ITALIANS WITHDRAWING TO NEW STRONG LINE

LIEUT.-COL. COLES, KNIFED BY CONSERVATIVE MACHINE, WILL LIKELY RUN AS INDEPENDENT

Soldiers' Choice, No Longer Governed by "Unionist" Convention Decision, Announces Expectation of Contesting Federal Seat as Win-War Conscriptionist-Independent—Declares He Is in Fight to Finish and Name Will Go On Ballot.

Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles, choice of the Great War Veterans' Association as London candidate for the Dominion Parliament, and contender for the "Unionist" convention nomination in this city, will run irrespective of the attitude taken by the "Unionists" at the convention called for Thursday night in the Masonic Hall. This is assured. Col. Coles will not make the definite statement until after the "Unionist Convention," but he informed The Advertiser today that:

"I AM A WIN-THE-WAR CANDIDATE, A CONSCRIPTIONIST, AND I EXPECT TO BE AN INDEPENDENT.

"I will not make any statement until after tomorrow night as to whether I will run if I do not secure the Unionist convention nomination, but MY NAME WILL GO ON THE BALLOT IF I AM ALIVE."

Those who follow the political situation in London see in the changed attitude of Col. Coles, on the question of "Unionist" indorsation, the direct results of the operation of the straight-line Conservative machine operating under the veneer of "Unionism," a veneer which has proven a thin disguise for partizanship.

When Col. Coles was first indorsed as a candidate by the executive of the Great War Veterans' Association, he declared that he would await the decision of the Unionist convention, before which he would allow his name to go. He declared that his candidature depended on the action of this convention. Subsequent developments have created a change.

Machine Seen at Work.

The local Tory machine was to be seen working at its best at the meeting held Tuesday night at the Masonic Hall for the purpose of appointing delegates to represent each sub-division at the "Unionist" convention on Thursday next.

It was understood that of the six delegates to be appointed to represent the sub-division, one soldier and one woman delegate would be included. All supporters were invited to attend the meeting, and an especial invitation had been extended to women voters.

In spite of all this plausibility, the cut-and-dried Tory machine work began to protrude, and when the voting began it became evident just how far the "unionist" intention went.

Two women were present and only one soldier, Lieut.-Col. Coles, and yet when the votes were counted it was found that Lieut.-Col. Coles' name was not among the six chosen, and neither were the names of either of the ladies.

"Knifed Col. Coles."

Two or three of the local Conservative faction, who are really conscientious in their efforts to affect a unionist nomination, were exceedingly peeved over the affair.

"They surely knifed Lieut.-Col. Coles," said one today, "and right in his own sub-division, too. He has been a Conservative all his life, and although the meeting was overwhelming Tory, only three of us stood by him.

He was the only soldier at the meeting, with several younger men present who ought to have been overseas, but evidently they didn't want to have him vote at the convention as a delegate."

"Yes, it is true. I was thrown down in my own sub-division last night," said Col. Coles to The Advertiser, commenting on the action in eliminating him as a possible delegate to the unionist convention. "So far as I know, only three of the men stood by me to the last in a sub-division where I have lived for 40 years."

Out to Beat Him.

"Then it looks as if they were out to beat you out of the unionist convention?" was suggested.

"Has it ever looked anything else?" replied the candidate.

"Has your changed attitude on the question of 'unionist' indorsation been due to the action last night?" was another question.

"I wouldn't say that entirely, but it has helped," declared Col. Coles.

Anent his candidature as an independent-soldiers' candidate, the colonel said:

Open Air Campaigning.

"We have no clique, no party, no machine. We are out and out 'win-the-war' men. We are fighting men or we wouldn't have gone to France. We have nothing but our uniforms and what we brought back from France, but we are in the fight. There are no millionaires among us to provide for machine operators, to hire halls and arrange meetings, but we have the market square, the street corners of London, and we will use them.

"We went to France to fight for those at home who wouldn't go, and we can fight just as hard in Canada as we did in France. We aren't party men, but simply soldiers, who are out to win the war. If I had not been a fighting man I wouldn't have gone to France, and I am a fighting man, and will be in this fight, too.

No Machine Assistance.

"There is no machine to back us up, no organization to pick and choose its helpers and their rewards, but we are out to fight. After the action of the convention tomorrow night I will have something further to say."

ENEMY THRUSTS AGAINST FRENCH WERE REPULSED

Sharp German Attacks at Several Points Come to Naught.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The Germans made an attack last night on the Verdun front at Chaume Wood. The war office announces that the enemy was repulsed.

German attacks near St. Quentin and northwest of Rheims also failed. The communication follows: "Enemy attacks against our trenches in the region of St. Quentin and northwest of Rheims (in the sectors of Sapignuel and Godat) cost him losses without any result.

"On the right bank of the Meuse a violent bombardment in the region of Chaume Wood was followed by an infantry attack. Beaten back by our fire, the Germans were not able to approach our lines.

"On the remainder of the front there was intermittent cannonading."

AUSTRIANS CONTINUE PEACE PROPAGANDA, ARE DUTCH REPORTS

President of the Lower House Hopes for Early Peace With "Former Ally."

Amsterdam, Nov. 7.—Dr. Gustav Gross, president of the Austrian Lower House, at the opening of Tuesday's session of that body, according to a dispatch from Vienna, referred to the Italian defeat as follows:

"Above all, we may rejoice that the prospects of peace have improved, and that our former ally Italy, which for more than two years was such a menace to our southern frontier, it may be hoped, soon will be struck from the list of our enemies."

"READY FOR PEACE."

Amsterdam, Nov. 7.—Czech deputies in the Austrian Lower House on Tuesday, says a dispatch from Vienna, asked Dr. von Seydler, the premier, for a statement regarding the prospects for the realization of a desire for peace expressed in a letter sent to the deputies by Bohemian women in Moravia. The premier replied that he appreciated sincerely the desire of the women, and added: "Austro-Hungaria and its allies repeatedly and publicly have declared their readiness for peace and have proposed a peace program on which basis an honorable peace is possible for us, and our opponents."

Rogers, a clerk in the Canadian Government railway offices at Moncton on October 17, 1916, has been released from the provincial hospital here and has gone to Montreal. MACKLEM PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN DETROIT COURT

Refuses Offer to Make Restitution—Is Released on Personal Bond.

Windsor, Nov. 7.—Arraigned in the police court, Detroit, before Justice Stein this morning on a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check drawn on a Canadian bank and purporting to have been signed by Hiram Peck, a Detroit businessman, Omar L. Macklem, a Canadian soldier, who claims the title of staff colonel in the British war office, and whose real identity has caused a sensation in the United States and Canada, entered a plea of "not guilty." The case was adjourned until Monday in order to gather more evidence.

Macklem's sister offered to make restitution for the alleged forged check, but he refused to permit her to do this, declaring he was innocent of any wrongdoing.

Macklem was released by Justice Stein on his personal bond. He says that by Monday cablegrams from England will establish his right to the title of "colonel."

NOT PRESSING CHARGE.

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—Omar D Macklem, late of Tilbury, will not be tried on forgery charge after all. Hiram Peck, who caused the warrant to be issued for the "Colonel's" arrest, stated today that for "patriotic reasons" he had about agreed not to press matter any further. He says Macklem owes him about $100 in addition to the amount obtained on the $150 check, and if this is made good he will cancel his complaint.

Attorney Antonio Entenza, one of Detroit's most brilliant lawyers, was retained by Macklem today and says his client is able to make restitution.

"We will fight extradition, we will fight the charge of forgery, if it is pressed, and we will not quit until we have cleared Macklem's name of wrong doing," said the attorney.

The principal in the affair, who was released from the county jail last night said today he was not worrying. "The whole affair is a mistake—a misunderstanding from start to finish, but my vindication will come in time," he said.

NOT AN IMPOSTOR.

North Bay, Nov. 7.—The arrest in Detroit on Sunday last of Col. Omar L. Macklem, whose wife resides here, came as a surprise to his many friends in this town, many of whom saw the colonel's credentials when he visited here in July last, and which were apparently perfectly authentic. Col. Macklem, so far as the Canadian Army is concerned, was honorably discharged in November, 1916, as the result of wounds received at the third battle of Ypres. During his convalescent period he invented a safety hand grenade, for which the British Government paid him a handsome sum and gave him the title of "colonel" in the staff of the British war office, so he claimed. Mrs. Macklem stated that she received word today from Detroit that everything was all right and that the authorities in Detroit received a reply from the war office that Macklem is no impostor.

PETROGRAD GUARDED BY LOYAL TROOPS

Kerensky Steals March On Workmen—Suspends Three Papers.

Petrograd, Nov. 7.—Negotiations between the general staff in the Petrograd district and the military committee of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, looking toward the strengthening of the staff by the inclusion of Democratic members, have broken off. The military committee, learning that the military governor during the night had summoned troops in the environs of the capital to Petrograd, ordered these troops to disobey the Government. The entire city is now guarded by loyal troops.

The situation is complicated further by the action of Premier Kerensky in suspending three Maximalist and two Conservative newspapers. The city authorities last night ordered a disconnection of the bridges between the quarters of the city inhabited by the working classes and the centre of the capital, thus stopping the tramways.

MONTREAL STREET CAR TURNS TURTLE; MANY PASSENGERS ARE HURT

"On the battlefront there is nothing to report except intermittent German artillery operations," says the official statement today. "Our troops have been engaged in consolidating the positions won in yesterday's attack.

"A successful raid was carried out last night by Liverpool troops northwest of Queant. We captured a few prisoners."

BORDEN GOVERNMENT CAN DO NOTHING FOR THE LETTER-CARRIERS, DOHERTY ANNOUNCES

Will Not Give Conciliation Board and Refuses Further Allowance.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Copies of a resolution, which was moved at a meeting of the local Letter Carriers' Association last Monday evening, demanding "that the Government refund to each of us our retirement fund allowance which has been kept from our wages, and that the Government cease making this deduction in our salaries until such time as a suitable increase is granted," will be sent to Premier Borden, Hon. C. J. Doherty, acting postmaster-general, the Federated Letter Carriers' Association of Canada, and Messrs. Fripp and Chabot, the local Federal members.

A committee reported to the effect that following the refusal of the minister of labor to grant the letter carriers a board of conciliation to inquire into the wage situation, a letter had been written to Hon. C. J. Doherty asking for an allowance of $20 per month, or a board of conciliation to adjust wages. A reply had been received from Mr. Doherty, saying that it would be impossible to grant any further allowance than that of $100 per annum passed at the last session of Parliament.

LEE NOT COMING OVER.

London, Nov. 7.—A report printed yesterday that Major Sir Arthur H. Lee, director-general of food production, would shortly go to the United States to confer with Herbert C. Hoover and other American officials, with reference to food supplies, brought a denial of its truth from Sir Arthur.

"Neither I nor any other officer of the food department is going to the United States," the director-general told the Associated Press.

WOMEN OF NEW YORK WIN GREAT VICTORY IN STATE ELECTION

By a Majority of 100,000 They Secure Unlimited Suffrage.

New York, Nov. 7.—The women citizens of New York State were given unlimited suffrage in yesterday's election after a fight of 70 years, by a majority which is expected to reach 100,000 when all election districts have completed their tabulations. Early today, with 1,348 out of 5,772 election districts missing, the vote stood: 533,319 for the amendment and 441,791 against. At both the city and state suffrage headquarters the scenes approaching hysteria were enacted as the women showered embraces, kisses and congratulations upon each other when results came in. On the sweeping character of yesterday's victory in this state, the leaders predicted that Congress would be influenced to act favorably upon the constitutional amendment enfranchising women citizens of the nation.

OPENING RUSH HERE TO SWAMP LOCAL BOARDS

Number Making Personal Applications at Tribunals Tomorrow Large One.

WILL HEAR MEN LATER

Evidence in Oral Pleas for Exemption Likely To Be Taken in Future.

The first official step toward determining the liability for service in the Canadian army of those men in Class One who are seeking exemption will be taken Thursday morning, when the seven local tribunals will throw their doors open for business in various parts of the city.

The civilian arbiters of the young Londoners' destiny will begin operations at 10 o'clock in the morning, and judging by the number of men who are applying for exemption there should be no scarcity of customers on the opening day. Owing to the fact that many men have not gone to the postoffice either to report for service or to claim exemption, it is believed that many of them are waiting until the tribunals open so that they can present their claims personally.

They are apparently convinced that they can present their claims to better advantage orally, than they could in writing.

Will Issue Receipts.

The tribunals will sit Thursday, Friday and Saturday for the sole purpose of hearing the claims of those who do not wish to make use of the printed forms to be obtained from the postmaster. From present indications, however, they will not have sufficient time at their disposal to actually hear the claims of these men, but will simply record them, and issue receipts as the postmaster has been doing, and then hear the evidence later. The receipt will protect the man if challenged on the street to show that he has reported for service or claimed exemption. The tribunals will remain open until 5 in the afternoon each day.

On Monday the tribunals will begin to take up the cases sent to them in writing by the deputy registrar, W. E. Wismer, and the majority of these will be handled entirely in writing without the man being asked to appear in person, it is expected.

Extension Seems Probable.

Owing to the fact that so many men have not registered or claimed exemption, it has begun to look as if the time might be extended beyond November 10th, though there is nothing official regarding the matter. The tribunals are also expected to finish their work before December 10th, but if claims for exemption continue at the present rate, it will, it is estimated, require until Christmas time, or even until January 1st, 1918, to complete the job.

The following is a list of the tribunals to which a man may go tomorrow and claim exemption in person:

London, No. 185—J. H. A. Beattie and George Frank W. McKay at lecture room, London Armories.

London, No. 183—Henry S. Blackburn and Joseph Dean, at local master's office, county building, Ridout street.

London, No. 184.—R. Hubert Dignan and Dr. A. R. Pringle, at city registry office, Talbot and Carling streets.

London, No. 186—Stephen Grant and T. J. Murphy, No. 4 fire station, Colborne and St. James streets.

London, No. 187—Edward E. Reid, and Hume B. Elliott, K. C., at East London town hall, Dundas and Rectory streets.

London, No. 188—John A. Nelles and Leonard H. Scandrett, at Foresters' Hall, corner of Craig street and Wortley road, South London.

London, No. 189—C. R. Somerville and W. C. Feistgerald, at East London town hall, Dundas and Rectory streets.

DAVIS IS CLEVELAND MAYOR.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Harry L. Davis, Republican, was re-elected as mayor of Cleveland yesterday, leading four other candidates by 15,343. Cleveland cast 38,581 votes in favor of prohibition and 68,561 against it.

Cadorna Selects Tortuous River Along Which To Halt Teuton Invasion—Italy's Troops Regain Old Spirit, Retiring In Good Order ---Gallant Feat of Grenadiers---Rear Guard Stops Rushes of Austrians---War Zone Is Extended.

Rome, Nov. 7.—The Italians have withdrawn in good order from the Tagliamento River toward the Livenza, it is announced officially.

The Livenza is the next river line behind the Tagliamento, its mouth is 12 miles below that of the Tagliamento. Its course is tortuous, and it has been generally assumed that General Cadorna would undertake nothing more than a delaying action there, making his stand along a more favorable line, such as that of the Piave River.

WITHDRAW TOWARDS LIVENZA.

The announcement follows:

"As the low water in the Tagliamento rendered difficult defence of the river, we have withdrawn our line toward the Livenza. The retirement was accomplished in good order, under the protection of northward covering units and of rearguard toward the south.

"Yesterday and last night our airplanes and airships repeatedly bombed enemy troops at work in repairing bridges over the Tagliamento or in movement across the river. Four hostile machines were brought down by our aviators.

EXTENDS WAR ZONE.

Italian Army Headquarters, Tuesday, Nov. 6.—General Cadorna has issued an order including in the zone of military operations all territory to the north and east of the Po and Mincio Rivers.

This district takes in all of Northeastern Italy front a point on the Adriatic coast about 30 miles south of Venice westward and northward to Lake Garda on the Trentino front.

MORE PRISONERS FOR FOE.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Via London.—The Germans are continuing their pursuit of the Italians, and have taken more prisoners, the war office announces.

"In the mountains and on the Venetian Plain the pursuit is being continued," says the statement. "Some thousands of prisoners have been brought in."

THE WAR SITUATION

A retirement by the Italians to a shorter defence line is under way along a front of 160 miles. Not only from the Carnic Alps to the Adriatic along the Tagliamento are Gen. Cadorna's men retreating before the Austro-Germans, but also in the Dolomite and Carnic Alps. Gen. Cadorna probably is retiring upon the Sugana Valley, which lies east of Trent, and upon the lower Piave, connecting the two natural positions by a line from the Brenta, which flows through the Sugana Valley to the Piave at a point south of Feltre.

AN ORDERLY RETREAT.

The retreat from the Tagliamento apparently is not so rushed as that from the Isonzo, and the Italians are reported to be falling back steadily, their rearguards in constan touch with the advancing Austro-German scouts. The Italian concentration along a new defence line is progressing systematically.

Rouiers, an important railway centre northwest of Ypres, is now dominated by British guns. Canadian troops yesterday completed the capture of the important part of the Passchendaele-Gheluvelt Ridge by taking Passchendaele, Goeberg and Mosselmarkt. The Germans suffered heavy losses, and a number of prisoners fell into British hands. Paschendaele dominates Rouiers and the plain surrounding the town, which lies five miles northeast.

GERMANS FOUGHT HARD.

The Germans had fought hard to hold Passchendaele, and several times the British had been checked in attempts to take it. Tuesday the enterprise of the Canadians was too much for the Germans, and they had to surrender their position, which means much to further British progress toward the Rouiers-Menin railway, one of the several lines entering Rouiers.

Each successful effort by the British brings nearer the inevitable German retirement from the positions directly affected by the ever-widening Ypres salient. A retreat, however, is a menace to the submarine bases of Ostend and Zeebrugge and the city of Bruges, the base of German operations in Flanders, and it is apparent that Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is doing his utmost to retain the positions now held rather than to retire and straighten his line.

SITUATION CLEARING.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Nov. 6—(By the Associated Press).—The situation is getting clearer and the steadiness with which the troops are falling back to the new positions gives a promising outlook. The general conditions, none the less, continue grave, though for the first time there is a note of encouragement and confidence in the course of events.

The enemy's pressure today made itself felt on the centre and right as well as on the left wing. Rearguards, however, repulsed enemy rushes and permitted the systematic development of Italian concentration along another line.

GALLANT GRENADIERS HELD BACK AUSTRIANS.

Italian Army Headquarters, Tuesday, Nov. 6—(By the Associated Press).—Again a brigade of Grenadiers has covered itself with glory, standing like a rock in the face of the advancing Austro-German tide until it was overwhelming. After the enemy had crossed the Tagliamento and was pressing on between Pordenone and Portogruaro, the Grenadiers were assigned to the task of holding up the advance in this region. No shelling from the enemy could dislodge them. They lay prone behind brushwood, calmly awaiting the foe.

Fought to Finish.

As soon as the enemy came within range his ranks were swept with the rifle fire of the Grenadiers. The Austro-German lines were filled up immediately, however, and continued to advance in overwhelming waves. As they approached the Grenadiers rose to their knees and hurled their grenades, but were unable to turn back such great numbers of the enemy.

Th last surviving officer then ordered a bayonet charge. Without hesitation the Grenadiers dashed at the foe. When last seen the few survivors, using their rifles as clubs, were fighting on until, one by one, all fell. That did not occur, however, until they had accomplished their task, for their resistance delayed the enemy until the Italian troops reached a place of safety and were reformed for action.

NEW ITALIAN LINE RUNS ALONG PIAVA.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The new Italian line of defence will run along the course of the Piave River, says the Rome correspondent of the Matin. He describes this line as one which an army that has pulled itself together and is determined to resist can hold for a long time.

"It is hoped here," the dispatch continues, "that if an energetic counter-offensive becomes necessary at one of the most threatened points, Franco-British forces will participate. In this way a retreat to the Adige line may be avoided. The Tagliamento was fortified hastily and could not be held."

RETIRING IN ORDER.

ONE FIREMAN KILLED, THREE FATALLY HURT, IN LOUISVILLE BLAZE

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—One fireman burned to death, three others probably fatally hurt, and several persons less seriously injured, is the known toll of a fire which early today destroyed the Willard Hotel, one of the landmarks of Louisville.

Nearly a score of occupants of rooms on the third and fourth floors of the hotel were burned, none of them seriously.

The fire started on the fourth floor and was drawn down an airshaft to the third floor in the vicinity of elevator shafts and stairways, cutting off the escape of occupants of both floors. All of them are believed to have been rescued.

SPEAKERS DECLARE PARTY DROPPED IN "UNIONIST" PLANS

Tell Delegates' Meetings That Partisanship Ended.

CONSCRIPTION AN ISSUE

Major Hume Cronyn Characterizes It as Paramount Question of Day.

A large representation from Wards 3 and 4 turned out at the East End Hall last night to appoint delegates to attend the convention for the nomination of a Union Government candidate to be held at the Masonic Hall Thursday evening.

E. R. Denis delivered a short address on Union Government. Some people, he declared, said that coalition of parties should have been achieved three years ago and, literally, they are right, but they forget the difficulties the premier had to contend with in order to perform the feat. He said that party and creed should be wiped out at a time when the best brains of the country are required to represent the people that the war may be brought to a successful issue. Reminiences Party.

R. M. McElheran, secretary of the board of education, spoke on the same lines as Mr. Denis. He said that the men elected to represent the people of Canada in the forthcoming Government should have nothing on their minds but the successful prosecution of the war. Mr. McElheran said that he was once a seasoned, dyed-in-the-wool Tory, but at this time had renounced party in the interests of winning the war. The men who favor a party fight are traitors to the country, he said. But for the British navy Canada would no longer be in the safe position she is in today, and those who have by their own efforts repelled the Hun from invading not only England, but Canada should be backed up to the last ditch.

"If any son of the people present fills a grave in a foreign field because of the country's failure to aid the hard-pressed Allies it will be a thing which would be an everlasting disgrace to Canada."

Sergt.-Major Rawlings said that those present should have had his job during the last month. Young men who had remained in Canada while their more manly brothers fought for Canada's safety had accosted the sergeant-major and insulted him on numerous occasions.

S. B. Lawrason was appointed chairman of the south division of the ward, and J. Childs was appointed chairman of the north division.

"Real Union," He Says.

Speaking at the meeting in Masonic Hall for the selection of delegates from Wards 2 and 4, west of Adelaide street, Major Hume Cronyn, one of the London men who attended the meeting of the Unionist Liberals at Hamilton, indorsed the Union Government. He declared that the Government was not a Conservative Government with a few Liberals included, but a real Union Government.

Conscription, said Mr. Cronyn, was the issue of the day. Laurier, if returned, would be compelled to oppose conscription if his referendum proposal were put through. Reinforcements for the men at the front were essential, and the only way to secure them was through the military service act, a measure, which the speaker declared, was not so drastic as the militia act which had been on the statute books of Canada for years.

Dr. Roome, ex-Conservative M. P., presided at the meeting and declared that politics were going to be kept out of the "union meetings." He had been a party man all his life, said the speaker, but he was willing to drop party now to secure the return of the Union Government.

RUMANIA SHORT OF FOOD

Queen Marie's Agent Arrives at Montreal Seeking Assistance.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—Lieut. I. C. Ivanidu, the representative of the Queen of Rumania in Canada and the United States in connection with her majesty's many charitable organizations, arrived in Montreal yesterday, and is the guest of Rev. George Adam, pastor of Emmanuel Congregational Church. He states that there is a considerable food shortage in Rumania. His country is now on a war footing of 400,000 men, he said, although the army lost 200,000, having been summoned by Russia to declare war before being ready.

MORE ENTHUSIASTIC REPORTS ON DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

London People Are Putting This Great Restorative to the Test—Two Interesting Letters Today.

London, Nov. 7.—The people of this city were never so interested in any medical treatment as they are today in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This paper has been reporting cures daily, and this has kept the people talking about their experiences until everybody seems to know about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a most satisfactory restorative for a rundown system.

Almost everybody feels the need of restorative treatment at one time or another. The businessman and schoolboy, as well as sister and mother at home, join in praising this well-known medicine.

Mrs. H. Barnes, 603 Oxford street, London, Ont., writes:

"About two years ago, I was running a large boarding-house, and as the work was pretty hard, I became rundown in condition. I was very nervous, and had a languid feeling which I could not seem to get rid of. I took a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and they built up my system, made me strong and healthy. I am grateful to the Nerve Food for the good it did me, and have recommended it to many of my friends since."

Mrs. John Beaton, 148 Mill street, London, Ont., states:

"I was very nervous, could not sleep, and was troubled a great deal with neuralgic pains in my head. After having used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for some time I am pleased to state that my nervous system has been very much benefited. I do not have those dreadful headaches, and am able to get a good night's sleep. We have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment in our family for skin diseases, and found it to be an excellent remedy."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.—Advt.

FLYING CORPS IS ATTRACTIVE ONE AT PRESENT TIME

Big Rush for Prospective Pilots During Month.

ADMISSION NOT EASY

Qualifications Must Be of Highest and Recruits Prepared to Serve Anywhere.

A large number of prospective pilots for the Royal Flying Corps have been sent to Toronto by the local R. F. C. recruiting committee during the past week.

The rush for admission to the flying service has been heavy during the last month and some 400 men are now on the reserve lists of cadets awaiting until sufficient accommodation and flying facilities can be obtained by the Flying Corps to instruct them.

Lieut.-Col. Harry Abbott, a member of the local R. F. C. recruiting committee, says that an exceptionally fine lot of recruits have been secured during the last month. The standard of a cadet, mentally and physically, must be very high and the grade of men who receive recommendations from the committee is consequently of the best.

No doubt the recruiting committee would be swamped with applications for admission into the flying service but for the provision made that all applicants must have manifested a desire to sign up with any branch of the service before being accepted as a pilot. Those who have made application for exemption from military service will not be accepted by the district recruiting committees of the R. F. C. As soon as a man is placed upon the reserve list of cadets his obligations in regard to applying for exemption or reporting for service are eliminated. Not only the pay, but the quarters and the general freedom of birdmen are much superior than of any other branch of the service.

Last week the majority of cadets training at Toronto and Deseronto were sent to Texas to complete their training. After receiving the finishing instructions at Texas they will be sent overseas. Although the percentage of casualties in the flying service is the highest of any other branch of the army, the deaths are comparatively few. At the beginning of the war, the percentage of the whole flying corps rendered casualties, was thirty for every three weeks. At this rate the original members of the service would have been eliminated as combatants after one year of war, had not new men replaced them.

The percentages of casualties for three months under present conditions is approximately 12 per cent wounded, 14 per cent missing, and 4 per cent killed outright.

BELIEVE REGULATION WILL NOT APPLY TO LONDON BREWERIES

Prohibition of Grain Use Only for Distilleries.

OPINION OF MANAGERS

They Claim Food Values Are Preserved When Making Beers.

When seen by The Advertiser today in regard to the new regulation prohibiting the use of grain in the distillation of liquor after December 1, representatives of both local breweries were of the opinion that their firms would be affected in no way by the regulation. Fred Raymond, general manager of Labatt's, Limited, said that he had interpreted the regulation as applying only to distillers of whiskey. He had his impression on the fact that the food value of grain is preserved in the process of brewing, while it is practically wasted in liquor distillation.

"As I read the regulation, it applies only to distillers," Mr. Raymond informed The Advertiser. "The food value of grain is wasted in distillation, while nutritious matter is preserved in the breweries."

J. Footitt of the Carling brewery entertained views practically similar to those of Mr. Raymond. He could not say with certainty how the regulation would affect manufacturers of highly alcoholic beers and porter, but, he thought the temperance beverage manufacturers could not be included in the application of the regulation. Up to date, the local breweries have received no word pertaining to the regulation, and because of this they do not think they will be affected by it.

BAPTIST SOCIAL.

A most pleasing and enjoyable function was held at the Wortley Road Baptist Church Monday evening, in the shape of a social in honor of Miss Stella Reid.

The proceedings opened with a missing word contest, which was won by Miss Mary Gray, with the able assistance of Mr. Stead and the Dalgleish brothers, after which the following program was rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering:

Piano solo, Mr. Arthur Fuller; recitation, Mrs. Southcott; solo, Mr. Jack Gilmore; violin solo, Mr. Allan Stead; recitation, Miss Agnes Richmond; solo, Miss Eulah Kennedy; violin solo, Mr. Allan Stead; piano solo, Mr. Arthur Fuller.

The violin selections by Allan Stead were well rendered.

Rev. W. M. Walker made a speech of congratulation to Miss Reid on her approaching marriage, and Miss Eulah Kennedy made the presentation of table linen to the bride-to-be. Refreshments were then served.

WOMEN OF CITY INTERESTED IN INSTITUTE WORK

Display Keen Appreciation of Convention Here Next Week.

GOOD PROGRAM ARRANGED

Important Questions Will Be Discussed by District Delegates.

Unusual interest has been awakened in the city in the annual convention of the Western Ontario Women's Institute to be held here on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, November 14 and 15, owing to the fact that city women are just beginning to realize how much is to be learned at these conventions, and the value of getting the viewpoint of their sisters from the rural districts.

The convention opens with a morning session Wednesday, which will be devoted to registration, reports and business. Rev. R. G. Peever conducts the opening exercises in the afternoon, after which an address of welcome will be extended by Mrs. Donald McLean, president of the Women's Canadian Club, Miss K. McIntosh of Parkhill replying.

Mr. Putnam's report of the provincial work of the institutes and an address by Dr. H. W. Hill, M. O. H., on "Communicable Diseases" will be outstanding program features.

The greetings of the city of London will take the form of a reception and afternoon tea at Smallman's at 4:30 o'clock, when the members of the Women's Canadian Club will represent the civic officials as hostesses.

The fact that Dr. Anna Backus of Aylmer is to speak in the evening assures a lively interest in this session. An address will also be given by Norman Sommerville of Toronto, and Lady Beck and E. Webster will contribute solos.

An address by Mrs. J. E. Brethour of Burford, and the story of the work of the Women's Gardening Association, with a conference on institute work and music by Miss Loomis of Sylvan will constitute the Thursday morning program.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Send In Your Problems and They Will Be Answered From Official Information by The Advertiser

Question—If one makes application for exemption on the grounds of farm service, can one's employer or father appear for him at the tribunal to state the case, and would notice of such intention have to be given beforehand? A. R. B.

Answer—If the tribunal wishes proof of the facts upon which exemption is claimed it can notify the father or employer to submit evidence in writing, or to appear in person, if necessary. Otherwise they would not appear, and it is, in fact, expected that many of the claims will be dealt with entirely in writing, without anyone appearing in person. Do not give any such notice, as it may be unnecessary.

Question—1. Can a young man who has not yet been examined, be examined by any military medical board? 2. If not, must he go to the medical board in his district? A SUBSCRIBER.

Answer—1. Yes, if he wishes to be examined. He can go to any board he wishes before November 10. 2. He is not bound to go to any unless he so desires. He must report for service or claim exemption at the postoffice before that date, and then await further instructions.

Question—I have been examined and placed in Category A-2, but I think I have good grounds for exemption, and have applied for same. Should my application be refused, could I enlist in any battery or corps I might chose before December 10?

Answer—If you learn of the result of your claiming exemption before December 10, or in fact, before you are notified to report for service, you have the choice of joining any combatant unit except the Army Service Corps. Of course the unit chosen must be allowed to take on men, and must not be full up. Units which are not full up now, may be by that date, so you should act as quickly as possible. The units at present open to such men are the 63rd and 64th Batteries, the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R.; the Royal Flying Corps, and the Canadian Naval Service.

Question—A man is a widower with one child and a widowed mother. Is he liable for service? L. A.

Answer—No. Widowers with children are not in Class 1, and are not called out for service.

SOLDIERS' PHOTOS BEING REQUESTED FOR WAR RECORDS

Relatives of Men Overseas Are Asked to Co-operate.

The officer in charge of war records has asked publication of the fact that it is desired to compile a complete history in photograph of the Canadians' share in the war, in the same way that all other belligerent countries are compiling similar records.

It is particularly desired to obtain photographs of all officers, N. C. O.'s and men who have served or are now serving in the overseas military forces of Canada, and it is requested that an appeal should be made to this end through these columns.

All officers and other ranks serving overseas may find it difficult to send in their photographs and their relatives are therefore especially appealed to to send in their photographs for them.

By preference, the photographs should be unmounted and printed on bromide paper in order to insure permanence. Each photograph should be accompanied by a concise record, not exceeding two or three hundred words, of the subject's military career, including date of enlistment, promotions, distinctions, and so on, as this will greatly assist in obtaining a full and accurate record of all concerned.

In addition, it is desired to collect all photographs dealing with the mobilization, training and departure of troops, together with pictures illustrating reviews, sports, presentations, etc. Any photograph of this nature is regarded as a document of historical importance, and it is hoped that the possessors of all such photographs will deem it their duty to send either the originals or copies, which will be ultimately placed in the permanent public archives of the dominion.

All photographs, which will be acknowledged, should be addressed to the officer of Canadian War Records, 14 Clifford street, Bond street, London, W. 1, England.

NO GREATER LIE THAN THAT SOLDIERS HAVE GONE TO THE DEVIL

General Secretary Denounces Those Who Defame Men in Khaki.

Two very interesting and eloquent addresses were delivered at the evening session of the Epworth League convention. Rev. S. T. Bartlett, general secretary, sounded a ringing note for evangelism in the Epworth League. During the course of his address he made a most emphatic and loyal statement in regard to the men in khaki.

"I hate to hear people defaming them," said Mr. Bartlett. "There never was a greater lie than that our men in the King's uniform have gone to the devil. The manly excellence of our soldiers in this war is higher than that which ever went before any flag in the past."

The second address was by Rev. J. W. Saunby, who spoke on missions. He believes that one of the most hopeful signs of the times is this splendid place which the young people are giving to missions.

The Officers.

The announcement of the new officers was made at the evening session, and were as follows:

Honorary president, Rev. J. E. Holmes; president, S. R. McCullough; first vice, W. Boyce; second vice, Miss Anna Wellington; third vice, Miss E. Myrick, Dorchester; fourth vice, Rev. L. Bartlett, Arva; fifth vice, Mrs. Cake; secretary, Miss Pearl Godwin; treasurer, Miss Allie Wright; conference representative Rev. D. Snell.

An Urgent Appeal.

Rev. W. R. Osborne, speaking yesterday afternoon at the Epworth League convention held in Dundas Centre Methodist Church, made a most urgent appeal to the delegates gathered there that they make a thorough study of rural conditions so that they might the better be able to understand their subject, "The Rural Problem and How the League Can Help to Solve It." He spoke of but two definite lines along which the league might work to solve this problem—those of education and religion. In connection with education, he mentioned the voluminous writings on the rural problem, which were, however, difficult to obtain in the ordinary rural library, and also of the wonderful summer school at Guelph, which deals with this question entirely.

Must Be Changed.

Rev. Mr. Osborne pointed out that as long as conditions on the farm remained the same as they are today, this big problem confronting the league could never be solved, and that in any case it would probably take years, and even generations. He mentioned the drudgery of farm life and the fact that the schools teach too much the advantages gained by going away from the farm, and did not sufficiently recognize the good to be gained by remaining there. The farmer's attitude today is that of a man merely waiting until his boys and girls grow up, so that they can help him on the farm, when his endeavor should be to run his farm so that it will meet the needs of his boys and girls. It will take a long time to make the farmer change from this one viewpoint to the other, but only when he has changed and begins to think more of his boys and girls than of his cattle will the rural problem begin to be solved.

Shorter Hours.

The speaker also suggested shorter hours of labor and a weekly half-holiday for farm laborers, at the same time allowing that if such a thing were mentioned to the average farmer of today, he would conclude that the man who suggested it was crazy. He pointed out how in the old days the factories required long hours of labor, but that they had now come to the conclusion that the output of the factory does not depend on the hours of labor, but on the efficiency of that labor. Why could not this principle hold good in the farm life, too?

All these sides of the question must be studied out, and with it all we must not forget that very little can be done without Jesus Christ, and that the country needs sacrificial leaders, who will devote time and energy to their work.

Japanese Work.

Another very excellent address was given during the course of the afternoon by Rev. J. W. Saunby on Japanese religions and their place in the missionary work to be done in that country. Mr. Saunby believes that the heathen shrines should not be shunned as institutions of the devil, but should rather be made use of in the preaching of Christianity. They are the point of contact between heathenism and Christianity, by which the missionaries may approach the heathen.

In the beginning he spoke of Shintoism, the first great religion of Japan, with its triply divided shrine like the old Jewish temple, having an outer court, a holy place and a holy of holies. In the holy of holies, no one entered. There was kept a mirror, supposed to be the gift of the Sun Goddess and symbolized the soul of the Japanese, which must be like a mirror, reflecting the sunlight and unclouded with evil. It is a beautiful thought that deep down in the heart of the Japanese is the conviction that their origin was in heaven.

No Code of Morals.

In Shintoism there is no code of morals, because, as they say, there is no need of a moral code in a nation which is composed of sons of the gods, who are bound to do right if they follow the dictates of their own consciences. The ark of the Japanese covenant, carried before the emperor on the day of his coronation, and commanding more respect than that august person himself, stands for the sacredness of the national and political life. And about this ark hangs a huge amount of mythology, of course; but then some people call Genesis merely a collection of myths. In the childhood of nations, it is necessary to deal in mythology to make the people understand.

Today that poor little country of Japan, which could not exist were it not for the fishes in the sea, is going ahead with enormous strides, and we must not call their beautiful symbols things of the devil, but rather believe that they were put there by God the Father to prepare the way for Christianity.

After Shintoism came Confucianism, which led the nation away from the individualistic standpoint and made the people realize that they must not only consider themselves, but rather others. Out of this sprang the old social life of Japan, which makes for the solidity of the nation. Old Confucius gave to China and Japan that which makes them solid today. Shintoism was a religion without a code of morals and Japan needed a code of morals. So Confucianism came, which was no religion, but was merely a code of morals, and the two were married.

The missionary who would reach the heathen must come into sympathy with them and use their old heathen religions as stepping stones to Christianity.

SOLDIERS SIGN PLEDGES AT TEMPERANCE MEETING

Respond Well to Tennyson Smith's Appeals.

Tennyson Smith addressed the soldiers in the Y. M. C. A. recreation hut at the fair grounds last evening, and had a big meeting. He first gave a recital of a poem, which was heartily applauded, and, having secured the interest of the men, the lecturer gave a brief talk on temperance, and at the close, in response to his appeal for men to sign the pledge, the soldiers made a rush for the platform to get the cards.

Mr. Smith then proceeded to his meeting in the Salvation Army Citadel, and gave one of his characteristic addresses, winding up with a patriotic peroration which again moved his hearers to great enthusiasm. Ald. H. B. Ashplant presided. Thomas Morris, grand councillor of the Royal Templars, was present, and presented the claims of the order. Tennyson Smith will deliver a lecture in the Salvation Army Citadel tonight, the admission being free.

Thursday evening is the "special night" of the campaign, and is entirely different to the meetings which have hitherto been held, as it is not a lecture, but an evening of dramatic recitals, illustrative of the humorous, pathetic and tragic phases of life, which will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. This is looked forward to as the most attractive event of the series, as Tennyson Smith appears in the role of an elocutionist. The program consists of recitals of poems, humorous sketches, and a humorous sketch of a concert. The press has spoken highly of these recitals, which have attracted great audiences in leading Canadian cities.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN IS AWAKENING RESPONSE

Evening Services in Wellington Street Church Largely Attended.

The evening services of the revival campaign in progress in Wellington Street Methodist Church have been largely attended this week, the singing of gospel songs by Albert Greenlaw, baritone, who has been engaged for the two weeks, proving an inspiring feature. The messages of Rev. J. W. Hibbert of Essex, the preacher each evening this week, have been to the point and awakened a response on the part of the congregation, as evidenced by the number who have signified their desire to lead a Christian life. The first few services have been largely of the nature of "consecration" meetings for the deepening of the spiritual life of those already professing Christians, as well as an appeal to non-believers.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Ashton, who is conducting the service, and Rev. J. W. Hibbert, are addressing a mass meeting of mothers this afternoon in the church.

WILL MEET TODAY.

The monthly meeting of the Birr Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hodgins on Wednesday evening. The program consists of a debate, a spelling match and patriotic music. Luncheon will be served. Men have been invited to be present.

1,712 More District Men Lay Claim to Exemption Today.

ONLY 578 WAIVED SO FAR

But Three More Days Before Those Who Fail to Report Come Under Penalties.

The largest number of forms received in any one day since the military service act went into effect were filed today at the office of the deputy registrar when 1,712 claims for exemption and 83 reports for service were handled.

The total number of claims for exemption now on hand is 21,627, as compared with 578 persons who have signed a form stating their willingness to serve as a soldier or in any military capacity in which they may be required.

The tribunals will commence their duties Thursday morning at 10 o'clock when all persons who intend to apply in person will be heard.

Notified of Tribunals.

Deputy Registrar Wismer is mailing to each man in the district who had applied for exemption, information as to which tribunal will deal with his case.

According to the present ratio it is expected that the tribunals will have at least 30,000 claims for exemption to deal with throughout the district.

With but three more days remaining it is urged upon those who have not yet signed a form to do so without further delay.

Penalties Imposed.

Below are some of the penalties provided for various violations of the military service act.

Failure on the part of a Class One man to report for service or apply for exemption on or before November 10th—a term of imprisonment not exceeding five years with hard labor; also claim to exemption is forfeited.

Attempt to bribe any member of an exemption tribunal, medical board or military representative—a term of imprisonment not exceeding five years and not less than one year.

Employers reducing wage, or altering conditions of employment by virtue of making claim for employee's exemption—fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, nor less than one hundred dollars, or imprisonment not to exceed six months.

Any person urging a man in Class One not to observe the requirements of the military service act—imprisonment for term not less than one year nor more than five years.

WILL COVER COUNTY ENLISTING AID IN "MORE HOGS" PLEA

District Representative To Campaign in City, Too.

District Agricultural Representative R. A. Finn, on his arrival in London today from the department of agriculture meeting called in Toronto Tuesday for the pork shortage, stated that meetings would be held throughout the county to explain the situation to the farmers.

The Government would like to see one more brood sow on each farm which, on an average, would mean one ton more of meat per farm each year, said Mr. Finn. It was hoped that in this way the shortage would be materially wiped out.

A campaign to induce people living on the outskirts of the cities to raise a pig or two will also be instituted.

R., asking that bells and whistles be tooted from 9 o'clock till 9:05 Monday morning, when the salesmen set out on their rounds.

Got Some Pointers.

Bringing with him the knowledge of how the officials in charge of the campaign in other cities intend bringing the importance of the loan before the public, the advertising part of the campaign in London should not lack vigor and originality.

The team captains met during the afternoon, and definite ways and means of employing their teams for the best interests of the campaign were decided upon.

The various committees in connection with the advertising have not all been organized.

T. Rowe, A. A. Langford, Walter Gunn, Major Murphy, C. B. Edwards and Principal Rogers comprise the schools committee.

11-YEAR OLD MUNCIE INDIAN LAD TRAVELS 100 MILES TO HOME WITHOUT INQUIRING HIS WAY

Tells Judge He Stole Two Outfits to Get Back to Reserve, But Retraced Way Without Any Assistance.

Tired of hunting skunks 100 miles from home, an 11-year-old Indian boy, whose parents reside on the Muncey reserve, stole a horse and rig belonging to another Muncey brave, who had driven to Clifford, in Bruce County, then proceeded on his way home alone.

The boy appeared before Judge Macbeth today and told the story of how he stole the horse and rig that had carried him 100 miles from home, and how, when he exhausted the one horse, at Ailsa Craig he exchanged outfits at this village, taking one he found in the village church shed to complete his journey home.

The boy admitted he had taken both outfits.

If his story is true that he never once inquired his way, it brings to light a marvelous instance of Indian instinct to retrace a road once gone over, relying upon memory alone.

The father has been sent for, and efforts will be made to place the boy for a time in the Indian school.

WORKING ON PLANS FOR REVIVAL SERIES

Askin Street Committees Making Arrangements for New Year Campaign.

The evangelistic campaign, beginning with the new year in Askin Street, is getting under way. Wm. Copp is chairman of the general committee. Ten sub-committees are now planning their work. The evangelistic party consists of six persons—Mr. Johnston, the evangelist, and his wife; Rev. Mr. Leckie, the campaign manager; Mr Swartsbaugh, the pianist; Miss Huntley, the soloist, and her mother, Mrs. Huntley. While each one in these is a specialist in some special department, each is a trained personal worker.

Askin Street is the only church, and may be the only church, where this party will undertake a campaign, except in a union of a number of churches. But as Askin Street is the centre of a populous residential part of the city, has many workers, and a seating capacity of 1,400 or more, the party consented to undertake one campaign under the auspices of a single church.

ITALIAN ARMY

tiring in order from Tagliamento, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Italian headquarters in Northern Italy. Enemy scouts on Monday were in the neighborhood of Maniago, twelve miles west of the Tagliamento.

All the new troops with which the Italians have come in contact during the past ten days were brought from the Russian front, according to the accredited British correspondent with the Italian army. He adds that the British hospital unit, which became lost during the retreat from the Isonzo, has now joined the Italian forces.

London, Nov. 6.—In a great arc more than 160 miles in length the Italian armies are falling back upon and through the plains of Venetia to a new and shorter line of defence, according to advices from Rome and Berlin.

From the Fella Valley to the head of the Adriatic Sea the entire line of the Tagliamento River has been given up by Gen. Cadorna, while from virtually the border of Trentino northeastward and eastward through the Dolomites and the Carnic Alps to the Fella, the northern army is carrying out a retrograde movement southward through the mountainous country toward the plains.

Rear-Guard Actions.

The Germans and Austro-Hungarians everywhere are following up the Italians in their retreat, but with the Italians offering resistance in rear-guard actions along the entire front.

The decision of the Italians to evacuate the Tagliamento line was taken after the enemy had intensified his pressure along the upper reaches of the river in the highlands, and pushed forces across the stream in the centre and to the south. This movement compelled a simultaneous withdrawal along the northern front from the Fella valley to Colbrichon.

No Prisoners Reported.

Apparently the main Austro-German forces are not in close contact with the retreating Tagliamento army, for the German official statement says the retreat is indicated by conflagrations over the route of retirement. No claim is made by the Germans of Italians having been made prisoners.

On the plains the Italian cavalry is doing the same effective work it did in retarding the enemy during the first eight days of the retreat from the Isonzo, when it held the Teutonic advance guards and permitted Gen. Cadorna to bring his forces to the west bank of the stream virtually intact, except for his losses in men and guns during the first mad rush. The morale of the Italians at present is declared to be splendid.

The probability now seems to be that Gen. Cadorna in falling back has the double purpose of shortening his battlefront from approximately 160 miles to slightly more than 60 miles—along the Piave River east of Venice, and northwesterly to the Trentino boundary —and giving British and French reinforcements the opportunity to arrive in sufficient numbers to check the invaders.

CAMP INSPECTED.—The quarters and camp at Queen's Park were inspected by Col. Shannon, district commandant, and Major Fairbank, staff officer, today.

LARGER CANTEEN. — More commodious quarters for the canteen of the 1st Depot Battalion, Western Ontario Regiment, have been provided at Queen's Park Camp. It is being moved from the Agricultural Hall to the Dairy Products Building.

SUITS FOR $6,000 BRING IN VERDICTS OF $800 BY JURORS

Long Drawn Out Damage Actions Settled Today.

ASSIZE COURT PROCEEDS

Criminal Action Testimony Occupies Entire Morning Session.

Judgments for $300 without costs in the case of Mrs. Louisa Henstridge, and $500 and costs in the action of Miss Lena Henstridge, both against the London Street Railway Company, were today awarded by the jury which heard the case, which occupied two days of the present sitting of the assize court.

Mrs. Henstridge sued for $4,000 for personal injuries which, she testified, were sustained as the result of an accident when she fell from a car which, she claimed, was started as she was in the act of boarding it.

The daughter, Miss Lena, was with her mother at the time, and sued for $2,000, and was awarded one-quarter of the amount.

The entire forenoon today was taken up with hearing the evidence in the case of Lewis Logan, charged with rape in August last on information laid by Hannah Logan, who has since been married to T. Harris of the Muncey reserve.

The complainant testified that the alleged crime was committed at a lonely spot on the road near the reserve church.

The case was given into the hands of the jury a few minutes before 3 o'clock.

The case of Robert Davis vs. Grand Trunk, an action for personal injuries, has been withdrawn.

The cases of Morningstar vs. Mitchell and Watkins vs. Kellermann, both claims for personal injuries as the result of motor car accidents, will be heard this afternoon.

SERBIAN SPEAKER WHO THRILLED CITY RETURNS TOMORROW

Heroic Girl Will Again Address Women's Club.

MADE DEEP IMPRESSION

Previous Appearances of Miss Helen Losanitch in London Created Great Interest.

Miss Helen Losanitch, who made a stirring appeal on behalf of her stricken Serbia at a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club nearly two years ago, is coming back to London again this week on a similar mission, and once more speaks under Canadian Club auspices Thursday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in the Normal School. With all the brilliant speakers, the distinguished speakers, the hero speakers who have visited London in the years since the outbreak of war, probably none has played upon the heart strings and awakened a more sympathetic response than did Miss Losanitch in her story, simply and effectively told of the suffering, the sorrow and the heroism of her dearly-loved country. Daughter of a former ambassador to the court of St. James, and a minister of the crown in Serbia at the time of the outbreak of war, Miss Losanitch, with supreme heroism, on her previous visits kept to herself the fact that she was in an agony of anxiety for the safety of her father and mother, who at the time were at some unknown place on their way to Saloniki with King Peter.

In the meantime, she has visited the Serbian refugees in Corsica, and has a thrilling story to tell of conditions as she found them there. Toronto papers speak most enthusiastically of an address given by Miss Losanitch there last evening, which was attended by the most prominent citizens. On this occasion, the charming young woman appeared in the picturesque Serbian costume, which she will probably wear here tomorrow.

CONTRIBUTORS TO "Y" CAMPAIGN IN CITY GENEROUS

Loosen Purse Strings to Aid Work of Two Local Associations.

HOPE TO GAIN OBJECTIVE

Strenuous Work Necessary, However, to Bring Up Italian Red Cross Fund.

The needed total of $30,000 for the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. is apparently assured by Wednesday night, when the teams meet again for the final get together supper at the "Y." Some strenuous spurts must be made, however, by the teams, if the Italian Red Cross is to receive an additional $10,000 as London's gift for humanitarian work among the stricken soldiers of England's worthy and hard-pressed ally, and the $40,000 goal of the present three-in-one campaign be thus reached.

A total of $15,147.37 in hand as a result of the first day of the combined canvass by the men's and women's teams was announced at last night's supper at the Y. M. C. A. President Yendall, as chairman of the campaign committee, expressed himself as confident of the final outcome.

Will Reach Objective.

"That the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. will achieve their desired goals of $20,000 and $10,000, respectively, I am confident," he said. "If a substantial sum is not realized as a result of this effort for the Italian Red Cross we must 'carry on.' If not at this time, in the immediate future. London must do its bit for Italy, as have the other cities of Ontario; as the city has done for the Belgian, French, Serbian and other funds of our allies. Italy needs today—now—as never before."

The amount reported yesterday was $7,222.37, as follows:

Women's teams	$1,670 37
Special committee	550 00
Men's teams	5,002 00
Yesterday's total	$7,222 37

Total to date	$15,147 37

Not Yet Reported.

Three of the fifteen women's teams did not present reports last night, their captains and members still being at work, and many reports were incomplete. Likewise, the men's teams failed to have complete returns in almost every instance when the captains were called upon by Chairman George Reid for their totals of the day's canvassing in the first division. Chairman Reid, heading the special committee for the larger subscriptions from the preferred list of annual givers, reported two large subscriptions yesterday: Empire Manufacturing Company, $250, and T. H. Smallman, $300, or a total of $550.

Praises Y. W. C. A.

Rev. H. H. Bingham was the special speaker of last night's supper. His praise of the work of the Y.W.C.A. was a feature. "We all know of the splendid work of the Y.M.C.A., the older established institution. We have long looked after our young men, their welfare and their pleasures. We are steadily doing more for the young women and the local Y.W.C.A. is enlarging the scope of its splendid work in London. I am glad to see these two institutions working for the welfare of our young men and our young women, co-operating for the first time together in a campaign to further their efforts. I hope they will continue in this plan of action and co-operation in the years to come."

Mrs. John Stevely, chairman of the women's committee, received their team captains' reports. Divisional Director L. Porter Moore had a few words to say, thanking the teams for their efforts of the day.

FRESHIES AT LAST VANQUISHED, BEING OVERCOME BY SOPHS

Mass Formation of Second Year Meds. Irresistible.

Fifteen Medical School freshmen gave the sophomores and their friends of the upper years another merry ten-minute battle on the corner of Waterloo and Horton streets at 1 o'clock Tuesday. The sophs swept across the road in mass formation, while the freshies lined up against the wall of the corner grocery and prepared to do battle.

It was some scrap to say the least, and the freshmen, bowled over by superior numbers, went down in a burst of glory.

The lads were trussed up like fowls and, placed in a motor truck, were driven into the country to Pond Mills, where the rest of the mystic ceremony was performed.

There were a number of spectators, mostly feminine, who were loud in their protestations of the rough manner in which the good-looking freshies were handled by the unfeeling sophs.

At their last meeting the freshies were victorious for the first time in the history of the school.

Turpentine, shoe polish, paint and assorted colors and varnishes were served up to the freshies. A turpentine-shoe polish shampoo with a hair tonic of paint, was administered to each and sundry of the freshies who were corralled. The appearance of the freshies on their march through the city was alluring to say the least.

After being hustled out to Pond Mills, where the "ceremony" was put on, the first year men were dumped out and forced to walk back to London. They paraded the downtown streets in all the glory of their warpaint.

May Have Been Forced to Land in Hostile Territory.

George W. Perry received a letter from the commander of the Flying Squadron to which his son Flight Lieut. Bert Perry, sporting editor of The London Advertiser, was attached, as follows:

"It is with the deepest regret I have to inform you that your son failed to return from patrol. Our formation met a strong patrol of German machines when well over the line and a severe fight ensued.

"The pilots of the machines which returned are unable to state what happened to your son. It is quite possible he is alive, but was forced to land in hostile territory owing to having his machine damaged."

TELL IT TO HANNA

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Held in bond at the Verral Storage Company are 300 cases, or approximately ten tons, of Spanish onions, worth $1,500, and fast becoming unfit for consumption.

Throughout the land people who are urged to economize in food are paying 15 cents for two pounds of Spanish onions. The onions arrived in Toronto from the West Indies on September 1, being consigned to the Espano-Canadian Importing Company, 32 Church street, but the Verral Company have been unable to locate the consignees. Efforts were made to dispose of the onions, and some sales were made, but for some time past the remainder of the shipment have been engaged in sprouting, till now they have "whiskers" seven and eight inches long, the onions are softening, and it is probable that one of these days Dr. Hastings will report "ten tons of onions destroyed, being unfit for consumption."

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GREY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe and nobody can tell—Brush it through hair.

Grey hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns grey and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay grey! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the grey hair disappears; after another application of two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TAMMANY CROWD AGAIN CONTROLS NEW YORK CITY

Judge Hylan Elected Mayor of First City of United States.

MITCHEL A POOR SECOND

Democratic Plurality Greatest on Record—Big Socialist Vote Is Polled.

New York, Nov. 7.—Tammany Hall returned to power as the result of yesterday's mayoralty election. Not only was Judge John F. Hylan swept into office by the largest plurality ever given to a mayoralty candidate in New York city, but there was elected with him the entire Democratic ticket, giving the new administration all of the sixteen votes in the board of estimates which controls all city expenditures. Those elected with Judge Hylan were: Charles L. Craig, controller; Alfred E. Smith, president of the board of aldermen, and the presidents of the five boroughs of the city.

Hylan's Plurality.

Judge Hylan's plurality, based on virtually complete returns early today, was 146,636. Mayor Mitchel's plurality four years ago was 121,209.

The vote for mayor this morning, with 27 precincts to hear from:

Judge Hylan (Democrat), 293,652.
John Purroy Mitchel (Fusion), 148,016.
Morris Hillquit (Socialist), 139,204.
William Bennet (Republican), 52,866.

Big Socialist Vote.

Aside from the overwhelming Tammany victory, the outstanding feature of the mayoralty vote was the great increase in the Socialist vote. In 1913 Charles Edward Russell, the Socialist candidate, polled but 32,100 votes. At the presidential election last year, Allan L. Benson, Socalist candidate for president, received 31,788 votes.

The Socialists, while disappointed because their vote was short of expectations, got some comfort from the fact that they carried twelve assembly districts, three of which are said to send Socialists to the Assembly at Albany.

The Soldiers' Vote.

The result of the vote of 50,000 or more soldiers and sailors now in military service at home and abroad, will not be known for at east a month. Tammany campaign managers asserted that these votes would only serve to increase the pluralities of their candidates.

The last Tammany mayor was the late Mayor Gaynor, who was elected in 1910, but who later broke with the organization. The faithful rallied at Tammany Hall ast night, and the celebration lasted until the early morning hours.

No "Loyalty" Issue.

Mayor-elect Hylan, in a statement after his election became a certainty, emphasized that there was no "loyalty" issue at stake, as has been charged by Mayor Mitchel.

"I want to make it plain to the world," he said, "that there was no issue of Americanism or loyalty involved, so far as I am concerned. There could be none, for I am as good an American as any man, as loyal to my flag, as loyal to my country, and as firm and determined in support of every act of the Government in this war."

Municipal elections in 42 cities upstate resulted in the election of 25 Republican mayors, 14 Democrats, and 2, Buffalo and Saratoga Springs, where no political designations appeared on the ballots, the Republican candidates were successful.

BORDEN TINKERING WITH MANIFESTO, MAY BE OUT TODAY

Supposed To Have Been Formulated Long Since.

LAURIER SPEAKS FRIDAY

Liberal Chieftain Opens His Campaign in Quebec City.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Sir Robert Borden had not got his second manifesto ready for publication tonight. It was announced to the Canadian Press yesterday that it would be forthcoming today, the statement being that the premier had it ready for some days, having prepared it before Sir Wilfrid Laurier's sweeping pronouncement was made, and that it was only necessary to add a couple of paragraphs. It is evident that Premier Borden has found much food for thought in the Laurier document, and his second (?)—he has already issued one and a supplement—manifesto requires some fixing.

Laurier Runs in Ottawa.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has decided to contest an Ontario seat, and will stand for election with H. B. McGiverin in Ottawa. The Liberal leader will also run in Quebec East, his former constituency. The decision of Sir Wilfrid was reached at the conclusion of a conference with the three French-Canadian aspirants for the Liberal nomination, and President Daly, of the Liberal executive, yesterday afternoon. All three offered to drop from the running if Sir Wilfrid would accept the nomination.

The rumor that Sir Robert Borden would also run in Ottawa in the place of E. A. Fripp is not authentic. Sir Robert will go to Halifax toward the end of next week to attend his convention, and will, it is stated, assuredly run again in his former constituency.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is no stranger to the Ottawa electorate. He ran here in 1908 and was elected by a heavy majority. As a matter of fact, he has resided permanently in Ottawa since 1896.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will deliver his first campaign speech at Quebec city on Friday evening next.

Dr. Pugsley Off for N. B.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley, former member for St. John, left Ottawa this afternoon for home, and will be sworn in as lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick at Fredericton shortly. Dr. Pugsley was one of the ablest parliamentarians in Ottawa, and his retirement will remove an interesting and intellectual figure from the parliamentary arena. He is the first Liberal appointee of the new Union Government to a position of emolument under the crown.

Contrary to former expectations, Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, will not go to Washington. Today he was appointed chief justice of New Brunswick in the place of Sir Ezekiel MacLeod. The position of high commissioner at Washington has not yet been created by order-in-council, any may not be until after the election. Who will fill the position now is a matter for conjecture. He will have to be a man with a long purse.

F. F. Pardee, former chief Liberal whip, paid a flying visit to Ottawa today, but checked out during the afternoon.

CLINTON COALMAN FELL OVER DEAD

CLINTON, Nov. 6.—A very sudden death occurred here today at noon, when John Scruton, local merchant, dropped dead from heart failure.

He was conducting his business as usual this morning in apparent good health, and was just entering the Commercial Hotel when he fell over.

For over thirty-five years Mr. Scruton has conducted a butcher business here, and was in his sixtieth year. He is survived by his wife and two children.

MOTION FOR A PEACE QUICKLY SQUELCHED IN BRITISH COMMONS

Hon. A. J. Balfour Says Aims of Britain Are Not Imperialistic.

FOR EUROPE'S SECURITY

"We Know We Can Bring the War to a Successful Termination."

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A. J. Balfour, secretary for foreign affairs, replying in the House of Commons today to a peace motion proposed by H. B. Lees-Smith, Liberal member for Northampton, declared:

"The aims for which Great Britain entered the war were not and are not either imperialistic or vindictive, but one and all are needed for the double purpose of the emancipation and security of Europe."

Mr. Balfour asked the House to show by an overwhelming majority that: "We believe in the cause in which we are struggling, and which we know we can bring to a successful termination. . . . Great as are the sacrifices already made, we are ready to continue them and continue them indefinitely, until the great, righteous and unselfish objects we have in view are finally secured."

Closure Is Applied.

Andrew Bonar-Law, chancellor of the exchequer, amid loud cheering, moved closure, which was carried 282 to 33.

Mr. Lees-Smith's motion was then negatived without division.

The motion, which is supported by the pacifist group, declared: "This House is of the opinion, providing satisfactory guarantees can be obtained with regard to the independence and restoration of Belgium and the evacuation of occupied territory, that no obstacle should be placed in the way of preliminaries towards negotiations for a peace settlement which ought to embody an equitable solution of the problem of Alsace-Lorraine and of devising the enforcement of effective international machinery for the avoidance of future wars."

Mr. Lees-Smith, in moving his resolution, maintained that successive secret agreements between the Allies had carried their war aims far beyond the original aims. He declared the recent rumor that Germany, in addition to losing Alsace-Lorraine, was to be deprived of territory on the left bank of the Rhine, had been confirmed in a secret session of the French Chamber by M. Ribot.

Foreign Secretary Balfour interjected here that there never was such an agreement

Agreement With Czar.

Mr. Lees-Smith retorted that it was an agreement made between France and Russia while Nicholas II was emperor. If this was carried out, he said, there would be a new series of discontent, hatred and discord, which would once again drench Europe in war and blood.

Mr. Lees-Smith advocated a league of nations, and the abandonment of the Paris conference resolutions and imperialistic designs in all parts of the world. He contended that it would be impossible to get peace without a solution of the Alsace-Lorraine problem, which both sides would be willing to accept, and in connection pleaded for a conference for the discussion of peace terms.

Discussion Will Do Harm.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Balfour expressed the opinion that discussions of this kind did little to assist the object that those who started them had in view—the attainment of an honorable peace at the earliest possible date. He ridiculed the idea that secret treaties existed, as suggested by Mr. Lees-Smith, and declared that Great Britain was not a party to any such treaty. He did not believe any such treaty existed.

He regretted that the member had used such an argument, which, of course, would be repeated in Germany without contradiction, and which had for its basis that the Allies' aims were not those they had loudly proclaimed of freeing small nationalities, and making the constitution of the states in Europe, as far as possible, harmonious with the wishes of the inhabitants.

"It never was, and is not, the object of the Allies to take from the German Empire admittedly German territory," said Mr. Balfour. "That, of course, the Allies desire the restitution of Alsace-Lorraine to France."

The Allies, continued the secretary, were not fighting for that alone, or as an isolated object of their war aims.

Fight Against Militarism.

"We are fighting, in the first place," said he, "that Europe might be free from the perpetual menace of the military power in Germany."

It was not Europe alone to be considered, he declared, and asked whether the movers of the amendment and their party had no care for the misgovernment and the most brutal and barbarous cruelty in Armenia and Arabia. The pacifist members seemed to think that all these matters could be satisfactorily settled if they could only bring the European powers to talk together around a table.

"Is that common-sense?" he asked. "Is it supposed that Germany would ever consent to restore, as has been publicly suggested, the ancient kingdom of Poland? Of course she would not. It is no use waiting to meet around a peace table to determine that."

"Is it imperialistic to desire to see an independent Poland? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Armenia released from the tyranny of Turkey? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Alsace-Lorraine restored to France? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Italy embrace those of her own race, civilization and language? Is it imperialistic to desire to see Rumania under Rumanian rule? Is it imperialistic to desire to see the Serbian community again a great and flourishing united power?"

Disservice to Country.

Mr. Balfour declared that for members of Parliament to forget the official statements of the Government about the war aims of the Allies and misrepresent them in Parliament, knowing that their misrepresentations would receive currency among the Allies' enemies, was "one of the greatest disservices any man can render his country at this time."

In examining the situation, the secretary said the psychology of the German people must be considered. It was no prejudice to say that the Germans had an entirely different view of international morality and the rights and duties of a powerful state from any other community in the world. While that remained unchanged, it was quite impossible for other nations to sleep comfortably in their beds. He contrasted the observations contained in Germany's reply to the pope's peace note with the doctrine before the war, and added: "England and America had been slowly getting these means adopted between the nations who resisted Germany. Never did Germany accept a single obligation which would diminish or hamper her power to strike at any rival she desired to coerce."

TWENTY-EIGHT READY TO JOIN THE COLORS

BRANTFORD, Nov. 6.—Yesterday 45 men reported at the postoffice under the military service act, of whom but three were willing to fight. To date 487 have reported, of whom 28 will don khaki willingly, the rest claiming exemption. There were 37 men examined at the armories, of whom 19 were found fit for the trenches, and eight were rejected.

HAMILTON, Nov. 6.—Registration figures for Hamilton show 5,509 men examined, 3,288 fit for service, 366 reported for service, and 3,383 claiming exemption.

END OF THE HOG IS PREDICTED BY HANNA, SAYS "KEEP A PIG"

Europe Is Short by 33,000,000 Hogs.

APPEAL TO WOMEN FOLKS

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—That Europe is short 33,000,000 hogs was the declaration made by Hon. W. J. Hanna at a meeting of farmers and district representatives at the Parliament Buildings this afternoon.

"The total hog supply of Canada today," said Mr. Hanna, "is but 3,500,000 hogs, and this means that ten times the supply today is short for the use of the Allies at the front."

At this rate the supply of hogs would be depleted at a rapid rate, and "it means the final extermination of the hog before this war ends," said he. "The figures for the United States show that the supply today is 40 per cent short of what it was a year ago."

At Washington the best hog experts had committed themselves not only to make up this 10 per cent shortage, but to raise 15 per cent more. "Every state has been asked to commit itself to the limit," said Mr. Hanna, "not as a patriotic duty, but as a profitable business.

"Let every man who can spare two hours a day go at it. Get your women folks to raise hogs."

He promised that the packers and distributors would be regulated so that the producers would get a fair share of the price that the consumer paid.

He quoted a telegram from Lord Rhondda which stated that the price of bacon is rising in England and for a much inferior quality.

VILLA ON RAMPAGE, WRECKS TRAIN, ROBS AND SLAYS FIERCELY

125 Soldiers and Passengers Killed.

WOMEN LOSE APPAREL

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 6.—With blood-stained floors, shattered windows and coaches crowded with frightened Mexican men, women and children, who were shivering half-naked in the bullet-broken seats, the Mexican Central passenger train, which was attacked by Villa followers at Armanderiz station Sunday, arrived here tonight. One hundred and twenty-five soldiers and passengers were killed on the train.

The passengers were still so badly frightened they could only tell disconnected stories of what occurred Sunday morning on the desert 50 miles south of Chihuahua City. The locomotive and two cars of the train were completely wrecked by the dynamite which had been placed on the track. The sixteen train guards from the federal garrison at Torreon were either killed during the attack or executed soon after. Everyone on the train was robbed and made to disrobe, even the clothing of the women and children having been taken by the Villa followers for their camp followers.

Get $100,000 Silver.

The messenger for a large American company in Mexico is missing, and the $100,000 worth of silver bullion which he was bringing to the border is also missing. The express messenger was killed as was the train conductor and other railroad employees, the engine crew losing their lives when the engine was blown up.

Villa's men first fired a volley after volley into the train, killing many guards and passengers. They then went through the coaches robbing passengers, killing many of the men, and ordering others outside the train for execution.

The passengers were then ordered to disrobe and, when two women refused, they were shot and seriously wounded. All were left on the desert overnight without clothing.

Only Three Left On Committee Set To Build Parl. House

Four Have Retired and Two Have Resigned, But the Work Goes On.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The parliamentary building committee appointed over a year ago to superintend the reconstruction of the Houses of Parliament has now dwindled to three members. The committee formerly consisted of Hon. Messrs. Rogers, Hazen, Blondin, Pugsley, Lougheed, Reid, Watson, Murphy, and Lemieux. The first four have retired. The latter two resigned. Sir James Lougheed, Hon. Dr. Reid and Senator Watson are all that remain. Nevertheless, the building is proceeding satisfactorily and the roof is almost on.

GOVT. HIGHWAY COMPLETED.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—With the laying of the last block of concrete and the placing in it of a bronze plate, the roadway proper of Toronto and Hamilton highway was completed this afternoon. Certain portions of the road on either side of some of the bridges have not been completed owing to the fact that new bridges are to be built.

LIEUT. WILSON KILLED.

MOUNT BRYDGES, Nov. 6.—R. Wilson, mail-carrier, has received official word that his eldest son, Lieut. W. T. Wilson, was killed in action somewhere in France on November 1. Lieut. Wilson enlisted in the 25th Battery from Toronto University on March 16, 1915. He went to France in January, 1916, but went back to England in February, 1917. He had just returned to France a short time. His mother received a letter from him last Saturday telling her he was well.

NO VERDICT IN M'CRACKEN CASE, JURY DISCHARGED

Case Stands Adjourned Until the Next Assize Court.

WILL ASK FOR BAIL

Reported Split Was Over Murder or Manslaughter Finding.

GODERICH, Nov. 6.—After being out for nearly five hours the jury which considered the evidence in the case of William McCracken, the young Morris Township farmer charged with killing his wife, returned at midnight and the foreman stated that it was impossible for them to agree. The case stands adjourned until the next assizes, and application will be made for bail for McCracken.

It is stated that the jury split upon whether to return a verdict of manslaughter or murder.

When the case opened at 9 o'clock today the jury brought in a true bill against McCracken charging him with the murder of his wife on July 22.

Brother Was There.

Dr. John McCracken, brother of the accused who was recently returned from overseas, was in the courtroom during the trial, having returned for this express purpose, and the little 5-year-old son of the accused was present also, but failed to realize the serious nature of the charge hanging over his father. His curly locks and bright face were very attractive, and were in pathetic contrast to the downcast face of his father.

The jury is composed of Albert Townsend, Albert Godkin, John Colwell, Donald Fowler, W. G. Bogie, Wm. Cesor, James Elsley, John S. Ritchie, Wesley S. Cole, Frank Tyndale, John M. Pearson and John McEwan.

The First Witness.

The first witness was Thos. Welsh, a draftsman, who prepared a drawing of the farm. Dr. Frederick Thomas, Bryans, and Dr. McRae of Brussels, who made the post-mortem, testified as to the cause of death being the bullet which entered in front of the top of the left ear, and lodged in the vertebral column, severing the spinal column.

Dr. McCrae said the prisoner told him that after the auto drive he had some words with his wife, and the prisoner said: "If this kind of life is to go on I will put an end to myself," and started to pull the revolver out of his pocket. His wife said, let me have that, and grabbed his arm with her left hand, and in the tussle that followed the revolver discharged. The prisoner was much excited, and would be unable to frame up a story, the doctor considered.

Tells of Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerney and James Thyne, who together with the two Kerney children, and Mrs. McCracken, made up the auto party, gave evidence of the circumstances of the trip.

Mrs. Kerney proposed the trip, as it was a very hot day, and it was first arranged that Mr. and Mrs. Thyne should form part of the party, but Mrs Thyne was detained on account of visitors, so they got Mrs. McCracken instead. On their return McCracken was very angry, and told Kerney he did not want him taking his wife out. Kerney said it was the first time and would be the last. Mrs. McCracken started to cry, and Mrs. Kerney said why did you not object before we started.

McCracken told Kerney he was no gentleman or he would have taken the youngster along, too.

John McNeil Jun, at ten minutes to six was on the road to church, and found Mrs. McCracken at the fence crying, and asked her if she was sick, and she said no.

Wm. McCracken, father of the accused, gave evidence of the way he and his son were working together with one set of farm implements. His son lived with him most of the time, and went home to his own house for a couple of days a week.

Coroner's Evidence.

Dr. W. J. Kline, coroner at Blyth, was called in by Dr. Bryans. He found the body of Mrs. McCracken in the barnyard, and took it into the house, locked the door, and went on to the prisoner's father's, where McCracken had gone, and found that McCracken had gone on to Brussels. He went to Brussels, and met McCracken, who told him that he and his wife had a row, and he shot her. "I looked, and saw that she was dead, and I turned the revolver on myself. I was unconscious for a minute, and when I got up I ran home as quickly as I could," McCracken told him.

James McCracken, Sen., an uncle of the prisoner, said he had been over at McCracken's house a few weeks before, and McCracken and his wife seemed to be getting along on the best of terms.

Thomas Gundry, the constable who went to the scene of the murder to get a statement from the prisoner, identified the revolver produced as the one given him by the mother of the accused. It was a 38-calibre, and a test he had made required sixteen pounds' pressure to pull the trigger.

Tells of Party.

The accused told him of the coming up of the Kerney auto party, and his wife said: "Jim, I would like to go," to which her husband replied that ho would rather she did not go, and two or three times in the house he asked her not to go. At 5:30 the auto party returned, and he met them at the gate. He had put the revolver in his pocket because he intended to tell Kerney what he thought of him, and to show him the revolver, and if need be use it, but not to kill, as both Kerney and Thyne were stronger men than he.

Frank Kerney, brother of Wm. Kerney, was talking to the prisoner that night, and said if he was too bad, to which the accused replied, "It's awful," and said, "I did not get the one I wanted." Mrs. Rutledge and John McCarter were the next witnesses.

John Leckie, magistrate at Brussels, to whom the accused went, and gave himself up, had a story from him but this evidence was ruled out, as Mr. Leckie failed to give the full warning required before the statement was made. John Long was the last witness, and the case was closed at 4 o'clock. The defence had no witnesses.

Mr. Ferguson made out a strong case from points which seemed to show intent on the part of the prisoner, and Mr. Proudfoot made a lengthy and able speech in favor of the prisoner. Mr. Vanstone of Wingham acted with Mr. Proudfoot for the defence, and the crown attorney of the county assisted Mr. Ferguson. Hon. Mr. Justice Sutherland addressed the jury at length.

FOUR OF GERMANY'S ELECTRIC BOATS GONE

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Press Association "on the highest authority" says that four electrically controlled boats, similar to the boat the destruction of which was announced by the admiralty Saturday, already have been destroyed. The Press Association adds that the naval authorities have known of the existence of these boats for some time, and regard them as freak craft. It is asserted that the first of them came to grief some time ago by running into a pier on the German coast.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HEART BEAT SO FAST COULD NOT SLEEP

HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it will burst. You have weak and dizzy spells, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

There is no other remedy will do you so much good, restore your heart to a natural condition, build up your strength, and give you back vigor and vitality, as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. A. Russell, Niagara Falls, Ont., writes: "At nights I could not sleep, and had to sit up in bed, my heart would beat so fast.

"When I went to walk very far I would get all out of breath, and would have to sit down and rest before I could go any farther. I was advised to get Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had used two boxes I could sleep and walk as far as I liked without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels.

Give 'California Syrup of Figs' at once if bilious or constipated.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

FOR THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

"I would certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of the food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh-producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Saltogyn tablet with every meal. Saltogyn is a scientific combination of the best strength-giving, fat-producing food elements known to the science of nutrition. This highly-concentrated food nourishment taken in combination with regular meals mixes with the food and rapidly turns the sugars, starches, fats and proteins of the meal into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood. The effect is remarkable. Gains of from 10 to 25 pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet the action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Saltogyn is sold by the Standard Drug Company and the best druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

CAUTION:—While because of its direct nutritive action on the nerve cells, Saltogyn has been widely prescribed for nervous indigestion, it should not be used for such purpose over five days at a time unless the user is also willing to increase at least ten pounds in weight.—Advt.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that, while freezone is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.

RASPUTIN—DEVIL OR SAINT

by The Princess Radziwill

(Copyright, Canada, 1917. Exclusive district rights secured by London Advertiser.)

With the Victory That Came to Rasputin When He Had Succeeded in Having the Grand Duke Nicholas Removed From the Supreme Command of the Russian Army, the "Blessed Gricha" Turned His Mind Upon Acquiring Control of the Political State.

To This End He Urged the Appointment of Sturmer as Goremykine's Successor, Knowing Full Well That His Candidate Would Work in League With the Secret Police in an Effort to Despoil Russia, Regardless of the Fact That the Nation Was Fighting a War.

CHAPTER VI (Continued)

When the grand duke had been appointed viceroy of the Caucasus, and had left for his new residence, Rasputin breathed freely once more. For one thing, this incident had given him a greater confidence in his own strength than he had ever possessed before. Now that he had been able to remove the commander-in-chief of the Russian armies from his post, it seemed to him that it would be a relatively easy thing to push forward, and to appoint to the most important functions in the state people indoctrinated with his view and ready to help him in keeping undisturbed and unchallenged the position into which he had glided so naturally, and as now appeared to him, so simply—a position which he was absolutely determined not to lose. With a prime minister at his command, he would become the real master of Russia, and the Czar himself would be compelled to take him into account, a thing which up to then he had refused to do, much to the distress of the "Prophet." Though he repeated everywhere, and to whoever wished to listen to him, that he could do all he liked at Tzarskoie Selo, he knew very well in his inmost heart that such was not the case, and that in the imperial palace Rasputin was nothing but Rasputin, an ignorant peasant, endowed sometimes with gifts of second sight and always with religious fervor, but a peasant all the same, with whom one might pray, but whom one would never dream of appointing to any responsible position.

Rasputin Harbors Ambitions.

The knowledge that such was the case, and that his so-called influence existed mostly in the imagination of the people who spoke about it worried Rasputin. Though he dictated to ministers his will, though he decided together with them more than one important matter, yet he felt that there was a flaw in the edifice of his fortune, and that this flaw consisted in the fact that the sovereign did not share the feeling of reverence which the Russian nation, as the "Prophet" flattered himself was the case, experienced for his person and for his teachings. This was what tormented him, and he spent the whole time thinking how it might become possible to put in the place of Mr. Goremykine another prime minister more ready to enter into his views, and to follow his advice in regard to matters of state. This the then president of council, in spite of his deference for Rasputin, had refused to do, preferring to discuss the affairs of the Government alone with the emperor, without any interference of the former.

Rasputin spoke of his wishes to some of his confidants, and even mentioned the subject to several of the high-born ladies who formed the best bulk of his "clientele." These entered into his views with alacrity, the more so as he developed them in a pathetic tone, which appealed to their feelings of "patriotism." They would have given much to be able to help him, but they did not very well know how this was to be done. This was due to the sad fact that they had no one under their hand. The unexpected and sudden death of Count Witte, which had occurred in the meanwhile, removed the only person whom they could suggest as a candidate for the functions of prime minister. All those whose names might have been mentioned as fit individuals for the post, such as Mr. Kriwoscheine, for instance, were people who would, with a greater energy even than Mr. Goremykine had ever displayed, oppose any interference of Rasputin into the conduct of the Government. Their perplexity might have lasted a long time if Providence, in the shape of Mr. Manussewitsch Manuloff, had not interfered in their favor, and had the latter not suggested the advisability of entering into negotiations with Mr. Sturmer.

CHAPTER VII.

Mr. Sturmer was not a novice in politics and he was known to be a reactionary of the blackest water. It is likely that even Rasputin's friends would never have given a thought to the possibility of his becoming prime minister if Count Witte had still been in the land of the living. With the latter's death the sort of coalition or secret society that had hoped through the occult influence of the "Prophet" to rise to power had lost its best head. There was no one to take his place, officially at least, because with the best will in the world it was impossible to suggest as a candidate for a ministerial portfolio Mr. Manussewitsch Manuloff. The past record of this man did not permit him to play any role but that of the Pere Joseph of a minister who was not a Richelieu. And though the secret position of principal advisor to a personage of the importance of Rasputin had its advantages, it nevertheless precluded the possibility of becoming a candidate for the place of a statesman.

Sturmer Not Entirely Satisfactory.

The next best thing, therefore, was to find someone who would be willing to become consciously what the "Prophet" was unconsciously, the instrument of the vile crew whose ambition was to make money by all means out of the terrible situation into which the country was plunged. These unscrupulous people all felt that they would never again in the whole course of their life have another such opportunity of becoming rich beyond the dreams of avarice, and they were not the kind of people to allow it to escape them. Every effort was therefore put forward to bring Mr. Sturmer to the notice of the emperor, and to the attention of all those capable of suggesting to the latter the choice of this functionary to replace Mr. Goremykine, who had openly declared that he could not any longer go on fighting against the subterranean forces which were slowly but surely working against him, and making his position more unbearable every day. The candidate who would have been the most welcome to public opinion was Mr. Kriwoscheine, but he was the last man whom Rasputin's friends would have cared to put forward.

On the other hand, Mr. Sturmer, for personal reasons into which it is useless to enter here, when approached by Manussewitsch Manuloff, had not hesitated a single moment in promising to indorse the purposes of the small group of persons who had made up their minds to become the real rulers of the state. As soon as he had declared his willingness to join with them in the future an energetic campaign was started in his favor, not in the press nor in the Duma, nor even among the public, but in the immediate vicinity of the sovereign, a campaign in which some of the highest authorities in the Greek Church were enrolled, and in which the empress herself was persuaded by some of her personal friends to take part. The expected then occurred. The Czar was finally persuaded that in Mr. Sturmer he would find a faithful servant, which in a certain sense he did, and also a minister determined to govern according to the old principles of autocracy with an utter disregard for the liberal parties, as well as for the Duma. The Duma had not spared the Government during the whole summer, and its activity had been viewed with dismay by certain members. Yet the country was glad to find that at last there existed among its representatives men courageous enough to say what they thought, and to try to save Russia from the abyss into which it was felt that she was falling through the influence not so much of Rasputin himself as of those who surrounded him and who used him for their own ends.

The Appointment of Sturmer.

This campaign succeeded and Mr. Sturmer was appointed. His selection caused an outcry of indignation throughout the whole country, and distressed its best friends for more than one reason. But even among the functionaries of the Ministry, which had to accept him as its chief, there were found some rebellious spirits, among whom was the then minister of the interior, Mr. Chwostoff, who made up their minds that it was at last high time to get rid of Rasputin in some manner or other. He was also a reactionary, like Mr. Sturmer, and even a furious one. When he was still a deputy in the Duma he had been one of the leaders of the faction of the right and before that time had made for himself the reputation of being an ultraconservative in all the different administrative posts which he had occupied. Among others, he had been governor at Nizny Nowgorod for a short period. He belonged to the number of persons who held the opinion that Rasputin ought to be removed. But whether he was really a party to the extraordinary story I am going to relate is a matter about which I shall abstain from expressing an opinion.

The fact is that about the beginning of the year 1916 people were startled by rumors of a new conspiracy against Rasputin, in which it was rumored that the minister of the interior himself was a party. Things stood thus: A secret agent of the Russian police called Rgewsky, a man about as unscrupulous as Manussewitsch Manuloff but not so clever, who had already figured more than once in occasions when the need for a provocative agent had been felt, arrived in Christiania, in Norway, where the unfrocked monk, Illodore, was living, and sought him out. His journey had been undertaken without the knowledge of the chief of the secret police, Mr. Bieletsky, but on the express orders of Mr. Chwostoff, the minister of the interior. Bieletsky, however, had suspected that some underhand game was going on, and had caused Rgewsky to be watched. When the latter had crossed the frontier at Tornoe he had been thoroughly searched and examined by special orders received from Petrograd, without, however, anything suspicious being found on him. When he was questioned as to the reasons for his journey abroad he had, in order to be allowed to proceed, to own that it was undertaken by command of the minister of the interior.

"With a prime minister at his command Rasputin would become the real master of Russia, and the czar himself would be compelled to take him into account, a thing which up to then he had refused to do."

"A campaign in the interests of Sturmer was begun by Rasputin, in which some of the highest authorities of the Greek Church were enrolled and in which the empress herself was persuaded to take part."

188,733 REGISTERED UNDER SERVICE ACT; 15,393 ARE FIGHTERS

Toronto Leads in Those Ready for Service.

QUEBEC IS COMING UP

Montreal Leads Dominion in Total Reported on Monday.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Class 1 men in Quebec are rushing to register. In both reports for service and claims for exemption Montreal led the Dominion yesterday. Reports for service in Montreal numbered 125, being one ahead of Toronto for the day. But the most surprising returns perhaps are those from Quebec city. Hitherto the city has held back in registration, whether for service or claims for exemption. The last few days have brought a remarkable change. On Saturday Quebec city and district registrations jumped to 1,990, all being claims for exemption. Yesterday Quebec jumped still further ahead, with 3,756 claims for exemption, and 14 reports for service. With the exception of Montreal, Quebec was the leader in the Dominion. Quebec has, however, still the lowest percentage of total reports for service, although its percentage of total registrations gives it a more favorable position.

The following statement shows the number of claims for exemption and reports for service received in the various military districts yesterday:

Cities—	Reports for service.	Claims for exemption.	Percentage reported for service.
Vancouver	71	221	23.73
Kenora	4	25	19.30
Calgary	110	986	11.34
Halifax	120	824	10.51
St. John	2	117	10.38
Winnipeg	54	549	10.36
Toronto	124	1,402	8.50
Charlottetown	4	173	7.49
Regina	120	2,026	5.60
Montreal	125	3,865	4.37
Kingston	63	1,343	3.09
Hull	6	109	2.73
London	44	1,254	2.35
Quebec	14	3,756	.57
Totals	867	16,720	7.54

Claims for exemption since the issue of the proclamation now total 188,733 and reports for service 15,393. In reports for service Toronto leads with 3,205, Calgary is second with 2,288, and Vancouver third with 2,227.

300,000 WORKERS STRIKE IN ONE RUSSIAN DISTRICT

PETROGRAD, Nov. 6.—Three hundred thousand workmen in the district of Ivanovo-Vosnenesk have gone on strike. The town is one of the chief centres of the Russian cotton industry, and there are a number of large textile factories there.

Germany's Manpower Has Reached Crisis

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Cable reports reaching here from Switzerland say that Germany has reached the crisis so far as her man power is concerned. For three years, according to these dispatches, Germany has lost an average of 1,300,000 men annually, and this number will at least be equaled in 1918. It is contended that to continue the war on the same scale for another year the Germans must have at their command a reserve of at least two million men, whereas they actually will have a reserve of on one and a half million, including youths of the class of 1920.

"May Armies Soon Bring Peace"—Bill to Sultan

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 6. — To a telegram from the sultan of Turkey congratulating him on the Austro - German success against the Italians, the German emperor replied: "May our armies soon bring peace—our only aim in this righteous fight."

American Patrol Boat Torpedoed; 21 Men Missing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The American patrol boat Alcedo was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the war zone early Monday morning, and one officer and twenty enlisted men are missing.

The Alcedo, a converted yacht, carried a crew of seven officers and 85 men.

The ship sank in four minutes after being struck. Several vessels were searching for possible survivors at the time the report was made.

The Alcedo is the first American war vessel to go down in the war. The destroyer Cassin on patrol duty, was torpedoed recently, but she made port safely, with loss of only one man.

No details of the engagement were given in the brief dispatch announcing the loss.

GAS SUPPLY WILL HELP COAL SHORTAGE

DORCHESTER, Nov. 6. — On account of the shortage of coal a large number of residents are having natural gas installed in their furnaces. Only one carload of coal has been shipped to the village in the last eight months and the situation is becoming serious.

Frank Neely today shipped a carload of hogs to Hamilton, the maximum price being $16 per cwt.

Mrs. Thomas McMillan, who resides with her son north of the village, fell and broke her hip. She is over 80 years old and on account of her age it was found impossible to reduce the fracture.

D. D. G. M. Dunlop of Kintore paid his official visit last night to the Nilestown Masonic Lodge. Addresses were also given by Wor. Bros. Jos. Wilson, Wm. O'Neil, Wor. Master J. W. Cochrane and by visiting brethren. Rev. John Veale of Dorchester and Messrs. Procunior and Moore of Belmont.

YOUTH TELLS WHERE HE GOT HIS LIQUOR

INGERSOLL, Nov. 6.—Late this afternoon, Bruce Wilford, a local youth, who in the morning was sentenced to a three-months' term in the county jail for refusing to divulge the name of the person from whom he obtained liquor Saturday night, which got him into difficulty, gave the police the information desired. On a charge of being drunk, Wilford was fined $10 and costs, $13.50 in all. On two other charges, of being disorderly and fighting, and using obscene language, sentence was suspended. When questioned as to where he got his liquor, Wilford refused to give the name of the person. The magistrate then imposed a three-months' term, but after considering the situation, Wilford gave the police the information.

A great deal of interest is developing in connection with the sitting of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board here on the 13th inst. to consider the application of the Ingersoll Telephone Company for permission to increase their rates. Mayor Buchanan has expressed the opinion that members of the council should attend in the interests of the town.

"GETTING" SUBS WINS CANADIAN PILOT D. S. O.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—News has been received that Capt. G. L. Johnson, a Vancouver pilot, has been awarded the distinguished service order for valuable services in connection with submarines in the war zone. Capt. Johnson was formerly in the service of the Canada Steamships Company.

RICH IRON DEPOSITS ALONG LAKE ERIE, DECLARE DETROITERS

Options Obtained on 600 Acres by Capitalists.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—A party of Detroit capitalists were in St. Thomas today, and revealed the fact that rich iron deposits are lying along Lake Erie only a few miles from this city. They state an option on 600 acres has been obtained by them. Three analyses averaged 52.93 per cent iron.

Ald. Colin A. Hammond today declared that he would be a candidate for the mayoralty of St. Thomas. Ald. Hammond has been a member of the city council for several years, and is chairman of the board of health. Ald. J. R. Martin announced that he was a candidate some days ago, and while Ald. E. A. Horton has not definitely made an announcement, in all likelihood will be in the field, making a three-cornered fight.

BANDITS RANSACK TOWN WHICH SPECIAL POSSE IS GUARDING

Six Largest Stores in Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, Are "Cleared Out."

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Nov. 6. — Although the town constable at Gull Lake, provincial police officer and two provincial policemen from Maple Creek stayed up until 4 o'clock on Sunday morning to catch the automobile bandits, who were expected on a visit to the town, the six biggest stores were ransacked and considerable booty taken.

On Saturday night Tompkins and Carmichael were both visited by the same gang.

Provincial policemen, anticipating that the bandits would follow their apparent plan of visiting each town along the Canadian Pacific Railway line, later laid in wait at Webb, Alta., and exchanged shots, advices state, but the bandits got away.

KAISER HAS CANCELLED HIS VISIT TO GORIZIA

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from the Hague says a message received there from Cologne asserts that Emperor William canceled his visit to Gorizia.

"The doctors have ordered the emperor not to overtax his strength," the dispatch adds. "Although not ill the doctors say the emperor needs more rest and less traveling. The past six months have been particularly strenuous for him."

The Military Service Act, 1917

CANADA

Notice to Employers

The attention of Employers is especially called to the following provisions of the Regulations passed under The Military Service Act, 1917, and The War Measures Act, 1914, which directly affects them.

EMPLOYER TAKING UNDUE ADVANTAGE OF EMPLOYEE. Every employer, and every person acting on behalf of any employer, who stipulates or attempts or offers to stipulate with any employee or other person for any reduction of an employee's salary or wages, or for the alteration of any other term or condition of his employment, in consideration of the employer exercising or refraining from exercising his right to claim exemption from military service on behalf of any employee, or who alters or attempts or offers or proposes to alter, adversely to any employee, any of the conditions of employment affecting such employee by exercising or refraining from exercising or by authorizing or suggesting the exercise or abstention from exercising of his right to claim exemption from military service on behalf of any employee, shall be guilty of an offence, punishable on summary conviction, by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the convicting magistrate: the fine to be not less than one hundred dollars and not more than one thousand dollars, and the imprisonment not to exceed six months.

EMPLOYING MEN WHO ARE IN DEFAULT. Every person shall be guilty of an offence, and liable on summary conviction to a penalty of not less than fifty dollars, and of not more than five hundred dollars, who, after the expiry of the time within which a man is by proclamation or regulation required to report in accordance with section 4 of the Act or to apply for exemption, employs or engages in his service, or continues in his service for a period of seven days, any man who belongs to any class or sub-class which has been called out, and who has not reported as required by section 4 of the Act, or in respect of whom an application for exemption has not been made, unless such person prove that, having made due inquiry, he believed upon reasonable grounds that the man so employed, engaged or continued in his service did not belong to any class or sub-class called out, or that he had reported or had at the time a certificate, or that an application for exemption by or in respect of the man was at the time pending.

EMPLOYER TO MAKE ENQUIRIES. (a) It shall be the duty of every person who is an employer to make inquiries forthwith after the issue of any proclamation calling out men for military service under the Act whether any, and, if any, which of his employees are within the class or sub-class called out by such proclamation; and, forthwith after the expiry of the time limited by the proclamation for reporting for service or claiming exemption, to inquire and ascertain whether there are any, and if any, which of the men in his employ so called out who have failed to report or apply for exemption from service, or in respect of whom an application for exemption from service has not been made.

EMPLOYEES TO ANSWER. (b) It shall be the duty of every employee to answer any questions that shall be put to him by his employer, and to give any information which his employer may require of him for the purpose of enabling the employer to comply with the duty imposed upon him by this section.

REPORT TO MINISTER. (c) Every employer shall, forthwith after the expiry of the time so limited by any such proclamation, report to the Minister (of Justice) according to the best of his knowledge, information and belief, the names and addresses and the whereabouts at the time of all employees in his service called out by any such proclamation who have failed to report or apply for exemption from service.

PENALTY. And any person who is an employer who refuses, neglects or fails to comply with any of the requirements imposed upon him by this section shall be guilty of an offence and liable, upon summary conviction, to a penalty not exceeding, as to each employee in respect of whom he has so refused, neglected or failed to comply, one hundred dollars and not less than fifty dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the convicting magistrate.

EMPLOYING DESERTERS. Every person who employs or retains in his service any man who has deserted, or who is absent without leave, from the Canadian expeditionary force, shall be guilty of an offence, punishable on summary conviction by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars, and of not more than five hundred dollars, unless such person prove that he was not aware, and had no reasonable ground to suspect, that the man so employed or retained in his service was a deserter or absent from the force without leave.

Under the proclamation issued on the 13th of October, 1917, the last day for members of Class One under the Act to report or claim exemption is

I AM A SINEW OF VICTORY.

BORN of the need for eradication of the world's greatest curse—militarism.

I am the voice of the Canadian people—peace-loving and God-fearing—a message of hope to desecrated Belgium, valiant France and mighty England—a hand upon the shoulder of Canadian fathers, sons and brothers, fighting, bleeding and dying in a foreign land.

I am the vital, pulsating message of cheer to those fighting my battles amidst shot and shell, pain and death, mud and hardships, that justice and democracy may prevail in this war-wrecked world.

I am the altruism of the working man and woman, the opportunity for them to combine good works and thrift, for I bring handsome returns to those who avail themselves of my powers.

I am the servant of millionaire and artisan, businessman and farmer, thrifty wife and working girl, because I return equal dividends in money, peace of mind and thought of duty performed to one and all.

I am not charity, but the altruistic answer to the plea, instead of command, of God's finest country, for help in her darkest hours.

I am being watched by friend and foe because I spell hope for the one and defeat for the other.

I am the guns and ships, muscle and brawn of those who cannot fight, and I do my share in helping win the war,

FOR

I am the Victory Loan, the pleasure of God and the disappointment of kaiser and Satan.

AFTER NOVEMBER 10, WHAT?

IT HAS been announced that all men in Class I who have not reported for service or claimed exemption by November 10 will be considered as deserters. But what then?

A serious situation is facing the military authorities of Canada, if rumors appearing in the press and commonly discussed on the street are founded on fact, that there are thousands of young men who are calmly ignoring the call to service, and intend to ignore it. From Montreal comes a dispatch which says that only 9,000 men have gone before examining boards there and that 70,000 have failed to report or ask exemption. In this district there remain about 40,000 Class I men who have not signed the necessary papers. Some of these are open in their expressed intention to ignore the terms of the military service act and lie low until they are taken by force. There only remain three days for reporting, and unless there is a great rush at the last, it seems certain that some thousands, even in this one district, will have to be listed as deserters.

What is to happen to the passive resisters? They are breakers of the law and, as such, should be punished. But the prisons of the country would not hold them all, and enforcement of fines would be difficult in the majority of cases.

From Conservative sources we have heard repeatedly that all the opposition to the selective draft came from Quebec, but the figures tell a different tale. Quebec does not appear to be much worse than Ontario when action is judged instead of words. The military authorities in this district are worried and make no secret of the fact.

The compulsory service act has been passed into the statute books of Canada, and it is the duty of everyone to obey it. There is no excuse for the young men's failure, and there can be no admiration for their stand. Possibly they have overlooked one provision of the act which affects them vitally, and that is that there is a prescribed heavy punishment for any man or firm which employs one or more of those who have not obeyed the call. Employers will not run this risk, and those who are "deserters" will find it hard to earn a living during the winter even if they are not put in prison. This is a point that is worth considering, and if its full significance is realized there will be few deserters on November 11. It will be a comparatively easy matter to deal with the few who can afford to do without employment or who own their own business, presuming that some of these will be among the laggards.

THE MUNICIPAL UNIVERSITY.

AN ARTICLE in "School and Society," an American educational journal, quotes Professor Cattell, late of Columbia University, as saying that the municipal university "will probably be the most important movement of higher education in the next generation." President Dabney, of the University of Cincinnati, a great civic institution, urges that the municipal university is "the one thing needed to complete our American system of higher education." It is clearly the big star just risen on the educational horizon.

Such a centre of culture is needed not only for the increased opportunities which it affords to those who can not or prefer not to go away to study, or to whose mind the distant college never occurs, but the municipal university can be made to give a systematic and healthy direction to local currents of study and reform in general and to other agencies of learning in particular, organizing, inspiring and broadening their work. To have a university of its own is to put a town on the seaboard of ideas, where otherwise it would be inland, as it were. It is to put the town on the main line of commerce in thought, discovery and intellectual progress. Mr. P. P. Claxton, U. S. commissioner of education, prophesies that "probably within a quarter of a century most cities of 200,000 or over, and some even smaller, will have such institutions at the head of their system of education."

The writer of the article in "School and Society," Mr. Carl Holliday, of Toledo University, makes a brief and interesting resume of the growth of the municipal university. In Germany, despite a jealous governmental control of education, the city of Frankfort opened its own university so late as October, 1914. The civic spirit of Frankfort is noted, its municipal theatre having been much advertised. The university, opened since the beginning of the war, arose by degrees out of a much earlier city medical school and hospital, some scientific societies, an academy of social and commercial science, and a technical high school (1866). The Western University of London, Ontario, is growing in somewhat the same way, and will no doubt be stimulated to a broadened activity by the establishment of the new technical high school here. Dresden's municipal university, founded by the city in 1912, with an endowment of five million dollars, was also the outcome of medical and technical schools. Cologne and Dusseldorf organized their local universities in 1911-1912, similarly around nuclei of older commercial and technical institutions. It is clear that the modern city is the only place in which the medical, industrial, technical, economic and administrative studies, so essential to progressive and dynamic modern life and increasingly important in the university curriculum, can be properly prosecuted. And a civic university, one comparatively independent of millionaires and their endowments and servile functionaries, free from party politics or from governmental dictation, and responsive to immediate civic needs, is, as Mr. Holliday says, "the most truly democratic form of advanced education known to man." It will likely be also the system of greatest utility.

England has, in this municipal movement for educational opportunity, not been behind, but ahead of Germany. In the last fifteen years seven new civic universities have been created in our motherland. They are energetic, up-to-date, practical institutions, and receive funds not only from their own city treasuries, but from the neighboring counties and from parliament. On their governing boards national representatives sit alongside those of the cities and of workers' associations that have contributed to the revenue. Each of these universities makes a point of attending to special local needs. What most of all, perhaps, gave a start to this movement in England was the establishment of university extension classes throughout the towns by the older universities. The university was carried to the people and acquiring the taste for it and seeing its value in every way, the people here and there, especially the intelligent British workmen, decided to have their own home seats of higher learning. Doubtless in Western Ontario, more extension work done by Western University, so soon as it can find the means and organize a system, will promote a demand for advanced education throughout the peninsula.

In the United States the municipal idea in higher education is older than in Europe. As early as 1837 the city of Louisville, then small enough, established its university, which still flourishes with 100 instructors and 1,000 students. Charleston, S. C., has also a municipal college founded or reorganized in 1837. It is a city very like London in size and gradual growth. Ohio has three municipal universities, Cincinnati (1871), Toledo (1884) and Akron (1913).

Mr. Holliday points out that "the idea is contagious, for within the last five years a number of the larger universities of America have assumed a semi-municipal character that bids fair ultimately to transform them into municipally-owned institutions." Classes are held for municipal employees in such courses as accounting, business English and city government. Graduate students conduct investigations in city affairs and students take charge of club meetings, directing discussions among young voters and prospective citizens.

The municipal universities give courses in business law, insurance, real estate and industrial research, fellowships being sometimes provided by big concerns for the promotion of industrial and civic studies. No better machinery can be devised than a live municipal university for the promotion of social, scientific and commercial advance, of construction and reconstruction as needed in growing cities, and of intelligent, responsible civic leadership. Of course all this work costs money. Cincinnati grants nearly 5 per cent of its revenue to its university, an amount of $220,000 per annum. But when the expenses of state and endowed universities are compared, Mr. Holliday says that "it is being proved that the municipal college is the cheapest agency for higher education yet devised in America."

In London we have the Western University, supported partly by the city and partly by the Provincial Government. There are great possibilities of development here. Our university is in line with the new tendency in American and British higher education, and has its face set to a brilliant future of usefulness and dignity. In November, 1914, was formed at Washington, D. C., an Association of Urban Universities. Long life to this democratic association, and may its members grow in numbers, prosperity and influence.

Many Nurses in Canada and Elsewhere Say the Same.

Chatham, Ont.—"Being a nurse I have had occasion to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription quite a lot. I always recommend it to my patients, and it has been a wonderful help to many of them. I never knew of a case where it failed. I have a patient who is using it now and she is doing fine since taking it. I have taken it myself and got the very best results. I consider it the best medicine there is today for women who are ailing."—Mrs. Edith Moore, 30 Degge street, Chatham, Ont.

THAT WEAK BACK,

Accompanied by pain here and there—extreme nervousness—sleeplessness—may be faint spells, chills or spasms—all are signals of distress for a woman. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood—passing from womanhood to motherhood—or later suffering during middle life, which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nervine prescribed for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases from which women suffer.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has successfully treated more cases in the past 50 years than any other known remedy. It can now be had in sugar-coated tablet form as well as in the liquid. No Spooning Allowed

IF you have been unfavorably impressed with the flavor of Roman Meal Porridge, sure enough you must have stirred it! Be fair to yourself and to Roman Meal! Don't stir it except while mixing meal and water. Remember "no spooning allowed."

Force of habit made you stir the porridge without knowing you did so, perhaps. Just get another package; make the porridge according to the directions. Surely it is no trouble NOT to stir Roman Meal porridge after mixing the meal and water.

Dr. Jackson's

Roman Meal

makes the most delightful flavory porridge of all—when not stirred. The flavor of grains lies in their DARK parts. Roman Meal is rich in the dark parts of wheat and rye.

It is made from the WHOLE berries of these grains, bringing to you every bit of their nut-like flavor.

Roman Meal also contains wheat-bran and flaxseed; and you know how splendid these are for relieving constipation. The flaxseed in Roman Meal is absolutely tasteless and odorless, rendered so by a special electrical process invented by Dr. Jackson.

Stirring Roman Meal porridge while cooking brings back the flaxseed taste and odor. Don't stir except while mixing meal and water.

Another important thing: Roman Meal is porous, because it is granulated, thus allowing the digestive juices to reach every particle and preventing indigestion. Stirring when cooking breaks up the granules, making a sticky mush instead of the delicious Roman Meal granular porridge.

Thousands of families all over America enjoy Roman Meal porridge every day—it is delicious. Doctors prescribe it for constipation and indigestion and all undertone conditions. You can bake with it: mix it with your white flour when baking, it helps white flour foods to digest and restores their lost balance. Ask your doctor about it.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

EGGS WERE SCARCE AND HIGH SOMETIMES.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

Peter Rabbit's eyes nearly popped out of his head, and his long ears stood erect as two strong clothespins, as he saw Mrs. Turtle walking up the beach, towards the old log, carrying her new houseboat on her back. And Mrs. Turtle did not see nor hear nor smell Jimmy Coon because he kept so quiet.

And Mrs. Turtle dug up the sand, and made a nice little hole, and left some eggs. And she covered the eggs so carefully that not a grain of sand marked the spot. And then she went back to Mirror Pond, and carried her houseboat on her back into the water. And she supposed the eggs would hatch, and that she would have a nice family of cunning little Turtles.

But she didn't know that Jimmy Coon was marking the spot in the sand, and that he would be back tomorrow night to get the eggs for himself. Jimmy Coon was too cunning to take the eggs that night, for he feared she would come back and find him, and so he kept watching. But he knew it would be safe to come the next night and take all the eggs out of the sand-nest.

Mrs. Turtle dug up the sand and made a nice little hole, and left some eggs.

So Peter Rabbit scampered back home, and he gasped: "Mother, I saw Jimmy Coon work magic. I hid in the alder bushes, and I saw Mother Turtle come out of Mirror Pond and lay a whole nest of lovely fresh eggs! And I saw Jimmy Coon, the next night, go directly to that same spot and dig up every egg, and he ate every one right down on that very spot, as quick as Jim Crow can wink his eye!"

And Mother Rabbit got awfully excited, and she rushed around her house and got two baskets, and she took Peter by his long right ear, and she spoke sharply to Peter: "My son, you come with me quick, and we'll get some of those fresh eggs tonight, before Jimmy kills himself over-eating."

And Peter went with a hop-skip-and-a-jump to keep up with his fast mother. And it was certainly funny to see Mrs. Rabbit and little Peter digging in the sand all over that beach to find some fresh eggs. And they both dug so fast that they got out of breath and both had to sit down and hold their heads in their hands. But they didn't find a single egg.

"What are you digging up all this sand for, at this time of night?" shouted a voice just behind their backs.

It was Bobby Skunk, and he had come up so softly that Mother Rabbit and Peter never heard him, and both fell over each other in their fright. And Mother Rabbit gasped: "Bobby Skunk, how you scared us! I certainly thought it was Mr. Red Fox! And we were hunting after some fresh eggs. For Peter says Jimmy Coon finds them here very often, and that someone buries them in the sand very often for Jimmy."

And then Bobby Skunk went to digging, and my! how Bobby made the sand fly! And what do you suppose Bobby found? Why, Bobby found one old cold storage egg. It had been in cold storage for months. And Mother Rabbit exclaimed in amazement, as Bobby Skunk started to eat that egg: "Why, Bobby Skunk, don't eat that old cold storage egg. It will make you sick."

But Bobby Skunk ate that old cold storage egg as quick as a wink! And Bobby Skunk smacked his lips and remarked, "My, that was fine! Eggs have been awfully scarce and awfully high lately; and I'd just as soon eat an egg that has been in cold storage a whole year as to have one just laid."

And Mrs. Rabbit and Peter shuddered at the very thought of such a thing. But Mrs. Rabbit observed: "Bobby Skunk, you are right about eggs being awfully high. Why, they are so high this year that Peter and I go without them entirely. We came out tonight, hoping to find a few fresh eggs, which we expected to trade for carrots and parsnips. You know, Bobby, we do not care for eggs, but much prefer lettuce and cabbage. It is much better for one's health!"

You see, Mother Rabbit was correct in saying that eggs were high. For most of the birds had sense enough to build their nests so high, in the highest trees, that Bobby Skunk couldn't afford to get them. For you know that Bobby Skunk cannot climb a tree. But Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum could afford to get "strictly fresh" eggs when they were very high. For it seemed to Mrs. Rabbit that the higher eggs were, the more Jimmy Coon and Teddy Possum hunted to find them in the market.

"THE SMALLER HELPING"

It seems that in these times of food conservation that there is a great opportunity for saving on meat in the restaurants. All restaurants serve very large helpings of meat, much too large for me, and yet if I ordered meat I am brought such a helping and must either eat it against my better judgment or leave it. Surely such an unnecessary waste might be prevented. The Government might legislate in such a way that small or single helping be served, as well as the larger one, so that I, or the man who eats little meat, would be sufficiently supplied, and he who wished more could order a double or triple or quadruple, according to the capacity of his appetite and his purse. Naturally, there are many men who require and demand the larger quantities of meat, but then on the other hand, there are many women who do not require and who do not wish such large helpings, and a restaurant which studies the will of its patrons should cater to the latter, as well as to the former.

If some such change were made in the serving of their food, restaurant buyers would soon find that their meat bills would become much smaller, and therefore greater quantities of meat would be released for consumption elsewhere in the country, or for overseas transportation. The food controller has said that it is of supreme importance for householders and restaurants to conserve beef and bacon to the utmost, and surely this great waste, owing merely to restaurant habits, could be stopped.

Not only would this, if adopted, be a means of conserving wheat, but it would also help the restaurant business. Meat is perhaps one of the largest items of expense among the foods, and if the quantities could be lessened the profits to the restaurant would be greater. Then again, the adoption of smaller helpings would increase business in the restaurant. For many people in these war times object to wasting food where it can be avoided, and whereas they now patronize tea rooms, where food is served in smaller quantities, they would be more frequent visitors at the restaurants.

The slogan of every patriotic restaurant owner and habitue should be "The smaller helping." If restaurants will not adopt it, they should be forced to do so by their patrons, who will incessantly demand it. This is but a small thing for the men and myself to do for the nation, and yet it would be a mighty big thing if the whole American continent should unite in carrying it out.

EVERYWOMAN.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

She Misses It.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see in the paper so much about recipes for making two pounds of butter out of one. I think I must have missed reading the paper with the process in. Would be very much obliged if you could print it again.

And oblige, DELL HIGH.

The recipe given by "Faded Lily" is printed again herewith: "Take a cup of fresh milk and a good fresh egg, and beat well; then chip in one pound of butter and churn all together till it all goes into butter, and salt to taste. This will make two pounds of butter. But if you use two cups of milk, two eggs and two pounds of butter, you will have four pounds, and it is real good."

Since the first publication of this recipe, several readers have stated trying it with success, a Dover eggbeater being used for the "churning" process.

We Stubborn Women.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been an interested reader of your page, especially of those letters dealing with the signing of the food pledges, and it seems to me that the women are taking the wrong view-point altogether in this matter.

I attended a Ladies' Institute recently and the pledge cards was one of the chief topics of conversation. Such ridiculous excuses and arguments were brought up against signing them. Sign them? No, indeed, those ladies would not even consider signing them until the Government stopped the making of liquors, and let those mighty men of power stop using tobacco and cigars, let them have meatless days and eat bran bread, let them give away their cars and pleasure boats and beautiful homes, bestow their wealth on the Red Cross or patriotic fund, then, perhaps, if it is still necessary, they will sign the cards, and deny themselves a few things.

Now, Miss Grey, don't you honestly think that more, much more, would be gained if the women signed those cards and lived up to them. Just think what would be saved and how much more our boys at the front could have, even if the Government did nothing. Then instead of being in the position they are now, like a host of stubborn, sulky youngsters, crying, "We won't do this, if you don't do that." They could demand that the Government pass some of the measures they desire so much, and, believe me, if the women would only do this great, big, self-denying thing (viz., signing the pledge cards and keeping their pledges) that the Government asks of them, the Government in return would not be slow to grant them their requests.

"Two wrongs never make a right," and—well—if signing those cards and living up to them insure one-half second more of comfort to our soldiers in France, it is the duty of every woman to do it, no matter what the Government does, or does not do.

GADFLY.

Here is Kindness.

Dear Miss Grey,—The Mail-Box is a great help, as well as a great entertainer. I do enjoy most of the letters so much and have tried many of the recipes and find them fine. Miss Grey, isn't this a terrible war? I have my only two brothers in it, and the younger one is only 23 years of age, and has been a prisoner of war since June 2, 1916, at Stendal, Germany. My elder brother is discharged from service. We are surely glad. The one who is a prisoner at Stendal, Germany, had 42 pieces of shrapnel taken out of his body, besides other wounds, and still has a bullet in his shoulder. He took his share from the Huns; do you not think so, Miss Grey? The patriotic society here, of which I am a member, pays $5 a month to Miss D. Gunn, London, for prisoners of war fund purposes, and, I am pleased to say, we send much direct to the soldiers. As we had a large supply of socks on hand, I decided to write and ask you for about six full addresses of soldiers in France or England—the lonely ones, Miss Grey, those who have no relatives to send them parcels. I wish to pack them boxes and put about two pairs of socks in each box, but I would rather have the names of those who have no one to send parcels to them. Those are the ones we must look after more than the others, and since the Government has stopped us sending parcels to my brother in Germany, I have more now to spend on those in France. May God hasten the end of this terrible conflict and bring our loved ones back to us again, and comfort the hearts of those whose loved ones can never come back. Among all the sorrow and misery of this war, one bright light is still burning, and this is getting rid of the terrible evil of drink.

I have my two-year-old on my lap, and it is next to impossible to write. I hope I have not stayed too long for a new caller and may I come again. I wish all good luck to the Mail-Box and its friends. Will sign, M. G. F.

Ans.—With such kindliness of heart as this, there seems to be more "bright lights" in our old world than one. Have sent you the addresses, all as carefully chosen as possible. We all look for you coming again.

RED CROSS AND C. W. C. A. COLUMN

"TO CHEER HIM UP A BIT."

Stories of the condition of our prisoners in Germany are constantly appearing in the press. They all tell of harrowing days in the past; but almost invariably the tale adds, "We are all right now that the Red Cross Society is sending us food." It is most comforting to know that our poor boys in captivity are at least getting enough to eat. And as long as the public continues to support the Red Cross in its huge task then our men in German prisons will be well fed. But the public must do its part. That part is to "adopt" a prisoner, and become responsible to the Red Cross Society for his support. This can be done for the small sum of $2.50 a month. It should be worth a hundred dollars a month to any society to feel assured that at least one Canadian boy in Germany is kept alive through their efforts.

On October 11 the following list of men, who had gratefully acknowledged parcels, was received by Miss Gunn: Ptes. W. G. Winslow, R. B. Witten, W. A. Ainsborough, A. Barber, G. Barton, R. S. McEwan, J. F. Villeneuve, A. Pyper, J. C. Turner, S. R. Collins, H. C. Cross, J. G. Finley, G. Frame, E. T. Galbraith, S. Jutsam, W. McBain, F. S. Moore, E. Harris, S. C. Whiting, H. W. Williams, S. E. Watkins, H. N. Williams, W. Wilson, J. S. Witley, J. Woodcock, W. J. Mabey, R. B. Wetten, W. G. Wrathall.

"We are all in the best of spirits, and my wound is doing fine," writes Pte. Scott. "The Canadian Red Cross have sent us a gramophone and a few records to cheer us up a bit."

Wanted: More Needles!

Once again the alarm must be sounded. Sewed garments are not coming in to Hyman Hall in the quantities that appeared this time last year and yet the hospitals overseas are looking for larger shipments than last autumn. For the list of patients has increased tremendously, and will continue to increase. Then the Red Cross Society has all its hospitals and convalescent homes for returned men here in our own land to sew for. No society that has not largely increased its working membership over last year should rest until many many more are added to its ranks. This work must be done, and only the women can do it. If we women fail our armies cannot be victorious.

Also, More Kitchen.

Have you chosen your corner in the kitchen for the Byron Sanatorium yet? It is such a big place there will surely be a spot for every war-working society in Western Ontario. Everyone wants a wee bit of that most necessary room as her very own, even if it is only a part ownership in a frying-pan or a soup ladle. There is as yet plenty of room for contributions. Many have come in, but the kitchen is not quite in sight yet.

What About Christmas?

Not Christmas here in Canada; we can very well do without much celebration this year, provided we see to it that the returned men have a good time. But what about Christmas in the trenches? It will be a season of dreadful hardship at best for those who have to spend it there, but let us be glad that we can send some homecheer even to the farthest and wettest dugout on the front line. The C.W.C.A. is determined that some of the very best things they can afford will go there. And they are waiting for every woman in Western Ontario to say what part she is to have in their gift. Perhaps this may be the last Christmas for our boys in the trenches—we pray that it may—but whatever the future has in store for us and them, let us be sure of one thing, that this Christmas will be so generously provided for that our soldiers will talk about it for the rest of their lives. Any contributions sent to Hyman Hall will be well used.

THE SPORT-LIGHT

By Grantland Rice.

(Copyright). Special District Rights Secured by The Advertiser From the New York Tribune.

THE UPWARD SHADE.

Outside of David, who dropped Goliath, we recall no lightweight who ever ent a heavyweight in the dusk.

But by way of gradual margins it might be proved that a lightweight isn't back after all.

Follow this system—

Yet between the two extreme gaps the margin of weight is nearly 130 ounds. Leonard won his title around 133; Willard weighed 260 when he fought oran.

This might be used as proof that the comparative score system isn't any too ound by way of arriving at accurate results.

THE TWO WALLOPERS.

Someone started the argument as to the hardest hitters or the hardest hitter baseball had ever produced.

The range, including some fifty years and from 15,000 to 20,000 entries, left lenty of room for debate.

They had two votes to turn in. The first was for Ed. Delehanty; the other was for Sam Crawford.

It was the combined opinion of these judges that Delehanty and Crawford could hit a baseball harder than any other men up and down the roster—not overlooking Anson, Lajoie, Wagner, Baker, Schulte, Cravath or other home run monarchs known to the slugging fame of the sport.

Certainly the last ten years have produced no harder hitter than Sam Crawford. The Wahoo barber had the wallop beyond all competition. But the old birds say that Delehanty could outhit even Crawford when it settled down to a matter of force.

The verdict was that for the closing year Babe Ruth headed the parade with the lustiest punch. And there was also Wally Pipp, an erratic hitter, but one blessed with terrific driving force, once he connected with his complete power.

Joe Jackson and Fred Merkle formed another brace who could lay the timbered hickory against the ball. And still another is Dave Robertson. Robertson and Jackson have outranged the field at the Polo Grounds, although one of Mike Donlin's ancient blows is still given a draw by more than a few who recalled Mike's longest smash a good many seasons back.

"If the German system was adopted in sport," suggests an exchange, "there would be no rules in any game." There'd be one, at least—a heavy penalty against any type of fair play or sportsmanship.

Ernest J. Lanigan, the eminent statistician of Swat, has had one or two additional suggestions put through for the next batch of averages, to be published at an early date. By the time Ernest J. finishes with his system there will be no detail in the baseball life of any athlete that hasn't been smoked out.

RUBES DEFEAT S. C. I.

STRATHROY, Nov. 6.—The Town Rubes defeated Capt. McNeil's collegiate institute squad in a rugby game here today by a score of 10 to 5. Manager Chambers of the Rubes had his team in fine shape and they played a good game. McNeil made his big mistake in trying to break through his opponents' line instead of working on the wing. Another game is expected next week.

Is Benny Leonard Greatest Lightweight?

Is Benny Leonard the greatest lightweight that the world has ever saw?

Jimmy Britt thinks so and says so. Do you think so? Britt fought plenty of good men in his day, the best being Battling Nelson. James Edward fought the Durable Dane when the Copenhagen wonder was at the very pinnacle of his power.

Jimmy failed in his greatest fight, the one against Nelson at Colma. Nelson was the toughest lightweight in the world, that day at least, and it is freely confessed that we do not think that Benny, as wonderful as he is, could have defeated the Dane then and there. In ten rounds, yes, very much yes, but in a long drawn-out test of brawn, we think that Oscar Battling Nelson could have whipped any lightweight that ever lived.

Nelson wasn't brilliant or showy, but he was infernally strong, courageous and untiring. He had the stuff in him. True, Wolgast whipped him in a long fight, but Wolgast didn't whip the Nelson that toppled Britt for the first time in his career.

Gans was too deadly a hitter for Benjamin. Ben knocks them across the ring. Joe knocked them dead in their socks. That was the difference. Willie Fitzgerald was asked whether Gans could hit, and Willie immediately ducked and wrapped both arms about his head and ears.

"Could he hit?" moaned Willie from beneath the layer of arms. "For goodness sake, don't make me think of it again." Two knockouts by Gans linger in my memory. Willie Fitz was the victim of one, and Mike Twin Sullivan was the prey of the other. Both were progressing beautifully against the old master, when—"Jerry, bring in the shutter." It was ever thus when Joe hit 'em.

Willie wasn't hit as cleanly as Mike was, but he dropped right in his tracks and was counted out as he looked up sheepishly at the lights, as if viewing a beautiful sunset.

Mike Twin went out after having given a good account of himself, and when he went out he lay sprawled on the lower rope of the ring as stiff as a mummy.

Leonard doesn't finish them as cleanly simply because he doesn't hit as hard. Lavigne would have been too rugged for him, without question. George Lavigne was one of the marvelous among the little men and in his best days would have carried all before him.

Leonard is a great fighter, there can be no argument about that, but better than Lavigne, Gans, Nelson, Erne, Matthews, or even poor little Wolgast—well, all set, let the merry tongues wag. It's "open game, boys; open game."

NEW MERGER TO BE CALLED UNION LEAGUE

Toronto, Indianapolis, Baltimore and Five Other Cities Included.

BARROWS FOR PRESIDENT

Clubs in Union League To Be Immune From Draft—Will Not Be a Major.

New York, Nov. 6.—Newark, Baltimore, Buffalo, Toronto, Toledo, Columbus, Louisville and Indianapolis have been selected to form the new baseball circuit which will bear the name of the Union League of Professional Ball Clubs.

The organization of this league will be ratified at a special meeting of the club owners to be held in this city within the next two or three weeks. Edward G. Barrow will be elected president at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Newark, Baltimore, Buffalo and Toronto will formally resign from the International League, while Toledo, Columbus, Louisville and Indianapolis will secede from the American Association. The Union League will operate under the protection of the National agreement.

The promoters of the new circuit have no desire to masquerade as a "major league." They are prepared to conduct business under the rules that have governed the International League and American Association for the past fifteen years. They will not demand representation on the National Baseball Commission, but it is possible that their clubs will be relieved from the drafting system, which will enable them to keep many of their best players.

NATIONALS OVERCOME BRUNSWICKS EASILY

The City League bowlers opened their season at the National Alleys on Tuesday night, when the Nationals swooped down on the Brunswicks and annexed all three games without any apparent great effort. Karrys bowled well, getting over the 200-mark in the second and third games. He was the high man of both teams. Crawford made the top score of the night for a game, when he totalled 221 in the last game. In the first round he was much lower than Karrys and took second place. Wright also did some nice work.

CURRENT COMMENT

On Live Happenings of the SPORT WORLD

Curlers far and wide through the country are about ready for their "roaring game." The majority of clubs have elected officers for the winter, and have generally put things in shape so that they may open up as soon as the ice is ready.

The London Curling Club has completed all elections. The Thistles will be ready after next Monday night, when all committees will be named. London is a strong centre for curlers, and there should be some fine sport here this winter.

Axworthy, the 25-year-old stallion, owned by the Simpson estate, died at Lexington a few days ago. Axworthy was the first of the long line of great trotters bearing his name, chief among which were Gen. Watts and Guy Axworthy. In his racing days Axworthy was a consistent winner and gifted with great speed.

The 63rd Battery team has been pretty well broken up by a draft which will leave for an eastern training point shortly. This may mean that the battery may not play any more games.

The Western University squad is working fast to get into shape for their game with the Aggies at Guelph on Saturday. The locals were defeated here last Saturday, but hope to get their own back this week-end.

J. K. L. Ross, of Montreal, has announced that eleven English jumpers which he has purchased abroad have arrived safely at Montreal. Mr Ross recently purchased a training establishment in the south and will breed fast horses.

President Barrow of the International League has been down in the Carolinas on a shooting trip. He will be in Louisville for the meeting of the Minor League clubs on November 12.

Baseball players are somewhat worried over the short season schemes now floating around. They are afraid that it will mean less money for them.

Sport writers will be able to turn out volumes during the winter months based on rumors about amalgamations, mergers, short seasons, players drafted, players to be drafted, players who will not be drafted and players who don't want to be drafted.

When they get through with this book they can start on a second volume which they might call: "Big Leaguers in France."

At any rate it will give the fans something to do when the snow is on the ground. Publishers of sporting papers state that their circulation increases every autumn and falls off in the summer time. When we can see a game of ball why bother reading about it!

Hockey is not going to be very prominent in sports this winter. Most of London's star ice-men are overseas and other places are in the same shape, as far as real classy players go. War is the big game attracting everybody nowadays.

PAVE GALT STREET OR STOP RUNNING CARS

GALT, Nov. 6.—Preliminary arrangements for paving North Water street have been held up by the failure of the G. P. and H., and L. S. and N. Railways to come to some agreement regarding the pavement, and the city council has authorized City Solicitor Dalezell to notify the L. E. and N. Company that, since it has no running right on Water street, having no agreement with the city, that unless a satisfactory agreement is reached the railway must stop running its cars on the street on and after December 1. The council wants the paving of Water street undertaken in the spring.

PASSCHENDAELE IS CAPTURED BY SOLDIERS FROM DOMINION; GREAT TRIUMPH OVER BOCHES

Allies Gain Advantage of High Ground On Blood-Soaked Salient—Germany's "Best" Are Beaten Down Into Low Ground by Haig's Troops.

London, Nov. 6.—The town of Passchendaele, lying northeast of Ypres, has been captured by the British forces, according to the official communication issued tonight, which reads as follows:

"Operations were undertaken this morning by Canadians with complete success against the enemy's defences in and around Passchendaele and on the spur northwest of the village. The assembly of our troops for the attack was carried out successfully. At 6 a.m. the assault was launched as arranged.

"The enemy had been ordered to hold this important position on the main ridge at all costs.

"Hard fighting took place at a number of points, particularly on the high ground north of the village, and for a collection of fortified buildings and strong points on Goeburg Spur. Nevertheless, our troops made steady progress, and at an early hour the village of Passchendaele was captured, together with the hamlets of Mosselmarkt and Goeberg. Before midday all our objectives had been gained and a number of prisoners taken.

Great Work of Airmen.

"During the day the weather was unsettled. The rain, which fell at intervals, improved the visibility, however, and assisted the work of our artillery and aircraft, and, combined with valuable observation gained by our advance, has enabled our guns to deal effectively with the enemy's batteries and with concentrations of hostile infantry."

Passchendaele lies about five miles west of Roulers. The new advance of the British throws the apex of their salient in dangerous proximity to Roulers, the fall of which would cut Germany's communication with her submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge from the south. The indications from the meagre advices thus far to hand are that the Canadians, who bore the brunt of the operation, extended their line 800 yards beyond Passchendaele. Numerous German prisoners were taken.

The main defence of Passchendaele consisted of a great number of machine guns, and a heavy barrage was thrown against the Canadians as they advanced along the crest of the ridge. Three concrete redoubts on the southern side of the village poured a vicious fire into their ranks, but there was no pause in their steady advance.

A Strong Defence.

In the village itself there were many roofed cellars, among the ruins of which were rapid-fire squads, and what was left of the big church in the central square offered good positions from which to operate machine guns and rifles. The fire from the church was especially heavy as the Canadians entered the town from south and west.

But the Germans apparently had no spirit for hand-to-hand conflict with the Canadians, and fled or surrendered as the advancing troops swept up to their covers. Passchendaele was quickly crossed, and the Canadians pushed northward along the crest of the ridge. The conquest of Meetcheele Spur was carried out with equal speed. Mosselmarkt was strongly held by the Germans, and just back of it, on the cross roads, was a large concrete fort heavily armed with machine guns. The highway running along the spur to Mosselmarkt also was lined with cellar defences, which dominated the approach.

Surrendered or Fled.

As the Canadians pushed along the spur and encountered these concrete strongholds the Germans surrendered or fled. They did not want any close fighting with the men who recently at Lens had battled with cold steel through the German ranks in some of the fiercest and most sanguinary fighting the war has seen.

The fort at the cross roads was reached and surrounded. For a few moments the Germans held out. Then they flew the white flag.

It is reported that the Canadians then continued their triumphal march until they reached the Passchendaele Ridge, through which the Meetchele spur runs. There they joined their line to that of their comrades.

ST. JULIEN SCORE SETTLED.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via London, Nov. 6.—(By W. A. Willison, Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—In another great advance along their whole front, the Canadians seem to have taken Passchendaele, Goudberg and Mosselmarkt. If this is so, no more signal triumph has been won in the whole history of the Canadian corps. Our divisions will have more than settled the old score on St. Julien.

Dominating Roulers and Roulers plain, Passchendaele would give the Allied forces a firm footing on the services of great spurs extending from Gheluvelt, on the south, including Bellevue spur and Passchendaele Ridge, running northeast for miles.

Possession of Passchendaele marks a great triumph in the long struggle to secure possession of this higher ground. It gives the Allies the advantage of position in the salient, and relegates the Boche to the lower levels, dominated by our guns.

Despite Hindenburg's Orders.

Knowing too well the vital necessity of maintaining the Passchendaele position secure, von Hindenburg, after the successful Canadian advances on Bellevue spur and the capture of Crest farm and Meetcheele, issued a special army order, commanding that Passchendaele should be held at all costs, and if lost, must be retaken. For days the enemy had been rushing up guns and new formations of troops to insure his hold on the position. His efforts proved unavailing. The best troops of the enemy has given ground before our forces, who have moved steadily towards their objective since the beginning of the Passchendaele operations, October 25.

Many airplanes were over the German front. Notwithstanding the poor visibility the observers reported a large concentration of German infantry in shell-hole defences between Passchendaele and Moorslede. The Germans also had pulled out their old troops and put in fresh divisions all along the line.

Western Ontario in It.

At 6 o'clock this morning, our guns opened a tremendous barrage fire, and two minutes later men from Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Western and Eastern Ontario were out of their shell holes and temporary mud-wall trenches in an advance, which by 7:30 had carried them beyond their objectives. It was an artillery and machine gun battle. For an hour and a half our guns were never silent. Protected by a splendid barrage, our infantry moved slowly forward, while our counter-batteries dominated the enemy's guns and swept his assembled artillery positions with their fire.

Well Beyond Passchendaele.

Details of the fighting are not yet to hand, but our forces on the right, plunging towards Passchendaele, have advanced well beyond the ruined village, overcoming the fortified enemy shell holes and concrete strong points in advance, and capturing numerous machine gun positions which threatened our attack from the Passchendaele-Zonnebeke road to the village itself, where the enemy, from cellars and machine gun positions in the ruins, fought to break down our attack.

To the left our infantry met with desperate resistance 75 yards in front of Meetcheele, where the enemy stronghold formed the key to their whole left position, as Meetcheele did to ours.

Mosselmarkt was the scene of another determined resistance.

UNIONIST LIBERALS HISSED IN EAST YORK AT LIBERAL MEETING

Severe Words Are Hurled at Mr. Rowell.

CARVELL ALONE UPHELD

Hon. Messrs. Guthrie and Mewburn Are Handed Roasts.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—East York Liberals tonight enthusiastically indorsed James Ballantyne labor candidate in the forthcoming general election for the House of Commons. J. C. Allen, president of Ward 1 Liberals, said they should congratulate themselves on getting rid of the selfish so-called Liberals, who were looking only after their own interests or the ends of the big interests.

Hartley Dewart, M.P.P., and Mrs. Hector Prenter were the chief speakers. "I want to know where Mr. Ballantyne stands in relation to Rowell," demanded a man in the audience. "Liberals want no more of that fellow," he added, amid laughter.

Hard on Mr. Rowell.

George Wellings said he would support no man who condoned the conduct of Rowell and Guthrie. Liberals were well rid of the Grit machine and Rowell, he declared. The lack of enthusiasm among Liberals in Toronto was because the party had been run by the machine. Rowell was never chosen in open convention. (Cries of "he never was.")

When Mr. Dewart was referring to the Liberal press one man shouted, "Our press is bought. The big interests control it."

Likewise Hard on Guthrie.

Mr. Dewart said Eastern Canada, with the exception of Carvell, had no real representation in the Union Government.

"Who represent Ontario Liberalism, Guthrie, Rowell and Mewburn." (Hisses and cries of "shame.")

"We do not propose to accept such representatives," he said. "Guthrie, with taste I scarcely like to characterize and with a delicacy all his own, publicly asks, 'Who would the kaiser vote for, Borden or Laurier?' If Mr. Guthrie wants to know who the kaiser would vote for, I will look him in the eye and tell him. The kaiser will vote every time for the man who can be bought." (Wild and prolonged cheers.)

HOLLAND AND U.S. REACH AGREEMENT ON DUTCH TONNAGE

Steamer Will Sail With Cargo Needed by Dutch and May Return.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. — An early agreement between the United States and Holland on the disposal of Dutch tonnage in American ports was seen here today in the release by the war trade board of the Dutch steamer Nieuw Amsterdam for a return trip across the Atlantic. The vessel will leave an American port shortly, carrying a cargo of package freight for Holland, 10,000 tons of corn for Belgian relief, and several hundred Dutch refugees as passengers. Wire cable badly needed for the operation of the Dutch coal mines will make up a part of her cargo.

Licenses for the Nieuw Amsterdam's cargo were held up by the American authorities when the Dutch Government refused to give assurances that she would not be interned for safety as soon as she reached the other side. In the negotiations that followed the American Government refused to recede from its position, and finally the Dutch yielded.

REV. DR. CARMEN BURIED.

During the morning the body lay in state at the late residence, and in the afternoon a public service was held in Carlton Street Methodist Church. Those who attended the service included ministers of many denominations, and tributes were paid by Rev. Dr. Chown, Rev. Wm. Briggs and Rev. T. Albert Moore.

LIBERALS OF CARADOC INDORSE PLATFORM OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Urge Immediate Action to Place Candidates in Field Pledged to Support Policy —Deadlock in North Waterloo Remains Unbroken.

CARADOC, Nov. 6.—At a meeting of the electors of Section No. 6, which was attended by representatives from all parts of the district enthusiastic indorsation of the manifesto of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was made in the following resolution which was passed unanimously.

"That we, the Liberals of Polling Subdivision No. 6, Caradoc, in the riding of West Middlesex, indorse the platform of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as laid down in his manifesto, and we would urge the Liberals of every part of the said riding of West Middlesex to take immediate action with the view of placing a candidate supporting that policy in its entirety in the field. We do also urge that each polling subdivision in the riding hold meetings at once to appoint delegates to a convention to be held for that purpose, announcement of which will be made in Saturday's issue of The London Advertiser."

Mr. McDougall was chairman and the large gathering showed the keenest interest in the big questions before the people.

MEETING ON FRIDAY.

AYLMER, Nov. 6.—Plans have been completed for a mass meeting of the citizens of East Elgin at Aylmer on Friday evening. R. L. Brackin, R. S. McDermand, W. G. Charlton and others will give addresses on question of national and imperial importance in this world crisis. Mr. Marshall, ex-M.P., has issued his pronouncement, and it is understood that it will be given a review on that occasion.

W. G. Charlton has the riding in fine trim for the campaign.

NO PROGRESS MADE.

KITCHENER, Nov. 6.—No further progress was made today by the Union Government committee in their efforts to unite upon a candidate. The committee of the Conservative executive still adheres to its determination to call a union convention and nominate W. G. Weichel. Mr. Weichel is at present in Toronto, and rumor was current here tonight that Mr. Weichel, while in Toronto, would endeavor to get a member of the new union cabinet to accept the North Waterloo nomination as a means of breaking the existing deadlock.

WILL CALL CONVENTION.

SIMCOE, Nov. 6.—The mass meeting of the Conservatives and electors of Norfolk County in favor of the Union Government of Sir Robert Borden, called by G. H. Luscombe, president of the Conservative Association for Norfolk for the purpose of discussing the political situation in this country, was well-attended.

Hugh P. Innes, K.C., candidate of the Conservatives for the last two and half years, was the speaker. He reviewed the political events of the past few years and referred to the fact that since he was re-indorsed by his party on October 1, a Union Government had been formed. He expressed his entire willingness to withdraw if the party thought best in view of the changed aspect of affairs, and tendered his resignation.

Other speakers included Mrs. Rupert Simpson and Senator McCalla, both of Simcoe.

John Cope, of St. Williams, moved the following resolution, which was seconded by Richard Quance, of Delhi, "That this meeting is in favor of the executive committee of the Liberal Conservative Association selecting twelve Conservative Unionists to meet twelve Liberal Unionists in regard to deciding on a union convention to be held within a week if possible." This resolution passed after some discussion. No action was taken on the resignation of Mr. Innes.

TOLMIE SCORES CROTHERS.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—The first gun was fired by the Liberals in the Dominion election campaign tonight at a mass meeting held in the Liberal Club rooms. Vice-President W. H. Stapleton occupied the chair. Speeches were delivered by W. H. Tolmie, the Liberal standard-bearer for the riding of West Elgin, Alex Darrach, J. E. Nelson, School Trustee Albert Roberts and Michigan Central Railway Engineer James Kains.

Mr. Tolmie declared he was a "win-the-war" candidate first, last and always, and that he has done more as a farmer to help win the war than his opponent, Mr. Crothers, in as much as he was producing food and encouraging the farmers in his locality to produce as they had never done before.

He would support a government that legislated for the masses and not for the classes. If elected he would do everything possible to win the war. He would encourage the agricultural pursuits, which appeared to be a vital question, and the rich man would be compelled to contribute towards the war, instead of doubling his wealth as under the old government. He believed in conscripting wealth and the resources of the country.

J. B. Davidson, barrister, scored the misdeeds of the last Administration, and dealt at length with the C. N. R. deal. He stated that the Government made a present to the directors of that company of some ten millions of dollars of the people's hard-earned money. He attacked the various departments for spending colossal sums of money foolishly.

IN FAVOR OF UNION.

STRATFORD, Nov. 6.—When "union" convention, called by the Conservative executive, meets in Milverton on Wednesday there will be present a deputation representing conscriptionist Liberals of Stratford to urge upon the gathering the selection of a union candidate for North Perth in the coming election.

This decision was reported tonight, when upwards of twenty from the city, including some ladies, answered the call for a meeting of conscription Liberals "to consider and discuss means for the election of a union candidate for the riding."

Those present were outspoken in their stand for union. The chief concern was stated by the speakers to be the putting into effect at once of the military service act, and they considered the return of the Union Government essential to this end.

The speakers believe that the Conservatives would be willing to meet them half way in the matter, and accordingly, William Preston, D. M. Ferguson and J. R. MacDonald were named to convey the feeling of the meeting to Wednesday's convention.

The position of Dr. Rankin who received almost unanimous support of the Liberal convention recently, was discussed. His stand was that he supported conscription, but was opposed to the present union. The members present were a unit in declaring that they could not support anyone not in favor of the present Union Government.

Among those present were: J. R. MacDonald, W. Preston, Hugh Jack, C. L. Walsh, A. McDonald, H. Burgess, H. S. Robertson, John Stevenson, B. Lackie, W. Alland, D. M. Ferguson, Mrs. J. D. McCrimmon, Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs Preston.

"SAM" WOOD DEAD.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—S. T. Wood, for many years an editorial writer on the Toronto Globe, died tonight after a lingering illnes. Mr. Wood had a remarkable career. He was born on a backwoods farm in Wollaston, Hastings County, and joined the Globe as a mechanic in 1891. Later he served as a reporter and then wrote editorial paragraphs. Shortly after Mr. Wood took a prominent part in writing editorials on economic subjects, and in 1901 published a "Primer in Political Economy." He is survived by his father, Samuel Wood, now 85 years of age, his widow and two sons.

JURY SAYS FRITCH OPERATION CAUSED RODNEY GIRL'S DEATH

Victim's Sister Alleges That Brakeman Knew Miss McMacken's Condition.

WINDSOR, Nov. 6. — The coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Frances McMacken of Rodney, who died in the Hotel Dieu here on October 16, returned a verdict tonight charging Dr. G. A. Fritch of Detroit, with having performed the operation which caused the girl's death.

Crown Prosecutor Rodd has not yet decided what his next step in the matter will be, as Dr. Fritich is already under indictment in Detroit for causing the deaths of two women in that city by criminally operating.

Miss Margaret McMacken, a sister of the victim, was the principal witness at this evening's hearing of the adjourned inquest. She told of having gone with her sister to the office of Dr. Fritch in Detroit, and of his agreement to "help the girl out" for $25. She said $10 was paid over and the balance was to come upon the next visit.

An important feature of the witness' evidence was a statement that she had informed Roy Knight, a Pere Marquette brakeman, of her sister's condition in June last, and that he had promised to pay all expenses if she would go to London and see a doctor.

At this time, the witness stated, Knight admitted he was responsible for Miss Frances McMacken's condition. Knight when on the stand here at the first hearing denied that he was to blame, claiming his friendship with the girl was purely of a platonic nature.

CHURCH CROWDED AT MRS. MARTINI'S FUNERAL

Great Tributes Paid to Memory of Loved Rodney Woman.

Rodney, Nov. 6.—The funeral of Mrs. Martini, whose sudden death was such a shock to her many friends, was held after a short service at the house to the Roman Catholic Church on Middle street, where requiem high mass was sung by Rev. Father Quinlan, assisted by Rev. Father Firth and Rev. Father O'Neill. During the service, at the offertory, one of her favorite hymns, "My God and Father While I Stray," was sung by James Connor of London. Following the Agnus Dei, Mrs. Matters of St. Thomas sang an Ave Maria, Mrs. McManus, organist of Holy Angels' Church, St. Thomas, presiding at the organ.

Rev. Father Quinlan thanked the many friends for their presence, and paid tribute to the family and to the deceased for their many acts of kindness.

Rev. Father O'Neill delivered an impressive sermon from the text, "He who loveth his life shall lose it, and he who hateth his life and flingeth it away shall find life everlasting." He referred to the life of loving service, devotion and self-sacrifice of the deceased, and though taken so suddenly, she was perhaps the one ideal God had in his plan to call in that manner in order to give the real value in unveiling.

Mrs. Martini was a noble example of Christian womanhood, he said, and was loved and respected by all who knew her, both old and young. Her whole life was a benediction, and the light of her presence will be sadly missed in the home where she was an idea wife and mother.

After the service, which was so largely attended that many were unable to gain access to the church, the remains were laid to rest beside those of her two children, Maud and Olivia. The pall-bearers were six nephews.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Laban Schnekenberger, Detroit; Mrs. Sales and A. H. Martini, Baden; Miss Elizabeth and J. Quinlan, Stratford; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Culnan and Mr. and Mrs. M. Miller, Thamesville; Mrs. Scouler and W. Ramstein, Dutton; James Connor, London; Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly, Amherstburg; Mrs. T. Hogan, Windsor; Mrs. Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. Casey, Ridgetown.

TO SUFFER FROM HEADACHES

MAKES LIFE MISERABLE

Headaches seem to be habitual with many people. Some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually with the dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on.

The varieties of headache most common are sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, debility or indigestion and periodical and spasmodic headache, and undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters, that has been on the market for over 40 years, removes the cause of the headache, and not only does this, but also restores the entire system to healthy action and buoyant vigor.

Miss Emily Smith, 204 Bellwoods avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters. For two years I was greatly troubled with violent headaches, particularly in the morning. I tried everything to cure me until a friend recommended B. B. B. I tried it, and now I am completely cured."

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

Too Sick To Work

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." —Mrs. O. M. Rhines, Ridgway, Penn.

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga.—"I want to tell you how much I have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have been benefited".—Mrs. W. E. Lindsey, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD," DECLARES HAMILTON CITIZEN

Anderson Tells of His Remarkable Recovery Through Tanlac.

HIS WORK WAS A BURDEN

Had Dizzy Spells and Often Would Nearly Fall to the Floor.

"I am just now on my second bottle of Tanlac and I thank God for giving people brains and skill to make such a wonderful medicine," said John Anderson of 103 Stewart street, while in Parke & Parke's drug store at Hamilton a few days ago. Mr. Anderson has lived in Hamilton nearly all his life, and numbers his friends by hundreds. He has been employed by the Canada Steel Company for nearly a score of years.

"I had suffered from indigestion and painful, disordered kidneys for several months," Mr. Anderson continued, "and during the past few months I had indigestion so bad I was compelled to lay off from my work. I could eat no meats at all, and it seemed to make no difference how careful I was with my diet, my stomach felt like it had lumps in it, and I had severe pain in my chest. I had pains all through my back, my kidneys bothered me constantly, and I suffered so from dizziness that I would stagger and almost fall at times.

"One of these spells came on me while in the shop one day, and a friend of mine who had a bottle of Tanlac there gave me a dose, and, do you know that one dose relieved me. I knew right then I had the right medicine for my case. I came right up town and bought a bottle, and I just want to say I consider it worth its weight in gold. I have never seen the equal of it, and I'm now fifty-seven years old. I haven't had the slightest touch of indigestion now in two weeks, and ever since I took my first dose of Tanlac I have felt different. My kidneys don't bother me any more, and all the pain is gone out of my back and everywhere else. I have a great appetite, eat anything I want and never feel any trouble afterwards. My work was a burden before I took Tanlac, but I'm working every day now and feeling fine all the time. I am feeling wonderfully well and think a medicine that will do what Tanlac has for me deserves all the praise that can be given it."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.—Advt.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON MADE CONTROLLER OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY THROUGHOUT ONTARIO

Will Superintend Production and Distribution of Power.

TO CONFER WITH STATES

No Prohibition of Export, as Munitions Plants Across Line Would Be Affected.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the board of railway commissioners, has been appointed controller of the production and distribution of electrical energy by companies generating or distributing electrical energy in the province of Ontario. The order-in-council, making the appointment, states that it will be the duty of the controller to determine preference and priorities in the supply of such electrical energy to the end that a sufficient supply shall be furnished to factories and users engaged, directly or indirectly, in munitions work or work for any of the allied governments, and also for municipal and public utility requirements.

Can Fix Prices.

It is provided that in the event of a dispute between any user of electrical energy and any company the price at which energy shall be supplied to the user shall be fixed by the controller. It is also provided that as a great deal of energy is exported to the United States and used in connection with the war requirements of both governments that a conference be arranged between the United States and Canadian authorities with a view to insuring the closest co-operation between Canada and the United States in the generation and utilization of energy on both sides of the boundary.

Heavy Penalties.

Companies refusing or neglecting to comply with the terms of the order-in-council or regulations made by the controller shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $5,000. A manager who violates such orders or regulations shall be liable to a like penalty or imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years, or to both fine and imprisonment.

Sir Henry Drayton recently concluded an investigation into the exportation of power. In his report to the Government, he says:

"If the export of power were prohibited, undoubtedly more power would become available for munition plants in Canada; but, on the other hand, important manufactories carried on in the United States on which the allies are dependent would directly suffer. Their output would be still further decreased and in some instances probably stopped. The overlying Canadian interest, as I see it, is best served by insuring the continued operation of munition plants both in Canada and the United States."

Sir Henry's recommendations have been generally adopted by the Government in the order-in-council.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Sir William MacKenzie informed a representative of the Canadian Press Limited today that no agreement had yet been reached between the Government and the C. N. Capt. Greenlees does not say much about activities at the front. The winter season is coming on, and the men are looking forward to six comfortless months, he writes.

BETTER SHOWING IN RED CROSS LABORS

October Reports Show Increase Over Previous Month.

At the meeting of the Red Cross Council today in Hyman Hall, reports of conveners of committees and presidents of auxiliaries were much more encouraging for October than at the last meeting for September. At the same time, there is still much room for improvement, not that the workers or the quality of work has fallen off, but because more workers are required owing to the greater demands from overseas for supplies. Much more help is needed to take care of this increase in work.

CONSTRUCTION WIND-UP

City Engineer's Work Well Over the Year.

The city engineer's department has practically completed the construction work of the year, with the exception of a few sewers which have been started. the paving work will be done this week, and the other construction work has been finished. ENEMY FAILS TO DISRUPT ITALY, IS ROME REPORT

All Parties Are Now United Against Common Foe.

Rome, Tuesday, Nov. 6.—"The German plan has failed in regard to its political object," says a semi-official statement issued here today. Strong confidence is felt that it will fail to accomplish its military object. The military situation, although difficult, is being held in hand, while the political situation is excellent.

Some time must necessarily elapse before an equilibrium has been established, but all existing conditions give confidence that the fate of the great battle initiated twelve days ago will be concluded in our favor.

Germans Foiled.

"The Italians are confronted by an imposing concentration of the enemy's troops and materials, under orders of the German general staff, aiming to obtain on our front a definite decision in the European war by crushing Italy militarily and also by an internal political upheaval.

"Instead an unprecedented moral union throughout the country has been caused, as the following examples prove:

"The Catholic party voluntarily has dropped all polemics regarding the answer of Baron Sonnino, the Italian foreign minister, to the papal note, and has declared itself ready to perform every duty imposed by patriotism.

Vatican in Line.

"Even the Osservatore Romano, the papal official organ, has urged Catholics fully to accomplish their civic duty. The Confederation of Workmen, representing the whole class, has published a manifesto, urging that the mother country be supported by every means."

"The retreat caused a military crisis, which gradually is being solved by the assembling of troops on a previously-established line and by the rushing up of Anglo-French forces. While this is being done, fighting is going on all the time, so as to delay as much as possible the advance of the Austro-Germans, who desire to take advantage of the situation.

"The Italian army, faithful to the orders of its leaders, is fighting with a high morale and a firm spirit."

CROWD OF 1,500 IS PLEASED BY PROGRAM OF ANNUAL CONCERT

Askin Street Sunday School Scores Another Success Last Night.

Askin Street Methodist Church is famous for its Sunday school. It has more than 800 on its roll. A few weeks ago at the annual rally 715 reported, and it was a wet afternoon. The annual concert last evening drew at least 1,500 people. None was disappointed. William Courtis, the superintendent, and his corps of assistants left nothing undone. An item of much enjoyment was the big orchestra under Mr. Quantz. The musicians are mostly members of the school, but the music was anything but amateurish.

The program consisted of two parts, the first by the primary and junior departments, in pretty motion songs and recitations, and the little people were charming in their naive innocence and simplicity. An error only added to the enjoyment.

The great item was the religious, patriotic and spectacular production in the second part. It was entitled "The Arch of Freedom." It was written and staged by Mrs. Bert Childs of Bruce street. Nothing of its kind has been better in Askin Street Church. The various nations, represented by a person or persons in costume, announced by a herald, made application to an allegorical personage, "Freedom," to lay a stone in the arch. They came attended by guards, soldiers, sailors and maidens—all in national costume. These attendants executed movements expressive of ideas in the national anthems, or went through drills.

The climax came with the great illuminated cross crowning the arch. The audience, as if by inspiration, arose and sang "Crown Him Lord of All." Special mention was made of Miss B. Dobbyn as "Freedom," A. Pritchett as "Uncle Sam," and Miss E. Dunn as "Canada," C. Dougall as "The Herald."

MORE OFFICERS FOR C. E. F. RESERVE LIST

Lieuts. F. N. Marcellus and W. F. Geddes, Canadian Officers' Training Corps (O. A. C.), and D. A. Killen, 21st Regiment, having qualified themselves for their appointments, have been confirmed in their rank, according to militia district orders.

Prov. Lieut. C. C. Irwin of the 1st Hussars, and Lieut. R. W. MacFarlane of the 32nd (Bruce) Regiment, have been seconded.

The following officers have been transferred from the active list, C. E. F., to the reserve of officers, C. E. F.: Capt. Harry Brooks Madden (25th Regiment), 91st Os. Battalion; Capt. Havelock Danard (32nd Regiment), 160th Os. Battalion; Capt. George Baldwin (25th Regiment), 91st Os. Battalion; Lieut. Gilbert Stanley Wright (26th Regiment), 186th Os. Battalion; Lieut. James Leslie Straith (21st Regiment), 19th Os. Battalion; Lieut. Geo. Smithson Reid, 26th Reserve Battalion.

THREE BEFORE CONVENTION.

REGINA, Nov. 6.—The names of J. G. Turriff, M.P., C. C. Smith of Carnduff, and Corp. T. M. Bryce, now with the 77th Battery, are the ones likely to be brought before a convention at Estevan on November 14 to nominate a candidate for the federal constituency of Assiniboia.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

ADVANCES RECORDED ON LOCAL MARKET

Oats, Hay, Potatoes Are All Higher in Price.

Advances in about six different kinds of produce were recorded on the market this morning. The variety of produce offered was particularly small, the grain supply being the only attraction. Purchasers for grain and fodder in particular were many. Although the offerings of grain has been the largest of months during the past week the demand still continues as briskly as ever. Hay sold at $11 to $13 a ton. It was expected that the demand would slacken and a lower price be registered after the large supplies of last week had been purchased. However, buyers still flock to the market every morning and practically every load of hay is bought up in short notice.

Oats advanced when all hundredweights sold at $2.10 to $2.15, which represents a jump of ten cents. The quantity of oats offered has not been large during any period of the season, but it was not thought that a jump would occur at this time. Wheat and barley, too, is scarce, and there appears to be little demand for the grains.

Although fairly plentiful and always equal to the demand, potatoes showed a slight advance this morning. Practically all bags sold for $1.80 to $2; an advance of ten cents. Following complaints from marketers with regard to the practice of giving short-weight produce on the square it seems that a better weight is now prevailing, and the complaints of purchasers are few.

Vegetables are selling in wholesale quantities, and prices generally remain unchanged in all varieties. Green tomatoes are yet being offered and sell readily. Fruit is scarce the only kind obtainable being apples and grapes.

Butter and eggs are scarce and firm in price.

A slight advance in dressed hogs is expected as soon as they appear on the market owing to the advance in live porkers recorded Tuesday.

The demand for straw is poor, and little is being offered. The majority of loads call for $7.50 to $8.

Poultry is not selling as briskly as has been the case for the past month. With the approach of winter the demand has slackened, but will probably become somewhat brisker around Christmas.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—There were good offerings at the Union yards this morning, but sales were slow. Sheep and lambs steady, hogs advancing. Receipts—Cattle, 1,371; hogs, 1,468; sheep, 1,152; calves, 1,177. Quotations:

Sheep—Ewes, cwt, $11@13; bucks and culls, $7 50@9 50; lambs, $15 75@16 15.

Hogs—Fed and watered, cwt, $17.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—The offerings at the C. P. R. live stock yards this morning amounted to 400 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 600 hogs and 100 calves. The trade has been very active during the week, and prices have remained steady under the decline. The only exception was in lambs, which have suffered a decline. They have been very high for same time, and the price was considered artificial. A good business is reported on export account in this line. The choicest sold for $15 50 per 100 lbs, a decline of $1 per 100 lbs on last week. The demand for canners and cheaper grades of cattle is brisk, owing probably to the fact that there is a dearth of choice stuff. Canners sold as high as $5 50. Hogs are steady at $17, with offerings a little better as to quality. Quotations per 10 0lbs:

Choice steers, $10; good steers, $9@9 50; choice butcher bulls, $6 50@7; good bulls, $6; choice butcher cows, $7 50@8; good cows, $6@6 50; canning cattle, $5 25@5 50.

Sheep, $10 50@11 50; lambs, $15@15 50.

Calves, $6@6 50 for grass-fed; milk-fed are like hens' teeth.

Hogs—Choicest selects, $17; sows, $15@16.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Cattle—Receipts, 20,000; market firm; beeves, $6 60@17 15; westerns, $6@13 35; stockers and feeders, $5 85@11 60; cows and heifers, $4 50@11 80; calves, $7@13 25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 4,000; slow; lambs, $12@16 25; yearlings, $11@14; wethers, $11 25@11 50; ewes, $6@11; mixed sheep, $11@11 25.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Opening: Corn—December, $1 16⅛; May, $1 12½@1 12. Oats—December, 58¾@58⅝c; May, 60@59⅞c.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Further bullish effects in the corn market developed today from the setting of a virtual minimum price on hogs. The maintenance of such a minimum was urged as evidence that quotations of future deliveries of corn were still too low. Weather conditions that appeared unfavorable for handling soft grain tended also to lift the market.

Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜c off to ½c advance, with December at $1 16½ and May at $1 12@1 12*, were followed by a material upturn all around.

WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 7—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Stocks opened with indications that the recent liquidation would be carried to greater lengths. Initial quotations were 1 to 3 points under Monday's final prices, rails and equipments inclining toward further weakness. A quick rebound was led by United States Steel, which rallied from its low point of 91 to 93*. Reading reversed its break of a point with an actual gain of 2* points, and other rails replaced early losses with gains of 1 to 3 points. Coppers, oils and war shares as a whole rallied sharply.

Noon.—The improvement of the first half hour invited fresh offerings and profit-taking, leaders falling back 1 to 2 points from their best. Weakness of bonds also provoked further liquidation, several high-grade issues, including internationals, recording lowest quotations. United States Steel showed steady support, rising to 93¾, and Bethlehem Steel gained 3¼. St. Paul rallied 3 points from its new low record, Great Northern as much, and Reading 4 points. Liberty fours held at par, but the 3½'s fell from 99.64 to 99.50, the latter repeating its previous minimum.

1:30 p.m.—Low records during the mid-session for Atchison and American Telephone, and the heaviness of local utilities, were offset by greater strength in the active list. Steels, shippings, coppers and various specialties showed etxreme gains of 3 to 6 points.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, Nov. 7.—The agreement between Japan and the United States made a good impression in financial circles today, although it had little effect on the stock exchange, owing to the absence of speculative dealings. The market was quietly cheerful, and was subdued only by the Italian situation. Gilt-edged securities and mining shares were steadier, and shippings were strong on the Peninsular and Oriental Company's tax-free dividend for the year of 12 per cent, with a bonus of 6 per cent. Foreign bonds were quietly supported, and oil and industrial stocks were better.

RALPH CONNOR TOURS WEST.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—"If any cities or towns in Canada fall down in meeting their allotment of the Victory Loan, it will not be in western Canada," said Major W. C. Gordon (Ralph Connor) when interviewed this morning on his arrival from a hurried tour of the west on special business of the British and Canadian Governments. In thirteen days since he left Winnipeg, the major has covered 8,500 miles, delivered 22 addresses and visited all the larger centres of the west.

MAKE PROVISION TO EDUCATE RUSSIANS, IS TRUSTEE'S PLAN

Question Will Be Taken Up With Ontario Association.

PRINCIPALS ASK RAISE

Those in Charge of Eleven-Room Schools Want Salary Increased.

At the meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon, Trustee John S. Barnard called attention to the necessity of the department of education making provision for the education of Russians and other foreigners in this country. The matter was brought up by the explanation of Inspector Edwards that the board had no power to make a grant to a Russian priest here to start a night school for these men.

"We should teach these men proper ideals," said Mr. Barnard. "The department should have some machinery to teach them. They learn in a roundabout way, through the police court frequently, that while this is the land of the free, it is not the land of license."

The matter will be taken up at the next session of the Ontario Educational Association.

Miss Anthistle asked for the use of the Ryerson school for a concert for Serbian relief. The request was granted. The London Conservatory of Music asked also for the use of the schools for concerts, but the board decided not to agree to this.

Chairman Thomas Rowe, A. A. Langford, Dr. H. H. Black, Inspector Edwards and Principal George F. Rogers were named a committee to assist in making the Victory Loan campaign a success.

Tenders Resignation.

O. R. Pengelly, instructor in manual training, tendered his resignation, to take effect at the earliest possible moment. He expressed his regret at any misunderstanding. He has enlisted for overseas service. The resignation was accepted, to take effect on December 20.

The principals of the eleven-room schools and over, asked for an increase in the maximum salary paid them. The matter was sent to No. 1 committee.

Dr. Weir, truant officer, reported that a number of pupils were out of school because of the poverty of their parents. Permits had been given to several to work, while others had gone back to school. In response to a question from Trustee Barnard, Dr. Weir stated that the high cost of living and widows with many children, were the causes. He served ten notices during October, and had three cases in the courts.

It was reported that $7,601 had been received from the Government for the technical school on account of the number of pupils attending the day classes, and $3,609 for the night classes. This was an increase of about $400.

Agreement Renewed.

The agreement with the department of education for the instruction of Normal students in the public schools has been renewed on satisfactory terms.

Inspector Edwards made application for traveling allowances. The matter was sent to No. 2 committee.

The report of Inspector Edwards showed the enrollment in the public schools to be 7,891, an increase of 247, and the average attendance, 7,117, an increase of 355. There were 921 boys enrolled in the manual training classes, and 1,014 girls in the domestic science department. The average attendance was 827 boys and 900 girls. The head nurse reported that the nurses had made 3,471 inspections. There were 103 suffering from defective breathing, 38 with defective vision; there were 46 excisions, and 12 had their tonsils and adenoids removed. The dental inspector had 285 operations during the month, making 150 fillings and extracting 68 teeth.

The enrollment at the Collegiate Institute, according to a report by Principal Rogers, was 1,053, as compared with 1,104 last year. The average attendance was 1,012.

The average attendance at the technical school, day classes, was 78, and the average for the evening classes 164, according to the report of Principal Beal.

HIDING BOOZE FROM WIFE NOT CRIMINAL

Magistrate So Holds In Dismissing Oxford Street Man.

Charged with keeping "booze," not chickens, in his hen coop, an Oxford street man summoned to police court Tuesday was found not guilty, the evidence showing that what Inspectors Keenleyside and Birrell took to be a chicken coop was in reality a "teaser," or a storehouse attached to the residence.

The charge was laid by Inspector Keenleyside, who searched the storeroom as the result of a telephone message. A search was made, and a bottle containing about two drinks located in the ceiling in the storeroom.

The defendant testified that he had placed the liquor there so he could have a quiet drink without his "wife getting wise" every time he took one.

The inspectors, he said, overlooked six bushels of onions and one bushel of carrots in their search for the booze.

Magistrate Graydon had no hesitation in dismissing the case on the grounds that the storeroom was a part of the defendant's residence, and if he wished to hide his liquor from his wife was his own business.

The 1st Depot Battalion, Western Ontario Regiment, about 500 strong, took part in a route march through the downtown streets Tuesday, and made an excellent showing. Most of the men were away on their last leave over the week-end, and only returned back to camp Monday night.

MEN SIGNING UP ACROSS BORDER CAN PICK OUT SERVICE

Allowed to Select Branch in Which to Serve.

Recruits who volunteer at the offices of the British-Canadian recruiting mission in the United States are to have the choice of the unit to which they will be attached, provided that the unit in question is authorized to recruit and is not up to its authorized establishment. Up to the present time they have been in the majority of cases attached to infantry units, most of those which have come to this district having been attached to the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R.

The following are the instructions issued in camp orders:

"It is published for the information of all concerned, that recruits arriving in Canada from the British-Canadian recruiting mission in the United States are to be treated, with regard to choice of units and branches of the service, precisely as men of class one who voluntarily report for duty, are treated; that is to say, they may join any fighting unit which they desire, provided that unit is not up to its establishment and is still authorized to recruit.

"The foregoing does not affect previous instructions concerning men especially accepted in the United States for forestry units. These men are to be treated in the future as heretofore.

"Headquarters states that instructions have been issued to the British-Canadian recruiting mission in New York, in accordance with which every recruit sent to Canada henceforth, will have attached to his documents a certificate certifying that he agrees, in the event of his being found unsuitable, or if the unit he has chosen be not in need of recruits, to be taken on the strength of any other unit."

LONDON PRESBYTERY DISCUSSES RAISING PASTORS' SALARIES

Many Important Matters Discussed at Meeting.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 6.—At the meeting of the London Presbytery in Knox Church today, a long discussion took place in regard to raising all stipends of ministers within the bounds of the Presbytery to the minimum fixed by the General Assembly last June, namely $1,200 and free house.

Twenty-six charges were reported under the new minimum which goes into effect the first of January next. The other congregations will be visited by delegations on this matter.

Following the report by A. S. MacGregor, of London, on the missionary budget, arrangements were made to have all congregations of the Presbytery visited by delegations of ministers and laymen who will present the claims of the missionary budget for the coming year.

Soldiers' Welfare.

The social service committee reported regarding the question of soldiers' welfare that arrangements are being made for interdenominational effort in connection with welcoming returned soldiers, doing all possible to help them and also for the welfare of dependents of soldiers during the absence of the latter. Report was made of the Government appointment of Capt. (Rev.) J. M. McGillivray as chaplain to the camp and hospitals in London.

Following an earnest address by Rev. D. C. MacGregor, of St. Andrew's Church, London, it was decided to send out a call to all people within the bounds of the Presbytery to repentance and prayer, in view of present conditions in the war zone. Mr. MacGregor urged the imperative need of bringing all interests, business, home and church in harmony with God's righteous and loving will. "Without cleansing and consecration of the people as a nation," he declared, "victory cannot be won."

Reporting on the benevolent fund, covering the fund for aged and infirm ministers and widows and orphans of members, Rev. Robert Stewart, of Dutton, strongly recommended the ministers to unite the two funds and pay their annual rates to them.

Accepts the Call.

A call from Blenheim and East Oxford, presented to Rev. A. R McRae, of Kintore, was supported by Rev. W. K. Shearer, of Drumbo, moderator of Paris Presbytery, and Mr. Wilson, representing the interested charges.

Representatives from Kintore, Mr. McRae's present charge, R. Horner, A. Leitch and A. McLean, presented a strong case for Mr. McRae to remain. Mr. McRae intimated his desire to accept the call, notwithstanding his regret to leave Kintore, and the Presbytery granted the necessary permission, the resignation to take effect the end of this month. Rev J. R. Falconer was appointed interim moderattor.

Accepts Resignation.

So far as the city of London is concerned, special interest centred in one item of business of the day.

The General Assembly at its last meeting granted leave to Rev. D. L. McCrae, D.D., of Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church, to retire from the active duties of the ministry. The Presbytery consented to the request of Dr. McCrae with the approval of his congregation to have the retirement become effective the close of this year, when the pulpit of the Hamilton Road Church will be declared vacant at that time. Dr. McCrae consented to accept the responsibilities of interim moderator.

Rev. J. W. M. Crawofrd, Westminster, presented a report on Sunday School and Young People's work, and addresses on modern methods employed in Young People's work were delivered by Rev. W. R. McIntosh, Rev. G. S. Lloyd and Rev. W. A. Bremner, much interest being manifested in the subject.

The conference on Young People's work occupied a large part of the afternoon.

CITY CHORISTERS SING IN MT. BRYDGES CHURCH

Dundas Centre Methodist Choir Scores Another Success.

"Standing room only" prevailed at the Mount Brydges Methodist Church Tuesday night, when the Dundas Centre Methodist Church choir of 50 voices motored there to give one of its popular concerts. The choir and soloists excelled even their excellent reputation, being forced to respond to encore after encore by the large and appreciative audience.

The following gave the use of their motor cars for this occasion: B. Noble, W. Harrison, L. Downey, W. McFadden, Mrs. E. Flannagan, A. M. Heaman, A. C. Deacon, H. Lewis, J. P. Morris, R. Greene, H. Gibson.

LIEUT.-COL. WARE, D. S. O., RECOVERING IN ENGLAND

A cablegram received Tuesday by Mrs. Frank Ware announces that her husband, Lieut.-Col. Frank Ware, D.S.O., who has been seriously ill in France, has recovered sufficiently to be able to sit up. The cablegram came from Col. Ware himself and is an assurance that great improvement has been made in his condition.

Col. Ware was recently promoted to be assistant adjutant-general and quartermaster-general of the 4th Canadian Division in France, and was taken ill while on duty there on October 12.

Today's cable came from England, indicating that Col. Ware has been sent back over the channel to recuperate.

ONLY THOSE WHO ARE INDISPENSABLE TO GET EXEMPTION

Military Representatives Will Oppose Claims of Others.

BOARD HEARS PLANS

Rigid Enforcement of Military Service Act Will Be Made in City.

Only the claims of those men who are absolutely indispensable to the industry or to the business with which they are connected, and who cannot be replaced by men unfit or otherwise not liable for service, or by women, will go unopposed by the military representatives who are to attend the sittings of the local tribunals when the applications for exemption are considered.

Briefly, this was the announcement made by Lieut.-Col. H. D. Smith, district military representative under the military service act, who, with Col. Shannon, district commandant, addressed the members of the board of trade at their meeting Tuesday night at the Tecumseh House, informing them of the regulations affecting them as employers, and dealing especially with the question of exemptions.

Want Amendment.

Previous to the addresses, a resolution was passed requesting the food controller to amend the regulations affecting the manufacture and sale of cereals in packages, in order to permit the Toasted Corn Flakes Company to continue their business.

Every employer must as soon as possible after November 10 go through his factory or place of business and ascertain the ages of the men and furnish the minister of militia with a complete list of the men who are in class one, and also information as to whether they have reported for service or claimed exemption, said Lieut.-Col. Smith, according to the very stringent regulations issued, which provide a penalty as high as $100 for failure to comply with them.

There were three conditions which must be fulfilled before a man can obtain exemption on industrial grounds, he stated, first the business must be in the national interest; second, the man employed must be necessary for the conduct of the business; and third, the man must be irreplacable by another man who is not liable, or by a woman.

Want Evidence.

Unless a man's claim on industrial grounds is supported by evidence from his employer, it would be contested by the military representative, he said, "and the chances are that the man will be taken," he added.

Employers were advised to ascertain the number of men liable, and of these the number who were in category A-2, and in the other categories, as they might be asked if they had any men in categories other than A, to replace those in A. If a man was indispensable, and could not be replaced, and was in a work of national interest, the military representative would be instructed not to oppose the claim.

If another man could be trained in a sufficiently short time to replace the man liable, the exemption would be granted temporarily, so that another man might be trained, and the first man allowed to go. Practically the only men that should be exempt on this ground were those who were skilled, highly trained experts.

Simplify Matters.

It would simplify matters to have all employees go before a medical board, as it would then be possible for the employer to ascertain how many men were liable for immediate service.

The wholesale supporting of claims for exemption of employees would only mean a long continuous fight, which could be avoided if the employer met the military representatives half-way, he stated.

"We go over the claims, and the moment we are satisfied that a claim is a bona fide and just one, we instruct our representative to that effect, and it is not contested," said the speaker.

With regard to claims on domestic grounds, it must be remembered that suffering and sorrow are inseparable from any war, and possibly the only ones who would not be contested would be those that were the sole support of a widowed mother, who could not get along without them, or who possibly are not in the best of health.

A business might not be in the national interest, but to cause it to shut down might put a number of families out of employment, and in such cases it would be considered of interest to the nation to leave a man who was necessary to carry on the business.

Other Cases.

Again there were still other businesses, not in the national interest, and they would have to train men to replace those liable, a temporary exemption being permitted for this purpose.

Each trade and industry in this district was then taken up separately by the speaker, and in general terms the attitude to be taken by the military representatives was given. In a word, it was stated that men in category A would be taken in every case unless they occupied a position where the business or a department of the business depended upon them for its successful continuance. If men of other ages or categories or women could be trained to replace them the exemption would be granted only temporarily.

Among those who would probably be exempt was the blacksmith who was the owner and sole worker in a shop in the country. Office men, bank men, store clerks and similar men would not be exempted, as they could be replaced by women, subject, of course, to the condition as mentioned above.

Men Are Needed.

Carriage and wagon makers, producers and refiners of oil, locomotive engineers, firemen and freight brakemen were a few typical of the many occupations mentioned in which men might be exempt if they were indispensable and irreplacable. Street railway conductors, motormen, and repair men were considered replacable, and would be opposed.

Medical, dental and veterinary students would be exempt if they followed the course of military training at their school, and clergy were exempt, but divinity students were not.

Among the questions asked, following the address, was: "Would an only son be exempt?" to which the speaker replied that there was no reason why he should not go as well as lads from families where there were two or more sons.

If there was only one son left in a family where the other son, or sons had been killed in action, the claim for exemption would not be contested, and even in similar cases where there were more than one left, their claims would receive every consideration.

The instructions issued to military representatives had been received from Ottawa, after a conference of officers from all districts in Canada had been held, so that reasonable uniformity might be expected in the stand taken by the military representatives throughout the country.

Will Co-operate.

"We want to co-operate with you, and we want you to co-operate with us," added Lieut.-Col. Smith. "We don't want to put anybody out of business, but we want the services of all men not necessary." Instructions to the representatives were that they were to carry out their duties without friction, and to decide without local prejudice, and in a judicial frame of mind.

Col. Shannon, adding a word to the previous address, stated that they wished to deal fairly, and to be absolutely just both with the men and their employers, and with the country itself, in the matter of military service.

The restrictions on the manufacture and sale of cereals came in for considerable discussion, with special reference to the Toasted Corn Flake Company, with the result that a resolution was passed to the effect that "the food controller be requested to amend his regulations or to grant a permit for the manufacture and sale of this product in sealed packages."

It was pointed out that it was not a "war measure" because the food controller was not conserving wheat by restricting its manufacture and sale, as it was made from corn from the United States, and sold in sealed packages to retain the moisture.

Goes to Executive.

Another resolution with regard to the same order-in-council was referred to the executive, and will be taken up with the tradesmen interested.

Progress is being made with the proposed formation of a farmers' section of the board of trade, and at an early date a meeting is to be held to secure the co-operation of the Western Ontario committees with the provincial greater production committee. The plan has been approved by Dr. Abbott of the provincial committee, and it is hoped that representatives will be present from all the agricultural interests of the district.

The organization of resources committee wrote to the board explaining the Victory Loan campaign and asking co-operation. Most of the members are already serving on local committees, so no further action was considered possible.

WESTERN BISHOPS RETURNING HOME AFTER CAMPAIGN

The four western bishops who have been conducting a vigorous missionary campaign in Eastern Canada this autumn and during the past week in the Diocese of Huron, left Tuesday on their homeward journey to the west.

The bishops of Edmonton, Athabasca and Kootenay had been guests of Bishop and Mrs. Williams at Bishopstowe, the Bishop of Keewatin being the only one who did not visit the headquarters of the diocese in this city.

While the grand educational campaign proper has been brought to an end with the departure of the bishops, the work of promoting an interest through giving information from the mission fields is being continued in the month of the diocese by Rev. A. J. Williams, returned missionary from China. Rev. A. J. Vail of the Mackenzie River Diocese is visiting in Western Ontario at present and preached in the city on Sunday next.

GOES TO RECREATION HUT

Men Being Sent Back to Canada Wounded or Invalided Benefit by This Work.

Still another way has been suggested of ministering to the comfort of the convalescents of Western Ontario, who are invalided home. A letter written by Capt. A. E. Galbraith of this city, quartermaster of the Western Ontario Regimental Depot at Bramshott, tells of the recreation hut which has been opened there in order to make a little brighter the lot of the gallant fellows who, after passing through hospitals from the front until the last stage before sailing for Canada, are at last sent to the Western Ontario Regimental Depot at Bramshott, directly connected, by the way, with the depot in this city. The men from Western Ontario, returning to the front also pass through this depot.

Capt. Galbraith states that the Regimental Institute, in other words, the welfare committee which has established the recreation hut, supplies lunches and cigarettes to the men on their way to France and on their way back to Canada. In addition a lot of fruit is bought for the men's meals not supplied in the rations. Arrangements were being made at the time of writing for card parties each week for the men, at which it was intended to give two prizes.

"Some of the poor fellows," says Capt. Galbraith, "are pretty badly broken up and we try to make them as comfortable as possible. We took some of the money sent by the London I. O. D. E. some time ago to buy coal for the recreation hut before coal was being issued. The men crowded into the warmth. You know what a cold, raw summer we had here. Col. Davis is going to have a report drawn up and sent on in regard to what was done with the money from London."

The chapters contributing to the fund for the recreation hut were the Campbell Becher, Overseas Chapter and 7th Regiment Chapter. Funds were low considering the work it was desired to accomplish.

Anyone interested can contribute to this comfort mission for the boys of Western Ontario on their way to the front and returning home broken in body after oding their bit. Capt. A. E. Galbraith, quartermaster of the Western Ontario Regimental Depot, Bramshott, will undoubtedly be delighted to receive donations.

MAJESTIC

Everybody knows that Charlie Ray is an athlete; but, except for doing stunts of horsemanship, the fact has not been demonstrated upon the screen. In the new Triangle-Ince drama, "The Millionaire Vagrant," appearing at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday, by J. G. Hawks, he performs feats of agility that will excite enthusiasm among the fans.

The first scenes reveal him in his palatial chambers. He is attired in a handsome smoking gown and puffs leisurely on a monogrammed cigarette, as he exchanges quips with his fellow chappies, one of whom declares that every man is a potential thief. Charlie resents this, and an argument ensues, with the result that the young millionaire goes down into the slums to prove that he can live and flourish on a dollar a day earned in a factory sweatshop.

The slums do not prove as placid of atmosphere as the comfortable quarters to which he has been accustomed. He becomes mixed up with some officers who are attempting to arrest a girl on a trumped-up charge. As an outcome of the altercation, Charlie has to take flight across tenement roof tops, leap wide apertures, clamber down waterspouts and balance himself perilously on window ledges.

PATRICIA

"Fatty" Arbuckle estimates that he has received 110 rolling pins, nearly 1,000 pies, several hundred sacks of flour, an indefinite amount of crockery and 200 quarts of ice cream in broadsides directed at his ample person since he started on his career before the camera.

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle has received a request from the thinnest man on the Island of Borneo for a position in his company. The applicant weighs 50 pounds and is 5 feet 8 inches tall. He states that he believes in the law of contrasts. The latest of the Paramount-Arbuckle comedies is "Oh, Doctor!" showing at the Patricia Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
