

TWO KILLED IN ATTACK ON IRISH PRISON

HEARST STILL VENTS SPLEEN AT GT. BRITAIN

Attacks Disarmament Parley in Wantonly Misleading Cartoon in Washington Organ.

POINTS TO JAPAN PACT

Pictures U. S. Assailed by the Combined British and Japanese Navies.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Washington, Dec. 2.—William Randolph Hearst has unleashed the full force of his pitiful spleen at Great Britain to knife the peace conference. The pertinacity and venom with which he attacked everything British, or that savored of Britain during the world war is being employed with greater ferocity than ever. The Anglo-Japanese alliance is the vehicle on which he has chosen to attack the British Empire and to spread discord and distrust among the great nations gathered here in an endeavor to insure, if possible, the future peace of the world by disarmament. Hearst employs the Japanese war shadow to betray his fellow-Americans. He says that the Japanese alliance with Britain makes the British navy and the Japanese navy one. He pictures a terrible fate for the United States when, as he says, these two great forces will be unleashed, 18 units strong, against 10 of the United States.

Shows True Colors.
And Hearst, who was wonton in attacking Britain and Canada, and all which their sons were dying for at the time in France, is now showing himself in his true colors in regard to his junks in Canada. As has been pointed out, it is a rather scant courtesy he returns for the reception his sales tax junket is being accorded by those who find the moment opportune to use his propaganda in Canada.

Hearst's Washington paper is strong on this insidious campaign of its own. Its latest spread-eagle effort is in the shape of a cartoon. It endeavors to present to its readers that the peace conference is providing a trap for Uncle Sam by reducing his naval force and leaving the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It pictures Uncle Sam drawing back from the trap, the bait for which is a dove marked "world peace," with John Bull and the Japs near by hiding behind a tree.

Meets With Disfavor.
"Disgrace" is about the mildest term that true sons of Uncle Sam apply to this latest anti-British effort. That it meets with disfavor is putting it mildly. The disarmament conference continues undisturbed, but the Detroit Times, Hearst's latest acquisition, though its columns are even being made to circulate it on Canadian soil in the vicinity of Windsor, can be expected to join in waging an insidious campaign that is right and just—all that the Union Jack proudly stands for.

Japanese Aims Puzzle Delegates

Washington, Dec. 2.—(By Ben Deacon, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press.)—Old Mr. Speculation was the most prominent personage at the Washington conference as the delegates again got to work on several insinuating questions this morning. The air was once again filled with rumor and conjecture. What does the attitude of the Japanese on the ratio question really mean? Have they taken a definite stand or is the 70 per cent talk merely thrown as a feeder? Are they getting into a position for striking a bargain? These questions were being asked on all sides, and many and various theories were expounded. One view is that Japan's representatives by claiming a higher ratio of capital ships than has been allotted to them hope to place themselves in a favorable position to secure concessions in some other quarter. Knowing that the position of the United States is firmly fixed.

By Deeds, Not Words, You Must Judge Them!

WHERE WAS Mackenzie King when the war was on? You have heard that question. You have seen an answer in the local Meighen sheet, culled from a paper that is repudiated by the soldiers.

Lieut.-Col. John Bayne MacLean of Toronto, publisher of Financial Post, MacLean's Magazine, and fourteen other papers, is a Conservative, but a reasonable one. In a recent issue of MacLean's Magazine he discusses Mackenzie King as follows:

"So rotten had been the Asquith Government's handling of the war that in 1915, if the Germans had pressed the attack, the shortage of British and Canadian machine guns and of artillery munitions was so serious that authorities tell me we could not have withstood them. We had only two or three shells per gun per day. It was not British, but Canadian and United States manufacturers who first relieved the situation, who first got their labor lined up for big production. British labor was not producing. The study and promotion of better understanding between employer and employee had been Mr. King's specialty. Mr. King worked to promote United States war production. He was one of the most valuable men in that field on this side. I have a strong prejudice against any eligible man who side-stepped military service—and there are many thousands of them—but common sense compels me to admit that Mr. King was far more useful combating enemy propaganda to keep back vital war supplies here than musing up a minor staff job overseas. Many men in England who did far less service were highly rewarded with hereditary and other honors."

HAS C. R. SOMERVILLE anything to say that appeals to the household purse of London? Anything in his policy that comes right home to the family?

Let Mr. Somerville speak for himself. In his latest message to the electors he says:

"To the Women Electors of London:
Who pays the taxes? In the last analysis it is the women voter in the home. The money paid out for Business Profits Tax, for Income Tax, for Sales Tax, for Stamp Taxes, for Tariff Taxes, comes out of the family budget."

One great reason for the present high cost of living is that federal taxation for the controllable or ordinary cost of government has increased from eighty millions per year under Laurier to over three hundred and sixty millions per year under Meighen, and from an average of eleven dollars per year for every man, woman and child to an average of forty-two dollar per year. This is apart altogether from the burden of war taxation. Stricter economy in the home is enforced by growing governmental extravagance. Big corporations like the Rirdons may give an I. O. U. for $800,000 of taxes due. But the housewife pays cash, and pays it daily to the tax collector.

MR. FRANK WHITE continues to make statements in his printed appeals that are masterpieces of recklessness. Here is the latest:

"The Liberal party, if elected on December 6, will make such substantial reductions in the tariff of the country that some Canadian industries are likely to be forced out of business, while all will be adversely affected."

There now, Mr. White, we have you on record in black and white.

You make the bald statement over your own signature that if the Liberals are returned to power certain Canadian industries are likely to be forced out of business.

Now, in all fairness, Mr. White—bearing in mind that Mackenzie King is not a free trader, nor is the Liberal party a free trade party—will you please tell the people of London what you mean?

It is a very easy matter, Mr. White, for any man, with a stubby pencil, to sit down and write a lot of serious-sounding charges.

It is quite a different thing next day, or the day after, to go ahead and substantiate those wild claims.

Mr. White, you are appealing for the support of the people of the fourth city of the province—it is a big undertaking.

Now we ask you plainly to be specific.

Will you go ahead—bearing in mind that you have the pledged word of the Liberal leader and of Liberal candidates all over the country that they are not free traders—and name the factories that Mackenzie King is going to shut down?

We think this is a perfectly fair request, Mr. White. Remember, you are on record in your own signed advertising, in your statement that forms the basis of your appeal to the electors. All the electors want to know is:

(1)—If you have any definite information they should have. Remember it must be specific—or,

(2)—If you are making these statements at random in order to bolster up the Meighen cause, which you must know is going to be absolutely and irrevocably repudiated on the 6th day of December.

The London Meighen organ grows weary and a bit dizzy. Thursday it seized upon C. R. Somerville's platform, and attempted to twist and turn it out of all shape. It succeeded beyond its wildest dreams. In fact, its readers were treated to the Liberal program under the heading of "Government." Of course, the organ realizes that the "Liberals" are going to be the "Government" after Dec. 6, but all the same we bet some poor printer got properly spanked for rushing ahead three or four days with the admission.

Reference was made at St. Andrew's banquet to the eloquent speech on one occasion made by Sir George W. Ross. His mantle is worthily worn by his son, Duncan C. Ross. He is like his father, better than a good speaker, and his loyalty and service as member for West Middlesex entitles him to be returned by a handsome majority.

There is no man in London who has more true friends, close to him in every way, than C. R. Somerville. The reason is not far to seek. He verifies the old adage, "He who would have friends must show himself friendly." In public and in private life, C. R. Somerville has shown himself a friendly man. All his friends should, and we believe, will vote for C. R. Somerville, and cause him to head the poll.

May Rule Japan

CROWN PRINCE HIROHITO (above) AND VISCONT CHINDA.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
TOKIO, Dec. 2.—Crown Prince Hirohito, regent of Japan, Viscount Suteki Chinda, the power behind the throne.

Count Chinda's position as adviser to the regent will equal in importance and influence that of the premier.

Count Chinda is 65, well versed in foreign affairs and an experienced diplomat. He was graduated from a Russian university when he was 25, entered the Japanese foreign office and made quick progress in foreign diplomacy.

He became minister to Brazil and then to Russia. In recognition of his special services he was raised to the peerage.

In the last 13 years, he acted as ambassador to Germany, to the United States and to Great Britain. The new regent is 20. At the time of his tour of Europe recently rumor had it that he was being prepared for the step which has just been made.

The train was on the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley and Pittsburgh branch of the line. The merchandise stolen included groceries, tobacco and clothing.

IS FINED $10 FOR THIRD OFFENCE

Thomas Mitiga, proprietor of a pool room on Richmond street, was fined $10 and costs in police court Friday morning on a charge of allowing a minor to play pool in his premises.

"You're the man that was up here a week ago," said the court.

"No, he is my brother," said Mitiga. "This is your third offence," declared Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett, "and I could fine you $50. I am warning you that you have got to keep these boys out of your pool room. You are responsible, and if you have any doubt as to the boy's age, you must see that he gets out."

As nobody appeared against him, he was allowed to go.

GIVES BENNETT REAL HOT TIME AT CALGARY

Calgary, Dec. 2.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, minister of justice, was given the hottest time of his campaign last night when he appeared before a mass meeting of several thousand people, under the auspices of the Great War Veterans. At times the meeting became boisterous, and the minister was booed and hissed by a section of the audience, who seemed bent on not giving him a hearing.

J. W. Russell, president of the veterans, who was chairman, insisted on a proper hearing for Mr. Bennett, and he eventually got it, but questions were rained upon him from all sides. Mr. Bennett was able to conclude his address, and answered many of the questions asked him.

The other candidates in West Calgary, J. T. Shaw, Progressive, and E. F. Ryan, Liberal, also spoke.

The London Advertiser Straw Vote

With three days yet to go before the federal election, and with but two days remaining before the electors of the city are called upon to select their various municipal officers for 1922, The Advertiser's straw vote, reflecting, as it must, to some appreciable degree, the true sentiment of the people, continues to hold the interest of the supporters who desire to vote for their respective candidates.

There has been no cessation of balloting. More than 3,700 votes have already been cast, and interest quickens rather than lessens as the final day approaches.

With the addition of a truly representative vote by the man-or-woman-on-the-street, the totals up to press time are as follows:

FOR MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT.

C. R. SOMERVILLE	1,384
J. FRANK WHITE	1,142
ARTHUR MOULD	1,245

FOR MAYOR.

J. C. WILSON	1,584

RUGGLES MOTOR FIRM SECURES BIG CONTRACTS

Plant On Dundas Street East Is Scene of Increased Activity.

WORKING FULL TIME

Dominion Government Places Order For Mail Service Trucks.

The Ruggles motor truck plant, Dundas street east, is being rushed with orders, and a large increase in the working force has been made.

The Dominion Government has just placed an order with the Ruggles company for eleven trucks to be used in the government mail service.

A large firm in England has also placed a contract for 25 or 30 trucks. This order is to be rushed. The Ruggles Company also finds that there has been a big revival in local trade and the demand for trucks for local delivery has increased rapidly during the last few weeks. These orders alone are pushing the increased force of the plant to maintain production.

The Ruggles company is employing 50 per cent more men than it was one month ago today. Every employee in the Ruggles company are not to have a holiday on election day as are the employees of several other factories. The reason given for this is that the Ruggles firm is too rushed with orders to allow their men to take the day off. Instead, the Ruggles company on hand to make as possible on election day and at the same time give its employees an opportunity to exercise their franchise.

It has been decided that on the morning of election day trucks will be on hand to take the employees of two wards to the polls to cast their ballots, and then rush them back to the plant. In the afternoon the same will be done with the employees of the other two wards.

Shells Peas For Fifty Years!

MARY O'CONNOR TINDALL ON THE JOB.

BY MILTON BRONNER.
[Special to London Advertiser.]

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Says the champion pea-sheller of the world:

"I've been shelling peas every winter for fifty years. I've shelled 'em for the grand-mother and father of King George, for all the finest people, for all the big hotels, for all the smart restaurants of London. But—"

"In all that time I've never been out of London. I've never been out in God's open country where peas grow. I've never seen peas on the vine before they were picked."

Fifty years ago the mother of Mary O'Connor brought her little girl to the Bailey Market in Covent Garden, where shelled peas are a specialty. She apprenticed the child to a famous pea-sheller. And Mary's been shelling peas ever since.

Meanwhile she was married to a market employee named Tindall and reared a family of nine. She saw her children die, one by one, save two. And still she kept at the old job.

Of her royal customers she says: "King George, his little young peas. Those that go to the palace are of one size and one age. They're put through a sieve first and carefully graded."

"I've often wished I could see them at the palace, eating my peas and talking about them."

BOARD MAY PASS ON LARGE ITEMS

Complaints have been voiced by several citizens within the past few days that it has been customary for small committees of the board of education to pass on large expenditures.

It is claimed that the disposition of sums of money, $15,000 or $20,000, for instance, should be approved by the entire board.

"This can be done," W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education explained Friday. "I can have these various accounts tabulated and copies made for the entire board."

TORONTO ENTERTAINS BRITISH WAR MOTHER

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Emelia McCudden, who represented British war mothers at the burial of the American unknown warrior at Washington, and who, accompanied by her daughter Kathleen, arrived here last evening, was given a drive around the city this morning and tendered a civic welcome in the city council chamber at noon.

An address on behalf of the local branch of the Amputations Association of the Great War, and an address by the ex-servicemen and women of this city were presented to Mrs. McCudden.

CANNOT STORE LIQUOR UNLESS PLACES BONDED

Judgment Handed Down by Windsor Magistrate to Have Far-Reaching Effect.

CONCERN IS CONVICTED

Chartered Exporting Companies Must Secure Dominion Government Permission.

Windsor, Dec. 2.—Chartered exporting concerns in Windsor and along this border can no longer store liquor unless they are granted bonded warehouses by the Dominion government. This is the substance of a judgment handed down in Windsor police court by Judge Gundy in the case of the license department vs. the Essex Export Company of Pelee Island, Ont., who were charged with having liquor in other than a lawful place, to wit, their warehouse.

Judge Gundy registered a conviction against the company and imposed the bonded warehouse in Ontario to firms which have liquor in other than a lawful place, to wit, their warehouse.

The point at issue in the case was whether or not a chartered export company could store liquor in a warehouse without violating the Ontario Temperance Act. Special Prosecutor Jeffrey contended that the liquor could not be legally stored unless the company had a bonded warehouse. An application was made by the Essex Export Company to the Dominion authorities for a bonded warehouse, but was not granted. Mr. Purlong stated, by reason of the fact that the Government would only grant bonded warehouses in Ontario to firms whose applications had been recommended by the board of license commissioners. This the license board refused to do, Mr. Purlong stated.

"Having regard," the judge said in his decision, "to the decision in the case of Severin vs. the Queen, I am of the opinion that I should strive to uphold this provincial legislation. In addition to that, if there is any reasonable ground for claiming that the restriction amounts to a prohibition or for contending that any sections of the act are ultra vires, it should be left to a superior court to determine the matter, and the mob and the attorney-general of the province should be given an opportunity to be heard upon the argument of the case."

"I would say that while at first the restriction appeared to be onerous, upon further consideration it now appears to be that the provincial government has shifted to the Dominion Government the responsibility of saying who shall be in the export business and they can always do so by allowing bonded warehouses to such parties."

LONDONDERRY GUARDS FOUND CHLOROFORMED

Attempt To Release Sinn Fein Prisoners Frustrated by Military Force.

MANY SHOTS EXCHANGED

Three Members of Rescue Party Arrested and Motor Cars Seized.

Belfast, Dec. 2.—An attack on the jail at Londonderry with the object of releasing the prisoners there was repulsed by the police guards this morning. Two policemen were killed and several of the attackers captured.

The party gained entrance to the jail undetected, and their presence was not discovered until a patrol of policemen saw a rope ladder hanging over the wall and gave the alarm. The military guard in service had noticed nothing unusual, but upon investigation they found the two constables who guarded the Sinn Feiners lying dead in the corridor. They had been poisoned, drugged or strangled.

The Republican rescue party had forced the doors of ten cells when the guards surprised them at their work. The military opened fire, the Republicans replying with revolvers. Pandemonium prevailed for some time, but the guards finally gained the upper hand without losing any of the prisoners, at the same time capturing three young Londonderry men, who made a final attempt to release the prisoners.

Three motor cars, which had been left with engines running by the attacking party, also were seized. It was reported that two warders also had been found bound and gagged, and that five other warders had been arrested in connection with the attempted escape. Many houses in the vicinity of the jail were searched, and three civilians were arrested.

The version of the military authorities was that the two constables who were found dead in the corridor had died after chloroform had been administered to them.

Dail Eireann Will Consider Proposals

London, Dec. 2.—The British Government states proposals for consideration of the Irish question will be considered by the cabinet of the Dail Eireann at Dublin Saturday. The new terms, which were handed to the Sinn Fein delegates in written form, show some advances over the government's previous proposals and the delegates did not consider the necessity of giving them fullest consideration at a cabinet session.

The terms, it is said, concede from the beginning the Sinn Fein's claim for the unity of Ireland. Ulster must be included within the scheme from the start, according to the plan as it now appears to have been framed, and must remain in for six months. After that period and before the end of a year, Ulster is to be given the option to withdraw, and if she goes there must be a boundary commission to determine the exact area which is fairly entitled to go with her.

If Ulster goes under this plan she would preserve her present frontiers, and not only the fiscal freedom that would be left with South Ireland. The Sinn Fein has neither accepted nor rejected these proposals, but has promised to consider them. The question of the Sinn Fein's attitude is still the crux of the situation, but efforts are being made to devise some form of declaring allegiance which is hoped by the government the Sinn Fein might accept.

SIR HARRY LAUDER ROTARIANS' GUEST

Speaks Before London Club On "Work and Friendship."

At the special luncheon given by the Rotary Club in the Masonic Temple, Friday, the guest of honor was Sir Harry Lauder, the comedian. Sir Harry was given a rousing reception when they entered the hall. During the luncheon the members of the club sang "When Lauder's Eyes are Smiling," and "I Love a Lassie," one of Lauder's own songs, and others, with a swing that was good to hear.

After the luncheon Sir Harry addressed those present and created lots of fun by his witty remarks. His speech was mainly on "Work and Friendship," and stated that work was man's best friend. He remarked that he would rather bring the world happiness by affection than his affliction. The whole of the address was very much appreciated and his rich humor much enjoyed.

Sir Harry complimented the citizens on the appearance of the city, and said that he hoped that he would be able to visit London quite often.

FEARS SCHOONER LOST NEAR NEWFOUNDLAND

Sydney, N. S. Dec. 2.—It is feared here that the Newfoundland schooner Nahada has been lost, with all hands. She cleared from St. John's in October with coal for Newfoundland, and later put in at St. John's for repairs, after having her deckload washed away. Subsequently she cleared for Little Bay and has not been heard of since.

AS THEIR LAST meeting before the final meeting of the board of education on Dec. 6, the members of the industrial advisory committee will convene Friday evening at the technical and art school.

TO HOLD LAST OF CIVIC MEETINGS

Ward Four Electors To Hear Candidates in Masonic Temple Tonight.

The final of the four meetings called to discuss municipal questions in connection with the civic election campaign will be staged tonight in the Masonic Temple. It is for Ward 4 electors, and will be staged down town because some time ago the council was asked to have one held where a large number of girls of the Y. W. C. A. could attend.

However, the indications are that there will be more than the girls present, and the outlook is that the meeting will be, as one man put it, a "rip-snorter."

A move will be made, however, to curtail the speeches by placing a limit on each speaker.

There are some who want the board of education speakers to come first at tonight's meeting, as it is said that there will be some pertinent questions relating to the board's affairs.

FIND BABY SLAIN NEAR HER HOME

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Following an all-night search for little Margaret Coughlin, 3-years old, her dismembered body was found today in the home of Mrs. Ralph Pensis, 52 years old, a neighbor.

Shortly afterward the body of Mrs. Pensis with her throat slashed by a butcher knife, was found on the second floor of the Pensis cottage.

Police immediately began a search for Ralph Pensis, the women's husband, in the basement the police discovered the baby's torso in a wash boiler. Several feet away, one leg, wrapped in paper, was found in a cardboard box.

Police found Mrs. Pensis' body in a room upstairs. The body was still warm. The police believe she killed herself.

ORDERS FRENCH POLICE TO HOLD U. S. FINANCIER

Paris, Dec. 2.—The Havre police were instructed by the secret police of the French ministry of the interior this morning to arrest Charles W. Morse, United States shipbuilder and financier, as soon as he landed from the liner Paris. The instructions were sent by telephone.

Morse was still aboard the liner Paris as she was docking at 10:30 o'clock this morning. He declared that he was unaware he was being sought in connection with the investigation of his activities by the federal grand jury at Washington until he was informed by wireless last night that several operatives from the Paris police department were watching for his arrival.

CLUB CELEBRATES 30TH ANNIVERSARY

London Orients Hold Successful Dinner at Tecumseh Hotel.

The London Orient Club celebrated its 30th anniversary Thursday night by a banquet given at the Tecumseh Hotel, when 32 members and guests were entertained by the club.

The president, G. R. Erskine, commended the committee in charge in the remarks prefacing the program for the splendid success of the affair.

The honorary president, Ben Parkinson, who responded to the toast, "Our Club," told of the beginning of the first club in 1891, he having been the first president, when six young boys had decided to form a club, and how the club membership had expanded, largely owing to the success of the club in its sporting and social activities.

The best wishes of kindred clubs in the city, Acadian Club, Hermitage Club, Alert Club and Manhattan Club, were brought to the Orient Club, on the occasion of its 30th anniversary by members of these clubs who were present.

A bright future was predicted by the different speakers of the evening for the club, which they declared had grasped the true principles of a club of its nature, and adhered to them, and that if the faith was kept with the past ideals, the club could undoubtedly secure a brilliant future.

Several novelties were introduced into a splendid program of song and dance, the talent for the most part being drawn from the club membership, which contributed greatly to a very enjoyable evening.

QUESTIONS RIGHT TO CHANGE LIGHTS

By whose order was it that the lights originally placed in the Wortley road school were subsequently changed and others installed in their place? This is the question that has been submitted by J. B. Wright, school trustee, and candidate again this year for another term.

It is explained that lights similar to those in the new medical school were placed in the Wortley road school by the hydro department, in the nature of an experiment. Then, Trustee Wright says, the committee, after an inspection, approved of these lights, but to his surprise he says he discovered later that they were removed and others placed in position. He wants to know by whose authority this was done.

"It may have been done by the committee at a special meeting," said W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, on Friday. "I cannot say at this moment."

Major Kippen then said that the returned soldiers were being attracted more to the Liberal government and its policy than they were to the Meighen government. He declared that there were more returned men running against Meighen than were in sympathy with his policy.

"The Liberals recognized the fact that the soldiers must have a say in the governing of Canada," he said. "They are with the soldiers, and they in turn are with them. If it is the party would give the soldier more consideration than the Liberal party I think I would be with them. I would like to see every soldier candidate, regardless of what party he is representing, elected next Tuesday."

Major Kippen paid glowing tribute to Major Ross' war record. He said that he met a member of Major Ross' battalion in Toronto recently and told him he hoped Major Ross would be elected. "He was white," said the former soldier, "he used every one of his men just as he would use himself. The Liberals could not have chosen a better man."

Col. Clifford Bevan of London, who recently returned from the disarmament conference in Washington, said that Major Ross was the best exponent the Liberal party could pick in East Middlesex. He asserted that the Liberal government stood for equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Col. Bevan dealt for some time with the cause of the depopulation in the Dominion of Canada since the duration of the war.

"The Meighen government knew what hardships would have to be endured after the war, yet they did not prepare for anything. Consequently unemployment became grave. Young Canadians could not find work in Canada, so they went to the United States. There are two million Canadians in the United States because they could not get work in Canada. And the Meighen government has done nothing to help it out. Government by the people will help this out, and if Meighen is returned to power," the speaker concluded.

Conservative Makes Plea. Dr. Arthur Rankin, a prominent London Conservative, spoke on behalf of Major Ross. He declared that there must be something done at once to stop young Canadians from going to the States to find work after they had learned their trade. "I was away from Canada for ten years after I graduated from Toronto University," he said. "There was no place in Canada where I could prepare myself to help the people of Canada."

"This country must be entrusted to a government that has been tried. There is a terrible crisis coming. Major Ross was one of the many Canadians who did his bit. He has been tested and stood up, and now he is in the condition to represent you in parliament. Elect him Tuesday, and give him a big majority."

When Major Ross came to the platform three cheers and a "tiger" were given him. He opened his speech by saying that he was in favor of the Liberal policy as laid down at the Liberal convention at Ottawa in 1919—especially as it applied to the downward revision of tariff on the necessities of life.

Declares Charge False. "There is at present quickly and indignantly being waged against me the charge that I stood for decreased pensions for returned men," asserted the Liberal champion. "The statement that I stand for this is absolutely false. No one knows better the returned men my attitude on this matter. I have stated in my manifesto and in public view, which is further provision for disabled soldiers and their dependents and a reopening of the whole question of re-establishment and vocational training."

ROSS RECEIVES GREAT OVATION IN HOME TOWN

Liberal Standard-Bearer in East Middlesex Welcomed at Lucan Rally.

Lucan, Dec. 1.—The largest political gathering in the history of Biddulph greeted Major Duncan Ross, M.C., Liberal candidate in East Middlesex, at Lucan, his home town, Thursday evening. Major Ross was accorded an enthusiastic reception on his arrival here. When he entered the Opera House, where the meeting was held, the cheers that greeted him were deafening.

Liberal, Conservative and U. F. O. electors were prominent. The main speech of the evening was delivered by a lifelong Conservative in the person of George Stanley, a local resident. Stanley has been one of the leaders of the Conservative party in this district for some time.

Favors Ross' Policy. In Mr. Stanley's opening remarks, he said that he was in favor of Major Ross' policy.

"I have read over the Liberal platform on the tariff question, and I cannot say where it differs materially with that of the Conservative," he said with great force. "I feel certain that the tariff policy of this country is quite safe in the hands of Major Ross."

This statement was met with loud applause. Mr. Stanley then touched on Major Ross' war experience. He asserted that the candidate was the first to don the king's uniform in this district. "He stood square for this country as a soldier, and he will do the same as a member of parliament for the Liberal party," he said. "Major Ross fought to save the nation, democracy, your home and family, my home and family, and now the time has come when we can repay him for that debt. That's why I am going to vote for him on Tuesday. It is not for me to tell you how to vote, but you owe it to him for what he did for you."

It has been said that the Liberal party stood for free trade. No government will have this as their fiscal policy. Nobody wants to see anything of the sort, and Major Ross will certainly never stand for this if elected to parliament.

"I have a good word for Major Ross and the Liberal platform, and this is why I am going to vote for the party. Now, that's putting it pretty strong for an old-time Tory, isn't it?"

Major Kippen Speaks. Major W. H. Kippen, D.S.O., M.C., and bar, was the next to speak in the interest of Major Ross. He came straight to the point by saying that the candidate had not let Lucan or Canada down in 1915, and now the time had come when Lucan should stand behind him.

Major Kippen then said that the returned soldiers were being attracted more to the Liberal government and its policy than they were to the Meighen government. He declared that there were more returned men running against Meighen than were in sympathy with his policy.

"The Liberals recognized the fact that the soldiers must have a say in the governing of Canada," he said. "They are with the soldiers, and they in turn are with them. Started in 1858!

LONDON, England, Dec. 1.—Deputy Surgeon-General Clarence Cooper will know how to play golf seven years from now. He is only 93, and the first 100 years are the hardest.

Mr. Cooper first learned the game in 1858.

ing by a commission properly fitted for that work.

"There has also been talk that MacKenzie King had one speech for Ontario for Quebec, one for the West and one for British Columbia. Government candidates have charged this, but they never have proven their statements."

Tariff Now Too High. "The tariff on the necessities of life is too high now. If it is too low, foreign goods will come in. Therefore, there must be some tariff devised that will come between the cheering and the coming, and I need your help," he concluded.

William Moore, a well-known London man, provided amusement for the audience. He led in the cheering and in the reception tendered Major Ross on his arrival in his home town.

Waiter Gibson acted as chairman of the meeting.

TAKES ISSUE WITH TRUSTEE HAYMAN

Buchanan Declares Utilities Not "Just Sore," But "Justly Sore."

That School Trustee Harry Hayman's remark about the Public Utilities Commission being "just sore" because they failed to get the contract for the electrical equipment for the new collegiate institute, should have been "justly sore," was the frank retort of D. V. Buchanan on Friday.

"I take issue with Trustee Hayman," said Buchanan. "The impression is given that the Galt Electric Company manufactures the fixtures in question. The Galt company assembles them."

"Probably there are many," continued Mr. Buchanan, "who may not believe when I tell them that my interest in the proper and adequate equipping of the new Collegiate Institute, or any of the schools, is not a mercenary one."

"Even in the event of our department receiving the contract in question, the profit would have been trifling. To my mind it's a matter of civic pride and responsibility that our schools should be properly lighted. School lighting, more particularly, should be an object lesson. Were we to undertake this contract, we would be supplying, not the fixtures alone, but suitable illumination. We have mastered the problems of shading and glare, which is the most important feature where the eyesight of the pupils is considered, as it should be."

LARGEST NUGGET OF PLATINUM EVER FOUND

The largest platinum nugget ever found on this hemisphere was located on the western coast of South America in 1897, and part of two pounds. Platinum is extremely hard and takes a very high permanent polish, making it very valuable to mount diamonds in. 4,000,000 ounces is the total production to date, and some of this is used to mount the Perfect Blue-White Diamonds sold by John A. Nash, Mr. Jeweller, 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."

FREES WOMAN CHARGED WITH POISONING DOGS

Mrs. Mary Flaherty, charged with poisoning two dogs and a number of hens and pigeons, the property of Benjamin McKaig, was discharged in Squire Chittick's court at the court house Thursday afternoon.

The case, which was started last week had to be adjourned owing to all the witnesses not being heard.

Howard Cluff appeared for Mrs. Flaherty and her two sons, who were alleged to have been implicated in the matter.

There was a large attendance of spectators from Manor Park, where both parties reside.

W. MIDDLESEX M. P. OUTLINES RECORD

Duncan C. Ross Receives at Enthusiastic Reception from Parkhill Audience.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Parkhill, Dec. 2.—Duncan C. Ross, M.P., of West Middlesex, got a great reception when he spoke in the town hall here on Thursday night. He was supported by J. C. Elliott, who dealt in a vigorous and telling manner with the issues of the day.

Mr. Ross went extensively into his record in connection with the military service act, showing that he had followed exactly the lines he had promised his constituents when he last appeared for their support. A letter was also produced, written by Sir Whitfield Laurier, to one of Mr. Ross's supporters, stating that everything he had done was with the approval of the late chief.

Mr. Ross made it plain that he was not an advocate of free trade, believing that a tariff for revenue was the best solution, and one that would make it possible for reductions to be made in the cost of living.

Norman Newton occupied the chair at the meeting, and the hall was packed away beyond seating capacity many standing throughout the entire meeting.

BEGIN ADVANCE BALLOTING IN FEDERAL FIGHT

Railwaymen, Sailors and Travelers to Cast Votes at 352 Points in Dominion.

MUST HAVE CERTIFICATE

Ballots Will Be Sealed in Envelopes and Counted On Election Day.

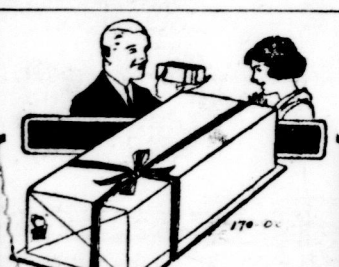

OTTAWA, Dec. 2.—(Canadian Press).—Between the hours of seven and ten o'clock tonight, the first votes will be cast in the fight for control of the next House of Commons. These are the advance polls held for the special benefit of railway employees, sailors and commercial travelers, and they will be held at 352 points throughout the Dominion. Voting in the advance polls will continue at the same hours tomorrow night and Monday night.

Only the elector will be allowed to vote at an advance poll whose employment or calling is such as to necessitate from time to time his absence from his ordinary place of residence, and who has reason to believe that, because of necessary absence from such place of residence, in the pursuit of his employment or calling he will be unable to vote on election day. No person will be allowed to vote at an advance poll unless he presents a certificate that he is entitled to do so, issued by a revising officer or rural registrar.

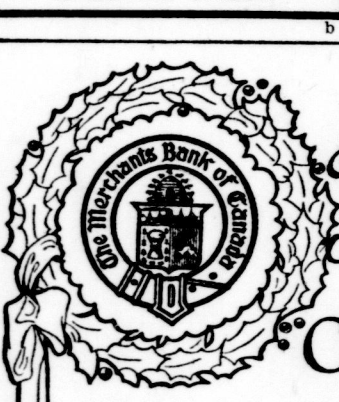

Will Count Certificates.
Votes cast at the advance polls held tonight, tomorrow night and Monday night, will not be counted till 6 p.m. on Tuesday, the general polling day. Immediately after the close of the advance poll tonight, and on subsequent nights of advance polls, the deputy returning officer will first count the certificates upon which votes have been cast and put them and the unused ballots into an envelope provided for the purpose. He will indorse the envelope with the information required as indicated on it, and seal it up. He will then put the spoiled ballots into their proper envelope, seal and indorse it. Then the ballot box will be opened and the ballots emptied into an envelope.

Lloyd George Plans To Leave Dec. 12

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Mr. Lloyd George, it was learned this afternoon, is definitely planning to leave for the United States Dec. 12 to attend the Washington armament conference.

"This," read the instructions issued by Col. O. M. Biggar, chief electoral officer, "will be done in such a way as not to disclose how any ballot has been marked."

Envelopes Will Be Sealed.
The envelope containing the ballots must be at once sealed up, indorsed and placed in the ballot box, which in turn will be locked and sealed. A similar procedure will be followed on the second and third evenings of advance polls. At the advance polling station at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, the ballot box will be emptied and the three envelopes containing advance ballots will be opened. The count will then be carried on as at an ordinary poll.

ASKS WHERE BOYS WERE TAKING COAL

Crown Attorney McKillop Wants To Find "Man in the Case."

Who was to get the coal that two youths by the name of Wench and White were in the act of stealing at the Scott, Chamberlain Company, on the night of Nov. 23, when interrupted by the police? That is the question that Crown Attorney McKillop expects to have answered in the next few days.

Wench stated that he wanted the coal for himself to burn at home. "That is not true," stated Mr. McKillop. "They were stealing it for another man who was paying for it. Mr. Wench, the father of this boy, does not need any coal."

"You were taking the coal for someone else, were you not?" "That will have to be proven," declared the prisoner.

"The man in the case is worse than the boys, and we mean to have him," stated Mr. McKillop, who asked that the boys be remanded till Tuesday. His request was granted.

CONFIDENT BYLAW WILL BE CARRIED

Campaign Workers Find Citizens Favor University Grant.

The Western University bylaw central campaign committee met in the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon and reports of the ward chairman were received. Much satisfaction was expressed at the progress made and an amendment in favor of the bylaw was reported to exist in most of the places visited.

The only objections met with, it was reported, were in cases where the true facts were not known, but when it was explained that it only meant 30 cents on $1,000 assessment, and it was pointed out that a large amount of money would come into the city and be used for building purposes, the objections were overcome in every case.

It was decided to conclude the campaign by sending circulars to every house making everybody familiar with the objects of the bylaw and urging every voter to go out on election day.

The committee has arranged for outside scrutineers in all the wards to check up the voters and is providing autos to co-operate with the various candidates in order to get a large vote out.

The committee expressed the opinion that where the true facts are known there is no danger of the bylaw being defeated.

SUPPOSE NOBODY CARED!

ON CHRISTMAS MORN

DID you ever sit alone on Christmas Eve, hungry and cold and heart-heavy, the last member of your family, perhaps, enfeebled by years of hard toil for children now dead and gone? Did you? With never a soul to come to you and wish you a "Merry Christmas," and never a warm hand to clasp your in cheery good-fellowship? Did you?

Did you sit there alone, rocking in a rickety old armchair—rocking because there was nothing else left for you to do?

Did you let the time of feasting go past, unfeeling, because you couldn't bear to stoop to stale bread and weak tea, when you smelled turkey cooking across the way, and heard the shrill laughter of children gleeful over their toys? Did you?

Did you look back over the years and see your own children, now long since dead, playing on Christmas Day just as these children play? And then did the tears crowd up into your dim old eyes, and did the very heart beating under your ragged coat seem to break with the hopelessness and utter friendlessness of your Christmas Day? Did it?

If it did, then you know without the telling, why you should help others to be happy on Christmas Day—why you should use every means in your power to relieve the awful tragedy of a friendless Christmas.

But, most of you don't know anything about it—I mean most of you who are able to help. Can't you just try and imagine it? Look ahead a few years, and see yourself as you might some time be, in spite of all the cheery outlook of today. Then dig deep down mas Cheer Fund" the biggest and best Christmas fund that ever was.

ADMITTS TAKING A LITTLE TOO MUCH

Female Prisoner, Charged With Drunkenness, Tries Alibi of Sickness.

Women drunks have been few and far between in the court of late, but one was picked up at the corner of Elmwood avenue and Edward street at 2 o'clock Friday morning.

"He was staggering, your worship," said the constable who made the arrest. "Yes, I was," admitted the prisoner. "But I have been staggering around the house for the past two weeks. I had my teeth out, and I have been having an awful time, but I stuck to my job even though I had a lot of weak spells."

"You always plead that you have been sick every time you come up here," declared Inspector Lucas.

"Not always," said the woman flashing him a look of disgust through a pair of tortoise-rimmed glasses.

"I've heard that argument before," came back the inspector.

"There is no use arguing the matter further," claimed the prisoner. "You shouldn't be wandering around the streets at that hour of the morning, when you live away out in the east end of the city," declared Magistrate F. H. Bartlett, "and I am going to impose the usual fine."

Magistrate will spend the next few days in the women's department at the county jail.

NEW ST. JAMES TUXIS BOYS HOLD BANQUET

The Pirates Intermediate Class of New St. James and members of the Tuxis groups of this city, Thursday night held their semi-weekly banquet and business meeting in the basement of the New St. James' Church. Nearly all members were present, including Mr. H. B. Muir, honorary president of the club.

After a delightful supper, served by the committee appointed for the occasion, the class gathered together for a meeting. Many important questions were brought before the class and many helpful suggestions were given by the honorary president. After all business was satisfactorily settled, six new members of the club were officially voted in, and a date was set for the initiation in order to give the new members time to prepare. After this the meeting dispersed for the evening.

LIGHT BALLOTING AT RAILWAY BOOTH

The railway booth at the city hall, provided so that railmen can vote for municipal candidates on the last three days of the week, is not being rushed with voters. Half the time for railway votes to be cast, expired at noon Friday, and but three votes were cast. The poll was opened on Thursday. It cost $11 to maintain it besides providing the polling place. Not a vote was cast.

Friday morning saw three railwaymen appear and cast their ballots.

KIWANIANS HEAR TORONTO SPEAKER

Friday Noon Luncheon Addressed by Mrs. Sidney Small.

"The day is past when women sit by to let the men decide the affairs of the nation," said Mrs. Sidney Small of Toronto, who addressed the Kiwanis Club at noon luncheon Friday.

Mrs. Small is one of the few women in Canada who hold office as alderman, and is well-known for her activities in social welfare work of every description.

"The New Citizenship for Canadians," particularly women's place regarding it, was the basis of Mrs. Small's address. "I think you businessmen of today are working out ideals," said Mrs. Small. "The materialism of the past is being swept away."

These ideals were what the new citizenship aimed at, she said. "The question arises as to what is the great danger to the new citizenship," said the speaker.

"The danger lies in the facts pertaining to social welfare which have been ignored in the past, hidden by veils and camouflage."

Refers to Army Tests.
Mrs. Small related facts revealed in test taken in the American army, facts that hold good for all society," she said. "What do we find? Only 25 per cent of the population is of average mentality, 10 per cent with mentality of 12 years of age, 70 per cent below high school grade."

"That means, taken by and large, the mentality is only 13 years of age. What does it mean industrially and economically? It means that you have millions to right and left of you," declared Mrs. Small.

Mrs. Small spoke of the educational problems which confronted the nation. She declared that education wasn't sound in Canada; it was far from being a preparation for life as intended.

Would Segregate Abnormal.
The speaker then referred to the menace of the feeble-minded in "We should prevent the abnormal mind having access to normal mind."

The province itself should act, she said.

Mrs. Small spoke of the work of Judge Mott in juvenile court as miraculous, and urged that a domestic relations court be had in Ontario in conjunction with the juvenile court.

In conclusion Mrs. Small said that it was time for society today to take up the burden being left to the world by disarmament. Particularly in the British empire where so much depended on the navy, would the burden have to be met.

ISSUES WRITS AGAINST DORCHESTER TOWNSHIP

As the result of an automobile accident last summer two supreme court writs have been issued against the Township of North Dorchester by J. M. McEvoy on behalf of his clients, Frank Scattergood, Martha Hardman, and her son and daughter, Edward and Gertrude.

The writs, which are similar in nature, read "for damages against the township for negligence in not keeping the highway over the gully northeast of the G. T. R. at Dorchester Station in a proper state of repair, on or about the 30th of August, 1921, whereby the plaintiffs suffered personal injuries."

Scattergood also claims damages for the smashing of his automobile.

URGES CHANGE IN CIVIC FINANCING

Harley Addresses Rally at George White & Sons Plant.

Ald. Frank E. Harley addressed the men at Geo. White & Sons Co., Friday noon, where he met with a good reception. He referred to the claim of his two opponents that they were going to reduce the tax rate, and agreed that everyone wants to see the taxes reduced, but the other candidates are aware of the fact that the city council controls only 21 per cent of the taxes.

He stated that if an examination was made of the new debenture issue, issued this year, and for a number of years past, it would be found that they were issued chiefly to provide for the expenditures required, not by the city council, but by the other spending bodies. This he stated was one more reason why there should be one central control, as the different civic bodies seem to try to compete with one another for the biggest share of the city's annual expenditure, and it is, therefore, not at all surprising that the tax rate grows. He stated that the present city treasurer was given the powers of a financial commissioner, it would go a long way towards curtailing our annual expenditure. Ald. Harley made a strong plea to the employees of this factory for their support, promising faithful service in the interests of the citizens if elected to the mayor's chair.

Edwin Smith Declares Public Suspects Things Are Not Conducted Right.

BOARD LETS CONTRACTS

Retailer Gives Lower Price Than Wholesaler On Same Article.

"Let's remove all shadows. Let's have everything fair and above board. I have people calling me up continually about these things. There's an opinion prevalent among the general public that things are not being conducted as they should," declared Trustee Edwin Smith, a member of No. 3 committee of the board of education, at a special meeting held Thursday afternoon to discuss further the consideration of tenders for equipment for the new collegiate institute.

At a meeting of ward two electors Wednesday night C. R. Smith attended with a board of education blue book, and questioned whether it was right that a member of the board itself should be continually awarded contracts for supplies. Upon inquiry as to who this member was, he replied that it was A. A. Langford, managing director of the A. A. Langford Company, office supplies, etc., 425 Richmond street. Items were also quoted by the taxpayer.

Makes Promise Good.

At Thursday's meeting Trustee Edwin Smith made good his promise that he would make inquiries, when he questioned: "What is all this about the tendering of the contract for electrical fixtures to a firm in Galt? It has been claimed by certain firms that they were not permitted to bid."

"I don't know," replied Chairman Langford. "I was not at the meeting."

"Did it ever come before this committee?" persisted Trustee Smith.

"Oh, yes," replied one of the committee. "It was two weeks ago."

"It may have," commented Trustee

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N.B., writes:—

"For years I was in a very nervous, run-down condition, was much depressed in spirits and suffered a great deal at times. The least noise would irritate me and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I consulted different doctors to no effect."

"A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I am truly testifying today to the great benefits received. There was a marked change before I had finished the second box and when I had used a dozen boxes my nerves were thoroughly restored and I was entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have. I shall ever be ready to testify to the benefits of this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will give to others the quick and permanent relief it has given me."

That Goblin Story Is All Played Out!—Editorial.

Smith. "I wouldn't say whether I was here or not. I don't remember."

"You were there," advised W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board.

"Is it true that this tender was not advertised sufficiently in the press?" questioned Trustee Smith.

L. E. Carrothers, school architect, explained that such had not been deemed expedient. Trustee Smith and Coleridge, the latter chairman of the Board of Education, held, however, that all tenders should be properly advertised.

"There seems to be a lot of mistrust in the air," commented Trustee Smith. "Let's clear it up. The citizens at large have a right to know the true facts of the case. We see for instance that E. V. Buchanan of the Public Utilities Commission has registered his complaint."

"Those people are just 'sore' because they failed to get the contract," volunteered Trustee Harry Hayman. "The fact of the matter is that the Galt firm will furnish the manufactured article which will be installed in the collegiate by the same local firm that is at present doing the wiring."

It was explained further by Trustee Clark that the Public Utilities Commission, like any other firm, would have to get their electrical fixtures from out of the city as there are none manufactured in the city.

Accept Chairs.

Arthur Keene appeared before the board to submit an offer for 750 chairs at $5.15 each, and volunteered to back his proposal with a personal check. A motion to accept this offer, moved by Trustee Clark, providing that a written agreement from Mr. Keene, embracing his own guarantee, be accepted, was passed without opposition.

These chairs will be made by the Elmira Chair Company, and the contract states that they are to be installed in the school. A former motion that the offer by the Owen Sound Chair Company be accepted was withdrawn.

The last contract means a gain of $1,553, the trustees say. While Smallman & Ingram were awarded a contract for folding chairs, 420 in number, for the collegiate auditorium, at a price not to exceed $3.30 each, a peculiar fact was brought to light, that a certain wholesale firm bidding on the same chair, manufactured at the same plant, were asking 14 cents more than Smallman's.

WESTERN ONTARIO PRIEST SUCCUMBS

Served As President St. Jerome's College 30 Years.

KITCHENER, Dec. 1.—Rev. Theo. Spetz, D.D., C.R., over 30 years connected with St. Jerome's College here, and a former president of the institution, died this afternoon, following a month's illness. For a number of years he was Provincial of the Congregation of the Assumption for this continent, retiring recently.

Educated for the priesthood at Rome, Italy, he was ordained 41 years ago. He was born just outside the town of Waterloo 72 years ago. Dr. Spetz was one of the most widely known Catholic priests of Ontario. He was a Catholic historian of some note, being author of a number of volumes concerning the history of the Catholic Church in Ontario. He was also an accomplished musician.

During his priestly career he held pastorates at New Hamburg, Waterloo and Kitchener. He was a son of one of the original Catholic pioneers of Waterloo County, and was the first student to enter St. Jerome's College, when the institution was founded in a log house near St. Agathe. His passing will be widely mourned by Catholics throughout Western Ontario.

FIVE JAPS LOSE LIVES IN PACIFIC

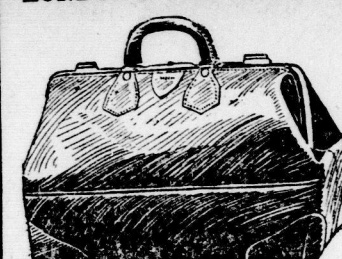

VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 1.—Five Japanese sailors are now said to have lost their lives when the Japanese auxiliary schooner Koun Maru foundered 200 miles off Cape Flattery in a southeast gale Tuesday. Mr. King's War Record.

When argument fails, resort to falsehood.

That seems to be the desperate last-resort policy of the Meighen press.

A mean and scandalous libel on the Liberal leader, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, is being reproduced from "The Khaki Call." Mr. King is represented as doing no service to Canada during the war, as feeling to the United States to accept a fat job from Rockefeller, and as ignoring the interests of the returned men.

In view of the facts the charges are despicable. Those responsible for the reproduction in the interests of Meighen candidates, of "The Khaki Call's" libel know, or should know, that "The Khaki Call" is no longer "the official organ of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association." It was discredited and disowned months ago because it had become the hiring of the Tory high-protectionist machine.

Mr. King did not flee to the United States when war began, to work in the Rockefeller interests. He had accepted, months before the outbreak of war, an unsolicited position of trust and great responsibility from the trustees in charge of the Rockefeller Foundation, public-spirited men of the highest standing and honor in the United States, administering a great trust with absolute no strings attached to it. He had been chosen as the man best qualified by study, practical experience and ability to draft a comprehensive plan for the wisest expenditure of $500,000,000 "in the interests of humanity." It was a great task, and a noble opportunity for enduring world service.

When war broke out Mr. King had the choice of accepting some staff job with the Canadian overseas forces or of continuing the task already begun. Mr. Meighen, a younger man than Mr. King, and with fewer dependent upon him, had the same choice. Both men decided where they could be of greatest practical service to the allied cause. Mr. Meighen stayed in Ottawa. Mr. King continued his work for the Rockefeller Foundation, and devoted his whole time to helping to secure satisfactory working agreements between labor and capital, whereby strikes were settled or avoided, and uninterrupted flow of munitions and supplies from this continent, vital to the allied cause in the first three critical years of the war, was secured.

The inestimable, practical value of his work to the Allies has been amply testified to by outstanding and unimpeachable representatives of both labor and capital. Incidentally, it may be noted that one of the very first things Mr. King sought and obtained was a ten-million subscription from the Foundation to the first British loan. This was followed by many millions more given to the Allied Red Cross and relief work.

Mr. King's war record will bear the most critical examination, and in point of actual, practical service rendered, will stand favorable comparison with that of Mr. Meighen. When his task for the Rockefeller foundation was completed Mr. King was offered numerous other commissions by captains of industry in the United States anxious to secure his services in working out co-operative agreements with their employees. Mr. King refused offers which meant, in a monetary sense, many times what he could ever hope to receive in Canada. He turned his back on affluence and an assured position in the United States, and decided to devote the rest of his life to the public service of Canada. He was subsequently chosen as the leader of the Liberal party. All decent and fair-minded electors will resent political tactics which descend to the level of "The Khaki Call."

The Liberal party are not Free Traders. Mackenzie King is not a Free Trader. Neither are the men supporting him.

How Much Majority?

There seems to be little doubt that Mr. Somerville will head the poll on election day. The question is by how much?

Mr. Somerville is entitled to the support of every man and woman in London. He has clearly explained his position on the tariff, and supports the King-Fielding government. Manufacturer, employee and consumer have nothing to lose and much to gain by supporting Mr. Somerville. The Hon. W. S. Fielding is acknowledged to be the ablest man in the public life of Canada in financial matters. No one ever discussed financial questions with him without being impressed with his bigness.

Mr. Somerville is the friend of the returned soldiers, and will give any measure of assistance to them all the help he can. During the war he was one of the largest subscribers to every fund that would help to win the war and alleviate suffering. Mr. Somerville has pointed out the position of the government with reference to the assumption of usurpation of power by it, and its failure to consult the people and maintain responsible government in Canada.

Mr. Somerville's own public and private record as a citizen of London is not excelled by anyone. He has the character, capacity and experience to make one of the best members of the House of Commons. His strength as a candidate is increasing every day. The men and women of London after the 6th of December will have a worthy representative in the House of Commons in Mr. Somerville. We hope his majority will be large, and that he will be behind Mackenzie King and W. S. Fielding as a supporter of the Liberal government.

The Liberal party are not Free Traders. Mackenzie King is not a Free Trader. Neither are the men supporting him.

Unemployment.

FROM reports coming from many sources it is easy to gather that this winter is going to find a number of municipalities faced with the problem of how to provide for the men who are out of work.

In recent years, through custom or pressure, it has become part of the duty of municipal councils to deal with matters of unemployment. Justification for this course can be found in the plea that in this way the duty of looking after these men is distributed over the whole city instead of being shouldered entirely by those who are always ready to give to any good cause.

A recent survey made by trades unions throughout Canada gives the following figures by provinces as the per cent of men out of work:

Nova Scotia	8.68
New Brunswick	6.99
Quebec	13.80
Ontario	6.22
Manitoba	3.92
Saskatchewan	2.51
Alberta	2.98
British Columbia	12.48
Average	8.47

AN examination of the figures shows that the following trades are hardest hit by unemployment in Canada; figures representing per cent out of work:

Glass bottle blowing	59.84
Moulders	47.61
Pattern-makers	44.65
Blacksmiths	36.57

This work cannot be carried on at a time most favorable from the standpoint of good or bad building seasons, ups and downs in the price market of things needed in the work.

A municipal council is faced with this problem; it is blamed by ratepayers for spending too large an amount on this work, while at the same time no other course is open, unless it resorts to the poor alternative of giving out a certain amount of charity.

The Liberal party are not Free Traders. Mackenzie King is not a Free Trader. Neither are the men supporting him.

LITTLE 'TISERS

It is time for a change. Strike now for the rights of the common people.

Japan is asking for a larger tonnage, and many a citizen has wished the same thing about his cellar.

Making the mayoralty and aldermanic platforms should provide some employment for the political carpenters.

The Liberal party are not Free Traders. Mackenzie King is not a Free Trader. Neither are the men supporting him.

Has the merchant marine made you rich? It cost the country $70,000,000, or about $50 for every family of five. Have you got your $50 worth?

Bridge and structural iron workers 34.48
Cigar and tobacco workers 32.30
Metal polishers, buffers and platers 24.27
Lumber working and logging 22.53
Fishing 20.16
Garment workers 18.73
Carmen 15.10
Marine engineers 13.90
Tile layers, lathers and roofers 14.81
Machinists 18.39

It must be remembered that these figures are only representative of union shops, but would probably apply to all others with equal force.

The situation becomes more aggravated as the cities grow in size. The rush from the farm to the cities can be blamed for much of this condition.

EVERY municipality is faced with the problem of how best to provide employment to meet this condition. Employment is preferable in all cases. Vancouver is following this course now, after having recourse to the meal ticket arrangement last year.

It is right here that a municipality, no matter if it is minded to give the most efficient service possible, has to depart from the hard and fast rules of good business. If a private concern were going to undertake a certain line of work it would first of all make sure of the absolute need of the undertaking—of the ability of the men employed to give a full labor return for the money paid to them—and of the suitability of the season for carrying on this kind of work.

The municipalities of Canada, as they face the out-of-work question now, cannot take into consideration the three cardinal principles enunciated above.

They are faced with conditions, and these conditions must be met. Men are out of work and they do not want meal tickets or charity. They desire, more than all else, an opportunity to do what every blooded man wants to do, viz.: Provide by his own labor for those dependent upon him.

It is impossible to do work on the basis of efficiency alone. A man may apply for work with a shovel and be paid at the rate of $3 per day. He is not used to the work, but he does his best. His labor value, in cold figures, may be about $1.50 per day—the city loses $1.50, and the work is just that much heavier on the ratepayer.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

[By Digby Phillips.]

NO. 50—LONG LEGS.

Leaving aside the question of running or walking ability, is it possible to tell what kind of a man or girl is suited for by the length of his or her legs?

It is, within certain limits. The legs would indicate absolutely, but with the question. Long-legged persons belong to a different type from short-legged ones, but you should keep in mind that the legs are not the only indicator of the two types, and sometimes the story that the legs tell is overbalanced by the reading of the hair, the shape of the body, the texture of the skin and other points. But other things being equal, long-legged persons work better in a job where they are brought in contact with many people. They thrive better in the daily rush and bustle of business than in a sequestered nook. When placed in executive positions, their tendency is to obtain their ends by positive control and discipline, rather than by influencing others. They are commanders rather than stimulators and suggesters.

They are more likely to arrive at their conclusions through abstract reasoning than through instinct and desire. They're more likely to like the job (and hence be more efficient in it) that holds out rewards of wealth, praise and power rather than pleasant surroundings and ease. And as a rule, they're better suited for work that requires initiative rather than conservatism.

For instance, other things being equal, a long-legged girl is more valuable to a store behind the counter than behind a typewriter in the accounting department.

TO THE EDITOR

A WOMAN'S VIEW.

Sir—Could you find space for a few lines which I wish to write, especially to farmers? I am a farmer's wife, thankful for a good education, and since women have been given the vote, have tried honestly to study the issues of the day. We (my husband and I) have so far supported the farmer movement believing it to be to our interests, but we are beginning to see that there are things behind this movement which I would be the last of our wishes to support, that is the anti-British spirit in Canada. After reading Mr. Raney's speech in yesterday's paper we literally "boiled over." What is he trying to do? Start a class war which will end up like Russia? Talking about "plutocracy" and "democracy." There's no such thing as "plutocracy" in Canada. Dishonesty is our trouble. We must have leaders, and if they are not good men we have the chance to put them out. I know there was a lot of talk among the farmers' unions of Alberta, as I got it from a friend who is one of the supporters of the Alberta Union, but did not think it was talked by our Ontario leaders. In the last few years I have met a surprising number of people who have said something like this: "England has too much to say about Canada. Canada would be better off as a republic," etc., etc. When you come to a question then as to how and why, they know very little of what they are talking about, and Canada's status in the British Empire. Now what I would like to know is what or who is spreading this stuff? Is it through the American labor unions and now the farmers' union? Let us shut down on it wherever it comes from. Great Britain is the staunchest upholder of uprightness and justice in the world today, and when she goes down Christianity will go with her. We should be glad we are a part of such a union.

United States with its Sabbath-breaking, easy divorce laws, etc., is not to be compared with her. President Harding wrecked the League of Nations because he was jealous of Canada's seat in it, among other things, then calls this conference and does not invite Canada, and Mr. Raney would try to make us believe Great Britain, or our own government is to blame, when they have nothing to do with it. A great many people seem disinclined to support him, although my husband usually voted Conservative. Let us vote for honest men, but don't make things worse by spreading the seeds of revolution or letting others spread them among us.

ONE OF THE COMMON PEOPLE. Wallaceburg, Nov. 29, 1921.

Now Mr. McCoig is our representative here in Kent County, and as far as we can find out he has filled the place honestly and advocated what would be to our interests, so we intend to support him, although my husband usually voted Conservative. Let us vote for honest men, but don't make things worse by spreading the seeds of revolution or letting others spread them among us.

ALD. HARLEY'S RECORD.

Sir—At the municipal candidates' meeting at the Tabbot Street School there was considerable heckling of two of the mayoralty candidates. The question was directly asked Aldermen Wenige and Harley as to where they were during the war. Well, Mr. Editor, while I have no information as to the war record of the former, I would very much like to speak for Ald. Harley, as an overseas man having an intimate knowledge of his activities.

Since the inception of the Soldiers' Aid Commission in London, Mr. Harley has been a member of the executive, and in that capacity, and more especially since he has been chairman, he has devoted a great deal of time and energy to the interests of the returned soldiers, whom he served disinterestedly and whole-heartedly. "Where was he during the war?" The same question might well be asked of a large number of our public men—many of them much younger than Ald. Harley—who would have absolutely no reply to make in their own behalf. However, Mr. Editor, I think that it is only common justice that Mr. Harley should receive at least some credit for his unflinching interest in our returned men and their families, as his work of such a nature that it rarely received any publicity, with the result that the majority of our returned men, and the public generally, have practically no idea of its scope and efficiency.

Trusting that this will satisfy the comrades who are evidently under a misapprehension in this matter. Sincerely yours, WM. CARSON.

THE U. F. O. PLATFORM.

Editor Advertiser: Sir—There have been so many statements regarding the U. F. O. platform that I thought it advisable to straighten out some of those untruths.

The first place our motto is: "Equal Rights to All, Speeches to None." I would like to ask some of our opponents if that is not as near the Golden Rule as we can get. It no doubt has not always been lived up to the letter, but we are all humans, yet that is our goal. We are not working to get into more power just for our selfish ends, and I do not think any class of people who live next to nature, among the domesticated animals, growing up old Mother Earth, living in God's sunshine and watching the wonderful growth of the plants, are the people to live far from the Golden Rule. That is, as a class, we are not.

In the second place, we are called free traders, pro-American and anti-British. I will give you word for word our platform on the tariff.

Our tariff should be amended as follows: (a) By an immediate and substantial all-round reduction of the customs tariff, is that free trade? (b) By reducing the customs duty on goods imported from Great Britain, to the same rate as that levied on the general tariff, and that further gradual uniform reductions be made in the remaining tariff on British imports that will insure complete free trade between Great Britain and Canada in five years.

(c) By endeavoring to secure unrestricted reciprocal trade in natural products along the lines of the reciprocity agreement of 1911. (d) By placing all food stuffs on the free list.

(e) That agricultural implements and household machinery, vehicles, fertilizers, coal, lumber, cement, gasoline, illuminating fuel and oils be placed on the free list, and that all raw materials and machinery used in their manufacture also be placed on the free list.

(f) That all tariff concessions granted to other countries be immediately extended to Great Britain.

(g) That all corporations engaged in the manufacture of products protected by the customs tariff be obliged to publish comprehensive and accurate statements of their earnings.

(h) That every claim for tariff protection by any industry should be heard publicly before a special committee of parliament.

Neither the Tories or Grits come out plainly with their stand on the tariff. We don't know what they will do. Then there are other questions in our platform: the tariff does not comprise all of it. We have the taxation proposals, the questions regarding the returned soldier, land settlement scheme and great many others. It must mention a prohibition is mentioned in our platform, which has no mention in any other platform. The Tories are making quite a loud talk over their merchant marine, and at the same time talking high tariff to keep out foreign goods. How can we expect other countries to buy our goods if we do not buy from them? No country can live unto itself any more than an individual.

Now about the railroad problem. I wonder if a great bulk of the voters realize there are three transcontinental railroads across Canada, some places so near each other they can hear their whistles. The last railroad was built by the Liberal Government. True, the people voted for it, but did the people realize what they were voting for? How much it put our country in debt, and such a sparsely-settled country, and such small business for three railroads? I heard one man say competition is a good thing. Well, it no doubt is, but not in the case of the railroads when they are owned by the government. We have a debt now of two billion, rather a large debt for nine million people.

There are a great many other subjects I would like to take up. Thanking you for your valuable space, IDA M. MITCHELL, Wilton Grove, R. R. No. 1, Ont.

AN EXPLANATION.

Editor Advertiser: Sir—In your paper of Nov. 30 you carried a story to the effect that I made complaint about the principal and teachers of Tecumseh Avenue School trying to make it hard for the janitor there to keep his place. That inference is wrong, and there was no such idea in my mind. My only point was that the janitor had more work than he could possibly do, and in the winter season especially when they should have some assistance. I am asking you to make that statement in fairness to the janitor. RICHARD REELEY, York street, city.

Habits That Spread Disease

WORRY

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

YOU would instantly condemn a man to the insane asylum who stopped a clock to save time. Such a foolish and absurd thing to do! But is it any more foolish than one or several worries so much about his financial troubles that he has a nervous breakdown and is relegated to a sanatorium for a long rest?

It sounds like a paradox to say that worrying about money usually costs more money, but in many cases this is literal truth. It is true that not all worry is preventable, yet much of it, as well as its ill-effects, can be avoided. Most of our fears are never realized. If we meet our troubles day by day as they come without worrying about them before hand, we find that we have the strength to overcome them.

Worrying weakens the mental forces. The best antidote is a change of mental occupation. Get away from the scenes which provoke worry, exercise in the open air, read one or several good books of a lighter strain, find pleasant recreation or an absorbing "hobby." A temporary change of occupation where possible often brings considerable relief from worry.

Excessive worry tires the nerves just as excessive work tires the muscles. The poison that results is a natural product that must be thrown off to keep from getting "nervous" and "tired."

As in the case of bodily fatigue, the best remedy is complete relaxation and rest. A sound body as a rule is accompanied by a sound and healthy mind.

HAD BAD COUGH AND SORE THROAT

NEVER neglect a cough or cold, however slight. If you do, it can have but one result; it leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. A single dose of will help to stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs the healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, along with the soothing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs, roots and barks promptly eradicates the bad effects, and the persistent use cannot but help to bring about relief.

Mr. Albert Marsh, Lower L'Ardoise, N. S., writes: "About a year ago I contracted a cold, accompanied by a very bad cough and sore throat. I sent for the doctor, but what he prescribed did me no little good. I began to get discouraged. A friend came to see me and asked me if I had ever used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I had not and sent him right away to get me a bottle. I started using it, and after a couple of days I found I was getting relief, and after taking two bottles the soreness in my throat seemed to be leaving me, so I resolved to continue its use, and after I had used five bottles both my sore throat and cough were gone. I would not be without 'Dr. Wood's' for any money."

Baby's Kisses Woo Judge To Give Her Mother Back

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—Baby tears turned to baby smiles, and ended with a baby kiss and a great big hug, when judicial dignity stooped today to count the dimples on baby hands.

It was Judge Theodore J. Richter who played the magician with the tears of 5-year-old Anna Matskelunas.

About two months ago Anna's mother, Agnes, was divorced from Anna's father, Ignatz, and the court awarded Anna and her brother George, 7 years old, to the father. The mother surrendered the boy to the father, but would not give up the little girl.

Last Saturday in court she was compelled to deliver the child, who screamed and fought her father, struggling to go back to her mother. On Cadillac Square, by raising a cry of kidnapping, the mother succeeded in getting bystanders to help her regain her child.

The law, outraged, dealt out bench warrants, but the mother could not be found. Today she came voluntarily to Judge Richter's court, with Carl G. Schoeffel, an attorney.

The baby girl was frightened. She feared she was to be taken again from her mother. In her young mind the conviction was fixed that Judge Richter was responsible for her sorrows, and she cried when she and her mother were taken into the judge's private office.

But Judge Richter apparently understands babies as well as he does law. He took the little girl on his lap and assisted her, first in properly counting and tabulating her fingers, then the dimples on her chubby hands. By the time this was done, the tears had ceased.

Then Judge Richter took some bright, shining coins, that even a five-year-old knows nowadays are convertible into candy, and put them in her little baby love can not be satisfied, by arranging for the little girl to stay with the mother, if the mother can show she is a proper person to care for the child. Then Anna deliberately bribed the judge by throwing her arms impulsively about his neck, and giving him a warm, baby kiss.

NOT FOR SALE.

The opinions, judgment and influence of Dr. L. S. Holmes are not for sale. If elected alderman in Ward 4, he pledges untiring effort for the good of all the people all the time.—Advtr. 96u

VISIT CANADA TO STUDY TAX PLAN

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press).—Delegates from the United States Congress, headed by Representative Lester D. Volk, of the tenth New York district, here to study Canadian tax methods, spent a busy morning listening to lectures by R. W. Broad-ner, chief commissioner of taxation; R. B. Farrow, deputy minister of customs and inland revenue; George W. Taylor, assistant deputy minister, and by prominent Ottawa businessmen.

The delegates asked hundreds of questions relating to the working out of the Canadian methods, and were extremely complimentary in their comments on the system.

RESENT BRITISH WAR DEBT PLAN AS PRECARIOUS

French Officials Claim a Receivership For Germany Is Vital.

POINT TO PEACE TREATY

Declare England Is Interested Only To 22 Per Cent of Reparations.

PARIS, Dec. 1.—A receivership for Germany as a bankrupt, with an autonomous Rhineland to be exploited by the Allies for reparation purposes, is likely to be proposed by France as an alternative to any moratorium on reparation that may be suggested by Great Britain, it was said in official circles here today.

The Allies, it is held by French officials, have full authority under the terms of the Treaty of Versailles to take Germany's affairs in hand and to administer her resources in a manner similar to that pursued by the Turkish Debt Commission.

Points to Treaty. Former President Poincaré, who is much talked of as the probable successor of Premier Briand in the next government change, recalls in his weekly review of the political situation that the Treaty of Versailles gives the Allies the right, in case Germany defaults, to control her customs duties, taxes, exportations and coal production. He says this must be demanded if the reparations commission thinks it is obliged to give Germany further time.

The negotiations understood to be going on now in London between the British government and representatives from Germany are regarded in French official circles as a reprisal for the alleged separate action of France in making an agreement with the Turkish Nationalist government at Angora. Much anxiety is expressed lest France should find herself faced with complete accord between Great Britain and Germany.

French Claim Priority.

French officials pointed out today that the question of reparations was above all a French question, and that Great Britain was interested only to the extent of 22 per cent of the reparations, whereas France lays claim to 52 per cent of the German payments. Therefore, it was declared, any arrangement arrived at by Great Britain in the absence of French representatives would be resented.

The situation of the entente is regarded among French government officials as exceedingly precarious, in view of what they describe as nervousness shown by Great Britain and Italy. Some officials expressed doubt that the French government would agree to arbitration of the reparations question by the League of Nations, if such action should be proposed.

The officials at the French foreign office were very guarded in their comments in the absence of Premier Briand, but it was made clear that the London negotiations relative to a moratorium for Germany were regarded as not in harmony with the principles of the entente.

ARE THINKING INDIVIDUALLY, SAYS DOHERTY

Premier Drury Reviews History of Tariff At Chatham Meeting.

CHATHAM, Dec. 1.—An audience that packed the Kent Regiment armories gave Premier Drury, Hon. Manning Doherty, M. L. A. for East Kent, and the candidate of the National Progressive party, D. R. McDiarmid, a great welcome tonight. E. W. Hardy presided. Mr. McDiarmid dealt with the issues at stake briefly, emphasizing the fact that he was opposed to class legislation, and that he was ready and willing to do his share if he was sent to Ottawa.

Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture for Ontario, declared that in this campaign the issues had been clean cut and had been discussed on a high plane.

"The electors are thinking deeply and seriously on the issues," he declared. "They are also thinking individually, and, as a result, the old-time mud-slinging methods are not being tolerated."

Attacked Without Reason. He was of the opinion that the National Progressive party had been attacked without any reason, and resented deeply the insinuations to the effect that the National Progressive movement was a class movement. The people, he declared, who staked their belief in the country, who are striving by their farms, can be relied upon to legislate for the best interests of the country.

Holding up the U. F. O. government at Toronto as a sample of farmer government, he defied any one to prove that class legislation had ever emanated from the Parliament Buildings there.

"There is no free trade party in this country that I know of," declared Mr. Doherty. "All leaders are agreed that the tariff needs to be revised. The present tariff is the most iniquitous on the books of the Dominion of Canada."

Some Unseen Power.

Premier Drury traced the tariff back to the time of Sir John A. Macdonald, who introduced the tariff policy of 1878, pointed out the dangers that would have to be met. Conditions, he declared, were aggravated by controlling industries who sought to crowd out smaller industries.

He flayed the board of commerce for its lack of action, alleging that they were hindered from doing their duty by some unseen power behind the government.

Mr. Drury made several humorous references to Melghen's billboard posters, citing an instance near his own home, where Melghen is shown standing between a sausage advertisement and an automobile tire ad. "These posters are just as amusing to me as circus posters," he stated. "As far as I can see, Premier Melghen is placing himself on the same level as the Gold Dust Twins."

The speaker advocated the advancement of the moral character of the country. "In progressivism lies our destiny. Let us try to be better citizens, to be loyal and true to it, the Canada we love."

THE Workingman's Interest In the University Bylaw THE COST---THE BENEFIT

"Just what does the passage of the University Bylaw mean to me in taxes?"

That is the question which every sensible man or woman will ask, because no matter how good a proposition may be for the individual or for the city, prudent people want to know what it is going to cost.

London's total assessment at present, in round figures, is $60,000,000.

To provide for the $250,000 when the bylaw is carried by the ratepayers, 20-year debentures will be issued.

To provide for the interest and sinking fund required to pay off the debentures at the end of 20 years will cost $18,162.23 a year—one-third of a mill on the city's assessment.

THIRTY CENTS ON $1,000

If London stood still and its assessment did not increase during 20 years, this will mean a rate or annual charge of 30 cents for every thousand dollars of assessment. As the assessment grows the tax rate per thousand will decrease.

It means if you live in a house assessed for $3,000, it will cost you no more than 90 cents a year, which, in the language of the old-time show man, "will neither make you nor break you."

But if you live in a house assessed for less than $3,500 and you have a son or daughter, or both, or more than one of each, whom you want to send to the university, they will each and all receive tuition free of cost for the first year.

So far as we know, not another university in America is thus making higher education available to workingmen's children or to those of modest income.

It means that many boys and girls whose parents could not afford to send them to a distant city for a course in a university will have just as good a chance for a university education as the children of the well-to-do.

WORK FOR MANY

Then for this very moderate rate of taxation hundreds of carpenters, stonemasons and cutters, plumbers, iron workers, bricklayers, steamfitters, painters, glaziers, plasterers, concrete workers and other artisans and laborers will have steady employment for at least the next two years in the erection of four, perhaps five new buildings, costing not less than $3,000,000.

This means that London workingmen will have plenty of work, at good wages for the next two or three years. It means jobs for everyone, which is a sure cure for unemployment conditions.

To the workingman this University Bylaw means more in actual, immediate benefit than to any other class in the city.

The little 30 cents' taxation on a thousand-dollar assessment will come back hundreds of times over in steady work, good wages and good times.

A WORD TO THE VETERANS

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's answer to the Dominion Executive of the Grand Army of United Veterans, in reply to a request for a Statement of his position regarding re-establishment proposals is this:-

"I believe that the whole matter of further re-establishment of soldiers and all questions incidental thereto should be reopened and reconsidered by the new parliament

"Speaking for myself personally, I should not hesitate to indorse the principles underlying practically all of the several resolutions, and that ANY INFLUENCE I MAY HAVE WITH RESPECT TO THESE OR KINDRED MATTERS WILL BE GLADLY EXERTED at any and all times with a view to seeing that the returned men and the dependents of those who sacrificed life or health in the great war are dealt with not only justly, but generously."

Commenting on this reply, A. B. Tillet, Dominion President of the Grand Army of United Veterans, says:

"Mr. King's last words are particularly significant and of vast importance. He assures us that our claims will meet with not only justice but generosity. These are the most favorable words that we have heard from any of the party leaders."

C. R. Somerville, whose record of devoted and incessant war service and whose war loss all Londoners know, supports Mackenzie King.

A vote for Mr. Somerville means a vote for the Liberal leader, who according to President Tillet holds out to the returned men the best hope for just and generous treatment.

O. H. A. LIKELY TO CLEAR UP LOCAL SITUATION TONIGHT

EXECUTIVE TO MEET PRIOR TO ANNUAL

Either Acceptance of Both Entries or Only One Is the Only Course Possible—Clubs in Dark.

There is every probability of the junior hockey situation being cleared up tonight at an executive meeting of the O. H. A. to be held prior to the annual meeting tomorrow morning.

If a decision in regard to the two teams here is not announced tonight, it will likely come up for discussion in preparation for handing down a verdict at the annual meeting in the shape of either accepting both entries or accepting only one. Both clubs will be represented.

Neither club has any idea what stand the O. H. A. are likely to take, and as far there is no change in the matter of ice accommodation. Both squads are working out the Manhattan rollers and the Alerts on the Y. gym floor.

Elect Executive. There will be an election for the executive committee. There are four to be elected, and there are seven nominations. Most of the candidates have had long experience on the executive. James T. Sutherland of Kingston is the daddy of them all so far as that is concerned, his connection with amateur hockey going back very many years. George B. McKay, of Kitchener, was captain of the great Wellington team of Toronto when they captured the O. H. A. senior championship four years in succession. Angus W. Campbell of Cobalt is the retiring president of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association and an old varsity player and executive. R. Butler of Lindsay has been a member of the O. H. A. executive for a great many years. R. Wylie Wilkinson of Galt was a member of last year's Galt intermediate O. H. A. champion team, and is the only active player on the committee. Frank Hyde of Woodstock was first vice-president of the O. H. A. when he retired several years ago, and J. Percy Bond of Peterborough has been identified with O. H. A. hockey in that city for some years.

HOCKEY POLOISTS MIX ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Tuesday night, London Stars and Simcoe rink poloists will stage another exhibition game. The rink was the winner of the last polo clash, and the teams are out to decide the issue in a three-game series.

The game is catching on among a good number of fans.

THISTLE EUCHEUR TONIGHT.

The Thistle Bowling and Curling Club will hold its ninth euechre tournament this evening in the club rooms on Richmond street. Some of the leaders were set back last Friday night and as a result competition has become keen, with several in the running for first honors.

THISTLES' EUCHEUR.

The usual Thistle euechre will be held at the north end club rooms tonight. The race is a tight one, and interest is being heightened with each week of competition.

Trick Plays of O.d Football Days Missed These Days

BY HILL EVANS.

WHERE are the trick plays of the old days that used to give the football fans a thrill? Incidentally they offered food for conversation during the rest of the winter.

Glen Warner, now so successfully coaching the University of Pittsburgh, was the master magician of the old days. The football season was not complete unless Warner pulled some of his sleight of hand stuff in one of the big games.

The old-time football fans recall without difficulty the year that Warner pulled the hidden-ball trick against Harvard. One of the fast men in the Carlisle back field was equipped with a sweater having an elastic band around the bottom.

On the kick-off, the Indians all massed together, as was customary in the old days, to form interference for the player carrying the ball. As the Carlisle players massed together, the player who caught the ball stuck it under the elastic of the sweater with the elastic equipment. Then the players scattered and all ran in the direction of the Harvard goal. The Crimson players were bewildered, as no one seemed to be carrying the ball. The Indian, with the ball secreted under his sweater, ran the length of the field for a touchdown. Harvard entered a strenuous protest, claiming the play illegal, but it stood.

Secreted Player. Warner later pulled another one that set the football world talking. In pulling several trick plays, he used a player secreted on the side lines, covered by one of the big blankets which a great many of the teams used. The player would be just within the side lines and would be lying flat on the ground. To make the play all the more intricate, it was customary to have several substitutes lying around the same way, but just outside the side lines. At the start of play, the athlete concealed along the side lines would jump to his feet, throw off the blanket and then pull some weird trick at the expense of the opposition.

Those two plays were responsible for section of the game, which now Warner never materialized. The seems Warner always had a desire to make the decision. "I'll grant you that," said Houghton, "and don't forget there is no rule that defines the color of the football. I intend to have this one painted crimson."

With that he started off the field with the ball. Since the Harvard players wear crimson jerseys, Warner realized the edge would be with Houghton. Whereupon he agreed to rip off the football decoration and the game proceeded.

Twelfth Field Battery who were scheduled to play Machine Gunners took the game by default when the Gunners failed to turn out a team. They beat W. O. R.'s in an exhibition game and size up as one of the aggressive teams to beat.

While Machine Gunners did not muster a team last night, they'll have one out next week. A practice has been called for tonight, and the candidates for the teams are asked to bring rubber-soled shoes with them.

KEMP, ONCE WORLD'S SCULLS CHAMP, DIES

London, Dec. 1.—Peter Kemp of New South Wales, former world's champion sculler, is dead in his home at Sydney. It was announced in a dispatch from that place today. Kemp won the championship in 1888 at New South Wales and held the title against two attempts by Edward Hamlin to recapture it later the same year. He lost the honor in October of that year, however, to H. E. Searle of New South Wales.

MIKE M'TIGUE IS CANADIAN CHAMP

Beat Jeff Surth, Who Claimed Title, in 15 Rounds.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—Mike M'Tigue of New York received the judges' decision over Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N.J., tonight after their 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden. Both were claimants of the Canadian middleweight championship.

M'Tigue's victory was a popular one with the spectators, and was earned by his aggressiveness and ability to out-punch his opponent.

The bout lagged in the earlier rounds because of Smith's apparent unwillingness to engage in open fighting. Throughout the contest Smith continued his cautious and seldom-punching tactics and landed but few blows cleanly. He did practically all of his fighting in the last three rounds.

Smith repeatedly covered up in the early rounds, but M'Tigue pulled away at his body and head, and on several occasions had the Bayonne man staggering.

Cubs, Sox, Elks Cage Winners

Former Made Hoodoo Look Like Lucky Champs.

Cubs, Red Sox and Elks were the winners in the City Basketball clashes last night at the Y gym.

The first named furnished the surprise number of the evening's program, when they invited the fast-going Hoodoo in their tepee and made them look like good luck charms to the tune of 25-10. Hoodoo didn't think they were about the matter when they were just down 18-16 at the end of the first half, and Cubs scampered away from them in the last session.

The teams:—Cubs—Lawrence, New-McCracken, Beach, Wilson, Mc-Tavish, Young.

Cubs—Higgins, Cole, Fairlies, Bennett, Coughlin.

Pirates Strike Gale.

The Pirates struck rough weather in the Red Sox, and 69-15 was the total amount of the havoc from the gale. The Sox let each other all break into the scoring and Pirates didn't have a chance that would stop the Pirates. Ernie Shaw handled the whistle.

The line-up here was:—Red Sox—Sifton, Taylor, Cline, Pelton, Duffield, Logan.

Pirates—Clinger, Logan, Camp, Taylor, Pelton.

Elks kept up their winning streak in the last mix of the evening, but Skooters buzzed about the rink, and the reel was played out to a 31-17 finish. Elks had Skooters at a 15-7 disadvantage the first half and kept the gain almost as wide the second. Dave Allan refereed.

As the sweater had them—Elks—Hoffman, Gould, Shaw, Morris, Baker, Milligan.

Skooters—Young, Dennis, Walker, Robinson, Daniels.

CRITICS DISPLEASED WITH NEW YORK BOUT

Declare M'Tigue-Smith Battle Far From Satisfactory.

New York, Dec. 2.—(By the Canadian Press.)—New York sporting editors this morning do not wax enthusiastic over the M'Tigue-Smith battle, staged last night in Madison Square Garden. Although M'Tigue was awarded the decision at the end of the 15-round journey, neither of the two claimants of Canadian middleweight honors made a hit with either the public or the "experts."

"The bout was one of the most unsatisfactory ever seen at the garden," says the Times. "Neither boxer exhibited any qualifications which would warrant serious consideration as a championship prospect. M'Tigue won beyond a question of doubt, but he failed to impress."

M'Tigue earned the decision because he made the fighting practically over the entire journey. Smith refused to take the offensive. He stood in a crouch, miserably on numerous occasions with his lusty rights. Smith, reputed to be clever and skillful, failed to show any such traits.

Even in the World also declares that Mike was not impressive.

"The bout didn't impress," writes this expert. "And little wonder. It followed pull some weird trick at the expense of the opposition.

Those two plays were responsible for section of the game, which now Warner never materialized. The seems Warner always had a desire to make the decision. "I'll grant you that," said Houghton, "and don't forget there is no rule that defines the color of the football. I intend to have this one painted crimson."

With that he started off the field with the ball. Since the Harvard players wear crimson jerseys, Warner realized the edge would be with Houghton. Whereupon he agreed to rip off the football decoration and the game proceeded.

Twelfth Field Battery who were scheduled to play Machine Gunners took the game by default when the Gunners failed to turn out a team. They beat W. O. R.'s in an exhibition game and size up as one of the aggressive teams to beat.

While Machine Gunners did not muster a team last night, they'll have one out next week. A practice has been called for tonight, and the candidates for the teams are asked to bring rubber-soled shoes with them.

W. O. R. first team were the winners in the Garrison Indoor League against their friendly enemies, W. O. R.'s No. 2, by a score of 13-4 at the armory last night. The main feature of the game was the duel between Ed. Walker, elongated leader of the firsts, and Burt, hurler for the seconds, both veteran soft ball servers. The verdict went to Walker largely because of the many errors contributed to Burt's support.

The Navy League of Canada and DISARMAMENT

ADMIRAL EARL BEATTY, O.M., Etc.

Speaking in Massey Hall, Toronto, November 28th, 1921, said:

"THE NAVY LEAGUE IS A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION PERFORMING A GREAT NATIONAL WORK, IT SHOULD BE SUPPORTED BY EVERYONE."

THE following is the broadest possible indication of the feeling of the Navy League of Canada on the proposals of the Washington Conference on the limitation of naval armaments.

When the war began the tonnage of "capital ships" (i.e. battleships and battle cruisers) in the British Navy was:

ONE MILLION THREE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-TWO THOUSAND AND SEVEN HUNDRED.

That of the United States Navy was:

FIVE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-EIGHT THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND FIVE.

It is now proposed that by "scrapping" and cessation of new construction the ratio for the next ten years shall be:

Great Britain Five hundred thousand tons
United States Five hundred thousand tons
Japan Three hundred thousand tons

There are so many technical, moral, economic and political questions involved in consideration of the points at present under discussion, and it is certain that there will be many modifications of the original proposals which form the basis of these discussions, that at this stage of the Conference it would only be confusing to enter upon a more detailed analysis of the whole question.

This involves an immediate sacrifice by:

Great Britain of TWENTY-THREE SHIPS, nineteen of which are afloat;
United States of THIRTY SHIPS, seventeen of which are afloat;
Japan of TWENTY-FIVE SHIPS, ten of which are afloat.

The proposal to allow the question of submarines to be left wide open with construction unrestricted, prompts one to ask the question:

Is the whole aim of the Conference to equalize naval strength by scrapping the costly capital ships and offering increased facility for competition in a less costly but much more deadly and diabolical weapon—the submarine?

The economy of such a proposition which would increase brutality at a decreased cost, leads one to believe that there is no altruism in the whole business.

The Navy League of Canada indorses the following statement made by Mr. Balfour:

"We have considered the proposal with admiration and approval. We agree with it in spirit and in principle."

But—a prominent Canadian newspaper says:

"We welcome it as an expression and a symbol of a moral ideal, the substitution of the reign of law for the rule of force."

The Navy League of Canada

BELIEVES THAT THE "SYMBOL" OF THE REIGN OF LAW AGAINST THE RULE OF FORCE IN 1914 WAS—BY THE HELP OF GOD—THE BRITISH NAVY, AND THAT THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE IS ONLY POSSIBLE TODAY THROUGH THE READY EFFICIENCY OF THAT "SYMBOL" AT THE TIME OF HUMANITY'S SOREST NEED.

The Navy League of Canada believes that the word of a writer in the Washington "Mail" more nearly defines the character of this proposal:

"It is not humanity revolting against the barbarism of war, but business common-sense revolting against going bankrupt."

The Navy League of Canada does not advocate National and Imperial bankruptcy, but DOES emphasize the simple truth, easily overlooked, that WHAT HAS BEEN MAY BE, AND THAT IN INDIVIDUAL AND NATIONAL EXPERIENCE THERE IS NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

The Navy League of Canada shares, in common with all men and women of good-will, the longing for a world commonwealth in which everyone shall respect his neighbor's property. But it is the duty of the League to remind us that, just as hunger for food, discontent with wages, labor conditions and the like, stir men and women to revolt so that they attack their nearest neighbor who has—or seem to have—what they lack; so do land hunger, territorial ambition and kindred afflictions torment nations.

A special dispatch to a Canadian newspaper says:

"Disarmament proposal puts axe to grandiose plans attributed to the Minister of the Naval Service, for future expenditures Proposal is preventive of ill to come."

Playing Politics.

The Navy League of Canada exists for the purpose of protesting against the dissemination of just such disloyal propaganda throughout the Dominion.

The "grandiose plans" referred to are but proposals to pay a trifling instalment of a debt to the Mother Country that self-respecting Canadian citizens of the British Empire feel should have been settled in full long ago.

Mr. Balfour said:

"The geography of your country (United States) makes you wholly immune from perils to which the British Empire is subjected We are not lamenting over the weakness of our country. But this strategic weakness is known to our enemies. Thus do not let it be forgotten by our friends."

The United States coastline is:

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND MILES.

The British Empire coastline is:

OVER ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND MILES, scattered over the seven seas.

Arthur Brisbane, U.S. writer, says:

"With her danger points all over the earth, Britain would need a navy twice as big as ours for purposes of defence."

We recall the word of Mr. Balfour:

"Our weakness should not be forgotten by our friends."

It will never be forgotten in Canada so long as the Navy League of Canada is true to her charge.

CRERAR INVADES MEIGHEN'S RIDING

Calls Tory Tactics To Get Ukrainian Vote "Thread-Bare."

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press staff correspondent.)—Invading the prime minister's constituency tonight, Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressive party, criticized the government's means of appealing for support. The government, he said, was standing "as the great protector of the people of Eastern Galicia," formerly a part of Poland, latterly overrun by Poland. A great deal more information was coming out in confirmation of rumors, which were current some weeks ago. The government, it seemed, had perfected plans through its election managers, one of whom was a senator from Saskatchewan, whereby they hoped to corner the whole Ukrainian vote in Canada. It was very humorous, Mr. Crerar said, to find Mr. Meighen's government posing as the champions of a country in middle Europe. Mr. Crerar asserted that such methods were old and threadbare. "All that this government has done to assist these people in Galicia you could put in the corner of your eye and then not notice it," he declared.

"How about those false bottoms of yours?" cried a voice.

"The false bottoms were not mine," retorted Mr. Crerar. "They are in the government, and they will drop out on election day."

Operated at Loss.

The Progressive leader said something also about the wheat board and the difficulties under which farmers in Canada were at present laboring. Three-quarters of the farmers of Western Canada, he said, operated during this year at a loss, and there had been equally unsatisfactory conditions in some sections of the east. He denied that any government marketing board could bring back prosperity to the farmers. The farmers must have profitable markets for their products; furthermore, they must be able to buy what they need at reasonable prices.

A vigorous attack on the system of tariff protection was another feature of Mr. Crerar's address. Being in Brantford recently, he said, he had found the implement factories and others which enjoyed the benefits of the high tariff were not running full time, and there was unemployment.

On the bill boards was an appeal by the mayor for subscriptions to a $25,000 fund to feed persons out of work. In Brantford, said Mr. Crerar, there was also a binder-twine establishment, the largest of its kind in the British Empire. This establishment, however, was running at full time, and that in spite of the fact that binder twine had been on the free list in Canada for many years past. Mr. Meighen had said of him, continued the Progressive leader, that he went all over the country, turning the handle of a cream separator, and Mr. Crerar said, he intended to continue turning that handle until he received the answer to a plain question. Cream separators which were on the free list in Canada were being made and sold all over the world in open competition; cream separators were made of iron, wood and steel. If cream separators were not in need of tariff protection why should plows, made equally of iron, wood and steel, need protection?

This establishment, however, was running at full time, and that in spite of the fact that binder twine had been on the free list in Canada for many years past. Mr. Meighen had said of him, continued the Progressive leader, that he went all over the country, turning the handle of a cream separator, and Mr. Crerar said, he intended to continue turning that handle until he received the answer to a plain question. Cream separators which were on the free list in Canada were being made and sold all over the world in open competition; cream separators were made of iron, wood and steel. If cream separators were not in need of tariff protection why should plows, made equally of iron, wood and steel, need protection?

On the bill boards was an appeal by the mayor for subscriptions to a $25,000 fund to feed persons out of work. In Brantford, said Mr. Crerar, there was also a binder-twine establishment, the largest of its kind in the British Empire. DISTRICT MEN WIN AT CHICAGO SHOW

Awarded Large Number of Prizes by Sheep Judges.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hamilton Brothers of Innisfail, Alberta, outdistanced their competitors for the Canadian Horse Breeders' Association trophy for mares at the International Livestock Association late today when judging, unfinished Tuesday, was resumed in that class. Secondary honors went to Edgar H. Pietermeyer of Regina, a Saskatchewan breeder, who took the reserve championship.

Practically all the Canadian interest today was centered on the sheep judging, where large pens were exhibited by the noted breeders of the Dominion. In the Lincoln class all the sheep shown were from Canada, and the championship in both the ram and ewe divisions went to J. H. Patrick & Sons of Iderton, Ont. This firm carried away every first ribbon in that class, although good competition was offered by J. F. Linden of Denfield, Ont., T. L. Patrick of Iderton, and Cecil Stobbs of Wheatley, Ont.

Linden won four seconds and the number of thirds.

T. L. Patrick won a second, two thirds and one fifth place went to Stobbs.

J. H. Patrick & Sons captured eight firsts, three seconds, two thirds, one fourth and two fifth awards.

Only One Represented.

E. F. Park of Beachville, Ont., was the only Dominion stock man represented in the Cotswold classes, and he carried away two seconds, three thirds, one fourth and a fifth award.

In the Cheviot class Stobbs of Wheatley was awarded two fifth prizes. The Wheatley man offered strong competition in the Dorset classes, and when the judging in this division was concluded he had five seconds, three thirds and a fifth prize to his credit.

The sheep judging will be concluded Friday.

J. E. Brethour & Nephew of Burford, Ont., have been the only Canadian winners in the swine department.

In the Flint corn awards, Region No. 2, A. S. Waynard, of Chatham, Ont., was second, while third prize went to Andrew McDonald & Sons of the same place. Another Chatham farmer, R. J. Johnson, was seventh in the list.

M. Weaver, of Turnerville, Ont., was one notch below. William Weaver, also of Turnerville, was the fourteenth premium winner.

John Lucas, of Cayley, Alberta, today retained his title as champion oats grower of the world, when his exhibit was awarded the sweepstakes prize and the Chicago Board of Trade trophy at the International Grain and Hay Show, which is being held in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition.

The University of Saskatchewan won two ribbons in the fat swine division of Tamworths.

CANADIANS SEEK WAR REPARATION

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—Already 659 claims, aggregating $22,494,979.25, have been filed with Major H. Spencer Repp of the department of the secretary of state for reparation for illegal acts of warfare committed on Canadians and Canadian property by Germany and her allies during the war. The department has received 119 claims for ships, cargoes and merchandise lost at sea. These claims total $16,558,379.48. DECEMBER ENTERS WITH GAY BAZAARS

Princess Patricia Chapter Stages Charming Fete.

Gay decorations, plenty of music and eager shoppers made the bazaar which opened Thursday afternoon in the Masonic Hall under the auspices of the Princess Patricia Chapter, I. O. D. E., and was a brilliant affair. The hall was thronged with patrons during the afternoon and evening, and was brought to a successful close late in the evening.

Gay colored streamers, bright colored lights, Christmas trees and flowers were used effectively to decorate the auditorium, where the various booths, displaying pretty wares of all hues, added color to the scene.

Miss Edna White, regent of the chapter and general convener, assisted by Mrs. Allan McLean, opened the fete, which was arranged by the chapter for the purpose of raising funds to complete the sick children's hospital.

An added attraction of the evening was the one-act play, "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," presented by the London Drama League, Col. Lyne-Evans and Mrs. Lyne-Evans giving clever interpretations of their parts. The fashion show was also a novel feature attracting interested attention.

Many lovely gowns, including evening dresses, afternoon frocks and street clothes, were exhibited by the graceful young mannikins. Those taking part in the parade were: Mrs. Russell Beattie, and the Misses Margaret Glass, Dindie, Cox, Angela and Eleanor McPhillips and Isabel Coles.

The tea-room was in charge of Sir John Carling Chapter, under the convener of Miss Jessie Gillespie. The novelty table, where place cards, telephone shields, and attractive pictures were sold, was in charge of Miss Smith and Mrs. Phelps.

Mrs. Sylvester and Mrs. Cook presided over the stall where lovely little gifts could be purchased, and very reasonably, too. There were dainty bits of underwear, lamp shades, lovely aprons were much in evidence.

Mrs. Skeby and Mrs. Gordon Hunt were conveners of the home-cooking stall, laden with a tempting array of jellies, pickles, cakes, bread and buns. This booth was tastefully adorned with poinsettias.

The very popular fish pond was supervised by Miss Green and Mrs. Becher.

One of the most attractive booths in the bazaar was the baby booth, where many attractive little garments were offered for sale, under the management of Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Humphries.

In the centre of the stall was a large stork temptingly holding up tiny booties, and little knitted jackets. There were also to be found charming little smocks, and dainty baby pillows.

Under brightly colored canopies were found mystic fortune tellers, who found many eager to cross their palms with silver.

ST. MATTHEW'S BAZAAR.
A very successful bazaar was held in the schoolroom of St. Matthew's Church Thursday afternoon under the auspices of the various organizations of the church, with Mrs. W. McKenna

THE HAIR AS IT LOOKS IN A HELENE KNOT.

BY MARIAN HALE.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Ah, yes, you have those delectably small features—rather regular, too—then your lovely soft, glossy hair must be done Helene-fashion.

The Helene, from the coiffure dictator, Madame Lenox of New York, is a knot, slightly reminiscent of the once popular psycho, Grecian in line and exceedingly kind to the woman whose nose is quite straight.

For this very simple coiffure the hair is parted in the middle for only a short distance toward the crown of the head and then all drawn back loosely, leaving a soft fringe about the face.

Creators of fashion in hair and hair ornaments say the Helene will be exceedingly fashionable for evening functions this winter because its lines take huge feather combs with—oh, such an air!

The comb, usually some brightly-feathered affair sharply contrasting with gown and accessories, is thrust into the hair, just catching the top of the knot.

THE HAIR AS IT LOOKS IN A HELENE KNOT.

BY MARIAN HALE.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Ah, yes, you have those delectably small features—rather regular, too—then your lovely soft, glossy hair must be done Helene-fashion.

The Helene, from the coiffure dictator, Madame Lenox of New York, is a knot, slightly reminiscent of the once popular psycho, Grecian in line and exceedingly kind to the woman whose nose is quite straight.

For this very simple coiffure the hair is parted in the middle for only a short distance toward the crown of the head and then all drawn back loosely, leaving a soft fringe about the face.

SOCIETY and NEWS of INTEREST to WOMEN

COOKING FOR TWO

It is impossible to cook for two persons. The roast must be cut so small that there is nothing to cook. A leg of lamb is out of the question. A pork roast cut from the ribs is satisfactory as the roast so many minutes per pound. Instead of leg of lamb try a piece of the shoulder.

Roast Lamb.
Two pounds cut from shoulder, 1/2 cup cracker crumbs, 1/4 cup soft stale bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1/2 tablespoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, boiling water, 2 slices bacon.

Have the bone removed from the meat. Cut through one side to make a flat piece. Mix crumbs with salt and pepper. Stir in butter and add just enough water to make moist. Spread over the meat. Roll and tie. Put in roaster, dredge with flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put the bacon on top of the roast. Put in a hot oven until the four browns. Then add 1/4 cup boiling water, cover closely and roast one hour.

Ham Casserole.
Three medium sized potatoes, 2 onions, 1 inch slice ham, salt, pepper, mustard, ginger.

Put ham to soak in fresh cold water for one hour. Pare potatoes and slice very thin. Put in a layer in buttered dish, cover with a layer of onions. Season slightly with salt and pepper. Cut the slice of ham in half and put one half in dish. Leave the

WOMEN'S CLUBS

The High School Girls' Club, with a large membership in the middle and upper schools, has adopted a family with seven children for Christmas, and will hold a supper of gifts on the occasion of the supper meeting on Wednesday evening next, Dec. 7, at the Y. W. C. A., "Lennore." The "orphans' committee," which has had charge of the work on behalf of the French orphan adopted by the club, is looking after the program for supper night, when a special feature will be an address by Miss Peggy Gemmell of the public library staff, a former president of the club.

The first issue of the club paper under new management will make its debut, and rechristening ceremonies will be a feature, the club is planning to hold a social hour at the close of the meeting, of which the social hour was a most happy feature.

WILL BULLETIN RETURNS.
Arrangements have been made for a quick messenger service for the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday evening next, in connection with the celebration by the girls of their right to vote in a federal election. As soon as returns are put up at newspaper offices, they will be rushed over to the "Y" administration building, "Lennore," King street, and posted on a bulletin in the rotunda. The rotunda, dining and club rooms will be thrown open, not only for the association members and their friends, but to anyone who cares to go in and rest and get warmed, while downtown with the citizenship on election night.

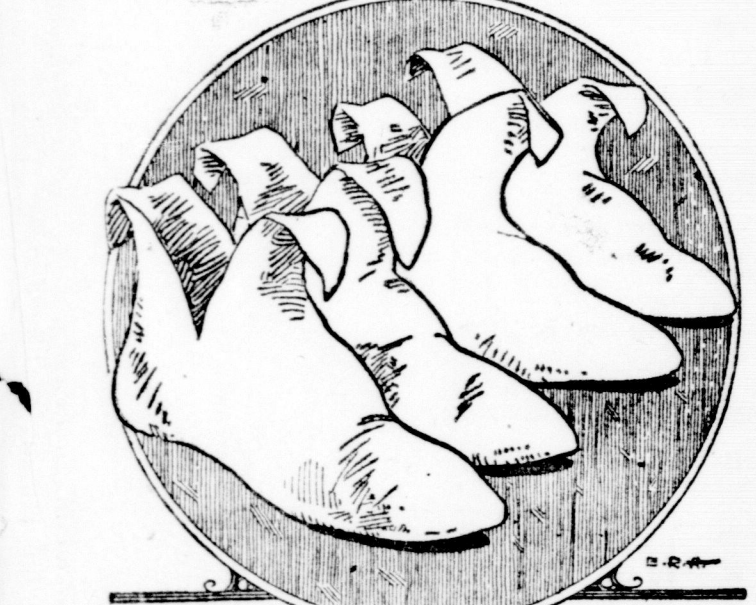

NOMINATING COMMITTEE MEETS.
The nominating committee of the Co-operative Girls' Cabinet Council met Friday afternoon to make nominations, in view of the annual meeting of the cabinet to be held Saturday, Dec. 10, at "Lennore," the King street Y. W. C. A. residence. It is proposed to emphasize the social side in the annual meeting, to give the girls from the different churches an opportunity of getting acquainted with one another, as a stepping-stone to more effective co-operation.

GOING TO BUY A BOAT.
"What are you going to buy with the proceeds of your bazaar on Dec. 10?" was asked of a Y.W.C.A. Girl Guide. "A boat for the Port Burwell girls' camp," she promptly replied.

And so, the Guides are working like young beavers to make the bazaar a success, because they have set their hearts on a boat for next summer's camp. The idea started with the campers' reunion party on Nov. 4. In answer to a questionnaire concerning equipment to improve the camp, practically every girl voted for a boat.

BUILD CASTLES.
The Sir George Ross Chapter, I. O. E., of which Miss Margaret McCrimmon is regent, is planning an elaborate program of activities for the new year, including a tea dance shortly after Christmas, and a rummage sale. The dance of a year ago was so successful that there was a unanimous vote in

The Wonderful Magic Shoes

These are the magic shoes that have carried Nancy and Nick all through "The Adventures of the Twins." Surely you know about these adventures that have been appearing daily in The Advertiser.

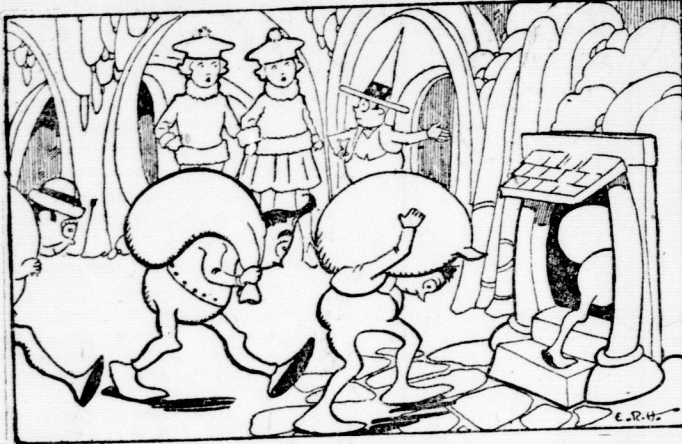

Well, here is something that will interest all children! These wonderful fairy stories have been printed in book form. Five dandy volumes—all about Nancy and Nick.

Would you like a set of the books? Olive Roberts Barton, the author, has told the "Fairy Queen" to send a set to the boy or girl who writes the best little adventure for the twins.

And there will be nine other prizes offered as well.

"THE BUSY BROWNIES"

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

There was a queer little doorway through which Brownies were passing and carrying great sacks on their little bent shoulders.

Pim Pim led Nancy and Nick through the glittering, shining chambers of the Land of Underneath, explaining things to them as they went. There was a queer little doorway through which Brownies were passing and carrying great sacks on their little bent shoulders. Pim Pim said that the underground way to all the gardens in the world, and that the Brownies were packing the roots of the rose bushes with warm moss to keep them from freezing through the winter. Then they went on a distance further, looking this way and that at all the wonderful things they saw. The Twins had never seen so many glowing worms or fire flies, or shimmering bees in their lives, each one of them doing his best to light up the crystal caverns of the Brownies.

After awhile they passed another door, and through this one, too, Brownies were hurrying and carrying strange burdens. "That," pointed Pim Pim,

TO EXTERMINATE BEDBUGS.
Dear Miss Grey,—I think it a wise plan to seek advice which will make our household duties easier, so I am coming to you to see if you will tell us how to get rid of bedbugs. I am enclosing recipe for fruit cake.

A YOUNG HOUSEKEEPER.
Fruit Cake.
2 cups brown sugar,
1/2 cup butter,
1 cup molasses,
1 cup buttermilk,
4 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda,
1 teaspoon cloves, cinnamon, allspice and shake of nutmeg.
4 cups flour,
1 cup raisins,
1/2 lb. mixed peel.
I find this a very good cake for Christmas.

Thank you, Young Housekeeper, for sending in your recipe for a Christmas cake. Here are a few remedies to exterminate bedbugs. I get an ounce of corrosive sublimate (deadly poison), dissolve with about half pint of either turpentine or wood alcohol, and apply to beds and walls with a small paint brush or to any cracks in the wood. There are huge bugs could get in. After applying fill cracks with common hard soap. If this remedy is applied once a week for several weeks it will rid you of the pests. 2. Apply kerosene to half fill sprayer, 90 enough gasoline to half fill sprayer, 10 cents oil of cedar, 10 cents carbolic acid. Spray beds and all cracks in the room of any place where they are likely to be. If this is applied occasionally they will soon disappear.

CATARH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS
The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas, therefore, there is constant retching, and the mucus is frequently vomited, and there is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver, as it holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood, the disorder of condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Dear Miss Grey, London:
I was wondering, now that it is nearly Christmas time again, if you have many recitations or monologues in the Mail-Box. My little girl recites real nicely and I would like to get one entirely new. Unfortunately, if anyone could send it.

Also could any one send me songs? "The Wexford Girl." Also one which commences with "A Mother Sits in Sadness. Thinking of Her Only Son." or one that starts with "A Wee Little Maiden With Newspapers Laden," and "Take Back Your Gold."

P.S.—I enclose 25c for S. C. H., and please send me S. F. B.

I have placed your name on file, and if these pieces are sent in I shall forward them to you. The stocking pattern is on its way to you. Many thanks for the hospital mite.

WANTS HELP.
Miss Grey,—As my husband is out of work and I have six children to clothe and feed I have not a chance to provide for a newcomer. Would like to know if any of the Mail-the Mail-Box. I often wonder why people always have to call on their friends for such, as there is such a wealth of literature in circulation. If one would just cut out the good poems or articles, they would soon have a supply. When I started to teach school many years ago, I started saving poems. It is a great source of pleasure to me now to read over the collection. It is also interesting to see the change in the style of poems between today and thirty years ago that suit my taste. There were so many fine poems written during the war that I think there should be no dearth of good material for anyone. They are not only entertaining and educational, but it is our duty to take that means of honoring our heroes and the cause they fought for. A comic recitation is all right, if it is comic without being silly.

Please don't ask me for more poems at present, as I am too busy now, and it is only occasionally I can write at all.

Thank you, June, for sending in the recitations, also for telling us about your scrap book, which is quite interesting.

Gives College To Every Girl

So Y. W. C. A. is Inviting Miss Friedmann Byrn Mawr, To Lecture Here.

London may in the near future receive a visit from a distinguished woman educationist, Miss Ernestine Friedmann, executive secretary of Bryn Mawr College, Penn., and a former national industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for the United States. Miss Friedmann planned the extension education program for girls, which is being used by Young Women's Christian Associations all over the continent, and which will be introduced in the local association under the auspices of the Industrial Extension Committee early in the new year.

The industrial committee meeting on Thursday, under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. E. Westland, decided to ask Miss Friedmann to lecture on "The Work of the Western University," to begin his course of lectures for the girls of the city as soon after the Christmas holiday as possible. In addition, he is being asked to write to the Y. W. C. A., with which the Western University is co-operating in the course.

Miss Friedmann mapped out the extension education program while engaged in industrial work. She has been in view of furthering the work of placing the educational advantages of colleges within the reach of all girls desiring these.

EXCITING CHASE ENDS IN MARRIAGE

Through Forgery of Cable Bride and Groom Travel 40,000 Miles.

LONDON, England, Dec. 1.—A wedding ceremony was recently performed in a little chapel in County Durham which had a unique preface. For a year the bride and bridegroom had been chasing each other over the seven seas.

The bride, a miner's lass, joined the W. A. A. C. at its formation. She found herself in France within a week, and in the 1918 retreat was nearly captured by the Germans. Prior to that she had captured the heart of an Anzac. It was in the midst of stiff fighting by the Australians when she first met him.

He was wounded, and she carried him, limp and unconscious, to hospital. They afterwards met dozens of times, and the result was that Sergeant Donald Thomas of Melbourne decided that he would wed Maggie Armstrong. Maggie saw Donald aboard at Liverpool for Australia, and received wireless messages on his voyage, plus letters. A telegram reached the young woman with the words:

"Come out, first boat—Donald."

Maggie packed and sailed, and a month later her father was amazed to see the ex-Anzac walk into the cottage. The father's first query was, "Where is Maggie?" "Here, of course; I've come for her." When he learned that she had departed for the Antipodes he was amazed, as the cablegram was not sent by him. A boat sailed from Liverpool in twelve hours and he dashed off to catch it.

Meanwhile, the father cabled to Maggie to return, sending all the money he had for the purpose. For the second time the lovers crossed each other on the high sea. Donald, who had got to Australia, cabled Maggie to go out, and this time the father took the matter in hand, and after consulting friends, replied that if Donald wanted his lass he "would have to come and fetch her."

Donald came, and the couple, who have chased each other over the globe, spent a brief honeymoon in the lake district, after which they set out for an Australian sheep farm. Between them the couple have covered 40,000 miles. Donald, when they get back, means to find out who sent the first cable from the Australia.

PACKING HOUSE EMPLOYEES IN U. S. TO STRIKE

45,000 Workers To Walk Out On Union Order December 5.

FIGHT WAGE REDUCTION

"Big Five" of Industry Claim
Many of Their Employees Are Non-Union.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—A strike of union packing house employees in all plants where wage reductions were put into effect last Monday was ordered for December 5 by the executive committee of the Amalgamated Meat-Cutters and Butcher Workers' of North America, today.

The strike, which affects all union employees in the packing industry, will involve about 45,000 workers in fifteen western cities, according to
C. Hayes, president of the Butcher Workers' union.

There are about forty thousand union workers employed by the "Big Five" packers and about ten thousand union workers employed in smaller packing plants, according to President Hayes.

About twenty thousand of the union men are in Chicago, he said.

According to Mr. Hayes' figures, there are approximately 45,000 organized workers and about fifteen thousand unorganized employees in the packing industry.

The packers have claimed that the majority of their workmen do not belong to any union and have never recognized the union.

The strike order brought to a climax a controversy between the packers and union workmen extending over three months.

At that time four of the "big five" packers, Armour & Company, Wilson & Company, Swift & Company, and the Cudahy Packing Company, inaugurated a system of plant conferences and stated their intention of dealing directly with their employees through the medium of conferences between representatives of the employers and the packers.

In October the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, took a strike vote because, it was asserted, the packers did not recognize the union.

Detroit last night at the age of 80 years.

Strang has sat in exactly the same was opened, and had drawn the attention of millions of people as he shouted lustily through his megaphone.

OTTAWA, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—When Parliament was dissolved there were in the House of Commons 120 Conservatives, 84 Liberals, 14 Progressives and four Independents. Three of these members—elected by by-elections—were unable actually to take their seats, however, before prorogation. Seats vacant at dissolution numbered 13. Of the vacancies three had been occasioned by the death of the sitting members, four by resignation, four by appointment to the cabinet, one by appointment to the Senate, one by appointment to the bench.

x—Liberals from Quebec in reality numbered 59, as Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux sat for two seats during the last Parliament.

In the foregoing table Dr. Clark, ex-member for Red Deer, Alberta, is classified as a Liberal. Dr. Clark sat last session as a Progressive, but has since rejoined the Liberal party.

Major Andrews is classified as a Conservative. He occupied a seat among the Independents last session, but subsequently returned to the government supporters. He represented Winnipeg Center.

STRIVE TO REACH
VOTERS IN WILDS

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 1.—The first attempt resulting in failure when a boat capsized in Lake Winnipeg, an effort will now be made to take ballot boxes to persons of Springfield constituency on the northern confines of civilization by dog teams. There are said to be five hundred voters affected.
One of the men who accompanied the boat walked 168 miles back to report the misadventure which resulted in all the ballot boxes and election papers being lost.

ROAD PUTS ST. THOMAS MEN ON SHORT WALK

ST. THOMAS, Dec. 1.—To avoid laying off indefinitely 20 or 30 men the Fere Marquette in this city will close the local shops one day a week starting Tuesday. This move, according to Divisional Master Mechanic C. Montgomery, was necessary if the road was to keep within its monthly appropriation.
Mr. Montgomery did not wish the move to be taken as an indication that conditions were becoming bad on the road. He claimed that on the contrary, freight traffic was quite heavy and that he looked for a boom in the near future.

REPORT PARLEY
DEBATES RAPIDLY

Expert Canadian Steno-graphers Transcribe French Speeches.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press.)—Members of the various delegations at the conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern problems, as well as the press correspondents who are gathered here from all quarters of the world, have been struck with the speed with which the official communiques of the various sessions are issued and the accuracy of the reports of the proceedings of the open meetings of the conference.

The open sessions, as a rule, adjourn at about 1 o'clock. By 2:30 a complete report of the proceedings, including a verbatim transcript of all the speeches, is in the hands of every delegate and newspaperman accredited to the conference. This report is printed on a man-ifolding machine, and is in English.
There are copies in French for those who desire them.

Follows Hansard System.
The system employed is very similar to that by which the Hansard reports of the proceedings of the Canadian House of Commons are prepared. Expert steno-graphers, sitting at a special table in the conference room, take notes for stated intervals, transcribing their notes immediately upon being relieved by other shorthand men. The French speeches are taken by French shorthand men and are afterwards translated.

Credit for the excellent way in which the French portions of the reports have been handled is due to a special staff of Canadian shorthand and translation experts, who were brought here from Montreal and Ottawa to handle this part of the work. They are Marcel Gahard,
J. H. Mackay, Marcel Bernard and Miss
F. Mackay. Several of them have worked on the Hansard staff at Ottawa, where they gained their experience in rapid transcription and translation work.
The Canadians handle all of the French part of the sessions. The staff of seven United States stenographic experts look after the English end of the work.

Serves As Interpreter.
One of the most interesting features of the routine of the conference proceedings is the remarkable work of Prof. Camerlynck, for many years language specialist at the University of Paris, who is here in the capacity of chief interpreter. Prof. Camerlynck is a rapid-fire translator and something of an orator as well.

He takes notes of all the English speeches in French shorthand. Immediately the speaker concludes he delivers the speech to the conference in French for the benefit of the delegates who understand only that language. The French speeches he also sets down and as soon as the speaker finishes he is ready with an excellent literal translation for the benefit of those who understand only English.

In re-delivering the speeches in the reverse language he misses not single point of emphasis and even supplies graceful and eloquent gestures to fit the words. In fact, it has been remarked that Prof. Camerlynck's response frequently exceeds that of the original speaker.

Minister Hughes has submitted a pro-

DENIES AGRARIANS TERMED IGNORANT

Pardee Declares Drury Misquoted Him At Lambton Meeting.

SARNIA, Dec. 1.—In a statement issued here tonight, F. F. Pardee has taken Premier Drury and the West Lambton farmers' candidate to task for statements made at the farmers' meeting staged in Sarnia recently.

Mr. Pardee denies there is truth in statements by Premier Drury and Mr.
White, who charged that the Liberal candidate had inferred the Progressives were lacking in brains.

"I am told," said Mr. Pardee, "Mr.
Drury also said that Sir Richard Car-tright, alone of Liberal leaders, was true to the principles of Liberalism in 1910, and that this forced him, Mr.
Drury, from the Liberal party. May I remind him, and the electors, that in 1911 for those very principles the Liberal party to a man, faced defeat and went down to defeat, many of them in the reciprocity campaign."

"Surely misrepresentation of this kind is not needed to bolster up the platform Mr. White and Mr. Drury now occupy."

No statement was forthcoming tonight from Mr. White or Premier Drury, the latter having left for Wallaceburg.

FEAR GERMAN DUMPING.

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—Belgian businessmen are complaining of German dumping, and are demanding preventive measures. German sales to Belgium, they say, have been increasing rapidly.

FRENCH PROTEST KHAKI.

PARIS, France.—Members of parliament have been receiving protests against the decision to substitute khaki for the horizon blue worn by French soldiers throughout the war. But the decision will stand.

URGENT TEACHING OF "THE GAELIC"

Highland Association Advocates Instruction of Ancient Language of Scotland.

WEALTH IN GAELIC SONG

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 1.—The 25th annual Mod promoted by the Highland Association (an Communn na Gàidhealach) was recently held in Glasgow, and at the opening session the Rev. G. W. Mackay of Killin, Perthshire, the president, said the objects of the association were to encourage and promote the teaching and use of the Gaelic language, the study and cultivation of Gaelic literature, history and art, and to do it anywhere in Scotland, not only in Inverness and Oban, but also in granite Aberdeen, in the capital city of Edinburgh, and in the mighty commercial center of Glasgow.

They hoped the day might not be far distant when thousands to whom the Gaelic tongue was at present unknown, and its literature and culture a sealed book, might be induced, although inhabitants of the south, to learn, study and appreciate the treasures that lay so near them. The revelations of the census had shown them how serious was the situation from their point of view. Gaelic was vanishing rapidly from many parts of the mainland; but Gaelic need not vanish if they were all in earnest and prepared to do their best in the work.

Their national music ought to be an indispensable part of their national education, and it was of the utmost importance as a means of culture, and recreation that Gaelic song should receive a satisfactory place in every school. There was a wealth of beautiful melody, a storehouse of singular charm in Gaelic song, and their hearts warmed at the possibility of thousands of Gaelic-speaking children and of children learning Gaelic going forth from their schools carrying with them a treasure that would keep them enriched all their life long.

In certain districts the Highlands of Scotland were becoming a huge wilderness. They would not willingly see their heritage go; rather they put forth every effort, to hand down to their children the wealth of living speech in the Gaelic language and its living culture to those who came after them. At a concert in connection with the Mod, Ian Macpherson, who appeared in the Highland dress of the clan Macpherson, said he was a Gaelic-speaking Highlander, able to read, write and speak the great and ancient language. The object of an Communn na Gàidhealach took it was not so much to preserve throughout the whole empire the ideals of the Celtic race. It was a matter for regret that there were far too many in the Highlands today who were ashamed to own the Gaelic.

He could not understand that feeling. No portion of any empire ever paid so much for the security of liberty and honor as the Highlands of Scotland. They could take it from him that the bilingual child had a better chance in life than any other child. Such a child had at once two ways of looking at things. Too many parents when confronted with the choice would prefer French or Italian rather than Gaelic for their children.

NOVEL SCHEME AID TO BETTER SPEECH

"Tag" Game Proves Success to Improved Use of English.

Akron, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Akron public school authorities found a new way of stimulating interest in better English among public school students last week.

In observance of "Better English Week," a system of tags was used. Every time a student made a grammatical error, he or she was tagged by the schoolmate first detecting the error. This applied also to teachers. Many teachers were tagged during the week by their pupils and by fellow-teachers.

As penalty for the grammatical mistake each student or teacher tagged was compelled to wear the tag all week. This meant that by the end of the week some of them were wearing half a dozen or more tags.

The campaign was not so much aimed at inexcusable grammatical mistakes constantly warned against in the school room, but was conducted to discourage the little unconscious habits acquired such as saying "uhuh" and "yeh" for yes, and "nope" for no.

The comparatively common and unconscious habit of always starting a sentence with the expression "Why—," and slang phrases such as "You tell 'em," "I'll say," "An' everything," "I was to a show," and "I know sumptin'."

Different colored tags were used each day in the week.

Monday's tag, printed in red, announced the beginning of "Better American Speech Week." All tags were three inches square.

"Avoid saying 'John he done it' for 'John did it,' 'he don't' for 'he doesn't,' and 'it's me' instead of 'it's I,'" read the Monday tag.

Tuesday's tag urged all its wearers to join the "Do Without Club" by doing without the phrases, "Say, listen," "You tell 'em," "I'll say," "An' everything," "I was to a show," and "I know sumptin'."

The Wednesday tag read: "Do without: 'I could off for 'I could have,' 'set for 'set,' 'going for 'going,' 'I ain't got no problems' for 'I have no problems,' 'Why-a' instead of beginning your sentence at once, 'kin' for 'can,' 'git' for 'get,' 'lay' for 'lie,' 'drownded' for 'drowned,' 'runnin' for 'running.'"

Thursday's tag reminded its wearers to do without "the bell has rang," for "the bell has rung," "I take a study 'off' instead of 'from' a certain teacher," "will you leave me go" instead of "will you let me go"; the words "sorta" and "kinda," and "uhuh" and "huhum" and "yeh" for yes, and "nope" for no.

Friday's red tag worn as the culmination of a series of slip-ups read: "Be-ware! Tags for bad English are about, and they will get you if you don't watch out."

According to school authorities, nothing has stimulated interest in better English more than the week's game of tag. Pupils naturally took particular delight in tagging their teachers, and the teachers took just as much delight in tagging some fellow-teacher.

"It was surprising how many little unconscious habits we all had formed and which we are now trying to correct as a result of the system," says School Superintendent Carroll Reed.

"Everybody is on the alert, for everyone is watching everybody else, and we're all trying to catch the other fellow in some mistake."

NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION IN 1921 SHOWS DECLINE

Output of Canadian and American Mills Decreased 24 Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press)—Forty-four newsprint companies in the United States and Canada comprising more than 90 per cent of total, reporting to the Newsprint Service Bureau, for October, had an output of 155,344 tons of paper. Shipments amounted to 165,365 tons. Production includes 1,713 tons of hanging paper usually classed with newsprint.

October production was 13,372 tons (9 per cent) increase over September output. Shipments increased 22,372 tons, or 16 per cent. There was one more working day in October than in September.

Production by United States mills, according to the bureau, during the first ten months of 1921 was 252,161 tons, or 24 per cent less than the corresponding period of 1920. A strike, which tied up some mills for more than two months early this year, restricted output.

Production of Canadian mills for ten months of 1921 decreased 79,447 tons compared with 1920, a decline of 11 per cent. Combined decline in production, both countries, was 231,538, or 18½ per cent compared with 1920.

Total stocks at mills October 31, 1921, were 31,990 tons, equivalent to about four days' production. Stocks at the end of October were 8,640 tons less than Sept. 30.

BEWARE OF CLOGGED KIDNEYS

Use Solvax to stimulate their action and get the poisons out of your blood. Often the violent headache comes from poisons in the blood that congestion in the kidneys has failed to pass out through the bladder. General disturbances, dizziness, back pains, tired feeling in the legs and mental depression are some of the symptoms apt to follow. Your best medicine to relieve this condition is a remedy called Solvax, sold by leading druggists on the liberal plan that you can try it and if it doesn't prove satisfactory they will refund the price paid for it.

For the reason that the kidneys themselves do not ache, very serious conditions may set in, simply because the general disturbances and other symptoms are not recognized as due to clogged kidneys. Try Solvax. It cannot harm you and may be exactly what you needed to feel well again. Price 50 cents. Mail orders filled direct by Booth's Hyomei Co., Listowel, Ont.—Adv't.

Finds Stars' Salaries and Film Rentals Too High

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—There is a slump in the movie industry. Many within the industry thought it would end with the passing of summer. The last summer was the worst season the business has known.

Business has picked up some since amusement parks and outdoor attractions have been closed, but it is not up to the standard of previous autumn and winters.

Movie houses in all parts of the country are closing.

This condition results from high admission prices to motion picture theatres, that and nothing else.

When the admission price is lowered more people will attend the picture theatres. The total receipts will be higher. The industry will be more prosperous.

There is evidence plenty that too much is being charged for admission to movies. In some places in the southwest patrons of theatres are given charge accounts. They go to see a movie and pay when they get the money.

Business slumped at a $300,000 theatre in Brooklyn. The manager brought the price down to 10 cents. Then he charged 1 cent for the second admission. In other words, two for 11 cents.

Why are the movie admissions high? Exhibitors are little to blame. Many of them are conducting business at a loss.

The main fact in keeping movie admissions at the present level is the high salaries being paid to stars. In some cases rentals of films are not in proportion to the cost of production.

This writer has information at first hand that one film actor who has been featured for only a few films and received $500 a week for one of his recent pictures, asked five times that amount for his next picture.

Much of the reason for high rentals of pictures also rests upon the shoulders of the producers and distributors. Some of the foreign films prove that. They were bought for a song, comparing their cost to the cost of pictures made in this country.

Were rentals for those pictures lowered? Were admission prices to see them lowered? Not by a jug full.

Mae Busch is the new style of screen vamp, the Theda Bara style now being passe.

Rudolph Valentino. He jumped to fame in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

In some cases the prices to see foreign films were advanced beyond the usual admission prices!

The day of the nickelodeon and the 10-cent picture undoubtedly is past. The public demands better pictures than can profitably be shown at those prices.

However, pictures are not five to ten times better than they were when admissions were one-tenth to one-fifth of what they now are.

The motion picture industry will continue to be in a chaotic state until it is run on the same basis as other industries, a certain percentage of profit on the capital invested, with a sane scale of salaries to players who make the pictures.

MERLYN POCOCKE SCORES TRIUMPH

Mezzo-Soprano Achieves Artistic Success At Wesley Hall Recital.

Though not a large audience, it was a very enthusiastic and sympathetic one which greeted Merlyn Pococke, mezzo-soprano, late of Chicago, when she appeared Thursday night in recital in Wesley Hall, in her own home city.

She was happy in having as her associate artists, Leo Smith, mezzo-soprano, of Toronto, and A. D. Jordan at the piano.

Miss Pococke is remembered in her early years of recital-giving as a contralto (just a few years ago at that), and as recently as two years ago as a mezzo-contralto.

The development of her upper tones has given to her voice an added color and sparkle, her unusually wide range and fine control making possible the success she achieved vocally, as well as artistically, in the presentation of a most exacting program.

A thorough musician, she is at the same time a most conscientious artist.

A genuine triumph was achieved in her singing of her third group, including "Hodge Rodeo," Schubert's two Brahms songs, "Love Song," and an exquisitely done "Cradle Song," and finally on ecstatic outburst of melody in Wolf's "The Spring."

A group of French songs, "Celle Que Je Prefere" (Foucault), a clever bit of dialogue, "Comment, Disaient-ils" (Liszt), and a Debussy recitative and aria from "L'Enfant et le Sortilège," revealed fine dramatic appreciation and the ability to feel in French as well as to pronounce it. The English translation was by Miss Panette Wilson.

Three big numbers had the usual place of precedence, "How Changed the Vision" (Handel), "Caro Mio Ben" (Giordani), and "L'Enfant et le Sortilège" (Meyerbeer). After the final group in English, among which was a delicious morsel "Rain," by Curran, Miss Pococke was obliged to respond to a double encore, being asked to sing a couple of pieces bubbling with humor, "The Lilac Tree" and "The Big Brown Bear."

The words of another encore, "Sea Drift," by Bliss Carman, set to music by Binder.

RAYMOND HOLDS FINAL BIG RALLY

Crowds Brantford Hall When Last Campaign Appeal Issued.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 1.—Victoria Hall was crowded to the doors tonight, when in the interests of W. G. Raymond, Liberal candidate for Brantford, a mass meeting was held, with the candidate and Mrs. Grant-Needham, vice-president of the Toronto Women's Liberal Association, as the chief speakers. This is the last general rally for the Liberals billed before election day, but Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto will address a Conservative gathering here on Friday night.

R. W. Brooks, for 40 years an Odd-fellow here, for 25 years an insurance agent, and for 50 years a resident, during which time he was a keen supporter of the Horticultural Society and a grower of rare blooms, died today. He was one of the founders of Sydenham Street Methodist Church and was active in many organizations.

The G. W. V. A. today issued the annual appeal for the Christmas treat for the widows and orphans of the men who fell overseas.

There are 16,307 voters for the federal elections in Brantford city, with a total of 18,497 in the whole of the riding. Twenty thousand ballots have been ordered.

To the Rotary Club today, Dr. Edgar Allen, president of the National Society of Crippled Children for Ohio, of Elvira, Ohio, told of the work being done. Afterwards he addressed a joint gathering of society representatives interested in the work locally.

There are yet 35 men working nine hours a day at 30¢ an hour on the provincial highway, between Brantford and Paris.

Playing Their Parts

Just as Sir Harry Lauder has brightened the lives of millions the world over, so the pen he uses—

Ready to write instantly anywhere, its smooth, tireless action puts real pleasure into handwriting. It relieves its user from the limited environment of a desk, or inkwell, and by saving time, labor and waste, makes itself indispensable for the greater efficiency of the individual.

There is a size and a type that fits the personal requirement of all business men and women, doctors, lawyers, statesmen, students, draftsmen, composers, stenographers, bookkeepers—everyone in fact who has use for a pen.

"The Man of the Forest" At Allen Easily Grey's Best

Of all the writers of western tales there is none probably that has attained such popularity as Zane Grey. There are few, if any, lovers of adventure and romance who have not already read some of the powerful Grey stories of the past, such as "Riders of the Dawn" and "Desert Gold," but "The Man of the Forest," his latest, which is appearing at the Allen Theatre the current half of this week, can be safely heralded as his best.

HIDDEN PLATINUM BRINGS A FORTUNE

PRINCETON, E. C., Dec. 1.—Out of the Tulameen district, south of here, comes a mining tale concerning four Chinamen and six pounds of platinum. Thirty years ago Ah Foo and his Oriental brethren labored long and faithfully at their claim on the Tulameen River, below Granite Creek. As the sum total of their labors, the Celestials accumulated six pounds of platinum, and cached it in the ground, to live like a millionaire for the remainder of his days.

had contained said. They left the scene and finally landed in China. At that time platinum was worth about 50 cents an ounce. Recently quotations reached as high as $75 an ounce. It dawned on Ah Foo and his associates in far-away China that they had a fortune of something over $1,000 in that old bottle, and all four embarked from China and arrived at their old ground on the Tulameen, where they had no difficulty in finding the cache. They returned to China, where for a fourth share of the profits each expects to live like a millionaire for the remainder of his days.

DISAPPOINTED THIEVES

STEAL RIDGETOWN CAR
RIDGETOWN, Dec. 1.—Burglars effected an entrance to the Pere Marquette station some time at an early hour this morning, but were rewarded by only fifty cents in change that had been left in the till. However, at Geo. G. Brien's house on Main street west, they stole his Gray-Dart car which had the wheel locked and was considered perfectly safe. So far no trace of the car has been found.

Don't be misled by the so-called workingman's friend, who appears at every election time, with the great plea of "Help the Workingman," and for the next eleven months forgets him. This is an old election cry.

Alderman Wenige is your friend, he is willing to spend his own money to fight for the rights of citizens against those Corporations that through ILLEGAL methods collect money from you, or corporations that are trying to evade their obligations to the citizens.

Alderman Wenige stands for efficiency. He only asks for full value for your dollars spent, and that is just what you are asking for. He will insist on no favors to the few. He has no political hanger-on or henchmen to satisfy. He will work to the best interest of the most people.

You have been wanting for years a successful businessman at the head of your civic affairs. Wenige is a successful businessman and he will apply the same energy to civic affairs as he does to his own business interests.

Wenige has nothing to gain—on the contrary he has everything to lose—but he has made up his mind to render London a service that has been sorely lacking for many years.

Wenige has the courage of his convictions—he has done the things they said couldn't be done.

BLENHEIM, Dec. 1.—Blenheim's chief of police is again on duty after a suspension of about two weeks meted out to him following recent robberies committed in town during the night when he was supposed to be on duty. The council last night after hearing the chief's side of the matter and considering the evidence already before them, decided the chief should be reinstated. Chief Wilson is on duty today.

After a brief illness Mary Ellen, wife of William Hutton, died last night at the home of Mrs. Young, at the age of 19 years. She is survived by her husband and one child, two years old. Spinsters Britain's Great Problem

THERE IS NO PLACE FOR THE UNMARRIED WOMAN OF "THIRTY" WHO HASN'T MEANS

[Special to The London Advertiser.]
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—"The woman of 30 is the biggest industrial problem in England—if she isn't married."

"There's little chance of marriage for her, and she's being pushed out of the business and industrial world by younger women with less responsibility who can work for much less money."

Miss Kate Manicom is speaking—120 pounds of pink and white English femininity. She represents the International Federation of Working Women at the disarmament conference.

"We've got to do something for these women. We must keep employers from ousting them from their jobs."

KEEP THE HOME FIRES BURNING

Do you remember back in the war days when you heard that song how your eye would dim and a lump would come up in your throat as your thoughts turned to the boys who were in the mud and the blood "over there" fighting that the home fires might not be extinguished by an alien hand? Do you remember how hard you tried to keep things right until the boys came home? Do you remember the sacrifices, the hardship of it all and the final glory when the victory was won?

You Did Your Duty Then--- Do It Now.

Today another call goes out to keep the home fires burning, to see that they are not extinguished by an alien hand. The fires in the hearths of Canada's homes cannot burn if her factory fires are black and lifeless. Contentment and happiness will not walk hand in hand with unemployment. Canada's factory fires are in danger of being extinguished by the act of the free trade Liberals, who if elected to power on Dec. 6 will put into effect a tariff policy for this country which will mean that many of our factories may have to close—many of our men may be reduced to idleness. This is no time for a reduction of the tariff. The slogan today should be STEADY WORK AND THE FULL PAY ENVELOPE.

The policy of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will preserve the Canadian factories from the deadly competition of the mighty factory capacity of the United States and the underpaid workers of Europe and Asia. The policy of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will help to keep the Canadian factories busy and the workmen in employment. Your vote is needed on Dec. 6 for the candidate of the National Liberal and Conservative party in support of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's policy. DO YOUR PLAIN DUTY THIS TIME AS YOU DID IT BEFORE. VOTERS SURE TO OUST MEIGHEN, KING DECLARES Liberal Leader Winds Up His National Campaign At North Bay.

RAPS TORY USURPATION

Declares Country "Is Sick To Death of Log-Rolling Coalitions."

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Winding up his campaign with the exception of several meetings in his own riding of North York which will be held on Friday, Saturday and Monday, Hon. William L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, spoke tonight to a capacity audience in North Bay after having covered eight of the nine provinces of the Dominion and after having been continuously active on the platform since early in September.

Mr. King in his speech here tonight reviewed the arguments which he had been presenting for the past two and a-half months, and which, he declared, showed full promise of resulting in the return of a Liberal administration to office on Tuesday next.

He dealt with the financial and economic conditions facing the country; the railway situation; the charges of usurpation which he has been making against Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and also with the probabilities of what next Tuesday would bring forth.

Will End Tory Power.
The people, said Mr. King, were heartily determined to end the power of the Meighen government. There has been "altogether too much usurpation of public rights and protection of the government's friends at the expense of the taxpayers." The most certain thing about the coming election was that Mr. Meighen and his friends would be defeated.

Again the Liberal leader told his

I was taken with the measles when in an expectant condition; then blood poisoning set in and my family became greatly alarmed. The doctor advised them to give me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I took several bottles of it and was restored to absolutely perfect health. I later took Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nerve and received great benefit from it. As a woman's medicine it is unequalled."—Mrs. Jennie Dalton, 767 York St.

audience that there would be no coalition after Dec. 6.

"The country is sick to death of coalitions with their log-rolling and expensive attempts to satisfy this and that party to them. What this country needs today is a strong stable government, composed of the best minds that can be secured, which will not be afraid to lay down a policy and follow it out. And afterwards, it must not be afraid to face the people on its record as a government," he said.

Speaker Questioned.

There were a few questions and interjections as the Liberal leader was speaking, but they were of an orderly nature. Some fifteen hundred persons attended the meeting, which was held in the Royal Hotel.

The need of economy, retrenchment and reform was stressed by the Liberal leader. The cost of living was being kept at its present high level, he declared, by the high cost of government. There could be no reduction in this high cost while the country continued in office "men who had grown so accustomed to thinking in billions of dollars that they refused to attune their minds to anything like thousands and hundreds of dollars."

"We need a thorough national house-cleaning," said Mr. King, "and we need a proper audit by men who are not chiefly concerned with hiding from the public those things which the public ought to be told."

There were expenditures which could be reduced or done away with, and the Liberal leader was in favor of cutting down these needless outlays before telling the returned soldiers that the government could do nothing more for them because there was no more money available.

Would Aid Veterans.
Referring to the matter of the re-establishment of the returned men, Mr. King reiterated his belief that the care of the veterans and their dependents should be the first charge on Canada.

The acquisition and operation of the Canadian National Railway system and the matter of public ownership were also gone into by Mr. King. In his opinion, he said, public ownership and operation had not been given a proper chance to prove itself. There had been entirely too much secrecy and refusal to vital information by the Meighen government. There was no charge made against the honesty and integrity of the directors, but the manner in the contracts had been let, and the government's manner in regard to these contracts had been in itself sufficient to justify questions which the government had refused to answer.

Mr. King favored giving the system a fair trial under public ownership and operation.

E. A. Lapierre, the Liberal candidate for Nipissing riding, also spoke briefly, as did A. T. Young of North Bay.

PHYSICIAN FOR WARD 4.

By electing Dr. L. S. Holmes as alderman, Ward 4 voters will have a man capable of worthily representing them in any company—educated, modern, aggressive and willing to serve the people.

SCORES MEIGHEN'S WASTE OF MONEY

Hon. Peter Smith Addresses Progressive Rally At St. Marys.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. MARYS, Dec. 1.—There was a good attendance at the only meeting that the Progressive party has held in this town during the present political campaign. None of the speakers outlined the program of the party, but contented themselves rather with a comparison of the failings of the Meighen government with the excellent record of the Farmer government at Toronto.

S. Mahon of South Wellington, the first speaker, discussed some phases of the tariff, and while admitting that it was impossible to meet the costs of the government with revenue, intimated that the policy of the Progressives was toward a very considerable reduction of the tariff.

Robert Berry, the Progressive candidate in South Perth, claiming ill-health, confined himself to a brief eulogization of the Drury government, and declined to answer a questioner in the house, who demanded to know "What did the money go to?"

Claiming that Premier Drury had saved the province of Ontario $50,000,000 by refusing to go on with the construction of hydro radials, Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, also passed over the demand from the audience as to where the money had gone. He expressed disgust at the way in which Meighen's picture is scattered all over the country on "200,000 billboards at a cost of $20 a day. Some one will have to pay for this. Who will it be?" he demanded.

Other speakers were D. K. Erb, former Liberal member for South Perth, and Arthur Hawkes of Toronto.

"How We'd Make London PUPILS SUBMIT THEIR IDEAS A Bigger and Better City"

BY HELEN McMILLAN.

Little children have their ideas to give on what is the matter with London, just as much as grown-ups have, and, strangely enough, they are not so very different from the ideas of the older people, after all.

The keynote which they strike in their suggestions is for a more beautiful city. And wasn't that the main idea beneath the majority of the suggestions from maturer citizens? And the other ideas fall in line, reflected by their parents, perhaps but nevertheless the expression of the little minds when the matter was put to them.

Here is another installment from the little citizens of London:

ARLEN MERRIAM.
I'd build beautiful palaces in London to make it pretty and happy. I would make big lawns by the houses to make the city very pretty. I would have beautiful roadways and hospitals, and have flowers all around the city.

BERTHA LEIGH.
I would fix the roads, and where there weren't any sidewalks I would put sidewalks there. And another thing I would do is to build some of the old wooden houses into brick houses. I would try to earn enough money to help all the poor people.

VERA HOOPER.
I would first get some carpenters to knock down all the old buildings and build new ones in their places. Next I would make all the dirt roads paved, and plant trees along the sides of the sidewalks where there are no trees.

Next I would paint the inside of the Talbot street school, and put telephones in all the rooms.

WILLIE LADELL.
I would tell the men to clean up the streets, and I would have more schools for the children. I would help the poor children, and I would see that no people were hurt. I would see that men were doing right things, and I would have men to build more hospitals. I would not allow any children to go to the

I would have electric lights put in every house, make the roads cleaner and healthier. I would keep the parks in order and enforce laws so there would be no more stealing and murders.

I would have all criminals run in for a certain number of days or months, or maybe years, or for life, if need be. I would have all the shacks torn down and neat little cottages put up with good-sized backyards. And if the people had chickens I would have them keep them in a coop and not on the street.

RONALD LITTLE.
I would have shrubs and trees planted along the bare spots, and all the streets cleaned up and paved. I would have the highways all gravelled and beaten down to make better roads, and help the people that are out of work by giving them a chance to work if they would accept it.

ELSIE MERRIAM.
I would build churches, fix up the streets, give the men work to do. Then I would fix the stations up for London. I would put better lights in the streets. Then I would fix the schools so the children could have amusements, such as playing ball. I would fix the parliament up, better than it is. I would see that children had clothes to go to school or to go to Sunday school and other places. And I would see they had better nourishment and homes to go to.

CELESTIN CHIERA.
I would make London a better city by making the street car service better, and having the Thames River made useful for boating, swimming and fishing. I would have rubbish cans on every corner for people to throw in the wasted, such as banana peels, orange peels, paper bags, etc. I should have the streets of London paved, and I

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician. Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour, burning stomach, ach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind, and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently a ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia. In half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the Bisurated Magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover, the Bisurated Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Bisurated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milks, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure Bisurated form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.—Adv.

NERVOUS FAINTING SPELLS

Mrs. Werner tells how they Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Camden, N. J.—"Before my baby was born I was run down and weak, had pains in my back and stomach, was very nervous and would have fainting spells. I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at times and used to scream. A doctor treated me but did not seem to do much good. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was relieved of those nervous spells. Now I have a nice baby girl and had an easy time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIAM C. WERNER, 1216 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

When a wife finds her energies are flagging, she is weak, nervous, suffers from backache, the "blues" she should build her system up at once by taking that standard woman's medicine, Lydia E. I would make the rich give in to the poor, that the poor would not have to work so hard for them. I would make pretty houses for not only one but for all kinds of flowers. I would make the road to Port Stanley so everybody would have a good time.

GLADYS TALBOT.
I would have the rents lowered for the poorest of the people. The old dwellings I would have pulled down and have them built up stronger, because sometime they might fall down and the people in them be crushed. I would also have certain roads on the market for horses and buggies and automobiles, because then there wouldn't be so many accidents. Around some of the market houses I would have boulevards and little bushes growing, like they do in the old country where I lived. I would also have two big places built for people to sell their things in when they are cold in the winter. I would have these places well heated.

IRENE WALDEN.
I would make London a better place to live in by seeing that all the boys and girls of London had an equal amount of education, no matter if they were poor or rich. I would build a new dam at Springbank Park, which would improve the beauty of it. I would have a large building for the farmers who come to market, to spread out their goods which they have for sale. I would not only shelter the farmers from the weather, but it would be an advantage to the citizens of London. There would be an aisle in the center of the building. The people could walk

Shredded Wheat with Hot Milk

Heat the Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven to restore crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and salt, or sweeten to suit the taste. Nothing so nourishing, strengthening or satisfying.

Shredded Wheat contains more real, strength-giving nutriment than meat or eggs and costs but a few cents. Better than ordinary porridges because it contains all the nourishment of the whole wheat in digestible form. Being ready-cooked and ready-to-eat it saves fuel and saves time.

"The Happy Way to Health"

Canada for the Canadians

WHAT IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

-OR-

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade?

Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY, THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

Canada Needs Meighen

up this side, while on each side of the aisle the farmers would have their goods. The people could easily get what they wanted then.

ED GETSINGER.

I would try and have all the roads in the main part of the city paved. Secondly, I would try and lower the people's taxes, and make the rent of the houses more convenient for those who are poor. Thirdly, I would try and get a company of men to invest their money in the building of our new hotel. Fourth, I would get the city started in the art and planning of our new Western University.

DORA SLATER.

I would make the city nice and clean. I would take down the high cost of living. I would erect nice buildings. I would keep all the restaurants nice and very clean. I would keep the city nice and clean and bright. I would keep the stations of London clean.

GERTRUDE LINK.

I would build a great big home for the old people. I would build a comfortable home for the motherless and fatherless children. I would build a big hospital for the sick children only. I would make a more beautiful park, and have more street cars running out around the farm. I would have street cars running down Ridout street and over the Thames River. I would build a big swimming pool for boys and girls only. I would build a big hospital for the sick soldiers, and have more music to cheer them. I would cement all the roads of London and build more business places. I would make the colleges better for girls and boys, and give them a good education.

GEORGE BALCH.

To be mayor needs some consideration. If I was mayor I would build a box where the policeman stands on Dundas and Richmond streets, so that he could be higher up to watch the traffic. Besides this, I would build a parking station in some uninhabited plot in town. The big hotel near the Bank of Montreal that is going to be put up, I would abandon, and put it near the Canadian Pacific Railway. I would put up the new college and improve the pavements on the streets that have broken away. I would finish the cement road up Quebec street, and put in a swimming pool at Victoria Park. Besides, I would improve the baseball grounds, and build a school with all the modern conveniences. The market I should improve by fixing all the stalls for the farmers to sell their goods.

BRUCE RUSSELL.

I would try to pave all the streets. I would put the street railway into the hands of the city. In this case there would be a better service, although the fare would likely go up, and there would be extension of the track. The street railway company can't do this, because it is forbidden to raise the fare, in its contract. I would take over, or at least endeavor to take over, Springbank Park for the city. And last, but not least, I would try to improve the residential streets by removing the little hovels, if possible.

ELMA HODGSON.

I would make the citizens happier by having more policemen on the corners, because London is getting bigger every day, and there is more traffic. I would have a place always open on Sunday at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, when there was a man knocked down and taken to the hospital. The policeman would not go and come, so they were running as they liked, and this man was knocked down. And so if there were more police in the city it would be better.

MARGUERITE SMITH.

I would try to be more playgrounds in this city for the children to play in during the summer holidays, so the boys and girls will not run the streets and get in trouble, and be sent to jail for bad behavior.

BETHA BRYANT.

I would put down those horrible shacks and laundry places on Richmond and Clarence streets, and build up big stores worth while. Also I would make a rule that no rents may go any higher than a certain price, the same with groceries. I would see that every man had a respectable job, letting the women stay home, and the men take the bicycles and cars, and I would build more colleges, so that they would be better.

ELVA DEAN.

I would try to make London as happy as I could. I would do the best I could to help the people. I would send a lot of men to clean the city up.

MARY WONG.

I would see that people were happy and had nice houses to live in. I would see that the streets were clean, and would put in cement sidewalks in every street.

MEREDITH HALLIDAY.

I would get lots of work to do, so nobody could be out of work and everybody could be busy. I would have lots of work to do to pave the streets and make curbs on the streets. I would have lots of doctors to keep everybody well and healthy.

PETER MANDAS.

I would help the poor and make them happy, and make everybody happy, and tell the garbage men to clean the streets nice. That's what I would do.

GEORGE WALTERS.

I would see that the streets were clean and that everything in the city of London was the best.

STANLEY LEIGH.

I would see that the streets were perfectly clean, and that the gardens were well watered. I would see that there was electric light, gas and water. But not only that, I would see that everything was done that was needed to make everybody happy.

GEORGE GEORGES.

I would try to keep everything clean and make the people do what they were told to do. I would make cement roads for people to ride on with their bicycles and wagons and automobiles. I would build stores and houses for people to live in and keep the lawns and sidewalks clean.

JACK SCHUSSLER.

I would try to make the expensive things cheaper. I would invent many things which the people need, and never attempted to make themselves unhealthy by liquor, so that the people would be ever so happy. I would invent many schools and colleges and universities, so the people would be well educated, and London the best place to live in.

CLARENCE DEAN.

I would make more public parks, in which I would put amusements. More paved roads would be made, and better devices for cleaning them would be planned. More and larger hotels would be built, and also more houses.

ELEANOR WILLIS.

I would build a new city hall, and I would build more city schools. All this would try to prevent the city from all these motor accidents, and I would improve on the city streets.

HEARST STILL ATTACKS BRITAIN

on the point, they may hope to gain consideration of their claims on some other question by agreeing to back down gracefully on the ratio. This, of course, is merely speculation, and it naturally leads to more conjecture.

Manchurian Question Arises.

If this is the case, it is asked, what is it they are after? It has been suggested that it may be the question of naval bases in the Pacific. They are anxious to prevent the establishment of a base in the Philippines. But Baron Kato has declared they have no such idea. He has stated that the Japanese consider the naval armament matter and the question of naval bases are not in any way related to the Manchurian question. The Chinese declare the Manchurian question is implicated in the supposed sale-off. The Chinese declare Manchuria a part of China. It has a color of its own in the Chinese flag and is declared by Dr. Sze and his associates to be an integral part of the republic. The Japanese are believed to look upon Manchuria as an excellent field for colonization, and they are establishing a very firm grip there. They have no desire to have that grip loosened by this conference, and would prefer to have the Manchurian question passed over. The theory is that they hope the conference may not find it necessary to raise the question if they agree to accept the United States ratio figures.

Japan May Be Little or No Light on the Real Situation.

It is believed the Japanese have formally put in a demand for the ratio. The pessimistic attitude which has been adopted in some quarters is discounted by spokesmen for both the British and United States delegations. There is nothing which could be termed a "deadlock," and they continued optimistic. "There is no cause whatever for pessimism," said one of the British leaders.

Some of the gloomy reports printed are quite unjustified. I take a very cheerful view of the future."

CANDIDATES TOUR YUKON TOGETHER

Opponents Campaign Side by Side in Arctic Weather.

Dawson City, Y. T., Dec. 2.—(By Canadian Press).—Campaigning side by side in Arctic weather, Capt. George Black and P. T. Congdon, K.C., Government and Liberal candidates in the Yukon, have met with an old-time Klondike reception at a series of joint mass meetings in this neighborhood. Two more joint meetings here on Friday and Monday nights and several meetings along the creeks, will bring the campaign to a close.

For several meetings here, the Arctic Brotherhood Hall has been packed to capacity of 800 persons. Messrs. Black and Congdon have been the platform speakers, each replying to questions and charges which the other has made. Each is permitted to interrupt the other if he kept on his feet. There has been no lack of criticism, but also no rancor between the candidates. The audience has been uniformly attentive.

An unusual spell of weather 40 below zero has made the going pretty cold, but has left a few thin spots in the ice. Capt. Black broke through the ice on Stewart River, near the mouth of the Klondike, while coming from Mayo by dog team. He had to change his clothes on the river bank, but by doing so avoided serious freezing, although his face and hands were badly frozen before he reached Dawson.

Mr. Congdon has traveled the camp trails, totaling hundreds of miles.

FIRE IN QUEBEC CITY DOES $30,000 DAMAGE

Quebec, Dec. 2.—Fire last night did damage estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000 to the premises of St. John street, occupied by Joseph E. Vincent, printer and book dealer; Marcus Fisher, dealer in photographic supplies, and the overhead residences of Dr. P. E. Gaudet and Mr. Vincent.

The drygoods store of T. D. Dubuc and the jewelry establishment of A. Langlois on either side of the burned building suffered damage from smoke and water.

BRIAND FACING STORM IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Paris, Dec. 2.—Premier Briand returned to France today after five weeks' absence, in which he presented to the Washington conference France's position on armaments limitation. As he landed here he was greeted with deference, but without enthusiasm.

Premier Briand landed at 10:30 a.m., being brought here on a destroyer, to which he was transferred from the liner Paris.

The entire French cabinet, with the exception of Minister of Justice Bonjean, was on board the destroyer. Mr. Briand, minister of the interior, was transferred to the liner Paris.

A heavy sea was running, but the premier's opponents made no pretence of hiding their opinion that it was bad as compared to the storm that Briand will have to face in the chamber of deputies next Tuesday when he renders an account of his Washington mission.

CHARGES MEIGHEN BETRAYED LABOR

Murdock Shows How Cabinet Helped Corporation To "Scrap" Agreement.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Flinging yet another accusation in the face of the Meighen government, James Murdock, the Liberal candidate in South Toronto, again arraigned the Conservative party before the bar of public opinion, and defended himself against the charges preferred by his opponents at a crowded meeting in the Labor Temple in support of Norman McEachern, the Liberal candidate for Centre Toronto.

"The government," Mr. Murdock said, "who I maintain are the friends of the big interests against the masses of the people, added and abetted the Algoma Steel Corporation to break faith with their employees. In November, 1920, this corporation made an agreement with the transport organizations to govern the rates of pay of their employees, they insisted on the men signing an agreement which was to be binding for the space of one year. "Within 60 days the corporation, regardless of their agreement, gave notice to their employees of a 17 per cent cut in their wages. The government labor department at once sent down a man who endeavored to conciliate the men, and who advised them to accept the reductions, instead of bringing the corporation to book for breaking their contract.

"I maintain that a contract, once made, should be held to, and I know this, that if it had been a labor organization which had broken faith, the government and their friends would have been the first to raise an outcry and to call attention to the promises broken by the men, but this influential corporation got away with it all right. "I read that at Owen Sound the other day Mr. Meighen waxed eloquent against me, and said that the charges I laid were small and petty. Was it petty, I ask you, that unlimited and unreasonable profits were made out of the people at the time when the country was suffering, profits which I believe would have been sufficient to finance the soldier resettlement problem for many years to come. But are we not used to the autocratic methods of Mr. Meighen, who, since July 10, has been acting as premier without proper constitutional authority.

CLAIMS MANUFACTURERS NEED MORE COMPETITION

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TILSONBURG, Dec. 1.—The meeting held in the interests of the Progressive candidate, M. Haley, was largely attended. Rev. T. H. Boles acted as chairman.

John Wright of Burgessville presented the case of the party and claimed that the manufacturers of Canada need more competition and less protection. He stated that the government was conducting a campaign of misrepresentation and was one of the worst class governments Canada had ever been burdened with. He said Premier Meighen had called the farmers Reds, Bolshevists, etc., and that the government candidates would pay dearly for this at the polls on Dec. 6.

Mr. Wright also claimed that a few days ago Mr. Cockshutt of Brantford waited on Premier Drury in regard to relief funds for the unemployed in Brantford. Mr. Drury told Mr. Cockshutt, said Mr. Wright, that the best plan for relief was to open his own plant, but Mr. Cockshutt replied that there was no business doing.

Mr. Haley, the next speaker, thanked Mayor Dean, Liberal candidate, for his great courtesy and the cleanliness of his campaign. He dwelt at length with the tariff and railroads, as did Rev. J. V. Fradenburg of Cayuga.
