BORDEN MINISTER SAYS GOVERNOR-GENERAL IS KEEPING GOVERNMENT FROM GOING TO PEOPLE

Hon. C. J. Doherty, of Borden Cabinet, Says Duke of Connaught Shows "Persistent Opposition" — Government Wants Mandate Which It Already Has.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, May 3 .- A special dispatch from Sherbrooke to the Herald and Telegraph says:

At a Conservative meeting held here on Saturday, Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, said the Government was preparing for a general election. The persistent opposition of the Governor-General to sign the order for dissolution of Parliament while the country was at war was the greatest obstacle in the way of the Government.

The Government had spent $100,000,000, and another $100,-000,000 was to be spent, and it wanted to know if the people were satisfied with its acts. An appeal to the electorate was therefore

Five Months After City Voters Said "Glaubitz To Go" He Is Still in Office

Three Commissioners Have Stood With General Manager and Defied Public Opinion - Another Month Is Tacked On To His Term of Service.

When the Glaubitz majority of the public utilities commission agreed two months ago that the general manager should leave his office they appeared to bow, if reluctantly, to that public sentiment which demanded his removal from his position as manager of London's principal public services. In holding him in office for another month these public servants, Messrs. Pocock, Chapman and McFarland, are doing so in defiance of public opinion. They are serving Mr. Glaubitz before they are serving the interests of the citizens of Londdon. If they had their way, Mr. Glaubitz would never leave his

But although they form a majority of the board they dare not carry together refusing to carry out the will of the minority, which is represented by Mayor Stevenson and Commissioner Mitchell. Instead of refusing to carry out the plain instruction of a large majority of voters they are quibbling. They are hanging to Glaubitz as long as they can do so, and give the appearance of doing so levally. The citizens of London had the understanding that Mr. Glaubitz would retire from office on May 1. By the throwing of their numerical strength in his favor, the three commissioners have kept him in power for another month.

When June 1 arrives citizens may hear that it is not possible to let Glaubitz go, that there are certain reasons why he must be kept on for another month; that he is the only man who understands the job, etc. etc. Let it be said here that there is not a man of these three who could appeal to public sentiment and be elected to keep Glaubitz in office for another day.

It was understood by the people that the present general manager would leave office as soon as possible after the vote had been taken Instead of that, Messrs. Pocock, Chapman and McFarland have reinstated him and have kept him in office for FIVE MONTHS.

They have had a bylaw specially formed by the city solicitor in order to force the mayor to pay Glaubitz his salary.

They are responding to the orders of the "higher up" who has decreed that Glaubitz must stay because HE has said it.

Mayor Stevenson will fight to the last ditch against the attempt to force him to sign these checks. He has never agreed to the reinstatement of the general manager, and he stated today that the matter would go to the courts if necessary. The attitude of the mayor in this matter has been "no compromise." Commissioner F. G. Mitchell has taken the same stand. Both have been consistent with their platforms and both have stood by their guns. It is a well-known fact that the three commissioners are standing by Glaubitz because they have been of one mind on everything, and when the order is given they will defy public opinion and stand by Glaubitz, no matter what citizens

THE COMMON CAUSE VS. POLITICS.

THE Borden Government will appeal to the people at the polls on June 28, according to latest information. Despite a preponderance of opinion in both parties against an election while the empire is at war, Sir Robert Borden has allowed the Rogers' influence to sway him and his advisers, and dissolution will in all probability be announced in a matter of hours.

of Canadian politics. It means the plunging of this country into an era of internal strife which will be shameful in the eyes of the mother country and of the world. It means that while Liberal fail to arouse the gratitude of which and Conservative are fighting side by side in Belgium and France, it is deserving: Liberal and Conservative will be fighting one another at home. It means the injection of partisan bitterness into a harmonious household that stands ready to meet all outside enemies with a

There is no end to serve save the end of party politics. There are matters certain to develop within the next few months in the internal affairs of this country that will render a further tenure of office difficult for the Conservative party. Hon. Robert Rogers, the crafty ringmaster of the "big show" at Ottawa, realizes that unless a further lease of power is secured at once, there will be no possibility of attaining it later on. Although the Government does not need to appeal to the country until September, 1916, it is lead into the contest by the constant persuasion of Rogers.

The Borden Government knows that Canada today is a house of mourning. The men whose sons are fighting in France do not desire an election, whether they be Grit or Tory. The average man on the street only asks for efficiency and purity in Government in order to cast aside his politics while the war may last. The heart of the country is in Europe with thousands of young men who are shedding their blood.

For one thing, businessmen want a quiet year. From the dislocation of business inevitably attendant upon so tremendous a struggle, the country has suffered enough. the business community ought to be undisturbed and undistracted by the clang and clamor of a political battle.

Why introduce a cross-division among Canadians unanimous in desire and effort to whip the Germans. Even Carson and Redmond were able to drop their home rule feud at the call of the flag.

As an evidence of the independent opinion of the country let us quote an extract from one of many articles printed in Toronto Saturday Night, a paper which has no fears of either party. It

[By Edward Boltwood.] Cordis played football late in eighties, and was probably the first hero of the game to have a national eputation. At any rate, I remember our surprise one morning, twenty years or so ago, when Berril brought o the college eating-club a newspaper with a four-column picture on the front page, entitled "Ewan Cordis, America's

King of Football." Everybody around the breakfasttable laughed at the picture, except Cordis himself. He merely stared at his plate in thoughtful silence; and on way to class-room Berril spoke Bunny was a competent actor of comedy roles in the regular drama for years, yet unknown to one in a thousand of those who subsequently came to know and admire him through the movies. The advent of the film drama found him peculiarly well endowed for the new art of acting without words.

The range of his facial expression was altogether wonderful, and when the emotion of the moment had told its story in his features there was nothing left for the words to do. The London Saturday Review once said:

When Mr. Bunny laughs, people from San Francisco to Stepney Green laugh with him. When Mr.

Bunny frowns, every kingdom of the earth is contracted in one brow of woe. When he smells a piece of Gorgonzola cheese, there is no doubt whatever that his nose has been seriously offended. His despair is incredible. His grief is unendur able. His wrath is apoplectic. His terror is the panic of a whole army.

The movies gave him a unique fame, and he in turn gave to the movies a talent for entertainment which helped mightily in justifying their reason for existence.

90 per cent is lost

It is a startling statement that of all the money paid by a leading life company to beneficiaries in seven years, 90% of it had been spent or lost. Yet that was proved by a careful investigation to be the case.

THE CANADA LIFE WILL PREVENT THIS LOSS.

Through our Continuous Monthly Income policy your beneficiary will have absolute certainty of an income of, say, $50. monthly, which cannot be tampered with by foolish or designing advisers.

This income is guaranteed for at least 20 years, so that should the beneficiary---presumably the wife---die, it will continue till the youngest child is of age.

There are a number of features which make this the ideal policy. Booklet No. 283 tells interestingly about them. A post card will bring it to you.

The average housekeeper sees that cleaning days come round in systematic rotation. Furnitura is moved out into the hall, rugs are taken to the vard or the roof, if the home is an apartment, woodwork is wiped down with a fire-irons are polished. Once in so often the glass fittings of the chandelier are removed and washed with ammonia and water. All this may be, and usually is, done by a more or less thorough maid, but there are certain details of cleaning which the housewife herself be conspicuous by their absence. Do not leave the cleaning of bric-abrac for the general housecleaning or roomcleaning time. Undertake the work on a special day; then carefully cover the small ornaments on cleaning day. To freshen the cut-glass vases and ornaments of rare porcelain or china have ready the wooden chopping bowl filled with lukewarm water, into which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been dropped. The police tried to keep the raid a secret and refused to give out any information about arrests. It is said the men came from Toronto and Hamilton at the suggestion of a local man, who had promised to smuggle them to Detroit in a rowboa This man, who, it is believed, was to attempt, whose name is make the kept secret, has already been sent with and others to the Government priso in Kingston and may be charged with treason, as he is a Canadian citizen. Officers from Ottawa visited sor a few weeks ago and placed all Aus trians in Windsor and adjoining towns on parole. Provincial police are investigating plans made for smuggling Auspresent time. From Peace River Landing to Edmonton the trip was made by the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway Line. It was then transferred to the G. T. P. and forwarded to Winnipeg.

When it is considered that Edmonton s located in 53-24 W., 4, and that Vanrena is located in 81-3 W, 6, some idea can be grasped of the long haul necessary to get this wheat to mar-ket. As the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Line runs close to direct north from Edmonton, and then west, the distance is close miles. From Edmonton to Winnipeg the distance is over 800 miles, so that a trip of around 1,200 miles was made before this wheat reached Winnipeg to have Government inspectors an nounce that a point so far north could produce No. 3 Northern wheat. It is not very many years since the agricultural world labored under the impression that grain-growing was well-nigh impossible in Western Canada. Later, everyone marvelled at the possibilities of such northerly districts as Prince Albert and Edmonton. During the last few years crops have been grown in the Grand Prairie and Peace River countries in Northern Alberta With this first shipment comes initial evidence that at least part of the crop is genuine hard wheat.

"THE GREAT DECISION"

Rev. J. M. MacGlillvray, Petrolea, at First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. J. M. MacGillivray, of Petrolea, occupied the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church at both services yesterday. The theme of his sermon in the evening was "Christ's Agony in the Garden of Gethsemane." Jesus, the preacher said, knew at that time that He had reached the most critical moment of His life and He went apart from His disciples because He knew that he must fight the temptation to save Himself alone. No one else could help Him to make the decision upon which rested the fate of the whole world. At some time in his life, he continued, every man had to fight a simibut the deep curve | lar fight with self, and similarly he must fight it alone. At some time in very man's life the "great decision" had to be made and no one could help field of, vision. him to make it. And, although it might not be apparent, the world was waiting tremblingly for the decision to be made, because on the decision of individual men the future progress of the world depended.
