The present German Government do not seem to recognize that the fate of German Colonies taken in the war is no longer in their hands.

From Russia comes press reports of horrible and unspeakable brutalities by Bolshevists, who now number sailors among their adherents the cruelties of these being in excess of any perpetrated by the military element. Dr. William Chapin Huntington, formerly Commercial Attache to the American Embassy in Petrograd, who was called to give evidence before the United States Senate Committee, investigating Bol-Bolshevism as it exists in the American Union, said that the crimes of this organization in Russia have not 5220-Private Wm. J. Piercey, 3023, been in the slightest degree exaggerated, even by those people who made the most appalling reports about Moses Muise, 4252-Private Bramthem. His testimony confirmed the some Stride reports already received, and it was based not only upon official documents but on personal observation According to Dr. Huntington, Bolshevism is organized murder and theft, and perhaps it is this which makes it so attractive to the thousands and millions in Russia, who have been so long enslaved and kept in the subjection of poverty and misery. Bolshevism, which had its origin in Germany has spread rapidly over all the late despotic countries of Europe. Russia was fertile soil, but the seed sown there by the German agents has been blown back and the growth of the Bolshevik movement in the country of our late, and who knows if not at present—enemy has been influenced and fostered by those who desire a return of the Hohenzollerns and the restoration of that autocratic and bloodstained house. Of all the miseries brought upon other countries by Germany. none perhaps are so great as those at present produced within her borders by the spread of Bolshevism which has proved itself a boomerang.

Her greatest loss at this time was her relegation of the Blessed Sacrament from its right position in the public worship of the Church to an inferior position and the substitution of Morning Prayer in its place. The lecturer then dealt with another serious blow at the National Church; this one came from a different quarter altogether, from Puritanism. It was shown how John Knox, having become an ardent disciple of Calvin at Geneva, returned from the continent and gained control of the Scotch Church, introducing therein the presbyter form of government to the exclusion of the Catholic and ancient Episcopate: and how, in the reign of James I., the Puritans attempted, but gained considerable influence in Parliament and were more inclined to obtain control of the Church than to deal with matters pertaining to the civil affairs of the Kingdom. Charles was able at first to deal with this efficient business methods. This film awkward situation, but lost all control during the sitting of the Long Parliament, who eventually took the affairs of the Church into their own hands, substituting "The Westminster Assembly" for Convocation, and the "Directory of Public Worship" for the Prayer Book. In the civil war which ensued between Charles and his Parliament, it was the Church that sufperity passed to the clerks, as they, fered most. At Chichester Cathedral, which was sacked by the Parliamentary forces, there was left not so Meanwhile the German National Assembly at Weimar appears to be atmandments were all smashed to atoms by the Puritan soldiers. Mother Ships of the Navy

Much has been written about "Qboats," "U-boat chasers," and many other mysterious craft which go to build up our Navy, but little or nothing has been said about those wonderful floating stores which "mothered" the destroyers and submarines during their ceaseless vigilance of the Daily some unit of our sure shield which sadly needed repair would range alongside the massive "mother ship" to receive her kindly attentions, and before many hours were passed her hurts would be effectively healed, for everything essential for the repair of small fighting craft is to be found on board the parent vessel.

Floating Hospitals.

Smiths' shops, fitted with forge and steam-hammers, electrical stores, and carpenters' shops-all are here, and even everything necessary for feeding the flotilla men is also to be found, including a huge bakery, provision store, and a canteen.

Hobson's Choice.

People frequently use this phrase and know what it implies, but its origin is not widely known. Thomas Hobson was a carrier between Cambridge and London, and has exceeded it many times in her died at the former town in 1630. Hobson was the first person in the kingdom who carried on the business of letting horses for hire, and had a good connection with the undergraduates of Cambridge University.

He kept a large stable of horsesgood cattle, which were always ready and fit for travelling. Each was furnished with boots, bridle and whip, to enable the gentlemen to start a once, without going from coilege to college to borrow the things.

When anyone came for a horse he was taken into the stable, where there were many horses, but was compelled to take the horse which stood next to the stable-door, so that every customer was alike well served, according to his chance, and every horse day morning for the first time in more was ridden with the same justice. Hence the well-known proverb out of the bay a little. which has made his name so famous.
