A Letter From the Front.

Mrs. Haverstock recently received the following letter from her son, Charles, who is doing his duty in France. Mr. Haverstock was a popular student at Acadia, and his Wolfville friends will be glad to hear from him. His letter is very interesting and cheery:

Somehow in France
May 31, 1918
MY DEAR MOTHER.—An address in this letter to Wolfville, taking it for granted that you will be glad to hear from me.

exercises at Acadia these years are not what they used to be. I'm just about four years now since the members of old '14 went out into the wide world, and how many unexpected things have transpired since then! At times, all the ambition which in those years of preparation took possession of our very souls and filled us with a determination to do something in the world and to do it well, seems, I say at times, to be hopelessly crushed, or at least so changed as to make them useless. And I suppose that this conclusion would be correct if our lives were busily constructed and controlled, but because they bear the print of a Divine Hand, with a Divine purpose for each, one cannot even in the face of external events be led to believe that life is wasted and lost because of our present lot. It is here that the beautiful optimistic faith of the Christian helps to overcome the human hardships in this life. I used to feel that Christianity might not be practical when put to the test, but my experiences of late have convinced me that it exerts a most vital force in the life of a believer.—It is real and it stands the test.

We have gone back into the line again, and I am at present at rest quarters, a little way behind the line. We are very comfortable with good living conditions. Of course the weather now is ideal summer and the beautiful long twilight of the evenings when nature appears her loveliest self to put one in very tune with the Infinite. I have experienced since I have been in France, seasons of inspiration which seem to be Divine in origin and I believe it is the spirit of the universe that is at work in us at home which help me so often to stand.

Everything is going well with me and I seem to be no fortunate so many times. The village where we work in camp for some two weeks was bombed the night before we left. A building near to where we were billeted was hit and apart from debris falling on the roof and making us somewhat 'windy' (i. e. nervous) no real damage was caused to our unit. However, the next night when our way 'here' we were again in a bombed area and this time we had one of our boys killed and four others wounded sufficiently bad to go to Blighty. We were sleeping out in the open as the night was so fine and warm. A few of my pals and myself were sleeping under a tree only a few yards from where the casualties were made. The young fellow killed was just a boy, a favorite with all of us and a most cheerful and happy disposition. He was from Edmonton. However, these things do happen out here, but it is surprising how many shells and bombs that get no one. The bombs are by far the worst and most trying on our nerves. Really,

Had Headache For Two Years

A Barrie Man Tells of Persistent Headaches and Indigestion—Finally Found His Way to Good Health.

For two long years the writer of this letter was subject to severe headaches. The nervous system got run down, digestion failed, and there was constant loss of weight. The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food changed all this and now with scores of other Barrie people Mr. Nader is recommending the use of this food cure as the best means of building up the exhausted nervous system and curing headaches, indigestion and all the annoying symptoms of a run-down condition.

Mr. John Nader, 88 Pennington street, Barrie, Ont., writes: "During the last two years I had an attack of indigestion, accompanied by severe headaches. I suffered from loss of appetite, and my system became run down. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and as they helped me I continued the treatment for some time. My condition is now greatly improved, my headaches are gone and my health in general is much better. I can unhesitatingly recommend the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to those suffering from nervousness of any kind."

The reason Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so effective in cases of this kind is because of its extraordinary blood-forming influence. By creating an abundance of rich, red blood it revitalizes the exhausted nerves and builds up the system in every way. The appetite is restored, digestion improves, you rest and sleep well, and the new vigor and energy is felt in every organ of the body.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is sold everywhere, women and children whose systems have become weak and run down. It costs a box 4 boxes for $5.00. Get Dealers or Direct from Dr. Chase, Limited, Toronto.

A Tribute To a Wife.

A good wife needs no monument for she will continue to live in the memory and affection of her family. House and riches are the inheritance of fathers, and a prudent wife is from the Lord. Occasionally a man bears testimony to the great help his wife has been to him in his private and public affairs. Such a man is the late Charles Warren Fairbanks, once Vice-President of the U. S. States. In his will he bequeaths $5,000 to the city of Indianapolis.

the will is the tribute which he paid to his wife.

The said sum with the interest thereon shall be known as 'The Cornelia Cole Fairbanks Memorial'—a commemorative of the life and virtues of a great woman, who was an inspiration to better living and doing and whose holy influence I gratefully acknowledge. She was an ideal Christian wife and mother, making home an altar of love and devotion; a patriot who inculcated love of country and its institutions; a lover of Indianapolis, who sought to advance its intellectual, moral and physical well-being; a friend of the poor, counting no service or sympathy in their behalf too great.

It is a noble tribute, and doubtless nobly spoken. It might quite as justly be spoken of many a wife, who goes through life unheeded and unrecognized. The world owes much to the faithful, uncomplaining helpmates of its workers and its public men. The Old Testament bears the tribute of ages long gone by to this type of woman, where it says:

"The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her, so that he shall have no need to apprehend."

"She will do him good, and not evil, all the days of her life."

"Her husband is known in the gates, where he sitteth among the elders of the land."

"Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

Merited Tribute to Nurina Sister Frazer.

(Italian Herald)

Those in the city who knew Paul Frazer as he was in the days of her father's regime at Government House, and a student at the Halifax Ladies' College, felt the grim news of the torpedoing of the Lindbergh Castle in their innermost heart—ever and anon, through all the week of "weather" which has seemed as though nature's own self felt the sadness of the times, there has persisted in their imaginations that slight on the open sea, when our noble Nova Scotia girls faced in the dark the last enemy, and—

"That which drew from out the boundless deep, Turned again Home."

The great war, heaven knows, abounded in heroic suffering—these girls were ours and so our sorrow and our pride in their faithful-ness unto death is proved and in that as it has never more fully been since the cable came announcing the death in action of the first of our boys to fall. Mrs. Frazer, who has for the past three years made her home at the Mansie, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, with her daughter, Mrs. Wilson, has the deepest, truest sympathy of all Nova Scotia in news which was anguish fraught to her—all recall the fact that the combat had, when the later news was received, cost her the death of her youngest son, Laurie. If sorrow could pierce her heart, are not they the sacred honors which she and warm the public heart toward her and hers? Surely they are! The daughter who passed amid the terrors of the night of June 27, in the highest rewards of the true had, in her capacity as a medical nurse served her country and the cause of Freedom with her native high-hearted generosity and a fully merited singleness of aim. The fate of the little group of nursing sisters has, as did that of Edith Cavell, freshly consoled to us the nursing profession.

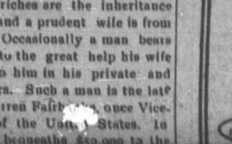

"Do you know that I believe this thing is going to result in a great increase in the number of girls entering the profession—my dear, I think! The speaker was Mrs. Fletcher—that is why it looks to those who recognize its true significance. Thus, indeed do "the noble army of martyrs" praise the Holy God."

All on either side have heard expressions of sympathy with Senator McLaugh, whose daughter was in the group who, having nobly served, nobly died; and R. G. Barr, Manager of Merchants Bank of Canada, whose charming sister was another, shares fully in that sympathy.

It is only a few women's thorns in another woman's flesh. When Dame Fortune goes calling she utterly disregards "at home" days. There are many kinds of feelings, but the merriest kind is self-compassion.

The Largest Vessel in Nova Scotia.

There are about twenty-five schooners under construction along the shores of St. Mary's Bay, and all within a radius of twenty miles. The new tonnage being built there calls for the expenditure of nearly one million dollars for labor and materials alone, and this money is practically all going into the pockets of the French municipality of Clare, where the vessels are under construction. The largest vessel on the stocks is at Metagham, being built by Dr. T. W. McDonald, who has his brother, W. S. McDonald, of New Glasgow, associated with him. This vessel will register 1,100 tons, is 227 feet over all, 40 foot beam and 19 foot hold. By far the largest sailing ship yet built in Nova Scotia during the era of ship-outfitting.—Digby Courier.

I fell from a building and received what the doctor called a very bad sprained ankle, and told me I must not walk on it for three weeks. I got MINARD'S LINTMENT and in six days I was out in work again. I think it the best liniment made.

It is estimated that 400,000,000 people in Europe are short of food. In Poland, Finland, Serbia, Armenia and Russia millions are actually dying of starvation and other millions are suffering from under-nutrition, while still others are living on the barest possible margin.

Local business men's committees are being organized in the Maritime Provinces, for the purpose of co-operating with the Canada Food Board in seeing that the food regulations are strictly enforced by the provincial committees of the Canada Food Board.

Out West in the days when the nickel was the smallest coin in circulation "the cent belt" of the East was an occasional object of derision. The West begins to learn how to economize. This season Mr. Cramer proposes to show the West the folly of burning straw instead of using it to make up for the shortage of cattle food.

A ready public compliance with the rules and regulations that may seem necessary for the general welfare is a mark of good citizenship and of loyalty not alone to the Empire, but to the men who, at the front, are obeying without question, in order that the hopes they have left may be saved from the destruction that marks the path of the Hun.

Good crop prospects in Canada and the United States have prompted the American Food Administration to pronounce the general food situation "better than at any time since America undertook to feed the Allies." If conditions continue good until harvesting time there may come some price reductions and possibly modification of some of the substitute regulations.

Judgment by the Supreme Court of Canada, upholding the action of the government in abolishing exemptions under the Military Service Act, has cleared away all the obstacles blocking enlistment. The decision by one of the six judges of the court lays down principles which judges should find it possible to apply in all appeals, bringing to a speedy and any and every specious effort to escape that military service which the country demands of its young manhood.

It is hardly surprising that the Ontario Medical Council should decide to appoint a committee to report upon the alleged infringement of the Temperance Act by members of the profession. The number of violators no doubt is small, but the case of a Toronto physician who within twelve days had given prescriptions for over eleven hundred quarts of whiskey very naturally excited public attention. Ontario thirst seems to be unquenchable.

Guard Baby's Health in the Summer

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little life is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Dangerous Mistake.

The attitude of the English clergyman who wondered if placing girls in munition factories was making toward righteousness, is very like that of those persons who today are multiplying and extending societies in order to save the girl. The girls in England, and in France, has shown how girlhood meets a crisis like the present. With a single-hearted devotion to the interest of their countries they have worked and are working at all kinds of hard labor. They have saved the country and its agricultural products and have had no time to consider complex problems involving the righteousness of their labor. A single command to do the work at hand seems to have been their very admirable creed; and there is no question that had these girls, and girls in the United States and in Canada, stopped to debate over the moral ethics of munition making, or agricultural pursuits, or a hundred other employments through which they have held the industrial life for military service purposes, there would have been no discussion of this kind. The German would long ago have been exploiting his own form of righteousness in the very homes that are now monuments to the industrial efficiency of these girls. Women who are busy and who are engaged in saving the lives of the men of the nations are not as a rule in danger of moral degeneracy. It is the ideal girl, and the selfish girl who creates an atmosphere that perhaps might be said to make for unrighteousness. With the numerous opportunities for service that are now before women, and the imperative need of this service, it is nothing short of criminal for girls or women to be idle. There are calls that are vital, and while they are not perhaps along the line best liked, the time for doing what you want to do, has long since passed; for the Canadian girl it ceased when the Canadian men chose to go forward in the first gas attack at Ypres, for the English and French girl it has practically never existed. Summer camps, and all organizations wherein the higher development of the general life is the theme, are not to be deplored generally speaking; and recreation or rest is imperative. But duties assumed and undertaken in the name of the great relief organizations, of the industrial societies, and for military purposes, especially if these duties are assumed as volunteer contributions to the war necessities, cannot be lightly laid aside, nor can they be regarded, in the light of the whole situation, as employment for spare moments; above all they are sacred obligations and their performance is an indication of that righteousness too often sought for in far fields under the guise of mistaken ideals.

Every city, town and village in the world has its own special needs, its own special agency in charge of some good, live local man. Farmers want help, and it is the duty of the towns and cities to provide it if there is no other source of supply. Able bodied young men of all classes have been enlisted for the army, and the factories had already drained the country of regular farm labourers. The United States wants about a million or more men for its own harvest. Some of those men will doubtless be available in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba for the Canadian wheat after the American crop is in, but the great bulk of the extra labour required on Canadian farms this year, will have to come from Canadian towns and cities.

To enable these men to be distributed when they do come forward, as by their Registration cards they have promised to do, there should be machinery ready and well organized. In some Provinces the local government has established employment agencies. Every Province might well have similar offices supplemented by voluntary organizations in every centre. Business men in this and every other Canadian town, should become active in this matter because it vitally concerns them. Employers of labor should do everything in their power to arrange things so as to give men who are willing to go to the aid of the farmers. Every encouragement should be given these men, for work is of first importance. Farmers, of course, prefer experienced men, and men who have been brought up on farms or spent some years on the land should be especially encouraged to devote a few weeks of their time and capital of their experience to the harvest of 1918. Extra men for the harvest are wanted in every Province—in British Columbia 3,000, in Alberta 6,000 to 7,000, in Saskatchewan 2,000, in Manitoba 30,000, Ontario 12,000, Quebec 15,000, New Brunswick 2,000, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island all the men locally available.

Leading business men of every centre should get together in a committee and open up a farm labour bureau where there is none already. There should be no trouble for the farmer in leaving where to find such a man, and there should be no trouble for the man who is willing to go on the farm to find out where to go and leave his name and address for the farmer looking for him.

The British Food Controller is battling with an utterly unforeseen shortage of jam as a result of early frosts and insect attacks of fruit. The news will be received at the front with humorous laughter, for jam is about as popular as bully-butt. Yet without these two staples the provisioning of the British army would be a far more serious problem than it is.

Profits and Profiteers. Takes Exception.

When the war revenue law is revised and short of its inequalities, as it must be, we shall be able to judge what institutions there is going to be between profiteering and legitimate profits. The present law confuses "excess profits" with war profits, and there is given the war profiteer the chance to keep up his serious practices without suffering much in the way of taxation. If war profits, pure and simple, had to be as the burden and heat of the day, the uncertainty surrounding "excess profits"—often having nothing special to do with war activities—would be cleared up.

It should be an axiom of government, as it is in Great Britain, that the gentleman who makes big hauls from operations absolutely dependent upon the waging and the continuing of the war, should pay the biggest of all taxes for the maintenance of that war. That should be the prime motive in the rewriting of the war revenue measure, and we think it will be.

Meanwhile, the scorching indictment of profiteering demands more than passive interest; it calls for thorough investigation and the punishment of offenders if the charges are substantiated. A people that is giving its manhood and its treasure to this war deserve to be protected from any scoundrels who would

A firm in Truro advertised last week using people to buy a barrel of flour and a sack of sugar. When the advertisement came to the notice of the Canada Food Board the firm received a telegram forbidding them to sell either flour or sugar for ten days and intimating that any further advertising of the sort referred to would lead to the cancellation of their license.

A very successful and enjoyable ice-cream and strawberry festival was held at Avonport on Wednesday of last week in aid of the church at that place. The Wolfville Band was in attendance and furnished excellent music. The boys speak in the highest terms of the manner in which they were treated. Ice-cream was served during the evening and before returning home they were entertained to a good supper by those having the affair in hand.

Appreciatory Address.

In his sermon in the Baptist church Sunday evening Dr. Kelstead referred in terms of appreciation to several men whose work has been closed but whose services to the public have been of great value.

Among those mentioned were C. W. Roscoe, M. A., who for many years was a most honored and efficient officer in the department of education in this province. Both as inspector and organizer of public sentiment Mr. Roscoe gave strength and coherence to public education.

Prof. Caldwell, M. A., was for a long period teacher in Horton Academy and Professor in Acadia University, and was a faithful and widely respected. His price essay on the history of Acadia College is of great and permanent value and there is no history of the later years of equal worth.

Dr. Trotter's work as minister and educationalist was traced, and an account of his illness and death given. Dr. Trotter's heroism and fortitude under prolonged suffering and his triumphant faith in view of his approaching departure were described in sympathetic terms. While the occasion did not permit an extended analysis of Dr. Trotter's contribution to the public life of Canada, enough was said to recall to the audience their memory of Dr. Trotter's work for Acadia and his personal qualities as leader.

Dr. Kelstead referred at some length to the personality, acquirements and labors of Dr. R. V. Jones with whom the speaker's acquaintance and fellowship had been prolonged and always most cordial. In all their associations Dr. Kelstead could not recall a word or act of Dr. Jones that the speaker would wish to forget.

Dr. Jones held for many years a foremost position as Professor of languages and literature, a department of the greatest value in the work of higher culture. He is in the hearts of his students to live and die with them. His life and service are an inseparable part of the best life Acadia has developed.

The minister also spoke of the long and arduous years in which Dr. Crawley and Dr. Cramp were leaders of the denomination. Dr. Cramp was an organizer and Dr. Crawley gave the inspiration of a lofty mind and a great orator. Probably the educational institutions owe their existence to Dr. Crawley more than to any other man; yet his name is not to be found in the University Calendar, as far as the speaker knows.

Interesting Weddings.

Lewis-McLeod

A simple but pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. H. McLeod, Wolfville, on July 19th, when their eldest daughter, Blanche, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Mr. Harrison Pilot Lewis. The bride, who was daintily attired in white silk crepe de chine, was attended by her sister Myra, who wore pink silk. The bridesmaids were decorated with daisies and ferns by friends. All of the immediate families were present except a brother of each at the front.

The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, assisted by Rev. G. T. Lewis, of Yarmouth, father of the groom. A solo, O Love Divine and Golden' was beautifully rendered by Miss Frances DeWolfe. After a slight luncheon was served the bridal party motored to Grand Pre where the happy couple took the train en route for Quebec, their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have the good wishes of their friends for a happy wedded life.

Woodbury-MacGregor

A quiet wedding took place at Tremont Temple, Boston, July 18th, when Jean Hatfield MacGregor, daughter of the late Rev. P. S. and Mrs. MacGregor, became the bride of Earle L. Woodbury. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Eaton, assistant pastor at Tremont Temple, assisted by Rev. C. A. S. Howe, of Dorchester, Mass.

The bride, in a handsome travelling suit of sand color cloth and hat of the same shade with touches of coral, carrying a bouquet of brides' roses and maiden hair fern, was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. J. S. MacGregor, of Boston. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Ralph Haslam, of Dorchester, cousin of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pratt, Moore St., Somerville, to which only the immediate friends of the bride and groom were invited. Mrs. Woodbury is a graduate of Acadia University, class 1912, and for four years has been a very successful teacher at Prince Rupert, B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury are visiting relatives in the province and in a few days leave for the west where the groom holds a responsible position as train dispatcher in Lechbridge, Alberta.

Come to the Red Cross Dance at Frangeline Beach, Monday evening, July 29th, at 8 o'clock. The Give Service Girls will serve ice cream. Admission 25 cents.
