

At the last Dominion election held in this city on June 13, 1905, about 8,000 persons voted, whereas, including the women of Canada, do not appear anxious to vote. Year after year the names of ladies are printed on the rolls, and year after year they refuse to be bothered.

ROOSEVELT OPENS WAR ON REBATING

White House Conference Decides to Begin Prosecution of Oil Trust.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—After an important conference at the White House tonight, in which the President, Attorney-General Moody, and Commissioner of Corporations Garfield participated, the announcement was authorized that the department of justice will proceed without further delay to prosecute the Standard Oil Company and a number of other oil companies on charges of violating the anti-rebate law.

Such was the intention of President Roosevelt when Commissioner Garfield submitted to him two weeks ago his report giving the results of his investigation into the Standard Oil monopoly. Unfortunately, Mr. Garfield had submitted the information he had collected to the Standard Oil Company, which it was feared might enable the officials of that corporation to set up a plea of immunity.

The administration also had to consider the effect of the action of the Standard Oil Company on the Standard Oil Company, which is a considerable extent the practice of rebates which followed the initiation of the Garfield investigation. It was decided to give the interstate commerce commission an opportunity to make some progress in the investigation it was ordered to make by Congress.

Finally, it was necessary for the President to receive from the Attorney-General a report as to the chances of Government success. The methods pursued by the Standard Oil were adopted only upon the advice of expert lawyers, and they appear to have been so skillfully devised in many cases that the company can be reached, if at all, only with the greatest difficulty. But the preliminary examination which Mr. Moody has completed establishes that it will be possible to convict not only the Standard Oil, but some of the railroads with which it conspired to destroy its competitors by obtaining lower freight rates.

Of course, those railroads which have granted rebates within the states cannot be reached. For instance, there is the Pennsylvania, which gave the Standard a rate of 9 cents a barrel from Olean, N. Y., to Rochester, N. Y., while it charged the independent oil refineries situated in the territory adjacent to Olean 29 cents a barrel. The federal government has no authority over this practice, but it can forbid and punish secret rates given by the Pennsylvania to the Standard from New York, and it can punish secret rates given by the Standard to the Pennsylvania from New York. It appears the railroads which especially are under consideration with a view to prosecution are the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Illinois Central, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago and Alton, and Southern Railway.

But while the President wants the railroads punished for violating the Elkins anti-rebate law, he is anxious particularly that the Standard Oil Company shall be brought to justice. He has indicated to the Attorney-General the higher up the officials reached the more pleased he will be. But he recognizes the difficulties in the way of successful prosecution of the Standard Oil Company. For instance, like Rockefeller and Rogers, for instance, while they may have inspired the demand for rebates, the Government cannot prove they actually did so, and it is their subordinates who must be attacked. Even they have been surrounded by ingenious safeguards, however, and it is not at all certain they can be convicted.

As the President said in his message transmitting the Garfield report to Congress, a "savings" is often a necessary motive, but by itself it is an utterly inadequate method.

Nevertheless, the lawsuits are to be instituted and every effort will be made to secure the conviction of officials of the Standard. Under the Elkins act the punishment is that of a fine only, but the payment of a fine in itself is a disgrace, and the demand for justice has been careful to point out that the recent conviction and punishment of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad and its officers means they confessed to violating the law and will have to bear that stigma always.

The report is in print and has been at the White House for more than a week. Mr. Moody's absence from the city has prevented him from consulting with the President concerning its contents until tonight. It is recognized both by him and by the President, however, that if one of the officials of the Standard can be sent to jail, no matter how subordinate he may be, his successor and his brother officials will be extremely careful not to violate the law in the future.

The President and the Attorney-General are receiving daily evidence of the great attention which the people all over the country are paying to the prosecution of the great trust. Additional information is being furnished, throwing light on the methods of the Standard.

The petition for an injunction against the drug trust has met with general approval. Drugists in all sections are furnishing instances of the execution of this trust, and are urging the department of justice to break it up as speedily as possible. It was said at the department today that Mr. Moody proposes to put this matter to a conclusion with all the rapidity possible.

A Broad Statement.

This announcement is made without any qualification. Hem-Roll is the one preparation in the world that guarantees it.

Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roll will cure any case of Piles. It is in the form of a tablet.

It is the only pills remedy used internally.

It is impossible to cure an established case of Piles with ointments, suppositories, injections, or outward appliances.

A guarantee is issued with every package of Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roll, which contains a month's treatment.

Go and talk to your druggist about it.

The Wilson-Pyle Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

THERE IS NOTHING equal to Mother's Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such excellent results.

It is estimated that Henry Labouchere spent more than $1,000,000 in defending libel suits brought against him as editor of London Truth.

CONGRESS WILL ACT TO PRESERVE FALLS

Law to Protect Niagara Probably Will Pass, Writes Washington Correspondent.

Washington, May 15.—It looks very much as if Congress would pass a law to protect Niagara Falls from the vandals who have already done so much damage there. It cannot repair what has been destroyed, but it can prevent further devastation. Representative Burton, of Cleveland, chairman of the House committee on rivers and harbors, and several of his colleagues are showing an earnest purpose to do something; President Roosevelt is taking a deep interest in the matter, which the international commission of American and Canadian engineers have made a thorough examination and have reported to their respective governments with recommendations in favor of a limit to the quantity of water to be placed at the falls for power purposes. The limit is placed at 35,000 cubic feet a second from the Canadian side, and 18,500 feet from the American side, in addition to 10,000 cubic feet a second authorized for the Chicago dam and canal. It is proposed to fix this limit by a treaty between the two governments, extending over a term of 25 years, and that will probably be done.

The people and corporations interested in the use of the water for industrial purposes are coming here with attorneys and expert engineers, and are making eloquent pleas and offering plausible compromises to save their franchises and the investments which have already been made. The plans for the utilization of the water in Niagara River for electrical power are much more extensive than anyone suspected. The General Electric Company, the New York Central Railroad, and two other corporations which have already obtained franchises from the Legislature of New York, are intending to invest not less than $30,000,000 in the plan to develop 80,000-horsepower of electricity on the American side alone, and a corresponding amount was to be taken from the Canadian side. The proposed bill will not destroy or remove the plants that have already been erected, or commenced, but will restrict their operations by limiting their allowance of water, will prohibit any increase in their number and capacity, and will drive away new companies which have obtained charters, but have not yet gone into operation.

The largest of these companies, known as the Niagara County Irrigation and Water Supply Company, which has an unlimited charter from the Legislature of New York, and has already spent $400,000 in carrying out its plans, is controlled by the General Electric Company, and its contracts are so valuable that it is reported that its representatives have made an extraordinary proposition to the Government.

For many years a ship canal on the American side, similar to the Welland Canal on the Canadian side, has been contemplated to connect Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Surveys have been made, plans have been drawn, and estimates have been submitted, and the project is only waiting the action of Congress. The General Electric Company proposes to dig that canal, free of cost to the Government, under the supervision of the war department, on a location and upon plans to be approved by the United States engineers from the town of La Salle, at Cayuga Island, a few miles above the falls, across Niagara County, back of the cities of Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, to a point somewhere between Devil's Hole and mile below the whirlpool, and the city of Lewiston. They agree to make this excavation at a cost of about $2,000,000 for the benefit of the lake commerce of the United States, provided they are allowed the exclusive use of the water flowing through this canal, to the amount of at least 10,000 cubic feet per second, for power purposes. This will increase the limit of water to be taken from the falls on the American side to 35,000 cubic feet per second, instead of 25,000, as recommended by the international commission. The General Electric Company does not agree to build locks to keep the canal open, or maintain it, but will make the excavations necessary.

The attorneys for the company have submitted to the Secretary of War and the congressional committee a draft of a bill to be enacted by Congress to carry this plan into effect. It provides that the total amount of water to be diverted on the American side shall not exceed 35,000 cubic feet per second, and that at least 10,000 cubic feet of that water shall be conducted through the proposed canal, which shall be kept open and maintained at all times as a free public highway for the shipping and commerce of the United States; that the importation of electrical power generated from the waters of Niagara River in Canada into the United States shall hereafter be prohibited, except under contracts that were in force on April 15, 1906, and that no future plan shall be enacted for the use of the water on either bank of the river.

Church and Emigrant.

London, May 15.—At the annual meeting of the Church Immigration Society this afternoon, W. O. Campbell announced that the plan to establish a Church of England colony in Canada had been temporarily abandoned, upon learning that the cost would amount to £1,000.

Rev. E. M. Tomlinson, the chairman, said next in importance to assisting emigrants, was the building up of the church in the colonies. He advocated a regular staff of chaplains to go back and forward with boats.

The Archbishop of Ruperts' Land said there was great danger of emigrants drifting from the church, and perhaps their religion if they were not looked after.

During the year the society spent $1,010 in passages for emigrants.

LEARNS SECRET OF OLD MASTERS

A Young British Artist Makes a Sensation With His Colors.

London, May 15.—Painting in the dark is the latest thing in art. H. Keyworth Raine, who has been called the "Cellar Artist," is creating a sensation in London art circles. He is not a mere dabbler. There is decided method in what his fellow artists are pleased to term his madness. While many wielders of the brush are finding the utmost difficulty in making a living, even in the strongest daylight, Keyworth Raine is getting rich in a dingy cellar, opposite St. George's Church, Manover Square.

The "Cellar Artist" has attracted the attention of some of the wealthiest and most distinguished people in England. No less a personage than Lord Iveagh, the King's great chamberlain, has come out as Raine's bold champion and practical patron. He has more orders than he can execute, and titled people are inviting him to their country seats, and giving him commissions galore. Already, through the influence of Lord Iveagh, he has painted the portraits of the Earl of Buchan, Lady Evelyn Guinness, Sir Neville Chamberlain, K. C. B., Sir John Arnott, and hosts of others.

The lightless artist does not seem to court publicity. He is not even in the London directory. After a search, his studio was found by the writer. The proper address is 13A George Street, Manover Square, but if you apply at the imposing building, which this number represents, you will even then have some difficulty in locating your man. It is only when you go round by the side of the building, that you notice a modest little sign on a dingy looking railing. You read the words "Cellar Studio." Descending a steep flight of narrow and dingy steps, you come into a still narrower and more dingy passage, which leads into an even dingier beyond. This beyond is involved in a somber darkness that would have done credit to the Tenth Plague of Egypt. Out of the depths of the blackness a voice calls you:

"Will you step this way, into the studio?"

"You don't know which way this is, but trusting to Providence and obeying the voice, you enter a door and have the impression of being in a narrow room. The only visible object in this room is a chair standing on a sort of pedestal, and vaguely lighted by a streak of light, carefully shrouded off by a strip of yellowish paper. The voice proceeds to assure you that the stairs occupy the chair on the pedestal, and that the light entering the window is all the illumination he requires for his portraits.

Up to this time you have not had an opportunity to see the artist, but he is himself at all, and have to gather your impressions from his voice, which conveys a vague notion that his owner is slightly deaf, for he speaks in the measured monotone of one listening to his own words as measured by their sound. Charles Lamb mourned the days before the invention of artificial light, saying, how wretchedly a joke must have passed off when you had to feel your fingers to learn whether they were smiling or not; and perhaps the lack of conversation, while sitters are having their portraits painted, has put the cellar artist at a disadvantage so far as his voice is concerned. But, as his voice is all you have to go by at such an interview, it naturally assumes a greater importance than it would under ordinary circumstances.

have been closely studying this method of painting for more than seven years," said Keyworth Raine, "and I have come to the conclusion that Velasquez, Rembrandt and other great artists of their school worked somewhat after my system. I do not claim that they worked absolutely in the dark as I do, but I do maintain that they studied light values just as I am doing."

"I also claim to have rediscovered the principle of method colors employed by Titian, and taught in Venice and Flanders centuries ago. By my method any painter can do four times the amount of his present work in half the time."

"But perhaps your eyes have the peculiar gift of seeing values in the dark?" I suggested.

"Not at all," answered the cellar painter. "My eyes have been examined by well-known specialists, and have been found to be normal. Any one could do as I am doing, but it would take three years' training. After that time, they would find how extraordinarily easy it was to paint in the dark. It saves fatigue to the eyes by allowing them to take in proportion and the difficulties of composition far more easily than when painting in daylight. I paint all my portraits in one-eighth the time usually allotted."

G. T. P. CONTRACTS

Deeds Signed for Construction of Quebec-Winnipeg Section.

Ottawa, Ont., May 16.—The contracts for the Quebec and Winnipeg sections of the eastern division of the Grand Trunk Pacific were signed today. The former goes to the firm of Macdonald & O'Brien, the latter to J. D. McArthur. The former firm has undergone a change. The contract was awarded to Hogan & Macdonald, and it will be collected that the chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission offered stout resistance on the ground that the figure for which they tendered was too low. Soon after the chairman had been overruled and the contract awarded, Mr. Hogan withdrew. The explanation offered by Mr. Parent's friends is that when Mr. Hogan learned what the other tenders had been, he became alarmed. Mr. Macdonald thereupon allied himself with Mr. O'Brien, formerly of Mullerley & O'Brien.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine—irritated bladder—irregular bowels—bad stomach—there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys—soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work.

Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—if the skin does not throw off the tissue waste of the body—then these impurities are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities, the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-a-tives

FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical way to increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation. FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical way to increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation. FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical way to increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation.

FRUIT-A-TIVES LIMITED - OTTAWA

THE INNOCENT SUFFERED

French Lady Wrongfully Arrested, Takes Case to British Commons.

London, May 15.—The notice paper of the House of Commons for tonight contained no fewer than ten questions and notices of motion concerning the action of the police in the case of the French woman—Mme. d'Angely—who was arrested on Regent street the other night on the charge of being a disorderly person. The facts of the case are briefly as follows:

Mme. d'Angely, a married woman of unimpaired intelligence, while waiting for her husband on Regent street at 11:30 p.m., was arrested as a prostitute playing her trade and hauled off to the Marlborough street police station.

On the following day Magistrate Denham discharged her with the remark that no respectable woman were seen on Regent street after 9 o'clock at night. Denham is known as an upholder of police methods.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The consequence is that respectable women dare not be seen in the vicinity unless escorted by male relatives for fear of being arrested.

Replying to a question about the d'Angely case in the House of Commons this evening, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the Government was fully alive to the importance of the subject, and had found that there was a general desire for a full inquiry as to the duties of the police in dealing with drunkenness and solicitation, and the manner in which those duties were discharged.

The case is not unusual, but it points once more to the grave scandal caused by the daily and nightly traffic in vice in Regent street and Piccadilly, which are used as a "beat" by women, mostly foreigners.

The

TRANSIENT CONDENSED ADVERTISEMENTS—NO ADVERTISING LESS THAN TEN CENTS.

MEETINGS.—When no admission is charged, one cent per word each insertion. ARTICLES FOR SALE.—TO LET, HELP WANTED, SITUATIONS WANTED, BOARD AND LODGINGS, LOST AND FOUND, ROOMS TO LET, REAL ESTATE FOR SALE, ETC.—First insertion, one cent a word; each subsequent insertion, one-half cent per word. No advertisement less than ten words.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, DEATHS.

DEATHS.
THOMPSON.—In this city, on May 15, 1906, Simpson Thompson, beloved husband of Sarah Thompson, in his 73rd year.
Funeral private, from his late residence, 638 Princess avenue, on Thursday, May 17, at 9 p.m.; service at 2:30, interment at Woodland cemetery.
Toronto and Detroit papers please copy. 27u

MARRIAGES.
MARSHALL.—At Regina, Saskatchewan, on Monday, May 14, 1906, Alexander Marshall, formerly of Lobo, N. B., and Miss Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Johnston, aged 2 weeks.

AMUSEMENTS, LECTURES, ETC.

WRESTLING MATCH

ADAMSON VS. McMAHON.
Chicago.
Bennett's Vaudeville Theatre, Wednesday, May 16. Admission, 25 to 75 cents. 26c

GRAND EVENING RECITAL

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, FRIDAY, MAY 19.
Admission, 25 cents. b

OCEAN TRIPS

Direct ships, Liverpool, London, Derry, Glasgow, Lower fares. F. B. Clarke, Richmond street, next new Bank of Commerce. 1

EMPEROR OF BRITAIN SAILS FOR LIVERPOOL SATURDAY, MAY 19.

Ship, 10 knots. F. B. Clarke, Richmond street. 2

LONDON TO DETROIT AND RETURN, VIA BOAT, MAY 23, 24, RETURN MAY 25.

F. B. Clarke, Richmond street. 3

100 MILES VIA WATER—PORT STANLEY, Cleveland or Windsor, to Montreal, via Welland Canal, Toronto and Kingston. Obtain Merchants' Life Saver, F. B. Clarke, Richmond street, next Bank of Commerce. 4

DANCING—STRICTLY PRIVATE LESSONS ANY HOUR.

Residence and academy, 546 Princess avenue. 5

PRIVATE LESSONS IN DANCING BY H. B. MILLARD.

Waltz, two-step. Lessons any hour. Residence and academy, 546 Princess avenue. 6

LONDON MINERAL BATHS—NEW BATHS NOW OPEN. Everything new.

PUPILS ATTENDED LONDON CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC LAST YEAR.

Barron hears all pupils play, and gives reports. 7

CHOICEST MUSIC FURNISHED FOR PRIVATE PARTIES, balls, banquets, etc.

Telephone 1205. Tony Vita's Italian Harpers, 122 Queen's avenue. 8

TONY CORTES—THE ORIGINAL LONDON HARPIS.

For all occasions. 161 Maple street. Telephone 1550. 9

MEETINGS.

"A" SQUADRON, FIRST HUSSARS will meet for drill tonight (Wednesday), at 8 o'clock. Clothing will be issued to those who have signed the service roll. Recruits wanted. H. R. Abbott, major. 10

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST ON DUNDAS STREET—A NECK LACE, with red beads. Reward at this office. 25u

LOST—BOB-TAILED MALTESE CAT, wearing collar furnished. Reward at 156 Clarence street. 27c

LOST SILVER MEDAL, PLEASE RETURN to 4912 Richmond street. 27c

BOARDING, ROOMS, ETC.

BOARDING AND ROOMS TO LET, furnished or unfurnished. Mrs. Belrose, 205 Queen's avenue. 28c

WANTED.

JOB GARDENING DONE. APPLY F. A. 41 DUNDAS STREET. 29c

HAVE YOU NEW TO INVEST AT 6%? Interest in good real estate in Ontario. If so, write at once to London Loan and Savings Company, London, Ont. 29u

SITUATIONS WANTED.

EXPERIENCED WOMAN WISHES housecleaning. Box 14, Advertiser. 29k

YOUNG MAN WANTS POSITION—HAS had two years' experience in office work, best of references. Apply 101 Advertiser. 29k

MISCELLANEOUS.

$100 REWARD FOR CONVICTION of the poacher who poached Mr. Cronin's ponds on lot 4 in the fourth, London Township. Signed, V. Cronin. 29k

FREE HUNDRED-PAGE ILLUSTRATED book on British Columbia; accurate information about its wonderful natural resources. Send post card to The World Printing and Publishing Company, Limited, Vancouver, B.C. 29k

MALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED—SMART YOUTH FOR EN- try desk, in wholesale office; legible writer, quick and accurate at figures. Box 15, Advertiser. 29k

STORE TO LET, 306 DUNDAS STREET, with or without dwelling; good location for business. 29u

TO LET—FRONT ROOMS, NICELY furnished, in private family; modern conveniences. 814 Dundas street. 29u

PUNCH AND JUDY MAN WANTED. Box 12, London Advertiser. 29c

MACHINISTS—ALL ROUND MEN and experienced helpers. The George White & Sons Company. 27c

MEN WANTED. APPLY C. S. HYMAN & Co., tannery. 27c

MAN TO CUT GRASS, DIG AND clean up, one day each week; near court house. Apply Box 7, Advertiser. 27c

TWO SMART BOYS WANTED. APPLY Beck's Box Factory, Albert street. 26c

ANY INTELLIGENT PERSON CAN earn good income at home in spare time corresponding to newspapers; no canvassing, experience unnecessary. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, Lockport, N. Y. 26c

WANTED—SINGLE MAN FOR FARM work, one accustomed to care of horses and cattle. Apply John O'Brien, lot 21, con. 5 south, London Township. 25c

WANTED—MACHINE FITTERS AND erections, a few good men on heavy work. Box 13, London Advertiser. 29u

WANTED—INSTRUMENT MAKERS: good men only. Address Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, Peterboro, Ont. 29c

TINSMITH WANTED—TWO YEARS' experience. Must be sober. A. B. Lutz, Timarior. 29k

MEN AND BOYS WANTED—LEARN plumbing, plastering, bricklaying; special offer, life scholarship, $50, easy payment; position and union card guaranteed; free catalogue. Coyne Bros., Trade Schools, New York, Chicago, St. Louis. 29u

WOOD TURNER—ONE WHO HAS had some experience at hand turning. Hound & Co., furniture factory, Quebec street. 29u

WHY ATTEND AN INFERIOR SCHOOL when you can learn telegraphy at the first and best equipped telegraph school on the continent? Our course of instruction is thorough in every way. Positions for graduates. Full particulars and free telegraph book mailed free. B. W. Somers, principal, Dominion School of Telegraph and Railroading, Toronto. 29k-x

MEN TO LEARN BARBER TRADE in eight weeks, guaranteed. Tuition and tools, $5. Positions furnished. Catalogue free. Detroit, Mich., Barber College, 277 Jefferson avenue. 1x

SMART YOUNG MAN WANTED to learn mirror-making. Apply Hobbs Manufacturing Company, corner Ridout and G. T. R. 29c

CANVASER WANTED—ONE ACCUS- tomed to earn from $20 to $30 weekly; no delivering or collecting. Apply 353-354 Clarence street, London. 29c

SALESMAN WANTED FOR AUTO- SPRAY, best compressed air hand-sprayer made; liberal terms; sample machine free to approved customers. Cavers Bros., Galt, Ont. 49t-50bc

WANTED—TWO SALESMEN FOR county. Apply Raymond Manufacturing Company, Limited, 225 Dundas street. 49t

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

GENERAL SERVANT WANTED. Middle-aged woman preferred; small family. Apply 91 Dundas street. 28c

WANTED—A GIRL FOR GENERAL housework. Apply 574 Waterloo. 27c

YOUNG SALESWOMAN FOR CONFECTIONERY. Apply, giving references and business experience, to Box 10, Advertiser. 27c

WANTED—THREE DINING-ROOM girls at once, or by June 1; good wages. Apply W. Whitaker, Colonial Hotel, Stratford, Ont. 29c

WANTED—EXPERIENCED CHAMBER- MAID. Apply Housekeeper, Peumich House. 27c

WANTED—LADY DEMONSTRATOR to handle specialty in London department store. Address with references, Canada Silver Cloth Company, Toronto. 29u

WANTED—EXPERIENCED LAUN- DRESS, to take home family washing and ironing. Apply Mrs. Poppe, 181 Ridout street. 27c

WANTED—AN UPSTAIRS GIRL at Clarence House. 26c

ANY INTELLIGENT PERSON CAN earn good income at home in spare time corresponding to newspapers; no canvassing, experience unnecessary. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, Lockport, N. Y. 26c

WANTED—A COMPETENT GENERAL servant, family of three. Apply Mrs. R. C. Struthers, 508 Wellington street. 29t

WANTED—GENERAL SERVANT, family of three. Apply W. C. Egan, Byron. 26c

WANTED—SEAMSTRESS, HOUSEMAID and laundresses. Apply Victoria Hospital. 29t

COOK, HOUSEKEEPER, GENERAL servant, household wanted. Apply 101 Advertiser. 27k

GOOD GENERAL SERVANT—FAMILY of three. Apply to P. M. Millman, 24 Grosvenor street. 29t

GIRLS WANTED FOR BISCUIT and confectionery departments. D. S. Fern & Co., Limited. 12c

CLEANERS AND DYERS.

LANGLEY, MY VALET—CLEANING, pressing, repairing. 33 Dundas street. Phone 121. Wagon call. 29k

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

PHYSICAL CULTURE SCHOOL, 39 Richmond street—Specialties: Body building, corrective work, remedial movement. Office hours, 9:30 to 4:30 p.m. Consultation free. 29k

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—FIVE ACRES LAND, seven-roomed brick house, good repair; new barn, good orchard, 25 minutes' walk from market; will sell cheap, owners leaving. Apply No. 173 Dundas street, city. 12t-vx 8t

FOR SALE—TEN LOTS IN NEW SUB- DIVISION, near Fraser Heights, Port Stanley; lots 60x150, 75 to 100 each. J. F. Sangster, 112 Masonic Temple. 29u

SUNSHINE—50 ACRES, GOOD BRICK building, about one mile from street cars. Apply Mrs. H. Sifton, lot 13, con. 4, London. 29a

HELP WANTED.

$12.00 PER WEEK, BOARD AND EXPENSES to persons of energy and good character; state age and give references. The John C. Winston Company, Limited, Toronto. 29k

Learn to Use the Want Ads

Through the medium of a want ad. you can buy, sell or exchange any commodity in the world.

The little classified ads. are read and reread by people in all walks of life.

They pave the way for employment of labor and help, and bring together the employer and employee—in fact, they are indispensable to both.

In the business world the want ad. occupies a significant position. It is used in buying and selling commodities of all kinds, and carries a constant market for business opportunities. It is used extensively in all business channels because it brings quick and effective results.

The housewife looks to the want ad. for many of her household necessities. In the want column she secures her help, whether it be a washerwoman or a servant. The want ad. sells pieces of furniture or any dispensable article which may be in demand by some one else.

Thus the want ad. occupies a field which, while distinctively its own, facilitates a rapid, effective and economic transaction of business.

The more you use them the more you will profit.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER want columns are read carefully.

Learn to Use the Want Ads

TWENTY CENTS FOR THREE DAYS.

HOUSES, ETC., TO LET.

TO LET—STORY AND HALF BRICK S. rooms. Apply on premises, 155 William street. 29k

ROOMS TO LET, IN EAST END, UP- STAIRS, suitable for offices. Apply 69 Dundas street. 29u

TO LET—FACTORY OR WAREHOUSE, 36 Carling street. 29k

HOUSE TO LET, 296 WOLFE STREET, all modern conveniences. Apply J. P. Poon, 149 Dundas street. 29u

FIRST-CLASS FRONT ROOM, WITH board, for gentleman; good locality. Apply Box 9, Advertiser. 29c

FIVE STORIES OF USED AND UN- USED furniture, stoves, iron beds and springs. Cheapest spot on earth. 383 Talbot street. Joseph Brown, auctioneer, real estate agent and house furnisher. 15u-vx 8t

ROOMS OR PART OF HOUSE, SUIT- ABLE for light housekeeping. Apply Box 11, Advertiser. 29c

TO LET—COTTAGE, WITH TWO-ACRE lot and apple trees; 56 Talbot at butcher shop, 256 Wharfedale road, West London. 29c

FURNISHED ROOMS FOR GENTLE- MEN, with or without board. Apply 425 Talbot street. 27c

PEOPLE'S MOVING VANS—LARGEST in city. A. Henderson, corner Colborne and Chesapeake. Phone 124. 29k

TO LET—FURNISHED COTTAGE, AP- PLY 58 Colborne street, corner Central avenue. 29k

TO LET—UNFURNISHED HOUSE, keeping flat, suitable for married couple. Apply Box 8, this office. 27c

TO LET, CHEAP—ONLY $12 A MONTH, large flat, close to Free Press office. Apply London Loan and Savings Company, 434 Richmond street, city. 29u

TO RENT—TWO FRONT ROOMS, ONE large one, fully furnished; all modern improvements. Apply 450 Queen's avenue. 29k

FOREST CITY IMPROVED MOVING Vans. W. Brougham, 455 Piccadilly street. Phone 144. 29k

TO LET—UNION FURNITURE VANS. Furniture carefully handled, John Biggs, Carhart and Bruce streets, South London. Phone 230. 29k

TO LET—A DESIRABLE MODERN house, 110 Elmwood avenue, possession May 1. Apply Mrs. Robert Kilgour, 242 Piccadilly street. 29k

TO LET—FOUR ACRES AND HOUSE, immediately adjoining city; suitable for market garden. Apply J. W. G. Winnett, barrister, 4157 Talbot. 29t

FOR RENT—HOUSES $5, $6, $7, $8, $10 and $12 per month. Scarrow, 232 Dundas street. 29k

THE LONDON CEMENT CONSTRUCTION Company, Limited, is prepared to supply first-class building blocks, bricks and sand. Works immediately west of St. Peter's Cemetery. Samples at Wm. Taylor's, 117 King street. Thos. Cousins, manager. 29k

FINE STOCK OF SHOES—ALSO SHOE repairing. Wm. Paxman, 290 Dundas street. Phone 1365. 29k

J. HARRIS & CO.—MOVED TO 728 Simcoe, opposite London and Petrols Buildings. 29k

PROF. W. H. DANIELS, 127 MAITLAND has removed to 350 Clarence, where his medicines can be obtained. 29a

THE BEST CARPENTERS PAINTING IN the city. Prices reasonable at Smith's Maple street. 29k

HOTEL CARDS.

DOMINION HOUSE, ADJOINING Grand Trunk Railway Station, London. J. J. Cox, proprietor. 29k

LEGAL CARDS.

R. M. C. TOOTHE, BARRISTER, ETC. Robinson Hall, opposite Court House. Specialty, office work and consultations. 29k

CRONIN & BETTS, BARRISTERS, solicitors, notaries public, etc. Huron and Erie building. 29k

SCANDRETT & PROUDFOOT, BARRIS- TERS, solicitors, etc. Money to loan. 85 Dundas street, London. T. W. Scandrett; W. A. Proudfoot, B.A. 29k

FAULDS & CAMPBELL, BARRISTERS, etc., Robinson Hall Chambers. 29k

EDMUND WELLS— Barrister, 45 Richmond Street. 29k

W. H. BATHAM, BARRISTER, SOLI- CITOR, etc., Office, 99 Dundas street. 29k

J. M. McEVOY, BARRISTER, SOLI- CITOR, Robinson Hall Chambers. Money to loan. 29k

MACHESON & PERRIN, BARRIS- TERS and solicitors. Money to loan. Robinson Hall Chambers. 29k

BUCHNER & GUNN, BARRISTERS, etc., 83 Dundas street. Phone 59. Money to loan at lowest rates. U. A. Buchner; J. M. Gunn, B.A. 29k

T. H. LUSCOMBE, BARRISTER, SOLI- CITOR, etc., 169 Dundas street, near Richmond street, money at lowest rates. 29k

A. GREENLEES, BARRISTER, ETC., Canadian Loan Company's building, Richmond street, London. Private funds to loan. 29k

GIBBONS, HARPER & GIBBONS, BAR- RISTERS, etc., London. Office, corner Richmond and Carling. George C. Gibbons, K.C.; Fred F. Harper; George S. Gibbons. 29k

JARVIS & VINING, BARRISTERS, etc., 101 Dundas street. C. G. Jarvis; Jared Vining, B.A. 29k

PURDUM & PURDUM, BARRISTERS, solicitors, etc., Office, Masonic Temple building, corner Richmond and King streets, London. Ont. Thos. H. Purdum, K.C.; Alexander Purdum. 29k

McKILLIP & MURPHY, BARRISTERS, solicitors, notaries, etc., Office, corner Richmond and Dundas. London. J. B. McKillop; Thomas J. Murphy. 29k

TENNENT & COLERIDGE, BARRIS- TERS, solicitors, notaries, etc., Money to loan at lowest rates. 73 Dundas. 29k

FITZGERALD & FITZGERALD, BAR- RISTERS, money to loan. Masonic Temple, London. 29k

MUSICAL INSTRUCTION.

NORA LITTLE, A.L.C.M., TEACHER of voice culture and singing. 353 Central avenue. 29k

GEORGE C. PHELPS, ORGANIST First Presbyterian Church, King street. 29k

J. W. FETHERSTON, ORGANIST WEL- LINGTON Street Church, Teacher singing, organ, piano, theory. 29k

CHARLES E. WHEELER, ORGANIST St. Andrew's Church—Piano, organ, harmony, singing. Studio, 429 Waterloo. Phone 257. 29k

CYRIL DWIGHT—EDWARDS, BARTO- NE, late London, England—Instruction in art of absolute tone production, breathing and singing. Concert and other engagements. 355 Dundas. 29k

JAS. CRESSWELL, VIOLIN TEACHER, director Grand Opera House Orchestra. Studio, 523 King. 29k

VOICE PRODUCTION AND SINGING. J. Parnell Morris, 466 Queen's avenue. 29k

OSTEOPATHY.

H. V. CATON, OSTEOPATHIC PHYSI- CIAN—Chronic diseases. 554 Richmond street. Phone 172. 29k

MONEY TO LOAN.

PRIVATE FUNDS AT LOWEST RATES M. P. McDonough, barrister, 415 Talbot street. 29k

PRIVATE AND TRUST FUNDS TO loan at 4 to 10% on real estate security, in sums to suit. No commission charged. T. W. Scandrett, solicitor, 85 Dundas street, London. 29k

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOWEST rates. Thomas C. Knott, real estate broker, Room 101, Masonic Temple. 29k

PRIVATE FUNDS TO LOAN—LOWEST rate. Buchner & Gunn, 83 Dundas street. 29k

LIVERIES AND HACKS.

KING EDWARD LIVERY, WELLING- TON street—Rubber-tired hacks, coupes, etc. Phone 568. Branch, corner Bathurst and Richmond. Phone 64. A. G. Stroran. 29k

DYER'S LIVERY, NEXT ADVERTISER Telephone 127. Coupes, hacks, etc. Open day and night. 29k

DERMATOLOGY.

MISS HEATHIE, GRADUATE GRAHAM Dermatology School, Chicago—Superficial hair, moles, warts, permanently removed. (Chlorophyll and manure). Room 35, Bank of Toronto. 12x

DERMATOLOGY. 236 DUNDAS STREET—Hair growth, hairdressing, face and scalp treatment. Superficial hair removed. 29k

MEDICAL CARDS. DR. Y. COWEN & HENRY M. COWEN, 30 Piccadilly street. Telephone 1528. We have no other city office. 29k

J. J. MASON, B.A., M.D., SOUTHEAST corner Dundas and Colborne. Phone 388. 29k

DR. KINGSMILL, MEMBER ROYAL College Surgeons, and Licentiate Royal College of Physicians, Corner Park and Queen's avenues. 29k

DR. W. J. STEVENSON, 281 DUNDAS Phone 510. Special attention diseases women and surgery. X-rays. 29k

DR. P. J. MUGAN, NO. 720 DUNDAS street. Phone 2058. 29k

A PRIVATE LIVING IN HOME FOR ladies before and during confinement; infants adopted; strict secrecy; particulars free. Allen Home, Lizzie May, Detroit, 415 Lafayette avenue, Detroit. Phone W. 385. 29k

DR. JOHN D. WILSON—OFFICE AND residence, 290 Queen's avenue. Special attention paid to surgery and diseases of women. Office hours, 11:30 to 4 p.m. 29k

London Advertiser.
FOUNDED IN 1863.
TWO EDITIONS DAILY - WEEKLY.
TELEPHONE CALLS.
Business Office107
Editorial Department134
Job Department175
The London Advertiser Company,
Limited, 191-193 Dundas street, London, Ont.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 16.

Another Canadian Achievement.

The fine performance of the new C. P. R. steamer, Empress of Britain, on her maiden voyage, is a national and Imperial event. It means that Quebec has seriously challenged New York for the Atlantic passenger traffic. In everything the Empress of Britain is the peer of the majority of the great liners that direct the main current of European travel through the American metropolises. She is 570 feet long and 65 feet 6 inches in beam. Her registered tonnage is 14,500 and displacement 20,000 tons. Though 40 feet shorter than the largest Cunarders, the Lusitania and Campania, her tonnage is 1,500 greater. She has accommodation for 550 first-cabin, 500 second-cabin, and 1,000 third-class passengers, and on her first trip carried 1,439 passengers. Her time between Liverpool and Quebec was six days and sixteen hours, which broke all records. She was out of sight of land only four days and three or four hours. This is one advantage nature has given the Canadian route which will appeal to a large section of the traveling public. The Empress of Britain maintained an average speed of 17 1/2 knots an hour though the weather was very adverse. She is expected to improve upon this by more than another knot, her maximum speed being 20 knots. During the voyage her wireless telegraphy outfit kept her in constant touch with the land.

The Empress of Britain will be joined shortly on the Quebec-Liverpool route by her sister ship, the Empress of Ireland, and the company intends to add others of equal size and speed, as the Canadian route grows in popularity. A fast Atlantic steamship has been a national ambition for many years, and has been realized through the enterprise of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, at no cost to the country.

The White Man's Burden.

The British House of Commons, by an overwhelming majority, has passed a resolution calling on the Government to urge The Hague conference to take up the question of universal disarmament. The resolution was introduced by a member of the Labor party, and was instantly accepted on behalf of the Government by Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Minister, who described the military budgets of Europe as a dead weight, depressing the vitality of nations.

Militarism is pressing more severely upon Great Britain than at any period since the close of the Napoleonic wars. In his budget speech Mr. Asquith presented some figures in illustration of this fact. Ten years ago, the annual expenditure on the army was £18,270,000; this year it is £29,785,000, an increase of 63 per cent. The navy cost £22,170,000 in 1906; this year the cost is £31,862,000, an increase of 43 per cent. The national indebtedness has risen in the same period from £52,287,000 to £78,990,000, an increase of 21 per cent, largely as a result of the Boer war. The increase in the debt, Mr. Asquith said, was not represented by any tangible assets, but had been all blown away in powder and shot. The total national expenditure in ten years has risen from £101,477,000 to £141,786,000, or 39 per cent, while the population had increased from 33,600,000 to 43,600,000, or only 10 per cent.

The Liberal party finds itself pledged to retrenchment, and at the same time committed to expensive schemes of social amelioration, or at least obliged by its labor allies to promise to undertake these reforms when financial conditions permit. The Government has found in the magnitude of the military budget a pretext for shelving or postponing the question of old age pensions, and the plea of economy will no doubt serve to sidetrack other measures of the same kind. The leaders of the Liberal party are doubtless sincere, therefore, in supporting the principle of a universal disarmament, or the reduction of existing military establishments. Until there is some relief for the British taxpayer from his military burdens, there will be no funds for the extension of the activities of the state in the direction demanded by the radical elements which have become such a force in British politics.

Disqualifying Non-Voters.

The advocates of compulsory voting will find some satisfaction in the report of the Dominion election committee, recommending that any person who refuses to vote shall be disfranchised for a period of six years, unless he can show good reason for non-appearance at the polls.

The election committee is composed of several of the leading lawyers on both sides of the House, who are under instructions to remedy, if possible, any defects in the election law, so as to make it more serviceable in the cause of political purity. Every person who has had something to do with election work knows that "getting out the vote" is a great incentive to the illegal expenditure of money. The numerous class, unworthy of free institutions, which asks to be paid to go to the polls, would be reached by a system of compulsory voting; but there is an element of coercion in such a law from which many good citizens shrink. Disfranchisement, however, would not be too severe a penalty for the individual who does not care sufficiently for the franchise to exercise it. The law should be qualified, however, to meet the case of electors who have no preference as between the candidates whose names are on the ballot paper. It is sufficient if men are obliged to make their appearance at the polls. They should have the privilege of spoiling their ballots or returning them unmarked if they do not approve of the candidates, or the policies they represent. The main object of the law would be achieved: It would compel voters to find their way to the polls.

The drowning season has opened in New Ontario, which is bound to be in the van of progress.

The story that the Harmsworths intend to invade the newspaper field in Toronto is not a probable one. Toronto is exceedingly well served by its newspapers, and Canadian journalism has nothing to learn from the Harmsworth school.

The woodenware manufacturers of Ontario protest against the action of the Provincial Government in selling the labor of the Central Prison inmates for a pittance to a competing firm. The products of prison labor should not compete in the open market, but should be used exclusively for institutions supported by the state.

The British secretary of war, Mr. Haldane, praises the Kaiser for his modern spirit. In some respects the Kaiser is a relic of medievalism, and in others, notably in his enthusiasm for German commerce, he is thoroughly of the twentieth century. He is a curious compound of Don Quixote and a modern bagman.

The flood of Canadian invitations to the King and Queen to visit the Dominion are complimentary, but their majesties may be excused if they politely decline to accept. They could scarcely come to Canada without going to Australia and New Zealand. Think of the bombardment of addresses they would be obliged to undergo! The King is over 60 and is entitled to spend the rest of his life in comfort.

Not the Same.

The movement for a "two-cent world postage" has failed. Things have never been quite the same in the postage world since Sir William Mulock deserted the industry.

And Echo Answers, What?

[St. Catharines Star.]
Now then, what is to be the net saving to the municipalities by the Whitney Power Bill? Don't all speak at once.

Practical Arithmetic.

[Chicago Tribune.]
"What is the result," asked a teacher of the primary class in arithmetic, "when you put two and two together?"
"A kith," replied the curly-headed little girl in the front row.

Beneficial to Alberta.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

If any proof were needed of the advantages of the financial arrangement under which the new province in the west was created, it is provided in the first provincial estimates of the province of Alberta recently presented by Premier Rutherford. The estimates for the entire Northwest Territories for the year 1903 were $11,843,500, but by reason of the good financial arrangement of the autonomy bill the new province of Alberta is able to provide $1,983,000 out of 67, for carrying on the business of the province during the year.

The Turn in Broadway.

[New York Globe.]

Why does Broadway swing to the westward at Tenth street? This was the question asked of a prominent city official yesterday by a man who had been discussing the way the city was laid out in connection with an argument over the plans for a new street system for San Francisco. The official referred to could not answer the question, but an aged man who happened to be one of the party gave the answer.

When the upper part of Manhattan was mapped out along in 1823 the idea was for Broadway to continue straight in a diagonal line across the numbered streets and avenues. But the famous Brevoort mansion stood in the way between Tenth and Eleventh streets. Brevoort refused to move or sell his property to the city, and as in those days municipal corporations had a more tender regard for individual rights than at present, the commissioners turned the line of Broadway so as to pass his residence and accede to his wishes.

The Scene at Olympia.

[New York Press.]

"It was a beautiful and inspiring sight and one long to be remembered, when the sturdy sons of Uncle Sam stepped to the front to receive the laurel. The great Stadium, with its thousands of flag-bearing mortals, looked like a terraced flower garden of living color. Over the topmost tier one could see the classic city clad in all the gorgeousness of its gala-day attire, the Acropolis glistening in the sun, the sea shimmering in the heat, and far beyond in the hazy distance lay the blue Attican hills forming a background of incomparable beauty.

"As each of the victorious Yankees stepped to the front his prize was presented to him by the King, who favored all with a few nicely chosen words of courtesy and approval. Several times his majesty was forced to wait till the ovation which greeted some of the Americans who were pronounced favorites had died out.

"Though the Yankees received great applause, it remained for Sherring, the lad from 'Our Lady of the Snows,' who captured the Marathon run, to get a great ovation. When the winner of the national event answered to his name the granite-gridded Stadium fairly rocked with the tumultuous applause and the hills sent back an echo like the roar of surf on a rocky shore. Sherring received a beautiful statue of Minerva in commemoration of his wonderful race."

Love Me, Love My Dog.

[Puck.]

Jeas: Why on earth did Gladys marry Charley Dumbley?
Tess: Oh, she took the greatest fancy to Charley's Boston bull, and he wouldn't give her the dog.

Hate.

[Chicago Record.]

"I hate that man."
"What has he ever done to you?"
"Nothing, but he was present once when I made a fool of myself."

Black and White.

[Somerville Journal.]

If a man has his board fence painted white, it immediately suggests to the boy a piece of chalk; if black, a piece of chalk.

Retort Courteous.

[Columbus Dispatch.]

"This bread," remarked young Weddery at the breakfast table, "is nothing like the bread my mother made."
"And you," calmly rejoined Mrs. Weddery, "are nothing like the man my father was."

The Juror's Retort.

[New York Tribune.]

A jurymen went to sleep the other day during the closing speech of one of the counsel in a case in an English court. The judge had him awakened, and sternly rebuked him. "My lord," said the juror, "I was under the impression that I was sworn to give a verdict according to the evidence, not according to the speeches."

When It Comes to a Divker.

[Toronto Star.]

There are people in the United States who cannot understand how far Canada is a self-governed country. A small, but significant, illustration of the effectiveness of our self management of affairs is available at the present moment.

The Canadian and American Governments appointed an international waterways commission, whose members have been conferring for months in reference to Niagara power, and all matters connected with international waterways. The commission has reached agreement on some points, but not on as many as the Canadian representatives desired, because the American commissioners had less power than theirs. The agreement as far as drawn up is not binding; the American commissioners could not make an agreement binding on their country. It has to pass the United States senate. In a word, our representatives were clothed with a more effective authority than were those of the United States.

Oh, Andrie!

[Andrew Carnegie in "Triumph of Democracy."]

"But why talk of Canada, or any mere colony? What book, what invention, what statue or picture—what anything—has a colony ever produced? or what man has grown up in a colony who has become known beyond his own local district? None. Nor can a colony ever give to mankind anything of value beyond wood, corn, beef."

The Hairs of the North.

[The Khan, in Hamilton Herald.]

Ten years ago I wrote some verses, bragging about Canada as usual, and as usual, without an audience. One of the verses ran something like this:

"Up in the north where the wolves come forth
And the hemlock shed their balm,
By the God who made it, I wouldn't trade it
For the whole of Alabama!"

I was laughed at, not because the poetry was not very long before the idea was wildly extravagant.

"You ought to know," said one editor, sadly, "that North Ontario is a good place to go for a month to fish and hunt, but God-forsaken never intended it for anything else but a game preserve. You're a little too enthusiastic about the future of Canada. If you would go and live in Alabama you could sing better songs about it, and it would gather in more snoots. Adieu, my misguided young friend, I wish you every prosperity—and a little better judgment."

After the passing of one decade I repeat that I wouldn't trade Northern Ontario for the whole Southern States, now, then!

Yes, and they could throw in Cuba and the Philippines—or whatever they call them—as well.

In all New Ontario there is not a foot of land nor a bucketful of water that is not precious. He who hides can find, and God has kept the best wine for the last.

My brothers, we are the Heirs of the Ages.

San Marino, the smallest republic in the world, will soon be without voters. If its rate of emigration keeps up, it has only 1,200, including widows, but it is still a good republic. Recently its assembly decided to abolish the executive council, the members of which have been elected for life. Hereafter members will be elected by the people for three years only.

Madame Curie

Gracefully Honored

[From the Chicago Record-Herald.]

When Professor Curie, the discoverer of radium, was killed by accident in a Paris street a few weeks ago the scientific world suffered a very real loss. The discovery which he and his wife, working together, had made was one of the epoch-making discoveries of chemistry, one of the discoveries that deal a death blow to one fundamental hypothesis and prepare the ground for a better and more useful hypothesis. The discoverer's work had not been finished. Years were yet to be spent in developing it. No doubt at the very moment when he was knocked down by horses in the street he was in deep absorption on some knotty point in his work.

Mme. Curie, a Polish, not a French woman, was much more than his assistant. She was his full partner in the work. How much of the credit for the discovery of radium was due to the one, how much to the other, perhaps they themselves could not say. She was left to carry on the work alone, and to advance alone to discoveries.

It is a well deserved tribute to her that Mme. Curie has now been appointed to the chair in the university left vacant by her husband. There had been talk of granting her a pension, but a pension would not provide laboratories for expensive scientific work, nor would it place its holder where her scientific ability could have its best opportunity to inspire other workers in the same field. Still, the pension was the easy solution of the problem of Mme. Curie's future.

It is a real sign of enlightenment in high places that the French Government has avoided the "easy" way and instead taken the radical step, in disregard of routine and prejudice, of giving to Mme. Curie her husband's professorship. The university students may object for a day. But they will profit for a lifetime.

POEMS THAT LIVE

Night.

(From "The Night Thoughts.")

[Edward Young.]

O majestic Night!
Nature's great ancestor! Day's elder-born!
And fated to survive the transient sun!
By mortals and immortals seen with awe,
A starry crown thy raven brow adorns.
An azure zone thy waist; clouds, in heaven's loom, have woven for thee
Wrought through varieties of shape and shade,
In ample folds of drapery divine,
Thy flowing mantle form, and, heaven
Voluminously pour thy pompous train.
Thy gloomy grandeur nature's most
Inspiring aspect! claim a graceful veld,
And like a sable curtain starred with gold,
Drawn o'er labor's past, shall close the scene.

His Name Was George.

Some years ago an elderly lady, Miss Armstrong, from near Montpelier, Vt., had occasion to go to Boston with her niece, a young lady named Kitty. They traveled on the night train, but were unable to secure berths in the same sleeper. Miss Kitty having to take one in the second car and the aunt in the first.

In the morning, when about half an hour distant from Boston, Miss Armstrong entered the second car to awaken Kitty. She found the number, an empty berth, and, putting her hand through the curtain, shook the occupant, exclaiming: "Kitty! Kitty! It's time to get up!"
A bald head, with bushy whiskers around the face, poked itself through the opening of the curtain and said: "Excuse me, but my name is George."
The old lady gave a horrified scream and beat a hasty retreat. She had mistaken the number of the berth.—Boston Herald.

Clothes Made of Wood

"It will probably not be very long before we can go into one of the dry-goods stores and say to a clerk, 'Let me see what you have in the line of wooden suits.' He may reply, 'Hard or soft? whereupon it will be our part to specify that we want a suit of "good" pine, "without any cheap sap-wood." Vests of this kind are already worn by the carding-room foremen in some of the woolen mills. This material resembles a stiff, thick cloth, and is apparently as durable as leather. It is not impossible that in the future cheap suits, costing about 50 cents, and guaranteed to last for years, will be made of spruce or pine. Napkins, shirts, collars of the finest quality, have long been made from the inner bark of hemlock, and for heavier cloth, the process is equally simple. The wood is first ground into a soft pulp, which is then pressed through holes in iron plates. It comes out in long ropes about half an inch in diameter. These ropes, which are very easily broken at this stage, are dried, and then twisted tightly, till finally they become as small as the threads of the threads are used for the warp, and part for the filling, out of which a strong web of wooden cloth is woven.—Technical World.

CARTER'S

LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

SICK

HEAD

ACHE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct the bile and induce the liver to regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

J. H. CHAPMAN & CO

Second Day of Wrapper Sale

First day's selling beat all records—best value ever offered in the city. Don't miss the chance—one or two of these wrappers will keep you clean looking and cool about your housework all this summer. Ladies' Cambric Percale Wrappers, nicely made and good fitting. Skirts have full flounce and waists are lined, strap in the back and belt in the front—desirable and good washing patterns. Worth $1.00 garment—special chance only69c

Mid-Week Hose Attraction

Big values in Ladies' Fashionable Hose—fairly priced at 25c pair:
Ladies' White Cotton Hose, full-fashioned, seamless feet.
Ladies' and Misses' Tan and Black Lisle Hose.
Ladies' Black Lisle Hose with natural wool or balbriggan feet. All these kinds, pair25c

Children's "Little Darling" Hose for children from one month to five years, in tan, red, white and black. These stockings have silk heels and toes—mother's favorite, pair25c

Corsets That Fit

The new Parisian Corsets (the Antoinette) possess all the graces and pleasing features that a woman wishes for in corsets—and above all they fit, fit beautifully—giving a contour to the figure that is enviable. If you have not seen these new corsets, come in and get acquainted with them. Prices $1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 2.50, 3.00
C-C LaGrace Corsets in newest dip hip models at$1.25, 1.50, 2.00

Perfection in Men's Suits

We draw attention to a new line of Men's Suits worth $10.00 which we are going to sell to increase the May business at $8.50. Splendid tweeds in nobby patterns—fine broad shoulders, well made. All sizes, at$8.50
See these Suits for boys—blue cheviot Norfolds, with a slight stripe of white, all sizes 9 to 13 years. The best we've had this season at$2.50

J. H. Chapman & Co., 126, 128, 128 1/2 Dundas St.

Talks on Orange Meat
(THE PURE FOOD)
Oven Perfection.

If you are a woman, you would revel in the huge ovens that cook Orange Meat. Much of the crisp deliciousness of Orange Meat is due to their matchless baking. After the wheat has been cleaned, steam cooked, malted and flaked—the moist flakes are conveyed by automatic carriers to the ovens.

Endless steel screens carry the flakes back and forth, toasting each flake to a rich, golden brown—the final stage in our peerless process of converting a grain of wheat into the most perfect food known to science.

As the major part of every meal for thin people—dyspeptics—"bloodless" folk—those whose systems are "all run down"—and especially for children—Orange Meat has a place that nothing else can satisfy.

A lady in Wallington says:—"Orange Meat is very wholesome. My brother at 87 years old, has taken a great liking to it, and I am glad, as it seems such a light wholesome food, to recommend it to those afflicted with stomach trouble."

At all grocers in 15c. and 25c. packages. Every 15c. package contains a coupon, good for premiums. 25c. or "Jumbo" package contains 2 1/2 times the quantity of 15c. size. Write "Orange Meat, Kingston," for new premium catalogue.

A Good Reputation

is worth a lot to any man, woman or article. The high reputation which "FIVE ROSES" FLOUR has obtained through honest merits alone is unequalled by that of any ordinary brands, and has been achieved by years of the most careful study and endless and costly experiments in milling. The reputation of "FIVE ROSES" is of the greatest importance to us, as our guarantee as to quality and purity goes with every bag and barrel we sell. Such a guarantee, backed by our reputation, should be considered by all housekeepers when ordering flour.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is now recognized as the standard from which the quality of other brands is judged.

No housekeeper can afford to ignore such a reputation when buying flour. She should, therefore, ask for "FIVE ROSES."

Lake of the Woods Milling Co.
MONTREAL.
Local Office, 72 Bathurst Street, London, Ont.

Fine specimens of cotton fabrics are often found in Peruvian tombs dating back to the time of the Incas. One of the familiar and picturesque sights of Paris is the postage stamp market, which meets, both in summer and winter, under the trees of the Champs Elysees. Here stamp collectors meet, buy and sell and discuss prices.

Her Hidden Destiny

Matters were at this stage when Lord Keith, tired of his restless wanderings, came home to Fribolme on a fair May day, and rode over to Eldale on the next morning; and half an hour later Barbara, sitting alone, listless and idle, in her own room, was startled by a request from Lord Hutton that she would go to him in his study.

"Tell his lordship that I will come at once," the girl replied; but it was fully ten minutes before she could muster courage enough to go down the corridors and the winding stone steps leading to the room which Lord Hutton had taken once more for his own special use.

When she entered, he was standing by the fire, apparently in deep thought, and the girl stood for a moment unobserved, trembling very much and pale even to the lips.

It was a small room, lighted by one wall lamp, through which the spring sunshine poured out in a golden stream, a carved oak writing table strewn with papers, occupied a prominent position in the center of the room, an elbow-chair stood beside it, a likeness of his mother in crayons hung over the mantel, and among the litter of books and deeds and papers on the writing-table, so placed that the eyes of anyone sitting at the table must rest upon it, was the photograph, in a chased silver frame, of a pretty, dark-eyed girl, Barbara's heart leaped as she saw it, with a sudden great joy. He thought of her kindly still!

As she stood, a slender trembling figure, he turned and saw her, and with an exclamation, went forward, holding out his hand to her. She put her own little fingers into it without a word.

"I hope I have not disturbed you," he began gently, looking down at the girl's lovely face.

"Oh, no, I was doing nothing."

"This is the first time you have honored my den with a visit, is it not?" he asked, as he pushed a great arm-chair to the fire, and put her gently into it.

"Yes, I think so."

"That is not very sociable, is it? Goody comes every morning, with some fresh flowers to brighten it a little."

"Barbara's pale lips quivered slightly, but she said nothing."

"And this morning I had another visitor, whom I was very glad to see—one who used to be a constant visitor in the old days when we were boys together."

"She knew what he meant, and he saw by the sudden flush which rose in her pale face that she did; but she still kept silence."

"But his visit was hardly so much to me as to you, Barbara," the young man continued, resolved that the girl should not guess at the pain he suffered just then.

"To me?" she cried with a little start, and Newell Hutton saw that she clasped her hands tightly together in her lap.

"There was a slight pause; then Newell bent forward and took her hands in his, as he sat opposite to her on the hearth."

"I do not wish to distress you, Barbara," he went on; "nor does he, I am sure. But I must ask you to give him a patient hearing. I think there is no anger toward him in your heart, my child. You said, when I spoke of this to you before, that he was right in acting as he did. He thinks otherwise now, and he has repented deeply and sincerely. You have forgiven, Barbara?"

"Yes—oh, yes."

"Then," he released her hands and sat erect again, "will you tell him so, my child?"

"Is he here?"

"He started, looking wildly at him, that there is no anger against him in your heart, to tell you himself, what you will see plainly enough, how he has suffered in this separation from you, and to ask for the forgiveness which I think you will freely give him."

Barbara rose unsteadily, her eyes wild and troubled, fixed upon him.

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

"I cannot see him! Do not ask me!"

I cannot! I am not angry—I have no right to be—but I cannot see him—indeed I cannot."

"Why?" asked Newell simply.

"There cannot be anything that he need say to me," she went on, shivering as she pressed her hands together in her intense agitation. "There is no need that we should meet. Oh, I have suffered enough—surely I have suffered enough! Ask him to spare me."

The dreadful scene in the winter drawing-room rose before her. She remembered how she had clung to this man, imploring his pity, his compassion, his love; she remembered how he had put her from him and left her in her anguish. She caught that in that moment the love she had felt for him—love mingled with pride and gratified triumph—had died out of her heart.

She had loved him, but not with such love as she had thought; she loved him, but not with the love she had given to the proud grave man who now stood opposite to her in the sunshine—the love which would never fade while life lasted; the love which was hopeless, unrequited, full of misery, but which must be the guiding-star of her future life.

Lord Hutton sighed slightly. How was he to influence this unhappy girl who seemed bent upon wrecking her own life and Keith's? Was her pride so great that her love sunk into insignificance beside it? Would she reject him now because he had failed her once? He was very penitent; but, having accepted the onslaught, when all might be right between them, she raised this barrier of pride.

It had cost him a strong effort to yield to Lord Keith's request that he should plead his cause with Barbara; but, having accepted the onslaught, he would be an honorable ambassador; and the trembling girl never guessed how his own heart bled as he pleaded for the gift to another of what he himself would have given years of life to possess.

"He has no wish to add to your suffering, my child," he urged. "His only wish, and mine also, are for your happiness. He is true and noble, and he loves you sincerely. Forget that he failed you for a moment, and let things be as they were between you."

She shuddered at the bare idea of it; death itself would be easier to her, she thought wildly.

Once more the young man took her hands in his. They were burning now, when he had held them a few minutes before their touch had been like ice.

"Dear," he pleaded, "speak to me frankly—speak to me as you would have spoken to the Mark of those very happy days which seem so far away from us now. You had no secret from me then, Barbara; have none now. If my name is changed, dear child, I am the same man whom you trusted then, and you are as dear to me as—nay, dearer, Barbara, than you were then."

Oh, how the girl's tortured heart bled as she listened! How she loved him! How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

She stood silent for a few minutes, her head drooping upon her breast, the freight touching her gray gown. How true and good he was! Had he been in Everard Keith's place in the past, would he have given her up because of her shame, would he have left her desolate? No, no—ten thousand times, no!

"What do you want me to do?" she asked faintly.

"To see him," he answered, "to let him plead his cause with you, to listen to him patiently, to answer him as your heart, and not your pride, dictates."

Loss of Appetite

Is common when the blood needs purifying and enriching, for then the blood fails to give the digestive organs the stimulus necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is pre-eminently the medicine to take. It makes the blood pure and rich, and strengthens all the digestive organs.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine and find it excellent. My brothers-in-law used it for blotches on his face and was perfectly cured. He has not been troubled since." HAROLD PARKER, Peterborough, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

Dan McEwen, the Canadian Geers, is making splendid headway with his big string of harness horses at Queen's Park, and they are already showing evidence of good speed. Without exception they are all in good condition, and no signs of lameness or illness are visible. Yesterday he had a very busy day. He worked about half of his bunch, and some smart trials were given them.

Missouri Chief, 2:10 1/4, and Johnnie K., Geo. G. McCormick's good matinee horse, worked several miles together. Both horses went a couple of miles around 2:35, without a bit of trouble. That Missouri Chief horse certainly looks good.

Delbars, 2:11 1/4, is a wiggler that is showing good form. She paced a mile in 2:28 yesterday in commanding style.

Queen of Clubs, 2:15 1/4, Billy Mahon's fast mare, worked well, going a couple of miles in 2:30 without a skip.

One of the sweetest going little chaps in the whole string is Silver Joe, a green "paster," from Tavistock. He worked miles better than 2:50, and did it easily. This little fellow is a beauty, and ought to win some races. He's a 4-year-old, and only reached the track three weeks ago.

Hal Galvin was given useful work. The roan horse is in good shape, and is pacing fast and true.

Henry Winters, a green trotter, looks better every time he is hitched up. He is one of the best green horses in Canada. He has stepped miles under 2:40 without trouble, and should do.

Never Again worked well, too.

Texas Rooker, 2:05 1/4; Jubilee, 2:06 1/4; Geary, 2:06 1/4, and Tom Wood were only jogged. Tom Wood is going well so far, and looks like one of Dan's best bread-winners.

Cook Bros. had two Tom Wood colts out for a jog. The 3-year-old—a pacer—Master Tom—is staked and looks like a prospect. Dolly Mac was jogged slowly.

Norman McLeod's green pacer, Walter S., was given some fast work. This pacer is going strong and true, and works like a veteran. He went a mile in 2:31, and repeated in 2:32, in impressive style.

May B., Bert Wilcox's nice trotter, and Mrs. Tennant & Barnes' pacer, Dr. Jack, worked a couple of miles together. Both have improved wonderfully, and will step some good halves at the matinees this summer.

Barney H. is a fast lateral-gaited chestnut, with which Dr. Hughson expects to take a few ribbons at the matinees. He paced a couple of halves in 1:16 and 1:17 yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Wood's horses, Madge W. and Clipper, were worked. The mare went a couple of miles around 3:30, and was good. Clipper was jogged. The big fellow looks well this spring and is working fast. His best mile has been in 2:27.

The matinee horses are well advanced in their work.

A man in Memphis died from overcoating, but Inspector Jas. L. Hughes kept right on, regardless of the danger he was running.

Thoney is the only man on the Toronto team that can hit. Therefore, he is defied by the populace.

Winning one game was too much of an effort, so the Toronto bunch continued to cultivate the habit of losing by one run.

The Hamilton City Council donated $500 to Sherring. That is not advertising rates, but it helps some.

A King's plate entry is drawing a hack in Toronto. There will be a good many more doing the same after Saturday.

It was simply too cute for anything the way Geo. P. Graham, M. P., snuggled up to Hon. J. W. St. John, M. P., at the ball game in Toronto Monday.

On Monday they presented the Toronto ball team with flowers and nosegays. The bricks and pop bottles, etc., will come in due season.

Bowlers will shortly enter upon their annual task of making the back end of the present season connect with the front end of the next.

Smallpox patients in the State of Maryland are playing a series of baseball games. A man good enough to catch smallpox ought to get everything that comes his way.

Millard Sanders has just arrived at the Indianapolis track with two carloads of young Sidney Dillons, comprising in the lot that Sterling R. Holt, recently captured in California. The horses went through the earthquake without a scratch.

Capt. Duncan C. Ross, champion swordsman of the world, and one of the greatest all-round athletes in the country, will hold a series of exhibitions at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, commencing Monday, May 21. He will give exhibitions of swordsmanship, wrestling, fencing and physical culture.

Capt. Ross, who is 61 years of age, is a marvel of physical development. His exhibitions are clean and wholesome, and should attract a large audience nightly. He has given similar exhibitions in all the Y. M. C. A. gyms in the country.

The Adamson-McMahon wrestling match will be pulled off tonight at Bennett's Vaudeville Theater. Both principals are in town and are ready. Adamson is meeting a number of his old friends, who are confident he can win. McMahon is a good, one, too.

It's pretty tough to have to work at driving nails or writing. To be obliged to stay in town when the little fish are biting.

The man whose nerves are out of whack.

Whose brain is in a tangle.

Should polish up his fishing rod.

And find a place to angle.

Work, though it modest is and light.

Is really quite appalling.

If one is gazed right down to it.

When the little fish are calling.

He feels like throwing up his hands.

And taking for vacation.

A job of fishing all the time.

On one lifelong vacation.

Chauffeurs existed, says Fligaro, long before there were automobiles. History tells us that along about the year 1735 there sprang up in France, principally in the eastern and central regions, fantastically dressed men with their faces blackened with soot and their eyes carefully concealed, who gained admittance to farm houses and other isolated dwellings at night and committed all kinds of depredations and outrages. They had an atrocious habit especially, from which they obtained the name that posterity has preserved for them. They first garrotted their victims, and dragged them in front of a great fire, where they burned the soles of their feet. Then they demanded of them where their money and jewels were concealed. Such interrogatories could scarcely be resisted. It is from this that is derived the appellation of "chauffeur," which once terrified old ladies, but which at present evokes in us only cheering and pleasing thoughts of automobilism, and of voyages and excursions at 25 and 30 miles an hour, in which there is nothing but the roads and paved streets that are scorched—Scientific American.

A colt recently foaled that is worth a small fortune, is one at Maywood Stock Farm, Indianapolis, Ind., sired by Sidney Dillon, sire of Lou Dillon, 1:58 1/4, etc., dam Earlsma, dam of Borlma, 2:07, and Jan Michael, 2:03. An offer of $2,000 was refused for the youngster before he was born.

Demund was bred by James B. Haggin at Rancho del Paso, California. His sire, Goldfinch, is sire of Tradition, and is by the deceased Ormonde, sire of Ormonde and of Orme, who begot Flying Fox. As a yearling Demund was knocked down to the bid of Charles McCafferty for $3,200.

COVERPOINT

NO INTERMEDIATE IN DISTRICT NO. 6

Lacrosse Will Not Be Played in Some Northern Towns This Summer.

Walkerton, May 15. — There will be no intermediate schedule for district No. 6, C. L. A. Walkerton and some of the other towns in the district are not playing lacrosse this year.

WILL PLAY IN CHICAGO.

Chatham, Ont., May 15. — The Tecumseh lacrosse team have received an invitation to play with Chicago some time in August, and are trying to arrange to play in that city on July 4 or about that time. They hope to go to St. Paul, Minneapolis and St. Louis afterward. It is likely that if a game is arranged for them they will be a special car filled with enthusiasts to accompany the boys.

FOOTBALL.

VICS DEFEAT SHAMROCKS.

A fast game of football was played on the city grounds last night between the Victorias and the Shamrocks. The former won by a score of 3 to 1. The Victorias are delighted over their victory, as the Shamrocks are a far heavier team. The return game will be played on Union Hill on Thursday night at 7 p.m.

THE OAR.

SANGUINE OF ARGOS' SUCCESS.

London, May 15. — Tom Sullivan, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press, said if the Argonauts only arrive at Henley about the 19th of June they will not be allowed sufficient time to practice. He is sanguine of the success of the Argos.

HELD HARD, COURT MARTIAL WENT THE DISTANCE IN 2:17 1-2

Looks as if Dymont Horse Will Be Chased All Way by Others Saturday.

2:24, 3:31, 3:51, 1:18 2-5, 1:48 1/2, 2:02 1/2, 2:17 1/2.

Toronto, May 15.—Things around the Woodbine are fast taking on the appearance of race day. The benches have all been placed on the members' lawn, while the stands are being cleaned and fixed up. This season the members' lawn will be about 40 feet longer, owing to the removal of the dividing fence. This change will not in any way interfere with the public's view of the finish. The track today was fast and in good shape. The American horses were all given a drilling, while most of those owned in Canada were given useful workouts.

Court Martial, the Dymont candidate for the King's Plate, made new friends by his work. Breaking out of the chute from the barrier with Will King, and hard held all the way, he galloped a mile and a quarter in 2:17 1/2. He was held so much under restraint that many clockers stopped their watches when he went six furlongs, thinking he was only breezing.

Alertness at the post and quickness to get away when the barrier flew up were other points in his favor. It looks as if he others would have to chase him all the way on Saturday. The work today by furlongs was: 1/4, 1/2, 3/4, 1, 1 1/4, 1 1/2, 1 3/4, 2, 2 1/4, 2 1/2, 2 3/4, 3, 3 1/4, 3 1/2, 3 3/4, 4, 4 1/4, 4 1/2, 4 3/4, 5, 5 1/4, 5 1/2, 5 3/4, 6, 6 1/4, 6 1/2, 6 3/4, 7, 7 1/4, 7 1/2, 7 3/4, 8, 8 1/4, 8 1/2, 8 3/4, 9, 9 1/4, 9 1/2, 9 3/4, 10, 10 1/4, 10 1/2, 10 3/4, 11, 11 1/4, 11 1/2, 11 3/4, 12, 12 1/4, 12 1/2, 12 3/4, 13, 13 1/4, 13 1/2, 13 3/4, 14, 14 1/4, 14 1/2, 14 3/4, 15, 15 1/4, 15 1/2, 15 3/4, 16, 16 1/4, 16 1/2, 16 3/4, 17, 17 1/4, 17 1/2, 17 3/4, 18, 18 1/4, 18 1/2, 18 3/4, 19, 19 1/4, 19 1/2, 19 3/4, 20, 20 1/4, 20 1/2, 20 3/4, 21, 21 1/4, 21 1/2, 21 3/4, 22, 22 1/4, 22 1/2, 22 3/4, 23, 23 1/4, 23 1/2, 23 3/4, 24, 24 1/4, 24 1/2, 24 3/4, 25, 25 1/4, 25 1/2, 25 3/4, 26, 26 1/4, 26 1/2, 26 3/4, 27, 27 1/4, 27 1/2, 27 3/4, 28, 28 1/4, 28 1/2, 28 3/4, 29, 29 1/4, 29 1/2, 29 3/4, 30, 30 1/4, 30 1/2, 30 3/4, 31, 31 1/4, 31 1/2, 31 3/4, 32, 32 1/4, 32 1/2, 32 3/4, 33, 33 1/4, 33 1/2, 33 3/4, 34, 34 1/4, 34 1/2, 34 3/4, 35, 35 1/4, 35 1/2, 35 3/4, 36, 36 1/4, 36 1/2, 36 3/4, 37, 37 1/4, 37 1/2, 37 3/4, 38, 38 1/4, 38 1/2, 38 3/4, 39, 39 1/4, 39 1/2, 39 3/4, 40, 40 1/4, 40 1/2, 40 3/4, 41, 41 1/4, 41 1/2, 41 3/4, 42, 42 1/4, 42 1/2, 42 3/4, 43, 43 1/4, 43 1/2, 43 3/4, 44, 44 1/4, 44 1/2, 44 3/4, 45, 45 1/4, 45 1/2, 45 3/4, 46, 46 1/4, 46 1/2, 46 3/4, 47, 47 1/4, 47 1/2, 47 3/4, 48, 48 1/4, 48 1/2, 48 3/4, 49, 49 1/4, 49 1/2, 49 3/4, 50, 50 1/4, 50 1/2, 50 3/4, 51, 51 1/4, 51 1/2, 51 3/4, 52, 52 1/4, 52 1/2, 52 3/4, 53, 53 1/4, 53 1/2, 53 3/4, 54, 54 1/4, 54 1/2, 54 3/4, 55, 55 1/4, 55 1/2, 55 3/4, 56, 56 1/4, 56 1/2, 56 3/4, 57, 57 1/4, 57 1/2, 57 3/4, 58, 58 1/4, 58 1/2, 58 3/4, 59, 59 1/4, 59 1/2, 59 3/4, 60, 60 1/4, 60 1/2, 60 3/4, 61, 61 1/4, 61 1/2, 61 3/4, 62, 62 1/4, 62 1/2, 62 3/4, 63, 63 1/4, 63 1/2, 63 3/4, 64, 64 1/4, 64 1/2, 64 3/4, 65, 65 1/4, 65 1/2, 65 3/4, 66, 66 1/4, 66 1/2, 66 3/4, 67, 67 1/4, 67 1/2, 67 3/4, 68, 68 1/4, 68 1/2, 68 3/4, 69, 69 1/4, 69 1/2, 69 3/4, 70, 70 1/4, 70 1/2, 70 3/4, 71, 71 1/4, 71 1/2, 71 3/4, 72, 72 1/4, 72 1/2, 72 3/4, 73, 73 1/4, 73 1/2, 73 3/4, 74, 74 1/4, 74 1/2, 74 3/4, 75, 75 1/4, 75 1/2, 75 3/4, 76, 76 1/4, 76 1/2, 76 3/4, 77, 77 1/4, 77 1/2, 77 3/4, 78, 78 1/4, 78 1/2, 78 3/4, 79, 79 1/4, 79 1/2, 79 3/4, 80, 80 1/4, 80 1/2, 80 3/4, 81, 81 1/4, 81 1/2, 81 3/4, 82, 82 1/4, 82 1/2, 82 3/4, 83, 83 1/4, 83 1/2, 83 3/4, 84, 84 1/4, 84 1/2, 84 3/4, 85, 85 1/4, 85 1/2, 85 3/4, 86, 86 1/4, 86 1/2, 86 3/4, 87, 87 1/4, 87 1/2, 87 3/4, 88, 88 1/4, 88 1/2, 88 3/4, 89, 89 1/4, 89 1/2, 89 3/4, 90, 90 1/4, 90 1/2, 90 3/4, 91, 91 1/4, 91 1/2, 91 3/4, 92, 92 1/4, 92 1/2, 92 3/4, 93, 93 1/4, 93 1/2, 93 3/4, 94, 94 1/4, 94 1/2, 94 3/4, 95, 95 1/4, 95 1/2, 95 3/4, 96, 96 1/4, 96 1/2, 96 3/4, 97, 97 1/4, 97 1/2, 97 3/4, 98, 98 1/4, 98 1/2, 98 3/4, 99, 99 1/4, 99 1/2, 99 3/4, 100, 100 1/4, 100 1/2, 100 3/4, 101, 101 1/4, 101 1/2, 101 3/4, 102, 102 1/4, 102 1/2, 102 3/4, 103, 103 1/4, 103 1/2, 103 3/4, 104, 104 1/4, 104 1/2, 104 3/4, 105, 105 1/4, 105 1/2, 105 3/4, 106, 106 1/4, 106 1/2, 106 3/4, 107, 107 1/4, 107 1/2, 107 3/4, 108, 108 1/4, 108 1/2, 108 3/4, 109, 109 1/4, 109 1/2, 109 3/4, 110, 110 1/4, 110 1/2, 110 3/4, 111, 111 1/4, 111 1/2, 111 3/4, 112, 112 1/4, 112 1/2, 112 3/4, 113, 113 1/4, 113 1/2, 113 3/4, 114, 114 1/4, 114 1/2, 114 3/4, 115, 115 1/4, 115 1/2, 115 3/4, 116, 116 1/4, 116 1/2, 116 3/4, 117, 117 1/4, 117 1/2, 117 3/4, 118, 118 1/4, 118 1/2, 118 3/4, 119, 119 1/4, 119 1/2, 119 3/4, 120, 120 1/4, 120 1/2, 120 3/4, 121, 121 1/4, 121 1/2, 121 3/4, 122, 122 1/4, 122 1/2, 122 3/4, 123, 123 1/4, 123 1/2, 123 3/4, 124, 124 1/4, 124 1/2, 124 3/4, 125, 125 1/4, 125 1/2, 125 3/4, 126, 126 1/4, 126 1/2, 126 3/4, 127, 127 1/4, 127 1/2, 127 3/4, 128, 128 1/4, 128 1/2, 128 3/4, 129, 129 1/4, 129 1/2, 129 3/4, 130, 130 1/4, 130 1/2, 130 3/4, 131, 131 1/4, 131 1/2, 131 3/4, 132, 132 1/4, 132 1/2, 132 3/4, 133, 133 1/4, 133 1/2, 133 3/4, 134, 134 1/4, 134 1/2, 134 3/4, 135, 135 1/4, 135 1/2, 135 3/4, 136, 136 1/4, 136 1/2, 136 3/4, 137, 137 1/4, 137 1/2, 137 3/4, 138, 138 1/4, 138 1/2, 138 3/4, 139, 139 1/4, 139 1/2, 139 3/4, 140, 140 1/4, 140 1/2, 140 3/4, 141, 141 1/4, 141 1/2, 141 3/4, 142, 142 1/4, 142 1/2, 142 3/4, 143, 143 1/4, 143 1/2, 143 3/4, 144, 144 1/4, 144 1/2, 144 3/4, 145, 145 1/4, 145 1/2, 145 3/4, 146, 146 1/4, 146 1/2, 146 3/4, 147, 147 1/4, 147 1/2, 147 3/4, 148, 148 1/4, 148 1/2, 148 3/4, 149, 149 1/4, 149 1/2, 149 3/4, 150, 150 1/4, 150 1/2, 150 3/4, 151, 151 1/4, 151 1/2, 151 3/4, 152, 152 1/4, 152 1/2, 152 3/4, 153, 153 1/4, 153 1/2, 153 3/4, 154, 154 1/4, 154 1/2, 154 3/4, 155, 155 1/4, 155 1/2, 155 3/4, 156, 156 1/4, 156 1/2, 156 3/4, 157, 157 1/4, 157 1/2, 157 3/4, 158, 158 1/4, 158 1/2, 158 3/4, 159, 159 1/4, 159 1/2, 159 3/4, 160, 160 1/4, 160 1/2, 160 3/4, 161, 161 1/4, 161 1/2, 161 3/4, 162, 162 1/4, 162 1/2, 162 3/4, 163, 163 1/4, 163 1/2, 163 3/4, 164, 164 1/4, 164 1/2, 164 3/4, 165, 165 1/4, 165 1/2, 165 3/4, 166, 166 1/4, 166 1/2, 166 3/4, 167, 167 1/4, 167 1/2, 167 3/4, 168, 168 1/4, 168 1/2, 168 3/4, 169, 169 1/4, 169 1/2, 169 3/4, 170, 170 1/4, 170 1/2, 170 3/4, 171, 171 1/4, 171 1/2, 171 3/4, 172, 172 1/4, 172 1/2, 172 3/4, 173, 173 1/4, 173 1/2, 173 3/4, 174, 174 1/4, 174 1/2, 174 3/4, 175, 175 1/4, 175 1/2, 175 3/4, 176, 176 1/4, 176 1/2, 176 3/4, 177, 177 1/4, 177 1/2, 177 3/4, 178, 178 1/4, 178 1/2, 178 3/4, 179, 179 1/4, 179 1/2, 179 3/4, 180, 180 1/4, 180 1/2, 180 3/4, 181, 181 1/4, 181 1/2, 181 3/4, 182, 182 1/4, 182 1/2, 182 3/4, 183, 183 1/4, 183 1/2, 183 3/4, 184, 184 1/4, 184 1/2, 184 3/4, 185, 185 1/4, 185 1/2, 185 3/4, 186, 186 1/4, 186 1/2, 186 3/4, 187, 187 1/4, 187 1/2, 187 3/4, 188, 188 1/4, 188 1/2, 188 3/4, 189, 189 1/4, 189 1/2, 189 3/4, 190, 190 1/4, 190 1/2, 190 3/4, 191, 191 1/4, 191 1/2, 191 3/4, 192, 192 1/4, 192 1/2, 192 3/4, 193, 193 1/4, 193 1/2, 193 3/4, 194, 194 1/4, 194 1/2, 194 3/4, 195, 195 1/4, 195 1/2, 195 3/4, 196, 196 1/4, 196 1/2, 196 3/4, 197, 197 1/4, 197 1/2, 197 3/4, 198, 198 1/4, 198 1/2, 198 3/4, 199, 199 1/4, 199 1/2, 199 3/4, 200, 200 1/4, 200 1/2, 200 3/4, 201, 201 1/4, 201 1/2, 201 3/4, 202, 202 1/4, 202 1/2, 202 3/4, 203, 203 1/4, 203 1/2, 203 3/4, 204, 204 1/4, 204 1/2, 204 3/4, 205, 205 1/4, 205 1/2, 205 3/4, 206, 206 1/4, 206 1/2, 206 3/4, 207, 207 1/4, 207 1/2, 207 3/4, 208, 208 1/4, 208 1/2, 208 3/4, 209, 209 1/4, 209 1/2, 209 3/4, 210, 210 1/4, 210 1/2, 210 3/4, 211, 211 1/4, 211 1/2, 211 3/4, 212, 212 1/4, 212 1/2, 212 3/4, 213, 213 1/4, 213 1/2, 213 3/4, 214, 214 1/4, 214 1/2, 214 3/4, 215, 215 1/4, 215 1/2, 215 3/4, 216, 216 1/4, 216 1/2, 216 3/4, 217, 217 1/4, 217 1/2, 217 3/4, 218, 218 1/4, 218 1/2, 218 3/4, 219, 219 1/4, 219 1/2, 219 3/4, 220, 220 1/4, 220 1/2, 220 3/4, 221, 221 1/4, 221 1/2, 221 3/4, 222, 222 1/4, 222 1/2, 222 3/4, 223, 223 1/4, 223 1/2, 223 3/4, 224, 224 1/4, 224 1/2, 224 3/4, 225, 225 1/4, 225 1/2, 225 3/4, 226, 226 1/4, 226 1/2, 226 3/4, 227, 227 1/4, 227 1/2, 227 3/4, 228, 228 1/4, 228 1/2, 228 3/4, 229, 229 1/4, 229 1/2, 229 3/4, 230, 230 1/4, 230 1/2, 230 3/4, 231, 231 1/4, 231 1/2, 231 3/4, 232, 232 1/4, 232 1/2, 232 3/4, 233, 233 1/4, 233 1/2, 233 3/4, 234, 234 1/4, 234 1/2, 234 3/4, 235, 235 1/4, 235 1/2, 235 3/4, 236, 236 1/4, 236 1/2, 236 3/4, 237, 237 1/4, 237 1/2, 237 3/4, 238, 238 1/4, 238 1/2, 238 3/4, 239, 239 1/4, 239 1/2, 239 3/4, 240, 240 1/4, 240 1/2, 240 3/4, 241, 241 1/4, 241 1/2, 241 3/4, 242, 242 1/4, 242 1/2, 242 3/4, 243, 243 1/4, 243 1/2, 243 3/4, 244, 244 1/4, 244 1/2, 244 3/4, 245, 245 1/4, 245 1/2, 245 3/4, 246, 246 1/4, 246 1/2, 246 3/4, 247, 247 1/4, 247 1/2, 247 3/4, 248, 248 1/4, 248 1/2, 248 3/4, 249, 249 1/4, 249 1/2, 249 3/4, 250, 250 1/4, 250 1/2, 250 3/4, 251, 251 1/4, 251 1/2, 251 3/4, 252, 252 1/4, 252 1/2, 252 3/4, 253, 253 1/4,

ONCE MORE SPRING SEASON'S WITH US

Lawn Mowers, Clippers and Weather-Beaten Barrows Are Again in Service.

It's spring once again. Dear, old, real spring, with warmth, and sunshine, and blossoms and flowers, and rolling fields of green.

London—a city of homes—is making the best of the bounteous season. Everywhere can be heard the clicking of the lawn mower and the clipping of the shears. Everywhere can be heard the groans and creaks of the weather-beaten wheelbarrow, aged and worn, but still doing service to assist in beautifying the lawn. Once in a while smoke arising from a back yard tells of a belated "clean-up."

The merry tinkling of fountains in the larger grounds and the gleeful hissing of the garden hose in less pretentious places, tells of the fact that warm weather is here, and the dust of summer is being overcome by the cooling nectar from Springbank.

London has no residence streets built up flush with the sidewalk—long canyons of brick and mortar, scintillating sunshine in summer and wind-driven in winter. Almost every house has its lawn, perhaps a chicken, not much larger than a pocket handkerchief, yet still an opportunity for a bit of green sward or a few flowers.

Despite the good work that is being done, there is ample evidence that these opportunities are not employed as they might be, either by rich or poor in some quarters. Many handsome homes are unadorned by shrub or flower, depending upon the severe simplicity of a shaven lawn for their only embellishment. In other cases the floral decorations are not chosen with any thought of their suitability to the style of the house, its color, or harmony of scheme, while other houses that might easily be made pretty, stand barren and neglected.

There is a chance to greatly enhance the beauty of London's streets, to our eyes and in the eyes of the thousands of strangers who visit us during the summer. All that is required is the inclination and a little endeavor.

No one should feel debarred because of lack of means. Beautiful effects may be obtained by use of humble and old-fashioned plants. Lusty growth and generous bloom are more desirable than rarity.

A young married couple, starting housekeeping in a little old-fashioned dwelling, rented at that, set a Japanese hop vine to clamber over one side of the porch, a clematis (particulate) to drape the other, planted nasturtiums under the front windows and a row of cantaloup beans to screen an unsightly wing.

By August the shabbiest house on the street was the prettiest and the most observed. And, good example being as contagious as measles, next year the modestly set shrubs and planted vines and beauty crept both up and down the street for several blocks. This is merely to show the use that may be made of plants we are apt to regard as common.

BOTH ARE OUT TO WIN

Grapplers in Good Condition for Tonight's Match.

Don McMahon, the wrestler of Kingston, has arrived in the city, and is in good shape for the go with Adamson of Chicago, at Bennett's Vaudeville tonight. McMahon has been wrestling in Michigan, and has done some fine work. Adamson, the former Londoner, is also down fine, and one of the greatest wrestling matches ever seen in London can be looked for tonight.

Both men are out to win, and there will be something done every minute. Adamson has won from some clever men, including Beil, of Wisconsin, one of the best in the business.

McMahon also has a reputation as a great mat artist.

Queries Answered.

LUCAN.—A hired to B for seven months, but did not mention holidays, washing, or the Sunday off. A afterward found that B's wife would not do his washing. Can A go home every Sunday to change his clothes (nothing having been said to change him) and still work every Sunday, or can B compel him to work every other Sunday under the circumstances? What holidays can A claim when there was nothing said about it? Ans.—A must do necessary chores on Sundays and other holidays. He is not compelled to do any work on Sundays and holidays other than necessary, such as feeding cattle, etc. He can go home on Sundays or any other holidays to change his clothes. The holidays other than Sundays, such as Christmas, Thanksgiving Day, Dominion Day and Victoria Day.

RACE RIOT NEAR ALBANY

Negroes Take Place of Striking Italians and Bloody Affray Follows.

Albany, N. Y., May 16.—A race riot between Italians and negroes broke out in the brickyard on the west bank of the Hudson River at Coeymans, 12 miles south of here, this morning. Sheriff Pitts and deputies, and Lieut. Col. Davis of the Tenth Regiment went to Coeymans, but all the negroes were officers of the local militia companies have been instructed to be in readiness for orders, though military interference may be unnecessary. One negro had been brought to the Albany Hospital with a bullet in his side. Riots of this character are periodical at Coeymans, but all the negroes are serious, growing out of the importation of southern negroes to take the place of striking Italians.

Only $2.35—Toronto and Return—Good for Three Days.

Canadian Pacific fast special train, leaves London 7:30 a.m., May 19, returning same night 10:30. Return tickets only $2.35, good for three days. Call at city office, corner Dundas and Richmond streets, for tickets, etc. 28u

PRICES ARE SKY HIGH

Big Figures Being Asked for North End Property.

Property in the north end of the city is taking balloon ascensions this spring. In February, 80 feet—two lots—on Hellmuth avenue, sold for $840. In May it was sold for $1,200—an increase of about $400 in a few months. "If we were to assess property at that is being asked for it the people would make strong objections," Assessment Commissioner Grant said today.

WORK HAS COMMENCED

Street Railway Company Laying South London Extension.

The street railway company has begun to lay rails on Askin street, South London, for the new Edward street belt line.

The cars must be running on the line by July 1.

A CHICKEN FESTIVAL

Some South End Boys Held and Now There's Trouble.

On Sunday afternoon several boys, who live in the south end of the city, were holding a chicken festival in a banquet hall, near the corner of Adelaide and Simcoe streets, when they were interrupted by a couple of policemen, and as a result, Charles Williamson, Samuel Cook, Henry Street, Tucker Spencer, Wm. Smith, Robert Watt, Henry Morley and Wm. Steele, had to appear at the police court this morning charged with stealing a chicken valued at $1. For some time past residents of the south end have complained of losing poultry, and it is alleged that the source of the trouble has been found. Some of the boys failed to answer the summons, and so the case was adjourned until tomorrow, to give the boys another chance to appear before warrants are issued for their arrest.

THROWN OUT BY RUNAWAY

Wagon Driver Has a Strenuous Few Minutes on York Street.

A delivery horse belonging to Mr. T. A. Baulds, commission merchant, ran away yesterday afternoon. The horse was frightened near Richmond street, and ran west on York. The driver, whose name is Star, was thrown out in front of Dr. Hogg's office. He was taken in there, but was later removed to his home. He was considerably bruised, but his injuries were not serious.

The horse continued west until it struck the York street bridge. Here he left the rig, and continued west. He was seen by a policeman, who took him to the pound. The rig was badly wrecked.

AN S. A. VETERAN GONE

Alexander McArthur, of Lobo, Passes Away at Regina.

The death of Alexander McArthur occurred at Regina, Saskatchewan, on Monday. Deceased was formerly of Lobo, and had been in the west since last May. He was a South African veteran, having served there with Strathcona's Horse. He is survived by two brothers, Lorne, of Regina, and Bert, of Lobo, and three sisters, Florence, Minnie and Maggie, all of Lobo. The funeral will take place from Lobo, and will be under Masonic direction.

WILL JUST FILE IT

L. and P. S. R. Board Will Not Consider Pere Marquette's Offer.

A meeting of the L. and P. S. R. board will be called for some day this week to formally file the application of the Pere Marquette for extension of the lease of the city's road.

"We can't do business on the terms proposed by the P. M.," Mayor Judd said today.

ASYLUM BURSAR, DR. SIPPI, DEAD

Continued from Page One.

Dr. Sippi came to Canada in 1865, and settled in Port Stanley, where he practiced medicine for nearly two years. But the practice of medicine was always distasteful to him, and he resolved to take the first opportunity that offered, and return to his first love—music. In the early years of 1867 he was offered and accepted the position of house surgeon and teacher of classics, physiology and English in Hellmuth College, this city, by Bishop Hellmuth, under Dr. Sweatman, the present Bishop of Toronto, who was then head master of the institution. Dr. Sippi remained in connection with the college until 1874, when he retired and accepted the management of the London branch of the firm of A. & S. Nordheimer, which he held for several years. While at Hellmuth College, he had the honorary degree of master of arts conferred on him by Kenyon College, Ohio.

Dr. Sippi was for three years a trustee of the Collegiate Institute, and organizer and chairman of the Memorial Church; president for 1886 of the Ontario Music Teachers' Association; past master of Kilmichael Lodge, No. 64, A. F. and A. M., and past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada; and he was an honorary member of Court Pride of the Dominion, Ancient Order of Foresters. Dr. Sippi was also president of the Irish Benevolent in 1887.

In religion Dr. Sippi was a staunch Episcopalian. On Oct. 3, 1864, he was married, in Templemichael Church, to Rosa, daughter of the Rev. James Bagge, B.A., vicar of Templemichael, Diocese of Lismore. In the County of Waterford, Mrs. Sippi still survives. In politics the deceased was a staunch Liberal, and in September, 1888, he was appointed bursar of the London Asylum for the Insane, a position which he filled with only with credit to himself, but with the greatest satisfaction to the Government.

CONDENSED LOCAL NEWS

—The close season for pike ended today.

—Ald. Gilean is fishing at the Dorchester preserves today.

—Miss McKinnon, of this city, is visiting relatives in Port Stanley.

—"A" Squadron, First Hussars, will meet for drill tonight, Major H. R. Abbott, commanding.

—J. S. Welsh has been granted a building permit for a cement cottage on Central avenue.

—Inspector McCallum wants all milkmen to pay their annual license fee of $1 or they will be summoned forthwith.

—Harold Fraser, of 127 Kent street, left yesterday for the Rocky Mountains to spend the summer with a survey party.

—No. 3 committee of the city council meets tonight. It is understood the row over the junk business in the south end will come up.

—The propeller Cuba, the first steamer of the season from Montreal, arrived at Port Stanley yesterday with 250 tons of general merchandise, mostly for this city.

—The new auto wagonette, which is to be used on the London and Lucan mail service, will make its trial trip this afternoon at 4:30 from the Fraser House on King street.

—At a match game of whist at the Telemachus Club rooms Tuesday night, the following made plus scores: Goodwin and Smith, plus 3; McGee and Arthur, plus 2; Charles McLeod, plus 1, and Richards and Southcott, average.

—City Engineer Graydon says that if certain people who are complaining of the dumping of rubbish in different quarters of the city by teamsters will consent to appear as witnesses against the offenders he will be pleased to lay information against the teamsters causing the alleged nuisance.

—The recital in the First Methodist Church Friday evening should be well attended, as the programme is an excellent one. Miss Bateman is sure to create a sensation, as she is meeting with unbounded success in the east at present. Mr. Parlovitz, the Polish pianist, is well known here, and Mr. Jordan and his choir, a good entertainment should be the result. Tickets are for sale at all music stores and with members of the club.

—The London Mothers' Club met in the West London kindergarten yesterday afternoon, and was addressed by Rev. G. B. Sage on "The Attitude of the Mind to Work." A discussion interesting to both mothers and kindergartners, followed the talk, and suggested the power which this organization of mothers, from every district in the city, must wield either for good or ill. The next meeting will be held in the evening, June 19, in St. George's kindergarten, where "Home Occupation for Children" will be considered.

—Nearly a quarter of a million dollars was expended on the park and monument to the centennial of the birth of Sir Isaac Brock. The daughters of the Empire in this city are modestly asking the pupils of London to help them to erect a $7,000 monument in Victoria Park to the memory of our South African hero. The pupils of the schools will shortly give an expression of their loyalty to this cause by contributing their mite toward the amount. The result will be watched with interest.

GOING ALONG RAPIDLY. The Pere Marquette has completed the laying of the new track, and the prospect is that the line will be opened to St. R. from St. Thomas to this city, and the men are now working between South street and the bridge.

A NEW INDUSTRY. The manufacturers' committee meets this afternoon. It is understood that the meeting is called for the purpose of considering the proposed erection of a very valuable industry, the name of which is withheld for the present.

MUST PASS EXAM. City Clerk Baines is holding an examination of the applicants for the vacancy in his office tomorrow evening. They will be compelled to take letters from dictation and to compose the answers, also to copy a page from the assessment rolls.

A SPLENDID DISPLAY. Parks Commissioner Pearce has a splendid display of bulbs in the parks this spring. The tulip beds in Victoria being especially beautiful. He would like those who believe that the city could purchase all the flowers it needs for a few dollars to visit the park and see how far $25 would go in buying the hundreds of bulbs he has set out there.

LONDONER WON SCHOLARSHIP. In connection with the recent examinations at McMaster University, degrees will be conferred and diplomas presented at this evening at the convocation in Castle Memorial Hall, Toronto. Mr. A. Stewart Woodburne, of this city, fourth year graduate, is recipient of a Crawford scholarship. He is a son of the late Thomas Woodburne, for many years a principal on the London public schools teaching staff.

SIDDAILL GOES TO SEVENTH. The City Baseball League held a meeting last night to consider a protest regarding the playing of Infielder Siddaill, who covered first base for the Champions last Saturday. The meeting decided that Siddaill should play with the Seventh Regiment after Saturday's game, which he plays with the Champions. The protest was withdrawn by the Rockets on this decision.

NOT THIS YEAR ALONE

Council Dissatisfied With B. of E. Extravagance in the Past.

Dr. English, of the board of education, had an interview with Mayor Judd today in regard to the board's report for the issue of debentures for additions to city schools.

The doctor pointed out that the council appeared to be "sore" because the board had not cut $100,000 off its estimates in order to save the tax rate, but the mayor remarked that the council is also dissatisfied with what it regards as the extravagance of the board for some years past.

Monday night the trustees will ask the council to issue the debentures, and a denunciation from the educational body will be present to press the claims for additional school accommodation.

BEGINS HEALING INSTANTLY

Balm Zeln is absorbed so quickly that you'll wonder where it has gone. No trace of grease or stickiness remains to annoy. Just a dainty, elusive odor that tells that it has been applied, and an immediate sense of comfort to show that the healing has begun. Soothes chapped and roughened skin in a magical way, is as harmless as a daisy, and costs but 25 cents.

STRONG'S DRUG STORE

184 DUNDAS STREET.

Strong's Baking Powder leads—others follow.

WHAT'S YOUR CHOICE FOR KING'S PLATE?

All the Favorites Are Moving Fast, But "You Never Can Tell."

Toronto, May 16.—The prospects now look for at least a strong start in King's Plate race at the Woodbine on Saturday, the feature event of the opening day's races of the Ontario Jockey Club. Even with the race so close at hand it is a difficult matter to select any one candidate as the probable winner. Everything points to a very evenly contested race with at least three or four horses in it at the finish. The public choice today is Mr. Eymont's "Courtmarial." His training performances have been done to the satisfaction of his owner and trainer, but as all turfmen know, all race horses are not good work horses, and it is not always the horse that runs the fastest that wins the race that gets the money. Courtmarial has a royal chance to win the rich prize, but he will need to be at his best to beat the field on Saturday.

The Kipling stable has the most promising candidate in Winkfield, the stable connections are very sweet on his chances. He runs well on his own courage, a good sign in a young horse, and in addition to gameness has a fine turn of speed. Mr. Segram must always be reckoned with in the disposition of the plate, as his long list of victories would indicate, and this year is no exception to the rule. The Waterloo breeder holds a strong hand in Slaughter, Winks and Haruko, any one of which has a chance to win.

They have come along steadily in their work always showing gradual improvement, and will be at their best on Saturday, so that the familiar black and yellow is sure to be prominent in the running. Mr. Boyle's Hillhurst, Mr. Brenner's French Hill, Sword Dance, Mr. Hendrie's Lord Duns, Mr. Miller's Capersdine are also probable starters, and their owners all think they have an outside chance to win. It is differences of opinion that make horse races, and this year's plate race cannot be decided until the contestants pass the wire at Woodbine on Saturday. Granted a fine day a new record for the race made on the new track, and the prospects are for the largest attendance in the history of the club.

The increased accommodation for the public will receive its first real test. The beautiful course never looked so prettier, and when the infield is completed there will be no finer race track anywhere in America.

WANTS BUT A SPARK

Russian Peasantry Would Rise in Revolt at Slightest Excuse.

St. Petersburg, May 16.—From the very outset today, in the Russian Parliament, words in favor of moderation were few and far between. Semenov, a social revolutionist from Saratov, declared to the assembly that the peasants from the throne was too weak. To cries of "Land and freedom," he announced that the people who had sent him to Parliament did not want land, but they did want freedom. The peasants were so revolutionary that "only a spark was required to kindle a conflagration, and anarchy and destruction were certain if their demands were not satisfied immediately."

Zaslavsky, of Podolsk Province, a lawyer elected by the peasants, spoke passionately in favor of the abolition of the death penalty, saying that the country already had too many categories of death. Prof. Kusim-Karaviev, formerly of the Academy of Military Law, who is one of the Tver delegates, also advocated the abolition of the death penalty.

McMaster Lecturers.

Toronto, May 15.—The senate and board of governors of McMaster University met this morning, when the following appointments were made:

E. A. Hardy, B.A.—Principal of Mount Ladies' College.
Miss Charlotte Thrall—Vice-principal of Mount Ladies' College.
A. L. McCrimmon, M.A., LL.D.—Professor of economics, education and sociology.

J. L. Hogg, Ph.D.—Lecturer in physics.

F. H. Kirkpatrick—Lecturer in public reading and speaking for the session 1906-07.

Miss Harris, B.A., B.D.—Honorary lecturer in English Bible.
Rev. Francis H. Perry, B.A., D.D.—Lecturer in pasteur theology for the session 1906-07.

The following honorary degrees will be conferred at McMaster University tomorrow morning: D.D., Rev. A. A. Cameron, Ottawa; LL.D., Goldwin Smith, Toronto; and Mr. L. E. Embree, Toronto.

—Mrs. (Rev.) Colin Fletcher, of Thame Road is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Azur, 181 St. James street.

An engineer declares that 50,000 people now go with machinery the work of 10,000,000 persons a few years ago.

R. J. YOUNG & CO.

Special Showing of Pretty New Parasols

THIS WEEK

Washable Linen Parasols with attractive eyelet insertion, covers easily removed for laundering. New brass-ribbed, silk and gloria Parasols, in plain self colors and dainty floral borders. Japanese Silk Parasols, in cream and colors. Children's fancy satana and frilled silk, priced to sell from:

Children's ... 25c, 50c, 75c up to $1.50
Ladies' ... $1.00, $1.50 up to $5.00

HOLIDAY SALE OF DAINTY POMPADOUR AND DRESDEN RIBBONS.

These elegant American Ribbons were bought specially for the holiday trade. Suitable widths for fancy collars. In a splendid assortment of fashionable colorings, per yard:

12-12c, 15c, 18c and 25c

OUR LEADER IN WHITE CAMBRIC SKIRTS.

WORTH 36c each, neck and arms trimmed with torchon lace, front finished with insertion, good quality cambric. Special sale price ... 25c

MADE OF SPLENDID QUALITY OF ENGLISH CAMBRIC, WITH WAFFLE FINISH, OF VICTORIA LACE, LAVISHLY TRIMMED WITH TORCHON LACE, FRONT FINISHED WITH INSERTION AND LACE, EASILY WASHABLE. Special sale price ... $1.25

FIEND WIPES OUT FAMILY OF NINE

Minister, His Wife and Children Brained, and the Bodies Burned.

Pensacola, Fla., May 15.—One of the most horrible crimes in the history of the south was committed in Santa Rosa County, ten miles north of Milton, Sunday night, when a man by the name of Ackerman, an itinerant preacher, his wife and seven children, the oldest between 13 and 14 years of age, were murdered and their bodies cremated in the home, which was fired by the assassins.

The crime was discovered in the morning by parties with whom Ackerman had an appointment. They found the home a mass of ruins, and the charred bodies of Ackerman, his wife and seven small children among the wreckage.

Examination of the bodies by Dr. H. G. Eldridge disclosed the fact that Ackerman and his wife had been struck on the head with some blunt instrument. Their skulls were crushed in. The bodies were scattered about in different parts of the ruins. Details indicate that the father, mother and each of the seven children were murdered before the building was fired, as the skull of each was crushed. The body of Ackerman was found near the front door, and the bodies of his wife and children were found in the room in which he slept, and by his side was a revolver. The body of Mrs. Ackerman, who gave birth to a child on Friday last, was found, with that of her infant child, outside of the sill at the front of the house. The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

When a party from Milton reached the scene, about 11 o'clock, the sills of the building were still burning. This seemed to indicate that the fire had been started several hours after midnight. The country nearby is sparsely settled, the nearest neighbor residing about one-quarter of a mile away. This neighbor says he knew nothing of the crime until early in the morning, when he saw that the building had been destroyed, and notified other neighbors before trying to ascertain the damage. The feeling throughout the district is one of great excitement, which is known as Allentown, from Opp, Ala., about three years ago, and has always been considered a good and peaceful citizen. While he had no regular charge, it was his custom to preach occasionally throughout that section of Santa Rosa County. He was not known to have had any enemies, and the motive for the atrocious crime is a mystery. A coroner's jury is now investigating the matter.

The oldest child was found near the door leading out to the front porch. All of the bodies were badly burned, practically only the trunks and skulls remaining. The bodies of three boys were found where the bed upon which they slept stood previous to the conflagration.

Sufficient Reasons

For buying your Wallpapers here are exemplified in our superb showing and unequalled values. A glance will prove this statement.

O. B. GRAVES, Ltd.
222 DUNDAS STREET.

LUMBER!

Sash, Doors, Etc.
Dymont-Baker Lumber Company.

H. Bonser Wood Turner

R. K. COWAN
BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, ETC.
County Bldg., next Court House, London.

HIGHEST GRADES OF
BURNING OIL, LUBRICATING OIL
And all other
Petroleum Products.

THE QUEEN CITY OIL CO.
LIMITED.
Head Office—Toronto.
London Branch—York Street East.

WALL PAPERS

Call and inspect our
new WALL PAPERS

COLERICK BROS.

212 Dundas Street.

Individual Instruction from Experienced Teachers
Make First-Class Steno-graphers and Bookkeepers.

The fact that every one of our graduates is placed in a situation is the best proof that our system and methods are the best. Pupils may join classes at any time. School continues during summer months.

The Western Ontario Shorthand and Business College,
74 and 76 DUNDAS ST.
Wm. C. Coe, C.S.R., Principal.

New Toilet Sets

Immense variety, not equalled in London for style, quality or price. New shapes, all prices.
See our specials at $3.75
See our specials at $4.00
These sets are not sold anywhere else in the city. We have sole sale in London for this famous factory's productions.

London Crockery Co.

'Phone 919. 169 Dundas Street

ECONOMY

For the same amount of light the Nerst lamp requires only one-half the current taken by ordinary incandescent lamps. This means the running cost of electric lights has been reduced about 50 per cent by the introduction of the Nerst lamp.

LONDON ELECTRIC CO.
Limited, 359 Richmond Street.

A deaf mute is generally itself in comparison to the money of some people.

A PLEASANT MEDICINE—There are some pills which have no other purpose than to irritate the bowels, and cause disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material, as take a medicine which has no other purpose than to irritate the bowels, and cause disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material, as take a medicine which has no other purpose than to irritate the bowels, and cause disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them.

The Gladstone Bag
The Kit Bag

and all the high-grade English travelling bags are carried in stock here, as well as Canadian and American makes.

Holiday Season
Commences Soon

and you will want some leather goods. We buy in large quantities, and can give you lowest prices, as well as show biggest assortment.

POCOCK BROS.

140 DUNDAS STREET.

THE CANADA TRUST CO.

Huron and Erie Offices.
LONDON, ONTARIO

This Company was incorporated for the public and private good as well as for profit. It desires to continue a successful Trust Company—one reason why good service is assured and at the lowest consistent rates.

Call or write
G.A. Bomerville
Managing Director.

QUALITY STORE

PINEAPPLES for preserving from

$1.50 to $2.50 Per Dozen

HARRY RANAHAN
'Phone 1024. 515 Richmond Street

-2-

First Class Jewellery Stores that are at your disposal.

W.G. Young
Diamond Hall,
214 Dundas and 674 Dundas St.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

—E. H. Dunn has taken out a building permit for a two-story brick residence at 243 Wortley road.

—Miss Annie Marshall, who has been in St. Joseph's Hospital, for some time past, has returned home much improved in health.

—The firemen had a run to Mann's coal and wood yard yesterday afternoon, where one of the sheds was on fire. The damage was slight.

—Quartermaster-Sergeant Price and Blake-Foster, formerly of the Wolsley Barracks force, have been moved from this year to the staff of the Canadian School of Musketry.

—At the Armories on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, "A" Squadron, First Hussars, will drill. Lieut. H. N. Albert, commanding officer, is calling for recruits, who are invited to attend on Saturday.

—The members of the Paris Ladies' Golf Club are coming on Thursday, May 17, to play a match with the London Ladies' Golf Club. Tea will be served at the club house at 5 o'clock, at which all members are cordially invited to attend.

—The Canadian Pacific Railway steamship Empress of Britain will sail from Quebec at 3 p.m. Saturday, May 19. Special steamship Empress train will leave Windsor street depot, Montreal, at 8:40 a.m., on sailing date, for Quebec.

—Fire Chief Howard, of Berlin, was in the city yesterday. He is working to organize a Berlin old boys' association in London, and he will be at his residence here, 235 King street, tonight and tomorrow night. All Berlin old boys who are interested in the movement are invited to call on him.

MUCH REPAIRING NEEDED.
The joint inspection of the Western Fair buildings revealed the fact that many of them are in bad shape, and must be repaired at once. The main building must have a new roof, as it is leaking badly, and several of the stables and exhibition sheds are in a very bad state.

EX-HIDE INSPECTOR DEAD.
Stinson Thompson passed away on Monday at his residence, 638 Princess avenue, at the age of 73 years. Deceased was hide inspector of this district for 25 years, and was a well-known citizen. He is survived by his wife, seven daughters—Mrs. R. Wilkins, Mrs. H. Delaney, Mrs. Jas. Dunn and Mrs. Thomas Berry, of this city; Mrs. Thomas Brophy, of Windsor; Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Bert Blougett, of Detroit, and five sons—J. P. of the G. T. R. city; Ernest, of Detroit; Stinson and Charles at home; James, of this city, and Joseph, of Windsor. The funeral will take place from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to Woodland cemetery. Rev. Dyson Hague will officiate.

TOLD OF TRIP IN ROCKIES.
At the Middlesex Historical Society meeting, held in the rooms at the public library last night, Mr. Frank E. Leonard entertained the members by giving a graphic account of his recent trip through the Rocky Mountains. Mr. Leonard displayed a number of pictures of places he had visited, which added greatly to the interesting nature of the lecture. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Leonard, and in reply he said that he would like to see more interest taken in historical matters in London. The present or-

We will have today:

Strawberries

Also a nice lot of splendid Pine-apples.

JOHN LAWSON
GROCER, ETC.,
'Phone 565. 261 Dundas Street.

Now is the Time You Need a Tonic to drive away the depressing effects of warm, sultry days. Purify the blood and build up the system with Tonic Hypophosphates (C. & L.). It sharpens the appetite—and enables you to enjoy your food. It is excellent for "neurasthenia," strengthens the lungs. Builds up the whole system. 40 cents and 1 bottle.

Cairncross & Lawrence
Chemists and Druggists.
216 Dundas Street, London, Ont.

YOUR SILK HAT BELTZ

Have your Silk Hat Ironed.

organization is doing much along this line, but there is room for improvement.

BICKERSTEEH DEAD

The Author of Yesterday, Today and Forever, Passes Away.

London, May 15.—The Right Rev. Edward Henry Bickersteth, D.D., late bishop of Exeter, died here today. He was born in 1825.

The late bishop was widely known through his literary productions, the most notable and most successful of which was the poem, "Yesterday, Today and Forever." His poems and commentaries were invariably on religious subjects and ran through many editions.

CORNER STONES LAID

Interesting Ceremony at Cook's Presbyterian Church, Caradoc.

Splendid weather and large crowds characterized the laying of the corner stone of Cook's Presbyterian Church, Caradoc, yesterday. Rev. G. Lindsay, of Kintore, laid the chief corner stone. Through a misunderstanding, Bro. Hugh Murray, of Hamilton, grand secretary of the Masonic order, could not be present to lay the east corner stone as advertised, and Mrs. R. W. Letch, wife of the pastor, officiated instead.

The third stone was laid by Mr. J. M. McCreedy, of this city, and the fourth was laid by Mr. Malcolm McGugan, ex-M. P.

After refreshments, addresses were delivered by Mr. J. M. McCreedy, McGugan, Rev. Messrs. Lindsay, Palmerman, Mount Barclay, T. R. Shearer, of Melbourne, and A. Henderson, of London.

Musical numbers were contributed by Miss Wyatt, Miss Alice Trott and the Messrs. Ramsay.

GOING STEADILY ON

Campaign for Monument Fund Meeting With Success.

The campaign in behalf of the monument fund in London is going steadily on. Mrs. Frank Leonard, regent of the municipal chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, is working with unabated zeal to raise the money necessary to erect a monument in memory of the late Queen Victoria. The fund is now over £1,000, and the Canadian soldiers who died for the flag in South Africa. She is receiving a loyal support from the members of the order in London, and the citizens do their share in the fund. The ladies are depending greatly also on the contributions of the school children. There are at least 6,000 of these, and envelopes, donated for the purpose by Mr. Frank Leonard, are being sent out to every school in the city. The teachers will distribute them amongst the scholars and each and every child will be expected to contribute something. As the envelopes will be sealed, no pupil will know how much the other gives, and the penny of the poor child will be as welcome as the dollar of the richer schoolmate.

The monument in Halifax was erected almost wholly out of the funds collected by the school children, so that the Daughters of the Empire look for big things from the children of London.

Many places already have monuments to the Canadian heroes, and it certainly appears to be time that London showed her appreciation of those who fought and died for the flag on the veldt.

Empire Day, May 23, the collections will be handed in.

Citizens who care to make donations may send any sums, large or small, to Mrs. Leonard, who will be greatly pleased to acknowledge them.

SOUVENIR POSTCARDS

Fine collection of Colored and Photographic Souvenir Postcards of London for sale by Red Star News Company, 8 Market Lane.

First prize honey at Smyth's Hyman and Richmond streets. Phone 1281.

We pay special attention to spring wedding orders.—Hueston's Liveries.

THE LONGEST LIFE

Is not too long to test the splendid quality of Roger Bros' 1847 Silverware. There is nothing more acceptable to a bride.

SUMNER,

The Jeweller,
360 RICHMOND STREET.

BARTENDERS LICENSED

Fifty-Six Have Paid Their Fees Under New Law.

Fifty-six bartenders have been licensed in this city under the new law. They are: F. A. Reld, Harry Walsh, Fred Harding, W. J. Barrows, Charles Stevens, John Lamont, John Kincaid, George Hayman, J. C. Henry, Joseph Russell, Thomas B. Cook, Fred Evans, Angus Mahon, Thomas J. Latimer, Wm. Pleasance, James B. Black, Frank Smith, Ernest Orr, George Parker, Jas. Long, Arthur Durhan, John McIntosh, George Simpson, John W. S. Don, Jas. Fitzgerald, F. C. Woodward, John Macpherson, Fred Winston, David McCreath, Charles W. Manning, Harry Edsall, Lansdowne Shaw, John Young, Robert Ralson, J. Goldhawk, James Padfield, Henry Moorhouse, Duncan McLennan, Joseph Lane, S. Fleming, W. Williams, Henry Garside, Robert Tuck, James Pitfield, James Donnelly, E. D. Bowers, James McComb, W. H. Holland, Wm. Russell, Fred Nicol, Harry M. Davis, Wm. Jerney, H. C. Barrows, John McFaulds.

The licensee fee is $2 per annum, and all of it goes to the Ontario Government.

HELD BIRTHDAY PARTY

St. Matthew's Raised Funds to Pay Off Church Debt.

A birthday social was held last night in the schoolroom of St. Matthew's Church, East London, and it was a huge success. The money raised for the purpose of raising money to pay off the church debt.

The amount realized by birthday contributions was $24.35.

There was a large audience present and a high-class programme was given, which included two solos by Mr. Abraham, two recitations by Miss Winifred Short, piano solo, Miss Bremner; solo, Mr. Rowed; solo, Mr. Whitehead; piano solo, Miss Hamilton; two readings, Miss Helgway, and a duet by Miss Bremner and Mr. Abraham.

Rev. Mr. Lowe, rector of the church, presided.

FOR 'FRISCO Y. M. C. A.

Concert in Aid of It Given at the Auditorium.

In the Auditorium last night a concert was given for the benefit of Trinity Mission and Y. M. C. A. of San Francisco. The concert was one of the best given here for some time.

All of the artists who took part were Londoners, and they rendered their parts in a way which would satisfy the most critical lovers of music, and which showed that we have here in the city talent which can compare favorably with that of any other city.

Miss Jessie Hamilton Strong, Miss Raymond and Mrs. Albert D. Jordan, the pianists, all contributed most pleasing numbers.

The vocal solos, Miss Edna Morton and Miss Susie McGill, it would be difficult to say which was the most appreciated. Both are well known to Londoners as being among the best of soprano soloists.

Owning to illness Mr. Charles Percy could not be present, and Mr. Arthur Garthwaite contributed a number in his place.

Miss Anthistie, Miss Jenkins and Mr. C. M. Wain were deserving of the highest of praise.

The following programme was supplied: Spanish Dance, Nos. 1 and 2 (Moszkowski), Misses Jessie Hamilton Strong and Miss M. Raynolds; "Trombone" (Edna Morton), Miss Anthistie; "Sweet Wild Rose" (Trotter), Miss Susie McGill; cornet solo, "The Palms" (Faure), Mr. Court Irwin; "My Heart is Weary" (Godwin), Miss Eliza Jenkins; "Hazy" (Eliza P. Nicholson), Miss Anthistie; "Villanelle" (Dell'Acqua), Miss Edna Morton; "The Bandoler" (Leslie), Mr. Garthwaite; Valse, A Flat (Moszkowski), Mrs. Jordan; 1st Chorus, "Edna Morton; selected, Miss Anthistie.

VICTORIA DAY AT WINDSOR

Troops of Uncle Sam and Jack Canuck Will Meet in Friendly Rivalry

Windsor, May 15.—A grand international military celebration takes place in Windsor on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first Highlanders, the new crack Canadian Highland regiment, with their brass band of 50 pieces, bugle corps of 25, and 25 pipers; 25 picked men from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, stationed at a "Frontier" post on Victoria Day, May 24, in which the following will participate: The Ninety-first