Warm Overcoats,
AT VERY LOW PRICE.

There is no question but that our OVERCOATS are the best value in St. John. Why, look at the way this business has grown. Look at the great number of Overcoats we have sold this fall, while others are complaining of dull business (on account of their higher prices). We have been busy, real busy, because our prices are lower.

Men's Overcoats worth $6 to $12 for $5, $6, $7.50 and $8.75
Men's Overcoats $10, 12, 13.50, 15 and $20 extra fine.

ILLEGAL OPERATION KILLED GIRL? DR. PRESTON ARRESTED.

Well Known City Physician in Jail on Serious Charge--- Victim Was Edith Clarke, of Adelaide Street---Her Lover Arrested.

Dr. Edward A. Preston was arrested about noon today on a charge of manslaughter. The charge is the result of the death of Edith Clarke, daughter of Robert Clarke, of Adelaide street, which took place on Wednesday. The authorities believe that the death was directly due to an illegal operation for the purpose of procuring an abortion. The woman, or rather girl, is well known and had many friends in the North End. The funeral was to have been held today, but has been stopped by Coroner Berryman, who has issued orders that no interment shall take place until a coroner's jury investigate the affair. A jury has been empanelled and will meet at seven o'clock this evening for the purpose of viewing the remains. A Star reporter called on Dr. Berry-

A SCHEME TO HARNESS
THE REVERSING FALLS.

Elijah Ross Has a System of Pontoons, Water Wheels, Pumps and Turbines, Which He Believes Solves the Problem.

Elijah Ross the well known carman, boatbuilder and designer, believes he has solved the mystery of getting plenty of power from the waters of the Reversing Falls without interfering with navigation. He has very neatly drawn plans which plainly show his ideas and these will probably be patented and possibly worked by a syndicate. The plans were seen by a Star reporter this morning. Mr. Ross' ideas are that the power can be got nicely from what is known as the Little Falls, or the space of rushing water between Middle Island and the mainland, known as Prospect Point. Here Mr. Ross said he could place two pontoons, each measuring eighty feet long and forty feet wide, these would have a large space between them and would be arranged similar to the position of the boats of a catamaran. Between the two pontoons is to be a large water wheel thirty feet in diameter. This wheel revolves both ways, when the tide runs up or down. This wheel will revolve from three to five times a minute and will give about one thousand horse power.

BALFOUR HAS PROBABLY DECIDED TO RESIGN.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—2.30 p. m.—The cabinet held a meeting this afternoon, lasting an hour and a half. There is reason to believe that the colleagues of Premier Balfour approved his decision to resign rather than dissolve Parliament, but no official communication is yet forthcoming. Mr. Balfour is moving to Gloucestershire for the week end, so he will not see King Edward before Monday, when his majesty will arrive in London.

The funeral of the late Edward Purchase, who died at East Boston, took place this morning from the Union depot upon the arrival of the Boston express at noon. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Fritchard and burial was at Fernhill.

Philadelphia Express Jumped the Track at Full Speed—Wonderful Escape of the Passengers

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 1.—Two men were killed and about a dozen others were injured in the wreck of the Philadelphia express on the Central railroad of New Jersey last night near Penn Haven Junction, about 100 miles north of Philadelphia. The dead are Fireman Rupert, of Mauch Chunk, Pa.; and an extra engineer named Detroy, who was riding home on the locomotive. Nine of the injured were taken to St. Luke's Hospital at South Bethlehem, Pa., about 40 miles south of the scene of the wreck. The accident occurred a short distance above Penn Haven Junction. According to the story told by Engineer Willis, the locomotive of the express left the rails as it struck a sharp curve. The engine, followed by a combination baggage and smoking car and a day coach, plunged across the north-bound track and jumped 20 feet down upon the tracks of the Lehigh Valley railroad, which parallels the Jersey Central railroad at this point. The coupling broke on the Pullman car, the only other car on the train, and the car ran down the track for some distance. The coaches that went over the embankment were badly wrecked, and it is considered remarkable that none of the passengers lost their lives. Penn Haven Junction is a small town, and the accident took place at night. A relief train was immediately sent to the scene, and by the time it arrived all the injured had been taken from the wreckage and placed in the warm Pullman car, awaiting removal to the hospital. It was 2.30 a. m. before the victims arrived at South Bethlehem. Eight of the uninjured passengers arrived in Philadelphia at 6 o'clock this morning. Owing to the location of Penn Haven Junction, early information of the accident was meagre, and it was at first reported that many persons had been killed. Telephone and telegraph offices were closed and several hours elapsed before definite information of the extent of the accident could be learned.

Startling Revelations in Insurance Investigation

Enquiry Will Be Extended to Take in Charges Involving New York State Insurance Department.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Times today is authority for the statement that as the result of the publication of evidence taken in the Canadian insurance investigation charging that Ex-State Supt. of Insurance Louis E. Payn received $40,000 from the Mutual Reserve Life Association in connection with a report by his examiners and of other alleged facts brought out by the Armstrong commission pointing to relations between the insurance companies and state insurance department, the investigation now on will extend to that branch of the state administration. This decision of the executive committee and counsel became known this week. It is understood that investigation of state insurance department will be no less rigorous than that which has been given insurance companies over which was his supervision. That Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks will be called to the stand in the next few weeks is now a certainty. Attaches of his department will also be called. Possibly, if not probable result of this will be to extend the investigation over in 1906 by a renewal of authority to this committee by the incoming legislature or by the appointment of a new committee with most of its members chosen from the present. As assemblyman MacKewen of Brooklyn is the only member of the Armstrong committee who does not go back to the legislature there will be substantial obstacle in the way of this plan.

The funeral took place at 2.30 this afternoon from Mrs. E. N. Moffatt from her late residence, 103 Brunswick street. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Pierce. Interment was at the Methodist burial grounds. There were no pallbearers.

MUTINY QUELLED ; CRISIS REMAINS.

Economic and Industrial Death
Threatens Russia.

Telegraphic and Postal Strike Has Paralyzed and Isolated the Country---Uprising of Peasants Feared---Martial Law in Poland Abolished.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 1.—2.30 a. m.—The official decree announcing the decisive crushing of the great mutiny at Sebastopol and the capture of all the mutineers, including the fanatical commander Lieut. Schmidt, has raised a great load from the hearts of Count Witte and his associates in the government.

At a protracted cabinet council yesterday long and serious consideration was given to an even graver problem, the general strike of telegraph and postal employes which has completely paralyzed the country, and which if continued will mean nothing less than the economic and industrial death of Russia.

Tumors were flying thick and fast late last night that Count Witte had decided to sacrifice M. Durovov, the acting minister of the interior, whose action in paralyzing the leaders of these employes brought on the strike. It is expected that M. Durovov will be given a full opportunity to rectify his error.

According to telegraphic information from Moscow the telegraphers there approached Baron Miden, the prefect, who promised to present a petition for the re-employment of those who had been discharged if work was immediately commenced. The government perhaps will accept this offer from its difficulty in this regard.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Special despatches from St. Petersburg say that the cabinet there have gone on strike and that vehicular traffic has almost ceased. The government, the despatches say, intends to adopt special measures to assure the dispatch of official messages.

The Warsaw correspondent of the Echo, says that at Grodno, artillerymen have been arrested for refusal to suppress popular demonstrations. At Chertohovo the dragons mutinied and fought with the Cossacks, resulting in the death of a number on each side. Citizens in various towns of Poland are forming civil guards for the suppression of bandits.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 1.—2.30 p. m.—The crisis continues. The telegraph men have been arrested for refusal to suppress popular demonstrations. At Chertohovo the dragons mutinied and fought with the Cossacks, resulting in the death of a number on each side. Citizens in various towns of Poland are forming civil guards for the suppression of bandits.

SCOTT ACT SPYS
EVIDENCE NEGATED.

Judge in Kings Co. Court Cast Doubt On Truthfulness of Complainant in Illegal Liquor Sale Case.

(Special to the Star.)

HAMPTON, N. Y., Dec. 1.—On the re-assembling of the Kings county court yesterday afternoon, the clerk, J. M. McIntyre, produced the recognizances entered into for the appearance of George Myers, appellant, in the Scott Act convictions case now before the court and was examined by F. A. McCully in regard to his knowledge in regard to the signatures and other particulars. Mr. McCully objected to the recognizances that they were not entered into before one of the justices as required by the act and that the notice called for by the Criminal Code, section 88 and 89 and an amendment four and five Edward VII, chapter 19, sections 3 and 4, had not been given. Mr. Jones contended that the act did not require recognizances to be acknowledged before a convicting justice and that the amendment to the act was passed by legislature months after the conviction was entered up. The case then proceeded.

Mr. Jones objected that the convictions were all had as eleven were made on one day in December, 1904, and four in June, 1905, all on one, instead of each separately. Further in eleven cases service was made on Frank Meyers who was not a resident member of George Meyers' family. This substitution of service was also made. George Poley was then sworn and testified that he bought whiskey for George Myers in the barroom of the Royal Hotel on Saturday, April 16th, 1904. On cross-examination he said Meyers wore a beard and that witness made a note of the purchase in a book at the time. He was very reticent in his replies and his honor sharply criticized his testimony and manner.

Mr. McCully moved that Meyers be put upon his defence which was granted by the judge and the court adjourned until this morning at ten o'clock.

On reassembling this morning Mr. McCully moved that the recognizances in the case be exhibited, because the defendant was not personally present in court as required by its terms. Mr. Jones said all the requirements of the recognizance had been met by the appearance of Meyers on the opening of the court. He was in poor health and would be in court this afternoon.

Dr. D. H. McAllister gave testimony that Meyers was confined to his bed from April 4, 1904, till the 23rd, arising from an accident combined with pleurisy and that he was unable to get up. He certainly could not have been about his business on April 16. He had been clean shaven except for his moustache, for many years and never wore a beard.

The counsel then addressed the court and the honor reviewed the evidence and stated his conviction that every point of Poley's evidence had been clearly negated by the testimony of Dr. McAllister, while the young man's manner and statements had in themselves been sufficient to raise a very grave doubt as to their truth. His remarks were understood as expressing the judgment which he would give on the case at the January court.

Court adjourned till two o'clock, when another appeal will be taken up.

FIRE AT A SHED
FULL OF DYNAMITE.

Several Tons Exploded by Two Fools
With a Shot Gun, Who Escaped With Their Lives.

QUEBEC, Nov. 30.—An almost incredible story comes from St. John, on the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway. The town of St. John is engaged in building waterworks, and had several tons of dynamite in a shed for the purpose of blasting. Yesterday two young farmers of the village with a shot gun, started out for target practice. They espied the shed containing the dynamite and came to the conclusion that it would make an excellent target. Evidently unaware of its dangerous contents, they stood off from their object several hundred yards and fired. The dynamite exploded with a terrible report and the two men were hurled into the air. Strangers to say they were not killed though seriously injured. The explosion violently disturbed the country for miles and broke almost every pane of glass in the village, a short distance away. It also caused lamps and other articles of furniture in church and other places to fall. The report was heard for miles and frightened the inhabitants of the countryside. The names of the young men responsible have not yet become known here.

SCOTCHMEN HONOR ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

Brilliant Gathering at York Theatre—Addresses Delivered and Splendid Programme Carried Out—Affair a Great Success in Every Way.

The anniversary of their patron saint was observed in true Scottish style last night by the St. Andrew's Society, and the celebration was regarded as the most successful that the society has ever carried out. About 800 of Scotland's sons and grandsons assembled to do honor to the land of the heather. The lavishly decorated hall of the York Theatre was the scene of the gathering, large standards being draped from the curtain and at the side of the stage, while around the sides of the gallery were festoons of blue and white.

This year a change was made in the arrangements. The programme of music and addresses was carried out in the theatre, and the lower room and the reception rooms as dressing rooms.

Shortly after seven o'clock, members of the society assembled in the lower room, and the programme of the evening was begun.

President Macaulay, on behalf of the society, briefly welcomed the guests and expressed the hope that the enjoyment of the evening would be as unalloyed as on previous occasions. Of the society itself, he could only say that it is now in a more prosperous condition than at any time during the hundred and eighty years of its history. He thought it worthy of note that of the past presidents no less than eight were on the platform with him, while four others are still members of the society, and it is a matter of gratification that during the past year the society has lost only one member by death, while the new members who have been received were more numerous than in any other year. The finances, too, are in a flourishing condition. Again he welcomed the friends of the society to the celebration of St. Andrew's day.

Harvard's orchestra, playing the opening overture, a selection of Scotch airs.

W. Watson Allen, president of St. George's Society, on behalf of the latter, desired to convey to St. Andrew's the hearty good wishes of their English brethren. Personally he was greatly pleased to be present on this occasion, and he hoped that the gathering would be a happy one for many generations ago his forebears luxuriated in oatmeal and haggis, though at a later date more suited to their constitutions and potures took the place of the haggis.

He should have added to the list the shorter catholism. Mr. Allen rather took the wind out of my sails by saying he had a wee drop of Scotch in him. I thought that was a copyrighted phrase of my own. Mr. Allen also said that when the Scotchmen went to Ireland they left the oatmeal and haggis behind in the shorter catholism. A country which had produced Burns, Wallace, Scott and Scott need not be ashamed of anything, for what Burns and Scott had done in the world of English literature, he should have added to the list the shorter catholism.

terfere with the enjoyment.

The programme consisted of fifteen dances and a number of extras. In the dining room, where the catering was done by Frank White, the bill of fare was an excellent one.

The ladies who officiated at the tea table were Mrs. (Dr.) McIntosh, Mrs. John Burpee, Mrs. (Dr.) Johnson, Miss Stevenson, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. B. Macaulay, Mrs. (Dr.) Inches, Mrs. Frank Rankin.

The dancing was kept up till 2 o'clock, when the grand march took place. The three players were at the head, marshalled by Charles Bell, President R. B. Macaulay, with Mrs. Hazen, were the first couple, followed by Dr. and Mrs. Inches. A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of Will Ye No Come Back Again, by S. J. McGowan, accompanied by Dr. Arnold Fox, Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Nov. 30.—The Fredericton Society of St. Andrew's celebrated their 80th anniversary this evening with a dinner at the Barker House. The affair was one of the most enjoyable of its kind held by this society. The dinner was served in the main dining hall of the house and covers were laid for 100 guests.

Among the distinguished guests in attendance were the Rev. G. M. Campbell, St. John, who replied to the toast, "The Day an' a' wha honor it," Dr. Daniel, M. P., St. John, R. D. Macaulay, M. P., St. John, W. T. Whitehead, M. P., Fredericton; Robert Murray, M. P., New Brunswick; Thomas B. Eakin, St. John; Hon. A. G. Blair, Ottawa, and Judge Fraser, Nova Scotia, sent regrets.

Appropriate songs were given between the speech-making. Those rendering solos were J. N. Sutherland, St. John; Davies Gilmour, Montreal; Frank L. Cooper and T. B. Gidner of this city.

BISHOP SCANNELL TAKES STRONG ACTION

And Declares Excommunicated Catholics Who Attended Wedding of Divorced Congressman.

OMAHA, Nov. 30.—Right Rev. Bishop Richard Scannell, of the Diocese of Omaha, has declared excommunicated two facts all members of the Catholic church who participated in the wedding of Congressman Kennedy and Miss Pritchett on Monday. There were a number of prominent Catholics present, including Mrs. Edward Cudahy, wife of the packing house magnate, Miss Mae Hamilton, whose individual fortune is rated at over a million, was one of the bridesmaids.

Congressman Kennedy has a divorced wife living, and for that reason the bishop has declared the Catholics who participated in the ceremony to be excommunicated. The bishop today declared excommunicated all members of his church who attended the wedding. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. H. Jenks, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Congressman Kennedy is a prominent member. The bride of Congressman Kennedy, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pritchett, prominent members of Omaha society, is a member of the Episcopal church. None of the members of either Mr. Kennedy's family or his bride's family is a Catholic. Mr. Kennedy's divorced wife is a Christian Scientist.

Bishop Scannell today talked freely of his action. He said that he would take steps in the matter, declaring that the Catholics who participated in the wedding ceremony and also those who attended the reception for food or drink were equally culpable, and said that they had excommunicated themselves by their action in the face of the warning issued by himself last Sunday.

ST. PIERRE AUTHORITIES ARE ALARMED

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 30.—There is alarm among the authorities of St. Pierre, Mig., at the extent to which immigration from the colony has grown, over 1,000 persons of a total population of 4,000 having left there within the past three months. No one will predict what the future of the colony is destined to be, but the past three months are full of petitioning the Paris government to permit the annexation of the islands to Newfoundland, for it is pointed out that so long as Newfoundland maintains the bait act, St. Pierre's industry cannot thrive.

WEARY DAYS AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Many men and women toss night after night upon sleepless beds until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Wholly they are so debilitated and irritated, the nervous system that it cannot be quieted. Or, again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die or perhaps you wake up from your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. Allow these conditions to continue and you will feel your health declining.

It is the nerves and heart that are not acting properly.

They can be set right by the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by dulling the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which, in the case of nervousness and sleeplessness.

Mrs. Emma Chambers, Massey Station, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with dizzy spells, weak spells and fluttering of the heart. I was so nervous that I could not lie down in bed at night but would have to sit up. I doctored for a while and finally I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and was completely cured. I have not been troubled since. I cannot recommend them too highly."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or sent direct on receipt of price by The E. L. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A new death-dealing instrument has been invented. A Lithuanian gentleman, M. Pedor Troitz, has contrived a gun, worked by electricity, which will fire from 4,000 to 12,000 shots a minute. The range of this new weapon is three miles, and its destructive power, if all aims on its behalf are genuine, about put in the shade such trivial toys as magazine rifles. The gun only requires one man to work it.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., DEC. 1, 1905.

THE TELEGRAPH AND THE MAYOR.

On Tuesday the Telegraph warmly approved the course of the mayor in refusing to preside at the public meeting in Berryman's hall, called by Rev. Mr.
Mathers and Rev. Father Gaynor to consider the strike situation. Among other things it said then:

"Mayor White has decided, upon second thought that it would be unwise for him to preside at the public meeting called for this evening to discuss the strike. His reasons for this decision are worth careful reading. He is to be congratulated upon his sensible official attitude with respect to this evening's demonstration."

This morning the Telegraph published, three columns wide, on the front page, a letter signed by its owner, viciously attacking the mayor for the action characterized three days before as sensible and worthy of congratulation.
His refusal to preside, says Mr. Russell, was "unbusinesslike and cowardly."
In so doing the mayor acted "most stupidly" and proved himself to be "neither a leader nor a follower"; nothing more in fact than a "botter."
Not for nothing has our esteemed but somewhat erratic contemporary been styled the "reversible Telegraph."

WHAT CIVIC OWNERSHIP DID.

Less than a decade ago the city of Bradford, England, took over the street railway system of a private company operating there and since then has been teaching the world the benefits and profits of municipal ownership when taken in connection with honesty and brains.

From a small beginning the system has been extended through and beyond the city until its tracks cover fifty-five miles. A service incomparably better than the old has been provided, fares have been greatly reduced and wages increased. And all of this has not cost the ratepayers one dollar. Since the beginning the income has paid all the working expenses, provided for the interest, mortgage and sinking funds and has showed a surplus which has already provided a reserve or renewal fund in excess of $200,000. Last year the surplus over all expenses, including the payment of mortgage loans and the contribution to the sinking fund, was about $75,000.

And all this is done with a fare which allows a passenger to ride two miles for a cent with even cheaper rates to workmen.

THE NEGRO'S FAILURE.

For those who are dreaming large dreams of the future equality or domination of the black race there is food for thought in the lamentable failure of Liberia, the negro republic, founded on the west coast of Africa in the year 1820 by American philanthropy, with the object of giving the colored people an opportunity for showing their capacity for progress and self-government. Recently, remarks an exchange, its government made an agreement with Great Britain and France, whose territories adjoin it, whereby those powers would assume control of its fiscal affairs and undertake its internal development. This caused the jealousy of Germany, as in the case of Morocco, though her interests in the little republic are extremely slight, and the new arrangement is now a subject for diplomatic adjustment. It was hoped by the white projectors of the Liberian experiment that the negroes of the United States, who had been given an education, would gladly go to a country where they would be free to govern themselves and aid in the civilization of Africa. But comparatively few took advantage of the offer, and though the colony overcame the initial difficulties of settlement and was fairly prosperous for a time, the people relapsed into habits of indolence, the black administrators showing no capacity for progressive development of the country, and for many years the republic has been steadily retrograding.
Possessed of a healthy and fruitful tableland interior, settlement is still confined to a narrow strip along the coast, the finances have been woefully mismanaged, trade has declined, and now the Liberians practically confess their incapacity for self-government by placing their affairs in the hands of the two powers nearest and most interested in them. The change cannot but be beneficial, for Sierra Leone and French West Africa, adjoining Liberia, are both flourishing negro colonies ruled by white men, while the Black Republic is stagnant.

There were only three editorials about the Star in the Times last night.
There were no new epithets and the only new accusation was that the Star was not straightforward and courageous.

DEATHS.

HAYES—In this city, Nov. 30th, Agnes, widow of the late Thomas Hayes, aged 64 years.
Funeral at 2.30 Saturday afternoon from 114 Queen Street. Service at 3
p. m. at Trinity.

Scots have a reputation, in books, of being a dour, self-contained lot. But when it comes to a celebration there is no race like them. St. Andrew's night is the one night in the year when they really let themselves loose in, in every city where Scotsmen congregate, long looked forward to with eager anticipation and backward to with warm remembrance. St. John is no exception; neither was last night.

What's the matter, Mac?
Nothing; I'm a' richt.
You don't look it, mon.
A'm a' richt, I'm tellin' ye. Up a bit late last night, that's a'. St. Andrew's night, ye ken.
Oh!

Well, the St. John strike was not in vain. It put Dave Russell in big type once again—Halifax Echo.

WHY THE CHANGE.

The following quotations from the Telegraph of different dates refer to the same thing—the mayor's action in refusing to preside at the meeting in Berryman's Hall last Tuesday evening:

(Telegraph, Tues- (Telegraph, Friday, Nov. 23.) day, Dec. 1.)
"Mayor White has decided upon the chief magistrate of your important city acted unwisely for him to most unbusinesslike and cowardly lie meeting called in refusing to deal with the question
discuss the strike, and take up the
His reasons for cause of the un-this decision are fortunate men who worth careful reading. He is to be congratulated upon his sensible official attitude with respect to this evening's demonstration."

My judgment the mayor acted most stupidly in declining to preside at the public meeting held in your city on the night of the 28th instant, when the future of the port of St. John was in peril.

What is wanted
in any important city is a mayor with backbone and force of character.
who can and will deal bravely with and confront such situations as the one of the city,
and their property
to their fate—in fact,
a magistrate unworthy of the support of the citizens of St. John.

The proper course for the citizens of that city to pursue would be to demand his resignation, as he has proven himself to be neither a leader nor a follower; nothing more in fact than a "botter." If you please, and all in the time of trouble.

Faithfully yours,
DAVID RUSSELL.

THE FIRSTBORN.

(By Mrs. Blissett.)

wide!
A million blossoms have ye kissed since morn.
But none so sweet as this one at my

With pain of travail I am weak and

From W. Tremaine Gard.

I have just completed my purchases of HOLIDAY GOODS for this season, and assure my friends and would-be customers that never before in my 25 years of business in this city have I ever had such a complete line of first class, reliable, up-to-date stock of WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, Silverware, Opera and Field Glasses, Manicure and Toilet Sets, and such articles, as I have now on hand to show them; while my DIAMONDS and other precious gems in Rings, Brooches and Pins, are incomparable in quality with what is generally found in jewelry stores, and the prices are much below the quotations of the catalogues sent here from other cities. Call and see

FOOTBALL PLAYER'S NECK BROKEN; DELIBERATE ATTACK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The American says: With a broken neck, the result of what is charged to have been a deliberate attack upon him by opponents on the football field, Leo McNally lies at death's door in a hospital at Bridgeport, Conn. The doctors say he cannot live. McNally was a member of a team of semi-professional football players known as the Thunderbolts, playing left end. The Thunderbolts met a team named the Berkshire at Newfield Park baseball grounds, Bridgeport, yesterday before 2,500 persons.

A call upon the emergency hospital brought Surgeon Kraus, who found that McNally had a comminuted fracture of the third vertebra of the neck with a complete paralysis of the body. At St. Vincent's hospital, to which the victim was taken, the surgeons could do nothing. McNally regained consciousness for a time late in the evening, and pleaded with his nurse and doctor to see that the police took no action against the members of the Berkshire team.

A TWO-FOR-ONE SHOT.

When you use Ozone use "Celery King" with it. What is a kind of Ozone King? which is a companion remedy to Ozone.

The purest form of Ozone is "Solition" Ozone (the coupon kind). Each bottle contains about twice as much for your money as other brands, besides which each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free. This is a great advantage as you save money on the Ozone and also get the "Celery King" free which you would otherwise have to buy.

No other brand of Ozone contains these coupons. "Solition" Ozone (the coupon kind) is fifty cents and one dollar at your drug store, including the coupon for the package of "Celery King." Take no other and if your druggist does not carry it write to the Public Drug Co., Bridgeport, Ont.

THREE IMPORTANT REASONS

Why intending purchasers of a Piano should buy from

The Nordheimer Piano Co., LIMITED, 28 CHARLOTTE STREET.

1st—Because if you want quality you have the best in the city or province.

2nd—Because you buy direct from the manufacturer and save dealers' profits.

3rd—Because when you purchase a STEINWAY & SONS PIANO or a NORDHEIMER PIANO you get a piano worth its price. And you are sure that the same style piano only has ONE price and is not sold at three or four different prices in your vicinity or elsewhere.

TOKIO, Dec. 1.—General Baron Kur-ol, who commanded the Japanese right army in Manchuria will leave Port Dahl tomorrow for Japan.

The balance in favor of Japan for prisoners' expenses is estimated at $25,000,000. It is believed that this sum will be devoted to the development of the interests of Manchuria.

LOUBET DECLINES RE-ELECTION.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—In the course of an interview published this morning M. Loubet states categorically that he will not accept a re-election to the presidency as he considers a renewal of the presidency to be undesirable in a democratic country. The president says that his retirement will absolutely conclude his public career in any capacity.

SULTAN IS CONSIDERING

CONSTANTINOPLE, Via Sofia, Dec. 1.—An extraordinary council of ministers is in session at the Yildiz palace to consider the situation arising from the refusal of the ambassadors to modify their demands in regard to the financial control of Macedonia. Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, previously interviewed the British ambassador and urged a compromise which would not injure the Sultan's dignity, but the ambassador was obdurate. He declared that any modification of the scheme was impossible.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S 61ST BIRTHDAY.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Queen Alexandra's old birthday and her birthday day was celebrated with the usual heartiness throughout the kingdom, including artillery salute, the ringing of church bells and the display of flags, etc. Congratulations from all parts poured in at Sandringham, where the queen entertained all the children of the estate at tea, personally superintending the proceedings.

LOCAL NEWS

The meeting of the Baltimore Coal Mining and Railway Co. has been postponed till December 12th.

Rev. Mr. Berris of Jacksonville will conduct the prayer meeting service in Edmund street Methodist church this evening. The pastor is not able to attend.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Carmarthen street Methodist church will hold a sale of fancy and useful articles at 111 Princess street Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings, Dec. 6 and 7.

In commemoration of St. Andrew's day a united service for men was held under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in St. George's church, west side, last evening. The service was well attended, a number from the city chapters going over.

The lesson being read by Rev. G. R. E. MacDonald, and Rev. G. A. Kuhring preached an interesting and powerful sermon from the subject of St. Andrew going after his brother. He pointed out the various ways that the Brotherhood should work together in the cause for which the organization was formed, and his address was attentively listened to by those present.

During the service special and appropriate hymns were sung, Geo. Collinson presiding at the organ.

J. Altman, of Vienna, is in the city, having arrived yesterday morning from Halifax. Mr. Altman is visiting Canada for the purpose of promoting closer trade relations between this country and Austria. He has already done considerable missionary work along this line, having toured Canada from Montreal to Vancouver two years ago as a representative of the Austrian government, advertising the manufactures and natural products of that country.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S AID FOR THE POOR.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Queen Alexandra has not given up her interest in behalf of the unemployed, and has sanctioned a unique plan to raise more funds for them. This will be in the shape of a issue of a Christmas book which will be entitled "The Queen's Christmas Card." It will consist of poems, stories, sketches, drawings and letters by persons prominent in the world of art and literature of Great Britain. Algernon Charles Swinburne, Alfred Austin, the poet Laureate, Thomas Hardy, Marie Corelli, Hall Caine, George Meredith, Arthur Wing Pinero, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, Edwin A. Abbey, Wm. Holman Hunt, Sir Edward John Poynter and Sir Edward Elgar are among those who will contribute. The production of the book will be practically gratuitous. It will sell for half a crown, and the proceeds will be devoted to the Queen's unemployed fund.

BARGE FOUNDERED; FOUR DROWNED; ONE A WOMAN.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—The foundering of the new steel barge Delaware, and the loss of four persons on board, was reported here today by the tug Scranston, which had been towing the Delaware from New York.

The barge went down in a heavy sea at 8:30 o'clock last night, about eight miles from Minute Light.

Those lost were Capt. John B. Mulsey, Mrs. Mulsey, his wife; engineer of the barge, Cook of the barge.

LOTS OF 'LONGSHORE' WORK.

There are now in port seven large ocean liners—two Dominion liners, the Allan liner, the West India boat, the Head liner and the C. P. R. steamer. The members of the Longshoremen's Association are doing what laboring work is required, and about 300 or 400 men were at work on the wharves. There was also a large number of laborers awaiting work along Water street and in the union hall. It is expected that three of the steamers will have sailed by Sunday.

AN ADIEU TO ABERDEEN.

(This was copied from an old scrap book found recently, the writer's name being obliterated by age.)

Beloved Bon Accord
Thou art not the less adored
Though the pleasures of your season I have gone.

Though now I'm far away,
I shall never forget the day
That I left you for the city of Saint John.

It was hard for me to stand
And review my native land,
As the vessel bore me onward from the shore,
Restraining flowing tears
And subduing rising fears
That I might not tread its heather any more.

I will not soon forget
Though I do not now regret
That I've wandered from your bonnie dean and don.

They are all the world to me,
But its worth your while to see
All the grandeur of a river like Saint John.

We are famed for granite blocks,
While the ships that leave our stocks
Are the finest that the world can afford.
And our modelled squares and dells,
Where we meet such charming bells,
As if we were in paradise restored.

Now it's hard to bid adieu
To beloved friends like you.
Since days of happy childhood I have known.
I leave a heavy sigh
And the tear bedims my eye,
But I'm happy in the city of Saint John.

POOR DOGMENT

MARCH 20 1904

ST JOHN STAR, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1905.

THE ROUGHBREDS

By W. A. FRASER.

Serial Rights for this district held exclusively by the Star.

"Which one?" asked his companion. "The Black, an' if he ever does that in a race—God help the others—they'll never catch him," he kept repeating, dwelling lovingly on the thought, as he saw the confirmation of it being enacted before his eyes; for across the new green of the grass-enclosed course he could see two open lengths of daylight between Diablo and the Dutchman.

"Fifty-one and half for the half-mile," he imparted to Crane, looking at his watch. "Now the Dutchman is moving up; Colley doesn't mean to get left if he can help it. I'm afraid Diablo'll shut up when he's pinched; his kind are apt to do that. The Dutchman is game, an' if he ever gets to the Black's throat-latch he'll chuck it. But it takes some ridin'; it takes some ridin', sir."

He was becoming enthusiastic, exclaiming. The silent man at his side noticed the childish repetition with inward amusement. He had thought that Langdon would have been overjoyed to see the bay horse smother his opponent. Was not the trainer to have ten thousand dollars if the Dutchman won the Handicap? But here he was giving the Black twenty pounds, and best of it in the weights, for a three-year-old while the other was four, and they each carried a hundred and twelve.

"The mile in 1:42," chirped Langdon. "That's movin', if you like, considerin' the track, the condition of the horses, an' that they're runnin' under a double whip. Now we'll see a ding-dong finish, if the Black doesn't show a streak of yellow. Dutchy's got him," he added, as through his glasses he saw them swing into the straight, neck and neck.

"Clever Mr. Westley!" for Diablo's rider, having the rail and the lead, had bored out slightly on the turn, so as not to cramp the uncertain horse he rode, and carried the Dutchman wide.

Up the straight they came, the boys helping their mounts with leg and arm; the Black holding his quite up to a dogged persistence that quite upset Langdon's prognostication of cowardice.

"To the watchers it was as exciting as a race," the stamens that Langdon had said would stand the Dutchman in good stead over the mile and a half Handicap course now showed itself. First he was level with the Black, then gradually, stride by stride, he drew away from Diablo, and finished a short length in front.

"A great trial," cried the trainer, gleefully, holding out his watch for Crane's inspection. "See that!" pointing to the hand he had stopped at the Bay's brown nose flashed by the post; "two-nine on this course! Anything that beats that pair, fit and well, a mile and a quarter on a fast track'll have to make it in two-five, an' that's the record."

"It looks good business for the Derby, Langdon."

"Yes, it does. That's the first showing I've had from the colt as a three-year-old; but I knew he had it in him. However was a great horse—to my mind he never had his equal in America—but this youngster'll be as good as his daddy ever was. I don't see you ought to start him, till the Derby, if you're set on winnin' it."

He had moved up to the gate as he talked, and now opened it, waiting for the boys to come back. They had eased down the horses gradually after the fierce gallop, turned them about and were trotting toward the paddock, where stood the two men. Langdon took Diablo by the bridle rein and led him in toward the stable.

"How did he shape under you, Westley?" he asked, as the boy slipped from the saddle.

"I wouldn't ask to ride a better horse, I thought I had the colt beaten, sure; but my mount seemed to tire a little at the finish. He didn't toss it up, not a bit of it; ran as game as a pebble; he just tired at the finish. I think a mile in his journey. He held the Dutchman safe at a mile."

"I guess you're right, Westley; a mile's his limit. At level weights with the three-year-old, which means that he had twenty pounds the best of it, he should have held his own the whole route to be a stayer, for the colt isn't more'n half ready yet."

"I didn't hustle him none too much, sir. I might a-squeezed a bit more out of him. Did we make fair time?"

"Quite a feeler, Mister Jockey," thought Langdon to himself; "it's rower you want, eh?" Then he answered aloud, with a diplomacy born of many years of turf tuition. "Fairish sort of time; it might have been better, perhaps—a shade under two-two-five, I thought they might have bettered that a couple of seconds. But they come on—they'll come on, both of them. If anybody asks you, Westley, the Dutchman was beaten off, see? I don't like to discourage the clever owners that has good 'uns in the Derby." Then he added as a word of afterthought, and with a sardonic carelessness: "It doesn't matter 'bout a sellin' pester 't it coo't matter. But all the same, Westley, when you see a colt put for him, an' over-night sellin' purse or somethin', you'll have the leg up, wra a bet down for you at a long price, see?"

"I understand, sir."

By the time Langdon had slipped the saddle from Diablo back the boy had thrown a hooded blanket over him, and he was led away.

"Send them home, Westley. Now, Mr. Crane, we'll drive back to the house an' have a bit of lunch."

As they drove along Crane brought up the subject of the trial.

"The colt must be extra good, Langdon, or the Black is—well, as he was represented to be, not much account."

"I guess Diablo's about equal today, to win a big handicap, if he happened to be in one at a light weight."

"He came pretty near it."

"But where would he have been carrying his proper weight?"

"About where he was, I guess."

"You said as a four-year-old he should have had up to a hundred and twenty, and he carried a hundred and twelve; and, besides, had the best boy by seven pounds on his back."

"Just pass me that saddle, Mr. Crane," said Langdon, by way of answer. "No; not that—the one I took off Diablo."

Crane reached down his hand, but the saddle didn't come quite as freely as it should have. "What's it caught in?" he asked fretfully.

"In itself, I reckon—lift that."

"Glad it's heavy, old Diablo carry that? What's in it?"

"Lead—built into it, it's my old saddle, you know. You're the first male, you know, that's had his hand on that saddle for some time. I can tell you."

"Then Diablo did carry his full weight," commented Crane, a light breaking in upon him.

"Just about and carried it like a stake horse, too."

"And you—"

"Yes, I changed the saddles after Westley weighed. He's a good boy, and don't shoot off his mouth much, but the same things will out white ridin' boys have the power of speech."

"It looks as though Diablo had something in him," said Crane, meditatively.

"Yes," said Faust, speaking again to break the trying quiet, "some one's told me that he's got it in him. I wonder if it's Porter, did he think him a good horse?"

"He's got it in him, Porter, nor any one else who knows Diablo. It's some foolish notion, tempted by the long odds. I suppose, however, it doesn't matter; in fact, it's the better. You took that five thousand to fifty for me, didn't you?"

"Well, just lay it off. You can do so now at a profit."

"You don't want to back Diablo, then? Shall I lay against him further?"

"If you like—in your own book. I don't want to have anything to do with him, one way or the other. I always bet on the underdog, but I don't want to back a horse that's got a bad name and—well, never mind, just lay that bet off. I shall probably want to back the underdog again, but I don't want to back the underdog."

When Faust had gone, Crane opened the little drawer which held his betting slips, and he found a note for five hundred pounds. He looked at it for a few days, then he ran his eye back over several other entries. Ah, that's the man—Hummel; he'll do."

"I'll leave all that to you. I'll attend to getting the money on; you do the rest."

When Crane had gone, Langdon paid further mental tribute to his master's astuteness. "Now I see it all," he muttered; "the old man just thought to keep me quiet; throw me off the scent till he duplicated the other trial, whenever they pulled it off. Now he's got a sure line on the Black, an' he'll make such a killing; that the bookies'll remember him for many a day. But why does he keep throwin' that fairy tale into me about buyin' a bad horse to oblige somebody? A man would be a sucker to believe that of Crane; he had the sort. But one sure thing, he said he'd look after me, an' he will, up to the man quick enough, but when he gives his word it stands. Mr. Jakey Faust can look after himself, I'm not goin' to take chances of losin' a big stable of bread-winners by doublin' on the Black."

Langdon's mental analysis of Crane's motives was the outcome of considerable experience. The banker's past life was not compatible with generous dealing. His act of buying Diablo had been prompted by new-born feelings of regard for the Porters, chiefly Albie; but no man, much less Langdon, would have given him credit for other than the most selfish motives.

True to his resolve, Langdon utterly refused to share his confidences with Jakey Faust.

"Dere Boss, You's gittin it in the neck, de big black hors he didn't care the sadel you think the black hors had on his back. You got de duble cross that time. Der bokie hes axin me wot de black is good fer der bokie is playin fer to throw fous down today."

"No more at present."

"This was the wholly ambiguous communication that Crane had found under his door. There was no stamp, neither place nor date written in the letter; nothing but an evident warning from some one, who, no doubt, hoped to get into his good graces by putting him on his guard."

As it happened, Crane had just made up his mind to make his plunge on Diablo while the odds were long enough to make it possible with the outlay of very little capital. He smoked a heavy Manuel Garcia over this new contingency. It did not matter about the saddles, Langdon had confided in him fully. But how had the writer of the ill-spelled missive known of that matter?

Yes, he had better make his bet before these whisperings came to other ears.

But the bookmaker mentioned? That must be Faust. Why was he prowling about among stable lads?

He sent for Faust. When the latter came, Crane asked Diablo's price for the Brooklyn.

"It's thirty to one now," replied the bookmaker; "somebody's backin' him."

Faust's small bay eyes were fixed furiously on Crane's pale, yellow face. "You don't want to take the risk, do you?" he asked, his teeth set in a grimace. "You might as well have studied the ledger paper on the wall; its unforgotten thought he was a bad horse, and—"

"I don't want to take the risk," said Faust, "but I don't want to take the risk of losing five thousand to fifty for me, didn't you?"

"Well, just lay it off. You can do so now at a profit."

"You don't want to back Diablo, then? Shall I lay against him further?"

"If you like—in your own book. I don't want to have anything to do with him, one way or the other. As it happened, Crane had just made up his mind to make his plunge on Diablo while the odds were long enough to make it possible with the outlay of very little capital. He smoked a heavy Manuel Garcia over this new contingency. It did not matter about the saddles, Langdon had confided in him fully. But how had the writer of the ill-spelled missive known of that matter?

LORD ROSEBERY'S PARTY ALARMED.

Liberals Attempt to Show His Words on Home Rule Are Misinterpreted—Cabinet Crisis Denied.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Lord Rosebery's emphatic repudiation in a recent speech at Bodmin, Cornwall, of the home rule policy of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, leader of the Liberal administration, has been interpreted by that statesman when speaking at Stirling, Scotland, November 28, which seems to have widened the breach in the party at the moment when a dissolution of Parliament is threatened owing to the fiscal question, is the latest sensation in the political circles of the United Kingdom.

Sir Edward Grey, who was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs in the Liberal administration of 1892-1893, speaking at Newcastle-under-Lyme, tonight, attempted to dissipate the misapprehension, the positions taken by Lord Rosebery and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman are irrevocable. He said he thought Lord Rosebery had put a wrong construction on Sir Henry's speech at Stirling, and that undoubtedly an explanation from the latter would prove that there had been a misunderstanding.

Sir Edward said the policy of the Liberal government should be along the lines followed by Mr. Balfour, George Wyndham, and Sir Anthony P. Macdonald, Under Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in giving the widest possible scope for the development of her local institutions. He declared, however, that the position of the Liberal government in Ireland as part of the Liberal policy.

Lord Austen Chamberlain, speaking at Redditch tonight, said that the crisis in the Cabinet existed solely for the sake of the newspapers. There was no such crisis, he declared, and he added that he was unable to say when the general elections would take place.

In his speech at Stirling Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman said that the only way to heal the difficulties of the Irish government and to make the strong instead of weak, was to give the Irish people the management of their own domestic affairs. He said that opinions regarding Ireland in this respect were becoming stronger.

Lord Rosebery in his speech at Bodmin said he objected to raising the banner of home rule, not only for high constitutional reasons, but also because of his desire for the welfare of the Irish people. "I state emphatically and explicitly," he concluded, "I cannot serve under that banner."

RUSSIAN GHOST STORIES.

How a Murder Was Revealed—Strange Warning of Death.

(From the "Rebus.")

In a certain town in the province of Minsk, West Russia, a peasant suddenly disappeared. He was last seen alive leaving the church and going home to his sister, with whom he lived. One day, in a dream, his sister saw her brother. He looked pale, his eyes were closed, and his legs were broken. He told her that he had been murdered by her husband and his brothers. He named the exact date and place of the deed, and added that his body was put into a sack and thrown into the river. He wanted her to find his body and to have it buried in the family grave.

This dream was repeated several times, and at last the sister sought the advice of her aged father-in-law. He told her that it would be difficult to find the body, but that if she could find it, she would be rewarded with a large sum of money. She agreed to the plan, and she and her husband set out to find the body.

They searched the river for several days, but found nothing. One day, however, they found a sack floating in the water. They opened it, and found the body of a man. They carried it home, and buried it in the family grave.

The next day, the sister received a letter from her brother. He told her that he was alive and well, and that he had been rewarded with a large sum of money for finding his body. He asked her to send him the money, and she agreed to do so.

The sister sent the money to her brother, and he wrote her again, telling her that he was very happy and that he would be coming home soon. She was very glad to hear this, and she waited for him.

One day, however, she received a letter from her brother, telling her that he was dead. She was very shocked to hear this, and she went to the family grave to see if she could find his body. She found it, and she was very glad to see it.

She buried it in the family grave, and she was very happy to see it. She was very glad to hear that her brother was alive and well, and that he would be coming home soon.

a daughter of a distinguished family, who has just added to her accomplishments by completing a three-weeks' automobile tour through five states. Although the trip was undertaken partly for social reasons, Mrs. Gould's principal object was to visit the farms of alfalfa clover on route.

Botany is at present her hobby, and she hopes to be able to cultivate the plant in great quantities at her home. All along the route the farmers were surprised at the interest and knowledge of the fair-automobilist in the cultivation of alfalfa, but became interested themselves when they learned of her farm of the plant on Long Island.

CARNEGIE AN ATHEIST.

SAYS N. Y. CLERGYMAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Rev. Minor J. Savage, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah, preached Sunday on Salvation by Character. Of the scheme of salvation which accepts the theory of the fall of man in Adam as an explanation of all the evils that afflict mankind, the preacher said:

"What right I ask with all reverence—what right has a being, because of a ministerial wreck at him, I simply want to say that he is the ideal of the good things that I like to talk about and work for. He's the best friend of the ministers of this country, England and Scotland, although he always seems to get the worst of the theology. Men will be judged, not by theology, but by religion, by the creed: 'Do justly, love mercy, walk humbly.' I know no man that does more to exemplify that creed than Mr. Carnegie."

Dr. Mackey opened the doors to Mr. Carnegie and promises him one of the best seats in the celestial city. From the standpoint of Dr. Mackey's church, and of the great creeds of Christendom, Mr. Carnegie is hopelessly lost. He does not believe in Christ (God), he does not believe in any future life, he believes, a fine man, but he is an out-and-out agnostic. Now, Dr. Mackey, from the point of view of the theology that he represents, has no right to save Mr. Carnegie.

PRODUCED THE COOK.

"Wall this is fine pie; the kind that mother used to make!" gleefully exclaimed the tall American standing at the lunch counter, as he ordered his third portion, when the train stopped fifteen minutes for refreshments at a little station in the far west.

After he had disposed of the third portion, the customer turned to the waiter and said: "Say, that was the best pie I've eaten since I left home. I can't say it any more, but I'll say it by thunder! anyone that can make pie like that can be my wife. Bring out the cook, and I'll marry her."

The waiter disappeared into the kitchen, returning a minute later leading a pig-tail Chinaman with a bland smile upon his face.

"Here's the cook," said the waiter, with a chuckle.

A roar of laughter from the other passengers the would-be bridegroom rushed back to the train.

"She-Dearest, tell me honestly. Have you ever loved another?"

He-Yes, darling, but that was when I was young and foolish and utterly irresponsible.

He-Oh! fully six months ago?

She-Dearest, the exact date and place of the deed, and added that his body was put into a sack and thrown into the river. He wanted her to find his body and to have it buried in the family grave.

This dream was repeated several times, and at last the sister sought the advice of her aged father-in-law. READ THE PROOF!

Read the announcement of the sale. Read the statement of the facts of the greatest sale of Men's and Boys Clothing and Furnishings ever held in Saint John. Many who read this will no doubt bring to mind the mammoth sale held by us ten years ago; but great as it was, it can only be compared to this one as a tallow dip to a one thousand candle power electric light.

Our $90,000 stock to be sold at half and less than half the prices prevailing elsewhere. We purpose after February first next to convert our business into a joint stock company, and we desire to have our stock at as low a point as possible at that time. So beginning Saturday, December 2nd and continuing for one week, you can buy our unequaled ready-to-put-on Suits, Overcoats, Trousers and Furnishings for both Men and Boys at less than the usual wholesale cost — which means that you can buy them at less than half the prevailing retail prices. Dollars will be double; little money will go a long way. Every bargain is a big one.

AN ALARMING SPREAD OF DISCONTENT IN THE ARMY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—The most alarming indication of the spread of disaffection in the army, extending even to regiments near the person of the emperor, was given in the arrest at Tsarskoe-Selo today of a number of soldiers belonging to the Yellow banners of the guard, the banners of the guard and the life guard regiments, for presenting a series of petitions, including one against the use of troops for police purposes.
The regiments in question are those which have been specially selected by General Trepoff to guard the emperor and his family. They have been counted upon as being loyal. Their arrest, however, although not for open sedition, shows how the leaven of discontent is working, even within the precincts of the imperial park at Tsarskoe-Selo.
The incident gave rise to most alarming rumors in St. Petersburg, including one to the effect that the emperor had actually been attacked and that a grand duke had been wounded while defending him, but the Associated Press is assured by a member of the imperial entourage at Tsarskoe-Selo that this is absolutely untrue.

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 30.—11 p. m.—During the battle between the rebel and loyal vessels of the Black Sea fleet, a mining ship, which had 200 Whitehead torpedoes and other explosives on board, was sunk by her commander, who feared that she would be struck by a shell. Some regiments with artillery have arrived here from Odessa and other places.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—Communication with the outside world ceased at 2 o'clock this afternoon when a strike was called in the general telegraph office. By a ruse, however, the message succeeded in re-opening the cable shortly after six o'clock.
At 3 o'clock when the strike went into operation, many of the operators were reluctant to leave, but a walking delegate promptly smashed a bottle of hydrochloric acid on the floor and the fumes drove the men from their keys.

The Danish cable operators remained at their posts, but the clerks having fled, messages were refused for three hours. Troops occupied the building, but the employees willing to work were terrorized and unable to return.
M. Sevastianoff, superintendent of posts and telegraphs, declares that the government has ample evidence to prove that the strike is a political conspiracy planned by the revolutionaries, the demand of the men for the reinstatement of the discharged leaders of the telegraphers' union at Moscow being a mere pretext, which, however, had deceived many operators and other employees of the service. M. Sevastianoff declares that it is impossible for the government to yield or be held up by its own servants, and that it is determined to fight out the matter to the bitter end.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—According to the Siovo, the mutineers themselves began the attack. After waiting until 2 o'clock in the afternoon for a reply to the demands of the mutineers, which included the convocation of a constituent assembly and the immediate realization of reforms promised in the imperial manifesto, Lieut. Schmidt opened fire on the city from ten vessels.
Vice-Admiral Chouknin replied from the loyal warships and General Baron Meller-Gakonselski from the southern forts and with the coast artillery. The mutinous sailors used rifles and machine guns upon the entrenched infantry.

The fight, the Siovo says, lasted for two and a quarter hours. The mutineers made a heroic struggle, but the odds were too heavy, and when the Gichakoff, battered to pieces and on fire, sank with the cruiser Dnieper and a transport, Lieut. Schmidt, who was mortally wounded, surrendered the mutinous squadron, and the mutinous sailors on shore hoisted their flag to the Brest and Mielosk regiments.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—Advised by telephone from Moscow, declares that the city is in a state of panic and the better classes are hurrying abroad. From 100 to 200 foreign passports are being issued at Moscow daily.
Mail advices from Warsaw say that the number of arrests of political offenders is on the increase and that the searching of premises by the police is continued. The political prisoners are marched through the streets guarded by dragoons with drawn swords. From Tobolsk, in Western Siberia, comes news of a great procession to the cemetery to commemorate the memory of several exiled "dissidents" who are buried there.
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 30.—The admiralty announces that it has received from General Kaubars, governor of Odessa, the following telegram addressed to him by Vice-Admiral Chouknin at Sebastopol, dated November 29:
"We wished to terminate the strife on November 23 by surrounding the mutinous division with troops and issuing an ultimatum for unconditional surrender. The mutineers, however, commenced to attack on the night of November 27, seizing the torpedo boat Sviyegod, and three others which had drawn near the cruiser Otchakoff.

"All the vessels flew red flags, while the Otchakoff flew the signal that Lieut. Schmidt was in command of the fleet.
"Then the lieutenant, who was on board the Sviyegod, sailed along the squadron, his crews cheering, but the other vessels did not respond to these cheers.
"One after another the craft on the eastern shore on the southern bay were seized by the mutineers and red flags hoisted.
"The plan which was first proposed was abandoned, and it was resolved to adopt energetic measures to prevent the situation from becoming worse.
"The Otchakoff then opened fire, to which the north shore battery and the loyal ships whose breach blocks had been restored, replied. The Sviyegod advanced to the attack, but was met with a strong fire from two cruisers, the Captain Cassen and the Panin, Merkur, and from the battleship Rostislav.
"The Sviyegod was immediately put out of action, as were also two other torpedo boats, one of which sank.
"The Otchakoff fired nearly six shots when she hoisted the white flag and the squadron ceased to fire.
"A conflagration broke out on the Otchakoff and boats were sent to rescue the survivors and to transfer those who had been wounded.
General Kaubars telegraphed later that he had just received a telegram from Captain Bergel, chief of Admiral Chouknin's staff, saying that during the night about 1,500 mutineers had surrendered, with ten quick-firing guns, to the Brest regiment, and that the barracks were occupied by the troops.

General Kaubars also forwarded an additional despatch from Admiral Chouknin, saying that the barracks in which the mutineers had defended themselves had been occupied by the troops.
General Kaubars' despatch says that the mutineers who surrendered together with those captured on the Otchakoff, number 200 (2,000) the majority of them being reservists who were sent to the barracks at the time of the mutiny.
A torpedo boat which was supposed to have been sunk was found today on the shore on fire.
The Otchakoff is floating, but her interior is gutted. The town is quiet.
Capt. Bergel telegraphs that Captain Slavotshinsky has died of his wounds.

FOOTBALL

PENNSYLVANIA WON

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Pennsylvania today defeated Cornell in their annual football game by the score of 6 to 5, the narrowest possible margin deciding the contest. It was the most stubbornly contested game that has been seen on Franklin field this season, and it was only after Cornell had been weakened by substitutions that Pennsylvania were able to cross the goal line. For one hour the local eleven had been held in check, really outplayed by the visitors and it began to look as though Cornell was to be the victor, but after they had made their touchdown and the eleven had changed goals, Pennsylvania, aided by the stiff wind, gradually forced the ball down the field for a touchdown.

In the first half Cornell outplayed Pennsylvania, except in kicking. The visitors gained 125 yards by rushing, against 72 for Pennsylvania. Twice they had the ball within striking distance of the Quaker goal line, but each time Pennsylvania braced and took the ball.

The score does not correctly show the relative strength of the two eleven, for Pennsylvania's fumbling prevented the local eleven from scoring at least two additional touchdowns. Twice they pushed the ball from midfield to within five yards of the Cornell goal, but on both occasions there was a fumble and the Ithaca boys kicked the ball out of danger.

Pennsylvania did not play with its usual dash and plainly showed the effects of the Columbia game last Saturday. Cornell, on the other hand, was in superb condition.

Nether team scored in the first half, but early in the second half Cornell, aided by the wind, forced the ball well within Pennsylvania's territory. After Cornell had carried the ball to Pennsylvania's 25-yard line the Quakers held firmly and took it away from the Ithaca boys. Shelle kicked, but the wind held the ball back and the Cornell eleven was unable to cross the Pennsylvania 50-yard line. From this point the visitors carried it over for a touchdown without losing it. Their main ground gain was a revolving mass on tackle which the Pennsylvania eleven seemed unable to stop. The touchdown was made at the corner of the gridiron and the punt was not heeled by Halliday, who dropped to the ground. This failure cost Cornell the point which would have tied the score.

The eleven that outkicked Walder on an average of from 10 to 15 yards. Pennsylvania soon got the ball on Cornell's 50-yard line. About this time Captain Costello and Half-backs Walder and Gibson, who had been the mainstay of the Cornell eleven, were forced to quit the game because of the fierceness of the play. Pennsylvania taking advantage of this condition started in to play harder than ever and soon carried the ball over for a touchdown directly in front of the posts. Shelle kicked an easy goal, giving Pennsylvania the victory.

Thompson, left guard of Cornell, was sent to the side lines in the opening half for deliberately striking Stevenson, ta.

JUSTICE PECKHAM IS INDIGNANT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Justice Peckham of the U. S. supreme court, in speaking last night of his reasons for resigning from the board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., said he learned "with astonishment and great indignation the facts testified to by Mr. McCurdy before the investigation commission that the funds of the company had been used to influence legislation, virtually to corrupt legislatures, and that they had been furnished to political parties as campaign contributions, both of which practices I regard as beyond the pale of propriety."

WILL BE A BIG JOB.

It is stated that the steamer Elaine is making ready to have her new Scotch boiler installed, as soon as it arrives from Glasgow on the Donaldson liner Tritonia. The boiler is a heavy item weighing in the vicinity of 22 tons with fittings, or about 18 tons alone. It will probably be lowered from the steamer to a large scow at Sand Point, and then towed through the Falls. The work will certainly be of the most strenuous order, and when Indian town is reached the proceedings will be quite as interesting. The boat will have to be considerably cut up to allow the placing of the boiler. The Tritonia is the only Donaldson liner coming to this port for the next two months that can freight the big boiler, as the smaller craft have not tackle large enough to swing it on and off.

FIREMAN FRED ALLEN SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Run Over By the Big Ladder Truck Last Night—A Dangerous Turn at the Foot of King St.

Frederick J. Allen, a member of No. 1 Engine Co., was badly injured last evening while going to a fire in F. Campbell & Co.'s hardware store, on Prince William street.

The alarm was sent in about ten o'clock from box 28 and it was while the big ladder truck was negotiating the turn at the foot of King street that Allen attempted to get on the foot board and met with the accident referred to.

Allen is the janitor of the Telegraph building, a married man with six children. When the big truck came around the corner of King street he made an effort to jump on one of the side rests but missed his foot hold and fell and once the rear wheels passed over his body.

He was at once taken to Hawker's drug store where he was attended by Dr. D. E. Berryman and later removed to the general public hospital in the ambulance. It is a puzzle to all who saw the accident how the man survived.

The truck was driven by James Gallagher, the regular driver, Charles Conway being ill. Gallagher handled the five place apparatus in splendid style and made a turn at the foot of King street that would have done credit to the veteran Conway.

While the truck was nearing the foot of King street a car that was at the usual stopping place started along Prince William street and the driver of the truck had to make a turn that was exceptional. The truck was fully half a dozen men on the truck and the action of the motorman endangered all the lives and was a direct violation of the fire regulations.

The hospital people said at noon that Allen was considerably improved. He regained consciousness about two o'clock in the morning and his relatives expect him to recover.

SENATOR ELLIS' HOUSE DAMAGED BY FIRE.

About noon today an alarm from box 34 called the fire department out for a fire which started in the kitchen of Senator J. V. Ellis' home on Princess street.

The housemaid had only left the kitchen a few minutes and when she returned the room was full of smoke and flames were running up the wall near a gas jet. Just how the fire started is not known, as the gas had not been lighted.

The fire department were very quick on the scene, and the fire was confined to the one wall of the kitchen. The damage will amount to the vicinity of about $100 or more.

The dense volume of smoke from the fire penetrated the house to some extent and but for the exertions of the salvage corps members and the members of the household the damage would have been considerable.

The house is the property of Thomas Gilbert and is insured, as are the contents.

MURRAY ST. MISSION'S GOOD WORK.

The annual executive meeting of the Murray street Baptist mission was held last evening.

The secretary of the school reported a large increase both in the enrolment and attendance. The total number enrolled in 1905 is 362. The average attendance for year to date is 111, making an increase of 14 in the average.

Encouraging reports were given by chairman of the different committees, showing that the institution is in a condition to do better work than ever. The treasurer reported that the school was in a fair condition financially.

The officers elected for 1906 were:—A. J. Deane, superintendent.

C. R. Wasson, associate superintendent.

F. F. Duval, school secretary.

S. Simms, assistant secretary.

A. J. Deane, treasurer.

Miss L. P. Harrington, superintendent primary department.

Miss J. Carle, secretary primary department.

Miss M. Wasson, superintendent cradle roll.

Miss A. M. Duval, superintendent home department.

S. Simms, secretary I. B. R. A.

George Grant, manual.

Miss L. P. Harrington, recording secretary.

Mr. McIntyre, W. E. Roop, temperance committee.

F. P. Poole, chairman prayer meeting committee.

Miss C. Leach, Miss B. Harrington, A. J. Deane, charity committee.

After the meeting tea was served in the mission building, and a vote of thanks was passed to the entertainers.

ATHENIA'S GOOD TRIP.

The Athenia, the splendid boat of the Donaldson Line built in 1904, arrived in port last night from Glasgow. She is registered at 5,142 tons. Her master is Wm. McNeill. The Athenia sailed on the 18th for this port but delayed by fog returned to port and finally sailed on the 21st. Her voyage across thus only occupied nine days and was a fast one.

Besides a large consignment of through freight, the following is destined for this port: Schofield & Co., Ltd., 1,229 bags of anthracite coal.

Manchester, Robertson and Allison, 1 case dry goods, F. W. Daniel & Co., 1 case of handkerchiefs, McIntyre and Co., 250 cases of cordage, 2 boxes of twine, 1 case of twine, 9 bales of twine, 92 cases of whiskey and 3 h'd's of whiskey.

The steamer Athenia docked at two o'clock this afternoon at No. 4 berth, West End. She brought about 160 passengers, most of whom are on their way to the west.

ANOTHER DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST THE CITY.

The case of Adams vs. the City of St. John occupies the attention of the circuit court this morning. The action was brought by James Adams and his wife for $500 damages for injuries alleged to have been received by Mrs. Adams of Prince street, Carleton, about eighteen months ago, when she states she fell into an excavation which city employees were making on Prince street and around which she claims no lights were placed. The case will come up this afternoon if no settlement is reached. W. B. Wallace, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff and Recorder Skinner for the city.

The case of Bryne vs. Bustin which was to have come up this morning was made a remand, the defendant being very ill.

WEDDINGS.

HIGGINS-BREWSTER.

The wedding took place on Wednesday, the 29th ult., a Frederick, of Wm. H. Higgins, of this city, and Miss Sadie Brewster, of Fredericton, daughter of Lemuel P. Brewster, of that city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Rogers of the Methodist church.

The ceremony took place at seven o'clock in the evening and immediately afterwards a wedding supper was served to permit the happy couple to take the nine o'clock train to this city. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Higgins will reside on Metcalf street. The young couple received many beautiful presents.

CHARTERS-HOWELL.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister on Watson street, West End, when Miss Mary R. Howell, of Carleton, Queens Co., was united in marriage to John B. Charters, of the C. P. R., West End. The nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. G. F. Scott. The bride looked pretty in a dress of white organdie and wore a bouquet of white carnations, and was unattended. Only the immediate relatives were present on account of the recent death of the groom's mother. After a pleasant evening the happy couple went to their home on St. George street.

WITH ADVERTISERS.

There are some bargain revelations for the women folks in Belyea's advertisement today. Look on page 5.

The hour sales which are advertised to take place on Saturday at F. A. Dykeman & Co.'s store are an innovation to this town. Those that they have held have been very successful and the women who have patronized them are in earnest over the bargain secured.

Tooth Hints!

"When ought we to go to the dentist?"

Many think it unnecessary to devote particular attention to the teeth until the appearance of the mouth is affected by damaged, decayed or broken teeth. Others give their teeth no attention till they compel them.

The stupidity of a short-sightedness of either policy is evident.

Every one who thinks a moment on the subject knows that we cannot masticate our food satisfactorily if one or more of the teeth are tender, inflamed, decayed or otherwise out of working order; and that if this be the case the mouth requires immediate attention.

Painless extracting, 15c.; Filling, 50c. up. Best $5.00 teeth in the world.
