BRITISH AMBASSADOR ASKS
ABOUT BELLINGHAM RIOTS

And is Told That Press Reports Were Greatly Exaggerated—The Offenders Have Been Arrested—No Fear of Further Violence

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 20.—A dispatch from Olympia says: The disorders at Bellingham several days ago which resulted in the intimidation of the Hindus and caused their departure from that city has been brought to the attention of the state department at Washington through a note from the British ambassador. The ambassador states that he has been informed that a majority of the Hindus have left Bellingham for Canada in consequence of the trouble and that those at Everett are in fear of an outbreak. Acting Secretary of State Adee wired Governor Mead the substance of the ambassador's note and asked that he be advised as to the situation.
On receipt of this note the governor wired Mayor Black at Bellingham and Mayor Newton Jones at Everett to ascertain the conditions in those cities and has received these replies, which were communicated to Washington.
Bellingham—Hindus have largely left here. There is no danger of trouble under present conditions. No force has been used. They were ordered out of town by a crowd of men and boys. I saw no sufficient officers to protect them and so notified the interpreter. I also saw the arrest and prosecution of the rioters. Press reports are greatly exaggerated. Hindus are receiving and will receive full protection.
(Signed) ALFRED L. BLACK, Mayor.

Everett, Wn.—Am in receipt of your telegram and as the mayor is out of town, and cannot be located I will state there are no indications of any trouble. Have been instructed by the mayor in case of trouble to deputize every available man.
(Signed) SCOTT MARSHALL, Chief of Police.

RICH GOLD FIND
NEAR TEMAGAMI
Great Bonanza Discovery Made South of Cobalt—Enormous Value Reported.

COBALT, Sept. 19.—What will likely be the greatest bonanza discovery in the wilds of New Ontario was made a few days ago about thirty miles south of this camp and about five miles from Temagami Station. Mr. G. W. Wallace, of Detroit, a prominent investor and well-informed mining man, visited the property today, and states positively that the find is gold in the richest form possible. The prospectors who discovered it are Messrs. Boyk and Turner, and they have been developing the property for the last six weeks. The shaft is down six feet to a point where two veins meet and in one was found calc pyrite carrying about four per cent. copper. When operations were started the interpreter also saved the two veins meet and in one was found calc pyrite carrying about four per cent. copper. AMERICAN BICYCLISTS
ARE RACING IN FRANCE
PARIS, Sept. 20.—Two American bicyclists, McLean and Collins, rode here last evening and were given a popular reception. McLean beat Simar, one of the crack French riders in the first contest, but Simar came in ahead of Collins in the race.

BASEBALL SALARIES
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—The managers of tri-state leagues at their annual meeting held here last night decided that salary limit for clubs in the league should be limited to $2,000 a month. Where the club has a playing manager the limit was fixed at $2,300. Each club will be required to file a bond of at least $2,000 as a guarantee of good faith. The pennant was formally awarded to Williamsport.

THE COLLINS TRIAL
HOPEWELL CAPE, Sept. 20.—Only three witnesses were examined at the Collins trial until adjournment at one o'clock. Those were Michael Toeben, Thomas Melin and Mrs. Sarah Williamson. Their evidence produced nothing new. The attendance this morning was very small, little interest being taken.

MONTREAL MAN IS MISSING FROM HALIFAX

HALIFAX, Sept. 20.—On August 14th James Corley, of Montreal, was seen taking a train car on Hollis street going north and this is the last trace of him that has been had by parties anxious to find him. He intended going to a north end hotel, but enquiries showed he did not reach there. Efforts have been made to locate him, but without success.
He came here to consult the management of large business house regarding a position and was well recommended and known to be well connected. He put up at a Hollis street hotel and after remaining there about a week decided to remove to a north end house, whether he was thought to be going to Montreal or not. At the time of his disappearance it was thought by those with whom he had been doing business that he had not gone to Montreal and that the last his friends knew of him was he was in Halifax and intended remaining here for a time. When this information was received this week efforts were made to locate him, but without success.
CORLEY is the man who is said in the Halifax despatch to be missing and fears are entertained as to what has happened to him. His family here are not disturbed as he went to the Maritime Provinces every year and spent a couple of months much of his time in the country. He was careless about leaving his address and frequently he has gone travelling without saying where he was going. He is connected with a family living at 131 St. Alexander street, Montreal.

GAUGHT AT PRESIDENT'S DOOR
Man Wanted Roosevelt to Help Him Collect $10,000,000 From Rockefeller.

OYSTER BAY, Sept. 19.—Secret Service Wash was on duty in front of President Roosevelt's house at Sagamore Hill at 7 o'clock tonight when he saw a man dressed in overalls and wearing a slouch hat step around from the rear of the house. Wash didn't say anything at first, because he thought the man might be employed on the farm, but when he went up on the porch and started to ring the doorbell Wash asked him what he wanted.
"Want to see the President to get him to make John D. Rockefeller pay me $10,000,000 he owes me," the man said, "I know that's the only way I'll ever get the money."
Washer asked the man about himself and the visitor in the overalls said he was Orlando Toland and had come all the way from Oxford, Ala., to see the President. He said that he had beaten his way on freight trains to Washington and when he found the President he stole a ride to New York. He looked all the way out to Oyster Bay, he said.
Washer then sent a hurry call to the secret service men who know the Government automobiles and the man was rushed down to the executive offices. There secret service men who know Alabama questioned him, and were convinced that he was telling the truth. Before it was decided what to do with Toland the secret service man routed out of bed Constable Charley Townsend with the idea of putting him in the lockup. When they talked with the man a little more they decided that he was perfectly harmless, gave him $100.000 and he was ordered to pay Toland what he owed him on sight, and then sent him to New York on the 10 o'clock train.
Toland told the officers that Rockefeller offered him $50,000,000 if he would find out who murdered a certain woman in St. Paul. He said he didn't discover the murderer, but thought his work on the case was worth at least $10,000,000.

It is looking blue here for our fishermen this year. Herring are very scarce and it has been twenty years since there have been so few fish on the island as at present. Seal Cove has a few, Grand Harbor none. White Head some, Westward's Cove half a dozen, and twenty-five thousand is all there are. Some of the net fishermen have done well, but the market price has gone down, and the American buyers are here giving $1.40 per barrel and some consider this a big price and sell all they have. By thus doing they are taken out of our market. The demand will be large and our buyers will not have the goods to sell.—Grand Manan Cor. in St. Croix Courier.

DIPLOMATS ARE PLAYING THE GAME

Morocco Furnishes Pretext for Settling Other Scores.
France and Spain Will be Given Further Powers, But Germany Demands a Quid Pro Quo.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—For those who are interested to know how the game of diplomacy is played there is a striking object lesson in the attempt now being made to secure the agreement of the European powers on a policy for dealing with the Morocco crisis. It is obvious to anybody that the limited powers given to France and Spain by the Algeiras agreement to police the coast towns without any interference with the sovereignty of the Sultan are utterly inadequate for meeting the present emergency. It is clear that executive military action is necessary to suppress anarchy and restore some semblance of order.
It seems simple enough to obtain general consent to the adoption of these measures under proper restrictions and guarantees. The need of prompt action is pressing because the season of bad weather is close at hand, and as soon as the storms come, the warships which are anchored off Casablanca and other points, must leave, for the harbors exist in name only. This is the opportunity for which the fanatic Moors are waiting. They know that they are powerless within the range of the ship's guns, but they have little fear from the small land forces located at most of the coast towns.
France and Spain, after consultation with Great Britain, soon agreed that the only thing to be done was to send a sufficient force to each town to hold it against attack without the aid of warships. This plan was then submitted to Germany for approval, her consent being the only point in doubt. Now diplomacy never gives anything for nothing. This, at least, is the first principle of the game as played in the Old World. Germany's answer was very disappointing to France. It was a refusal, but she was indeed, full approval of the proposed policy, provided the situation was as represented. But Germany, as a matter of fact, is in better terms with France than at any time since the War of 1870. Moreover, she has no intention of doing either. She is perfectly willing that France shall have a free hand in Morocco. She is simply trying to get the most she can out of the cards she holds.
German public opinion has been educated into great suspicion of French designs on Morocco, and this must be placated. Germany's refusal of her consent to the Moroccan programme has already accomplished this. It has called out from France and Spain renewed and sweeping avowals of self-abnegation. They have given fresh pledges to respect Moroccan independence under all circumstances, and that troops shall confine themselves to police duty as defined in the Algeiras convention.
Under these circumstances, and when other points pending between the two governments have been quietly talked over, it may be expected that Germany will graciously give way. France will get what she wants, Germany will have greatly, a point or two in other directions, and everybody will be happy. Such is diplomacy up-to-date.

ELEVEN VESSELS WRECKED ON NEWFOUNDLAND COAST

The Worst Storm in Forty Years Prevailed Yesterday—Five Lives Were Lost.
ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Sept. 19.—The worst equinoctial gale recorded here in 40 years swept the Newfoundland coast today. Tonight's reports from fishing towns and settlements showed that the storm struck many fishing vessels and eleven schooners and stumps were driven ashore at various points, and foundered at their moorings. A large number of vessels are on their way to Newfoundland from Labrador, whose fishing season closed a few days ago, and it is feared more disasters will be reported.
The eleven vessels wrecked put into half a dozen harbors for shelter, but were driven ashore or sunk. Most of these lost had full cargoes of fish.
DOUBLE SUNSET.
Percival Spencer, in an account of a balloon ascent from Hackett, says that a peculiar effect was the double sunset which was observed. The sun seemed to set twice as the balloon arose and fell alternately.

ATTEMPTED TO KILL A WHOLE FAMILY

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 19.—A mysterious prisoner probably afflicted with a mania for taking life, is causing terror among families in the neighborhood of Gerst Alley, Allegheny. Having been successful in causing the death of a number of horses and dogs, the prisoner is believed to have attempted yesterday to kill a whole family.
The victims are:
Mrs. Maggie Hoffman, 44 years old; Fred Hoffman, 22; Charles Hoffman, 7; Esther Hoffman, 5; Eveline Tuscher, 19 years old, the child of a neighbor. The family had eaten some soup for dinner that had been kept in an outside refrigerator overnight. Immediately after the meal the entire family was taken so seriously ill that physicians were called and found them suffering from arsenic poisoning.

AFTER SHOOTING COMPANIONS

INTERMEDIATE FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE IN LINE
All Ready for the Season's Sport—The Probable Schedule and the List of Players.

The Intermediate Football League has completed their arrangements for the season's campaign and all four teams are practicing hard each night. The Victorias, winners of the cup in 1906, have a strong line-up, composed mostly of the players of last year, although a new player or two can be found in the forward line. The Victorias are anxious to get a better hold upon the cup—which they must win three times in order to own outright—and expect to be required to play first-class football in order to do so. The cup is a very handsome one of silver lined with gold. It was donated by Principal J. E. Moore, of Rothesay College. The city championship goes with the cup so that it is indeed a prize worth striving for.
The boys are advertising and working hard generally in an endeavor to make the season a success from a financial, as well as an athletic standpoint.
Arrangements for the entire series of games have not yet been completed but Saturday's game will take place on the Shamrock grounds.
The following schedule has been agreed upon by the league executive:
Sept. 21—Victorias and Miemas, C. B. U. and La Tours.
Sept. 28—Victorias and La Tours; Miemas and C. B. U.
Oct. 5—C. B. U. and La Tours; Victorias and Miemas.
Oct. 12—C. B. U. and Victorias; Miemas and La Tours.
Oct. 19—Miemas and C. B. U.; Victorias and La Tours.
Oct. 26—La Tours and Miemas; Victorias and C. B. U.
The line-up of the teams will be as follows:
Victorias—Full, Corbett; halves, Les, Schofield, Murry, Devers; quarters, Roberts, Kewey; forwards, Sullivan, E. Finlay, Jas. Gorham, Scott, O. Wilson, F. Wilson, Parker, Daniels.
C. B. U.—Full, Tom Murry; halves, Speight, Howard, Everett, Murphy; quarters, Baskin, Barry; forwards, C. O'Brien, Leggett, Noble, Cushing, Hart, McLaughlin, Todd.
La Tours—Full, Wm. Morrissey; halves, Oet, Pike, Drinan, G. Clarke, Murphy; forwards, B. Simpson, R. Armstrong, forwards, F. Pike, B. Stewart, J. Murphy, A. Lanagan, A. Duffy, H. Clark, G. Johnston, A. Estabrook.

SCOTCH WHISKEY TO GO UP
Only Obstacle to Raise of Price is Immenese Stock on Hand.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Drinkers of Scotch whiskey must be prepared shortly to pay higher for their favorite beverage. The distillers say that owing to the great rise in the price of coal and the increase in the price of barley, due to a sunless summer, the cost of production has been raised to a point which leaves little or no profit.
They accordingly are convening a meeting to discuss the raising of prices. There are, however, considerable difficulties in this case, inasmuch as there are too many producers and the stocks already landed are overwhelmingly large.
The number of distillers in Scotland is 184, of whom 92 produce Highland malt whiskey, and the stocks amount to 118,000,000 proof gallons, equivalent to more than four years supply. One suggestion dealing with the situation is that the distillers organize and act by the public that such was the inducement to play.
This does not meet with entire approval, some of the most prominent distillers regarding it as impracticable.

BASEBALL SITUATION IS ALL MIXED UP

The local baseball situation has taken an interesting turn and, while it was thought that the season had practically ended so far as local supremacy was concerned, the new phases and an element of uncertainty.
When the Marathons played the recent series with the St. Joseph's latter were looked upon as winners of the Inter-Society league series, and therefore eligible to play for the championship of the city, and it was understood by followers of the game and by the public that such was the inducement to play.
As a matter of fact the St. Joseph's are not yet winners in the Inter-Society league, nor could they rightfully make a claim that they were until the executive of the league had awarded them the championship.
By letting the recent game with St. Rose's go by default, they allowed St. Peter's to tie them for first place. The St. Joseph's and the North End boys have one game each to play with the P. M. A. team. If both win or if both lose they will still be tie, and there will be a play-off. If one should lose and the other win against St. Rose's, the winner in this case would be winner of the league series also.
If St. Joseph's should finally win out no doubt the Marathons will be left in undisturbed possession of their hard earned title of city champions, but if, on the other hand, St. Peter's should win, it would leave the whole matter in a very unsatisfactory condition. It is quite natural that the North End boys would wish to have a look-in for the championship, and it is probable that the Marathons would be reluctant to play a second time for a title they have already fought for once.

Boy Murderer at Limestone, Me., Forgot His Plan and Used Up All His Cartridges—Preliminary Hearing at Houlton

HOULTON, Sept. 20.—The grand jury sitting at the September judicial court on Thursday considered the case of Guy or Augustus Tardy, who was brought here from Limestone and lodged in jail for the alleged murder of Oscar and Stephen Downing on Tuesday, Sept. 17. Four witnesses were summoned to give testimony before the jury, Carl Hammond, James Phair, Dr. Damon and Hubbard, all of Limestone or vicinity, besides Fred Tardy, cousin of the accused who was held as the only eye witness of the shooting.
Fred Tardy's story of the tragedy is substantially as follows:
"The four of us started out hunting. All of us had firearms. I had a 22 Winchester, Guy had a 20-30 repeater, Oscar Downing a .44 rifle and Steve Downing a 12 revolver. We struck the woods back of Jim Phair's pasture and after beating around for a while came out in a clearing. When we were at the long fence, Guy and I said that we were going home. The Downing boys wanted us to stay with them and hunt a while longer.
"We started along after quite a growl. Then the Downing boys came running after us. Oscar said to Guy, 'Now, we'll settle this matter right here.' There's nothing to settle,' says Guy.
"There was some more talk and Steve came along and takes me by the shoulder and tells Oscar to 'get Guy'. Just then Oscar is making for him, Guy brings up his rifle and fires at him, and he falls; then he whirrs and fires at Steve who dropped. 'We started for home and went on but a little ways when Guy fires three shots in the air. Then he says, 'What have I done; I wanted one shot to kill myself; I had one cartridge with me and threw it away, because I was afraid he might take the rifle away from me and shoot himself. When he got home he tried to get some more cartridges for his rifle and then said he was going to cut his throat with his hunting knife.'
"When he saw that his father was feeling bad about the shooting he says, 'Don't cry, father, there's nothing to cry about.' He acted funny and I should say he was not in his right mind at all."
The bodies of the two Downing boys were taken to an undertaking establishment at Limestone. Examination showed that Steve Downing was shot through the brain, the bullet making a terrible wound. Oscar Downing was shot in the neck, the bullet cutting the jugular. He lived a few minutes and walked and crawled 27 feet from the spot where he was standing when shot. Guy Tardy was thought well of here and considered inoffensive. There had, as far as known, never been any previous trouble among the boys.
Guy Tardy has a father, mother and sister who are nearly prostrated over the sad affair.
Young Tardy says that he remembers nothing of any shooting and cannot be induced to talk on the subject.

TRIUMPH OF THE SUBMARINE.

On July 13, 1912, in the course of Great Britain's war with the United States, over the right of neutrals, H. M. S. Ramilies was lying at anchor off New London, blockading that town. The Ramilies was commanded by Captain Hardy, the Hardy of Nelson fame. The deck stony on duty, happened to look astern, observed an object rising to the surface close to the ship. He sang out, "Boat show!" On this the submarine for such it was immediately disappeared. An alarm gun was at once fired, and all hands were piled to quarters. The cables were cut and the vessel got under way. Once more the mysterious stranger rose to the surface, but before the guns could be trained upon it it dived again, and fastened itself on the keel of the British ship. There it remained for half an hour, during which time the man who was in it succeeded in drilling a hole through the copper of the Ramilies, and the screw with which he was attaching the explosive to the bottom broke, so that the attempt to sink the ship failed. The account of this attack on his ship is given by Captain Hardy in his autobiography, and he adds that the inventor of this diving boat was stated to be able to propel it at the rate of three miles an hour under water, and could ascend and descend at pleasure.

THE BEGINNING. It would be a long story to give an account of all the submarine boats which were actually made and used with more or less success from 1792 to 1796; but in 1776, in the war between this country and the American colonies, no fewer than three unsuccessful attempts were made upon English war-vessels. The submarine in its first case came in contact with the bottom of the ship, and the attempts to sink them only failed on account of the difficulty experienced in attaching the explosives to the copper-plated hulls.

In 1797, Robert Fulton, the distinguished American inventor, designed a submarine and strongly urged its use by the French in their war with this country, and in 1801 a submarine, built under Fulton's directions with funds supplied by Napoleon, was launched on the Seine and was named the Nautilus. This submarine in its trials remained under water at a depth of over twenty-two fathoms for one hour, and demonstrated its offensive powers by blowing up an old schooner at Brest in August, 1801, by means of a torpedo; while it made an under-water run of five hundred yards in seven minutes.

If the submarine to become the rod-like badius of the narrow seas? Are these arteries of the world's commerce, once infected by this iron brood, to become uninhabitable by the battleships of the modern war fleet?

The French, across the Channel, have as many as one hundred of these uncanny little craft, while up to the present there are sixty British boats either built or building.

Our first submarine was launched at Barrow-in-Furness about six years ago. Since that date we have steadily built every year in numbers which have steadily increased. In 1906, our policy has been to construct them of greater and still greater displacement. The first submarines had a tonnage of only 120 in 1901, and this rose to 180 in 1902, 200 in 1903, and 300 in 1904, 1905, while the latest British D-type boats, as yet not finished, are to be of still larger size.

Undoubtedly, the general consensus of opinion in America, France, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, Japan, Russia, and indeed all nations possessing any pretence to a sea power of however small extent, is to confirm the permanent importance of the submarine.

PREDICTED DEVELOPMENTS. The rats of building and the size of the vessels built are increasing everywhere. Commander Suter, in his book on the "Evolution of the Submarine," and many of the weighty authorities whom he quotes hold the view that not only is the submarine coming to stay, but that in the immediate future its numbers will multiply very largely. Not only is the submarine destined to be of enormous importance to the navies of the greatest maritime powers, but the possession of these boats much better returns for money expended than can be obtained by the purchase of second-class battleships and small cruisers of even the best construction and fitted with the most modern equipment.

The submarine boat, however old, if kept well in repair and in an efficient condition, armed with the latest pattern locomotive torpedo, has always the means of inflicting a blow that will place a hostile ship in a precarious condition until she reaches port, even if nothing worse happens.

The cost of a submarine may vary from $100,000 to $250,000, according to its tonnage. This cost is at the most not more than about one-half the amount expended upon a first-class torpedo-boat destroyer, while for every battleship costing a million pounds or more, it is necessary to build at least twenty submarines of first-class construction can be obtained.

The present-day submarine can travel under its own power and in the severest weather as much as 500 miles, as was actually the case with two Russian vessels, which travelled under these conditions from Libau to Cronstadt in 1905. These two vessels were not, however, used in the Russo-Japanese war for the very good reason that there were no crews sufficiently trained in navigation and manoeuvring to render it possible to employ them with safety.

The successful submarine navigator, unlike the poet, has to be made by practice, and is not born to the art. Starting with well-disciplined man-of-war's men, a period of about one year is necessary in which to enable seamen to obtain the special experience which is essential for crews of this type of vessel if the submarine is to become an effective fighting unit.

IN ATTACK. What can a submarine, properly manned, actually accomplish? It can travel under favorable weather conditions at thirteen knots in surface trim, that is, with its coming tower

W. ALLAN BLACK, Prop. TOAD ALIVE AND 6000 YEARS OLD

Dug Out of Solid Cement Bed by an Australian Miner.

A miner has sent to the Zoological Gardens, Perth, in Australia, a live toad which he dug out of strata of hard cement while sinking a shaft with explosives. It is believed that the creature has been entombed for centuries.

When released from confinement the toad was quite inanimate. Its eyes, which were transparent, with no pupils, gradually became normal, and it is now in excellent health.

The chamber in which it was confined was perfectly smooth, and there was no room for movement. The toad is now being examined by zoologists.

The secretary of the zoological gardens cites an instance of a toad being found in a bed of magnesium limestone twenty-five feet under the earth. The age of the toad was believed to be 6000 years. This creature was presented to the Hartlepool museum.

"It is well known," he says, "that toads at the present day bury themselves in mud when the water in their tanks have been living dried up, and so remain there till the next rains come."

"If a drought sets in, and no rain comes to that spot, there will be no change in the condition of the toad, and therefore nothing to bring him out there somehow. In some cases they have been found in great depths under the surface imbedded in rock, as in the present instance."

"The toads seem to be in a state of suspended animation, and do not lose weight when in that condition."

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 20, 1907.

CHURCH UNION.

R. v. George Steel and Judge Forbes, who are members of the church union committee, returning to St. John, have expressed their opinion that the success of the proposed union is only a matter of time, and their satisfaction with the progress made at the meeting of the committee, just closed.

Their opinion on this matter is warmly supported by many other energetic workers for the cause. A unanimous vote in favor of union was taken at this recent meeting and in addition numbers of the members of the committee added personal expressions to the general decision.

The impression seems to be that there is no need of any undue haste. The desire is to go as far as possible at the present time, but it is felt that if any effort were made to rush matters many individual churches might raise objections and this would undoubtedly result in a weakness.

The feeling in the west, it is found, is very pronounced in favor of union, and this is explained naturally enough by the fact that such church reorganization would particularly suit the needs and conditions of that country. The newer sections of Canada would receive the greatest benefit in the economy of men and money.

Members of the three denominations all over Canada now want information. While reports of the committee meetings have from time to time been given out, there has not been any sort of an educational campaign carried on by which the ordinary newspaper reader can gain a comprehensive idea of the proposed scheme of union. If all church members had been privileged to attend the meetings of the joint committee and of the various governing bodies of the churches during the past three or four years they would be, of course, well qualified to express decided opinions one way or the other. If they saw how conservative old clergymen and elders who at first were strongly opposed to the movement are now numbered among its heartiest advocates, they would not hesitate in pronouncing a verdict. But before a general vote can be taken, a more thorough understanding of the terms so far agreed upon must be had. It was anticipated that there would be some difficulty in the choice of names for the church and its courts, but oddly enough this has been overcome with practically no discussion, the three bodies having exhibited a desire to give way to the wishes of the whole.

It has been decided that the highest governing body of the church will be the general council, which is the Congregational term for district government, the annual conference, which is the name of the present Methodist body, will be retained; and for the lowest courts the word Presbytery will still prevail.

The committee workers find that in some sections there is a sentiment among people that they are leaving the church of their fathers and turning into a new channel and that, if union were brought about, the Anglican church would profit by it, for a number of Presbyterians would rather go into the Anglican church than into the united church. Still, it is hoped that this feeling will be overcome in time. Certainly the progress up till today has been all that could be desired.

CRUELTY TO BABIES.

St. John ought to have a society for the prevention of cruelty to babies, and if such were formed it could find more work than is now being done by all other organizations combined. Men and women of this city are perhaps no worse than those of other places, but if babies are everywhere treated so inhumanly as many of them are here it is miraculous that the physical standard of Canada remains so high. At almost any hour of the night, if you go to any of the streets, or to any of the tenements, or to any of the streets, dragged about town by pleasure-seeking parents. Helpless little ones, too young to really appreciate their sufferings, are carried or wheeled through the crowded streets night after night; are taken by their fathers or mothers on Saturday evening shopping expeditions, are bundled into popular amusement halls, where they cry themselves to sleep, and selfish parents amuse the entertainers. They are to be seen in all public places, forced to sit for hours staring at something of which they have absolutely no understanding, are urged to keep quiet, and are ill-treated when they cry. There are some mothers—a good many of them in this city—who give no more thought to the needs of their babies, than if the little ones were rag dolls; who as a matter of course drag the children around wherever they themselves may happen to go; and who in later years wonder why their sons and daughters are not strong and healthy.

Of course it is hard to be tied down. Many women who must do shopping have no one with whom the babies can be left while they go out. But those same mothers, having the Saturday night habit, never dream that their shopping should be done in the early afternoon. Some of them are selfish, others are only thoughtless, but the effect on the constitution of the baby is the same in the end. A little more care would put an end to the present reprehensible custom of dragging helpless infants who should be in bed, about the streets at night.

"SO KIND YOU ARE."
(By Walter Byrner)
You have an eye warmer brown Than autumn days away from town, But will not let me speak my mind, So kind you are and so unkind.

You have a cheek as white and red As apple blossoms overhead, Just where the sunshine strikes me blind, So kind you are and so unkind.

You have a voice with all the moods Of twilight and of solitude, But lights to leave me as the wind, So kind you are and so unkind.

You have, however far I be, A trick of coming near to me— Tho' out of sight, not out of mind, So kind you are and so unkind.

The way would seem not half so soon To reach your heart as reach the moon, Yet it's a way I'll surely find— So kind you are and so unkind.

THE FIRST KISS.
(After Sappho, by John Myers O'Hara.)
Upon the couch that she, Relaxed supine upon it, Might give her lips to me.

As some enamored priestess At Aphrodite's shrine, Entranced I bent above her With sense of the divine.

She had, by nature noble, In years a child, no hint Of any secret knowledge Of passion's least intent.

Her mouth for immolation Was ripe, and mine the art; And one long kiss of passion Deflowered her virgin heart.

GENEVEVE.
(By Sara Teasdale.)
I was a queen, and I have lost my crown, A wife, and I have broken all my vows, A lover, and I rubbed him I loved— There is no other havoc left to do. A little month ago I was a queen, And mothers held their babies up to see, When I came out of Camelot.

The woman said, and all the world smiled too, And now, what woman's eyes would smile at me? I still am beautiful, and yet what child would think of me as some high, heaven-sent thing.

An angel, dead in gold and miniver? The world would run from me, and yet I am I. No different from the queen they used to love.

It water, flowing silver over stones, Is foisted, and beneath the horses' feet Grows turbid suddenly, it clears again, And men will drink it with no thought of harm.

Yet I am branded for a single fault. I was the flower amid a tolling world, Where people smiled to see one happy thing, And they were proud and glad to raise me high; They only asked that I should be right fair.

A little kind, and gowned wondrously, And surely it was little praise to me If I had done it well throughout my life.

I was a queen, the daughter of a king, The crown was never heavy on my head, And I was right, and was a part of me. The women thought me proud, the men were kind, And loved right gallantly to kiss my hand.

And watched me as I passed them calmly by, Along the halls I shall not tread again. What if, tonight, I should revisit them? The wardens at the gates, the kitchen-maids, The very beggars would stand off from me, And if their queen, would climb the stairs alone.

Pass thro' the banquet hall, a loathed thing, Xn seek my chambers for a hiding-place, And I should find them but a specler, The very rufes rotted on the floors, The fire in ashes on the freezing hearth.

I was queen, and he who loved me best Made me a woman for a night and day, And now I go unquenched forevermore. A queen should never dream on summer eves, When hovering spells are heavy in the dusk— I think no night was ever quite so still.

So smoothly lit with red along the west, So deeply hushed with quiet thro' and thro', And strangely clear, and deeply dyed with light, The trees stood straight against a paling sky, With Venus burning lamp-like in the west.

I walked alone amid a thousand flowers, That drooped their heads and drowsed beneath the dew, And all my thoughts were quieted to sleep. Behind me, on the walk, I heard a step.

I did not know my heart could tell his tread, I did not know I loved him till that hour. Within my heart I felt a wild, sick pain, The garden reeled a little, I was weak, And quick he came behind me, caught my arm, That adored beneath his touch, and then I swayed, My head fell backward and I saw his face.

All this grows bitter that was once so sweet, And many mouths must drain the dregs of it, And none will pity me, nor pity him, Whom Love so lashed, and with such cruel thongs.

CRITICIZES RUNNING CARD OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor of The Star: Dear Sir— I herewith enclose a copy of the running card of the St. John fire department, or at least that part of it having to do with the hose wagons and steam fire engines. In all cases a H. and L. truck and a chemical engine respond on all first alarms.

Box 136 is a new box installed since the card was issued. The same apparatus that responds to box 132 should respond to it.

I want to call your attention particularly to the number of boxes (31 in all) to which if a second alarm is sounded from any of them, not any of the apparatus still at quarters would respond and if another engine and hose wagon should be required, it would be necessary to sound a second alarm and then a third alarm.

There are also five (5) boxes from which, if assistance was required after the first alarm, it would be necessary by the running card to sound a general alarm, as there is no apparatus down to respond to them, either on second or third alarms.

There are also 28 boxes to which if a third alarm was sounded there would be no apparatus respond. A first alarm from box 4, cor. Sewell and Coburg streets (residential district) brings the apparatus from Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and a second alarm brings the apparatus from No. 4.

From box 45, cor. of British and Charlotte streets, in which territory are situated large factories and mills, and always with a good breeze from the water front, a first alarm brings only Nos. 1 and 2, and a second alarm brings only No. 5. No apparatus responds on a third alarm.

Box 27, situated at Breeze's corner would be sounded for a fire on the north side of King Square (residential district). I find that on a first alarm being sounded no apparatus at quarters would respond, but if it would be necessary to sound a second alarm, and then a third alarm to secure the assistance of the apparatus at No. 4 station.

Some time ago that the telephone could be used to call an additional engine and hose wagon, which would be quite easy during the day, but difficult at night, but we must remember that the necessary men to work the additional hose could not be reached by telephone, and would only respond on the alarm as per the running card.

I have probably taken up sufficient space with a subject that will only receive passing notice by the business men of this city, but we should not lose sight of the fact that in case of a large fire, the fire department and a good water supply is our only salvation, and it seems reasonable that every time an alarm is sounded something in the shape of fire apparatus should respond.

I am yours etc, JOHN M. JENKINS.

Herbert Norrey, Salsbury, was in town this week, and reports shipments of 46,600 quarts of blueberries to the Sussex Packing Company. Mr. Norrey has been in the business for 15 years, and claims that this has been the best season from the standpoint of crops and prices in his experience.

The blueberries are all handled in barrels and forty pickers were engaged in the work. The dead weight of the shipments was 35 tons. The berries came from Turtle Creek near Salsbury, where the barrens were simply carpeted with the fruit—Sussex Record.

Postal regulations as applied to Charlotte county are fearful and wonderful things to contemplate. With trains passing the doors of the post offices several times each day, Lawrence Station and Dumbarton Station are only supplied with mails three times per week, but the depth of mystery is reached in postal regulations affecting the Shore Line service. Trains bound east are not allowed to deliver mail at Fenfield, Lepreaux, or other stations east of St. George. All mail matter from St. Stephen must first be sent to St. John, and delivered at its destination from trains bound west the following day, thereby causing a delay of one day. Inspector Coulter could spend some time in this county to the profit of the people—Courier.

CAUGHT A MONSTER TROUT IN THE THAMES

The oldest inhabitant of Harrington, on the River Thames, is no more. That it belonged to the fish population would, in the ordinary way, detract considerably from the interest felt in its demise, but in this case all the neighborhood are talking about the affair, while Mr. James Brigg, a young man living in Wightman Road, Harrington, is the hero of the hour.

The son of a keen sportsman, young Brigg is an ardent angler, and he effected a remarkable catch the other morning in the New river, which flows at the bottom of his garden. For over two years the mouths of all the professional and amateur anglers in the district have watered at the sight of a huge trout, which often nibbled at the tempting bait, but who evidently thought he was far too old in the tooth to be caught by such measures. It is, however, the old tale of the pitcher that went once too often to the well. He was captured at last.

Mr. James Brigg, in making the capture, used an ordinarily two-jointed sea rod, and baited his hook with a convenient worm dug up from the garden. After fishing for some little time he got a bite. Describing the affair, he said: "I could tell it was a big fish, but I managed to land it after about three-quarters of an hour's struggle. It turned out to be a trout weighing 18 lbs., and measuring 2 feet 6 inches in length, and 22 inches round the body. We have seen it in the water for over two years, and many anglers have had a try for it, but I little expected that I should be the one to catch it."

"BIG FISH TO BE CAUGHT." "Before this, I have caught a number of Jack in the river, but the biggest has not been more than 4 1/2 lbs." The fish has been sent to be stuffed, and it will occupy a place among a host of other stuffed animals and fish that are to be seen in Mr. Brigg's house. The taxidermist who has the fish to stuff says that it must be quite 100 years old, and in support of his theory he pointed out the horn-like growth, which comes with old age, many years to attain to any size. This growth which comes with old age, generally forces the mouth open so that the fish is unable to retain a small fish when caught for food.

But this trout has managed to wear away the bone above, so that the horn-like projection fits into it as in a groove. That accounts for the splendid condition of the captured fish, as it has been able to eat as well until recently as it probably did a century ago.

CHAMPION TROUT FOR LONDON. The 15th New River trout must be considered (says an angling expert) the champion trout for London's angling waters, though several Thames fish have run it closely. Below Kew, in the Jubilee year, a trout of 17 1/2 lbs. was captured by licensed netmen and taken alive to the late Mr. Alfred Nuthall of Kingston, the then chairman of the Thames Angling Preservation Society, who weighed and returned it to the Thames.

The largest authenticated Thames trout taken on the rod is one of 16 lb. 9 oz., which was landed in the Reading district, and was forwarded for inspection to the late Queen Victoria at Windsor. Other authenticated Thames trout have weighed 14 lb. 7 oz., Chertsey; 14 lb. 4 oz., Sunbury; 12 lb. 8 oz., Shepperton; 12 lb. 11 oz. Hambleton. Last year's heaviest Thames trout sealed 9 lb. 1 oz., and this year's, up to the present, 8 lb. 3 oz.

Not a few anglers think there are trout up to 20 lbs. in the Thames. The New River near Ware once yielded a trout of over 12 lbs. A 13 lb. 3 oz. trout was caught on June 7 this year near Hertford by Mr. H. Curroll, Jr., and many years ago a trout of 12 1/2 lb. was taken in Broxbourne Weir Pool.

The New River has always been famous for its large trout, and has yielded another specimen of between 8 lb. and 9 lb. this year, taken near Broxbourne. Large trout are also sometimes secured in the Colne.

SENSATIONAL CASE AT CAMPBELLTON

Journalist Has Long Chase Across Continent After Daughter.

Father and Mother Disagree Over Custody of Children, Who Were Kidnapped—Court Must Decide.

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., Sept. 19.—In a case which promises to be one of the greatest sensations ever heard in a Westchester court, the marital troubles of W. R. Stewart, an American journalist, and his wife, will in all probability be heard at Dalhousie in the near future.

The case is one in which Mr. Stewart seeks to have returned to his custody his pretty fourteen-year-old daughter, Winnie, now in the care of Rev. Mr. Bate, rector of the Episcopal Church at Dalhousie. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, who were married about fifteen years ago in Ontario, lived happily together during the greater part of their union, but a little over two years ago disagreements sprang up between them. They were then residing in New York, where Mr. Stewart was engaged in journalism. Finding at length they could not agree, Mr. Stewart sought a separation in the courts and obtained it. He was given the custody of their two children, both girls, Florence and Winifred, then aged ten and twelve respectively. Shortly after the separation Mr. Stewart removed to Los Angeles, Cal., where he continued his editorial and magazine work. Mrs. Stewart remained in New York.

Following the scene in the house of Rev. Mr. Bate, that gentleman felt that he had a case of trespass against Mr. Stewart and sought the advice of W. A. Trueman, barrister, Campbellton, but as Mr. Stewart had gone away nothing was done.

Mr. Bate also telegraphed to Mrs. Stewart in New York to come on, but so far she has not done so. The child is believed to be still in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Bate.

Mr. Stewart is about forty-five; his wife is younger. Both are natives of Ontario. Before going to New York Mr. Stewart was on the staff of the Montreal Star.

AYLESWORTH FIGHTING

Minister of Justice Also Challenges Mr. Borden.

Conservative Charges Were Met With Strong Counter Charges—Mr. Borden Implicated.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 19.—The Liberal picnic at Essex today was one of the greatest gatherings ever seen in Western Ontario. The chief feature was Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's reply to Mr. Borden's speech at Chatham.

Mr. Aylesworth after a graceful acknowledgment of the greeting accorded him, entered upon the discussion of the scandal campaign being conducted by the Conservative leader and press. One material influence of this campaign undoubtedly was the part that of seventy Conservative members in the House of Commons, only seven were from the province of Ontario. These men hoped to win the country to their side by jurt the name of the Liberal leader, that was waged in the last provincial elections. A year ago, he proceeded, the Liberal had refused to North Bruce, and only yesterday Hon. Dr. Pugsley had been returned by acclamation in the county and city of St. John, N. B., where at the last elections there had been a Conservative majority of over 800, in spite of the plea of the leader made in the city of St. John a month ago and the slender campaign since.

During the last few weeks, it never before, the opposition leader had lent himself apparently with a willing heart to the task of mud-throwing and general abuse. Speaking of the Conservative, Mr. Borden had in the course of references to the result of the general elections as being won by way of Mr. Aylesworth, stated in effect that his own among other constituencies, had been debauched.

"I felt indignation when I read those words," said Aylesworth, "and I felt, Fielding, the people of this country know him, and I venture to say that there is not an honest man in the province who does not believe that Mr. Fielding is as pure and honest a statesman as ever drew the breath of life. Last night, in the course of an extract from Mr. Borden's speech, and I had a word or two to say by way of answer. When the newspapers of this province have been profuse in their accounts of challenges we were made, I was waited upon not long ago by a representative of a Toronto newspaper, where I would meet Borden, I had no other answer to make than that I had met him before on the floor of the House of Commons, and I would meet him there again. Mr. Borden will be welcome if he comes to any meeting in a vain and idle thing that he, as champion of the Conservative party, should be issuing challenges through the country, and challenging his opponents to meet him. Does he think I am going to follow him? I am here, let him come."

I said before, in referring to Mr. Borden, that he had better look to his own case. As to what should be done before the people of Canada. As the statements of what petitioners in the Halifax election case said they could prove with regard to Borden's own connection with corrupt practices at the last Dominion general election, before me, and I expressed my opinion of those statements as any lawyer might. I said what I repeat today, that if the things were established at a trial, R. L. Borden would stand disqualified for eight years from the House of Commons in Canada.

At Peterboro, Mr. Borden had said that Aylesworth was a discredited man. On the floor of the house he had said that if he were a discredited man, he would not be a member of the House of Commons. Mr. Borden had better devote some little time to explaining his connection with the Ganev affair. "Well," he continued, "I say to Borden it will take me no longer to explain my connection with the Ganev affair than it will take him to explain his connection with the Lafarge, Fowler, Poirer affair, which is in fact, he spent an hour in the House of Commons explaining it, the sum and substance of his statement being that he knew nothing of it. And I say the same about the Ganev affair."

Aylesworth also went into the question of the Conservative corrupt fund.

He showed how the sworn evidence of Hugh Graham, of Montreal, contradicted Borden's statement. The evidence was in effect that the witness (Graham) had received a sum of money from the party who were in public life, words to that effect and that it would be better to name in each province persons acceptable to the friends in the locality. Copies of that letter Graham had been sent to all the provinces where he had given aid.

"Mr. Borden," the speaker continued, "according to newspaper reports has concocted from the platform to say that no such letter was written. Thus

COUNCILLOR LONG WINS IN CONTEST

The last evening of the garden party in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Fairville was marked by a very large attendance. In the voting contest for the most popular alderman or councillor, Councillor Long was the winner of the prize. Councillor Hooley was second, while Councillor Fox obtained the honors of third place. The alderman who were favored on the first night seemed to lose their friends, and were compelled to drop back into oblivion.

In the rifle competition Mr. Williams seemed to have no second, as he was the winner of a silver mounted walking stick for first prize and a hint vase as second prize.

In the game of the bean toss, Robert Wayne was the winner, while in the ladies' bean toss, Mrs. McCracken, who was a prominent person among the girls, held up to her reputation and won again last evening. In the drawing of the names for the evening, Mrs. Thomas Deer, during the evening the Artillery Band rendered a humorous and well-kept program, and the garden party came to a successful close by the singing of the National Anthem.

THIRTY-TWO KILLED IN WRECK

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 19.—There has been a disastrous wreck on the Mexican Central railroad. A freight train and a passenger train came into collision at Encarnacion, near the city of Aguascalientes, and it is reported that thirty persons were killed and many injured. The passenger train was the regular El Paso express, which left that city Tuesday.

No train from the United States has come in today over the Central, but one is expected tonight.

It is impossible to get further details of the wreck at this moment. The railroad officials here admit that the wreck has occurred, but refuse to talk of the matter.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 19.—Aurthentic reports received here say that thirty-two persons were killed and thirty-three sustained injuries. There are no prominent persons among the killed or wounded. It is said that the Pullman cars are not badly damaged. The two engines and some first, second and third class coaches of the passenger train were demolished. The disaster is thought to be due to the engineer of the train disregarding orders.

BULLET LODGED IN YOUNG LADY'S LEG

What came near being a fatal shooting accident occurred Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Marjorie Knight, the sixteen year old daughter of L. B. Knight, King street east, was out shooting at New River, near Musquash. In some mysterious manner the gun went off, sending a bullet into the fleshy part of Miss Knight's leg.

Miss Knight, who is exceedingly fond of gunning, has been spending a few days at her father's summer residence at Musquash. During this time she has enjoyed herself by fishing and gunning. On Wednesday afternoon accompanied by a small boy, she took her gun and started in a rowboat up the New River. While rowing around the gun in some unexplainable manner went off, sending a bullet into Miss Knight's leg. Although both Miss Knight and the boy were badly frightened, yet they showed remarkable pluck and rowed to the shore, and the boy went for assistance, and in a few moments a number had gathered around the unfortunate girl, who was taken to Dr. Reynolds at Lepreau.

He dressed the wound.

During all this time Miss Knight showed remarkable courage, and even assisted the doctor in probing for the bullet, which, however, he was unsuccessful in finding. A telephone message was then sent to this city telling of the accident, saying that Miss Knight was about leaving at that time, and asking her relatives to accompany her in Carleton. Upon arriving in Carleton on the Shore Line she was met by her brother, who took her to her home on King street east.

At the time of the accident both Mr. and Mrs. Knight were in Fredericton attending the exhibition, and on returning home Wednesday evening on the late train were shocked to hear of the accident, but at the same time were thankful to learn that it was not more serious and that their daughter was then resting comfortably. Inquiries at Miss Knight's home yesterday said that Miss Knight was resting quite easily and that no dangerous results were expected.

AMUSEMENTS

Queen's Rollaway

Tonight is "ladies' night" at the Queen's Rollaway. Gentlemen will please remember the usual rules in force tonight. The Friday "ladies' nights" are increasing in popularity as the size of the crowds testify.

The Roller Craze

Roller skating is all the rage now in New York and London. In fact it has become so popular that the skaters through the streets, avenues, and boulevards that are paved, from 7 until 10:30 every evening, and the places ring with their merry laughter and the roll of skates.

This healthy pastime is fast becoming popular here, and at the Victoria rink nearly every evening, but more particularly on Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays, a crowd of young people enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

Last night No. 556 drew the ladies' door prize, and No. 761 caught the gentlemen's.

Tonight and Saturday evenings there will be door prizes again. Every admission has a chance whether skater or not.

Nickel Has New Pictures Today.

The programme for the end of the week at the Nickel Theatre, which will be shown for the first time at noon today, is a varied one and introduces a number of new features as follows:

The Robber Robbed, being a ludicrous situation of a professional burglar and second-story man, who enters the apartment of a fellow thief and robs him of some of the goods the other fellow has just stolen. The picture ends with a general mix-up of police and culprits. The second picture is entitled A Starring Artist, and certainly ingenious photographers have made this a very funny feature. The poverty-stricken painter finally conceives the idea of producing such realistic pictures of food, etc. that his hunger is appeased, and when the police arrive to arrest him for theft he paints a look on the door and a bear trap on the floor with the colored result.

Life in a South African Gold Mine is really the most interesting picture of the lot, and depicts the Chinese and South African natives at their arduous task, introducing all phases of mining as it is done in that great gold region. This long programme is completed with a screamingly funny film, entitled The Boarders Object to the Actor.

This afternoon Miss Felix will sing Starlight, and this evening Mr. Brown will render Capt. Baby Bunting of the Rocky Horse Brigade. Orchestra music at night.

Happy Half Hour

The large crowds that were present at the Happy Half Hour yesterday certainly enjoyed themselves. If laughter is any indication, they witnessed an exceptionally good bill. The pictures are five in number, and are with one exception comedy. Little Tich is a very funny picture and shows a famous French Vaudeville artist doing his act. The actor is only a child in size, but his cleverness and the amusing antics he does keep the audience in a constant laugh. The Rival Sisters tells the story of two sisters—one young, the other old—who both love the same man. Naturally he favors the youngest, but the eldest plans revenge. The lover and his beloved plan an elopement; the eldest learns of it, and takes the younger on a place. The expression on the man's face when he discovers his mistake is worth the price of admission. The Yawver is a treat from start to finish. Everybody he meets yawns and many in the audience were yawning, and couldn't help it. Tommy at Play shows one of those little dears(?) who are always playing tricks of every kind, and on everybody they meet. Modern Painters is one of the handiest, and at the same time the most mysterious pictures ever seen here. The picture is a beautiful hand-colored one, and to see the two artists create beautiful pictures and living girls out of squares of paper with the aid of a brush the size of a chivebrush was certainly in-

RECENT WEDDINGS

COSMAN - MARVEN.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Marven, Springfield, Mass., on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at nine a. m., when their youngest daughter, Julia Ernestine, was united in marriage to William Cosman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Penn (Methodist), in the presence of the near relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was daintily dressed in white silk organdie. After lunch was served Mr. and Mrs. Cosman left on the train for New York, where they will make their future home. The bride's going-away suit was of blue chiffon broadcloth, with hat to match. Many beautiful presents were received, including a number of silver, among them being a handsome tea service. The young couple have many friends who wish them every success.

THE SPEECHES AND PUBLIC LETTERS OF JOSEPH HOWE.

A NEW EDITION

The first edition in two volumes of Hon. William Annand's "Speeches and Public Letters of the Hon. Joseph Howe" is out of print and it is now almost impossible to purchase copies of this work. A few sets have changed hands during the past year for a price exceeding $10 a volume. As this edition was published in 1858, it of necessity does not contain many important speeches and letters delivered and written during one of the most important periods in Mr. Howe's stirring career, namely, from 1858 to the date of his death in 1873, and while some of his poems and lectures were published after his death in a single volume, that publication also is now out of print.

For some time past there has been a demand for a second edition of the Speeches and Letters of Howe and it is fitting that this demand should be met by the Publishers of his old paper. For that reason The Chronicle Publishing Co., Ltd., proposes to publish a second edition of Hon. Wm. Annand's "Speeches and Public Letters of the Hon. Joseph Howe" and to add a third volume which will contain all the principal speeches and writings of the Nova Scotia statesman delivered or written after the publication of Mr. Annand's edition in 1858, together with a selection of his poems. The text will be carefully revised and the leading incidents of Mr. Howe's subsequent career

JOSEPH HOWE.
It seems only the other day that I arrived at Halifax to take up the duties of Governor General of Canada. I had two great surprises on my arrival—first, my introduction to the two volumes which contain the speeches and letters of Joseph Howe, and secondly the impossibility of buying a copy of those volumes except at a prohibitive cost. There is not a page of Joseph Howe's speeches or writings which does not stimulate the imagination, please the eye and quicken the ear—and if the object of education is, as I believe it to be, to quicken the mind, the book containing Howe's speeches and writings ought to be in the bookshelf of every school teacher, not only in Nova Scotia, but in every portion of the British Empire. I do not understand how it is that a Province so proud of the possession of Joseph Howe, as Nova Scotia has every reason to be, has not taken the necessary steps to make this immense field in every portion of the Empire. If Joseph Howe is unknown in England, and in other parts of Greater Britain, Nova Scotia and Canada have only themselves to blame. I see my introduction to the volumes containing Howe's writings to the fact that they had been placed in my bedroom at Government House by my great-grandfather, Hon. Mr. James West, who had inherited his Lieutenant-Governorship—Halifax, Aug. 8, 1897.

from 1858 to 1873 will be dealt with by competent editors. It is desirable that the proposed edition should be well printed and bound and should be made in every respect worthy of the gifted Nova Scotian whose choicest works it is proposed to make accessible to all classes of his countrymen. The publication will of course be contingent upon the nature of the response made to this announcement. If each of the readers of the Morning Chronicle, interested in the matter, will cut out and sign the attached coupon and return it to the Publishers, he will aid in determining whether the project is practicable and in one which should be prosecuted without delay.

The Chronicle Publishing Co., Ltd., Halifax, N. S.

Gentlemen— I am interested in your proposal to publish a new edition of the Speeches and Public Letters of Hon. Joseph Howe in three volumes and if my work is brought out in a form satisfactory to me, I will purchase them, if sold at a price not to exceed $10.00 for the set.

The Transgressor BY TROY ALLISON

(Copyrighted, 1907, by E. C. Parrella.)
The young rector of St. John's sat just at the student lamp until it threw a mellow light on the library table, and then pulled down the window shades. He had just settled himself comfortably in the Morris chair when the bell rang.
In a mere man of the world the slight elevation of the eyebrows produced by the sound of the bell would have been interpreted as despair or disgust at the interruption, but the Reverend John Courtney's only attitude toward the rebellion of the flesh was that he had spent a very busy trying day, and that even ordained flesh craves rest and solitude occasionally.
"You, Miss Manning?" he exclaimed in surprise, as the girl was ushered in by the rector's housekeeper.
Miss Manning sat down in the arm-chair indicated, and was silent from the moment of her entrance, until she came to ask your advice, Mr. Courtney, I'm in trouble," she said finally.
The rector wondered what could have happened in the quiet town to have brought such evident consternation to his young parishioner. Since his installation as rector of St. John's, six months before, he had known the girl and had become accustomed to meeting her at every function as the life and mirth of the occasion. Her look of concern was entirely unfamiliar to him.
"I'm very sorry, Miss Marion—what has happened?" he asked, with real concern.
"Nothing has happened—but I've committed a crime against the government," she said hopelessly.
"That sounds very grave!"
The rector could not, for the life of him, keep from smiling at the innocent look of the self-confessed criminal.
"You probably will not smile when I tell you the whole of it. I don't know, but I think I could be imprisoned if it were found out!"
The rector still had a difficulty in preserving a proper amount of gravity.
"Suppose you tell me all about it," he said.
She handed him a long official envelope.
"I have just received an appointment as a 200 clerk in the Pension office at Washington," she said dolefully.
He took the envelope and looked at the appointment with less pleasure than he should have shown, in view of the fact that he had known all the summer how anxiously the girl had hoped to hear from the Civil Service examination, which she had taken in the spring.
"Where does the crime against the government come in?" he asked, looking helplessly from the innocent face to the innocent appointment.
"You know, I went to Columbia to take the examination? Well—if you remember, my friend Rose Lawrence went with me to keep me company and to buy her spring hat."
Mr. Courtney was more at sea mentally than before the introduction

"Do you think you could feel happy and satisfied, little girl?" he asked, looking her squarely in the eyes.
Her eyes wavered and finally turned away from his.
"I thought perhaps I could if you told me it was right," she said faintly.
"I don't know how to explain it to you—it is a proof that is powerful—yet intangibly abstract. I can logically see no wrong in your accepting the position—yet I could not be happy to do so—and I feel sure you could not either."
"But I need it—so badly," she faltered.
"I only have $50 a year of my own—and I can't expect Uncle James to take the care of me forever—I'm old."
The rector's countenance commenced steadily growing redder and redder.
"I wish you would come and make the rector's home for me," he stammered.
"A minister couldn't marry a fraud and a cheat," she whispered, her face paling.
"Little girl, you are not a cheat—you simply met with a temptation. Will you go to Washington—or will you come to the rector?"
"No, no," she said, looking at him with a pleading look.
"He caught one glimpse of her eyes—and pronounced his sentence: 'Impudent little, little woman,' said, taking her in his arms."

"I have come to argue with you as to whether I can accept the appointment," the girl continued. "I want it and I need it. The trouble is this—the morning the examination was held I was so sick I couldn't hold up my head, and Rose took the card admitting me to the examination—and stood it for me."
The rector sat upright, and gave an involuntary exclamation.
"You poor little girl!" he said compassionately.

FASHIONS FOR MEN.

Up-to-date Effects for Autumn Wear for Dressy People

Gray, Blue and Brown Have the Call in Colors While There Are No Strikings Novelties in Cut.

If you have not selected your winter wardrobe yet and propose to be classed among the dressy ones you may get a glance at the real things in effects by looking over the following laws on dress as advanced by an authority:
Frock Coats—Black, dark gray, worsted and home spun are the materials used. The coat should be close fitting and have a two-button front with long lapels faced with black satin. The waistcoat will continue to be of the usual double-breasted pattern. Monkeys coat a variety of solid gray or light-colored materials, and also has a two-button front, cut full, with long lapels. A single-breasted coat, with shoulder opening with it, showing slightly above the opening of the coat.
Trousers—For wear with a frock coat or morning coat. These should be made of fancy striped cassimere, usually black or in various shades of gray groundwork, with overtones in lighter shades of gray or other harmonious color.
Sack Suits—The sack suit, in fancy materials, is rapidly winning a place for afternoon wear, being a close rival to the "morning coat," which, of course, is worn until after midday as it is in the forenoon.
For "dressy" sack suits the materials are of the finest worsted fabric, woven in a variety of shades. Brown is used in solid colors, also with overchecks or stripes of other tints, such as green, violet, etc. Mixed blue, blue, blue shot with gray, brown shot with blue, plain shot with green, gray striped, also green and a variety of solid gray. It is in the forenoon.
The jacket is to be longer than last fall, slightly cut into the front and slit at the back. There should be a two-button front, with long lapels, and the waistcoat must be cut to show over the opening of the jacket.
For country wear the garments have the same cut, but the material used will be Scotch chevils, Angoras and home-spuns in gray, brown, drab, heather and green, with a variety of colored overcoats and stripes.
Overcoats—For dressy overcoats, the material in favor is the soft lamb's wool, made in shades of gray, blue, solid blue, mixed blues and mixed browns. The coat that will be most worn is the loose cut Chester style, with sack shape, with velvet collar, velvet piping and turned up cuff of the same material as the coat.
The same material will be used for frock overcoats which are cut well into the figure, with plenty of spring over the shoulders and a deep box pleat, or a two-button front and velvet collar. This style of coat is particularly becoming to a man with a good figure—say, a 40-inch chest and 34-inch waist.
A comfortable traveling check Scotch cheviot, with a double-breasted front, with a yoke at the back about 12 inches wide, and a deep box pleat down the center of the back with a band to keep the pleat in position.
Evening Dress Suits, no longer made with silk or satin roll collar at bottom of roll, but with a change in the collar and facing, the lined dress coat lapel. There are also a few being made double-breasted, with a yoke at the back and a band to keep the pleat in position.
The "well-dressed man," said another authority on the subject, "need never bother himself about what the prevailing style will be for each man of taste makes his own style."

EMERSONS NOT RETIRE

Up-to-date Effects for Autumn Wear for Dressy People

Gray, Blue and Brown Have the Call in Colors While There Are No Strikings Novelties in Cut.

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 19.—In a speech here this afternoon at the opening ceremonies at the Hall Creek bridge, Hon. R. Emmerson announced the statement that he does not intend to retire from public life because he retained the portfolio of Minister of Railways. To a cheering crowd today he said that so long as the people of Westmorland county wanted him he would remain their representative.
"Because I resigned as Minister of Railways it does not follow that I intend to retire from public life," he said. "I am a member of the House of Commons without requiring to be enhanced by any portfolio. So long as the people of Westmorland want me to represent them so long will those services be at their command. Any time you do not want me to be present, having been called to the people of the county and to the people of the city of Moncton for their friendliness. I am referring not only to those of my own political faith, but to the people of all political faiths, and to those whose opposition I respect. Those of my own party who showed me kindness I never can forget and my gratitude will live as long as I live upon the soil."
The opening of the new bridge was a very successful function. Hon. Dr. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, was unable to be present, having been unexpectedly called to Ottawa in connection with his cabinet duties.
Other speakers today were Premier Robinson, Hon. Peter McSweeney, Hon. C. H. Lablache, Commissioner of Public Works, Hon. P. J. Sweeney, Surveyor General, J. M. Macdonald, Kent Co., President Hawke of the Board of Trade, A. B. Co. and C. M. Rogers, local M. P. P.
Mayor White presided and a large crowd was present. The new bridge is a fine steel structure replacing the old wooden structure which was built several years ago, the former structure being partly paid for by public subscription. It connects the bridge with the populous district of Fox Creek and Leger Corner over one of the most heavily travelled thoroughfares in the city. The length of the bridge is 22 feet, forty feet above the stream, and when completed will cost about twenty thousand dollars. It was designed by the residents at Fox Creek and Leger Corner and the bridge was decorated. In the speeches delivered today the commissioner of public works and the local government representatives were heartily congratulated on the success of the undertaking. The interesting feature of today's proceedings was the testing of the bridge by the bridge crew. The draw was swung open, working very smoothly. It was the building of this draw which occasioned some delay in the opening of the bridge. The first plans were prepared without a draw, but at the urgent request of many citizens, who believe that shipbuilding some distance up the creek might be revived, the plans were reformed with a draw in the bridge. The work was further delayed by a fall through a pier sliding into the creek, but the bridge was finally opened and will be completed in a short time.

FRENCH TREATY CONCLUDED

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 19.—The commercial relations of Canada and France now rest upon a new basis. A commercial treaty, binding with two countries has been signed in Paris by representatives of the British, Canadian and French governments. The treaty was announced the conclusion of negotiations, which have been proceeding for some time. It is the first treaty since 1858 which has received this approval by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.
PARIS, Sept. 19, 1907.
The new treaty respecting the commercial relations between France and Canada was signed at the foreign office this afternoon. The plenipotentiaries appointed by King Edward to sign the treaty were the Right Honorable Sir Francis Bertie, British ambassador at Paris; the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance; the Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries; the French plenipotentiaries were Mr. Pichon, minister of foreign affairs; Mr. Callaux, minister of finance; Mr. Doumergue, minister of commerce; Mr. Buisson, minister of agriculture. The treaty of 1858, which is now superseded, was one of very limited range, dealing with but a few articles. The new treaty is of a more extensive character, providing tariff concessions on both sides covering quite a large list of articles. It also deals with general relations affecting the commercial relations of the two countries. The details of the treaty are not to be made public at present and may not be published until laid before the French chamber and the Canadian parliament. The ministers will leave Paris in a day or two for London and will sail from Liverpool by the Victorian September 27.

INDIANA MAN IMPERSONATED THE TWO CHARACTERS UNTIL THEY BECAME PART OF SELF.

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 19.—When Albert Deaver, for many years a well known man of Henry County, was admitted to the insane asylum here this morning the authorities declared it was the strangest case that had ever come under their observation. Deaver has been for months a veritable puzzle to his friends, and his transformations have been so marked that friends determined to put him under restraint lest he should do himself and others harm.
Three years ago Deaver attended a theatre where the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde play was rendered, and he was so much impressed by it that he began soon after to act the two parts. He had been educated at DePaul University, was a man of strong powers as a linguist and for a while gave his friends much amusement by the transformations under which he went in the dual role of the two opposite characters.
His companions noticed after a time a marked change in his demeanor, and it soon began to dawn upon them that Deaver was really the opposite character which he had begun to impersonate in a spirit of fun.
At first the change from one to the other was accomplished very quickly and apparently without great mental effort, but there seemed to his friends longer periods between normal and assumed conditions and a greater struggle each time to assume the normal. Protests proved of no avail, for he continued to indulge in the dual role and what he had at first accomplished with effort became apparently involuntary. Ten years ago he looked like the character of Mr. Hyde and is unable or unwilling to release himself from the character which has such a strange fascination for him.
Deaver is not violent, but is remarkably nervous and restless and walks and talks almost constantly. Friends hope that rest and restraint will work a cure, but physicians who examined him at the request of the Lunacy Commission give little hope of recovery.

THE WEATHER.

Maritime—Fine today and tonight. Saturday strong breezes and moderate gales southerly to southwesterly and showery.

LOCAL NEWS.

This is fine weather for sea bathing. About a dozen persons took advantage of the sunbathing and high water at Bay Shore this morning and enjoyed the dip immensely.

John Conlon of Lower Cove, wishes to challenge any man in St. John, of sixty-seven years of age or over, to a rowing race in the harbor in ordinary skiff boats, the distance to be from one mile to one and one half miles.

The late Mr. Daniel Doody was buried this morning. The funeral procession left his late residence at James street and proceeded to St. John the Baptist church when Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Chapman. Interment was made at the new Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of the late Wm. Gaskin was held from his late residence Newman street this afternoon at 2.30. Members of the family acted as pall-bearers. Rev. David Hutcheon conducted the service at the house. Interment was made at Cedar Hill cemetery.

J. William Smith and Geo. Langstroth left by early train Wednesday for Grand Falls, N. B., with a gang of men and will commence work at once on the large building for the Bank of Montreal there which they have been awarded the contract—Sussex Record.

The police are still seeking for the thieves who stole the safe from J. S. Gibson and Co.'s office some time ago. The police suspect two men who were seen driving on Charlotte street early before the time of the break. The circumstantial evidence against them is said to be fairly strong, but direct evidence is still lacking.

A case which will be decided in the police court shortly is that between Nalra and Livingston. Mr. Nalra complains that Mrs. Livingston retains a property on Pond street which really belongs to him. A. W. Baird is representing Mrs. Livingston. G. H. V. Belyea representing Mr. Nalra.

In the police court this morning Charles Keenan was fined eight dollars or one month in jail for drunkenness. Dennis Sullivan was fined eight dollars or two months for a similar offense. The two men Boutiller and Canton arrested some time ago on suspicion of stealing a ship's pump from E. Lantalan's premises West street, were brought into court. The case was adjourned till two o'clock in order to procure a witness.

The police have several clues relative to the identity of the man who attempted to assault the young son of Capt. Potter yesterday. The children who saw the man have already pointed out several men saying that each one is the perpetrator. The police think the man was a tramp and a suspicious character answering the description was seen in Lower Cove's last week but disappeared before the arrival of the police.

The New Brunswick board of fire underwriters have placed a rating on the new school house. The rate granted is 50 cents on the building and 70 cents on contents, or $1.20 and $1.40 for three years. It is understood that this is the lowest rate given on any building in the town, which speaks volumes for the quality of the structure. The rate on the old building was 90 cents, as a saving of 1-3 has been effected—Sussex Record.

WAGES IN WOODS LOWER THIS YEAR

Reduced Cut Will Make the Labor Market Easier

But Almost all the Supplies for Lumber Camps are Higher Than Last Season.

A review of the conditions of trade which have a direct bearing upon the purchasing of supplies for lumber camps, shows many important changes both in favor of and against the man who pays the bills.

No doubt the most important item in the list is the wages of the camp crews. For several years past the price of this kind of labor had advanced materially at the beginning of each season.

Five years ago an experienced chopper would have received from $22.00 to $25.00 per month, last fall men were hired at an average of from $30.00 to $32.00 per month. These figures were the high-water mark in this line and it is quite probable that it will be a long time before they are equalled.

This year the situation in this regard will be materially changed, to judge from all indications. It is somewhat early to say with exactness just what the prevalent rate of wages will be, but there is no possible doubt that the figures will be considerably lower all round than were paid last year. The principal factor in this change is the volume of logs cut this year, not only in the lower counties and the far up-river districts, but also in Quebec, on the Miramichi, the Restigouche, and on the rivers of Maine, will be much less than for several years past. Yesterday's market put the probable difference between the total cut of the coming winter and that of last winter at from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 feet on the St. John River alone. Because of this curtailment men will be in less demand, and consequently wages are certain to slump. The average wage of a competent chopper for the coming season will not be more than $20.00 per month, as compared with $25.00 last year, will this year be paid from $22.00 to $24.00 per month.

Wages is the only really important item in the list which shows a change in favor of the employer and buyer. In nearly all the principal lines of food supplies, the cost has increased, and it is safe to say that a great deal of the gain in wages will go toward the extra cost of feeding the men. Logging tools have also shown material advances, particularly axes, of which all but one of the standard makes have risen in price.

The price of horses is a feature in regard with it is difficult to make a definite statement. The figures paid depend in each case upon the quality of the beast. At the same time the cost of the sort of horses which are suitable for use in the lumber woods is ten per cent. higher than in the fall of 1906. The weight of such horses ranges from 1,450 lbs. to 1,650, and for a really good horse of this weight a buyer would at present be asked to the vicinity of $225. While there are no doubt good horses obtainable at as low a figure as $200, nothing less than the figure could be said to ensure the purchase of an animal suitable for the purpose. The price of oats has been boosted repeatedly during the summer, and at present would be quoted at St. John not less than 60c per bushel. The figure paid last fall was 50c per bushel.

The present offerings in oats from the last of the old crop and the price quoted above is a remarkably high one even for this time of year. The first of the new crop will be on the local market about mid-October, and it is quite probable the price will then weaken considerably. While it is altogether a matter of conjecture, it is likely the notions will show a decline of from 2c. to 5c. per bushel.

Another important change is in the price of plate lead. The buyer of supplies this fall will be asked from $16.00 to $16.50 per barrel. In the fall of 1906 the prevalent price was from $15.50 to $16.00 per barrel.

Beans were sold a year ago at an average price of $1.75 per bushel. The price this year for the same quantity of beans is $1.90. Flour has shown no change, and at present there is little prospect of any alteration in price. Quations are being made at from $22.00 to $22.50, which is practically uniform with the selling price of this time last year.

Peavies have shown a general advance of about 10 per cent. all round. The figures now at $13.00 per doz. Five foot handles are selling at $25.00 per dozen and 4 1-2 foot handles at $23.00. Axes have increased in cost in nearly every line to the extent of about $1.50 per dozen since the fall of 1906.

Blenkhorn, Campbell's and Fowler's single bits are selling at $4.50 per doz., and double bits of the same makes now cost $18.50 per dozen, as compared with $5.50 and $9.50 respectively for the same goods last year.

Campbell's XXX chopper has shown no change in price for several years. The line of goods is still quoted at $8.50 per dozen for single bits, and $14.00 per dozen double bits.

The baseball game scheduled to take place between the Marathons and Dan Britt's St. John's, has been declared off owing to a misunderstanding in regard to the division of receipts. Mr. Britt claims that the agreement was that his team was to get 60 per cent. of the net receipts after the expenses had been deducted and that Mr. Donald of the Marathons had agreed to this arrangement. Mr. Britt says that he was unaware of any other interpretation of the arrangement until he read in one of the papers a statement to the effect that the Marathons were to get the long end of the receipts and the St. John's the remaining 40 per cent. Mr. Donald claimed that this was the manner in which he had understood the proposition, and as neither side would make any concession the game was declared off.

HAD HIS HAND CUT OFF ON THE YALE

A Youthful Passenger Met With a Serious Mishap on the Trip From St. John.

About nine o'clock last Sunday morning a serious accident happened to a small boy on the steamer Yale en route from St. John to Boston. The boy was playing on the upper deck and put his left hand into one of the revolving fans at the top of a ventilator. In an instant the hand was almost torn from the arm and presented an awful sight as it hung by the tendons. Fortunately a doctor from Moncton was on board and attended the injured boy. On arrival at Boston the little fellow was rushed to the Massachusetts General Hospital and the doctor who attended him on the steamer said that the hand would have to be amputated above the wrist.

GENERAL BOOTH WILL ARRIVE BETWEEN NINE AND TEN O'CLOCK

Train Will be a Little Later Than Was Expected—Citizens Invited to the Depot to Welcome Him.

Gen. Booth, Commander of the Salvation Army, will, so far as is now known, arrive in St. John at half-past nine this evening. His private car is attached to the mail special which left the Virginian at Rimouski early this morning.

Commissioner Coombs wired Brigadier Turner in St. John last evening, giving particulars of the proposed departure, and further advice were received this morning, making more definite the time of arrival of the train. Mayor Sears and a number of the aldermen will meet General Booth at the depot, where the mayor will welcome the distinguished visitor to St. John. There will also be in attendance a large number of Army officers from different parts of the province, while others are expected to arrive tomorrow. It is hoped that as many citizens as possible will be present at the depot this evening to welcome General Booth. Immediately after the short reception in the depot the General will drive to the residence of Mr. John Bullock, Gernala St., where he will be Mr. Bullock's guest during his stay in St. John. The first meeting will be in the new Army barracks on Charlotte street, on Saturday evening, and will be principally for the benefit of the members of the Army. It has not been definitely settled whether his programme before that time will include anything of a public nature.

On Sunday, General Booth will lecture in the Opera House on "The Secret of the Success of the Salvation Army." The chair will be taken at three o'clock by His Honor, Lieut. Gov. Tweedie, and it is expected that a large number of leading citizens will occupy leading places on the platform.
