ALL FOR LOVE.

CHAPTER VIII.
LADY BETH'S SECRET LOVE.

During the ensuing week, Mr. Russell met Philip in Boston, as they had agreed. He showed marked improvement during even the few intervening days, and was full of enthusiasm in view of his brightened prospects and the hope of getting once more into active business. Philip had taken a room for him adjoining his own at Young's Hotel, and here they matured their plans and then proceeded at once to carry them out.

Both Mr. Russell and Miss Prue had written Beth of Philip's visit to them, and of his business proposition to her father, speaking of him in terms of highest praise and expressions of profound gratitude for his generous aid at this critical time. Miss Prue particularly dilated upon the attractions of the young man, upon his splendid physique, his fine face, his noble bearing and cultured manners, and, above all, upon his almost filial sympathy with her brother in his recent trials.

Beth began to be a little ashamed of herself for her cowardice in running away from him, and regretted, now that it was too late, that she had not braved the meeting which she knew must come, sooner or later, now that he had become her father's partner in business. She could not fail to appreciate Philip's great generosity and his delicate way of coming to her father's support. He had not offered to lend him money at a stated amount of interest; he had begged for an opportunity to go in to business for their mutual benefit, staking his capital against the long experience of the elder man.

She realized that he was the same noble fellow, splendidly matured, whom she had adored during her childhood, and whom she still worshipped in the secret recesses of her loyal heart, if the truth were known. But—and with this thought the proud little head was haughtily crested, and a defiant color flamed her cheeks—to him she had only been a "freckle-faced little fright" whom he had tolerated and patronized because of the few good qualities she possessed; but whom he had repudiated as unworthy to be contemplated as his lifelong companion. Yes, she knew she would have to meet him in the near future, but he should never suspect her attitude, nor what it had cost her to write that letter, begging him to release her from the proposed marriage as set forth in Miss Crawford's will; neither the sense of sickening despair that had nearly prostrated her when he had almost unquestioningly acceded to her request.

She wept and grieved in secret as the old wound was thus reopened, yet at the same time she longed, while she dreaded, to see Philip again; to see how the grand promise of his youth had been fulfilled, to hear his dear voice, touch his hand, and look into his clear, honest eyes. But nothing of this heartache was apparent. When she was with her friend, Muriel Armstrong, or the gay couple about her, no one suspected that she had a care or sorrow in the world—not even the recent reverses of her father, seemingly, clouded the brightness of her life.

Muriel and her husband had known more regarding her state of mind in connection with Philip during the years of his absence than any one else save herself. Yet she seldom spoke of him, even to Muriel, who was her confidante on most matters. This persistent silence, however, when his name was mentioned, was of itself significant. Ted had, of course, told his wife of that unfortunate conversation under the beech tree; hence they had understood her refusal either to write to or discuss Philip, her rejection of his picture, and her emphatic "no" when they suggested that she send him one of herself. They were straws which told them a great deal. Sometimes Muriel attempted to sound her with reference to the outcome of Miss Crawford's sentimental plans, but Beth would quickly dispose of the subject by saying it was too absurd to talk about, that she had no idea of ever marrying Philip, and that—flippantly quoting a popular slang phrase—"she didn't care a rap about the money."

After the marriage of Ted and Muriel she was much at their home, and their friendship strengthened with their years of intercourse; and, as Philip also occupied a very warm place in their hearts, they nursed a little scheme upon his return, to reunite these long-separated lovers (?), to bring about their marriage, and save their fortune at the same time.

As Ted had told Philip during their first interview, after the return of the latter, Beth had many admirers and would have received as many proposals if she had allowed the opportunity. As it was, she had been obliged to say "no" to no less than three persistent suitors who continued to flutter around her, hoping that their faithfulness would in the end win the reward they craved. Hence, when Beth went to York Harbor, where she always visited Muriel in the summer, she at once found herself again in the swim, and as much a favorite as she had ever been, in spite of her father's recent financial reverses.

But that she was not so happy as usual Muriel readily perceived, if others did not. She often came upon her lost in a brown study, a far-away look in her lovely eyes, and upon several occasions she was sure she detected signs of recent tears. One day, having missed her for some time, she followed her to her room and tapped lightly on the door. Receiving no answer, she slipped out upon the piazza and peeped within a window, to see the girl lying prone upon a couch crying most industriously. Muriel stepped over the low sill into the room.

"You must excuse me, dear, for my lack of ceremony," she said in a deprecatory tone as Beth sprang erect in her astonishment, "but I surmised something had happened. Lady Beth tell me what has gone wrong."

Beth's face crimsoned upon being discovered.

"Oh, nothing much, Muriel," she tried to say lightly, as she brushed away her tears. "Every one is lovely to me. You spare nothing to give me pleasure, and I ought to be as happy as the day is long."

"Then, why aren't you happy?" gravely inquired her friend.

"Well, sometimes I—I can't help thinking of papa and—wondering about the future—"

Muriel was actually obliged to turn away to conceal the smile she could not control in view of Beth's evident confusion and lame excuses. With her father and Philip submerged in plans for an immediate resumption of business, with Mr. Russell's splendid capacity and experience, together with Philip's record as a successful financier with plenty of capital there was small need of worry on the part of any one regarding the success of the new firm.

"Have you had bad news from your father, Beth?" demurely inquired Muriel, who knew she had not.

"No. Papa writes me that he is improving every day, and is beginning to feel almost like a young man again."

"And Ted tells me he cannot fail to succeed, now that he has money to back him."

"I—I hope he will," said Beth rather absently.

"Don't you think it was fine of Philip to go in with him, and give him just the lift he needed?" Muriel was beginning to lose patience with the girl's apparent indifference to this evidence of Philip's staunch friend-

Could Not Digest His Food

Suffered For Years From Indigestion Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett.

If you suffer from chronic indigestion, forget about the stomach and pay attention to the condition of the liver and bowels. Ten to one that is where the real trouble lies. The liver gets sluggish and fails to filter the bile from the blood, the bowels become constipated, and the whole digestive system is upset. As to cure, you cannot do better than to read of Mr. Barrett's experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment so prompt and thoroughly effective.

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett, Nelson, B. C., and formerly of Twillingate, Nfld., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried proved futile until in 1906 I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using about eight boxes I was completely cured. Since that time I have not been troubled with indigestion, which I consider a great blessing. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

ship, for she had never voluntarily referred to it in any way.

"Ye-s," Beth admitted, but she flushed crimson again and turned to look out of the window to hide it.

"Don't you approve of what he has done?" queried her friend, beginning to be perplexed by the state of her mind.

"I think it was very generous and noble of him," said Beth with some show of warmth.

"Well, then, with your father well and prosperous, with nothing of a financial nature to worry about, with nothing to hinder you from having the best time of your life down here with us, what were you crying about, My Lady Beth?" Muriel demanded, her resolute tone indicating her determination to find out.

"Forgive me, dear, I'm sure you must think me ungrateful," Beth said contritely, "but I believe I'm out of sorts. I think I'll go home to Aunt Prue—"

"Indeed you'll not go home to Aunt Prue," interposed Mrs. Armstrong, looking thoroughly startled; "at least not until after our grand party a week from Tuesday. Why, Beth, you know I've depended upon you to help me through with that. I tell you what I think," she went on rather sharply for her. "I believe you're grieving over that old affair, that silly speech Phil made to Ted just before he went away, and his return has brought it all up afresh to you, and you are living it over again. I declare, I've a mind to send for him to come straight down here, make you two settle it once for all, and be friends again. He never meant a word of it, and it is nonsense for you to let it spoil your life as you have."

Beth was on her feet now, with blazing eyes and clinched hands, though her face was as white as the linen of her gown. Muriel's shaft had gone home.

"Muriel, you shall not!" she almost gasped. "If you do, I will not see him, and I shall take the very next train I can get back to Aunt Prue's."

Before she ceased, Muriel's arms were around her and she was smiling fondly down upon her. "Well, then, will you behave yourself, you silly child—promise to stay until after my party, and try to be happy?" she demanded playfully.

"Yes—if you will promise," said Beth.

"Well, of course Ted wants Philip to come for a while, and he asked me this morning to set a time soon; but I'll promise to delay his visit with us until after the party." Muriel returned, with a lurking gleam of mischief in her eyes, but Beth was too much relieved to notice the slight emphasis she had laid on the word visit.

"Now, cheer up, and come down to help me amuse our guests," she went on brightly. "There is poor Paul Lambert, who is absolutely forlorn whenever you disappear from the scene. Why don't you marry him, Lady Beth, and end his misery? Aunt Eliza's fortune, which has been such a bone of contention, can't hold a candle to the pile he is ready to lay at your feet, and he is such a fine fellow, too."

But Beth only tossed her pretty head without deigning any reply to this chaff, and began to rearrange her somewhat disordered toilet preparatory to going below. She was not caught off her guard again, but throwing herself into the spirit of the season, kept the social ball rolling with a vigor that could not fail to satisfy the gayest butterfly of them all.

Muriel, however, was suspicious of her, for now and then she thought she detected a look of weariness in her eyes, and a peculiar whiteness about her mouth, which made her fear that Beth was not quite happy, and Paul Lambert certainly was not, as he patiently followed in her wake without receiving any encouragement, or opportunity to press his suit.

Remarkable Escape from Starvation off Cape Horn
Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master, of the late barque "Colonia," of Glasgow. — Having lost our ship on Staten Island, on the 5th of July, and having saved neither effects nor provisions, we were then compelled to travel over the island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell-fish and seaweed. On the 19th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunkeith," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of Epps's Cocoa, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were left alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercury," of Buenos Aires.

"Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink; we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

SEE FOR MINARD'S LINIMENT AND TAKE NO OTHER.

A REMINDER.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

As we were passing through the business district about half past five the other afternoon, we ran into a crowd of factory girls who were just getting out from their work. Some of them passed quietly out and down the street looking at themselves in the crowd; but others rushed noiselessly forth, chewing gum and talking at the top of their lungs, and took boisterous possession of the sidewalk, walking three or four abreast, crowding people into the street and generally attracting attention. One group of them actually hopped for several blocks.

The Author-Man's wife was with us, and I think I shall never forget the look of disdain and disgust she turned on the three girls who were skipping her skirts, but the expression of her face looked as if she were doing that. "How can they make such fools of themselves," she said sharply to her companion. "Look at the creature chewing gum; I wish she could see how disgusting she looks. And hear them talk! Such rough, unpleasant voices, and such language! 'I'll never get caught down here at this time of night again!' And she quickened her pace to get away from 'the creatures.' The Lady-Who-Always-Knows-How-Somehow was walking with me. As she stepped back from the street into which she had been crowded by the hop-skippers, she turned to me with a beautiful smile. "Do you know what they make me think of?" she said. "Of a line-in-one of our First Reader poems—Glad with the freedom of school let out! No wonder they hop and skip. Poor things, how good it must seem to them to get out into the air; it must be like escaping from prison."

How anyone can dare to feel as the Author-Man's wife did is something I cannot understand.

And how anyone can help feeling at least a little of the divine sympathy which let the Lady's face into momentary beauty is equally incomprehensible.

How can you or I or anyone dare to feel disdain for the loudest, cheapest, most vulgar in all the city when we do not know what we might have been if we had had her opportunities, or rather her lack of them.

John Wesley one day saw a drunken man reeling along the sidewalk, and to the astonishment of his companions who drew away in righteous disgust he said, "There, but for the grace of God, goes John Wesley." I think the father of Methodism never preached a greater sermon.

Suppose those girls did hop-skip and chew gum, and shout out slang phrases to each other, and crowd people off the sidewalk, and wear loud and ugly clothes? Do you dare to say that if you had been born and bred as they were you would have done differently?

And if you need any further stimulus to tolerance, please think of some of the members of our so-called best society. Think of their loud voices, their vulgar and even indecent clothes, their bad manners and their selfish indifference to the rights of others, and then think of their vast opportunities; and instead of blaming the "lower class" girl because she is no better, I am sure you will be ready to praise her because she is no worse.

Ruth Cameron

Household Notes.

Thin cotton blankets are most practical for summer because they can be easily laundered. If hung double over the line they will remember no ironing.

In papering a room, remember that large patterns and dark colors make the room seem much smaller, and a plain paper, if light, will make it seem larger.

There is economy in buying some of the household supplies in bulk—bluing, soap and starch, for instance, will all keep. Soap really improves with age.

Don't forget that even through drawn blinds, shafts of strong sunlight find their way. Notice where the rays fall and lay a sheet of newspaper on the spot.

When the fire is running low and a quick oven is wanted, open the oven door, filling it with cool fresh air. Then close the oven door. It will heat much more quickly.

When velvet is spotted or stained, it sometimes is helpful to dip a spare piece in spirits of turpentine and rub it over the surface, using a fresh piece frequently.

To bread veal, dredge it with flour, then dip it in egg and bread crumbs and brown in hot fat. Then cover with milk and cook in a very slow oven until tender.

The rapid evaporation of the ink in small ornamental ink wells can be prevented by lining the cover with a piece of absorbent cotton and saturating the cotton with water.

A mixture of one teaspoonful of black ink to a tablespoonful of liquid gum will do much to brighten a black straw if rubbed on the hat. This should be allowed to dry, and when it is rubbed well into the interstices of the plait with a stiff brush.

White straws are best cleaned with a cut lemon dipped in sulphur and rubbed on the hat. This should be allowed to dry, and when it is rubbed off, the straw will have regained its whiteness.

PRESCRIPTION "A"
CURES INDIGESTION & DYSPEPSIA IN ALL ITS FORMS.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing."

I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Prescription "A". A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

PICTURES OF PRICE.

£20,000 For a Landscape by Gainsborough—Remarkable Rise.—The Three Most Expensive English Artists.

High prices were realized recently at a sale at Christie's of the pictures of Sir Lionel Phillips. The most remarkable price was brought by a celebrated Gainsborough, "The Market Cart," which caused a good deal of excitement.

The canvas fetched 19,200 guineas. Its size is 4ft. by 5ft., and in the Gainsborough sale twenty years ago it fetched 4,500 guineas. Yesterday bidding began at 1,000 guineas and the next bid was 4,000 guineas. Then came 5,000 guineas. Hundreds were offered closely, and then thousands. At 19,200 guineas there was no further challenge and Messrs. Agnew were the purchasers.

The last high figure for a Gainsborough in this country was for the Duchess of Gloucester's portrait, French Portraits.

A Lawrence portrait of Mrs. Siddons fetched 1,800 guineas. Reynolds' "Girl and Dog" was sold for 950 guineas. It came from the famous Wynne Ellis collection, and in the Duchess of Montrose's sale in 1894 fetched only 185 guineas.

Three Natter portraits caused great speculation. Three-quarters of a century ago a portrait by this French artist was hardly worth the value of the frame, but since then there have been instances of rises in value from £50 to £3,000 or 4,000 guineas. Yesterday the portrait of the Marquis de Tournelle, which was given a start at 1,000 guineas, went to 3,100 guineas. The portrait of the Marquis de Flavcourt went for the high sum of 4,600 guineas, and the same artist's portrait of Lord Brook sold for 3,200 guineas.

The Lionel Phillips pictures realized £40,000.

Several other important pictures were sold at Christie's recently. For a very large portrait of "Lady Orde and Child," there was keen bidding and the final offer was 6,400 guineas. Raeburn's "Mrs. Wedderburn" was acquired by Messrs. Gooder for 800 guineas, and Reynolds' "Lady Ann Fortescue" was sold for 1,200 guineas. Romney's portrait of "Master Thoroughbred" fetched 5,800 guineas. In 1894 it realized only 500 guineas. Mr. Balfour came in to witness the sale.

Things New and Old.

The host was nervous and inexperienced, and he rose hurriedly at the conclusion of the song. "Ladies and—er, gentlemen," he began, "before Mr. M. started to—er—sing, he asked me to apologize for his—er—voice, but I omitted to do so—er—so—I—er—apologize now."

"Excuse me," said the little lady, as she timidly approached the village dentist, "but aren't you the dentist?" "Yes, madam," replied the dentist. "Is there anything I can do for you?" "Why, yes," she said, hesitatingly. "You see, doctor, the—the blacksmith is down with the measles and I wondered if—I wondered if you would be good enough to put a new set of teeth into this rake of mine?"

A curious mistake was made recently in a local parish church. After the sermon, the curate read out two notices. The first, to the effect, that if anyone required infants to be baptized they must leave their names at the rectory during the week. The other was an intimation that after the following Sunday a new set of hymn-books would be used. This was not in accordance with the arrangements made by the Rector, who, being rather deaf, did not observe the change. The reverend gentleman caused much confusion in the minds of the congregation by supplementing the curate's remarks as follows:—"As to the former, I may say that anyone calling at my residence can be supplied with one at 50c.; those with good strong backs are only 35c."

How He Got Out.

Ex-Governor Williams attack on Judge Prowse brought him out in the Daily News this morning. Sir Ralph Williams ridiculed the Judge in the words: "One persistent applicant badgered me for a C.M.G. in season and out of season, but all to no purpose, ultimately, however, obtaining his reward by catching my locum tenens napping during my absence. . . . To this the Judge replies: "Our ex-Governor must be a rare old hypocrite, as he congratulated me most heartily on my new honour, and in his letter declared that for my eminent services to the Colony I richly deserved my C.M.G."

The Ex-Governor covertly accuses his ministers of shirking their duty of refusing to issue undeserved pensions, and of unfairly casting the onus on his shoulders. This he can settle with his personal friend Sir Edward Morris. We however know of a notorious instance in which Sir Ralph Williams attempted to shirk his duty as Governor of Newfoundland and attempted to cast the onus of dealing with the Morison Memorial on the Secretary for the Colonies. This he did by calling in the President of the F.P.U. and endeavoring to persuade him that the Memorial was really Joint Recitals.

Everyone will be pleased to learn that Miss Irene Bewley and Mr. C. Leitch have arranged to give two joint recitals in the Methodist College Hall, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the 16th and 17th of June. Miss Bewley is not an amateur but an artist who for years past has been charming select audiences in the United States and Canada. Miss Bewley was born in Tennessee but is residing temporarily in Boston, Mass. The following report of her work comes from Philadelphia: — "Miss Bewley captivated her audience completely. Her interpretations were fine. She evidently grasped both word and spirit of the author." Miss Bewley, among other numbers, will present the stirring drama by Francis Hodgson Burnett, entitled "Esmeralda." This is a charming love story with a strong plot and interesting situations. The scene is laid in the mountains of North Carolina, and centres around the Rogers family. Old Mr. Rogers, irascible but noble, in contrast to his high-spirited ambitious wife, lends quaint humor to the story, and their daughter, Esmeralda, gives the necessary thread of romance. Nobody can do this drama just like Miss Bewley does it, and it will be interesting to compare it with the same thing by a more inferior artist. June 10.

Man Found Dead

Circumstances Unfortunate—Liquor the Cause—Enquiry will be held.

Joseph Bolger, aged forty-five, and unmarried, was found dead on the Thorburn Road within speaking distance from his home last night. Deceased was in a house on the Thorburn Road, near Baird's Cottage, a distance of between three and four miles from the city. He was in town yesterday and Monday purchasing driving home at tea hour. Just as darkness was setting in Bolger was called on by Stephen Sharpe and Patrick Hogan who had walked from town and who after a brief conversation asked Bolger to drive them to their homes about four miles in the road. Bolger willingly hitched up his horse and drove off with the visitors. After reaching Maynard's farm, a distance of three miles, a stop was made. Sharpe and Hogan deciding to walk the rest of the way, Bolger then turned round his horse to go home and on his way collapsed. About 10.45 p.m. as Miss Tucker and Miss Hayes were going to their homes they saw a man under a horse's feet in the middle of the road. The animal was standing motionless and, his driver was apparently dead. The females, badly frightened as they were, ran to the nearest house and gave an alarm to Joshua Tucker, who in company with Paik Parrell and Peter Gray, went to the scene and after releasing the unfortunate fellow's body from its dangerous predicament brought it to J. Tucker's house. Bolger was on the verge of death but was breathing rapidly. His collar was opened and he was placed on a couch for the night, as it was thought it was a bad fall he got and would be all right in the morning. Parrell and Oliver stayed watching Bolger for nearly an hour and then left for home. Bolger was scarcely departed when the unfortunate victim expired. Joshua Tucker immediately proceeded to Baird's Cottage and telephoned the police authorities. This was at midnight. Superintendent Grimes and Constable Whelan responded hurriedly to Tucker's house and after making enquiries as to what occurred wrapped up the body and drove to the morgue with it, arriving here at 4.30 this morning. Dr. Rendell held a post mortem and the expired. A husband and several young children survive.

Here and There.

HEAVY FROST.—There was heavy frost this morning all over the country and seeds and plants must have perished.

BACK FROM CADIZ.—Harvey & Co's. three master schr. Gay Gordon reached port this morning from Cadiz with a salt cargo. The run occupied 23 days.

Mr. J. W. Kinsella, of the General Post Office, who had been seriously ill for the past two months, is about again and to-day resumed his duties at the General Post Office.

POGOTA'S PASSENGERS.—The Pogota sailed north at 11.15 to-day, taking a full freight and as passengers Thos. Welland, Rev. J. Parsons, J. B. Wheeler, Mrs. Barter, Miss Barter, Mrs. W. Kean, Mrs. R. Hatch and 20 second class.

BRUCE PASSENGERS.—The S.S. Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.40 a.m. to-day, bringing James Douglas, Walter Douglas, D. Gibbs, W. Badour, D. Piercey, Jas. Parsons, Geo. Vettison, Miss C. Williams, Miss G. Trappell, Mrs. H. T. McCoubrey.

SUDDEN DEATH.—There died suddenly at her home, on Colonial Street, Mrs. Michael Caul, wife of Mr. Michael Caul, grocer. Deceased was in the best of health yesterday. Last night she was suddenly stricken with heart trouble, and despite medical aid she expired. A husband and several young children survive.

WEDDING TO-DAY.—The wedding of Mr. Geo. Cobb, Supt. of the Reid rives, and Miss Besie Taylor, takes place at 3 p.m. to-day at the residence of the bride's sister, LeMarchant Road. After the ceremony the bride and groom will entrain at Waterford Bridge for a honeymoon tour through Canada and the United States.

AGENT FOR IMPERIAL LIFE.—Recently Hon. J. A. Robinson, agent for the Imperial Life Assurance Co., resigned the position, and Mr. J. McKenzie was appointed to fill it. Possibly no better man could be selected and his years of experience coupled with energy and industry, should make for the advancement of the Company in Nfld.

STILL AT WORK.—The searchers for treasure down near Bennett's Grove to whom we alluded last week, are yet hard at work night and day. They have discovered an underground chamber and believe they are not far away from a surprising find. At night time a young man, a new recruit to the party, does sentry duty with a rifle slung over his shoulder.

FISHERY CASE.—Yesterday at Bay Bulls, before Magistrate Giovannetti, the case of W. Vigners vs. Christopher Welch, occupied the hearing of the court all day. Deft. it was alleged had his salmon nets and cod traps set nearer than allowed by law to pits. A number of witnesses were examined and judgment was reserved. Mr. John Higgins for the pitf., Mr. Hunt for deft.

NO MOVE MADE.—As far as we can learn the Government has made no move since to trace the smuggling which has been going on along parts of the Southern Shore, and to which the Telegram referred a couple of days ago. The matter has been going on, we hear, for years, and the revenues have been, it is alleged, defrauded by thousands of dollars. This is election year and of course the Picnic Party, already shaking in their shoes, fear to act and lose the votes of interested parties.

BANKING NEWS.—By the Portia we learn that the bankers at Burna are doing very well and for their first two trips average 500 qts. Some of them have as high as 1,300 and down to as low as 200 qts. There is no sign of caplin, but herring is very plentiful. When the Portia was there, there were 15 Lunenburg vessels at Burna awaiting caplin bait. W. Hollett has now 1,700 qts., and last week a couple of days after running off on the Bank he was reported for 200 qts. more. Thos. Hollett has 1,000 qts. to date.

STILL MISSING.—Up to yesterday evening the friends of the missing man, Reuben Butler, of Fox Trap, to whom the Telegram exclusively referred last week, had no news of him. The man when he left his home had $300 in cash in his pockets and was seen to buy a ticket, it is presumed, for Sydney at Whitbourne. He was seriously hurt about the head when his horse ran away on Widgeon Street some few weeks ago, and it is thought his mind is affected. The matter was yesterday reported to the police.

Go away and leave me!" moaned the victim. "Yes, but—I say; perhaps it would relieve you to tell me all about it?" The mass of misery gnashed his teeth. "It's this way," he muttered. "For three solid weeks I've been teaching a girl to ride a bicycle. With the patience of Job, I've held her on that bicycle and wheeled her over miles of country in the hot sun. And now—" His voice broke pathetically. "She's hit—she's hit—and taken up with another chap—eh?" "No, worse than that!" he gasped. Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. A. Wilson, Registrar C.H.E., took a run over here from St. John's on Saturday night. He returns this afternoon, and we hear will pay a visit to the Old Country this summer accompanied by Miss Wilson.

Rev. Mark Fenwick, of the Methodist College, St. John's, occupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at both services yesterday. The congregation were very much interested in the able discourses delivered.

The funeral of the late Jeremiah Shea, which took place yesterday afternoon, was very largely attended, in fact one of the largest to pass through our streets for some time. This shows the very high esteem in which the old gentleman was held in this town.

A number of our Labrador fleet are now all ready and waiting a fair wind to proceed to the coast. We wish them one and all a most prosperous season.

The Rev. Fr. Brown, of St. Jacques, who is now in Boston, delivered a illustrated lecture in the Boston College Music Hall on May 25th. The subject of the lecture was "The Wardens of the North," and all the Newfoundlanders in the neighborhood were there, and thoroughly enjoyed the treat. The views of Harbor Grace, so a friend writes us, were loudly applauded, and brought the Harbor Gracian in imagination back to the old home. Mayor Fitzgerald spoke on the occasion and highly complimented Father Brown on the excellence of his lecture, and told the Newfoundlanders present that they ought to be proud of their countryman and their country.

Miss Whitman returned to town on Saturday night, after a very pleasant visit to friends at Clarke's Beach.

The C.C.C. intended to go to Carbonear yesterday and have a joint Church parade with the C.C.C. of that town, but were unable to do so on account of the weather.

Rev. Jabez Moore will give a lecture before a Carbonear audience in the Methodist school there, on Thursday night.

Hr. Grace, June 9, 1913.

The Servant Problem.

In view of the ever-increasing difficulty of obtaining and retaining satisfactory domestic servants it is highly important to adopt every means which will reduce the work of the house.

It has been proved by the experience of many that the use of gas for cooking, heating and hot water supply, makes it possible to do with fewer servants, easier to keep those you have, and a less serious matter to have none.—jne10,eod,tf

Successful McGill Men Here.

We note by the perusal of recently published Montreal papers that the Newfoundlanders studying medicine at McGill University, Montreal, are doing well and that all have had a very successful season. Mr. B. A. Kean, son of Capt. Abraham Kean, has put in his third year of study, and Messrs. J. B. O'Reilly and W. H. Newhook their first year. Mr. William Templeman has completed his third year, and C. A. Forbes, of Bonavista, and C. T. Crowdy, of St. John's, have secured their degree of Medical Doctor on which we heartily congratulate them.

Smart Loses to Goodyear at Grand Falls.

SMART A POOR SPORT.
An exciting wrestling match was pulled off last night at Grand Falls, between Smart, a figure known amongst St. John's wrestling fans, and Goodyear, of the Inland town.
Smart undertook to throw Goodyear three times out of four. He failed to make good his contract and lost the match, not even putting the shoulders of his opponent to the mat once.
After twelve minutes of the bout
Smart complained of a wrenched shoulder but the doctors could not find anything the matter with him. It will be remembered Smart while wrestling Otto Oppelt in the British Hall a few years ago complained of injuries. Again in the Prince's Rink while wrestling Oppelt he displayed unsportsmanlike qualities when he struck the referee in the face and nearly caused a riot.

feel; no speakers make the welkin
quake like those who used to spiel.

the stage there rant and rage a lot

fifty years the laughing dears who hear us mourn, I trow, will sing the days gone by, the days of auld lang

TUESDAY, June 10, 1913.
One of the best ways to protect your fruit trees from the ravages of insects—Aphis, Mosquitoes, Red Spider, Flies, etc.—on Plants, Shrubs and Trees, is by the use of Orenol, a concentrated extract of Quassia which, dissolved in water and used as a sprayer wash forms a specific for destroying insect life, and will cleanse the trees of these pests. If used for watering plants in pots or beds it successfully removes Worms, Beetles, Caterpillars, Slugs, and Snails. One twenty-five cent tube will make twenty gallons of strong insecticide solution. You should try it, if you have fruit trees or flower shrubs.

Salmon Trust Smoked.

Many believe that a salmon trust or combine existed until yesterday, for no matter how plentiful the fish were they never only once or twice went below ten cents the pound. Yesterday, however, a lot of fish struck the town from Bay Bulls and other parts of the Southern Shore and sold "like hot cakes" for 6 cents.

FOOTBALL.

Last night's football match between the Stars and B.S. drew a fair gathering of spectators and resulted in a win for the former by five goals to two. The exhibition was not up to much, the players showing lack of practice. In the first half the Stars scored two goals, against one for the B.S. During the latter part of the game the Stars added three more goals to the score while their opponents only found the net once. The players were: B.S.—Goal, Lundrigan; backs, Doyle, Buckingham; halves, Joy, Murphy, C. Murphy; forwards, Power, Ryan, Keenan, Murphy, Brennan. Star—Goal, W. Duggan; backs, J. Hart, T. Duggan; halves, Brien, L. Kavanagh, J. Kavanagh; forwards, Murphy, Morgan, Evans, Caul, Kelly.

TO-NIGHT'S LINE-UP.

Nickel's Pleasing Programme.

The large audiences which attended the Nickel Theatre yesterday afternoon and night were charmed with the excellence of the programme and were loud in their praises of the management of the theatre. The Gaumont Graphic was as usual of exceptional interest. "On the pupil of his eye" is an absorbing detective story, one of the finest ever presented by the vitagraph. It is the first of a series and if the others are as good, then nickel patrons can rest assured of good entertainments. Maurice Costello is seen in the leading role. "Their Back Window" and "In Quarantine" are two capital comedies which kept the audiences in the best of spirits. Miss Guerin and Miss Gardner were heard in very pretty songs. The programme is being repeated to-day.

A CALL FOR BOND.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Our country at the present moment appears to me to be in a troubled situation, and I am compelled to notice that the ugly form of Toryism is stalking through various districts apparently unnoticed. We know also the har' and the jar are both strong in evidence. Corruption in its most up-to-date method is being employed to purchase influence and support for Tory candidates. It seems certain that all previous campaigns were but the types and figures of the one we are about to enter upon. I am satisfied the end of the reign of the gang of Plenickers is in sight; but I want to impress on your city political sages, that our electors are clamoring for a determined fight. I am well aware that sharp and short combats win splendid victories, still the honest electors are not satisfied to remain much longer in camp. Every artifice which suggests itself to Tory leaders, is being resorted to. "Widen the seam" is Morris's play; therefore, I think, the time has come, when we should "Up Guards and at them." The ways of Toryism are dirty and dark. A snake in the "long green" two-blade grass is a dangerous reptile; we should be ready to batter its poisonous head, with a suitable weapon, wherever and wherever its viperous fangs appear.

Our country to-day regards the Right Hon. Sir Robert Bond as the rock on whose firm foundation the hope of the Colony's independence is based. Newfoundland "has been borrowing to spend" and like Adam Smith's example "will soon be ruined" unless speedily rescued. The call for the Liberal Chieftain to buckle on his armour of righteousness and destroy the grating combine, is imperative. We want the man and want him now. We want the ablest mind in our Colony. We want the statesman who has given the prime years of his life in honest endeavor to make our Island Home prosperous, proud and free: Help us again to safe anchorage. Steer us clear of the breakers straight ahead, which we now know to exist and where the cunning of scheming political charlatans and the "policy" with a price for every placeman is sure to land us. You have already won for your native land many notable victories. Forget the ingrate. Come on Sir Robert, hoist to the masthead the good old standard of Liberalism in the cause of honest Government. Good and capable men are ready to come forward and give battle for the integrity of our country and purity in public life. The great heart of the country is honest and sincere. Mr. Editor, we are determined to rid the country of the present grafters; to this end in Harbor Grace District, party lines are considerably blurred, as compared with four years ago. It will be of little use this fall to attempt to traffic on the passions of well-meaning men—that day is done and with it the P.P.'s chances. Hooliganism and the rum jar have had their day. Harbor Grace, we hope, has seen the last of such unseemly conduct.

Mr. Editor, I would like to draw the attention of the country generally to the very slim majority which gave Morris Nine men, and consequently the Government. In the District of Harbor Main, Port de Grave, Harbor Grace, Carbonar and Bay de Verde, the aggregate registered votes for the five districts at the time of the last election was 10,500. By allowing each vote to be a "turn over" as it undoubtedly was, it will be seen that 280 votes gave the People's Party nine seats in this bay. Does Sir Edward Morris regard the result in Conception Bay as his authority for borrowing to the extent he already has on account of Branch Railways, an amount twice as large as he stated in his presentation of the Railway Bill of 1910, the five branches would cost? He said precious little about railways when electioneering in this Bay; but we should like him to adjust his "specs" and look over that shipping paper of his and see if there is any reference therein to "the price of fish;" "a standard cull;" "new markets;" "Jam Factories;" "clothing factories." Does Sir Edward remember how, in St. Paul's Hall in the fall of 1908 he got off the cod that the "Incautious remarks" of the "Evening Herald," cut the price of fish in two. He also told us how the Labrador men, who caught such beautiful fish only got $3 per quintal for it, while his constituents in Petty Harbor were getting $7. Is he still wearing that home-made suit he used to show us? But we have quite a litany of pertinent questions to ask and will wait an opportunity tete-a-tete.

Yours truly,
LONG HARRY.
Hr. Grace, June 9, 1913.

Seed Potato Distribution.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Allow me space to make a few remarks concerning the Government and on the parties who rule it. We have an Agricultural Society in Harbour Main which is ruled by Pat Woodford, as President, Pat Hannon, as Vice-President, and a few delegates. Last spring we had some small seeds and seed potatoes given around by this Society, and the delegate that was appointed to distribute those potatoes in Gallow's Cove, Harbour Main, gave dissatisfaction. He applied to the Society for 5 barrels more, I, Thomas Ezekiel, knew the wrongs they were doing and went to Avondale Station, took two barrels of those potatoes and brought them out to Harbour Main and distributed them to the people in justice to them, therefore I was summoned to court and fined $10.75 for trying to show up the wrongs that have been enacted amongst the people of Harbour Main. The Magistrate that governs the juris-dition at present is M. O'Toole. This said Magistrate would not allow me to speak in self-defence in court, but fined me the above amount and would not even give me a postponement. It is ridiculous how everything is run by the parties in power at the present time. I was a Tory at last election but I am like lots in Harbour Main to-day, disgusted with the actions of the clique who have the handling of the people's money. This said O'Toole thinks himself a second Moses, but I can tell him who he is and from whom he got his education. Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor,

I remain,
Yours truly,
T. J. EZEKIEL.

Enthusiastic Regatta Meeting.

The initial Regatta meeting held in the T. A. Armoury last night, should be an augury of a most successful regatta this season of 1913. The attendance of citizens was large, and the enthusiasm unbounded, and though the meeting was convened a fortnight earlier than usual all were deeply interested and the result must be of a satisfactory nature. Much useful work was done. The following were present:—President A. Hiscock, Vice-President W. J. Higgins, Secretary J.
L. Noonan, F. J. Morris, J. R. Bennett,
N. Andrews, C. J. Ellis, F. W. Hayward, A. E. Wood, J. L. Slattery, Councillor C. W. Ryan, L. G. Chafe, P. P.
Moore, W. J. Martin, J. Day, P. J. Hanley, R. W. Jeans, T. D. Carew, R. Dowden, T. J. Foran.

The Secretary read the minutes of last meeting which were adopted. The day was most successful last year and the President, Mr. Hiscock, intimated that the meeting had been called thus early to get the reports of the Treasurer, Mr. Crotty, but as the Portia had not arrived that official could not be present. When the various reports of last year's committee had been passed the public were admitted and Councillor Charles W. Ryan was moved to the chair to conduct the election of a committee for 1913. It was then moved and seconded that the Annual Regatta be held on Wednesday, August 6th which being carried, the following were elected as a committee to manage this year's great aquatic fête:

President, A. Hiscock; Vice-President, W. J. Higgins; Treasurer, C. J.
Ellis; Secretary, J. L. Noonan; John
A. Bennett, F. J. Morris, P. F. Moore,
Councillor C. W. Ryan, J. W. Morris,
A. T. Wood, J. L. Slattery, W. J. Martin, T. McNeil, N. Andrews, Dr. Scully, E. W. Taylor, F. W. Hayward, R. W.
Jeans, J. Day, P. J. Hanley, L. G.
Chafe, T. D. Carew, R. Dowden, T. J.
Foran, Otto Emerson, A. G. Williams,
J. J. Bates, W. H. Rennie, J. S. Munn,
C. E. Hunt, C.O.N. Conroy.

The Honorary members will be:—
Right Hon. E. P. Morris, P. C., Kl., K. C. M. G., K. C. LL. D., Hon.
John Harvey, Hon. E. R. Bowring, Hon.
W. C. Job, Hon. J. Harris, W. D. Reid,
H. D. Reid, Dr. H. Rendell, R. Von Stein and C. F. Taylor, (Pres. Bell Island Regatta Committee).

As Mr. C. O'N. Conroy will be absent from the city Regatta Day, Mr. Charles Hunt was appointed to act with the maker of the medals. Mr. Ryan now vacated the chair when a hearty vote of thanks proposed by V. P. Higgins was accorded him. Messrs. Hiscock, Higgins, Noonan and Ellis then heartily thanked the committee for the honour conferred on them; several matters of importance were dealt with.

President Hiscock, Vice President
Higgins and Treasurer Ellis were appointed a committee to wait on the Governor to ask him to patronize the Regatta.

The cup and medals committee will be Messrs. A. W. Hiscock, J. W. Morris, W. J. Higgins, C. Ellis and A. G.
Williams.

As last year it was forebly brought under the notice of the Committee that crews after practicing for and selecting a boat which they held up to a few days before the regatta and then discarded, it was determined last night that this would not be allowed in future. Several members of the committee spoke strongly on the matter, and Mr. Higgins moved that the owners of boats be advised that it is the unanimous opinion of the Committee that crews should not be allowed to transfer from boats which they had selected for at least 10 days previous to the Regatta. Before the meeting was concluded a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. P. Crotty, who for so many years so faithfully and ably performed the duties of Treasurer. The committee hope that Mr. Crotty may be able to be present at this year's event. The meeting adjourned to meet again next Friday night week at Wood's West End Restaurant.

Changing gears. A gentle shift accompanied by a noise like throwing two tons of hard coal down a manhole.

Self-starter. A wonderful device which enables a car to be started from the seat every once in a while, provided it hasn't stopped on dead center.
Primer. A substitute for the self-starter which always works fine for a demonstrator, but never does anything afterward.

Crank. A human self-starter with four skinned knuckles and a back bowed like a mountain broncho.
Muffler cut-out. A melodious device which is used to create run-aways and profanity.

Horn. A warning signal which enables the absent-minded pedestrian to jump six feet off the pavement and align on all fours.

Tire. A piece of rubber belting which seldom costs more than a town lot.

Puncture. A small, eager hole in a tire which never happens until the nearest garage is fifteen miles in the rear.

Gasoline. A costly fuel composed of one-fourth naphtha and three-fourths pure, cold water.

SEVENTEEN SECOND CLASS.—
The News this morning says that a "batch" of young men arrived here by the Lintrose to go to work here. A "batch" may mean much or little.
By the Lintrose Sunday morning the number of second class passengers was 17 including some females. The News says nothing about the large number of young men from the head of Conception Bay who leave by every express, a considerable portion of them never to return.

THEY JIGGED FISH.—The sch.
Lydia Gertrude, arrived here from Western Bay, yesterday, and reports that at Bradley's Cove her crew threw their fingers over coming along and secured a barrel of codfish of excellent size and quality. The traps are out over there and there is a sign of cod.

Here and There

PIANOS.—The famous Kohler and surpassed Needham and Mason &

See our Ladies' Alpaca Coats

week. THE NATIONAL STORES, Greaves & Sons, Ltd.

FISHERY WEST.—The Portia reports the shore fishery west as being bad. The lobster fishery is also short of previous seasons. Fishermen have also suffered losses owing to storms destroying their gear. The banking feet are reported to be doing well.

APPOINTED CAPTAIN.—Mr. Harvey Williams, one of our youngest seamen, has been given command of Baird's schooner Annie E. Banks, which is now loading fish at Grand Bank for Oporto. The young master is only twenty-one years of age, and by his enterprise and pluck is sure to make a reputation in seafaring life.

DANGEROUS RENAIW.—Yesterday afternoon one of Harvey's horses attached to a sloven, took fright on Water Street and dashed along that thoroughfare. When turning into Bambrick Street it dashed suddenly amongst a lot of children who were at play, and how some of them were not killed is a mystery. Strange to say not one was hurt and the animal was stopped on New Gower Street.

ERECTING PARSONAGE.—At Western Bay a new Methodist Parsonage is being erected for the cler-gyman, Rev. Mr. Ward. It is being done by contractor Dwyer, who built the handsome churches at Western Bay and Broad Cove. He has a remarkable talent for such work though he never studied carpentry, and the buildings put out of hand by Mr.
Dwyer are marvels of strength and beauty.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.

It has been decided that Miss Emily Davison, militant suffragette, should be buried at her home Long Horsely, Northumberland, on Saturday. The body has been wrapped in a suffragette banner and the suffragist badge placed on her coffin. The Women's Social and Political Union is arranging an imposing ceremonial procession across London. A memorial service will be held at the headquarters of the militant organization, when the body is placed in the train to be sent to Northumberland. At a meeting of suffragettes, most of the women were mourning. A telegram has been despatched to King George in the following words: "Constitutional methods of approaching our King having failed, Miss Davison having given her life to call attention of the women's passionate demands for franchise, we ask the King to give serious attention to this appeal of womanhood."

MONTREAL, To-day.

The rush of emigrants from Germany to Canada continues. Steamship companies are compelled to adopt extraordinary measures to cope with it. The 'Neckar' which sailed from Bremen on the 5th inst.
for the States ports will call at Halifax to land 630 third class passengers. The 'Ryndam' which sailed on the 7th from Rotterdam, will also call at Halifax to land 300 third class passengers.

LONDON, To-day.

With both sides stubbornly refusing to make the slightest concession,
the war between the Balkan Allies is hourly becoming more imminent. If Bulgaria sends a negative reply to the Serbian note, and nothing indicates she will answer otherwise, Servia and Greece will proclaim the an-nullation of the occupied Macedonian territories, thereby establishing a casus belli. The only hopeful feature of the situation consists in the belief that Bulgaria is lacking the sinews
of war; Serbia and Greece are not only better situated in this respect,

but also occupy superior strategical positions. These acts probably account for the calmness with which Serbia apparently regards the prospects of war. The Ambassadorial Conference discussed the question of providing Serbia with a commercial outlet to the sea. The tentative plan adopted will be submitted to the Home governments for further consideration.

BELGRADE, To-day.

General Putnik, Chief of the General staff of the Serbian Army has arrived here to attend a war council which will be held under the Presidency of the King.

LONDON, To-day.

The Cunard Line American office
states their new steamship Aulania has been launched at Greenock on the Clyde. This vessel is the second of the new steamers to be placed in the Cunard Line's Canadian service this year. The Aulania, like her sister ship Andania, launched in March, is a twin screw vessel of 13,300 tons.
She is 540 feet in length, 44 feet breadth, 46 feet deep and has two sets of quadruple expansion engines.
The Aulania will have accommodations for 2,140 passengers, 520 second class cabin, and 1,620 third class. There are in all eight decks, six of which has been devoted to passenger accommodation.

NURSING ASSOCIATION.

On Saturday last the nurses of the General Hospital held a meeting.
Miss Southcott, Superintendent, presided. Nurses who hold certificates from training schools are eligible for membership. The question of being affiliated with the International Association will be discussed at a later meeting. The International holds a conference every three years at which a representative from all branches takes part. The officers elected were,
Miss Southcott, President; Miss
Campbell, Vice-Pres.; Miss Bowden, Secy.-Treas.; Misses March, Redmond, Cullen and Tuck, Committee.

Come Up Where You Belong!

In the human body, "man-power" comes from food.
But the food must be right.

The gray tissue cells of Brain and Nerves are composed principally of water, albumen and Phosphate of Potash.
The first two exist in every-day food, but phosphate of potash is frequently lacking.

This necessary element is supplied in

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

Made of choice wheat and barley, it contains all the vital mineral salts of these grains, including the Phosphate
of potash so essential for proper nourishment of Brain and Nerves.

Grape-Nuts food is thoroughly baked, digests easily (in about one hour), and thus forms a perfect complement to ordinary food in the dietary of the average person.

Grape-Nuts—more than any other one factor—
supplies both body and Brain with nourishment
up to the standard of Nature's requirements.

If health and the efficiency which comes with it appeal to you, try Grape-Nuts!

Ready to serve direct from the package with cream and sugar—and wonderfully appetizing.

In a fog the fishing schooner Shamrock, from Newfoundland, bound here, with 1,100 barrels herring to J. A. Farquhar, ran on the rocks at White Point, near Canso. She quickly began to fill. WASHINGTON, June 9.
The weather in the mid-Atlantic and New England States, the Ohio Valley and the Great Lakes region is the coldest ever recorded in June. The Gulf States alone have escaped. Territory east of the Rockies. A high barometric pressure of great magnitude is the official reason for the unseasonable drop. Frosts are reported from Vermont, Central New York, New England, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin; and are predicted to-night for the Great Lakes region, North Atlantic States, and the Mountain districts of the Middle Atlantic States.

LONDON, June 9.
All sorts of gossip surround the recent discovery of several cases of rifles at Belfast and Dublin. The Government's intentions are still unknown. It is now said that the seizure was entirely due to Customs officials, that the executive is not concerned, and that the consignees mean to contest the legality of the seizure. Their names are not given. Everybody mentioned as knowing something about the incident disclaims knowledge of it. The idea that the whole thing was an expensive joke is borne out by the Belfast consignment, which says that the Belfast consignment was practically useless, as some rifles were so antiquated that no existing cartridges would fit them.

LONDON, June 9.
British directors of the Peru Amazon Company, of whom Sir John H. Lister Kaye, is the best known, as he was groom-in-waiting to King Edward, are held deservng of severe censure by the Commons Committee investigating the Putumayo Rubber atrocities. The report issued to-day, while absolving the directors from any personal acts for which they could be punished under the Slave Trade Acts or in connection with the cruelties which resulted in the deaths of so many natives, charges them with culpable negligence. The report says: "Directors who merely attend Board meetings and sign cheques cannot escape from their share of responsibility when gross abuses are revealed." The committee holds Julius Creaser, the "rubber king" and director, responsible for the atrocities; and expresses the opinion that the Putumayo incidents form but a shocking instance of conditions to be found over a wide area in South America; adding that the laws against slave-dealing need attention.
