Lancers from India Now With the British On the Battle Line

These are the famous Bengal troops, thousands of whom are joining the British lines in France. Their chief man is Sir Pertab Singh, whose title is English, but who is a prince of India. When the call for war came it was pointed out to him that he was 70 years old, and that he had better stay home. "I will come and fight," replied Sir Pertab Singh to Lord Kitchener. "I am a major-general of the British army and you can't stop me." A number of other princes sailed with him.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING GOING ON; GERMANS REINFORCED

Action Extends More and More to North—In Woivre District Allies Are Making Progress, Especially Near St. Mihiel.

(Canadian Press.)

Paris, Oct. 2.—3:12 p.m.—An official statement issued by the war office this afternoon says that terrific fighting continues incessantly near Roye, where the Germans have been strongly reinforced.

The statement says: "On our left wing the battle continues with terrific fighting, notably in the region of Roye, where the Germans appear to have concentrated important reinforcements. The action extends more and more toward the north.

"The front of the battle line is now extended into the region to the south of Arras.

"Upon the Meuse the Germans attempted to throw a bridge across the river near St. Mihiel. The bridge was destroyed by our guns.

"In the Woivre district our offensive continues and progresses step by step, notably in the region between Apremont and St. Mihiel.

"On the remainder of the front there have been attempted only partial operations."

INDIANS, ALL READY FOR THE FRAY, WELCOMED BY FRENCH

Wild Enthusiasm Shown as They Arrive at Marseilles, Eager To Face Common Enemy — Magnificent Troops With Most Modern Equipment.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Marseilles, in a dispatch dated last Saturday, but which was delayed by the censor, describes the landing of the Indian troops, who, he says, are all ready for the fray, and which the king and his allies are fighting.

He says: "To see fully a score of transports glide from the bay into the dock and moor at their appointed stations was an imposing sight, and at the same time a splendid tribute to the perfection of the Indian organization, but the grand spectacle was yet to come. It takes almost a space of time as it takes to tell it, the decks of this wonderful fleet of ships were alive with soldiers, and in a matter of a few hours, the trying work of disembarkation had been completed without a hitch.

"The French officers were amazed at the remarkable smoothness with which the operations proceeded, and were not slow in their expressions of profound admiration.

Ready For Service.

"The voyage from India had been made under excellent conditions, and the troops, who literally leaped ashore, were fighting men to the last ounce, hard, fit and ready. Had the word of command been given to march straight from the quays to the fighting line, they were ready to go.

"Not a few of the Sikhs, Hlis, black-headed giants, were deeply concerned to know if I thought that the war would be over before they could get to grips with the common enemy, and it was a burden off their minds when I assured them that there was absolutely no likelihood of anything of the kind coming to pass.

It is a Unique Scene.

"Never has the port of Marseilles, used as it is to cosmopolitan crowds and the multi-colored habiliments of Africa, witnessed a scene so kaleidoscopic as that presented today by the landing of thousands of Indian soldiers, dressed in their own uniforms, with their own weapons, and along quays lit up by brilliant searchlights.

MOST VIOLENT ATTACKS DIRECTED AGAINST BRITISH

Left Wing Still Storm Centre, But Allies Continue To Gain — Situation Must End in Retreat of the Kaiser's Armies.

(Canadian Press.)

Paris, Oct. 2.—The latest statements of the war department give little idea of the furious battle which is being waged these days in the north of France, but they do indicate that the great body of Germans is making for the allies' line. The left continues to be the storm centre, and from there the word is that the British and French continue to gain. Whatever the Germans seek, and whatever their hopes, it appears necessary that the inevitable battle must soon have an end, says Lieut.-Col. Rousset, the military critic of the Petit Parisien, commenting on the two last official communications.

"The two armies," says Rousset, "have fought for many days with fury on an enormous front, but while we have made progress daily upon two wings, to the north of the River Somme and in the south of Woivre, the army of the enemy is exhausting itself in vain efforts to check our advance, it having uselessly tried to break through somewhere.

"This situation, even though it can still last some time, must inevitably end in the retreat of our adversary."

The council of revision is preparing to hold sessions to examine the large class of exemptions from army service, and those heretofore physically unfit for service, who may now be found able to serve, will be drafted into the army.

SIKHS, REFUSED ADMITTANCE TO VANCOUVER, RIOT IN INDIA

Objecting To Being Sent To Punjab, Open Fire On Police, Killing European—Troops Kill Sixteen of the Trouble-Makers.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—12:10 p.m.—In a dispatch from Calcutta, the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company describes briefly a mutiny of Sikhs at Bajaj, ten miles from Calcutta, in which sixteen of the Indians were killed.

The correspondent transmits a communication on this subject issued by the Bengal Government, as follows: "The Sikhs passengers on the steamer Komagata Maru, who were refused permission to land at Vancouver, B. C., arrived at Bajaj last Saturday. Some of them refused to board a train for the Punjab, and opened fire with their revolvers. One European was killed, and several others, including the commissioner of police, were wounded. One Punjab policeman was killed, and several were wounded. Troops were compelled to fire to check the rushes of the Sikhs, and sixteen of the rioters were killed. The remainder were scattered to surrounding villages, and later were rounded up."

"Evidently they are confident of success at the battle in Silesia, as they are preparing a route across the River Niemen. In any case, their attempt to carry out this new and grandiose scheme will lead to a swift demerit."

The Hindus who mutinied at Bajaj are the men who for more than three months resisted the Canadian Government's order of deportation, but who finally were compelled to return to India from Vancouver on the same ship that brought them out, the Japanese steamer Komagata Maru.

This steamer, with 352 Hindus on board, reached Vancouver in April on this year. She sailed on her return trip on July 23. During this time the status of the East Indians was passed upon by the highest courts of Canada, which finally ruled that they could not land.

Bottled Messages From Contingent

(Canadian Press.)

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Some of the Canadian soldiers on their way to the front are taking an interesting way of bidding good-bye to friends. Seven members of the Fifth Royal Highlanders threw off their ships a bottle, in which was a farewell message to a local newspaper. The bottle was picked up on the shore of the Isle of Orleans and forwarded to the office of the paper here.

ARTILLERY IN DUEL

Correspondent Watches the Night's Fighting From Top of Gas Tank.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—3:35 p.m.—The Germans have suffered heavy losses everywhere under the well-directed machine gun fire of the Belgians, according to a statement from Antwerp by the correspondent of the Central News. At the Wavre and St. Catharine forts alone (outside of Antwerp) the German dead are counted by thousands. At several points the corpses lie in heaps. Entire companies have been exterminated, while the other troops have been driven back at the point of the bayonet.

AS SEEN FROM A HEIGHT.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—In describing the attack of the Germans on Antwerp the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, writing from Antwerp under date of Thursday noon, says: "From the top of a gas tank at Hoboken (three miles southwest of Antwerp), last night was witnessed a scene of sombre grandeur. The line of attack on the city was dominated by the clear night air very sharply by flashes of the enemy's great siege guns. Similarly the line of defence was shown in points of light, which stabbed the night from the Belgian forts. It was almost possible occasionally to see the effect of falling shells.

The artillery duel continued throughout the night. The German fire seemed to be directed chiefly toward outlying villages, and every road into Antwerp was choked with refugees.

"There is no doubt that many alarming reports of the German operations will creep across the frontier to Holland. We cannot give definite information here because of the prohibition against news which might be used by the enemy, but it can be said, with official sanction, that the position, while not alarming, is not alarming.

"The Belgians have suffered in some quarters, while in others they have inflicted loss. The general balance inspires confidence.

"All scouting officers agree, however, that the German attack is merely a demonstration, which is not intended to force the evacuation of the city. No Belgian aviators have uncovered any great masses of German infantry."

BATTERIES DEMOLISHED.

London, Oct. 2.—An official statement issued at Antwerp and sent by the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says: "There has been a fierce artillery duel all day (Thursday). Some of the German batteries, which ventured too close to the forts, were demolished. The enemy moved in the direction of Woivre-St. Catharines, but were stopped by darkness."

AWFUL WET AND FILTH

Wounded and Dead Lie Where They Fell, Former in Agony.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—The correspondent of the Times, writing from Chalons, France, under date of Monday, says: "The Germans are gone, and Chalons is rejoicing in the good news. The latest reports seem to indicate a general retirement from the strong lines of defence which the Germans constructed to the north of Rheims and to the east and west.

"Their trenches on this line are wonderful works of art. Due to a depth of six feet, they are covered and protected in many cases with layers of reinforced concrete. This work was executed by the forced labor of the inhabitants, to form a defensive position in case of need, while the troops were still fighting on the Marne.

Trenches Full of Dead.

"Up to this line the French worked their way foot by foot, until in places their front was not 100 yards from the German trenches. The condition of these underground trenches, when examined, will be found to be terrible. The wounded as well as the dead lie where they fell, amid the wet and filth. The French in the advanced trenches could hear cries at night when the firing paused, coming across the narrow belt over which the two armies fought.

"These terrible conditions, as much as the French fire, dislodged the Germans from their miniature forts. In some of the trenches on the heights above Rheims the French had to drown the Germans out. Lines of hose were laid from the town, and the fire pumps worked until the water stood breast high.

Fine Was Reduced.

"The German governor imposed a fine of 3,000,000 francs ($500,000) on the department of Marne, of which Chalons is the principal town. The deputy mayor pleaded for milder treatment, and the Prince of Saxony, who is an officer of the German army, seconded his efforts. The German governor reduced the demand to half a million francs ($100,000) which was paid immediately.

"The French retook the town on September 1. The Germans left behind their wounded."

London, Oct. 2.—7:30 a.m.—A Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, dated Wednesday, says: "Rheims was the scene of a fierce artillery duel this morning. During the bombardment the American consul, William Bardel, had a narrow escape. A shell wrecked half of his residence over which the Stars and Stripes flew."

People of Brussels Facing Starvation

Nearly Three-Quarters of a Million Without Any Flour or Means of Importing Foodstuffs From Antwerp—Neutrals Cannot Help.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 2.—1:35 p.m.—Seven hundred thousand persons in Brussels are facing starvation, according to Hugh Gibson, the secretary of the American embassy there, who is now in this city. The supply of flour in the Belgian capital will be exhausted today, and other staples are virtually all consumed. The last apportionment of flour to the citizens of Brussels will be given out this afternoon. Efforts to get food in from Antwerp have failed. In so much as Brussels is in charge of the Germans, it is in effect German territory. Neutral nations could not undertake to supply flour to Brussels, even if transportation facilities were not practically cut off because of military operations.

COL. HUGHES NOW ABOARD TRANSPORT

Leaves For Europe Without Notice—May Make Fast Trip and Meet the Troops.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Col. Sam Hughes is aboard a transport heading toward Europe. It is not known whether he will go the whole way across, or will get somewhere down the Gulf, and next we heard from at Sydney or Halifax. It is reported that he likely will leave the boat by a fast passenger boat, and will be on the other side to receive the troops when they arrive.

The Minister of Militia left without warning. He was in Quebec one day, and the next had faded from sight with the troops, leaving the empty tents of Valcartier behind.

The work of cleaning up is now being pushed, and in another week all the camp equipment will have been housed and Valcartier will be ready for the winter. The enrolment of the French-Canadian forces, 4,000 men is to be undertaken at once.

The Serbian general staff considers such action unjustifiable at the present moment.

DR. CARMAN GIVING UP ACTIVE DUTIES

Is Chosen as Emeritus Superintendent at the Same Salary.

DR. CHOWN IS RE-ELECTED

Salaries Are Unchanged, Owing to Financial Conditions.

[Canadian Press.] OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—Rev. Dr. Albert Carman who for over 30 years has been general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, will practically retire from active office when the quadrennial general conference, now in session here, rises in a few days.

This afternoon a unanimous vote of the conference decided in favor of the recommendation of the superintendent committee to appoint him as emeritus superintendent for the next four years with the same salary as is paid to a general superintendent.

Rev. Dr. D. S. Chown, of Vancouver, was again elected general superintendent with the proviso that his term of office be for the next eight years. A motion submitted by Rev. Dr. W. H. Heertz, of Amherst, N.S., to appoint a general superintendent with jurisdiction in the maritime provinces was voted down by an almost unanimous vote.

Dr. Woodworth Retires. All the other officers of the conference were re-elected with exception of Rev. Dr. James Woodworth, senior superintendent of home missions, who was retired. The recommendation of the committee that he be paid a bonus of $2,500 as a retiring allowance was voted down by an almost unanimous vote.

WHEN THE LIVER GETS TORPID

There is Nothing Like Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills To Set It Right.

Mrs. C. L. Cook, 248 Tenth street, Brandon, Man., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last four years for liver trouble, and can say that I have had great relief. I find that I do not need any doctor if I use them when the liver gets torpid, and believe that they are exactly what my case. My husband has used them for kidney trouble with good results, and my daughter in Winnipeg has been helped a great deal by the use of these pills. We say we can't keep the doctors here out of a good many visits. I think Dr. Chase's medicines are just the thing, and have recommended them to many people who have used them with good results."

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain part of the waste acid from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, bladder disorders, sleeplessness, constipation, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys, also stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

REVERED LEADER GIVES UP ACTIVE WORK IN CHURCH

tee dealing with Dr. Carman's retirement read as follows:

Rev. Dr. Carman becomes general superintendent emeritus, receiving during the next quadrennium the full salary of a general superintendent, acting on the request of the general superintendent as advisory counsel, presiding on similar conditions in conference houses and committees and in any other capacity that occasion may suggest, and his strength allowed."

"The greatness of Dr. Carman's work links him with such historic mediocrity as Chalmers and Ashbury. Methodism as a whole, and also explained that Dr. Carman had expressed his willingness to retire."

When the report of the committee was about to be presented Dr. Carman, who was in the chair, rose. "I would like to make a few remarks," he said. "I have not come here without some reflection and some conviction," said he. "When you are electing officers my view is that you take care of Methodism and the Methodist Church and you are not to consider taking care of the sun's rays stream from the sky. I do not want to tie you one millionth, one billionth, one trillionth bit."

"Stay in the chair," called the delegates in unison, in a perceptibly affectionate tone.

Retains Chair. Dr. Chown said he would rather Dr. Carman remained in the chair, but the veteran superintendent declined. He was about to leave the platform while the conference took up the report, but the delegates would not allow this. After the contents of the report were made known and ratified, Dr. Carman was called on to speak. "I am impressed with your kindness," he began. "I must have a little time to consider. So far as I see now I must accept with gratitude. I must not hamper the Methodist Church. Only for the present I will stay with my deepest and sincerest thanks."

The moment he had concluded, Dr. Chown yielded the chair to Dr. Carman, who at once became the wonderful president of the conference. He went the whole way with a loud whoop to the accompaniment of the command: "Next item."

Officers Elected. The other general officers elected were: Book Room steward, central secretary, Rev. Dr. Wm. Briggs; eastern secretary, Mr. F. W. Mosley; Halifax editor, Christian Guardian, Rev. Dr. W. B. Crighton; editor Sunday school papers, Rev. Dr. A. C. Crews; general secretary Education Society, Rev. Dr. T. W. Giddens; general secretary Temperance and Moral Reform Society, Dr. D. T. The committee stated that in view of the hard times all salaries will remain the same.

FRENCH ANNIHILATE PRUSSIAN GUARDS

Quick Work of the Gunners Saves Situation for Allies.

REGIMENT WIPED OUT

Only a Handful Left to Surrender After Fifth Charge.

[Canadian Press.] BORDEAUX, Oct. 1.—The defeat of 15,000 Prussian Guards, who attacked the French centre on Sept. 26, is described today in the Petite Girondette.

As soon as news of the German advance was revealed, French cavalry was sent to hold the enemy at Auberville, Department of Marne, to give the artillery and infantry time to come up from Souain, a place near Auberville. But while the French Dragoons were preparing for the defence of Auberville, a brigade of Death's Head Hussars, overridding the village, came across the vineyards and fields, with the intention of surprising the French artillery on the march.

A Critical Moment. The French Dragoons were two miles ahead, and the infantry two miles behind the gunners, who were in danger of being sabred across their guns. The Hussars were only three-quarters of a mile away, galloping furiously. In two minutes the guns were unlimbered and lined up along the road. The enemy was only 500 yards away, and the command could be heard to charge the guns.

In the charge the Prussian cavalry gathered speed with every yard. They were 200 yards away from the French guns, and there was a dash of fire. Through the blue smoke the artillery could see the enemy's ranks pressing and the officers vainly trying to rally the broken lines. A second time the battery vomited death into the faces of the enemy. A great silence succeeded the thunder of a thousand horses shouting of men. Two thousand horses lay on the ground, and there a wounded horse struggled to shake himself clear from the heap of dead.

Infantry to the Rescue. But the artillerymen did not wait to gaze long on this scene of carnage. They limbered up the guns and rushed to aid the dragoons, who were hard on to the Prussians, and falling back along the highways. The guns were a welcome relief. This time the struggle was more even. The German quick-firers returned fire with interest, but the French infantry arrived and destroyed among the vines, a bugle and drum and their bayonet.

Without cavalry to aid it, the Prussian Guard was obliged to fall back. A battalion of Zouaves glided behind and threatened to place the guard between two fires. A regiment of Goussiers sacrificed itself to cover the retreat of the German column on the highway. Five times the Germans hurled themselves against the French. They were repulsed every time, and after the fifth charge only one man remained, a handful of men surrounding the flag.

Sacrifice Not in Vain. Then first one, then two, and then ten of the Grenadiers threw down their arms. A hundred men, mostly wounded, were left of the valley of the sacrifice and did not remain. But their sacrifice had not been useless, for it enabled the French to get safely under the guns of the forts at Berry and Nogent L'Abbesse.

TURKS TRY HARD TO GET INTO WAR. Will Make Impossible Demand Regarding British Boats—May Mean Her End.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Turkey, the London Daily Telegraph says, is under no illusion as to the demand for compensation which it will be impossible for Great Britain to comply with, and therefore, to bring Turkey to the European war.

The Telegraph instances many indications of the Turkish policy, such as the Ottoman Government's ambiguous conduct in relation to the German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, the invitation to German officers to visit Constantinople, the mobilization of Turkish troops in Syria and the closing of the Dardanelles, and adds: "If Turkey chooses war let her clearly understand that it will mean the end, not merely of Turkey in Europe, but of Turkey in Asia, and that the allied powers will exact the fullest retribution."

SAMOA'S SEIZURE ELATES AUSTRALIA

German Flag, Floating For Fifteen Years, Is Now Pulled Down.

BLOW TO GERMAN TRADE

Commerce Built Up by Two Generations Falls to British.

[By Mail.]
Sydney, Australia, Sept. 2 (Correspondence of the London Press.)—Over the sea and the palm trees of Samoa the English flag flies once more, replacing the flag of Germany, which has floated there just fifteen years.

Australia is naturally elated over the seizure of Apia and the rest of German Samoa by the expeditionary force from New Zealand a few days ago. It is felt that with the islands in possession of Great Britain, German prestige and trade will be loosened; that with the loss by Germany of her only colony of advantage in the waters immediately near Australia, the antipodean Britons have demonstrated their ability to take a blow for the Empire; that the territory which has been so closely associated with the history of New Zealand, and has been sought by her in vain in former years, is now under the domination of the British Empire; that the day of reckoning comes; and that there is a certain sentimental satisfaction in the fact that Robert Louis Stevenson's grave will no longer be an alien on British soil. Particulars of the occupation of Apia are not yet available, but that it was without bloodshed is a cause for gratification.

"The loss of her possessions in Samoa," says the Sydney Morning Herald, "to quote only one jubilant newspaper, 'is a significant event in the inevitable effect of this war on German trade. Already the steady and unrelenting labor of two generations has been destroyed. For many years past German administrations and German merchants have endeavored to capture the whole trade of the Pacific for their countrymen.'

"In the north they have gone further than any other nation in allowing credit to Japanese buyers.

"Further south they have endeavored to exclude competition by every conceivable means, by harbor and customs duties, by subsidies to steamers, and by prohibition.

"In unskilled hands, government intervention might have failed to restrict or to awaken trade. But, though their failure as colonists has been consistent and ludicrous, as Germans as merchants have applied to the Pacific the methods by which they have captured so much of the frozen meat trade in Australia.

"By the challenge of their ruler to Great Britain, all this vast and patient enterprise has been reduced to nothing. The British credit system will no longer be at the service of Germany, and by whom it was manipulated in their trade with Japan. In the south the islands will be open to the trade of all nations on equal terms."

FORMER LONDONER GIVEN LONG TERM

Frank Ryckman Got a Five-Year Term For Forgery.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 1.—Frank Ryckman, aged 24, formerly of London, one of the cleverest swindlers in the country, was today sentenced by Magistrate Jelfs to a term of five years in Kingston penitentiary. As a boy he was an expert penman, and in the country he chose to earn a living by forging other people's names to bank checks. Three years ago in London he was convicted of five charges of forgery, and sentenced to a year in prison. In January last petty forgeries—some of which were really serious—began to worry the police. Week after week complaints were altered into the station, and Ryckman was suspected, but he had covered up so well that the police could get nothing on him. Last Saturday night Ryckman tried his art on a man who was just as shrewd as himself. The man was Norman Prince, jeweler, King street east. Prince cashed a check for Ryckman, and the man, becoming suspicious, did a little sleuthing, and landed his man behind the bars. The police confronted Ryckman with a whole lot of forgeries, and he confessed, and today began the first lap of five long years in prison.

The police state that Ryckman told them he would select some man he knew had a bank account. Then he'd send the "victim" a postcard about some trivial matter, and when he received a reply he'd spend weeks receiving the signature, and finally he would be able to write it as well as the original.

Ryckman was known to police here in 1906, when he was arrested by Detective Thomas Nickle with five charges of forgery preferred against him. His trial created quite a sensation here, as the man had figured in many daring cases. He was given a term of three years in Kingston penitentiary. Since given London a wife and child, and police here have lost track of him.

GRAPHIC STORIES OF WAR INCIDENTS

Five Hundred Germans Wiped
Out to Man by Artillery Fire.

CAUGHT IN FLAT FIELDS

Enemy Has Named Big French Guns "The Black Butchers."

[Canadian Press.]
London, Oct. 2.—A. M. Dilating upon the splendid accuracy of the artillery fire and the extent to which the artillery has been used in the present war, the Daily Mail correspondent in France says: "The infantry has counted for little in the fighting of the men. The allies' left wing the men say, and several have complained of spending eight days in the trenches without seeing a German. Both armies are tired. There was one appalling incident. Three days ago 500 Germans were caught in some flat fields with slopes on every side. The French artillery took up positions secretly and when the moment came to open fire the order was given: 'Make me a cemetery command.' His order was obeyed, the guns accounting for the greater part of the 500 and rifle fire for the rest. Those who were there say that not a single German escaped."

"It is no wonder that the Germans have nicknamed the big French guns in the field artillery 'the black butchers.' Their effect is terrible. The shells they throw explode only ten feet above the ground and spread their missiles over an area measuring 100 yards by 30 yards. The shock of their explosion alone often kills at once a whole row of entrenched men."

SERVIANS ARE GETTING BETTER OF ARGUMENT

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Oct. 2.—10 a.m.—"After twenty days of the offensive," says a Nish Servia dispatch to the Havas Agency, "the Austrians have been stopped twelve miles from the Drina on the Bosnia frontier."

"While these forces are awaiting reinforcement before they will be able to resume the offensive, their troops at the north have been trying desperately to advance over the plains between the Drina and the Sava to get at the right flank of the Servians. All their efforts there were defeated in bloody battles. Meanwhile, the Servians and Montenegrins advance slowly but surely on Bosnia. Breaking the stubborn resistance, they occupied, on September 30, Romanija, and several other towns in the vicinity, and are now advancing toward Sarajevo."

Executions Cause Terror.
Rome, Oct. 2.—5:55 a.m.—Via Paris, 140 a.m.—News from Bosnia received here says that Gen. Haalla, the Austrian commander at Sarajevo, has arrested and executed some of the citizens of the place who were accused of having made signals to the Servians, who occupy the mountains around the town. As a result nobody now even dares to light the lamps inside their houses at night, fearing the same fate.

provements This Year.

NO CHEER AS CANUCKS LEAVE TO CROSS OCEAN

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Que., Oct. 2.—A writer in the Daily Mail has sent from Rimouski the following description of the departure of the Canadian troops from Quebec: "Thirty-one ships were required to carry the men, the guns, the horses and the supplies of the overseas expeditionary force. To convey that number of ships a fleet of eleven war vessels was requisitioned, the whole movement being the largest and most important ever effected on the Atlantic. It was carried out in the splendid manner. The movement from Valcartier was effected in fine style, and the embarkation and sailing followed as part of a well-ordered plan. The movement of 21,300 troops and 8,000 horses was the biggest war action that Canada has ever undertaken, and it was performed almost faultlessly."

Moved Out Quietly.
The movement from Valcartier started with the mustering of the left half of the Twelfth Battalion, which was sent to Quebec to perform guard duty, and ended with the departure from camp eight days later of the right half of the same battalion. The troops that moved in took possession of the wharves and the breakwater, and when they disembarked the day, the red-coats of the Eighty-seventh Regiment replaced the khaki sergeants of the Twelfth Battalion. In these eight days the division moved out of Valcartier. Horses, artillery and transport wagon came over the eighteen miles of road, while the troops were sent by train.

AIR POISONED BY THE UNBURIED DEAD
London, Oct. 1.—A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in France describes the fighting between the allies and the Germans in the quarries where the Germans have been entrenched.

"From some of these natural fortifications," he says, "the Germans have been driven at last. It is rumored that they left their own to the unburied dead, whose bodies poisoned the air. A quarry near the forest of Aigue was attacked under cover of a mist by the French, who drove out the defenders after desperate fighting. Another quarry was won similarly by the French, who set fire to several buildings and attacked the batteries under concealment of the smoke."

"A prisoner taken here who was formerly a professor in one of the universities, said that the casualties during the last fortnight have been terrible. French bayonet charges have left the plains along the Aisne strewn with the dead. The enemy's resistance has been broken, and there must soon be another retreat to the north and east. The Germans must hold their right flank at any cost until the last moment, in order to save the centre, which has been shaken by the British."

BURGLARIZE CHURCH

Thieves Enter St. James Sunday School and Destroy Furniture.

Burglars broke into the schoolroom of St. James' Church, South London, last night, and apparently being disappointed at not finding anything of value, they went on to destroy the furniture. The library also was visited, but until the books have been checked up it is not known whether any were missing.

A man entered an entry having been made by way of an upper window. It is supposed that the burglar or burglars hoped to find money on the premises, as a safe was found to have been broken into the evening.

This is the sixth case of burglary reported in one block during a month and the people of the district are complaining of the want of police protection. Only one officer is on duty at night for the whole of the district.

CITY WANTS RENT

Treasurer Instructed to Collect from The McCormick Mfg. Co.

The company is still occupying the building, although a wrecking crew has commenced dismantling the upper floors. The rent now due the city amounts to $2,000 a month.

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. Maggie Martindale, at the family residence, 41 Horton street. She was 66 years of age, and had been a resident of this city for 35 years. Surviving are her husband and two daughters, Miss Ada and Miss Rachel, both at home. The funeral will be held from the family residence at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. A. J. Thomas, of Dundas street Methodist Church. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The body of John Francis Fennell, the Toronto man who was killed in an automobile accident near Hyde Park last evening, was brought to this city this morning, and now is lying in the undertaking parlors of George Logan. It will be forwarded to Toronto on the Grand Trunk at 6:30 a.m. today. Fennell's brother and other relatives were in the city this morning to arrange for the transportation of the remains.

NINE MILES OF SEWERS

That Length of New Drainage System Completed This Year.

An estimate of the value of London public works, under way or finished this year, as submitted by the city engineer to the board of control today, shows there are over nine miles of storm sewers constructed at a cost of $102,528.72. The "Wharfedale" road storm sewer was finished on Oct. 1, and cost at a cost of $23,415, and the Wexley road sewer just recently at a cost of $7,808.

There is still to be completed, the Egerton street sewer, at a cost of $148,160, on which nearly $17,000 has been paid; the Adelaide street sewer, which is to cost $28,835, of which $10,000 has been paid; the Colborne street sewer, which is to cost $49,473, on which nearly $29,000 has been paid; and the Ridout street sewer section, which is to cost $52,554, and on which about $20,000 has already been paid.

SUGAR UP—FLOUR DOWN

Canadian Grocer—Sums Up Provision Conditions With This Result.

The Canadian Grocer, in its issue this week, sums up provision conditions and, in brief, indicates higher prices for sugar, tea, coffee and cheese, and lower prices for flour, rolled oats, butter, meats and lard.

"The flour situation is dull. Domestic demand has fallen off and prices for winter wheat products are needed. Somewhat, quotations being much in the hands of individual millers. Strength for Manitoba is maintained on account of the foreign demand and mills are working to capacity. However, there is a chance that Canadian millers may have to reduce prices to compete with American offerings when they have completed the government order and have to give their attention to the export market. Rolled oats have declined under the influence of the lower prices of the October option, and rolled wheat is also easier."

"Higher prices for sugar appear to be almost a certainty of the near future. The situation has strengthened in consequence of the war, where there have been offers made at one-sixteenth above the market without bringing takers from cover. In Canada, however, the above output and refiners are paying high prices for raw—so high that they are not materially under the quotations for refined and this cannot continue. The clearing of the war situation would undoubtedly cause a reaction, but this cannot be looked for."

UP TO WAR STRENGTH

First Hussars Have Recruited Up to Full Complement.

Three troops of the First Hussars turned out for drill last night under the instruction of Capt. H. T. Reason. Major C. H. Reason, who is in command of B Squadron, announced that the Hussars are recruited to practically full strength, and practically 5

Will Raise Funds For the Restoration of University

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—A campaign for the collection of funds to aid in the restoration of the wonderful old University of Laval, destroyed by the Germans, under the auspices of Laval University, Monsignor Douth, vice-rector of Laval, has accepted the honorary vice-presidency of the campaign committee.

The report further says that Assistant Commissioner of Police Farrell, was responsible for the calling out of the military and for the orders issued to the police.

The Nationalist volunteers landed the arms at Howth at noon on July 26. The police were notified of the landing, and reinforced by a detachment of King's Own Scottish Borderers, intercepted the gun-runners at Clontarf with a view of taking the guns from them. There was a clash between the volunteers and the authorities at that time. When the officers returned to Dublin they were met by an infuriated mob, including many women. Brickbats were hurled at the soldiers and the order was given to fire.

NEURALGIA OF THE HEART

This Letter Tells of Wonderful Change Effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. James G. Clark, Postville, York County, N. B., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from what the doctors said was neuralgia of the heart. The pain started in the back of the neck and worked down into the region of the heart. Though I had taken a lot of medicine of one kind or another, I could not get anything to help me until I used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I began this treatment I could not rest in bed, except by sitting upright, on account of the dreadful pains about the heart and the quick, loud beating. The change which Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has made in my condition is wonderful. It has entirely overcome these symptoms, and is making me strong and well. This statement will help to relieve the suffering of others, you are at liberty to use it."

How To Stop Stomach Torment

Sound Advice From a Well-Known Physician.

Men and women who suffer from what is called dyspepsia, indigestion, or just plain "stomach trouble," usually seek regular relief in the form of some pills or tablet, or other artificial stimulant. This experience teaches me, as a physician, that such a course is a serious error. In nine cases out of ten, the distress is caused by the development of acids in the stomach, formed by the fermenting of the food, instead of a digestant being required, something should be taken to dissolve or neutralize this acidity. When normal digestion will follow as a matter of course. This acid matter is distinctly poisonous, and it is this which causes the indigestion, where the poison is absorbed by the blood and carried all over the body.

If all the great army of people who suffer after nearly every meal would make it a point to take a teaspoonful of Bismuth Magnesia in a quarter glass of water after each meal, there would be no formation of acidity and consequent indigestion or discomfort. Bismuth, bismuth, etc., would then be a thing of the past. Bismuth Magnesia is a physician's prescription. It is inexpensive, and can be obtained at any drug store. It is prepared for just such trouble, and the best proof of its efficiency is that it will stop the sharpest, biting stomach distress in five minutes from the time it enters the stomach, simply by dissolving the acids that have been formed there. Its action is absolutely harmless. O-21

REV. D. C. MCGREGOR INDUCTED PASTOR

Noted Social Worker Takes Charge of St. Andrew's Church.

REV. DR. SHEARER SPEAKS

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. McGregor Will Be Held Tonight.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was crowded last night when Rev. D. C. McGregor, formerly associated with Rev. Dr. Shearer in the home missions and social service department of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was inducted as the new pastor to succeed the late Rev. Dr. James Ross.

Rev. A. McLeod, Haig, of West Lorne, presided over the induction service; Rev. John Elder, of Bethel, and Rev. Dr. Shearer, of the home missions, presided over the induction service; Rev. W. J. Knox, addressed the minister, and Rev. T. H. Mitchell, the congregation. Practical Presbytery of the city of London, was present.

Rev. Mr. Elder preached from the text Philippians II, 12 and 13, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure." This was not a great theological text, he said, but it showed the close bond between Paul and the church at Philippi. Paul was in prison and the members of the church felt discouraged and alone. He wrote an epistle strongly encouraging them and telling them to work out their own salvation. This is a message for both the church and the individual today. It is the task of the Christian life and the task of the Christian church. The emphasis, Rev. Mr. Elder placed on the word "Own." Work out your "own" salvation.

A Message for Today. "The Bible said, 'have reached down to you and your hands have reached up.' God has given. Have we accepted? We cannot work with what we do not possess. The solution is something coming through Jesus Christ, through the continual indwelling of the divine spirit. The life of Paul lies epitomized in this text, the secret of his own greatness and the glory of his life was the life of Jesus, his master. What is the distinguishing message and feature of the Christian gospel? It does not offer only a great life but helps you to live that life. God dwelling in the human soul this is the gift of life in the last analysis. In the Christian life we are not left to ourselves. God does not do that. The task is possible, not in our own strength but in God's strength and his help.

"Fear and Trembling." Rev. Mr. Elder said "fear and trembling" should not be taken literally, else the joy and delight of Christian experience would be missed. It simply meant that watchfulness was required for the development of the Christian life, lest at any time one might grieve the heart of the indwelling spirit. Rev. Mr. Haig referred to the death of the late Dr. Ross, in the presence of every congregation in the Presbytery and throughout Canada.

He read a telegram from Rev. Mr. McGregor's former church, the Presbyterian Church of Orillia, "Convey to Mr. McGregor the best wishes of Orillia friends for a successful pastorate."

Rev. W. J. Knox addressing the new pastor said that the first duty of the minister was to reveal God's will, God's truth; it was urgent that he should have felt the divine call to God's service that he should have found in the reality of things spiritual and unseen. A minister should, however, remember that he is human and not yet perfect. The pastor and the teacher are the two pillars of the church. He should be the leader of his congregation in Christian service, but he should not assume the whole responsibility of all the church's work.

The true ministry is educational. The work of the ministry which is of prime importance, is the influencing for good those who are social problems. The youth and children of the church must not be overlooked. The minister should preach the gospel of the kingdom, righteousness, peace, joy and the Holy Ghost. He should preach the kingdom at hand, "closer than breathing, nearer than hands and feet," exalting the ruler of the kingdom, the divine Christ. Rev. T. H. Mitchell, addressing the congregation, said if he were minister of St. Andrew's, he would like members to sometimes speak appreciatively of his work, to speak encouragingly, hopefully. They should not expect him to please them all. He would not try to please everyone, because in attempting that he would probably not please any one, not even himself or his church. He would like to work faithfully with him, not only in increasing church attendance and church membership, but in making the church more efficient in assisting to solve the local social problems. Rev. Mr. Mitchell referred to the "open bar" which was destroying, he said, more of the youth of the land than war, pestilence, and famine together. The membership of the Christian church could destroy this great evil if it would. He congratulated St. Andrew's upon securing Rev. Mr. McGregor as pastor.

Rev. Dr. Shearer who was present, regretted losing his associate but he wished Mr. McGregor Godspeed in his pastorate. The church might well congratulate itself upon securing Mr. McGregor as pastor. There was not a Presbyterian pulpit in Canada that would not be open to Mr. McGregor if it were vacant. And if the headship of any department of the church were vacant, it would be very likely that the church would look to London to secure Mr. McGregor for that department. Mr. McGregor was a wise counsellor, an able preacher, painstaking, tenderly sympathetic and devoted as a pastor. His interest in home missions and social service was unbounded. He believed in Christianizing national, industrial, commercial and social life, and he was an ardent temperance worker.

A reception to Rev. Mr. McGregor and Mrs. McGregor, who is well known in the Canadian literary field as "Marion Keith," will be held in St. Andrew's hall this evening. A cordial invitation to all members and adherents of the congregation to be present to meet Mr. and Mrs. McGregor was extended last night. The ladies of the church are preparing to entertain a very large number.

BLYTH FAIR WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

Directors Are Well Pleased With Success of Fine Fair.

[Special to The Advertiser.] BLYTH, Oct. 1.—The directors of the Blyth fair were well pleased to-night with the success of their fair. The weather was all that could be desired, and as a result there was a good crowd in attendance. The downstairs exhibition of fruit, roots, vegetables, etc., was of a high class, being fruit there that would grow in no bent anywhere, all the classes being well filled.

The upstairs exhibit of fancy goods, etc., was not as well filled as at some of the past fairs, but the quality of the goods was excellent. The horse, cattle, sheep and poultry classes were not as numerous as in some years past, on account of the scarcity of those animals in this section.

There were two horse-races, with the following results:

2:20 class—Comet, J. Acton, Chesley 1 1 1
Edith S. A. Milson, Lucknow 2 2 2

RUNAWAY AT EMBRO MAY END FATALLY

Woman Under Overturned Buggy Now in Critical Condition.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 1.—A very serious accident occurred this afternoon when a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. McCormack, Mrs. Smith and another lady, from Woodstock, in driving to the Embro fair got into a mix-up with an automobile, with the result that the carriage in which they were driving was turned completely upside down.

The occupants were thrown out of the rig, Mrs. McCormack receiving serious internal injuries. Just how the accident happened is not quite clear, but it seems that the auto, presumed to be from Stratford, came up in the rear of the horse and buggy, and that the horse, getting frightened, backed up, and the auto crashed into it.

Following the upsetting of the rig, the horse ran away, and when it was caught it was found that the animal was pretty badly used up. The rig was demolished. Late tonight, Mrs. Smith was reported in a critical condition. The other occupants of the rig suffered severe bruises.

HUME, the English historian, says Football was introduced into Britain by the Romans. The Britons took to it readily, and being much more rugged and virile as a people, were soon able to beat the Romans at their own game.

The Britons were agriculturists before the advent of the Romans, and wheat was their staple food.

HOW TO DISTRIBUTE THE PATRIOTIC FUND

Committee Meets Tomorrow To Plan On Helping Dependents of Volunteers.

The patriotic fund committee will hold a meeting on Saturday morning, when plans for the distribution of funds to those dependent on the volunteers of the overseas contingent, will be decided on.

The charity clearing-house work, which is being supervised by Secretary Harold Lyons, of the Men's Federation, has done some good work already. The different charity and church organizations are co-operating with the clearing-house, and giving it confidential reports of all the cases they are looking after or investigating. The clearing-house is not administering the funds of any charity organization; it is merely keeping a record of the cases. Mr. Lyons stated that he would be glad to receive reports of any people in want, from citizens, and that all reports would be investigated and attended to immediately. Some individuals, who have been looked after by different church organizations, have been going round begging from door to door. Citizens would confer a favor on the clearing-house by reporting such cases.

The employment bureau run in connection with the clearing in the house is finding positions for those out of work. Circling letters are sent out to all the local manufacturers asking their co-operation and when they are in need of men to notify the bureau.

UNEMPLOYED CAN NOW SECURE WORK

Public Utilities Commission and Relief Committee To Act Together.

The Public Utilities Commission meeting yesterday afternoon approved a plan of the Parks Commission to help the unemployed of the city by acting with the relief committee to jointly pay the wages of men engaged in public work.

Under this plan nine men were given employment at Springbank yesterday repairing roads and when they can no longer work there they will be put on tree trimming. The wood cut from the trees will be turned over to the relief committee.

The Parks Commission is reported as being quite successful this year, having wiped out a deficit of $3,000 and accumulated a surplus to stand half the expense of keeping a large number of men at work.

The Public Utilities Commission has only received $75,000 from the city for construction work this year, while the deficit was $230,000. It was said that the surplus of the electric department was being used to make up the deficiency and in this way the commission can make both ends meet.

Permission was given to the London Poultry and Pet Stock Association to hold an exhibition in the during Thanksgiving week, Oct. 13. The shrubs and roses for next year were ordered for spring delivery, the commission's feeling this necessary because of precarious shipping conditions.

ONE IS KILLED, THREE INJURED, IN AUTO WRECK

Car Turns Turtle a Half-Mile West of Hyde Park.

TORONTO SALESMAN DEAD

John Fennell, Hurler Against a Post, Never Recovers Consciousness.

FRONT WHEEL CAME OFF

"I Will Never Drive a Car Again," Says John Irwin, Chauffeur.

One man was killed and three others had miraculous escapes from death when a heavy car plunged into a ditch at the intersection of the Hyde Park sidewalk with the Sarnia gravel road, about half a mile west of Hyde Park at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The car turned turtle, then righted itself. The occupants were hurled into the ditch. The machine is completely wrecked.

DEAD.
John Fennell, of Toronto, single, a salesman for the London Engine Supply Company INJURED.

John Irwin, chauffeur, 31 Bathurst street, knee hurt and bruises on chest and abdomen.
James E. Mitchell, salesman, London Engine Supply Company, 430 Factory street, face cut and bruises on head.
Matthew Flannery, salesman, London Engine Supply Company, 319 Piccadilly street, face cut, arms hurt, and body bruises.

The car was owned by Charles Cheu, a Richmond street restaurant keeper. The machine was running at a speed estimated by Irwin, who was driving, at about twenty miles an hour when the accident occurred. The party had left the city shortly after three o'clock for a trip into the country. Irwin told an advertiser reporter last night at his home that a front wheel had come off as the car was rounding the turn from Hyde Park sidewalk onto the Sarnia road, plunging them into the ditch. Fennell, who was almost instantly killed, he said, was hurled against a fence picked up by the car. He was unconscious a large hole in the top of his head showing where the skull had been crushed in by the impact. The others were thrown out but were not seriously injured.

Died Almost Instantly.
Dr. C. C. Ross, of Hyde Park, who was summoned, stated that when he arrived the man was already dead. Dr. Ross attempted to hold a preliminary inquest last night but was unable to swear in a jury in sufficient time. The inquest was proceeded with this morning.

Gave Himself Up.
Irwin came to the city shortly after the accident and gave himself up at police headquarters. He seemed dazed and could give little definite information of the accident. Detective Thomas Nickle got into communication with Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, who, after hearing the facts of the case, decided that it was unnecessary to hold Irwin at the station. He was allowed to go. Irwin is a licensed driver. The party had scarcely passed the village of Hyde Park when the accident occurred. Irwin, at the wheel, says, he attempted to turn onto the sidewalk, when something snapped. On the instant, the front of the car dropped, as the front wheel rolled into the ditch. The big machine, he declares, pivoted on the axle-end. It skidded completely around, turned turtle, and righted itself. The car backed into a fence, splintering the heavy rails as if they were of match-wood. Both front wheels were ripped from the car. The steering gear was smashed to pieces, while the top and windshield were shattered into many pieces. The body of the auto was badly wrecked.

Little Recollection of Accident.
Irwin stated last night that he remembered little of the accident. He remembers the wheel being ripped from the car at the turn, and being jammed against the steering wheel as the machine swerved from the road. He does not remember being thrown out.

When he regained consciousness, he was lying near Fennell. The latter was perfectly still, and his head was coming from a hole in his head. His eyes were closed.

Irwin got to his feet and saw his companions painfully and as if in a trance, rising from the ditch where they were thrown.

Cyville Calls Doctor.
At that moment, a motorcycle came down the road, and the rider stopped beside the wrecked car. A moment more, and he was thundering down the road in the direction of Hyde Park for medical assistance. He pulled up his machine at the residence of Dr. Ross. The doctor got into his motor car, and cycle and motorcycle raced back to the scene of the fatality.

A hasty examination showed that death had been almost instantaneous, being due to concussion of the brain. By a freak of a chance only, the other three men, who had been passengers in the car, were not hurt, save for minor injuries.

George Logan, undertaker, of this city, was summoned, and the body was removed to the town hall for a preliminary inquest. The jury met at the town hall, where the members were made acquainted with the details of the fatality. The jury then went to the scene of the accident, where the wrecked car was minutely examined. Following this examination, the jury adjourned till 7 o'clock Wednesday night, when the inquest will be resumed.

The jury empaneled by Dr. Ross included Messrs. H. Willoughby (foreman), C. Sampson, Richard Watson, J. McDowell, George Guest, William Bowman, Edward Higgins, J. Armstrong, Joseph Parkins, John Colville, Ed. Heath, R. Morris and M. Graham.

Will Never Drive Again.
"I'll never drive a car again," said Irwin, when seen by a reporter last night. "Never," he reiterated with conviction. "It's too sad to think about. I had slowed up for the curve, and the only explanation I can give is that the front right wheel came off. I don't remember a thing after the car swung off the road, until I came to in the ditch."

Popular in City.
Fennell is survived by an aged mother, Toronto, who, it is said, is dependent on him for support. He has only been a resident of this city for three months, but had made many friends here. He was to have taken the part of an end man in the minstrel show to be staged shortly by the Men's Press Club of this city.

Follow Shackleton

Follow Shackleton's example. He is taking Bovril to the Antarctic because his men must get every ounce of nourishment out of their food.

You, too, can be sure of being nourished if you take Bovril.

In a bottle of Bovril is packed away the nourishing value of many pounds of beef, and in addition Bovril has the peculiar property of making other foods more nourishing.

Even a plain meal yields much more strength and nourishment if you are taking Bovril.

Shackleton's lead is a good lead—remember his words:—

It-must-be BOVRIL

Of all stores, etc., at 1-oz. 25c.; 2-oz. 40c.; 4-oz. 70c.; 8-oz. $1.50; 16-oz. $2.25. Bovril Cordial, large, $1.25; 5-oz. 40c. 16-oz. Johnston's Field Beef (Vimbois), $1.25. S.E.B.

LONDON, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2.

A GREAT HONOR.
HOSE because his work would be "free from interest and pressure." Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King becomes the leader in a vast new movement. He receives a commendation from the Rockefeller foundation to investigate America's industrial conditions, a post that for opportunity and importance cannot be compared to anything else in the world, unless it be the peculiar relationship of Lloyd George to the British people.

Mr. King's investigations will be, naturally, though not wholly, to throw a searchlight of investigation upon the relations between the United States and labor. The superficial view is that capital and labor both want what they can get. Sometimes a fair employer suffers, and sometimes the worker gets the worst of it. Why should that be? That will be one of Mr. King's early assignments. Everyone knows that class hatred has placed political advantages in the hands of the few owners, but at the same time the workers have done much to make the owners take any means of protection. The spring was poisoned years ago, and this explorer in a new world, must trace it back and cleanse the source.

Much depends on Mr. King. As a young man who did more than any other individual to engender a sane and sympathetic relationship between capital and labor in Canada, he has won world renown. The indifferent fortunes of politics have lost him to Canada in sense, yet, any results his work may have will influence sentiment and conditions in this country. From the standpoint of the organized worker, Canada and the United States are largely one, and there is a close bond between the employers of each country. Whatever good may come of Mr. King's investigations, his native country will share in them. He has already brought great honor to himself, to the name of a mighty ancestor and to this country.

Mr. King's appointment to such a mission should be an inspiration to every young Canadian. If he can free his people from prejudice and hatred in any degree, he will have accomplished a magnificent life-work.

GERMANY'S FLEET.
RESS dispatches of the past few days state that the German battleships in the Baltic Sea are being equipped with enormous guns with which the Krupps have been experimenting during two years, and which are now ready for operation.

If this should prove to be the case it may explain the presence of the German fleet in the Baltic is not the result of timidity. The Kiel canal was completed this year, so that the Kaiser's dreadnoughts could pass readily between the North Sea and the Baltic. At the same time new and deadly equipment was ready to be installed on the battleships. The ports of Germany on the Baltic were the most suitable places to prepare the vessels for strenuous action.

Coupled with this come the reports of the siege of Antwerp and of unusual activity along the Kiel Canal. Is Germany hoping to capture the Belgian stronghold to further protect her fleet in its passage to the North Sea to meet the British? The long-expected naval battle may yet come. It may not be necessary to dig the German cruisers out like rats, after all. Germany is engaged in a war of life and death, and it is a safe supposition that she will be ready to risk her fleet as well as her army, especially with the made-in-Germany Krupp guns ready to riddle the enemy.

Britain will welcome the contest, for the war so far has shown that guns without competent gunners behind them are not supreme. Even if Germany has the guns, which has not yet been proven, Britain has the gunners.

THE KAISER IN CANADA.
THERE is something strange about the Kaiser Wilhelm's investments in Canada. Why should he care very much about enlarging his personal fortune by the aid of the right-hand man to levy as much upon his subjects as his Imperial highness desired? Did the Kaiser believe that some day he would occupy part of this continent? Were his investments in the West a good reason for the visits or permanent residence of those who could secure considerable advantages? Has he attempted to establish his espionage in this country? Was anybody given the governorship of New Prussia, as it might have been called? There has been a suggestion made in the Financial News of London that the Hohenzollern sought to entrench himself against the possibility of disaster by securing a private income in North America, where he might exist in the event of his power in the Fatherland collapsing. Such a view is given as follows more for its uniqueness than its logic:

"These enormous investments in America can only mean one thing. They indicate very plainly that the Kaiser, at the time when he was preparing to stake the fortunes of his dynasty upon an attempt at the conquest of Western Europe, was also preparing for the possibility of a failure by consolidating huge financial resources in the United States and the neighboring Dominion, in case he had to escape to that part of the world. If he cannot 'boss' Western Europe he means to have the finest house on Fifth Avenue."

"Whether these investments have continued during the last few months is a question upon which it is impossible to speak definitely. It may be that during recent days the Kaiser has been forced to realize more vividly than ever the necessity for preparation for the ending of the Hohenzollern dynasty."

"Inasmuch as he is understood to take a large personal share—25 per cent is the figure mentioned—of all blackmail levied by his troops, the Kaiser's financial resources should have been materially swelled during the last few weeks. But the difficulties of remittance would be considerable."

VODKA GOES, WHISKEY LINGERS.
THE suppression of Vodka—selling in Russia is a rebuke to the Ontario electors who voted against abolition of the bar. Russian civilization is passing a good examination, where Ontario fell down.

A standing argument of the whisky press has been that no bars mean blind laws, in other words that prohibitory laws cannot be enforced. From the far east comes light on this subject.

As out of Palestine, which the Romans regarded as a backward, half-barbarous country, came the Christian religion to Rome, so from Russia, the half oriental, comes an example of higher living to self-satisfied Ontario. Russia shows the enforcement of any government that really desires to enforce.

Farther east than Russia, again, the opium case is being stamped out by China. The celestial has been needed to the national peril. What is needed in Ontario is a similar awakening of the people to the awful reality of the drink evil. There will be no doubt of a prohibitory law being enforced.

DID IT JUST HAPPEN?
A DETROIT paper of a few days ago, following the lead of a few pro-German papers in the United States, undertook to explain the cause of the European war on the principle of a rainstorm, in effect that the clouds continued to gather until the air could no longer support them, and they came down with a crash.

If this is the case, the blame for the war is at once shifted from the Kaiser to God. It is merely fate, something which will happen anyway, and it is useless to attempt to stop it.

Mr. Arthur Conan Doyle has recently written about the cause of the war in an entirely different vein, and he points to some significant incidents which, in the light of the great conflict do not seem to have been mere matters of chance.

According to him the assassination of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand had nothing whatever to do with the conflict, although at the time carried a statement from London that the incident would result in the greatest war the world ever knew. Sir Arthur states that at the moment of declaration of war Germany had accumulated, by processes extending over many years, all the money which, by borrowing or taxation, she could raise. He points to the shipment of guns to a merchant cruiser in South American waters on July 10, three weeks before the crisis developed. Abnormal quantities of grain were ordered in America in May, and in the same month mobilization warnings were sent to Austrian reservists in South America.

Sir Arthur recalls the Anglo-German motor competition of three years ago, in which each car carried both British and German. Constant reference was made to the impending war, and the date was always given as 1914 or 1915. When he asked why any particular year was mentioned, he was told that Germany would be ready by that time, especially with the widening of the Kiel Canal, by which the large battleships would be able to go from the Baltic to the North Sea. The canal was completed on June 24 of this year.

An interesting question is raised by Sir Arthur when he asks who paid for the expedition of Sikhs to Canada, an incident that for a time threatened to involve the Empire in an internal conflict.

EDITORIAL NOTES.
Are you eating your barrel of apples? Why was Mr. Hanna not made Premier?

The Swiss might be described as holding the watch in this struggle. No doubt, the Kaiser thinks of us as one of the "contemptible colonies."

That million dollar palace at Toronto has an occupant with a bankroll to fit.

Every time a non-combatant is killed by a German bomb it is murder most foul.

We have yet to hear a howl go up because of the armistice in Canadian politics.

"Teach them to shoot." Is all Kitchener has to say. No one ever became a King's prize man in an armory.

Lord Roberts, aged 82, gives good counsel of his ripe experience, when he tells us to love even the Germans as much as possible.

The new Lieutenant-Governor is a fine figure of a man. Therefore he fills all the qualifications, no matter what others he may possess.

The Hamilton Spectator puts it patly when it says, "We and the French have the wolf by one ear, while the Russians hold the other."

Individual British and German soldiers have no personal hatred for one another. Non-participants need not foment antagonism by bitter declarations.

Even into the sanctuaries of the Almighty the Kaiser's minions have carried their hellish destruction. Does this fire-bearer pray with cannon and make his offerings with the bodies of innocents?

Italy seems to be master of the situation in the Mediterranean. She ordered Austria to clear the sea of mines, and Austria hastens to comply. She has kept Turkey from indulging her willing passion for the slaughter of Christian citizens. She has not submitted to threats from Germany.

Jeff and Mutt never get old. After years of battling they are still in the ring. Wounded, felled, blown up or slain outright they return to the front for more. One is reminded of the Norse Gods who fought a daily war, were recreated over night, lined up as young and fresh as ever for next day's fray.

General Joffre is said to have made his way by silence. The Literary Digest gives an amusing account of a military man, being asked where were the general's headquarters? It's a monstrous! If secrecy and silence make a man in France, our Col. Sam would not have reached the heights in that country.

The farmer's organ—the Weekly Sun—points out the embarrassment it will give the attorney-general should the moral reformers appeal to him against gambling at the racetrack and the use of the French betting machines.

The ground of the embarrassment is that the newly appointed lieutenant-governor is "the chief beneficiary" of horse racing in the province. Other papers holding that a strong recommendation of the occupant of the new million dollar government house is to be able and willing to spend freely think the new appointee is the right man in the place.

After war between Japan and Russia, the fugitive mine gave trouble. Though the belligerents had carefully compiled records of where the mines lay, many of these destructive devices became derelicts and were drawn by tides into the paths of ships.

Today, the North Sea and its coasts are strewn with thousands of German mines. Many of them will be recovered, but others will drift for months after the war has ended, and will be only located when some hapless vessel discovers their presence at awful cost.

All the nations but Germany sought to eliminate the mine or to confine to certain areas. Tracing back Germany's principles of humanity were always sacrificed to the convenience of whatever destructive agencies the Kaiser could secure.

Men who are men indeed, Not trodden beasts of someone else's burden.

And herein truly is reason enough, even viewing it on the grounds of expediency; why is loyal. Expected to be the word—has a very little, however, to do with the case, since great principles implanted in the soul of a nation begot great affection; and India's attachment to Britain that of the grateful and religiously satisfied. Can the democratic ideals and democratic government of the British Empire produce any other feelings?—E. R. G.

Land of gorgeous sunsets—purple, gold and red, Long nurtured at the breast of deep philosophies.

Now brooding o'er life's everlasting mysteries, From where they varied, multi-millions tread.

There came a voice, a people's clarion voice, It said: "Britannia, thou hast all my deepest sympathies, pulsing with those finer ecstasies.

Born of my splendid heritage, and long since bred Into national heart, I gladly offer thee To spill on battlefields for causes which are just—

Broad freedom, Justice, and divine blood, my wealth, and all I tender for the lust Of righteous wrath impels. Lo, I am eastern slave, To those outside the pale of this Empire, it is something of a wonder how such a heterogeneous conglomeration of peoples should be able to dwell together amicably. There is, of course, just one answer, and an American, whom I met in India, furnished it. "If," he said, "the British Empire were confined to Great Britain and India only, the achievement of the British race would still stand out as a paramount example of a government based on equality, justice and liberty, and, in this particular instance, on a religious toleration which is as unique as it is astonishing. I am positive," he continued, "that India would not remain very long under the governance of any other European nation." That American had seen India with his eyes open and his mind evidently free of such misconceptions as ultra-socialist Britishers form after a flying visit to a country whose ideals lie very deep down in its heart, and which can only be perverted by one who approaches the East with something of an eastern mind. Let this be as it may, and even supposing that East and West shall never meet and the plane of life's commonplaces, they assuredly have met in their conception of the principles by which alone the noblest, highest and holiest destiny of man is attained—the principles of democracy. India's magnificent and spontaneous offer to Britain in her time of trouble is but a material proof of her regard for the British race, and the well-communicated to her peoples the impulses which culminate in the birth of ideals which shall further evolve.

Men who are men indeed, Not trodden beasts of someone else's burden.

And herein truly is reason enough, even viewing it on the grounds of expediency; why is loyal. Expected to be the word—has a very little, however, to do with the case, since great principles implanted in the soul of a nation begot great affection; and India's attachment to Britain that of the grateful and religiously satisfied. Can the democratic ideals and democratic government of the British Empire produce any other feelings?—E. R. G.

BRITAIN'S HEROIC STOKERS

[BY FRANK BROWNE.]

In the game of war another British boat has gone to the bottom—the Pathfinder has followed the Amphion; another German mine has successfully done its work. Down in the depths of its stokehold the tragedy of the Captain and the Victoria has been enacted; bruised and scalded bodies have been borne to their last rest in the coffin of steel that had long been their home and their playground. They have nothing of the fun or the excitement to cheer them as the ship goes in action, shut away from the upper air, in heat almost intolerable, that the knowledge that the water-tight doors are locked between them and the deck, they throw and after shovel of coals into the blazing furnaces, unaware what the next moment may bring to them. It is easier to die in the sunlight than in the gloom. Yet, stripped of the waist, they work placidly, and even as they glance upward at the pressure gauge, or note the level of water in the gauge glasses, they find time to crack a hearty joke or hum the time to cross the water, pluck and nerve more than in any other, are required by the stoker—the poor devil below stairs; yet, we have heard said, he contributed nothing to the fighting efficiency of a ship, rather, he pulsates the cylinders, and the counter-weights of the finest vessel built, had she no motive power to twirl her massive screws that make her speed?

The old time sailor looked at the trimmer in the stokehold of today, the coal heavers; the old time sailing frigates and line of battle ships have passed, and with them the stokehold of the future, the cranks and the turbine, and the stoker is the better in that the efficiency can be measured in a glance.

That of any other European nation. ## DAILY PAGE FOR ADVERTISER WOMAN READERS

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on the side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

To Clean Furs.

Dear Miss Grey—Would you kindly tell me how to clean white furs?

Ans.—The very best thing is to take them to a professional cleaner, but as you live out of the city, this may not be feasible. Heat equal parts of flour and sugar in a warm oven and thoroughly rub into the fur. Leave for a day or two, then hang on the clothes-line and whisk out. A second treatment may be necessary.

Lizzie's Letter.

Dear Miss Grey—I am a daily reader of your page and find it very interesting. I wrote quite a long time ago to you but have never seen it in the paper yet. I asked for the old songs: "Two Little Girls in Blue," "Sweet Bunch of Daisies," "I am sending you one very nice song." Perhaps some of the readers will like it. Hoping to see this printed soon.

Mustard pickles—2 quarts cucumbers, 1 quart chopped fine, 1 quart whole, 2 quarts pickling onions, 1 quart chopped fine, 1 quart whole, 2 quarts cauliflower, 1 quart chopped fine, 1 quart whole. Let stand in salt over night then drain and cover with 1-2 quarts vinegar, 2-1/2 cups sugar, 1-4 ounce white mustard seed, 1-4 ounce celery seed, 1-4 pound mustard, 1 teaspoon turmeric, 1-2 teaspoon of cayenne, 2 cup flour, mix mustard and flour together with cold vinegar, and thicken whole quantity and pour over pickles. This is good for I have tried it.

Ans.—I am sorry if your requests for songs did not appear. The second one you mention is not a song, as far as I know, but one of Robert Burns' best-known poems. It would be too long for print on this page, but I could mail it to you if any reader sends it in. In regard to the pickle recipe, should not the dressing be allowed to cook for a few minutes, and then be poured over the pickles scalding hot?

Variety of Queries.

Dear Miss Grey—As this is the first time I have bothered you with questions, I thought I would ask a few:

1. Could you tell me a good recipe for a dark cake with a little spice in it? Also an icing that would be suitable for it.

2. What will clean a white set of lambskin furs?

3. What day did March 10, 1900, come on? Also May 10, 1900. And what is it to be born on each day of the week?

4. What will take mildew out of a light print apron?

5. What color would be nice to trim a blue winter coat for a little girl 9 years old? Are wide belts going to be very this year?

6. Could you tell me what would be nice for a Sunday dinner for a few young people, not too extravagant and a meal?

7. Could you or your readers give me a song, "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go"?

8. Hoping these questions will not tire you, and wishing you every success in life.

Ans.—1. Half-cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 2 eggs, 2-1/2 cups flour, 1 cup cinnamon, cloves, and nutmeg, each a pinch, mix with cold milk, beat well and bake in a loaf pan. A few raisins, chopped, will help to keep the cake moist. This caramel icing is nice: One cup brown sugar, 1/2-cup white sugar, lump of butter, 1/2-cup sweet milk, boil about seven minutes; add 1-2-teaspoon vanilla and spread on cake.

2. Please see answer to Mrs. W. L. in Thursday's issue.

3. Saturday. Saturday. This jingle is probably what you have reference to, who composed it and upon what authority, I am sure I do not know. Monday's child is full of grace; Tuesday's child is full of grace; Wednesday's child is loving and giving; Thursday's child works hard for his living.

Friday's child is full of woe; Saturday's child has far to go; But the child that's born on the Sabbath Day is blithe and bonny, and good and gay.

4. Soak the spots in sour milk and then expose to the sun; or cover them with a mixture of soap and starch, leave for a while, then wash out and hang in the sun.

5. Why not a nice piece of plaid, or blue and white check? Yes, elaborate? 6. Does this sound like a recipe? Pure of tomato, roast lamb (hot or cold), salt the housekeeper, mashed potatoes, creamed cauliflower, celery, lemon or pumpkin pie, apples and grapes.

7. This is a popular song and could not appear in our "Old Song Column."

Rose of Tralee.

Dear Miss Grey—I am very much interested in the old songs, I would be much obliged if you would try and publish through the column the words of "The Rose of Tralee." Thanking you in advance, I am, A READER.

Ans.—Referred to our readers.

Walking Home.

Dear Miss Grey—As I have never before bothered you with questions, I thought I would ask a few:

1. Does it spoil the hair to crimp it?

2. Should a girl of 15 allow a boy to walk home with her, if she is well acquainted, and know he is a nice boy in every way?

3. What is the meaning of Wilbert, Frank, Clifford, Edythe, Isabel, Nell, Clara, Harold, Irene and Milton?

4. What will take the scars of pimples off the face? BROWN EYES.

Ans.—1. No, not unless heated irons are used.

2. Yes.

3. Wilbert, well-born; Frank, free; the, happiness; Isobel, consecrated; Nell, a chief; Flora, blooming; Harold, a champion; Irene, peace.

4. Dilute a little peroxide of hydrogen and dab on the spots once a day.

Miss Grey a Fixture.

Dear Miss Grey—I appreciate your column in The Advertiser. I hope you have a permanent fixture, for you certainly give good sensible advice. Please allow me to bother you with some old questions.

1. Some time ago you printed a formula for reducing flesh. I remember it was salts and rain-water boiled together something else added, but what it is I forget. May I trouble you to print it again?

2. A recipe for a nice layer cake?

3. Dilute a little peroxide of hydrogen and dab on the spots once a day.

Ans.—This is the formula you have referred to:

Boil two quarts of rainwater. In one quart dissolve one pound of alum.

2. This is a fine recipe for a "company" cake. As it calls for the whites of the eggs only, I will also give you a recipe for a dark cake to use up the yolks.

Lady Baltimore Cake—One cup butter, 2 cups of sugar, 1 cup of milk, 3/2 cups of flour, white of 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoon saleratus, Cream butter and sugar thoroughly, add the milk and then beat in the flour, into which has been sifted the cream of tartar and saleratus. Sift these three times. Again beat whites of the eggs. Bake in three layers, in tins about 8 by 12 inches.

Frosting—Melt 3 cups of granulated sugar with 1 cup of boiling water, and boil until it thickens. Then pour slowly over the beaten whites of 2 eggs and add 1 cup of chopped nut meats, 1 cup chopped raisins and 1/2 pound chopped figs. Spread between the layers and on top of cake.

Chocolate Loaf—One half cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 5 yolks of eggs, 3 cups flour, 2 tablespoons ground cocoa. Bake in long loaf-tin, and ice when cold.

OLD SONGS AND POEMS

PLEASE SPARE THAT OLD HOME.

There's an old rustic cot that stands in a square, For ninety-odd years that cot has stood there, Surrounded by trees and a fence that is worn, It's the home of my forefathers, there I was born.

But misfortune came o'er us, it's hard for to tell, The sheriff came in, our old home to sell, It's then I did weep and my mother did mourn, As I begged them in vain, would they please spare that home.

CHORUS— Please spare that old home, please spare it, I pray; Don't turn out my mother so feeble and grey, And my dear loving sister so sickly and pale; Auctioneer, auctioneer, won't you please stop that sale?

You seldom would find a happier lot Than our little family that dwelt in that cot, With father and mother, sister, brother and I, Till sickness came over us and father did die.

My brother left home to find work to do, But where he had gone to no one ever knew, I tolled late and early to keep down the debts, And I fancy I hear myself pleading them yet.

In vain did I plead, but it was of no avail, The auctioneer continued to cry on the sale, And the very next bidder a man quite unknown, He laid down his money, and purchased our home.

Then mother and sister, with hearts sad and sore, Prepared to depart from that old cottage door, When the stranger spoke up, saying, "Your sorrow is done, Accept a home from me, your long lost son."

What love and rejoicing was there on that day, When brother embraced my mother so, With a welcome for me and my sister so pale, And that put an end to that dread sheriff's sale.

time, but the mountains is full of time, "You begin today," She started up and stood erect with arms folded, evidently willing to do the bidding of them.

"The process will be going on all the while you're associating with me, honey," That chief, Red Feather—he has a daughter, hasn't he?" She spoke with confidence.

"I see, and your father's dead, too, eh?" Exclaimed Red Feather, but thoroughly convinced her of the truth of these pretenses.

"Both—mother, father. Nobody but me," She knelt down at his side, her face troubled, "If I had just one."

"Oh, yes, yes—Red Feather, him talk about them, talk, talk, always me—begin!" She regarded him with dignified attention, her little hands folded below her knees. The cloud had vanished from her face and her eyes sparkled with expectancy.

"I ain't got the tools yet, honey. They're not breaking up and ennobling about here."

"No, no, honey," he cooed absently. "I would be hurt by it. I was always a byword among my people. They'd say, 'There goes Brick Wilcox, what he's got to do with his tools, to begin.'"

She stiffened herself. "You needn't be afraid I'll cry, I want you to hurt me, if that's the way."

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASS'N. MARKS FORTIETH YEAR

Association Formed 40 Years Ago

Now Manages Three Homes—Optimistic Report.

Very optimistic were the reports presented yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Women's Christian Association, held in the Y. W. C. A. residence, 510 Wellington street, when business relating to the three institutions managed by the association, including the Aged People's Home, the Victoria Home for Incurables and the Infants' Refuge was dealt with.

The Fortieth Birthday. Mrs. Patullo presented the report of the secretary, stating that it was an occasion for self-congratulation because of the fact that the association had arrived at the fourth decade of its existence. Forty years ago a number of women banded themselves together in order to organize a society, the object of which would be to engage in benevolent work among the poor and needy of the city. In March, 1875, an application was made to the Ontario Government to be incorporated according to law under the name of the Women's Christian Association. Among the first undertakings was the formation of a visiting and relief committee, the members being obtained from the Y. W. C. A. The soup kitchen had long been discontinued, but the relief work and Infants' Home still formed important branches of the work. The Aged People's Home had been established, and later, the Home for Incurables.

Kiddies Well Now. A good deal of sickness among the infants at the Refuge had prevailed during the year, but at present the tots are in good health, the report stated, and the general health of the other "household" was good. At the Refuge and Aged People's Home, the large gardens had been unusually productive, a fine supply of fruit being for use in the "household." On October 1, 1913, there were 10 infants in the refuge; 27 were admitted during the year; 6 died; 24 discharged, and 7 remained. Seven in the Refuge for incurables; 12 had died; 10 were discharged, and 24 admitted since last October.

Doctors and Clergy. Special mention was made by the secretary of the kind attention given by the city doctors, who had ever made ready response when called upon to look after patients at the three homes. Several of the local clergy had also been thoughtful in conducting religious services. The removal of Rev. H. Whitmore from London was regretted, as he had been a faithful chaplain. Through his efforts the ladies of the Congregational Church had donated an individual committee service for use in the Aged People's Home, Archdeacon Richardson, Principal Waller, Rev. R. W. Norwood and Rev. H. MacFarlane were other members of the service from time to time, and divinity students from Huron College, members of the Salvation Army, and other church workers had also been most attentive.

Other reports were received as follows: Visiting committee, Miss Fraser; Improvements, Miss M. A. Moore; Infants' Refuge, Mrs. J. A. Murray; devotional committee, Miss Moore; hospital and jail report, Miss Moore. Two patients were reported as undergoing treatment in Victoria Hospital in regard to the fact of the men prisoners being crowded into the women's quarters was pointed out as another indication of the need of a prison farm for London. Comment was made upon the exceedingly clean condition of the jail.

Treasurer's Report. Mrs. A. E. Jordan, the treasurer, gave a most concise statement of the finances for the year. The total receipts were found to be $28,225, the disbursements $24,123.11, and the balance in hand $14,191.14. As several necessary improvements are contemplated in the near future, this sum will be further depleted.

The election of officers resulted in the unanimous re-election of the president, Mrs. Marshall; secretary, Mrs. Patullo, and treasurer, Mrs. Jordan. The vice-presidents are: Mesdames Murray, C. B. Hunt, Campbell, Mitchell, McDonald and Waller. Convener of improvement committee, Miss M. A. Moore; hospital and jail committee, Mrs. B. A. Mitchell; devotional committee, Miss Buckle; visiting committee, Miss Fraser; supply committee, Mrs. Davis; investigating committee, Mrs. Gibson; Infants' Home; investment committee, Mrs. J. A. Murray; devotional, Mrs. Marshall, and purchasing, Mrs. Murray. Mrs. D. S. Perrin was appointed assistant treasurer. Mrs. John Marr was welcomed as a new member of the association.

Mrs. H. A. Boomer was present at the meeting, and spoke a few words on behalf of the Local Council of Women, with which the W. C. A. is affiliated.

C. Mabel Takes 2:11 Pace

FAVORITE WINS 2:15 TRO

Though Making Several Costly Breaks—2:05 Pace Still Undecided.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1.—So many hot were heat winners at today's horse circuit races that but half the program was completed. Coolest Mabel took the 2:11 pace without dropping a hair. Lillian W., winner of second money, the original favorite, Signal Boy, won the 2:15 trot, a six-horse struggle, during which the winner made several costly breaks.

Five heats did not settle the pace, on which there was heavy betting with R. H. Brett, favorite, at $100 pools of $10.

CANADIAN LEAGUE MAGNATES WILL MEET IN QUEEN CITY

President James Fitzgerald Had Notified Local Franchise-Holders To Be on Hand—Moguls Will Deal With Many Very Important Questions.

[BY SCOTTY.]

President James Fitzgerald of the Canadian League notified the directors of the London club yesterday that the annual league meeting will be held in Toronto on Monday, October 5. Judging from the attitude of the local franchise holders, this meeting will be a warm one from start to finish. The first thing the London men will ask for is a full investigation of the charges made by Manager Ort against Umpire Bedford. These charges were that Bedford was responsible for the Beaver players being fined in the police court here during the final games, and that the "Emps" was favoring the London team. The local men will also ask that men of the Ort brand be barred from the Canadian League.

The salary limit will be a big topic at the meeting. A number of the managers are in favor of having the players stipend cut considerably. The men wishing the reduction claim that the money paid the players last year, will be cut considerably before the 1915 season. This all comes about as a result of the smaller cities in the league losing the only way out of their troubles, the managers in these cities claim, is to cut down salaries and other sundry expenses.

Among other things that will be brought up at the confab will be a discussion of a revision of the circuit for 1915.

In appreciation for the services he has rendered the Buffalo Federals during the past season, the franchise holders of that club will honor Russell Ford, the World's greatest spitball exponent, by calling Saturday, October 3, Russell Ford Day.

Ford, who now leads the league, has shown the Buffalo outlaws fans some of the greatest pitching ever seen on the diamond there. An injury to his spine kept the star slambang out of the game from August 3 until September 5. This is blamed for the showing of the aggression, fans claiming that if Ford had been able to work throughout the season, the team would now be fighting for first place.

Miller Huggins and Sherwood Magee ridicule the story that they were both signed up with the Feds, for the 1915 season.

Huggins says: "I know nothing of the report that I have signed with the Federal, and positively state that I have not signed with any team in that organization."

"So far as I am concerned, there is no truth in the rumor that I have signed up with the outlaws," stated Magee.

A number of the National League managers, as the result of Stallings' winning, the National League championship have become more peevish than ever of one Bancroft Johnson, president of the American League.

One manager claims that if Johnson had not kicked Stallings out of the American League, the race in the National would not be over yet. Stallings, when he severed his connections with Johnson's circuit, was charged with everything from stealing opposing teams' signals to double-crossing the league, when he managed the Detroit Tigers. Be that as it may the Yankee League lost a live wire when Stallings departed.

Bill Bailey, a Chicago sport writer, sizes up the World's series thusly: "If you are among the cold calculating, the fellows who like to reduce everything to figures and believe they never fib, then string with the Athletics in their series with the Braves for the championship of the world. For they have the edge in the two acts that produce the runs-hitting and stolen bases. And runs will tell games. The record book shows: That the Athletics have it on the Braves with the bat. That the Athletics are superior to the Braves on the bases. That the Braves' pitchers surpass those of the Athletics. The record book doesn't show: That the Braves are playing at their fastest pace, while the Athletics are not. That Connie Mack and George Stallings may be figured as equal assets."

Before many more baseball seasons have passed by, the United States ball teams may have to reckon with Australia in the World's series baseball contests. Larry Lichtenstein, a prize fight manager, who has just returned from the antipodes, states that as a result of the tour made by the Giants and White Sox, the game has caught on in Australia with such force that sport promoters in that country are preparing to form a league, and offer inducements to some of the best players in the United States and Canada to go over there and participate in the pastime. Should this come to pass, it will mean that organized baseball will be raided by the Australians as well as the Feds.

The London lacrosse team, in charge of Manager Mike Collins, will journey over to Weston tomorrow for their series of home and home games in the O. L. A. intermediate semi-finals. Weston will have the advantage of a two road lead, but the locals are confident that they can overcome this. The winners of this contest will meet Bracebridge in the finals.

Aspirants for positions on the Local Junior Rugby team held their first workout on the Queen's park oval. The squad, in charge of Capt. Stevens and Tom Chatto, were put through a stiff workout. The practices will be held from now until the picking of the team takes place.

AROUND THE CIRCUITS

Willie Keeler, 43 and gray, avers that baseball players these days are not the quick thinkers that they used to be when he was in the game. Willie sprung this gag in Cincinnati the other day. Result sport writers said they expected him to say that.

HOPPE REGAINS LEAD FROM THE BRITISHER

Yankee Now Has a Commanding Lead in Match.

INMAN WAS OUTCLASSED

In Yesterday's Contests by the Score of 1,000 Points to 151.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—In two sessions of 3:2 ball-line billiards today, Willie Hoppe, the world's champion, outplayed the world's English billiard titleholder, Melbourne Inman, by a total of 1,000 points to 151. Hoppe now has a commanding lead in the general match, which began last Monday. The American's grand total for seven games is 2,925, and Inman has 2,254. Hoppe gave a fine exhibition of ball-line play in the twelfth inning of tonight's game, when he ran 112 by close nursing along the short line at the foot of the table. Only once during this run had he to drive the red ball up the table, and after a brilliant display he slipped up on a short carom to the cushion. Inman got the ivory together twice for runs of 24 and 20, but was unable to control them to further advantage. His total for the night's play was 35, while Hoppe was gathering 500.

Tomorrow the English player will have the advantage of two 600-point games at his own style, but Hoppe will finish up the match with two games of 500 points each at ball-line on Saturday.

The scores: Night Game.

TROUT, OF THE BEAVERS, LEADS CANUCK LEAGUE

President James Fitzgerald's Official Averages Give Toronto Player the Honors.

According to the official Canadian League averages issued by President James Fitzgerald today, Trout, of the Beaver catcher and left fielder, secured top place in batting and fielding honors during the past season. The Toronto man participated in 100 contests and was responsible for 40 of Toronto's runs and had a percentage of .349 and a grand total of .593.

Louis Bierbauer, London's peppery initial catcher, was beaten out by one point for second place. Harris, of Erie, turned the trick. The latter took part in 114 games, ending the season with .330, while Louie's mark was .329.

Doc Reislings is top notch slambang of the league, the doctor won nine of the banned games he worked in and has a grand total of .818; Kubat ranks second with .773 and Shocker third with .714.

The London slambmen's averages are: Heck, .704; Steiger, .591; Beebe, .571; Hammond, .571; and Baker, .500.

MUGGSY MCGRAW WAS AWAY PIPE WHAT UMPS. KLEM DID

He Chased All the Players from the Bench Including Matty Mathewson—Some Record.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Umpire Klem established what is believed to be a record in baseball history today at the game between the Boston and the New York National League teams. In the seventh inning, while the Giants were at bat, Klem took exception to what he regarded as unusually loud talking on the New York bench. He ordered the players to lower their voices.

Declining presently that he had not been obeyed, Klem directed that the bench be cleared of everybody except Manager Mike Donlin and the bat boy. Christy Mathewson headed the banished players, and they marched single file, hands on one another's shoulders, across the field to the clubhouse, imitating in their progress the so-called lock-step required of convicts in some prisons.

JEANETTE OUTPOINTS LANGFORD
BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Joe Jeanette, of Hoboken, N. J., outpointed and outfought Sam Langford, of Boston, in a ten-round bout tonight. Both are negro heavyweights.

If Figures Mean Anything, Connie Mack's $100,000 Quartet of Beauties Hasn't Very Much on Stallings' National League Leaders.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

In such a series. If hard pressed, McInnis is likely to break through sheer over-anxiety to do things. He is not quite tall enough for the ideal first baseman, but he overcomes that by sheer brilliancy and determination.

Schmidt reminds me more of Frank Chance, during Chance's earlier career, than any first baseman I ever have seen. He has the same fault—slowness in finding the bag and turning to take throws. Remember, Maranville and Evers are about as rapid in getting the ball away once it touches their hands as any two men ever were. All season, since he developed into Stallings' life-saving first baseman, Schmidt

THE LOCAL MARKET

Market offerings were confined to an average quantity of hay and straw this morning. Hay is selling slowly at $11 to $14, while straw is going briskly at $7 to $8.

The ruling price for dressed hogs is $12, although some lots are selling at a higher figure. The supply is rather small.

It was stated on the market this morning that live hogs may drop to a lower figure by Saturday. Today the market is unsteady, and nothing definite can be obtained until the arrival of the big buyers tomorrow.

did not hold against Snow's very bearish report on the American crop, and generally favorable conditions in Europe, with exception of immediate war zone, and reports that acreage in the United Kingdom and Italy had been heavily increased. If the market could be said to have had any fea-

Much of this is the lower grade wheat, moderate demand for No. 2. Wheat options closed 3/4c to 1 1/4c under Wed-

Deliveries through the clearing house for the first day of the month were 1-061,000 bushels of wheat, and 708,500 bushels of oats, no barley or rye.
The cash demand was slow all morning, and reports indicated that many farmers are holding their wheat, and in many cases without any advance made against it. Cash wheat closed 3/4c to 1 1/4c lower.

Receipts were 1,062 cars for inspec-

WHEAT.
Chicago, Oct. 2.—Increasing stocks at Liverpool and continued heavy brought about a further decline today in the wheat market here. Many holders were attempting to sell out, and buying side. After a sharp break, how-off to 1/2c up, was followed by a drop of 1/4c in some cases but the greater part was regained.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Oct. 2.—An Antwerp dispatch to the Daily Mail says: "King Albert is He is reported to have ascended today in a balloon to survey the operations. The enemy shelled the balloon, but the shells fell short."

In attacking the gas between the Liezele and Breendonk forts, the Germans made their first acquaintance with the surprise defence works. Many of them were electrocuted on touching the barbed-wire entanglements.

INDIANS ALREADY

little—perhaps a green or white interwoven band in the headress—to distinguish one regiment, or rather one caste, from another. The stuff is lighter in texture and color than that used in the equipment of the home army, and imparts a smarter appearance to the wearer.

Officer Comrades.
The white officers who are in command are of the highest type of soldier, and there was something noble and determined in the officers' walking through the streets with their troops, headed by the rest camps, when they might well have ridden.

One very important fact that must not be lost sight of is that this great expeditionary force from the Orient is thoroughly trained, according to the most modern ideas, and equipped with first-class machine guns, from India, cannon, rifles, entrenching implements, sleeping bags, tents and the hundred and one necessities of an Indian army down to the prying mat.

The scene in town when the troops marched through to the different camps was unforgettable. Every man, woman and child in the streets turned out, and their numbers were swelled by people who had rushed in from the surrounding country districts. In fact the streets were swelling masses of highly-excited humanity.

Wild Excitement.
The excitement of the high-strung Latins rapidly spread to the Indians, and it was an unique experience to see hundreds of martial warriors, headed by men whose hair was shot with grey, and beardless youths, jump a yard high in the air for sheer joy. Old women fought with the men for the honor of "crying" hands with the bronzed soldiers, and young girls threw sweet-smelling flowers in their path, or pinned pink roses on their tunics and turbans, and even stuck them into the Indians' long hair.

In response the dark eastern eyes beamed their content and rows of white teeth flashed from laughing mouths.
"By evening they were all encamped in the picturesque park with rocky heights, reminiscent of their far-away hills, and in the moonlight to all adjacent roads watching, with undimmed interest, the strange eastern rites of these magnificent fighting men from Britain's great dominions."

[Canadian Press.]
London, Oct. 2.—A King George two messages of greeting to the British Indian troops for delivery to them on their arrival in France. The message to the British troops is as follows:

"You have been recalled from service in India together with your comrades from that country, to fight for the safety and honor of my Empire. Belgium, whose country we are pledged to defend, has been devastated, and France has been invaded by the same powerful foe."

"I have implicit confidence in you, my soldiers. Duty is your watchword, and I know your duty will be nobly done.
I shall follow you every movement with the deepest interest, and mark with eager satisfaction your daily progress.
Indeed, your welfare will never be absent from my thoughts. I pray God to bless you and guard you and bring you back victorious."

To the Indian Troops.
The message to the Indian troops, which was in Urdu, is translated as follows:

"I look to all my Indian soldiers to uphold the honor of the British Raj against an aggressive and relentless enemy. I know your valour and your brave and loyal Indian soldiers are prepared to fulfill this sacred trust on the field of battle, shoulder to shoulder with their comrades from all parts of the Empire."

"Rest assured that you will always be in my thoughts and prayers. I bid you go forward and add fresh lustre to the glorious achievements and noble traditions of courage and chivalry of my Indian army, whose honor and fame are in your hands."

The correspondent adds that at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning the Indian troops were presented by their commander before the general commanding. They were afterwards marched through the city, their splendid bearing being the subject of universal admiration, and they were enthusiastically cheered.

FEDERAL PORTFOLIO AHEAD OF SIR ADAM

Ottawa Influence Shown in Selection of Premier—More Cabinet Changes Soon.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, Oct. 1.—The dropping of Sir Adam Beck from the Ontario cabinet is taken by some who claim to be acquainted with Conservative machinery as an assurance that a Dominion portfolio is awaiting the new knight and that the Bonanza administration is taking over the development of hydro-electric power in all the provinces and form a Dominion Power and Utilities Commission.
Sir Adam Beck was in Chatham last night, and is reported to have declined to discuss the change in the Ontario cabinet, while the official statement issued at Queen's Park is to the effect that he has requested to be relieved of cabinet responsibilities.
The influence of the present Federal cabinet in the formation of the new provincial cabinet is reflected in more ways than the dropping of Sir Adam Beck. Hon. W. H. Hearst for the premiership, the nomination of Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways and canals, who it has been understood, had the refusal of the premiership of Ontario.
Sir Adam's Activity.
Sir Adam Beck, while having worked ardently through the influence of the great public utility which he heads for the return of the provincial administration, is believed to have rendered this service for the interests of the Dominion Council and with a view to the hydro commission being merged into a Dominion commission.
Sir Adam's splendid activities did not stop with the return of the past administration. Immediately the Federal council became seized of the gravity of the European war, he became active in the purchase of munitions for the Canadian military service.
Soon More Changes.
The arrangement of the new cabinet is obviously temporary and the allotment of portfolios has been done with an eye to eliminating party friction. Mr. Fay cannot long remain in power and pressure only induced him to stay in the Government.
Eastern Ontario has only one representative, Hon. R. F. Preston, and a later reorganization will likely see T. W. McGarry go into the legal branch and G. Howard Ferguson given a post.

Three By-Elections.

The date for the by-election in West Elgin will probably be decided tomorrow after the new cabinet is sworn in and constituted to do business.
The other by-elections in West Hamilton, Col. Hendrie's former seat, and Dundas, formerly represented by Sir James Whitney, have not yet been considered.

ENEMY'S CENTRE BROKEN IN EAST

German Losses Reach 20,000 in Battle at Druskeninki.

FAIL TO CROSS NIEMEN

Czar's Troops Capture Augustowo and Kaptzyewo and Much Booty.

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, Oct. 1. — 11:30 p.m. — A Petrograd dispatch to Reuters' Telegram Company says: "In the Suwalki district, from the left flank of the Germans, the Russians foiled two desperate attempts to force a passage of the Niemen River, between Orla, on the north, and Druskeninki, on the south. Military critics point out that with the capture of Augustowo and Kaptzyewo, the Russians have broken the German centre.
"The German line extended from Osowetz to Simino, and the Russians, with great bravery, have expelled the Germans from their entrenchments on the lakes, which are divided by only from two to five miles of dry land. According to the newspaper, the German losses at Druskeninki amounted to 20,000. The Russians have mined the roads, so that many German guns have been embedded and lost.
Special Battery of Trophies.
PETROGRAD, Oct. 1. — Via London, 9:55 p.m. — The special correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Company, who has just returned from a tour of the Galician battlefields, reports that from Lublin southward he found the country devastated and deserted, and the villages burned or razed to the ground.
At Tomaszow depots for Russian trophies of war had been improvised in barns. Among the prizes were rows of howitzers, quick-firers and mortars, many of which had not even been fired, and the majority of which were undamaged. The Russians proposed to establish a special battery of artillery with these guns.
Rushing More Troops.
ROME, Oct. 1. — Paris, Oct. 1. — 9:54 p.m. — According to dispatches reaching here, all the Bohemian and Moravian railroads are congested with German troops and war material, which are being transported to the Russian front. Germany is making a supreme effort to face the Russian advance and all civilian transport has been forbidden.
Dispatches from Vienna say that the Austrian staff is entirely dependent upon that of Germany, which has assumed supreme command in the campaign against Russia.

BRITISH REINFORCEMENT WORRIES THE GERMANS

Berliner Tageblatt, However, Attempts To Keep Up Faith in Victory.

[Canadian Press.]
AMSTERDAM (via London), Oct. 1. — 9:25 p.m. — The Berliner Tageblatt, a leading article says: "The German people await anxiously, but with confidence, further news from the French war theatre. The news of the great advance of the French troops against the flank of our line would not unbalance us. We know that our front line is protected by broad echelons (line behind line, and the south end overlapping the north end of the line ahead), which are ready to oppose such an enterprise.
"Even if the French or English forced advance still further in a north-west direction, they will always encounter echelons, which our commanders have kept back in expectation of such advances.
British Reinforcements Felt.
"The influence of the British reinforcements makes itself more and more felt. They are effective to impede us, though the results will not be lasting. Victory must be ours all the same. If it is gained after difficulties, it will be all the more worth while.
"The name of the battle front is silent, listening breathlessly to the struggle on both wings. Around Verdun a decision comes nearer, we have forced our way through the forest of Argonne, but found on the heights on the west of the Meuse a strong position, which the enemy had prepared. The French are experts at building positions in their rear.
French Prepared Before War.
"We know that such positions were, as far as possible, constructed long before the outbreak of the war."
After expressing the opinion that the German armies between Verdun and the Argonne constitute a great menace to the French, the article continues: "But the obstinacy of the French attack, which always returns, and the advance against us deserve just appreciation, and will have taught a lesson to all who expected an easy time."

ZEPPELIN PUT TO FLIGHT BY AIRSHIP

LONDON, Oct. 2. — 12:50 a.m. — A dispatch from Antwerp to the Reuters Telegram Company says that a Zeppelin was reported to have been shot down by Moll, Bethy, Turnhout, Bourg-Leopold, Merxplas, Brecht, Corstmaile and Westmalle and at 3:30 in the morning it dropped bombs near Fort Broeckhout without serious damage. It then approached Antwerp but was put to flight by the forts.

CAPTAIN W. A. CECIL IS KILLED IN ACTION

WHEN YOU WANT TO LAUGH — EAT!

And If You Want to Eat Without Food Fears Take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Each Meal.

Laughter, smiles and mirth never go with a "caved-in" stomach. Fancy a man afraid of his food laughing! There is always the hunting feeling that a sick stomach is nothing to be trifled with about.

"My old grouchy days are funny to me now."

Just make up your mind to help nature help herself. Give your body a chance to make good. Heal the raw edges of your stomach and give your blood the tools to make digestive fluids with.

There is only one way to make the body well—give it the chance to make itself well. Harmful and strong medicines handicap the system. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the stomach just like food. They are dissolved and there they strengthen the weakened juices of the digestive apparatus until the digestion is made normal.

There is nothing mysterious or magical about them. Science has proved that certain ingredients make up the digestive juices. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are these concentrated ingredients—that is all there is to it. One grain of a certain ingredient contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of food. This illustrates the nature of the tablets. A stomach which is filled with food receives a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. It is more able to digest the food than it would be without it. The work is not so hard on the stomach.

When the meal is finally assimilated the entire system absorbs more nourishment. Food harmful food effects are eliminated easily, quickly and with the maximum of benefit.

Every drug store carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. To anyone wishing a free trial of these tablets please address F. A. Stuart Company, 180 Stuart building, Marshall, Mich., and a small sample package will be mailed free. O.T.3
