ORDER IN COUNCIL. GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA, Monday, the 25th Day of September, 1884.

WHEREAS, the Statute in that behalf made in relation to the incorporation of Towns, it has been shown to us that the inhabitants of the town of Calgary, hereinafter described, desire to have the same incorporated into a town by the name of "The Town of Calgary";

And whereas the requirements of the said Ordinance, in that behalf made in all respects been complied with;

Now know ye, that under and by virtue of the powers so vested in us, by the said Ordinance, we do hereby proclaim and declare that the following tract of land be erected into a town; and that the provisions of the said Ordinance, by the name of "TOWN OF CALGARY,"

Namely: "All those parts of Sections numbered forty, fifty and sixty, Towns in the North-West Territory, Range one, south of the Bow River, in the North-West Territories of Canada."

And do hereby order the election of a Mayor and four Councillors for the said Town, in the manner provided by the said Ordinance.

Of which all persons whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

In Testimony Whereof we have caused the Seal of the North-West Territories to be hereunto affixed. Witness His Honor Edgar Dewdney, Lieutenant-Governor of the North-West Territories, at Government House, Ottawa, this twenty-seventh day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and in the forty-eighth year of Her Majesty's reign.

MAIL NOTICE. OUTWARD. For the East at 3 00 P.M. every Tuesday Thursday and Saturday.

NEWS DIAL. Toronto, Nov. 13.—The Mail says:—The Canadian Pacific authorities now in England have not yet succeeded in raising money for branches. Their intention is to extend the Southwestern to Whitewater Lake, provided, of course, they can raise the money.

Official Gazette News. The last issue of the North-West Territories Gazette contains the following appointments: To be Justice of the Peace:—John C. McArthur, Esq., of Weyburn, Manitoba; Henry Fisher, Esq., of Regina; John Buchanan, Esq., of Whitewood; Robert Russell Smith, Esq., of Fort Qu'Appelle.

FLOGGING AT THE GAOL. Manitoba Law Journal. Waving the constitutional question, no one doubts that in order to justify the corporal chastisement of a recaptured prisoner, there must be some written law somewhere. Granting that the Legislature's Assembly has power to impose the lash as a part of prison discipline, and that it has power to delegate to the sheriff, or the Lieut-Governor-in-Council the right to frame rules under which it is applied, there does not appear to be either statute, order-in-council or rules which assume to permit whipping of prisoners.

Under this statute rules have been made and approved of by the Lieut-Governor-in-Council. Those of them which refer to the penalty for attempted escape and to the infliction of punishment for any offence, are as follows:— 13. The punishments allowed in the gaol for breach of discipline shall be:— (No. 1) The hard bed, with sufficient covering for the season of the year for an indefinite period.

(No. 2) Bread and water diet for a period of not more than five consecutive days. (No. 3) Dark cell, and ball and chain. (No. 4) Chained to the floor. 21. Prisoners attempting to escape, and thereby endangering their lives, will be subjected, under the statutes, to a further term of imprisonment.

It will be seen that flogging has not been sanctioned as a punishment for any offence, and that the penalty for an attempted escape is a further term of imprisonment. This further term of imprisonment must be awarded after trial, and the law has provided a tribunal. An attempted escape is a misdemeanor; and one accused must be tried and condemned for this, as for all other crimes. No power is given to the gaoler, or even the Attorney-General, to sentence without information, evidence or the presence of the prisoner.

Not all One Way. The following, taken from the Prince Albert Times and reprinted from the Saskatchewan Herald shows that the entire press of the northwest is not in favor of infectious agitation. We are glad to see that our above named contemporaries are fully alive to the real situation:—"The just intention of legitimate agitation seems to be to obtain redress of any grievance of a public nature, which all the attendant circumstances being weighed, would seem susceptible of more speedy consideration than it receives, and in this we would include the granting of all rights and privileges wrongfully withheld from the people. All constitutional agitation having such ends in view has our most hearty sympathy and support.

Having drawn attention to such grievances as were brought under our notice we gave what we considered the best advice to the public, namely to embody their wants in the form of a petition, couched in firm but respectful language, and signed without exception by everyone interested. Whether in consequence of our advice or not we understand that a petition of this kind is being generally signed, but until we are favored with a sight of its contents, we are not in a position to express any opinion about it, should the subjects of the petition be legitimate we will gladly do our best in its support, but we would be sorry to pledge ourselves to encourage the harassment of any Government, whether Conservative or Liberal, at the dictation of such men as in every country are to be found, purely from personal and selfish motives trying to make tools of the people in the hope of, that by upsetting whatever may be the existing order of things something may turn up to their private advantage.

The last issue of the North-West Territories Gazette contains the following appointments: To be Justice of the Peace:—John C. McArthur, Esq., of Weyburn, Manitoba; Henry Fisher, Esq., of Regina; John Buchanan, Esq., of Whitewood; Robert Russell Smith, Esq., of Fort Qu'Appelle.

To be commissioners for taking affidavits outside the territories:—Samuel C. Fatt, Esq., of Montreal; William Pugsley, Esq., Junior of St. Paul, N.B. To be returning officer for the election of first council for the town of Calgary:—Geo. B. Elliott, of Calgary. To be notary public:—Daniel Maloney, Esq., of St. Albert. Proclamation erecting the Town of Calgary into a municipality.

OUR POLICY.

While the NOR-WESTER is in favor of all legitimate means to advance the true interests of the North-West it has not the faintest shadow of sympathy with movements which are conducted by men who are extremely anxious to keep up an agitation for purposes which are far from being patriotic. This journal will not oppose any measure merely because it is advanced by enemies or opponents, but it will judge of the goodness, sincerity and policy of a movement rather from what is practiced by the movers than from what is preached. It will follow experience always, because it is well aware that it is the safest guide. Of one thing the public may rest assured, it will watch with eagle eye every move that is made by third parties who cannot tolerate an opponent, and who while professing to be liberals, are in most cases the most intolerant. Upon general as well as special principles the NOR-WESTER is opposed to public agitations in the North-West because it believes that any good purpose under our system of government can be secured without noise and bustle. The past history of public agitations in the North-West proves that they have never accomplished anything but mischief, because in mischievous agitation the designing trickster generally comes to the front, for however a cause may be good in the abstract, unless it is managed in a righteous way it were better that it had never been undertaken. These gentlemen who are friendly to this journal and who are sincere in their belief that great good will result from a public agitation should first ask themselves if they are competent to control a public agitation when once it is under way, and so regulate it that it will be confined to its original limits. If they are perfectly sure that they can do this the mischievous spirit may be controlled, but are they sure that they can secure this obedience. It is a great undertaking to shape an agitation, and rare—good men are needed. Are they here? We are afraid not.

To run with the hare and hunt with the hound is a favorite practice with the local melancholy organ. In the last issue there are two leading articles, one on each side of the sheet—showing that there is some expediency if not virtue in being two sided. Those of our readers who are not carried away by prejudice must admit that the tone of each is so plainly opposite that the ordinary reader will not meet with any difficulty in coming to the conclusion that the organ is endeavoring to accomplish something which is quite out of the range of possibility. Let the following extracts be compared side by side and then let them speak for themselves.

Herald, Nov. 19th, 1884.

"The individual members of the 'National Government have frequently expressed their interest in us, and the same interest is shown by the 'National Government' itself. Some of them have been visited in this district in person and they have listened with attention to our representation. One of them has even gone so far as to write a memorandum of our grievances, and in accordance with his invitation, such a memorandum has been forwarded to him, and one of the objects of this meeting will be to back every word and title of that memorandum and endorse its manifesto to the echo. With this assurance before us we have no misgivings concerning the reception our delegates will have. The reception is already assured them; it remains simply to instruct them of the nature and import of their mission. Such instruction will be terse and to the point. They are summed up in representations already urged in these columns. Politics will have nothing to do with them. Italicize ours—ED. NOR-WESTER. We will leave politics to a time when we have some political rights, and choose our party when we have a vote. Faction will have nothing to do with them, for Half Breds, Frenchmen, Canadians and Englishmen have one voice in this country, and that voice calls for legislation which will be of equal benefit to all. Alberta first; the home we have chosen to live in, and live for, first. Let secondary aims come with secondary effort; this is our first effort, and let it be in the one and true direction.

Herald, Nov. 19th, 1884.

And yet we are told that the Dominion has done everything for us and we ought to experience no other feeling under the circumstances than gratitude. What sort of gratitude, we who are mostly interested, experience will likely be seen at the mass meeting on the 29th inst. What sort of gratitude is felt throughout the whole of the North-West may be seen in the messages that are being sent throughout the country for the ventilation of grievances and the passing of indignant resolutions. What sort of gratitude the half breeds, who form so large a part of our population, feel has been seen from their inviting Riel to 'come over and help us'. We have discussed the great gift of the railway before. To our mind that is only a simple business transaction, the outcome of which is that we owe nothing to the railway which has made a very good bargain for itself, and nothing that will not be paid ten times over to the Dominion in the alienation of so many million acres of our best lands. Suppose, at the time of making the C.P.R. deal, our hands had been in our own hands, would the Dominion Government have or have not been satisfied with our contribution to the expense if we had given this same grant of land ourselves? Unquestionably we would have satisfied the Government and the C.P.R. too by so doing. But because no choice was given us, but the land was taken from us without question or consultation, we are told that we ought to be grateful; so grateful that when its time of power comes to these Territories, we will remember what the east has done to us and for us.

The animus is so plain that it is like the most eminent pike-staff.

One of the aims of the present North-West Council had in view to give the people of the North-West a code of ordinances that may be readily understood by any person of ordinary education. The old practice of making the statutes as abstruse and as incomprehensible as possible has not been followed. The language used, while losing none of its legal force, is simple and almost stripped of that verbiage which characterizes the long Acts of the eastern provinces. Our ordinances do not aim at doing away with the legal fraternity, but their simplicity of structure will save time for the lawyer and money for the client, two matters upon which both parties may agree without prejudice to each other.

It is only natural that our east end contemporary should just now be reading its own hair and tearing out handfuls at each pull at the imminent risk of incurring a shaving gate. The fact that it has a little diversion on hand in the shape of a 'monster mass meeting' ought to be deterrent enough to prevent it hanging itself at the end of its tether. The tempest in a tea-pot which it is creating is not likely to effect any one outside of its own admirers and a baker's dozen of persons who do not really admie it, but who to carry out selfish purposes are able to flatter the organ in order to make use of it and delude it into believing that it is flying with aura popularis.

The organ of the agitators speaks in advance when it says, "With this assurance before us we have no misgivings concerning the reception our delegates will have. The reception is already assured them; it remains simply to instruct them of the nature and import of their mission. Such instruction will be terse and to the point. They are summed up in representations already urged in these columns." Ah indeed! Who is "running the business?" Doubtless our contemporaries, but why should it preclude anything where everything is to be done "in a moderate and reasonable manner." Nous verrons.

One of the dodges to which the Herald resorts is to make unfounded assertions in the hope that damage may be done to the editor of this paper. It is well to note that the last of a argument, because that is the only ammunition it has. Of one thing it may rest assured the NOR-WESTER is not afraid to stem any little torrent or tempest that the Herald may undertake to get up on North-West matters or on anything else, and this is not worth the boast either.

The MacLeod Gazette is raving in the orthodox fish wife style. The abuse is not unexpected, but it is to be regretted that the Gazette like the Herald has a chronic aversion to facts. As our contemporary has a couple of criminal libel suits on hand and its vagaries have led it into exceedingly hot water, we will wait until next week when we shall deal with it in a fitting manner.

The Edmonton Bulletin has at length taken notice of the memorandum of grievances which was published in the NOR-WESTER some weeks since. The Bulletin like the MacLeod Gazette is late in publishing the memorandum, but has the courtesy to make comments which are not unfavorable. Our northern contemporary says: "The NOR-WESTER remains upon the memorandum that moderation and common sense should be its motto." It is also characterized by the special interest made in it for matters connected with the legal profession. This is based on the gentleman who framed the memorandum, but when the Bulletin sees the grant clause made in the local organ of the 19th inst., it is on the following words: "Also in the 'L' it will perhaps be the legal profession in the one, because of the legal profession in the other. The Bulletin after all admits that the memorandum was drawn up without prejudice to other parties."

The Canadian Gazette, of London, England, it is said to say how much truth there is in the report that "the British post-office will be bound to use the Canadian Pacific Railway as an alternative route to the Peninsular and Oriental steamship service for the mails to China and Japan." Greater shrewdness, in point of time, is claimed for the Canadian route, and if this be beyond doubt, the change ought to be probable. Some of those who are bound to find some employment for Sir John Macdonald, in England, attribute to him an intention to bring the subject before the British government.—Monetary Times.

A BIG SHEEP DEAL
Siems & Arrington, of St. Paul, purchase 13,000 Head of Sheep as a "starter" in Wool Growing in Northern Montana.
The most important sheep deal that has ever been made in Montana was concluded in this city Saturday by Mr. J. T. Arrington, for his firm of Siems & Arrington, of St. Paul, who are now entitled to the front seat among the wool growers of this territory. As a "starter" in the business they have purchased 13,000 head of sheep, and may add a few more thousand to the number before they stop buying.
The purchases made are as follows: From May Bros. of Arrow creek, 5,000 head; from the Belt Creek Sheep Company, Sanford Allen and Frank Hay, 6,000 head—making a grand total of 13,000 sheep. Mr. Arrington has purchased the ranches with all the improvements and rights of the Belt Creek Sheep company (whose sheep were run by Allie and Hay), and at these places, or one of them, will probably be the ranch headquarters of the firm.
For the present most of these sheep will be let on shares. Hay Bros. of Arrow creek, take 5,000 head, and the others will be run on Cors and Otter creeks.
Mr. Arrington will have the management of the firm's interests in this section, and will make his headquarters in the territory at Fort Benton. His plans as to future operations are not yet fully matured, but we are assured that they are on an extensive scale. This purchase by so enterprising a firm as Siems & Arrington, who rank among the shrewdest business men and contractors of Minnesota, will redound largely to the benefit of northern Montana, not only because their venture will prompt others who have confidence in them to make like investments.—River Press.

Coal Lands of the Northwest
At the meeting of the national academy of sciences at Newport, R. I., Prof. R. Pumpelly, who had charge of the survey of the country along the Northern Pacific in 1881, read a paper on the Mesozoic coals of the northwest. The coals in Washington territory, northern Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Dakota are all cretaceous, from the top of the Laramie formation down. From the Missouri river west to the Rocky mountains, the coal layers are thirteen to sixteen feet thick, but are lignitic and crumble on exposure. West of that the layers are two to six feet thick, but are bituminous coking coals. In Judith basin, up to or past the British line, are coking coals from eighteen inches to five or six feet thick. The next great coal fields are west of the Cascade range. Here the thickness of carboniferous formation is at least 15,000 feet. All the bituminous coal has been studied, but not yet the lignitic, which is valuable. Some of these coals have been converted into natural coke, having the same chemical composition as anthracite. The bituminous coal is confined to strips along the Cascade range and Vancouver's island. The total amount of carboniferous material is very great. The coal fields of Wyoming territory have no representative in the north.

NOR-WESTERS.
Regina:
Mr. Hayter Reed, Assistant Commissioner in the N.W. Territories, returned last week from his business tour among the red skins in almost every district of the Territories. He enjoyed his trip very much with the exception of about a month in the West colony, where it rained so persistently that he got a wet skin every day. He does not seem to be much the worse of his wading judging from his bronzed and healthy physique.
Dr. Orton, M.P., of Winnipeg, was in Regina last week. He had interests in Regina from his infancy and thinks she has come through the ordeal of the "boom period" remarkably well and is on a sound basis to reach extensive prosperity. The doctor had a lot of mineral specimens with him, collected in the Rockies, some indicative of great wealth in gold, some in copper, silver, etc. He left on Saturday morning for the Rockies, where he is "medical man" for the C.P.R. employees. He is keeping his eyes open when out there and hopes to "catch on" to some mineral wealth before he gets through.

McLeod.
The editor of THE NOR-WESTER is sending an address to his boss, Sir John A. Macdonald. The Canadian Premier will no doubt appreciate it, and feel much flattered. The editor of THE NOR-WESTER is not optical. Oh, no! He is as modest as the proverbial old lady of ill-repute at a christening.
Quite so; but the address is coming from the Conservatives of Calgary and surrounding country. We have no wish to enter into competition with the Gazette upon the matter of "egotism." This we decline under any circumstances in favor of the Gazette. We have no desire to intrude upon the executive prerogative of its editor.—[Ed. Nor-Western.]
A gentleman went in bathing in the usual swimming place yesterday, the 13th day of November. The air was like summer, and the water was no colder than it is below Quebec in the middle of summer. This is a good item for the 14 November.—Jim Grant and "Tex" caught 77 trout last week in Willow creek in an hour and a quarter, and not through a hole in the ice either.
We publish elsewhere an extract from the Calgary Herald regarding appeals. Col. Macleod informs us that the appeals referred to were brought before him in July, and he could do nothing because the ordinance was not passed. The ordinance was passed on the 6th of August, and provided for such cases. The Col. has been at Calgary several times since and nothing has been said about them. If the editor of the Herald had read his own ordinance the mistake would not have been made of complaining where there was no ground for it. It is not Col. Macleod's duty to explain the new ordinance to everyone he meets. There is nothing to prevent these appeals being brought before him now, and we should have thought the Herald would have known this. Appeals can only be had in cases where the offence is against a north-west ordinance.
