COMPLETE IRISH MATTER TODAY?

Very Little More Discussion Said to be Necessary

Churchill Said to Have Told Craig He is Looked to be Restore Order in Belfast Without Delay—More Troubles There.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, June 14—Considerable optimism is felt regarding the status of the Irish negotiations, and it is suggested in some quarters that today's conference may be the final one. In any event, it is declared that very little more discussion will be necessary for a complete agreement.

Conversations yesterday with reference to safeguarding the minorities in the south are understood to have been entirely satisfactory, and will probably result in the insertion in the new Irish constitution, of provisions under which the minorities will be enabled to share in the government of the Free State.

It is reported that the financial position of the provisional government of the State has been one of the topics most recently raised at the conference, with the result that the British treasury may make a loan by the Dublin government until it is functioning more effectively.

Conference is expressed that Secretary Churchill will be able to make a full statement on the situation on Thursday. Conditions in Belfast remain disturbed and are engaging the close attention of the government here.

Churchill to Craig. According to the Daily Mail, Secretary Churchill told the Premier, Sir James Craig, in a recent interview that the government regards the state of affairs in the northern capital as extremely unsatisfactory, and looks to him to restore order without delay.

The newspaper also credits the British government with believing that the situation has now been secured on the border and that further attempts at violation of Ulster's territory are unlikely.

Dail Cabinet Diffident. London, June 14—A despatch to the Times from Dublin says difficulty has arisen regarding allotment of seats in the new Dail cabinet, which, under the Collins-De Valera pact, the Republicans are entitled to four seats and those in favor of the treaty to five.

It seems, says the despatch, that De Valera insists that he be the minister of defense. Richard Mulcahy, the present holder, does not object and Collins is willing, but Arthur Griffith resolutely opposes any attempt to place De Valera in supreme control of the army, freeing him from responsibility as an elected representative of the people.

Castle Attacked. Belfast, June 14—Six Fenians attacked Killiney Castle, County Down, during the night, but were driven off by members of the special constabulary. Colonel G. W. R. Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton, the owners, were in the castle during the attack.

The Fenians were active in this city. The places burned included two motion picture theatres, a restaurant, a brewery, an engineering works, and a block of business offices. Three men were injured in the latter fire.

British bluejackets this morning were still engaged in discharging the cargo of the German steamer Stella Maris, which was stopped by a British warship. The authorities maintain secrecy regarding the results of their search of the vessel.

SAID EXPLOSION IN HALIFAX WAS CAUSED BY HIM

Authorities Investigating an Alleged Confession of Man in West Who Has Committed Suicide.

Seattle, June 14—Canadian and United States authorities are investigating, it became known here today, an alleged confession by Wm. Johnson, alias "Red" Primstehenk, that he caused the explosion of the British ammunition ships in the harbor of Halifax, N. S., resulting in many deaths and great destruction in that city.

Johnson committed suicide in a lonely spot of Bacon Creek, in Skagit county, Washington, last month.

The alleged confession, a federal agent said today was made to J. R. Cox, a mine watchman, a few weeks before Johnson killed himself, and the confession has been since conducting a careful investigation.

It has been established that Johnson, a native of Finland, graduated from a European university and was an expert chemist. He was in Halifax at the time of the explosion, according to officers. A quantity of alleged dynamite was found in his effects after his death.

Halifax, N. S., June 14—While port police authorities paid credence to the alleged confession of Johnson, that he caused the explosion of the French ammunition ship Mont Blanc, in the harbor of Halifax in 1917, W. J. O'Hearn, lawyer who defended the pilot of the Imo, which ran into Mont Blanc, causing the explosion, thinks it is possible that the man reported to have committed suicide at Seattle was the man who was at the wheel of the Imo when the explosion occurred. Counsel for the pilot at the enquiry asked for an investigation into the record of John Johansen, the helmsman of the Imo, on the ground that while living in Arizona, he had expressed German sympathies. C. J. Burchell, who defended the Imo at the enquiry said it had been established that John Johansen was a native of Norway or Sweden and had been to sea since fourteen years of age, and consequently was not a Finn with a university education.

The court that investigated the collision which caused the explosion found that it had been due to an accident.

CHARGE FOR ADULTS ONLY AT SWIMMING SCOWS. The city swimming scows at the foot of Kennedy street are being liberally patronized in spite of the backwash of the scows, the commissioner Bullock said today. He said that admission to juveniles this year would be free, while the use of the scows would be permitted to adults on purchase of a season ticket which cost $1. The dump at the foot of Kennedy street has been closed by regulation, the commissioner announced, and signs to this effect would be erected. Provision was being made for the dumping of ashes over a new sewer extension off Kennedy street in the direction of Marble Cove.

WEST SIDE REPAIRS. The harbor department is placing a new floor and new stringers in No. 4 shed, West St. John, and also repairing the ramp which runs from that shed to the immigration shed. Repairs to the trestle and platform on the face of the wharves are also being carried out. The new floor on No. 6 shed is about half completed and the work is held up awaiting deals.

Commissioner Bullock said today that he was considering the advisability of covering the shed floors in West St. John, as well as the wharves on which there is team traffic, with a plastic asphalt covering. He said that this method was adopted with good results in Montreal and gave a more lasting surface, which was easily kept clean. He said the approach to Rodney wharf, although laid last year, was now in need of repair, and he thought this covering could be used to good advantage there.

Laurentian, who telephoned from Parrsboro to the marine department this morning, reported that the schooner Abbie Keast was not adrift and a message to navigation in the Bay of Fundy. He said that she was picked up on June 8, near where she met disaster and towed to East Bay, below Parrsboro, where she was beached. The Abbie Keast, which was commanded by Captain Bullock, turned turtle after running on Black Rock on Thursday.

UNCLE SAM CHIEF BOOTLEGGER

Anheuser Busch Head Writes to President Harding

Wide Open Bars on Vessels of U. S. Shipping Board—Lasker, of Board, Uses Lash in Reply.

(Canadian Press) St. Louis, June 14—Charging the United States is "incomparably the biggest bootlegger in the world," a letter written by August A. Busch, head of Anheuser Busch, Inc., while en route to Europe aboard the steamship George Washington, and which has been forwarded to President Harding was made public here today.

In his letter Busch declares that the ships of the U. S. Shipping Board are "wide open bars" on the coast, the bars being wide open.

Washington, June 14—The shipping board holds that neither the Volstead act nor the 18th amendment applies to U. S. ships outside the three mile limit, Chairman Lasker announced today in a letter to Adolphus Busch, third vice-president of the Anheuser Busch Brewery Co. of St. Louis.

Confirming reports that alcoholic drinks were being sold on U. S. ships at sea, Mr. Lasker asserted that the shipping board had approved this custom "both from the standpoint of legal right and from the standpoint of our national merchant marine."

"The shipping board has permitted and will continue to permit the serving of liquor on its ships," he continued, "so long as foreign flag ships are allowed to carry a limited amount of liquor, doing that privilege."

Referring directly to the letter, Mr. Lasker wrote in the letter: "I believe you to be thoroughly selfish, that you are acting in the hope of creating public revolt against prohibition so that you may again revive the sale of your liquors, utterly regardless of the harm to our national merchant marine in your effort to create a situation to benefit your brewery."

He said that the Kaiser's closest friend in America, and that your family for many years has maintained a close connection with your action in any event will not dispense your German sympathies to a restored German merchant marine in a hurt to America's new merchant marine."

The message adds that a mahomedan woman saved three of the children, who were returned to Samsun and handed over to the care of the United States committee there.

Damage to Morrissey Bridge More Serious Than First Thought.

Call Soon for Tenders for a New Musquash Bridge—Will be of Steel and Concrete and Substructure will Require Three Months.

The damage done to the Morrissey bridge at Newcastle when it was rammed by the C. G. M. M. liner Canadian Squatter is more serious than was at first thought, so Hon. P. J. Veniot, provincial minister of public works said today. Mr. Veniot spoke last evening at Greenwich in behalf of J. D. McKenna, government candidate in Kings in next Saturday's by-election in Hanston and another in Norton on Thursday evening.

Regarding the bridge he said that experts built the sub-structure were carrying out an examination and Captain L. A. Deners, Dominion wreck commissioner, has started an investigation into the collision. It was hoped to get the river clear for navigation soon, he said. Mr. Veniot proposes to visit the scene on Friday.

A. R. Wetmore, chief bridge engineer, is in the city on his way to Musquash to complete the survey of the site for the new bridge near the hydro-electric dam-site will be used.

The year's appropriation of $800,000 for permanent bridges, Mr. Veniot said, was pretty well divided amongst the counties of the province.

OBJECTION TO REGULATIONS RE THE PENSIONS

Ottawa, June 14—(By Canadian Press)—Approximately thirty per cent. of the ex-soldiers now in receipt of pensions are adversely affected while many others desiring of pensions are ineligible by regulations recently promulgated by the War Department. The former legionaries of D'Annunzio, legionaries for Canada, according to a statement submitted by C. G. MacNeil, Dominion secretary of the G. W. V., to the special parliamentary committee on pensions, insurance and re-employment, do not lend their sanction to the new regulations which they consider an infringement of contract with Canadian veterans.

The new pension regulations have to do with pre-employment disabilities aggravated by service, and the subsequent occurrences of a disabling condition which renders them active or passive service has caused.

SHORTY WINS THE COMMONS IN TRUE MURDER CASE

London, June 14—(Canadian Press)—The faint cheers which greeted Home Secretary Short when he rose to explain to the House of Commons yesterday his action in accepting the condemned man, Ronald True, and the loud cheers which greeted him when he finished his statement were evidence that he convinced the house of the entire propriety of his action and satisfied the members that he had taken the only possible course. The statement was admirably clear and lucid and disclosed the new fact that the judge who sentenced True for murder had written to the home minister drawing his attention to the medical evidence as regards True's insanity.

An attempt to move the adjournment after the delivery of the statement was a complete fiasco. The support of forty members is necessary and Stanley Jones (Liberal) who was responsible for the attempt could muster only 28 supporters, mainly Laborites.

Drive Reminiscent of Great 1914 Achievement

Nine Wins in Eleven Games With League Leaders—Giants Take the Fourth Straight Victory—Heavy Hitting in Some Games.

(Canadian Press) New York, June 14—The Boston Braves may not duplicate this year their remarkable achievement of 1914, when they fought their way from last place to the top, won the pennant and trimmed the Athletics four straight in the world's series, but right now they are staging a drive reminiscent of that feat and unsettling championship contenders right and left.

Hank Gowdy, hero of the 1914 championship, was a hero again yesterday, when he humbled the Pirates for the third time in four games. The result gave Boston a record of nine wins out of eleven games, and the three leading clubs of the league, including three out of four from St. Louis and three straight from the Giants.

The Giants, meanwhile, outgained the Reds for their fourth straight win, and had a margin of four games over the Pirates, with whom they will open an important series today.

The other first division clubs in the National League also fell by the wayside, Philadelphia's International League record, Singleton, leading St. Louis, while his mates clubbed out sixteen hits for fourteen runs off four Cardinals pitchers, and the Dodgers bowed before the Cubs 8 to 3.

Charley Robertson of the White Sox came close to duplicating his no hit feat when he held Boston to two safe blows, the first of which came in the eighth, and won 5 to 0.

Mauling Shawkey, Murray and O'Doul for six hits and a thirteen to four victory, the Browns obtained an even break in the series with the Yankees, George Sisler leading the attack with four hits, including two triples.

Cobb, with two doubles and a single, blazed the way for the Tigers' third triumph in four games with Washington, five to one, a home run by Harris saving the Senators from a shutout.

BANK ISSUES WRIT AGAINST SIR H. M. PELLATT

Toronto, June 14.—The Bank of Montreal is the plaintiff in a writ issued against Sir H. M. Pellatt in a claim for $47,522.45 at Osgoode Hall. The claim is based on a promissory note given to Merchants Bank, dated July 7, 1921, for $45,000, the balance being arrears interest.

The Bank of Montreal became possessor of the note on account of the failure of the Merchants Bank.

HE OBJECTS TO SALE OF LIQUOR ON U. S. SHIPS

Washington, June 14.—An attack on the shipping board for permitting the sale of liquor on U. S. ships was made in the house yesterday by Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts. Holding up what he said was a wine list from the steamship President Pierce, for, he added, by federal appropriation, Mr. Gallivan declared that under the Volstead law "we cannot get drunk on land, but we can at sea."

There was a roar from members as the Massachusetts representative read from the list to show that American whiskey could be bought aboard ship at twenty cents a drink, "and Jamaica rum—think of it—two bits."

BANKER PEER SAYS REASONS FOR HONOR ADEQUATE

London, June 14.—(Canadian Press)—Sir J. B. Robinson, a South African banker, who was recently made a peer, arrived in London yesterday on the S. S. Windsor Castle. He had received news of his elevation to the peerage by wireless.

Interviewed by Reuters' correspondent in reference to South African and English criticisms of his selection for special favor in the king's birthday honors list, the new peer declined to reply. He declared that the imperial government had offered him a peerage for adequate reasons which would soon be made known. He considered his accomplishments and work in the last fifty years a sufficient reply to his critics.

THE JUNE BRIDES

The brides and bridesmaids wore crepe and Leghorn hats to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Charles Gavin of Ottawa, assisted the groom. After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. O'Grady left on the steamer Governor Dingley for Boston, New York, Buffalo, Montreal, Ottawa and other cities. While in Ottawa they will visit the groom's parents. On their return they will reside at 84 Mecklenburg street. A great number of beautiful presents were received, including silver and cut glass.

Belva-Wilcox.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at four o'clock in St. Jude's Anglican church, West Side, when Miss Victoria May Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilcox, 188 City Line, was united in marriage with Christy Nelson Belva. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. A. Holmes, rector of the church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the young people. The bride looked very pretty in a bridal gown of white satin with pearl trimmings, bridal veil and a beautiful bouquet of roses. She carried a beautiful bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Wilcox, who looked charming in pink satin with georgette trimmings and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Alton Belva. Seward Trentowsky and William Bennett acted as ushers. The bride was given away by her father. During the ceremony, the nuptial music was played by the organist, Miss Isabel Stevens. Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Belva left for a trip to Boston, New York and North Carolina, and on their return will reside at Ingleside for the summer. Going away, the bride wore a suit of blue tulle with hat to match. A large number of beautiful gifts were received, including in which the bride and groom are held by a large circle of friends.

MacLennan-West.

A wedding of much interest took place at three o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's United Church, when Miss Lily Gordon West, daughter of the late Frank S. West, of this city, was united in marriage with Walter Chubb MacLennan, of Chatham, by Rev. Canon A. W. Daniel and Rev. Dr. W. H. Hibbard. The bride, who was unattended, wore a charming gown of white crepe with white crepe-de-chine hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan left for a motor trip to Halifax and will live in Chatham. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. MacLennan and his sister, Miss Cora MacLennan, who was unattended, were a charming party. The bride was given away by her uncle, Michael Heppner, 196 Paradise Row, and John Patrick Mooney. The bride wore a gown of white duchesse satin, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and white carnations. The groom wore a suit of blue tulle with hat to match, and carried pink carnations. Bernard Mooney, brother of the groom, was best man. Robert B. McDiade and Hugh MacDonald as ushers. During the service Miss Grace Walsh presided at the organ very acceptably. After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney left on the Boston boat for a trip to New York. Going away, the bride wore a handsome suit of lawn tricot with henna trimmings and a seal scarf.

Mooney-Lawlor.

At half-past six o'clock this morning, in high church, Right Rev. J. J. Walsh, V. G., united in marriage Miss Evelyn Margaret Lawlor, daughter of the late James Lawlor, 196 Paradise Row, and John Patrick Mooney. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Michael Heppner, 196 Paradise Row, and John Patrick Mooney. The bride wore a gown of white duchesse satin, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and white carnations. The groom wore a suit of blue tulle with hat to match, and carried pink carnations. Bernard Mooney, brother of the groom, was best man. Robert B. McDiade and Hugh MacDonald as ushers. During the service Miss Grace Walsh presided at the organ very acceptably. After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Mooney left on the Boston boat for a trip to New York. Going away, the bride wore a handsome suit of lawn tricot with henna trimmings and a seal scarf.

Barwell-Gilbert.

The Episcopal church in Maugeville was the scene of a very pretty wedding the people of the community into harmony with the people of Sylvania. The Golden Rule Sales Day was our first step. It has proved a success from the start, and grows more and more attractive with each month.

The next step was to create a market for chickens and eggs. The merchants now will buy all that is brought in on Sales Days.

The third step has been the establishment of a sweet potato house, which has been organized and will be ready for business fall.

The next step will be the establishment of a cranberry or milk station to give the farmers a market for their dairy products.

The results obtained in this community, he said, are typical of those enjoyed by other towns.

So far as his railroad is concerned, he felt that the money and effort devoted to the plan had been remarkably well invested, for it had developed good will for the road while also materially increasing the business of the towns which the road serves. Actual check-ups have demonstrated that the operation increases the business of the railroad at the towns adopting the plan, as well as creating good will for the town.

DRUNKEN SPOTTERS FAIL TO SUBSTANTIATE CASES

St. Catharines, Ont., June 13.—Out of eight cases launched by Arthur Ward and Edward Blundell, O. T. A. spotters, three have been dismissed. Magistrate Campbell has reserved judgment in one, and argument by counsel has been left over in four others. Blundell, on the stand, admitted being intoxicated. Most of the charges were against local foreigners, but thus far not a conviction has been registered. Evidence of John W. Gordis was to the effect that both Blundell and Ward had been under the influence of liquor four or five times while they stayed at his place during their visit here a month ago.

Grant-Moore.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at seven o'clock in the Douglas Avenue Christian Church, when the pastor, Rev. J. Charles B. Appel, united in marriage Miss Jean May Moore of this city, to James Arthur Grant, of St. Andrews. The church, which was prettily decorated with quantities of white flowers, was filled to overflowing with friends of the contracting parties. As the bride entered the church in the arm of her brother-in-law, Arthur L. Roberts, who gave her away, the organist, Mrs. Lesley Moore, played a beautiful and charming march and at the close of the ceremony she played the wedding march with great skill. She also played soft music throughout the ceremony. Miss Alberta Roberts and Charles Tupley were witnesses. The bride was charmingly gowned in a navy blue suit, with black flower, trimmed hat and "squire" scarf and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweetheart roses and sweetpeas. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on the Boston train for Montreal, where they will reside in Fredericton, where the groom is laboratory inspector. Among the numerous and beautiful gifts which were received was a check for $100 from the employees of the Paterson Printing Company, and a beautiful etching clock, and a substantial check from that firm, of which the bride was a valued member of the office staff; and a set of cut glass from the New Froemua Publishing Company.

VOTES TO REMOVE PAINTING.

Massachusetts Senate Passes Bill on Picture Offensive to Jews.

Boston, Mass., June 13.—After extended discussion the Senate followed the action of the house and passed the bill calling for the removal of John Singer Sargent's painting, "The Synagogue" from the Boston Public Library.

The measure as passed by the Senate, however, contained an amendment which provides that the cost shall be paid from the Treasury of the Commonwealth.

The measure as passed by the Senate, however, contained an amendment which provides that the cost shall be paid from the Treasury of the Commonwealth.

Jews objected to the Sargent painting on the ground that it casts a reflection on the race, although Sargent had declared that such was not intended.

Rising to thank the members of the House for their vote on the bill, Representative Coleman Silbert, himself a Jew, took occasion to say Simon Swig, head of the Tremont Trust Company, closed by the bank commissioner, in bitter terms. Swig, a Jew, was branded by Silbert as an "arch criminal, a renegade, a menace to civilization and to Americanism." He accused Swig of "prostituting his religious faith for selfish purposes" and charged that he tried to defeat the measure for the removal of the painting from the library.

The constitutionality of the bill has been questioned and the Massachusetts Supreme Court has been asked to render a ruling.

THE VOTE AT OTTAWA.

The votes taken in the House of Commons at Ottawa at an early hour this morning demonstrated two things. The first was that the Progressives have no intention of playing the game of the Conservatives, and the second is that tariff revision downward has not gone far enough to satisfy the Progressives. They want a further reduction, but will bide their time rather than join forces with the Conservatives to defeat the Liberal government. We shall probably hear no more during the present session about another general election. The debate which closed this morning had aroused very keen interest. The Fielding budget has now been endorsed and the house will no doubt speed up the work of the remainder of the session. The members will not be eager to spend the hot months at the capital, and there are no contentious matters of great importance to be considered. This close vote on the budget will no doubt have the effect of causing the government during recess to go more thoroughly into the whole tariff question with a view to meeting the wishes of the country as represented by Liberal and Progressive members, who are not so far apart regarding that issue.

THE NEED IS PROVEN.

St. John is without enough high school accommodation for all the students who will seek admission. If we had a vocational high school it would do two things: In the first place it would relieve the pressure on the classical high school. In the second it would ensure the continued attendance at high school of very many boys and girls who drop out of school after the eighth grade because the kind of high school training they need is not available. Many who take the first grade, or even the second grade in high school do not go any further, because they are not going on into the professions. What ninety per cent of pupils need is a certain amount of pre-vocational training, and they are not getting it. Our whole educational system favors the youth who wants a complete classical course, and the percentage of such is so utterly small as to make it a cause for amazement that we go on neglecting the vast majority who need something else and are denied it. The vocational survey now being made should be followed by such action as will at least place St. John on a par with an Ontario town of ten thousand people. We have trifled with this matter year after year. There is now a vocational committee for the city, and both federal and provincial grants are available. The present year should witness a real forward movement in the interests of education in St. John.

THE WAR MEMORIAL.

The Times regrets to have conveyed a wrong impression yesterday in regard to the war memorial committee and the city council. At the first general meeting, with Com. Bullock in the chair, a committee was appointed to form a larger general committee. It appointed among others the mayor and commissioners. At the last meeting a smaller working committee was struck, and of this Commissioner Bullock is a member. The hope is that all the money needed may be raised by popular subscription, and the city council will be asked to cooperate in securing the desired site for the monument in King Square, while it will also be fully represented on the general committee. This is as it should be, since the most hearty combined effort is necessary to ensure a monument that will be a lasting and worthy tribute to those who gave their lives for Canada. Whatever form the monument takes every citizen will want to feel that he or she had some part in its erection since all have suffered and all will hold in life-long remembrance the courage and devotion of those who sleep in Flanders Fields.

Halifax Chronicle—Senator Simmons of North Carolina, terms the emergency tariff an awful example of protectionism run mad. Senator Underwood wants the freest possible trade with Canada, stating:—"Canadians are our brothers in kin. Only recently they have been our brothers in arms. No country on this globe made greater sacrifice for the cause of the Allies than did Canadian soldiers." They are not all devotees of high protectionism across the boundary.

The United States government is still letting the coal strike run its course. Apparently there is still enough coal in sight to allay popular fear of a grave shortage next winter, provided the strike does not last till fall. The prospects of an early settlement, however, do not appear to be very bright.

Montreal Gazette.—It may be said of David Lloyd George what Shakespeare makes the Archbishop of Canterbury say to King Henry V.—"Turn him to any cause of policy, The Gordian knot of it he will unloose, Familiar as his garter."

THE LABOR BUREAU.

One of the advantages to be derived from a branch of the Dominion employment service in St. John is that it would link the city up with all other centres where such labor bureaus exist, and enable St. John men to take advantage of openings for work elsewhere. This is clearly shown in the following extract from the last issue of Employment, the bulletin of the Employment Service of Canada, and it shows also how unfounded were some of the objections made when an attempt was made last winter to get a branch of the service here— "Of the 21,778 placements in regular employment by the offices of the Employment Service during the month of April, 1922, 12,711 involved the transportation of labor to points outside the immediate locality of the offices at which the applicants were registered. The Employment Service reduced transportation rate was granted to 9,044 of these latter, 1,815 of whom were traveling to points within the same province as the despatching office, and 1,729 to stations in other provinces. Of the 9,044 workers to whom the Employment Service reduced rate was granted, 1,892 were transported by the Canadian National Grand Trunk Railways and 1,688 by the Canadian Pacific Railway, one by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and twenty-six by the Pacific Great Eastern Railway."

TOURISTS WANT HOTELS.

The Boston Herald tells the people of New Brunswick they must provide better hotel accommodation if they expect tourists to come more than once and tell their friends to come. The Herald, in a section devoted to summer resorts pictures the beauties of the bridges at St. John and a river scene on the Miramichi, and with them a long article on the charms of New Brunswick. We quote one paragraph— "New Brunswick takes first rank among the eastern provinces of Canada for the beauty of its scenery, the healthfulness of its climate, the abundance of its game and the many rare opportunities it opens up to the seeker after health and pleasure. Nature has richly dowered this beautiful province, making it a charming summer playground—an ideal land for recreation."

The rest of the article is not less flattering, and it goes into particulars as to the most desirable resorts; but then goes on to say— "The only suggestion that we have to make in regard to New Brunswick is that there should be a much larger number of first-class hotels. It is true that there is a number of excellent hotels, but there should be a great many more to accommodate the hosts of tourists that now visit the province annually. The people of the United States have been brought up to appreciate the value of good hotels and if they once visit a place and find that they cannot receive the same accommodations as they can at home, they are not likely to visit a second time. New Brunswick has the beauty and the charm of an ideal recreation land, but until her hotel men wake up and build more hotels and improve many of their old ones they can never hope to attract tourists such as are now flocking to other sections of Canada."

Here is a pointed suggestion for the Tourist Association and Boards of Trade, the hotel men and all who are interested in getting a larger tourist traffic. We are frankly told where we fall short, and what must be done to ensure a large and increasing volume of tourist travel. The subject has been discussed over and over again without any practical result. Why not provide one or two such hotels as are required, with other essentials, and go after business in a business-like way? Where is there a finer location for a tourist hotel than on the St. John river?

Premier Lloyd George has turned on other corner. He is the constant object of virulent attacks by his political opponents, but weathers each storm with unvarying success. The United Kingdom, the Empire and Europe at large still need the services of this remarkable man, with his marvelous gift of leadership.

The campaign in behalf of Mr. McKenna in Kings county is being carried on with a vigor that ought to ensure victory. The government has a good candidate and a good record, and the opposition cannot get away from its unsavory past.

HIDDEN.
Like some flower in woodland covert
Breathing unthought its faint perfume,
To heaven alone its veined petals showing,
Through fallen leaves that masks its bloom;

Go in my heart there dwells a love unspoken,
A trust unthought, a wish unaid;
Hidden from all save heaven alone, the token
Of love that lives where hope is dead.
—Walter Lears.

LAKELAND.
Lo, now before my ravished eyes,
Unfolds the radiant paradise,
Clothed with the shadows and the gleams,
And glances of the poet's dreams.

A lovely chain without a break,
Lakes softly winding into lakes,
Above whose waters calmly broods
The spirit of their guardian woods.

The placid, deep, unaltered blue,
Of heaven's own ethereal hue,
Permeates that mirror of their breast,
And not a ripple mars their rest.

O tell me, where do mortal eyes,
Look on a fairer paradise,
Or where has beauty built a shrine
More lovely to her Lovelive?

—J. C. M. Duncan.

LIGHTER VEIN.
Irony of Fate,
"Ah," sighed the serious-faced passenger,
"How little we know of the future and what it has in store for us."
"That's true," his seat-mate responded.

"Little did I think when some thirty years ago I carved my initials on the desk in the old country school house, that some day grow up and fall to become famous."—Boston Transcript.

Honest.
"Well, I'll say he's honest."
"Why?"
"Asked me to go home to dinner with him, called up his wife and told her he was bringing me along, and then admitted that she was sore about it."—Detroit Free Press.

Adam Heard It.
The teacher was exasperated at the inattention of her class. The lesson had been so long and tedious, and her own patience had been mentioned.

"Now, then," asked the teacher, impatiently, "from what was the first talking machine made?"
"After a lengthy silence a voice from the back exclaimed: "Please, miss, a rib!"

LLOYD GEORGE GREATEST.
"Where could we find a man to replace him?" queried the Marquis of Northampton when asked his opinion of Premier Lloyd George. The marquis who is the sixth of his line arrived in Vancouver on Monday afternoon from the Orient on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Asia." With his bride he will make a leisurely journey across Canada, en route to England, stopping at Lake Louise, Banff, and other points of interest. Agriculture in England is rapidly developing into a highly specialized industry, he said, and the most modern technical appliances. The day of the landlord and tenant and of the small farmer is passing. Lord Northampton and his wife are returning after an extended honeymoon which has taken them over half the world, including South Sea Islands and the Far East. That he is by no means content to enjoy in luxurious ease the wealth he inherited from his father, but realizes his obligations to the state, is evident from the study he has made of needs of modern agriculture and his methods of handling his own affairs.

NEW FORM OF PITCH.

At the Imperial College of Science, London, a demonstration was given by Mr. F. C. Dyche-Teague, B.Sc., F. I. C., of a new form of pitch which has been patented by a British firm under the name of "collocite." It was shown that ordinary hand-made pitch, in the process, is converted at small cost into a product which, with an equal part of water, was highly fluid. The treated pitch was shown to have very great penetrative and covering power and was, in fact, in ideal condition for use with either asbestos or cellulose fibre prior to the felling of the latter on a box-board or similar paper-making machine. The material has been produced on a commercial scale and samples cut from twelve feet by three feet sheets were passed round at the meeting. It is tough and hard and strongly resembles vulcanite. When struck with a hammer it gives a clear ringing sound and it can be punched, hammered and sawn without any tendency to crack. It is said that corrugated sheets can be produced at a price competitive with corrugated iron and that the material will not warp or sag when exposed to the hottest sun. A test showed that a 3-16th in. sheet could support 600 lbs. in the centre of a three-foot span.

THE HAPPY VILLAGE.

Here is a vignette of English village life by Maurice Hewlett in The London Times— "Not far from me there lives a man with wife and child in a tenement not much better than a cowshed. It is exactly two rooms of a wooden building, with no other conveniences of any kind, and the subject has been discussed over and over again without any practical result. Why not provide one or two such hotels as are required, with other essentials, and go after business in a business-like way? Where is there a finer location for a tourist hotel than on the St. John river?"

"If one dared one would have the place condemned, if it did that would not condemn to the workhouse those who shelter there. Yet I have known these poor things envied. At a certain hour of the afternoon the wife comes to her open door, the child in her arms. After five minutes' watching, she sets the little creature down to tatter up the road, down which comes a man, homing from his work. He, too, is on the look-out, and stands to admit. Then, when they meet, he picks up the baby, sets it on his shoulder, and back they go together to mother at the door. I have known that pair envied, I say, by the childless, by the unhappy mated, and by those whose days for children are over and done."

It looks as though there would be some trouble in disposing of all the high school pupils in the available accommodation next year, as 488 will write the High School entrance examinations which begin on June 19. Last year the number of pupils who entered their names as candidates to write the high school entrance examinations was 368.

The Salvation Army is planning on bringing to Canada over 17,000 women, youths and children from the British Isles. It is planned on bringing approximately 10,000 women for domestic work, 2,500 widows with families and the remaining number boys around fifteen years of age. The work will be extended over five or six years.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.

(Montreal Gazette.)

A large part of the prosperity of Czecho-Slovakia is due to the far-sighted policy of President Masaryk and his colleagues. Czecho-Slovakia is an "island" country, and therefore to a great extent she is dependent upon her neighbors for the security and maintenance of good relationships for her prosperity in the future. Czecho-Slovakia is doing wonderful things, but she is like the man who moves into the new house. Everything is not settled down into ship-shape and there are still much of the scaffolding and building materials lying about, but this condition is merely temporary. She, it can be said, has made more development than any of her sister republics. Mr. Masaryk has shown wonderful vision and resource, and he has realized the great importance of the way through that economic and political salvation lies not in reversion to peaceful theorization, but in hard work and solid co-operation. Czecho-Slovakia has measured swords with the Bolsheviks. She has known what adversity is. She has, however, by her people keeping rational ideals before them and working together for the common good of the country, been able to weather all storms and get the ship of state safely steered to smooth waters.

In many ways has Czecho-Slovakia set a high example. Particularly in the matter of education she has developed, and where other nations have thought only of economic Czecho-Slovakia has blossomed out and made education one of the first charges on national resources. The daughter of the president is taking a very sensible and prominent part in this department, and the new women societies she has been able to found in Czecho-Slovakia are all a tribute to progress and development. New schools have sprung up like mushrooms all over the country, and by this country the president and government have shown perceptibly of a high order. During Masaryk's term of office many difficulties to contend with, but the light is beginning to appear at the end of the tunnel. Czecho-Slovakia has had many shining examples of how successful rehabilitation work may be carried to a satisfactory fruition.

LILLIAN RUSSELL.
(New York Evening Post.)

Forty-three years ago, almost to a day, an eighteen-year-old girl from Iowa, Hattie Leonard, made her first appearance on any stage in one of the many companies producing the pioneer works of Gilbert and Sullivan in this country, "Pinafore." The show lasted but a brief period, and she married and left the stage. One day the fall of great Tony Pastor heard her sing, engaged her for his vaudeville show down town. Her name was changed to Lillian Russell, and within a week New York was flocking to Pastor's to hear her sing. Her voice was clear, sweet, and true, and she couldn't be any possibly sing a false note. Her successor is yet to come.

DON'T BE A KILL-JOY.
Apropos of the wholesale destruction of forest areas already this year by small campers and other users of the woods, the Canadian Forestry Association puts this query to every Canadian lover of outdoors— "Horse couldn't drag you to a hunting trip in a treeless wilderness; a fishing trip in a treeless stream; or camping in a treeless valley. Isn't it about time that the call of the Outdoors is the call of Trees? The hopelessly few Nature means little to any man except when associated with living trees. Last summer hundreds of parties of campers struck an unfair blow at the rights and privileges of fellow-campers, fellow-sportsmen and nature-lovers, by starting at least 2,500 damaging forest fires. Camp fires that were not put out, and more thoughtlessly and carelessly thrown on the inflammable 'floor' of the woods—these personal acts killed the beauty, fishing and hunting in many thousands of square miles of Canadian forest."

Don't be a kill-joy. The forest is made for the fellow who follows after you. Enjoy the woods! There's nothing to fear except fire. And mighty few fires except those you start. Remember, all big fires start as little ones. One minute's care may save a century of waiting.

EFFECTS OF PROHIBITION.
(Toronto Globe.)

The Saskatchewan Daily Star declares to be "absolutely without foundation" the charge of Bishop Harding, head of the Anglican Diocese of Qu'Appelle, that prohibition is responsible for increasing crime and delinquency. It recently published figures for Saskatchewan showing that the number of infractions of the liquor law has been steadily decreasing. As to the claim that the drug traffic increases under prohibition The Star says: "In the past year, over the whole of Canada, there were 833 convictions on charges initiated by the federal authorities under the Opium and Narcotic Drugs Act. British Columbia reported 315. Quebec reported 297, of which all the twenty-one were in the city of Montreal, which is the 'wettest' point in Canada. Ontario, a province larger than the province of Quebec, and with nearly twice as many people, reported only sixty-six all told. Of the 833 for the whole Dominion, 592 were reported from the two west provinces, and only 288 from all the rest of Canada."

As to the effect of prohibition in Toronto, Mrs. P. C. Ward gave some instructive figures at the annual meeting of the Toronto District W. C. T. U. In 1914 there were registered 14,247 cases of drunkenness, and in 1921 there were 4,727. In 1914, 2,734 cases of disorderly conduct were recorded, and in 1921, 1,084. The vagrancy cases in 1914 numbered 18,998, and in 1921 there were 6,664. "Not even the Moderation League will pretend," said Mrs. Ward, "that the reduction of 64 per cent in the number of cases of drunkenness, disorderliness and vagrancy, as against an increase of 11 per cent in the population, is not in itself related to the operation of the Ontario Temperance Act."

Does It Pay? To Paint or Repair

This is the question you have to face every now and then: Does it pay to allow your buildings to become decayed and delapidated through lack of paint, or is it cheaper to give them a coat of paint every four or five years, which will keep them practically intact and beautiful? The answer you already know. The oftener you paint the less paint is required and the more satisfying are the results. To protect your property completely from deterioration, use

VICTORIAN ORDER

Some Matters from Report of the Annual Meeting Last Week in Ottawa.

At the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Ottawa, last week, at which C. A. McGrath was chosen president, the chief superintendent, Mrs. J. Charlotte Hanington, was empowered to approach the branch of Nursing Education of the Canadian Association of Trained Nurses, meeting in Edmonton on June 18, with a proposal that it should be optional with nurses in training during the last half of their final year to take Victorian Order work with a view later to post-graduate university course in public health, which would prepare them to enter the order.

The finances permitting, it was decided to extend the principle of giving scholarships to graduate nurses for post-graduate courses in public health, the nurse undertaking to serve with the order for a subsequent period. It was suggested that fifty such scholarships should be given this year. Last year twenty-eight nurses were given $400 scholarships each.

It was decided to urge nurses to take sick benefit policies.

"Our work is on the very human side and we walk the humble ways of life," said Mrs. Hanington. In this remark, Mrs. Hanington touched the hearts of the entire order in Canada, which carries on so great a nursing service from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

On a resolution of Mrs. J. B. Fraser, seconded by Gregor Barclay, of Montreal, organization work in the order will be extended this resolution for a forward movement being unanimously adopted.

All forms of activity in this nursing order have been vastly increased especially the pre-natal child welfare work and the school nursing. The need for greater inspection was emphasized and the lack of nurses deplored.

Regarding the finances Mrs. Hanington in her report gave the following figures:

"The total local revenue from all sources from the service in 1921 was $388,788.62. The total amount raised and spent in the last five years is the substantial sum of $1,122,460.81, of which $692,428.00 was collected in fees.

"The total number of visits paid is more than 208,768. This is an increase of 95,246 over the previous year and a total of 1,983,397 during the last five years.

The marked increase of the pre-natal visits is very encouraging, they number 29,228, which is an increase of 8,219 in the last five years, and nearly three and one-half times as many as five years ago.

"We cared for 13,165 maternity cases, an increase of 4,989 over the previous year. We cannot give the percentage of births cared for by the Victorian Order on the day in question, or in the different provinces, owing to the lack of complete birth registration.

"The child welfare visits stand at 22,492, which is 7,366 more than the year before, and a total of 459,663 child welfare visits for the last five years, which should be a valuable contribution to Public Health."

Among others present at this morning's session were Senator W. H. Thorpe of St. John, N. B.; C. E. Bentley of Yarmouth, N. S.

FLOOD THE CITY WITH LIQUORS

New York Prohibition Men Can't Trap Bootleggers and Prices Fall Considerably—How Supplies are Landed.

New York, June 14—Apparently satisfied that the government's plans for trapping liquor smugglers are not as efficacious as they were led to believe from the announcement from prohibition headquarters of the measures being taken to prevent liquor smuggling from across the Canadian border and from Cuba and the Bahamas bootleggers are again making vigorous efforts to land liquors in this vicinity. Reports to the prohibition officials and the police indicate that the bootleggers continue to be successful in their smuggling.

One day last week it was reported that six vessels with cargoes of liquors were just outside the three-mile limit. The Hahn of the "prohibition navy" is commander of the coast in search of run-runners. This boat is the only one that is going patrol duty in this vicinity. It was said, and the run-runners find it easy to run in under cover of darkness, especially if there is fog.

It was reported that one run-runner got in a few days ago with 6,000 cases of liquor, unloaded and headed back for the Bahamas before the prohibition officials learned that the vessel had been here. Ever since then they have kept up a constant search for the smuggled liquor, but have been unable to locate it.

Almost every night now some liquor is being delivered in small boats to points along the river fronts in this vicinity. Everything is so arranged that the small boats which in many instances bring in the liquors from larger craft outside the three-mile limit are met right on the spot at a point agreed upon for landing the cargo by motor trucks. These trucks are loaded and are off to some saloon or garage. Garages are now being used for the temporary storage of liquors for the department and restaurant owners. Small quantities are then taken out from time to time as needed.

When the large craft come into port direct from the source of the cargo of liquors, usually the Bahamas Islands, they are generally met by motor boats. These smaller boats also are rapidly filled with burlap bags containing liquors, and then the boats chug away to some obscure place along the waterfronts, where they are unloaded. There are thousands of places on the waterfronts of the city where such boats can land liquor cargoes with little likelihood of detection.

Owners of small boats frequently made large sums of money for the use of the craft for only a few hours. Recently one bootlegger offered the owner of a launch $200 for the use of his boat for only a few hours. The owner refused but the bootlegger asked him to place a value on his boat. The value was placed by the owner at $500, and it is presumed that the deal was made.

The resumption of smuggling operations on a large scale, coupled with the hot weather, has caused a slump in liquor prices. Scotch can be had now for 82¢ a case, whereas a week ago the price was $1.25. The price of whisky, notwithstanding the slump in the wholesale prices the retail price remains at from 50 cents to $1.40 a bottle, depending upon the character of the place. The general price is 75 cents.

Beer can be had in almost every saloon and in many places it is on draught. Ale also is procurable in many saloons at 75 cents a bottle. The beer on draught is sold at 25 cents a stein; bottled beer is 50 cents a bottle in most places. The biggest wine business is said to be done direct with the consumer by the winery. Deliveries are made direct to the office or apartment of the consumer. One tinsmith delivered fifteen or twenty gallons of wine in an office building on Broadway within a few blocks from prohibition headquarters one day last week.

Crowell, the latter also conducting the prayer and conference meetings. We were favored recently with a call from Rev. G. M. Camp, pastor at Tewksbury, Mass., at suburb of Lowell. Mr. Camp was locating his family at Morna, near Grand Bay, N. B., for the summer, and expects to join them later. He has been in his present pastorate five years and seems to be fully alive to Baptist work in New England.

We recently reported that Rev. I. B. Colwell had resigned the pastorate of the Hopewell church. At a large and finely representative meeting of the church held at Hopewell Hill, Mr. Colwell was asked to reconsider his resignation. On July 31, Mr. Colwell completes four years and three months in his second pastorate of this field. The earlier report is to the effect that Mr. Colwell makes his resignation final.

A note from Rev. H. Y. Corey, dated the 7th inst., announces the arrival of himself and Mrs. Corey at Tennant's Harbor, Me., on the 6th inst. Their arrival in the longland is clouded by sorrow, as Mrs. Corey's mother passed away on the day before their arrival and was buried the day following their arrival. Thus the fond hope of mother and daughter meeting on this side was thwarted. We are sure we but voice the sentiment of the members of our churches in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Corey their heartfelt sympathy in this time of their sorrow.

How to Beautify Your Complexion

That clever little actress, Viola Dana, who is recognized as an authority on beauty topics, says: "The best and quickest way to obtain a beautiful rosy-white complexion is to cleanse the skin at night when retiring with Liska cold cream. DO YOUR BOWELS MOVE REGULARLY, OR DO THEY BECOME CONSTIPATED

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material convenience may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When the system is thus clogged, the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the body system by being absorbed into the blood, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or prostrating piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

PAVIC IN AUSTRIA

Vienna, June 14.—The enormous increase in the prices of necessities has resulted from the war in the value of the kronen. A loaf, which pre-war times cost half a kronen, now costs 1.00 kronen. The situation is considered precarious, but there are hopes that a quick grant of extensive credits by the powers will save Austria from a breakdown.

SAYS ANTS AND NATIVES CURSED OF RHODESIA

You often hear people here talking of the curse of the country, writes G. C. Desmond from Choma, Northern Rhodesia, in South Africa, to the London Daily News. It is not always of the same course, but always I think of one of two—the natives do all our work for us very cheaply, and considering the cheapness, exceedingly well. They work harder for us than for themselves, for a less reward than such toll would yield to themselves. If they ceased to exist we should cease to exist also in the economic if not in the vital sense.

The Carleton College Band played a programme and during the course of the evening about 800 people listened the fair.

LLOYD GEORGE WINS BY VOTE OF 205-115

London, June 13.—Premier Lloyd George, who has resisted another powerful attack in the house of commons today when a proposal to reduce the budget deficit by 205 to 115 million was rejected by 205 to 115 million. The majority was considerably smaller than customarily and occasioned shouts of "resign."

DO YOUR BOWELS MOVE REGULARLY, OR DO THEY BECOME CONSTIPATED

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material convenience may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When the system is thus clogged, the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the body system by being absorbed into the blood, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or prostrating piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

"MORON" NAME NOW GIVEN THEM

Those on the Border Line of Mental Deficiency

Estimated They Number 45,000 in New York State—Look on Schools as Sorting Place—Reports of Charities Association.

(Associated Press.) New York, June 12.—The word "moron," which criminologists as well as newspaper headline writers frequently use to designate a person of morbidly criminal tendencies, is defined in a bulletin issued by the State Charities Aid Association.

"Moron," they say, comes from the Greek "moros," meaning "fool." And the word, as applied by psychiatrists and mental specialists, means just that—"fool."

It is not applied to insane persons, to lunatics, imbeciles or idiots, but to the considerable percentage of the population whose limited reasoning power places them on the great border-line of mental deficiency.

Before the word "moron" came into general use such persons were called "defectives." They were those who, left to shift for themselves, usually became "inabilities to society."

Figuring from statistics gathered by many state boards the state association estimates that there are 45,000 mental defectives—morons—in New York state today. This would indicate, says the report, that one person in every 250 is mentally deficient and incapable of passing sound judgments as to what is right or wrong.

Of this number, 5,200 are in state institutions; 500 are in colonies attached to such institutions; and 7,000 are enrolled in special classes in public schools. This leaves some 31,000 without any special supervision—at large in all walks of life.

Describing the defective, the charities association says: "He is often unable to adjust himself to permanent employment and is habitually changing his job. He is tremendously responsive to suggestion and is thus peculiarly susceptible to the criminal influence of others."

"Nearly all the attempts at assassination of prominent men in recent years and of criminal assaults with a sexual phase have been the work of mental defectives. A moron killed President McKinley and another tried to kill Roosevelt. A moron tried to kill Mayor Mitchell and shoot Corporation Counsel Fok. Mayor Cuyler was shot by another defective."

There is a distinct difference between mental deficiency and insanity. It is pointed out. They have little in common. Insanity is a mental disease which is curable in at least 20 per cent of cases and preventable in 40 per cent.

A moron or mental defective is a person who definitely lacks a capacity. The condition usually is inherited and cannot be cured, for, say the psychiatrists, "science cannot add what nature has omitted." In other words, an adult moron is just a man or woman with the brain of a child.

NEW FORCE WORKS TO SETTLE CHINA

Commerce and Educational Bodies Help Stabilize the Republic—Day of War Lords Gone.

(Special Despatch to N. Y. Evening Post.)

Washington, June 7.—David Willard Lyon, American Y. M. C. A. secretary in China, prepared for the Federal Council of Churches, clear exposition of the contending forces in China. He concludes: "The Chinese are well able to work out their own political salvation, and in doing so should not be hampered by interference from outside. There is now at work in China a new force, the potency of which is little appreciated in the west. This force is represented in the combined influence of the Chambers of Commerce in the principal cities and of the various provincial educational associations. A united conference of these organizations brought into being the machinery which made possible the financial pledges which China made at the Washington conference."

"It is to these same organizations that the world may well look for a gradual but certain stabilization of political and economic conditions. The outlook is brighter now than at any time since the republic was born. "The apparent ascendancy of Gen. Wu Peifu is probably acceptable to the republican patriots, for he has, as a rule, commanded their confidence. If he proves as sincere in his motives as he is widely believed to be, he will have the loyal following of a people grateful for rescue from a desperate situation into which the rivalries of military governors had brought them."

"Yet the new national government was representative in a sense that a few progressive men in each province, in their new-found and undefined liberty of franchise, elected first a provisional and then a so-called permanent national parliament. The provisional parliament elected the pioneer promoter of the republic, Dr. Sun Yat-sen, as its provisional president. Dr. Sun, conscious of his inexperience in matters of state, resigned in favor of a man who had won the applause of foreign nations during the Boxer war, and later as prime minister in the now defunct Manchurian government, Yuan Shih-kai, the outstanding man of power of that day.

All promised well at the outset. A permanent parliament was chosen and addressed itself to the making of a constitution. But the rub came when the powers of the president were being defined. Yuan was not willing to be rubber stamped or even a mere executive, and as he had the control of the army, he was in a position to carry his point. This he finally did by dissolving parliament, not long after which he tried the experiment of having himself nominated as emperor. But when he realized the antagonism of an influential section of the people to such a course he gracefully declined the honor which his own henchmen offered him. Shortly after this he died, and was succeeded by his vice-president, Li Yuan-hing, a man beloved by republican patriots. President Li's friends urged him to reconvene parliament. The military leaders opposed such a course in order to keep the power more fully in their own hands. Disfranchisement and disarmed military governor dawned. To put it more plainly, China was now without a government, for there was no parliament and no president.

"Members of the dissolved parliament felt this to be their opportunity to re-establish their rights by choosing a chief executive. But certain military leaders, realizing the advantage that would accrue to themselves were they to appoint the new president, hastened to act on this impulse by electing Feng Kuo-chang to the post.

"Feng's administration lasted but a few months, and his successor, Hsu Shi-chang, the present incumbent, was chosen in the same way. In the meantime the disbanded parliament reconvened, choosing for safety's sake the city of Canton as its headquarters and electing Dr. Sun Yat-sen a second time to serve as president.

"The issue was thus sharply drawn. The Peking party, representing for the time being a superior strength of available military power, upheld its puppet as the actual president of the republic, while the Canton party, with as much ground for claiming to be the real representative of the people as the moral rights of the dissolved parliament, insisted on its appointee being the rightful president of China. Had there been no interference from outside these two rival parties would probably have quickly settled their differences, for the north did not have so great a natural advantage as to have been able to hold out indefinitely against the moral strength and growing military power of the south.

"Other parts of the world, however, were at this time absorbingly engrossed with the great war. Far Eastern affairs were not in the foreground of interest in western capitals. Under these circumstances it is hardly surprising that the party which succeeded in establishing itself in the traditional capital of China received the recognition of the powers, especially as this party appeared to possess the stability of a superior army.

"This recognition of the Peking government by the governments of the world gave it a decided advantage over the Canton government not only because of the prestige which recognition gave, but also because of the financial strength gained from certain revenues. In the administration of which the foreign powers were interested.

"At the same time Japan, with her pressing need for more room, more from and more coal, was not slow to seize her opportunity to cultivate the favor of the Peking group and when the right moment came to press certain demands which this group found it difficult to resist it was to keep in power. Thus there was built up a dominance of Japanese influence and a massing of soldiers in the north, both of which were destined to work for the undoing of the Peking government.

"The first blow fell on Japanese domination. It is not necessary here to retell the story of the wave of patriotism which swept the country in protest against the twenty-one demands and brought about the demotion of several Chinese officials of high rank who had proved traitors to their country. Nor is it needful to chronicle the succession of events which resulted in a recognition of some of China's rights at the recent Washington conference. It is enough to say that public opinion in China had at last become really aroused and made effective.

"The second blow has now fallen on the military clique, which is breaking up through the operation of forces it has itself created. Mutual rivalries among the various military governors, since they owe no allegiance to any higher power, were inevitable. But the country cannot remain divided. Even the military governors recognize this. It is therefore a fight to the finish between Gen. Chang Tso-lin and Gen. Wu-Pei-

Fu. The victor must unite the discordant elements. Each rival has promised to do so if he wins. The day of independent military governors is passing. "Some weeks ago Dr. Sun Yat-sen apparently thought Gen. Chang-Tso-lin would win, so linked himself to him, in the expectation, no doubt, that this would give the original parliament a chance for real resurrection. But Dr. Sun seems already to have repented his error of judgment."

PUTTING CASE FOR THESE PROVINCES

(Halifax Chronicle)

In an attempt to settle the debate on the budget in the House of Commons, Harold Putnam, member for Colchester, took occasion, yesterday, to express the widespread regret felt throughout the country that the Reciprocity Agreement of 1911 had not been accepted by Canada as well as by the United States. He dealt with the geographical difficulties which confront Canada in her trade with any other nation, and gave an eloquent and illuminating survey of the situation in this respect, which suggests the perennial plea of the Canadian verdict against Reciprocity in 1911.

Mr. Putnam stressed the fact that Canada is a difficult country to govern. Looking to the north, he pointed out, we have the plains of the eternal winter, towards which, as Mr. Putnam said, "Our Lady of the Snows" would rather smile in vain if she expected to find her true destiny or her true affinity there. In the West there are the Rocky Mountains, beautiful in their grandeur as an attraction to tourists, but, unfortunately, are almost insuperable difficulties to inter-provincial traffic. The situation in the east is equally difficult. Let us quote Mr. Putnam:

"Mr. Speaker, we look away to the east and we have the Great Ocean. But it so happens that the Atlantic coast of Canada is a very irregular coast, and it is immediately revealed by more regular Atlantic seaboard stretching at once to the south and coming soon to bays and harbours and great estuaries, names are on the lips of all the world, and which are so situated, climatically and otherwise, that the major part of the traffic of the ocean is directed through them. When the St. Lawrence is an ice-field, St. John and Halifax, instead of getting the share of the traffic which one might expect, have it abstracted from them and passed through the American ports. But Mr. Speaker, when we look to the south we may well exclaim: What a South it is! There is a nation easily conceded to be one of the very greatest nations of the earth. With them we have enjoyed for one hundred years the blessings of happy peace. It is a country stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a country whose people are largely of our own blood, of our own language, of our own traditions, of our own national ideals. If an impartial observer came to look the situation over, would he not say: You have your difficulties on your north and your west and your east; why as people of common sense are you not trading in a free and unhampered way with your great kinsman to the south?"

Mr. Putnam has put the case for freer trade with the United States very effectively and pertinently from the point of view of Canadians. The pity is that for base partisan reasons we allowed to slip from our grasp the golden opportunity offered to us in 1911. It may never recur again. We are paying dearly for an economic blunder as the result of a political crime.

Shocking Language

A huntsman called at the farmstead to settle for damage done by the hounds and found only the farmer's wife at home. "Has your good man made an examination yet?" he asked. "That he has, sir," replied Mrs. Hodge. "Rather a cursory examination, I suspect?"

"Oh, dreadful, sir! Such language I never heard—never!"

"And the dame held up her hands in horror as the huntsman withdrew. From London-Tit-Bits

HONOR COMES TO PROBATE JUDGE

In the case of the contested will of Charles Verin, before Judge H. O. McInerney in the probate court this morning, Daniel Mullin, K. C., began his argument for the contestants of the will. He will continue this afternoon. Before argument started, Mr. Mullin and J. F. Verin, who also appears in this case, arose to congratulate Judge McInerney upon his appointment as King's Counsel, and to express their appreciation of his receipt of this honor.

Judge McInerney, in replying, said that he felt himself unworthy of the honor, but appreciated it very much, especially in view of the fact that it had come unsolicited and without intimation before the arrival of the official notice this morning from the deputy provincial secretary, and also in view of the fact that the appointments were now made by the lieutenant-governor-in-council on the recommendation of the chief justice of the province and the chief justice of the King's Bench division of the supreme court.

FIRST HOUSE READY FOR THE NEW CURRENT

A salesman in one of the city stores reports an awakened interest in household electrical appliances. Yesterday a lady, who was buying requirements for a new home her husband is building, said that every fireplace had been wired in order to accommodate electric fires, and that the house was so wired that every electrical labor-saving device could be used. She further stated that it had been owing to the fact that St. John was to have cheaper light and power in the near future that the house had been fitted up in this manner. So far, this is the first new house reported to have been built in such a manner as to enable the occupants to take full advantage of the Musquash power, and the enthusiasm displayed by the lady mentioned, if shared by all citizens, bids fair for a successful future for St. John's civic owned power.

Just wheel the Tea-Cart right into the living-room, and everybody help themselves. No other gift for a bride will win such instant appreciation or provide such lasting pleasure as one of the Tea Carts which we are showing in Walnut or Mahogany. Several different designs to select from, and comparisons will prove that the values we offer are nothing short of remarkable.

No trouble to show them. Glad to have you inspect them.

LT. COL. HARRISON RESIGNS POST

Major Norman P. McLeod Now Commands the Artillery

Several Changes Follow, Including Capt. E. M. Slader, Capt. D. V. White and Lt. A. A. Dodge.

Captain J. J. Harris, armament officer for military districts 4 and 7, has been in the city in connection with a number of changes in the 3rd New Brunswick Heavy Brigade and the transferring of stores from the former officers to the new ones.

These changes were occasioned by the resignation of Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison, D.S.O., as officer commanding the brigade. Major Norman P. McLeod, M.C., has been appointed as commanding officer in Colonel Harrison's place. His position as O. C. of the 4th Siege Battery will be filled by Captain E. M. Slader, at present O. C. of the 10th Heavy Battery and Captain Slader's battery will be taken over by Captain D. V. White, of the 4th Siege Battery. Lieut. A. A. Dodge will become captain of the 4th Siege Battery.

Colonel Harrison said today that he was resigning because his work of reorganizing the brigade was finished and he had served for twenty-two years. He had only stayed on for the purpose of re-organization.

Colonel Harrison joined the militia in 1896 as a Lieutenant in the 8rd New Brunswick Regiment of the C. G. A. (now the 8rd N. B. Heavy Brigade) and has been connected with it up to the present. In 1914 he organized the Second Division Ammunition Column, took it overseas and was in command of it throughout the war. While in France he was awarded the Military Cross and the Distinguished Service Order.

On his return to St. John at the close of the war, Colonel Harrison was given command of his old regiment, the 8rd New Brunswick Heavy Brigade, consisting of three battalions and 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th Heavy Batteries. Last year Colonel Harrison was awarded the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal in recognition of his long and efficient service. He is the senior Lieutenant-colonel acting in this district. The brigade is in the best of health and efficiency with the batteries practically up to strength. Each battery is expected to be ready for the summer camp at Petawawa.

THE NEW COMMANDER

Major Norman P. McLeod, who has been appointed to Colonel Harrison's post as officer commanding the brigade, has also seen a good many years' service and was a member of the 8rd Regiment, C. G. A., before going overseas. His fighting career started in the South African war with the Field Artillery and he was promoted to the rank of Major. He was also in command of the 1st Heavy Brigade while in France. He was made adjutant of the 8rd Heavy Brigade and later made O. C. of the 10th Heavy Battery.

Captain E. M. Slader, who succeeds Major McLeod, went overseas with the first contingent as a sergeant-major with the 1st Heavy Brigade and won his commission in the field. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre and was promoted to captain. Returning to St. John he was made adjutant of the 8th Heavy Brigade while in France. Lieutenant A. A. Dodge is another long member of the brigade. He went overseas with the ammunition column under Colonel Harrison and was promoted to lieutenant. He was made adjutant of the 4th Siege Battery.

SOMEHOW SINGING

I would be always in the thick of life, Threading its mazes, sharing in its strife, Yet—somehow, singing!

Care shall not bend me down beneath its load, Fear shall not walk with me along the road— I will go singing!

As children, to make gay their frolic— Or, in the dark—to keep their courage— So I go—singing!

Not as one practiced in the singer's art, Not always singing with a happy heart, But—somehow, singing!

There may be some to listen for my voice; For those ones, it may be, will rejoice To hear me singing!

So, friends, companion me along the way, And, Love, hide with me till the end of day. To keep me singing!

When, at the road's end, shadows longer Into the last long shadow let me go, Still—somehow, singing!

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 26 RECEIVING CIRCUITS.

All ideas can be conveyed through the use of language and as there are many languages, an understanding of one or more enables a person to grasp ideas as they are rendered. Pictures and drawings have been used for ages to convey ideas and their use constitutes one of the most simple and impressive of all languages. Through pictures the artist, draftsman, or layman can depict scenes, houses, machinery and even the connection of electrical apparatus better than would ever be possible by words alone.

Radio, as a certain definite drawings or "symbols" have become conventional, through usage, to indicate various parts of apparatus. By use of these symbols apparatus may be assembled on paper and with connecting lines to represent wires, the proper relation of each piece of apparatus to others may be shown.

The following assembly shows a number of the most commonly used symbols and their interpretation.

1. A coil of wire with a sliding or adjustable contact.

2. A coil of wire having taps or connections brought out to a switch or selector.

3. A variometer. Two coils of wire connected together and arranged so that their relative position may be varied.

4. A transformer (receiving). Two coils of wire, not electrically connected, but arranged so that they may be moved relatively closer together or farther apart. (Indicated by the arrow.)

5. A condenser. Two or more metal plates with a dielectric (insulation) between, and assumed to have small capacity.

6. A variable condenser.

7. Condensers connected in parallel.

8. Cells connected in series, plus (+) indicating positive terminal, minus (-) indicating negative terminal.

9. A variable resistance.

10. A Detector. A mineral or compounded crystalline substance provided with adjustable contact points.

11. Head Telephone Receivers. In radio usually used to 2,000 ohms per head.

12. The Thermionic Tube complete, comprising filament, grid and plate. In actual construction the grid is located between the filament and plate, however, for the purpose of operation, except when explaining its theory of operation, it is usually drawn as shown.

From a study of the above assembly, it is readily seen that the Interpretation of the symbols is practically self-evident and by their proper selection and connection, both simple and intricate radio and telephone and telegraph receiving circuits can be represented. To illustrate the use of this assembly, the following diagrams show connections for some very simple but effective circuits for the reception of radio signals.

Single Coil Tuner

Simple Variometer Circuit

Inductively Coupled Circuit

Simple Vacuum Tube Receiver

In addition to understanding these symbols and the parts of Radio apparatus which they represent, the student will acquire, by carefully reading these articles, a clear knowledge of the functions of each piece of apparatus and its relation to the circuits with which it is associated.

IRISH TREATY MEN CONFIDENT

Dublin, June 14.—Leaders of the treaty party manifest increasing confidence in the outcome of Friday's parliamentary elections and predict some surprises for the anti-treaty party. They say that the anti-treaty party, especially the members of the anti-treaty party, are certain to lose their seats.

There are complaints of intimidation in districts where independent candidates are standing for election. The farmers union continues to protest alleged interference with its candidates, especially in Tipperary, Waterford and Kilkenny, and has appealed to the provisional government for protection.

The raid on Darrell Pigg's whiskers, notwithstanding the comic side of the incident, has excited great indignation and it is maintained that this alone will suffice to bring many of his political opponents to his side, and thus secure his election.

Mr. Figg's adhesion to the treaty marked him for especial hostility and his friends only lately advised him to shelve such as to avoid a possible outrage, but he scorned to comply with their suggestion. Even now he will not be assu-

RADIO AND PERILS OF DEEP

Phonicians, perhaps the first mariners in the world, creeping warily along the shore-lines in all their voyages, would have stamped as madmen any story that some day vessels would venture out thousands of miles on the sea and be guided off dangerous rocks by messages through the air.

Such a day is not far off. Already on the Great Lakes grain and oil freighters are ploughing bravely ahead in the foggy hidden rocks to ships out of their element. Guided by wireless from the first naval radio compass station at White Fish Point.

At any time, a ship can call the station and its fix position. Danger from hidden rocks to ships out of their course is practically eliminated.

Extension of this principle to ocean travel opens up a matter of time—Vancouver Sun.

Concentrate in Wiping Out Presbyterian Church Deficit—Assembly May End Tonight.

Winnipeg, June 14.—The Presbyterian General Assembly may close tonight. Further consideration of the work of the General Board and the Sunday schools and young people's societies was to be considered this morning. A delegation from the Church of England was to be received.

Adopting the report of the forward movement committee, the Assembly last night decided to postpone till next year the fifth year objective of the movement, that of doubling the budget, and to concentrate this year on wiping out the church deficit of about $200,000.

The report was adopted following a statement by Principal George of Knox College, Toronto, who was described by the moderator as the driving wheel of the forward movement.

An amendment by Rev. W. W. Malcolm, of St. Stephen, N. B., that the original programme be adhered to and that an effort be made to double the budget, did not get much support.

Dr. Raymond Baxter, who recently received his degree in medicine from Tufts College, in Boston, and who has been visiting at his home, 105 Union street, left yesterday to take up his duties on the staff of the Berwick, Massachusetts, general hospital.

Mexican government four and five per cent bonds were buoyant on the better outlook for the adjustment of that country's external debt, rising four and a half to five points in the early dealings.

Noon Report.

New York, June 14.—(noon)—The market moved steadily forward during the morning on a moderate volume of business. Oils and rails remained the dominant issues, a majority of these shares scoring further gains. Aside from Republic and Nova Scotia Steel, the independent issues of that description continued strong.

Motors and their subsidiaries, as well as sugars, shippings, textiles and leathers were in demand at one to two points of a gain. General Electric was conspicuous among the equipments, advancing 3 5/8 points and coppers hardened on further reports of foreign buying. Call money opened at 3 per cent, despite the heavy withdrawals of deposits from local banks to meet federal interest requirements.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE

Montreal, June 14 (10.30)—During the first half hour's trading on the local stock market this morning nothing of importance occurred and price quotations were uninteresting. Of the paper issues only Brompton and Hordon put in an appearance and these were unchanged at 90c and 12 1/2c. Bell and Power were also unchanged at 110 and 91. ## SETS 21 DAYS TO GET WEALTH OF LUSITANIA

Leavitt, Head of Salvaging Concern, Sure of Reclaiming $6,000,000 in Sunken Steamer—Banks on Own Diving Suit.

New York, June 14.—The steamer Blakely, from Philadelphia, will take from here part of the equipment to be used in the attempt to cut through three decks of the Lusitania and raise to the surface $6,000,000 in gold from the strong room and the purser's safe, said to contain $1,000,000 in gold and jewelry.

The difficulties in the way of salvaging the treasures of the Lusitania have been investigated, and pronounced to be insurmountable by many engineers. The profit to the salvagers, even though the project were successful, had been doubted because of the many claimants and the complex legal propositions involved in quieting titles.

The stop in New York harbor is to take on board a thirty-ton boom, which will be laid on the water as a kind of platform when the effort is made to haul to the surface the twenty-ton safe in the purser's cabin.

Divers are encased in a rigid shell of metal and harness to prevent them from being crushed by the pressure at such great depths. Mr. Leavitt says he believes he is able to overcome this obstacle by a diving suit of his own invention which resists the pressure of the water and enables the man to work at great depths.

British marine engineers have argued from the theory that the terrific pressure of the water at the depth of 275 feet of therabouts to which the Lusitania sank, must have crushed her like an egg-shell. Mr. Leavitt, on the contrary, holds that the water, forcing its way into the Lusitania as it sank, kept the pressure outward equal to the pressure inward, except in a few slight compartments.

"A bottle of air will be smashed when it is lowered ten feet below the surface," he said. "A bottle of water may be lowered 10,000 feet without being crushed. There is no doubt in my mind but that the Lusitania exists today exactly as it did when it sank."

Great wrecking concerns like the Merritt-Chapman Company have studied and then dropped the Lusitania venture, believing the gods were against any successful salvaging operations. The idea of raising the ship itself was never considered feasible, and it is not being attempted by Mr. Leavitt and his expedition.

The purpose is solely to make big holes in the three decks which lie over the safe and strong room, and then lift up the safe and the boxed gold through these holes.

"We will not use dynamite, but nitroglycerine," said Mr. Leavitt. "Dynamite will not explode under the pressure imposed on it at the depth of the Lusitania, but nitroglycerine will. It will not twist anything up, but will cut through the decks like a knife. When holes have been made through the three decks, the safe will be hoisted to the surface with the aid of the boom."

Four Divers to Work in Shifts.
"I am taking four divers who will work on two-hour shifts. The thing is feasible only because of the diving suits which I have invented, making work possible at that depth. The suits weigh 850 pounds on land. At that depth under water their effective weight would be seventy-five pounds."

foot depth in an ordinary suit, even if he were not killed outright.
Mr. Leavitt said that his expedition was being undertaken at a total cost of about $160,000 as against the prospect of the lion's share of $5,000,000.

"Some big financiers have sought to interest themselves in it during the last few days," he asserted, "but it is too late. I was offered $850,000 for the proposition as it stood, but refused. The investors who have put up the money to back the expedition are all middle-class people of modern Connecticut."

The ship Blakely was built for the Shipping Board in 1919. It is 290 feet long, with a twenty-four-foot beam.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN

On Duty Days. Vick Calls on His Patrons.

How to reach the people who never reach you will ever remain a problem for retailers. For some merchants the phone used in ingenious ways has brought success, while others swear by the efficacy of the direct mailing process.

On such days Miss Griggs, the saleslady, selects a few records from stocks, puts them in envelopes, takes along the general record catalogue, as well as the monthly supplement, and starts out to tour the town. She usually makes up a list of persons to be visited. If he is a prospective customer she happens to be elderly women, she usually stocks up on religious and old-time songs.

Each merchant had to submit to the committee invoices of the goods to be offered. If the committee was not convinced that the merchandise was a real bargain it was rejected and the store was not permitted to put it on sale.

ACTIVITY IN WOOL

The wool market report issued by the Dominion Live Stock Branch says: "Country buying of wools direct from farmers continues with increased activity. American buyers are reported in Western Canada competing with Canadian buyers. It is reported that contracting offers of 19 and 20 cents are being made for some of the best Alberta clips. In Ontario and Quebec the general prices offered direct to farmers are 12 cents for coarse, 15 cents for medium and 17 cents for fine; about 18 cents being the best price quoted for fat bails. Generally the wool in the United States is expected to cause further advances in American prices, in which case some will in all probability reflect immediately on Canadian prices."

UNIQUE INVENTION FOR THE LIMBLESS

Mr. Adams of Clapham, England, has spent the last seven years in perfecting inventions for the benefit of the blind and limbless. One is a rowing device by means of which armless or blind men will be able safely to take a boat out. Another invention is an artificial hand which can grip. The photo shows him rowing with his patent rowlock.

CHEMICAL METHODS TO DETECT CRIME

French Police Can Reconstruct Documents Partly Erased.

Paris, June 13.—Criticism that all French methods are not as progressive as are those of other European countries is hardly borne out by an investigation of the Paris Police Department's criminal research, in which, according to the municipal commission, chemistry is used today in the detection and unraveling of crimes to a greater extent than in any other country.

Already experts in the methods of Bertillon, Locard and other scientists who base their decisions of identity upon classified digital impressions or facial characteristics. Prefect Leullier's special service of chemical detectives is growing at such a rate that a budget will be provided hereafter in order to enable the analysts to prove their contention that even the cleverest criminal is likely to stumble over such imperceptible things as atoms.

The reconstitution of documents which have been partially erased—one of the most frequent forms of forgery—is becoming easier daily, said the laboratory experts of the Prefecture of Police. By analysis of the composition of the ink used and the application of certain chemicals to the erased portion which is then photographed under special rays now being developed here, missing letters and phrases can be brought out in relief on the photographable negative.

Even papers burned in an effort to conceal crime no longer baffle French detectives. In a murder mystery not yet entirely solved, as the corpse of the victim was never recovered, the police succeeded, by applying chemicals to small scraps of burned paper, in obtaining proof that the crime probably was committed by a demobilized soldier, serving with the Seventh Artillery section. Under the French law, however, prosecution is impossible until the corpse is recovered, save in a few instances, such

"120 Gas to 81-4 Sunoco"

Mr. J. Christie, of the Christie Woodworking Co., St. John and Amherst, says:

"Last November we put Sunoco Oil into one of our Ford trucks. It has traveled full speed all through the winter, burning up 120 gallons of gas, but we are far from finished with the 81-4 gallons of Sunoco. We have used all other oils, but we never had any other last or eliminate carbon boilers like Sunoco."

That's because Sunoco is not made up from cylinder stock—it's a wholly distilled, straight run oil. It doesn't split under heat, but burns down evenly. Clean out your crankcase and fill up with the grade of Sunoco for your car.

NEED NEW LEADER AND NEW POLICY

Frederick Gleaner's Caustic Comment on Conservative Defeat in St. John County.

(Frederick Gleaner.)

The defeat of the opposition candidate in St. John is disappointing to party men who had been led to believe that his election was assured. The opposition held the seat in the present house until vacancy was made by the resignation of Dr. J. B. M. Baxter when he accepted a portfolio in the Meighen government.

There was reason for the belief, at least up to the opening of the campaign just finished, that the party were quite as strong in this election as in the last, and their candidate was a popular man, highly respected and quite widely known. A government victory by a majority as large as 271 is, therefore, admittedly a great disappointment.

Why this great change in public sentiment in St. John county? The opposition of C. D. Richards, was undoubtedly strengthened during the last session of the house, within and without. There was cohesion, respect for propriety and proper procedure, regard for the public interests and the people's rights, and Mr. Richards is a clean man and a moderate man. Did that hasty and ill-

PROPOSED SHORT-CUT WATERWAY ACROSS EUROPE

A scheme to establish a route for ships through the heart of Europe between the North Sea and the Black Sea is reported. The route, which would consist partly of new canals and partly of improved rivers will be at least 1,600 miles long, beginning at Rotterdam, Holland, and ending at Galatz, Roumania. The diagram shows the course of the proposed waterway.

vised change of leadership, made actually while the house was in session, pushed and consummated regardless of the wish and will of the members of the party in the legislature, contribute to the result on Saturday? Did the change so made become at once repugnant to the sense of honor? Another not unusual result of public attention that unfortunately was made by the resignation of the Valley Railway affair, reasonably or unreasonably fixed in the public mind as a disgraceful party scandal of huge proportions. The issues were discussed quite freely, it is true, and in some instances the criticisms of members of the opposition in the house of the policies of the government and the methods employed in administration were well made and prudently developed; but it is not the effect of such criticism quickly forced to take the defensive? The change in public sentiment is quite readily accounted for.

In the details of the voting the result in the Parish of Lancaster, where the opposition got its largest majority in this election, is significant. There an opposition majority of 148 in 1920 was wiped out on Saturday and the parish came into the government ranks with a majority of 166. It is particularly to be noted that in Lorneville, in Lancaster, so frequently referred to as the home of the Orange Order of St. John, and for many years a stronghold of Conservatism, the poll was carried by the candidate of the Foster government. That result is accepted as the answer of Orangemen to politicians who seek to make use of the order solely to promote their political ambitions and to serve their personal and selfish ends.

Can the opposition, under such conditions, hope to strengthen? Can it hope to be of useful service to the country while it must ever be on the defensive? There must be a reorganization, and that at once.

BURGLAR HUNT STIRS RIVERSIDE DRIVE

Fugitive Locked Up in Apartment House By Woman After a Fusillade at Dawn.

New York, June 14.—Riverside Drive in the vicinity of Ninety-third street had its first burglar hunt in more than a year at dawn the other day when Melvin R. Ginn, a resident of the Chastillon apartment house, at 214, discovered an intruder on the fire escape outside his apartment and opened fire on him with an automatic army pistol.

The fusillade sent after the robber as he climbed up the fire escape to the roof aroused the entire neighborhood, and within a few seconds scores of persons telephoned to police headquarters for the reserves.

Policeman Timothy Sullivan of the West 100th street station was within a block of the apartment house when the shooting began. He hurried to the elevator in the building, and made his way to the roof, to find that the robber had retraced his steps down the fire escape to an apartment on the third floor.

The policeman figured that the fugitive would attempt to escape down the stairway in the building, and jumping into the elevator again, got off at the third floor to find Mrs. Pearl Noble, occupant of an apartment on that floor, waiting for him.

"He's in there," whispered Mrs. Noble as she pointed to a room, the door of which was locked. "He came through the window from the fire escape and when I saw I had him trapped I locked him in there for you."

The policeman opened the door and seized the intruder, who said he was Edward Pearson, 22 years old, and gave the address of 209 West 112th street. He was searched but nothing was found on him that indicated that he had looted the apartments of any of the twenty-five tenants. Later he was arraigned before Magistrate Max S. Levine in the West Side Court and held in $10,000 bail. He denied that he intended to rob any of the apartments, but was unable to explain his presence on the fire escape when discovered by the former army captain.

GOLD SUNK WITH THE EGYPT AND OTHER SHIPS

Speaking of the treasure ship Egypt which sank at sea a month ago, one of the London bullion houses points out that the wreck contains $288,279 in gold and $1,064,979 in both gold and silver. This total value of bullion sunk with the ship is one-third more than what was lost in the last important wreck of a treasure ship.
