MILITIA IS CALLED OUT TO QUELL NIAGARA RIOTS

Foreign Workmen Enraged at 25 Cent Reduction in Wages Assault Non-Strikers.

THE POWER COMPANIES ARE COMPLETELY TIED UP

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 2.—A strike occurred this morning affecting the entire work of construction of the three big Canadian power companies, employing about 1,500 men, being the result of an order issued by the contractors, taking effect yesterday, reducing the wages of the men from $1.75 to $1 50 per day. The order principally affected the muckers, Italian and Hungarian laborers. On the contracts of the Niagara Construction Company, and H. D. Symmes, who are constructing the Ontario Power Company's work, about 500 men are employed, of whom about 50 per cent. quit work. On M. P. Davis' contract for the Toronto Electric Development Company about 150 men are employed, of whom about 25 per cent quit work. At Dawson & Riley's wheel pit contract of the Canadian Niagara Power Company, employing 200 men, there are only some dozen men out. These latter did not quit of their own accord, however, but the men from the other works, 200 strong, swooped down on them, pelted them with rocks, and chased them off the works. The Ontario Power Company has closed down its entire work to avoid violence by the men. Chief Mains, of the Ontario police force, and men, have charge of matters, and are getting the unemployed men out of the park and off the works, and it is not expected there will be any further violence. The different contractors claim they have been overpaying the laborers on account of the stringency of the labor market the past year, and now when they can get any number of men for $1 50 per day, they cannot afford to pay $1 75.

After the fracas at Dawson and Riley's wheel pit, a calm followed among the strikers, but about 10.30 the leaders rounded the striking men up, and marched in a body to Barry & McMordies' and Battles' cribwork contracts and forcibly attempted to compel the laboring men to quit work, making all kinds of threats in their native tongue to throw the men into the river or kill them in their boarding shanties at the top of the hill tonight. The men on the work were advised by the contractors to go home and to come back tomorrow morning. They acted at once on the contractors' advice.

The contract of Mr. Brass, building the Ontario Power transformer house, was next visited and all the men chased off the work as well as the clay men off the Davis contract on the Toronto Power Company. The only laborers who remained at work on the entire works this afternoon were those in Douglas' tunnel work, and they could not be got at by the strikers. Several small pitched fights took place between the foreman and their friends against the foreign laborers on strike. Knives and revolvers were frequently drawn, but not used. Trouble is anticipated this evening if the striking men get moving around among the boarding shanties. The contractors are firm and will stand by their agreement, paying the men off that have gone on strike. Several men that were in fights, had their heads cut and bruised.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 2, 9 p. m.—The strikers are gathering in the vicinity of their boarding houses, back of Falls' View, and it is said are drinking. Justices of the Peace Gray and Robinson, of this town, and Reeve Depew, of Stamford, have filed a requisition with Col.Cruickshanks, of the Forty-fourth Battalion, for assistance to protect order. The commanding officer has issued orders to call out No. 1 Company, of this town. Captain Coulson is calling his men together at the drill shed at once. The men will remain there in readiness all night and march to the works in the morning to preserve the peace, when the strikers will be paid off and the non-strikers put to work.

It is expected the presence of the militia with the big force of special Ontario and local police will put a quietus on the strikers and prevent trouble.

It is estimated that about 800 men altogether are out. Of this number the proportion who were obliged to quit through intimidation is very large. This feature of the trouble is more significant of the true state of affairs than the numerical show of strength among the disaffected men.

Tonight, at the village of Niagara Falls South, during a street fight, a drunken Italian striker stabbed a young man named Jas. Hamilton, in the face, inflicting an ugly wound.

A grave feature of the strike is the fact that every revolver and all small ammunition and knives in every store in town have been bought up by strangers supposed to belong to the striking party. No. 1 Company, Forty-fourth Regiment, 40 officers and men, under command of Capt. Coulson, White and Lieut. Harriman, went on duty at the works shortly after midnight.

LATER.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 3.—Everything is quiet and orderly on the power works this morning. None of the power companies have resumed operations as yet. Only pumpers are at work keeping the water down in the different pits, tunnels and canals. The Ontario Power Company are paying the strikers off at their head offices. The men are moving about orderly, and there is no doubt but the presence of the red coated militia armed with rifles and with bayonets glistening in the bright morning sun has had the desired effect of striking awe to the foreign strikers.

KAISER HONORS MOMMSEN

With Empress Will Attend Funeral of the Historian.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Emperor William and the Empress will attend the funeral of Prof. Mommsen, Thursday, at noon, if the Wiesbaden programme admits of it. Otherwise their majesties will be represented by one of the princes. The expenses of the funeral will be borne by the municipality of Charlottenburg, which, years ago, conferred on the deceased professor the freedom of the city.

U. S. SENATOR ARRESTED

Tammany Leader Gets Into Trouble at the Polls.

New York, Nov. 3.—Senator John C. Fitzgerald, Timothy D. Sullivan's successor at Albany, was arrested today in the polling place of the first election district of the Sixth Assembly District on complaint of Charles Brewster, a Republican watcher, charging him with disorderly conduct. The senator was taken to Essex market police court and arraigned. Brewster alleged that Fitzgerald followed a voter into the booth and tried to talk with him, refusing to stop when ordered by the election officials. Fitzgerald denied the charge. He was paroled, until tomorrow morning.

ARMY COMMISSION HAS WIDE POWERS

Can Make Clean Sweep of British Military Abuses.

THE WORLD'S PEACE IS MENACED

Disorganization Said to Tempt Enemies of England to Risk Affronts.

London, Nov. 2. — Lord Esher, Sir John Fisher and Sir John Ardagh, King Edward's special commissioners for imperial defense, wil lenter this week on the task of revolutionizing the war office, and co-ordinating the military and naval services of the empire. The commission is empowered to do practically anything it may choose in the direction of reforming the establishment in Pall Mall.

Authority has been given the commissioners not only to abolish abuses and substitute new methods without let or hindrance, but even to alter the personnel of the subordinate staff of the war office in any manner it may see fit. It is doubtful if powers so ample were ever before given a similar body in this country. This fact may be taken as an indication of the serious light in which the situation is regarded both by the King and the Government.

In the following words the correspondent is enabled to reflect the mind of one of the commissioners: "The blunders of the late war served to emphasize the extraordinary determination, stamina and patriotism of the British people in the eyes of all nations. Nevertheless the prevalent military disorganization and the lack of sympathy and co-operation between the army and navy might at any moment become elements of fatal weakness to British diplomacy. These conditions offer constant temptation to the enemies of the empire to risk affronts that could not be tolerated. Hence they are a standing source of peril to international peace and Anglo-Saxon institutions."

It is expected that the commission will devote six or eight months' unceasing labor to its task. It is hoped that it will put the defenses of the empire on he soundest basis they have ever occupied.

CANDIDATE FOR PAISLEY

Cousin of Mr. John Mills, of This City, Nominated.

Ex-Bailie John M. McCallum, who was recently nominated as the Liberal candidate for Paisley, Scotland, is a cousin of Mr. John Mills, bookseller, of this city. The choice of the Paisley electors was made at a large meeting, and it was unanimous. According to his speech, reported in the Paisley Express, Mr. McCallum is a staunch free trader, advocates a reform of the land laws, is in favor of the local veto, and is opposed to the educational bill.Speaking of him the Paisley Express says:

"He has everything to commend him. On political questions he is sound on every point in the Liberal faith. No milk-and-water politician is he. He is of the people and for the people. He is a gentleman respected and looked up to by more than political sympathizers as a safe guide. In his private business he has been successful, and has won in the business world the admiration of all for his kindly and upright dealing. He was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He is the architect of his own fortune. He has made his mark and shot to the front in the business world by sheer worth and energy. In the political arena he gives promise of doing the same. As politicians go, he is yet a young man, full of energy and eager to take part in parliamentary work for the uplifting of the people—a work in which, in local circles, he ever has been prominent and diligent. By electing Mr. John M. McCallum, Paisley will speak in Parliament fully and emphatically its opinions. Mr. McCallum will prove a worthy successor to the long list of esteemed Liberals who have, Parliament after Parliament, represented the burgh. There is no doubt as to his election. But next election a bigger majority than ever before is wanted. Paisley must tell the Balfour-Chamberlain combination that they will have none of their quackery, that they are aware of the sufferings of their forefathers in the time prior to the repeal of the corn laws, and that they resent any attempt to revert, even in the smallest degree, to a policy which was disastrous before and, if adopted, would be disastrous again."

BLOODY FIGHT AT U. S. POLLS

Democratic Voter Shot in Election Fight at Troy.

HEAVY POLLING IN NEW YORK

Also at Philadelphia and Boston—Low, McClellan and Devery Poll Vote.

Troy, N. Y., Nov. 3. — Philip J. Riley, a Regular Democrat, was shot in the fleshy part of the right leg at the polling place of the third district of the ninth ward this morning, by Wm. J. Myers, ex-deputy charity commissioner. Dr. Gravott says Mr. Riley is not dangerously injured. Riley is captain of the Osgoode Steamer Company.

The shooting occurred shortly after the opening of the polls. Myers was acting as a special deputy sheriff and undertook to force Riley away from the polls, the claim having been made that the latter was inside the boundary line. Riley resisted on the ground he was conforming with the law, and a general argument followed, blows being struck by the ward workers. In the confusion which ensued a shot rang out and Riley fell. The police made a rush for the crowd and Myers was found with a smoking revolver in his hand. He did not deny having used the weapon and he was placed under arrest and locked up in the first precinct station. At the hospital where Riley was taken it was found that the bullet had not entered the leg, but had imbedded itself in the left side above the hip. The surgeons did not deem it safe to probe for the ball, although they said that they did not think that Capt. Riley is seriously injured.

New York, Nov. 3. — Election day in this city dawned clear and bright, with not a suspicion of cloudiness, ideal weather for getting out a heavy vote, and the early morning polling was especially heavy, not only in the Democratic strongholds, down town, but in the up-town precincts, where the Fusionists are strong. In these districts long before the polls were opened, voters stood in line waiting, many of them prepared to enjoy a day's outing and carrying golf stick bags, fishing tackle, suit cases and lunch-baskets ready for departure.

The voting was extremely rapid.

Mayor Low voted early, going alone to the polling place in Park avenue, near Sixty-fourth street.

It was quiet during the early hours and every precaution was taken to keep it so during the day. More than a thousand policemen were temporarily transferred for the day, to provide the necessary officers in each district.During the night twenty men suspected of being thieves were arrested and they will be held at police headquarters 48 hours as a precautionary measure.

Wm. S. Devery was one of the first to vote in his district, being in line before the polls opened. George B. McClellan waited until rather late in the forenoon, walking over to his polling place and casting ballot No. 27 in the district, with no delay, the early rush being over. He then took a street car down town to his headquarters.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 3. — There was not the usual effort among the workers of either political party to get out the voters. The Democrats are more apathetic than the Republicans, as they realize that the normal Republican majority of nearly 100,000 cannot possibly be overcome when there are no differences in the Republican ranks.

Boston, Nov. 3. — In every city and town in Massachusetts elections are being held today for all state and county offices and members of the Legislature. The campaign has been one of the hardest fought in the the history of state politics.

The caboose of the train ahead was split open and seven stockmen were hurled through the debris.

HE'LL COMMIT SUICIDE

Father of a Convicted Man Threatens to End His Life.

Louisville, Nov. 3. — Because his son was convicted of breaking into a railroad car and now awaits sentence of three years in the penitentiary, J. W. Clifton threatened, in a letter to Commonwealth's Attorney Huffaker, to appear before him in court on Monday and commit suicide. The letter adds: "And if I do I hope my blood will run so thick that the feet of everyone connected with my son's prosecution will be wet with my blood."

FIGHTING THE WORLD

Mr. Foster Says England Badly Needs Protection.

London, Nov. 3.—Hon. George E. Foster, former Canadian Minister of Finance, said that since coming to England he had found the need for protection much stronger than he imagined. "England is bare-handed, and is fighting the whole world," he said. "Other countries are behind walls of protection, and are armed, saber and rifle, against her. For the first time in her history, Great Britain is thinking, and the veneration of Cobden staggers. Judging from the Liverpool meeting, I believe that the working class of England are with Mr. Chamberlain."

LOST IN WILDS OF LABRADOR

Hubbard's Party Attempted an Impossible Trip.

GONE FORWARD WITHOUT FOOD

Depending Upon What They Can Shoot—May Be Rescued by Nauscopee Indians.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 3. — James Calder, a lumberman from Rigolet, Labrador, the last white man to see Leonidas Hubbard, jun., of New York, assistant editor of Outing, and head of the Labrador exploring expedition, has arrived here in the mail boat Virginia Lake. Calder expresses grave doubts as to the safety of the Hubbard party, which was attempting what he considers an impossible trip. Calder tried to dissuade Mr. Hubbard from venturing inland, but he persisted, and, as already told in these dispatches, he gave away nearly all his food before starting, on the plea that he could not advance fast enough if burdened with stores. His intention was to proceed north towards Ungava Bay, but if he found this impossible his alternative would be to travel to the southwest, hoping to break out in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. It was the purpose of Mr. Hubbard to subsist on what he killed with his rifle, but Calder, who previously had traveled 150 miles inland through the forest, advised his taking a shotgun,which would enable him to kill small game. Calder believes that the only chance for Hubbard and his two companions is that a party of Nauscopee Indians, following the same route six weeks later, on a trapping expedition, may come up with him.

THE SARNIA SUICIDE

He Turns Out To Be C. C. Hamilton, of Hartford.

Sarnia, Ont., Nov. 3.—The man who was found in Bayview Park with a bullet wound in the head and a revolver in his hand last evening died at the hospital at 4 o'clock this morning. The man who was about 45 years old, and of delicate complexion, had been boarding at the St. Clair Hotel here since Sept. 20, being registered as C. C. Hamilton, of Hartford, Conn. He was well-dressed and apparently well-to-do.

A HALLOWE'EN TRAGEDY

Boy Threw Turnip and Man Shot Him Dead.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 2. — Perty Corkum, aged 14, is dead at Hantsport, and Truman Trefy, a man of middle age, is in Windsor jail charged with taking the life of the lad. Young Corkum was celebrating Hallowe'en in company with four others of about his own age, and threw a turnip at Trefy's door. Trefy, who was in hiding behind the fence, jumped up, pulled his gun, and shot the boy dead.

A HALLOWE'EN OUTRAGE

Shameful Treatment Accorded a Dutton Family.

St. Thomas, Ont., Nov. 3. — The county attorney left yesterday afternoon for Dutton to investigate an outrage which is alleged to have been perpetrated there on Saturday night. The wife and family of George Gordanire live over. A. J. Leitch's office, and the stairway leading to their apartments was torn down, and a telegraph pole which had been pulled from the ground used to force in the door. A crowd, it is said, surrounded the place, and Mr. Gordanire, wife and family were subjected to great indignity. The windows were broken in and Mrs. Gordanire, it is said, grossly insulted. The case is, if the facts are as reported, one that should be looked into and severe and summary punishment meted out. Mr. Donahue is making inquiries as to the facts this afternoon.

Bulgarian Elections.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 3.—The triumph of the Government in the elections is not complete. M. Zankoff has failed to secure the election, and his party has been utterly routed. This indicates that the country does not desire Russian influence and condemns the anti-dynastic tactics of the opposition.

NO RESENTMENT SHOWN IN MR. AYLESWORTH'S ADDRESS

Declares Refusal to Sign Was Not Prompted by Petulance---Asks That Decision Be Accepted.

A CLEAR EXPOSITION OF DISSENTING JUDGMENT

Toronto, Nov. 3. — The feting of A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., by the Canadian Club last night was not made the occasion for any display of resentment over the boundary decision. In fact, any such spirit was disavowed by the guest of honor and by the president of the organization in their speeches. Altogether the gathering was most harmonious, and the spirit of tenderness with which every reference to the mother country and the future of the empire with Canada as the bright particular star of the constellation on the western hemisphere was received, evoked deep and continued applause. The masterly address of Mr. Aylesworth developed much enthusiasm, and his analysis of the circumstances surrounding the award, as he conceives them to be, casts new light on the decision.

The splendid dining room of the King Edward was the scene of the banquet tendered the Canadian commissioner. There were 350 covers laid. There were requests for three times as many more. Two great flags, the Union Jack and the colors of this colony, were conspicuously displayed. The very absence of other decorations contributed to the appropriateness of these two symbols of the empire. The glitter of cut glass and the profusion of flowers added to the brilliancy of the occasion.

It was a gathering unique in the history of Canada in more ways than one. As Mr. Aylesworth observed, it was a scene seldom witnessed and surrounded by circumstances peculiarly interesting. But it was the young crowd rather than the "old guard" so frequently seen on such occasions. No member of the Government was present. There was no disposition to make it other than a purely soial function and a testimonial of the admiration of the Canadian Club for the guest of the evening. There were no civic features. Col. Denison was not there, but to the left of President Macdonald sat Judge Hodgins, who first registered his stern protest against the decision.

ENTHUSIASM EXTENSIVE.

There was no mistaking the enthusiasm with which the "Maple Leaf Forever" was greeted, but no less turbulent was the scene when the assembly arose to respond to the national anthem, "God Save the King." That the gathering bristled with enthusiasm was evinced when the guest of the evening made his appearance. To the strains of the orchestra, concealed by a bower of flowers, Mr. Aylesworth walked in, accompanied by the club's president. Cheers and hand clapping continued for several minutes. The guests were arranged at individual tables, except for the table at the south of the dining-room, where sat the most distinguished members. Here sat President Macdonald between Mr. Aylesworth and Judge Hodgins, and on either side were Controller Oliver, Dr. N. J. Snale, Charles Edmund, A. T. Huestis, George A. Howell, Col. A. P. Sherwood, of the Ottawa Canadian Club; D. M. Patterson, of the Hamilton Canadian Club, and others.

The menu was disposed of hurriedly. There was an evident desire to get down to the good things as soon as possible. The tasty bit of cardboard decorated with maple leaves in autumn tints and the picture of the guest of honor, was passed over in 40 minutes. In response to the applause over the "Maple Leaf Forever," Mr. Blight rendered "His Majesty the King" amid more applause.

MR. AYLESWORTH'S ADDRESS.

Cheers and renewed cheers, and the song, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," greeted Mr. Aylesworth when he rose to speak. "I should be something either more or less than human," he began, "if upon an occasion of this sort and after so enthusiastic and so hearty a welcome home I did not feel proud of the occasion, proud of the fact of my citizenship among you, and especially proud of the reception you have so kindly tendered to me tonight. My first duty is the pleasing one of expressing, as well as any feeble words I can utter may be able to do, that sentiment of gratitude and of appreciation that I entertain to the full. Occasions of this sort is certainly one of rarity in my experience, although during the last few weeks so numerous have been the festive gatherings of this nature on the other side that jeering men did speak more than once of "another banquet to the Alaskan boundary.'" (Laughter.) Mr. Aylesworth then expressed regret at the circumstance which caused his appointment to the tribunal—the death of Chief Justice Armour—and also the absence of his distinguished colleague, Sir Louis Jette, than whom no truer citizen of Great Britain breathed. (Loud cheers.) A few weeks ago Sir Louis was asked by a foreigner in London if he were not French. "Mais, oui, Francais," was the repty, but then he added, "For generations British, too." (Loud cheers.) He beheved that was the keynote of the attitude of the people of Quebec today.

It was difficult to say anything new, and doubtless his audience were familiar with the published memorandum, and with his own dissenting judgment, while that of Sir Louis Jette would be published very soon. The relationship of the members of the tribunal had been of the most pleasant character. The constitution was peculiar in that the judges were three men for each side to the dispute, and it was inevitable that they should approach the subject with a bias in favor of the nation to which they belonged. He was free to say that his knowledge

LEOPARD MAULS BRITISH OFFICER

Major Leckie, a Canadian, May Not Recover From Wounds.

Ottawa, Nov. 3. — A well-known Canadian officer, Major Leckie, has been seriously, if not fatally, injured by a leopard in Somaliland. This news is embodied in the following cablegram received here from Lord Strathcona:

"Lord Lansdowne sends me the following telegram from Col. Swayne: 'I regret to inform you that Major R. G. E. Leckie was dangerously mauled by a leopard.' In conveying news to relatives please say how deeply I sympathize, and that I will immediateiy cable any further dispatches received by war office."

Major Leckie comes from Tarbrook, N. S. He served in Strathcona's Horse, and afterwards in the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles. It is not known at the militia department when he joined Col. Swayne's forces in Somaliland.

WINDSOR MAN SUICIDES

Jumps From a Second Story Window at Denver.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 3.—Word has reached Windsor of the death by suicide in Denver, Colo., of John Cruise, formerly well-known here. The unfortunate man left Windsor two years ago. He was afflicted with an incurable disease, and went to Colorado for his health. He jumped from a second-story in his boardinghouse. Cruise was 29 years old.

GERMANS DEFEATED

Garrison of Africa Reported Killed by Hottentots.

Beaufort, West Cape Colony, Nov. 2.—It is reported that the German garrison at Warmbad, in German Southwest Africa, has been annihilated by the Hottentots.

Cape Town, Nov. 2.—The German consul here confirms the rumor of a native rebellion in Damaraland, a county of Southwest Africa, forming a part of the German possessions there. A German non-commissioned officer commanding at Warmbad has been killed, and the chief of the rebels has been shot down. Other rumors, to the effect that a commanding officer and another body of troops have been killed indicates a greater disaster.

PACIFIC OCEAN SKIPS ONE TIDE

Curious Action of the Sea Off Hawaii Probably Due to Volcano's Eruption.

Honolulu, Nov. 3. — The latest advices from the volcano of Mauna Loa on Hawaii indicate that the eruption, which began fifteen days ago, is increasing steadily. It is believed by seafaring men that the recent eruption of the volcano is responsible for the remarkable action of the Hawaiian waters.

About 12 miles southwest of the Island of Koohalawe shipmasters report an astonishing ocean whirlpool. This current or whirlpool is about ten miles in length and at least five miles in width.

An even more astonishing thing occurred on the southern coast of the Island of Hawaii just at the foot of the volcano. Last Saturday night the tide went out as usual, the water remaining outside until Sunday night. The usual morning flood tide was skipped entirely. Not until late Sunday night did the water rush in again. It came in rapidly and went a number of feet higher than usual.

A SKITTISH MONTH

Many Changes in the Weather During October.

Much has been said of the eccentricities of the spring months, but it has remained for the year 1903 to learn that the staid and sober going autumn months are capable of being almost as skittish as April. October was an apparent anomaly. Its mean temperature, 50.8 degrees, was 4 degrees above the average. It was warmer than October a year ago by 2.5 degrees. There were more sunshiny hours than usual. The average is 147. The past month had 168, a difference of 21 hours. At the same time the rainfall was also above the ordinary, being 2.66, or 0.28 inches above the average. To cap the climax the snowfall was double the usual quantity, the amount being 6.2 inches, Of course the rapidity of the rain and snow falls accounts for these seeming inconsistencies.

The observatory man was asked if there was really any foundation for the superstition that the weather of the first Monday and the last Friday of the month determined the weather for the ensuing month. He smiled faintly and answered no. There was probably more reason for the belief regarding St. Swithin's Day, which he had investigated, and found to be a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other.

SOLDIERS CHARGE NIAGARA RIOTERS

Foreign Strikers Driven Back at the Point of the Bayonet.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 3. — This morning about 11 o'clock, about 150 of the striking power construction laborers gathered, at the top of the bluff near Loretto convent and began throwing stones on the pumping engine and derrick men at work in the trenches of the Ontario Power Company.

A detachment of 15 or 20 militia advanced upon the crowd with fixed bayonets.

The rioters doggedly withdrew before the soldiers and dispersed. They gathered agoin about half a mile to the south and moved on until they reached the transformer house works, near Falls View, threatening the clay laborers there, and driving the men off the works. They scatered, however, before the soldiers came up, on the double.

All is quiet at present, 2 p.m., but trouble is expected when the works resume operations in the morning.

THE C. P. R. CHANGES

Mr. David Bell Is Not Inclined to Come to London.

Regarding the changes in C. P. R. officials announced in Monday evening's Advertiser, the Toronto Telegram says:

"The circular that was issued by the Canadian Pacific authorities regarding certain changes in the district in and around Toronto is still shrouded in mystery. The transferring of Supt. Charles Murphy from North Bay to No. 2 district, Toronto, brings with it the appointment of Mr. F. G. Martyn as assistant superintendent to Mr. Murphy. These gentlemen succeed Mr. James Manson and Mr. David Bell. What the future of these two officials will be is not known at present.

"To a representative of the Telegram this morning Mr. Manson said: 'I am not in a position to state anything at present. I have been granted three months' leave of absence at my own request, after which I reported to the general manager at Montreal."

"It was hinted that Mr. David Bell would go to London as assistant superintendent, but it is said he is not disposed to accept the change and left last night for Montreal to talk the matter over with the general superintendent. The circular also intimates that for the future the Toronto terminals and Hamilton division will be part of district No. 2. This also means cutting that much off district No. 1, of which Mr. George Spencer is superintendent."

THE LADY AND THE BURGLARS

How a Hamilton Young Man Attained a Cheap Notoriety.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 3. — The latest startling information in connection with the recent shooting affrays here, in which burglars were supposed to be doing all the damage, came to light this morning, when Horace Case, the 16-year-old son of Gardener Case, of Auchmar, the residence of Miss Buchanan, who claimed to have been shot by burglars, whom he was chasing through the grounds, confessed that he accidentally shot himself in the arm with his own rifle, and then seeing the opportunity for obtaining cheap notoriety, shot twice through his hat.

He manufactured the burglary story out of whole cloth. Since the appearance of the advertisement offering $1,000 reward by Miss Buchanan for information which would lead to the arrest and conviction of the men who shot young Case, a local hotelkeeper has stated that it was himself and a companion who were seen by Miss Buchanan walking through the grounds on the day of the shooting, and who Gardener Case and his son were scouring the grounds for, when young Case claimed to have run the supposed burglars down and was shot.

KRUGER'S PRIVATEERS

And How They Were to Cripple British Commerce.

Metone, France, Nov. 3.—Mr. Kruger, the former president of the Transvaal Republic, replying yesterday to a gift of a statue from subscribers to the Patrie, said: "I do not despair. A man of my age has no further earthly expectations, but I have confidence in the justice of God. Younger generations will witness the triumph of this justice, and will see the realization of our experience and patience. Thank you for all you have done for the cause of the Boers and thank you for not forgetting me in my exile and grief."

Mr. Kruger is described as being calmly resigned to events in South Africa.

The Patrie asserts that an unwritten chapter of the war will appear later, disclosing the fact that the Boers relied on the promises of Germany; but that Great Britain succeeded in gaining German neutrality. It will also be shown, the Patrie adds, that the Boers had planned to cripple British commerce by the fitting out of privateers, "which Mr. Kruger prevented, not wishing to have resort to such a supreme remedy."

REJECTS VEIL AND FLOWERS

In Order That the Beauty of Her Dress Shall Not Be Obscured at the Altar.

New York, Nov. 3. — Sentiment as well as money will find expression in the gown which Miss May Goelet will wear on the occasion of her marriage to the Duke of Roxburghe at St. Thomas' Church on Nov. 10. While the shops of Europe have been searched for the most beautiful lace which makes it, the country roads of England, with their hawthorn hedges have furnished the suggestions for its trimming. The tiny white blossoms which bear her name, the May-flower of the duke's future home, is introduced in the soft folds of the bridal dress which the future duchess will wear and which is one of the most exquisite creations of the kind ever imported to this city.

Made by Worth, it is a chef d'oeuvre of the dressmaker's art and is worth a king's ransom. It is made entirely of English point lace, as old almost as some of the jewels which will be Miss Goelet's marriage portion from the gem basket of the Roxburghes. The dress, which has an immensely long train, is made on a foundation of white satin so rich and thick that it can almost stand alone. The satin has been covered with white tulle, and this in a measure, dulls the brilliancy of the satin and serves as a sympathetic foundation for the lace. The bodice has a yoke of lace, or at least one is outlined by a deep frill of this material which encircles the shoulders in bertha-like effect.

The yoke is not transparent; in fact, while the dress was made by the king of French dressmakers, it is typically English in this matter, for British brides, as everyone knows, believe in the most modest gowns possible. The front of the skirt is trimmed with the tiny rose-like May-flowers suggested by Miss Goelet's name, and here and there under the court tram of lace, which falls from the shoulders, may be seen these little rose-shaped hawthorn blooms.

With millions at her command, Miss Goelet has chosen to wear a simple tulle veil, which will be fastened with orange blossoms, and according to her present plans, as she walks to the altar with her brother, Robert Goelet, who will give her away, part of this veil will cover her face. She will probably dispense with the usual bridal bouquet, as she shares the opinion of those who have seen her gown that it is really too beautiful to have the frost of it in a measure concealed by flowers, no matter how exquisite and rare they may be. She may decide to carry a few sprays of orchids in her hand, or else a prayer-book, but these details have yet to be settled.

Miss Goelet's bridesmaids — Miss Beatrice Mills, Miss Therese Iselin, Miss Marian Haven, Miss Alice Babcock, Miss Martha Johnston and Miss Thayer, of Boston — are having their charming gowns made here. They will be of chiffon, and possibly will be trimmed with ermine, as this fur is indicative of the duke's rank. They will all wear large picture hats and will probably carry bouquets.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, who is stil in mourning for her brother-in-law, the late Sir Michael Herbert, will be attired in mauve panne velvet and will wear a toque to match.

About twenty additional men servants were engaged yesterday at the Goelet residence and were sent to a tailoring establishment on Sixth avenue to be measured for the Goelet livery. They will stand about the halls like wallflowers, and detectives will be sprinkled among them to safeguard the bridal party and guests from the intrusion of any who may not have been invited to the wedding feast. Johnson will have charge of the carriages and all outside arrangements for St. Thomas', for what wedding of society could take place without him? He knows everyone and will permit no one to enter without the necessary card of admission.

The ceremony, as already announced, will be performed by Bishop Potter, who will probably be assisted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires. The Duke of Roxburghe will have several English friends and relatives among the ushers, including probably his cousins, Capt. the Hon. Henry Guest and the Hon. Lionel Guest, sons of Lord Wimborne, whose sister, Lady Rodney, will be among the guests, and the Hon. Reginald Ward, brother of Lord Dudley.

To return to the matter of clothes, only a small portion of Miss Goelet's trousseau has been brought over to this country, as she and the duke have arranged to return to England almost immediately after their wedding. While not half of her finery is here, it has taken nearly twenty trunks to hold it.

IT IS KNOWN EVERYWHERE.—There is not a city, town or hamlet in Canada where Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not known—wherever introduced it made a foothold for itself and maintained it. Some merchants may suggest some other remedy as equally beneficial. Such recommendations should be received with doubt. There is only one Eclectric Oil, and that is Dr. Thomas'. Take nothing else.

EARTHQUAKES IN PERSIA

Destroys Entire Town and Kills 350 Persons.

London, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Simla, India, says terrible earthquakes have occurred at Tursniz, near Turbat-I-Haidari, in Persia, in which 350 persons were killed and numbers were injured. One hundred and eighty-four carpet factories were destroyed and only 32 stalls were left standing in the great bazar. The entire town was practically demolished.

CHINA "UP AGAINST IT"

She Appeals to United States for Help Against Russia.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Sir Chen Tung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister to the United States, acting under instructions from his Government at Pekin, has been particularly active recently in the effort to interest the United States Government in China's behalf in her Manchurian troubles. He was at the state department today to see if any way can be found by which the United States Government may be able to serve China in this emergency. It appears, however, that Secretary Hay has not been enabled to hit upon any plan of action that would promise to serve China in this matter. There is no question that events reported as having happened at Mukden regarding the reoccupation of that town was not looked upon by friendly eyes by the officials at Washington, but so long as the United States Government secures trade in Manchuria it will not be drawn into the political complications of the present situation.

Yokohoma, Nov. 2. -- It is officially reported at Tokio from Wiju, via Seoul, that the Russians are withdrawing from Yongampho, on the Yalu River, and dismantling their fortress there, leaving only a small guard. The reoccupation of Mukden by the Russians is officially confirmed at Tokio, where it has created great consternation.

DR. SHOOP'S RHEUMATIC CURE

Costs Nothing if It Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism — a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5 50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere samples that can affect chronic Rheumatism must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, for it is dangerous to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood. My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met, and in all of my experience, in all of my 2,000 tests, I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, for it can't harm you anyway. If it fails the loss in mine.

Address, Dr. Shoop, Box 41, Racine Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists. 42u y

C. P. R. RETRENCHMENT

Many Gangs Laid Off—G. T. R. Is Very Busy.

Ottawa, Nov. 3.—The desire of the Canadian Pacific Railway to reduce its operating expenses caused a large number of men employed by the line on the Ottawa division to be laid off yesterday. The same retrenchment is being practiced elsewhere on the big corporation, which in that respect is following the lead of many American lines.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Several of the chief officials of the Grand Trunk Railway who are in the city today, when asked if they intended to reduce the staff said: "No, we could not do so if we wanted to. We are handling more business now than we did three months ago, so there is no reason to suppose we will reduce the staff. The only thing that might be done is to put off the working trains, and that will only be done when the weather is bad.

TOMMY ATKINS IN FIGHT

British Troops Surrounded in Hinterland Campaign.

Aden, Arabia, Nov. 3.—A report that an officer and several men of the Bombay Rifles have been wounded in a skirmish in the Hinterland has been confirmed. The fighting is now known to have been quite serious. A small British force was surrounded by tribesmen at Sulaik and soon ran short of ammunition. Strong reinforcements were sent out from Dthala and effected the release of their comrades after a sharp fight. Eight British soldiers were killed and an officer and a number of privates were wounded.

The Countess of Limerick, the recognized beauty of Ireland, who is equally popular in Dublin and London, has arranged to appear in the latter city next winter in a series of piano recitals.

THE ATLAS LOAN INVESTIGATION

A. E. Ames, of Toronto, Examined at Osgoode Hall.

$151,000 CLAIM AGAINST CO.

Retains Metropolitan Bank Shares as Collateral—The Position of Wallace.

Toronto, Nov. 2. — A. E. Ames, stock broker, was under examination for nearly three hours today before the master-in-ordinary, Thomas Hodgins, K. C., as Osgoode Hall, in connection with the wreck of the Atlas Loan Company of St. Thomas. It will be remembered that A. E. Wallace, president and manager of the Atlas Company, was also a partner in the firm of Ames & Co., and that the suspension of the two concerns took place almost simultaneously in June last. Mr. Ames' evidence showed that to all intents and purposes Wallace and the Atlas Loan Company were identified parties in the transactions with his firm. The examination developed the fact that the National Trust Company as liquidator of the Atlas Loan Company, charges that the later company have lost outright about $407,000 in cash and securities turned over to Ames & Co. On the other hand, Ames & Co. at present claim that the Atlas Loan still owes them about $151,000 and retain 1,000 shares in the Metropolitan Bank, subscribed for by the company as collateral. In connection with these shares it transpired that several months before the prospectus of the Metropolitan Bank was issued, it was arranged by Mr. Ames with Mr. Wallace that the Atlas Loan Company should purchase $100,000 of paid-up stock in the bank at 200.

Counsel first elicited the fact that news of the suspension of Ames & Co. on June 2 last had been telegraphed at once to A. E. Wallace, at St. Thomas. The notice of suspension at both St. Thomas and Toronto were identified. At that time Ames & Co. were carrying securities of the Atlas Company, but when the suspension took place they were all in the hands of lenders who had advanced money to the firm.

Mr. Ames said that forced sales did not occur in all cases. Forced sales took place on June 9 and June 12, of which 2,000 of Amalgamated Copper were sold on the date first named, and 355 on June 13.

Counsel pointed out that on June 5 there was an item under "accountant Atlas Loan Company," showing a sale of 300 shares of Union Pacific. That was also a forced sale. The explanation was that lenders in Boston and elsewhere had found it necessary to sell stocks. The Atlas took the risk of hypothecation by the lender if the margin was not maintained by Ames & Co.

Mr. Ames told of the stock he carried in the A. E. Wallace account, including United States Steel, National Trust, Twin City, Southern Pacific, etc. Mr. Ames said he never inquired and was not aware that the Atlas Loan was authorized to deal in foreign securities. That was a matter for the directors. He said the securities carried for the Atlas Loan were on margin.

In regard to the total debt owing the Ames & Co., in connection with the securities carried for the Atlas Loan, he had never rendered a statement, but in a letter to Mr. Wallace he had said he was carrying $800,000 worth of stock on a nominal margin and deducting Mr. Wallace's account he was carrying $700,000 in stocks for the Atlas Loan. He had very little knowledge of the Atlas Loan Company's financial condition. He thought that the company could not on June 2 pay their debt balance, and that the sale of securities was necessary. On June 11 Ames & Co., wrote, requesting $50,000 additional margin and threatening to deal with account in default. Subsequently some shares were sold. The final account rendered was on Oct. 2, and showed that the Atlas owed Ames & Co., $150,658, for which they held 1,000 shares in the Metropolitan Bank. He was not able to say exactly what these shares were worth, as they were not listed.

A RUSSO-JAP AFFRAY

Bluejackets Have a Free Fight at Chemulpo, Corea.

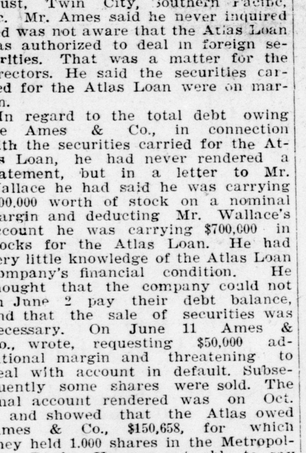

London, Nov. 3.—The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Mail reports a serious affray at Chemulpo, Corea, between Russian bluejackets belonging to the gunboat Bohr, and Japanese bluejackets from the cruiser Chiyoda and a number of Japanese residents of Chemulpo. Ten Japanese and several Russians were injured.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail says the Russian Government has decided to expel all of the Japanese living along the route of the Manchurian railway, having discovered that many of them were spies.

A SARNIA SUICIDE

Unknown Stranger Dying From Five Bullet Wounds.

Sarnia, Nov. 3.—About 9 o'clock last evening, as Caretaker Christie, of Bayview Park, was passing near his stables, he heard several pistol shots. Upon investigation he found a man lying unconscious in the rear of the stables at the park, with a bullet wound in his forehead. Dr. Morrison and Chief of Police Sarvice were summoned and found that the unfortunate man had fired no less than five shots in the effort to end his life, but only one had taken effect. This entered the forehead and lodged in the brain. The wounded man was removed to the hospital, where he now lies in a comatose condition. A pass-book in one of his pockets contains the name of George Hamilton, attorney-at-law, Connecticut.

Inquiry at the hospital at a late hour last evening elicited the information that the man was still alive, but that his death was hourly expected.

Mr. R. G. Irwin, Registrar of Probate and Deeds, Shelburne, N. S., says: "Having been benefited by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, I gladly and voluntarily add my testimony to its value. I was crippled and disabled with rheumatism in my right leg, hip and shoulder. Getting up and down stairs was a very painful and tardy exercise, and for two months I could do but little better than drag my leg. Paine's Celery Compound was recommended to me, and I used six bottles, and am now clear of the pain. I firmly believe that the above medicine cured my rheumatism."

Hen Pheasant and Mate.

Once, at the Fag End of the Shooting Season, a Hen Pheasant said to Her Mate:

"It strikes me, Sir, that I have been subservient to your Majesty long enough. After all, I am as good as you. I can Strut as proudly." Here she suited the Action to the Word. "I can get up in the Coverts with as loud a 'Wh-r-r. And, in short, there's Nothing you can do that I can't do as well—or better. I decline, therefore, to be a crushed Worm of a Hen any longer. From henceforth I live the free, independent Life of a Cock."

Next Day, when they were out together in the Woods, they were disturbed by the sound of a Man's Footstep. Up flew the Cock with a loud Wh-r-r-r, and the Hen, not to be outdone, faithfully imitated his Noise and Flight as she rose

Deceived by this, the Sportsman (who was out after Cocks) let fly at her with both Barrels and wounded her, not, however, so badly but that she managed to get away, and presently to rejoin her Mate in a Place of Safety.

"Did you ever hear the Like?" she clucked, in furious Indignation. "When it is the Immemorial Privilege of us Hens to be exempt from Powder and Shot at the end of the Season!"

Her Mate replied:

"This is unreasonable, my dear Partlet. You cannot expect, while claiming the Status of the Cock Bird, to retain also the Immemorial Privilege of the Hen."

IT IS AN OFFICER OF THE LAW OF HEALTH.—When called in to attend a disturbance it searches out the hiding-place of pain, and like a guardian of the peace, lays hands upon it and says: "I arrest you." Resistance is useless, as the law of health imposes a sentence of perpetual banishment on pain and Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was originated to enforce that sentence.

AND END TO BILIOUS HEADACHE.—Biliousness, which is caused by excessive bile in the stomach, has a marked effect upon the nerves, and often manifests itself by severe headaches. This is the most distressing headache one can have. There are headaches from cold, from fever, and from other causes, but the most excruciating of all is the bilious headache. LONDON, TUESDAY, NOV. 3.

The Aylesworth Banquet.

The Aylesworth banquet at Toronto last night was a brilliant success. The flunkeyism which protested against the demonstration as disloyal was put to shame by the robust British sentiment of the evening. The company was ited only by the capacity of the dining hall, and hundreds of applications had to be refused. Around the tables were Liberals and Conservatives—judges, clergymen, professional and business men, and citizens prominent in many walks of life. The character of the gathering was a rebuke to the mischief-makers who are raising the loyalty cry from political motives. It was a rebuke also to the coterie who would repress the instincts of nationality and who cannot or will not see that a virile Canadianism is consistent with imperial ideals and under a wise policy will be a great imperial asset. There was no note of resentment over the boundary award, no suggestion of a peevish spirit. The company was animated by a desire to do honor to a Canadian who had stood out for what he believed to be the rights of his country.

Mr. Aylesworth's speech was a pattern of courtesy and dignity. He had only kind words for his fellow-commissioners, but he maintained his ground that the finding of the tribunal was not governed by judicial principles. At the first meeting after the hearing of the evidence on Monday, Oct. 13, Lord Alverstone agreed with the Canadian commissioners that the Canadian contention in respect of the Portland Canal was "absolutely unanswerable." What was the Canadian contention? It was plainly stated by counsel, namely, that the Portland Channel mentioned in the treaty was the northerly channel, running north of the four islands, Wales, Pearse, Sitklan and Kannaghunut. The Americans contended for the southern channel which would place the four islands within their jurisdiction. In the argument, and discussion which went on for three weeks, not one of the counsel, British or American, proposed that the boundary line should separate these islands. "Both sides," says Mr. Aylesworth, "argued that the islands, whichever way the case was decided, should not be divided. They must all go together, since it was clear that either the north or the south channel would be fixed upon." Five days after Lord Alverstone had agreed with the Canadian claim to the north channel he gave the first indication that he had changed his mind. The surprise of the Canadian commissioners can be imagined when he decided to divide the islands, his only apparent excuse being that the channel between Wales and Sitklan islands was broader than the channel which ran north of the whole group. The Canadian commissioners refused to sign an award which in their opinion was a transparent compromise. "If we could look on the functions of the tribunal as diplomatic," says Mr. Aylesworth, "there might be giving and taking, but since, according to its terms, the tribunal was purely judicial, the only question before us was what the treaty meant."

It is difficult to resist the conclusion, after hearing the statment of Mr. Aylesworth, that the two islands were gratuitously and unnecessarily awarded to the United States in a spirit of concession and compromise. There is no evidence to show that the American commissioners even expected such a decision. The possession of these islands meant nothing to the United States; they meant a great deal to Canada from a strategic standpoint. If Lord Alverstone had held to his first conclusion there is no reason to suppose the American commisisoners would have stood out against the Canadian claim, as they had every cause to be satisfied with their victory on the mainland. One circumstance stands out with painful clearness — that Lord Alverstone did not think it necessary to consult and argue with his Canadian colleagues when he undertook to revise his first decision. He did not think it was a matter of importance that he should make clear to them his reasons for the award. He had no conscious idea of snubbing or overlooking them, but it did not occur to him that they were entitled to explanations. His conduct was typical of the attitude of British diplomacy whenever the United States and Canada are in contact.

So far as Canada is concerned the particular incident is closed. It will serve no good purpose to keep up the agitation, but it will not be without result in stimulating the spirit of Canadianism, which will not be a bad thing for the Empire at large.

Ontario's Great Wealth.

With the total value of farm property in Ontario reaching nearly a billion dollars—or to be accurate $921,106,731—the farmer in this province is certainly king. A bulletin just isued by the census department contains the agricultural statistics of Ontario as collected by the census enumerators in 1901. The schedules have been revised by a staff of trained clerks, and are the most thorough ever given to the public. Ontario comprises 141,125,320 acres of land, of which 15.13 per cent is occupied as farms and lots. There are 38,712 lots under five acres, and 185,415 farms of five acres and over. Of the latter 4.03 per cent are 5 to 10 acres, 18.83 per cent are 11 to 50 acres, 41.08 per cent are 51 to 100 acres, 28.23 per cent are 101 to 200 acres and 7.73 per cent are 201 acres or more. The land owned is 85.14 per cent and the land leased or rented 14.86 per cent. Nearly all the land in lots is in an improved state, but the land in farms comprises 62.06 per cent in an improved and 37.94 per cent in an unimproved state. About 69.56 of the improved land is in field crop, 2.41 per cent in orchard, garden, vineyard and nursery and the rest in pasture. The number of acres in orchard in 1901 was 266,015, a decrease of 23,269 acres in ten years. The land in vegetable and small fruit increased from 34,365 acres to 65,303 acres in the same period. The area in field crops increased by 1,070,859 acres.

Agriculture values have been taken for the first time. They show for farms and lots in the Province a total for land and buildings of $747,962,568, for implements and machinery $52,697,739, for live stock $131,827,762, and for the crops and animal products of the census year $196,952,362. The toal gross value of farm products for the census year was $109,182,192 for crops (56.61 p. c.) and $83,684,111 for animal products (43.39 p. c.). This makes the aggregate of $192,866,303 or $1,040 19 in the year for an average farm, which is 20.94 p. c. of the investment.

In detail, the proportional value of field crops on farms is 52.79 p. c. of the year's production, fruit and vegeable and nursery stock 3.82 p. c., live stock sold 18.18 p. c., meats and products of animals slaughtered on the farm 4.86 p. c., dairy products 17.18 p. c., wool 0.42 p. c., and eggs, honey and wax 2.75 p. c.

The average value of horses on farms per head is $75 31, milch cows $30 39, other horned cattle $17 35, sheep $5 28 and swine $6 76; and the average value of horses per farm is $263 30, milch cows $166 93, other horned cattle $131 82, sheep $29 66, swine $55 79, and poultry and bees $17 20.

In the value of dairy products is included the milk and cleam sold to cheese, butter and milk condensing factories, amounting to $15,070,922. There were in operation in the province during the census year 1,336 factories, of which 172 made cheese and butter, 1,061 made cheese only, and 103 made butter only. The cheese product was 131,967,612 pounds, worth $13,440,987, and the butter produsct 7,559,542 pounds, worth $1,527,935, making a total value of $14,968,922—the remainder being the value of condensed milk. In the former census there were 893 cheese and 45 butter factories, in the province, and the total value of the product was $7,569,338. The increase in the value of factory dairy products from the year 1890 to the year 1900 in Ontario was therefore $7,501,584, or nearly 100 per cent.

This is the day the Tammany Tiger expects to get its claws on New York again.

Lord Alverstone has met the usual fate of the umpire, but he has himself to blame. He wasn't appointed to umpire the game.

Now that the war correspondents are leaving for Manchuria, Japan and Russia cannot postpone the fight much longer.

Dowie's invasion of New York has proved a fiasco and the prophet blames it on the newspapers. They queered him by simply reporting his utterances.

The presence of that great Imperialist, J. Castell Hopkins, at the Aylesworth banquet, last night, is enough in itself to wipe away any stain of disloyalty.

The victory of the miners at Bilbao, Spain, recalls the great struggle of the British working classes against the truck system. The fact that the Bilbao miners had to strike against it shows that Spain is still a century behind, industrially.

A Boy "Captain of Industry."

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

There is an often expressed opinion that all the boy wonders in the industrial field have their homes in America. There is another opinion, as frequently heard, that business initiative and enterprise are on the decline in England. Just because these opinions are so common, the story of a London firm, "Wrench, Limited," is not without interest.

Evelyn Wrench, founder and head of the firm, celebrated his twenty-first birthday yesterday with a banquet at a London hotel. He is a son of Right Hon. Frederick S. Wrench, one of the Irish land and estate commissioners, and he proposed to become a diplomat. Three years ago he went to Germany to study in pursuance of his plan. There he saw the rage for picture postcards. He at once thought of English pennies, and all ambitions for diplomacy fled from his mind.

He went back to London with a pocketful of designs and a camera. After having a few cards printed he started out on the road as his own traveling man. Now "Wrench Limited" has an output of 50,000,000 postcards a year. It has over 4,000 customers and a staff of several hundred employes. And the proprietor of the firm is in a position to retire from business on his income, if he wants to.

Of course this Boy Captain of Industry is not to be compared with our 38-year-old steel trust presidents, who can make trusts and bust trusts while you wait, nor with our 34-year-old copper magnates, who "refuse $15,000,000" for their interests every now and then and set all Montana by the ears. But he does pretty well for an industrially declining and degenerate country such as England is made out to be.

No Treason Then.

[Ottawa Free Press.]

Things seem to be pretty much as they were when Sir John Macdonald wrote:

"The American commissioners have found our English members of so squeezable a nature that their audacity has now grown beyond all bounds. I am greatly disappointed at the course taken by the British commissioners."

Substitute commissioner for commissioners, and the extract fits the case exactly. But when Sir John called for an extension of our self-governing powers, were his ears assailed by cries of "disloyalty" and "treason"?

These Autumnal Days.

[The Khan.]

Oh, the splendid, splendid morning!
Resting on a hoop of gold;
Oh, the grand, majestic sunsets,
All in purpled crimson rolled;
And the noontides—full of splendor—
And the air so soft and sweet,
Make the grasses rich and tender,
Laugh with gladness at my feet.

And the hillsides—hazy hillsides—
At their feet a dreamy pool;
And the meadows, oh, the meadows!
And the forests deep and cool.
Hear the gunshots in the clearing,
Hear the quick, impatient cry,
While the game goes swift careering,
Joyous through the liquid sky.

Why Canadians Were Nettled.

[Toronto Star.]

The fact of the matter is that nine-tenths of the audible complaint in Canada over this Alaskan business has been stirred up by no one else than these ill-advised persons, who, regarding themselves for some mysterious reason as the special guardians of British interests in this country, proceeded, at the first news of the award, to condemn, at least inferentially, our commissioners, to declare that we had "no case," and to elevate Lord Alverstone upon a pedestal of brobity which made any criticism of his conduct a cross between "lese majeste" and blasphemy. Canadians were generally prepared to accept the award with dignity. We had not expected much, and we had not been disappointed. But we were resolved to make no outcry against it. Then came the spattering and, confessedly, irritating comments of these court-Canadians, which rose as a voice from this country, declaring, in effect, that Mr. Aylesworth and Sir Louis Jette were not only wrong, but had insulted the Chief Justice of England for daring to be right. Under such provocation Canadian sentiment could not remain silent. It became necessary to say many things which, had it not been for this eager preaching of the legend that the only public men of honor live in Great Britain, would never have been heard.

The Pith of the Programme.

[La Touche Hancock.]

He searched the programme through and through,
And came across a joke or two.
It was an easy task to find
By whom the costumes were designed,
Who made the wigs, and who supplied
The drinking water, purified;
From whom the carpets were obtained,
And who the floor so nicely stained;
The exclusive piano used—nay, more,
He learned the name of every store
Which he had never known before.
"Patrons," he saw, "desired," "invited,"
"The management would be delighted."
And many other compliments,
Worth anything from 50 cents;
And then—he came across at last
What he was searching for—the Cast!

More Than a Suspicion.

[Woodstock Express.]

There is a suspicion that some people in Canada would rather lose the islands in the Portland Channel than lose an opportunity of scoring against a political opponent.

Using the Wrong Weapons.

[London Saturday Review.]

The shipbuilding trust was to "sweep Britain from the seas;" it has itself collapsed. The Atlantic combine was to put an end to English supremacy on the ocean; the one thing which is evident amid all the rumors which have been current for some months past is that American management has not been a success. Even the great steel trust itself, with its nominal capital of £280,000,000, is no longer referred to as a miracle of finance in the way that was common immediately after its inception. There is doubtless a good deal which we have to learn from the States, but buccaneering methods in finance coupled with unlimited bounce in commerce are not the weapons with which supremacy will be wrested from the old world.

Much Truth in This.

[Toronto Telegram.]

"Canada First, Empire Next, and Continent Nowhere," is the platform of the Canadians who are most strenuous in their hostility to the spirit rather than to the effect of the Alverstone award.

"Empire First, Continent Next and Canada Nowhere," is the motto of the Anglomaniac imperialists who worship Lord Alverstone principaly because he is no mere Canadian.

Canada is not the home of more dangerous foes to the spread of true ideals of British connection and British unity than the Anglomaniacs with their reactionary ideals and ridiculous organizations that tend to make imperialism a fad for the classes instead of a faith for the masses.

What Can Be Done With Salt.

Salt cleanses the palate and furred tongue, and a gargle of salt and water is often efficacious. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed ten minutes afterward by a drink of cold water, often cures a sick headache. Salt hardens gums, makes teeth white and sweetens the breath. Cut flowers may be kept fresh by adding salt to the water. Weak ankles should be rubbed with a solution of salt water and alcohol. Rose colds, hay fever and kindred affections may be much relieved by using fine dry salt like snuff. Dyspepsia, heartburn and indigestion are relieved by a cup of hot water in which a small spoonful of salt has been melted. Salt and water will sometimes revive an unconscious person when hurt, if brandy or other remedies are not at hand. Hemorrhage from tooth-pulling is stopped by filling the mouth with salt and water. Weak and tired eyes are refreshed by bathing with warm water and salt. Public speakers and many noted singers use a wash of salt and water before and after using the voice, as it strengthens the organs of the throat. Salt rubbed into the scalp or occasionally added to the water in washing prevents the hair falling out. Feathers uncurled by damp weather are quickly dried by shaking over a fire in which salt has been thrown. Salt always should be eaten with nuts and a dessert fruit salt should be specially made.—Table Talk.

Scheme for City Building.

In 1898 Mr. Ebenezer Howard, the head of a successful firm of London expert stenographers, published a small book entitled "Tomorrow," the name of which in later editions was changed to "Garden Cities of Tomorrow." In this book he formulated plans for the building of cities which were the result of long study and had been suggested by the reading of Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward," though they were far more practical and feasible than any scheme outlined in that pleasing but impossible romance.

Mr. Howard's book attracted wide attention, and has resulted in the forming of "The Garden City Association," with a large capital and a board of directors made up of able business men. It has already negotiated for 4,000 acres of first-class land within 50 miles of London, on which to erect the first of its proposed cities. On 1,000 of these the city is to be built, while the remaining 3,000 acres will be devoted to small farms and market gardens. Generous park spaces are to be reserved in the heart of the city, which will combine the advantages of town and country, and is to be laid out by the best landscape gardeners, and in its architecture, engineering and sanitation will embody the latest results of science, while nothing that can enhance its beauty will be omitted.

The city is to have no private landlords; the municipality will own and control all the land, and all increase in land values will be used for the further development of the city and the benefit of the citizens. The city will be built systematically, and not after the usual haphazard fashion. The building of the first of what it is hoped will prove the first of a series of "Garden Cities" will begin in less than a year, possibly within the next three months. The contracts for the land have been made out, but the exact location will not be revealed to the public until some formalities of conveyancing have been compiled with.

The London public, which has taken great interest in this scheme, impatiently awaits its realization. Mr. Howard says that, judging from the manner in which his project has been taken up, the outlook for its success seems very bright. In all grades of society and from all trades and professions, the association finds help and earnest workers.

One-half of all the women in Massachusetts who are able to work are wage-earners.

Wages paid street car men in the United States annually amount to more than $88,000,000.

Servia and Greece each has a population of 2,500,000, or a little less than the State of Indiana.

Comparisons Are Odious.

Among the clerks on an Allentown store is one of diminutive size, the consciousness of which, however, annoys him not at all. On a recent occasion his duties brought him in contact with a Lehigh county farmer of elephantine proportions, who wanted to buy some cloth, to be used for his son, but seemed unable to decide on the quantity.

"How old is your son?" asked the clerk, impatient at the farmer's inability to come to a conclusion.

"Fifteen years," replied the latter.

"Almost my own age," observed the clerk. "Is he as big as I am?"

"Big as you!" ejaculated the farmer, stepping back and eyeing him scornfully. "Big as you Why, he was as big as you when he was born."—Philadelphia Ledger.

KINGSMILL'S

of the subject up to the time of his appointment was very meager. "But I am free to say to you, gentlemen," he added, "that the now familiar names of Sitklan and Kannaghunut Islands were then to me unknown. I took up the official documents and papers, the volumes of other negotiations, and all other literature that surround and possibly becloud the question at issue with an earnest, with a sincere desire, if I could, to arrive at an understanding of the points involved, and at as unprejudiced and unbiased a conclusion on the questions at issue as it was possible, humanly speaking, for me to form.

CANADIAN AND BRITISH SUBJECT.

"I do not pretend otherwise than that I took up the reading of those questions with a bias in favor of the contentions of Canada, or the contentions of Great Britain if you prefer. It was impossible that it should be otherwise. And I honestly endeavored, at any rate, and to the best of my ability I carried out the part, to come to a conclusion on the matters involved after listening to all the arguments that were urged upon either side of the debatable territory without being influenced by the circumstance that I was a Canadian and a British subject. (Applause.) The treaty of appointment required that the question should be submitted to adjudication, not to arbitration—(loud applause)—to the adjudication of six impartial jurists."

He must, however, in order to explain the reasons which had led him and Sir Louis Jette to take the course they had taken, outline three important features of the controversy. The boundary line was agreed upon in 1825 by treaty between Russia and Great Britain. The treaty was couched in French, the language of diplomacy, and every word was carefully gone over by distinguished statesmen. The treaty was designed to settle once and for all the questions at issue. The boundary line was agreed to start from the southernmost point of Prince of Wales Island and ascend toward the north by the channel called Portland Channel to the 56th parallel of north latitude, and from this to follow the tops of the mountains situated parallel to the coast until it reached the summit of Mount St. Elias.

WHAT WERE THE MOUNTAINS?

There was inserted in a subsequent article of the treaty a proviso, insisted upon by Secretary of State Canning, that in case the mountains parallel to the coast were more than ten marine leagues from the ocean, the width of the territory yielded to Russia should not exceed that distance. The terms were reasonably definite, but questions arose upon three points. First, there was the question, what was the channel called Portland Channel? Next, there was the question what was meant by the word coast, whether it was a line which marked the actual edge of the land, or whether it was the general direction or trend of the coast line. Lastly, there was the question, what were the mountains designated by the treaty of 1825, those which were to constitute the boundary line? The first question, and the question which in the end had been perhaps of greater particular significance than any other, was one that seemed to present the least difficulty. What was Portland Channel? That was a question of fact.

VANCOUVER'S NARRATIVE.

No question of law could be involved. It was a question that admitted of no doubt upon the testimony. The nomenclature of the region had been applied by Vancouver a few years before. His narrative was well-known to the citizens of both countries long before the treaty of 1825. It could scarcely be gainsaid that the narrative was in the hands of the men who negotiated the treaty. Upon that point Vancouver's narrative had left no doubt, and he might say, without danger of any desire to be controverted on the part of anyone interested in this question from the standpoint of the United States, that no one questioned but that if the fact were established that if Vancouver's narrative was in the hands of the men who negotiated the treaty of 30 years ago, its answer to the question as to the identity of Portland Channel was conclusive. A glance at the map would show that Portland Channel, an arm of the sea, extended inland from the general coast line a distance of something over 80 miles, at its greatest width only two or three miles across, a long, deep, narrow fiord which divided at its approach toward the Pacific into two forks, a northern and a southern. The southern one Vancouver distinctly called Observatory Inlet. Equally clear was it from his narrative that the northern channel was the one which he called Portland Channel, and which, at all events, he understood by the words "Portland Channel," and which afterwards were imported into the treaty of 1825.

DIVISION OF THE ISLANDS.

It had always been a question of either the northern channel or the southern channel, and until the tribunal's decision no question of dividing those islands had ever been suggested to his knowledge. (Loud cheers.) That decision therefore he regarded as not an interpretation of the treaty, and not an adjudication. (Loud cheers.) He would not attribute any motive to any fellow-member of the tribunal.

On the third question, that of identifying the particular mountains, the tops of which should be the boundary, the majority had adopted an intermediate line, and had divided territory in dispute, instead of adjudicating upon the matter, which had been submitted for adjudication. (Applause.) It seemed to Sir Louis and himself a departure from the principles upon which the two nations had contracted that the matter should be determined, and they deemed themselves justified in taking the course which they recognized as an extreme one, of declining to sign the award. (Loud cheers.)

"I am not here in defense of that course," said Mr. Aylesworth. "I am not upon my defense. (Loud and prolonged cheers.) That course has not been taken without anxious and long deliberation, without the fullest realization of the responsibility we were incurring. That course is not the result of impetuosity of temperament, of any petulance of feeling, of any irritation or even of any grief. That course is one the responsibility for which those who decided to take it must assume. If it was wrong, we are in the judgment of this country, we are in the judgment of the British nation, for having acted in that manner. We took that course after anxiously, earnestly, carefully considering what was due to ourselves and what was due to this country, and we must bear the responsibility." (Loud cheers.)

In conclusion the speaker referred to the report that no British flags would be shown in the banquet of the evening. He declared with much emotion that he was proud to see that the walls were not unadorned with a British flag and the people still sang with fervor "God Save the King." If any resentment was felt, the ties that bind Canadians to the motherland are still true as steel. British subjects we were born. British subjects we will die.

Mr. Aylesworth resumed his seat amid a loud burst of cheering.

TWO epidemics troubled the city fathers at their regular meeting last night. The first epidemic was that of scarlet fever and diphtheria, and the second that of King street pavements. There was a disposition on the part of the aldermen to get through the proceeding in as quick a manner as possible, and the business of the evening was attended to for a while in a lively manner.

When the resolution of the hospital trust regarding the placing of tents on the hospital grounds for contagious patients was read by City Clerk Edwards, the gist of which has already been published in The Advertiser, there was a disposition to thrash hospital matters out at length, though this disposition was nipped in the bud by Ald. Judd, who was acting mayor, Mayor Beck being in Montreal on business. It was probably as well for his worship that he was not present, for some of the aldermen indulged in pointed questions, for which there appeared to be no answers, regarding the expenditure at Victoria Hospital, and whether it was a white elephant or a hospital the people were paying for.

Ald. Campbell suggested that it might be as well to file the communication or else let the council take up the question of a separate hospital for contagious patients in London, as was intimated by the trust.

HOSPITAL ACCOMMODATION.

Ald. Cooper said either there was a whole lot of useless talk regarding contagious diseases in the city, or else there was a crying need for more accommodation. If there was need of more accommodation, the council should at once take hold of the situation and vote the funds necessary for the board of health. He claimed that at least something should be done to improve the present smallpox hospital, which he declared to be a pig pen. He moved that $500 be placed to the credit of the board of health for the purpose of providing additional accommodation for contagious patients.

Ald. Judd ruled the motion out of order, but Ald. Saunders arose and declared that as $125,000 had been spent on the hospital a short time ago, and more was being spent every day, it was a queer thing that there was not accommodation for such a small epidemic as London now suffered. It was queer the scarlet fever and diphtheria patients could not be accommodated without putting them in tents. He understood that when the money for the nurses' home was voted, the accommodation at the hospital would be increased and the hospital put on a proper basis. Otherwise he would not have voted for the nurses' home expenditure.

HOT SHOT.

Ald. Stevenson accused the board of health of squandering the city's money in running to meetings at Peterboro and stopping off and having a good time at Toronto Fair. He said the supply of water at Springbank was continually being contaminated by sewage, and the first thing the people would know they would be up against an epidemic of typhoid fever. The board of health appeared to him to be no good and derelict in their duty. The sewers were blamed for the present epidemic of diphtheria, but it would be a good thing to have the water at Springbank analyzed. He moved that the trust's communication go to No. 1 to provide funds.

Ald. Becher laid the outbreak of diphtheria to the lack of a proper garbage system.

At length, upon motion of Ald. Greenlees, seconded by Ald. Becher, the trust's communication was filed.

KING STREET PAVEMENT TENDERS.

The pavement epidemic was then wrestled with.

A petition, headed by W. J. Thompson, and bearing the signatures of residents of both sides of King street, between Wellington and Maitland, was received, praying that the council award the contract for the proposed pavement on that street, to the lowest tenderer; and in the event of the council having no power to do this, that they take measures to annul the by-law for the pavement, and call for new tenders. Competition, the petitioners declared, was what they were after. Those on the petition besides W. J. Thompson, were George Thompson, Frank Thompson, Ellen Ferguson, John Anderson, Alex. Purdom, W. H. Winnett, Wm. Jones, Geo. Tambling, T. H. Purdom, Frank Adams, F. A. Fitzgerald, John Purdom, E. E. Nightingale, John B. Tanton, L. H. Scandrett, Geo. M. Reid, John Shopland, Minnie McBride, Harry M. Ryan, J. R. Minhinnick, Chas. S. Moore and A. J. Steele.

Mr. T. H. Purdom, K. C., solicitor for the petitioners, was present and addressed the council. He said that in view of the fact that the board of works was now obtaining the opinion of the solicitor as to the legality of the council's accepting the lowest tender, it might be considered out of place to discuss the matter now. His advice, however, was to get competition, if possible. Toronto's city solicitor had advised the aldermen of that city that it was illegal to call for tenders for any particular class of pavement where there could be no competition. It was making a farce of the calling for tenders when such a thing was done. It was not right, either, for agents to go about asking people to sign petitions for any particular class of pavement. The people did not as a rule, know what they were signing for and were befuddled and in the dark. This was proven by the fact that there had been three petitions, already this year, for a pavement on King street, and many people's names appeared on all three petitions. This being the case, the council should step in and with the aid of the engineer, who was an expert, say which was the best pavement and see that it was put down. He asked that the prayer of the petition be granted, and that if the council could do nothing else, new tenders be called for and the people given the benefits of competition.

PEOPLE MUDDLED.

Ald. Greenlees agreed with the arguments put forth by Mr. Purdom. There was no doubt that the people of King street were muddled, and did not know exactly where they were at. It behooved the council to step in and decide for the people what pavement was best, and if the council could save the people $1,000 by accepting the lowest tender the council should do so. At all events nothing should be done till Mr. Meredith's opinion had been received.

Ald. Judd advocated the throwing out of both tenders, and calling for new ones at once for any class of asphalt, and the pavement put down on the initiative plan. He thought if the council did so, the people of King street would get their pavement for $1 50 a yard.

A DIFFERENT OPINION.

Ald. Forristal said King street had been made a football of long enough. The Barber tender should be accepted, or else there would not be a pavement on the street for another year. Nobody knew anything about California asphalt, which the lowest tender called for. The Barber pavement had at all events been proven a fairly good one, and he was in favor of the Trinidad asphalt and the Barber tender.

Ald. Gerry explained that he had supported the Barber tender in the committee because it was the only legal tender before the board of works. Trinidad asphalt had been called for, and a tender for California asphalt could not be accepted. He believed, however that there was other asphalt as good as Trinidad, and he thought the matter of the pavement should now be left over till next year. He got "grease" from nobody, but was trying to do his best for the people.

Ald. Cooper denied hotly the statements made by Ald. Saunders that this was the first year he had stood out for competition. He had fought for and obtained competition on the Warren pavements, something which could not be had when Trinidad asphalt was asked for.

The discussion continued along this line for some further time, and finally the Thompson petition was sent to the board of works, the object being merely to stay proceedings regarding the acceptance of a tender for the pavement until the city solicitor's advice has been secured.

EIGHT NEW FIREMEN.

The report of No. 3 committee recommended that an additional fireman be appointed in each fire hall in addition to the five men required to man the new steam fire engines, a total of eight in all, and the recommendation was adopted without discussion.

Applications for the position will be advertised for at once.

Ald. Matthews moved, seconded by Ald. Saunders, a resolution that the council instruct the clerk to write the secretary of the Underwriters' Association, and see what reduction in insurance rates the underwriters are willing to make if the city buys more fire engines and complies with the recommendations made by the secretary of the association, some time ago, and the council accepted it without debate.

Pleading urgency, Ald. Cooper moved that in view of the prevalence of diphtheria in the city now, the hospital trust be requested to supply the doctors of the city with a supply of anti-toxine, to be placed at the disposal of the poor people of the city, for whom no accommodation could be furnished at the hospital.

The idea struck the council as a good one, and it was adopted, with the change that the anti-toxine be left in the hands of the mayor and medical health officer to distribute to the physicians of poor people.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS.

The communication of Wm. Barry et al., re the condition of the creek on Colborne street, was referred to the board of works.

The assessment commissioner sent a communication to the council, in which he stated that under the new assessment act the city stood to lose about $20,000 annually in taxes, and claimed that the burden of taxation had been removed from the rich man to the poor man. it was sent to No. 1 committee to deal with.

E. W. Nelson, of Brantford, applied for a position as engineer on a steam fire engine, and the application was sent to No. 3 committee.

A request from the Trades and Labor Council, asking for the free use of the city hall for an assembly on Friday evening, Nov. 13, was granted.

The following were sent to the board of works:

From John Haywood et al., against a tile sewer on Queen's avenue, and Elizabeth streets.

From Macbeth & Macpherson, stating that a man named Thos. Henry had taken gravel from the farm of Walter Wright, and delivered it on certain roads in the city. They gave notice that Mr. Wright would look to the city for payment.

From G. Coombs and others, asking for an asphalt pavement on William street, between Dundas and King.

From J. W. Dwyer, for a cement walk on Blackfriars street, between Wilson avenue and Wharncliffe road.

From W. C. Fitzgerald, barrister, re Mrs. Doe's fence on Richmond street. Mrs. Doe stating her willingness to buy the land (the fence now extends on to the street) in order to settle the difficulty.

From George Kelly et al., for a cement curb and gutter on Becher street, between Bridge street and the Ridgeway.

From V. Cronyn, re proposed new sewer on Dundas street, beween Wellington and Adelaide, and that he would oppose the work.

The bylaws relating to the powers of the park commissioner and his duties were read a first, second and third time, and put through.

FOR A UNION DEPOT.

Ald. Stevenson moved, seconded by Ald. Forristal, that a committee be appointed from this council to enter into communication or otherwise confer with the representatives of the different railroads entering into this city, to determine if some arrangement cannot be entered into to provide for a union station, and if possible to ask the railroads to provide some other arrangement for passenger and freight trains, and whatever is necessary to arrange for better railroad service to this city. The motion was sent to No. 1 committee to deal with.

There were present: Ald. Judd (acting mayor), Campbell, Stevenson, Greenlees, Becher, Saunders, Gerry, Cooper, Abram, Wyatt, Forristal and City Clark Edwards.

How Iron-ox Tablets Cured a Toronto Lady of Nine Years' Dyspepsia.

January 15, 1903.

Having been troubled with indigestion in the worst form for nine years, I can honestly say that I am cured, as I have not been troubled with it since using Iron-ox Tablets, which is six months ago. Any person wishing any information I will gladly give it. I have recommended them to several persons and they say the same as I do.

YOU MUST HAVE GOOD DIGESTION

To Be a Business Success—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Will Give It to You—What They Have Done for Others.

Good health is better than great riches, for good health means energy, force, cheerfulness, and all those other essentials of the successful business man.

And the first essential of good health is good digestion. Without good digestion the different parts of the body must be weak and starved. And with a weak, starved body good health and good spirits are out of the question.

And in these days Indigestion is everywhere. The hurried methods of living are to blame for this. Scarce a stomach but needs help. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the help they need. They help others; they will help you. Edward Rousseau, of Bruce Mines, Ont., says:

"I have taken two boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and words cannot express the great good they have done me. I now feel like a new man, and this after suffering for two years from Dyspepsia, for which I tried in vain to find a cure."

The departure from Russia of Dr. Gustav Tammann, professor of chemistry at the University of Dorpat, to accept a chair at Gottingen, has been much commented on, because he was the last remaining eminent instructor at that once famous seat of learning.

OF RARE EXCELLENCE WAS THE AUDITORIUM RECITAL

Delightful Evening Provided by Messrs. Martin, Dwight-Edwards and Wheeler.

THE success of a recital by such a trio as Thomas Martin, Cyril Dwight-Edwards, and Charles E. Wheeler might be confidently predicted as to make even subsequent confirmation unnecessary. Those who were not numbered among the large audience at the Auditorium last night, missed a concert of rare excellence. It has probably passed from the recollection of most Londoners that Mr. Martin came to this city with a reputation that entitled him to a position among the five greatest pianists who come to America that year. His work last night entitled him to that honor which is too often withheld from talent that is constantly with us. From the dainty little Mazurka in A flat and C, of Chopin, to the Liszt Rhapsodie, and the great "Revolutionary" Etude in C minor, of Chopin, his technique and temperament were more than equal to the demands upon them. Especially were both these qualities evident in the Ballade in A flat, Op. 47—a piece of symphonic proportions, and in which Chopin more nearly approaches Schumann than in almost anything else he has written.

Perhaps Mr. Martin's most popular number was the third, three Wagner-Liszt excepts, for not only were most of the audience fairly familiar with the originals of the transcription, but Mr. Martin's dramatic power carried his auditors with him to the climax of the grand scene from "Tristan and Isolde." A much desired encore rewarded the enthusiasm which this selection called forth.

Mr. Cyril Dwight-Edwards certainly surpassed his best previous work in this city, and gave a sympathetic audience the kind of singing that makes reputations.

A great deal of interest was centered in the two songs from Tennyson's "In Memoriam," by Liza Lehmann, her work in "The Persian Garden" having made her famous. The first of these songs gave Mr. Edwards an opportunity to display a control of breath that is remarkable. Its phrases are long and sustained, and were executed with such command that the voice maintained its intensity right to the end.

The "Chant Hindou," of Bemberg, is a song that has been a favorite in London in past years. Mr. Dwight-Edwards' interpretation was somewhat novel, but added to both the dignity and poignancy of emotion that alternate through the song.

The famous Prologue to "Il Pagliacci" is a work that is never attempted by other than artists of maturity and command. As sung last night it was a fitting opening for a perfect galaxy of vocal gems.

Mr. Dwight-Edwards is a singer who has brought consummate art to the aid of a voice of remarkable sonority and purity of tone. The color, varying from sensuous to dramatic, which is nature's gift, has been supplemented by a skill in tone production, and a really wonderful development of the breathing powers.

Mr. Charles Wheeler had even more onerous responsibilities than usually fall to the lot of a first-class accompanist. These were borne with the conscientiousness that marks his work and gives the musicianly stamp to everything he does.

Mr. Thomas Martin,
Whose Playing at the Auditorium Delighted a Large Audience Last Evening.

The piano used at the recital was a Steinway Grand, from the Nordheimer warerooms in this city. The magnificent power and purity of its tone displayed both in the delicate accompaniments played by Mr. Wheeler, and the heaviest passages of Mr. Martin's numbers, inspired the most admiring comments.

Many of the audience made a mistake that is growing tiresome, owing to the frequency of its occurrence. The "8 o'clock" of the programme was evidently interpreted by Detroit time, for it was 25 minutes to 9 before a sufficiently large number were present to allow the programme to proceed. Stragglers even then disturbed the programme up till a quarter past 9. Not even ignorance can excuse that. If people have not sufficient good taste to refrain from interrupting numbers, then the ushers should be instructed to absolutely prevent entrance except between divisions.

Letters to the Editor.

A DAIRYMAN'S PROTEST.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In a recent issue of your paper a report was published reflecting upon my herd of cows as given through the inspector of dairies and health officer.

The inspector having examined my herd came to the conclusion that one of the cows was affected with cow-pox and directed me not to sell milk from the herd until getting his permit, and it was further reported that I continued to sell milk and refused to tell Dr. Hutchinson from whom I got my supplies.

Now, Mr. Editor, I think it is only fair that the truth should appear in your paper and I desire to say that Dr. Hutchinson or no one else asked me from whom I got my supply of milk as reported.

I have complied strictly with the requirements of the inspector and I have not sold milk from any of my herd since I received the notice from him.

As a matter of fact only one of my cows had any indication of cow-pox, and I do not now believe it to have been cow-pox.

Before receiving any orders from the inspector I had stopped selling any milk from this cow, and so I told the inspector.

I may be permitted to say that mine is not the only herd in which cow-pox has been discovered, nor is this trouble a very unusual one among cattle, and I do not think it is quite fair that my name should have been singled out for publication when there are other cases in exactly the same position.

I have carried on the milk business for upwards of twenty-five years and I have always had certificates of healthy cattle and clean stables, and without boasting, I do not think there are many milk dealers who can truthfully show a better record. Yours truly,

THOS. DAVIDSON,

London, Nov. 3.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Very little can be said of the market held here today, as with the exception of hay, oats and potatoes there was very little other farm produce offered—in fact, there was not enough in any one line to warrant a change in prices.

Grain—There were about a dozen loads of oats offered, which went at 85c to 87c per cental. Several loads of wheat went at $1 30 per cental. One load of peas sold at $1 per cental.

Hay and Straw—Although there were 25 loads of hay on the stand, sales were fairly brisk at $7 to $9 per ton. Several loads of straw sold at $5 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—There was very little in and prices were unchanged.

Potatoes—There were about 10 large loads and a few small lots offered; sales were slow at 75c to 80c per bag.

Apples were dull, at prices quoted.

Very little poultry offered, and prices were steady.

Dressed Hogs—There were about 40 carcases offered, selling mostly at $7 50 and $7 60 per 100 pounds.

Butchers' Meats—Very little offered, and sales were slow at prices quoted.

NEW DRUG STORE OPENED

Attractive Establishment at Dundas and Wellington Streets.

Complete in Every Respect and Thoroughly Up-to-Date.

The store at the corner of Dundas and Wellington streets, which has been fitted up during the past few months, has been opened as one of the most attractive drug stores in the western part of the province. The proprietors are two well-known young men, Messrs. Meek & Vining. Both are honor graduates of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, and have for some years been employed in the drug store of Messrs. Cairncross & Lawrence. Mr. Vernon W. Meek, Phm.B., and Mr. Wilber R. Vining, Phm.B., while young men, have had experience, one evidence of which is the completeness of the store they have opened to the public.

It is as finely fitted a store as can be found in the city. From the outside it is attractive. With plenty of space on the Wellington street side, large plate glass windows, and corner entrance, it is inviting. The interior is richly decorated with plain, dark golden oak fixtures, tile floor and metallic ceiling. The furniture, of dark, golden oak, is artistic, in keeping with the other fixtures. Beauty has also been sought in the electric lighting.

The showcases are well worth seeing, being of the most up-to-date type. That at the south end of the store is one of the prettiest of is kind in use, being also large and of specifications suited to the trade. The main counter consists of two magnificent showcases, entirely of glass, known as the "silent salesmen," between which is a glass-covered oak counter, the wood of which is beautiful.

On this latter piece of furniture is to be seen the new torsion balance scale, while in the dispensary is the prescription scale—both glass-encased scales of delicate mechanism, the latter being dust-proof, and so finely constructed that it is sensitive to the one-hundredth part of a grain.

Messrs. Meek & Vining have spent some time in fitting up their handsome new store, and have procured the very best of everything carried by the scientific chemist.

MR. A. E. AMES OBJECTS

Says Atlas Loan Didn't Lose $406,000 Through His Company.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—The examination of A. E. Ames was continued this morning at Osgoode Hall as to relations of his firm with the Atlas Loan Company, of St. Thomas. He strongly protested against the statement of the liquidator that the Atlas Loan had lost $406,000 through his company. He said it was unfair and misleading, and submitted a statement to show that the loss was only $50,463. He added that even that loss would have been avoided if the company had been in a position to take care of its account. This did not include $13,000 for Consolidated Lake Superior or the $200,000 subscription to the Metropolitan Bank.

CAUGHT IN AN ELEVATOR; PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT

Miss Jennie McKenna May Die of Injuries Received at Perrin's Factory.

Miss Jennie McKenna met with what may prove a fatal accident this morning at the factory of D. S. Perrin & Co. She was caught in the freight elevator in such a way that it is thought she received a fracture of the base of the skull, beside other serious injuries to the neck and head. Up till 3 p.m. she had not recovered consciousness, though the accident occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Miss McKenna, who is a young girl of 16 or 17 years, and who had been employed as dipper in the bon bon department for a short time, went to the elevator shaft on the fourth floor this morning and was looking down, it is supposed, for the elevator, when the latter came down from the floor above and struck her on the head. No one was on the elevator and it is thought she must have started it herself. There is a wooden gate or bar a few inches thick across the opening to the shaft at a distance of three and a half feet from the floor. This bar goes up automatically as the elevator reaches the floor, and the girl was caught with the bar, under the neck, as the elevator came down on her head and shoulders. One of the employes on the floor above noticed the working of the elevator and went to the shaft, where he saw the girl held fast, the elevator having been stopped. She was taken out unconscious and Dr. James Wilson was called at once. She was then removed to Victoria Hospital, where the doctors were unable to operate, as the girl remained in an unconscious state. At time of going to press it was feared she would not recover.

The unfortunate victim lived with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald at the corner of Adelaide street and the Hamilton road.

CANADIAN BOYS WHO WERE AT NETLEY WILL REMEMBER HER

Visit to This City of Mrs. Manning, of Southampton—Aided the Wounded.

A lady who did a great deal for the Canadian soldiers who were invalided from South Africa to Netley, England, is at present in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, of 358 Eva street, East London.

The lady is Mrs. Manning, whose home is at Southampton, Eng., and who is a Canadian by birth. Mrs. Manning is on a trip to Canada for the benefit of her health, and no matter at what place she stops she inquires if any of the Canadian soldiers who served in Africa are living in the neighborhood, and if so she does not fail to call on them. She is particularly interested in those who were at the Netley Hospital, for during the time spent there she and her husband did much to make their stay as pleasant as possible. And it is peculiarly fitting that she should be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cole. Mr. Bert Cole, the youngest son of the latter, was a member of B Company, of the first Canadian contingent, and he was also the first member of the corps to be invalided to Netley, where he was visited by the late Queen Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Manning became interested in the Canadians, and besides paying them regular visits, placed their home at their disposal, and also gave garden parties in their honor. By their kindness, Mr. and Mrs. Manning made friends among the Canadian soldiers from Halifax to Vancouver.

At Guelph the other day Mrs. Manning was waited upon by a number of members of the Red Cross Society and presented with a silver cream pitcher and sugar bowl. The presentation was made as a recognition of what she had done for the wounded from the Guelph district while they were at Netley.

Mrs. Manning was very anxious to see Bert Cole, as her husband and herself had bescome quite attached to him, but she was disappointed to learn that he was now in Seattle, Washington State. However, Mr. and Mrs. Cole are delighted at the opportunity of entertaining her, and will do their utmost to make her stay in the city pleasant. Mrs. Manning is contemplating a trip to the west, in which event she will go to Seattle and pay a visit to Mr. Cole. There are a number of Canadians in the west who were at Netley hospital.

CHARITY ORGANIZATION READY FOR PROFESSIONAL BEGGARS

Systematic Campaign to Wipe Out Undesirable Class—The Union Depot.

Inspector Sanders of the Charity Organization Society, has received from James Forbes, a special agent and chief mendicancy officer of the Charity Organization Society of the city of New York, a letter and pamphlet regarding professional beggars and slick trick workers which should certainly greatly assist the local Charity Organization in dealing with application for charity from outsiders. In his letter Mr. Forbes states that the New York organization is looking toward the elimination of professional mendicancy in the United States, and he asks the assistance of Canadian organizations. In the pamphlet are the names, as far as obtainable, of all the professional beggars and charity swindlers, both male and female, in the United States and Canada. Excellent half-tone likenesses of the chief offenders are also given, together with the Bertillon system of identification, so that when a professional "ringer" comes to Inspector Sanders and asks for alms, or assistance in any form, the inspector will be able, if he is suspicious of the applicant, to identify him at once, and hand him over to the police.

Mr. Sanders is greatly pleased with the idea being followed by the New York organization to wipe out this class of undesirable characters, and he thinks that at all events professional beggars will keep away from London when they know the excellent system of identification the Charity Organization now possesses. He intends to do all in his power to assist the American organization by furnishing whatever information he may be able to obtain, and will also be pleased to hear from citizens who are called upon by persons seeking charity. It may be that such citizens may be saved being swindled if they turn over all charity applicants to the society.

CHIEF ROE PLEASED.

Chief Roe is greatly pleased with Monday night's action of the aldermen in authorizing the increasing of the local fire brigade by eight men. For years the chief has stood out for increased help, but he was not listened to. At last, he has had the satisfaction of seeing the aldermen agree to his recommendations without so much as asking a question or a single "crook." In fact Monday night's meeting of the council will go down into history as the meeting at which eight men were added to the fire brigades, and everybody was satisfied.

Chief Roe said today that it would take a big fire to cripple the brigades when the increased force is in working order. Applications for the several positions will be advertised for at once, and when the men are hired, there will be a force of sixteen at the central fire hall.

QUARANTINE ASSISTANCE.

The other day the board of health authorized Medical Health Officer Hutchinson to give assistance to poor families whose homes had been quarantined because of the presence of contagious disease, and for which cases there was no accommodation in Victoria Hospital. Today Dr. Hutchinson undertook to carry out his orders, and met with a slap in the face. A certain poor family in the north end are in a bad way, and the doctor called up a grocer near the house in question and asked him to send over and take an order from the afflicted people for $3 worth of groceries.

The grocer's answer was that he would do no such thing—that it would ruin his business if he were seen going to the house, and that he would certainly have to draw the line on contagious houses. The doctor, however, kept on trying until he found a grocer who was willing to supply the family.

The contagious disease epidemic appears to be on the wane in London. Only one case of scarlet fever has been reported for several days, and during the same time no diphtheria cases were reported.

Secretary McElheran, of the school board, points out that though there has been quite a bit of talk in the city about the alleged epidemic, the school attendance has not been affected. In fact, in some schools, the average attendance for October has been the greatest known in years.

Today, Dr. Hutchinson, accompanied by the city veterinary, Dr. Tamlyn, paid a visit to the residence of a milk dealer in the township of London who, it was alleged, was selling milk in the city and also had a man suffering from cancer in his house. The result of the officers' visit, however, was that it was found the unfortunate patient was not on the milk vendor's premises at all, that he had been removed long ago.

THE PAVEMENT TENDERS.

City Solicitor Meredith is away on a shooting trip and will not be back for a day or two. In the meantime those people on King street who are interested in pavement matters are anxiously awaiting his decision as to the legality of the council's accepting the lowest tender—that for California asphalt—when Trinidad asphalt was specified. Certain local lawyers are quoted to the effect that if any tender is accepted it must be the Trinidad asphalt tender, and failing this the council must rescind the bylaw already passed which specifies Trinidad asphalt and call for new tenders.

A King street resident is authority for the statement that the Warren Company are laying a macadam pavement on Spadina avenue, Toronto, for $1 25 per yard, whereas the same company charged $2 20 a yard for the pavement on York street, and $2 40 for that on Talbot street in this city. It may be, however, that the specifications are not the same, and this would account for the difference in price.

FREE ANTI-TOXINE.

Ald. Cooper certainly made a grandstand play for votes by moving last night that free anti-toxine be furnished the physicians of patients suffering from diphtheria, and from whom cots in the Victoria Hospital are not available. However. Ald. Cooper is no greater sinner in this respect than most of the other aldermen, and no doubt many of them are greatly put out because Ald. Cooper got in on the ground floor with the suggestion. All persons agree that the move is a good one, if the physicians deal honestly with the city in the matter, though, of course, no one can be found who is ready to say that there is a doctor in London small enough to steal anti-toxine under the pretext of obtaining it for poor patients. Anti-toxine is a product which is worth its weight in gold, however, in more ways than one, because, while it is an unfailing cure for diphtheria, if taken in time, it also is worth anywhere from $3 to $6 a dose. Thus Ald. Cooper's motion last night will prove to be a boon to the poor.

A UNION DEPOT.

Ald. Stevenson's motion Monday night, and which was sent to No. 1 committee by the council, regarding a new union depot for London, may bring matters to a head. Ald. Stevenson says that he is well aware that at the present time, the Grand Trunk is having plans made and measurements taken for a new depot, and that it will not be situated where the present depot is. He deems it advisable to bring all the officials together if possible, and discuss ways and means for a union depot.

NOTES.

The school board meets tonight. Business is light and the session will likely prove a short one.

The court of revision to hear assessment appeals will hold its opening session in the city hall tonight at 7:30, in the council chamber. Mr. Adam McMaben is the chairman, the other members being Sheriff Cameron and Mr. James Egan.

Chief Roe has about concluded the purchase of another fine team of horses for the fire brigade.

Huron College, St. Joseph's Hospital, and the Mount Hope Orphanage, have signified their willingness to pay their share of the cost of putting down the north end sewer, and it is likely the sewer will be initiated as soon as it is legal.

CARS AND RIGS COLLIDE

Cars Not Damaged—Rigs Suffer Very Little.

Laundry Wagons Had Preference—Milk Wagon Implicated.

If the warfare between electric cars and milk wagons continues much longer, the supply will not meet the demand for milk, or else the milk dealers will have to find a new means of distribution. Shortly after noon today another milk wagon was struck by a laundry wagon that had been in a collision with a car.

Car No. 88 was going east on Dundas street and when a short distance past Wellington street struck a delivery wagon of the Palace Steam Laundry. The horse broke loose and ran up a nearby lane. The wagon, which had its axle twisted, struck a milk wagon, belonging to Charles Elliott, wrenching the wheel.

The milk wagons, however, have not all the preference just now, for a second laundry rig was struck an hour later in front of The Advertiser building. The car, No. 54, was an east-bound, on the Dundas and Rectory line, and the victim was the wagon of Charlie Hing.

The horse had been left standing on the north side of the street, and attempted to turn, without Hing, as the car came along.

The animal broke loose, but was caught at Richmond street. The rig was slightly damaged.

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

He was about to bestow an admonitory kick on his dog, who had been indiscreet enough to rise at his master's first move, but his foot stopped in mid air, in his anxiety to concentrate all his attention on his answer.

"I am a man of few sentimentalities," he coldly averred. "I have loved but one person in my whole life. Why then should I be expected to mourn over a niece who did not care enough for me to invite me to her wedding? It would be an affection unworthy the man who at last comes to fill his rightful position in this community as the owner of the great Moore estate. For great it shall be," he emphatically continued. "In three years you will not know the house over yonder. Despite its fancied ghosts and death-dealing fireplace, it will stand A Number One in Washington. I, David Moore, promise you this; and I am not a man to utter fatuous prophesies. But I must be missed over there." Here he gave the mastiff the long-delayed kick. "Rudge, stay here! The vestibule opposite is icy. Besides, your howls are not wanted in those old walls tonight even if you would go with me, which I doubt. He has never been willing to cross to that side of the street," the old gentleman went on to complain, with his first show of irritation. "But he'll have to overcome that prejudice soon, even if I have to tear up the old hearthstone and reconstruct the walls. I can't live in any other place than in the old home of my ancestors."

I was by this time following him out.

"You have failed to answer the suggestion I made you a minute since," I hazarded. "Will you pardon me if I put it now as a question? Your niece, Mrs. Jeffrey, seemed to have everything in the world to make her happy, yet she took her life. Was there a taint of insanity in her blood, or was her nature so impulsive that her astonishing death in so revolting a place should awaken in you so little wonder?"

A gleam of what had made him more or less feared by the very urchins who dogged his steps and made sport of him at a respectful distance shot from his eye as he glowered back at me from the open door. But he hastily suppressed this sign of displeasure and replied with the faintest tinge of sarcasm:

"There! you are expecting from me feelings which belong to youth or to men of much more heart than understanding. I tell you that I have no feelings. My niece may have developed insanity or she may simply have drunk her cup of pleasure dry at twenty-two and come to its dregs prematurely. I do not know and I do not care. What concerns me is that the responsibility of a large fortune has fallen upon me most unexpectedly and that I have pride enough to wish to show myself capable of sustaining the burden. Besides, they may be tempted to do some mischief to the walls or floors over there. The police respect no man's property. But I am determined they shall respect mine. No rippings up or tearings down will I allow unless I stand by to supervise the job. I am master of the old homestead now and I mean to show it."

And with a last glance at the dog, who uttered the most mournful of protests in reply, he shut the front door and betook himself to the other side of the street.

As I noticed his assured bearing as he disappeared within the forbidding portal which, according to his own story, had for so long a time been shut against him, I asked myself if the candle which I had noticed lying on his mantel-shelf was of the same make and size as those I had found in my late investigations in the house he was entering.

CHAPTER VI.

Gossip.

Next morning the city was in a blaze of excitement. All the burning questions of the hour—the rapid mobilization of the army and the prospect of a speedy advance on Cuba—were forgotten in the one engrossing topic of young Mrs. Jeffrey's death and the awful circumstances surrounding it. Nothing else was in any one's mouth and but little else in any one's heart. Her youth, her prominence, her union with a man of such marked attractions as Mr. Jeffrey, the tragedy connected with her marriage, thrown now into shadow by the still more poignant tragedy which had so suddenly terminated her own life, gave to the affair an interest which for those first twenty-four hours did not call for any further heightening by a premature suggestion of murder.

Though I was the hero of the hour and, as such, subjected to an infinite number of questions, I followed the lead of my superiors in this regard and carefully refrained from advancing any theories beyond the obvious one of suicide. The moment for self-exploitation was not ripe; I did not stand high enough in the confidence of the major, or, I may say, of the lieutenant of my own precinct, to risk the triumph I anticipated ultimately by a premature expression of opinion.

I had an enemy at headquarters; or, rather, one of the men there had always appeared peculiarly interested in showing me up in the worst light. The name of this man was Durbin, and it was he who had uttered something like a slighting remark when on that first night I endeavored to call the captain's attention to some of the small details which had offered themselves to me in the light of the clues. Perhaps it was the prospect of surprising him some day which made me so wary now as well as so alert to fill my mind with all known facts concerning the Jeffreys. One of my first acts was to turn over the files of the Star and reread the following account of the great wedding. As it is a sensational description of a sensational event, I shall make no apology for the headlines which startled all Washington the night they appeared.

"STARTLING TERMINATION OF THE JEFFREY-MOORE WEDDING.

The Traditional Doom Follows the Opening of the Old House on Waverley Avenue.

One of the Guests Found Lying Dead on the Library Heartstone.

Letters in His Pocket Show Him to Have Been One W. Pfieffer, of Denver.

No Interruption to the Ceremony Follows This Ghastly Discovery, but the Guests Fly in All Directions as Soon as the Nuptial Knot Is Tied.

"The festivities attendant upon the wedding of Miss Veronica Moore to Mr. Francis Jeffrey, of this city, met with a startling check today. As most of our readers know, the long-closed house on Waverley avenue, which for nearly a century has been in possession of the bride's family, was opened for the occasion at the express wish of the bride. For a week the preparations for this great function have been going on. When at an early hour this morning a line of carriages drew up in front of the historic mansion and the bridal party entered under its once gloomy but now seemingly triumphant portal, the crowds, which blocked the street from curb to curb, testified to the interest felt by the citizens of Washington in this daring attempt to brave the traditions which have marked this house out as solitary, and by a scene of joyous festivity make the past forgotten and restore again to usefulness the decayed grandeurs of an earlier time. As Miss Moore is one of Washington's most charming women, and as this romantic effort naturally lent an extraordinary interest to the ceremony of her marriage, a large number of our representative people assembled to witness it, and by high noon the scene was one of unusual brilliancy.

"Halls which had moldered away in an unbroken silence for years echoed again with laughter and palpitated to the choicest strains of the Marine Band. All the doors were open save those of the library—an exception which added a pleasing excitement to the occasion—and when by chance some of the more youthful guests were caught peering behind the two Corinthian pillars guarding these forbidden precincts the memories thus evoked were momentary and the shadow soon passed.

WONDERLY A FREE LANCE; HAS DONE SOME GOOD RIDING

Jockey On a Visit to Relatives in This City—Victory for Race Track Men.

Otto Wonderly, the London jockey, is spending a few days in this city at his home, corner of Waterloo and Hyman streets. Wonderly has been doing some good riding in Chicago the past season. He has not been under contract to any one owner, but is a free lance, and has made more money than if he rode for but one stable. Of the racing in the west, he speaks well, the season just closed having been a most successful one.

Of the good horses, he says McChesney, owned by Smathers, is the king bee. Another fine one is Dick Welles, the champion racer, who has a record of 1:37 2-5 for a mile. Wonderly tells of Dick Welles' famous attempt to beat his own record a short time since, but which failed, owing to weather conditions and a heavy track. The game racer started off, paced by First Attempt, a speedy runner, for a half-mile, when Jeanette Fonso took First Attempt's place and paced Dick Welles to the wire. It was a noble effort to break the record, even though it failed. Dick Welles, however, reduced the Latonia track record from 1:39¾ to 1:38 flat. Dick Welles belongs to Rome Respess, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Wonderly leaves for New York this week, where he may do some riding on the Jamaica track. He looks well and appears to be much heavier than when in London some time since.

VICTORY FOR RACETRACK MEN.

New York, Nov. 2.—Magistrate Tighe in Brooklyn today, dismissed the complaint against Special Policeman Robert G. Buttle, which is considered a victory for the racetrack men against the pool room interests. Buttle was a special officer at the Brighton Beach racetrack on July 8 last, and was arrested in an effort made by pool room proprietors to have betting suppressed at the racetracks. The allegation was made that Buttle should have prevented Bookmaker Sol Lychtenstein from making a book on the track. The Percy-Gray racing law, the magistrate says, "Does not authorize bookmaking, but the effect of such law as construed by the court of appeals is to relieve, subject to the exceptions therein mentioned, any person who either records or makes a bet, wager or pool upon a racecourse from any liability. The court held that Lychtenstein was not engaged in acts punishable by criminal law. Therefore Buttle was not called upon to arrest Lychtenstein.

HARRISON AFTER THE GAMBLERS.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—In an effort to stamp out the handbook system of betting on horse races, Mayor Harrison tonight sent an ordinance to the city council, providing for the licensing of all telegraph "tickers" to prevent the transmission of odds on horse races for gambling purposes. In explanation Mayor Harrison told the council: "The evils attendant on the prevalent craze for gambling on horse races certainly require as vigorous measures as were resorted to when the united sentiment of the nation enacted from congress the stamping out of lottery gambling. Handbooks today are made in a large number of saloons, in billiard rooms, barber shops and cigar stores. Indeed it is asserted the suburban trains on various railroads are systematically worked by handbook makers, who also employ emissaries to make daily rounds of office buildings." The ordinance will cut off all information as to odds, riders, starters, etc., now given currency through the medium of the "tickers."

Hallowe'en was celebrated by a number of young men by taking a wagon found standing near the carriage shop of Mr. Garton and placing a couple of "shocks" of corn in it, then saturating it with coal oil. After this it was taken to the north end of the village where a match was applied to it. About a dozen then took hold of the tongue of the wagon and ran through the village with it all ablaze, yelling "fire." Some time after this they made a fence across the street out of agricultural implements, gates, wagons, drygoods boxes, etc., and placed on the top of it a sign belonging to Mr. Adams' store, where they were found on Sunday morning.

A team of spirited horses, belonging to William Brooks, butcher, of this place, ran away while making a delivery of meat at Mossley. A STRONG BILL TOMORROW NIGHT.

Eugene Powell, who has acquired a most enviable reputation as a magician, will head a most refined and interesting entertainment on his appearance at the Grand tomorrow night. Supporting Mr. Powell will be Zazel and Vernon, the world-renowned pantomime artists; Dick and Dick, in their novel grotesque gymnastic feats; Rose, the beautiful illusioniste, and others of equal prominence.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT.

Chauncey Olcott's new play "Terence" depicts this popular star first in the role of an Irish stage driver, although he is really the heir of rich estates. He assists a beautiful young girl to prevent the elopement of her married sister with a handsome rogue, Capt. Lovell. The inevitable result follows. Terence is handsome and fascinating, Mauveen irresistible; and the shadows that inclose their early love, are dissipated by the happiness of the last act in which Terence proves his right to his estate and wins his beautiful sweetheart. Naturally, several songs are sung during the play. Mr. Olcottt's reputation as a singer of ballads is known. In "Terence" he introduces four new ones. Seats are now on sale, and the prospect is that the audience Thursday night will be very large.

"When We Were Twenty-One," a comedy which when put on by a clever company has many friends in London, has gone the way of many other comedies that are put on by ordinary talent. The play was to have appeared here next week, but the company are stranded in Hamilton.

Mr. George Leffler, representing the "Beyond Pardon" company, which will appear at the Grand Saturday next, and Mr. A. W. Mayo, of "The Real Widow Brown" company booked for the Grand on Monday, the 9th, were in the city today making arrangements for their productions here.

At the London Opera House last night a large audience saw Mr. Harry Lindley, the old-time favorite actor, and a rather fair company put on "My Uncle from Japan." The play has been seen here several times, but never to better advantage than last night. Mr. Lindley took the part of Obadiah Dawson, and the old-time actor did very well indeed. Tonight the bill will be "Special Deposit."

CHURCH WITHOUT LIGHTS

The World, Without the Bible, Would Be Like One.

Mr. Bondfield's Appeal in Behalf of the Centenary Fund.

The world without the Bible would be like the Dundas Street Methodist Church without light, was the simile presented by Rev. Mr. Bondfield as the keynote of his address given in that edifice last night, before a small audience. The address was none the less interesting and was given with a view to impressing the fact that the British and Foreign Bible Society is doing a great work.

The claim was made that all missionary societies depended upon the Bible Society for their Bibles. The Bible as translated by this society was now able to tell in all languages the same story and with the same results. Today there were 350 different peoples who were able to procure some portion, at least, of the Scriptures. There were also about 15 dead languages—translations of the Bible made centuries ago into tongues which are now unknown. He instanced the Bible printed for the aborigines of Formosa, which was now unintelligible.

That all missionary societies were dependent upon the Bible Society for their Bibles was evident from the work being done. If the missionary societies did not support the British and Foreign Society they would have to get Bible societies of their own. In speaking along this line Mr. Bondfield referred to the difficulties of translation.

In 50 years the output of Bibles had grown from 600,000 to 6,000,000, 77 per cent of which were used in the mission fields. Yet there were hundreds of peoples who had not yet been reached.

Evidences of the Bible Society's work were to be found along the Trans-Siberian Railway. Mr. Bondfield's narrative in regard to this phase of the subject was most entertaining. He gave a description of a journey along the railway and the work in China in a manner which was most interesting. The work there, he said, was aided by those who could aid. For instance free transportation was granted the Bible Society workers in Manchuria and China. New work was being undertaken in remote territories, and in one place alone he said there were 4,000,000 Mongols among whom to work. At all the railway stations along the Trans-Siberia Railroad, the gospel was distributed and the emigrants and prisoners found it a God-send.

He felt sure, he said, that Canada would do its share in keeping up the good work, and referred to the centenary fund as deserving of aid. He also appealed to Canadians to double their contributions to the auxiliary societies.

FIRE IN A WAREHOUSE

Sylvester Harvester Company's Building Badly Damaged.

Losses Estimated at About $1,500—The Cause of the Blaze.

Fire, which broke out in the warehouse of the Sylvester Manufacturing Company, of Lindsay, manufacturers of harvesting machinery, did about $1,500 damage last night.

The building is located on Talbot street, just south of King, and is a large frame structure. At the rear is the blacksmith shop of Chas. Johns, who makes repairs for the Sylvester Company.

It is not known for certain, but it is thought the fire originated in this shop and communicated to the warehouse. At all events, the fire was first noticed by the glare in the warehouse, and an alarm was sent in. Within a very few minutes all the brigades were on the scene, and in about half an hour the flames were under control, and were confined to the rear of the building.

In the rear, however, the fire burned fiercely, a large amount of harvester knives and fittings being rendered useless. Wrapped in cotton waste, soaked in oil, they added their share to the flames.

Many lines of hose were kept in constant play, and soon the entire rear of the warehouse was soaked in water and the fire put out.

One great fear the firemen had was that the flames would spread to the upper flat of the warehouse, in which a quantity of kerosene and gasoline was stored, but this was luckily prevented. As it was the back of the building was gutted, a large amount of machinery fittings were ruined, and the roof of the blacksmith shop suffered heavily. The losses are covered by insurance.

MAGISTRATE WAS LENIENT

The Cases of Weaver and Brener Disposed Of

Weaver Narrowly Avoided Getting Himself Into Further Trouble.

The two young men, John Weaver and George Brener, were dealt with very leniently by the magistrate this morning when they came up for sentence for receiving stolen goods from Burglar Donohue. But Weaver nearly got himself into further trouble by a remark which he passed after the magistrate had given him a month in jail for being with Donohue when the latter attempted the burglary at the market house.

The magistrate had listened to Mr. McEvoy, the prisoners' counsel, and then asked the prisoners if they had anything to say. They only promised to do right in future, if allowed to go. Then the magistrate showed them what folly it was to do wrong, but said he believed they were under the influence of liquor at the time. He gave them both to understand that in letting them off on suspended sentence that they would be still under surveillance, and if they did not show an immediate desire to live better and work for their living, the sentence would become operative and would be heavy.

In the case against Weaver alone for attempting to steal at the market house, the magestrate was also lenient and gave the prisoner a month in jail. His address to Weaver was one in which he pointed out how Weaver's mother had suffered by his conduct. When sentence was passed Weaver sat down and according to his own statement said to the constable near him, "I'll have to suffer for that." The acting crown attorney, Mr. McKillop, thought that he said something else and asked the magistrate instead of suspending sentence in the first case to remand him for a week in view of the remark passed. He said that it showed no appreciation for the leniency that had just been shown him, and such a man was not fit to be at large. The magistrate, however, had written in the book that sentence had been suspended, and did not go into the matter at all.

A few drunks completed the docket, two of whom were fined $5 and costs.

CARP ARE IN THE COVES

An Immense Shoal Seen by Dr. S. Woolverton.

Dynamite Suggested as a Means of Getting Rid of Them.

Dr. Woolverton reports having seen an immense shoal of carp on the west side of the cove on Sunday afternoon—a sight which, he adds, is enough to gladden the eyes of any disciple of Izaak Walton. In regard to the presence of carp in the river, Dr. Woolverton says: "But the very mention of carp is disappointing. Had they been any other variety of the finny tribe, I would have said that the protection of the fish in our river from the anglers was a very good thing, but in the class of fish under discussion we have a most undesirable addition to our rivers, lakes and streams, for they are not only unfit for food themselves, but destroy a large number of the better class of fish, and if left to themselves will soon deplete our inland waters of those varieties which it has been the object of the Government and fishing clubs to maintain. As the carp are now to be found everywhere and are increasing so fast, immediate steps should be taken to reduce their numbers. How may it be done? you may ask. Some may say it is impossible, as they are as numerous as flies. Some plan will have to be tried to get rid of them, and here is an opportunity. They can be nicely trapped in the cove by placing a net at the mouth to prevent their return to the river. Another net should be placed above on a line with the targets at the new rifle range. Then resort to dynamite for their destruction. There is no other way that I can suggest that will do as well. Dragging a net would be almost impossible on account of the great growth of vegetation which now affords the fish so much protection. I venture to say that thousands may be got rid of in this way at the present time in a single day, and by repeating the process we will greatly reduce their numbers, the only hope for the future preservation of desirable fish culture."

MAY USE WONDERLAND

Request of the Board of Health Is Granted.

C. P. R. Wants to Make Contract for Water Supply.

WONDERLAND will be transferred to the board of health in accordance with the wishes of that body. The water commissioners met yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the communication of the board of health, asking for the privilege of using Wonderland as an isolation hospital for scarlet fever patients was read. Commissioner J. W. Jones said that the Cooper property there, which was at present occupied, could not be vacated, but that there was no reason for not transferring what could be given up, and the chairman added that Engineer Moore could make any changes that would be needed. Accordingly the matter was thus decided by motion. Commissioner Jones expressed himself as surprised that London, with more hospital accommodation per head than Toronto, Hamilton or Montreal, should not now have enough accommodation.

The commissioners settled another matter. At the last meeting it was decided to raise the water rates of the C. P. R. from $1,000 to $2,000, and since that time the company have asked for a moderation of that increase and a five years' contract. It was decided to take no action in regard to a contract, but to defer the increase until May 1.

The Helena Costume Company wrote complaining about their water rates. The long-looked for report of Engineer Chipman did not make its appearance.

A MENACE TO MORALS

Protest Against Sabbath Desecration at London Junction.

Rev. Hector Mackay, of St. George's Church, Says Law is Openly Defied.

London Junction has always prided itself on being a spot of beauty and a place of health. That there is no doctor there is a partial proof of the latter, and the numbers who walk or drive through it on Sunday or holiday give testimony to the latter. Not all who walk or drive there, however, do so for its healthfulness or its beauty. So said the Rev. Hector Mackay, of St. George's Church, in his sermon of Sunday evening. The text was Dan. 1: 8, "Daniel purposed in his heart not to defile himself." In a powerful and incisive address he protested against the flagrant desecration of the Lord's Day and the open defiance of the law, appealing to the young men before him to make Daniel's purpose that of their life. All that was good and great and abiding in the Hebrew-Chaldean statesman he owed under God to that high resolve. Proceeding, the reverend gentleman said in effect that the one blot upon the burg lay in this, that an ever-increasing number of its visitors come for the gratification of tastes and desires that are the reverse of good, and succeed so well that now it can apparently go on with impunity. The citizens feel indignant, and rightly; they ought to feel alarmed. What showed once a cloud no bigger than a man's hand now overspreads the sky. Law and morality are openly defied."

"Not a Sunday passes," he said, "but the children of the Sunday school see men in twos and threes enter the 'house,' now by a front, now by a side door. There is but one explanation to it all; the influence of the public house overshadows that of the sanctuary. Last Sunday was remarkable, not only for the number of such, but also for the youthfulness of many of them. Not a few there were with the bloom of boyhood still upon their cheeks, lads of sixteen and eighteen, who, whether they imbibed or not mingled with that ilk."

The issue has been fairly and fearlessly raised and the end is not yet, continued the pastor. This at least, if there is any potency in law or faithfulness in its administration.

A CRITICISM OF CHAMBERLAIN.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Recent press dispatches quote an interview in Chicago with Mr. Hamlyn, a representative of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, in which the gentleman declared that the commercial greatness of the United States is due to the tariff, adding that it would be the salvation of England.

It would be nearer the facts if Mr. Hamlyn had attributed the commercial greatness of the United States to its inexhaustible natural resources, its variety of climate and products, and to the high average standard of intelligence of its citizenship.

Imagine England, instead of being only as large as an average state, having an unoccupied area in the background equal in extent to 49 other Englands, all open to settlement. Who would doubt that England would be exceedingly prosperous, notwithstanding its policy of free trade? Yet, that is the condition that the United States have enjoyed. Imagine, on the other hand, America's 80,000,000 people cooped up in an area equal to twice that of the United Kingdom, or say, within the confines of the one State of Texas, or say, the Province of Ontario, with no greater variety of soil, climate or products than is to be found in either of these commonwealths. Who would look for the present degrees of commercial greatness, even with the present tariff wall?

The salvation of England does not depend upon a tariff, but upon the extension of Cobden's programme of free trade to freedom of production. The London Daily News rings the true note when it says: "The Liberal party has something to do besides standing by Cobden's great achievement, it must carry out Cobden's great legacy, the taxation of land values. This is the reply we make to Mr. Chamberlain's attack on free trade. Let our reply be to complete Richard Cobden's work, and add free land to free trade. Liberalism can never have a greater cause."

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman declares that "the remedy is not to be found in protection, but rather in the direction of altering out present system of land tenure by the taxation of land values."

In the spring of 1898, an amendment to the speech from the throne, declaring for the taxation of land values, came within 24 votes of defeating the British ministry, although the normal Conservative majority was 140. Something had to be done to divert the minds of the public. The Boer war followed. In October of last year delegates representing 124 municipalities, counties and boroughs, including London, Glasgow and Liverpool, met in convention in Glasgow and unanimously demanded the taxation of land values. A month later 500 delegates, representing the most advanced reform associations in the kingdom, met at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, and unanimously made the same demands. The Government saw that something must be done. It carried through the Irish land purchase act. In May of this year the Liberals came within 13 votes of overthrowing the ministry, on the question of the taxation of land values, notwithstanding the Government still had a normal majority of 140 on other questions. The privileged landed aristocracy of Britain was driven to the last ditch. Chamberlain's ambition has made him a willing tool of the privileged classes.

The struggle is not merely one between free trade and protective tariffs. Its cause lies deeper. The conflict is between landlordism and the new spirit which the genius of Henry George has breathed into the minds and hearts of earth's downtrodden millions; that movement to which Count Leo Tolstoy referred when he said: "Those who desire to organize the social life of mankind on juster foundations will not be able to avoid Henry George's plan, but will take it as their basis."

Those who would stay the march of progress are ranged under Chamberlain's banner of "Special Privilege." With a man of ability to lead the new crusade for the freedom of the land and the repeal of privilege, it could not fail. Then would Britain again become pre-eminent.

Signs are not wanting to show that a protective tariff is not a guarantee of permanent prosperity, even in the United States.
