PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period.
Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that the careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade
Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage.
That's "Purity."

"Purity" flour may cost a little more,
but is more than worth the difference.
Try it. Watch results both for quality

combines the rich gluten of Manitoba Spring wheat and the lighter, but equally important, properties of Ontario Fall wheat. The two combined form a perfectly blended flour that makes bread light, white, nutritious and extremely palatable, while pastry made with Beaver Flour has a crisp, flaky texture that brings many a compliment to the cook. ... CHAPTER VII. ANOTHER BLIGHTED LIFE. A chime from a clock somewhere in the house tolled three as Edwin Chapman let himself, with his latch-key, into the home that was his through the courtesy of his friend, Meredith Lansing. He closed the door softly, and with unsteady tread went noiselessly to the library, his countenance drawn with the pain in his heart. 'Is it you, Edwin?' asked a little musical voice as he entered the room. 'Why, Bebe, do you know what time it is?' The little figure upon the couch straightened itself, the short yellow curls like small rings of frayed silk were lifted, the tiny, groping hands were extended, guiding their owner's way to Chapman. He caught them eagerly in his and led her to a chair. 'Yes, I know,' she answered, lifting the lovely, sightless eyes, blue as the sky for all their unfortunate cloud. 'It is just three o'clock. I wonder how the tenth chapter of 'Longing' will progress to-morrow after all this dissipation?' 'And I wonder how many age lines all these long hours will add to that dainty face? Don't you know you should not sit up like this?' 'Papa has not come in yet. I made Aunt Margaret believe that I had gone to bed, and when I heard her snoring, I slipped down here to wait for you and papa. Did you have a very pleasant evening?' The question was put wistfully, the smile having faded from the exquisite dimpled face. Chapman dropped the hand he held, and, turning wearily, seated himself in an arm-chair, leaning his head upon his hand. 'Yes—no—I don't know, Bebe,' he stammered, endeavouring to strangle the sigh that came to his lips, for it had been tacitly agreed in that household that while Bebe Lansing had been denied the sunshine of God's nature, she must know nothing else from man's. I suppose it was 'I knew him in Australia,' he stammered. 'He told me the story there. There is some relationship between us, I believe.' 'Then he lives? He is well?' The questions were put eagerly, the tiny hand trembling upon his arm, the small white teeth firmly set to prevent their chattering. 'He lives, he is well, but his suffering terribly. There is no poor wretch condemned to death with whom he would not change places if he only might. It is his wild curse of you, his remorse for the work he has put upon your life, that causes him to suffer death in each hour without the relief it brings. Miss Beaufort, is there no kind word, or message of forgiveness, if not hope, that you could send to him?' She drew back wearily, her hand falling from his arm, all the excitement fading from her lovely face, leaving it cold and gray as granite. 'No,' she answered dully. 'When I forget, I may forgive. Do you think that I do not suffer even as he has? Do you think that any reason, except the wish to save my poor old father, and mother, could ever have kept me from suicide? He stole my life after having secured my heart by a lie. I will never forgive him! Never! Never!' A quivering sob passed his heart. 'Dulciss,' he cried, unconsciously using the old name, 'listen to me!

He sinned from hearing the voice of love so passionately that it was beyond his control. He worshipped you so madly that—' 'Hush!' she exclaimed, a terrible shudder shaking her. 'Do you think that I could ever trust the man who had stolen the jewel which he wore upon his breast? He robbed me of very hope of happiness, leaving me a withered life. You ask me to send some word of forgiveness. "Tell him that I loathe him!" He reviled like a drunken man under a blow. He had scarcely recovered himself when the junior Quintra entered the room. "I have been searching everywhere for you, Miss Beaufort," he exclaimed. "I might have known that Chapman had secured the prize. This is our wait. It is almost over." She placed her hand upon his proffered arm. As she reached the door she turned and looked back upon Chapman. The sight of his anguished eyes seemed too much for her. She returned to him swiftly, and spoke in an agitated undertone. "I have disappointed you!" she cried, forgetting that he was a stranger. "Forget that this subject has ever been mentioned between us, and come to me to-morrow at five, will you not?" "I will." She was gone and he stood there alone, his heart madly repeating those to him, frightful words she had spoken: "Tell him I loathe him!"

CHAPTER VIII. 'Not until papa comes, Edwin—rising and finding him with her outstretched hands, then seating herself upon a stool at his feet—you don't trust me as you used to, as you did in those happy days in the country when you used to come to me to smooth the wrinkles out of your heart, do you?' 'Why, Bebe, why do you say that, dear?' 'Because you don't tell me your sorrows any more. You think because I am blind that I cannot know the pictures that suffering makes upon your brow, but you forget that when God deprives one of sight He allows her to a certain extent to see with her ears. There are more distress pictures in the voice than upon the countenance, Edwin.' 'And you think—' 'That you have been stashed to the heart's-night. Is it not true?' His lips quivered painfully, his face was white as death, but he forced a silent laugh that he fancied might deceive her. 'It requires a deep thrust to penetrate to my heart, little one,' he returned, with an attempt at lightness. 'You have sat up so long that the switches have taken your brain as an abiding place, and you are fanciful. Your father may not come until day-break, and—' 'She interrupted him with a gesture of impatience. 'I shall wait for him. If you won't tell me what distresses you, you may go to bed.' 'Thanks,' drawled Chapman. 'I shall wait for your father also. I really believe there is a frown upon your face, Bebe.' 'Perhaps so. It may never be required to you, but being treated as a child grows rather monotonous after nineteen years.' To be continued.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Has it been your experience, as it has been mine, to see people who otherwise had good manners, raise the napkin above the mouth, rub their eyes, wipe the forehead, in fact use it as a handkerchief, stopping short only at "wiping the nose?" writes a correspondent.

Dear lady, it certainly has. And also, to see other tricks just as bad committed by people who ought to know better. A man who stuttered was aroused one day when a supercilious person commented on his falling.

"Oh, I g-g-guess every-body ha-ha-ha has his little eccentricity," he said. "Wha-what's yours?" The supercilious person protested that he didn't know that he had any.

"Oh, I g-g-guess you have," insisted the stutterer. "Now, d-do you eat your soup w-with your left hand or with your r-right?" "I eat my soup with my right hand, of course."

"Then tha-that's yours," triumphantly pointed out the stutterer, "I eat mine with my spoon." All of which I have told, simply to introduce the stutterer's philosophy—that every man has his little eccentricity.

I think he has—especially in table manners. It seems as if almost everyone we know, however well bred, has some little disagreeable trick. Each is horrified at the others' offenses and each calmly commits his own.

And don't think I mean offenses like a failure to pick the right fork or spoon from a bewildering array of implements. I have a thorough sympathy for such a failure—a sympathy, in fact, I am quite willing to admit, from my own bewilderments.

For Women's Needs

monia has been added. They should be wiped dry with a clean cloth. Keeping vegetables in the cooking water after they are done spoils both the look and the taste. After pouring the water off return to the fire for a moment to dry before serving.

To get delicate colors in hand-embroidered handkerchiefs, soak them before washing for 10 minutes in a pail of water into which a dessert-spoonful of turpentine has been stirred.

A quickly-prepared sandwich is made by pulping a banana and adding enough lemon juice to give it the requisite piquancy. Spread on thin slices of brown bread and serve at once.

When using raisins for spice cake, boil the fruit for 20 minutes, and substitute the liquor in which they are cooked for part of the milk or molasses. The result will be most satisfactory.

When washing silk use warm but not hot water. In the rinsing water put a teaspoonful of methylated spirit to each gallon, and the silk will look bright and new. Iron with a rather cool iron.

In freezing weather, if windows stick, they can quickly be opened by pouring hot salt water over the sashes. This is also the quickest and easiest way to remove ice from slippery steps and pavements.

PATRICK'S COVE NOTES.

Since the shooting season opened there has been a continual crowd of sportsmen going back and forth. While in the cove they put up at the Osborne House, Mrs. P. B. McGrath, proprietress. At times she had some 15 or 20 people at her house, but was assisted by Miss T. McGrath who, though young, proved herself to be a good waitress. Among those who were there were, Rev. Mr. Godden, Dr. Scully, and many others who secured from 20 to 30 birds for a day. Good work indeed!

Mr. E. J. Collins was here the past week on business for Jas. Bindin. Mr. P. J. Kemp was also here on business for Job Bros & Co.

Miss E. Roache arrived from Branch on Saturday to take the position of R. C. teacher of this place. Miss R. is a third grade teacher, but so intelligent is she that some people would take her to be a A.A. She will I think make a name for herself as an intelligent young teacher.

TRAIN NOTES.

Household Notes.

To separate the yolk of an egg from the white, break the egg in a small funnel. The white will slip through, leaving the yolk intact.

A little corn, cut from the cob, heated and seasoned, may be added to an omelet before turning. It makes a delicious breakfast dish.

It is an excellent plan to keep a piece of charcoal in the refrigerator. It will do a great deal toward keeping it free from unpleasant odors.

To have them tasty, always soak dried vegetables, such as beans, peas and lentils, for several hours in cold water before they are cooked.

Never sweep a floor in a sick room; instead wipe it carefully with a cloth dipped in borax water. This will prevent the spread of contagion.

Mashed potatoes should be run through a vegetable press as soon as boiled. After pressing they should be beaten with a fork until light.

Dust silk with a piece of velvet instead of a clothes brush. The velvet will do the work thoroughly and will not injure the delicate fabric.

A bit of lemon peel can be used to remove the odor of fish from a knife. Applying a burning match to the knife will accomplish the same result.

A Strange Anomaly.

The Republican Government of Portugal has proclaimed "equality of religious sects." That looks very well on paper, but it will look better if the new officials live up to it. The public declaration of religious equality is strangely at variance with a decree of summary banishment for religiousists. Indeed, it is hardly credible that the two proclamations should emanate from the same source, so conflicting are they in nature to one another. While it is true you cannot make an omelette without breaking eggs, nor carry a revolution without breaking heads, it is neither politic nor in conformity with the privilege of religious equality to make a policy of breaking ecclesiastical heads. Indeed, such a course is highly provocative of brutal outrages against clergy, the sacking of religious establishments, breaking into convents, desecrating altars, images, statues and church vestments by gangs of ruffians.

It will be necessary not only for the Republican Government to put down such outrages by the mob with a stern hand, but to purify their own conduct, if the world is to have much faith in their proclamation of Religious Equality. There may be good ground under a regime of religious equality of a policy of exile for monks and nuns.

MORE BANKERS HERE.

The Gloucester banker Media, Capt. M. Carden, arrived here yesterday afternoon after a two months cruise, fishing near the Virgin Rocks. She secured 250 qts. down there for two weeks fishing and has 1,500 qts. for the season for 5 dories. She reports the Kitchener there doing well and leaves for home to-day to give up the voyage.

"CENTURY" ATTRACTS ATTENTION.

One of the principals of our local Cricket Association had a letter by yesterday's mail from a gentleman well up in cricket circles in New York in which the writer was surprised to learn that our people were such adepts in the playing of this excellent game. He did not know that our cricketers had the ability of bat up the "century" score and applauded Mr. Fitzherbert on this feat. He read the interesting article in the Telegram describing the match in which Mr. Fitzherbert put up this fine score and asked that a copy be sent him. This gentleman is compiling a cricketer's guide and solicits all the information possible about the game and its adherents in St. John's.

MECHANICS' SOCIETY.

The members of the Mechanics Society held their monthly meeting last night, when most business was done. At the last meeting of the Society it was announced that $500 had been paid towards the debt of the hall, while it was shown that the Society was in a good financial condition and is steadily reducing its indebtedness. The debt on the hall is now $8000. In rents received the Society gets $3000 annually and the interest which is easily liquidated, amounts to $480 yearly. The Society expects to be able to pay off its indebtedness after a few years.

Supreme Court.

This is an action for breach of warranty in regard to quality of fish. The plaintiff claims $1,584. The case commenced yesterday before Mr. Justice Johnson and a petty jury. Mr. Furlong, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff company, and Sir J. S. Winter, K.C., and Mr. Greene, K.C., for defendant company. The hearing occupied the morning and evening and was resumed this morning. When Mr. Furlong moved for an adjournment to make evidence as to quality of fish, Sir J. S. Winter opposed the motion, which was not allowed. Mr. Furlong moved then for leave to discontinue so that he might have a right to proceed with the same at a later date, after the taking of further evidence. Judgment was ordered to be entered in the way of non-suit on the basis of Mr. Furlong's motion, the plaintiff paying costs to defendants and costs for the jury for two days.

NARROW ESCAPE

By the schr. Village Bride we learn that the schr. Zephyr, which was lost at Fortune, on the French Shore, Sunday week, went on the rocks with 270 barrels of fish on board. In going into the harbor in a gale of wind she mistimed, and as a high sea ran the eight men of a crew had a terrible time of it. When they launched their skiff she surged against the side of the vessel and a hole was stove in her and the men had to plug it with their coats to keep the boat from filling with water and had to constantly keep bailing to prevent her from swamping. One man named Ben Spencer was swept overboard by a sea which boarded the craft and was nearly drowned. He was swept a long distance out of reach of the boat and when picked up was unconscious. The vessel, which was owned by H. J. Entre, was manned in pieces and the men lost all their effects. The hull was insured but the fish was not.

Mr. Christopher now wants the public to know that each man is now collecting for himself. Anybody therefore who would like to help Mr. Christopher is asked to keep the money till he calls and not to give it to Fitzgerald.

A FOOD DRINK

Which Brings Daily Enjoyment.
A lady doctor writes:
"Though busy hourly with my own affairs, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to tell of my enjoyment daily obtained from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not a poison like coffee."
"I began to use Postum eight years ago, not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I dearly loved, made my nights long weary periods to be dreaded and unfitting me for business during the day."
"On the advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as directed on the package. As I had always used cream and no sugar, I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it as my Kentucky friend always wanted her coffee to look—like a new saddle."
"Then I tasted it critically, for I had tried many substitutes for coffee. I was pleased, yes, satisfied, with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years."
"I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like it in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep sound and am not nervous." "That's a season."

FISHERMEN IN DANGER.

Most of the fishing boats out of this port went out on the grounds at 6 this morning and were about two hours fishing when a westerly gale and high sea sprang up. They had a hard time of it in making port and several came near being swamped. All got in, however, except one boat, which fished at the Cape, and contained Thos. Connolly and Abraham Morgan. They had not arrived up to noon and their comrades were fearful that an accident had befallen them.

Reciprocity.

I have been abused like a sweep for referring to Mr. Pepper. Why? He did not come here for his health. As Head of the Tariff Department and an important official his business with our Government would naturally be to discuss Trade questions, and some arrangement for the coming herring fishery on the West Coast. What I wrote as correspondent about Mr. Pepper's mission has been fully confirmed by reports from Washington in the American papers. The whole thing is quite obvious to the meanest intellect. There never was such a golden opportunity for Reciprocity between Newfoundland and America as the present time.

First there is an outburst of indignation and fury against the Trusts and Combines and Monopolies; Roosevelt has had to fall into line and join this movement. The Fish Ring which makes all America eat dear fish for the sake of a few foreigners can't be kept up any longer. Two of our bitterest enemies—Cahot and Lodge—are now pronounced supporters of Reciprocity.

2. The Hague Award has completely destroyed American pretensions and they must now come to terms with us;

3. There is a great shortage of fish for the Western States, and the extra supply must come from outside.

Ever since Bell Shute became an Editorial centre, whether a Blue nose tramp or a long lugubrious Englishman ruled the paper they always abused me. I quite enjoy it. It has been my lot for scores of years to be most extravagantly praised abroad, and abused at home. All my fellow countrymen will see that I am always doing my best to make our country known to the outside world.

Narrowly Escaped Drowning This A.M.

At 12.30 this morning a man from one of the banking schooners lying at Job's premises had a narrow escape from drowning. He had imbibed very freely during the night, and in trying to board his vessel at a late hour walked over the old breastwork just west of Job's premises, and was a long while in the water. After a while battling for life he managed to reach the shore to which he clung with desperation. It was hard work to hold the shores, which were slippery with a thick growth of kelp, and time and again the unfortunate fisherman slipped and went down over his head. As his strength waned he saw the necessity for immediate aid and he cried for help as loudly as he could. It is a wonder that his voice was heard above the howling of the wind and the falling of rain and noise made by the undertow as the waves beat against the breastwork. Some men from a schooner heard him, however, and four of them jumping in a boat got the man just in the nick of time. He was very much exhausted, and had been left another few minutes must certainly have drowned. The men piloted him on board his vessel where he was looked after.

Big Berry Shipments.

The Rosalind this trip took a large amount of partridge berries to New York. One firm, the Newfoundland Berry Co., organized the past summer, shipped 1,000 barrels of these berries for which there is an ever increasing demand. They make excellent preserves, and the people round our bays are giving more attention to the gathering of them than heretofore. Whole families engaged in picking them the past summer and made good money at the work.

He Stole $50.00.

One of the police sergeants who was up on the West Coast on a special mission returned by the Bruce express yesterday. He was after a man who stole $50 from another and then left for Canada. The officer followed the man to Sydney, but there learned he had gone west and he gave up the chase, returning on Sunday's Bruce.

Nutritive Hypophosphites.

When a person feels "blue"—"all tired out"—"doesn't feel like doing anything"—cannot concentrate his mind on his work—feels weak mentally and physically—doubts his powers—complains of poor appetite and sleeplessness—suffers from headaches—then his nervous system is run-down and demands a good up-building tonic. Nervous exhaustion is a modern disease, caused by too close attention to business, overwork, worry, devotion to trying family cares, overstudy, etc.

Nutritive Hypophosphites forms the best nerve and brain food known, and have restored thousands of sufferers to health. Large bottle, $1.00. The more you trade here the better you like this store.

Teamsters Endure Great Hardship.

Owing to the fact that the sheds and wharves where the Rosalind lay were filled with goods landed from various ships recently, the cargo of fish, oil, berries, etc., being shipped from this port by the Rosalind yesterday could not be handled with that dexterity and despatch which the employees of Harvey and Company are noted for. As a result there was a block on the premises, and a line of heavily laden teams extending from the sheds up to Water Street, often during the day were kept for lengthy periods awaiting an opportunity to unload. The result was that in the rain storm which prevailed all yesterday afternoon and night both man and beast suffered great hardship. This was especially the case from 9 to 11 o'clock last night. Some of the teamsters who had no oilclothes were saturated and suffered severely. Some of these men after their work concluded had to drive miles in the country, and one at least had to proceed to Logy Bay. They, however, are men of rugged constitutions and anticipated no detrimental results to their health as a result of the hardship which they endured.

Had Eczema In Both Legs.

Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.
You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended. Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Ont., writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

Fishermen Frisky.

Some of the crews of the bankers now in port on coming ashore last evening, found the brand of liquid refreshment served here of too high a temperature to agree with them and they acted queerly on Water Street. They ran up against citizens who resented their antics, and the police called off the show when the men became too boisterous. One was arrested, and the rest went on board their vessels wet inside as well as out.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Editor Evening Telegram:
Mr. Editor,—I have read with much interest the letters of "Reform" on the above most important subject. I do not pretend to be able to form an opinion upon the scientific point of the question. But I think it does not require more than the average amount of intelligence to understand the clear and simple statements of "Reform." As I understand the case, our authorities have decided to expropriate the land surrounding the Lake and to remove all dwellings, stables, etc. therefrom. This, of course, means an enormous amount of expenditure to compensate the parties deprived of land, houses, etc.; the making of a new road, and other accompanying expenses. Now all this is to be done because it is thought that the existence of these houses and farms might be the cause of infecting or polluting the water of the Lake with the germs of typhoid fever.

An examination of the water was made by scientific experts. That was no doubt expensive, but I think no one will object to that expense; it was necessary that we should know exactly the condition of the water. Now if there is one thing appearing as the result of that examination and analysis, it is this that There are no Typhoid Germs in the Water.
Such being the case one would think that the obvious consequence would be, the abandonment of the project of moving the houses, expropriating the property, building the new road, all of which is going to cost an immense sum of money, which money could surely be spent if it must be spent, in improving the sewerage system of the city, extending the water supply, etc.

But my principal object in writing this letter is to Save the Old Road!
I think it would be a cruel and barbarous thing to do, (and it ought not to be done unless it were clearly proved to be absolutely necessary to the health of the city) to change that beautiful three mile stretch of road which winds so gracefully along the margin of the Lake under the natural avenue of overshadowing spruce and fir.
"Whose sombre hue is e'er anon relieved,
By noble pine and graceful juniper,
Wide-spreading birch, and aspen trembling leaved."
This may be considered by practical-minded men as mere poetry—or rhyme—and not worthy of consideration. But I beg to say there is something more than that in it.
One of our principal and most productive assets as a country is Our Beautiful Scenery.
This is it which brings thousands of visitors and tourists to our shores, and hundreds of thousands of dollars to our revenues.
Every piece of scenery destroyed is a financial loss to the country, as easily calculated as the suspension of a Bank, or the Bankruptcy of a commercial firm.
Some of these catastrophes are brought about by causes beyond our power to avert; fires, storms, failures in business, crops, fisheries, etc. These we cannot help, but surely we ought not assist the work of destruction by ruthlessly detouring the beautiful face of Nature smiling around us.
The destruction or defacing or defiling of any of the delightful drives or walks which form the charming suburban surroundings of St. John's would, I hold, mean a clear financial loss to our city's income. And of all our country drives that to is without comparison the most delightful, and of that twelve miles of road the three miles sweep along the shores of "twenty mile pond" is certainly the gem.
Now for a mere whim, a fad, at best a palpable uncertainty, this beautiful and valuable asset of our city is to be wantonly destroyed. I hope it is not too late to stay this projected act of vandalism.
I am, sincerely,
-M. F. H.

Mr. J. A. Robinson's Address

On "A Visit to the Old Country After An Absence of Ten Years."
An interesting meeting of the George St. Epworth League was held last night. Its patriotic nature was evident at the opening by the singing of the hymn, "God Bless Our Native Land," followed by "The Britannia" being sung by Mr. H. Courtenay. The reputation of Mr. Courtney as a soloist of ability was certainly sustained. Mr. R. A. Squires, L.L.B., the Chairman, introduced the speaker of the evening, The Hon. J. A. Robinson, and his subject, "A Visit to the Old Country After an Absence of Ten Years." Mr. Robinson has but recently returned from a visit to the Home Land and is naturally deeply impressed with the changes, some for the better and others for the worse, that have taken place in the land that all true Britishers hold so dear. He renewed acquaintance with the "Old Country" at his birthplace, Glasgow. From there he took his audience to the chief points of interest in his tour of the "land of the heather." Edinburgh, the "Athens of Scotland," with its interesting history and romantic scenery is deeply impressive. The beauty spots for which Scotland is so renowned as well as the places which are thrilling with their historical interest were visited.
At Leeds—the great sheep-raising center, came the news of our late King's illness, followed almost immediately by appalling tidings of his death. The mourning of the land for the departed King is something new to be forgotten. Everywhere business was suspended, flags half-mast in fact everything was literally a sign of grief. Passing through the country on his way to London to witness the funeral he was struck most forcibly by the fact that Britishers are fast dropping agricultural pursuits and are crowding to the cities. It is a lamentable fact that the farm lands are more and more being neglected, and that the most honest toil of all is fast becoming a thing of the past. London and its solemn aspect on the occasion of the funeral was something ever to be remembered. Never had such national sorrow been witnessed. The blow falling so unexpectedly, in which respect, unlike the decease of the beloved Victoria, left people bewildered and in the greatest sorrow for the loss of a friend, then more than a loss of a great ruler, the speaker had the privilege of seeing the Procession at advantage from the Horse Guards, and the impressions of that great event were, striking in the extreme. An illustration of the profound grief of the people is given in the amazing fact that on the funeral day there were only five arrests in the Metropolitan of the World, showing that the nation's heart was so united in its grief that it was not necessary to have a large force of police in the command. London has changed wonderfully during the past decade and in nothing is this more marked than in the improvement in the social life of the people. Drunkenness is greatly on the decrease and as evidence of that he stated that during his five weeks stay there he did not see one drunken man. The musical halls and theatres have undergone a change for the better, the objectionable features of past years have been eliminated. This is because of the people reaching a higher moral standing and being appreciative of the best.

Notwithstanding all the changes that had been wrought in the life of the old country, she is still advancing and keeping the place as the leader of nations. Pessimism, which is all too general amongst Englishmen cannot be substantiated by facts, she is a mother of nations and although her children have in their course of growth come to occupy their own houses, still they comprise the firm of John Bull & Co., of which England is the senior partner.
The hon. gentleman's eloquent discourse was thrilling and interesting from first to last. It showed deep patriotism and a close observation of the life of the Mother Country.

Excesses in Lisbon.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
LISBON, Oct. 10.
The revolutionary leaders, having overthrown the Monarchy, are now confronted with the scarcely less serious task of putting an end to excesses on the part of the rougher element, their own followers, who, having had a taste of mob rule, are prone to continue in a career of lawlessness. The decree of summary banishment for the religionists has given an excuse for brutal outrages against the clergy. The Provisional Government has recognized the seriousness of the situation, and to-day the police used severe measures to prevent the population from sacking religious establishments and in stamping demonstrations against religionists, pending their expulsion. Reports that the clerics were carrying on guerrilla warfare from the windows of their establishments inflamed public resentment against the religious orders, many members of which were chased from their churches and convents. A mob which battered down the doors of a convent in Rue do Quelhas was led by fanatics and a gang of ruffians, who seized the occasion to destroy everything in sight. Images and statues were wrecked from the altars, furniture broken and vestments carried off. As was the case at the time of the Barcelona riots, popular feelings seem to be restricted to the monks and nuns, and does not manifest itself towards the secular clergy. Later the police recovered the greater part of the vestments in the districts in which are located Santos Church, and the French Legation was started by the crack of rifles and at once a report was circulated that the religionists were firing from the windows of the church. The crowd flooded in time to protect the church and the legionnaires, remain peaceful. Arrests of disguised and fleeing religionists continued to-day. The discovery of secret subterranean tunnels set afoot rumors that many monks were hiding under ground watching a favorable opportunity to emerge and fight with the new regime. With doubtful expediency the bodies of Prof. Bombarda and Admiral Lopo, the revolutionaries, remain exposed at the City Hall. The Republican flag hangs from the easterly side of the city by tying the Republic is draped in black. Throughout Sunday the city wore festival

Boy Drowned in an Aqueduct.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 10.
After having drawn off 90,000,000 gallons of water in the Croton aqueduct mains near the high bridge station, in the upper part of the city, searchers to-day found the body of Jose Pendi, an 8 year old boy, who fell into the aqueduct through an opening while playing with companions on Saturday. It took nearly a day to empty the big pipes in the section into which the boy fell.

Patriarch of Lisbon Released.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LISBON, Oct. 10.
Dr. Costa, the Minister of Justice, to-day ordered the release of Cardinal Jose Sebastian Netto, former Patriarch of Lisbon, who had been seized and ordered to be expelled from the country. Costa explained, what he added was necessary, that the activity of the clericals who persisted in obtaining the Republic, and the advent of the Republic, hastened the order of expulsion, which he ordered was necessary to tranquilize the public spirit. It is understood that all the officers who aided the revolution refused offers of promotion, affirming that they had only done their duty to the nation. The Theatre Queen Amelia has been renamed the Republic. The Government has decreed the suspension by the cable companies of the acceptance and delivery of code and cipher messages.

Troops Mutiny.

Special to Evening Telegram.
CARACAS, Venezuela, Oct. 10.
Government troops to-day occupy San Carlos fortress and prison on San Carlos Island, at the entrance to Lake Maracaibo, following Friday's insubordination, when a portion of the troops conspired with the criminal prisoners, and some of the latter escaped. No political importance is attached by the Government to the revolt.

Revolt of Prisoners.

Special Evening Telegram.
WILLEMSTAD.
Island of Curacao, Oct. 10.
Capt. Johansen of the steamer Merida, who brought the first news of the revolt of prisoners at the San Carlos fortress on Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, gave further details to-day of what the crew witnessed. According to reports which he gathered, six officers were killed, but General Prato, a brother of President Gomez, and warden of the prison, escaped by assuming a disguise. The soldiers' barracks and the General's quarters were burned, and 200 prisoners, some of whom had been incarcerated because of their allegiance to the lost cause of former President Castro, escaped. These are reported to be wandering about the northern part of the Republic, and there are many and unconfirmed rumors concerning the whereabouts and intentions towards the Government. The Merida arrived off Carlos Island, 20 miles below Maracaibo, at 7 o'clock on the morning of October 7, and found a fire raging on the island and a flag over the fortress at half mast. The captain sent the purser in a small boat with the usual passport to be signed by the general commanding the fortress to drop the gulf pilot. As the small boat neared the spot six armed men waded out and pushed the boat back into deep water.

Manuel Goes to England to Live.

Special to Evening Telegram.
GIBRALTAR, Oct. 10.
King Manuel of Portugal and Queen Mother Amelia decided to-day to proceed to England. They will leave probably within a few days but are undetermined whether they will travel by land or sea. The Italian warship Regina Elena arrived here to-day to take on board the Dowager Queen Maria Pia, who will go to Italy.

Religious Equality.

(Daily News Messages.)
LISBON, Oct. 10.
The transformation of Portugal from a monarchy to a democracy manifests itself on every hand. The word "Royal" in connection with public buildings, theatres and other establishments has been entirely suppressed. Official documents begin "In the name of the Republic," and end with "freelance and fraternity." The privileges of the nobility have been abolished and the equality of religious sects proclaimed.

Fear An Outbreak.

Special Evening Telegram.
BARCELONA, Oct. 10.
A state of increasing excitement, reigns in Barcelona. The success of the revolution in Portugal appears to have fanned the fire of rebellion that has smouldered here since the furious outbreak of a year ago. The greater animation is noticeable in the streets. The patriot and civil guards are being strengthened gradually, and preparations are being gradually made to meet any eventualities which may arise on Thursday next, Oct. 13th, the anniversary of the execution of Professor Ferrer, director of the modern school of Barcelona, who was convicted of having incited last year's revolutionary movement. General Weyler admits that the strike of miners here is taking on a revolutionary character. He says that his orders are to suppress any active dissidence with a firm hand. Ten thousand stern-faced miners marched to the cemetery yesterday and placed wreaths upon the tomb of Ferrer. Violent speeches were made by the leaders, who flayed the clericals, charging them with the responsibility of Ferrer's execution.

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Headache five minutes later.
The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.
If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach, to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.
People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.
Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel life is worth living.

Little Men Who Make Big Trouble.

When Nations Have Been Agitated by People Who Are Not Celebrities.

As soon as Parliament meets the papers will be once more full of the Osborne case, and it is already openly prophesied that the Osborne decision may eventually be the means of wrecking the present Government.

Yet Osborne, whose name is in everyone's mouth, is merely a railway porter, doing his duty quietly in a station not far from London, and a year ago no one would have been more surprised than he to hear of the notoriety that was to be his.

At present his name represents a principle. A minority of the Union to which he belongs objected to the use of their contributions towards the Union funds for paying the expenses of Labour M. P.'s. Osborne was put forward by these to make a test case, and this case he won.

The result is that at present none of the great Unions can legally employ Union funds for Parliamentary purposes, and not unaturally there is a strong agitation about to reverse the decision.

Another unknown railway man who recently sprang into sudden prominence was the shunter Goodchild, employed by the North Eastern Railway Company at Gateshead Station.

Holiday Traffic Upset.

Because he refused to be transferred from one part of the town to another, he was suspended. Next day the men demanded his immediate restoration, but the company refused, in spite of the strong words of their own officials, one of them, the Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, the other Mr. Hudson, A. P., between five and six thousand men at once struck work, and the whole great system was thrown into confusion.

The strike caused an enormous sensation, happening as it did in the midst of the holiday season. But the men's own leaders were against them, and within forty-eight hours the strike had collapsed.

One can hardly call Von Veldheim a "little man," for physically he is a giant. Yet his name would have remained as little known by the world at large as tens of millions of others but for the affray which ended in his shooting Wolf Joel in March, 1898.

That shooting and the trial which followed it betrayed the plans of the Outlanders to the Boer Government, and was the direct cause of the Boer War and the loss of many thousands of lives and many millions of money.

French and German at the Same Time.

In connection with the Boer War might be mentioned the name of Charles Macrum, who acted as American Consul at Pretoria at the time of the outbreak of hostilities. Macrum was nobody in particular, but, as it happened, had strong anti-British propensities. He complained to his Government that the British authorities had tampered with his correspondence, and his letters to American papers very nearly got us into trouble with the United States.

Just a year ago every newspaper in France and Germany was full of the name of a humble private soldier named Mans. Mans is the son of German parents, but was born in Paris. Considering himself a German subject, he was called to the colours and served two years in the German army at Metz. Returning to Paris, he was informed that he was a French subject, and must serve his two years' conscription in the French army.

In order to avoid trouble he agreed to do so. For some years afterward Mans attended his annual training in both armies, but last year as it happened, the French and German manoeuvres coincided, and as he was unable to attend both, the truth came out, and was followed by a perfect tempest in the international tea cup.

A Bulgarian Clerk's Love-Affair. It was found that there were many others of doubtful nationality. Like Mans, and the diplomatic correspondence which followed has not yet resulted in any definite decision.

In March last the Bulgarian Government was nearly overthrown simply because a young Bulgarian bank clerk, Jordan Stefanoff, happened to fall in love with a pretty Turkish girl named Saadet Hanum. Saadet's father, being a Mahometan, refused his consent, so Stefanoff ran away with the girl.

Her father appealed to the Turkish Minister at Sofia, and the Bulgarian authorities arrested the girl and lodged her in goal at Rusehuk. At once the whole Mahometan population of the town rose and tried to storm the goal. Stefanoff's friends opposed them more than a score of people were killed, and many injured. Troops had to be called out to quell the riot.

Twenty-five thousand mourners followed the coffin of the dead, and an anti-Turkish demonstration on a huge scale was held all through Bulgaria. Bulgaria and Turkey very nearly came to blows, and the trouble is not yet at an end.—Pearsons' Weekly.

Sirs,—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you could let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. T. A. Celebration.

The T. A. & E. Society celebrated the 120th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Father Matthew, the Apostle of Temperance, at their hall last night. Mr. Ellis, the President, occupied the chair and introduced Rev. Dr. Kitchin, who delivered an address on the life of Father Matthew in which the great work that he had done for the cause of temperance was eulogized. A vote of thanks proposed by ex-President Bates and seconded by Mr. E. M. Jackman was carried unanimously. Mr. J. L. Slattery also made a brief speech appropriate to the occasion. Refreshments were served in the club rooms where songs were rendered by Messrs. Slattery, Coughlan, Spratt, Murphy, Grace and Billings.

Doings at Wabana Mine

OUR IRON ISLE. The shipping season is drawing to a close and by the end of next month enough ore will be shipped to supply the demands of both companies.

The N. S. S. Co. contemplate building a new machine shop 100 x 50 feet, which, when finished, will be a decided advantage to that company.

"The Club" of the staff of both companies in connection with the Technical School is again being revived, and last Saturday an enjoyable evening was spent there.

Miss Ida Doyle has accepted a position in St. John's and will in future reside there. Her many friends of the Iron Isle wish her every success.

On Monday, the 3rd inst., the mail steamer Euphrates could not land at the Cove and mails and passengers had to wait until Tuesday.

The new houses being erected by the companies are nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Messrs. Hannon and Gorman, of Hr. Main, Magistrate O'Toole, Conception Harbor, and Dr. Jones of Avondale, who were here attending the funeral of the late respected Magistrate O'Donnell, left for home Friday evening.

Saturday was observed as a half holiday with the D. I. & S. Co. It was also pay day, and quite a few hundred received their "wear-with-all."

Mr. Edward Kent, an old respected resident of the Island, died last week.

Last week's short storm was severely felt here, the wind blowing directly in the bay.

Messrs. S. Godden and J. Butler, of the D. I. & S. Co. staff, left Saturday to spend the week-end with relatives.

The stockpiles of ore of both companies have greatly diminished during the shipping season, and to the observer viewing them in May and now, there is quite a contrast in size.

The roads are in the same filthy old state, and the only consolation to be had is the exclamation of the old residents saying "twas ever thus."

The Assyrian colony in the new society formed here are doing much good, and we wish to place ourselves on record as being in entire accord with the good work they are doing, and warmly congratulate Messrs. Carbage and Murphy on the good performed in such a short while. We regret that one of our "fellow knights of the pen" should express himself against this move, but there are always obstructionists to every good cause.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

The young man R. Tarrant, who lost his hand at Horwood's Lumber Factory, returned by Thursday's train from St. John's. He speaks highly of the kind treatment accorded him at the Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Tetford arrived by Saturday's express from a month's visit to her son and other relatives at Sydney.

The Trinity whaler Hump, which had secured three whales in the bay, left on Friday with her valuable tow for the factory in Trinity.

Mrs. R. M. Duff and her daughter, Miss Helen, returned by Friday's train from a very pleasant visit to Montreal.

Mr. John Tucker arrived from St. John's on Saturday night and is receiving the hearty congratulations of his numerous friends on having passed such a successful examination and being awarded a Master's Certificate of competency by the Marine Board of Examiners. Shake, Capt. John, and we join with your other friends in wishing you pleasant passages and fair winds wherever your ship is bound.

Miss M. D. Wallace, the popular teacher of Victoria Street School, sang a very pretty solo at the evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday. This young lady has a rich, clear voice, and her solo was very much enjoyed by the congregation, who would like to hear her oftener.

Two hundred and fifty pairs of boots are now being turned out daily at the shoe factory of the Archibald Bros. The output is continually on the increase.

Coal is rather a scarce article in town at present, but Messrs. McRae & Sons are expecting two cargoes this week, with more to follow soon.

Preparations are being made for our agricultural exhibition to be held next week. More interest than usual is being taken in the exhibition this season. Cattle, pigs, &c., have been given a place on the programme, and the affair promises to be very successful.

Mrs. (Dr.) Lehr and her little boy are here from St. John's spending a few days. They are staying at Gordon Lodge.

Messrs. McRae's schr. Ruby with a number of freighters arrived from Long Island on Saturday evening.

The Last of Magistrate O'Donel.

Large Funeral at Bell Island.

On Friday last, at 10 a.m., the funeral procession of our late Magistrate T. P. O'Donel wended its way solemnly and slowly to St. Michael's Church, accompanied by a large following, including the representatives of both companies, shopkeepers, business men, and all the prominent citizens of the Iron Isle, who turned out to pay their last tribute to one whom in life was highly esteemed and respected. Arriving at the church school hall Mass and Office for the dead was sung by Rev. Fr. Kelly, assisted by Rev. Fr. Ashley (Portugal Cove) as Deacon, and Rev. Fr. Wilson (Marystown) as sub-Deacon. The choir dispersed some very fine music and the service was indeed solemn and inspiring, during which many an eye was moist and many a head bowed in fervent prayer for the repose of the soul of him who lay there motionless in the grip of death, and who no later than a few days previous assisted in the same choir. At the conclusion of Mass the burial service was read, when to the singing by the choir of the hymn "Nearer my God to Thee," the procession filed slowly out of the church and wended its way to the village cemetery, where the casket was taken from the hearse by the Knights of Columbus and carried to the grave, where the last respects were paid to Magistrate O'Donel, the body being consigned to Mother Earth, for "dust thou art to dust returneth."—R.I.P.

Workman Injured.

J. Evans had his hand badly injured while working at the F. B. Wood factory last evening. He was putting a cork in a ginger beer bottle when it burst and a piece of glass went into his hand, making a deep gash two inches long. He went to P. O'Mara's drug store and had the wound dressed by a doctor.

Believes Government Officials Should be Given Plenty of Work to Do So as Not to Take Time to Get Sick.

Editor Evening Telegram:

Dear Sir,—My trip to Labrador was a very pleasant one, and I enjoyed very much reading your papers that you kindly sent me. I also received other papers, among them the Bay Roberts Guardian, sent by Uncle Nath. Well, sir, I thought my old sides would split. I laughed so on reading the account of the Guy Celebration in that paper. What a wonderful appetite some people have to be sure. The Guardian said that Professor Peddle of Mosquito had a dinner prepared for 50 people, but Mr. Piccott, the honorable Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and a half a dozen of his friends came along and devoured the lot. It didn't say they were members of the Government, and Tom said he hoped they were not, as people with such appetites as that would be dangerous to have the ruling power.

Dead Island, where I spent part of my picnic, is a very nice place to put in a time, but, Mr. Editor, it is too bad to see poor men—poor fishermen—rowing their heavy craft boats about day after day and getting no fish and at the same time thinking how their little children are to be fed for a long winter; this, too, when the heads of the different departments and lots of their servants are away on long holidays, enjoying the picnics out of the money squeezed in taxes from the bone and sinew of the island—the fishermen. Yes, sir, I am a fisherman's wife, and more than that, I am a fisherman's daughter. I have been rocked in a drudge barrow when a baby, and I have many a time donned my oiled petticoat and

Nerves Were Exhausted

Wants others to know of her remarkable cure by use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD. Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy. Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes,—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted."

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble, and I want others to know about it." In- sistent getting the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cts. a box, 5 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Ed- monson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
