THE GOVERNMENT VS. DR.

SEATH.

The city school inspector, Mr. Edwards, says that Dr. Seath informed him that when the citizens of London showed a practical interest in the University, the Government would assist it. The question naturally arises, who reached the determination stated? Was it the Government or was it Dr. Seath?

If it was the Government, why did it not communicate its decision to the authorities of the Western University or to the deputation from Western Ontario, instead of to Dr. Seath? If it was the latter, then we have the spectacle of an irresponsible officer dictating to the Government what course it

This is one of the charges made by Ald. Murphy. He instances the senate's application to the Minister of Education for Miss Dearness' standing. The minster replied that he had not the marks, that they were at the Normal College. Application there meets with refusal, because the education permit her standing to be given. This recalls that one of the county school inspectors told his county council that the Minister of Education is only Dr. Seath's gramophone.

But let us examine the dictum itself. 'Practical interest" can only mean in of Toronto University for evidence of dians is equal to any indertaking. financial support worth mentioning which Toronto gives that university while the Government gives it in round numbers a half million a year. Why would Dr. Seath make fish of one and flesh of the other? Some people are constitutionally incapable of impartial-

It is becoming more and more evident that the governors and the various deputations have been making a mistake in going to the Minister of Education or the Premier and in appealing to Hon. Adam Beck for justice and reasonable assistance to the University. They should have waited on Dr. Seath. Then, when he informed them that the Government would assist when the citizens of London show a "practical interest," they could assure him that such had already been shown. They could point to the valuable scholarships that had been offered in every county and city included in the district; they could show him what sums in taxes the citizens had contributed, what services the Public Library had rendered. Then unless he could think of some other shifty excuse, he would have no further reason for refusing permission to the Government to render long delayed justice to the Western University.

Since the above was put into type a letter has been received from Mr. Edwards, explaining that Dr. Seath's promise of Government assistance referred to the recognition by the educational department of honor degrees granted by the Western. That was five years ago, and the department still refuses to recognize the Western's honor degrees, although the city of London has in the meantime made an annual grant to the University equivalent to an endowment of $100,000.

A POINTER FOR COL. HUGHES.

Hudson Maxim, brother of the inventor of the Maxim gun, in a lecture upon warfare of the future, said that an army of 100,000 Canadians could be landed from aeroplanes in the suburbs of Buffalo, take the city and then, mounting the skies again, fly on to Cleveland before it could be halted by any American force not supplied with aerial machines.

Here is a possibility that has been overlooked by the eagle eye of Colonel Sam Hughes. He talks of teaching a million Canadians to shoot accurately at Americans who invade this country but his plan is pusillanimous and costly, compared with the one kindly provided by neighbor Maxim. The Borden Government has disconinued the Newmarket Canal. The canal was denounced by the Conservative party as useless, and the party would be inconsistent if it carried on the work. Even North York cannot complain. It elected a Conservative.

Mr. Carnegie confesses in the witness box that his profits jumped from $6,000,000 to $40,000,000 in the first three years of the Dingley tariff. This reveals the Dingley bill as a great moral measure. But for it, Mr. Carnegie would not now have so many millions to spend in libraries.

No matter how poor or humble a mother may be, her influence over the girl is greater than that of all others—aye, even a lover's. It is the poor creature who has no such ties to bind her to a home and all that is good who is more apt to lose her way.

The once bright, happy girl who is no longer under her mother's guiding rule grows restless, despondent, then reckless, and she cbbs on with the tide of human beings who live only for their own pleasures, having no thought of the penalties of tomorrow

If each city had an organization of noble women to look after the daughters of the slums when they stand at that critical point of tablespoonfuls of melted butter, onethe path where girlhood and womanhood meet, it would mean the saving of thousands of souls that are now sacrificed. Every human being should have the birthright of sunshine, usefulness and

This is the time of year when those who are predisposed to cold feet ex ed silk, with straps and pockets for all perience the discomfort most acutely. Slow circulation is one cause of the trouble, in which case nothing is s eneficial as walking exercise.

Unfortunately, there are many peo ple who are unable to adopt this remedy, and it is to those especially that intend to offer a few suggestions. In the first place, the feet should be washed very frequently, three times week, or even every night, in warm vater, but not hot.

Take them from this water and either dip them in cold water or squeeze a wet sponge over them, the sponge to be full of cold water. dry the feet with a rough towel, and rub in a little liniment to further as sist in inducing circulation.

BANK OF TORONTO WINS C. R. U. HOLDS ITS FROM LONDON LIFE TEAM

Opening of Bankers' League Took Place on Saturday Afternoon-Score Was 10 to 0.

The Bank of Toronto opened the Bankers' League in a very auspicious manner on Saturday afternoon, when they trimmed the London Life team by a score of 10 to 0. The game was a good exhibition despite the one-sidedness of the score, and the London Life team played hard all through the con test. They were up against a faster and heavier team, however, and they were also handicapped by two of their best men, England and Nelles, getting hurt in the early stages. The Bank of Toronto team is a fast one, and look as if they might have an easy time winning the league championship. They are all experienced players, and a couple of them would make good on provincial, Intercollegiate, Ontario and the local O. H. A. teams. Parsons, Quebec bodies being present. Parkdale, when they found that Eatons would not allow Edwards to play, trotted out McLaren, one of their juniors, but he only played about twelve minutes he was forced to retire, taking Mathews with him.

The long wait that the spectators had, however, had allowed the rink to become filled with tobacco smoke, and before half-time one was hardly able to see the players at the other end. This smoke was also a very bad handicap on the players, and they suffered just as much through this as they did through any strenuous work on the ice. It is likely that henceforth smoking will be prohibited at the rink. The game was replete with many gensational rushes, the feature of which was Rankin's brilliant rush in the second half, when he evaded the whole Parkdale team for a score: The teams:

Though heavier, the Argos were not so speedy as their opponents, and they con-tinually lost control of the rubber at critical moments. The Frontenacs not only proved more clever stick-handlers, ot with more accuracy, and would have found the net oftener but for the good work of Addison in goal. Their combination was superior, but what counted most was their readiness; they were almost was their readiness; they were almost was their readiness. ways on tiptoe. OFFICERS ELECTED FOR OTTAWA RACING CLUB

Newly-Organized Association, Which Prominent Ottawa Citizens Are Concerned, Holds Meeting.

Ottawa, Jan. 14. - The newly-organized Ottawa Racing Association held a meeting Saturday afternoon, at which active officers were elected. Many of the most influential citizens of the capital are interested in the Jockey Club, and arrangements are being made for the inaugural meet, which is to be held at the new course on the Aylmer road in June next. The directors were appointed some time ago.

A letter was read from his Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, in which the Governor-General consented to the naming of the new grounds, Connaught Park. His royal highness said that it gave him great pleasure to do so, and wished the new club every success. THE MARCH ON PEKING

Chinese Revolutionaries Preparing To Capture the National Capital. [Canadian Press.]

London, Jan. 15 .- Preparations are indtr way by the revolutionaries for the march on Peking, according to speial dispatches from Shanghai and Peking. Twelve thousand imperial troops are on the way to Chin Wang Tao and Lanchow to oppose the expected landing of revolutionaries.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Peking says that the demand of Russia for the railway concession in Mongolia was prompted by knowledge that the so-called American group was desirous of transferring the Chin Chow-Aigun Railway scheme, which failed to materialize, to a line from Kalgan to the Siberian frontier, which Russian never would permit.

Men of the Blood Have Not Deter iorated, But Control Destinies of All Nations.

"The Anglo-Saxon and the Future Rulership of the World" was the title of an address before a large audience in the Auditorium on Sunday afternoon by Dr. Driver, of the People's Church, McVicker's Theatre, Chicago. Dr. Driver is a big man, both physically and mentally, possessed of a strong and virile voice, which in itself would command attention, and his stirring lecture was one of the best heard in the Auditorium for some

Dealing with a large subject, and one that required delicate handling, he held his audience in a strong grip during his discourse, not only by his rather eccentric style of speaking, but by his wonderful flow of words, and his splendid command of expression He also possesses a rare sense of humor, and all through his lecture his hearers were kept in a state of enjoyquent and menacing this morning that ment by his whimsical expressions. two companies of militia were called

And to solve this question, Dr. Driver started at the beginning, away back to the time when the Irish were the aborigines of the British n Friday last, when an infuriated mob Isles, just as the Indians were the aborigines of America. He explained to a general reduction in wages, neces- how the Saxons had come to England sitated, the manufacturers say, by a and settled down, after conquering the cut in the working time from 56 to 54 Irish. The two races blended.

Coming of the Normans.

Then the Vikings of the north, the men of Charlemagne, had landed on the north shore of England, and had met the North German Saxons and the Irish, and were for the first time in their history defeated. Then the French came, when the Norman invasion of England was made, this being the severest invasion from which the Saxons suffered. This period is immortalized by the birth of parliamentary England, the time when the Magna Charta was drawn up. Then the wonderful blending process took place. The Irish and the North German Saxons intermarried, and their offspring intermarried with Vikings. Then the South German Saxon farmer lemocrat absorbed the French nobility, who came to England during the time of William the Conqueror.

What Is Owed the Races. Without the infusion of the Irish blood, England would never have produced her Chaucer, her Shakespeare, her Milton, and numerous others. French brought to England the blood that gave to the world, Homer, Cicero, Richelieu, Molliere, Louis the Magnifiof French blood the Anglo-Saxon gets he love of literature, the theatre, gay

Rev. H. H. Bingham Speaks On the Many Evils of Street Life.

But City Thoroughfares Teem With Temptation and Vice of All Kinds.

The opening mass meeting of the Men's Baraca class was held in Talbot Street Bantist Church vesterday afternoon and was largely attended. Speaking of "The Voices of the Street," Rev. H. H. Bingham said he was convinced that his subject was timely and practical.

The school, the home and the church are looked upon as the great foundation stones of civilization, but a fourth factor might well be considered, namely, the larger education which men receive from their contact with the world, and that contact was most forcible when they mingle in the street.

"The influence of the street begins very early in life," said Mr. Bingham. "It is the children's world, their larger playground, their open-air nursery, their out-door home. Here they get a liberal education without study, tuition without torture, and knowledge without examination. The character of that education will depend largely on what we allow to emblazon our city highways. Not All Bad.

"All the voices of the street do not tend to pauperize the soul. There are many filled with music and charm which lift us above the low and the sordid things of life, such as the voices from monuments in our parks, from our spato 326 Dundas street, Y. W. C. After the two large audiences that greeted him Saturday, it is plain that Fiske O'Hara, the Irish actor-singer, has a following that equals in loyalty and size that of Chauncey Oleott or fom Murphy. Mr. O'Hara in a few vears has won a permanent recognin, and each year the number of his lmirers has been enlarged, until it is ow close to a capacity audience. Mr. Hara always has a wholesome Irish rama, "Love's Young Dream," of the type that appealed in the past and has not been lost for today in capable hands. His sweet tenor voice improves every season, and his choice of songs is always fortunate. There is he plaintive note in his minor strains that belongs to Ireland, and there i always plenty of sentiment in both ong and play. Mr. O'Hara brings a capable supporting company with him, and that ne will fulfill the splendid future that seems to beckon is the hope of the friends who have come to consider him

A prolonged meeting of the principal nembers of the government this afternoon partly arranged the details for the abdication.

Owing to the growing disorders in the provinces the Manchu princes of the imperial clan, the Manchu officials and the soldiery agree that this is the only course open to the throne.

The empress dowager, recognizing that the government is powerless of which there is no hope, has asked Yuan Shi Kai to conclude the best possible arrangement in connection with the retirement of the imperial family.

Premier Yuan, Hsu Shi Chang, vice-president of the privy council and other government leaders, met this afternoon and discussed the best means for providing for the emperor and the empress dowager, and also outlined the necessary communications which will be made to the republicans. The premier intends to remain in Pekin and maintain control, pending final arrangements with the republicans.

It is understood that the leading powers are ready to support Yuan Shi Kai, believing that he is strong leader capable of grappling with the situation, especially in view of the discord among the republican leaders. Dispatches received today from the provinces report many murders and the looting and burning of houses Hundreds of women are killing them-

The armistice will expire Jan. 15, and it is therefore expected that the this is now accepted as the cause for abdication will be completed before been sufficiently restored to accommodate the imperial entourage
