BAD BLAZE IN GARAGE AT SIMCOE

Quick Work of Firemen Helped to Avert Spread of Conflagration

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

Simcoe, Nov. 22.—(From Our Own Correspondent.)—The firemen, delayed somewhat by instructions as to where the fire was when the bell rang at two o'clock yesterday, reached the Ford Garage with expedition and the chemical put down a momentary check, though the second storey floor and the interior of the roof were already wrapped in flames.

The Canadian Express Co.'s office and the G.N.W. Telegraph Co. offices in the front were promptly cleared out. Mr. Butler from the C.P.R. office hastening over to salvage the telegraph plant, meanwhile joining the fire, the showroom was opened and several cars moved out to safety. Several streams of water now played upon the flames and it was quickly evident that the brigade would get the fire under control and this was done when the greater part of the roof had dropped in and the second floor became pretty well charred. Four or five new cars were damaged on the second floor and a few more in for repair were partially wrecked.

We have had no information as to how the fire started. The workmen were unable to say how or where it started.

The H. S. Falls store immediately to the south closed doors for the afternoon to prevent damage from smoke and spectator traffic. But at no time did this block appear to be in danger. The printing office adjoining on the north, was separated by a solid wall and suffered no material damage. Mr. Wallace's entire loss would probably be from ten to fifteen thousand dollars, plus the inconvenience that he will be put to till the building is repaired. Except the second hand cars, five of which were on the second floor, the loss is covered by insurance.

Willie King's Funeral

The funeral of Master Willie H. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. King, who died on Tuesday morning, November 19th, was held to Oakwood Cemetery yesterday afternoon at two o'clock services at the house. Floral offerings from the family, relatives, school mates and teachers in day and Sabbath school were carried before the bier by fourteen of his young friends. The bearers were: Thornley Chadwick, Harry Witherspoon, Thomas Lea, Thomas Reid, O. A. Tracey and Rex Laplante. Among those present from out of town were John Y. King, Mr. and Mrs. Walker Guntton and Capt. and Mrs. Mack McDonald, of Egan; Dwyer, Sergt. Wm. Culliver, Mr. Baker, Mr. Thos. Lane, Miss Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Waldie, of Brantford.

of the Children's Aid Society; four of the children were present. The father, who is almost blind, arrived at the court room after the hearing was over, having spent some time sitting in the court house where he thought the investigation was to be conducted.

Evidence of Henry Wallace and others went to show that the family were destitute and lived entirely upon alms. And later of The Courier, Mr. Bembridge corroborated their evidence to the effect that Reeves Walters of Howard township, who is also warden of the county of Kent, furnished the money for the transportation of the family to Courtland. The unfortunate man complained also of medical treatment for his eye due to an interruption of this change of domicile.

Odd Ends of News

Mrs. R. E. Guntton has received advice of the death at Oyne, Alta., of her niece, Alice Nettleton, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nettleton of Strathroy. Deceased, who had been engaged in teaching for a year past out West, and who was a victim of influenza, had frequently visited at Simcoe.

The corporation wood pile is growing daily.

M. Rowan himself has decided not to go ahead with roadway construction next year. Underdrainage would go ahead however. Engineer Marston was up on Wednesday evening conferring with the council in the matter.

Warden Buck has been down to Simcoe three times since Saturday in connection with county business. The jurors for the high court sittings were chosen this week.

PREFER TO GO BAREFOOT.

Native African Troops Carry Their Boots When on the March.

Among native African men living near mission stations boots are often worn on Sundays to go church in, or rather with, for the footwear is almost invariably carried slung over an arm or shoulder, this being more comfortable for the feet and less wearing on the boots. Still, on nearing the church, they are put on with much seriousness and importance; the more the better, and should a pair creak badly the joy of the wearer and envy of his friends are beyond all description.

"This natural antipathy to wearing boots," says Prof. Holloway in the Wide World, "does not only apply to the south. In some colonies where native troops are supplied with boots when on the march, they will beg their officer's permission to walk barefoot, and in comfort. I remember a cool-black Southwestern, a fine old soldier, well over six feet, who was doorkeeper at a friend's house in Khartoum. Whenever I called, after saluting he would solemnly put on his boot before taking my card, and on his return immediately take them off again with a grunt of attention, and in his deep voice rumbling out whether or not his master was at home. He was quite under the impression that this was the correct thing to do."

A Common Decoration.

The Victoria Cross has just been awarded for the 4,000th time. Though the Order of the British Empire was instituted much later, it has long ago passed the more venerable decoration in the number of those who hold it. In fact, the O.B.E. is about as highly prized by those who haven't it as the V.C. by the junior bar of Ontario. The following poem from the pen of Arthur Norman, which appeared in the London Times, indicates the estimation in which the comparatively new honor is held:

TWO TITLES.

I had two friends, both lithe and young,
Of manly vigor, tensely strung,
Both seeming sound in heart and lung;
Now I am left through lonely years
To tend their memory with my tears.

One friend, in a rammed-up strafe,
Freely laid down his fresh young life,
That tyranny no more berite;
The other, to his worldly gain,
Solved self and country with his brain.

More dead than dead that friend
For lives on,
For best is our communion—
Love cannot stay with honor gone:
No grave could make so wide a gap
As war's embittering mishap.

The reason that, with anger great
I rail at the caprice of fate
Two titles in large letters state;
One of them is O.B.E.;
The other simply—R.I.P.

History Made in Little Village

AMONGST the many, otherwise insignificant places in the world which have had greatness thrust upon them Varennes, the little French town just captured by the Allies on the Aire some 45 miles east of Rheims, is certainly one of the most notable. True it has many "ifs" in its greatness, but the simple fact that it was at Varennes that Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette were arrested on their memorable flight from Paris in the night of June 21, 1791, makes it memorable enough.

It is to Carlyle, of course, that Varennes to a great extent owes its place in history, for the probabilities are that if Carlyle had never written his famous account of the French Revolution people would have known as little about Varennes as they knew about the "traditional Christmas" before Dickens created it. The arrest of Louis at Varennes did, of course, mark a notable epoch in the story of the Revolution, even if it did not, as Carlyle insists it did, change the whole course of French history. If Louis could have prevailed upon to make his journey with less circumstance; if he could have steered his heart to forego the "new Berlin," and take the road in some commonplace travelling carriage like "Mon-sieur," speeding northwards, or Princess, by another route, bound, too, for Flanders; if the arrangements all along the way, the passes of Hussars and dragoons at every village, the postmasters all warned and the post-homes all ready for the passage of a mysterious "treasure" could have been done away with; if Old-Dragoon Drouet in his "loose-fitting nightgown" had not had his suspicious aroused, as the Berlin, with its three yellow pilot-boats of mounted bodyguard couriers lumbered past his door, the last door of the village of Sainte-Menehould; if many other things had not happened, the bridge at Varennes, where Louis instead of making the great stand which Carlyle invokes as the only royal attitude, descended from the Berlin and gave himself up to Le Procureur Sausse, then might the whole of French history have been different. They did happen or did not happen, however, as the case requires, and so Varennes won its place in history.

As Carlyle tells the story, it stands out with a vividness that only Carlyle can command. The tremendous expectancy all along the way, the growing suspicion, the atmosphere of a race against time, is all there, and is also that quick flashing from one scene in the great drama to another so necessary to fill in the whole wonderful canvas. Now it is Old-Dragoon Drouet and Clerk Guillaume, gaiters fully awake, spending through the darkness to overtake the royal fugitives; now it is Capt. Dandoin "sauntering with a face of indifference," a heart eaten of black "case" waiting for the treasure that will not come, and now, in a moment, it is the new Berlin again, swaying along the road with all its trappings at three miles the hour. "And thus the new Berlin rolls," says Drouet and Guillaume gallop after it, and Dandoin's troops or trooper gallops after them; and Sainte-Menehould with some leagues of the King's highway, is in explosion.

So, at last, the new Berlin reaches the "little paltry village of Varennes," about 11 o'clock, six hours late. Everything here has gone wrong. "Young Bouille, silly stripping, thinking the matter over for this night, has retired to bed." The postillions refuse to go on without fresh horses and for "five-and-thirty minutes" by the King's watch "the Berlin is 'at a dead stand.'" And now with all the stage set, as Old-Dragoon Drouet and Clerk Guillaume ride "hurly burly" into the village, let Carlyle take up the story: "The village of Varennes lies dark and stammerous a most unlovely village, of inverse saddle shape, as men write. It sleeps; the rushing of the River Aire singing lullaby to it. Nevertheless from the Golden Arm, Bras d'Or Tavern, across the sloping market place, there still comes shine of social light; comes voice of rude drivers, or the like, who have not yet taken the stirrup cup; Boniface Le Blanc, in white apron, awaiting them; cheerful to behold. To this Bras d'Or Drouet enters, alertly looking through his eyes; he nudges Boniface, in all privacy, 'Camarade, es-tu bon Patriote?' Art thou a good patriot? 'Et le suis,' answers Boniface. 'In that case,' eagerly whispers Drouet—what whisper is needful heard of Boniface alone.

And now see Boniface Le Blanc bustling. See Drouet and Guillaume, dexterous old dragoon, instantly down blocking the bridge, with a "furniture wagon they find there," with whatever wagons, tumbrils, barrows their hands can lay hold of till his carriage can pass. Then swiftly see them take station hard by, under Varennes archway, joined by Le Blanc, Le Blanc's brother, and one or two alert capital patriots who had arranged. Some half dozen in all, with national muskets, they stand close, waiting under the archway, till that same Korff Berlin rumbles up.

"It rumbles up; Art thou listening hard out from under cobble-stairs, bridges chink in strong lists, two national muskets level themselves fore and aft through the two coach-doors: 'Médame, your passports,'—Eusebe! Show Sausse, procureur of the township, allow chamber, also procureur, is there, with official grocer politeness; Drouet with fierce logic and ready wit. The respected travelling party, he it Baroness de Korff, or persons of still higher consequence, will perhaps please to rest itself in M. Sausse's till the dawn strikes up!"—Christian Science Monitor.

Leaders and many members also are preparing for the great reconstruction and appropriation program, which must be succeeded into the session ending March 3 next.

Senate committees will continue work on the war-revenue bill, and the investigation of brewers' activities. House appropriation committees will proceed with drafting the secret of regular supply bills.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY IN SESSION

One Day Convention Opened in Brant Ave. Church This Morning

REPORTS SUBMITTED

The Women's Methodist District Missionary Society opened a one day convention in Brant Avenue Methodist church this morning, when reports were submitted from a practically very Methodist church in Brantford and the adjoining district. The convention was to have been held in St. George, some time ago, but was postponed owing to the flu.

There was an unusually large attendance when the meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. P. A. Shultz this morning. Mrs. (Rev.) Marshall then read a scripture lesson and also sang a hymn. Mrs. Isaacs and Mrs. Brodley then led in prayer. Mrs. Shultz spoke briefly on the subject of the influenza epidemic, pointing out the invaluable service given by women everywhere, and urging a continuance of their efforts.

The submission of reports was then proceeded with, and occupied the majority of the morning session. All the churches reviewed the work accomplished during the year.

Mrs. McWebb favored the gathering with a recitation "Just for Tonight," verses written by a Canadian soldier in the trenches to his mother. Mrs. Weaver read several verses on Christian stewardship, which was much appreciated.

Rev. Mr. Smythe of Sydenham St. church, in a brief address, wished the society every success, explaining that he took a deep interest in its work.

Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick, of Brant Avenue church also paid a tribute to the work of the Women's Missionary Society, going on to outline the nature of that work.

A question box was then conducted by the Paris W. M. S., prior to adjournment at noon. This afternoon an address on Chinese missions was the chief feature of the program.

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

CHAPTER LXXXI Mrs. Clayborne at Last Decides to Visit Ruth

All day Ruth thought of Brian's unappreciative remarks at the breakfast table. Often her eyes filled as she recalled the almost sneering tone in which he had belittled her work, and called her a "know-it-all" sort of person. Then, too, she had constantly in her mind that question: "Where has he spent the time after his lesson? Was it with Mollie King? And if it was why didn't he tell her frankly? She never nagged, never scolded him, regardless of what he had said. Perhaps if she would speak to him once in a while, talk to him about his duty to her—the duty he owed his wife—he might do differently. But no sooner had the thought arisen than it was dismissed. Brian would not be criticized. She must find some other way. But there was one thing she might do—propose to meet him after his lesson and have a little supper at some gay, inexpensive place. It would do them both good to go out in that way, twice a week. Perhaps things were getting a bit monotonous for Brian.

It came to Ruth that somewhere she had read that, "A man will stand anything as long as he isn't bored." Was Brian becoming bored and was that the reason he sought Mollie King? Mollie was bright, she was witty. Ruth acknowledged that in her own mind she could not hold her own with the Greenwich Village girl. And then Mollie was so much more worldly wise. She knew her New York and so many people whom Brian found interesting.

Yes, perhaps that was the trouble. Brian was bored. She must now find the solution. An antidote for Mollie King.

She did her work in an abstracted manner which caused Arthur Mandel to glance often in her direction. "Has her husband found fault with her for going to dinner with me?" he asked himself and felt guilty, wondering if it were so and if he had caused her pain. He wished she would tell him. He couldn't fix his mind on his business while she looked so worried and anxious.

"Aren't you feeling well, Mrs. Hackett?" she finally could keep silent no longer. "I am sure you over-tired yourself yesterday."

"No, indeed, I did not, and I feel perfectly well. I am trying to solve a puzzling question, and probably that made me look as if I were tired."

"Is it about the business, may I ask?"

"Yes—it is business," she answered, with her conscience by saying to herself that, "It was her business to keep her husband's love."

"Please do not look so anxious over it. If anything troubles you and the letter announced she would bring it to me."

"It's not so bad as that," she replied, wondering what Mandel would think if he knew what it was over which she was worrying.

After this conversation, Ruth pulled her wandering thoughts back into line. She was a business woman. She must learn not to let anything, even Brian's occupancy of her mind during the hours belonging to the firm. So for the rest of the day she was natural, busy, interested, self; and Arthur Mandel smiled to think he had made such a mistake, and could not help a throb of pleasure at the thought of the earnest, personal way in which she had regarded some business matter of his.

When Ruth reached home she found a letter from her aunt, Mrs. Clayborne. She had made up her mind to make her niece a short visit and the letter announced she would arrive the following day.

"She's come round at last," Ruth told old Rachel. "I knew she would forgive me. She's so sensible about everything else."

"Don't be too sure, honey, she's forgiving you." She's coming to see 'you' is living and of 'you' is happy. I know her, I do."

"Now Mamma Rachel, don't you try to spoil my happiness. I am so glad she is coming. I haven't anyone else to visit me you know. I never had many folks."

"'You got old Rachel, ain't you?' Ah 'you' husband," she added, but in a different voice.

"Yes, and what should I do without you?" she teased the woman who had been so much to her always, and ignored the part of her speech referring to Brian. She knew only too well that her mamma's sharp eyes had detected her occasional unhappiness; and that she resented it.

"But we mustn't talk; we must have everything lovely for her. I am so glad to see her coming. I won't get in until seven o'clock, so we can meet her, both of us—meaning Brian—and I will ask Mr. Mandel to let me off all day Saturday. Oh Rachel, I so long to see her."

When Brian came in a moment later he was astonished to see Ruth whirling Rachel around the dining room, both of them laughing gaily.

"Stop that racket and tell me what's up," he exclaimed.

DAMASCUS AND BEYROUT.

Historic City Has Been Delivered From Turks.
Damascus, the capital of Syria, which was recently captured from the Turks by the British army, is an ancient town occupying a site of singular beauty, 57 miles from the seaport of Beyrout.

The River Barada, the Abana of the Bible, intersects the city in a deep, rapid current, averaging 50 feet wide; about 22 miles eastward the river empties itself into a lake, which, in the heat of summer, transforms itself into a morass. On the river's northern bank is a large and comparatively modern city; but the whole of the ancient city, and the principal buildings, are spread over the plain on the south. By an admirable system of channels and pipes the river water is conveyed into almost every house, supplying that first requisite of eastern life and luxury. The orchards, gardens, vineyards and fields of Damascus cover a circuit of at least 60 miles; their unrivalled beauty and luxuriance is owed to the Abana. This river irrigates over 200 square miles of land; the River Awaj, the ancient Pharrpar, irrigates nearly 100 more.

The history of Damascus reaches far back into the mists of antiquity. Josephus says the city was founded by the Syrian king, Ben-Hadad, ready a noted place in the days of Abraham. In the centre of the city stands the great mosque, and near it are the grey battlements of the old castle. Towering minarets and swelling domes, tipped with golden crests, rise above the white-towered roofs.

The gardens and orchards encompass the whole city.

The houses of the city belie the rough appearance of their exteriors and are within scenes of splendor, and the admiration of every visitor. The population is estimated at 150,000.

The manufactures of Damascus are principally silks, woolen and cotton cloths, gold and silver ornaments, arms and household utensils.

In 1830 occurred the Moslem massacre of Christians, when the whole of the Christian quarter was burned and 3,000 adult males murdered in cold blood.

Beyrout, which at last accounts was threatened by French cavalry, is the most important seaport town of Syria on the coast of the Mediterranean in the pashalik of Acre, is 57 miles west northwest of Damascus. It is a place of great antiquity and may perhaps be identified with the Berothah of the Phoenicians. For a time at least it was under the supremacy of Sidon. Destroyed by Trypho, the Syrian usurper, about 140 B.C., it was restored by the elder Agrippa about 41 A.D., raised to the rank of a Roman colony and adorned with an amphitheatre and various splendid buildings. In the third century it became the seat of a school of jurisprudence which long maintained its reputation and was attended by several eminent men. Beyrout was damaged by an earthquake in 551 A.D. In the time of the Crusades Beyrout again rose to importance and was captured by Baldwin I. in 1111, after a two months siege. Early in the 17th century it became a chief seat of the Druses, who held it till 1762, when it again fell into the hands of the Turks. In 1772 it was bombarded and plundered by a Russian fleet, and in 1840 it was nearly destroyed by the attack of the British under Admiral Stopford.

Getting Back Three Million Dollars

THE PAPER CONTROLLER for Canada a few weeks ago added $12 a ton to the price of news print paper—the kind used in printing the Courier. This addition, following closely upon several previous increases authorized by the Paper Controller, has meant to Canadian newspaper publishers a total increased publishing cost, in the matter of paper alone, in the past eighteen months, of three million dollars. This very considerable sum Canadian publishers must recover from their customers, their readers and advertisers.

In connection with the earlier increases the readers of many daily newspapers have been required to pay $1. or more per year for their newspapers, while the subscription price of very many weekly newspapers has been increased from 50 to 100 per cent. In many cases still further increases will be necessary.

But all the three million dollars increase in paper costs cannot be loaded on readers; some of this sum must come from the advertisers—this in the form of increased advertising rates. Advertising rates in Canada are, generally speaking, much lower per thousand in circulation than in the United States. Speaking on this point the editor of Marketing, a Canadian advertisers' newspaper published in Toronto, says in his last issue: "In meeting the Canadian publishers' calls for higher rates, advertising buyers should not fail to recognize that for years they have benefited by the publisher's undervaluation of his space, and should be the more willing on that account to recognize the present necessities." To all of which The Courier agrees.

THE SURRENDER OF THE GERMAN FLEET.

The great British fleet has figured in many triumphs during past days, notably in 1588 and in 1805. In the first named year Philip II. of Spain launched against Great Britain what he called his "Invincible Armada." It consisted of 130 vessels, mostly of very large size for those days, bearing 19,295 soldiers, 8,000 mariners, 2,000 oarsmen and 2,000 volunteers of the most distinguished families of Spain. The British force held in preparation to give battle amounted to only thirty vessels, but before the actual collision of the fleets their number was augmented by volunteers and otherwise to 181 vessels, mostly small, carrying in all 17,742 men. Every school boy knows the outcome of the encounter, of the manner in which Lord Howard hung upon the rear of the Armada cutting off and seriously damaging a number of ships, of how a number of fire ships sent among the invaders did enormous damage and that a terrific tempest subsequently smote and sunk nearly all that was left of the Invincible outfit.

On the last named date in the Bay of Trafalgar Nelson saw the combined navies of France and Spain moving to meet him in frank fight and once again a most complete British triumph was recorded and a threatened invasion of the tight little islands had become an abortive dream.

Now for the third time the British navy has placed to its credit the humiliation of a large opposing sea force as the outcome of another world epoch in which attempted forces of tyranny have been utterly smashed. There was no clash of fierce battle in this instance, simply the passing of the war craft of the humiliated foe between lines of British vessels and the subsequent handing over of seventy-one vessels of this modern Armada, but none the less it was a success splendidly won by many years of preparation and ceaseless day and night vigil for over four years.

All of history does not afford a parallel to this triumph and it is not likely either that any future history ever will.

Germany never had any need for so huge a sea force in the first place. Her colonial possessions did not warrant any such outlay and her coast line on the North and Baltic Seas amounts to very little. There was only the one object in the gathering together of such a force—the ultimate destruction of the British fleet—and as with Philip of Spain and Napoleon, the ex-All Highest now fully realizes the utter futility of any such ambition.

THE COAL SITUATION.

The Courier has more than once uttered the warning that the fuel problem, which has been met with comparative ease during the exceptionally mild weather thus far of the present winter, is likely to present serious aspects later on unless the most rigid care is exercised. In the matter of anthracite so many miners became affected with the flu epidemic that production has fallen below what was expected and in this regard Mr. E. L. Cousins, Associate Fuel Administrator for Ontario, has once more issued as emphatic warning as follows:

"We must continue to exercise the utmost care in the use of hard coal if we are to avoid a repetition of the distressing conditions existing a year ago. The exceptionally mild weather of late eased to some extent a serious situation, but decreased production at the mines due to the flu and the peace celebrations has offset this and the net position has not been improved to any marked extent."

"Consumers throughout Ontario must reconcile themselves to a period of coal shortage, and it will be necessary for the domestic consumer to continue to use substitutes, such as soft coal and the smaller sizes of anthracite, while the larger consumers must do likewise to the fullest possible extent. This Province will not receive a sufficient quantity of anthracite to permit consumption as in past years, and a saving must be made," Mr. Cousins concludes.

The Fuel Administration is taking a survey of the large users of coal in Ontario, and forms have been sent to local Fuel Commissioners instructing them to secure data covering consumption in all buildings other than residences using 20 tons of coal or over per annum.

Some time ago regulations were issued from Ottawa making all anthracite in public buildings equipped to burn bituminous available for the Fuel Commissioners, who have power to divert such coal to domestic purposes. The information now being gathered will really be a census of the boilers and furnaces and their types and styles in the Province and with such information available the Fuel Administration will be able to judge whether a consumer can burn soft coal in his heating apparatus.

In a circular to the Fuel Commissioners, the Fuel Administration says in part: "When the forms are filled out and returned the proper regulations will be issued, but you should urge the owners of residences having more than 40 tons of coal in stock, and the proprietors of governing bodies of all institutions which have anthracite coal in stock, and who are able to burn bituminous, to take immediate means to dispose of their anthracite supply to their friends and neighbors so that they may at an early date, while there is a surplus of bituminous coal, secure their new stock of soft coal and place themselves in such a position that the new regulations will not apply to them."

A TRIBUTE TO JOHN BULL.

There are those among our neighbors who boastfully talk of the manner in which hostilities became ended almost as soon as the United States entered the fray. Anyone who has recently taken a trip across the border can bear testimony to the unpleasant insistence of a certain class in this regard. It is useless to attempt to argue with such folk and the better plan is to regard all war topics when in conversation with them. On the other hand there are also a large number of well informed people over there, who freely concede the vital part played by John Bull and all of the better class of papers are unflinching in their tributes in this regard. The following from the New York Commercial constitutes a sample illustration:

"England's casualty lists show that more than 1,000,000 men have died in its military and naval services since the war began and that 37,000 were killed, wounded or missing in the last reported week. Had America suffered similarly in proportion to population the deaths would exceed the 7,000,000 men we have already sent across the Atlantic. Visualize the death of every man who has gone to Europe, and then grasp the meaning of England's loss in dead alone, without reckoning those who have been permanently disabled. Her total casualties in killed, wounded and missing already exceed the population of Greater New York."

"Let us glory in the part we are playing, but let us refrain from boasting and from claiming all the credit. America was protected from harm and the war was won, in a sense, on the night of August 4, 1914, when the British Government declared war on Germany, and the British fleet, secretly mobilized in the North Sea, bottled up the German high seas fleet in the Bight of Heligoland and at the Skager-Rack. Had the British navy's grip relaxed, Germany would have won the war at any stage between that memorable night and July 18 last."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Hun navy went through the British fleet all right, but not in the way anticipated.

The term, "Sad sea dogs," applies with particular force just now to the German man of war.

It has proved to be for the Hun tars for the present reason that they found John Bull's outfit too big a tartar.

Just read that story of the surrender of the ships of the ex-All Highest and give another proud hitch to your pants as you recall the fact that it is your ensign under which the thing was done.

The ex-Crown Prince has leased a parsonage. If there is any church nearby they had better padlock the doors unless they want it looted.

or city can say. Our people are human. Some are hard to please, and all want chestnut. We did not guarantee to get it hand-picked. It is coal—and good coal. Some of it got a little dirty on the Waterloo property, but it is now being screened. Offices will be open every evening from 7 to 8 and daily from 9 to 12 and 1 to 6.

"By the way, don't worry about that bit of buckheat. If any person wants that kind of coal we have some on hand, and can soon get plenty more. Other towns are mighty glad to get it."

MINE SWEEPERS SURRENDER

Your Problems Solved

Dr. Linscott in this column will help you solve your heart problems, religious, marital, social, financial and every other anxious care that perplexes you. If a personal answer is required, enclose a five cent stamp. No names will be published; if you prefer, sign your initials only, or use a pseudonym.

Politics—"Politician" wants to know "why so many" take no interest in politics? There are many possible answers to this question. Some pious people think they ought not to take any part in carrying on the affairs of this world, and hence they leave the government of the country to the followers of the devil. Others are not sufficiently educated in the duties of citizens in a democratic country and therefore do not realize the sacredness of the ballot and the importance of every citizen expressing his opinion at the polls. The cure for this is in education. Jealousy—"A Jealous Woman" asks, "How may I free myself from jealousy?" If your jealousy is of your neighbors because they live in a better house, or have smarter children, or drive a better car, or live in grander style than you do, it will be necessary to have your heart changed, in order to be free from the green-eyed monster. Such evil propensities come from an evil heart and if the fountain is sweetened its stream will be sweet. Have your heart emptied of hatred and filled with love.

STEAMER ASHORE.

By Courier Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 22.—The American freight steamship Carib, which went ashore in a heavy fog off Point Lookout, Long Island, yesterday, appeared to be in no danger to-day. Naval vessels standing by were expected to drag the Carib free before nightfall. The heavy waves which were pounding the ship last night subsided this morning. The crew of forty men is still on board.

SPOKE AT VICTORIA.

Mrs. S. G. Read addressed the Red Cross Society at Victoria on Thursday night on the subject of "Our Coming Duties." The meeting was also a service of thanksgiving for victory.

NEED NOT FLY.

Orders were yesterday issued by the Royal Canadian Air Force to the effect that no cadet was to continue his training in the air save at the clear expression of his wish to continue. This order will apply to all Canadian aviation camps in the R. A. F. in Canada.

COMES TO BRANTFORD.

A despatch from Lakeview says: There was no service in the church here last Sunday. The recent "flu" epidemic has rendered it almost impossible to obtain ministers. Much regret is felt in the community over the leaving of the late pastor, Rev. Andrew Smith, who has received a hearty and unanimous call to Brantford Immanuel Church at a substantial salary.

THANKS PRESS.

Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, has wired to W. J. Taylor, president of the Canadian Press Association, the following message of appreciation to the press of Canada: "I desire to express to the Canadian Press Association and the newspapers generally throughout Canada my most earnest appreciation of their work in the Victory Loan. The wonderful success of the loan was due in large measure to their splendid and untiring efforts during the whole campaign."

DON'T NEED PERMITS.

The immigration authorities at Ottawa draw attention to the withdrawal of all restrictions imposed upon travel between Canada and the United States as the result of the enforcement of the Military Service Act. It is no longer necessary to secure a permit from the immigration department to cross the border into the United States. The cancellation of the regulation under which permits were issued does not alter conditions of travel to countries where passports are required. These are being issued as usual by the Department of External Affairs.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN.

"We expect to reach everyone in the city who will be in a position to give," a local clergyman told The Courier this morning in regard to the campaign to be carried on the first three days of next week for the dependents of those who died during the influenza epidemic. Letters are now being sent out to all the workers, and a final meeting is being held this afternoon. The clergy of the city, who are in charge of the campaign, will call attention to them from their pulpits on Sunday, and the collectors will begin Monday morning. The objective set is $10,000.

GLASSES are either a source of great comfort or discomfort. Much depends on the examination to determine the kind of glasses needed—much depends on how the glasses are made and fitted. We examine eyes, make and fit glasses in a thoroughly scientific manner. Satisfaction guaranteed.

SNOW COMING?

"We'll have snow before night," was the prediction uttered by a local citizen as he cast a glance at the sky this morning. Many, as they felt the chill wind, agreed with him. The present cold weather is the first which has been endured locally, the fall months having been remarkably mild.

POULTRY SHOW.

The Brantford and Brant County Poultry and Pet Stock Association's annual show closes to-night—after one of the most successful exhibits in the history of the association. The show has been in full swing for the old Y.M.C.A. building since Tuesday, and the entry list has set new records in nearly every department. The quality of the exhibits was also high.

A NOISE-MAKER.

If you hear a sound which is a cross between a shriek from a South Sea Islander and the frenzied barking of a dog in pain, be not affrighted, for the making of such a noise is the latest pastime with which the boyhood of Brantford is occupying itself. A strongly resined cord, drawn through a hole in the bottom of a tin can, produces the weird concentration of sound roughly defined above, which is to be heard at almost any street corner throughout the city these days.

KITH AND KIN.

The Eagle Place Kith and Kin held their regular meeting in Trinity school room. As this was the first meeting since the epidemic, there was quite an abundance of business to transact. The president, Mrs. Gibbs, was in the chair, and the meeting was opened by all repeating a prayer, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. It was unanimously carried that the sum of $50 was to be donated to the fund for the Spanish flu sufferers. It was also decided that a resolution be sent to Ottawa backing up the action of the Great War Veterans Association regarding the sending of all alien enemies back to their own country. A committee was appointed to wait on the other branches of the Kith and Kin, asking for their cooperation. A talent tea will be held in the near future instead of the proposed bazaar. A large amount of sewing for refugees was given out. An autograph quilt is being made with soldiers' names and battalions on.

ROADS BAD.

The roads of the city and county are becoming in a bad condition as a result of the recent damp weather and much heavy traffic. The country roads are in bad shape also, the scarcity of men making it hard to have sufficient road work done this fall.

NUMBER OF ORDERS.

A large number of orders are being issued by Inspector Gleave for both coal and wood for homes where sickness exists. The chief number of applications received have been for coal, but wherever it has been possible to give wood this has been done in order to give an adequate supply for the winter.

HELD REHEARSAL.

The Brantford Oratorical Society had a very successful rehearsal last evening for the community performance of the Messiah, nearly one hundred singers had. BLAZE AT G. S. M.

Last evening a pile of rubbish in the rear of the plant of the Gould, Shapley and Muir Co. was being burnt under the supervision of two of the company's employees. The fuel was oily and a big reflection resulted. A passer-by noticed this and turned in an alarm for the fire department. The men of the central department went to the scene of the blaze and although it was intended that the rubbish should have been burned, extinguished the blaze.

"CANADA" LABELS.

New labels have been made to put on every garment that the Canadian Red Cross societies will send to French and Belgian refugees. Imprinted on the rumpled label will be a Red Cross and the name Canada. As a preliminary effort a half million stickers have already been procured and the Canadian effort to relieve suffering humanity will be evidenced over the face of Europe. The suffering nations will hear of distant Canada in a way that has never been found before.

FOUR YEARS AGO.

Four years ago yesterday, Nov. 21, 1914, the third active service contingent of the Brant Dragons, took their departure from the city for overseas. The men were 115 men strong, and was commanded by Lieutenants Bishop and Harvey Cook-shut. In England they became attached to the C. M. R., which went through the heavy fighting at Courcellette. The farewell tendered the men prior to their departure was one of the most rousing the city ever witnessed.

LOCAL NEWS

APPOINT DELEGATES

At eight o'clock in the Board of Trade rooms a meeting will be held to appoint a deputation to attend the convention at Toronto on the provincial highways question next week.

NOT TO BE RECALLED.

Class one men under the Military Service Act, who are now absent on leave without pay, will not be recalled. An order-in-council signed to-day provides that in view of the armistice, they may be discharged.

READY FOR ELECTIONS.

A by-law for the appointment of the deputy returning officers and other officials for the forthcoming municipal election here in January will be passed by the City Council on Monday night.

DECISION NOT REACHED

A sitting of the Surrogate Court was held yesterday before Judge Hardy on the question of a bequest to the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Herr. The claim was a matter of $100, and a decision has not been reached.

CONDITIONS UNCHANGED

Conditions at the emergency hospital to-day are reported as remaining practically the same as yesterday. No patients have been removed or admitted, but material progress has been made by some of the patients toward a rapid recovery. The number of sick ones is at present 12.

ASSOCIATION MEETS

A meeting of the Brantford Sunday School Teachers' Association will be held in the Y.W.C.A. club rooms to-night. The feature of the session will be an address by Miss Lanies of The Walmer Road Baptist Church, Toronto. Miss Lanies is also a member of the Ontario Sunday school association.

PREPARING TO LEAVE.

Mr. R. L. Warren, who has been in the city for the past six weeks engaged in the work of organizing and supervising the Victory Loan Committee, is now clearing away all remaining minor matters and preparing to return to Toronto to take up his former duties there with the A. E. Ames Co. bond dealers.

COURT OF REVISION.

Yesterday Court of Revision for the local improvement assessments was held before Sheriff Westbrooke and Messrs. Eddy and Layton. There was a large number of appeals, but none of these were granted. This is the first time in the city's history that this remarkable occurrence has happened.

FIRST CONVENTION

The first annual convention of the Western Ontario Associated Boards of Trade will be held in London on the 29th and 30th of this month. Delegates will be sent by the local board and a special invitation is being extended to newspaper editors to attend the convention. While the delegates are in London they will be the guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Club.

DEPORT ALIENS.

A resolution was passed at the regular meeting of the Terrace Hill Kith and Kin held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rotchill, Grand street, endorsing the stand taken by the G.W.V.A. in their resolution of deportation of enemy aliens. Representatives were present from the Bagle Place Kith and Kin and funds were raised for the war refugees. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Borthwick, Dundas street.

FUEL DEPOT.

The local civic coal office that has been opened at the old Postoffice under the Mayor, assisted by Mr. Bert McGill, will hereafter be open from 6.30 until 8 in the evening for the purpose of taking orders of people who are unable to be on hand in the day time. The supply of hard coal will be able to meet the needs of the people for some time with the exception of chestnut, which is very scarce at present.

BOUQUET FOR TOM.

The sensation in the fireside league to-day was the announcement of James J. McCaffery, the Toronto magnate, that the Toronto Canadian League franchise is for sale. There are several other familiar franchises on the market if they are of any value for any person that held one of the "scraps of papers" would willingly dispose of it. Tom Nelson, the Brantford sportsman, is about the only man who would not peddle any Canadian League rights he may hold. Tom made no great fortune out of baseball, but he is ready to shoulder the financial burden in Brantford any time that the league may be revived, and a few more men like the genial Thomas would make the organization a winner. —Hamilton Spectator.

N. W. C. A. RALLY.

Over one hundred associated members and their friends participated in the rally held last night at Victoria Hall. Games concluded the senior class exercises of the early evening. Misses Graham and Force each contributed a couple of delightful numbers to the program which followed. Miss Cottle also gave an exhibition of the flag and poppy dance costume. Not the least pleasing feature of the "N" rally was the sharing of the evening's fun with a number of the young men from the Ontario Tomlinson of the School, rendered very acceptably a couple of piano numbers.

WILLARD BOX.

The sensational amateur hockey player, who has been appointed manager of the Dental Hockey club of the Senior O.H.A.

TOLD OF MISSION WORK AMONG LEPERS

W. N. Danner Spoke Before Local Society on Tuesday

One of the best addresses on the leper work ever heard in Brantford was given in the club room of the Y. W. C. A. on Monday afternoon, to a large audience, including many of the city clergy.

Rev. Mr. White read the scripture lesson and an earnest prayer was offered by Rev. David Alexander.

Rev. Mr. Woodside occupied the chair and before introducing the speaker, reminded the Christian people of their duty to God, who in answer to united prayer, had given victory over our enemies. God alone had given victory. What then should we render unto Him in gratitude?

Mr. W. N. Danner, American secretary of the leper work, was introduced. He had been in the work only eight years, but his whole heart and soul were in it.

The leper is in a class by himself. There is no one who would change places with him, and yet in these days of great war activities that poor outcast is apt to be neglected or forgotten.

No hotel or private home would allow him to occupy its guest room. Yet Jesus Christ made special mention of the leper when He said to His disciples: "Heal the sick and cleanse the lepers." He seemed to have the same sort of reasoning in his mind when he said on one occasion: "Go tell my disciples and Peter."

Many people will be surprised to learn that there are in this world to-day between two and three million lepers, and until recent years they have hardly been treated as human beings.

But a new day is coming for the lepers of North America, for a bill has already passed the Congress of the United States providing $25,000 to build one great leprosarium to care for all lepers in North America.

One of the best known leper colonies in the world is that in Hawaii. There the patients are made as happy as possible. They are taught to work and have their time occupied in some happy pursuit. Besides being quite skillful in playing their own beautiful music, they also sing well, and it is a great joy to the missionary to hear them sing together heartily. "Saviour like a shepherd lead us, much we need Thy tenderest care."

The largest leper colony in the world is in the Philippine Islands. There are now 5,100 at this place, and they are being cared for in a very practical way. They are all given suitable employment, and the government buys their produce, and puts it back on their tables. Thus they are being paid for their work.

The question is often asked, "Is there no cure for leprosy?" More than one hundred years ago in India, people began to use chaulmoogra oil and it has worked wonders, but it is an exceedingly hard dose to take and, so, many have not kept it up. But it has been found that it can be given hypodermically and since then wonderful cures have been apparently effected. Segregation, which was instituted by Jehovah about 3,400 years ago, is the one method of ridding any portion of the world of this dread disease. Leprosy is not hereditary, therefore the untainted children of lepers deserve careful attention. They must of necessity be separated early from their parents and should be a real privilege to help care for these innocent little orphans.

Missionaries and others who minister to the needs of these afflicted people are in no danger of contracting the disease if they are careful and clean. There is also good work being done in the far east, in China, Japan and Korea for the lepers. In Japan there are now five Japanese government asylums. In Korea the work is gratifying and especial mention should be made of the way in which the lepers have been memorizing scriptures. Many of them can recite scripture for two hours without making a mistake. They devote a certain portion of each day to this exercise.

But this work could not go on as it does if the Brantford friends and neighbors did not give it their support. Those who help the lepers are helping people who cannot help themselves. Some of the sweetest characters Mr. Danner ever met were lepers. They are a grateful and unselfish class of people and to illustrate this the speaker told of one colony in the United States where, when they were asked what they would like as a Christmas gift, sent back this reply: "We have decided that if you have any money you could spend on us for Christmas this year (1917) we would rather you would send it to the army Y.M.C.A. or to the Red Cross, for we think they need it worse than we do."

The money we send has a much greater working power in those foreign lands than it has in our own land to prove this Mr. Danner told how on one of his journeys inland a coolie carried his trunk, weighing 150 pounds, on his back, a distance of ten miles and back again, and asked what his charges were he said he thought it ought to be worth forty cents.

Surely, then, these poor creatures deserve our sympathy and support. Let us preach the gospel to them, supply their simple needs, relieve their distresses, and help rid the world of leprosy.

At the close of this splendid address, Miss Anguish sang "Just For This Day," and Rev. Mr. Smythe closed the meeting.

Thirty dollars was the offering received.

Passengers are accordingly warned not to proceed to the port of embarkation until they are in possession of either the Consular visa, or proper certificates from the U. S. Immigration authorities showing that request for departure has been granted.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once if bilious or constipated.

Look at the tongue, mother! If spotted, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food, and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well-playful child again. You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Such permission must be arranged for either by executing declaration and procuring visa on passport before one of the American Consuls in Canada, or by making formal application before any of the United States immigration officers located in Canada upon forms furnished by the said officers.

In order to allow sufficient time for investigation, transmission of papers to Washington, etc., applications should be filed either with the Consul or the Immigration Officer at least 15 days prior to the date of proposed departure.

PAINT HISTORIC SCENE

By Courier-Lessie Wire. London, Nov. 21.—(British wireless service).—The historic scene in Admiral Sir David Beatty's cabin on the Queen Elizabeth when the German delegates appeared for the surrender of the German fleet is to be placed on canvas by Sir John Lavery of the Royal Academy. Sir John made a special visit to the Grand Fleet at the request of the British Admiralty to make the preliminary sketches for the painting. He was present in the Admiral's cabin during the whole of the conference and painted a finished study of the scene which will serve as a basis for the big canvas which he hopes to complete in the next few months.

There will be fifteen figures in the painting, including Admiral Beatty, Vice-Admiral Sir Montagu Browning, Rear-Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt and the five German delegates. If the painting is completed in time it will be exhibited at the Royal Academy next year.

WOMEN MAY CROSS OCEAN

By Courier-Lessie Wire. New York, Nov. 21.—The British consulate general was directed yesterday by a cable dispatch from the Foreign Office in London to remove the restriction in existence, since April, 1917, preventing women who are British subjects, from crossing the ocean to England, Scotland, Ireland or Wales.

This did not apply, it was explained, to women who desired to visit Great Britain for sight-seeing purposes, but referred only to those desiring to see their families abroad.

MEN OVERSEAS WANT LOTS OF LETTERS

Red-Cross Official Urges the American People to Write to Their Boys

(Associated Press) London, Nov. 21.—More letters from home to American troops abroad are urged by Mrs. Margaret Walter, of Kansas City, an American Red-Cross official visitor to London hospitals.

"I don't know why it is that the boys get so few letters," she said. "It isn't as if other people were deprived of mail as well. I have asked the nurses, and most of them get an average of two letters a week from their 'lads in America. But even some of the boys who have been in the line seven or eight weeks have not yet heard a word from their peeps."

"If mothers and sisters only knew what home letters mean over here, why it gets to such a pass that the nurses read aloud their own letters and share them with the boys, so as not to seem selfish. One of the wives in my ward said she almost hated to have the boys see her getting her regular weekly mail. It made them so envious."

CARD OF THANKS. Mr. Clark, Mrs. Brown and family very gratefully thank their friends and neighbors for kind expressions of sympathy extended to them in their bereavement in the loss of their wife and daughter.

GIRL'S LONG WAISTED DRESS.

The style of dress shown in No. 8798, when worn with a pair of bloomers of matching material, makes an ideal everyday outfit for Miss Young America. The dress is slightly long-waisted, and it has a long, graceful surplice closing which extends over to the left side. The wide shawl collar of white pique is effective on a colored linen dress. The long sleeves gathered into deep cuffs or the short, loose sleeves may be chosen. The skirt is very easy to make, for it is all in one piece and is gathered all around to the wide belt. The skirt and sleeves might be made of embroidery flossing, with the waist and collar of plain material, making an attractive little lingerie. The girl's long waisted dress pattern No. 8798 is cut in five sizes—6 to 14 years. As on the figure the 8 year size requires 3 1/2 yards 27 inch or 2 3/4 yards 36 inch material.

THE ROYAL AND ANCIENT

Sarnia, Ontario, boasts the champion young golfer of the 1918 season—fifteen-year-old Ross N. Hayes, son of Dr. Hayes, of that city, who won the premier honors of the club in a keen competition. It's a good omen for golf in Canada when the juniors are found annexing club championships.

A prominent member of the Canadian Seniors' Golf Association writes me that he is not quite sure, whether the determination in the future, to play only ten men aside in international matches with the U. S. Seniors is altogether a wise one. From the golf viewpoint he concedes perhaps that the regulation ten aside match is the correct idea, but he rather thinks that from an international and general good fellowship standpoint that each team would be a better arrangement all round. It is understood that Mr. Presbury, the captain of the U. S. Seniors, and Mr. George Lyon, the Canadian captain, will take up the question next two or three weeks. The 1919 international encounter will take place at Apawamis Rye, N.Y., where Mr. Harold H. Hilton, the noted British amateur, won the American championship in 1911. Mr. Presbury and Herreshoff on the 37th hole. Mr. Lyon, it may be noted, is quite agreeable to having fifteen players aside in the annual competition with the U. S. Seniors.

The Rules of Golf Committee of the Royal Canadian Golf Association were recently asked for a ruling from Quebec on a very simple question, but one that is apparently destined to be always cropping up and causing discussion and that is, in reference to the procedure to be taken when two handicap men end up at the 18th hole all square. Of course, if the two players in a match are playing level the man taking the next extra hole wins, but if there is a handicap the full 18 holes have to be played over again.

Golf has been immensely popular this year at Brant. On many occasions during the past season the course was so congested that it was no uncommon sight to see players on every fairway laying full length waiting till the course before them was clear. In a place so popular as the Brant course has now become, with an already excellent clubhouse and a capable professional, to which golfers from all parts of the Dominion and beyond it come in ever increasing numbers a nine-hole course is obviously inadequate to meet the requirements. The Interior Department of the Dominion Government assumed control of the course two years ago, and at once proceeded to extend it to 18 holes, but owing to the exigencies of the war, work had to be stopped for a time which, from popular and pecuniary points of view, is rather a pity. The golf course, even now, as a splendid asset to the Rocky Mountains National Park, but with 18 holes and the additional advantages such an expansion would afford, encircled as it is with such magnificent scenery, to which the majority of the people of Canada are as yet strangers, it would far and away eclipse any other golfing resort in the Dominion, if not on the North American continent. Next season it is hoped the Government will take action to complete the full 18 holes. Among the visitors who played golf at Brant this season were Prince Arthur of Connaught and party, Lord Shaanessy and many other notables. A number of interesting competitions were held. Mrs. Orr of Brant winning the Brewster cup and gold medal and Mrs. Rutherford of Montreal the silver medal. The C.P.R. note silver cup was won by Mr. W. B. Collison, Commissioner of Police on the 20th hole from Mr. D. Matheson, who is known as "the father" of the Brant course.

Owing to the coal shortage afloat this winter, there promises to be a record flight of Canadian golfers Southward after Christmas. It is really astonishing the number of players from all parts of the Dominion who go to the Carolinas, Florida and California every season now. A few years ago the exodus could be numbered by the dozen. Now it runs into the many hundreds. With well-to-do golfers it is becoming quite the rage to stay home during the summer and autumn months and take the annual vacation instead in the winter. Golfing and motoring are ideal in Canada from May till November. Then Southward to enjoy the twin sports. It's a splendid combination if one has both the necessary time and the money.

The Messrs. Hodgson and Ross of Montreal and Ottawa are two of the best known amateur sporting families in the Dominion. All prominent in business, journalistic and financial circles, they have always found time nevertheless to keep themselves physically and mentally fit by engaging in outdoor activities.

For many years now the brothers have engaged annually in golf and curling competitions. Recently the former event took place on the Royal Montreal Golf Course, the match ending all square. The following was the score:

His place was taken by Mr. F. Howard Wilson, a close friend and comrade of both families. This annual golf competition has now been carried on for eleven successive years. FLU SPREADS OVER CIVILIZED WORLD

Germ Eludes Bacteriologists and Health Authorities are Baffled

The influenza epidemic continues unabated. Its ravages are not confined to this city or Province or even to Canada, and cable reports indicate that it is rapidly spreading over the civilized world. The baffled medical skill to an unusual extent and has claimed more victims perhaps than any other epidemic in a score of years. The germ has eluded the bacteriologists and medical men now agree that the best care is prevention.

The surest prevention is to build up the bodily powers of resistance and to get the system in the best physical condition possible. It is now universally agreed that it is possible to perfect the powers of resistance of the human system so that it can throw off almost any infection not excepting Spanish influenza.

It has been discovered that persons who are weak and run-down are the earliest victims, and if you find yourself tired or weak and losing flesh, or if you are in a generally run-down condition and below your normal weight, this warning should be heeded promptly.

If you are in this condition nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Taniae, which contains the most powerful tonic properties known to science. As a reconstructive tonic and system builder it is without an equal and contains the very elements needed by the system to give you fighting strength to ward off the influenza germ. This is a statement of facts and is supported by the recognized authorities and reference works, including the United States Dispensary and the Encyclopedia Britannica and leading text books used in the school of medicine. This statement is further proven by the fact that millions of persons who have actually taken Taniae have testified to its extraordinary merit as a medicine, and by the fact that Taniae is to-day having the greatest sale of any tonic on the market, over eleven million bottles having been sold within the past three years.

Taniae is also the ideal strengthening tonic for persons who are suffering from the after-effects of influenza, gripe or bronchial troubles and hundreds of thousands are using it daily with the most gratifying results.

In connection with the Taniae treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Taniae Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included with every bottle of Taniae. Taniae is sold in Brantford by Robertson's Drug Store. In Paris by Apps Ltd. In Mt. Vernon by A. Yemans. In Middleport by William Peddie. In Onondaga by Nell McPhadden.

A Cincinnati Barber Tells How to Make a Remedy for Gray Hair.
Mr. Frank Harbaugh of Cincinnati, O., who has been a barber for more than forty years recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and quarter ounce glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. This is not a dye, it does not color the most delicate scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

HARD COLDS—People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as are others. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, and this great medicine recovers the system after a cold as no other medicine does. Take Hood's.

Pottery the Oldest Art.
Pottery is the oldest, the longest and most widely diffused of all human arts. Its history, if recorded, would be as old as the history of man; its recorded history begins with the building of the tower of Babel. The oldest pottery known is Egyptian, but every people, civilized or barbarian, has practiced the art in one or another form. All study in every department of art begins at a period not long after the Mosaic deluge, but pottery is the earliest of all forms of art.

Early American Diplomats.
The first American minister to France was Thomas Jefferson, who represented this country under the Confederation and during the revolution before the Constitution was adopted and the United States was organized. After the adoption of the Constitution, the United States was first represented in France by William Short as charge d'affaires (1790) and then by Gouverneur Morris (1792) as minister.

Inseparable Musical Instruments.
In modern Spanish dances one sees the women gracefully waving a tambourine, while her male partner rattles the bones, or "castanets." The two seem to go together. Indeed, it has been so for thousands of years. They were played together as an accompaniment of amorous, and particularly of bacchanalian, dances in ancient Carthage, in Athens long before the Christian era, and in Rome.

"Self."
If your house looks so and so, it is because you are so and so. There is no way of separating yourself from the envelope of appearances that you've chosen to surround yourself with. Your "self" is simply the cluster of circumstances that you have culled from the rich welter of the world to put into the make-up of your life.—Exchange.

The Difference.
Science is concerned with the names, distances and magnitudes of the stars; and with problems touching the "intestinal parasites of the flea." Art, literature and religion are concerned only with mankind, with the elemental, the universal, the eternal; with the dream, the defeat, the romance of life.—Dallas Lore Sharp, in Atlantic.

Alphabetical Possibilities.
All the inhabitants of the globe, on a rough calculation, could not in 1,000,000 years write out all the possible transpositions of the 23 letters of the alphabet, even supposing that each person wrote 40 pages daily, and each of which pages contained not less than 40 transpositions of the letters.

Naturally.
A new baby sister arrived at Freddie's house. Next day at kindergarten the teacher asked him what they were going to name his new little sister. Freddie thought deeply a minute and then exclaimed: "Oh, we're going to name it Mrs. Throckmorton, after my mother."

Eels for Canning.
Canned and oiled eels are new enterprises talked of in Japanese fishing circles, as these fish are found almost everywhere along the coast. At present only a limited amount of each year's catch is eaten, by far the larger proportion being used for fertilizer.

Charitable.
"I shouldn't say in so many words that Mrs. Gabbat is a liar," observed the lady who weighed well the words of her mouth and the meditations of her heart before releasing them to the public, "but I will say that she is remarkably well misinformed."

IN A PARACHUTE

Sensations of Men Who Made Daring Drop.

The pilot pushed back his goggles and motioned to me.
"I could see his lips move, and though I could not hear a word, this excuse would not avail me, for I knew very well that what he was trying to convey was that we had reached the right altitude and that it was time for me to get out.
The open country-side below looked "horribly" far off, to let oneself drop helplessly into that churning void seemed an utter madness, but I had only myself to thank for having asked to be allowed to make a "low altitude" descent from an airplane. I had the inventor's word for it that the parachute would open in from two to two and a half seconds—say 150 feet of "free" fall. After that I should glide gently to the ground, and immediately I touched I was to be sure and operate the quick release, otherwise I should be dragged helplessly along.

Mastering my inclination to glance over the side again, I looked at the buckles of the harness and the release device. Everything seemed to be all right. The parachute itself, neatly folded in its muffin-shaped container, was clipped to the side of the fuselage. The few seconds seemed like so many years.
Very, very gingerly I threw one leg over the side, and then the other. The pilot, from his secure comfortable cockpit, grinned encouragement. We were speeding at ninety miles an hour through still air.
I shut my eyes and let go!

For a second or two I dropped like a stone, and then I felt a terrific tug at the harness, which told me that the parachute had left its casing. I could feel the increasing strain on the harness as the envelope opened, and I averted in wide, mad arcs in the empty air. The earth rushed upwards, everything happened with such terrific rapidity that I hardly had time to seize impressions, but one held in particular loomed up as if to engulf me. (As a matter of fact, I landed nearly a quarter of a mile away from it.)

I was fully supported now and dropping comparatively slowly. Barely missing the tops of some big elms, I came down with a bump, not nearly so hard as I had expected. Before I had time to get at the release the straining parachute had dragged me off my feet momentarily, but I pulled the cotter pin out and got clear, a little shaken up, but otherwise none the worse for my fall of 500 feet.—London Daily Mail.

Ancient Pirates.
History repeats itself, is a saying almost too trite to be quoted. However, the way in which England repeats history, in the matter of dealing with the threat of overseas foes has nothing at all trite about it. There is the instance of the Spanish Armada, and there is another story which is to be found in the Anglo-Saxon Chronicle for the year 897 A.D. In that year Alfred the Great had to contend with the Danish plunderers of East Anglia and Northumbria, and the way he set about it was to think how best to outdo the enemy on his own ground. He ordered the "building of long ships which were full high twice as long as the others. They were not shaped either after the Frisian or the Danish model, but so as he himself thought that they might be most serviceable."

Six of the pirates appearing off the Isle of Wight and laying waste the coast up to Devonshire, the king's men and the king's ships went out and fought them so that only one of the Danish ships got away to the East Anglian coast. It is the same story, with variations, which Mr. Lloyd George had to tell the House of Commons, the other day, when he spoke of the German submarine menace to the country's very existence and the way British seamen have dealt with it.

Daily Thought.
To know how to wait is the great secret of success.—De Maitre.

DRINK MORE WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder Trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste of you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act right. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

EXPLORING EXTINCT VOLCANOES

CANALS.

Many exploring parties have been organized and millions of dollars expended in exploring extinct volcanoes. Mount Royal at Montreal is an extinct volcano, which has been explored by the construction of Mount Royal Tunnel (3.35 miles in length). This tunnel has been completed and was opened for service on October 21st, on which date the Canadian Northern Railway established through train service between Toronto Union Station, Ottawa Central Station and Montreal Tunnel Terminal, 415 LaGauchetiere street west, two blocks from the Windsor Hotel, Windsor and Bonaventure Stations.

Rail, sleeping and parlor car tickets are obtainable at all Canadian Northern Railway ticket offices, or John S. Dowling and Co., agents, Brantford.

To Subscribers in Arrears

Paper Controller Orders Cutting Off of Unpaid Subscriptions!

Mr. R. A. Fringle, K. C., the Paper Controller of Canada, has issued an order, effective January 1, 1919, which says:

"2. Discontinue sending paper within three months after date of expiration of subscription, unless the subscription is renewed and paid for."

There are many other restrictions imposed, but this one is the most important. Therefore, between now and the end of the year The Courier's subscription list must be overhauled and put on a paid-in-advance basis, in order to comply with a governmental order.

Accounts have already been sent out to those in arrears, but subscribers do not need to wait for a "dun" to spur them to action. The date on the label affixed to the paper sent to mail subscribers, tells the story. City subscribers can learn how their subscription stands by referring to their last receipt.

The reason for this regulation of the Paper Controller is that it is the practice of some publishers to send their newspaper until ordered stopped, and this practice frequently means a failure to collect anything for subscriptions in arrears, in which case there is a virtual waste of paper. It is to prevent paper waste that the new regulation has been decided on.

The manufacture of paper consumes labor, wood, coal, chemicals and transportation facilities, and every ton of paper saved means just so much labor, raw materials, chemicals, fuel and transportation available for urgent war needs. For these reasons the Government insists that paper shall be saved, and proposes that only those who pay for their publications shall receive them.

Under these regulations The Courier will have no choice in the matter of dealing with subscriptions in arrears for over three months.

Send in your subscription at once. Do not delay, the collectors call regularly on city subscribers. Keep your account up-to-date.

Three Canadian War Authors

Arthur Hunt Chute.
Among the many recent books of war experiences, "The Real Front," by Arthur Hunt Chute, has particular interest for Canadians, as the author, although an American citizen, went overseas with the first Canadian Expeditionary Force and for two years was in the Ypres Salient. "If where an Englishman," he says, "is buried in a foreign soil is called 'a little bit of England,' then we may call the Ypres salient a mighty bit of Canada. If anyone were to inquire what is the most important city of Canada, we might answer unhesitatingly, 'The city of Ypres.' The hosts of our young men who have fallen in battle around that city have bestowed the name for all Canadian hearts, and rendered the place ours in the deepest sense."
Mr. Chute suggests in a wonderful way the atmosphere of the actual fighting line and the psychology of the men while under fire, their nervous strain reaching at times to physical agony, and yet their unconquerable determination to "carry on." "The Real Front" is published by Harper & Brothers, of New York.

Ralph S. Kendall.
No body of men has been associated with more romantic interest than the Royal North-West Mounted Police—whose work in maintaining law and order in the prairie provinces of Canada during the period of settlement and in the more remote North has inspired many an author to write a stirring story. For the most part, however, these stories have too much fiction and too little fact, with the result that the "Riders of the Plains," as they have been called, are rather shy of the professional writer. "Benon of the Royal Mounted," a new novel published by S. S. Gundy, of Toronto, has this advantage, that the author, Sergeant Ralph S. Kendall, has himself been for many years a member of the Force, of which he is still Sergeant-in-Charge at Calgary. This is a real man's book, in which the men talk the language that men do talk out West. One feels also that the many stirring incidents that occur have their basis in fact. "Benon of the Royal Mounted" is a book that should find a place on the shelves of all who are interested in the development of Canadian literature.

F. A. McKenzie.
Mr. F. A. McKenzie, the War Correspondent who has come to Canada straight from the fighting front to deliver a series of lectures on the recent battles in France, is a Canadian by birth, although he has lived most of his life in Great Britain and other parts of the British Empire. Mr. McKenzie's main lecture is "Through the Hindenburg Lines," in which he tells a first-hand story of Canada's fighting men and their great victories. His second lecture, "Britain Like Nobody," deals with the effort and sacrifice of the British people, and gives an intimate and first-hand account of how England has fought her way through to victory. Three Governments have placed their moving pictures and photographs at Mr. McKenzie's disposal for these lectures.
Mr. McKenzie is the War Correspondent of a group of prominent Canadian daily newspapers. He saw much of war before this campaign. He has a straightforward story to tell the Canadian people of what their sons have done. Mr. McKenzie's book on the war, "Canada's Day of Glory," was just published by William Briggs of Toronto. His one claim for it is that it tells what he has seen and is a faithful first-hand picture of war as it is.

Candid Letter Written
By Prince Max of Baden
Proves Him as Hypocrite

WHAT the new German Chancellor, another Amurath to Amurath succeeding, is of the same school of hypocrisy as his predecessors has been a robust suspicion since the Kaiser presented him as his viceroy and spoke through him to the Reichstag. But the absolute proof of his fraudulent insincerity came sooner than was anticipated. The evidence of his dishonesty is now at hand, in the form of a letter written by Prince Max which has come into the hands of the London Mail's correspondent at Bern.

In December Prince Max delivered an address to the upper house of the Baden Legislature in which he avoided to some extent the usual swabbing of a German statesman. He spoke of the Sermon on the Mount in terms of reverence and asked the Allies to respect it. Butter hardly melting in the princely mouth, he described Germany as controlled by high spiritual purposes. The speech gave offence to the blunt pan-Germans, who are candid about their views and do not camouflage their purposes. Taking Prince Max, accord-

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF DREADED LA GRIPPE

Worse Than the Disease Itself—Victims Left Weak, Nervous and Worn Out

La Grippe or Spanish influenza as the epidemic now sweeping over the America is called, is one of the most dangerous diseases known to mankind. Anyone who has felt its pangs is not likely to forget the trouble. La Grippe or influenza, starts with a slight cold and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the victim on his back, it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. Its after effects are often more serious than the disease itself. It is quite possible to avoid la grippe by keeping the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a tonic medicine which enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves. If however, the disease attacks you, the patient should at once go to bed, and call a doctor before complications set in. That is the only safe thing to do. But to recover your strength after the severity of the attack has passed, you will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an unsurpassed tonic. Through the use of this medicine all the evil after effects of this trouble will be banished. This has been proved in thousands of cases throughout Canada, where in previous seasons la grippe has attacked them. Among the many thus restored to full health is Miss Irene Bootes, Portsmouth, Ont., who says:—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved and in a little more than a month I felt all my old time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only cure the disastrous after effects of la grippe but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHIP SILVER TO ORIENT

By Courier Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 21.—More than 150,000,000 silver dollars have been taken from the United States Treasury vaults in the last few months and melted into bullion for export to India and other Oriental countries where large quantities of silver for small coins were needed to pay soldiers and for trade. A treasury report to-day showed that the fund of $90,000,000 silver dollars in the vaults six months ago has shrunk to $338,368,000. As fast as the dollars were melted down silver certificates based on the coin were withdrawn from circulation, and their place has been taken largely by new $1 and $2 federal reserve notes, the only strictly war-time currency of the nation. In the last month the melting has gone on at the rate of $4,000,000 a week. The silver has been shipped across the continent to Pacific ports secretly from time to time in heavily guarded express trains.

BANDIT A DYNAMITER

By Courier Leased Wire
Prince Albert, Nov. 21.—It is now believed that Dr. Gervais, under arrest here as one of the bandits who murdered James McKay, comes from Shawington Falls, Quebec, and that he and his gang were concerned in the regime of terrorism at Montreal during which the home of Lord Atholstoun was dynamited. Joseph Defond, a youth whom Gervais brought here last spring, is a son of J. W. Defond, of Shawington Falls. It is believed that Gervais secured considerable money from the boy's father. The boy went home some months ago in bad health, due, it is said, largely to the experiences he encountered with Gervais. Soldiers and police guarded Gervais' den at Steep Creek all last night and on to 5 o'clock this morning no word had come from 'Steep Creek.'

TO MAKE PERMANENT PROHIBITORY ORDER
Legislation Looking to This End Almost Certain to be Introduced

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—It is almost certain now that legislation will be introduced at the next session of the House of Commons designed to make permanent the prohibitory order in Council against the manufacture, importation, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada. Already there is evidence that the liquor interests are exerting subterranean influences to prevent this happening. As their method of working, in view of the state of public sentiment towards the traffic, has to be beneath the surface, greater vigilance is being exercised by the opponents of the policy of "a sober Canada forever."

The grave doubt which exists as to the validity of the clause in the order in Council enjoining that the prohibition clauses would be in effect for a year after the war, makes new legislation necessary. The opposition to whatever legislation is introduced will claim to mask for the soldier, saying he has been given a ration of rum, the trenches, and must not be deprived of it. If they cannot make port by sailing under that flag the rack will be to get raised the alcoholic content of the temperance beer now permitted, and to get light wines included in the list of drinks which can be manufactured, imported, transferred and sold.

SHIPPING LOSSES.
By Courier Leased Wire
London, Nov. 20.—Merchant shipping losses in October due to enemy action and marine risks as announced by the Admiralty to-day follow: British, 83,862 tons; Allied and neutral, 93,582 tons. Sailings from censored Kingdom ports, 7,534,476.

PRINCE MAXIMILIAN

ing to his words, they feared his will to conquer had been corrupted by morality and denounced him. Whereupon, taking note of the attacks on him, Prince Max on Jan. 12 last wrote to his cousin Prince Alexander of Hohenzollern, who is now in Switzerland and anti-Kaiser in his convictions. This letter, which told how the Sermon on the Mount should be interpreted, was preserved, and has been turned over for publication. It is a document as interesting and even more illuminating than the letter of Kaiser Karl to his brother-in-law, Prince Sixtus. Prince Max says he is astonished to learn that his speech was interpreted as anti-Hohenzollern, and to show the nonsense of a reading mentions a telegram of congratulation and approval received from the Kaiser. Proceeding he finds fault with the pan-Germans because so stupid as not to see he is helping their cause by presenting it more attractively. On the other hand, he is disgusted because the Frankfurter Zeitung, which has democratic and liberal leanings, "smeared him," as he says, "with laudations." "I clearly enough," declares Prince Max, "pledged up to secure in my speech the popular cry for 'democracy' and all current watchwords, especially 'parliamentarism.'" "My object," he goes on, "was to laugh to scorn the democratic war cry of the western powers." His real opinion of the Reichstag resolution, which he now pretends to support, is indicated by his reference to it. "The so-called peace resolution of July, 1917," he writes, "was a disgusting child born of fear and the Berlin dog-days." Concerning Belgium he holds the German foot should be kept there in order to employ possession as a trading asset. As German commanders forced Belgian women and children to march in front of their troops, so he would use all Belgium for a similar purpose. Further quotation is not necessary to show the sort the new chancellor is. He is another faithless one whose pledges are valueless. His utterances in favor of democracy, of parliamentarism, and for peace on the basis of either the President's program or the Reichstag resolutions are the fruit of a deliberate intent to lie.

Smokes.
"Please tell them," said a boy at the front pliantly, "that we don't like the French tobacco." This recalls something Mark Twain wrote about tobacco. "No one can tell me what is a good cigar—for me. I am the only judge, I have a thoroughly satisfactory time in Europe, for all over the continent one finds cigarettes which not even the most hardened newsboy would smother. There is even a brand of European smoking tobacco that I like. It is loose and dry and black, and looks like tea grounds. When the fire is applied it expands, and climbs up and tapers above the pipe, and presently tumbles off inside of one's vest. Children of twenty-five, who have seven years of experience, try to tell me what is a good cigar and what isn't. Me, who never learned to smoke, but always smoked, me, who came into the world asking for a light."

HER DAUGHTER WAS SAVED FROM OPERATION

Mrs. Wells of Petersburg Tells How.

Petersburg, Va.—"For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her."—Mrs. W. D. WELLS, 236 North Adams Street, Petersburg, Va.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, headache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

Looking Ahead. Perhaps the time will come when man will invent some great store of battery which shall collect all the free lightning now so erratically loosed from the summer clouds and save enough light and heat to serve a whole town during the cold, dark winter. Then the sting of fear would be removed from the great dragons that devastate and they would be tamed for man's use!

Wrong Action Mitigated. Laddie had been taught that when visiting he must never ask for anything to eat. One afternoon he was invited by a neighbor to visit her. He went alone, and on his return home his mother asked him if he had enjoyed the afternoon and said she hoped he had not asked for cookies. He replied: "Yes, I did, mamma, but I was very polite."

Hunting Trouble. Hunting trouble is too fashionable in this world. Contentment and jollity are not cultivated as they should be. Rippling Rhymes

Which one's been lying sick in bed, with plaster casts upon his head, and polities upon his feet, recovery seems, oh, so sweet! The doctors, round my couch of straw, have piled the squirts and the saw; for weary days, that endless seemed, I tied myself in knots and screamed, for every ache that has a name held wassail in my stricken frame, and many aches not classified whizzed through my sinews and my hide. At last I fell into a sleep, an old time slumber, rich and deep, and when I woke my form was free from every brand of agony. 'Tis at a crucial time like this, when full of opalescent bliss, a fellow feels how great is health—far greater than the whole world's wealth. And he can clearly realize how dippy, batty and unwise, it is to sacrifice that boon, to gain another pleasure. A million men, you may observe, are straining every bone and nerve, year after year, to add one more gunmetal dollar to their store. Some day they'll be where I have been, with polities from feet to chin, and when they lie in solitude, and o'er their years of folly brood, they'll say, as I am saying yet, that health's the one and only bet.

After publication of this notice, payments in advance on subscriptions will only be accepted to December 1st at the old rate, after that at the new rate. This advance in subscription rates has been made necessary by the tremendous increase in the cost of white paper, the price of which has recently been fixed by the Paper Controller at Ottawa. By this one item alone thousands of dollars are added to our annual cost of production, and in addition, labor, presses, stereotype supplies, type and all other items of expense have enormously advanced in price during the last few years. Even at the new rates the Brantford papers are only now charging prices which have been in force for some time back on almost all the other daily newspapers published in this section of the Dominion.
