THE SAVING GRACE

After some days his literary imitations performed so well, in spite of his gloom, he caught himself sitting and asserting and placing things in their relative values.

Severne rode to the lowland in the dark gorge—I am sure it was the dark gorge—and he turned. The ravine was lined up in eagerness for the start.

Severne became quite excited. The swift motion was exhilarating. He mentally noted at least a hundred and ten most realistic minor details.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17 1906.

THE EVENING TIMES. ST. JOHN, N. B., NOV. 17, 1906. The St. John Evening Times is published at 27 and 23 Castlereagh Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act. A. M. BELDING, Editor.

WORK FOR ST. JOHN

The interview with Mr. Whelpley, which the Times publishes today, is valuable for several reasons. It proves that our manufacturers can compete successfully for trade in the growing market of the west. It proves that with capital and skill an industry can succeed. It suggests a very important line in which factories could be kept busy along the St. John river providing materials for the English market. The problem is one of capital and skill. There are plenty of skilled men to be got in manufacturing towns to come and manage factories in this city and province. There ought to be plenty of capital if the proper means were taken to make known the natural advantages of this region. The need of the time is confidence in our resources and concerted action to make them known. Mr. Lively told to the Times readers yesterday the story of a city smaller than St. John whose board of trade has a guarantee fund subscribed by citizens and a salaried official whose sole duty it is to look for and enquire about possible new industries for the town. That city will grow. Its people have confidence in it and in themselves. They send out literature. They go after business. Mr. Lively says he has lost a lot of money in St. John industries in the past, but it was not the fault of the place or the industries, and he is not discouraged. That is exactly the position of another leading business man who talked with the Times yesterday. But what is the use of holding these views if they find no expression in action? St. John is to grow as a manufacturing centre. It must do so if it is to grow at all—and nobody doubts with regard to the future. But why not hasten the growth of industry as has been done with winter port business? Tomorrow the Times will show what a New England town of 9000 people is doing to attract attention. It should suggest to St. John men the propriety of doing something along similar lines.

READ THE REPORT

The Times prints on another page the report on manual training and domestic science, prepared by a committee of the board of education in the town of Owen Sound, Ont., acting on which the town will spend $10,000 to provide an extension of the collegiate buildings to make room for the introduction of these studies. The committee went to Berlin, Guelph, Stratford, and Toronto. They saw the schools, interviewed people in the different towns visited, and returned home with a unanimous report in favor of these studies for Owen Sound. That town has a population of about eleven thousand. It will be noted that the tables are given which state the original expense incurred in several of the towns, and also the prices of various articles of equipment. These statements will be of value in connection with the introduction of the work in St. John. The Times particularly directs attention to the interview which are embodied in the report, notably the statements of the master mechanic of the G. T. R. shops at Stratford. What he says will interest parents who want to know what benefit manual training is to a boy. Note also the testimony of teachers to the effect that pupils are eager to stay and work after hours. In Toronto the labor unions are in favor of manual training. Manufacturers all favor it. Only those who want to hold on to the curriculum of the Middle Ages oppose it. The Times trusts that its readers will very carefully read the report in question, and if they agree that St. John should be in line with other progressive communities, insist that the St. John school board forget its Greek long enough to meet the board of trade committee, which has been waiting some months for a conference.

SUGGESTIONS

Are you a citizen of St. John? Do you expect to remain a citizen? Have you business interests in the place? Then you are interested in the growth as a manufacturing centre. As you go about your own business, and come in contact with other citizens, there come to you from time to time ideas and suggestions relative to matters affecting the general welfare. Do you proceed to forget all about them? Others have similar thoughts and see at times what seems to them to be avenues of effort which would lead in the direction of general improvement and progress. Do they also forget? Why should not you and they come together and exchange views, discuss ways and means, and endeavor to crystallize into action the result of your deliberations? The citizen who carries on his own industry or business with intelligence and success is a good citizen. He is a better citizen who in addition to this gives attention on occasion of others to other matters, that will make for general growth and improvement, though not necessarily allied to his own particular business. Think it over.

WORDS AND RESULTS

Technically, Mr. W. E. Stavert may be correct in stating that a bank is not solvent so long as it has the aid of its double liability powers it can pay its debts, but it is nevertheless true that the bank which must call upon the shareholders for its double liability has practically failed. It would be a source of any comfort at all to the shareholders who had to put up the money to be sold that the institution was not insolvent? They would not be able to realize upon that term and get back their money. The bank might pay the depositors in full with interest, but would still have failed utterly to do that for which it was established—to make money for its founders. It could pay its depositors, but not its shareholders. Therefore the interpretation of a word, while it might be of some interest to those who make a study of phraseology, would not affect the general result. The Kamouh Bank may not have been insolvent, but it failed. Doubtless if many limited liability companies which fail badly could call upon shareholders for a double liability they would continue in business. In that case some of their shareholders were due only to a temporary lack of funds, might in the end make good; while those which had been badly managed would prove a worse failure than before. But how does a bank know that the double liability is always available? Is it not conceivable that a shareholder who to day would be good for his double liability might a year hence be actually in debt? Does a bank always know that it can call at any moment for the double liability and get it? Do banks transact business with that expectation? Do they treat the double liability as a sure asset in their calculations and statements? Why was it necessary in the case of the Bank of Yarmouth to appoint a liquidator, if it was not felt that the bank was actually insolvent?

The citizens are under an obligation to those who were instrumental in getting Inspector Hughes, of Toronto, to visit St. John. It is always profitable to exchange views with a man who is an enthusiastic in his profession, and who knows what the world elsewhere is doing in any particular department of effort.

The Times today is somewhat at the mercy of its friends, the advertisers. But what they have to say is never dull, and it is not infrequently more profitable for people to read the advertisements than some other of the contents of the newspaper.

After yesterday's statement of I. C. R. earnings and expense the people will be disposed to wait and hear further from Mr. Emmerson before talking about the sale of the road or the appointment of a commission.

The man who hanged himself because he thought he had shot his wife will be somewhat lonely on the asphalt meadows. His wife did not keep the appointment.

President McCurdy, of the Mutual, has reduced his salary from $150,000 to $75,000 a year. Will he now make restitution of the amount overdrawn in the past?

There is likely to be a somewhat profitable discussion and enquiry with respect to the manner in which the city operates its North End lighting plant.

One Tammany witness has forfeited $5,000 bail rather than tell what he knows about the elections. Or, rather, Tammany has forfeited it for him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Prof. Hering's Lecture in York Theatre Attracted Fairly Large Audience.

Prof. Hermann S. Hering of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., lectured last night before a fairly large audience at the York Theatre. He presented and introduced the lecturer. Prof. Hering in the course of his lecture said that the discovery of Christian Science revealed the fact that there is a science deriving not only the entire Scriptures, but the entire universe, that this science is accurate, intelligible, demonstrable and complete, and that it furnishes an interpretation of existence which is uniform, consistent and hence capable of proof. This science is Christian Science. It is based upon the teachings and works of Jesus Christ, and is a fulfillment of his mission. It is scientific because it has a definite principle and rule. Christian Science is the science of God as Spirit, and of His character of love, truth and life. It is a science which seeks the undivided garment, and enjoys communion to all the commandments. Never has so sharp and definite a line been drawn between truth and error, never has so accurate a differentiation been made between the real and the unreal as now. And what has brought this to pass? The discovery of what really is the true nature and character of God as Spirit, and of His character of love, truth and life. This discovery revealed the fact that evil and matters are not real, are not manifestations of God, because they have nothing in common with Him. From this standpoint it is an satisfactory interpretation of the Bible and of the universe, and perceives that the cause of the sick, sinning and discordant conditions of mortals can eventually be eliminated. This great discovery was made by Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy in 1836. It has proved to be the solution of every problem of life, and has culminated in the revelation of the science of being, of which Christian Science is the human application. Passing on to the attitude of the Christian Scientist towards illness of the body, he said that the teaching in this regard was much misunderstood. Christian Science does not say that sickness does not seem real to the sufferer, even as real as the rest of his body, but Jesus said: "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment," and Christian Science teaches that if sickness be recognized as a mistake or error, it can be healed by applying the truth. Christian Science teaches that evil is the seeming absence of good—even as darkness is the absence of light, and discord is the absence of harmony. There can be no actual absence of good, any more than there can be an actual absence of light, or of harmony. There can be a place condition where two things do not make four. The belief that "two times two make five" is the absence of understanding. But two times two do not make five, hence it is non-existent. No evil is non-existent for it has no truth, it exists nowhere except as a false belief.

Men of Saint John. A. L. W. HOLDER.

Frank W. Holder, contractor, was born at Westfield, Kings county, son of the late John Holder, and is of Loyalist descent. Mr. Holder is the youngest, save one, of a family of fourteen. His father, who was engaged in agricultural pursuits, sold his farm at Westfield and removed to Holdenville, where Mr. Holder received practically all of his education. At the age of sixteen, he came to the city and served a three years' apprenticeship in carpentry with James Shearer, and then went to Nerepis and other places, where he engaged in house building for the next two years, when he returned to St. John, taking up contracting and building. This he also continued two years, at the end of which he entered the employ of Miller & Woodman as millwright, remaining with them about three years, when he accepted a position with the Hilyards. But six months later he again took up building, and went to Woodstock shortly after that town had been swept by fire, and erected a number of large buildings. After spending some time there he returned to St. John, and for two years conducted a retail grocery store on Victoria street. Selling out the business, he again started out as a contractor which he has remained ever since.

Mr. Holder was for five years a member of the old Portland council. After that he went to California, where he remained for thirteen months; and on his return to the city found that St. John and the old town of Portland had been amalgamated. Later on he ran against John McLaughlin, for Stanley ward, and was defeated by a very narrow margin. In 1903, he ran against John McLaughlin for Lorne ward, and has since then been a member of the common council, where from his knowledge of contracting, he has rendered the city good service on several occasions.

In politics he is a staunch member of the Liberal-Conservative party, and has been an active ward worker.

Fraternally, he is a member of Alexandra Temple of Honor, and was at one time connected with old Raab Division, Sons of Temperance. He is also a member of the Odd Fellows. In religion he is a member of the Methodist denomination. He was first married to Eliza Smith, daughter of Joseph Smith of Jerusalem, by whom he had five children—three boys and two girls (one deceased). Twelve years after her death he was again married to the widow of Rev. J. E. Reed, a Free Baptist minister of this city.

SACKVILLE (Bradstreet's). It is impossible that the immense business done throughout Ontario and Quebec during the past season should not have a great effect upon the trade of the country generally, for not only has the total production been large, but prices have held fairly high all through the season. As a result of the total sales made to Canadian butter and cheese men, the farmers are richer by about $30,000,000. The total number of boxes of cheese taken during the year so far was 2,634,767, at an average price of about ten cents per pound, and showing a total value of $21,077,660. The total number of packages of butter purchased was 791,893, at an average price of 21 cents per pound, or $16,429,650. It is safe to say that never in the history of the industry has there been a season throughout which the farmers have been able to get such a high average price for their dairy products.

Col. Sharp, of the Salvation Army, received a letter from Commissioner Eva Booth yesterday in which she stated that she had recovered from her late illness and would soon leave to fulfill engagements in the Omaha and Nebraska. She also expressed kindly remembrances of St. John.

THE KINDERGARTEN WORK Meeting Will be Held Tomorrow to Discuss With City Government and Board of Education—Dr. J. L. Hughes' Address in High School Building Last Evening Was Able Exposition of Kindergarten Principles.

As one result of a meeting last evening here in the interests of kindergartens, there will be a meeting tomorrow afternoon with Dr. J. L. Hughes and members of the city government, the board of education, and in fact all interested in the work, in attendance. The gathering of last night was in the High School building and the audience was by no means a large one. There was considerable regret expressed because of the unavoidable absence of Dr. Inch, chief superintendent of education, and other members of the board. Those who were privileged to be present, however, heard an address that for incisiveness and expert knowledge of kindergarten affairs has probably never been equalled in this city. Dr. Hughes is the superintendent of education in Toronto, and for fully thirty years he has given attention to the development and education of the young. Mayor White presided and with him on the platform were Rev. Gustave Tubbing, Dr. J. W. Daniel, M. P., and Dr. G. U. Hay. The chairman briefly reviewed the commencement and growth of the kindergarten in St. John and called on Mrs. H. H. Pickett to submit her report in connection with free kindergarten in this city. Dr. Hughes was very warmly received. He expressed his gratitude for such a kind reception. He noted that the kindergarten work being carried on in St. John was solely under the direction of women. He felt that men should also interest themselves, for through united effort greater results could be obtained. He had always been a supporter of the ballot for women and could not see why so great a gift should be fixed between the sexes. He had had his attention drawn to the difficulty a female lawyer was having in gaining permission to practice in New Brunswick. He said he believed she should be permitted to practice, for there could be no intelligent reason why she should be debarred. Passing on to matters more directly connected with his presence in the city, Dr. Hughes pointed out the importance of having not only women but men interesting themselves in the healthy physical and mental development of children. The parents had no right to avoid their responsibilities and the harmonious unity of father and mother was essential in properly training daughter and son. Kindergarten was a profound philosophy. Half a century ago it was forbidden in Germany because it taught human liberty, but since the system has been introduced throughout the empire, for the people had come to believe that divinity is in the common people and something not solely confined to the emperor. From Germany the system spread to England and the United States, where its permanent establishment has long been secured. Conservative Boston had awakened to the value and character of such a method of kindergarten as an organic part of the province's school system. It had even penetrated to South America, and the speaker was credited to know that a young lady of St. John had for years been identified with the school in Chile. He had known to Miss Stockton, daughter of Dr. A. A. Stockton, M. P. Kindergarten was a fundamental basis of education. Every child, when it first commenced to manifest itself, exhibited three central and mental tendencies: the thing was the deepest love of the child nature. Another compelling tendency was the love of doing something in co-operation with others. These three elements were intelligently nourished the child would grow toward the divine. By doing one grew. Culture was an excellent quality, but every time it was given at the expense of power such as the three elements made, the child was weakened. The kindergarten principle means a place where the child can grow, where the budding faculties can have free and unrestricted expansion, and where its creative powers might kindle, and one this was accomplished God could do the rest. The old idea of storing a child's mind with theories was being abandoned. There was a change from storing to power. Instead of pouring in, there was a working out. There was a change from receptivity to self activity. The importance of encouraging and stimulating the imagination was now being seen. The new idea was to do good through the child instead of to them. The initiative side was being broken for the creative side. The original power, the individuality were the greatest things in the child. The boy who was passive and who never caused his teacher any difficulty was the best boy in the school according to old ideas, but the best boy of the present time was the active and, perhaps, trouble some child. The old idea was to coerce and restrict, thereby making it impossible for the boy or girl to show any originality. They were crushed. Another fallacy was beating the student. Such a form of brutality, the speaker was thankful to be able to say, was rapidly becoming a thing of the past. By thrashing a bad boy could never be made into a good boy. Thirty years ago it was thought the only way necessary to make a scholar out of a youth was to give him certain information. Then presently pictures and maps were hung on the school room walls, and this was a step in the right direction, but it was not a step far enough. Then articles were made, so that the students could watch the process of construction, which was a most commendable advance.

RULERS OF THE WORLD Meat Eating Nations are the Leaders in Every Branch of Human Achievements.

The ruling nations of the world are meat eaters and history records that they have achieved the greatest human achievements. Vegetarians and food speak may explain this in any way they choose, but the facts remain that the Americans, English, French, Russians and Germans are meat-eating nations, and they are also the most energetic and most progressive nations in the world. The principal food of the heroic Boer soldier, known as Biltong, is a sort of dried beef, affording a great deal of nourishment in a highly concentrated form. The weak races of people are the rice-eating ones, Hindus and Chinese, regarded since the dawn of history as non-progressive, superstitious and inferior physically and mentally to the meat-eating nations who dominate them. The structure of the teeth plainly indicates that human beings should subsist on a variety of food—meat, fruit and grains, and it is unhygienic to confine one's diet to any one of those classes to the exclusion of another. Meat is the most concentrated and most easily digested of foods, but its manner of living is often so unwholesome that the digestive organs refuse to properly digest meat, eggs and similar nutritious and wholesome food, but it is not because such food is unwholesome, but the real reason is that the stomach lacks, from disease or weakness, some necessary digestive element. Hence arising indigestion and, later on, chronic dyspepsia. Nervous people should eat plenty of meat, conservatives should make meat the principal food, hard-working people have to do so, and brain-workers and office men should eat, not so much meat, but at least once a day, and to insure its perfect digestion one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken after meals. Nervous dyspepsia, attacks of stomach, gastritis, sour stomach, gas and acidity are only different names for indigestion, the failure to digest, and the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cures them all because, by affording perfect digestion, the stomach has a chance to rest and recover its natural tone and vigor. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the real household medicine. It is as safe and pleasant for the stomach as the baby as it is for the imperfect digestion of its grand sire. They are not a cathartic, but a digestive, and no pill habit can ever follow their use; the only habit Stuart's Tablets induce is the habit of good digestion and consequently good health.

ALMOST ASPHYXIATED Miss Bertha Watters and Miss Pauline Hayes, two young ladies who reside in J. P. Kelly's house, Marsh Road, had a narrow escape from death yesterday morning.

A new stove had been put in the ladies' room, and shortly before they retired for the night it was lighted. At 10 p. m. Miss Hayes went to bed, and shortly afterwards Miss Watters entered the room. Finding the chamber too hot, she closed all the draughts, and opened the stove door, which she allowed to remain open during the night. About five in the morning the ladies awoke, both very weak. The heavy wind had sent the gas into the closed room, and had not the women awakened when they did, two deaths would probably have occurred from asphyxiation. Miss Watters was the first to arise, but was almost unable to stand. Her friend, seeing her condition, got up to assist her, only to find that she, herself, was in a very weak state. The door of the bedroom was opened and the girls found their way to the kitchen, where both collapsed, and remained unconscious for some time. Miss Hayes, in falling to the floor, struck her head, and the noise of her fall called down other inmates of the house, who with the aid of restoratives, brought the

ALL THE SEASON'S SPORTS

WILL FITZ OR O'BRIEN BE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP.

With Fitzsimmons, the freckled fury of the game of brawls, matched with O'Brien, the artful dodger of the Queensbury arena, the heavyweight situation becomes interesting. It will not be denied that any bout with a former champion of the calibre of Fitzsimmons as one of the contestants at once assumes an importance that does not attach to affairs in which obscure and presumptuous aspirants for the title pose in the limelight. It will not be denied, either, that Fitzsimmons's claim to the title that was discarded by the mighty Jeffries is considerably better than that of Marvin Hart or any other of the youngsters who seem to think a mere claim will suffice.

JOE BOWKER IS THE IDOL OF THE BRITAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—When England has a boxer of ability the Britons regard him with a fondness apt to astonish patrons of pugilism in this country. Charles Mitchell, Jim Corbett, Dick Burge and Pedlar Palmer have all basked in the light of British favor and have been patted and patted on the head in the true British fashion. Now they have passed out of the limelight and the centre of the stage is occupied by a new idol, Joseph Bowker, who, as bantam champion of England, did something that no other British champion ever accomplished, and that is to beat the American champion for the world's title. Englishmen had a good opinion of Bowker previous to that event, but when he beat Frankie Neil decisively for the championship of the world every body in the tight little island simply went mad over Bowker. He is considered the high opinion of his admirers when he easily disposed of Pankey Evans, a challenger for the title.

Wood; manager and captain, W. T. Wood. The manager and captain were not supported. It was decided at this meeting to import no outside players.

ODELL CONTRADICTS HYDE

New York, Nov. 16.—Former Governor Benjamin E. Odell, Jr., and U. S. Senator Obanancy M. Depew, as witnesses before the Armstrong Legislative Insurance Investigation Committee today denied parts of the testimony of James Hyde, in which his name was used. Mr. Odell, in the course of his testimony, called Mr. Hyde's statement "base calumny" and when he was asked whether he directly or indirectly had made charges to have the charter of the Mercantile Trust Company revoked, he said he had not.

Mr. Odell said he had never solicited political contributions, but possibly some monies might have come to him through the national committee of Senator Theodore C. Platt, as the latter had always gathered together the funds in New York state, except in the last year. Justice Ransome, of the U. S. Supreme court, representing George H. Squire, was called and explained Mr. Squire's position. He said Mr. Squire was very ill and it was arranged that his deposition should be taken. Judge Ransome said that he knew of the transactions with which Mr. Squire's name had been connected.

Senator Depew was examined with regard to his syndicate participations and his duties as counsel to the Equitable Society. Regarding the ambassadorship to Paris Senator Depew said Mr. Hyde came to him and solicited his influence to secure the appointment. Senator Depew brought the matter to the attention of the president, although he told Mr. Hyde that he was too young. The senator advocated in the interests of the public the limiting of risks under insurance policies and favored a public audit of the accounts of the companies at stated periods by a chartered accountant. This he thought would obviate many evils that are now frequently brought for an accounting on the part of a policy holder. John Glickert, in charge of the security department of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, told of millions of dollars in loans made at the end of the year in the name of clients of Kahn, Loeb & Co., to comply with the law that the surplus should be invested or to keep down the cash balance. No collateral was sold by the Equitable on these loans and the check which was given for these loans was deposited in the bank and a certificate of deposit received. The check, however, was never cleared and on the first of the year the check would be taken out and the certificate surrendered. These loans were made at the instance of T. D. Jordan, former controller of the Equitable. The ownership of the safe Savarin by the Equitable was taken up with Daniel M. Junk, secretary and treasurer of the safe company on the stand. He said none of the management of the safe received any compensation from the proceeds of the safe. They were employees of the Equitable Life and were paid by the society. Louis M. Bailey, a clerk in the bond and mortgage department of the Equitable, in whose name a trustee account was carried on the books of the society, said he was asked by Mr. Squire to permit the use of his name for this account, but he did not know his purpose. Building operations carried on under his name for the Equitable he could explain only on the ground that an individual could build cheaper than a corporation.

STETSON'S UNCLE TOM'S CABIN SHOW THE BEST

With what are claimed to be the most beautiful stage settings and pictures ever shown in the state, the Stetson revival of Uncle Tom's Cabin, that famous classic of the American stage, is to be given at the York Theatre tonight and Saturday. The play has been seen in every section of the country and in almost every village of the North, East and West. It has had and has retained a popularity never equalled and never known by any other play and now comes in the most complete and fitting ever made for the company's Southern tour, with the most famous voices heard in the old plantation melodias and the old Southern slave songs that long ago touched the heart of a nation, making an effectiveness and realism never before known in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

THE NEPTUNES' BALL

The annual ball of the Neptune Rowing Club, held last night in the assembly rooms of the York Theatre, was in every way a success. Over 200 appliances were received, and the ball room was filled with dancers through the entire sixteen numbers of the programme.

MEETING TOMORROW

At three o'clock tomorrow afternoon a public meeting will be held in the high school building, under the auspices of the board of school trustees, to hear Dr. Hughes of Toronto, and to discuss the question of kindergarten work in this city. There should be a large attendance at this important meeting.

BANK GETS A VERDICT

W. B. Dickson Condemned to Pay $132 to Bank of Yarmouth --- Accommodation Paper at Rate of $40,000 Per Year.

In the county court yesterday afternoon in the case of W. E. Stavert, liquidator of the Bank of Yarmouth, N. S. vs. W. B. Dickson, the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff of $132, the plaintiff's full claim.

After evidence was taken Mr. Jonah moved for a non-suit which was not granted. Mr. Jonah contended that the note was an accommodation note, and that, though the defendant was liable to an innocent holder for value, he was not liable to the Yarmouth bank, because since the defendant had been lending his name to these notes to the amount of about $40,000 a year through according to the evidence, his average purchases amounted to only about $600 annually, and since he was only a country merchant the bank must have known that he was not buying goods to that amount, and hence the bank must have known that the notes were simply for accommodation.

A. A. Wilson, K. C. contra, noted that there was no evidence to support such a claim. Judge Forbes directed a verdict for the plaintiff, and the jury brought it in as told. Mr. Jonah moved that leave be reserved for a new trial or to enter a verdict for the defendant, and leave was reserved.

A. A. Wilson, K. C., and H. H. Pickett were for the plaintiff; W. B. Dickson for the defendant.

SAYS BANK IS SOLVENT

W. E. Stavert Says Bank of Yarmouth Can Pay Depositors All That is Due Them.

It was announced by W. E. Stavert, liquidator of the Bank of Yarmouth, in a case in county court yesterday, that the depositors in the bank would be paid in full, and on this ground he maintained, in the course of cross-examination, that the institution was not insolvent.

Mr. Stavert announced the above while being cross-examined by W. E. Jonah in the suit against Mr. Dickson. Mr. Stavert said later that as soon as authority was received from the Nova Scotia court he was prepared to pay depositors in full, and with interest, if so decided by the court. Unless postponement had taken place the order was made yesterday.

He maintained that as the corporation had its capital and the double liability of its shareholders with which to meet the claims of depositors; it was not insolvent if by drawing on these two sources it was able to pay the creditors in full.

It is learned that at the annual meeting of this association held on the 9th inst., the affairs of the Yarmouth Bank were discussed, and very favorable reference was made to Mr. Stavert's management of the recent liquidation proceedings.

TAMMANY HEELER SKIPS NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 16.—Something of a sensation was created in Justice Davis' branch of the supreme court this afternoon when John Krup, indicted for illegal voting in the recent municipal election, failed to appear for pleading and his attorney expressed ignorance as to his whereabouts. Earlier in the day Krup's release had been secured under increased bail, a $5,000 cash bond being filed. Attorney-General Mayer, who was in court, was indignant at the turn of affairs. To-night the attorney-general made public this statement: "Every effort will be made to ascertain who put up the $5,000 bail and who employed counsel to defend Krup. The failure of Krup to appear in court was as flagrant a defiance of law as I ever heard of. The disappearance of Krup is the best confirmation of the statement made by me in court urging that his bail be increased. I believe there were reasons apart from reasons of his own, why Krup did not appear."

Judge Davis declared the $5,000 bail forfeited. Krup's case was reached at 2 o'clock, but at the request of counsel, was postponed for an hour. At 3 o'clock there was still no sign of the defendant. His lawyers, Abraham Levy and Jerome Deputy, Attorney-General Charles P. Dixon, said they had left him but a short time before and he had assured them he would be in court. Attorney-General Mayer, moving for a forfeiture of bail, declared he was not surprised at the turn of affairs.

"If this defendant has left town," declared the attorney-general, "I know with whom he has been and will know how to proceed. I thought somebody must have been greatly interested in Krup to put up $5,000 bail for him just to secure his liberty for a few hours."

CAPITAL AND SKILL SOLVE THE PROBLEM

More Evidence that St. John Should Give More Attention to Securing Manufacturing Industries---Chances Along the St. John River.

"If we had the capital we could triple the output of our factory, and sell the goods at a profit."

This is the statement made by F. W. Whelpley, of the Whelpley Skate and Manufacturing Company to the Times yesterday. Mr. Whelpley was in the city, and as a result of a previous interview with Thomas McAvity, who is a member of the company, the Times investigated the man from Greenwich, Mr. Whelpley goes from Sydney to Winnipeg to sell skates and the company's trouble now is that it cannot accept all the business offered.

"Between this and next February," said Mr. Whelpley, "I could take orders for three times as many skates for next year as we will make this year. But we haven't the plant to turn them out."

Mr. Whelpley has prepared plans for a new building, which the company hope they will be enabled to build. It is for the new down the centre and machines on each side. At one end would be the stock room and at the other the plating, finishing and shipping room. The raw material would enter at one end and come out at the other end finished articles, in one or other of the forty different varieties of skates they can manufacture.

The company now has 22 names on its payroll and a great boom to Greenwich. With additional capital the output could be tripled or quadrupled, and other lines such as mach and die and press work easily added.

Western Markets

The west is the great shale market, and it is growing. The company make large shipments to Winnipeg. The skating rink in that western country provides one of the chief winter amusements. As soon as there are a few hundred people in a city there is a skating rink in winter. And as the west is growing rapidly, the shale market grows proportionately.

Skates are brought to Greenwich from St. John and shipped from here. The hundreds of cases in which they are shipped are made by A. Cushing & Co., and thus another factory gets additional business.

Until a couple of years ago the capital in the west was not so plentiful. Now they reach out to Winnipeg, and have the same man as manager and investor. Formerly their business was chiefly in the cheaper class of skates; now they make more of the higher priced kind, in which there is a better business.

Their chief competitors are the German manufacturers.

A Bit of History

Some 45 years ago the late J. A. Whelpley started the manufacture of skates at the place.

W. S. HARKINS' RETURN

The sale of seats for the Harkins Company's opening goes merrily on and there is every indication of an S. R. O. house at the Open House on Monday evening next to see the humorous comedy. He came "She Loved Him So," just how much trouble a little perfume and a long hair can make for a loving husband will be shown in "Because She Loved Him So." Hubby dear is entirely innocent of any wrong doing but "wily dear" will not believe it and the object of perfume and a long hair on his coat only go to prove to her that her suspicions are correct. They were placed on Hubby's coat by another and he is not aware that they are there until "wily dear" picks them off. No amount of denial will satisfy "wily dear" that those hairs did not belong to a former sweetheart, and she goes home to mamma. There is young married couples and all that expect to be married. There are many situations just as humorous, and those who enjoy a good laugh can assure themselves that they will have it if they attend the next Open House on Monday evening next.
