CHAPTER XXXII.

"How?" asked Mr. Saintsbury.
"By Mr. Denby's aid," replied Mr. Selby. "I am going to ask him a few questions. There are several ways of asking questions, but I know of one—it is common property to us lawyers—by which the interrogated is led on to answer more than is asked. For instance, I shall ask Mr. Talbot if he minds my smoking, and shall borrow a match. He will not have one or he will bring out a brand new match box. I shall admire it, remark on its newness, and he will volunteer the statement that he bought it to replace an old one which he lost—he will say a long while ago. Then—he shrugs his shoulders—"well, I shall forget that chain, Miss Veronica. I am going to the Court to see Mr. Talbot. You will say nothing to Mr. Ralph—beg pardon—Lord Denby?"

He had himself driven to Lynne Court and inquired for Mr. Denby.
"Mr. Denby went by the four-thirty. He was called to town on important business, sir," said the butler.

"Bad news?" asked Mr. Selby.
"What a beautiful place you have here! Great responsibility for you! I hope it wasn't bad news?"

The butler shook his head.
"I'm afraid that there—there was something wrong, sir," he said, gravely. "I heard his lordship the earl and Mr. Denby talking, you might say quarrelling, in the library."

Mr. Selby drove back to Halsery and got hold of Mr. Grey, and they went to the station. The sleepy-headed porter said that, yes, Mr. Gibbon and Mr. Denby—he put Gibbon first—had driven up to the station and that they'd gone by the four-thirty. He hadn't seen them get into the train, but Mr. Gibbon had taken the tickets, and of course they would not have taken tickets if they hadn't wanted to go.

Mr. Selby drew Grey aside.
"Wire to Scotland Yard and tell them to keep an eye on Mr. Talbot Denby," he said.

Grey started.
"Surely you don't suspect—" he exclaimed; but at last Mr. Selby got the wire sent off.

Then he went back to Halsery, and shutting himself up in his room went over the case point by point. Presently there came a knock at the door, and thinking it was the servant come to tell him that dinner was ready, he called out:

"Don't want any dinner. Go away!"
But the door opened and Grey came in. He was pale and excited and so breathless that he could scarcely speak.

"There's—there's been an accident!" he stammered.
Mr. Selby frowned impatiently. What were accidents to him, engrossed in the case?

"All right. Send for the doctor—what do you bother me for? Any answer from Scotland Yard yet?"
Grey shook his head desperately.

"No need to wait for that, Mr. Selby. The accident happened to Mr. Talbot Denby!"

Mr. Selby sprang to his feet all alert and interested.
"Mr. Denby?"

"Yes, he was found lying in the coombe below the viaduct. Gordy Wilson's boy found them when he was fetching the cows home."

"Them?" queried Mr. Selby.
"Yes; his man, his valet, Gibbon was lying beside him. In fact, they were lying gripping each other as if—as if they'd been struggling or caught at one another as they fell."

Mr. Selby was reaching for his hat.
"Where are they?" he asked.
"At Lynne Court," replied Grey.
"The boy was frightened—as well he might be!—and ran home screaming. He met some men and, recognizing Mr. Talbot Denby, they carried both to Lynne Court."

"Get a fly!" said Mr. Selby.
"I've got one ready."
"Are they dead?" asked Mr. Selby, as the fly started.
Grey shook his head.

"I can't say—I didn't stop to enquire, but came to you at once."
"Quite right! Hi, stop!"
They were opposite the Roebuck. He ran in and found Veronica. She had heard the news and was pale and oppressed by the tragedy.

"You will come with me?" he said.
"The earl will want you."
For answer she went upstairs and returned to him in a few minutes with her hat and jacket on.

Little was said during the drive. They found the Court in a state of excitement, servants standing in groups in the hall, the butler moving about as if he were unconscious of his actions.

"The earl!" were Veronica's first words.
"In his room, miss. Oh, Miss Veronica, I'm so glad you've come. It's—it's an awful thing."

Veronica went straight to the earl's room. He was sitting in his chair, his face white and drawn, his hands shaking.

"Veronica!" escaped his lips, with evident thankfulness and gratitude at her presence. "I—I am glad you have come!"

She knelt beside him and took his hands in hers.
"Tell me, dear," she murmured. "Is—is he badly injured?"

He looked at her strangely, as if with a grim satisfaction.
"Talbot, you mean? He is dead," he said, solemnly. "He was dead when they found him. His man Gibbon, is alive—as yet. He lies in the adjoining room. Doctor Campbell is there?"

"Talbot dead?" she said. It was hard to believe.
He inclined his head.
"Yes."

"How—how did it happen?" she asked, in a whisper.
He shook his head.
"I cannot tell you. I do not know. I only know how they found them. They must have fallen from the viaduct, but how, I cannot say."

"Mr. Selby is here," she whispered.
"Would—would you like to see him?"
As the earl made a gesture of indifferent assent, Mr. Selby knocked at the door and entered.

"Forgive me, my lord," he said, "but I must ask you to come with me. You are a magistrate, and are needed. I have sent the carriage for Lord Saintsbury, another magistrate—"

The earl, assisted by Veronica, rose, and followed Mr. Selby. They passed the room in which Talbot's shattered body lay and entered the dressing room, to which Gibbon had been carried.

He, too, had been terribly shattered by the fall, but strange to say was still alive, and he lay with his bruised and battered face half covered with bandages, and so death-like that but for the occasional flickering of his eyelids he had all the appearance of a corpse. Doctor Campbell, who was kneeling beside him, administering restoratives, looked up and uttered a sigh of relief.

"Glad you've come, my lord!" he said, in a hushed voice. "He is alive still; he has spoken—just a word. The spine—it is a marvel that he should have lived; he cannot last long. Something seems to worry him, to be on his mind—"

They looked down at the death-

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEX, 501 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

stricken man with silent awe. It was evident that his mind was not at peace, for he moved his head from time to time restlessly, and his lips opened, but only with a moan. After awhile Lord Saintsbury was admitted, went to the earl's side and watched like the rest.

Suddenly Gibbon's eyes opened and, drawing a long breath, he looked round.
"The earl—a magistrate!" he gasped.

Lord Saintsbury came to the bedside and bent down.
"The earl is here. I am a magistrate, too. What is it you want to say, my poor fellow?" he asked.

Gibbon tried to raise himself, but, of course, could not do so.
"He—he did it," he said in a voice strangely mechanical and calm, indeed, almost indifferent. "Put—put me on my oath—there's—there's witnesses here, aren't they?"

"Administer the oath!" said Mr. Selby, in a low and eager voice. "For God's sake, be quick, my lord! You do not know how much depends—"

The oath was administered and, after a painful effort, the dying man managed to gasp out in broken sentences, which would have been inaudible if Lord Saintsbury had not knelt beside him and almost put his ear to the bleeding lips:

"He did it—my master, Mr. Talbot. I followed him to the woods and saw him try and steal the pocket book—"

"Pocket book? What pocket book?" muttered Mr. Selby to himself as he bent over the dying man.

"They fought for it, and Mr. Talbot stabbed him. Then—when he'd gone for the spade—I—I took the pocket book from the body. It's—its—feel in the breast pocket of my coat—"

Mr. Selby felt and clutched the precious object, and Gibbon drew a long breath, as if of relief.

"I've—I've carried it there ever since. I—I know why he did it. I've read the certificates. He—he knew that Ralph Farrington was the earl's son—he—he wanted to rob him. But—with a twist of the battered lips—"I—I spoil his game. You'll find his clothes—his dress clothes—in my box—they're all stained and soiled with the mould. He gave 'em to me—the—the fool!—and they're just as—as he left 'em!"

His voice died away and he struggled for breath; then suddenly he went through the awful scene on the viaduct, repeating almost every word that had passed as if he and Talbot were still face to face.

"Beast!—drunken beast!—dog!—'cur!' He always treated me like that. I was—like the dirt under his feet. I—I hated him, hated him! He used to steal out in an old coat to—to Isaac's gambling place. He was a bad lot, a thorough bad lot. Worse than me—jail—jail-bird as I was!"

There was silence for a moment or two, in which the horrified group about him avoided one another's eyes; then the broken, gasping voice went on:

"Ah, would you—I can see it in your face! There's murder there, as there was the night you killed the man! But I'm—as strong as you, Mr. Talbot! You can't force me over. It's death, death, death! But I'm strong! Oh, God, I'm going! But not alone! No, no! If I go you shall go with me! I'll hold you as the devil himself; I'll hold you when he's taking you to hell with him! I'll hold you— Ah, God, we're over!"

He tried to rise, his arms were flung out, and embraced the empty air with a spasmodic, and awful gesture, the white face was convulsed with a hideous hate and almost as hideous a terror; and when the arms fell they still seemed to strain at some object between them.

With a last effort the wretched man raised his head and, staring straight before him, gasped:

"Together, yes, to-gether! You sha'n't escape! No, no! I'll hang you!—hang you!"

The terrible voice stopped suddenly. Doctor Campbell looked up and quickly drew the sheet over the wreck of a face.

"It is all over," he said.
The earl drew Veronica to him. She was shaking and moaning all unconsciously.

"It is all over!" repeated Doctor Campbell, rather quaveringly. "The man is dead."
"And Lord Denby is cleared!" said Mr. Selby in a low voice, which, for all its gravity, had a note of solemn exultation, as he watched Lord Saintsbury close his note book.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Fashion Plates. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

9994.—A MOST DESIRABLE MODEL. Ladies' "Over All" Apron.

This style covers the dress so well and practically, it may serve in place of a work or house dress. The waist and sleeve portion are cut in one. The skirt has five sections, slightly gored, and is joined to the waist under a belt. The round neck will be cool and comfortable. Gingham, percale, drill, chambray, galatea or lawn are all equally serviceable for this design. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium, and Large. It requires 4 3/4 yards of 36 inch material for a Medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

1020.—A NEAT FROCK FOR THE LITTLE MISS.

Girl's Dress. Brown linen with trimming of red and white striped percale is here shown. The dress closes at the left side front. The body and sleeve is cut in one. The skirt is joined to the waist under a broad belt. The model is desirable for any of this season's pretty dress materials, for percale, gingham, chambray, crepe, lawn, dimity, voile or silk. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires 3 yards of 44 inch material for a 6 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Vigorol

VIGOROL, the Great French Tonic, is opposed to disease; therefore it finds its out and dries it away. Your nerves are toned up. Your bowels made healthy and strong. Your blood purified. The kidneys and liver cleaned. Headaches, biliousness, and that heavy, tired feeling, will go. You will feel like a new person. Don't be fooled—get VIGOROL, and you will never regret it. Sold at all drug stores.

Celebrated Norwegian Jigger

Fishermen should use these Jiggers and rig them with swivels same style as in Norway, then the Jigger acts like a minnow and when spinning attracts the fish, so that instead of jigging they really snap the Jigger and in this manner you never fail to catch them. Ordinary leads can be used, but the Norwegian style seems more simple and easily made. Our fishermen should try this great Norwegian fish killer.

Raising War Funds A Serious Problem.

Ottawa, August 7.—The financial problem of raising war funds is one of the most serious questions confronting the Cabinet. According to the financial statement covering the first four months of the present fiscal year, as issued to-day, there was an increase in the net debt of the Dominion during the past month of no less than $12,492,189. This indicates that even under ordinary conditions expenditures are considerably more than revenue.

The July revenue was $12,321,624, a decrease of over three millions, as compared with July of last year. For the four months the revenue was $46,182,014 or over eleven millions less than for the corresponding period last year. On the other hand expenditures have increased. The expenditure on consolidated fund account for the past four months was $32,704,370, or a little over four millions more than for the same period last year.

With the London money market practically closed, with the treasury empty, with millions to be raised to defray the war expenses, the Government may either have to appeal to New York for a loan, or attempt to raise by an issue of Dominion bonds to be taken up in Canada. There is a possibility that, if necessary, recourse may be had to the Dominion gold reserve held as security against the issue of Dominion notes. The total amount of gold notes thus held is now nearly a hundred millions. Drastic action of this kind, however, will not be taken unless absolutely necessary, and, of course, it could not be taken without the consent of Parliament.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office, its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your Office is moderately and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKER CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percie Johnson represents this world-famous firm in Newfoundland. Telephone 172.

The French Colonies.

France has colonies and dependencies with a total area of 4,500,000 square miles and population of 42,000,000 in Asia, Africa, America and Oceania, the greater portion of them being in Africa, where they have an area of 4,184,401 square miles and a population of 25,681,243. This includes Algeria, which strictly speaking is now regarded as part of France proper, and Tunis, which is attached to the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The other parts are Sahara, Senegal, Upper Senegal and Niger, Guinea, Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Mauritius, Congo, Reunion, Madagascar, Mayotte, Somali Coast.

In Asia France owns 310,176 square miles of territory with a population of 14,773,000. Of this 196 square miles are in India and the remainder is French Indo-China. The Indian possessions consist of the five colonies of Pondichery, Karikal, Chandernagar, Mahe and Yanam. Indo-China is divided into five states, Annam, Cambodia, Cochinchina, Tonkin and Laos.

In America France holds 35,222 square miles with a population of 450,000. Its possessions are Guadeloupe and dependencies, Guiana, Martinique, St. Pierre and Miquelon.

In Russia France owns New Caledonia, Tahiti and several other islands with an area of 3,744 square miles and a population of 81,000.

The total import trade of these foreign possessions in 1912 amounted to about $182,000,000 and the exports to over $15,000,000. Indo-China alone accounted for about one-third of the total trade.

Most of the French colonies enjoy some measure of self government and have elective councils to assist the governor. The other colonies have also direct representation in the French Legislature, Reunion, Martinique and Guadeloupe sending each a senator and two deputies; French India a senator and a deputy and so on. Some only of the colonies have a revenue sufficient for the cost of Administration.

C.L.B. Meeting.

The C. L. B. Battalion, Old Comrades, and ex-members held a meeting at their Armoury last night, about 500 being in attendance. Addresses were delivered by Lt.-Colonel Rendell and Sir Joseph Outerbridge who dealt with the war situation in a patriotic manner and their remarks were received with thunderous applause. Some details as to the volunteer meeting to be held tonight were finalized. The C. L. B. have shown by their enthusiasm that they are ready to uphold their motto: "Fight the Good Fight" should their services be necessary.

Wedding Bells.

RICHARDS—BENSON.

A very pretty wedding took place on July 30th at Hillview, Trinity Bay, when Miss Laura Benson was united in marriage by Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh to Rev. K. G. Richards, stationed during the past year on the Random South Mission. The bride was beautifully attired in a cream satin gown, and was led to the altar by her brother, Mr. Allan G. Benson. After the ceremony the marriage feast was spread, and a great many invited guests sat down to enjoy the good things provided. Miss Benson was highly esteemed by all classes, as was evidenced by the unusually large number of dainty and valuable presents she received. Her place will be very hard to fill, but we join with the many who have given personally or sent felicitations to the happy couple, and wish them every joy as they face their future together.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 12, '14.

In summer time—especially in hot weather like this—a cooling salve is very grateful as a relief to the nervous or sensitive, and in McMurdo's Salve you have just such a thing, something which will put the stomach, liver and bowels in order, clean the tongue and relieve sickness and acidity. If kept well corked this preparation will remain in good condition for an indefinite time. Price 40c. a bottle.

For "Colds out of the heat," Menthol and Eucalyptus Pastilles are of great service, relieving as they do both throat and head symptoms. Price 25c. a box.

Personal.

Mr. M. J. Hillyard, of H. M. Customs, accompanied by his son, W. J. Hillyard, left by the Prospero for the Northward this morning.

Mr. Bert Smith, son of Mr. R. C. Smith, Supt. of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company, has joined the Volunteers at Vancouver, and is now in barracks there awaiting orders.

The many friends of Miss Meaney, telegrapher, will be pleased to hear that she has perfectly recovered from her recent illness, having been released from the Hospital a few days ago. She left by the Prospero to-day for Trinity, where she will spend a holiday.

Mr. H. Noseworthy, of A. H. Murray's employ, is passenger by this evening's train to Carbonear to spend his vacation with his friends there.

ALLAN LINE.—It is thought that the Pomeranian, which was detained from leaving Philadelphia on Saturday last, will sail to-day for this port. The Mongolian left Liverpool on Sunday evening last for this port.

Fishery Reports.

Aug. 8th. From W. Ward (Mosquito Point to Bryant's Cove).—The total catch is 2716 quintals and for last week 255. Fifteen traps, 45 dories, skiffs and boats are fishing. Prospects are not good and bait is scarce, only a little herring being obtainable. The fishermen are of opinion that if they had squid bait much more fish would be caught.

Aug. 8th. From Mr. Hogan (Frasneau to Peter's River).—No bankers or schooners from the grounds have arrived. Prospects for the voyage are not encouraging. The total catch of codfish is 12000 quintals with 500 for last week. No traps are in the water but 35 dories and skiffs and 7 boats are fishing. Little bait can be obtained, herring being scarce. Should bait be secured next week there will be some good catches as codfish is plentiful in this (St. Mary's Bay).

Aug. 8th. From T. McCarthy (Reynolds to Seal Cove).—There is little improvement in the outlook and as the traps did practically nothing this week almost all have been taken up. Ten boats, 22 dories and 33 skiffs are fishing. The total catch is 1640 quintals and for last week, 400.

Parliament Should Meet.

It was somewhat disquieting yesterday to hear that Canadian ports had been closed and that shipping was not allowed to leave. Fortunately, this anxiety did not last long, for the news arrived last evening that Halifax and North Sydney were again open and that steamers bound outward had been allowed to leave.

There should be no delusion about the present struggle. It is a fight to a finish. We must win or be ruined. Our motto throughout the Empire should be the words of Tennyson:—"One Life, One Flag, One Fleet, One Throne, BRITONS! HOLD YOUR OWN." S. O. E. Offer.

Lintrose Passengers.

The Lintrose arrived at Port aux Basques at 6 a.m. to-day with the following passengers in saloon:—Miss H. A. Russell, T. M. Jones, H. W. Colwell, J. C. and Mrs. Colwell, Miss V. Edgeworth, J. The Holiday Bill At the Crescent IS A GOOD ONE.

The two-reel feature "A Possibility" is a provoking comedy in two parts, that will be thoroughly enjoyed. The prediction of what a man is likely to become in future time, is very interesting and should provide a topic for much thought. The feature is a strong production by the I.M.P. caste. "The Village Blacksmith" is a splendid dramatization of Longfellow's famous poem, a grand subject that will please all. "She Wrote a Play" is a genuine Eclair comedy that call for much laughter.

The VERY LATEST

GOVERNMENT BUREAU NEWS—TERRIBLE GERMAN FATALITIES.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, Aug. 11. The New Admiralty and War Office information bureau established by British Government started work this morning. The first announcement was as follows: "About two cavalry divisions are in the neighbourhood of Tongres to the north of Liege. Three German army corps will oppose Liege and other German troops reported entrenched along the line of River Aisne. A large German force is moving through the Duchy of Luxemburg and advance troops are now on Belgian frontier. German cavalry patrols have been reported near Marchin and Arlong. Several individual soldiers belonging to German patrols were captured both in France and Belgium. In all cases they were short of food. The British Consul General at Shanghai, China, reports that no British vessels have been pursued or molested. A report from Hague, Holland, states that public nervousness in that country has been allayed since the publication of Great Britain's attitude respecting the neutrality of Netherlands. It is stated that the Germans lost 8,000 killed before Liege. The forts are still holding out although some smaller forts were captured by the Germans. Bombardment of fortifications by Germans is proceeding without intermission. On one occasion they were apparently silenced but when the German infantry moved advanced to attack a hall of bullets poured into them suddenly and effectively. They retired with heavy loss. The German attackers who are constantly reinforced displayed great courage. It is said 120,000 men of the German army are engaged on the attack of Liege. Refugees from the city describe the conditions as terrible. Many houses are damaged or burned.

BATTLE NOW RAGING.

PARIS, Aug. 11. The biggest battle of the war is now raging south of Mulhausen, in Alsace, where the French Army was forced to retire from the town by advancing Germans. The French are

GERMANS RE-ORGANIZING.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11. An official statement issued to-day says that a British vessel from Montreal to Liverpool, and any ship can sail when she pleases in perfect safety, was the official announcement received from Ottawa by R. S. White, Collector of Customs, this afternoon. THE PATRICIANS. MONTREAL, Aug. 11. The regiment to be raised by Mr. Hamilton Gault for Overseas service, will be known as the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry. The regiment will be 1,000 strong and will be recruited from all over Canada. Mr. Gault saw service in the South African war himself and is now in touch with many veteran soldiers and the command is reported to be one of the most representative in the Canadian contingent. Two units, one each of men and women, known as the Volunteer Aid Detachments of Montreal are being raised under the direction of the Militia Department. The men's unit will include fifty members, and the women's twenty-five members. It

WAR SHIP WRECKAGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11. Wreckage from a British vessel which has been established to have been part of a man of war, was cast up by the early flood tide in the neighborhood of the South Shore Life-Saving Station. OTTAWA, Aug. 11. The Naval Department here says that if the wreckage cast up at San Francisco is part of a British war vessel, it is probably from the Sherwater or Algerine, two small British gunboats as the cruiser Rainbow has been sighted off Vancouver Island. RUSSIAN VICTORY. ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 11. An official announcement that Russian troops had invaded Austria and defeated Austrian advance guards, was made by the War Office to-day. NOT LOSING MUCH. LONDON, Aug. 11. The Cunard Line has not suffered as much financially as might be supposed because of the lying up of the Mauretania at Halifax and the taking over of her and the Lusitania, now close to Liverpool, as scout cruisers and troop ships for the Royal Reserve. Both these ships were built by the Cunard Co., from loans from the British Government and receives an annual subvention of $750,000 both as mail carriers and naval reserve ships. This more than paid the interest on the loan, meanwhile the liners cleaned up nice profits from the British Government which will more than make up the loss of business in west bound passenger traffic. BAY BULLS PARTY.—The Garden Party at Bay Bulls, in aid of the church fund there, will come off on Sunday next.

11.50 A.M. French Forces Suffer a Serious Check.

RUSSIANS BEAT AUSTRIANS. Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, To-Day. Two salient points emerge from the latest news of the great war. The first most striking is what is described here as a silent victory. This applies to the fact that the North Sea, over which almost an absolute silence brooded so long, is now open to shipping without serious danger, the steamship service from Denmark, London, Newcastle and Norway being resumed, while steamship services between the Hook of Holland and Harwich have suffered no interruption. These facts in the opinion of the authorities here imply that the German fleet for the time being is safely held in check. The second point is that the French have been obliged to evacuate Muelhausen and occupy new positions outside the town. According to German reports, this was the first important battle of the campaign with the French, who had 55,000 men and suffered a serious check. The Belgium position shows little change. A great battle is expected somewhere on the line between Thionville and Liege, between German, French and Belgians. It is thought probable it will take place within a few days. The Germans have occupied Tongress and reported have captured a railway station 24 miles from the Liege outpost. Affairs of no great importance are reported on numerous frontier points. Many nations are engaged in the war, but except in Belgium no great battle is likely for some time to come. A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Paris says the correspondent learns from reliable sources that the Russians obtained important victory over the Austrians, capturing many prisoners and war materials. The scene of battle is not disclosed. MUSLIMS, chiffons and volles have never been so pretty as now, and they come in dark as well as light color.

Graphic Story of Fight with German Submarine.

Special to Evening Telegram. EDINBURGH, To-day. The Scotsman prints a story of an eye witness of the naval battle between the British cruiser, and the German submarines in which submarine U. 15 was lost. The Cruise squadron on Sunday, so the story runs, suddenly became aware of the approach of a submarine flotilla of the enemy which was submerged, only the periscope showing above surface of water. The attitude of the British in face of this attack was cool and the enemy was utterly misled, when suddenly the cruiser Birmingham stooping full speed fired the first shot. This shot was carefully aimed, not at the submerged body of submarine, but at the thin line of the periscope. The gunnery was superbly accurate. Thereupon submarine now a blinded thing rushed along under water in imminent danger of self destruction from collision with cruisers above. The sightless submarine was then forced to come to the surface, whereupon the Birmingham's gunnery fired the second shot of fight. This shot struck the base of the conning tower ripping the whole upper structure clean and the U. 15 sank like a stone. The remainder of the submarine flotilla fled.

RUSSIAN FLEET SCOURING THE BALTIC.

LONDON, To-day. A St. Petersburg despatch to the Post says the Russian fleet is actively scouring the Baltic sea and twenty captured merchant vessels have been taken to Cronstadt. The crews have been removed to the interior as prisoners of war. GERMANS EATING DOG. LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Brussels states the German soldiers at Liege are so famished that they are offering as high as 25 cents a pound for dog flesh.

ADMIRALTY NEWS.

LONDON, To-day. The Admiralty War Office Information Bureau gave out the following last night: There is good reason to believe the German cruisers Breslau and Goeben have taken refuge in the Dardanelles and will be dealt with according to international usage. There is good reason to believe the mass of German troops on the Western German frontier are distributed between Thionville, a fortified town of Lorraine 17 miles north of Metz and Liege, and that Lorraine is held comparatively lightly further south. There is every indication that Austrians have entered Alsace. It is believed the forts at Liege have not been taken.

GERMANS FAILED IN ATTACK ON FRENCH.

PARIS, To-day. According to late advices, Germans made a determined attempt to take the position occupied by the French outside Muelhausen, but failed. The Germans did not re-enter the town.

GERMANS TEN TO ONE.

LONDON, To-day. A correspondent of the Standard at Brussels says all twelve forts surrounded in Liege remain intact, each fort thus far has been able to resist the attacks of German force, although outnumbered ten to one at every fort. The forts are being shelled day and night. Artillery action is followed repeatedly, by daring infantry attacks.

GERMANS OCCUPY BELGIAN TOWN.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, Aug. 11. The Paris correspondent of the Exchange says a despatch from Maastricht, Netherlands, announces that the Germans occupy Tongres, a town ten miles north of Liege. The place was abandoned by the Belgians. German engineers are engaged in constructing a second bridge across the river.

CHOLERA PRECAUTIONS AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. Cable advices from Vienna stating that cholera has developed among the Serbian and Austrian troops, say precautions are being taken at this port to prevent the disease from gaining a foothold in this country. Dr. J. O'Connell, Health Officer of the port, announced to-day special inspection would be made of passengers from Mediterranean ports and from France.

WAR AFFECTS WEATHER FORECASTS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. Through failure of British and German vessels to report weather conditions at sea because of fear that their location would be determined and forwarded by wireless to hostile cruisers the weather bureau was unable to give notice of West Indian hurricane. The telegraph bulletin issued daily for benefit of merchant marine practically useless.

RAILROAD BANKRUPT.

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 11. The International and Great Northern Railway placed in receivership here late yesterday by United States Judge Burns, who appointed Captain James A. Baker, H. O. Sten and Col. Cecil A. Lyon, of Sherman, receivers, under bonds of $50,000. Each receiver's salary was at the instance of Holders of $11,000,000 short term notes which were secured by issue of $13,000,000 first refunding mortgage bonds held by the Central Trust of New York.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WOODROW WILSON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. Simplicity marked the funeral of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson here to-day. In deference to wishes of President the exercises were brief. There was a forty minutes' service first in the Presbyterian Church where Mrs. Wilson's father, Rev. Dr. Edward Saxon, was pastor for 17 years, and even a shorter ceremony at Myrtle Hill Cemetery. Because of the limited capacity of the church, only members of the family and close friends were invited to be present.

BRITISH SHIPPING PRACTICALLY SAFE ON ATLANTIC.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. According to Tribune, British shipping which enjoys practically the freedom of the Atlantic, is not losing a great deal by the European war. The Vaterland which cost the Hamburg-American line $10,000,000 is lying idle at the pier in Hoboken with no prospects of leaving port. The losses arising from inactivity in carrying a great volume of business that has been optioned her by the travellers of the world is enormous. This loss from the stagnation of German commerce which is caused by British present control of the sea applies to all German carriers that are hugging close to neutral ports. From records of the last two weeks it is clearly demonstrated, say Marine authorities, that British merchantmen are at liberty to go where they please without interference from German cruisers.

BELGIAN FORTS SHATTER GERMAN BRIDGE.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11. The bridge on which the Germans were crossing was shattered by the fire of forts which had the exact range. The Germans attempted an assault with great courage. Some dead were found directly in front of barb wire fences which surround the forts. It is reported Prince William, of Lippe, and son were killed, charging at the head of German soldiers and their bodies were buried near the fort. A bulletin of the London News despatch from Brussels says it is officially announced there that the German loss at Belgium in recent fighting was 2,000 dead, 20,000 wounded and 9,000 prisoners.

GERMAN AIRSHIP DESTROYED.

LONDON, Aug. 11. A despatch to the Standard from St Petersburg says a small German airship, Parseval type, was riddled with shot and brought to ground near Seentouchowant, Russian Poland, and forthwith expended $240 on food as they were hungry. A bulletin from Paris, says the French troops defeated the Germans in a battle at Aspincourt. This is the first battle on French territory.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

LONDON, Aug. 11. The Pekin correspondent of the Times telegraphed as follows: As to influence to protect China from warlike activities of other nations, Japan stated that her attitude depended on the result of British campaign. The time was not ripe to consider China's proposal it said. The United States avoided committing herself.

BULGARIA NEUTRAL.

Premier Radoslawoff announced that Bulgaria was determined to observe the strictest neutrality, but must take measures to repulse violation of the frontiers.

HOLLAND NEUTRAL.

LONDON, Aug. 11. A despatch from Brussels to the Times says that it is rumored there that Germans are massing a large force on Dutch frontier. Replying to questions, the Dutch Minister declared to Belgium that whatever happens Holland would maintain neutrality.

SIGHTED NO WARSHIPS IN NORTH SEA.

LONDON, Aug. 11. A correspondent of the Daily Mail at Copenhagen telegraphs under yesterday's date that an export route provision steamer from Denmark to England reported the steamer Konstantin from Grimsby and steamer Empress, from Newcastle, arrived at Esbjerg. Both captains stated they had sighted no warships in North Sea.

FORCED GERMAN CAVALRY TO RETREAT.

PARIS, Aug. 11. It is officially announced that French troops around the Spinsourt department of Meuse forced the German cavalry to retreat, although the latter was supported by artillery. The unloading of troops from trains continues in region of Gerolstein but the principal landings occupied earlier in the rear of Metz and Thiedville. French aviators are constantly flying over the scenes where the German troops are disposed without paying the slightest attention to bursting shells of enemy. An official communication concludes with the statement that the work of fortifying Luxemburg and the south of Metz is completed by the Germans.

GERMAN AND FRENCH SKIRMISHING.

PARIS, Aug. 11. A large force of Germans on Sunday night, attacked the French advance guard which pushed forward to Muelhasen. Before this attack the Commander of the French troops quit Muelhasen and assembled his troops in the rear of the town and quickly placed his forces in fighting line and stopped the advance of Germans, who, according to French reports were in superior numbers. The actions of the French, it is declared, have been brilliant and it is claimed remain masters of Northern Alsace. There have been numerous movements of German troops towards Morhange, twenty miles southeast of Metz and in the region of Blomstein in Meurthe Moselle. An attack on Rogivillers and Hablinville was attempted by the Germans but failed, because the French were supported by cannon from Mannion and Viellers.

FRENCH TROOPS DEFEAT GERMANS.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11. Lesoir says the German Uhlans took $3,520 from the Town Treasury and Post Office at Tongres, and forthwith expended $240 on food as they were hungry. A bulletin from Paris, says the French troops defeated the Germans in a battle at Aspincourt. This is the first battle on French territory.

LONDON, Aug. 11. A despatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam, says the Holland-American Steamship Line has placed their large premises at the Hook of Holland at the disposal of the Dutch Red Cross with a special view to need in the event of a naval battle in the North Sea.

BRITISH CAPTURE WIRELESS STATION.

LONDON, Aug. 11. With the capture by the British of Togoland, a German Colonial possession in Western Africa, one of the largest wireless stations in the world was acquired. The plant has a radius of communication of 3,000 miles.

MARTIAL LAW IN PARIS.

PARIS, Aug. 11. Martial law has been more rigorously enforced in this city daily. The authorities are particularly anxious to prevent the escape of important news and frequently take precaution of stopping telephone wires and calls which must now be made only in French. It is explained that this insistence upon the use of a language familiar to the police is made necessary by the fact that suspected Germans were in the habit of telephoning in English.

SWISS AND GERMAN TROOPS ON FRONTIER.

LONDON, Aug. 11. Daily Mail advices from Basel, Switzerland, state that Swiss and German troops are close to the frontier and within a few yards of each other near Basel. The Germans have built barricades across all roads leading across the frontier, but considerable bodies of troops are being sent to Ticino Guld, the Italian frontier.

GERMANS DISPIRITED.

LONDON, Aug. 11. A despatch from Charleroi, Belgium, describes the fighting of the Germans as altogether lacking spirit, even officers suffering hunger, according to correspondent, who adds two German officers of high rank captured on the French frontier said they had nothing to eat for three days.

STATE OF WAR IN PARTS OF HOLLAND.

HAGUE, Netherlands, via London, Aug. 11. A Royal decree published in the official Gazette here to-day proclaimed a state of war in the Dutch Provinces of Limburg, north Brabant, Zealand and some parts of Gerderland, south River Wawal.

MARTIAL LAW IN BULGARIA.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 11. A state of war is proclaimed throughout Bulgaria in order to enable the Government to prepare and guard the frontier against violations.

HOSTAGES RELEASED.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11. King Albert arrived here during the night from the general headquarters of the Belgian army at Louvain, north west of Liege. His Majesty passed several hours in conference with the Belgian Minister of War, after which a Cabinet Council was held. It is reported here that civilian hostages held by Germans in the town of Liege have been released, giving their parole to remain at the disposition of the German authorities.

BRITISH CRUISER OFF NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. A British cruiser, believed to be the Essex, suddenly appeared at the entrance of New York harbor this morning. She was sighted off the Highlands of Sandy Hook about 10.30 o'clock apparently bound in, but within a mile and a half of harbor she abruptly changed her course and steamed eastward.

RELATIONS STRAINED.

LONDON, Aug. 11. According to a correspondent from Rome to the Morning Post, the relations between Italy and Austria are becoming more strained. Italy demanded an explanation of the bombardment of the establishment of the Fialla Company at Antivari, Montenegro, over which the Italian flag floats, and in which there were Italians.

THE HOUR OF REVENGE HAS STRUCK.

PARIS, Aug. 11. Grape festoons, which for forty years hung on a monument of the City of Strassburg, capital of Alsace-Lorraine, and which stands in the Place de la Concorde, were torn down to-day and replaced by flowers and palm branches, while a tricolor sash was draped about the figure. The ceremony was conducted by 2,000 members of the Federation Alsacienne societies in Paris. Joseph Satsboff, Mayor of the Eighth Arrondissement embraced the statue. Then addressing the gathering said: "The hour of revenge for which we have prayed unceasingly for forty-four years, has at last struck. The French army is in Alsace. Red trousers are again seen on our plains and mountains; gay buglers of France sounded the charge at Altkirch and Muelhasen." There were few who were not in tears. When the speaker concluded, the singing of the Marseillaise followed, and cheers for Belgium, Russia and England ended the ceremony.

LUSITANIA REPORTED OFF FASTNET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. The Cunard liner Lusitania left here at 1 o'clock last Wednesday morning for a dash across the Atlantic, reached the Fastnet, approximately 300 miles from Liverpool, between 8 and 10 o'clock this morning. The Cunard line officials announced they had received cable advices from Liverpool to that effect to-day. She should reach Liverpool to-night.

PARIS, Aug. 11.

Berlin newspapers are printing stories to the effect that Paris is in a complete state of anarchy, that France is having a hard time mobilizing troops, that Russia faces a crisis because of open revolt in Poland, that Japan is siding with Germany by throwing troops in Siberia, according to a number of Swiss people who arrived to-day from Berne.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11.

One of the spies arrested by Belgians at Ostend had possession of plans indicating the halting points of the German army on the march through Belgium.

Divorced Life

By Helen Hanson Fuesler

Jealousy

"Back again," sighed Marian, as she entered her room at the boarding house and paused before the mirror to glance at her wind-tumbled hair after her drive with Meadows. She knew she would have to hurry to reach the dining room before it closed, and already she regretted poignantly that she had refused to take dinner with Meadows, who had proposed going to one of the pleasant cafes where he was in the habit of eating. An odd feeling of perversity, mingled with an indefinable gloom had forced her to refuse to go.

"Cheer up, your little fool," she said, addressing her disconsolate reflection in the mirror, then turned abruptly, and made ready for the dinner downstairs for which she was anything but in the mood.

Had Marian been truthful with herself, she would have been compelled to admit that she cared a great deal more for the droll youth than she had ever confessed to herself.

Otherwise why would his announcement of his approaching marriage have filled her with dull dissatisfaction? Three or four years her junior, Jack Meadows had nevertheless laid strong hold of her interest. Had she been more of an analyst, she might have traced her emotions toward him to a certain indifference which marked his attitude toward her, that is to say a sentimental indifference, a sex indifference. He accepted her on the same basis that he would have accepted the warm friendliness of another young man, and had sought her out during the brief space of their acquaintance with a frank, blunt, naivety which had charmed and held her. For those reasons he had won her trust, as no other man had ever been able to do in similar degree.

Marian had been unaware that her interest in the other was drifting inevitably into the territories of gentle affection. She knew it now because of the unreasoning and instinctive jealousy of his fiancée which filled and depressed her.

"I was afraid we were not going to see anything of you to-night," said Miss Barker wickedly, as Marian took her place a little later in the dining room. "I thought that fairy prince of yours had whisked you away for the rest of the day."

"Oh, no, it was just a little drive for a breath of fresh air," replied Marian, with an effort to appear casual and cheerful.

"You're in luck," smiled Barker cordially. "Sister and I have been out for a most plebeian walk this afternoon."

Marian gazed into Barker's brown eyes, the same brown eyes which had made a sort of thrilling impression upon her that evening she had first looked into them, but to-night she compared them dreamily with the eyes of the rich young man, and found them dull and unmagmatic.

Glad to escape at length from the dining room, Marian started for her room. On her way upstairs, Miss Barker caught up with her and put her arm around her. "You're all out of sorts to-night, poor girl," she said. "Is there anything I can do? Would you care for a little fling at bridge?"

"I think not, thank you," answered Marian with a grateful smile. "But I wish you'd come up to my room, if you will. I want to talk to someone."

"I'm the merry mother-confessor," rejoined Miss Barker laughingly.

They entered Marian's room and closed the door.

"Cheer up, your little fool," she said, addressing her disconsolate reflection in the mirror.

"Sit down," commanded Marian in a business-like way. "Take that rocking-chair. It's softer. Now, what I want to know is this? Why does a woman continue to make a sentimental fool of herself, even after she has learned practically all the lessons in the catalogue?"

"Because we're women," answered Miss Barker seriously. "Because our instincts have been taught by generations of ancestresses to play the game with our sentiments instead of with our brains. On with the details of the confession! This is interesting."

Some Continental Armies involved.

FRENCH ARMY

The French Army is organized in twenty-one corps for service in Europe, while it has one additional corps in Algeria. The peace strength is 730,000 men; the war strength is probably four millions. The troops are remarkable for their dash and spirit and marching power; they show extraordinary initiative. The artillery is beyond question the best on the Continent and has received such perfect training with its powerful quick-firing gun that it could be trusted to work magnificently in the field. There is a weakness in heavy artillery. The mobilization is calculated to take twelve hours less than in Germany, so that the French troops should be ready first. The rifle is the Lebel of 31 calibre, a good but somewhat antiquated weapon; the field gun is a 3 inch weapon.

GERMAN ARMY

The Russian Army is organized in twenty-five army corps (each about 40,000 strong), with a number of cavalry divisions. On the peace footing it has a strength of 814,000 men; on the war footing five million men can be placed in the field. It has served as the model for Europe and is organized with extreme care. From the fighting standpoint, however, its methods are regarded as antiquated by critics who have seen it at its manoeuvres. The infantry are armed with the Mauser rifle of 311 calibre; the artillery with a Krupp quick-firer, discharging a 15 lb. shell. The weapon is distinctly inferior to the French gun, and the German artillerymen have not the same skill in using it which has been attained by the French. The mobilization is more rapid than that of any other Power except France. In rather less than nine days the entire force can be placed on either frontier.

RUSSIAN ARMY

The Russian Army is organized in twenty-seven army corps, each from 40,000 to 50,000 strong. On the peace footing its strength is enormous, 1,500,000 men, and the number of trained men who can be called up in war is practically unlimited. Its defect is the extreme slowness of its mobilization, owing to the vast distances which have to be covered. Thus it is commonly calculated in France that the Russian forces will not be able to take the field in full strength for three weeks and perhaps more. There is also a deficiency of skilled officers. But no army has made such progress in recent years and none has troops of more superb fighting quality. Borodino and the battles of the Japanese War proved that while Russian troops may be forced back with immense slaughter, they cannot be decisively defeated. The rifle is of 3 calibre; the artillery are armed with an excellent quick-firer which discharges a 13 1/2 lb shell.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN ARMY

The Austro-Hungarian Army is organized in sixteen army corps. Its peace strength has recently, perhaps in view of action against Serbia, been raised from 400,000 to 500,000 officers and men. The field force consists of 467 battalions of infantry (each about 1,200 men); 252 squadrons of cavalry (each about 160 men); 210 batteries

The Cause of Italy's Neutrality.

Although the old tribal instinct of race destruction is sufficiently strong to dominate whenever the passions of war are aroused, there are forces and influences at work tending slowly to weaken its temporary rule. In Italy sons of the men who would have made a deadly attack on the French, the Russians, the Germans, the British, or any other people they did not know, at the instance of leaders they had never seen, are asking why they should be expected to fight other people's battles. War is tribal, and the philosophy of the individualist is at variance with it. Italian Socialist leaders declare that they will not fight the French in aid of Germany, and threaten the Government with violent opposition if any such project is attempted. They hold over the government a threat of a revolution that will upset the existing order of things if one man is sent to fight at public expense. The united front of the old tribal impulse is no longer assured. The instance impelling the clan to fight as a unit, to kill or be killed, to sink all personal interests and individual rights when chief quarrels with chief, is being modified by changing conditions and new influences.

The Italian Socialist refuses to fight a French Socialist on the assurance of elected representatives that diplomatic entanglements make it incumbent. He claims the right to decide the matter for himself, and individual initiative and determination are incompatible with national military strength. The age of unquestioned obedience is past in all civilized countries. In the mind of the Italian Socialist the collective organization of industry and commerce looms larger than the destruction of men of another race by armed attack. He does not juggle with flowing, hackneyed words and sentences inseparably associated with classical delusions about the glories of war. He describes carnage in words that show a conception of realities and an independent personal judgment as to values and relationships. In spite of this the ancient tribal impulse is strong enough to make a modern nation rush into war with no thought but that of victory. It would be unwise, however, to ignore the changes of a generation in mental attitude and personal outlook.—Toronto Globe.

When first our team began to play, the bleachers gasped and wondered, at feats performed by Jimmie Jay, who hit around four hundred. Time after time he smothered the ball across the left field fence, and over the foemen cast a pall, and chilled and dulled their senses. Ah, Jimmie was our idol then, our pride, our hero; compared with him all other men stacked up to less than zero. We felt quite honored when he smiled, in answer to our greeting; upon his brow the wreaths were piled—alas, that fame is fleeting! For Jimmie took an awful slump, and he became a vandal; he couldn't hit the village pump if he had grabbed the handle. Time after time he stood and fanned, when men were on the bases, and oh, the things we used to hand poor Jimmie, from our faces! "You bonehead farmer, where's your eye? Why don't you hit the leather? Go, crawl into a hole and die!" we used to shout together. His past achievements all ignored, we turned down thumbs and banded him; at last the bleachers were so bored, the manager just canned him. How fickle is the human mob! To-day it calls you darling; to-morrow it will call you slob, and daunt you with its snarling.

Do It Now!

Fling out the grand old Union Jack. The Hero-Flag that flew Triumphant in Trafalgar Bay, Sublime at Waterloo! Rest not content with ancient fame, TO-DAY to deeds go forth. That will redound to Britain's name, "To Nelson and the North!"

When first the banner of the brave Its folds upon the breezes gave, 'Twas Newfoundland that saw it wave Her shores above. Now, shall we stand with coward hand Or show our love?

Not out from every bight and bay Her manhood joins that flag to-day. With hearts that will not brook delay, And loyal shout. Ten hundred men are marching in From North and South!

From East and West, there's many a crew Of able lads and loyal too, Champions of the Red, White and Blue; In courage strong; Who'll throw their might into the fight Against the wrong.

The wrong that greed and malice buried Upon our unsuspecting world. That war's destructive flag unfurled In wilful mood; With frenzied hand drenched sea and land In tears and blood!

Practice vs. Preaching.

By RUTH CAMERON.

The little boy sidled up to his mother, put his arm about her neck and shyly whispered to her. His mother listened, then laughed. "What do you suppose he says?" she asked her caller. "He says he thinks you are a very pretty lady and he wishes you would come here to live."

The caller laughed, too, and the little boy in the glare of this unwelcome publicity ran away and hid his head in a sofa pillow in an agony of embarrassment.

What a strange surprising world this must seem to little people, and what strange incalculable creatures big folks must appear to them.

And how hard it must be for them to learn principles of right and honor and justice when that which is taught them as principle is so often contradicted in action.

The little boy will be taught some day that it is honorable to respect a confidence but long before that time he will have learned that those who teach him do not always respect his confidences.

A child's whisper should be as sacred as a grown man or woman's guarded confidence. A whisper is the child's way of saying, "Please keep this to yourself." And yet again and again, I have heard mothers answer a child's whispered request in a loud tone which shared the matter with everyone within hearing, or as this mother did, promptly betray some whispered confidence for the amusement of her guest.

Again what idea of honor and right must a child get who hears his sacred feelings made the subject of jest, if once knew a little girl of eight who confided in her mother her deep admiration for a certain small member of the opposite sex. The mother thought this youthful love affair hugely amusing and promptly told everyone about it. It would be hard to make anybody who does not keenly remember his own childhood realize how that little girl suffered when she heard people joking about a feeling that to her was sacred.

Again the injustice which even intelligent parents show in punishing not according to the red heinousness, but according to the inconvenience it causes them, must give children strange ideas of justice.

Parent and child is the only relationship between which corporal punishment is permitted in this country. A master cannot strike his servant; a mistress may not lay the tip of her finger on her maid. The right to use brute force is a dangerous power. It tends to breed lack of self control in the ruler and rebellion, or fear, sycophancy and deceit in the one governed.

Of course the fact that there is a bond of strong natural love between parents and children curbs the power and lessens the danger. Nevertheless many a child has learned the wicked lesson that might makes right from unjust punishment.

Do not think it does not matter whether you are just and honorable to the child because it does not understand these qualities. It matters very much indeed.

"He who helps a child," says Phillips Brooks, "helps humanity with a distinctness and an immediateness which no other help given to human creatures in any other stage of their human life can possibly give." And the opposite is true of him who, failing to be honorable and just toward the little folks, harms a child.

Ruth Cameron

To stop nose-bleed, roll a piece of quite soft paper in a very hard knot and pack hard between the upper lip and the gum. Let it remain a few minutes and the bleeding will stop. It may have to be renewed once or twice in the case of obstinate bleeding, but it will be effective.

CONGENIAL WORK

And Strength to Perform It.
A person in good health is likely to have a genial disposition, ambition, and enjoy work.
On the other hand, if the digestive organs have been upset by wrong food, work becomes drudgery.
"Until recently," writes a Western girl, "I was a railroad stenographer, which means full work every day."
"Like many other girls alone in a large city, I lived at a boarding house. For breakfast it was mush, greasy meat, soggy cakes, black coffee, etc."
"After a few months of this diet I used to feel sleepy and heavy in the mornings. My work seemed a terrible effort, and I thought the work was to blame—too arduous."
"At home I had heard my father speak of a young fellow who went long distances in the cold on Grape-Nuts and cream and nothing more for breakfast."
"I concluded if it would tide him over a morning's heavy work, it would help me, so on my way home one night I bought a package and next morning I had Grape-Nuts and milk for breakfast."
"I stuck to Grape-Nuts, and in less than two weeks I noticed improvement. I remember I used to walk the 12 blocks to business and knew how good it was simply to live."
"As to my work—well, did you ever feel the delight of having congenial work and the strength to perform it? That's how I felt I truly believe there's life and vigor in every grain of Grape-Nuts."
Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Dizzy Headaches Cured in One Night.

If Troubled With Head Fullness, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach is at Fault.

Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away, and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would still be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made strong, ruddy, and healthy, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

"MRS. B. C. CURRAN, Westport P. O."

Thousands who are in an ailing, low state of health need nothing else but Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or the Cattaraugus Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Alaska.

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Sivash"

Alaska is a large territory which the United States once bought for a white elephant and which has since turned out to be the whole show. The continent of North America sticks up into the frost-bitten north a tremendous and useless distance and Alaska comprises its northwest end. Russia discovered this land almost 200 years ago and used it as a cold storage plant until about 50 years ago, when it sold the whole thing to the United States for $7,200,000. If the Government had bought a peach orchard in Greenland it could not have been more severely criticised. Yet Alaska not only pays all its expenses each year, but it ships about $20,000,000 worth of gold and other products annually and a strong man with a pick can dig a fortune out of it in a single winter—if he digs in the right place.

Alaska is as large as the whole Mississippi Valley. It has 600,000 square miles and is 1,500 miles long and 900 miles wide from tip to tip. Its southern coast is broken into several thousand islands and the warm Japan current makes it possible to raise wheat, strawberries, and real estate agents in great profusion. As we go north in Alaska, however, the climate becomes more cold and distant, like a Massachusetts senator, until when the north coast is reached at 71 latitude the thermometer frequently falls to 65 and the settler who wishes to put in his spring potatoes has to dig down about 50 feet to get below the frost line.

Alaska is richly supplied with big things. It has the highest mountain on the North American continent, the most violent volcanoes in the United States and the greatest glaciers in the world. The Yukon river which flows through the middle of Alaska is fifteen hundred miles long and contains five times as many steamboats as the Mississippi. Gold, copper, coal, lumber, salmon, seals, oil and fur-bearing animals are all so plentiful throughout the country that some day the United States may be able to rest in the shade while Alaska produces the national wherewithal.

With all its riches, Alaska contains only 64,000 people, an increase of 800 in 10 years. This is because it is so far from the market. There are a few railroads in Alaska but there are no trusts. With great exertions Congress saved the territory from being Guggenheims a few years ago and hasn't decided what to do with it since then.

Before long the United States will build its first National railroad through Alaska and the patriot with the frost-bitten ears will be allowed to stake claims wherever the staking is good on payment of a small royalty to the government for mineral and timber rights. Then Alaska will become the Scandinavia of America and cities as large as Seattle will adorn its seacoast. Those who wish to buy corner lots, however, should not purchase of the first gentlemanly agent who appears.

Household Notes

To prevent fern fronds from turning yellow, water them in the following way: Fill a tub with water to the depth of two inches, place the ferns in this and allow them to remain until the soil has absorbed all it requires. The chill should be taken from the water first, but on no account pour water on the top of the fern.

Pineapple should be thoroughly washed before it is sliced. There is a great quantity of dust collected on the rough outer surface, and a good deal of this will naturally get into the dish that is being prepared. This rule of washing also applies to grape fruit, oranges, in fact, any fruit that cannot be washed after it is prepared.

This is the time to plant your flower seeds for next year's new flower beds. Prepare the soil in a shady place, drop the seeds in and dust a little earth over them let them remain in the ground all winter, covering them with a little manure in the fall. In the spring you will have a bed of nice little plants ready for transplanting. This applies to perennials only.

When you have made more ice cream than the family can eat, try the following method: Take it out of the can, put it into a vessel of china or earthen ware and place it in the ice chest. In the morning add a little fresh cream and freeze it over again. It will be like fresh frozen cream and will have required less labor and ice than keeping the frozen cream re-frozen.

It is about time to make cuttings from geranium plants. Fill the pots with fresh loam and soil mixed with a little sand to keep it from caking. The cuttings should be made from strong healthy shoots about four or five inches long. Place them in the pot to the depth of an inch and a half, press the soil firmly around the cutting and place in the shade until the roots form. Water sufficiently to keep the earth moistened, but not wet and soggy.

"My Lady's Room."
 NEVER was furniture of any kind, or at any period, more beautiful, comfortable, thoroughly attractive and well-made, or more eminently adapted to its own special use, than is the furniture of to-day. This is remarkably noticeable in some of the elegant articles that are made for the refined woman's use. We are showing examples in the handsome Writing Desks for Ladies we have on view this week.
 ¶ These Desks are specially designed for daintiness and comfort, they are of Bird's-eye Maple, Mahogany, Circassian Walnut, Quartered, Fumed and Weathered Oak, also in early English finish; all have chairs en suite.
 ¶ These Desks are suitable for drawing-room, boudoir, or sitting-room, in fact, used in any room they make writing a pleasure.
