COUNCIL MEETING

Discusses the Town Manager Plan But Defers Action

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held on Wednesday evening when considerable business was disposed of. Mayor Sutherland, who has been spending the holidays in Boston, and vicinity, was back at his post and all the Councillors were present.

The various standing committees presented reports. These had to do with routine work. In the Streets Department $119.80 was expended in work on Orchard avenue, hauling gravel for streets, and clearing away snow, etc. The Water Committee reported $125.34 expended on the water system and $125.30 for fire equipment. These included old bills for the erection of the fire alarm and the motor at the reservoir. The Poor Committee reported the expenditure for the month as $98.59.

A protest from the citizens of the eastern part of the town against the proposed cutting of shade trees was read and discussed, and it was decided to abandon this work for the present. A letter was also read from Judge Ritchie, who is now in Florida, making a vigorous protest against the destruction of these trees.

A letter was read from Mrs. Thurber who claimed that in the matter of her assessment for taxation last year, she had not received the widow's exemption. On motion this error was corrected.

The following bills were read and ordered paid:

R. E. Harris & Sons	$ 15.42
Electric Commission	8.46
E. F. Mahaney	21.75
N. Evans	84.00
Burton Croft	12.00
Street Lighting	588.37

The account for joint service with the Municipality of Kings County and the town of Kentville was read and considered. The total amount required is $34,827.11. Wolfville's proportion of this is based on the town's assessment and is $4,235.55. The statement of the assessment is given as follows:

Municipality of Kings	$5,013,864
Town of Kentville	944,000
Town of Wolfville	824,896

From this it will be noted that Kentville with its eight square miles of territory and 2717 population is only valued for more than Wolfville with its population of 1743.

On motion it was decided to send a cheque for the required amount to the County Clerk.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the report of the Finance Committee re insurance of town property. For several months this matter has been under consideration. It is proposed to take advantage of the co-insurance plan and negotiations have been going on between the town and A. M. Jack & Co., of Amherst, with whom it was proposed to divide the business. Neither of these firms have so far given a satisfactory guarantee and the matter was laid over until the next meeting of the Council when a decision will be reached.

Coun. Peck proposed a resolution dealing with the appointment of a town manager. It was proposed to insert an adv. in each of the Halifax morning papers asking for applications. In this as in many other matters of late the Council appears to be equally divided in opinion, and after a lengthy discussion the matter was laid over for a future meeting.

The bill for providing town assistance to the work being carried on under the direction of the Boy Scout Association was read and discussed. A number of changes were proposed and it was ordered that the bill be rewritten and dealt with at the Council's next meeting.

JAMES W. NEWCOMBE

The death occurred last Saturday of one of the most prominent citizens of Canning in the person of James W. Newcombe, who passed away after an illness of less than a week, aged seventy-five years. Mr. and Mrs. Newcombe were spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Fred McGowan, of Lower Canard, when Mr. Newcombe became suddenly ill. Mr. Newcombe who married Miss George Miner, of Seale Bay, was interested in all that pertained to the good of the community. Besides his wife, three sons, Whitman, of Canning; Baxter, of Saskatoon; Walter, of Buctouche, N. B.; two daughters, Mrs. Fred McGowan, of Lower Canard, and one brother, John A. of Canning, survive him. A sister, Ruth predeceased him a week ago.

The funeral services were held from the home on Tuesday afternoon and conducted by the Rev. T. W. Hodgson, assisted by the Rev. H. Barber, a male choir furnishing the music. In spite of the very bad roads a large number attended. Interment was at Percus cemetery.

Hemmeon, of Wolfville were present, the former addressing the bride and groom in a happy manner, referring to their days at Acadia together, etc. Little Miss Hilda Bishop, daintily dressed in white, seated the bride with a handsome bouquet of twenty-five carnations and ferns as a slight token of friendship and affection. Refreshments were served during the evening and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present and all in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Bishop twenty-five years more of happy married life together.

Dr. H. K. MacDonell, of Halifax, a skilled and well known surgeon, who has interested friends in this community, generously offered, at a charge, for six months, of fifteen, the neediest families in the city, who are to be looked after during that time by the "Goodfellow Club". This is a noble work and offer on the part of any doctor.

Little Miss Pudgey is now ill with diphtheria. Her mother, her sister Ruth being loved.

WINDSOR DEFEATS KENTVILLE

In Opening Game of Valley Hockey League

Windsor, Jan. 1.—In one of the most interesting yet unsatisfactory games of hockey ever played in Windsor the Nova Scotia champions defeated the Kentville senior team in the opening game of the Valley League by a score of 7-6. Mayor Leale, of Kentville, officially opened the game by placing the puck between the sticks of the opposing centre players. From the face off, the play was in Windsor territory until the puck was placed neatly behind Smith for the first counter. S. MacDonald rushed but Walsh made a brilliant save, but later he succumbed to a quick shot of J. McDonald, who received a pass from Poole. Kentville retaliated soon after when W. Kennedy, who was playing a fine game, scored after a nice rush. Soon after Kentville again netted the rubber but Referee Smith would not allow it because it was scored while McCann was being penalized. There were three penalties this period, two to McCann and one to Leitch. Score stood 2 to 1 in favor of Kentville.

Kentville protested the decision given on third goal and Windsor allowed it. Shortly after the start of the second period, Kentville scored again, and was followed soon after by two goals from Windsor. Kentville scored again but on resuming play Captain Wigmore was hurt in a collision with Mosher. Kentville pressed but Smith made some fine stops. Windsor then took the offensive and scored two goals in quick succession, both being from rushes by S. MacDonald and E. Mosher. When Leale was hurt Wigmore resumed play. Score 6-5 in favor of Kentville.

The third period produced the best hockey of the night. Time after time the Windsor forwards came down the ice, but were only to be foiled by Walsh and Wigmore. J. McDonald was hurt but gamely stuck to it until the period ended by Mosher making a score. Score 6 to 6.

Referee Smith called the teams on the ice for overtime play, but Kentville refused to play. Cliff dropped the puck and McCann netted the rubber for the Windsor team. The game was full of excitement from start to finish, though some good hockey was in evidence. For the visitors

McCann were the pick of the team. The line-up was as follows:

Kentville—Walsh, goal; Wigmore, Leale, defense; Corbin, W. Kennedy, Bishop, forwards; Cook, Leitch, Kilcup, Webb, subs.

Windsor—G. Smith, goal; S. MacDonald, E. Mosher, defense; Poole, J. McDonald, V. McCann, forwards; R. Cochrane, J. Hughes, F. Clark, subs. C. K. Smith, referee.

CAMPAIGN TO AID BUSINESS

Pesticion merchants will probably be asked shortly to co-operate with the board of trade in staging a campaign to stimulate business. The matter was introduced at the board meeting on Tuesday night by Manager Dawson, of the P. Burns Co.

While the question has not yet been fully canvassed it is believed that the merchants will probably be willing to join with the board in staging a series of dollar days, or lines of goods upon which to offer special bargains. The sale day will then be advertised throughout the whole district and any one coming in on that occasion to shop will be means of a visit to all of the stores participating be able to purchase a wide range of goods at very attractive prices.—Pestiction (B. C.) Herald.

DEATH OF ESTEEMED CITIZEN

Dr. O. O. Gates Passed Away on Monday Night

Wolfville citizens in common with the Baptist denomination of the Maritime Provinces learned with sincere sorrow of the death of Rev. George O. O. Gates, D. D., which occurred at his home on Acadia street, this town, at midnight on the first day of 1923. One of the noblest men Dr. Gates was loved and beloved by all who had the privilege of his acquaintance.

Dr. Gates was a native of Melvern Square, Annapolis county, where he was born in 1847. He studied at Acadia University, graduating with the class of 1873. Entering the Baptist ministry his first pastorate was at Gasperau, where he won a high place in the hearts of the people.

He held successful pastorates at Moncton, St. John, Windsor and other places. He received the degree of Divinity from Acadia in 1869. In his retirement from active pastorate nine years ago, he has resided in Wolfville, where he has been a valued and upbuilder of community life.

Dr. Gates was a man of marked ability in his profession, an eloquent and able speaker, faithful and energetic in all his work. A man of unusually kind hearted. A man of whom he left the world a better place for his having lived.

He was survived by his widow who was Miss Cynthia Armstrong, of Wolfville, one sister, Mrs. Denton, of Amherst, and one brother, James A. of Middleton.

A funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon and was largely attended. A service at the home at 1.45 p. m. followed by a public service at the church. Rev. Dr. MacDonald officiated and delivered a most fitting eulogy.

Dr. Cohoon spoke of the college days of the departed from the standpoint of a student, and Rev. Dr. Manning made a most appreciative address on the life and work of the deceased.

His efforts in connection with the mission work of the church, and the work of the church, were highly appreciated. Mrs. Evelyn Duncan sang a solo which was appropriate to the occasion. The service was at Willow Bank.

TOURIST BUSINESS IS GOOD BUSINESS

More convincing figures to show the value of Canada's tourist business as a factor in the country's prosperity, have recently been given out by Hon. H. C. Biggs, Ontario's Minister of Public Works. He mentions a total of nearly 700,000 automobile touring parties as having entered Canada during the year and of these over 500,000 came into Ontario. Let us consider what this business means in dollars and cents.

Taking an average number of persons to each party it has been estimated that the 700,000 cars brought about 2,500,000 visitors into Canada. Experience shows that while they were in Canada these visitors spent about $7.50 per day and that 3 days is a conservative estimate of length of the visit. This figures out to a total of more than $56,000,000 of new money brought into the country, and this in a large degree paid as a return for service rather than goods or materials.

Canada is engaged in no better business than this.

With a national debt which makes it highly important that Canada should secure outside wealth, we should look and the investment of money left in the country by tourists. What is wanted is many visitors on protracted visits. Nature has supplied varied attractions. It is up to Canadians to supply the service which will do the rest—good hotels with reasonable rates, polite service in hostleries, stores and garages and prices which will leave a good impression—Financial Post.

Terrific storms have been the order during the past two weeks, at first from the north and east and then from the south. Trains were blocked by snow and were many hours late in some instances. Country roads were badly blocked and travel was difficult. On Monday of this week "the January thaw" began and the snow-banks rapidly diminished; only to be renewed by another heavy snowfall and gales yesterday and last night. Truly the present winter is a real old-fashioned one.

Every day and in every way the sidewalks in town are getting worse and worse.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

To Meet January Thirty-first

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—Parliament will be summoned to meet on Wednesday, January 31. Announcement to this effect was made by the Prime Minister this evening.

Indications at present are that the session will be a heavy one. There are a number of important matters which must be taken up this session and as the work proceeds it is inevitable that interesting and in some cases lengthy debates will be precipitated by resolutions placed on the order paper by private members.

The government has indicated that it proposes to bring down a re-distribution bill early in the session. This is necessary following the 1921 census and its passage will pave the way for dissolution at any time the government should consider the time ripe for going to the country.

Revision of the Bank Act due this year is expected to provide a great deal of work for the members of the House. This measure will, it is thought, receive particular attention at the hands of the Progressives who have a number of proposals that they intend to lay before the house.

CLINIC ITEMS

Child Welfare Clinic, Friday, Jan. 12, at Clinic Room, Weaver Block, Kentville.

The following were written by two children in a New York city school, where health lessons form an important part of the teaching:

Brown Bread
 My mother went shopping so I went with her. My mother bought white bread, so I said "Brown Bread is twice as healthy as white bread, because it is made of the whole wheat. Where they make white bread it is only made out of the inside of the wheat and they throw the outside away. The outside contains the most lime and iron."

The lime makes very good and strong teeth, and strong bones, and the iron makes good blood and strong muscles.

So my mother bought brown bread.

Vegetables
 All vegetables are good; green, fresh vegetables are best. Vegetables contain salts. Salts build bone and tissue. Vegetables contain iron. Iron is necessary for good blood. Good blood

THE SNOW PLOW

Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed over the manner in which the work was performed on the streets after the severe snow-storm of last week. The storm was a bad one and those who had charge of removing the accumulation of snow from the sidewalks had a difficult problem with which to deal. The usual mistake was made of deferring operations until the storm had subsided with the result that the snow had become so heavy that the plow had little effect upon it. In consequence of the traffic the snow in many places became firmly packed and the plow made bad work. In future the plow should be in operation at the beginning of the storm so that the snow would not be permitted to accumulate to such a depth. With a good team on each plow and a reasonable amount of intelligence displayed there should be no occasion for the conditions which now exist and are likely to prevail throughout the entire winter.

THE BY-ELECTIONS

The date for holding the three by-elections in Nova Scotia has been fixed for Jan. 23rd. These elections are on account of vacancies caused by the death of Hon. H. H. Wickwire, the appointment of Hon. Mr. Chisholm, of Antigonish, to the portfolio of Minister of Highways, and the resignation of Hon. R. E. Finn in Halifax. It is said there will be no opposition in Antigonish, but in Halifax where Hon. Mr. O'Hearn is the candidate, the seat is being contested by the Labor party's candidate, Mr. Healey. In this county the Liberals on Tuesday selected Mr. James Sealey, of Kentville, as their standard-bearer, while the Conservatives have so far taken no action.

WE ARE TAXED HEAVY

A citizen who has made a somewhat careful calculation estimates that the people of Wolfville are yearly contributing something over sixty thousand dollars in taxation to the federal, provincial, municipal and civic authorities. This amount seems pretty large for a small community and the wonder is that those who furnish the money do not take more interest in the matter of its expenditure. In most cases the items of personal expense are closely scanned but when it comes to the outlay of public funds we are all too prone to carelessness. When the people of this country get to the point where they realize their responsibility in public matters we will get better government.

POSTAGE RATES

With the post office department of this country proclaiming a substantial surplus there is apparently no good reason why there should not be an immediate return to the two cent letter rate of former years. The post office is not supposed to be a profit-making institution and the public would naturally welcome a relief from the additional postage made necessary during and after the war. In the United States the two cent rate was returned to almost immediately after the war ended. The people of Canada have done their full share in solving the difficult problems that have arisen since 1914 and are not unreasonable in their desire to get back to normal as soon as possible; and in the matter of letter postage there seems no excuse for further delay.

LIVING COSTS CHEAPER IN WEST

In former times the claim was frequently made that the cost of living in the East was much less than in the West. Because of this difference government officials received a special allowance if located in a western province. For the same reason wages were higher there than here. These conditions apparently no longer exist especially with regard to some lines of living expenses. We note from a British Columbia paper of recent date that in that province the choicest cuts of beef are selling at from fifteen to eighteen cents, while by the carcass dealers are charging eight and ten cents. A comparison of these figures with prices charged here will prove interesting food for thought.

PROPOSED TRICENTENARY (1623-1923) OF FIRST SCOT COLONY IN NOVA SCOTIA

Regarding the efforts being made in Halifax for a programme for the above celebration, great interest is already shown abroad. John Calder Gordon, formerly of Glasgow, Scotland, descended from Sir John Gordon of Paris, an original Baronet of Nova Scotia, writes the following letter to the Viscount de Fronsac from Boston, where he now resides being there the Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Good Government Clubs:

"Dear Viscount:
I have your kind letter of December 15th and am delighted to hear from you. I am sincerely interested to learn about your program for the Celebration next summer, and I do not have the slightest doubt but what, if the Celebration is carried out on a broad and comprehensive scale, so that it may appeal to that basic sentiment that is such a vital part of all the people of genuine Scottish blood, together with the ever present practical elements that must also be taken into consideration in such a proposal, then I am sure that there can be only one result—a splendid success.
I have already spoken to Col. Percy Guthrie and other leading Scots here, and they are all quite enthusiastic to see the celebration go through on a grand scale. I have never been, since I have known you, in a stronger position, to aid and co-operate with a proposition of this sort, as I am to-day. But the main thing for you and I to consider is to have a basic and practical understanding of just where we each fit in the scheme of arrangements, as we must see to it that we are adequately and properly compensated for our labor out of the various sources of revenue that will flow from the thousands of Tourists and others who will spend money for souvenirs, historical booklets, and other things. Have you considered the feasibility of arranging a grand pageant to take place? This I believe, might be worked up through a great publicity campaign, so that it would make a great hit. The Scottish Historical Society of North America, with its great influence will heartily co-operate with you and the College of Arms, the Provincial Government and the N. S. Historical Society in putting across a grand Celebration of this notable historical event.
I do not venture at this writing to outline a program in detail but am simply answering your letter inviting me to co-operate, in a general way. I believe that a great publicity campaign could be set in motion right after the New Year through the principal daily newspapers, in every large city in the United States. This event ought to give you an opportunity to collect some of your best historical articles and Reviews into a booklet or book to be sold at the time of the Celebration. As you know I have had long in preparation "The Scot in the Maritime Provinces and in New England" and will have it ready in time for the Celebration. More anon.

Yours Sincerely,
John C. Gordon, B. N. S."

(From The Financial Post)
Sir Henry Thornton says that he will keep politics out of the national railways, if he has to literally apply the boots to the politicians. Sir Henry is to be commended for the stand he has taken. Throughout Canada those who appreciate the terrific burden which the country is carrying in railway debt will hope for the best. But those who know the political game will realize that only a very strong man can defeat the insidious influences which will be at work.

Sir Henry is not the first man to talk of keeping the railways out of politics. No one could have given stronger assurances on this point than the present minister of railways. And yet at the Montreal banquet, where the new president of the Nationals stated his stand, Sir Joseph Flavelle—always the business man and never the politician—declared that he had seen no evidence of the practical application of the policy which the Hon. Mr. Kennedy so strongly advocated. He said:

"The Honorable Mr. Kennedy, the Minister of Railways, had this to say in Parliament during its last session, in reference to the responsibility and authority to be vested in the board administering the affairs of the National railway system. I quote his words:

"We will place them in the hands of men who as regards the component parts of the system, will administer them without fear or favor, without thought of politics, and in the general interest."

"It is the intention of the government," he continued, "that the board in the exercise of its several duties and functions shall be free from interference, political or otherwise."

The most critical will accept this declaration of government policy as satisfactory. But frankly, I have seen little evidence of its observance. I wonder if it can be observed in the form stated."

Even since the appointment of the new president of the Nationals, these have been mutterings which would indicate that the idea of keeping the government railways out of politics is not by any means an unanimous one at Ottawa.

If the government is sincere it will give supporters in the house and the public to understand that the National board is responsible for the administration of the properties and that petitions and delegations relating to railway matters will be referred to the board for action; it will give opposition members to understand the same thing.

If Sir Henry Thornton is allowed to handle the National railways in an efficient, business-like manner, he will bring a measure of relief to every taxpayer in Canada, and do much to make Canada a cheaper and more attractive country to live in. In his efforts he should be backed by a robust public opinion making itself felt in the support of the government, against the activities of designing politicians, and in condemnation of a government which will yield to sectional demands as against sound and efficient administration by the National board.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would 'send me up in the air.' If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ill."
Mr. J. H. Mc. C. Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

W. C. T. U. WORK IN DIFFERENT LANDS

Mexico

Our Miss Gordon has just returned to Evanston from a most satisfactory visit to Mexico. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has been reorganized with Senorita Ernestina Alvarado, as President.

The Senorita is a gifted Mexican who has studied in the United States; with a passion to serve her people.

Miss Gordon writes as follows regarding one very interesting incident:

At picturesque Pachuca, a large gold and silver mining town, the General Conference, in charge of Bishop Thirkield, was a revelation of the rich fruits of Christian faith and work. The Bishop generously gave me an opportunity to present our program. Here I met Dr. Levi Salmans, of Guanajuato, always a staunch friend of the temperance cause, and the compiler of a book of temperance songs, widely used throughout Mexico. Here also were assembled elect women from the leading schools of Methodism. It was a high privilege to come in close touch with these gifted women missionaries and teachers.

Italy

The Abbe Don Brizio and Dr. Ferrari on Nov. 22nd, addressed a most representative meeting at Mme. Camperio's (Milan). Meetings were arranged in the schools, colleges, and amongst the soldiers. Miss Linda Gilardoni was elected secretary. Madame Camperio writes me that good results are expected from the excellent program arranged for this winter.

Belgium

Brussels White Ribboners arranged a deputation to wait on the Leader of the Schools to ask permission to send doctors to lecture in the schools on scientific temperance, to be illustrated by lantern slides. Madame Jacmain has generously bought a lantern for the use of the Union.

"I believe that we will have prohibition in England in ten years," said Miss Agnes Slack, secretary of the World's W. C. T. U., and acting vice-president of the British Women's Temperance Association.

FRUITS AS MEDICINE

It is rather strange how few people know the medicinal value of our common fruits and vegetables. What a pity more fruits and fruit juices are not used, instead of the drugs and patent medicines! We find in the humble and much maligned prune one of the best, safest and most pleasant cathartics there is to be had. Nothing, excepting, possibly, pineapple juice, is more soothing to sore and inflamed throats than the juice of canned pears. For the parched conditions of tonsillitis, try slowly swallowing a spoonful of pear juice. It gives instant relief, but must be repeated as often as the throat becomes dry. For a common case of sore throat, pineapple juice is an excellent remedy in itself. Just eating a raw pineapple without sugar is a great aid to digestion.

CHRISTMAS DAY AT THE SANATORIUM, KENTVILLE

The Day was observed at the Sanatorium in the beautiful way that has obtained for some years, the arrangements being, if possible, even more effective than in former years.

In the Infirmary, when patients awoke in the morning, they discovered that a gay Christmas Tree had appeared on each porch while they slept, and a well-filled stocking at the bedside of each patient.

Pavilion patients received at breakfast time, each one a parcel containing a gift and sweets.

After breakfast, Santa Claus himself (with a voice like that of Mr. Howe of the Y. M. C. A.) made rounds in the Infirmary, distributing a parcel to each patient, and creating much glee, both there and in the pavilions which he next visited.

At 10.30, in the Recreation Hall, a religious service was held by Rev. Mr. Layton, of Kentville, assisted by the choir of the Presbyterian Church. From there the choir, joined by the Sanatorium choir and most of the Staff and patients, went to the Infirmary, where, led by a cornetist, they marched through the corridors singing Christmas carols, to the enjoyment of the bed-patients listening from open doors.

During the day, sounds of merriment and music, the excitement of opening parcels from home, the visiting about the institution gave the place a true holiday air. Routine and rules were set aside for the day. In the afternoon the nurses held a reception for the patients in the Nurses' Home, which was gaily decorated, and with its log-fire in the living-room, gave home-like expression to the Christmas spirit.

The event of the day, the Christmas dinner, came at 6.30. The large, pillared Dining-hall, festooned with heavy spruce garlands, hung with wreaths and splendidly illuminated with coloured lights, a huge Christmas Tree in the centre, made a lovely setting for the truly brilliant picture presented by twenty-eight round tables, with bright red centre-pieces, and twenty waitresses in white, with gay red caps and aprons, moving in perfect order about the service which, it must be said, was flawless in every detail. The "classical" Christmas Menu was printed on pretty souvenir cards. Over two hundred persons sat down to dinner, the Sanatorium orchestra playing throughout the meal.

After dinner there was a program of music, violin and vocal numbers, with several readings, and a ringing chorus or two by the assembled company. Dr. Bayne made a brief speech of thanks, expressing the general and keen appreciation of the kindness of those who sent gifts, either money or other (all of which have been acknowledged by personal letters) and praise of the zeal and efficiency shown by the Staff in their preparations for this occasion. Matron MacDonnell was untiring in her attention to the details of gift distribution and supervising the construction of decorations. Miss Todd is to be congratulated upon the excellency of the work in the Diethian's department, of which she is the head. Mr. Munro and the Staff lent valuable aid in getting decorative effects, while Capt. Holland of the D. S. C. R. did indispensable work in his Department. Several weeks of hard work go to the making of such a celebration as this, and all of the workers share it willingly.

The following telegram was received from the Superintendent, Dr. Miller, who is in British Columbia, and whose accustomed presence was much missed:—"Owing to the serious illness of a brother, I am, for the first time in many years, unable to spend Christmas at the Sanatorium. However, I assure you that my thoughts are with you to-day. Let me wish you a Merry Christmas and express the hope that the New Year will bring you health and happiness."

KEEP THE STREETS TIDY

A paragraph has been going the round of a certain number of papers to the effect that a party of American tourists were promenading on a Parisian boulevard the other day, eating a popular confection which comes wrapped in paper. One, having finished the delicacy, threw the bit of paper away. A moment later he was tapped on the shoulder and turned to confront a smiling gendarme. The officer pointed to the paper on the sidewalk and suggested by signs that it be picked up. This the shamefaced visitor did. The officer then politely escorted the visitor to a nearby receptacle for rubbish where the wrapper was deposited, whereupon the minion of the law bowed low and departed.

The David Thompson Memorial

(1) David Thompson Memorial and Kootenay Indian camp, Lake Windermere, B.C.
(2) Kootenay Indians in the war canoe which won the race against the white settlers at the David Thompson Memorial celebrations at Lake Windermere, B.C.
(3) A Hudson Bay factor leading Indians into the David Thompson Memorial Fort, during the historical pageant at Lake Windermere.

ON the shores of Lake Windermere, British Columbia, were transpired recently an event which will be incorporated in the history of Canada. This was the dedication of a Memorial Fort erected to David Thompson, Canada's greatest geographer and surveyor.

The Fort, which is the largest log building in Canada, was erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Hudson's Bay Company, and it will be used in future as a museum.

With faces painted in the brightest hues, and attired in colorful tribal costumes, Indians from the Kootenay and Shuswap reserves were the principal attractions at this inspiring event. Their teepees were pitched on the top of the hill surrounding the Fort. As dusk fell they lit camp fires and soon the visitors from Eastern and Western Canada and the United States were entertained with music supplied by the tom-tom augmented by the husky voices of the boys.

The Indians had gathered to do honor to Canada's greatest surveyor who landed on the shore of Lake Windermere in 1807 and for this event they brought with them their finest costumes. Beds in rainbow shades, combined with Elk's teeth and vari-colored feathers were the "materials" used for the attractive garbs of the squaw. Gaily colored shawls and skirts brought to mind that one need not travel to world-famous fashion centres to obtain ideas for daring floor schemes. Each child and wee spouse was arrayed in its tribal costumes with beadwork of dazzling beauty. When an Indian tribe packs its teepees and moves it is always accompanied by the "Medicine Man." He is regarded by his fellows as gifted with rare talents. The "Medicine Man" of the Kootenay tribe was, perhaps, the most picturesque figure of the pageant. His costume was most colorful and his address was unique.

Both the Indians and the white settlers entered into the spirit of the event with keen interest and

BAND FURNISHES FINE MUSIC

In spite of the bad weather conditions on New Years night there was a good number at the rink to hear the Wolfville band, and all were loud in their praise of the splendid music furnished. The band has been organized only a few months ago in that time has made splendid progress under the efficient leadership of Mr. H. W. Phinney who is to be congratulated on the showing made Monday night. Only about half the band were at the rink, there being about thirty-two altogether in the band. If they continue to improve during the next few months like they have so far, the people of Wolfville and vicinity can be assured of some fine music this coming summer.

HEARD BY WIRELESS

Among those in Wolfville who have installed radio sets and receive interesting wireless messages from all over the continent is Mr. Waldo B. Davidson, one of the publishers of this paper. Mr. Davidson himself constructed and installed his equipment and has so far distinctly received messages from seventeen stations in different parts of Canada and the United States, the most distant being in Chicago.

Last Sunday evening he listened to a Watch-night service given by the First Methodist Episcopal church at Schenectady, N. Y. This service lasted for three hours and the program, which included organ and vocal music, addresses, etc., was most interesting. A feature that was of especial interest to Wolfville people was the prayer of Rev. Gordon Baker, pastor of the First Baptist church of Schenectady, every word of which was heard distinctly and recognised by at least one of his old friends of college days. Rev. Mr. Baker is a Nova Scotian and a graduate of Acadia in the class of 1904.

On Monday morning before a fair number of spectators the Junior Canning Beavers defeated the Wolfville Taxis in an exhibition game of hockey here, by scoring 5 goals to their opponents 4. The playing was good, though the ice was only fair and despite their defeat the local boys showed up to good advantage.

QUEBEC GETTING GOOD ROADS AT LOW COST

Montreal.—The importance of good highways is appreciated thoroughly by the Minister of Highways, Hon. J. L. Perron, K. C., and by the legislative council. An extensive policy of good road making has been arranged and the eight hundred miles of provincial trunk roads will have been increased to 2,208 miles by the end of this year. Altogether forty-one roads have been taken over by the government and will be maintained, the cost of which within two years will amount to about $1,000,000 a year. The minister declared, however, that while Quebec was leading the other provinces in regard to highways, good roads in this province cost much less than others. The province of Ontario, he said, paid on an average of $23,700 for its good roads and paid as high as $2,400,000 for thirty-seven miles of highway between Toronto and Hamilton. In Quebec good roads cost $10,354; and in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick $11,800 per mile.

"At times," said the girl, "you seem to be manly enough, and then at other times you're absurdly effeminate. Why on earth is it?"

"Er—ah—heredity," he answered.

"Heredity?"

"Yes. You see, half my ancestors were men and the other half women."

In utter dejection they gazed upon the smouldering ruins, this grey haired, feeble old couple, while great tears dimmed their vision.

Gone, gone were the savings of a lifetime, gone was all their hope for a comfortable old age.

But, worst of all, gone were the hundreds of dollars paid for Insurance, paid for a Policy which did not protect.

Sadly they turned and wended their way over the hills to the Poor House.

Now is the winter of our discontent. The first game in the western section of the Valley Hockey League was played at Bridgetown on Wednesday when the home team defeated Digby by the score of 6 to 2.

The death occurred at Bridgetown last Friday of Hugh Grey Bauld, third son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bauld, of Halifax, and a brother of Mr. G. S. Bauld, of Wolfville.

The Sunday School of the Baptist Church held its Christmas exercises on Thursday evening of last week. An excellent programme was furnished, as well as a brightly lighted tree laden with gifts of candy and fruit. The pastor of the church and the superintendent of the school each received a turkey of generous proportions, accompanied by an original rhyme which lent gaiety to the occasion.

When you buy a pound of MORSE'S tea you are always sure of getting full 16 ounces of good tea. There is no chance for any error on this point, because each package of MORSE'S is weighed by automatic electric machinery in the process of packing. And not only do you get full weight. You also get the fullest measure of quality. Remember this too! The cheapest MORSE'S tea makes 240 cups to the pound.

The annual Sunday School Christmas tree was in place in the School Room of the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening of last week. The night was stormy but there was warmth and good cheer within and the children gathered in goodly numbers. A short program of music, recitations and songs was carried out, the tree was stripped and its burden of candy, oranges and other gifts distributed among the children.

Coming Events

Owing to the storm last evening the regular meeting of the V. O. N. was postponed until next Thursday evening at 8.30 o'clock, at the Town Hall.

Mr. Henry T. Lamb, of Dorchester, Mass., announces the engagement of his daughter, Clara Florence, to Mr. Harlan P. Davidson, of Wolfville, N. S. Marriage to take place in February.

The Annual Meeting of the Kings County Farmers' Association will be held in the Town Hall, Kentville, on Friday, January 12th., at 2 p. m. In addition to the regular business the meeting will be especially favored by an address from Mr. F. W. Walsh, of the Federal Live-stock Branch. All are invited.

THE SMALL TOWN

Each week, a leading Toronto paper carries a full page of advertisements in which Toronto merchants offer for sale by mail special articles such as violins, furs, dress-goods, blankets, men's furnishings, etc. It is another attempt to draw money by mail from the small town to the city, it is another attempt to build up the city at the expense of small town and country. And that it will succeed in accomplishing its purpose is a forgone conclusion. There is always the short sighted person who for the sake of a few cents will buy by mail forgetting that every dollar spent in the home stores means better times for all in the town. To offset this campaign, the small town merchant must advertise his own wares and his own prices. If the buyer can learn the price while seated in the home, he or she will buy in nine cases out of ten. This is the charm of the city advertisement, you know just exactly how much you have to pay before you make up your mind to make a purchase.—Pictou Advocate.

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN PRICE OF NEWSPRINT

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—Commencing Monday, January 1st, both The Ottawa Journal and The Ottawa Citizen will increase the sale price of their paper 1 cent a copy. This has been made necessary by a further increase in newsprint, which goes into effect at the beginning of the New Year, and also the fact that commencing with 1923 the full effect of increased postal charges introduced in 1922 must be met.

There are indications that there will be a second advance in newsprint in 1923, probably about the middle of the year.

"The 'drive to the right' rule has met with a complete success according to communication received from various parts of the province of New Brunswick. No accidents are reported and confidence is expressed that there never will be any accidents due to the change. An important result of the change will be increased United States tourist traffic.

LOOKING FORWARD

What shall we do with the year that is here? More than we've done with the year that is past? Shall we rejoice as our faults disappear? Shall we draw nearer perfection at last? Good resolutions don't always avail. Though when we make them we think we're sincere. Often we've tried them, only to fail. How will it be in the year that is here? How will it be in the year that is here? Shall we get nearer perfection at last? Shall we in virtuous ways persevere? More than we've done in the years that are past? We mean to walk in the straight, narrow way. But there's the Devil! Will he in ere-fer? Often, how often! he's led us astray—How will it be in the year that is here?

BOOK REVIEW

Some of our Canadian authors are beginning to write exceedingly well. Often I wonder if a genius may not be among them, a genius of that universal rank that will be known to posterity as having moulded his age rather than cast himself with his materials into the mould his age prepared for him. A few weeks ago we reviewed "The Ninth Vibration", by L. Adams Beck, and now we have another novel by the same gifted author, "The Key of Dreams", a romance of the Orient like its predecessor, and a work of unusual genius. Mr. Beck is a Canadian, but he has evidently travelled much, and the East has cast over him its mystic spell. Our novelists are many; they have virile and fascinating pens, but I know of no other save L. Adams Beck who has actually caught the spirit of the Far East and given it to us through the medium of romance. And such romance! The subtle fragrance of unseen worlds seems wafted athwart the lives of the men and women he tells us about in "The Key of Dreams". They are perfectly human, but without seeming effort they escape the commonplace. Though the novel is essentially a love story the part that will longest stay in the reader's memory is the description of the life in a Buddhist monastery, and the deep peace that abides in the place where men have chosen to walk in the Eightfold Path. The hero is a good fellow, none the less practical for his deep idealism. We have to forgive him for a somewhat ill considered love affair before he finds the one being eternity had intended for him. Very subtly and with full use of suggestions does the writer indicate the mystic bond between the lovers. One feels in reading this book that the author's reaction to life is both sensuous and ascetic. The hero is sinful, well meaning and magnanimous; the heroine is proud and good, but by this reviewer at least the most beloved of the characters is the Buddhist priest Haridas. We know Robert W. Service rather better by his poetry than by his prose, but nevertheless he has written fiction that finds many eager readers. His latest novel, a story of Monte Carlo, is entitled "The Poisoned Paradise". The psychology of the gambler Robert W. Service understands, I suppose, as well as any man living. Monte Carlo is perhaps the most frankly wicked place in the civilised world, but I can imagine the writer spending the winter there and coming away without spot or blemish. For Mr. Service is not an unbalanced young man going to Monte Carlo to enjoy the sensation of being wicked, pleasant as that sensation may be; he is there as a sane and very live writer to observe and record what he sees. Therefore the description of scenes in the roulette rooms at Monte Carlo have all the verisimilitude of bona fide reports by an eye witness and at the same time all the vivid interest that can be imparted by a writer of thrilling tales. There are one or two breathless chapters that remind one of Robert Louis Stevenson. Do not be afraid of this book; if Mr. Service takes you into a world, essentially wicked he takes you by the cleanest paths and leads you safely out again. "The Poisoned Paradise" contains a love story, a whole some and inspiring one. "The Ballad of the Quest" is the title of a charming little book by Virna Sheard. If there is nothing that is especially distinctive about this writer's poetry there is nevertheless no lack of charm. Her touch is sure, graceful and delicate. Lawren Harris is an artist as well as a poet. He has himself illustrated in black and white his new book of poems entitled "Contrasts". To the reviewer the illustrations are as suggestive as the verse. Both are daring, careless, free. "The Twenty-First Burr", by Victor Lauriston, is a cleverly written detective story. Adam Winright was dead. He had summoned his daughter home from Europe, confessing to a premonition of his approaching death, but she arrived just ten minutes too late. There was no sign of struggle. Was it heart disease? The physician had examined him a short time before and had found him "sound as a bell". His daughter noticed a tiny scratch on one hand. Then follows the long search for a clue to the cause of Winright's death. The professional detective is foiled but Glory Adair, a trained nurse, takes it upon herself to unravel the mystery and succeeds in doing so. No one who reads this story will be able to question the author's consummate skill in the construction of plot. "The King's Arrow", by H. A. Cody, is a tale of the United Empire Loyalists who settled near the St. John River in 1783. It is crowded with adventure colorful and romantic. The hero, strong, lithe and determined, is called "The King's Arrow" by the colonists. He brings timely aid to the heroine when she is in distress, and finally wins her for his wife, as, indeed, he deserves to do. Rev. H. A. Cody is a descendant of the New Brunswick Loyalists, and he is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of our country's romantic past. We human beings seldom confess to one another that our chief aim is happiness. Is it because the prevailing moral and social unrest makes us ashamed to do so? Will one man dare proclaim that he intends to be happy unless he is prepared to make his neighbours happy too? Professor J. W. Macmillan, of the Department of Sociology, Victoria College, Toronto, has written a most sane and helpful series of essays, practical counsels on life problems, and has named his book, "Happiness and Goodwill". While his grasp of the subject is that of a man of the world, well versed in social psychology, he continually draws his inferences from the life and teachings of the Christ of Nazareth. The title of the last essay in the series is "The Modernity of Jesus". This book is one that should have a wide popular appeal. All the books on the above list are published by McClelland & Stewart, Toronto. Mary Kinley Ingraham THE VALUE OF NIGHT AIR The time of the year has arrived when the so-called "cold-blooded" members of the community spend the most of their time hugging the fire, or radiator, as the case may be. It is also the time when the time-worn advice to keep the window open and to look after the proper ventilation of the home and office is in order. Here is what one paper says: "One of the most persistent theories is that about the 'cold damp night air' being injurious to health. As a result of this foolish notion thousands sleep in tightly shut bedrooms breathing over and over again vitiated air and as a result we have colds and other ills. "The question might well be asked, what are we to breathe at night if not 'night air'? But night air has been found to be purer than the air we breathe during the daylight hours. At night the activities of the world are largely at a standstill, and there is less dirt in the atmosphere. Science has demonstrated that night air is purest, but the old notion persists among many people. "In summer the matter is not so serious, but in winter time thousands and thousands almost hermetically seal their houses and emerge in the spring like bears. Is it any wonder they suffer from colds and other ills? "Pure fresh air is one of God's greatest gifts. It is most essential to health, and much more attention should be paid to it in school and church and theatre as well as in homes and offices. Let in the pure fresh air—both by day and night."

The Movie and The Rockies

WHILE acting as special investigator for the Canadian Government, James Oliver Curwood became enamoured of Nature's wonderland in the Canadian Rocky mountains and made it the scene of many of his stories. "The Valley of Silent Men," that little Eden of the North, over which three snow-capped sentinel mountains keep perpetual ward, was no myth. Mr. Curwood simply claimed it by romancer's right, and blazed the way to it over the trail taken by his heroine, the little Canadiane, Marrette, and the gallant Corporal James Ken, of the Royal Mounted Police. But with all his skill as a word-painter, Mr. Curwood could only indicate the natural beauties of this Paradise. Even the "still" camera and the painter's canvas can capture only isolated bits of natural beauty which seem so remote that the spectator can hardly realize their truth. But now the motion pictures have followed Mr. Curwood's trail, and in filming "The Valley of Silent Men" amidst the very scenes which the author described in his thrilling romance, will bring home to millions of screen devotees the natural wonders of the Canadian Pacific Rockies. Cosmopolitan Productions on acquiring the motion-picture rights to "The Valley of Silent Men", sent a company up into the mountains early last spring. For twelve weeks they camped and took pictures about Banff and Lake Louise, and the camera caught that miracle of nature—the coming of spring in the snowy wilderness. Frank Borzage, celebrated as the director of "Humoresque" and other successful Cosmopolitan productions, captained the company—which was headed by Miss Alma Rubens, as the heroine, Marrette, and Lew Cody, as the gallant corporal of the Royal Mounted. Edward Fern, the veteran guide, plotted the daring picture peep through dangerous passes, while in

The upper picture is Alma Rubens, who plays the part of "Marrette" in "The Valley of Silent Men," and a dog team in the Canadian Rockies at Banff, Alberta, last spring. The lower picture is a glimpse of the encampment of Stoney Indians near Banff, Alberta. An excellent moving-picture of the Canadian Rockies. It took a long time to find just the right place in which to film this thrilling story. In the first place the scenery had to conform to the author's description, and after that it had to be far and away out of the run of ordinary mountain scenery. It had to be on a scale of grandeur and interest that would help make the film remarkable. Then too, it had to be accessible. The Canadian Pacific Rockies in the vicinity of Banff and Lake Louise filled all these requirements, and further provided the very best possible accommodation for the members of the company at the Banff Springs Hotel, and the Lake Louise Chateau, both in very easy distance of the mountains. The scenery photographed in this film.

STATIONARY SPRAY OUTFITS A SUCCESS

The stationary, or pipeline, spray rig has apparently come to stay says a Washington state fruit publication. A large number of these outfits were installed this year and where they were properly rigged up and used at the right time to control the worms wonderfully successful results have been obtained.

Among the advantages claimed for the stationary outfits over the portable spray rigs are the following:

The soil and cover crop are never disturbed during the entire season. Irrigation ditches are not destroyed and the soil because of its looseness takes water much more readily.

One may take advantage of weather conditions, spraying early in the morning or late in the evening to avoid strong winds.

More uniform pressure may be obtained on account of less vibration and disturbance to the engine furnishing the power.

Any portion of the orchard may be sprayed at any time without disturbing other portions in getting the spray material to the trees where needed. Pests in local areas may be given special sprays if necessary by simply piping to the trees where most needed.

Spraying is much more rapid where the pipeline outfit is used. One man will do half as much in a day as three men and a team with the old outfit.

Late sprays where necessary may be applied after props are put in the orchard. This may be done without bruising apples after trees have begun to come down with their loads.

The cost of the pipeline outfit for a ten-acre tract is no greater than is the cost of the old style sprayer if the team harness, etc., is included in the cost.

Many of those who have tried both systems claim that they would never consider going back to the old system. There are stationary rigs in which the spray material is being piped one thousand feet and but slight, if any, loss of pressure from friction is noted. Most of the outfits are piped with inch mains and three-quarter inch lateral pipes. Some rigs consist of spray outfits which were formerly hauled through the orchard. These are left standing at the filling station and the pipes are run from these. Other outfits are special stationary rigs with concrete mixing tanks, the pumps are either motor or gas engine driven. All outfits are recommended as good and far superior to the old outfits.

BRITISH COLUMBIA COMPARED WITH NOVA SCOTIA

A writer born in Nova Scotia now in British Columbia in comparing the Province on the Pacific Coast with that lashed by the waves of the Atlantic refers to the latter in a somewhat optimistic vein:

The weather continues very mild for this time of year even for Vancouver. The flowers are still blooming and the days are usually fine. Some people think if we had more rainy weather it would be healthier. The rain seems to clear the air and there is so very little wind it needs something of that nature to purify things. There was a little snow on the top of the mountains last week but it has gone now so I suppose it must be warmer up there too as well as in the valley.

The people here all seem to be optimistic about the future of Vancouver and I have no doubt this will be a great city for it is practically the only port on the Pacific that is likely to amount to anything. Prince Rupert has certain advantages so far as the fish trade is concerned. In my opinion it has seen its best days and so far as location goes it cannot compare with Vancouver. Every man has a right to form his own judgement. So far, however, as I have seen British Columbia I do not think it can ever vie with the East. It is a country with magnificent scenery. It abounds in fruit and vegetables but they do not compare with the products of the East. A Gravenstein apple grown here lacks the flavor of one grown in the Annapolis Valley. The only apple grown here that can compare with Nova Scotia fruit is what is called the McIntosh Red and that is an improved edition of the Astrachan. It will never be an export apple in my judgement for it lacks the staying qualities needed.

The natural advantages of the Annapolis Valley are to be recommended. There is another thing to be borne in mind in connection with British Columbia in regard to farming, fruit-growing and fishing, the fear of oriental competition. The fish industry is largely in the hands of the Japanese and farming with the Chinese. What the Maritime Provinces I think need is more consolidation. They will have to make their own markets. Why should not Nova Scotia with more activity, energy and enterprise become one of the leading Provinces of the Dominion.

PRINTING AND CIVILIZATION

"Printing confers such a benefit on mankind by its dissemination of religious, scientific, and artistic knowledge that it might well be termed the linchpin of civilization," said the Duke of York at the 96th anniversary dinner of the Printers' Pension Corporation in the Connaught Rooms, London.

It is an arresting and interesting statement.

Since 1440, when John Gutenberg of Strasburg, invented the art of printing perhaps none has made greater progress and excelled in invaluable service.

In one branch—the newspaper—the facility, the labor saving, and the expedition, are complete, and seem to be perfect. Although perfection is not the last word to be used in any department of knowledge and skill, "progress being the law of man, and has been since time began."

What the world would be without a newspaper it is hard to say. This can be said: the loss in so many directions it is hard to realize or compute; for worldwide interests are made at command, and a large enlightenment afforded. Being a general educator, the Press supplies a want, fills the place of incalculable value—the preacher's other voice; the merchant's messenger; and the people's faithful servant.

THE DEPARTURE OF ERIN

John Bull (to Erin) Well, good-bye Erin: and I hope you'll be happy with him. —From London Opinion.

PORT WILLIAMS HAPPENINGS

The Misses Cassie Faulkner and Lucy Cogswell, also Messrs. Lloyd Jess, Harold Chipman, Jack Zwicker and Roy Faulkner have returned to Wolfville, after their Christmas vacation, to resume their studies at Acadia.

Messrs. Donald Ellis and Robert Chase have returned to Truro to again take up their studies on agriculture.

Miss Mary Vaughan, who has been spending her Christmas vacation at home, returns to Mt. Allison on Monday, Jan. 8th.

Mrs. O. G. Cogswell entertained the members of her Sunday School class (the Delta Alphas), also the Crusaders Sunday school class (Tuxis Boys) on Tuesday evening, Jan. 2. A very pleasant evening was spent with games, readings, vocal and instrumental music.

Mrs. Silas L. Gates, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Howard C. Burbridge, of Canard, leaves this morning (Jan. 5th) for Boston, where they will visit Mrs. Gates' sister, Mrs. Nichols.

Several of the residents of Port Williams attended the funeral in Wolfville of the late Dr. G. O. Gates. Dr. Gates will be remembered here with love and reverence as a pastor who supplied this church previous to the coming of our present pastor, Rev. O. N. Chipman.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in Citizen's Hall at the appointed hour on Jan. 11th. One item on the program will be an address given by Rev. Mr. Logan, of Upper Canard, subject "Problems in the Near East".

Miss Marjorie Weaver has returned home after spending several days at Kentville and Canning.

Little Miss Donald Harvey is visiting in Halifax, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Paul Mosher.

Messrs. Robert Watson, Ira Gates and Norman Chase left for Quebec on Wednesday to work at their trade (engineering). This is the third year these men have made this trip, each time making good.

Mr. Gordon Thompson, of St. John, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson.

The Port Williams open air rink is being well patronized this winter. The ice has been in fine condition, barring a very heavy thaw and the people, both young and old, appreciate the work of Mr. Ralph Smith, who has charge of the rink this winter.

Rev. O. N. Chipman gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on "India and Bolivia", illustrated with stereopticon views, in the vestry of the Baptist church on Wednesday evening, Jan. 3rd.

An attempt is being made to re-open the "Lily of the Valley" Division, No. 440, which has been dormant so far this winter, on Monday evening, Jan. 8th. All the members are asked to attend that the work may begin at once.

ROCKED TO SLEEP

An old darkey went to the judge and wanted to have his wife arrested for rocking him to sleep.

"Why man, said the judge, "you can't have your wife arrested for rocking you to sleep!"

"That's all right, judge," replied the darkey, "but you should have seen the rock."

GREETINGS

To its many readers at Port Williams and vicinity the Port Williams Acadian extends the very best of wishes for the New Year upon which we have entered. It also takes this opportunity to invite the co-operation of all in the effort to make this department of the paper interesting and profitable to all members of its constituency. We are pleased with the success that has attended our venture so far and anticipate a still larger measure in the New Year.

THE SIGNATURE THAT CAN'T BE READ

I am a signature. The man who placed me on this letter is proud of the fact that no one knows what I am.

People pore over me and wonder, and some of them swear, so that if I had ears, I would close them. Long since I gave up hope. Never will I be read.

When the man who appears to be so proud of me was a small boy, he began to write me with an egotistical flourish of his pen, and while he wrote some things well, he wrote me badly—and worse and worse.

I was hopeful then. I told myself that he would wake up, sometime, and learn that a signature is made to read—but that hope died a-borning.

How I have wished that the boss would at least have his blonde stenographer write me on the letters.

When she does, she does me better, and I'm willing enough to forget about him.

Or, I wish he'd have her print, on the typewriter, what I stand for, over in the left hand corner of the letter.

Out of the corner of my eye, I can't dotted, but 'tis there) I see men read the letter that I'm on and seem pleased.

Then they come to me, and they are mad as wet hens and when the boss is trying to sell them something they get so frothy that they throw me and the letter into the waste-basket.

I am the signature that no one can read!

I was born of conceit and have been nurtured upon careless disregard for the time of others.

Do not blame me. Blame the man who writes me!—Author Unknown.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The best way to clean kid gloves: Stretch glove on hand and rub it with a little powdered soap on a piece of moist flannel; rub dry with a piece of dry flannel.

To remove grease spots from a silk dress, lay the spot over a clean cloth on the ironing board or table. Cover thickly with powdered French chalk and a clean blotter. Press a warm iron over the spot, repeating the process.

Cleanse the air of bad odors by placing bowls of cold water around the room.

Never throw away left-over pieces of cheese, no matter how hard. Throw them into a pot of boiling vegetable soup, with a few celery seeds. It flavors the soup "just right."

The juice from canned fruit, thickened with cornstarch and made tart with lemon juice, makes a nice dessert for the children.

DON'T TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO BED

You may labor your fill, friend of mine, if you will.

You may worry a bit if you must; You may treat your affairs as a series of cares,

You may live on a scrap and a crust; But when the day's done, put it out of your head;

Don't take your troubles to bed.

You may batter your way through the thick of the fray;

You may sweat, you may swear, you may grunt;

You may be a jack-fool if you must, but this rule

Should ever be kept at the front: Don't fight with your pillow, but lay down your head.

And kick every worriment out of the bed.

That friend or that foe (which he is I don't know),

Whose name we have spoken as Death, Hovers close to your side while you run or you ride;

And he envies the warmth of your breath,

But he turns him away with a shake of the head,

When he finds that you don't take your troubles to bed.

The man who makes mistakes and manages so that the other fellow pays for them does not need praying for.

THIS ONE FROM ENGLAND

Magistrate (severely)—Horsewhipping is the only suitable punishment for you and your kind. The idea of a man of your size beating a poor, weak woman like that!

Prisoner—But, your worship, she keeps irritating and irritating me all the time.

Magistrate—How does she irritate you?

Prisoner—Why, she keeps saying, "Hit me! Beat me! Just hit me one and I'll have you haled before that bald-headed old reprobate of a magistrate and see what he'll do with you."

Magistrate (choking)—Discharged.

If you stop to think of it, you will realize that the city man and woman are far more concerned with what happens to the forest than the farmer or the mountaineer. It will be the city people, not those who live under the shadow of the trees, whose standard of living will first suffer from the lack of wood. It takes more wood, used in more ways, to feed, clothe, and house the city dweller than those who live where the food and the lumber come from. For after the raw material is produced it must be shipped, manufactured, and distributed, and all these are impossible without wood.

Bobby's father had a front tooth knocked out in an accident. The first time he noticed it the boy called out: "Daddy, you don't look nice wiv your teef parted in the middle!"
