FIGHT LOST ON A FOUL.

The Big Fistic Contest Won By Raphael.

Contest Was an Even One and Probably Would Have Resulted in a Draw But for the Foul.

Sorrow has overtaken the lovers of the manly art, and there is no more joy in sporting circles since midnight on Monday, when the growing favorite, Dick Agnew, struck out in full view of 900 people. The occasion was the long-looked-for sparring contest between the aforesaid Dick Agnew and Frank Raphael—both men so well known as not to need description. It was in the eleventh round the mistake occurred. Both men had signed away everything to the winner, and both were exceedingly confident, though neither man was hurt nor even distressed at their protracted exertions. In a feint and exchange Raphael slipped to the ground. He had raised one hand from the floor in getting up, when Agnew swung an undercut on the impulse of the moment. Raphael dropped again quickly, and the end of the gloves just touched his head. However, the foul was seen by all, and lost him no other wise good contest.

The main event was preceded by an announced four-round exhibition between a New Zealander named Ball and the little hurricane, Malloy. Kid Williams was referee, but had little to do, for just as soon as the gloves were donned and time called Malloy stepped hastily over to the New Zealander's corner and swung a strong left on the jaw. Ball hardly dropped his arms, and Malloy took advantage of his condition to place his right pillow several times under the ear, with the result that the bewildered man laid down and ended that part of the show, amidst the laughter of all present.

The main event was slow about starting. The police called for larger gloves, which were furnished at once. Then time was lost in having the principal sign away the loser's per cent. James Donaldson was chosen referee, and Ed O'Donnell official timekeeper. Both men were loudly applauded. Raamps Peterson's new sporting emporium was crowded to the doors, and the arrangement of the seats permitted all to see equally well. Barber and Smith seconded Agnew, while Gleason and Carroll did the same for Raphael. It was agreed to strike with one hand free.

BY ROUNDS.

1. The men stepped to the center, both in the prettiest shape imaginable. Hard training makes Agnew white as chalk, while Raphael, by the same process assumes a distinct pink. Both were wary, and Agnew led a left, which found a block on his adversary's glove, and was followed by a clinch. Some short-arm work followed. After the break Agnew landed a left glove without injury on the face, and another clinch and short-arm work followed the worst of it. If there was a difference at all, the round was better, with both men even in strength and skill.

2. Raphael led and overreached with a right, and Agnew missed a left, as both were clumsy as cats in side and back stepping. In the clinches it was hard to break the men. Agnew managing to land on the head and Raphael in the small of the waist, which made Agnew squirm. Agnew landed a left glove on the jaw and received a right on the chest and rushed his man to a clinch. Short-arm work resulted in no damage, and Raphael threw his man to his knees as time was called.

3. Both rushed and clinched and in the break Agnew's glove mitt reached the small of the back. Agnew led and his left found the face—a clinch and Raphael's left in good position. In the break Agnew upturned a cautious strong, but harmlessly. Cautious sparring, and Agnew landed again and Agnew swung a Clinch. Sparring again and Agnew swung his severe right, landed on the jaw and swung his opponent round. Quick as a cat, he was after his man and landed right and left from Agnew's hind, but Raphael ducked and caught Agnew's glove under his right arm, where he retained it in hook until the advantage was gone. The apogee found them in this position, and the applause was deafening. This was the most interesting round, and Agnew showed slightly to advantage.

6. Raphael feinted, and Agnew landed a clean left under the arm. More sparring, and Raphael found the body with his right glove, and Raphael clinched and made his opponent squirm with a series of blows in the waist. Raphael landed a high left on the stomach, and Agnew countered with a light left to face. After a long clinch Raphael got left to face. After a long clinch Raphael got left to face. After a long clinch Raphael got left to face.

7. Agnew led twice with the left and once with the right and missed all three. Raphael feinted and Agnew landed a short right. Again the same blow followed up by a rush which sent Raphael to his knees. There was no clinching in this round though both men were beginning to spar for time.

8. Most of the round was simple sparring with two powerful blows struck. Raphael swung a terrific right and Agnew laughed while returning the compliment.

10. Nothing important but a powerful right from Raphael, which Agnew blocked, though from the cries of "Oh!" from the audience evidently was believed to have landed.

11. And last, Raphael led a short arm right and in exchange received a similar blow. After some sparring a quick exchange resulted in Raphael slipping on hands and knees. As he started to rise Agnew swung a right. Raphael dropped quickly and the finger tips of the glove touched his head and won him the contest and the money.

It was a disappointment to all who have watched Agnew's progress from a scrub to one of the cleverest men in town and none were more bitterly disappointed than Agnew himself as was evidenced by his signs of distress when he saw what he had done.

As a matter of fact it is extremely doubtful if both men fought for a year that there would be any best to it, as both are too clever to be whipped except by men greatly overmatching themselves. Agnew landed the most clean hits but failed to make much impression as both were in the cream of condition and occasional blows fell harmless as rain.

Fire at the Criterion.

The beautiful Criterion had a close call at an early hour Monday morning from being badly damaged, if not destroyed, by fire. It was only avoided by the lucky wakefulness of James Donaldson, who rooms there, and his prompt action at a critical moment. Mr. Donaldson was awake and reading in his room when he heard a suspicious roaring noise. It was such a noise as immediately suggested fire, and he lost no time in making for the corridor. As he opened the door a sheet of fire blazed in his face, and he found the corridor to be on fire from the floor to the room. Mr. Donaldson quickly touched the electric button in his room to summon the men from below, then grasped a blanket and began to fight the fire. He also pulled down some tapestries which were on fire. His efforts were so successful that the brigade during its past existence. It is further recommended that the commissioner of the territory, the officer commanding the N. W. M. P. representing the council of the Yukon Territory; Captain Hansen and George Apple, Esq., representing the late fire commissioners, and the fire chief, meet at a time and place to be appointed by the commissioner to discuss the project of reorganization of the fire brigade. All of which is respectfully submitted.

On Monday it was arranged that the meeting to discuss the project of reorganization should be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Flora Ahead.

A letter from W. P. Allen, first messenger to the coast for the Nugget Express, was received on Monday. Mr. Allen left on the steamer Flora, and on June 6, the day his letter was written, the boat had reached White Horse.

The letter states that a delay of four days was compelled at the foot of Lake LeBarge, and that reports at the time of writing were that Lake Marsh was still solid. The Flora had to cut her way for ten miles through Lake LeBarge.

The letter also speaks of the splendid treatment received at the hands of the Flora's officers and the satisfaction of the passengers with the success of the trip.

Free Ferry Restrained.

The free ferry, operated on the Klondike by Lee Pate, was closed down last week by order of the territorial court, Judge Dugas having granted an injunction against it on the application of Ed McConnell. The latter was able to show that he held a grant from the minister of public works at Ottawa for the exclusive privilege of operating a ferry within a distance of four miles from Dawson and another concession from the Yukon council; also that in pursuance of the conditions imposed by the original grant, he constructed the high way leading over the hill to the ferry at an outlay of $22,000, and that by the provisions of the local ordinance is compelled to maintain it in good repair.

A. W. Hall, the grocer, has bought half of the block south of postoffice where he will erect a three-story house, stock same with fancy and staple groceries for the wholesale trade.

The commission from the Yukon council, consisting of Commissioner Ogilvie, Colonel Steele and Mr. Clement, appointed to inquire into the delay in raising steam and getting water to the big fire of April 26, have completed their labors and rendered a report. The result exonerates the members of the fire department completely, as will be seen:

Dawson, Y. T., June 12, 1899.—Report of the committee of the Yukon council, appointed to

KLONDIKERS LEAVE FOR CAPE NOME.

Off on a Two-Thousand-Mile Stampede to the Coast.

A Letter From Rampart Tells of the Rush From There—Koyukuk to Be Abandoned—Rampart District Doing Fairly Well.

The publication in the special edition of the Nugget of the news of the gold strike said to have been made at Cape Nome, or Gnome, as it is spelled by some, created no little excitement about town and quickly became the dominant theme of discussion. The majority of men looked upon it with some skepticism and many openly pronounced it a scheme of the transportation companies to cause a stampede and work up business for their boats.

Whether or not this theory is true the Nugget does not know. Like a faithful dispenser of the news should, it gave the report as quickly as its seeming importance deserved and then only for what it was worth, naming the source from which the news emanated, the manner in which it was received at Dawson only a few hours before, and urging our readers to wait for confirmation of the news before going on a stampede.

But the report was evidently received with more favorable consideration by many, for when the steamer Sovereign of the Columbia Navigation Company pulled out for St. Michael at 8 o'clock last Saturday evening, her forward space held a crowd of men and women bound for the new field. It was a rarely edifying sight to see a steamboat load of people leaving the Klondike on a 2000-mile stampede with little, if anything, more tangible in the way of information than the story of a sensational newspaper of Seattle, and it cannot fall, when known to the outside world, to create the liveliest speculation, so little are the real conditions of this country known outside.

SOME CONFIRMATION.

That there has been a stampede to the Cape Nome country there is evidence from other sources than the copy of the newspaper brought in by Hoey Bean and his companions from the outside, and additional news of the reported strike is coming to the surface. Several letters treating of it are known to have been received in Dawson, and one of these has come into the possession of the Nugget.

The letter was written from Rampart by Thomas Marshall to his partner, Dr. H. L. Reagan, at present at Dawson, and bears date of April 2. After referring to mining affairs on the Minook and Koyukuk, Mr. Marshall says:

"The great rush to Gnome Cape, near St. Michaels, has begun. All who could procure the means of winter traveling have come on their 1,000 mile march, and out on the part of the river below here and at St. Michaels have long started. The rush is solid. Gold has been found in large quantities. One man writes that he took out $1,500 in four days with a common pan. The depth is said to be only three feet. There will be a great rush from here when the river opens, unless something else turns up in this district meanwhile. It would like to go to the St. Michaels rush, but knowing my property at Circle might not be represented unless I have an understanding with you. I would sink for you by power of attorney, which I have, or, in case of not being allowed to do so, I would be willing to share with you what I stake in the new country. But how to get word from you is a question. You might write to me here, and I am gone forward to St. Michaels your acceptance of my proposal."

In reference to the Koyukuk, Mr. Marshall says that 50 men have returned to Rampart from there, and all are very much discouraged. They report only one creek as producing pay dirt and that the exodus of prospectors will be virtually complete this summer.

Speaking of the Rampart district, he says that No. 8 on Little Minook has taken out $150,000 worth of gold. Hunter creek has shown up fairly well, 16 claims having developed dirt worth from 5 cents to 25 cents. Big Minook, Hooser and Russian creeks are also showing up fairly well. "There will be sufficient claims paying to keep this camp open," he concludes, "but the majority of people will go to St. Michaels."

The deductions which the Nugget is able to make at this time from the information available are as follows: That gold in some quantity or other has been struck in the Cape Nome country is true, that it was known on the outside last winter, and is old news, appears evident, and that there is a big rush to the new gold fields is beyond question. The information most essential, namely, how rich the field has proven to be, is as a sealed book, and the Nugget feels impelled again to urge its readers to await confirmation of the reported big discovery before joining the stampede. No Klondiker needs to be told that stampedes as a rule are a "fraud and a snare;" neither need be reminded that Koyukuk and Kotsuebe Sound were heralded quite as loudly as the Cape Nome discovery, though the chase to each place by thousands of gold seekers resulted in discouragement for most and death for many. "Look before you leap" is a maxim as old as the human race, and as true as steel.

Notice.

Anyone holding claims, due bills or accounts of any kind against the undersigned for labor, supplies or freighting, account of No. 5 below upper discovery on Dominion creek, will please present for payment immediately at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, down town, Ottawa, J. EDWARD MACALPUS.

BEHRING SEA

danger was over when the people arrived from below, though it was necessary for a man to go into the attic with water and put out the fire, where it had burned through the ceiling. The origin of the fire remains a mystery.

More of Cape Nome.

Mr. C. Andrews, an old-timer in the country, and recently from Circle City, corroborates along with others the story of the reported strike at Cape Nome. Mr. Andrews has seen several letters from St. Michael, all of which spoke in the highest terms of the new diggings. Between the 10th and 12th of March 200 men left Rampart for St. Michael and many of the woodchoppers scattered at different points along the river followed suit.

Mr. Andrews was also able to furnish the Nugget with the particulars of the recent strike on the Tanana. It appears that a party of six prospectors poled up the Tanana last fall, reaching the mouth of Baker river, which comes into the Tanana about ninety miles above the confluence of the latter stream and the Yukon. They then proceeded about twenty miles up the Baker river, and began prospecting on its smaller tributaries, upon one of which, Eureka by name, a fine prospect was located.

The Baker river some miles from the Tanana swings round toward the Yukon and heads up in the same divide, where little Minook has its source, the point where the men were prospecting being less than thirty miles from Rampart city.

Ignorant of this fact, the prospectors continued working all winter under the impression that they were at least 250 miles from Rampart. Finally a miner from Minook got over the divide on a hunting trip and discovered the cabin on Eureka creek. After learning all the particulars of the strike he returned to Minook and a great stampede resulted, every creek for miles being staked from source to mouth.

Mr. Andrews has great confidence in the Tanana country and purposes returning there himself at some future time during the summer.

Let the Eagle Scream.

A mass meeting of all citizens of Dawson and vicinity is called for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, before the fire station, for the purpose of arranging a glorious celebration of the 4th of July. Let everybody attend and help make the occasion a success. B. H. MORAN, Sec'y.

The Firemen Exonerated.

The commission from the Yukon council, consisting of Commissioner Ogilvie, Colonel Steele and Mr. Clement, appointed to inquire into the delay in raising steam and getting water to the big fire of April 26, have completed their labors and rendered a report. The result exonerates the members of the fire department completely, as will be seen:

NOTICE

When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a special rate, it is a practical admission of "no circulation." THE KLONDIKE NUGGET asks a good figure for its space and in justification thereof guarantees to its advertisers a paid circulation five times that of any other paper published between June and the North Pole.

THE NEW GOLD FIELDS.

As detailed exclusively in Saturday's "extra" of the Nugget, a new and rich discovery has been made on the American side. In order that the truth might be given to its readers at the very earliest moment a special representative of the Nugget was dispatched upon the steamer Sovereign to investigate the Cape Nome diggings and report as quickly as possible.

Meanwhile corroborative evidence is being brought to light in the shape of letters received in Dawson from the lower country, and it appears at this time that there is strong ground for belief that the richness of the "new Klondike" has not been exaggerated.

From reliable sources the information is obtained that the diggings are shallow and the pay plentiful. There are features about the new country, however, which will make it far more difficult of development than the Klondike. The winter is more severe and the time during which work can be prosecuted is much shorter than in this country.

These considerations will not affect the result provided the gold is there. The ingenuity of the miners who are accustomed to hardships and difficulties of every description will provide means for securing the precious dust no matter how inaccessible or difficult of development the country may be.

Undoubtedly the new discoveries will take hundreds of men from Dawson who, from various causes, have failed to reach their expectations here. The lower country offers every advantage to the miner, while, on the other hand, the continual encroachments which the government has made upon the rights heretofore granted miners in Canadian territory have disgusted and disheartened so many that they will gladly seize the opportunity to better their conditions elsewhere.

For the sake of these men in particular the Nugget sincerely hopes that time will prove the truth of the reported discoveries. The heartless brutality which has characterized the attitude of the government toward the Yukon territory has sent many a man away from the country in despair.

Should the Cape Nome country prove as good as reported an object lesson may be forced upon the attention of the Ottawa government which will compel some measure of justice to be meted out to the Yukon territory.

TRAILS.

Bonanza and Eldorado creeks have been famous the world over as producers of placer gold for more than three years. During that time millions upon millions of money have been taken off these two creeks, and from this immense sum have gone to enrich the coffers of the Dominion government.

During all this time no effort has been put forth by the government to assist in the development of the creeks, even to the extent of constructing a trail by which access to the diggings might be had in summer time. Today these so-called trails leading from Dawson to the Forks is as bad, if not worse, than was the case last year at this time. In the whole distance from the mouth of Bonanza to the Forks there is scarcely, all told, a single mile of good trail, while stretches occur several miles in length where horses are compelled to wade and founder through the muck and mud with great danger to their packs and the lives of their riders.

In places where the trail follows the bluffs in order to avoid the swamp, pack trains and horsemen are continually at a risk of being precipitated into the creek below, and numerous instances can be secured where this has occurred. Eight hours are frequently consumed in making the distance of twelve miles from Dawson to the Forks on horseback, and the journey's end finds horse and rider equally exhausted. What this journey means to the man who is compelled to make it on foot with a pack on his back can only be imagined. It passes description. And yet the minister of the interior goes down before parliament and tells, with much elaboration, of the great things he has performed for the betterment of the Yukon territory. We wonder if the limit of endurance will ever be reached.

REFERENCE to our local columns will show that attention is being directed toward securing some sort of representation for the Klondike at the Paris exposition. Commissioner Ogilvie has interested himself personally in the matter, but the restrictions which are placed upon the Yukon council in the matter of expending public money prevent any financial support being anticipated from that quarter. The Ottawa government may interest itself in the project to some extent but it is extremely doubtful. Those who are furthering the enterprise must rely principally upon private resources.

REPORTS from steamers bound up the river indicate that navigation this summer will be attended with many and serious difficulties which were not encountered last summer. The June rise seems to have failed in reaching ordinary proportions or else the season is so backward that the snow on the mountains is late in finding its way into the streams. It must not be forgotten, however, that the boats have begun to run much earlier this year than last. Another week or two may place a very different light upon the situation.

The article which appeared in our last issue relative to work on Thistle creek will prove valuable to all those who are interested in that district, as it was prepared by its author after a personal investigation of conditions on the creek, and we believe it to be a conservative and reliable statement. On the whole, it appears that Thistle creek has turned out very well, considering the fact that it was an unknown stream less than twelve months ago.

OWNERS of claims should take precautions to cover shafts which have been sunk and abandoned. A great many of such holes, partially or wholly filled with water, occur along the creeks, and are a standing menace to the safety of pedestrians or horsemen. The law allows the entry of any person upon a claim for the purpose of passing over it. It rests with the claim men to see to it that parties who travel over his ground do not risk their lives in so doing.

The new and sweeping order which has recently gone into effect on Bonanza and Eldorado creeks has caused prospecting upon them to be almost entirely abandoned. Rumors are afloat that the last order will be followed by another denying to aliens the right of renewing miners' licenses. We do not apprehend that there is any immediate prospect of such an order being issued, though it cannot be said to be without the range of possibilities.

OUTSIDE papers just in announce the fact that Aguinaldo is a fugitive and the backbone of the insurrection is broken. It will be well for the present administration in the United States if the war is brought to a speedy terminus. Already public sentiment seems veering round in opposition to the war and should it continue for an indefinite length of time the effect would certainly be felt at the polls when the next general elections come round.

OWNERS of real estate and business buildings should think several times before placing prohibitive rental or purchase prices upon their property. It is far better to receive a fair figure for property and keep buildings occupied during the entire year than to charge prices so high as to force occupants out at the close of the rush season.

THE NUGGET suggests that a public benefit be tendered the Yukon council. That body is always complaining of a lack of funds and we believe that a program with the members of the council in the title roles could be made a howling success.

Forty-Mile and Dawson are now connected with a weekly mail and express service. The Nugget Express has established a money order office in Forty-Mile, and will issue money orders payable in currency at that point. Messengers will leave every Monday.

CAPE NOME RIVALING THE KLONDIKE.

St. Michaels Highly Excited Over Richness of New Diggings.

Employees of the Big Companies Quit Work and Stampede for the Gold Fields—Pans Containing $22 Said to Have Been Found.

The most important information contained in the late papers brought by Messrs. Chilberg and Bean is an account of a rich strike said to have been made at Cape Nome.

Every mine which on that day is employing men without permits will be summarily closed, its pumps drawn and a guard placed over it. Up Canyon creek, where none but union miners are employed, they still sullenly refuse to make application for the cards. In order to secure a permit the miner must renounce membership in the society "which has fostered or encouraged" the recent lawlessness in the district. The union is not named outright in the printed forms to which the applicant must subscribe. Only about a dozen from all the Canyon creek district have secured the cards. Of those who remain, many are determined to stick doggedly to the union to the last.

THE KLONDIKE NUGGET—Supplement

DAWSON, Y. T., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1899

WRECKED BY NORTHERN PACIFIC TRAIN

Street Car in Seattle is Hurling into the Bay.

Twenty-Five Passengers Were Aboard But One Man Only Was Killed—Another Fatally Injured.

Wrecked By an N. P. Train.

SEATTLE, May 29.—An overland passenger train crashed into a Grant street car this morning, hurling 25 passengers on the car into the bay. One man was killed outright, another was fatally injured, and nearly all sustained injuries of a more or less serious nature. The Grant street line runs to South Seattle on a trestle. At the point where the railway crosses the street car line the accident occurred. The overland was going at a lively rate, and the engineer failed to see the street car approaching in time to stop the train. As a result the passenger train dished square into the street car, with the result as above stated.

Fight Renewed.

MANILA, May 29.—Aguinaldo has again renewed the fight. The agreement on the part of General Quesada to hold a conference, with the end in view of settling the war, has inspired the insurgents with the feeling that they can yet conquer. Hence the renewal of hostilities. It is not probable that any further overtures from Aguinaldo will be given, unless they come in the nature of an unconditional surrender.

Present Worth Having.

Tom G. Scholm was subjected to a pleasant surprise on Monday night, when six of his friends, namely, Harry Edwards, Thomas J. Sparks, W. T. D. Fields presented him with a beautiful gold watch hung on a black satin ribbon. It is in three pieces, the first being a large nugget; next is a flat field bearing the names of the donors and the figure of a beaver, emblematical of Tom's mining industry. In relief there was no special occasion for the gift—the gentlemen only wanted to let Tom know that they like him.

Horrible Tornado.

KIRKVILLE, Mo., May 28.—A tornado passed through this town last evening, demolishing half the residences, rendering 200 families homeless, killing at least a dozen people and wounding scores of others. The greatest desolation prevails, the track of the tornado in some places being swept clean as a threshing floor, and the rescuing parties have their hands full recovering the bodies of the dead and caring for the injured. In some instances whole families were wiped out of existence.

The Weaver family of eight saw the storm coming, but stood calmly by the chair of John C. Weaver, the aged invalid father. The house was torn to fragments. The old man was crushed in his chair, and the others were knocked senseless. Ella Weaver's legs were both broken. Joseph Weaver, his wife and baby and brother Samuel were terribly bruised.

While John McCall was holding on to a sapling at the skirt of the cyclone a 12 year-old boy, John Gebgardt, came down on him from the sky. He caught and saved the boy, whose home had been demolished two blocks away.

At Henry Nichols' farm just out of town, in the path of the storm, another man was seen carried up a hundred feet from the ground. The body has not yet been found.

Miss Whaley was impaled in the bowels upon a flying tree limb. Surgeons sawed it off at both ends, fearing to remove it. She lived two hours.

A. J. Glazee and wife met death in each others' arms. House rubbish covered them entirely.

Mrs. Blue Panschott suffered a most terrible death. Her headless body, with her arms clasping her lifeless baby, was discovered on the floor of the house, which was left as a raised platform in an open field. The head was as nicely severed as if it had been done with a knife, and was about twenty feet distant.

Hunter Lowe, a farmer, and his wife were overtaken by the cyclone in a buggy half a mile from their house. They were blown out of their vehicle and badly hurt. A moment later they beheld their home demolished, and their three children went with it to destruction.

F. J. Rieger, a prominent attorney, ran right into the path of the storm to save his family, who were helpless with fear. Dashing into the house, he carried his wife and children into the cellar. As he stumbled into the place of safety the building was leveled to the ground. He was just in time to save his loved ones and is happy, although his loss by the cyclone amounts to $3,000.

Two children had been lying on a cot in one of the destroyed homes. The house was carried away, but the floor of the first story and the foundation were left, the wind lifting the house from the sills and tumbling it a long distance. The cot on which the little ones lay was lifted up with them on it and carried fully a block and a half and set down on the ground. Neither of the children was hurt.

Among the horrors of the storm was the finding of the corpse of a 16-year-old girl with a 2x4 scantling driven through her body. The body of a child was found with the limb of a tree sticking through its neck.

Klondike Exhibit.

Col. Miles, who has taken the lead in the matter of preparing a Klondike exhibit for the Paris exposition, feels certain that the undertaking can be carried to a successful close. Mr. Ogilvie has given assurance of all the assistance in his power, and will furnish the colonel with letters to officers of the government at Ottawa. Col. Miles also has promises of help from the White Pass and Yukon Railway Company and other transportation companies.

The following outline has been drawn up as to what shall constitute the exhibit:

Samples of gold dust from each creek, bench and hillside to the amount of $1,000.

A general exhibit of gold dust, coarse and fine, with nuggets large and small, not limited in amount or value.

Samples of bedrock containing gold, also gold and copper ores, platinum and all other minerals to be found here.

One cubic foot of pay dirt from each creek, viz., Bonanza, Eldorado, Dominion, Sulphur, Hunker and Bear, to be exhibited in glass cases, showing at least two inches of bedrock. It is also proposed to have one cubic foot adjoining this intact sample washed out and exhibited with its proceeds in dust, together with the affidavit of the man from whose claim it is taken.

It is also proposed to have an exhibit of the formation of different layers of muck, gravel, etc., from the surface to bedrock, in a glass tube in sections of five feet each.

Specimens of agricultural products, native grasses, wild flowers, fruits, etc.

Specimens of game birds, animals and fish, furs and fur-bearing animals.

Samples of all kinds of timber found here.

Photographs of scenes and scenery from Skaguay to St. Michaels. Also pamphlets containing reliable information for tourists as well as investors of capital; large photographs showing general topography of mining districts, correct maps of mining districts, showing location of all mineral locations and reservations.

An exhibit of fossil remains, in the interest of science.

Any person having samples of ores, nuggets of gold in quartz or rare samples of minerals of any kind from the district that they wish to have exhibited at Paris can leave the same with Governor Ogilvie, who will receive and receipt for the same.

All fossil remains, viz., ivory tusks, bones, skulls with horns attached, etc., found in the mines, should be carefully preserved.

Specimens of Indian work and relics.

The wrestling match between Marsh and Trenneman at the Opera House Friday night, June 16, promises to be a rare treat in the sporting line. Both men are training hard, and are now in the pink of condition. You cannot afford to miss this; it will be a fast go. Marsh to throw Trenneman three times in one hour. Stakes, $500 a side. Trenneman to win if he throws Marsh once during contest.

Patriots Lining Up. In response to the call issued in the press, about a score of American citizens gathered at the Criterion on Monday night to make arrangements for a celebration of the Fourth of July.

These sentiments were roundly cheered, and a motion was at once carried to the effect that no further action be taken at the meeting other than the election of a chairman and secretary of an executive committee, and that all other business be transacted at a mass meeting of all the citizens to be held before the fire engine house on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock.

E. Leroy Tozier was elected chairman and B. H. Moran secretary, and the latter was asked to publish a call for the meeting, together with a cordial invitation to every citizen in the Klondike, regardless of nationality, to attend.

Damage Suit Threatened. The prospects are that the territorial court will be enlivened ere long by the trial of a sensational damage suit, in which the American consul will pose as the defendant.

The first arrest under the new capias ordinance passed by the Yukon Council was made on Saturday, when Patrick Murphy was arrested at the instance of R. C. Dodge, who appeared before Judge Dugas on that day and made affidavit that Murphy owed him $160 on a promissory note and that plaintiff had reason to believe that he was about to leave the Yukon territory with the express object of defrauding his creditors in general and the plaintiff in particular.

It would seem that no country needs such a law more than this, and its passage was very opportune.

Sensational Rumor. A rumor has prevailed for some days to the effect that after June 15th no more miners' licenses and no renewals would be issued. A NUGGET man called at the commissioner's office on Monday and made inquiries concerning the story, but was informed that they knew absolutely nothing as to its truth.

St. Michaels Highly Excited Over Richness of New Diggings.

Employees of the Big Companies Quit Work and Stamped for the Gold Fields—Pans Containing $22 Said to Have Been Found.

The most important information contained in the late papers brought by Messrs. Chilberg and Bean is an account of a rich strike said to have been made on Snake river near Cape Nome. The following is from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of May 16 and details what was known of the new diggings on the outside up to that date:

Many letters confirming the report of intense excitement at St. Michael and the lower Yukon over the rich gold strikes at Cape Nome have been received on the coast. Several responsible communications have come to this city and were made public yesterday. They would seem to leave no doubt of the authenticity of the strike. "It rivals Klondike," is the prevailing tone of these letters.

Steamer captains on the Yukon are writing out for crews. Their boats are being deserted for the new mines and men are asking exorbitant wages for their work. Many employees of Alaska Commercial Co. and the North American Transportation & Trading Co. have quit work and stamped for the diggings, while those who remained have organized companies and sent in men on a grub stake. The little settlements at the mouth of the Yukon are kept in a constant flurry by the arrival of men from Snake river with wonderful tales of luck and dirty looking sacks full of gold dust to back their stories. Three who reached St. Michaels in January reported having taken out $1,800 in six weeks, and reports of $22 to the pan are common.

The gold discoveries and developments on the Snake river at Cape Nome bid fair to create an excitement rivaling that which carried thousands into the Klondike. The new district is heralded as a poor man's country, and from every point available prospectors are flocking there, filled with new hope in their quest for gold.

Official notification of the strike has been sent to the government bureau of information at Washington by William A. Kjellman, superintendent of the government reindeer station at Eaton, Alaska. The letter was seen in Washington by Rev. Sheldon Jackson, now in Seattle. It told of the rich find in placers at Cape Nome, and stated that the 35 Laplanders employed to herd the reindeer at Eaton had deserted him and gone to Snake river to take up claims. The dirt ran $1.50 to $2.50 to the pan, he said, and in his closing sentence he referred to the district as "another Klondike."

Cape Nome is north from St. Michaels about 90 miles, and the principal discoveries are 60 miles up Snake river on the tributary creek, Anvil. Companies operating steamers on the Yukon will put as many boats as needed to run from St. Michaels to Cape Nome and up the Snake river, or ocean boats will discharge cargoes and passengers at the mouth of Snake river to light draft steamers and barges. The river is navigable clear to the mines and beyond, and the country presents none of the obstacles which have made other districts in Alaska so discouraging to prospectors.

A letter from B. B. Earle, bookkeeper at Healy for the North American Transportation and Trading Company, formerly connected with the Great Northern here, to James P. Agnew, of this city, is of the same general nature as the others cited.

"St. Michaels at this time is all excitement, and every one that can get away is flocking up to the new Klondike. Two of our party leave tomorrow. Dogs cannot be had at any price. The large companies here are making arrangements to ship provisions on a large scale up there. I never saw such excitement in my life. News has already gone up the river, I understand, and business will be rushing in the spring."

Gov. Flower's Funeral.
NEW YORK, May 14.—A committee from the Democratic Editors' Association, the board of directors from the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, the faculty and trustees of the Flower Hospital and a committee from the Grand Lodge of Masons will attend the funeral of former Governor Roswell P. Flower, which will take place from St. Thomas' Episcopal Church tomorrow afternoon.

"After the church service the remains will be placed in a special train, which is scheduled to leave for Watertown at 9 p. m. The burial will take place from the home of Mrs. J. D. Taylor, Mr. Flower's daughter. It was said today that the Mystic Shrine had tendered an escort for the body, but that it had been declined, the relatives and immediate friends of the family preferring as little display as possible.

Trouble in Idaho.

WARDNER, Idaho, May 14.—The crisis in the labor troubles here will commence on Thursday of this week. Should the period pass over quietly no more outbreaks of lawlessness need be looked for during the continuance of military rule. On the other hand, should there be any clash this week between the soldiers and the lawless element in the union, it is impossible to tell what bloodshed may occur. Thursday is the last day allowed under the recent proclamation for working miners to apply for permits to remain in underground employment. On that day the inspection of the mines all over the Coeur d'Alenes will commence. It will be a rigid examination, and it will be conducted both by the military and the authorities.

Every mine which on that day is employing men without permits will be summarily closed, its pumps drawn and a guard placed over it. Up Canyon creek, where none but union miners are employed, they still sullenly refuse to make application for the cards. In order to secure a permit the miner must renounce membership in the society "which has fostered or encouraged" the recent lawlessness in the district. The union is not named outright in the printed forms to which the applicant must subscribe. Only about a dozen from all the Canyon creek district have secured the cards. Of those who remain, many are determined to stick doggedly to the union to the last. Others are afraid to take out cards until after the end of the week.

Soldiers for Alaska.

Orders which indicate an indisputable intention on the part of the government at Washington to station a military force along the Yukon and to police the river on the American side, as it is now on the Canadian, have been received by Captain W. W. Robinson, Jr., assistant quartermaster, U. S. A., of Seattle.

Captain Robinson has been instructed to make preliminary arrangements for the transportation of 200 regulars, together with large quantities of supplies, including two portable saw mills, to St. Michael and up the river. Although this point is not definitely settled, it is probable that the expedition will start from Seattle and that most of the outfitting will be done there.

The detachment of troops will be commanded by Colonel Phil Ray, who will be remembered as having been sent into the Yukon in 1897 to investigate rumors of famine and to make a general report to the government upon conditions in the new gold fields. The soldiers are now at Washington, D. C., it is understood, and will probably arrive on the coast about the middle of next month.

The supplies Captain Robinson has been instructed to provide transportation for consist of five pieces of artillery, one year's rations for 200 men, clothing for one year for 200 men, two portable saw mills, general quartermaster's and subsistence stores and 100 head of beef cattle and pack animals.

Germany's Isolation.

That important changes in the game of international politics have transpired of late is evidenced in the dissolution of the famous triple alliance and the feeling of cheerfulness over the result shown by the late allies of Germany. La Patrie, an Italian paper of prominence, in an article headed "Dislocation a la Triple Alliance," says of it:

"King Humbert's speech was amicable, and Admiral Fournier's significant. He exalted the talent and clear-sightedness shown by his majesty's ministers in their conduct of public affairs, which meant they had done well to abandon Germany. The king replied by assuring France of his sentiments and cordial friendship. The language was praiseworthy in itself, but which proves Germany's ally has gone some way since he sent his son to inspect the fortifications of Metz. The German press notes this defection and with it the disintegration of the triple alliance. The play of politics is sometimes very curious. Two years ago German journalists were chaffing the splendid isolation of which discomfited Albion, in lack of anything better, was boasting. Now that a conflict brings Germany and Britain face to face, the former sees with anxiety that her allies of the previous day have deserted her, and the latter boasts this time of manning Germany with the support of the United States. But—who knows?—tomorrow perhaps the cards will be shuffled again."

NOTICE.

Sale of Town Lots.

A public auction sale will be held at the Crown Timber and Land Agent's office, at Dawson, on Tuesday, the 20th of June next, 1899, at 10 o'clock a. m. and on following day, if necessary, when all the town lots in government addition and Klondike City not sold previous to that date, together with any improvements on such lots, will be offered for sale and adjudicated to the highest bidder.

The terms of sale will be half cash, and the other half in one year from the sale, together with interest at six per cent thereon.

The lots which are not yet sold are the following ones, to-wit:

TUCKER TOOK THE TWO TUMBLERS.

Simpson Was to Him as Clay Is to the Sculptor.

A Small Audience Was Present and the Contest Did Not Afford a Great Deal of Satisfaction to the Sports.

The wrestling match between Ed Tucker and Billy Simpson, with which the new Opera House arena was formally opened on Saturday night, did not afford the best satisfaction...

The men stepped upon the mat amidst a cordial greeting from the sports. Tucker was backed by Bob Olliver, and Simpson by Fred Atkinson.

Upon time being called the two gladiators sprang to the center of the mat and began to reach for holds. Simpson suddenly caught Tucker on the back of the head and flopped him to the floor.

After a rest of 15 minutes the men again went at it. Simpson again threw Tucker to his belly, and then struggled vainly to turn him over.

Simpson gives his weight at 155 pounds, and Tucker at 160.

At the conclusion of the match Billy Murphy arose and issued a challenge to the victor and also to the winner of the forthcoming match between Treneman and Marsh.

Domville Rides to Her Doom.

The gallant steamer Domville, the property of popular Ed Barrington, will never see Dawson again. Her shattered frame lies on the rocks of the treacherous Thirty-Mile, where she met her doom on Friday last.

From the moment the boat entered the swift current a battle was on. The low water showed rocks on every hand, and the boat was alternately stepped one way and another to escape them.

At the moment the boat entered the swift current a battle was on. The low water showed rocks on every hand, and the boat was alternately stepped one way and another to escape them.

The passengers and freight of the Bonanza King, which was chartered to bring down the passengers and freight of the Domville, were transferred to the Eldorado, which overtook the King at Thirty-Mile.

It is understood that the steamer Gold Star, which is expected down from White Horse Rapids soon, has been purchased by S. H. Barbee.

The steamer Sovereign, it is expected, will be fitted with new machinery upon her arrival at St. Michaels.

The steamers Canadian and Columbian have been reached White Horse.

Coming in.

The latest Seattle paper in has the following concerning three people well known on the Klondike:

On the steamer Topeka Louis Sloss of San Francisco, head of the Alaskan Commercial Co., accompanied by J. M. Wilson, superintendent of the Yukon district for that company and Jack McQuestin, the Alaska pioneer, will sail for his annual tour of inspection of the country and the company's belongings.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McCoubert left on Saturday night for a trip to St. Michael and Cape Nome.

Markus Mayer will leave this week for his home in Seattle and does not expect to return.

Postmaster Hartman is inquiring for the whereabouts of H. A. Stanley. An important letter is awaiting Mr. Stanley at the postoffice.

Seattle people will be interested in learning that the court has set August 11 as the date of the execution of Charles W. Nordstrom, the murderer.

John B. Connelly, an employe of Mr. Carboneau on 41 above on Bonanza, is ill from typhoid fever and under the care of Father Desmarrais of the Catholic mission at Grand Forks, where he is progressing finely.

The two Sisters of Charity who recently went to Grand Forks are gaining many encomiums of praise for the tireless manner in which they are carrying on their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKay became the happy parents of a bouncing boy baby on Sunday. Jack felt so proud of the happy event that he wouldn't weigh the youngster in anything but a gold scale, where it tipped the beam at 12 pounds.

Father Desmarrais, who has charge of the Catholic mission at Grand Forks, is well pleased with the progress of his labors. Since November last he has held services in a large tent to constantly increasing congregations, and hopes to be able to erect a permanent chapel this summer.

The firemen scored another success at their dancing party on Thursday evening, the attendance being good and the arrangements for the comfort and pleasure of the guests all that could be desired.

George P. Manhet, a miner of No. 20 Gold Run, started for Dawson a few days ago to undergo treatment for scurvy, but he had not proceeded far when he was overcome and lay for two days alone in a vacant cabin before being found.

The formal opening of Villa de Lion at West Dawson took place on Friday evening, and the little steamer Burpee was kept busy carrying loads of people over.

The new Fairview restaurant, under the management of Henry Cox, is becoming more popular with the public every day.
