A VISIT OF CONDOLENCE

Miss Mattie, gathering peas in the old garden in which vegetables had taken the place of flowers—though here and there a delectable asparagus or rose, or a slim tuft of wall or parterre, testified of the higher estate from which it had fallen—suddenly desisted upon the long red ribbon of road which stretched away into the still distance a moving speck, and a pale flicker of excitement kindled upon her face.

They may turn off the road at the blacksmith's shop. "But they didn't!" she exclaimed with thrilling excitement. Catching up her basket of peas, she hurried with to the kitchen.

She looked down upon her basket grimly. "Go 'long, honey," she said, "dey ain't gwai stay to dinner, I lay dey know what good dey can do for deyself."

Four dollars and a half for the claw-foot table in the dining-room, two dollars for the mahogany cabinet, a dollar for the dining-room chairs, thirty cents for the auditions, twenty-five cents for the pair of vases—this was very good for the pair of vases.

It took time for Miss Mattie to take in the question and to arrive at the answer. "These four," she said, "are all the good ones—if you can call these good. The covers of the two in the garret are so worn out."

She darted about the dim old house like a mammoth butterfly. Miss Mattie, dashed delightedly following—rather than leading. In her slow-moving mind (in ten years she had not learned to call Anna Harding by her new name) credence lagged behind experience.

In a way obscurely personal it flattered her—almost as she might have been flattered by praise (if such a thing were possible) for her hand or eyes or hair. They were not to her possessions, the things her visitor gazed upon, save in the sense almost precisely that of a bird's nest.

She led Miss Mattie back into the parlor. "May I have a little more light?" she said. Miss Mattie assenting, she threw open the blinds, admitting an unbridled stream upon the faded furnishings of the room.

There was, there was blue china, with the right duck-egg complexion of ground glass and pattern, cups, saucers, plates and bowls; there were quaint wine-glasses and decanters and dishes of cut glass—And a pewter tea-set! What will you take for that, Miss Mattie?

"I don't know, after all," said Anna Harding, "whether I can resist this dear, diamond-paned press. I could sell the one I have, and—What would you take for it, Miss Mattie?"

"It's the bed he died in!" she said, "I couldn't—"

"Oh, no," said the other carelessly, "but the wagon is nearly as comfortable as that antiquated carriage of ours (country carriages are such marvelous things, aren't they?) and it holds so much more. It positively breaks my heart to leave anything behind, but I'll send over for the rest in the morning."

"I understand, it is to be sold Tuesday," Anna Harding said. "Dear, dear! how you must hate to part with them! It would simply break my heart, I know, but if you must sell them, I positively must have that lyre-back furniture, and the mahogany cabinet, and that corner table and those dining chairs, and these Chippendale chairs, and these brass andirons—I don't know what else I must have."

STREET RAILWAY LIABLE

Some amusement was caused a couple of years or more ago by the contention of the superintendent of the waterworks that a break in the main on Mill street, flooding the premises of the Canadian Drug Co. was due to electrolysis, the current from the street railway wires having been in some way diverted and caused the trouble. The contention of Mr. Murdoch was not seriously contradicted, but no action was taken in the matter. In view of this incident in St. John the following from the Toronto Globe will be read with interest:

"The conclusions arrived at by the expert employed by the city and the Consumers' Gas Company jointly are that damage to water and gas mains by electrolysis at specified locations in the city has been discovered and that the cause of such damage is undoubtedly due to the street railway currents. Two prime causes, in the opinion of the expert, operate to divert the returning trolley current into the water and gas mains under the prevailing single trolley and rail return system used by the railway company: (1) The deterioration of bonds at the rail joints in several streets, notably the well-known tracks and crossings on King and Queen streets, and (2) the most unusual practice of bonding mains to rails in the 'negative' areas. No permission has been given the railway company to do any bonding of this kind to either water or gas mains, and in only one or two instances has it been given to bond the mains to the rails in the 'positive' area of the vicinity of the power house.

"In view of the entire situation, it is therefore, clear that responsibility for all damage caused by electrolysis in the city rests with the railway company. The city of Toronto and the Consumers' Gas Company should be reimbursed for the cost of repairs by reason of breaks in the mains and service pipes through electrolysis, and they also should be reimbursed for the cost of replacing portions of the mains now known to be so damaged as to be unsafe and unfit for the purpose intended. The water mains discovered to be in this condition up to June 9 were: Bertram's shippard, 200 feet 6 inches cast iron and 25 feet 2 inches cast iron; Lake Shore road, 1,000 feet 6 inch cast iron; High Park, 200 feet 4-inch; Front street, 100 feet 12-inch cast iron.

"Also that reimbursement of costs to both the water department and Gas Company should be made for placing protecting devices on such mains. No estimate of the damage to the joints of the mains has been made, as they are inaccessible, or of damage to those mains near the waterfront of the city in the extreme part near the Woodbine, which while in danger have not been in use for a sufficient length of time to show failure from electrolysis. In view of the fact that electrolysis is going on upon both water and gas mains at the places yet to be discovered and that the full extent cannot be determined in a brief examination, no settlement made by the railway company with the city or Gas Company should be considered as conclusive or final.

"It is recommended that the water department and Consumers' Gas Company tender bills to the Railway Company covering the cost of mains damaged as specified in the report, and that the railway company be requested to forthwith remove all bonds or connections between the mains and rails in the 'negative' area of the city. These bonds at present are useful only to the Railway Company in converting the piping systems of the two corporations into a more convenient and less costly method of returning currents to their power house than by overhead copper feeders, and is a positive detriment to the mains, but it is advised that in the 'positive' district near the power house they be not disturbed for the present. While these recommendations will produce an improvement no complete cure may be expected unless the method of operating the railway is changed to an insulated return, such as the double trolley."

DONE IN TWO YEARS

The Evening Times takes second place among St. John newspapers, in the opinion of a New York advertiser "who has had a good deal of experience in dealing with and valuing newspapers." So says Printers' Ink, an authority, in a long article on St. John papers, in which it speaks most appreciatively of the Times, and quotes the advertiser in question. It submitted samples of all the St. John papers to him and asked him to classify them. He did so in this order—Telegraph, Times, Star, Globe and Sun. Printers' Ink printed its article without any reference to the feelings or opinions of the publishers of this or any other paper. It is an authority on newspapers, and is not influenced by anything but a desire to present the case fairly and squarely. Therefore its views are of great value.

In less than two years the Times has reached second place among St. John newspapers. It has a daily circulation of over seven thousand copies, and prints daily the undisputed statement of fact that it has the largest circulation in the afternoon field.

These facts, and the comments of Printers' Ink, of which a portion is printed on the eighth page of this issue, are worthy of the attention of foreign as well as local advertisers.

CHINA'S AWAKENING

The development of China, and of trade relations between that country and Japan is one of the features of world-interest that is attracting much attention. Regarding this subject Bradstreet's says:—"At frequent intervals we are confronted with conclusive evidence, developed on the ground by competent observers, that China is certainly awakening. Only a short time ago we read of the spread of newspaper literature in the more progressive sections of the empire, and now our vice-consul at Poochow tells us that all China is at present clamoring for western knowledge. According to the vice-consul, the Chinese are not to be satisfied with books alone, but must have the apparatus with which modern schools are equipped. In the language of our consular representative, they want gymnasium supplies, military school supplies, scientific apparatus, and even modern musical instruments. The cheaper grades are preferred for the time being. The Japanese are meeting the demand, and the schools are being filled with cheap Japanese-made charts, maps and apparatus of all sorts well adapted to the present experimental stage. In order to compete with the Japanese, American merchants must study the wants of the people by sending properly trained representatives to measure conditions."

It is very gratifying to observe that so large a delegation of St. John business men are in attendance at the annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade at Amherst. Many matters of general interest to the welfare of the maritime provinces will be discussed, and the opportunity for an exchange of views and getting each other's point of view is one that seldom comes under such favorable auspices. There is so much reason now that the maritime provinces should be in sympathetic touch relative to matters of national concern that all such meetings as those of the Maritime Board assume a new significance.

The meeting of King Edward and Emperor William naturally excites interest. The king has materially aided in cementing the friendship of England and France, and the emperor has lately paid considerable attention to representatives of the French nation. The political outlook in Europe at the present time, outside Russia, is decidedly peaceful.

Either the population of St. John is growing, or a larger proportion of the children are attending the high school. The school accommodation is increasing year by year, but the demand for more is still apparent, and with compulsion, attendance there must, in a year or two, be an addition to the number of school buildings in the city.

The Moncton city council is in favor of a rigid enforcement of the Scott Act. Should Magistrate Kay's decision to imprison violators be sustained, and the council still be of its present mind, there should be no serious difficulty.

The failure of the general strike in Russia has been followed by a period of comparative quiet, and an apparent strengthening of the influence of the government. For the moment there is no indication of a revolutionary movement.

The announcement that Chicago has forty-five miles of underground railway for freight business marks the completion of another great project in that city of wonderful developments.

THE FAR COUNTRY In a letter from Edmund Clarence Steadman to Miss Florence Wilkinson, whose poems are attracting more and more attention, the venerable poet and critic writes:—"Last evening I made some acquaintance with your rich collection of lyrics and ballads. 'The Far Country.' Indeed I have always been a reader of your contributions to the magazines, and of course could not have failed to recognize the lyrical gift which you have so abundantly and abundantly at your command. My enjoyment of your work, I am sure, has been shared by a multitude of others. Messrs. McClure, Phillips & Company are Miss Wilkinson's publishers."

Two men were undergoing civil service examinations in New York city for jobs in the fire department. Among the questions to be answered was one of a rather complicated character regarding municipal government. One candidate answered: "What's that to do with equipping a horse?" The other man wrote in answer to the same question, "I don't know, but I want the job." Both men passed.—Chicago Journal.

"But why do you interfere always to remain unmarried?" they asked the bachelor philosopher. "Because," he replied, "troubles never come singly."

A NICE DISTINCTION.

"Pop, I want to know one thing." "Yes, my son." "Would you call writers on etiquette civil authorities?"

PROBABLY.

"Who was it said I am monarch of all I survey, my right there is none to dispute?" "I don't know; some single man, probably."

THAT'S TRUT.

"Explain," said the teacher to the class, "the difference between 'the quick' and 'the dead.'" "Please, sir," answered Johnnie, "the quick is them as gets out of the way of motor cars, and the dead is them as doesn't."

POLITE BOY.

"I hope, my little man," said the old gentleman, kindly, "that as you grow older you will improve in knowledge, wisdom and virtue." "Thank you, sir. The same to you, sir."

RATHER RISKY.

"Don't you think, Mr. Potts, that you are rather unkind to your child in naming him Marcus Tullius?" "I don't see how. Marcus Tullius was a great man."

A SERIOUS AFFRAY

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. Aug. 14.—Evidently angered because of a search made among their ranks to apprehend a negro who attacked Mrs. Leon Vane, at her home here last night and who, she asserted was a negro soldier, members of a battalion of negro Federal troops stationed at Fort Brown, near here, entered Brownsville today, became unruly and fired several volleys down Main street. As a result Frank Natus, a barkeeper, is dead and Policeman Joseph Domingo is wounded, his arm and hand shattered by a bullet. His horse was shot from under him.

DOMINION CONVENTION VOTES AS UNIT FOR SELF GOVERNMENT

They Believe that Municipal Union is Proper Cure for Monopolies--Toronto's Mayor is Critical--Mayor Sears Applauded for Paper on Value of Tourist Associations.

HALIFAX, Aug. 15. - The Dominion convention of the representatives of Canadian municipalities opened here yesterday afternoon. The mayor of Halifax welcomed the delegates and Mayor Sharpe of Winnipeg made a happy reply. W. D. Lighthall, ex-mayor of Westmount, read the president's address in the absence of ex-Mayor Richard of Toronto. He advocated home rule for municipalities and the supreme rights of the governing bodies of the cities and towns in their own sphere. The theme of public utilities was theirs by right and that right should be safeguarded.

Mayor Fleming of Brandon spoke on the Benefits of the Canadian Union. He expressed the opinion that there should be a federation of municipal unions with the central Dominion organization. Mayor Ellis of Ottawa endorsed the suggestion. Mayor Costworth of Toronto, who followed, was critical of the union, which, he declared, was nothing more than a "rope of sand" in Toronto's fight against the telephone monopoly. Toronto had taken up the fight against the Bell Telephone Company at the last session of parliament because it was forced to do so, and he regretted to say that the union did not give the assistance desired on such an occasion. No municipality outside of Toronto was more interested in the matter than Montreal, which city came nobly to the rescue. Mr. Lighthall, secretary, did his best to assist in fighting the Bell Telephone Company, but outside of Montreal he got no assistance. Subsequently, he said, he had been in Halifax and Brandon rendered assistance. Alderman Sanderson of Winnipeg said the mayor of Toronto was "away off," the whole of Manitoba had fought the Bell Company.

Ex-Mayor Dyke, of Fort William, pointed out that most of the work had been done by the municipalities. He did not think the union only a rope of sand, as stated by Mayor Costworth. He hoped the remark would not be taken as an advertisement in the newspaper. The discussion was continued by Mayor Sharpe of Winnipeg, Comptroller Ward of Toronto, Fred Cook, Ottawa, Ald. Johnson, Halifax; Mayor Oliver, Sherbrooke, and Mayor Judd, London. Mayor Sears, who spoke highly of the paper by Mayor Fleming, he had often, he said, felt the need of an organization like that of the municipal union. It is a young institution but it is closely associated with the west. It breathes its spirit and what the west does it does with edge-hammer force. The municipal union had come into being at a fit and proper time. It stands on principles that are just and honorable and marks a conviction that we must bear ourselves against the power of wealth and monopoly. He believes that the union would be productive of great good in the future. Mayor Sears spoke of the highly successful railway crossings in St. John, which the city had been unable to overcome. At the evening sitting, which was short, for the union adjourned early for a public gardens concert given in its honor, the following resolution was moved by Mayor Oliver, of Sherbrooke, and seconded by Mayor Sears, of St. John, and was unanimously adopted: "That in the opinion of this union, when gates, subways or elevated tracks are required for the protection of the public at the intersection of tracks and highways, the cost of the same should be borne by the railway companies exclusively. And further, that no level crossings should be permitted to remain in closely populated districts, and that the execution of the same should be a matter to the attention of the public authorities."

The resolution was strongly supported by Mayor Sears and Alderman Lockart of St. John; Mayor Judd, of London; Alderman McEwen, of Toronto, and others. Mayor Sears was then called to the platform for an address on the Value of a Tourist Association. The speaker began with appropriate references to the growing traveling habit and the increasing objects of a tourist association was first country and to educate the people as to the value of their country and to help develop its attractions for the visitor. Mayor Sears proceeded in a most interesting and graphic way to tell of the manifold details of the work of the local tourist association. It seeks to instill a sense of improvement and progress as well as safeguard historic sentiment and its objects. The conclusion of the reading of the paper was greeted by applause, and it was ordered that the paper be printed with the proceedings.

STABBED WITH A JACK KNIFE Charles Myers, a Lad, was Stabbed by his Young Playmate Yesterday Afternoon.

Little Charlie Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Myers, died miserably of a stab wound in a serious condition at his home as the result of a knife wound inflicted by his playmate Frank Cullinan, nine years of age, a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cullinan, of 20 Celebration street. The trouble occurred about noon yesterday at the corner of Stanley and the streets, and from what can be learned the difficulty arose over a dog and a cat. The two boys with others in the neighborhood play in the vicinity of Patchell's corner. Mrs. Cullinan says her son Frank was playing with young Myers and left him to go into Patchell's store and following him with a cat. Cullinan said that Myers struck her boy knocking him down and picked up a stone to strike the cat. Jumping up, Frank Cullinan, holding a jack-knife out before him, informed Myers that he would cut the dog. It is then said that Myers cornered him and ran into the knife, the blade penetrating between Myers' ribs.

Little Myers, who was very weak last night, said that he was playing about Celebration street with Frank Myers about 12 o'clock and with them was a dog, the property of George K. Kennedy, of 77 Summer street. Cullinan said that Myers had seen, picked up a stone and struck Myers on the leg and this occasioned Myers to strike him. He says he then turned to leave and had reached the corner of Winter and Stanley streets when he heard Frank Cullinan coming behind him and striking him with the knife. Cullinan says, he then ran home and Myers said that he did not at first realize what had happened.

He noticed, however, a cut in his cloth blouse and ran home and on arriving in the kitchen fell down and bled. His blouse shows a clean cut of about an inch in the right side and his other clothing was saturated with blood.

THE SECOND-MARSHAL CASE The Second-Marshall case was before the police court from 9 to 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The evidence of Oscar Peters, George Nelson, Henry Gernett, Sumner street, was taken, closing the case for the prosecution. John McCullough, George Bannister, Gilbert W. Shanklin, Arthur Toothill, Wm. Dew and John Newman were witnesses for the defence. Second, the prisoner, also told his story. The stories of the witnesses differed materially. Some upheld Policeman Marshall while others were inclined to take him to task. John Second, the prisoner, said that he had had three glasses of ale and three of Scotch whiskey that afternoon, but he was not drunk. He said that Marshall pulled him out of the cart backwards and started to choke him and he also hit him three or four times over the knuckles with his stick. He did not offer any resistance to his arrest, he said, although the policeman did not tell him what he was being locked up for.

The trial of the election petition against Hon. W. S. Fielding commenced at Liverpool yesterday. Attorney General Macle argued that the court had no jurisdiction, and decision was reserved.

"These dog-days and cat-nights remind one of the horse latitudes so that I shall bid myself to the coast waters and have bulk sent to the country boat used further orders," remarked the foxy old mariner.

SUNBURY IN ARMS ON SEWERAGE MATTER

Lively Session Yesterday when Fredericton's Plan to Drain into St. John River was Discussed

FREDERICTON, Aug. 15.-At a special meeting of the provincial board of health held here yesterday the question of permitting the Fredericton sewage to empty into the St. John river was discussed at length. J. D. Hazen, M. P. P. supported by a strong delegation appeared for Sunbury county. He read opinions of various Sunbury county residents who objected to the sewage discharging into the river. Altogether 178 families have been interviewed, of which 73 reside in the parish of Mousherville, 48 in the parish of Sheffield, 48 in the parish of Burton and 50 in the parish of Lincoln. He pointed out that 453 people use the river water for drinking purposes, 541 use it for household purposes, 596 use it for watering their animals and 500 obtain their ice supply from it. There are 647 people in the four parishes who use water from wells, and 131 heads of families declare that their property will depreciate in value if the sewage goes into the river. If the sewage goes into the river he claimed that farmers living along the banks would be obliged to abandon their farms as their water supply would be cut off.

Mr. Hazen was supported by R. A. Croyley, Mr. Gilbert, Rev. H. E. Dilley, Coun. T. P. Taylor, Coun. Perley, Coun. Wilmot, Warden Murray, Dr. Camp, G. P. McLean, Arthur Glasser, Coun. D. A. Burns and Dr. Atherton. Mayor McNally led the discussion of the city's side of the matter. He said that Fredericton was in the same position as Woodstock which had been dumping sewage into the river for years. City Clerk McCready contended that Fredericton was prevented from draining into the river the same rule should apply to Woodstock, Edmonstone and other river towns. The river water at the present time was unfit to drink.

Engineer Barbour said the objections of the Sunbury delegation were purely sentimental ones. It had been contended that the sewage should be emptied into septic tanks and purified. Septic tanks, he pointed out, were not being built at Fredericton and their use would not obviate the difficulty complained of.

He admitted that plans for the purification of sewage were used in the United States, but only on small streams. The water in the St. John river, he contended was already impure, and the additional amount of sewage from Fredericton would really make no difference. There is no known system which guarantees the entire elimination of bacteria from sewage. The system designed for Fredericton he contended was absolutely modern in every way and the river was sufficiently large to dilute the sewage to the standard which it was necessary to maintain.

As the water is now unfit to drink he said it would be very logical on the part of the board of health to compel Fredericton to purify its sewage.

The board will consider the whole question and announce a decision later.

SECY. ROOT'S TRIP

BUENOS AYRES, Aug. 14.-Despite a heavy down-pour of rain, immense crowds assembled at the docks this morning to witness the arrival of Secretary Root and his party, who were received by the Ministers of Marine and Foreign Affairs, accompanied by Mr. Beaure, the American Minister and his secretary. The visitors were heartily cheered along the line of the route to the palatial residence in the avenue Alvarez, placed at their disposal by Dr. Lohet.

This afternoon Mr. Root exchanged visits with President Alcora, and night attended an official banquet given by the President at Government House.

When Mrs. Flahugh chose the refrigerator with the mirror in the front door of it, Flahugh laughed. "Of course," exclaimed Mrs. Flahugh, "but I had once, 'a man has no interest in saving his wife's steps.'" "Steps, my dear," "But possibly he can appreciate the advantage of her being able to get dinner half again quicker through not having to run to some other part of the house every time she wonders how her hair is looking, or her apron behind, or something." JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 15.—A posse is hunting with dogs for an unknown man who entered the home of Henry Davis, a farmer near Melville, struck him in the head with an axe as he was asleep and made an attempt to criminalize Mrs. Davis. The man occupied through a window. Davis is in a critical condition and his wife collapsed from her desperate fight.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 15.—A special to the State from Greenwood says: "Bob" Davis, a negro who today attempted to criminally assault Miss Josie Brooks, the daughter of J. P. Brooks, a merchant and farmer near this place.

Moncton Man Goes Insane Over Cheap Literature - - - Creamer Family to Leave New Brunswick.

INTERVIEW WITH HON. WM. PUGSLEY

In Connection With His Recent Sale of Land in the Northwest.

OTTAWA, Aug. 6 - Speaking of the report that he had made half a million dollars on his western railway and land investment, New Brunswick Attorney General Pugsley, admitted he had done pretty well, though he had not made as much as the newspapers represented. He thought he deserved to make something, as he had the land a long time at a great inconvenience, but he would not say more if he had not in the last few years sold a great deal of land, particularly lots in western Canada. He had sold some for $25 per lot, which were worth four times and five times as much. Out of the bank which he had disposed of he withheld some in a certain western town reducing his share by $2,000. A part of these had since been sold for $2,000. Mr. Pugsley is sorry he let his Saskatchewan lots go, but philosophically observes: "Always willing to let the other fellow make something out of my Alberta."

Saskatoon lots, particularly those for sale by the Northwestern Land & Investment Co., Canada Life Building, are an splendid investment. Only a few remain and these can be purchased at $115, on the easy terms of payment of $10 down and $5.00 per month.

Hygienic Linen Mesh Next the Skin for Warm Weather.

DURING THE YEARS we have been selling this world-renowned class of Underwear, we have enjoyed the patronage of very many people in St. John and vicinity, who wear no other undergarments - Shirts and Drawers - but those of Dr. Deimel's make. These people are not faddists, but have proved unquestionably the advantage of wearing pure porous linen next the skin. They claim for Linen-Mesh goods an absolute freedom from that "felty" condition, so common in woollen goods after washing; a grateful, comforting, non-irritating "feel," with a most conspicuous characteristic as to ventilation, due to the porous condition of the weave. Dr. Deimel's is in reality "breathing clothing" for the whole body - never growing clammy or uncomfortable, and always imparting to the wearer a cool free-and-easy sensation. It is sold in various sizes, and in two weights. We also sell Night Shirts of it, and Half Hose. Those interested in this Pure Linen crusade of Dr. Deimel will be supplied with literature, and shown the goods at any business hour in our Underwear Section, Men and Boys' Clothing Department.

We Can Tell You of Leading Citizens Who Wear the Dr. Deimel Goods.
