FIND RICHTER SYSTEM 'TOO EXTRAVAGANT'

IRELAND MAY ISSUE NATIONAL CALL TO ARMS

Irregulars Still Hold Out in Dublin Postoffice.

BOMBARD SACKVILLE ST.

Southern Part of City Controlled by Free State Troops.

BULLETIN.

Dublin, July 5.—Ten buildings in Sackville street, the Republican stronghold, were ablaze at this hour. The irregulars were still holding out in the Granville Hotel, and were firing from the windows, surrounded by an inferno of flames.

Dublin, July 5.—It is learned on excellent authority, says the Press Association this afternoon, that the Irish provisional government intends to issue a national call to arms tomorrow.

The irregulars at 12:05 p.m. were still holding out in the postoffice and the buildings in the center of the block on Sackville street, which has formed their stronghold. The government forces were said to have penetrated the Gresham Hotel. The Hammam Hotel was in flames, the fire starting before noon, and extending early this afternoon in a southerly direction, enveloping the Hibernian Bible Society building and the tramway offices.

Bombardment by the national army of the republican strongholds in Sackville street continued throughout last night, and was recommenced at 7:30 o'clock this morning, a lull lasting only from 3 a.m.

To all outward appearance, the rebel positions seem almost deserted. Certainly few of the republicans can remain in the besieged buildings, from which comes only a feeble reply to the attackers' fire.

Control All Approaches. The southern part of the city is completely controlled by the provisional government and all approaches to the main streets are now held by National troops. Raids for arms are being carried out successfully in many areas. Troops, operating from Curragh, intercepted a party of irregulars at Ballinacorney and captured twenty-one with a quantity of arms and ammunition and three motor vans. The result of these operations has been the tightening of the cordon around the republicans' last positions in Dublin and the people living in Marlborough street, which was the irregulars' line of defence behind Sackville street, have at last been able to emerge from their terrifying situation.

Persons have been observed signalling the prisoners in Mountjoy, where Rory O'Connor and his defeated Four Courts garrison are confined. Information also has been received by various parties as to the disposition of the guards at the prison, and the latter have been instructed to fire on anyone loitering near the prison or endeavoring to communicate with the prisoners.

The casualties during the week's fighting in Dublin are now placed at approximately 60 killed and 250 wounded.

News from the provinces regarding the progress of the national troops continues satisfactory.

Art O'Brien, former representative of the Dail Eileann in London, and Sean O'Kelly, who used to represent the dail in Paris, were both arrested last evening, it was announced today.

BANK RAIDED.

Belfast, July 5.—Thomas Mitchell, manager of the Ulster Bank branch in Tullamore, was the first of a raid on the bank this morning.

The bank's headquarters in this city are concerned as to the safety of several of its southern branches, which have not been heard from for several weeks.

CHAMPION "FISH SKINNER."

Gloucester, Mass., July 5.—Everett White today was hailed as champion "fish skinner" in the Independence Day fish skinning contest with a record of 37½ seconds for skinning a 5-pound cod. White received a cup emblematic of the championship.

DARING BANDITS GET $99,200.

St. Louis, July 5.—Bandits today boarded a Tower Grove street car, disarmed a policeman, who was accompanying Jos. Mosson, messenger for the Tower Grove Bank, and escaped with a satchel containing $21,200 in currency and more than $78,000 in checks the messenger was conveying to a downtown bank.

MONTREAL, July 5.—Barracuda, the ferocious fish, one of which recently caused the death of a young Montreal girl, who was fatally bitten while swimming off the Florida coast, have been found to inhabit Montreal waters.

KILLS MOTHER PUSHING BUGGY

Driver of Automobile in Flint Held After Death of Windsor Woman.

Victim's Babes Injured As Car Crashes Into Buggy Crossing Street.

Special to London Advertiser. Windsor, July 5.—Crossing a busy intersection at Flint, Mich., pushing a baby buggy containing her young daughter and infant son, Mrs. Mary Rood, 25 years old, of Windsor, was instantly killed when an automobile crashed into the buggy Wednesday morning. Her 6-year-old daughter, Frances, suffered internal and other injuries when she was thrown from the buggy. Mrs. Rood's infant son, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Following the accident Charles Craven, driver of the death car, was taken to Flint police headquarters, and ordered held pending an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fatality.

Mrs. Rood was well known in Windsor, and had gone to Flint only a week ago, accompanied by her husband, Charles Rood, to visit relatives. She was a daughter of Philip Dresch Windsor businessman.

It is expected the body will be brought to Windsor for interment.

COMMISSION TO APPOINT NEW POLICE SERGEANT

Post Vacated By Late Thomas Fish To Be Filled At Next Meeting.

When the police commission meets in the near future one of its duties will be to appoint a successor to the late Sgt. Thomas Fish, who died a few months ago.

Several officers have been prominently mentioned for the position. Seniority is not the only point considered when an appointment of police force is made. If that was the case constables at the Carling street station would not look forward with such interest to the meeting of the commission.

Among the officers mentioned as being in line for sergeant's stripes are Constables Malcolm McRae, George Tomblin, Louis McCaughy, Percy Laid, James Singleton and Walter Pope.

56TH DAY SINCE CIVIC COMMISSION LAST MET

Dakin Street Public School Problem Still Awaiting Consideration Of Civic Body.

Blazoned on the scrolls of civic history will stand this day, July 5, the 56th day since Mayor Cameron Wilson's newly-created civic commission met in regular session.

Time rolls on as it usually does, but seemingly the combined efforts of the school trustees to hasten legislation of vital importance are to be for naught.

Back on the 10th of May last, as city hall officials call it, the civic commissioners gathered at one of the popular dining emporiums and further consideration of the commission. In the meanwhile the school trustees contemplate adjourning all sessions until the fall.

EXPECT FINE CROP IN SASKATCHEWAN

Regina, Sask., July 5.—Telegrams received by the stationer of the department of agriculture report heavy rainstorms in many areas in Saskatchewan, and good crop prospects in the majority of the statistical districts.

The reports cover progress on the land for the past week, and so far the government has received no indication of hail loss from the northeast and eastern areas suffered in the storm of Saturday night.

LABOR COUNCIL TO ASK CENSURE OF ALDERMEN

Members Object to Condemnation of Adolescent School Act.

UPHOLD LEGISLATURE

Schools Board Has Not Arranged For Special Courses Under Act.

Upholding the Ontario Legislature in its evident determination, despite persistent criticism, to enforce in September next the new regulations of the Adolescent School Act, compelling all children to attend school until 16 years old, members of the London Trades and Labor Council in regular session at the Labor Temple Wednesday night will move that the city councillors be censured because of their recent condemnation of the enactment in question.

Upon the shoulders of the various industrial and other big employers of labor do these delegates to the Trades and Labor Council place the blame for any inferiority of Canadian school children that would compel them to remain at their studies longer than they may at present.

If the employers pay a "decent wage" as the labor leaders term it, the fathers of the children would be placed in a better position to keep their children at school, and not allow them to leave at an early age to work in shop or factory.

That the authorities either provincial or civic, should offer as added inducements, scholarships for high standings, of a substantial financial nature, that would enable more children of the working-class to attain a college training, is the firm contention of the delegates who will voice their opinion Wednesday, and the same will be submitted to the city council.

Not long since the latter endorsed the stand of the Chatham councillors who protested against the enforcement of the new regulations of the adolescent act, which elevates the age at which children may obtain working permits, from 14 to 16 years.

Complaints have already been voiced concerning the act by parents of those children, scores of whom will be affected in this city alone, who maintain that the return to school in September will be a source of considerable hardship to the families partially or wholly dependent upon their earnings. This will be particularly true, it is held, in the larger communities.

Nothing Accomplished.

Although the school trustees are faced with the problem of arranging for suitable accommodation for these special courses, as distinctly ordered by the provincial department of education, and the selection of instructors for the same, nothing has as yet been accomplished.

It was suggested several weeks ago that a special committee of the board be appointed to confer with the local employers and adolescents, with a view toward closer harmony upon the subject, and with the hope that the latter would be impressed with the seriousness of the situation from a standpoint of civic loyalty and be prepared to meet the trustees halfway by agreeing to make the best arrangements possible under the circumstances.

As the Toronto authorities insist that the pupils must attend day classes it is feared that the employers will not entertain any proposal to have their business routine constantly disrupted by employees arriving and departing at irregular intervals throughout the day in order to be at school on time.

Tells How She'd Reform Marital Laws

MRS. MARTHA MCCOLLUM.

LONDON, July 5.—You may not agree with Mrs. Martha McCollum, the English psychologist, who is attracting attention for her revolutionary ideas on marriage, but from this point, she has the floor.

Says she: "I see no reason why a woman should lose her identity when she marries. I believe she should keep her own name and go on with her career."

"The children should be allowed to choose whether they will be called for the father or the mother—they should take the name of the one they care most for."

"A woman's home is no longer within four walls. It is the whole country. She should be just as ashamed of a dirty spot in her city as she would be in her own home."

"It is just as much her duty to do civic housecleaning as home cleaning. That is what women will do when they realize to the fullest extent their political rights."

"All women should be looked upon as earners and not as dependents upon their husbands."

"Independence of the right sort will not make women less attractive and womanly, but will increase their charm. Intelligence is a greater beautifier than any beauty treatment ever invented."

Per Capita Assessment In City Around $1,000

INCREASE UNDER 5 MILLION.

ACCORDING to Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant, the total assessment for the city of London this year will not be increased more than five million dollars.

Mr. Grant bases his calculations on the fact that the increases in London recorded to date are $1,512,966 for Ward Three, and $613,181 for Ward Four, totalling approximately two millions, and he does not estimate that the combined assessment increases for Wards One and Two will total that of the first-named wards.

Aside from the fact that it is more than two million dollars exaggerated, Mr. Grant asserts that a statement published Tuesday on the probable total increase in city assessment is fairly accurate.

"I should be agreeably surprised if the total increase in assessment reached seven million dollars, as stated," said the assessment commissioner. "The Richter system was employed in Ward Three this year, and therefore it should show the greatest increase. I do not know where the increase will be, but I do not believe the total increase for the city will be more than five million dollars."

"In fact," continued Mr. Grant, "an estimated total increase of four million dollars would be fair."

To Be About $1,000. Per capita assessment for the city will be about $1,000 this year, according to information received at the assessment department, showing a slight increase over the assessment of $985.34, made in 1921 for 1922 taxes. Although the total assessment of the city has been boosted, it is pointed out that there will be no appreciable difference in the per capita assessment noted this year because increased population will absorb the assessment increase.

In 1920, the per capita assessment, according to Page 2, Column 2.

ASK INSERTION OF FAIR WAGE CLAUSE

Local Carpenters' Union Appeals to Provincial Minister of Labor.

Emphasizing their contention that the "fair wage" clause should be inserted in all provincial government contracts, members of the local Carpenters' Union, in general session at the Labor Temple Tuesday night, moved to appeal for action in this respect direct to the Hon. Walter Rolfe, Ontario's minister of labor.

The local workers are particularly interested in the agreements that will be made between contractors and workers to be engaged in the construction of the contemplated Western University buildings, just north of the city.

The situation was thoroughly considered at Tuesday's meeting, following which officials were directed to forward to the department of labor as a reminder, a copy of such legislation of this nature as was enacted, they say, as long since as 1900.

The "fair wage" clause for government contracts was the object of considerable attention by the provincial carpenters recently in convention here, and similar action was taken with respect to the Ontario government, while the federal administration was commended for having already taken satisfactory action.

REPORTS CREW LEAVING ORTHIA RAMMED IN FOG

Airdale Rescues Sailors of Ship in Collision in St. Lawrence.

Montreal, July 5.—The government signal service station here this morning received a report that the steamer Orthia, which was last night in collision with the steamer Airdale, 90 miles east of Quebec, had been abandoned by the crew.

After having the collision in the St. Lawrence river, 90 miles east of Quebec, the Donaldson freighter Orthia was anchored out of the channel and abandoned by her crew of 90 men. The Orthia, which was inward bound, was rammed during a fog by the freighter Airdale, belonging to C. A. Stewart & Co., of London, Ontario bound. The Orthia was picked up by the Airdale. The Orthia was in a very bad shape, but had a chance to keep afloat if the present calm weather conditions continued.

SAYS ANOTHER SCHOOL NEEDED IN NORTH SOON

Inspector Greer Explains That Ryerson Is Rapidly Filling.

TRUSTEES WANT ACTION

Urge Immediate Disposition of Dakin Street Problem.

From present indications life is going to be just one grand frolic for members of the board of education during the next year or two.

School officials explained Wednesday that the Dakin street public school issue is not the only problem that must be disposed of. While the school trustees admit the practical impossibility of any new school in the southeast section of the city this year they stress the need of immediate action, pointing out a warning just issued by Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer that the situation in North London is commencing to assume more serious proportions.

The Ryerson public school, Cheapside street, "fed" by a great portion of the city north of St. James street, is rapidly increasing in attendance, and the situation naturally, as in the other schools of the city, will be aggravated by the normal increase noted when the fall term opens September next.

"We will soon have to be looking for a suitable site for another school in the north end," Inspector Greer explained Wednesday. "Another year or so at the outside, as we can estimate now, will see the Ryerson school taxed to the limit."

Quietly but inevitably the northern section of the city is growing. More particularly has this been observed within the past two years by those who make it their business to keep abreast of the times in matters pertaining to real estate. The number of buildings undertaken, as well as the transfer of property in that district equals, if not better in proportion, other localities with the exception probably of East London.

As the trustees and officials observe that increased population naturally means increased school accommodation, they feel more than ever that earnest consideration should be given by the civic commissioners and city councillors to the request for debenture issues for building purposes.

The premises are owned by the Standard Hat Company. Building and contents will be a total loss.

At 1:20 p.m. the fire appeared to be under control, having been confined principally to the old Royal Theatre building.

This is one of the largest blocks in the city, it being about double the length and width of the usual city block. The firemen were hampered by being unable to get at the heart of the fire, except through narrow lanes, and through outlying buildings. On the King and Bay streets frontages are a number of important modern buildings, including head offices of the Bank of Toronto, and the Toronto Stock Exchange, which are equipped with fire walls. On York and Wellington are a number of wholesale and loft buildings. Even

REVISION COURT TO CUT BOOSTS IN WARD THREE

Personal Inspection Convinces Members Four Industrial Concerns Merit Reduction.

DEMAND JUST DECISIONS

Gorman, Eckert Company Attack $20,000 Increase As Menace to Industry.

Declaring that the Richter system of assessment is "too extravagant," members of the court of revision, who conducted an inspection of the Gorman, Eckert & Co., George H. Belton Lumber Company, London and Petrolia Barrel Works and the Columbia Handle and Lumber Company properties Tuesday afternoon, assessed at a total valuation of more than $200,000, have announced that their respective assessments will be reduced by them.

Each of the above named industrial concerns recently appealed the increased assessment of their land and buildings under the Richter system, and as a result of these appeals the court decided to conduct a personal inspection of the assessed properties, all of which are in Ward 3.

Gorman, Eckert & Company, which was assessed for $23,500, appealed on the ground that a $20,000 boost in assessment in one year is too great, and endangered the company's interests in competition with other firms in Canada, which are not called upon to bear such a burden.

The London and Petrolia Barrel Works appealed the assessment of $50,000, while George H. Belton protested that his assessment was increased from $8,000 in 1921, to $18,000 this year.

Although accused of being too lenient, members of the court of revision declare their mission is to treat all interests involved impartially, and are determined to maintain this stand. They are not prepared at the present time to announce the reductions on the above assessments, but state that these will be forthcoming in the near future.

"There will be a reduction on these properties," said T. W. Scandrett, a member of the court, to The Advertiser Wednesday morning. "Mr. Richter is a big man, but his scheme of assessment is too extravagant. Mr. Fetterly, chairman of the court of revision, whom I accompanied on the inspection Tuesday afternoon, agrees with me on this point."

"No, I committee of the city council thinks we are too lenient," continued Mr. Scandrett; "but we must be just in our decisions. The increases in assessment which were appealed are too great in our estimation, and we must make a reduction."

"To satisfy ourselves on this question, we visited every one of the factories which appealed, and inspected all land and buildings assessed. We took down sheets and sheets of figures, and will announce our decision tomorrow. The increase in assessment on these properties is too big."

Harry J. Bennett, real estate clerk of the assessment department, accompanied the members of the court on their tour of inspection Tuesday afternoon.

FIRE MENACES TORONTO BLOCK

Conflagration Destroys Old Royal Theatre Building, With Contents.

Believed Incendiary Started Blaze Causing $200,000 Loss.

Toronto, Ont., July 5.—Fire broke out at 12:45 to day in an old building in the center of the densely built-up business and factory block bounded by King, Bay and York streets.

Flames broke through the roof shortly afterwards. A general alarm was sounded.

The fire started in the old Royal Theatre building, now occupied as a hat and bedding factory. About 1 p.m. the roof fell in and the flames which had been subdued rose to quite a height. There was a strong south wind, and for a time considerable anxiety was felt in regard to surrounding buildings.

The premises are owned by the Standard Hat Company. Building and contents will be a total loss.

At 1:20 p.m. the fire appeared to be under control, having been confined principally to the old Royal Theatre building.

BRENNAN LOSES APPEAL, MUST SERVE SEVEN YEARS

Justice Riddell Decides One Point of Nine in Favor of Convicted Man.

Toronto, July 5.—Meyer Brennan, sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary in connection with the Nathan Brenner and Company, Ltd., and its affairs, has lost his appeal to the second divisional court, that tribunal sustaining his conviction in general on five out of six counts.

Of the nine questions submitted by the trial judge, Mr. Justice Riddell, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, and 8 are answered against Meyer. No. 6 is decided in his favor.

Meyer Brennan was convicted on each of six counts, and in respect of each was sentenced to the same term of imprisonment, the terms to run concurrently, said Mr. Justice Rose.

"The invalidity of conviction and sentence upon the sixth count, therefore does not help him."

Prince of Wales Receives Col. Barker and Wife

LONDON, England, July 5.—Canadian Press Cable.—The Prince of Wales today received Col. Barker, of Toronto, the noted Canadian airman, and his wife. His royal highness mentioned to Col. Barker that he had not flown since the colonel took him "rolling and diving" in war days.

Col. Barker won the Victoria Cross and many other honors in the war, and had a record second only to that of Col. Bishop of Toronto as an ace.

LONDON WOMEN TARDY AT CITY TRYSTING PLACES

The couples who meet between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to go to dinner, then the 8 o'clock theatre dates, and the 9 o'clock people, who go to dances and automobile rides.

Policemen in the course of a year see thousands of dates kept—and not a few broken. On rare occasions they have seen a man and woman who have been left waiting, sympathize with each other and depart together.

In the lobbies of London theatres, one will find many couples kept together. When these places are chosen as trysting places, it's a safe bet the couple intend to take in a "movie."

bashful couples will be found meeting on some side street, or in Victoria Park, away from the bright lights and the gaze of the curious public.

All dates that are made do not turn out happily, even when the parties meet. Often the officer on the beat gets an earful of domestic trouble, exploded by husband or wife, or catches a word or two of an argument generally involving a third party.

TWO URGES THROUGH CONCRETE ROAD

Westminster Township Council Wants Pavement From Talbotville To Lambeth.

Appoints Reeve Cousins As Delegate To Wait On Highways Minister.

Giving open and definite expression to their strong desire for a complete concrete provincial highway, stretching from St. Thomas to London through Lambeth, members of the Westminster Township Council in regular session at the Middlesex County buildings Tuesday passed without dissent a resolution that one of their number accompany delegates from other municipalities, who will wait upon Hon. F. C. Biggs, Ontario minister of public works, with this objective in view.

John C. Cousins, warden of the county and reeve of Westminster Township, who left for Toronto late Tuesday night to transact other business, was authorized by the councillors to represent the township should the occasion arise.

While the warden made every effort Tuesday afternoon to ascertain just who would represent the city of London he was unsuccessful, but it is fully anticipated that a city delegate will follow to the provincial capital with representatives of the other municipalities who would be affected by the new undertaking.

At the time of his departure the warden had not received a final message of assurance from J. Freeborn, M.L.A. for East Middlesex, as to a hearing with the department.

Approval Sought.
It is proposed by the councillors that the provincial highway authorities be asked to grant approval of a continuation of the concrete road now rapidly nearing completion from St. Thomas to Talbotville.

It is anticipated that this work will be satisfactorily completed within a few days at the least, and the councillors feel that now is the opportune time to make their appeal to Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of highways, for an extension of the undertaking from Talbotville to Lambeth, which would mean, if accomplished, an ideal paved road from London to St. Thomas.

There is a feeling uppermost in the township that the provincial authorities will view with certain favor their request if the same is forthcoming at this moment. At the present time a paved road is in existence from London to the southern limits of Lambeth village.

Outstanding among the several communications considered at the morning session was a request for hydro current from the residents of the Bass Line and the Wellington road. An application was referred to Mr. Laidlaw, first deputy reeve.

Petition from Edward Lindsay, relative to a proposal to change the school boundaries affecting S. S. No. 28, Yarmouth, No. 20 Westminster and No. 19 Southwold, was referred on motion of W. S. Laidlaw and William Boler to Harvey Davis with power.

Discuss Pond Mills Camp.
W. S. Laidlaw was empowered to deal with a communication from Major Lawless respecting camping on the road near Pond Mills.

The following members were in attendance at both morning and afternoon sessions: John S. Cousins, reeve; Walter S. Laidlaw, first deputy; William Boler, second deputy; James Johnston and Harvey Davis, councillors; John W. Laidlaw, treasurer; and George Riddle, clerk.

Tuesday's gathering marks an innovation in the part of the councillors, as meetings in the past have been held at Lambeth. The change was accomplished, they explain, by reason of their continued difficulty to secure suitable accommodation in that community.

DOUBTS APPOINTMENT OF MOTORCYCLE POLICEMEN
Dr. Stevenson, M.L.A., Believes Premier Drury Will Use Mounted Police.

Placing but little credence in the report that a special squad of motorcycle police will shortly be established for duty on the provincial highways, Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London, expressed the opinion Wednesday afternoon that Premier Drury had not yet means abandoned the proposal to institute a mounted police force, operative throughout the province.

As early as last fall the leader of the Ontario government announced that he had the formation of such a body in mind in order that the increasing number of bank and highway robberies would be more satisfactorily combated.

Dr. Stevenson places the origin for the latest report concerning a motorcycle force upon the shoulders of private members of the legislature rather than members of the cabinet or Attorney-General W. E. Raneys department.

SENDS FINAL DELORME DOCUMENTS TO QUEBEC
Crown Officer Notifies Provincial Attorney-General of Disposition of Case.

MONTREAL, July 4.—The last official document which finally removes the Delorme case from the sphere of the local court of king's bench has been forwarded by E. A. B. Ledoueur, joint officer of the crown and peace, to the attorney-general, Hon. L. A. Taschereau at Quebec, formally notifying him that Adelard Delorme, who was charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, has been committed to the prison of the Montreal district until the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor as to the final disposition of the case be known.

The place where Delorme will be interned will be taken up at Quebec within a few days. Those prominently connected with the case state that he will be confined in St. Jean de Dieu Asylum, and that the authorities are ready to receive him.

Stage Home Brew Making Contest For Women Only On Sports Day

SASKATOON, Sask., July 4.—A home brew making contest open to women only, is a novel feature planned for the sports day which is to be held at Biggar, Sask., tomorrow, July 5.

A special prize is to be offered for the best sample of home brew made by a woman, according to a poster advertising the sports day which has reached Saskatoon. Just how far the committee arranging the program will be allowed to go with the stunt, is somewhat obscured by technicalities.

Under the Saskatchewan temperance act, persons making home brew must have a permit from the liquor commission in order to make it legally. Therefore persons entering the contest might be able to get around this difficulty, but how about the judges? If they decide the issue by tasting they may precipitate an infraction of the Saskatchewan temperance act.

Woman Fatally Burned When Spirit Lamp Explodes

LIES IN HOSPITAL.

Toronto, July 5.—Mrs. Mary Temush, aged 39, wife of D. Temush, 251 University avenue, died in the General Hospital this morning as a result of being terribly burned about the face, shoulders, back and lower limbs when a spirit lamp exploded in her kitchen at 6:55 last night, setting her clothing on fire.

Mrs. Temush was taken to the General Hospital in Deputy Fire Chief McLean's motor car, and was on the operating table in less than five minutes.

Firemen and neighbors who hurried to the house following the explosion, pay a high tribute to the remarkable presence of mind and courage exhibited by Mrs. Margaret Ludlow, of University avenue, a next door neighbor of Mrs. Temush, who rushed to the kitchen and pushing aside several bystanders, wrapped the burning woman in a blanket.

Mrs. Kathleen Telocka, of 92 Markham street, who was visiting Mrs. Temush at the time of the explosion, received severe burns about the hands while trying to extinguish the flaming clothing of her friend.

Mr. Temush, husband of the injured woman, who was upstairs at the time of the explosion, was also burned while trying to take the burning clothing off his wife. The lamp was sitting on the floor of the kitchen with a can of methylated spirits nearby. After the lamp exploded the spirits in the can took fire, and an instant later Mrs. Temush was enveloped in flames.

BEGINS CHECK ON STREET RAILWAY

City Engineer Measures Tracks to Arrive at Proper Assessment.

Following instructions issued by the city council, on motion of Ald. L. H. Douglass, City Engineer H. A. Brazier is measuring up the tracks of the London street railway within the city with a view to checking up on the assessment.

Although the Toronto street railway is assessed $12,500 for "straightaway" track, and $31,250 per mile for curved and special tracks, such as crossovers, it is pointed out that the assessment of the London street railway is, and has been for 23 years, $5,000 a mile, with no special attention paid to curves.

City Engineer Brazier's staff, acting under his directions, will report separately on the number of miles of curved track and cross-overs, so that if a higher valuation is placed upon this type of track the figures will be available.

Roy W. Garratt, of the city engineer's staff, is in charge of the task of measuring the company's tracks. The report will be prepared on the measurements in time for the meeting of No. 1 committee of the city council next Wednesday night.

The assignment of measuring the tracks entails a 24-mile hike for those on the job.

ASSESSMENT PER CAPITA IS $1,000

for London was $914.44, while the per capita assessment made in 1919 for 1920 taxes was approximately $728. It is expected that the per capita assessment this year will be less than $100 greater than that of 1920.

The increase in per capita assessment is attributed to the Richter system of assessment, which has been applied throughout the entire city.

Per capita assessment of the city proper in 1921 was $1,159.37, and in 1920 was $986, so that the announced increase of $422, bringing the assessment to $1,159 this year, even if it were a fact, would not affect the per capita assessment for the city proper.

In the annexed district the per capita assessment was $315.69 in 1921 and $289.91 the year previous.

CUSTOMS RECORD MADE AT WINDSOR

WINDSOR, July 4.—Customs and excise collections for the part of Windsor for the month of June totaled $1,305,948.99, according to the monthly report issued today.

The amount is the largest collected in one month since the war, and is nearly three times the amount collected during January of this year.

form denounced the government for failure to meet the needs of the war veterans, particularly during the past winter. The marchers expect to be greatly augmented at Hamilton and Toronto, their first stops, and to be further strengthened as they approach the Dominion capital.

Previous announcements had been made by "General" Riley that 250 federal veterans had signed up for the trip.

William Britton, milkman, offered jobs at $35 a month and board to the six, but neither they nor any of the veterans present but not participating than usual, from a public plat-

SWIFT EXPLAINS PINE LAWN CASE

Declares He Will Stand by Assertion Regarding Taxation.

Alleges He Has Witnesses to Prove Cunliffe's Statements.

In a letter to The Advertiser, L. O. Swift, whose statements, made before the court of revision on behalf of residents of Pine Lawn, appealing against their assessment, have been disputed by J. W. Cunliffe and D. J. Tallant, members of the London Housing Commission, reiterates his charge that these civic officials promised that his taxes would be less than $20 per annum when he purchased a home from the city.

Does Not Withdraw.
Mr. Swift's letter follows in full: "I do not withdraw one single word of my statement made before the court of revision. I affirm that everything said by me is true in substance, and in fact, and I am prepared to demonstrate its truth at any time."

"I do not think that I said that Mr. Cunliffe and Mr. Tallant stated that my assessment would be $200, but if I did say that I had no intention of doing so. Aside from this I meant everything I said. The promise they made me was better than a $200 assessment, because twenty dollars taxes would mean an assessment of twelve or thirteen hundred dollars."

"But since assessment and taxes are almost synonymous terms, and are identical in substance, and since the computation of taxes cannot be arrived at without having regard to assessment, no useful purpose can be served by continued contention."

Bring Three Witnesses.
"Do I understand that Mr. Cunliffe and Mr. Tallant deny having promised me that my taxes would be more than $20, but would be about $17? If so, I am prepared to bring forward three witnesses before whom that promise was made. Mr. Cunliffe first made that promise to me in his own house, and again I have a witness to corroborate."

"Furthermore, I know that Mr. Cunliffe has been making similar promises with regard to taxes to various other Pine Lawn residents. To one gentleman and his wife a promise of about $22 was made, and they are ready to confront the commission manager with his statement. To another, about $35, and to another about $30."

"With regard to the $70 allowed me I may say that this amount has not up to the present been credited to my account, and that instead of as inferred from Mr. Cunliffe's suggestion that I am paying less than others, the fact is that I am paying slightly more. But, I was so desperately anxious to get into the house that although the agreement was signed on Feb. 1 I did not actually take possession until March 9."

Keys Were Fitted.
"Mr. Cunliffe denies receipt of my letter of May 24, which among other things asked for the support of the housing commission in my appeal against assessment. Keys, requested for the third time in this letter, were fitted the following day. The commission employee referred to by Mr. Cunliffe came some time prior to the date of this letter, but nothing resulted. Another matter mentioned therein was the subject of a communication to me from the solicitor to the commission a few days later. Remarkable coincidences were they not?"

"I leave your readers to form their own conclusions.
"The commission manager's insidious suggestion that I deliberately avoided meeting the provincial housing commission, or as his statement seems to imply, that I hid from him, and afterwards made an appearance, I entirely repudiate and treat with contempt his miserable innuendo."

"There was no one I had a stronger desire to meet than Mr. Williams. Why then did they not give me some intimation of his projected visit? Does Mr. Tallant believe, as it seems he would have us believe, that I took this house knowing full well its condition? Of course he does not."

Here I leave the matter for the moment, and beg to thank you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy. Yours faithfully, L. O. SWIFT, 137 Pine Lawn avenue.

FIND NO TRACE OF VETERAN
MISSING SINCE LAST WEEK
Police Elicit Little Information Regarding Whereabouts of William "Red" McAuliffe.

A week has now elapsed since William "Red" McAuliffe, returned veteran, left his boarding house at 264 Talbot street and failed to return. Members of the district provincial police squad reported Wednesday morning that their enquiries had elicited little information of a tangible nature.

On Friday last it has been learned the absent man visited the local offices of the D. S. C. R., but did not mention at the time any intention of leaving the city. His friends are not very much concerned by his long absence without explanation, particularly in view of the fact that he did not maintain his customary healthy attitude prior to departure.

A pension check from the government has arrived for McAuliffe since his disappearance.

Provides Breakfast For Birds On Richmond Street For Over 3 Years

Every day without fail for the past three years and four months, William Birrell, of this city, well-known to all who are familiar with the outstanding and picturesque characters of the place, has prepared a sumptuous banquet of variegated and crumbled foods for the battle-scarred sparrows of Richmond street.

Soon after the sun each morning has crept above the buildings on the east side of the street to warm the pavement below, Mr. Birrell empties a bag of morsels, deliciously tempting to the palates of all denizens of the feathered world, in the groove of a steel rail of the London street railway, just north of King street.

Touched by the many wheels that pass above it and unscattered by being in a wind-sheltered spot, the food attracts birds from every nook and cranny in the buildings on either side of the street. They gather in hundreds and fight and chirp and dodge cars until the last crumb has disappeared from the lowly table. It is a rare occasion that any other birds but the hardy English sparrow is seen about the board, however, for jealous of every feast the little warriors of every street do not hesitate to battle any intruder who does not wear the badge of their tribe.

Feeding of the birds has become the important task of Mr. Birrell's day, for having reached the golden age of 77 years, he has given up the work of the world to spend his time contemplating the happiness of his feathered friends as he sits and watches from his point of vantage in the Dominion Savings Building.

Rain or shine, Sunday and weekday he brings the food. Sometimes he forgets the bag, but rather than disappoint the expectant birds he trudges several blocks back to his hotel.

With only small insurance. The fire spread to the office and plant of Dr. G. W. Bell, veterinary surgeon, and the building and contents, including a considerable stock of medicines and supplies, were destroyed. Dr. Bell places his loss at around $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

Other damage was shreds of Oberndorfer's garage destroyed. Dr. Crowley's and H. Cook's dwellings, partly destroyed; Mrs. A. E. Carter's, Carl Bell's and A. Sutton's dwellings, badly damaged by fire and water; Wo. Kepp's laundry, completely destroyed; Powell's garage, badly damaged by water; the Massey-Harris local branch lost $500 in implements when a shed was destroyed. There were 30 cars in Oberndorfer's sheds and two in Powell's garage, but they were all saved. The roof of the First Congregational Church caught fire several times, but the flames were extinguished before serious damage was done.

RECALLS BULLOCK
EXTRADITION CASE
Governor Davis of Ohio Refuses Removal of H. Maxwell to Georgia.

New York, N. Y., July 5.—(Canadian Press).—A case which closely parallels that of Matthew Bullock, which caused international attention last March, is reported in dispatches received from Rome, Georgia, this morning. Governor Davis of Ohio, has refused to honor extradition papers from Georgia for Henry Maxwell, a negro, wanted in Floyd County, Ga., on charges of murder, declaring the negro would be lynched if brought back to Georgia. Sheriff Wilson, who went to Cleveland to bring back the fugitive, reported Governor Davis' action on his return to Rome this morning.

It will be recalled that Matthew Bullock, who was charged with attempted murder in connection with a riot in Norfolk, N. C., escaped to Canada. He claimed that he would be in danger of being lynched if he were returned to North Carolina, and the Canadian authorities upheld him in his fight against extradition. When the governor of North Carolina refused to send witnesses to Canada to testify in the case County Judge Snider of Hamilton, Ontario, dismissed the application for extradition and released Bullock. In the Maxwell case the situation is similar, though the controversy is between two states instead of being of an international character.

Maxwell is wanted in Rome on a charge of killing George Hubbard, the keeper at a manufacturing plant there in 1921. Edwards, foreman at the plant, and Balliff Wilkins, both of whom are said to have known Maxwell when he lived in Rome, accompanied Sheriff Wilson to Cleveland to identify the fugitive. According to Wilson, as reported in dispatches from Rome, Judge Levin, of the county court at Cleveland, ruled that the identification was sufficient, but counsel for Maxwell prevailed upon Governor Davis to decline the request for the negro's return.

ARRESTED AFTER ELOPING WITH HUSBAND'S BROTHER
Mrs. Harris Faces Trial At Newbury Wednesday Afternoon.

Deserting her husband and eloping with his brother, a London woman named Mrs. Harris, arrested at Newbury Tuesday afternoon on information furnished by Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society, is appearing for trial along with her would-be Romeo at Newbury Wednesday afternoon. The charge is that of making a home unfit for children by immoral conduct.

Mrs. Harris left London several months ago with her husband's brother, and also took two of her children with her. After a diligent search she was located with her friend, but as she resided in another county than Middlesex and the authorities did not take any action, no arrests were made.

Recently Inspector Kelly learned that the couple had taken up quarters at Newbury, and on Tuesday he motored to that village, where they were arrested on the above charge. Inspector Kelly, who will prosecute the two prisoners, both of whom are colored, will ask that the children be given to the Children's Aid Society, and that the court name him as their official guardian.

FIRE MENACES

on the main streets the block is faced with many old "quick burning" buildings, and in the center of the block a number of ancient frame buildings are crowded together.

In 1885 the Royal Theatre was partially destroyed by fire, the walls only being left standing. The present owner is Mrs. J. H. Herman, of this city.

The Ives Bedding Company of Cornwall and the Standard Hat Company of Toronto, were the principal losers on contents.

Four girls employed in the office of the Bedding Company reached the street by fire escapes.

The cause of the fire is unknown to the police or firemen, but it is said that a man was seen during the morning acting rather suspiciously in the vicinity of the ruined building.

The total damage is estimated at about $200,000.

KINGSTON SHOPS RAZED.
Kingston, July 5.—Fire Starting about 4:30 this morning in Finkle's livery on Clarence street caused damage amounting to thousands of dollars. The livery was completely destroyed, and eleven of the twelve horses were burned to death. Most of the equipment was also consumed. Mr. Finkle places his loss at $10,000.

HALT PARLEY ON RAIL TROUBLES

Canadian Railways Association and Telegraphers' Representatives Stop Negotiations.

Union Leaders Declare Deadlock Exists Between Companies and Delegates.

All negotiations in Montreal between the Canadian Railways Association, representing the various railroad corporations of the Dominion and delegates for the Grand Trunk telegraph operators have been indefinitely halted, it was explained Wednesday by local union officials. Just when another conference will be held is considered somewhat problematical at this moment by the workers, who explain that while their committee visited Montreal some time ago, they returned again to their local after a period of a week or ten days, during which but little or nothing was accomplished.

A state of deadlock exists, the union leaders assert, between the railroad representatives and the delegates for those telegraphers employed by the Canadian Pacific Railroad and at the present time neither of the two parties appear likely to weaken in their stand.

In the meanwhile it is pointed out negotiations involving the operators on the Grand Trunk and other railroads through the Dominion are left in abeyance.

It is the frank opinion of the local Grand Trunk men that it may be weeks yet before any arbitration of a definite nature is attempted, and even then they believe, it will be eventually necessary for them to appeal for a federal board of conciliation, to be appointed, as is customary, by the minister of labor.

The indications locally are, however, that the telegraphers will fight every move to change their present scale of wages and working conditions, involving as it would the loss of time-and-one-half for Sundays and holidays.

CHELSEA GREEN CHURCH

Reports W. Guy, Hamilton
Road, Is Missing

LEAVING his home at 85 Hamilton road Friday last, William A. Guy, a painter by occupation, has not since returned.

Seeking the aid of The Advertiser Wednesday morning his eldest son explained that Guy left home in a similar manner Jan. 25 last, and did not return for nearly three weeks.

The departed father leaves behind three children, two of them unable to care for themselves, and they are naturally extremely anxious to obtain news of him.

They do not believe, however, that foul play has overtaken him.

Men with some experience are able to command $35 to $40 a month, with board. The demand is for men able to handle horses and work in fields.

NEW YORK CENTRAL FLYER
DERAILED NEAR ALBANY

About 100 Passengers Shaken Up, Some of Them Suffering Bruises.

ALBANY, July 4.—About one hundred passengers were shaken up some of them suffering bruises, when the New York-Montreal Express, northbound on the New York Central, was derailed near Childwold at 5:30 this morning. Six of the twelve cars left the tracks, turning over on their sides. The two locomotives hauling the train dragged the cars several hundred feet before they too left the tracks.

Relief trains rushed to the scene from Saranac Lake and brought back the passengers. Traffic over the Adirondack division was completely tied up by the derailment. Passengers from north and southbound trains were forwarded from the scene of the accident to Saranac Lake and Lake Pleasant respectively, by automobile buses.

Officials in the New York Central offices here were investigating the cause of the accident tonight. Traffic, it was estimated, would be resumed tomorrow morning.

HEALTH OFFICER'S RAISE IS MET WITH APPROVAL

Dr. Downham Is One of But Four London Doctors Holding Diploma of Public Health.

No complaints or criticism have been heard throughout the city on the action of the city council in raising the salary of the medical officer of health from $2,500 to $5,000 per year.

Ald. L. H. Douglass, who sponsored Dr. Downham's increased stipend points out that the medical officer of health is one of four doctors only in London who hold the diploma of public health.

"There are only four doctors in London who hold this diploma," said Ald. Douglass, "and Dr. Downham is one of them. Two other doctors out of London and west of Toronto have this degree. Dr. Downham is therefore specially qualified as medical officer of health, and his increase in salary is warranted."

Fruit Dealers Promise Magistrate
To Protect Produce From Flies

When Harry Goldberg, S. Badalato and A. Hassan, fruit dealers, promised to cover their produce which is offered for sale, and which was exposed to flies and dirt on shelves on the street in front of their stores, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, in police court Wednesday morning, decided not to impose a penalty in the cases brought against the merchants by board of health officials.

Richard Sanders, health inspector, and Dr. W. S. Downham, medical health officer, testified they found fruit exposed in front of the stores. They stated a notice had been sent to fruit store proprietors to cover their goods, and that of all who had been notified, the three men charged were the only ones who did not comply with the requirements of the act.

According to Dr. H. W. Hill, director of the Public Health Institute, disease might be spread by leaving fruit exposed to dust and flies. He thought the most danger came from flies, and thought that if the goods were covered with netting the officials would be satisfied. He could understand the merchants' objection to covering the fruit with glass, as this would make the fruit deteriorate rapidly.

PLAN NEW CITADEL
FOR LONDON SOUTH

Salvation Army To Raise Funds by Sale Thursday.

London South will be graced by a new and larger Salvation Army Citadel, which will be constructed to replace the present building known as Citadel No. 2, at Edward street and Tecumseh avenue.

The present citadel is entirely inadequate to house the ever-increasing number of people who attend the Army services, while the construction of the building, which is built of concrete blocks, has proven unsatisfactory.

Plans are underway to raise the present structure to eliminate the danger of dampness arising from the low ground, to tear out the concrete walls and rebuild them with brick and to enlarge the building considerably.

While the style of building to be constructed has not been definitely decided, it is believed that a building similar to the beautiful citadel recently built on Rectory street near Dundas street, will be erected.

Some trouble has been experienced from dampness and from flooding in the past, as the ground is quite low in the district. In the July flood of last year people were forced to leave the building by windows when the waters rose above the level of the floor.

Efforts to raise money for the new structure will be made at a sale to be held at No. 2 Citadel Thursday afternoon and night. The sale will be opened by Mrs. A. E. Miller, assisted by Mrs. Jarvis. A call has been sent out to the public to assist in raising funds by patronizing the sale.

ASSAIL PINE LAWN
HOUSES AS AWFUL

Members of Court of Revision To Reduce Assessments for Eight Ratepayers.

Characterizing several houses erected on Pine Lawn by the London Housing Commission as "in a disgraceful condition," T. W. Scandrett, a member of the court of revision, informed The Advertiser Wednesday that the assessment on these houses will be reduced.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the court of revision inspected several dwellings on Pine Lawn, surveying the houses on the Housing Commission to citizens who have appealed their assessment.

The court carefully investigated all complaints as to alleged defects of the house, and the summary of their inspection is included in Mr. Scandrett's statement.

"These houses are in a disgraceful condition," said Mr. Scandrett. "It is a shame. The shingles on some of the roofs are as thin as wafers. I do not want to get into a controversy with the housing commission, or anyone else, but that is what the court of revision found."

"We took down many items at Pine Lawn and these houses are awful. They certainly are not worth what they were assessed at, and no wonder the owners appealed. There will be a reduction in their assessment, although how much I cannot say."

Approximately eight ratepayers of Pine Lawn will benefit by this reduction in assessment. Prior to deciding to personally inspect these houses, one appellant against increased assessment had his case dismissed and assessment confirmed. It is likely that the court will reopen his appeal and grant him the same concessions as his neighbors.

P. B. Petterly, chairman of the court of revision, was also present at the inspection of Pine Lawn dwellings.

BOMB DAMAGES
GERMAN BUILDING

BERLIN, July 4.—A bomb thrown into the courtyard of the Trade Union Building in Mannheim yesterday evening injured a number of persons and considerably damaged the building.

Latest reports from the London Jungle state that the Lion Club have decided to make arrangements for the big gala night of the summer season, Thursday, July 6, when the clubs of the Forest City will fetter their lioness friends at Port Stanley.

A special car, that the younger cubs say will resound with roars for the entire journey to the lakeside, is scheduled to leave the L. & P. S. depot at 5:20 p.m. The "klegles" of the club are not positive yet whether one car will be sufficient and an extra coach will be pressed into service if the pack of lions and lionesses is an extra large one.

The first event on the night's program is a banquet, to be held in the Cafeteria. The evening's entertainment, club officials say, will be one of the most novel and interesting seen this season at the port, but all plans are being jealously guarded until Thursday night, and nothing would be given out for publication.

Arrangements have been made with the McLaughlin garage, whereby the Lions' automobiles will be cared for until their return from Port Stanley. This "Ladies' Night" will conclude the meetings for the summer season, and on account of this fact the officers of the club are anxious that every lion attend with his lioness.

It was suggested at the last meeting, June 20, that a picnic be held within the next two months, and the matter will probably be discussed Thursday night.

CLAIMS FLOORING
IN GOOD CONDITION

School Architect Declares Work at Collegiate Does Not Require Relaying.

Contrary to the reports and rumors current earlier in the year, there is nothing radically wrong with the floors in the Central Collegiate Institute as laid by the Kingston Construction Company.

As a natural sequence, the work will not have to be undertaken again, according to L. E. Carrothers, school architect, who expressed the opinion Wednesday that but little will have to be accomplished now by the contractors before their contract officially expires at the end of the week.

Early in the year a veritable storm of protest was raised by certain members of the board of education, who complained that the collegiate construction had been faulty in many respects, more particularly the floors, and it was charged that the same would have to be removed and laid anew.

In order that the company would be held securely to the agreement, the trustees withheld the sum of $15,000 to be paid only when all possible defects had been remedied. The contractors at the time expressed themselves favorably to this arrangement.

Now it would appear that the major portion of the criticism directed at the school and the builders has been more or less without foundation.

ALL SAINTS SUNDAY SCHOOL
PICNICS AT PORT STANLEY

Church Organization Spends Delightful Outing By Water Of Lake Erie.

What was declared to be the largest and merriest picnic in years was held by the members of the All Saints Sunday school at Port Stanley Tuesday when some 300 members, parents and friends, journeyed to the lakeside for the annual outing.

The party left London on a special train at 9:20 a.m. and on arrival at the lakeside, bathing suits were donned and the remainder of the morning spent in frolicking in the waters of Lake Erie.

A new system was inaugurated by the picnic committee this year whereby the Sunday school paid all the expenses of the picnic instead of having the customary races and games. The majority of the young people seemed more inclined to wander around and enjoy the beauties of the Port, instead of spending some hours watching races.

The outing was in charge of the superintendent of the Sunday school, Mr. John, who, with the teachers and officers, was responsible for this year's picnic being the most successful picnic ever held.

After lunch the picnicers were left to do as they wished, but all resembled again on Inverness Heights for supper where an ample repast had been prepared by the young ladies of the Sunday school.

Members of the Bible classes, who held their picnic two weeks ago, and who were unable to come down during the day, joined the party at supper.

MESSAGE OF SYMPATHY
SENT TO LADY WILSON

Members Of Pro Patria Loyal Orange Lodge Laud Work Of Plain Field Marshal.

Members of Pro Patria, Loyal Orange Lodge, in session Tuesday night drafted a message of sympathy which will be forwarded to the widow of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, a adviser to Sir James Craig, who was shot down by assassins in front of his London, England residence recently.

The members present lauded the good work of Field Marshal Wilson, both as a soldier and as a statesman, and decided unanimously to unite with his bereaved family in deploring his death.

The message which was cabled overseas Wednesday is as follows: "Pro Patria, Loyal Orange Lodge extends deepest sympathy in your great bereavement. Lo, 'O' Canadians denounce the cowardly assassins of a noble soldier."

The cablegram was addressed to Lady Wilson, Eaton Palace, London, England.

RECEIVES DELAYED ADVICE ON VICTORIA HIGH SCHOOL

Trustees To Discuss South London Project at Special Meeting Thursday.

As a voice from the tomb itself comes information from the department of education, Toronto, relative to the South London high school, as proposed by Trustee A. E. Silve, chairman of No. 3 committee of the board of education.

While the board decided that the old Victoria public school should be converted into a branch collegiate for temporary use, the department for several weeks past has delayed approval of the same.

Just whether the school will now be established as contemplated will be decided once and for all, it is expected, at a special meeting of the committee called by the chairman for Thursday next.

SEES DANGER IN SCHOOL SITUATION

Trustee Bice Favors Move to Gain Additional Accommodation.

"This should have been started three months ago. There has been too much delay altogether. Trustee (Rev.) A. A. Bice, chairman of No. 2 committee of the board of education, Wednesday, summed up the local educational situation involving additional class-room accommodation.

Touching upon the fact that the newly-created civic commission has not met during the past two months, the chairman pointed out as the board's great and rather important handicap, the fact that there is no money available to remedy the situation either in the southeastern or other sections of the community.

"What will happen will be this," he warned gravely, "next fall will witness many of our pupils without a place to go to school. What will happen then? As we can estimate it will need another 16 rooms quite easily."

Completing a survey of the districts affecting the Chesley avenue and Ealing public schools, Trustee Bice reports that while in company with Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer, he visited a certain Hamilton road church, with a view toward the rental of the Sunday school as temporary accommodation, he has since learned that this will be impossible, as the building, he was informed on Tuesday, is to be shortly razed to the ground.

A report is expected, however, respecting a private dwelling noted on Egerton street, which might be adapted for the purpose.

A meeting of No. 2 committee will be held the latter part of this week in all probability.

BOYS' CAMP AT FISHER'S
GLEN NOW IN FULL SWING

Y. M. C. A. Expects That 70 Local Boys Will Be Enrolled Before July 17.

More than 100 applications from boys all over Western Ontario for the Y. M. C. A. Junior Boys' Camp to be held at Fisher's Glen from July 17 to 24, have already been received by Wilfred Spearman, assistant boys' secretary of the London Y. Y. who has been appointed secretary of the camp this year.

Up till Wednesday morning, Mr. Spearman stated that 47 lads from London had sent in their applications for the two weeks' camp, and that before July 17 he expected that more than 70 boys from this city will be enrolled.

The first camp to be held at Fisher's Glen this year is the Leadership Training Camp, which opened July 3. In a letter this morning to Mr. Spearman, Lloyd Houlding, camp secretary, said that the camp program was now in full swing, and that the senior boys were enjoying themselves immensely.

The Least Loss.

THE MOVE to tie up 27 of the smaller vessels in the Canadian fleet may come as somewhat of a shock to some ratepayers. It is the most economical way to deal with them. It would be a good day's business were some one to appear as a purchaser for the lot, but buyers are apt to be few and far between.

United States has a harvest of these boats that could be disposed of with shouts of joy from United States.

Only a few short months ago very level-headed citizens of United States were urging that these war-time boats be taken out to sea and sunk.

No hope was held out of selling or operating them.

The people's money is at stake, and the best way out is the way with the least loss, seeing that profit is, and always has been, out of the question.

Then and Now.

THE YOUNG man of today wants to get a book, and all he has to do is go to the public library and get it, after satisfying the keepers there that he is a reliable person.

What a difference to the days of our forefathers in this same country. Reading an account of the first library in Ennville, Wellington County, makes a great contrast. Then the sturdy pioneers, having brewed out homes for themselves, realized the need for more and better reading, and decided that by a "subscription library" this end could be met, and so, wanting a library, they went to work and provided one.

Books were eagerly read then because there were not so many other things to take up the time and attention of the people. The people who were putting up their own money to buy books naturally bought worthwhile literature. They were reading for information and not to kill time.

The desire to read deeply and wisely has not grown apathetic with the increased ease with which books of any kind can be secured.

Real Democracy.

THE New York State Educational Building is one of the most imposing buildings in America. Its scope includes all education. "The university regularly inspects the educational institutions within its jurisdiction, licenses teachers, sets up uniform standards for the public schools, maintains the state library, the state museum and the state library school, and apportions to the schools the appropriations annually made by the Legislature."

The cost of the building, including the site, was approximately $5,000,000. It is of classic design, a colonnade of thirty-six Corinthian columns extending along the entire front, made of white Vermont marble—the finest colonnade in America.

It is across the street from the state capital. The exhibits (Indian) and the splendid law and legislative libraries are very large and complete. These inscriptions are in the rotunda:

"Here shall be gathered the best books of all lands and all ages."

"This library aims to uplift the state and serve every citizen."

"A system of free common schools wherein all the children of the state may be educated."

The mural paintings are in the best style of the art.

This building might be called the corner-stone of American democracy. The building itself solid, permanent and everlasting, and within its walls it seeks to uplift and serve every citizen, and its chief glory is that it establishes "a system of free common schools wherein all the children of the state may be educated."

It is a building that means much, and is well worth visiting as an education. The effect produced by such a visit gives hope of the greater future of education. It shows how in the best direction America is improving and expanding.

Canada is doing its part well in the matter of education, but it is an inspiration to greater effort to visit so great a building as this, and within its walls see the evidences on every hand of a greater civilization than has been, and one that opens up to every child the surest and best road to a really successful life.

Spreading News.

BERLIN conditions do not improve, and the attack on Maximilian Harden, the noted Jewish journalist of Germany, is proof positive of this.

Newspapers have not been published for some days, accounting for all sorts of rumors, one writer stating that reactionary forces, according to report, are gathering at Potsdam, ready for an invasion of Berlin.

When the newspapers are not published, the dear general public make their own news, and they generally make it pretty thick and quite sensational.

Newspapers may not be right every time, but it is a fact that when they are absent entirely, there is ten times the amount of rumor and consequent suspense.

THEN AND NOW—IT NEVER LOOKS THE SAME.

When somebody else tells somebody else, the news is always ten times more unreliable and more glaringly exaggerated than when coming through ordinary newspaper channels, with all their faults and defects.

B. C. Bush Fire.

ACCORDING to reports, a little town called Bevan, on Vancouver Island, has been wiped out by bush fires.

Easterlies have very little idea of the bush fire of the west, once it gets going. British Columbia has suffered severely on account of bush fires.

During the summer there seems to be more wind than in the winter in many of the mountain sections. Smoke hangs over the hills for days, making them invisible, and in the interval all sorts of wild and strange rumors get in circulation, announcing that the fire is only two or three miles from the town and coming on rapidly. It is trying, to the point of nervous exhaustion, especially in families where there are children, to live in such a state of mind day after day, not knowing when the word will come to get out, and not certain of the direction to take when the word does come.

Then, too, what a price the timber of the province has paid because the bush fire has been an annual visitor. One can go for miles down through the Crow's Nest country, and up and down the various passages that lead in and out, and see the work of the fire fiend in the foothills. There they stand, thousands of trees, black, rotted, the life burned out of them, object lessons of waste and destruction.

British Columbia has a big bill against the bush fire and is still busy piling it higher still.

Good Reading.

A STORY is running in a Canadian newspaper on "How To Keep House On $1,500 a Year."

Very interesting and should be read by all who are making over that per annum.

To those who are making $1,500 and getting past, the reading would be waste time.

The real story for a lot of people of all sizes and sorts of incomes, would be "How To Keep House When There's Nothing Coming In."

Families with good incomes might be a whole heap more sweet, wholesome and contented were they to get a chance to read such a story.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is FILIBUSTER.

It's pronounced—fil-i-bus-ter, with accent on the first, and again, more strongly, on the second syllable.

Originally it was applied to the buccanniers who, in early days, infested the Spanish-American coast. Later it was used to describe participants in hostile expeditions into countries with which the own country was at peace. It still has this meaning. In general, it signifies "an irregular, irresponsible military adventurer; a member of a predatory band." From this last meaning it has been twisted to apply to members of a legislative body who, though in a minority, undertake to prevent or obstruct majority action, by dilatory tactics.

It comes from—Dutch, "vrij," free, and "buut," booty, combined in the words "vrijbuiter," freebooter.

"AN ODE FOR THE CANADIAN CONFEDERACY."

Q.—Who wrote "An Ode for the Canadian Confederacy?"

A.—Charles G. D. Roberts, the Canadian poet, wrote "An Ode for the Canadian Confederacy," a verse of which runs:

Awake, my country, the hour of dreams is done!
Doubt not, nor dread the greatness of thy fate,
Thou' faint souls fear the keen, confronting sun.

And fain would bid the morn of splendor wait;
Thou' dreamers, rapt in starry visions,
Lo, yon, thy future, yon thy faith, thy face,

And stretch vain hands to stars, thy fame is night."
Here in Canadian hearth, and home, and name:—

This name which yet shall grow
Till all the nations know
Us for a patriot people, heart and hand,

Loyal to our native earth—our own Canadian land!

CANADA'S ANTI-SLAVERY LAW.
Q.—It is claimed that the first anti-slavery law in the British Empire was passed in one of the Canadian provinces. Is that true? and when?

A.—The Province of Upper Canada, now Ontario, passed the first anti-slavery law under the British flag during the first legislature convened by Governor Simcoe in 1792, at New-ark (Niagara).

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 258—SELECTING A RESPONSIVE.

In filling some kinds of business positions the quality of responsiveness in the individual is a drawback. In others it is an asset. A person of the responsive type, for instance, unless he possessed some other unusual qualifications, would be a bad representative to send out to collect a bill from a client "beat."

On the other hand, the responsive person often makes the best private secretary or special assistant to the executive head of a business, having that ability to follow quickly the thought of his chief, parallel his mental processes, with his own, anticipate his wants and desires, and take the initiative in certain matters in just the way that he would.

How would you pick a responsive person, if for some reason it were impossible for you to have actual experience and demonstration of the degree in which the individual possesses this quality?

Theoretically, the perfect responsive person would have light hair and eyes, a convex profile, a head that is widest above the temples and narrows at the chin, skin and hair that are of fine texture, and flesh that is soft or elastic, preferably the latter. Responsiveness is an element indicated more or less by all of these characteristics.

Of course, when it comes down to the practical problem of selection, you will find in the first place, that very few people have this entire combination of physical characteristics, and in the second, that there will be other abilities on which you want to base your selection in addition to responsiveness, if nothing more than degree of general intelligence. So you have to apply the rule with more or less elasticity, and allow for partial exceptions.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

JULY 5, 1897.

Methodists of Ilderton celebrated the 50th anniversary of their church July 1 on the lawn at William Charlton's. Rev. James Kennedy, Rev. William Quance and Rev. C. Bartrop, all former pastors of the church, spoke. Addresses were also given by Rev. H. J. Fair and Rev. A. Rhodes.

Sunday Rev. W. G. Ford conducted his first services in his new charge at the Centennial Methodist Church. Despite the intense heat the congregation was large.

The mercury yesterday nearly bumped its head against the roof of the thermometer. As early as 7:30 in the morning it registered 78 degrees, and by afternoon had climbed to 94½, the hottest in years. At the Grand Trunk Station the heat was 105 degrees in the shade.

The BOOKSHELF

THE HERETIC: A Study of Temperament. By J. Mills Whitham. The Macmillan Company, Publishers, New York and Toronto. $2.

WHILE this book is the "study in temperament" that its subtitle so carefully announces, it is also much more than that. For it shows the temperament whose development it has depicted in contact with its environment, reacting against the influence of other characters, in conflict with the world.

And so it becomes a novel rather than the "study" its author too modestly names it. But he has meant it to be a study of—and it is a novel about—the rebellious temperament, the temperament that refuses to accept at their face value the standards and the shibboleths of conventional society, that insists on living its own life according to its own sense of essential values.

Its "heretic" hero is a heretic on the subject of surgery, but he might just as well have been a heretic on the subject of anything else, from religion to clothes.

Says the author succinctly in a prefatory letter to the friend to whom the novel is dedicated: "Had Raymond Verne been a painter contending against the archaic traditions of an academy, or a writer defying the pundits of his generation, or a statesman expressing convictions in the face of party prejudice, the essence of my novel would not differ in spirit, I hope, from that quality whereby work stands or falls in the category of art."

In such a struggle there is always dramatic interest, but in this novel the reader will find many other attractions, especially if he likes his novels to afford intellectual interest, to suggest as he reads a random thought here, a bit of speculation there, a freely felt emotion on another page, the impulse to stop and think over a sentence elsewhere.

One finds in The Heretic a keen searching of the human soul, much probing after the deepest motives of conduct, and also love and understanding of the wide silences of the moor, ability to describe them impressively and appreciation of their influence upon those who live with them. But the most notable feature of the novel is its portrayal of character. Its important personages stand out as clear, definite and detailed as an etching.

Because of the intense heat at the camp at Carling Heights seven out of the fifteen men mounted for last night's guard fell out. Pte. Green of the 29th Battalion, Pte. James Wemman of the same company, and Pte. McLellan of No. 7 Company, suffered sunstrokes. The temperature at 7 o'clock in the evening was 92 degrees.

Another robbery was committed on Saturday afternoon at the house of J. W. Parkinson, lot 1, con. B, on the Gore road. Mrs. Parkinson left the house about 4 o'clock to call on a friend. When she returned the house had been ransacked and much jewelry and other articles were stolen. The robbery is supposed to have been committed by a tramp.

DEFINES PLACE SABBATH PACT HAS IN CANADA

Dominion Order-in-Council
Deals With Weekly Rest
Clause of Geneva Labor
Convention.

AGRICULTURE COVERED

Declares Matter Quite Within Competence of Federal Parliament in Co-operation
With Provinces.

OTTAWA, July 4.—(By Canadian Press).—"So far as Canada is concerned the draft convention and recommendation look to securing the 24-hour rest period on the Lord's Day, which is customarily and by law required to be observed throughout the Dominion as a day of rest."

This is a declaration regarding the intent of the agreements reached at the Geneva labor conference under the League of Nations on Sabbath observance, which is made in a Dominion order-in-council issued today to define the respective responsibilities of the Dominion and the provinces in regard to these agreements. The order-in-council adds that this matter is wholly within the competence of the Dominion Parliament.

The order-in-council describes the draft convention and recommendation on the subject as having the object of "securing to persons employed in industrial undertakings, as defined, and in commercial establishments, public or private, in every period of seven days, a period of rest comprising at least 24 consecutive hours, to be fixed so as to coincide with the days already established by the traditions or customs of the country or district."

Covers Agriculture.

After stating that there are "qualifying provisions in the draft treaty the order-in-council then gives the interpretation of the agreement as cited above.

The draft convention with which the order-in-council deals covers a number of other subjects in addition to Sabbath observance, and deal in some detail with working conditions in agriculture. These conventions and recommendations are the result of the conference at Geneva last fall.

The first subject dealt with in the order-in-council is unemployment, and the law officers of the crown suggest that this may be dealt with by co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces, through the existing employment offices and otherwise. The Dominion will deal with Dominion lands, but generally the field is regarded as proper for provincial rather than federal action.

Let Legislature Act.

Regulation of conditions for the work of women and children on the farm are described as subject to concurrent jurisdiction, but it is added that "they touch subjects of a character proper to be dealt with by the Legislatures alone."

Technical education, living conditions, unions, workmen's compensation and social insurance are stated to be with certain exceptions "strictly within the sphere of provincial legislative authority."

"Agricultural workers," says the order-in-council, "so far as existing Dominion legislation is concerned, would seem to have the same rights of association and combination as other workers. These rights are subject to a limitation or restriction only at the point where their exercise involves a contravention of the provisions of the criminal code. Probably these rights of association and combination do not extend to agricultural workers in the service of the crown as represented by the Dominion."

BRITISHER WANTS MONACO'S THRONE

LONDON, July 4.—Armed with a pedigree dating back 800 years, George Frederick Grimaldi, an Englishman, formerly a Monte salesman at Smithfield, is now at Monte Carlo prosecuting his claim to the throne of Monaco.

Grimaldi disputes the claim of Prince Louis, the son of Albert, Prince of Monaco, who died in Paris recently, to succeed to his father's throne.

Citing the Golden Book of Genoa, British heraldry records, and various medieval documents, Grimaldi claims to be the eleventh Marquis of Grimaldi, from the lineage of Genoa, from which the rulers of the little principality of Monaco came.

The thugs were not armed, but threatened to attack McDougall when he balked at the demand to hand over his money.

WANT ST. THOMAS- AYLMER HIGHWAY

Deputation of Officials Goes
To Toronto To Interview
Hon. F. C. Biggs.

Special to London Advertiser.

ST. THOMAS, July 4.—The importance of the highway between St. Thomas and Aylmer and the advisability of improving the roadway this year, will be pointed out by a deputation of officials from the city and county who are in Toronto to interview Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public highways.

As an artery for travel, the Talbot road is generally considered one of the most important in this part of the province, and it is hoped to interest the department in having it paved this fall.

An impetus has been given to the proposal by the report that efforts are being made to have the roadwork on the London and St. Thomas highway, which is being carried to Talbotville, continued to Lambeth this year to meet the concrete constructed last year. The members of the deputation feel that if further work is to be done this year in this locality, the Talbot road should receive attention.

The deputation consists of Mayor Raven, Aids, Curtis and Middleton, City Engineer Miller, Mayor Miller of Aylmer and Warden McTaggart of Malahide township.

Pier Into Waters of Erie.

KINGSVILLE, July 4.—Mrs. T. J. Salmoni, wife of Mayor Salmoni of Kingsville, met a tragic death here yesterday by drowning. She was walking on the pier which runs out into Lake Erie when she slipped and fell into the water. The body was recovered from the harbor some hours later.

Mrs. Salmoni, as was her custom, had risen early and gone for a walk. Men fishing had noticed her walking out the pier and one of them, on looking around shortly after, noticed that she had disappeared but, thinking that she had passed him on her way back without him, noticed thought nothing more of it until he learned that Mrs. Salmoni was missing. It was then that Mayor Salmoni was notified. Going down to the pier, he saw his wife's hat floating on the water. Men with drags immediately set to work and found the body a short distance from where Mrs. Salmoni had last been seen.

Dr. Jenner, coroner, was notified, but declared that he did not think an inquest necessary.

Mrs. Salmoni was highly respected here, being a devoted church and social worker. She was also an excellent public speaker and took the platform on many occasions throughout the county.

She is survived by her husband, two sons and two daughters. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

MARINE FIREMEN TAKE STRIKE VOTE

BUFFALO, July 4.—Thomas Conway, secretary of the Marine Firemen's Union, today sent a letter to President Livingston of the Lake Carriers' Association outlining demands, and threatening to call out 12,000 to 13,000 men if they were not granted.

The wage demand is not specific, merely calling for "an increase sufficient to allow the men to live like other workmen." The union also asks for collective bargaining and the right of union representatives to visit members on board ship.

The pay of the men, Secretary Conway said in his letter, now ranges from 14 cents to 33 1/3 cents an hour. The strike vote will not be completed for a week, but the poll here shows more than 90 per cent of the union members in favor of a walkout. Secretary Conway said today.

Punting, Swimming, Seeing Zoo Add Zip To Life At Girls' Camp

Little W. C. T. U. Guests Own View of Park, Revel in Picking Flowers and Life Out-Doors—Home-sickness Attacks Susceptible Early in Holiday, Scrapbook-Making Proves Effectual Cure.

"Punting on the Thames" has been added to London's genteel delights for the favored, thanks to the annual W. C. T. U. camp, which is once more a full swing down at Springbank, across the river from the pump house.

Two smiling-faced little girls were waiting to ferry across the visitors from the press who made their appearance on the car-side bank on Tuesday afternoon. Nobody would go to the punt landing unless with the intention of crossing over. At least, that is the common view placed on conduct by the young punters in their best bibs and tuckers, the plump, jolly one in the light blue frock, the darker, more slender one, director of operations, in the very grand deeper blue dress, with a design in rose and other shades applied on it.

If you don't know how, it isn't exactly a trick to manage the punting across, thanks to an arrangement of ropes and the heavy wire cable. The newspaper folk sat tight on the middle seat and let the experienced director manage while they recalled raft days when one was more apt to be on the under side than the top. Was the river deep at the punting place, and did the punt over tip? After two days the ferry maids were able to assure that the punt always stays right side up, and nobody even gets toes wet, unless, to be sure, the boat runs on a rock and wont go close enough to shore.

Flowers For Picking.
It was just the second day at camp for the ten little girls who are to enjoy the first two weeks. A flower-faced little maiden ripped into view, her hands filled with lacy elderberry bloom and the ashes of roses pink of milkweed blossoms. Her face was wreathed with smiles, because she loved every inch of the place, the elder flowers that made the backyard a place of intense and beauty, the big marquee where there are flowers on the table at meal times, when everything tastes so good; the nice big dormitory, where it's just like sleeping outdoors; the stately trees that spread their friendly limbs out in benediction over the camp; the soft green of the "front lawn," that goes down in fascinating little hills into one place of sand and pebbles, further along takes the grass and flowers right to the water to be washed.

And the elderberry flowers and milkweed weren't by any means all the varieties of flowers to be had for the plucking. There was vivid blue gentian with just a hint of scarlet, butter and eggs in tones of yellow, and someone had even brought in a wonderful array of tiger lilies. Such a friendly young camper pressed on a visitor a bunch of "ox-eye daisies," called by the more aesthetic name, "marguerites."

With the water way between, the camp owns also the beautiful cultivated stretch surrounding the pump house, the velvet green sward, the roses in riotous bloom, the water works hill that climbs and climbs, and the summer house that, from the W. C. T. U. camp, seemed on Tuesday afternoon to be coquetting with the saucy white clouds that sailed about in the blue sky. The camp has the view, anyway.

Making scrap books was a diversion in progress at camp, with piles of picture magazines, scissors and paste, and Miss Barker, one of the camp good fairies, right at hand to render first aid. The book-making in itself was a first-aid expedient. Tear-stained faces suggested the reason. Didn't the children like the camp?

To be sure they did, all excepting just a little while on the second or third day. Tuesday was second day of the first camp of the season. Every last little girl was so busy Monday arriving, finding out the wonders of

CRECHE BOARD MEETS.

Much gratification was expressed by members of the Day Nursery board at the regular meeting held Tuesday afternoon over the announcement that a check had been received for $1,000 from the United Welfare fund, a first contribution toward the year's expenses in carrying on the work.

The attendance is keeping high in summer weather, the daily average for the month of June being 24. Mrs. A. T. Edwards presided, and mention was made of the fact that a number of jars are still waiting to be filled with jam and soap and laundry supplies are always welcome. Grateful acknowledgment is made of the following donations: Jam, from Mrs. Fox, Regent street; thirteen dozen eggs, Mrs. W. J. Howlett, Lambeth; cake and sandwiches, Dundas Centre Methodist Church; 15 pounds of sugar, Ladies' Aid Society; Kindergarten; a loaf of sand, McClary's Welfare Society; $2 towards the sand pile, sandwiches and cake, Trinity Chapter, O. E. S.; two cot comforters, wash cloths and bibs, Delaware Women's Institute; sewing and $1, Miss Buttrey's class, Tabernacle Baptist Sunday School; sandwiches and cake, Colborne Street Methodist Sunday School; ten quarts of milk, Harry McFarlen; treat of five pints of ice cream, Mrs. Ronald Harris; cake, St. Paul's Sunday School boys' class.

FUND GROWS STEADILY.

Slowly but steadily the War Memorial Children's Hospital fund is growing. The latest contributions received by the treasurer, Mrs. C. I. Campbell, are as follows: Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., city, for material, $10.00; Seventh Regiment Chapter, I. O. D. E., city, for material, 10.00; Huron County Council, Goderich, 500.00; Rev. Wm. Beattie, London, 25.00; The Junior Girls' Institute, 25.00; Rev. J. L. Strong, London, 1.00.

NAMES TRUSTEE BOARD.

Meeting Tuesday afternoon for the last time until late in August, the London W. C. T. U. elected the board of trustees, filling a number of offices still vacant after the second session of the annual meeting, which took place a week ago. Mrs. J. Goodman, assisted by Mrs. J. Sussex, is to have the position demanding exceptional executive ability, that of Western Fair work superintendent. Miss I. J. Phinn was made associate recording secretary, and Mrs. E. Boucher, fee superintendent. Appointment will be made to the office of associate corresponding secretary when the superintendents are named at the August meeting. The following constitute the board of trustees: Mesdames May R. Thornley, Hubert Ashplant, Way, J. Sussex, Amy Patterson, V. K. Greer, J. Webster, A. J. Chapman, E. W. Gairns and Houston. Plans were completed for the picnic to be held July 12, and Mrs. J. Sussex and Mrs. R. E. Gregory named conveners of the refreshment committee. Mrs. Gregory was in the chair.

COOK'S CHURCH, CARADOC.

The W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. Ambrose McCracken on Wednesday, June 28, for their June meeting. Twenty-one members responded to the roll-call by a Scripture verse on "Love." After the opening exercises and business part of the meeting a chapter from the study book was read by Mrs. Robert Miles.

'TIME FOR CHERRIES,' SAYS COOKS' CLOCK

At Best This Week—Raspberries Come Tumbling After.

It's cherry week in London and vicinity. Instead of amulating the more leisurely and perchance more elegant festival to the cherries, or something of the sort, housewives and home-makers are busy with thoughts these days that find expression in delicious cherry preserves and other fruit delights of which cherries form the basis.

Montmorencies, favorites with housekeepers for canning and preserving, have made their appearance, and, it is stated, will be "going strong" for several days. The red cherries, which have been giving such pleasure for pudding and pies, are still well to the fore, and black and English cherries make a strong appeal to those who like best the "meaty" fruit.

If the weather is normal this week and the beginning of next will be best for cherries, according to the oracles, with raspberries following up in quantity immediately afterwards, when they will be in season. On Thursday, July 13, and Saturday, July 15, Plump ripe black currants appeared on Tuesday, one farmer selling a most desirable variety at 25 cents a quart. (And black currants back in wonderfully.) Others were asking 30 cents for currants that did not look in any way superior.

Much to the surprise of new marketeers, Tuesday and Thursday are almost as big, if not bigger, market days in fruit season as Saturday. Tuesday is a particularly important day for a very good reason. Think it out.

Raspberries (home grown) were 35 cents a box on Tuesday, 250 for 55 cents. Surprisingly good quality strawberries were 25 cents. And green peas literally flooded the market. They were near the entrance was clever, who caught the buyers as they passed and sold his delicious peas to them for 50 cents a quart. They had a chance to find quantities of excellent looking peas farther on going at 45, 40, 35 and 30 cents a quart. And a woman selling at 20 cents was even heard to say, "make a sale at 25 cents a quart. About the only difference in the peas seemed to be the price."

DO YOU KNOW HOW MUCH YOUR WAIST MEASURES?

Loch Lamond Chapter Puts Question to Friends for Special Reason.

This neat little apron is sent to you. And this is what you want to do—The little pocket, you plainly see, is for a special purpose to be: Now measure your waistline, inch by inch. And see that the measure does not pinch. And for each small inch you measure round.

In the pocket put a penny sound. The game is fair, you will admit. You "waist" the money, we pocket it. And all the money that we can get. Will go to pay for the hospital debt.

If you get a tiny apron with the foregoing verse attached, you will know exactly what to do with it. By the same token, you will know you have a friend in the Loch Lamond Chapter, I. O. D. E., which has taken this novel method of helping to raise an objective for the War Memorial Children's Hospital, an endowment in honor of the Scotch soldiers, from their old land in Canada, who gave their lives in the great war.

The verses were given out at the final meeting until September of the chapter, which was held Monday afternoon, this week, in the home of Mrs. Thomas McDonald, 480 Colborne street. The members are making the little aprons themselves, and are very busy counting up their friends at present with a view to "counting them in" on the "waistline" method of raising money.

In order to add further zest to the experiment, it was decided to make it a contest, dividing the chapter into two teams. Mrs. B. J. Dunlop and Mrs. R. W. Waucho were named captains, and the losing team will be obliged to pay a penalty to the winners.

At the tea hour, the hostess was assisted in serving dainty refreshments by Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Malcolm Kerr.

Miss Fernie Waddell, Tecumseh avenue, and Miss Mary Clarke of Brussels left Saturday on the Noronic for a trip on the lakes.

SENDS THANKS.

Dear Miss Grey,—Will you please forward this letter to "Thornless Rose," and I wish, through your mail-box, to convey my heartfelt thanks to the kind lady in Strathroy who sent me such a lovely express parcel and for the help it was to me. She is a very kind lady, and I also wish to thank you, Miss Grey, for printing my letter of appeal, and also thanks to the kind Boxites who sent me parcels and for offering help. Will you please send me Little Miss Melody's address, as a friend will take some yokes to help the fund? I enclose a small mite, and I hope to send more next time. PHYLLIS.

I am pleased to hear you received so much help. Phyllis. You have been very fortunate indeed. Thank you for helping me in return by sending a hospital mite. I can't mail you Little Miss Melody's address, as it was one of the addresses that has been mislaid.

TO CHASE MOSQUITOES. Dear Miss Grey,—Am coming with some help this time. I saw where M. J. A. wished to know some remedy for mosquito bites. One way of keeping them away is by using a mosquito net. I am sending you a mosquito net, a cup of camphor in the sleeping room or near the bed. Wearing camphor on your person also prevents. Am sending recipe for graham gems. Three-quarters cup sugar, 4 table-spoons, melted butter, 1 egg, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 table-spoons baking powder, 1/2 cups of cream flour, 1 cup wheat flour. Bake in gem tins.

Please accept mite. Do I address my letters correctly? BLY.

Address your letters "Miss Cynthia Grey, London Advertiser, London, Ont." Thank you for the hint to keep away mosquitoes, also for the splendid recipe, and thanks, too, for the hospital mite.

CHAPTER IX
"DO YOU think," said Clime, "that I am waiting for the explanation which I think you owe me?"

They were alone together, lingering still at the table to which Andre-Louis had come belatedly.

"Explanation?" he questioned. "But on what score?"

"On the score of the deception you have practiced on me. You should not have pretended to be a simple country lawyer, which of course, any one could see that you are not."

"I see," he said, and pulled at his pipe. "But you are wrong, Clime. I am neither more nor less than I have represented myself."

"Ha! And that fine lady who carried you off in her cabriolet? What

Cured Her Rheumatism

Knowing from terrible experience the suffering caused by rheumatism, Mrs. J. E. Hurst, who lives at 508 E. Olive St., B109, Bloomington, Ill., is so thankful at having cured herself that out of pure gratitude she is anxious to tell all other sufferers just how to get rid of their torture by a simple way at home.

MOTHER SAVES DAUGHTER'S HEALTH

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Both Mother and Daughter

Lumsden, Saskatchewan. — "My mother had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and when I needed something for my periods I took it and got good results. I recommend it to women with any female troubles and I know other women who have been helped by it and do the same."

Mrs. MAX RETZER, Lumsden, Saskatchewan.

Many cases like this come to our notice. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is often recommended by the mother and the grandmother too, for fear in mind, it has been helping women for nearly fifty years.

Women Tell Each Other in your neighborhood are women who know the value of this wonderful medicine and they talk to one another about it. So if you are troubled with pains and irregularities, a tired feeling, nervous and sleepless spells, or have other annoying symptoms caused by some female trouble, you have only to ask some neighbor what she thinks of your taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

is she to you?"

"A sort of sister," she was indignant. "Harlequin foretold that you would say so; but he was amusing himself. She has a name, I suppose, this sort of sister?"

"Certainly she has a name. She is Mlle. Aline de Keradieu, the niece of Quintin de Keradieu, Lord of Gavrilac."

"Oh! That's a sufficiently fine name for your sort of sister. What sort of sister, my friend?"

For the first time in their relationship he observed and deplored the taint of vulgarity, of shrewishness, in her manner.

"Her uncle, M. de Keradieu, is fore," she said, in a dull voice that she strove to render steady.

"Perhaps I should. But does it really matter?"

"Matter?" She suppressed her fury to ask another question. "You say that this M. de Keradieu is popularly believed to be your father. What precisely do you mean?"

"Just that. It is a belief that I do not share. It is a matter of instinct, perhaps, with me. Moreover, once I asked M. de Keradieu point-blank, and I received from his denial."

"And your mother, was she equally ignorant?" She was sneering, but he did not remark it. Her back was to the light.

"He would not disclose her name to me. He confessed her to be a dear friend of his."

She startled him by laughing, and her laugh was not pleasant.

"A very dear friend, you may be sure, my simpleton. What name do you hear?"

He restrained his own rising indignation to answer her question calmly: "Moreau. It was given me, so I am told, from the Brittany village in which I was born. In fact,

"What precisely do you mean?" she asked.

my godfather. It is popularly believed in Gavrilac that M. de Keradieu is my father. He has certainly cared for my rearing from my tenderest years. I owe to him everything that I have—no, rather, everything that I had. Today I possess nothing save what I can earn for myself in the theater or elsewhere."

She sat stunned and pale under that cruel blow to her swelling pride. "You should have told me this before."

On the morrow Andre-Louis found his mind distracted by thoughts of both Clime and Aline. It was Aline who provided the deepest perturbation. Clime's attitude he regarded as a passing phase. But the thought of Aline's conduct toward him kept rankling, and still more deeply rankled the thought of her possible betrothal to M. de La Tour d'Azyr.

This was that brought forcibly to his mind the self-imposed but now half-forgotten mission that he had made his own. He had boasted that he would make the voice which M. de La Tour d'Azyr had sought to silence ring through the length and breadth of the land. What a fine contrast between the promise and the fulfillment!

It happened that the first person he saw when he took the stage on that Thursday evening was Aline; the second was the Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr. They occupied a box on the right of, and immediately above, the stage.

That was the evening's first shock. The next came after the second act. Entering the green-room he found the far end with Clime, over whom he was bending from his fine height, his eyes intent upon her face, M. de La Tour d'Azyr.

That night there were high words between Andre-Louis and Clime, the high words proceeding from Clime. When Andre-Louis again enjoined prudence upon his betrothed, she shook and stunned him by her virulently shrewish tone, and by her still more unexpected force of invective.

"I'll not tolerate your insensate jealousy. A girl in the theatre must make it her business to accept homage from all."

"Agreed; and there is no harm, provided she gives nothing in exchange." White-faced, with flaming eyes, she turned on him at that.

"How? You dare?"

"I know M. de La Tour d'Azyr," he answered her. "He is a man who takes what he wants whenever he finds it, and whether it is given willingly or not; a man who reckons nothing of the misery he scatters on his self-indulgent way. Ponder it, Clime, and ask yourself if I do you less than honor in warning you."

He went out on that, feeling a degradation in continuing the subject.

On Tuesday of the following week Andre-Louis ran into a slight-built, sallow-complexioned gentleman very neatly dressed in black.

"Moreau! Where the devil have you been hiding yourself these months?" It was Le Chapelier, the lawyer, the leader of the Literary Chamber of Rennes. Without halting for reply he continued: "You are the man we have been seeking everywhere, and—behold!—you drop from the skies into my path."

They crossed the square and entered the cafe.

"I suppose you haven't heard of the royal order for the convocation of the States-General, or the terms of them—that we are to have what we demanded, what you demanded for us here in Nantes?"

"You haven't heard of the fresh uproar in Rennes last month. The order was that the three estates should sit together at the States-General, but in Rennes the nobles took up arms, headed by your old friend, M. de La Tour d'Azyr, and they were for slaying us—the members of the Third Estate—into ribbons, so as to put an end to our insolence."

He laughed delicately. "But, by God, we showed them that we, too, could take up arms. We fought them a pitched battle in the streets, and so peppered them that they were glad to take shelter in the Cordeliers Convent."

"It is odd," said Andre-Louis, "that I should never perceive that Nantes is being politically active."

That night at the theatre he had a mischievous impulse to test what Le Chapelier had told him of the state of public feeling in the city. They were playing "The Terrible Captain," in the last act of which the empty cowardice of the bullying brigand Rhodomet is revealed by Scaramouche.

After the laughter which the exposure of the roaring captain invariably produced, it remained for Scaramouche contemptuously to dismiss him in a phrase that varied nightly. This time he chose to give his phrase a political complexion:

"Thus, O coward, is your emptiness exposed. Because of your long length and your great sword people have imagined you to be as terrible and as formidable as you insolently make yourself appear. But at the first touch of true spirit you crumple up, you tremble, you whine pitifully, and the great sword remains in your scabbard. You remind me of the Privileged Orders when confronted by the Third Estate."

It was audacious of him, and he was prepared for anything—a laugh, applause, indignation, or all together. But he was not prepared for what came. And it came so suddenly and spontaneously from the groundlings and the body of those in the amphitheatre that he was almost scared by it—as a boy may be scared who has held a match to a sun-scorched haystack. "It was a hurricane of furious applause. Men leaped to the feet, sprang up on to the benches, waving their hats in the air, deafening him with the terrific uproar of their acclamations. And it rolled on and on, nor ceased until the curtain fell."

Miller's Worm Powders get promptly at the root of the trouble and restore the digestive organs to a healthy condition. Sold by all druggists.

Some "Hand-Made" Blouses Aren't Hand-Made

VARIED, various and variable!

For sport wear strictly tailored blouses are most popular with hand-made ones following close behind. The tailored blouses are worn with four-in-hands again—brilliantly-colored ones—as well as ties of other kinds.

Many of the white tailored blouses are trimmed with colored edgings or colored collars and cuffs. Checked gingham is the most popular material for these.

The "hand-made" blouses are not all hand-made. Machine-made blouses with hand-done drawn work or cross-stitch are equally popular.

For dress the overblouse continues to be favored. Especially attractive models are being made in sheer white cotton voile. The usual trimming is some of the new peasant embroidery.

RAIL SHOPMEN NOT SUPPORTED

Road Officials Await First Disclosure of Effect of Strike.

Baltimore and Ohio Imports Negroes To Clean Cars.

BULLETIN

Chicago, Ill., July 5.—Maintenance-of-way men, despite the disposition of that union's executive council here last night to postpone strike action for the present, were reported to be joining the walkout today. Such reports reached President Jewett's headquarters and were confirmed by news dispatches.

Chicago, July 5.—Railway shopmen who walked off their jobs last Saturday played a "lone hand" in the rail strike today.

The first wide rift in railroad solidarity showed yesterday when maintenance-of-way employees, who include track workers and other common labor, definitely abandoned the idea of a walkout at this time.

With their common labor problem out of the way, railroad officials throughout the United States were waiting today for the first definite disclosure of the effect of the shopmen's strike. Over Sunday and yesterday's holiday rail officials said it was impossible to determine how many employees of the six shop-crafts actually had responded to the Saturday's strike order. When the strikers blew this morning, the railroads began an inventory of their shop workers.

Officials of the shop crafts said their strike was virtually 100 per cent effective. They predicted that other classes of railway labor would become inoculated by the shopmen's strike and that the effect of the walkout would begin to show on transportation soon.

Railway clerks and station employees, some of whom pulled a strike vote recently, have in many instances made separate agreements with their roads, and any strike by these classes would, it is believed, be called only on individual roads.

The railroads also waited today for the effect of the message of Timothy Healy, president of the stationary firemen and others, who told the 8,000 members of his organization that they had a "perfect right" to strike if they wished, in view of the railroad situation. Signaling men still were "on the fence," but their president, D. W. Heit, has usually followed the lead of the maintenance of way unions, whose withdrawal from the strike was believed in railroad circles to indicate that the signaling men would remain at work.

NEGROES IMPORTED.—About fifty negroes have arrived here from eastern and southern points, and will be employed as car cleaners in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops, it was announced last night. The negroes are located at the high yard shops, their camp being surrounded by guards.

Leaders of the shopmen's union here said they knew the men had been brought in, but declined to comment regarding their importation.

CAR DEALERS OF DISTRICT PICNIC

Automotive Retail Association Holding Outing at Springbank Park.

Manager and salesmen, skilled mechanics and laborers, employees of every garage and automobile salesroom in the city and district have gathered at Springbank this afternoon to celebrate the fourth annual outing of the Automotive Retail Dealers' Association of London and Middlesex.

At 1:45 o'clock a long and highly interesting program of sports was begun, including many novel stunts. Of the sport events boxing in barrels gave promise of the most fun and excitement.

After the races some serious moments will be spent in a ball game between the members from east side of Richmond street and those from the district west of that street. A silver trophy will be the prize.

Springbank will also be the scene of the Red Bird Bicycle picnic, sponsored by the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company. Armed with bicycles and tremendous appetites, boys and girls by the hundreds will be the guests of G. A. Wenig.

Many features to delight every youthful heart have been prepared by Mr. Wenig. To top it all, lunches and refreshments are being supplied free to the hundreds of happy picnickers.

WILL HOLD UNION SERVICES IN CHURCHES AT PARIS

Arrangement Made by Congregations To Remain Effective During July and August.

PARIS, July 4.—Union services are to be held here during July and August in the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches. During July Rev. J. C. Nicolson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will conduct the morning services in his own church, and the evening services will be held in the Methodist Church.

During August Rev. D. E. Martin will conduct morning services in the Methodist Church and evening services in the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Martin is the new pastor of the Methodist Church here, and with Mrs. Martin was entertained by the Ladies' Aid prior to leaving on their summer vacation.

FRENCH WILL USE GERMAN LABOR

PARIS, July 4.—The French cabinet today decided to place immediately before the reparations commission the reparations project recently presented to Premier Poincaré by Minister of Public Works Le Trocquer, providing for the extensive use of German labor and material throughout France for the rebuilding of railways, waterways and other public works at a cost of 18,000,000,000 francs.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, July 5.—Some improvement in the volume of business transacted was noted on the local stock exchange this morning, and more issues than have been the case recently figured in the trading. Toronto Railway, however, continues to dominate the market, and on sales of up to 1,500 shares, it advanced to 80 1/2, with the close at 80 1/2, showing a gain of 1/4 over yesterday's close. Another strong performer, advancing 1 point to 35 1/2, was Canadian National, which was 35 1/2 yesterday. The market was unchanged, Banks and bonds as well as unlisted stocks, continued dull.

The Doctors Prescribe Bread

SUCH a palatable medicine should be well received by any patient. Its tastiness and wholesomeness will be a welcome tonic. Surely there is no medium that is so inexpensive. Don't wait for the doctor to prescribe it for you. Eat it at all meals and you will do much in keeping the doctor away. Freshly baked every day.

DENY HUDSON TO ENTER CABINET

Both Premier and Member For Winnipeg South Contradict Rumors.

No Immediate Changes in Personnel of Ministry. Looked For.

OTTAWA, July 4.—(Canadian Press).—Contradiction of a Winnipeg report connecting the name of Hon. A. B. Hudson of Winnipeg with the portfolio of immigration in the cabinet of Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, was made tonight by both Hon. Mr. Hudson and the prime minister. The member for South Winnipeg declared that he had not been offered the portfolio. The prime minister stated that the Winnipeg report was "the first he had heard of the matter" of either appointing a minister of immigration or swearing in Mr. Hudson to that post.

There is, however, a continuance of the rumors of a coming cabinet re-organization, supposedly based on the possibility of the "Saskatoon offer" of seats in the Liberal cabinet being again made to Progressive leaders with the purpose in view of bringing about a fusion of Progressives and Liberals in the house. This proposal is known to have been discussed by private members of both parties previous to prorogation, but there has not yet been any official intimation that it was being considered.

It is not unlikely, according to present indications that there will be cabinet changes before the house is again called, but no immediate change in the personnel of the ministry is looked for.

Mr. Hudson who was mentioned in the Winnipeg dispatch as probable minister of immigration, is still in Ottawa and will probably remain here for several days yet.

Hon. T. A. Cregar, leader of the Progressives, was to leave Montreal for New York before returning to Winnipeg.

CROSS-CONTINENT AUTOISTS INJURED

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., July 4.—Miss Ethel Campbell and Miss E. Burton of Toronto were seriously injured, when an automobile, in which they were being driven by Miss Alice MacDougall, was run into by another car near here. Both Miss Campbell and Miss Burton are graduates of Toronto General Hospital.

They are members of an automobile party which left Toronto May 24 on an automobile trip across the continent, reaching here last week. Other members of the party are Miss Mabel Pugh and Miss Doris Hooper.

Table Damasks, One-Third Off to Half Price

Fleur de Lis Table Linens hold an enviable reputation in the trade, and worthily, too, for the products of these mills and superiority of Fleur de Lis Irish Linen is plainly evident in the delightful texture and exquisite finish produced under this trade mark. Seconds in Cloths and Napkins are priced for tomorrow's Linen Sale at one-third off to about one-half regular. Acquaintance with these sales will bear out the integrity of the makers. The smallest possible defect apparently is unable to slip the examiners in the course of finishing, as you will find in the majority of cases merely an oiled thread or an odd broken thread scarcely noticeable, and will practically disappear in laundering. Briefly listed are sizes and prices which include cloths from the first quality linen damask to the finest hand-woven numbers.

WILL NAME NEW CROWN ATTORNEY

TORONTO, July 4.—Two appointments recommended by the attorney-general's department were ratified by order-in-council. Elliott William Hardy of Northwood, Ontario, was named sheriff of Kent County, and William Frederick Morrow of Peterborough, registrar of deeds for Peterborough County.

Although Hon. W. E. Rancey refused yesterday to discuss steps being taken by the government to fill the vacant crown attorneyship for London, it is understood that an appointment will be announced within the next few days.
