G. W. V. A. Concert

The concert given under the auspices of the Bay Roberts Branch, Great War Veterans Assn., in Cable Hall on Tuesday night, June 3rd, met with the success such a worthy cause deserved. The musical programme was of unusual interest and was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the large audience. Election counts were given by Mr. J. Ploughman as they came in. The proceeds of the entertainment will be donated to the Local War Memorial. Owing to lack of space we will publish the programme next week's issue.

Celebrates Victory

On Tuesday night the supporters of the Liberal-Conservative Party in Upper Island Cove held a demonstration in honor of the great victory won at the polls in the recent election.

For hours volleys of musketry could be heard sounding from cove to cove. Strings of flags were flying from the principal places and great rejoicing was in evidence. At Spaniard's Bay hunting was flying and great enthusiasm prevailed. The people of Upper Island Cove, Spaniard's Bay and throughout the district, have ample cause for rejoicing for by their own choice they have placed in power a party which will endeavor to give every man, regardless of his station or class, a square deal.

Thanks Girl Guides

(Editor the Guardian.)

Dear Sir: Please publish the enclosed letter on behalf of the War Veterans and the War Memorial Committee. The sentiment expressed in the correspondence is warmly appreciated by both branches and I feel sure that when the time comes for donations to the War Memorial the citizens of Bay Roberts and vicinity will not be backward in responding.

LUCY GRAHAM'S SECRET

(Continued.) 'Take the boy away, Mrs. Plowson,' he said, after a pause; 'take him away and put his things on. He is going with Mr. Audley.'

'Which I do say that it's not kind of the gentleman to take his poor grandpa's pet away,' Mrs. Plowson exclaimed, suddenly, with respectful indignation.

'Hush, Mrs. Plowson,' the old man answered, piteously; 'Mr. Audley is the best judge. I—I haven't many years to live; I sha'n't trouble anybody long.'

The tears oozed slowly through the dirty fingers with which he shaded his blood-shot eyes, as he said this.

'God knows, I never injured your friend, sir,' he said, by-and-by, when Mrs. Plowson and George had returned, 'nor even wished him any ill. He was a good son-in-law to me—better than many a son. I never did any wilful wrong, sir. I—I spent his money, perhaps, but I am sorry for it—I am very sorry for it now. But I don't believe he is dead—no, sir; no, I don't believe it!' exclaimed the old man, dropping his hand from his eyes, and looking with new energy at Robert Audley. 'I—I don't believe it, sir! How—how should he be dead?'

Robert did not answer this eager questioning. He shook his head mournfully, and, walking to the little window, looked out across a row of straggling geraniums at the dreary patch of waste ground on which the children were at play.

Mrs. Plowson returned with little George muffled in a coat and comforter, and Robert took the boy's hand.

The little fellow sprung toward the old man, and clinging about him, kissed the dirty tears from his faded cheeks.

'Don't be sorry for me, gran'pa,' he said; 'I am going to school to learn to be a clever man, and I shall come home to see you and Mrs. Plowson, sha'n't I,' he added, turning to Robert.

'Yes, my dear, by-and-by.' 'Take him away, sir—take him away,' cried Mr. Maldon; 'you are breaking my heart.'

The little fellow trotted away contentedly at Robert's side. He was very well pleased at the idea of going to school, though he had been happy enough with his drunken old grandfather, who had always displayed a maudlin affection for the pretty child, and had done his best to spoil George, by letting him have his own way in everything; in consequence of which indulgence, Master Talboys had acquired a taste for late hours, hot suppers of the most indigestible nature, and sips of rum-and-water from his grandfather's glass.

He communicated his sentiments upon many subjects to Robert Audley, as they walked to the Dolphin Hotel; but the barrister did not encourage him to talk.

It was no very difficult matter to find a good school in such a place as Southampton. Robert Audley was directed to a pretty house between the Bar and the Avenue, and leaving George to the care of a good-natured waiter, who seemed to have nothing to do but to look out of the window, and whisk invisible dust off the brightly polished tables, the barrister walked up the High street toward Mr. Marchmont's academy for young gentlemen.

He found Mr. Marchmont a very sensible man, and he met a file of orderly-looking young gentlemen walking toward under the escort of a couple of ushers as he entered the house.

He told the schoolmaster that little George Talboys had been left in his charge by a dear friend, who had sailed for Australia some months before, and whom he believed to be dead. He confided him to Mr. Marchmont's especial care, and he further requested that no visitors should be admitted to see the boy unless accredited by a letter from himself. Having arranged the matter in a very few business-like words he returned to the hotel to fetch George.

He found the little man on intimate terms with the idle waiter, who had been directing Master George's attention to the different objects of interest in the High street.

Poor Robert had about as much notion of the requirements of a child as he had of those of a white elephant. He had catered for silkworms, guinea-pigs, dormice, canary-birds, and dogs, without number, during his boyhood, but he had never been called upon to provide for a young person of five years old.

He looked back five-and-twenty years, and tried to remember his own diet at the age of five.

'I've a vague recollection of getting a good deal of bread and milk and boiled mutton,' he thought; 'and I've another vague recollection of not liking them. I wonder if this boy likes bread and milk and boiled mutton.'

He stood pulling his thick mustache and staring thoughtfully at the child for some minutes before he could get any further.

'I dare say you're hungry, Georgey?' he said at last.

The boy nodded, and the waiter whisked some more invisible dust from the nearest table as a preparatory step toward laying a cloth.

'Perhaps you'd like some lunch?' Mr. Audley suggested, still pulling his mustache.

The boy burst out laughing. 'Lunch!' he cried. 'Why, it's afternoon, and I've had my dinner.'

Robert Audley felt himself brought to a standstill. What refreshment could he possibly provide for a boy who called it afternoon at three o'clock?

'You shall have some bread and milk, Georgey,' he said, presently. 'Waiter, bread and milk, and a pint of hock.'

Master Talboys made a wry face. 'I never have bread and milk,' he said; 'I don't like it. I like what gran'pa calls something savory. I should like a veal cutlet. Gran'pa told me he dined here once, and the veal cutlets were lovely, gran'pa said. Please may I have a veal cutlet, with egg and bread-crumbs, you know, and lemon-juice you know?' he added to the waiter: 'Gran'pa knows the cook here. The cook's such a nice gentleman, and once gave me a shilling, when gran'pa brought me here. The cook wears better clothes than gran'pa—better than yours, even,' said Master Georgey, pointing to Robert's rough great-coat with a depreciating nod.

Robert Audley stared aghast. How was he to deal with this epicure of five years old, who rejected bread and milk and asked for veal cutlets? 'I'll tell you what I'll do with you little Georgey,' he exclaimed, after a pause—'I'll give you a dinner.'

The waiter nodded briskly. 'Upon my word, sir,' he said, approvingly, 'I think the little gentleman will know how to eat it.'

'I'll give you a dinner, Georgey,' repeated Robert—'some stewed eels, a little Julienne, a dish of cutlets, a bird, and a pudding. What do you say to that, Georgey?'

'I don't think the young gentleman will object to it when he sees it, sir,' said the waiter. 'Eels, Julienne, cutlets, bird, pudding—I'll go and tell the cook, sir. What time, sir?'

'Well, we'll say six, and Master

Georgey will get to his new school by bedtime. You can contrive to amuse the child for this afternoon, I dare say. I have some business to settle, and sha'n't be able to take him out. I shall sleep here to-night. Good-by, Georgey; take care of yourself and try and get your appetite in order against six o'clock.'

Robert Audley left the boy in charge of the idle waiter, and strolled down to the water side, choosing that lonely bank which leads away under the moldering walls of the town toward the little villages beside the narrowing river. (To be continued.)

HOW DID YOU DIE?

Did you tackle the trouble that came your way With a resolute heart and cheerful? Or hide your face from the light of day

With a craven soul and fearful? Oh, a trouble's a ton or a trouble's an ounce.

Or a trouble is what you make it, And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts.

But only how did you take it? You are beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that? Come up with a smiling face, It's nothing against you to fall down flat

But to lie there—that's disgrace. The harder you're thrown, why, the harder you bounce.

Be proud of your blackened eye. It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts;

It's how did you fight—and why? And though you be done to death, what then, If you battled the best you could, If you played your part in the world of men,

Why, the critic will count it good. Death comes with a crawl, or comes with a pounce, And whether he's slow or spry, It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts,

But only, how did you die?

OBITUARY

There passed peacefully away on May 13th at 7 a.m., after a lingering illness, Katie, beloved daughter of Elizabeth and the late Edward Russell, aged 17 years and 10 months.

The deceased had been ill for two months but her passing came as a shock to her many friends. She was a great sufferer but bore it all without a murmur. As she drew near to the end she wore a smile as she wished her loved ones good-bye. She was well-known and loved by all who knew her.

The funeral took place from her late residence Bay Roberts West on Saturday, May 17th, at 11 a.m. to the Methodist cemetery, Coley's Pt., Rev. S. Baggs officiating. The Salvation Army Bible Class of which deceased young lady was a member, attended the funeral.

She leaves to mourn a sorrowing mother, one sister, Florence, two brothers, Cecil, now residing in Chelsea, Mass., U.S.A., and Willie, one step-sister, Rebecca, and one step-brother, Alexander, now residing in Chelsea, Mass. Also another step-sister, Mrs. Nehemiah Hicks, of Lynn, Mass., and two step-brothers, Messrs. Robert and Isaac Russell, of Lynn and Chelsea, Mass., besides a large number of friends who will learn with sorrow of her demise.

One we loved has left our circle For the dark and silent tomb; Closed her eyes in death's slumber, Faded in her womanhood's bloom.

Ah! Heaven retaineth now our treasures, Earth alone the caskets keep; But the sunbeams love to linger Where our dearest loved ones sleep.

Hard Work Means Success

There never was a goal worth getting but you must work to attain. You must suffer and bleed for it, cling to your creed for it. Fail and go at it again.

Success is no whim of the moment, no crown for the indolent brow. He who seeks to be master must rise from disaster. Must take as he giveth the blow.

There's no royal highway to splendour, no short cut to fortune or fame. You must fearlessly fight for it, dare to be right for it, Failing, yet playing the game.

The test of man's merit is trouble, the proof of his work a distress. Much as you long for it, man must be strong for it. Work is the door to success.

HEALTH is the greatest blessing in the world. If you are HEALTHY you can work hard but not otherwise. HARD WORK means SUCCESS but you will NEVER be able to work very hard without HEALTH and STRENGTH.

NOTICE To Owners and Masters of British Ships

The attention of Owners and Masters of British Ships is called to the 74th Section of the "Merchant Shipping Act, 1894."

75.—(1) A Ship belonging to a British Subject shall hoist the proper national colors—

(a) on a signal made to her by one of His Majesty's ships, including any vessel under the command of an officer of His Majesty's navy or full pay, and

(b) on entering or leaving any foreign port and

(c) if of fifty tons gross tonnage or upwards, on entering or leaving any British Port.

(2) If default is made on board any ship in complying with this section the master of the ship shall for each offence be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds.

At time of war it is necessary for every British Ship to hoist the colours and heave to if signalled by a British Warship; if a vessel hoists no colours and runs away, it is liable to be fired upon.

- 1st. The manager in charge of factory must see that the livers are fresh; that all brown or poor livers are thrown out; that there is no gall bladder attached to any livers. 2nd. The good livers must then be washed in a tub of clean fresh water. 3rd. The pan in which the livers are boiled must be perfectly clean inside, before any livers are placed in it. 4th. Before you start to boil any livers, you must have sufficient steam. 5th. Turn on the steam, and use as much as you need to have for the quantity of livers you have in your pan. Boil until the white scum floats off (which will take about thirty minutes.) Don't forget to stir the livers, and see that those in the bottom and those around the sides are brought into direct contact with the steam all the time. 6th. Turn the steam off, and allow all to settle, not exceeding five minutes, according to capacity of liver boiler. 7th. Then you dip all the oil you can get, which is the finest white oil. Put this in a cooling tank made of galvanized iron, and let the oil remain there till next morning. Don't forget to put a straining cloth over the cooling tank before you put any oil in, so that it will catch any bits of blubber; allow to remain 12 or 14 hours or longer if possible, then dip from cooling tank and strain through double calico bag, inside bag to be one inch smaller all around; then strain into a tin shute under the bags, the cask to be at the end of the shute with a funnel, to lead oil into casks, which funnel to be covered with canvas cloth. 8th. When you have dipped the finest oil from the top of the liver oiler pan, take all the blubber from the pan while it is warm. The oil from this blubber is not fit for medicinal purposes. 9th. Then clean your liver pan with warm water and washing powder. Have it bright and clean for the next boiling. 10th. Every bag, cloth, tank, funnel and pan, must be washed only with warm water, soap and water. Soda must not be used. The best results for medicinal oil can only be obtained by the use of tin barrels. Wooden packages generally make the oil dark, and destroy its fine flavor. Keep all oil in barrels in a cool place, and covered from the sun.

REGULATIONS For Salting Scotch Pack Herring

One barrel salt to five and a half barrels herring—Large Fulls One barrel salt to six barrels herring—Medium Fulls. One barrel salt to six and a half barrels herring—Matt Fulls. This amount of salt is for dredging and laying on rows only. It does not take into account that put on the herring before gibbing. All salt falling off herring in rousing tubs is put on rows as you pack unless very dirty or sealy; in that case, you have to make good the same amount, or otherwise you could not have any fixed rule on salt. Matt Fulls..... 10 1/2 inches long..... Milt or roe Medium Fulls. ... 11 1/2 inches long..... Milt or roe Large Fulls..... 12 1/2 inches long and upwards. Milt or roe Medium Filling..... 11 1/2 inches long and upward Large Filling..... 12 1/2 inches long and upwards Filling Fish may be branded as Scotch Cure without the Crown Brand No drowned, stale, or scaleless herring can be used as Scotch Pack, nor herring in half frozen state. The root cause of light salting is to come as near as possible to the pleasing of the palate of the consumer; and if we bear in mind that over three-fourths of all Scotch-Pack Herring are consumed as a tonic before the mid-day meal, just as they come out of the barrel, without any fire cooking, we can see the reason at a glance for the right salting. The herring is dressed by the head and the tail being cut off, the main bone taken out. It is then cut into squares of about one inch, and is served with vinegar and other condiments. This gives power to the stomach to digest the following meal and keeps the consumer in the best of health. People with bad stomachs please note that the art of cooking and eating right is just as essential as the art of curing; and based on the best medical directions, and with the chemical analysis of the constituent parts of herring as a food ever kept before the consumer, we need not be surprised that the people who eat most herring are the most healthy and efficient.

F. GORDON BRADLEY, LL.B., Barrister-at-Law, Solicitor, etc. RENOUF BUILDING, Duckworth Street, ST. JOHN'S. P. O. BOX 1370.

C. L. B. Notes.

Empire Day was fittingly celebrated by H. Co., C.L.B. Cadets at Bay Roberts, as the Rev. E. M. Bishop, Rector, and Major John Dawe, O.C., had arranged for the annual inspection on Saturday, May 24th. Lt.-Col. Walter F. Rendell, C.B.E., Officer Commanding 1st Nfld. Regiment, C.L.B. Cadets was inspection officer, with Brigadier Major Williams as Chief of Staff. These officers went to Bay Roberts specially for the duty on Saturday morning and were the guests of Major John and Mrs. Dawe, Bay Roberts. H. Company was organized in 1913, and is now eleven years old and yearly gaining in usefulness and efficiency as one of the bright spots in the parish organization as a means of moral and physical training. The inspection took place at 8 p.m. at their headquarters in the large store kindly placed at their disposal by the courtesy of Major Dawe's firm. The officers, N.C.O.'s and Quartermaster, have special rooms fitted up for their respective use.

The following officers were on duty, the Rector, Rev. E. M. Bishop and Major John Dawe, Officers Commanding, Captain N. French, Adjutant, Lieut. Charles Butt, R. J. Mercer, 2nd Lieut. Reuben Parsons, and Sergt. Major Smith. Total strength 83, with following ranks on parade, 5 officers, 2 Warrant Officers, 7 N.C.O.'s, and 56 lads. Total 70—an excellent showing! Corporal W. J. Mercer has been awarded a ten year gold good conduct-long service medal which will be officially presented in a few days. A brass band of twelve instruments under Bandmaster Smith are doing good work. Weekly parades are held regularly. After the inspection on the parade ground opposite the rectory, by the Lieut.-Col. the Company marched back to their Headquarters where Lieut.-Col. Rendell addressed the parade and extended his congratulations on their progress and efficiency. He also gave the lads good sound advice on discipline and loyalty which was keenly listened to. His address was followed by Brigadier Major Williams, who spoke of his visit two years ago to the Company and who was pleased to see Bay Roberts Company carrying on so well and making increased progress in Brigade duty. He called forward Pte. Raymond Mercer, the winner of the silver cup of 1922, as the lad who had won the most points that year and personally congratulated him on his success. The Brigadier Major offered another silver cup as a platoon trophy—for competition in platoon attendance, good conduct, drill and payments of dues—to be awarded at Christmas. The Brigadier Band rendered several selections and the ceremony concluded with the National Anthem.

Bay Roberts C. L. B. Ladies' Auxiliary are enthusiastic workers. Seventeen only in number their quality makes up for quantity. Under the Presidency of Mrs. (Rev.) E. M. Bishop, Mrs. John Dawe, Vice President and Mrs. Charles Noel Butt, Secty-Treasurer and members, this Auxiliary has done yeoman work for the finance of H. Company. On Shrove Tuesday a small sale was held and over four hundred and sixty dollars was realized. This shows that the whole hearted support of the parishoners of Bay Roberts and Coley's Point are backing loyally the Officers and Ladies' Auxiliary in maintaining the C.L.B. as a means of training their boys. When Bay Roberts folk back the Brigade or anything else success surely follows.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a Church Parade was held in St. Matthew's Church, one of the finest and best furnished sacred edifices in Newfoundland. This Church contains a beautiful stained window, a handsome carved oak pulpit, and lectern and pipe organ given by the members of the Dawe family, "In Memoriam" and also contains a neat Litany desk donated by the Jardine family. The pews are handsome and comfortable. At the Church Parade 75 lads ranks out of a total of 83 on the strength answered the roll. The service was choral, many of the bandsmen sitting in the choir. The organ was manipulated by Miss Fraser, the Church's own organist for many years, whose music was much appreciated by all ranks. Hymns used were "Fight the Good Fight" (the Brigade hymn), "Stand Up For Jesus" ("Be Thou My Guardian and My Guide"), and "Soldiers of Christ Arise." The Rector on behalf of the Parish, officially welcomed Lt. Col. W. F. Rendell, C.B.E., and Brigadier Major Williams at the opening of the service. The sermon was preached by the Rector from the text 4 Chap. Nehemiah, 17 verse and part of the 20th verse. Beautifully worded and in pleasing voice the preacher spoke a straight appeal to the hearts of his congregation. He admonished them all particularly of the C. L. B. to play the game in their various walks of life. He referred to the great explorer, Livingstone, who found the secret of his strength in reading the Bible four times for mover to cover on one of his exploring trips from coast to coast. He cited the example of the lighthouse where beams shed their rays warning the mariner of the danger shoals—and appealed to all those who wore the badge and uniform of the C.L.B. to share their intelligence, experience and example with those with whom they lived and worked and played in order to promote a higher ideal of citizenship, thus maintaining their own personal honour and their loyalty to the Brigade of which each individual is a part. A collection was taken up in aid of Bay Roberts War Memorial and the National Anthem concluded a very enjoyable service. After the Company returned to their Headquarters Lt. Colonel Rendell again took the opportunity of speaking to the lads, and congratulated them on their splendid appearance and wished officers and all ranks continued success, and after the dismissal of the parade and the playing of the National Anthem by the Company's band, the annual inspection ceremonies were completed.

On Sunday evening the inspecting officers, with Major John and Mrs. Dawe and Mrs. Saunders, were entertained at tea by the Rector and Mrs. Bishop at the Rectory and afterwards attended Evening Prayer Service in beautiful St. Matthew's a building which does the people of Bay Roberts great credit! Carry on Bay Roberts—Carry On!

OBITUARY

There passed peacefully away on Tuesday, May 27th, after a lingering illness, John Samways, loving husband of the late Mary Elizabeth Samways, aged 65 years. Left to mourn the sad loss of a kind and loving father are three children, Fannie, John and Dorothy, and one grandson, Roy; also one brother, Charles, of Coley's Point, one sister Mrs. William Muggford, of Seattle, Washington.

On that happy Easter morning All the graves their dead restore; Father, sister, child and mother Meet once more.

The sad news reached the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snow on Thursday, May 8th, that their daughter, Charlotte, had passed away at her home in Everett, Mass., U. S. A. on Tuesday, May 6th, aged 34 years, leaving a husband, six little children, father and mother, six sisters, one brother and a large circle of friends to mourn their sad loss. About seventeen years ago she married Mr. Richard Mercer, of Mercer's Cove, and about ten years ago they went to the States to make their home. She enjoyed good health until about five months ago her health failed and she had all that could be done by skilled doctors. But God saw fit to take her from this world to Himself in a better Home. The remains were enclosed in a beautiful casket and sent here for burial. The funeral took place on Sunday, May 16, from her father's home to the Meth. Cemetery, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. At the church the Rev. S. Baggs held a heart-felt service which touched the hearts of those present, taking for his text "Her sun is gone down while it was yet day." Before going to the graveside Mrs. (Rev.) Baggs played while the choir sang very beautifully the hymn, "Will the circle be unbroken," which reminded all awaiting that there is a better home awaiting in the sky and we hope some day to meet our loved one in that home above where we shall never say goodbye.

Dearest child thou hast left us, And our loss we deeply feel, But it's God who has bereaved us, He will all our sorrows heal. Thou art gone but not forgotten With us here thy memory lives, But we long to join thee yonder In that home their comes no grief.

Where the family circle is broken, Here we miss thy vacant chair, But we'll meet thee in that bluest hour Where we will never part no more. Oh, it's sad to think, my darling, Thou art gone and left our home; But the joy we have to meet thee How it lightens all the gloom.

Darling sister, how we love thee, But thy Savior loves thee best; There the Angels hovered 'round thee And they bore thee home to rest. Yes we'll meet thee, darling sister, On that bright and happy shore. There there will be no more heart-aches And we'll sing for ever more. Thou hast left us, wife and mother, But with us thy memory lives. Oh our hearts are well nigh breaking For no one thy place can fill. Oh, it's hard to part forever But we will meet thee darling mother Up in Heaven where we will part no more.

—Inserted by Mrs. G. Squires.

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

Bay Roberts Company of Girl Guides are busily making preparations for their visit to St. John's in July next. Earl Haig and Lady Haig and several other distinguished visitors will be there for the purpose of unveiling the Newfoundland War Memorial on King's Beach. This monument can be easily seen from St. John's Harbor and this will be an impressive sight to the many who enter the harbor in vessels and steamer.

Guides and Guides from Grand Falls, Greenspond, Carbonear, Harbor Grace, Springdale and Bay Roberts, attending the Indoor Camp under Miss Bright, English Commissioner, will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Pitts, King's Bridge Road.

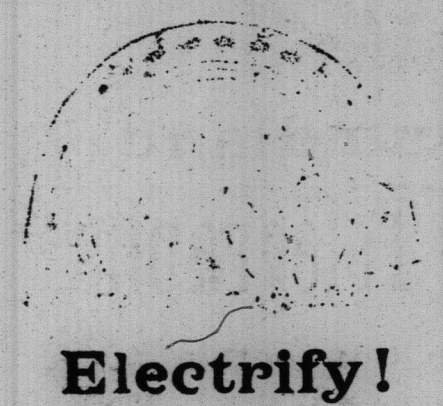

The Warrants for the Captain and Lieutenants of the 1st Bay Roberts Company have been received from Lady Baden-Powell, Chief Guide, London, England. The Company has been duly registered in London.

During the summer months meetings will be held once a month, instead of once a week.

Miss Christeen Dawe, who is attending Bishop Spencer College, the pupil of Professor Stirling, has passed in the recent music examinations with honours. Congratulations!

DR. MOSDELL ARRESTED FOR DEFACTORY LIBEL

On June 5th a warrant was issued for the arrest of Dr. H. M. Mosdell at the instance of Sir John Crobie. The charge is one of defamatory libel and arises out of the publication of the infamous circular which was read at the meeting of the Liberal Conservative Party at the Star Movie on Saturday night. The warrant was not executed dur-

Electrify!

No doubt you INTEND to have Electricity in your home SOME TIME—no home is complete nowadays without it.

BUT WHY WAIT? You want the comforts and conveniences that Electricity affords now, and you can have them with less trouble and less expense than you may think possible.

Hundreds of thousands of already built homes have been wired for Electricity—AT SMALL COST.

Perhaps you are not familiar with modern methods of installing Electricity, whereby wires are drawn through partitions and under floors by expert workmen.

There is no dirt, no disfigurement of walls or woodwork and no interruption of the everyday household routine.

The King's Birthday.

On Tuesday, June 3rd, His most Excellent Majesty, George V., King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Sea, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, celebrated the 50th anniversary of his birth.

With his loving subjects in all parts of the vast Empire of Great Britain we would wish our Sovereign many other birthdays on the throne of our nation.

HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

"God Save our Gracious King,
Long live our Noble King,
God Save the King.
Send him victorious,
Happy and Glorious,
Long to reign over us,
God Save the King."

The Voice of the People Says, "Monroe and Clean Government".

For weeks the fate of Newfoundland has hung in the balance and whether the country should be placed in the hands of capable Government or be handed over to those incapable of managing the country's affairs, was to be decided upon by the people on June 2nd. In no uncertain tones they have answered. In spite of deceptive eleventh-hour catch cries, bribes and empty promises the silent X on the ballot paper has told the people's answer. Newfoundland once more stands vindicated before the eyes of the world.

G. W. V. A. Expresses Thanks

(Editor the Guardian.)
Dear Sir: On behalf of the War Veterans Association, Bay Roberts, I wish to thank all those who so kindly helped to make our Concert such a success. To Mr. McDonald and Mrs. Robt. Dawe, to whose efforts the concert was mainly due, a special word of praise is due. Mr. McDonald composed the musical sketch "Behind the Lines," gave of his time freely and willingly and was responsible mainly for the musical parts.

Mrs. Dawe gave her house freely in which to practice, and on behalf of the Veterans I can assure Mrs. Dawe that her kindness is fully appreciated by them. Mrs. Dawe was to the fore again in loaning her piano without which we could hardly have had our concert. I understand that she has done this on numerous other occasions and in view of this fact alone a special word of praise is due.

To those others who so kindly helped I can only say that their kindness is fully appreciated, and anything the 'Vets' can do for them in return will be gladly done. Long may they be spared to carry on the good work.

Our thanks are also due the large number of people who attended, without whose attendance the concert could not have been a success from a financial point of view.

were defeated by small majorities. Bonavista, Bay de Verde, Burin, Ferryland, Harbor Main, St. Georges, St. John's East and West have elected the Monroe Clean-Government candidates with overwhelming majorities.

With the aid of a loyal people the representatives should endeavor to keep the remotest corners of public life always fit for light to shine upon.

We feel safe in saying that in the present administration the country has well placed her trust and it should be the aim of every representative to do for his country things that heretofore have never been attempted.

Thanks Scouts And Girl Guides

It is my desire through the columns of the "Guardian" to express my sincere thanks to the joint Parade of Sunday afternoon, May 25th, to the Methodist Church, Coley's Point, for their kind act of cheer to me. The motto of the Scout organization, I believe, is: "Be prepared." How strenuously the majority of us try to "be prepared" to grasp for self the things of Earth! If we could only put more energy and effort in being prepared to help the other fellow, when in need, then we would witness greater advances towards right living.

We are thankful for the gentlemen and energetic Pastor, who have been and are still prepared to give their time and ability to the promotion of the Scout Organization in this town. May future years prove to them that "their labours have not been in vain." Gentlemen of the "Scouts" and "G. L.B."—I do not think it possible for you to ever regret the investment of time you are making! Still invest!

I do not know the motto of the "Girl Guides," but the name itself is suggestive of its aims. Each one of us is a sort of guide for right living or wrong living, but sometimes we very conveniently forget it. Let us encourage the Guides to "carry on" in such a way as to be a living force for better living in this old town.

Once again let me repeat my thanks to the Scouts, their Band, the Girl Guides and all the kind friends at home and abroad who have done so much to help me.
