THE TWO KNIGHTS IN TOWN

Thompson, Minister of Justice, stepped from the train and walked leisurely to the Queen's Hotel, where they were booked. Sir Hector was assigned to the famous Red Parlor, the abode of the Old Man while in town, and this ought to be a fair indication that if Sir Hector is not able to fill the Old Man's political shoes he is at least able to fill his downy bed in the Red Parlor. Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Secretary of State, was expected to arrive at 10.45 from Montreal, but the hongentleman failed to put it an appearance. He was in Montreal Monday night. They will travel by special train from the Ambitious City to Hagersville, and will take part in the demonstration at that thriving village this afternoon in honor of Dr. Montague, M.P. for Haldimand.

The coming of Sir Hector and Sir Sparrow was not greeted with any visible signs of enenthusiasm on the part of the faithful. Mr. p. F. D. Barwick boarded the train at North Toronto and made the semi-circle of the city

But there was a treat in store for Sir Hector and Sir Sparrow that they did not anticipate. About 15 minutes after Mr. McGaw had seen them well bestowed for 'she night, Emperor David Creighton rushed breathes into the Queen's. He was dressed as The World never recollects seeing him arrayed before. His black "plur" was shiny and smooth. "I would have been here much sooner," explained the Emperor, "but it took me an awful long time to fix up for the occasion." Then the Emperor and the Ministers had a confidential chat.

Perhap the readers of The World would like to know how it is that the courteous and polished Minister of Justice is spoken of as Sir Sparrow. Well, as was announced yesterday, he has just been created a K. C. M. G. The recipient of this honor can elect to be called by whatsoever he chose from his Christian names. Of course it was not Canada's independence in any shape that was had in view at Washington, either by the Republican Senators who rejected the treaty, or by the Democratic President who salled for further retaliatory powers in order to make Canada "mind." THANKS TO THE OFFICERS.

Mr. ADAM BROWN, M. P., moved, seconded by Mr. Wri. Henidrie, that the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to the agents and officers and medical advisers of the Company to whose exertions in the interests of the Company its remarkable success is in a great measure due. In support of his motion Mr. Brown said: This resolution, I am sure needs no commendation at my hands. It is well known all over the country that the agents of the Canada Life are men of great prudence, zeal and energy. As to the officers of the Company at the head offices, we all know what they have done in the interests of the Company and I cannot speak too highly of the chief medical officers here and those throughout the country who co-operate with them. It is but right that these officers should have a proper acknowledgment of their valuable services and I have, therefore, much pleasure in moving the resolution which I have read.
