HALIFAX, N. S., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1868.

Religious Miscellany, Why Stand ye Here all the Day BY REV. W. MORLEY PUNSHON, M A.

Two fields for toil-the outer and the inner, Both overgrown with weeds; Who to the labor bastes, to be the winner Of all the laborer's meeds ? To bathe in radiant mornings, daily spreading Over the heavens anew; To sit 'neath trees of life, forever shedding Their bounteous honey-dew. To rouse a spirit, formed for God, from slumber And robe it for the light;

The heirs of heaven from clay to disencumber, Which clogs their upward flight. To lift a world, 'neath sin and sorrow lying, And " pour in oil and wine ; " To warble, in the dulled ears of the dying,

Refrains of hymns divine. Work for a lifetime, in each path up-springing. In low or lofty spheres! Hark to the Master's summons, always ringing

Life hasteth to its bourne! The bridegroom tarries-will ye greet the bridal. Or in the darkress mourn? Lo! in the fields the yellow harvest drooping,

As lilies in the rain ; Where are the reapers, that they come trooping. To gather in the grain? Some, in the festive hall disporting gaily :

On slothful pillow, some: Some, in delays most blameful, and yet daily Exclaiming, "Lo, I come." And some, infatuate, 'mid the alien's scoffing, Quarrel about their toil :

As wreckers, when ships founder in the offing, Grow murderous over spoil. Meanwhile the harvest waiteth for the reaping, God's patience bath not tired. Ye cannot say-extenuate of your sleeping-

Jacob Wrestling with God. We come to consider one of the most wonderful events in the history of Jacob's eventful life. Fourteen years have passed away since he had the encouraging vision, and received such cheering promises; and now he is about to return to the land he had left under the most painful circimstances. In a solemn review of least of all the mercies and of all the truth which these years he says. " I am not worthy of the staff I passed over this Jordan, and now I am And God did bless him, then and there. Faith sary ones. become two bands." When he uttered these obtained a glorious victory. Mosquitoes.

It is unscientific to say that morquitoes bite, for they have no teeth; and they have no need of teeth to seize upon or prepare their food, for they are dainty, and take food only in liquid form -spoon victuals. They are a chivalric race, and attack their enemies with a sort of sword or lence; no doubt they consider biting and gouga very beautiful and perfect piece of work : it is smoother than burnished steel, and its point is so fine and perfect that the most powerful mi croscope does not discover a flaw in it. The mosquito might be classed among our domestic animals may we not say among the household nets? They are the almost constant companion of man in town and country during the holiday season of the summer. No home without the mosquito. What affection! How they stick to us closer than brothers! They often come a great way-hundreds of miles, to be with us. Most of those which greet us in this city have left their distant homes in Jersey, and have made the perilous journey across a wide river. They also love their own society, and travel in companies which sometimes comprise millions of individuals in swarms which obscure the sun-

The Population of the World.

In the first volume of Dr. Behm's "Geographical Appual." lately published at Goths, there is an interesting article on the population of the 1.288,000,000; and by Kolo, in 1865, at 1,220,-000 000. Dr. Behm estimates it by 1,350 000,-000, thus distributed: Europe, 285 000 000 . Asia: 798,600,000; Australia and Polynesia, 3 -000 000; Africa, 188,000 000; and America, 74,-500,000. At the same time he acknowledged it as impossible to arrive at anything more than an approximate notion of the population in Asia and Africa, there being no census or other accurate means of ascertaining the number of inhabitants in those countries.
