Byron Stauffer gave an address of eulogy for the firemen of the United States and Canada who have lost their lives during the past year. Mayor Church of Toronto read the official welcome.

It is not known whether President Kenlon will resume the chair during subsequent sessions. It is understood that the convention will not offer him a second term as president, as was expected. Chief Healey will probably be promoted to that position, by the vote of the convention.

In attendance at the convention are chiefs of all ages, from comparatively young men to at least one chief with a full beard of iron-grey whiskers. The latter is Chief Knowles, the oldest at the convention. Chief Knowles celebrated his 80th birthday July 13. He is remarkably active for his age, and still heads his fire department at all the fires. At 11 o'clock Fireman George Bolton, who served overseas in the same batalion as the bereft father, was successfifth and final one of a series on "Love" taken from I. Corinthians, xiii., Paul's great chapter of love.

Speaking from the text, "Now abideth faith, hope and love, and the greatest of these is love," the pastor pointed out why this is a fact. He informed the congregations that because of its native source or origin in contrast to faith and hope which are creature virtues, love is the greatest. "Love is a creation," he sald. "God is love."

"Love is the end to which faith and hope are the means," he continued. "Love is the end to which faith and hope are for ourselves." He illustrated the above demonstration of love suprementation by scripture quotations and summed up the four sermons preached previously on love is waith.

SIMPLE PRINCIPLES Many Reasons For Neglect of Christian Service Not Real Ones.

"Great men grasp the simple principles of truth and reality," said Rev. T. A. Symington of Knox Presbyterian Church, speaking of the characteristics of Christ, from the text, "They were offended in Him."—Matthew xiii., verse 57, on Sunday morning.

"The simplicity of Christ, His practical answers to their questionings and His mingling with the lowly," were the three possible reasons given by the three possible reasons given by the pastors, why the people were disappointed and offended in Him, having Windsor and Other Municipal ities Facing a Problem.

Windsor, July 26. - Declaring that there was nothing in the contract be-tween the Windsor Gas Company, a local distributing agency, and the Union Gas Company of Chatham, operators in the fields, that would force the latter company to deliver gas to Windsor and the adjoining municipalities following the expiration of the contract. August 1. President T. P. Pinckhard of the Windsor Gas Company, declared the windsor Gas Company, declared of the Windsor Gas Company, declared today the supply of gas would certainly be cut off by the Union Gas Company next Saturday night unless negotiations had been opened by the various border municipalities affected, in the meantime. The Union Gas Company demands an increase in rates from 30 cents to $1 per thousand cubic feet for its product, which border officials absolutely refuse to pay. Acting Mayor lutely refuse to pay. Acting Mayor Howell, who is directing the fight for the municipality, believes governmental intervention will prevent through an injunction if in no other way, the cutting off of the supply, bringing immediate hardship and suffering to thousands of people, as is threatened.

CLOSING SESSION AFFIRMS

By Unanimous Vote, Gathering CAFES RAIDED; United States Congress to Proceed Without Delay With Negotiations.

DETROIT, July 24.—(By Canadian Press).—By a unanimous vote the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress, at its closing session at the Detroit Board of Commerce this morning, passed the report presented by the resolution committee, which was read by the chairman. William George Bruce, of Milwaukee.

"The project to connect the great inland oceans of the United States and Canada with the salt seas through a deep waterway route is not only physically feasible, but promising of a most utilitarian service to both nations. To unite the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean through the intermediary of the St. Lawrence River will not only bring the great producing section of the country many miles nearer the markets of the world. Such communication will not only tend to a better distribution of immigration to the interior, where it is most needed, but also stimulate its producing ability, enable a more economic distribution of its commodities and provide for a more equitable participation in the nations' domestic and foreign commerce.

Stomach Trouble Gone-Quebec Man Can Eat Anything Set Before Him Now.

"It just feels fine to be a well man again after two years of suffering, and I'm so grateful for what Tanlac has done for me that I want to make a statement about it," said Daniel John Landry of 312 St. Philippe street, Quebec, recently.

But Tanlac has made a wonderful change in me. I've now got an appetite like a wolf, and eat anything that is put before me. All signs of my stomach trouble are gone; for I digest my food without difficulty, and never have any sort of distress afterwards. I am no longer constipated, and never have those dizzy spells now I get sound, restful sleep every night, and get up every morning feeling full of life and energy. I've got a good healthy color into my cheeks, and I tell you, I'm as well and happy as can be. Yes, sir, Tanlac has been a wonderful benefit to me, and I been a wonderful benefit to me, and I strongly recommend it to all who suffer CLOTH SHOPS BURN;

BANDITS ATTACK LOVE'S CONFESSION IS

Grey County Youth Sticks To Startling Admission, But the Attorney-General's Investigation Shows Prisoner an Epileptic-Medical Specialists Think He Has Imagined PREFER WHEAT BOARD Himself a Murderer.

TORONTO, July 25 .- Arnold Love's startling confession that it was he, not his father, Henry Love, who killed Mrs. Henry Love in Grey County, and for which murder his father was hanged seven years ago, has been investigated by the attorney-general's department. As a result of the investigation it is thought nothing further will be done in the matter.

Arnold, who was about fourteen years of age at the time of the murder, is an epileptic and in the opinion of specialists in mental disease he has imagined himself the murderer. The circumstances do not bear him out in his remarkable story. Love was in Toronto today and stuck to his "confession" and Rev. G. N. Sharpe, the evangelist, to whom Arnold Love unburdened himself at a revival meeting on Saturday, stated that he believed the confession genuine, Arnold Love, even in maturity, is small of stature and slight build, and the authorities find it difficult to credit his story that as a boy of fourteen years of age he dragged his mother's body into an excavation used as a cellar and lifted it over some scantlings five feet in height and deposited it in the hole in which it was found. His mother was of large build. Other details of the murder do not seem to fit in with Arnold's story.

Dr. Eric Clark of this city, son of Dr. C. K. Clarke of the Canadian National Committee For Mental Hygiene, in an interview said an epileptic would be prone to have such hallucinations. Dr. Harvey Clare of the Reception Hospital, expressed a similar opinion.

RUSSIA AND POLAND.

The news that the Russian Soviet Government has consented to an immediate armistice with Poland, with the object of discussing a peace, relieves a situation that held possibility of a new and terrible war. Had the Bolsheviki armies rolled over Poland, as they appeared likely to do. Great Britain and France would have been compelled for their own salvation. as well as by their pledges to Poland, to intervene with their armies and fleets. The struggle would certainly have been a bloody and protracted one, entailing vast expenditure and heavy loss of life, throwing the entire old world into fresh anarchy.

That Lenin and Trotzky were willing to stop fighting at a moment when their hordes were! carrying all before them, indicates that the Soviet Government is desperately in need of recognition from the Allied capitals, at least in the matter of trade. The Red leaders would never have passed up such a splendid opportunity as was afforded by the invasion of Poland of tossing the torch of disorder into Western Europe, were it not that conditions at home make it necessary to meet the wishes and proposals of the Allied Government. Further defiance of the supreme council would mean commercial blockade of Russia that would inevitably bring domestic turmoil and perhaps a counter-revolution. Russia, in order to stablize industry, must have machinery and material: she can have these only by permission of Great Britain and France. This explains why she is willing to arrange a peace with Poland. Neces Bity is making the Bolshevik leaders assume what appears to be a magnanimous, generous attitude towards the enemy.

THE GALLANT BORDERERS.

Scots the world over will be interested in a history of the far-famed King's Own Scottish Borderers, which has just been published by the battalion's officers. In the introduction it states: When the Great War has long passed into history, perhaps some ancient Borderer. sitting by the fireside in his big armchair, surrounded by his grandchildren-and many may they be-will pause in the midst of his tale say to one of his grandchildren, in whom the old Border spirit shall have been reborn: "Hand me from the shelf there that book about the 78th K. O. S. B., and I will tell you exactly

In the "Foreword" we read The King's Own Scottish Borderers was raised in Edinburgh on the 19th of March, 1689, by the adherents of King William the Third. under the title of the Edinburgh Regiment, and within four hours was recruited up to a strength of one thousand men. Within four months of its formation it was called upon to face a formidable opponent, in the person of "Bonnie Dundee," who at the head of the Highfand clans was in arms for King James II. The opposing forces met at the pass of Killiecrankie. Of the troops under General MacKay, only two regiments bore themselves with any degree of resolution. One of these was the King's Own Scottish Borderers, which thus early showed a courage and efficiency which it has steadily maintained for over two hundred years.

The history of the battalion is the history of the wars of the British Empire:

It was one of the famous six British regiments which received and repulsed charge after charge of sixty squadrons of the best cavalry of France, rouled two brigades French infantry and swept away a body of foot, and all this under a heavy crossof artillery. Prince Ferdinand of Brunswho commanded the Allied armies, on revisiting the spot, said: "It was here that British infantry gained immortal glory.'

It was first called the Edinburgh Regiment in 1786 the Sussex Regiment, in 1806 the King's Own Borderers, and in 1887 the King's Own over two nundred years old. It is praiseworthy to preserve this. We like to look on Canada as the Scotland of America. The Canadian boys took no mean part in the Great War. We hope made in Canada. During the years of 1890 to 1896 the Farmers of Canada, particularly in Ontario, taking heart from the Populist movement in the United States, organized (in Ontario) a powerful organization presided over by a Grand Board which was duly empowered by the Grand Association as representative of the subordinate lodges. They had over 200,000 membership in Ontario and in the Provincial General Elections of 1894 elected seventeen of their body to the Legislative Assembly, and the government of Sir Oliver Mowat had but one of a majority over all the other groups. The total memership of the House was in 1894

-94. It is now 111. In the Federal General Elections of 1896 the Patrons of the Province of Ontario elected out three members to the House of Commons. One of these, a former Conservative, through the good offices of the Liberals, was elected by acclamation; another, a former Liberal, defeated a Conservative; and the third, a former Liberal, defeated a Liberal candidate. The McCarthyites, a Conservative Party in favor of "Hands Off Manitoba" on the school question, and for a substantial reduction in the tauff, were also actively in the field in 1896. With Patrons. McCarthyites and other scattered independents in the field there were thirty ridings in which more than two candidates ran. McCarthyites elected two candidates, these and the three Patrons and the fortythree Liberals elected gave the Opposition forty-eight Ontario seats, being a majority of four from Ontario in 1896. There were then ninety-two Federal seats in Ontario.

In 1898, in the Provincial General Elections of Ontario, the Liberals won, but the Patrons did not carry a seat; and in the Federa! General Elections of 1900 the Liberals won, but the Patrons did not have a candidate in the field. Four ran, one as an Independent and he was defeated; another as a Liberal, and he, as well as a third, a new man who ran as a Conservative, was elected. ran as an Independent Liberal, but was defeated.

Great Conservatives. In 1896 the excellent platform work of D'Alton McCarthy, M.P., for many years the head and front of the Conservative party and Equal Rights Movement, which had arisen in tarlo because the Federal Conservative Government had not disallowed the Act of the ovince of Quebec settling the Jesuits over estates in that province, had a powerful influence throughout the vast Dominion in weakening the force of the then Conservative Government. His speeches for a revision of the tariff, coupled with the ferof the leaders amongst the Patrons of Industry and other Independents, added great ly to the power that swept the Conservative Government out of office. Other forces also helped win, although these still believed in the old Tory Fiscal Policy. The foremost of tness men were Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, M.P., head of the Orange Order, who was for some time Controller of Customs in the Conservative Government, but resigned that position because he, strong Conservative as he was, could no longer support the Conservative Government of the time. In his campaign he was ably assisted by the late Ross Robertson, proprietor of The Telegram, Toronto, successfully ran against a government Conservative candidate. Conservatives like Wallace and Robertson were out to teach the "Old Gang" a lesson. They were a power amongst the electors and the "Old Gang" felt It is no secret that had D'Alton McCarthy lived he would have been invited to become a member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet in the Fall of 1898.

The New Witness. The voice of the coroner, bland, suave, deprecating, broke the silence. He was addressing the

"I am sure, Mr. Armore," he said, "there is no vish to trouble you with unnecessary questions. But we are here to get at the truth of this matter of John Marbury's death, and as you are the only witness we have had who knew him personally-

Aylmore turned impatiently to the coroner. I have every wish to respect your authority, sir!" he exclaimed. "And I have told you all that know of Marbury and of what happened when I met him the other evening. But I resent being questioned on my private affairs of twenty years ago-I very much resent it! Any question that is really pertinent I will answer, but I will not answer questions that seem to me wholly foreign to the scope of this inquiry."

The Treasury counsel rose again. His manner had become of the quietest, and Spargo again be came keenly attentive.

"Perhaps I can put a question or two to Mr. Aylmore which will not yield him offence," he remarked dryly. He turned once more to the witness, regarding him as if with interest. of any person now living who knew Marbury in London at the time under discussion-twenty to twenty-two or three years ago?" he 'asked. THE GENTLEMAN.

Within an elevator he
Is gentlemanly as can be.
He'll doff his hat if women fair
By chance with him are riding there.
He'll prove by almost every test
His breeding is the very best,
Yet when he drives his motor car
Most horrible his manners are.

He will not crowd you in a train.

Your right to walk or stand or sit; Out on the road he thinks that he He'll almost take a fender off

And then look back at you and scoff. Your peace of mind he'll oft disturb By crowding you into the curb. Even the women will not find This driver courteous and kind.

MAGNANIMOUS.

[From the New York Tribune.] The reporter was sent out by a certain city editor to question a well-known young amateur sportsman who was being sued for divorce. The reporter called up a couple of hours later and said: "Boss, I can't get anything out of this fellow. He's a big whale, and when I rang the bell and asked him how about this divorce action he just reached out and clipped me on the jaw and kneeked me down. Then he slam. and knocked me down. Then he slammed the door. I waited around awhile and brushed myself off, and then tried it again. He came out and said "Oh you're here again, are you?" and he took me by the collar and threw me down a flight of stairs. So I guess there's nothing doing on getting anything out of him, boss. I'll come right

"No." said the city editor, "You go back and tell that big loafer he can't intimidate me."

OIL IN NO. 1 WELL, LOCATED IN PEACE RIVER TOWN

By the Progress Reports which have been issued from time to time the public have been able to follow the efficient and business-like development that has been made in the drilling of the wells at Peace River.

From the day the first machinery was purchased, no stone was left unturned to crown the company's efforts with success. We question if any other oil company in Canada has made such wonderful progress in six months as Peace River Petroleums, Limited. Every shareholder and friend of the company has good reason for congratulations, when it is known that No. 1 Well has oil, and plenty of it. Our quantity of oil will be announced. The proof of oil in No. 1 Well is a discovery of immense importance to Canada, and Peace River Petroleums, Limited, will, therefore, derive the · greatest benefit in supplying oil for Canadian industry and commerce.

Because of the knowledge that we have oil in our No. 1 Well, and the fact that the Victory Company's No. 1 Well is also in the oil, will add wealth to Peace River Petroleums, Limited, through royalties that will be paid to our company, the shares of Peace River Petroleums, Limited, will be advanced

It will be interesting for you to know that operations at No. 2 Well have commenced, and our superintendent expects to report another discovery of oil in No. 2 Well within ninety days.

Mr. Thos. A. Cain, director of the company, and Mr. W. C. Goffatt recently visited Peace River to investigate conditions on behalf of the company, and while there received a request for 20,000 barrels of crude a month for two operating companies in the Peace River country, who fully believe we will have oil to sell at an early date, and lots of it. The question of "What will be done with the oil" is, therefore, settled through the huge local demand.

More wells will be drilled in proven territory, so as to secure oil to fill available orders and substantially increase the revenue of the company.

Port Stanley Is Mecca of Several Large Industrial Firm Picnics on Saturday

ADVERTISER JOB.

The Advertiser Job Printing Company's second annual picnic at the lakeside was a decided success. More than one hundred employees and their families attended. Among the guests at the outing was Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.P.P. A long program of sports was run off. Probably the most interesting event was the voting for the most popular girl. The ballots were case just after luncheon. Stuffing of the ballots for one particular girl by Ivan Hunter, a popular "lino" operator, passed unnoticed until the ballots were counted. Miss R. McPherson, the winner, was presented with two fine American Beauty roses by Dr. Stevenson on behalf of the picnickers. Much humorous comment as to the contents of the box in which the roses were placed was passed, but nothing worse than flowers was found when it was opened.

The Sport Results. Port Stanley was the mecca of four of the largest and most successful be the most popular mem- local industrial picnics of the season on Saturday, when the employees of the G. T. R. carshops, D. S. Perrin & Co., the London Printing and Lithographing Company and the Advertises Peters Shops Job Printing Company made merry at the lakeside. Besides these, hundreds of people who had come to the park by boat from Cleveland to attend the Peerless Motor Company outing from hat city helped swell the huge crowds. The lowering clouds of the morning turned to bright sunshine shortly after noon, thereby driving away the only thing that threatened the pleasures of the day. The brightening skies gave a the day. The brightening skies gave a greater impetuosity to the joyous spirits which had been somewhat dampened by early drizzles, and from then on every feature and event of the day was keenly enjoyed, despite cool winds. Three picnics from this city were featured by great refreshment tents, which supplied the employees of the various firms with candy, soft drinks and ice cream. The events in each of the picnics were started by pistol shots, which gave an air of professionless to the races.

shots, which gave an air of professionism to the races.

Accidents Few.

Despite the many people crowding the park, both on the heights and on the beach, the day was marred by only one small accident. M. McLean and Eithographing Company, sprained his ankle in one of the races. He was given relief by the carshops first aid team.

Twenty-five hundred people attended the carshops picnic, which was the largest on the grounds. Special trains leaving this city early in the morning carried the crowds to the grounds. The G. T. R. band supplied music throughout the day.

A long program of sports was started itemediately after luncheon and lasted almost until darkness had fallen. Every race had many entries and was

A baseball game between the local G. T. R. and the Fort Erie G. T. R. game drew large crowds, despite the fact that it was not played until 5 o'clock. The London team won by a score of 16 to 6.

The large score run up by both teams as not indication of the brand of ball that was served. In spite of a heavy plays were staged. The feature was a bare-handed stab of a hot grounder by Powell, who played third base for London.

The batteries for Fort Erie were Near and Howe. Near was relieved in the fourth by Depper after he had allowed twelve of the locals' runs. Cline and Males worked for the local shops. Cline struck out eight men and allowed nits, while his teammates gathered twelve. London had one error to Fort Erie's three. Cline also featured at the bat with four hits in as many trips to the plate. He had one homer, one triple and two singles.

A football game between the G. T. R. employes in the history of the company. T. W. McFarland acted efficiently as master of ceremonies assisted by C. Fitzwalters, chairman, and C. H.
