Brigade attended the morning service at St. John the Evangelist Church. The building was filled to capacity. The clergymen present were the Rector, Rev. A. Pittman, who preached the sermon, the Revs. C. Jeffrey, A. B. S. Stirling and Canon Bolt. We noticed a great improvement in the Chancel this year—the beautiful east window in memory of the three former pastors Revs. Palariat, Hutchinson and Canon Colley, and the new carved oak Reredos, Altar frontal and super frontal and book makers in memory of the late Mrs. John R. McCowan all given generously by Sir Edgar Bowring. The new incense burner in the sanctuary donated by the late Mrs. Samuel Squires also adds to the furnishings and beauty of the Church. The drum head service took place at 3.30 p.m. instead of three, being delayed on account of the late arrival of the service sheet. The address was given by the Rev. John Elliott, Rector of St. Thomas's and the other clergymen assisting were Revs. Canon Bolt, A. B. S. Stirling and A. Pittman, Camp Chaplain. A large number of visitors were present and afterwards entertained at afternoon tea in the Officers' Mess; the hostess being Mrs. George House, wife of the Camp Commandant, assisted by Mesdames A. Pittman, Tasker Cook, W. H. Hynes, I. F. Perlin, Misses Edith House, Pen-camp and Hynes and others. The camp was also honoured by a visit from Hon. Sir Edgar Bowring and Mrs. John Munn, Lt.-Col. Sir Joseph Outerbridge, Lady Outerbridge, the Hon. Mayor Tasker Cook, Miss Ellis, Hon. Robert Watson and John R. Bennett, also Mr. Robert Furlong of the Sea Scouts and Major Greene and Capt. Murphy of Bell Island Catholic Cadet Corps, and many other friends. President Fred Reid of the Officers' Mess had a busy day yesterday entertaining the visiting officers and did his work remarkably well. Mr. Grant Barnell and Private Alan Goodridge Jr. are making a great success of the canteen. During Sunday afternoon Capt. Morris conducted an excellent programme of band music which was a real treat.

"Everybody votes camp 1924 a wonderful success and those there appreciate the great privilege of being under canvas maintaining the great traditions of all those gallant lads who camped on the old camp grounds in days of old and who by

Commemoration Day at C. of E. Cemetery

Commemoration Day was observed yesterday by the Church of England and thoughts of all were centred on the resting place of the mortal remains of the blessed dead. It was an ideal day for such an observance, and the cemetery never looked prettier. Each plot was profusely decorated with rich flowers and thousands paid homage during the day, with thoughts on the lives of those who have gone before, and the wonderful and consoling doctrine of "The Communion of Saints."

The winding walks and overhanging trees, the sweet-scented flowers and shrubs make the cemetery a place of rest as well for the living as the departed, and many delight in spending their summer evenings and Sunday afternoons in the shade and quietness that it affords.

At an early hour there was a celebration of the Holy Communion in the Mortuary Chapel, Rev. Dr. Facey and Rev. Gosse, of Change Islands, officiating, when a large number partook of the Holy Sacrament, in the presence of relatives and friends who have passed through the valley of the shadow of death. At 3 o'clock a vast congregation assembled for the Feast of Services, which was impressive throughout. St. Mary's Choir was in charge of the musical arrangements and under the direction of Organist Lloyd left nothing to be desired. Ileva, Canon Jeevas, E. J. R. Nichol, H. L. Pike and W. E. Godfrey officiated and Rev. Godfrey delivered an address most appropriate to the occasion, during which he showed the greatness of Christianity over heathen beliefs, and exhorted all to live that when the call comes they will be prepared to enter the unknown world in sure and certain hope of the Resurrection. The service will long be remembered by those who were privileged to be present.

An offering was taken which will be donated to the further beautifying of the cemetery.—Com.

August Rod and Gun

In the August issue of Rod and Gun in Canada every sportsman will find something to his liking. Besides the regular departments there is an unusually interesting story, "Hunting for Pre-Historic Game Through the Bad Lands of the Red Deer River," by Lillian Sanders. The fisherman will eagerly read "With the Angler in August" by Robert Page Lincoln in his monthly "Fishing Notes." Frank Morris has written a fascinating account of an exploring trip through a famous vacation ground entitled "The Heart of Timagami." "Migration Route Hawks and Owls" by Bonny-castle Dale and "The Full-Webbed Swimmers" by J. W. Winslow will hold the attention of all those interested in our feathered friends. The other regular departments and several interesting stories complete the various features of this issue.

The Lausanne Treaty.

In order to safeguard American commercial, educational, religious and philanthropic interests in Turkey, our relations with that country should be regulated without further delay. The boldest and most effective means for bringing that about would be the prompt ratification of the Treaty of Lausanne. As the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in its summary of its annual meeting at Cleveland last month, (the address was given by the Rev. Martin Luther's Handwriting

BRINGS TOP PRICE AT AUCTION.

BERLIN, July 1.—(A.P.)—Martin Luther's handwriting commanded a high price even than autographs by Goethe and Schiller at an auction of autographs here. A letter addressed to the Elector John of Saxony brought 9,100 marks.

The second highest price, 5,000 marks, was paid for a verified and authenticated letter by Goethe to Merck in the year 1774. Schiller's poem, "Der Alpenjäger" (The Alpine Hunter), came third, with 3,000 marks.

A Schopenhauer autograph brought only 500 marks. A number of Schiller and Wieland letters found no bidders. Six pages of Heines' poems were auctioned off at 670 marks.

method called "pre-cooling." The method is simplicity itself. Air at a low temperature is forced by a huge fan through the rooms where the fruit is placed upon being brought from the orchard. The effect is a sudden lowering of the temperature of the fruit to the desired point. Thus decay germs have no time to begin work, and the various oils given off by the fruit, which have a tendency to spoil it are driven off. When placed in ice cars it is at a lower temperature even than the refrigerated cars and can make the journey without re-icing. If desired, the fruit when pre-cooled can simply be transferred to cold storage rooms and left for a number of days before shipping.

All of these facts mean speed and control for the shippers of perishable stuff, and those two words mean stabilized markets and better prices.
