850 VOTERS ADDED TO CITY LIST

City Vote Arranged On Principle of School Cadet Work

CITY RIDING HAS 34,900 NAMES NOW

Registrars Add 850 in Six-Day Period at 14 Divisional Points.

RUSH ON LAST DAY

Returning Officer Regards Registration a Satisfactory Effort.

The six-day registration period, which closed at 9 o'clock last night, added approximately 850 names to the city voter's list for the federal election of Oct. 29, figures received today from special registrars show.

With the addition of those who took advantage of the facilities offered by the fourteen registration stations, the city's voting strength is expected to reach 34,900, though a final figure could not be supplied today by Chief Returning Officer Gordon L. Tennent.

At the last federal election, approximately 15,000 Londoners voted. The unrevised list, to which 850 new names have now been added, contained 34455 names of eligibles.

Effort Worth While.

Returning Officer Tennent considers the results well worth the efforts put forth by the local election staff to bring the registration in this riding nearer completion than it has been in any previous federal race.

While registrations were spread over a period of six days, at each of the fourteen stations the registrars report that the bulk of new voters appeared during the last two days. In many cases yesterday's registration far exceeded the total of the five preceding days.

Starting in the early afternoon, each of the registration points saw a hum of activity that reflected a wide interest in the election, even if it was belated. Last night saw the only rush of the week, and several registrars report the addition of from 10 to 20 new names during the evening.

85 at One Booth.

Booths had an average registration of about 60 during the week, with one registrar noting the addition of 85 new names. Others averaged the 50 mark, with a few in the 40's.

Those in charge of the registration work were: North of Dundas street—Revising officer, Frederick W. Gladman; registrars, Fergus Murphy, Ed. H. Braund, M. P. McDonagh, R. D. McDonald, Melville Gladman, John Lochead, Bloss Van Tuyl. South of Dundas street—Revising officer, E. W. Flock; registrars, Fred H. Greenlees, Chas. A. Houghtby, Llewellyn Purdom, Walter A. Thomson, James A. Morrison, Donald Menzies, James F. McMillan.

Further applications to have names placed on the voters' list will be considered from Oct. 8 to 14, when the two revising officers will hold daily sittings in the county court house.

First Gasoline Rail Car of District Runs Between St. Thomas and Woodstock

C. P. R. Adopts New Type of Vehicle For Shorter Branch Lines.

77 HORSEPOWER

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Oct. 1.—A new and important departure in railroad development, the rail gas car, made its initial trip to Woodstock out of the Canadian Pacific branch of the M. C. R. station at 12:10 noon today. The rail car will undoubtedly be the means of saving railroad companies thousands of dollars on branch line work and afford the people of the province better, cleaner and more up-to-date service.

The new car was made by the Kinkley company of Detroit, and constructed specially for the use of the C. P. R. railway. It was brought to this city from Toronto yesterday by railroad officials and returned to Woodstock today on its trial trip. Officials who are making the trip today are William Fulton, district passenger agent at Toronto; Master Mechanic Ronaldson of Toronto, Master Mechanic Bowie of London, Assistant Superintendent Bowie of London and George Whitley, assistant superintendent of motive power from Montreal. The train was in charge of Conductor D. A. Prince of Toronto Londo.

Heated by Coal Stove.

The car is constructed to operate from one end only. The main first-class apartment seats 34 people, while a smoking-room with accommodation for ten people is found in an apartment across the rear of the car, making a beautiful inclosed observation car. Entrance is gained from the side of the coach well forward to the front. A vestibule gives baggage accommodation, while the motorman has the front of the car to himself. The seats are wicker. The car is heated with a coal stove, equipped with electric fan to drive the hot air through tin ducts on either side of the car.

Every convenience is provided, consising of a lavatory and drinking tank. The car is driven by a 77-horsepower gasoline motor. Yesterday in its trial trip it maintained an average speed of 27 miles an hour, but is constructed to do 40 miles an hour. The trial trip yesterday was made at the rate of 5½ miles on the gallon of gas. Accommodation is provided in the engineer's vestibule for a tank of 54 gallons of gas. They are equipped with electric fixtures. An air pump on the back of the engine operates the whistle, bell, brakes and doors. A hand-brake is furnished for emergency purposes. The engine has three reverse speeds and four forward, the extra overspeed gear being furnished for greater speed. In reverse the same speeds, low, intermediate and high, as in forward speeds, is available.

Easy to Ride In.

The coaches are surprisingly easy to ride in, a longer elliptic spring being found especially serviceable. Mr. Whitley, who is accompanying the car on its first trips, in discussing the vehicle with The Advertiser, declared that the efficiency of the gas car was assured both from the accommodation it would afford travellers to Toronto, Montreal and Chicago, and for the service afforded to intermediate points along the line. The people along the route are enthusiastic about the new service and a goodly patronage is assured.

NEW GAS RAIL CAR.

CUSTOMS MONEYS SLUMP WITH 4.4

Beer Tax Drop Brings Collections Down to $105,745 For September.

Customs and excise receipts for September show a decrease in every department, though it is less than one per cent. For a time the taxes on four-point-four beer raised the revenue to the point where it helped to turn decreases into increases, but last month the revenues so collected dropped slightly.

The customs totals as issued by O. H. Talbot, collector of customs and excise show that the receipts last month were $105,745.21. The excise receipts were $110,743.58. The income taxes amounted to $113,697.81.

The decrease in the customs totals was $926.55 from the corresponding month last year. The excise totals showed a decrease of $21,794.67 from September, 1924. The total decrease in moneys collected was $22,721.22.

The imports duties for September were $91,260.98. This was $689.12 less than in September last year. The sales tax on imports amounted to $14,117.55, a decrease of $140.08. The excise tax imports was nil. Last year it was $913.

The dominion excise taxes for last month were $88,327.46. This was $21,-274.85 less than a year ago. The dominion excise tax duties collected were $22,416.12. The decrease was $519.84.

PROPOSAL OF FRENCH REJECTED

United States Debt Commission Find Terms Not to Liking.

UP TO CAILLAUX

Secretary Mellon Denies Coolidge Called Up To Act as Referee.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The French proposal for settlement of her war debt to the United States has been found unacceptable.

This was indicated in a statement issued by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon this morning, which declared "no proposal acceptable to the United States commission had been made."

Mr. Mellon's statement denied that President Coolidge had been called upon to referee a difference of opinion among the members of the United States commission as to acceptance of France's latest offer. Reports which had been circulated to the effect that an agreement had been reached were also denied.

The statement said:

"The representation in the press on the supposed authority of a member of the French commission that agreement has been reached and purporting to give the terms is entirely incorrect. Such a statement obviously did not come from M. Caillaux, because before the adjournment of the sub-committees last evening the French members were informed by the United States members that their proposals were not likely to be accepted.

No Proposal Acceptable

"There have been no differences of opinion whatever amongst the American commission. The visit to the president this morning was to inform him of the position of negotiations. No proposal has been made acceptable to the American commission, and one has been submitted to the president for his approval or disapproval."

Some members of the American commission were of the opinion that no possibility of an agreement with the French was apparent at this stage. One member felt that the two commissions were as far apart as they were upon presentation by Finance Minister Caillaux of his first settlement proposal last Thursday. The United States commission immediately went into an executive session. It was believed that the United States commissioners will wait for the French to move next.

Those members who refused to consider negotiations at an end based their hope on the slogan, "We never quit trading until the game is ended." It was pointed out that changes may develop in the general situation as a result of the conversations to be held today. It was noted that Secretary Mellon's statement did not indicate the width of the gap separating the two commissions.

The French mission, informed unofficially of the statement by the United States secretary, left to M. Caillaux the determination of its course. One of the members described the memorandum as "tragic," but would not comment at length.

UNIVERSITY HAS INCREASE OF 110

Registration Shows Substantial Gain Over Last Year's Enrolment.

Registrations at the University of Western Ontario show a substantial increase over last year. Although the records will not be completed for two weeks, Dr. K. P. R. Neville, M.A., F.A.G.S., registrar, said today that there are now 800 students studying at Western. This is an increase of 110 over last year.

Last year 140 freshmen registered. This fall 160 enrolled. Of these, 94 are men. Since the last day of registration does not fall until Tuesday next, a few late comers will increase the present number.

TRUSTEE MURRAY REVIVES PROPOSAL OF UNIFORMS FOR SECONDARY SCHOOL GIRLS

Trustees Copeland and Mrs. Hunt Agree With Scheme and Will Support It.

ADDS TO EFFICIENCY

Board Has No Power to Compel Wearing of Uniforms, But Can Recommend It.

A simple uniform of blue skirt and white or blue middy blouse for all girls attending collegiate and the technical school is the proposal that Trustee W. G. Murray will bring before the board of education at next week's meeting.

While the proposal is nothing new in London school circles, and other trustees state that the board has not the power to dictate what shall or shall not be worn by the girls, it will undoubtedly find considerable favor with members of the board who will likely pass a motion asking the parents to garb their daughters in the conventional middy and blue or gray skirt.

Trustee G. F. Copeland and Mrs. J. I. A. Hunt both agree with Mr. Murray and will support his efforts in the board.

Too Much "Primping."

"There is too much of this 'Keeping up with the Joneses'" declared Mr. Murray. "The girls who do not come from wealthy families and cannot afford to wear silk dresses and stockings, feel their position in school life most keenly, more so than the average person imagines. They don't want to go to school, and while they are there, their minds are attracted to the dresses of other girls. I am told that some youngsters spend over an hour every morning primping in front of their mirrors. It is a good thing to have a girl careful about her personal appearance, but it can certainly be carried too far.

"A father with two or more girls attending school will have a mighty hard time buying silk stockings for all of them. In addition to the uniform I have suggested, I would add cashmere or woolen stockings. The girls would then be all dressed the same, and the poorer girl would not be subject to the humiliation she believes is her lot at the present time. I am in favor of seeing what can be done to bring about better conditions."

Matter for Parents.

Mrs. Hunt declared that she had taken up the matter five years ago. She didn't think that legislation was

VENIOT DECLARES AUDIT WILL CLEAR UP AFFAIRS

Former Premier of New Brunswick Declares Baxter's Charges Unfounded.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Bathurst, N. B., Oct. 1.—Hon. P. J. Veniot, former premier of New Brunswick, yesterday issued a statement in reply to that made a few days ago by Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K.C., the new premier, in which Dr. Baxter declared that the debt of the province now stood at $32,364,909, and that outstanding bills would send it up another $1,744,223, with this figure to be still further increased, perhaps, hundreds of thousands of dollars by bills for roads and bridges chargeable to capital account which were still to come in.

September in the City of London.

September building in London showed $32,000 increase over the same month of last year with a total of $152,635. The total for the first nine months this year is $1,721,320, compared with $1,637,380 for the corresponding period in 1924. Permits issued to date number 1,069, a decrease from last year.

The weather during September varied little from last year. Last month had the highest temperature at 86, but September, 1924, registered the lowest mark with 32 degrees. Rainfall was 4.71 inches. Last year the amount was 4.54 inches.

Eighty-six deaths occurred in London during September. In the same month of last year 84 residents died. There were 133 births and 75 marriages, being decreases of 7 and 1. respectively.

Increases were noted in the number of cases of summer complaint and summer flu, but the medical officer of health reports that the general health of London is fine.

Customs collections for the port of London were $105,745 last month, which is a decrease of $22,721 from September, 1924.

Only ten fires occurred in London during the past month, with a total loss of $4,000, the lowest fire loss for the city this year. Thirteen alarms were received, two of which were false.

Few motor accidents happened in the city during September. There were no fatalities.

BANK BANDITS' PLAN IS FOILED

Two Are Placed Under Arrest Near Windsor as Robber Suspects.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Windsor, Oct. 1.—Two men, whose names are withheld by the police, are held at the Windsor police headquarters in connection with an alleged plot to hold up the Stoney Point branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada. Stoney Point is a village a few miles east of Windsor.

Sitting in a room, the location of which the police declined to disclose, two detectives late Wednesday night overheard several men discussing details of the plan to rob the bank.

According to the police the bandits proposed to arrive at Stoney Point just as the bank was opened this morning at 10 o'clock. The route to be taken, and even the methods to be used if resistance was attempted by the staff of the bank, were talked in earshot of the two officers, who communicated the information to Inspector W. H. Loughheed, head of the provincial police here.

All roads to the village were watched from 8 o'clock this morning until 9:30, and at this time Detectives Bower and Maxwell halted a speeding car on Tecumseh road near the east city limits. The officers barred progress of the alleged bandits' car by drawing their automobile across the road, at the same time ordering the suspected holdup men to throw up their hands.

At headquarters, search of one of the men brought to light a .42-calibre revolver fully loaded. This man, the police intimated, was assigned to drive off the bank clerks while his confederate scooped in the money.

Arrests of three other men are sought and for this reason, the police said, they could not disclose the names of the men held.

Building Runs Far Ahead of Pace Set Last Year

Construction Conditions in Dominion Are Healthy—Quebec Leads in Total, But Ontario Highest in Ordinary Building.

Positive indications of strong upward tendencies in Canadian construction are shown in the fact that for the second month in succession the construction awards have exceeded those for the corresponding months of 1924, according to MacLean Building Reports, Limited. Last month's figure is the second largest September total since 1913.

The contracts awarded totalled $29,746,400, compared with $22,506,300 for September a year ago. Residential building accounted for 25.7 per cent of the August total and amounted to $7,651,360. Business buildings totalled $7,376,800, or 24.8 per cent; industrial buildings, $354,000, or 1.2 per cent; and public works and utilities, $14,364,300, or 48.3 per cent. The activity was distributed among the provinces, as follows: Quebec, 51.8 per cent; Ontario, 33.4 per cent; Prairie Provinces, 10.9 per cent; British Columbia, 2.6 per cent, and the Maritime Provinces, 1.3 per cent.

To Quebec goes the credit for the large contracts awarded totals recorded during the past two months. The increase of more than six million dollars is due to greater development in the pulp and paper industry and in bridges, roads and other engineering projects. Ontario lags behind last year when grand totals are compared, but in the building classifications, emitting engineering contracts, an increase of more than seven million dollars is shown.

With prices of building materials and labor on a level with August a year ago, with practically no fluctuation in the meantime, MacLean's Reports believe that prices have reached a working level where they will remain for an appreciable time.

TO BALLOT ON CADET QUESTION

Mandate to Board of Education Will Be Obtained at the December Election.

BYLAW PREPARED

Vote Comes as Climax of Long Dispute Over Cost of Training.

Will London schoolboys continue to parade with rifles, take part in cadet manoeuvres under army officers, be instructed in marksmanship and wear brass buttons and khaki uniforms?

Ratepapers of the city will decide in December. Whether or not cadet training shall exist in the schools of London will be decided by a battle of ballots. Forces are already lining up with brotherhoods, church organizations and labor men on one side and some prominent educational and military authorities on the other.

The ballot will take the following form:

"Are you in favor of the support of cadets in municipal schools?"

A bylaw has been drawn up by T. G. Meredith, city solicitor, and last evening was submitted to No. 1 committee of the city council.

Blow at Militarism.

According to Ald. Frank McKay and other opponents of cadet training, the movement is not designed to cut off expenditure for training boys in athletics at schools. It is meant as a blow to militarism and labor men here have always declared that the cadet movement is military.

The cadet movement has long been a controversial issue in London. Before the war, uniformed schoolboys were drilled in every city of the province, held great summer camps and annual prize shoots. The Niagara-on-the-Lake camp annually brought from 4,000 to 5,000 cadets from the public schools of Hamilton, Toronto and other cities. At Carling Heights several thousands of boys were under canvas during training camps. Harriston, Woodstock and other centers held similar camps.

But even then the movement against cadet training was determined, and following the war and concentrated efforts of many organizations in favor of perpetual

BRITISH WILL KEEP FORCE IN NEAR EAST

Amended Instructions Have Been Issued to Mediterranean Fleet.

Canadian Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 1.—Strong British naval forces will be maintained in Near Eastern waters during the next few weeks, under amended orders issued by the admiralty to the Mediterranean fleet.

Under the new instructions the third battle squadron, the third cruiser squadron and the first and third destroyer flotillas will concentrate in Suda Bay, Crete, on Oct. 8, to remain a week.

After their departure for Malta the battleship Queen Elizabeth will arrive at Suda Bay, and she, in turn, will leave for Malta Oct. 20.

ONLY A COINCIDENCE.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 1.—The report from Constantinople that the Turks are calling troops to the colors and the announcement in London that the British will maintain a strong fleet in near eastern waters for the next few weeks are explained in British official quarters as being merely a coincidence and as having no significance. As far as the fleet is concerned, it is only engaging in manouvres, the officials say.

BRIDGE MEANS BIG ONTARIO PROFIT

Super-Highway Through Ontario Would Result, Promoter Believes.

The development of a super-highway which would connect Detroit and the central United States with Eastern Canada would be speeded with the erection of a Detroit-Windsor bridge, J. A. Bower of New York city, head of the bridge syndicate, claims.

Pointing to the present wholly inadequate facilities at the border for the carrying of motor cars across the river, Mr. Bower declares that an international bridge linking the two countries with a fast travel artery, would add materially to Canada's revenue from tourist traffic.

The improved highway would connect the United States traffic with Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, with Buffalo and the Atlantic coast, and would be at least 100 miles shorter than any other route.

In addition, since the way would lie entirely through Canadian territory, starting through Essex, instead of going south of Lake Erie, Canada would benefit all the more by the added tourist travel, Mr. Bower asserts.

Automobilists seeking to avoid congestion at the border by keeping in American territory, must travel south of Lake Erie, a distance from Detroit to Buffalo of 369.5 miles, as compared with 270 miles by the direct route across the river. The Automobile Blue Book gives figures of 351 miles to Rochester and 793 to Montreal by the shorter cross-river route; by avoiding the ferry, the tourist must travel 445 miles to Rochester and 765 to Montreal.

SOUTH COLLEGIATE TRACK TEAM GOOD

Plenty of Competition Will Make Next Week's Meet Interesting.

The value of athletics in schools is recognized by all educationalists, and for this reason track meets form a portion of the fall program of secondary education, even in continuation schools.

In London the students are exceptionally fortunate in having plenty of competition in the secondary schools to add interest to their track activities, and a student appreciates the honor of winning an event when he realizes that he is not only the winner in his own school, but the best in that particular event in the secondary schools of the city.

The competition among the four schools is not only an incentive, but is a great educational force in assisting the student to acquire coolness, to develop a true appreciation for the efforts of others and to promote a splendid spirit of sportsmanship. The London meet takes place at Queen's park on Oct. 9.

During the three years that the four schools track meet has been running the south collegiate, under the capable direction of Miss Oaks and Mr. Dinsmore, with last year Mr. Baird to assist Mr. Dinsmore, has been exceptionally fortunate in the winning of trophies, holding the junior shield once, the intermediate twice and the senior twice. This success has not been due to a small number of outstanding athletes but rather to the keen interest and co-operation of a large number in the work.

The south collegiate has several of last year's winners in the four-school meet and in the W. O. S. S. A. in attendance again this year, and these form the nucleus of what should be another good team. This is the cause in both boys' and girls' events, though it is hardly to be expected in face of the keen competition from other units that the success of the last three years will be repeated. However, it is anticipated that parents and friends who show their interest and turn out to the meet on Oct. 9 will be well repaid by the keen competition and splendid spirit of friendly rivalry that they will see quite evident in the meet during the afternoon.

CANADIAN BICYCLE MEN TO MEET HERE IN 1926

Mayor Wenige Extends Invitation to Delegates at Hamilton Convention.

Due to the efforts of George A. Wenige, who extended a personal invitation in his capacity as mayor, the Canadian Bicycle Dealers' Association at the closing session of its convention in Hamilton decided to hold its 1926 convention in London.

The date for the convention has not been set, but more than 300 delegates will be present from all parts of Canada.

Mayor Wenige left for Hamilton yesterday morning. His original intention was to use his bicycle to get there, but he changed his mind when the cold weather set in.

NOT READY NEXT WEEK FOR COLLEGIATE TENDERS

It is not expected by board of education members that tenders for the new East London collegiate will be asked for at the regular board meeting scheduled for Oct. 8. The building committee will bring in a report, definite action for the calling of tenders will not be taken till later on, it is stated.

Hamilton Street Railway Seeks City Partnership; Suspension Is Alternative

Relief Must Come or Service Cannot Be Continued, the President States.

TWO SUGGESTIONS

A city in partnership with a street railway company is the solution sought in Hamilton for transportation ills, conditions that are to some extent similar to those which exist in London.

The Dominion Power and Transmission Company, owners of the Hamilton street railway, ask for a vote of Hamilton electors on Dec. 7 in an effort to bring about a partnership between the city and company. Failing that, purchase of the system by the city will be sought.

Influx of the automobile has brought about almost indiscriminate licensing of jitneys, taxicabs and buses. They eat up much of the revenue that would otherwise go to the Hamilton street railway. The company has not paid a dividend in six years and $100,000 annually has been lost in revenue.

Early suspension of street railway operations in Hamilton is threatened unless relief comes through council action.

While companies like the Hamilton street railway hold franchise agreements, they have no relief from the rivalry of jitneys and buses. The agreement of the city of Montreal is suggested as sound basis for a city-company form of street railway administration.

Proposals laid down at a conference with city officials at Hamilton yesterday were:

1. That the city become a partner with the company in the operation of the street railway system by a commission, or

2. That the city purchase the system outright in accordance with the terms of the franchise.

The proposed agreement provides for the city becoming a partner with the company, and the street railway system would be managed by a commission. There would be obligations resting upon the company to provide extensions and auxiliary bus service as required. There would be little chance of friction, as the company would operate under the commission. The latter would be absolute, except in all matters coming within the province of the Ontario railway board.

The value of the system would be determined and the company would be allowed a fair return on its capital. The earnings would go, first, to the payment of taxes; second, to cover operating expenses; third, a return to the company on its capital an amount to the city for the use of its streets, road repairs, contingency funds, etc. Lastly, any surplus would be apportioned as follows: 50 per cent toward the reduction of fares, 30 per cent to the city, and 20 per cent to the company.

The company values the street railway system at $2,500,000. On this it would expect from the city a return of 8 per cent, which, it was contended, was not unreasonable.

TWO DRIVERS ESCAPE IN MAIN CORNER BUMP

Autos of Dr. R. L. Annett and A. H. Arnold Collide Last Night.

No one was hurt in an auto collision at Dundas and Richmond streets last night, but the two machines in the mishap were slightly damaged. A car driven by Dr. R. L. Annett, 118 Wharncliffe road, was travelling north on Richmond when it collided with a car driven by Allan H. Arnold, 517 Oxford street, which was going south on Richmond and was endeavoring to make a left hand turn to go east on Dundas street.

Mr. Arnold's car suffered a damaged running board and rear fender, while Dr. Annett's car had the left front fender torn off.

SEPTEMBER RAINFALL AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Weather Bureau Reports 4.71 Inches Fell in Month—October To Be Dry.

September was a wet month, the weather bureau reporting a rainfall of 4.71 inches as compared with slightly over 2 inches for the previous month. Last year 4.54 inches of rain fell in September.

September of this year was not as cool as last, the lowest recorded temperature being 35 on the 23rd. The highest was 86 on the 20th. Last year in September the mercury fell to 32, while 83 was the highest point it attained.

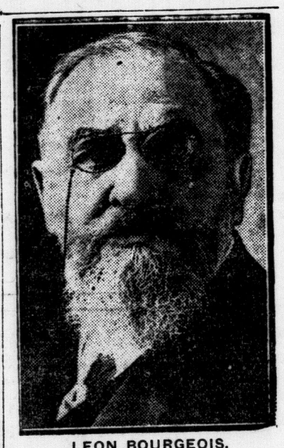

A dry, cool October is predicted by the weather prophets.

RAWLEIGH COMPANY SUES.

A supreme court writ for $2,111.46 has been issued by the W. T. Rawleigh Company, of this city, against J. H. Regembal, W. J. Laforest, A. Forgette and E. Brunnel, all of Sudbury. The amount is for goods sold and delivered to Regembal, who is a merchant at Sudbury. The other three defendants are his guarantors.

TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL SESSION

Over 125 From East Middlesex Inspectorate Gather at Court House.

The opening session of the two-day convention of the East Middlesex Teachers' Institute members was held at the court house this morning. The attendance was so large that it was necessary to hold the meetings in the court house instead of the county council chambers, which had been rented for the occasion.

Over 125 teachers were present when the president, W. G. Rigney opened the convention at 10:30. The reading of the minutes was followed by a stirring address by Rev. H. B. Storey, who spoke on the relationship of the school and church.

President W. G. Rigney, S. S. No. 22, London, after welcoming the teachers to the convention, which he knew would be fraught with much good, spoke on the human elements in education, declaring that the outstanding characteristics of present day education is the application of scientific methods to the study of educational problems.

A Modern Conception.

Individuals differed as much intellectually as they do physically, Mr. Rigney declared. Modern educators were no longer satisfied with the medieval conception which insisted that the function of education was to develop the individual to the highest capacities of which he was capable.

People must be educated into and not out of the era in which they were to function.

"The ultimate aims of education cannot be formulated in terms of subject matter," said the president. "An educated man must, first of all, use his own language precisely and accurately and to some extent, gracefully.

"Whatever else an education does or fails to do for the Canadian boy or girl, it ought certainly to inculcate in him and her a respect for this wonderful heritage of ours, the mother tongue.

"An educated man is one who gets the facts, and he reaches no conclusions till he gets them. He is also a gentleman, and properly regardful of the rights, liberties and privileges of others.

"The educated man has trained himself for some useful service, and will be a credit to society and himself," said President Rigney in conclusion.

Afternoon Speakers.

This afternoon F. F. Macpherson, B.A., addressed the teachers on "Correlation as a Time-Saver." His address was followed by a paper given by Miss Wanless Evans on the use of pictures in the classroom.

S. B. McCready, B.A., spoke on the Junior Red Cross, and Miss Elsie Ferguson on nature study.

SIX LONDONERS AMONG WINNERS

City School Athletes Do Well at Big Provincial Meet.

Six students from London figured in the list of winners at the athletic meet for primary and secondary schools of the province, held yesterday at the University of Toronto stadium under the direction of the Ontario athletic commission. Teams from all parts of the province were present, and that from Western Ontario made a particularly good showing.

Among the Londoners, the performance of Douglas Westman of the technical school was the most notable. He won first place in the collegiate senior shotput, using a 12-pound shot, his distance being 40 feet 11¾ inches. In the javelin throwing he came third, the winner of this event clipping five feet off the previous record.

E. Smith won third place in the primary school 120-yard hurdles. G. Ford, of the south collegiate, came third in the high school junior running high jump. A. Taylor came second in the junior high school running broad jump. R. Ginsberg, also of London, came third in this event. J. Rankin, central collegiate, came third in the intermediate 440-yard race.

HOBO TRIO WILL MOVE IN SECTIONS

Court Frees One Today, But Other Two Must Stay For Cleaning-Up Process.

Knighthood is no longer in flower, Magistrate Grayton told three men in court this morning after he had dubbed them "knights of the road," and they smilingly acknowledged the title.

In modern phraseology they were tramps, they learned, and the present police court mode of expression is "vagrant."

So Stanley Harper, Norman Liptrot and James Weir answered charges of vagrancy. They pleaded not guilty, and with battered countenance, dishevelled hair and general shabby appearance, stood aside to hear the evidence of two police constables.

"From information received," one commenced, "we went to Hill street, where we found two men begging on the street. They were drunk. We found another later. He was in the same intoxicated condition. When they told us that they were out of work and had just arrived in the city we took them to police station."

James Weir, spokesman for the trio, explained.

"We heard there was work in London and came here to find jobs. We were only in the city 20 minutes when the cops pinched us."

But Weir stuttered and stammered when cross-questioned by Magistrate Graydon. He declared that they were accosted on the street by an unknown man who gratuitously gave them a drink of whiskey. As for the begging, he took issue with the constables and declared that he had never asked for money in his life.

Then Liptrot took up the story and attempted to persuade the magistrate they were honest and respectable. Harper remained silent.

"We'd better split this trio up and let them go their individual ways," Chief Birrell suggested.

Weir was instantly freed, and escorted to the Lambeth highway in the police patrol. He commenced his trek to St. Thomas, where work awaited.

Liptrot will be allowed to leave jail tomorrow, and Harper will be sent on his way Saturday. Weir was given his freedom first because of a more cleanly appearance than his compatriots. It will take Liptrot one day to clean up, the magistrate estimated, and Harper two days.

CARLING SUBSTATION CUT-OVER COMPLETED

Downtown Places of Business Being Supplied Through New Transformers.

Downtown stores and places of business are today being supplied with hydro power from the new Carling street sub-station, A. O. Hunt, assistant general manager of the public utilities, states. The cut-over from the Horton street station was completed early this morning, which means that commercial lighting customers in the downtown area will be supplied from the Carling street sub-station. The new sub-station will take care of further business to the north of the stores area later on, Mr. Hunt intimated.

ONE-CENT SALE AT STANDARD DRUG STORES

For This Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

One page 3 of yesterday's paper Standard Drug Stores presented almost a full-page advertisement of one-cent sale items for this week. They state that this is their last one-cent sale for this year. The plan of this sale is that you purchase any article listed at the regular retail price and they will sell you another of the same kind for just one cent, which means, of course, that you pay practically only half-price for any of the articles they have advertised. Standard Drug Stores introduced the one-cent sale idea to London citizens over ten years ago, and the fact that they have been offering similar sales at regular intervals ever since is evidence of increasing popularity of one-cent sales with the buying public. We are informed that this novel sale ranks equal to any merchandising event Standard Drug Stores have ever held. Note they suggest you make a list of your needs before going up town. This, no doubt, will save you time and avoid running the risk of omitting a good opportunity to save money.—Advt. b

ADJOURNMENT GRANTED IN KOSTICK LIQUOR CASE

Philip Kostick, charged by special provincial officers with the illegal sale of liquor, was bailed on a $400 bond in this morning's court to appear in a week for trial. Adjournment of the case was asked by Inspector Sarvis of Toronto.

Kostick was arrested a week ago on the bootlegging charge, following a visit to his place of business by liquor "spotters."

COUNTRY NEEDS UNIVERSITY MEN

Prof. Freeman, at Civil Service Research Parley, Discusses Point.

Emphasizing the need for the education of government employees, Prof. R. E. Freeman, M.A., B.L.H., department of political economy of the University of Western Ontario, this morning addressed the delegates gathered at the Canadian civil service research conference. The sessions are being held in the college of arts. Professor Freeman answered the question: "Does a Government Require a Personnel Organization?"

"In the minds of most people who are in sympathy with the recent developments in local government, there is no doubt about the answer to the question that a government requires a personnel organization," said Professor Freeman. "The success of the civil service commission in connection with central governments, the experience of private business, the personal control in American states and municipalities, the increase in the size and complexity of the modern city and its problems, compel us to answer the question in the affirmative.

Concerning the education of the government employee, Professor Freeman said that it was one of the important aspects of personnel work. It required the co-operation of the educational institutions of the country. The speaker pointed out that in Great Britain the higher ranks of the civil service were recruited by special arrangements with the universities.

Hard to Specialize.

It was the opinion of Professor Freeman that steps should be taken in Canada to bring the government service and the universities into closer touch. It was obviously difficult for a small institution to specialize in one branch of educational work, and even in the University of Western Ontario it had been possible to introduce but one course in municipal government.

Of the civil service commission in Canada, Professor Freeman said that it began to operate with a negative policy of prohibition and developed a positive policy of construction.

It was first concerned with the task of preventing the entrance of inefficient help into the public service. The competitive examination was a protection against the incompetence of the patronage hunter. Today the commission aimed not merely to exclude the undesirables; not merely to obtain skillful public servants, but also, to increase their skill through training.

The secret of the success of civil service reform lay in the appointing of good men and securing the continuance of effort after they had been appointed. To accomplish this the various tasks had to be standardized and graded. Definite pay and promotion policies had to be formulated, and a regular procedure for the dismissal and the retirement of employees had to come into being.

Just Big Business.

Prof. Freeman, like several of the speakers at the conference, likened the business of government to any other big business of today. In large industrial plants the heads were so far away from active participation of the labors of thousands of employees that it was necessary to have a personnel to look after certain details of the labor activities. This was seen in production, costs, sales and other departments.

A consideration of several of the cities employing civil service commissions was then taken up.

R. Fraser Armstrong, M.C., C.E., superintendent of the Kingston General hospital, Kingston, then addressed the delegates on the "Relation of Public Hospital Administration to Municipal Taxation."

Mr. Armstrong said that the first duty of the hospital was to care for the sick. The hospital was a unit of organization in the community. It should be well organized. The executive should be capable so that the organization could be operated efficiently.

"The public hospital receive a considerable support from taxation," said the speaker. "It is right, therefore, that the municipal and governmental organizations should have a general control over the adoption of building schemes and the promotion of new services. These services and schemes might possibly develop into a taxpayer's responsibility in either hospital rates or taxes."

It was pointed out that it should not be inferred that the municipal bodies should be privileged to indulge in petty interference with hospital administration. Each new idea could be studied and commented upon by community planning and information bureaus, particularly where the future taxes of the citizen were concerned.

Needs Differ.

The extent of hospital facilities needed in a community could not be determined in terms of ratio of bed capacity of population, said Mr. Armstrong. Consideration had to be given to the type of industry, transportation facilities, characteristics of population, financial condition of the citizens and the progressiveness of the district.

The effect of a highly specialized medical staff would attract patients from far off points. The services of the hospital should be available to every person in the community. The citizens could be divided into three classes, the charity patients, people in moderate circumstances, and those who were well off.

Thanks to provincial regulations the poor in almost all sections could take advantage of hospital services. The average citizen, however, was under a great financial burden when the need of hospital facilities was felt. His resources were used in raising and educating a family, and when sickness visited the home he usually found himself in a serious financial condition.

Many such citizens avoided using the hospital except in extreme cases for that reason. Hospital authorities were satisfied that this was one of the big problems confronting administrative bodies at present.

A paper prepared by W. V. Newson, B.A., M.Sc., deputy provincial treasurer of Alberta, was read by Dr. H. L. Brittain. In this paper on provincial and municipal taxation in Alberta, the problems of taxation, the natural adjustments in taxation and difficulties and remedies were taken up.

There had been criticism of the lack of system with respect to taxation; that the mode of taxation should be scientifically revised. It was shown that the ultimate aim of such an idea would be to tax each adult citizen on an equitable basis according to his ability to pay.

The first obstacle to be faced would be that there were at least three and sometimes more taxing authorities. It would be necessary to secure data concerning the financial circumstances of each individual, and the taxes collected from him by each body.

Licenses and Fees.

Bearing on this would be the indirect contributions in the form of licenses and fees. Then there would be the question of funded and unfunded income, and again the deciding whether the progressive tax is right.

The paper showed that although opinion had it that many methods of tax imposing and gathering were haphazard and inadequate, it should be remembered that the legislature, consisting of elected representatives of the people, had the final decision on questions of imposts, and those men represented the fickle body of public opinion. Any well founded grievance that might exist in any phase of taxation was sure to be remedied in the course of time by people demanding a change in revenue laws.

Of the problems in Alberta, the speaker said that they were great. The province contained wide stretches of prairie, foothills and waterways that had to be crossed. Irrigation was an expensive item. These things called for schemes of transportation, drainage and irrigation.

It was pleasing to note that governments and peoples alike everywhere were realizing that the solution of the difficulties of balancing the budget at this particular period was not increased taxation, but reduced expenditures and a strong influx of a good type of settlers.

Lieut.-Col. Walter James Brown, executive secretary of the university, occupied the chair.

Still Time To View Parks; Tulip Planting Next Week

Citizens who want a last look at the magnificent bloom in Springbank and Victoria parks should not delay the trip much longer, for at the beginning of the week the parks department will proceed to dismantle the flower beds to make way for 25,000 tulips and daffodil bulbs.

"We have a lot of work ahead of us, and it must be accomplished in a short time," said Parks Superintendent Graham today. "The bulbs will be planted in Victoria, Springbank and Queen's parks, and we must start to get the beds in shape next week."

The parks still look very beautiful, as the frost has yet to pay us a visit. Last year there was a big frost on the evening of Sept. 23 which destroyed the foliage plants.

Canadian Auto Industries Employ More Than 100,000

Exceptional Progress Is Made During Ten Years, Figures Show.

BOOKLET ISSUED

Vehicles Worth $37,991,281 Were Exported in 1924—Is Seventh Trade.

More than 100,000 persons are employed in the automotive industry in Canada, according to the 1925 edition of a booklet issued by the automotive industries in Canada. During the last ten years the industry has progressed in leaps and bounds, until in 1924 56,655 motor vehicles were exported from Canada. The value of these totaled $37,991,281, and exports went to practically every country in the world, some going to the United States.

In value of Canadian products of all classes, the industry stands seventh. At the top is agriculture. It is interesting to note, however, that while the industry stands seventh in total value of production, it stands fourth in exports. It, too, should be noted that for many years Canada imported more motor vehicles than she manufactured. Today Canada exports twice as many as she imports, and the tendency should be even more marked in the immediate future.

In 1923 and 1924, the federal government collected $32,000,000 in customs duties, sales and excise taxes on motor vehicles, parts and engines, while the provinces collected $24,000,000 in fees of various kinds—a total of $56,000,000 collected in two years on motor vehicles, or an average of $28,000,000 per annum. Allowing $3,000,000 for customs drawback, a net revenue of $25,000,000 accrues to the dominion and provinces from motor vehicle use.

Ontario has a big lead over all provinces in the number of registrations, 308,693 being in use in 1924. To those who regard license fees as high, it will be a surprise to know that the average license costs only $15.50, the lowest in the dominion with the exception of the Yukon, where it is only $10. Only 111 vehicles are registered there, however. The highest average is in British Columbia, where the minimum cost is $29.59.

POPULATION RISES 47 IN SEPTEMBER

Vital Statistics Show 133 Births and 86 Deaths—Marriages Were 75.

Records of the city vital statistician show that London's population was increased by at least 47 during the month of September, that figure representing the difference between the number of births and the number of deaths.

During the past month there were 75 marriages solemnized, one less than for the same month last year.

There were 133 births, 73 of which were male babies. A year ago there were 140 births in September, the number of male and female babies being equally divided.

Last month there were 86 deaths, 48 male and 38 female. This is a considerable increase over the 64 recorded in September, 1924, when only 26 male deaths were recorded.

Health statistics for the month of September are not yet available, though Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, reports considerable increases in the number of cases of summer complaint, summer influenza and a few cases of disease placed under quarantine.

ITINERANT WORKERS FOR MISSION FIELDS

Expedient Adopted by Toronto Meeting Attended by Londoner.

So acute is the need for missionaries in the western provinces that a joint session of the Presbyterian board of home missions, the Methodist board of evangelism and the home missions committee of the Methodist church, held in Toronto yesterday, gave undivided approval to the temporary expedient of employing itinerant missionaries to cover remote sections in Western Canada. These missionaries will work under the United church. Rev. George N. Hazen of Centennial church was a London representative at the conference.

An appeal will be made to students in universities and colleges to undertake the work. The conference was convinced that the prevailing shortage will continue indefinitely.

The conditions are more acute in the prairie provinces, but the need extends to certain sections in Northern Ontario. Many posts which provide a manse and an adequate salary are unable to secure ordained clergy.

This condition of affairs came as a surprise. The belief seemed to prevail that union had created a surplus of clergy. Such was actually the case only for a short period. Definite action to alleviate the situation is expected shortly.

LABOR'S PLATFORM FINALLY EVOLVED

Executive Will Submit It at Open Convention Friday Night.

With the adoption last night of a platform, London labor's entry into the federal joust of Oct. 29 took another step toward actuality. Tomorrow night at an open convention of city workers, the platform will be offered for approval and a candidate will be chosen from one of the five nominees.

Sitting in special session, the executive of the London labor party last night considered the suggestions as to policy received from locals and from the city branch of the communist party, and drafted a platform which, it believes, reflects accurately the massed sentiments of district working men.

Arthur Mould, president of the party, acted as chairman.

NEW EIGHT-CENT STAMP NOT AVAILABLE HERE

Although a new eight-cent stamp for postage of letters to foreign countries has been issued, according to reports from the postal department at Ottawa, none of the stamps have been received at the postoffice here.

Assistant Postmaster W. H. Skinner said today that no advice of the new stamps arriving here had been received to date.

Postal workers said that the lack of an eight-cent stamp would work no hardship as people were not used to them and would in all probability take a couple of stamps of lesser denominations which totalled the desired amount.

SEEKS RECOVERY OF DIAMOND RING

W. J. Wilson Enters Action Against Pawnbroker of This City.

Recovery of a diamond ring worth $1,600, and upon which he claims Thomas Fox, pawnbroker, loaned him $95, is sought by William John Wilson, railway mail clerk, of this city. He has repaid $130 to the pawnbroker and his successor. The case will be heard at the non-jury sittings of the county court.

The defendant claims that in reality he loaned the plaintiff $410 at various times, in small amounts, keeping the ring as security. The defendant says he is ready to deliver the ring when this amount plus interest is paid. The plaintiff alleges that he was given no pawn ticket, which the defendant denies.

At the end of 1922 Wilson pawned the ring for $30. Between that time and January, 1924, he states he obtained further loans totaling $35. The sum of $95 was the total amount loaned him, he claims. By June, 1924, he had repaid the defendant $130, but delivery of the ring was refused.

HARLTON FAR DISTANT, IS POLICE CONCLUSION

Every available clue as to the whereabouts of Edward Harlton, wanted for the murder of County Motorcycle Officer Jack Waddell, has been run to earth, according to High Constable Wharton. For a couple of weeks after the crime the high constable made daily trips, when reports of Harlton having been seen would reach him. For the past week, however, nothing new has come from any source, and the conclusion has been reached that Harlton is many miles away.

IZENS TO VOTE ON SCHOOL CADETS

peace there came a demand for the abolition of school cadets. Even in London, long a barracks city, the movement was no less concerted than elsewhere.

In the Limelight.

The controversy was brought directly under the limelight last winter when the 1925 council launched into the estimates of the board of education and came upon a request for a $2,500 grant for the purchase of cadet uniforms and sent the item back to the board.

The official communication did not reach the board in time for its final estimates meeting. However, S. F. Lawrason, chairman of the school board, stated in council that if the aldermen would endorse the grant this year he personally saw no reason why the issue should not go before the electorate in December.

As a matter of fact, the hands of the council were bound by provincial regulations. The council could not pare the estimates of the education board. The city wanted to abolish cadet training reforms had to come from within the school board or follow an expressed opinion of the people at a general election.

Therefore the $2,500 grant for cadet uniforms was passed, though Ald. McKay pointed out that it was five times the expenditure in the previous year. Since that time further cadet expense has been incurred by means of a loan secured through the Smallman & Ingram firm.

Expenditure $5,000.

So far as the school authorities are concerned, they contend that the burden of cadet uniform purchase does not fall upon the municipality, as the provincial department of education makes yearly grants. Expenditure this year will exceed $5,000 for cadet purposes here, but this is considered an initial investment which will be taken care of during the next few years by departmental grants.

Labor's drive against militarism was given considerable encouragement by a statement from Col. E. C. Dean of the Royal Canadian regiment, a speaker at a banquet held by the G. W. V. A. last winter. Col. Dean is credited with having stated that the cadets of today are the potential defenders of the country tomorrow. This statement was interpreted as clearly defining cadet training as military instruction.

School boys can be given plenty of healthful instruction in the way of physical drill and games, without the use of rifles, Ald. Frank McKay declares. They can be taught discipline and given excellent physical drill without the use of uniforms. He points to work of De La Salle high school boys, who have shown considerable merit in their athletic training.

MACHINE OPERATED SUNDAY; FINE IMPOSED

Thomas Linfield and John Creery Charged With Breach of Lord's Day Act.

For operating a machine at their place of business on Sunday and manufacturing a small quantity of knitted goods, Thomas Linfield and John Creery were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning for a breach of the Lord's Day act.

Linfield and Creery explained that they worked for a few hours in repairing a machine so that it could be put into immediate use on Monday morning, and that when police officers heard the machines in operation the knitted goods were being made only as a test.

James Smith Pays For Leaving House Lying Around For 48 Hours.

COURT HEARS EXCUSE

It was a race against time, James Smith told Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning, as he explained the cause of a sudden halt during the rush hour of Richmond and Fullarton streets in the transportation of a frame cottage from one lot to another on Monday. Stranded for more than 48 hours because the street railway company refused to let the structure pass over the Richmond street tracks, it obstructed traffic at one of the busiest intersections in the city, and as a result Smith faced a charge in this morning's court.

It was five minutes late in traversing the Fullarton street course, according to schedule, and Smith was fined $10 and costs for his tardiness and lack of foresight in not making proper arrangements in the home stretch.

"I did make arrangements, though," Smith protested before the magistrate today. "The plan was to have the house pass the car tracks at 6 o'clock in the morning before the service on the railway commenced. We were held up for awhile by the limb of a tree which overhung the road and obstructed the house. The house was brought on a level with the tracks just as the cars commenced to come along and officials of the railway refused to let me pass."

"Merchants on all sides of the street were very indignant," said the magistrate. "I never heard of such mismanagement."

Smith reiterated his excuses, volubly protesting and declaring that it was not his fault. He had obtained three permits to have the house moved, he declared, and arrangements had been made with the street railway for the wires to be lifted to let the house pass over the tracks.

"It was entirely your fault," Mr. Graydon contradicted. "If you leave a house in the street again for two days you will be fined $50."

TRUSTEE MURRAY FAVORS UNIFORMS

possible, but was prepared to support Mr. Murray at the board meeting.

"If parents themselves would take the matter up it would be a great thing," said Mrs. Hunt. "It is certainly up to them."

"In the best and most expensive private schools where tuition costs run into he thousands, the girls are compelled to wear plain and inexpensive uniforms. Why they won't let them powder their noses in some of these schools, I know that for a fact. The girls are not allowed to wear jewelry either."

"A year ago nearly all the girls at the London South collegiate wore middy blouses as a result of a campaign put on among the mothers and in the school itself, and I don't see why all the girls don't follow suit. They could learn to wash the middies and would save their mothers much work and laundry bills."

Children Sensitive.

Trustee G. F. Copeland, a public school principal a few years ago, stated that he knew how sensitive children were about dress. He didn't think that the board had power to deal with the matter, but he thought a uniform for girls attending school was a move in the right direction.

"There should be no aristocracy but the aristocracy of brains," said Mr. Copeland.

Mrs. Jean Rose, also a member of the board stated that the mothers' clubs had threshed out the idea several years ago and it was finally left to the discretion of the mothers as to what their children should wear to school. Mrs. Rose said that she had visited the collegiate last year and no less that two-thirds of the girls were dressed in middies and blue skirts. Recently she stood on Waterloo street and watched the girls leaving central collegiate and was quite impressed with the little washed dresses the girls were wearing. She thought they were most suitable.

REVISION OF BRIDGE PLANS HAS STARTED

Engineer of One Company Comes to City Today to Measure Site.

Engineers of two bridge companies have commenced revision of plans for the building of a structure to replace the old Victoria bridge on Ridout street. An engineer from one company was in the city today making measurements on the site.

Some time ago the Hamilton Bridge Company and the Canadian Bridge Company submitted plans for the reconstruction of the Ridout street traffic bridge. New demands have been made in connection with access to South London and the city engineer has requested revision of old plans.

SEEK SIX BUSES FOR CITY ROUTES

New Firm Strives To Get Machines n Hamilton—May Start Soon.

Efforts are being made in Hamilton today to secure six Graham buses for operation here by the new London bus company. Representatives of the new firm are interviewing Hamilton producers this afternoon and hope to be able to come to some agreeable purchase arrangement.

Indications are that, if the Hamilton trip is successful, the bus company will be able to carry out its operating plans within a few days and inaugurate bus service in South London and other parts of the city.

A special meeting of the city council is awaiting developments, and if prompt action is taken by the bus company, a franchise agreement will be taken up by the city solicitor and submitted to the electorate in the December elections.

INDOOR BOWLS ADDED TO CITY HALL SPORTS

Athletic Enthusiasm of Municipal Club Goes On Apace.

New inroads have been made into the athletic enthusiasms of members of the city hall sports and social club. This time the city hall folk have decided to take a sporting fling at indoor bowling and have formed a league which purports to incite the indulgence of the species "five-pin."

In order that the bowling premieres of the city treasurer's office may not become affiliated with any one rink or team as they are called in indoor bowling, all groups have been divided into professional and novice players. Men and ladies will bowl on the same teams.

Noise Drives Him To Lonely Island

Associated Press Despatch.

Leicester, Eng., Oct. 1.—The noise of motor traffic in Leicester has got on the nerves of Sir Arthur Wheeler, a millionaire stock broker of this city. So he has bought an island to get away from the honking of the horns and the staccato barkings of the cut-outs.

Sir Arthur, who is 65 years old, has invested $750,000 in Brownsea Island, Poole Harbor, which formerly was the property of the monks of Cerne. There he will live in a castle built in the time of Henry VIII, far away from the din of the motors.

WIFE PURCHASED CLOTHES, HUSBAND DECLINES BILLS

The wife got the clothes, but the husband got the bills, seems to be the basis for a suit of R. J. Young & Co. for $271 against Jennie Ramsay and the estate of the late Hamilton Ramsay. The various articles of clothing were secured by Mrs. Ramsay over a period of six months. When the firm rendered a bill to the husband, payment was refused.

The defence statement cites the fact that Mr. Ramsay, prior to the purchases, published a notice stating he would not be responsible for his wife's debts. Certain of the clothes were purchased for the children of Mrs. Ramsay, for whom Mr. Ramsay was in no wise responsible, the statement claims.

The case will be heard at the next non-jury sittings of the county court.

PLANS UNDER WAY TO FOIL SMUGGLERS

New Regulations Expected To Put Quietus on the Traffic.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Regulations for the suppression of smuggling between Canada and the United States approved recently by the governments of the two countries were made public last night. Provisions are announced to prevent clearance of small motorboats and similar craft for points in Cuba and Mexico where it is suspected that the cargo is intended to be smuggled into the United States or Canada; and for the exchange of information regarding persons engaged in the narcotic traffic.

The regulations also contain restrictive provisions respecting shipments of liquor while in transit through Alaska into the northwestern part of Canada.

These regulations, which were drafted by representatives of Canada and of the United States at a conference held in Washington in August, are designed for the purpose of giving practical effect, it is stated, to the treaty signed last year by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, and United States Secretary of State Hughes, and ratified here by parliament at its last session. Provision is made for the immediate transmission of advance information respecting the clearance of vessels to any port "when there is reasonable ground to suspect that the cargo is intended to be smuggled into the territory of either of the contracting parties, and for the refusal by customs officers of the two governments of clearances of vessels when it is evident from the tonnage, size and general cargo of the vessel or the length of the alleged voyage to be undertaken that the application for clearance contains false statements regarding the actual destination of the shipment." It is stated that the purpose of the provision is, for instance, to prevent clearances of small motorboats and similar craft for points in Cuba and Mexico.

Close co-operation by officers along the border and between the chief of the narcotic division, department of health, Ottawa, and the chief of the narcotic division, treasury department, Washington, for the identification of traders in narcotics is provided for.

"Automobiles, furs and other valuable property," records the statement, "have been stolen in the territory of one country and afterwards seized by the customs authorities of the other while the thief was attempting to smuggle it through the customs without the payment of duty."

Arrangements, it is stated, have also been made for obtaining evidence, including the production of records and the execution of judicial process, in cases in which the tes- United States is needed to complete timony of officers of Canada or of the proof required under the law. There is also prescribed a procedure to be followed in case it becomes necessary to convey a prisoner through Canadian or United States territory to the place of trial.

INDIAN FALL FAIR BREAKS RECORDS

Civil Suits Dismissed With Costs at Lambton Fall Assizes.

VICTIM BURIED

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Sept. 30.—The annual fall fair of the Sarnia Indian reserve this afternoon set a new record, with an attendance of 3,000 people. The fair, which takes one afternoon only, was the usual big attraction to city folks as well as to visitors from other Indian reserves in the county. During the afternoon there was an interesting program of Indian pony races and sports for the Indians, the white people taking a very keen interest in the contests.

It is in the exhibits, however, that the Indians lead. While the livestock, grains and fruits are well up to the standard of exhibits at other fairs, and considerably better than some, the displays of Indian craft, the cookery and the dairy work done by the Indian women, and above all the beautiful basket-craft, which find ready purchasers among white folk, stimulate a more than usual interest in the show building.

Among the outstanding winners in horses were: John Nahmabin, Wm. Nahmabin, Thos. Maville, James Riley and Levi Plain; in cattle, Philip, George and James Elford and Levi Plain; in poultry, Thos. Maville, James Elford and Elijah Maness.

Suit Dismissed.

The non-jury civil suit of Percival Ernest Jackson against his brother, Hubert Ernest Jackson, both of Sarnia, was dismissed with costs by Mr. Justice Wright after testimony and arguments had been heard. The plaintiff claimed $1,088 for board and lodging of the father, the late Wm. Jackson, who died early this year. The defendant was executor of the estate.

Case Dismissed.

The suit of F. C. Lagrice against Lesueur, McKinley, Lesueur & Dawson, previously reported discontinued, was likewise dismissed with costs.

Shand, who was fatally injured on the London road provincial highway just outside the city limits on Monday afternoon, when she was struck by an auto, were held at the Gospel Hall, Davis street, this afternoon. Last rites were conducted by Mr. Wilkie of Grand Bend, and interment was made in Lakeview cemetery. Four young girls, Jennie Hodges, Laura Lapham, Aileen Gravell and Olive Sherrill, were pallbearers. Many floral tributes were sent by friends of the family.

New British Act Puts Check On Flights Into Matrimony

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Oct. 1.—Young people who desire to rush into matrimony without their parents' consent will be up against a new act of parliament which came into force today. Under the guardianship of infants' act, a marriage license will be refused for persons under the age of 21, unless the written consent of both father and mother, (where both are living together), has first been obtained. As the law at present stands, the consent of the father is necessary to permit the marriage of any minor, but now the mother is placed in equal authority in the matter.

Provision is made that in the case of "absence, inaccessibility, or some disability" on the part of either father or mother, the other may give the sanction. Where a minor cannot obtain the consent of both parents to a civil marriage the case may be referred to the registrar-general, who will, if he deems it wise, dispense with the dissenting parent's consent; or, should he refuse to adjudicate, the persons seeking a marriage license ma[illegible] of sum

"How Can the Voter Choose?"

The Vancouver Province pictures Premier King labelling the Conservative policy tonic as deadly poison, while Meighen placards the Liberal policy tonic the same way. The Province asks, "How can the voter choose?"—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The answer to that question is not as difficult as the Vancouver paper might imagine. If two makers in cars made certain claims for their cars, the prospective purchaser would probably find them out. He'd know by the results under existing conditions. We apply exactly the same logic in nearly every line of work.

For instance, the Conservatives say Canada's trade is in a bad way, that the country is standing still. Another claims we are being swamped with U. S. goods. The Liberals claim such is the case, and we are making very good progress. We suppose that is the situation that prompts the Vancouver Province to ask "How can the voter choose?"

The voter can choose in exactly the same way as he would in picking out the motor car he eventually purchased—try it and base his decision on the results obtained. He can trace the development of trade just as accurately as he could judge the merits of the cars. Here is the proof:

In the fiscal year 1921, when Mr. Meighen was premier, Canada bought $29,700,000 more than she sold. That constituted an adverse balance of trade.

The next year, when the fiscal period ended at the close of March, just a few months after Mr. King's election, exports exceeded imports by $284,000,000. That was just the beginning. in the year after a full year's trial of King policies, the results were better and there was $142,700,000 plus exports.

After two years' trial the figures had gone up to $165,300,000, and in the 1925 period, three full years after Mr. King took office, the surplus of exports over imports stood at $284,000,000.

Take the other claim, that we are being swamped with U. S. goods. In the fiscal year 1921, Canada's unfavorable trade balance with the United States was $295,500,000; in 1922, $211,900,000. But in the fiscal year 1923 (Mr. King's first) the unfavorable balance with the United States was reduced to $160,700,000.

In the fiscal year 1924 (Mr. King's second) there was a further small reduction to $159,000,000.

And in the fiscal year 1925, ended last March, the unfavorable balance was only $81,500,000.

So there is something for the confused voter that the Vancouver Province is worrying about. We can judge by results. Comparing the two, they look like this:

Meighen's adverse balance, 1921....	$ 29,700,000
King's favorable balance, 1925.....	284,000,000
Meighen's adverse U. S. balance....	295,500,000
King's adverse U. S. balance.....	81,500,000

The voter looking at these figures will come to the conclusion that the King ministry has scored a decided success. The figures are there to prove it, and if the voter wants to judge fairly it is by such records that he should make his decision.

He Would Fill Up the Great Lakes.

If a man were to say it would be a fine thing to fill up the Great Lakes to the high water mark of other years, his remark might pass as an ordinary pleasantry. Were he to say "I can show how it can be done," he would be given a hearing.

The latter case of the man with a definite plan is exemplified in a book written by Wallace Nesbitt, formerly of The Advertiser, outlining in detail the proposals of C. Lorne Campbell, an engineer, for filling up the Great Lakes.

The enormity of the task is apparent even to one whose knowledge of size has been gathered from standing on the shore of any one in this great chain. Mr. Campbell says it can be done and a glance at a map of Ontario will help to visualize the method. North of Lake Superior is Lake Nipigon and beyond that the district of Patricia stretching to the shores of Hudson Bay and James Bay. The Albany river is a mighty stream draining this district into the salt water of James Bay.

Mr. Campbell would build two dams, one on the Albany, the other on the Ogoki, another river flowing into James Bay. His own description of the result is that "you create at once an artificial lake approximately two and a half times the size of Lake Ontario, a great storage basin to which will flow the fresh water of a million lakes and streams. . . . At the same time these dams are being erected, your engineers are cutting through the southern height of land and tapping the flow from your new lake into Lake Nipigon, and down through Nipigon river into Lake Superior."

Apart from this description, if read apart from a study of the map, fails to show exactly what is Mr. Campbell's plan, it is claimed, will control the lake levels for all time to come, bring hundreds of thousands of new horsepower hydro-electric plants along the route, millions now spent for harbor and channel dredging; restore the full cargo-carrying capacity to vessels that ply the Great Lakes; and make the waterways to the At-

is well worth recording that such a scheme has been suggested as the cure for one of the most urgent problems facing us today. The man who can tell us how to fill up the Great Lakes, and keep them full, has unearthed a mighty idea.

Not Afraid of Politics.

The acceptance of Liberal nomination in Northeast Toronto by Albert Matthews has a local interest to many Londoners. Mr. Matthews presided over the deliberations of the Ontario and Quebec association of Baptist churches, held in London last fall. There were several matters of a highly contentious nature, and the happy outcome of the session was due in no small degree to his frank dealings and wise counsel.

Mr. Matthews is chairman of the board of governors of McMaster university, and interested as well in many other activities that must make large inroads on his time. It is well worth noting that a man of his calibre and record, whose sympathies are largely identified with the furtherance of religious work, considers it his duty to offer his services in a federal election and is willing to throw himself into the rigors of the campaign.

It is an effective answer to the charge that politics is a game that has fallen into the hands of heelers and is not a fit thing for men to touch who want to live aloof from the world around them.

Getting Initiated.

Freshmen at the University of Western Ontario were initiated yesterday. The grouch, as he watched the pack of students decked with red paint and smeared with strawberry jam, might have said "Nonsense!" and passed on.

Still a fairly vigorous initiation is not a bad idea, provided the rules bar hitting in clinches, strangleholds, and biting sections from each other's legs, and as far as we have been able to learn these little defects were duly eliminated.

A young man starting to university is getting ready for his life work, and when he gets through his training he graduates into the greatest of all schools—that of practical experience with post-graduate work in the school of hard knocks.

An initiation such as he got yesterday will stand him in good stead, for he will find that where the sophomores dabbed his good looks with lampblack, there may be corners in the old world where people are waiting to put a little lampblack on his rosy prospects. Where the students of 1925 rubbed jam in his fine head of hair, the hard work of years to come may do still worse, and rub a little touch of gray in it, or perhaps rub much of it off entirely.

If he was able to keep his temper sweet and face his red paint and jam with a smile, the chances are he will be able to meet the world in much the same way when his school days are over.

Blatherskite

There is no way to close the mouths of politicians who are out to take a crack at the government by hitting the Canadian National Railways.

R. Nesbitt, at a Conservative gathering in Toronto, said "the manager of the C. N. R. was given an increase in order to make a deficit of millions."

This constant sneering at the manager of the National Railways, with a positive disregard for facts, is the cheapest brand of cheap politics. It is miserable and malignant, and evidence of a bias that would sacrifice a public property to secure votes to defeat the government.

Note and Comment.

A schoolyard fight is often the turning-point in the life of a spoiled child.

There are still fields to conquer, because no one has yet produced a canteloupe as big as a pumpkin.

An Ottawa judge says the parents of delinquent children should be punished. They quite often are.

A cat was born at Bonds Corners having six legs, probably getting the idea from watching the tourists roll by with two spare tires on the back.

All three political leaders are in the west. Mr. Forke ought to have Mr. King and Mr. Meighen over at his place the day he does the threshing.

New York man claims he got drunk from eating limburger cheese, and, strange as it may seem, there was no rush toward him to find out where he got it.

London announces a new style of Russian boot for women that reaches almost to the knee, but leaves about a foot of space yet for the cold wind to get in its nasty work.

Politicians using the collegiate auditorium must pay $15 per night. Tory meetings should pay $5 extra for added work to the janitor in getting the atmosphere straightened out for next day's schooling.

A despatch from Warsaw yesterday stated that "M. Tchitcherin called on President Wojciechowski, and later had luncheon with Premier Grabowski. In the afternoon he had another long talk with Foreign Minister Skrzynski and left last night for Berlin, where he is to undergo medical treatment." And the printer who put that in type remarked "Is it any wonder?"

Senator Rankin and H. B. Morphy, ex-M.P., who staged memorable political fights in North Perth, met at a complimentary banquet tendered to the senator, and stated they had never, in all their campaigns, made remarks personally derogatory to the other. Do they want to say that

Spare Him

Reformers want to purge the land and write more vitrol in our laws, but I will heave a jagged rock when they begin on Santa Claus.

Today I read about a chap who says there's too much trash abroad, he'd take the cream puffs and the cake and feed us on oatmeal and cod. He says how Santa Claus is wrong and fairy tales more wicked still, it is a crime to let folks read of Jesse James and Buffalo Bill.

So he would get a pail and mop and holler for a garbage can, he'd purge the way and make it fit for rearin' up the comin' man.

So I suppose he'd take them all, most likely start on Jack and Jill, and mop up, too, the other Jack who found a monster giant to kill. Then next would go that poor old girl who kept her family in a shoe, and bears would eat Red Riding Hood to make a yarn like that run true.

Old Mother Hubbard and her dog, it is a sinful yarn to spin, denying of that dog a bone was nothin' short of wanton sin. Miss Muffit likewise get from hence and eat your curds some other spot, come Cinderella, scamper out and blast no more your sister's plot.

Perhaps, Horatius, you can go and find some other job to do, instead of standin' on a bridge and carvin' husky men in two. Can Enoch Arden stick around and wander down the village street, and nurse the love he used to know and look for those he used to greet—or must he get a skiff at dawn and holler out to those below, that he be off unto the isle where he was stranded years ago?

But don't you tackle Santa Claus, he is a goodly friend of mine, and if you tamper with that gent I'll whack you with a slab of pine. And if you don't lay off at that I'll heave at you ten jagged rocks, for Santa Claus he brings to me a nightshirt and three pairs of socks.—ARK.

(From The Advertiser, Oct. 1, 1900)

Toronto Mail and Empire: A meeting of the London old boys was held last night in the Temple building. President Dr. Fred Winnett was in the chair. The treasurer's report, showing a balance after the outing at London, was read. It was decided to hold a series of smokers during the winter, and the following committee was appointed to look after the entertainment: A. E. Trebilcock, Edward Owens, Joseph Hickson, Attwell Fleming and John Kidner.

The dancing season opens at the Palace academy tonight, when the beginners' class for gentlemen will meet.

Messrs. Crossley and Hunter began a series of services at Petrolia yesterday.

There is to be a big time in St. Andrew's Society this winter. President Wanless presided at a meeting last night in Somerset hall and with A. S. McGregor and John W. Jones made a stirring speech. Various committees were appointed to canvass for members, after which Messrs. McDonald and Faulkner played several selections on the pipes.

The building at the southeast corner of Queen's and Park avenues has been leased by the St. Paul's Young Men's club, a new organization in connection with St. Paul's cathedral. It is intended that the building be fitted up for the young men as a place where they can spend their evenings socially and profitably. The club has a membership of 60 already. The officers are: Patron, the bishop of Huron; honorary president, the dean of Huron; president, Rev. Canon Dann; vice-presidents, Messrs. W. T. Strong, J. I. A. Hunt, J. A. McWhinney, Rev. Dr. Bethune; secretary, McKinley Millman; treasurer, Frank Slater; executive committee, Messrs. J. Hunt, W. Geary, J. H. Clucas, C. B. Callard, Oswald Smith, Stanley Culver, W. R. Meredith and George C. Gibbons.

To the Editor

Paying the $5 Tax.

Londoner With Wife in England Says He Considers It a Hardship to Be Taxed For Statute Labor.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—As a subscriber to your valuable paper, would you kindly inform me as to what amount of tax I should pay per year (if any), as I am a married man? My wife is in England. I have no property here and am only a poor workingman. Today the tax officer informed me I would have to pay $5 per year, the same as single men in this country, until my wife arrived out here. I don't see, when a man has a wife to support, at any time he should have to pay this tax. I am, Sir, A MONS HERO.

Answer—Householders and members of the permanent militia are exempt from statute labor tax. All other citizens, who are of legal age, and who do not pay income tax to the city, are assessed for statute labor tax. Unless you are a householder or can show proof that you are a taxpayer in England, there appears to be no relief for you. There is always the opportunity, of course, to enter an appeal to the court of revision on grounds of charity. Would suggest you discuss your case thoroughly with the city tax collector at the city hall. The city officials have no way of telling whether or not a man has dependents elsewhere when they assess him here.—Editor.

Agrees With Mr. Slimon.

Reader Believes First Duty of the Church Is to Start In and Make Clean Her Own Membership.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I wish to congratulate the Rev. J. H. Slimon, pastor of Adelaide street Baptist church, London, for his timely, common-sense words of Sept. 28, as appear in the columns of your valuable paper.

Rev. Mr. Slimon says "Let the church purify herself before cleansing the world." Sound doctrine! Bro. Slimon, if you would drive out of the church the high-stepping, low-necked, short-skirted steppers, card-playing, prize-chasing people, where would the church find material for singers and officers?

Yes, let the so-called church of the Living God cleanse herself, then go after officials of London fair. Let the church first "keep herself unspotted from the world," then let Rev. Millson clean up on the fair board. DISCIPULUS, London, Sept. 29.

Should a Wife Dress According to Hubby's Taste or by the Fashion Books? Breaking a Husband of the Cross Word Puzzle Habit.

Dear Miss Dix—Should I dress to please my husband? He wants me to wear my skirts down to my ankles, and my waist so high in the neck that it would choke me, and he objects very much to my bobbed hair, and to my using even the tiniest bit of rouge. I want to look good to him, but I certainly hate to look like a figure of fun to the balance of the world.

BEWILDERED WIFE.

Answer:

Just how much a woman should be guided by her husband's taste in dress depends altogether on how far he has qualified as an expert in such matters. I should think that Madame Worth and Madame Paquin, and the wives of the proprietors of smart dress shops and ladies' tailors, would do well to let their husbands pick out their clothes for them and abide by their advice.

But when it comes to Mr. Smith, and Mr. Jones and Mr. Robinson, and the common run of grocers and hardware men, who don't know peau de cygne from calico, and who couldn't tell the difference between elephant's breath and magenta, and who can't see why a year-before-last dress, provided it has no holes in it, isn't good enough to wear anywhere, why, they are out of their depths. They are laying down the law about a thing of which they know nothing, and they should be laughed out of court.

Of course, a wife desires above everything to present a pleasing appearance to her husband and call forth his admiration. Theoretically, therefore, she should dress to please him, but the trouble is that she doesn't please him when she dresses as he demands. For the poor, dear man doesn't really know what he likes.

In this case, for instance, he wants you to dress as his mother did twenty years ago. But if you would do it, he would wonder why you didn't look as nice as other women, why you were frumpy and unattractive. Unconsciously his eye is educated up to the short skirts and short sleeves and low necks of the present vogue, and whether he approves of them or not, the woman who hasn't them looks like a has-been to him. And he will let his eyes roam from her to some flapper who is dolled up in the latest abbreviated rags from Paris.

It doesn't do to take everything a husband says too seriously—especially when he theorizes about how a woman should dress. Just laugh at him and tell him that when he will wear a suit of clothes and whiskers like his father used to wear, that you will get a long, full skirt and a high-necked basque like mother used to wear.

In the meantime wear the prettiest clothes and the latest fashion that you can get!

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—How can I break my husband from working cross-word puzzles? Every evening he brings home a paper and sits down and begins working out a puzzle, and when I ask him anything he tells me to shut up.

CORRIE.

Answer:

Well, Corrie, one of the first things a wise woman finds out about a husband is that there is a time to speak and a time to keep silent. And one of the seasons when she should keep her tongue behind her teeth is when a man is raving frantically through the dictionary trying to find a word of one syllable that begins with I and ends with l, and that describes those daring creatures who rush in where angels fear to tread.

As for a remedy for breaking a man of the cross-word puzzle mania, there isn't any. It is an obsession while it lasts, and your comfort can be, that like all other crazes it will wear itself out after a while.

But why do you object to it? It is certainly an innocent and harmless amusement, one that stimulates the mind, and improves the vocabulary, and that has no objectionable features whatever. Moreover, it has the advantage of keeping a man at home, nailed to his own encyclopedia, and that should recommend it in all wives' eyes.

It is wives like you, who knock all of a man's fads and fancies and who quarrel about the time and money he ... his h... who ...

New Goitre Remedy

Great interest attaches to reports of a remarkable method for treating goitre recently demonstrated at the W. T. B. Laboratory, 3090 Y. M. C. A. Bldg., Battle Creek, Mich. It is used by the patient herself in her own home and it is said that the largest and most hideous goitres begin to recede almost in a day. They gradually get smaller until in three or four weeks they are often gone entirely. The treatment is perfectly safe for anyone to use and many believe it will prove the long sought specific for all goitres. A little book issued by the laboratory explains the method fully and will be mailed free for the asking to anyone interested.—Advt.

"MOTHER ROSS" IS GUEST IN CITY

Picturesque Head of White Light Mission Tells Story of Her Work.

AMONG PRISONERS

"Mother Ross," the dear friend of thousands of men and women who pass yearly through the prison gates at Buffalo, has come to London to make a brief visit. Founder of the White Light Mission, whose work she has carried on for the last 23 years, Mrs. John Ross is known throughout the continent as "the woman who knows how to smile." Her hair is a silvery white and forms a halo about a face which radiates cheeriness and motherliness. She is a guest with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Freeland, Dufferin avenue, where she is receiving her many friends.

"I was here last year," says Mother Ross, "and this time London seems like home. I know so many people. Last night she added another hundred or so to her list of London friends, when she addressed the prayer meeting of the Adelaide street Baptist church, telling about her work.

Visited Early Courts.

Mother Ross' duties begin early in the morning with the opening of the city court, when she meets the prisoners held overnight and prays with them. For fifteen years she arose in time to attend the early court, which opened at half-past six. Thousands of young women and girls passed through this court every year. At that time there was no probation officer. Mother Ross being the only human influence with whom prisoners came in contact, except the court officials. The value of her work in this connection cannot be estimated, but has grown as a great memorial to her.

After prohibition came into force it was not necessary to open court until 10 o'clock. And of the prohibition act Mother Ross cannot speak too highly.

"The eighteenth amendment is the greatest act ever known," she declares of the prohibition measure. "There would be no arrests at all if we could obtain law enforcement." In her own words, Mother Ross' work is "spreading the gospel and bringing souls into contact with Jesus," and to do this she works at the prison gates. She has been connected with mission work in Buffalo for the past 36 years and in rescue work among prisoners for the past 24 years.

Like a Memorial.

The White Light Mission, which stands as a memorial to her, was founded just 23 years ago, and was a sort of auxiliary to the anti-saloon league organized at that time. Each day she prays with the prisoners who have come in overnight, she gives a practical helping hand where it is needed and throws the doors of her mission wide open each night to provide sanctuary. She visits those in prison and is ready to assist those just emerging from the prison gates.

Volunteer helpers assist in this splendid work, and each year thousands are cared for, given food, clothing and assistance to get a new hold on life. In short, Mother Ross has more than earned her name, and those who have tested her "mothering" are still praising her for what she has done.

MISS A. L. O'NEIL,

of Dresden, who is on her way back to China to resume her missionary work after a year's furlough in Canada.

DRESDEN WOMAN RETURNS TO CHINA

Miss A. L. O'Neil One of First Missionaries To Go Back To Orient.

Special to The Advertiser

Dresden, Sept. 30.—One of the first missionaries to return to the mission field in China since the menace to British subjects is Miss A. L. O'Neil, who has been spending her furlough at her home in Dresden. Miss O'Neil received a cable recently, stating that conditions were such that she might return at once, so she left Toronto on September 25 for Vancouver and is now on the water, bound for the Orient.

Miss O'Neil is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neil, who died some 25 years ago. She was born in Oxford township and attended the school and church at Turin.

Her father was one of the first elders and was also superintendent of the Sabbath school for more than thirty years. In 1899 the family moved to Dawn and the parents both died a few years later. Some time afterwards Miss O'Neil took a two-years' course in the Presbyterian Deaconess Training school of Toronto and went to Honan, China, in 1909. She had been there for about fifteen years, going about with her Bible women, teaching and instructing the people on the Bible, before her visit to Canada. She also did nursing and visited the hospitals.

This was Miss O'Neil's second furlough. She was home in the year 1919. During her last visit she gave addresses on her work in many places. She was giving addresses in Muskoka when she received the word to return to her work in the foreign field.

It was at her home in China, where the raid was made when Dr. Menzies, a Canadian, was killed. Some three years ago robbers broke in her home, carried off her jewelry, what money she had and her trunk, which was found later with part of the contents in it.

It is expected that she will reach China early in November to resume her work, which has always been a pleasure to her. During her last seven years in China, a brother and sister passed away. She leaves in Canada one sister, Mrs. Archie McDirmand, concession 7, Dawn, and three brothers, Harry O'Neil, Rutherford, John O'Neil, Cairo, near Shetland, and William O'Neil, West Lorne.

NEW ST. JAMES HAS DEACONESS

Miss F. Margrett to Shortly Assume Duties as Strangers' Friend.

A new deaconess was recently appointed by the session and board of management of New St. James' Presbyterian church for services in that church. She is Miss Frances Margrett of Hyman street, who for some years has been a loyal worker in the W. M. S.

Miss Margrett will take up her duties shortly. Her work will be carried on principally among the stranger girls and women of this city and as a visitor and helper in the congregation of the church. In taking up this work here Miss Margrett will be the only active deaconess in the city.

She is the daughter of the late Rev. Albert Margrett, former pastor of the Olivet Congregational church, Toronto, and Mrs. Margrett, this city. Her early training was obtained at a missionary training school in Nyack, N. Y., and her course was completed with a six months' training at the nursing at home mission in Toronto. Later she was employed for some time as deaconess at Knox church, young women's house, Toronto.

GAS IN STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk)—is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.—"I am one of thousands who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. THOMAS H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere. C

SCHOOL AND FALL FAIRS ARE HELD AT GLENCOE

Records Are Set in Exhibits and Attendance This Year.

Special to The Advertiser.

Glencoe, Sept. 30.—Officials declare that the Mosa and Ekfrid fair, which closed tonight, was the best in the history of the society. Over 2,000 paid admissions were recorded today.

The school fair was combined with the fall fair today, and there was an interesting parade of school children to the grounds shortly before noon.

Exhibits in the school section vied with those of the fall fair for excellence in quality and arrangement, and all drew most favorable comment from visitors. Stock judging, public speaking and other competitions were keenly contested, and bespoke the careful training which teachers are giving as well as the real interest taken by the children.

Livestock exhibits were well up to standard, poultry exhibits not quite so numerous, roots, grains, fancy work and cooking exhibits excelling those of former years.

The horse races drew a large crowd and the events were very interesting, despite the cold weather.

"ENSEMBLE" NOW IS COSTUME SUIT

Tweed Coats Are Combined With Cloth Gowns and Suits With Jumpers.

New York, Sept. 30.—What could be more appropriate for football games this fall than pig skin gloves? At any rate, many young women who will attend the games will wear that type of hand covering. The gloves of this type are made without cuffs in extremely mannish style, or are of the pull-on variety. Motoring gloves of pig skin have grip palms.

The vogue for scarfs with evening dress is not yet past, but instead of being worn separately, many of them now constitute a part of the dress itself. They are fixed on the neck openings, and can either be twisted around the throat or allowed to fall down the back of the wearer.

"A rose by any other name," is a favorite maxim with the dressmakers. They wore out the term "ensemble" long before the costumes showed signs of wear. So now comes the costume suit, which is an ensemble under another name. Under that designation come tweed suits with cloth gowns, furred coats with satin frocks, and velveteen suits with smart separate jumpers.

One single broad strap marks the newest walking shoe for autumn. The latest sport shoes usually combine two shades of brown leather, with the strap, which fastens with a buckle, of the darker shade. The brown tones are chosen because they blend perfectly with the heather tints so noticeable in fall hosiery and sport suits.

Some people always put their largest bills on the inside of the roll. To such, one of the newest Parisian coats probably will appeal. It is of rich ribbed velvet, extremely plain on the outside, but with an individuality furnished by the skill with which it is cut. Within it is lined with Persian lamb, one of the season's most expensive and popular furs.

Mrs. Buzzard Shows Peter Rabbit the Finest Babies In All the World

"Good morning, neighbors," said she.

At the foot of a great stump in the Green Forest, Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare sat gossiping. They were talking about Ol' Mistah and Mrs. Buzzard. "I'm through looking for Mrs. Buzzard's nest," declared Jumper. "I don't believe she has a nest at all."

"Then where does she keep herself most of the time?" demanded Peter. "Anyway, if you cannot see Ol' Mistah Buzzard up in the blue, blue sky, you will find him on that favorite tall dead tree of his. But you don't find Ol' Mrs. Buzzard there except for a short time each day. Where is she the rest of the time? Ol' Mistah Buzzard said that she is sitting on two eggs. Of course, if she is sitting on eggs they must be in a nest. But how anybody as big as she can hide and remain hidden is more than I can understand."

Jumper was forced to admit that all Peter had said was true. Mrs. Buzzard did mysteriously disappear each day and such a disappearance could be accounted for in only one way; it must be that Mrs. Buzzard had a home somewhere. When Jumper had declared that he didn't believe Mrs. Buzzard had a nest, he really didn't mean that. It was simply his way of showing that he had given up all hope of finding out the Buzzard's secret.

For a little while Peter and Jumper sat side by side with their backs to that big stump and said nothing at all. You see, they felt they had said all there was to say. They sat there so long that both were beginning to doze. Suddenly Peter sat up with his ears standing straight up. He had heard a queer noise. At least he thought he had. He looked at his big cousin Jumper to see if Jumper had noticed it. Jumper was still dozing. Peter kept perfectly quiet, but he still sat with his ears standing straight up. He had just about made up his mind that he must have been mistaken when he heard that noise again, this time louder than before. Jumper also heard it and promptly sat up with his long ears pointed straight up to the sky. "What was that?" said he.

Peter shook his head. "I don't know," he replied. "I heard it once before. It seemed to come from back of us."

They both turned and started at the old stump. It was a big stump and it was too tall for them to jump up on. As they sat there staring at it they heard the noise again, and this time they knew where it came from. It came from inside that stump. There was no doubt about it. You should have seen them jump and run. But they only went a short distance, then turned and stared at the stump.

"That stump must be hollow," whispered Peter. "That stump must be hollow and there is somebody inside it. Who do you suppose it can be?"

"I haven't the least idea," replied Jumper.

At that very instant something happened which gave Peter and Jumper such a fright that they couldn't move. Without any warning at all a great bird with a bald, red head appeared on the edge of that old stump. It was Ol' Mrs. Buzzard herself. She had jumped up there from inside the hollow. "Good mo'ning, good mo'ning, neighbors," said she. "Aren't you going to congratulate me?"

"What for?" asked Peter when he could find his tongue.

"On two of the finest babies in all the Great World," replied Mrs. Buzzard proudly, as she turned and looked down inside that big stump.

Peter looked at Jumper and Jumper looked at Peter and such a funny look as there was on the face of each.

"Is—is your nest inside that stump?" Peter ventured.

"Mah home is. Ah don't know as you would call it a nest, but Ah done laid two eggs in there and now Ah done got two of the finest babies in all the Great World," said Mrs. Buzzard.

Peter began to laugh. It came over him that it was all a great joke on Jumper and himself. Day after day they had sat there close to Mrs. Buzzard's secret and never once had guessed it.

Walk and Two Home Runs Decide Game in Fourth.

VICTORS OUTHIT

Winners Helpless Against Quick For Eight of Nine Innings.

By J. C. B.
Special to The Advertiser.

Galt, Sept. 30.—Two lone hits of mammoth proportions definitely decided the fate of the London Braves for this season here today, and gave Niagara Falls the right to meet the Kingston club in the final for the O. B. A. A. senior title. The long-drawn-out squabble between the two teams was brought to its ultimate end, when the Cataracts emerged, battle-scarred, with a precious 3 to 2 victory.

In spite of everything that went against them, the Londoners fought back with a fierceness that found the Cataracts in the closing innings treading on a slim margin that threatened to fall at any turn. But the break failed to come. They were all on the other side. At that there were only two, and they came in the fourth frame, with Niagara Falls on the offensive. After all, the blame can be laid to inexperience, for Freddie Quick, the youthful member of the London hurling staff, became nervous when he walked Charlie Heximer. The Cataract player drew throws to first base three times, and when Quick decided to turn to Geisenhoff, the batter, he put one right in the groove. That was the turning-point. There was just one solid crack, and the ball went sailing over Sammy Silverstein's head in center field and out to the cars, and two crossed the plate before the ball was retrieved. Silverstein was playing close in when the hit came. Quick was still nervous, and after the next man had fled out to center he put another one in and the feat was duplicated, Cherrie hitting for the circuit.

Quick Masterful.

Outside of that one inning the Cataracts were out of the game entirely. Quick hurled deliberately and with the caution of a veteran. In eight frames the Falls batters swung wildly for weak bunts in the infield or high lazy flies to the outer gardens. It was a masterly exhibition and Quick did not deserve defeat. On the other hand "Lefty" Trapnell proved, as predicted, the real Horatius at the bridge, although most of the credit for the victory should be given to his two mates, who finished in with the clouts.

The choice of Trapnell came as a bombshell in the London camp, as Manager Bill Gaynon has declared that Phil Bova, the iron-man hurler, would be dishing up the curves. However, the sudden change in plans did not matter much, as the Braves hit the Cataracts as it was.

Won in Fourth.

After the disastrous fourth inning, when three runs were registered and the game was really won, the Londoners began to fall on Trapnell's delivery. The fifth brought back one run as the result of an error, a hit and a base on balls. Baker started in when he was safe, after Whalen made a pretty stop but spoiled his effort by a bad throw that drew Geisenhoff off the bag. Previously Ward had been swinging wildly at the ball, but this time he watted and drew a free pass as a reward. It was up to Freel Isaacs, the old reliable, to turn the trick after Quick had fanned, and he did. He caught one of Trapnell's slants for a drive through the box, Baker crossing the plate and Ward stopping at third.

That ended the proceedings for the time being, as Armstrong's choice popped Ward at the plate and Reilly popped out to Whalen.

The sixth was a reopening of the London struggle to catch up with the three-run lead of the Cataracts, which was beginning to assume monstrous proportions. The outlook was rather gray, as the first two men went out, Fillmore fooled around at the plate enough to bang out a smash to short, but Tommy stretched it and got safely on third when Whalen made the relayed throw.

Baker's Double Helps.

Baker followed the lead by grabbing out of his usual stunt of hitting 'em at 'em by whaling out a double to left, the ball taking a bad bound over Arscott's head. While Baker was sprinting around the paths Fillmore walked home, and everything looked rosy for the Braves to tie the count, but Ward terminated the rally by striking out.

Right here it might be mentioned that Ward was his old self in the field. He picked off hot smashes anywhere near his territory, but he couldn't deliver with the willow. Trapnell had his number.

The seventh, eighth and ninth were blanks as far as both teams were concerned. Quick and Trapnell had things pretty much their own way, and the affair became a hurling duel. Quick had a little the better of the play and was never in trouble, while the fork-hand twirler would have been in a nice mess on several instances had his support been the least bit wobbly.

Double Play Fatal.

An instance of this was in the ninth for a short space when Baker got on the paths after Don Heximer bobbled his roller back of the box. This revived the London hopes, but they were soon knocked for a row of ashcans when Frankie Ward hit into a double play that brought to a close one of the tightest series of the year.

The end was bitter for the Braves. They gave everything they had. Ball games like those that made up this series are usually decided by breaks, and the Londoners weren't on speaking terms with Lady Luck this time. However, it's all over and the alibis are scarce among London supporters. The Cataracts get the credit for displaying a fighting spirit equal to that of the Londoners.

ADA MACKENZIE OUT OF TOURNEY

Loses To Glenna Collett by Narrow Margin of One Up.

Associated Press Despatch.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—While Miss Glenna Collett of Providence was eliminating the Canadian champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, from the women's national tournament here today by the narrow margin of one up, Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser of Ottawa attained the semi-finals by her defeat of Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., 2 and 1.

A startling upset today was the elimination of Mrs. DoroNy Campbell-Hurd of Philadelphia, last year's champion, who succumbed in a terrific storm of wind and rain to Mrs. F. C. Letts of Chicago, 4 and 2. The most spectacular match to reach the home green was the international Mackenzie-Collett affair. The former U. S. champion won the struggle by scoring one under par for 18 holes. The Rhode Island girl was out in 37, only two above the men's par, but gained a lead of only one up, as the Canadian premier player totalled 39 including two birdies. Miss Collett got only one birdie on this nine, but she captured an eagle 3 on the 340-yard eighth one of the most difficult on the links.

Miss Mackenzie evened affairs by shooting an eagle 3 on the 400-yard eleventh, and won the next two holes in pars to be two up. Then the rain storm broke. Miss Collett snared a birdie on the 406-yard fourteenth, and a par five on the 487-yard fifteenth to square the match. She won the short sixteenth also with a par, and by halving the last two holes in five got the victory.

LONDON'S BEST SENIOR TEAM YET.

TODAY'S MEET.

Future Olympic stars will probably be numbered among the 350 schoolboys who will meet in the first provincial affair this kind ever staged. These 350 represent the result of weeding all schoolboy athletes down to winners of events in sectional meets and theoretically they represent the cream of this province's coming talent on field and cinder path.

Several things the meet financed by the Ontario athletic commission today will do.

First, a bunch of records will be marked up which should serve as a target for the sectional meets of future years. If new marks are not hung up, the meet will prove that sectional organizations, of which the Wossa is the pioneer, have been doing their work well and carrying on development at its highest pitch.

The gathering together of boys in such numbers will not only stimulate those who have been privileged to make the trip, but others to emulate them and make a place another year. Heretofore, the worlds for schoolboy athletes to conquer, and especially those within the limits of the school finances were very few. The meet should do much to sell track and field athletics. Heretofore, most of the applause and the spotlight has gone to the team games. Youngsters kept at their track and field sports without much encouragement, and trips first to the district meets and then to Toronto will do much to demonstrate that this department of sport has been given a new emphasis.

Always there is the chance of making an Olympic team glimmering a few years ahead in the future.

NEXT THE HEADACHE.

Since the injection of New York into the pro hockey cocktail, there has been a kick like a mule. Sums with which whole baseball clubs and plants thrown in could be purchased in the early days of baseball are being tossed around without care by the budding major league hockey moguls.

Basil O. Meara of the Ottawa Journal among those of the newswriters who accepted the invitation to the party the New York club threw at the Biltmore, in his report said:

"Tex" Rickard announced that the New York rink would have seating capacity of 21,000, and that he expected to put hockey over with a bang. It will be one of the major attractions at the New Garden. Col. Hammond, with true American modesty, stated that a niche was already in the Garden for the Stanley Cup, and outlined the proposed world series that was to be held there next spring.

"Showmanship," he asserted, would put the affair across in a way that would even stagger New York, accustomed as it is to the last word in thrills.

On Tex Rickard, as promoter, and on Tom Gorman, as manager of the team, devolves the task of making New York the greatest hockey city in the world," he asserted."

Rickard's showmanship in boxing and many other directions has been tested and undoubtedly it will win out again. Any place that can gather in 21,000 of the sport curious of Gotham naturally stands a chance of holding a few of them. Failures of hockey before in New York could be attributed to the lack of ballyhoo and to the fact that with rink accommodation of that time never more than 2,000 to 3,000 could be enticed off the sidewalks of New York. New Yorkers will follow the crowd just like the sheep do in more rustic parts, and Rickard will undoubtedly get a break here. However, it is Rickard's showmanship in reserve that makes success of hockey almost certain in New York.

However, the hockey moguls ought to reflect that William Wrigley spent millions trying to catch Gotham's interest for his gum. Twice he was turned back, and the next time he stuck, or his gum did.

A PROPHET OUT OF HIS OWN TOWN.

"Bud" Barnes, who fought a good deal around here as an amateur, now belongs to Kelly's Yankee Speed Stables in Detroit. He was communicated with recently, with a view to appearing here in his home city, but that he's a full-fledged pro, in outlook and conduct, was demonstrated when he wrote back saying that he had referred the matter to his manager.

A show may be arranged around October 16 for the arena, and if at all possible, Barnes will be brought here against some good feather-weight. He has done well in his first pro bouts, knocking out four opponents in six starts, and he has already letterheads of his own. Barnes persisted at the game he liked, despite lack of competition, and may make a name for himself. He has all the attributes a successful fighter needs—courage, natural ability, and love of the game.

Dempsey-Wills Promoters Faced With Ring Law Ogre

Construction of Boxing Legislation Now Becomes Paramount Question.

UNCERTAINTY RULES

Associated Press Despatch.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—Now that Dempsey and Wills have signed for a 10-round contest in Michigan City next year, the construction of the boxing law by state officials becomes the paramount question.

The state law permits boxing contests, while it prohibits prizefights. It fails, however to give a specific definition of either, and in the past such definition has been left to the state attorney-general. The no-decision contest between Dempsey and Bill Brennan scheduled for Michigan City about three years ago, was canceled after Warren T. McCrea, then governor, threatened prosecution. The state attorney-general ruled that the contest would resolve itself into a prize fight, if, in the opinion of state agents at the ringside, it assumed a brutal aspect.

On the other hand the bout at Michigan City between Tommy Gibbons and Georges Carpentier was witnessed by a number of state officials, and no effort was made to intervene.

Whether Governor Ed. Jackson will take a liberal interpretation of the law is to be determined.

LONG DELIBERATION.

Associated Press Despatch.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—In a country doctor's office, above the corner drug store in the little city of Niles, Mich., a new chapter in glove fighting was written last night, when Jack Dempsey signerd articles to defend the world's heavyweight championship against Harry Wills, negro challenger, in Michigan City, Indiana, in September, 1926.

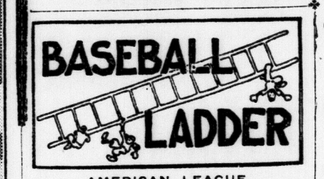

The signing came after a conference of more than eighteen hours, stretched out over two days, and only after the question of a referee had threatened to wreck the negotiations. It was finally agreed that if Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, and Dempsey could not come to terms over the selection of the third man in the ring 60 days in advance of the contest, Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons, with two members of the financial syndicate backing him, would name the referee.

Just as dusk was beginning to settle over the countryside, Dempsey, Wills's manager (Mullins) and his advisers, and Promoter Fitzsimmons motored from here eleven miles north, just over the Indiana state line, to Niles for the signing of the agreement. The reason for the trip to Niles was because boxing is recognized as a legalized sport in Michigan, and the promoters wanted to avoid all technicalities in the contract that might possibly come up later.

Fitzsimmons announced that $300,000 had been posted as forfeits with a trust company here. This amount represents $200,000 by the promoters, $50,000 by Wills and $100,000 by Dempsey. Dempsey and Wills each receive $25,000 as training expenses, according to Fitzsimmons.

The match, according to expectations, will be staged in the blue sky arena owned by Fitzsimmons at Michigan City. It has a seating capacity of about 30,000, but will be increased to meet demands. It has been the scene of numerous boxing contests, notably the Gibbons-Carpentier bout two years ago.

Neither Dempsey nor Wills will receive a guarantee. They will box on a percentage, but their respective percentages were not revealed.

Superior Back Division Points To London Victory In Opener Here Saturday

BOOTING ADVANTAGE OF LONDON GRIDDERS SEEN AS GOOD OMEN

Ability of Somerville and Foster Makes Heustis Clan Optimistic.

SARNIA SHAKEN UP

Programs and Numbered Players Will Be Innovations This Year.

A further stiff workout tonight and a lighter drill tomorrow evening is the immediate program for London's intermediate O. R. F. U. team in preparation for its opening game against the Sarnia twelve at Tecumseh park here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

An innovation will be introduced this year in the matter of programs which, with each player wearing a number, will give the fans a better conception of what is going on in each play.

Although the getaway date for the district group has been made a week earlier than that for which the local squad was preparing, nevertheless the Londoners are not at all pessimistic as to the outcome of their initial fray with the tunnel city huskies. They point to the fact that they have the best back division that has worn London colors in many a moon, and there is plenty of better than average material in this department. Ross Somerville and Yip Foster, both of whom will be new to the Sarnians, promise to work a lot of havoc with their long booting. At present Somerville is punting the ball as far as "Red" Wilson ever did. Added to this he is by far a better drop kicker, and again he has few superiors in the matter of ball carrying, one thing in which the famous "Red" generally fell down, figuratively and literally.

Foster, who starred with the Balmy Beach seniors last season, although younger than the other local back field men, packs a lot of distance in his kicking shoe and is fast on his feet.

Another thing that has served to increase the optimism in the camp of the red, white and black is the fact that Cowan, the backbone of the border band in previous seasons, has dropped out of the game. This has necessitated a shake-up in the Sarnia team, Karn moving up from the back field to take Cowan's place at quarter.

Unless a few dark horses have emerged from Sarnia high school or junior teams of last year, the borderers will be much the same, the addition of Chick Garvey and Boyett compensating to a degree for the loss of Cowan and Wilson, but one thing is certain, and that is that with Wilson gone London will have a big edge in the booting department.

Last night's practice, which was about the most strenuous to date, saw every member of the crew putting more than usual heart into his efforts because of the news that the schedule would open Saturday of this week.

LOUISVILLE GAINS EDGE ON ORIOLES

Cluster of Hits in Final Frame Gives Colonels First.

Associated Press Despatch.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Driving Ogden from the mound with a cluster of hits in the ninth inning, the Louisville American Association pennant winners scored four runs and won the first game of the junior world's series from the Baltimore International league champions, 8 to 7. His speed ball having kept the Colonels hitting into the air every inning except the fourth, Ogden weakened in the ninth and was relieved by Earnshaw after he had put enough runners on the bases to lose the game for him. Cullop, veteran left-hander, who started for Louisville, gave way to Tincup, an Indian right-hander, in the fifth. Only one Oriole reached first base after the sixth inning.

The scre:

Baltimore	012 112 000—	7	10	2
Louisville	000 300 014—	8	9	1

Ogden, Earnshaw and Cobb; Cullop, Tincup and Meyer.

CHATHAM JUVENILES ARE PUT OUT OF RACE

Beaten by St. Simon's Youngsters in Sudden-Death.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, Sept. 30.—In a junior play-off game of the O. A. L. A., St. Simons kids trimmed Chatham, 18 to 2, here this afternoon. It was only fair lacrosse since the saints were all over their opponents, and at no time were in danger of being tied, much less beaten. The Chatham lads did not have the experience and lacked scoring punch. The winners now hook up with Brampton in the finals for the cup.

The scoring for the losers was done by McCallum and Johnson, while most of the team figured in the scoring for the winners. It was an exceptionally clean game and but sparsely attended. There were no penalties handed out, and only one minor accident. In the last period Perkins of Chatham got in front of a hot shot on the nets and received a bad smash in the face, which, however, did not cause any serious injury.

The teams:

Chatham — Goal, McCallum; point, Kavanagh; coverpoint, Lebar; first defence, Sparks; second defence, Carroll; center, Vanderburgh; second home, Robertson; first home, McKinnon; outside, Davis; inside, Wallace; spares, Lent, Trimble, Green.

Chatham—Goal, McCallum, point, Newham; coverpoint, Smith; first defence, Shipley; second defence, Crookes; center, Hicks; second home, Denouy; first home, Doyle; outside, Johnston; inside, Lord; spares, Perkins, Roberts, Hewley.

Referee—J. Albert, St. Marys.

SPORT SNAPSHOTS

Sarnia Observer:

"Prospects for senior baseball in most of the Ontario centers doesn't appear very bright for next season.

"There is a strong feeling in St. Thomas that the diamond pastime will be confined to the intermediate series. The balance sheet of the club didn't impress the management at all this year, and they are said to be adverse to taking any more chances this season.

"Galt isn't as enthusiastic over next season as they have been. The success of London and Preston this season has taken all the wind out of the sails of the former Intercounty and Southern counties teams.

"In the Kent league things are feeling the pinch. Blenheim, it is said, will not be back in the running when next season rolls round. Chatham isn't as enthusiastic as it was, and it is well known fact that there was dissension in that city right from the start.

"The big drawback locally next season will be a park. The athletic park, home of the Sarnia seniors during the past two seasons, will be closed, and unless the club is willing to play at Bayview park, the chances of senior representation here in 1926 don't seem so good."

D. Westman of London Takes Laurels in Senior Shot-Put.

400 IN LISTS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—Several years of preliminary work spent among the school boys of Ontario by representatives of the Ontario athletic commission yielded a bountiful harvest this afternoon, when close to 400 students of Ontario's public, separate and high schools battled fiercely at the University of Toronto stadium for honors in the school track and field meet held under the direction of the commission.

London athletes did exceptionally well. Doug Westman of the Forest City technical school, took the senior shot-put honors with a toss of 49 feet 11¾ inches, and came third in the javelin throw. J. Rankin, South C. I., was second in a special event, a 440 yard dash for intermediates.

A. Taylor, R. Ginsberg and G. Ford of Central C. I., London, made good showings in the high and broad jumps in their classes. The De La Salle relay team, also of London, finished third in the quarter-mile junior relay.

Just how thorough has been the ground work of the coaching is made evident by the fact that representatives of the extremities of the province were able to compete with credit against the well-trained boys of the larger cities. Seventy representatives of the W. O. S. S. A. made the trip in charge of Dr. Fred Smith of Western University, secretary of the W. O. S. S. A. The westerners have no reason to feel other than pleased with the performance of their team. From the other direction came a strong team representing the Ottawa district, and these carried a goodly share of the medals eastward. Midland, of the Owen Sound district, as designated by the commission, which has divided the province into ten sections for the purpose of carrying on the coaching work, sent H. Shanacy, one of the individual stars of the day in the senior events. The Toronto-Hamilton district had an advantage, but not by an overwhelming margin did they carry off the honors.

Hon. G. H. Ferguson, premier of Ontario; Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, minister of health and labor, and T. A. Murphy, chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, were honorary referees, with Dr. Merchant and Dr. Colquhoun. Honorary judges were Mayors Foster of Toronto and Jutten of Hamilton, Percy Douglas, J. A. Cooney, W. C. McBrien, chairman Toronto board of education, Fred. O. Johnston, president Ontario branch, A. A. U. of C., and E. A. Miller of London.

Walter Knox, the Ontario commission coach, who has supervised the district finals throughout the province, was the referee in chief. Chief inspectors were Harry Price and Harvey Pulford, of the Ontario Athletic Commission, and T. A. McGinnis of Kingston, also a member of the Ontario Athletic Commission.

The first race of the afternoon resulted in a serious accident. It was a 120-yard low hurdle race for school boys, 14 and 15 years. At the first hurdle Melvin Vernon of Windsor stumbled, and in falling broke his leg. He was taken to the General hospital.

RAILWAY SPRING GAINS 8 1-2 POINTS

Wall Street Prices Steady With Industrials in the Lead.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Oct. 1.—The action of the forenoon market seemed to indicate assurance that no change would occur today in the federal reserve re-discount rate, this theory being colored to some extent by the fact that call loans were reduced to five per cent after a renewal rate of 5½ per cent had been established.

Buying of various industrials and specialties was conducted with considerable confidence and numerous material advances resulted. Railway Steel Spring jumped 8½ points to 178½ on rumors that a stock split-up was in prospect. A spurt in North American to 61¼, a new high price for the year, induced considerable buying of other public utility issues.

POTATO PRICES FIRMER LOCALLY

Conflicting Reports on Year's Crop Make Situation Doubtful.

Potato prices are considerably lower on the local market, ranging from $1.25 to $1.35 per bag. Farmers give conflicting reports as to the size of this year's crop. Some state that they have heavy crops, while others declare that potatoes will be scarce. The outlook, however, is for a good average crop. Potatoes were placed on the cars at Strathroy earlier in the week for $1.10 per bag.

Butter and egg prices are also better from the standpoint of the farmers. The demand is fairly brisk at the advanced prices quoted in the tables.

Onions are selling at $1.50 to $2 per bushel, and parsnips at $1.

The market was slow today, with few buyers, despite the fine weather. There promises to be another large market on Saturday.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—After displaying early strength, when prices were 1c to 2c above Tuesday's final figures, the wheat market turned weak near the close today, and registered a loss of ⅞c to 1¼c, the November future leading the decline. November closed at $1.23½, while October was 1c lower at $1.23. Continued unfavorable weather reports from the Canadian West caused the early advance, but offerings greatly increased, and after the "short" interest was satisfied the market gradually eased off. The close was very weak. There was no export business worked overnight, and exporters were out of the market today. The western farmers, according to a local report, have only marketed 94,000,000 bushels of wheat to date.

The coarse grains continued to follow the trend of wheat, and, after an early advance, reacted and closed fractionally lower. Trade was light.

With the exception of No. 3 northern, in which there was a fair amount of trading at 4¼c under October, the cash wheat market was featureless. Cash coarse grains were dull.

CHICAGO.

Associated Press Despatch.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Wheat showed an easy trend to lower price levels today, influenced more or less by opinions that the demand will be insufficient to dispose of normal Canadian exports before new Argentine and Australian wheat shipments are available. Opening prices, ½c to ¾c lower—new style for months—were followed by a slight further sag and then by something of a rally.

Corn and oats were relatively firm, owing largely to unofficial estimates that the corn crop suffered a shrinkage of 20,000,000 bushels during September. After opening unchanged to ½c lower, corn rose to 79⅜c for December.

Oats started unchanged to ⅜c off, and then held near to initiail figures.

TAXATION SYSTEM CHECKS EXPANSION, EXPERTS TOLD

Head of William Davies Company Attacks Plan Now in Use.

BUSINESS IS HIT

Sales Tax Is Discussed at Afternoon Session of Conference.

That the modern methods of taking taxes put too much money in the coffers of the state, thereby diverting it from use in industrial expansion, and thus causing stagnation and unemployment, was brought out by E. C. Cox, president of the William Davies Company, Toronto, who was the speaker at the annual dinner of the Canadian Tax conference and Canadian Civil Service Research conference, held in the Tecumseh hotel last night.

With a wealth of data and figures drawn throughout the ages of taxation, and bearing directly on the extreme methods used during the crisis of the world war, Mr. Fox explained the industrial situation as regards taxes.

It was shown that many firms operating in one country, and doing business in several, were taxed everywhere they carried their trade. Taxes had been levied until in one case quoted a firm he knew of had to file 62 official returns in one year for the company and its employees.

Reviews History.

The origin of taxes was reviewed. The speaker showed that the first income tax was established in 1798. It was slightly progressive. It was unpopular and repealed in 1802. It was brought out again a year later and done away with for a time in 1815.

The capacity of the income tax as a revenue getter lingered in the official mind and was revived in the '40's. The tax then was not as burdensome as now.

The sudden pressure of the war, the great need of a large amount of money, when the late conflict was thrust upon the world, caused a sharp breaking of the established principles of taxation.

Mr. Fox quoted Adam Smith and other economists to prove that the lessening of the inequalities of taxes would break the lethargy of the last few years.

Dr. Brittain Speaks.

Dr. H. L. Brittain touched briefly on the work which had been accomplished by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada. He said that it was gratifying to see 100 people gathered together to discuss public questions. It showed progress.

The movement had started in Toronto in 1914, because a knowledge of facts of taxation and civil service should be the knowledge of all. The organization had grown to national proportions. The tax section now numbered 600 members.

Frank White, M.P., moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Fox. This was seconded by Col. Ibbotson Leonard, D.S.O.

W. R. Yendall presided. In his opening address, he stated that he appreciated the task that the institute had set out to accomplish. He hoped that the members would persist in efforts toward lower taxation. He emphasized the fact that what Canada needed was more people. It was the pressing need of the dominion. If more desirable settlers and workers for the cities could be brought in the tax rate would drop.

Madam Helen Farnum, dramatic contralto, of Toronto, delighted those present with two selections, Trees, (Oscar Rostach) and I Am Fate, (Bernard Hamblen). The Canadian Fusiliers orchestra provided the instrumental numbers.

SALES TAX HIT.

An outline of the methods adopted by the Toronto board of education to meet the difficulties encountered in dealing with the educational affairs of that city was placed before the delegates at the afternoon session of the third annual tax conference and the second annual civil service research conference yesterday. The paper was read by W. W. Pearse, business administrator and secretary-treasurer of the Toronto board of education. It was called the "Cost of School Buildings in Relation to Taxation."

Modern architecture had helped greatly to lower the cost of the school buildings in Toronto. One saving had been effected by cutting out unnecessary corridor space.

Costs of construction were reduced by the use of copper cornices instead of cut stone. The placing of lockers within the walls of new buildings reduced cubic space. Modern ventilating systems cut costs considerably, the speaker said.

Cost Cut in Two.

An intensive study of costs and the application of lessons learned therefrom had reduced the cost of school buildings from $16,600 per classroom in 1920 to $7,500 in 1925. Although the costs of buildings are lower the general trend of educational thought was along more expensive lines. This was shown by the fact that during the regime of the Farmers' government all secondary education was made free to the pupils, and with the advent of the adolescent school attendance act all children became obliged to attend school until sixteen years of age. The first act cut off a revenue of $50,000 a year, fees paid in by secondary school students, while the costs of educating them mounted, for an increased number were obliged to attend school for a year of two longer.

The speaker was not in favor of the tendency of public bodies to capitalize wherever possible. He believed that the tendency should be distinctly discouraged, saying that he felt that the pay-as-you-go policy was the more permanent and more satisfactory solution of the question than the capitalization idea.

Major Hamilton Bingle, London, read the first paper at the afternoon session. It concerned the dominion sales tax from the standpoint of the manufacturer. Discussion followed led by Major E. M. McLean of Walkerville.

Major Bingle said that the history of the sales tax was so well known that he would not go into detail on its past performance. He wished to view it in the light of other taxes because if it were dispensed with other modes of levying taxes would be imposed.

Tax on Business.

"The sales tax is a tax on business," said the speaker. "It is a tax on the same business on which other taxes, such as customs duties, income taxes, receipt and stamp taxes, licenses are levied. All these taxes make up the burden which Canadian industry has to carry as a handicap in competition with other countries. A tax on sales as we have and as it is at present is not considered by any means perfect and the annual changes made in the provisions are eloquent evidence of that fact."

It was probable that the act enjoyed the greatest favor when it was introduced at the rates of one and two per cent on all sales. The reason was that there were a greater number of taxpayers. The feeling was that when a man paid the sales tax his neighbor was also paying it. The rates being smaller the losses of bad accounts were much less. Lastly, the tax was often so small in relation to the profits that a considerable amount of the tax was absorbed.

Increased rates brought about the objection of pyramiding, he said. As costs and profits became so affected by pyramiding a great burden was produced without any corresponding increase in revenue.

Manufacturers Object.

Objections to the sales taxes had been made by manufacturers who put an article on the retail shelves at a fixed rate. They had to contend with the fluctuation of prices, rise and fall of the labor market, changes in customs duties. These had been absorbed into the production long before the sales tax was instituted. It seemed, therefore, that this difficulty could be overcome if the sales tax were not too high.

Another objection was strongly voiced by manufacturers who had the burden of remitting the sales tax to the government. Many of them not only had to find the taxes but place their goods in a competitive market while they could not ask more for their goods.

Major Bingle said that the great increases in the sales tax did not get double the amount of revenue as might be expected. It was to be deduced therefrom that the best way to apply a tax like that was to chase the nimble sixpence often rather than pouncing on the occasional shilling: that it was better to levy a small tax of one cent and collect it five times than frighten away the revenue by putting on a five-cent tax.

Always in Sunshine.

It was pointed out that there were times when retail men were enjoying business when manufacturers were idle, and it would appear that if all were being taxed at a low rate the treasury department would always be more or less in perpetual sunshine as regards income.

On the subject of noxious legislation, Major Hume Cronyn, K.C., London, touched on capital-labor laws, which might affect both adversely, and showed that the Magna Charta was expressly designed to protect citizens.

Of capital, he said that it amused him to hear the capitalist abused in Canada. There might be a few whose ill-gotten gains were the instrument of oppression and the subject of envy, but he liked to think of the vast army of men and women who by their work and prudent economy had been able to put something by for a rainy day. Such savings were intrusted to banks, insurance mortgage and trust companies. The money was invested in real estate and securities.

As an example, he spoke of a mutual insurance company wherein more than 100,000 such people had sixty millions of dollars owned between them. The money was invested in government bonds and such investments.

Security Destroyed.

"You will admit, I think, that legislation which weakens or destroys the security of these investments simply sets at naught the self-denying efforts of the thrifty and the unselfish," said Major Cronyn.

Noxious legislation was termed that law which repudiated the third of the cardinal principles laid down over 700 years ago in the charter to the people, to wit, the right to hold, to pledge and to deal with private property.

A sample of this was cited in the legislation which was to help out the western farmers who suffered from successive years of drought. They were to be advanced feed and seed money by the government. The security was in the form of a lien. This government note took precedence over all mortgages or claims that had been entered into previously. The result was that the government protected itself at the expense of the trusting investors, who had in good faith entered into agreements under laws which had existed for many years. Major Cronyn contended that the government had a right to its claim, and parliament acted wisely in helping the farmers, but its claims should not have enjoyed priority over properly registered encumbrances.

One of the worst evils of such a deviation from the immutable principles of justice was that it was sure to be followed, enlarged and deepened by succeeding legislation, he said.

Hydro Is Instance.

As a second instance, he quoted laws which had been in use during the life of the hydro-electric power in Ontario. Major Cronyn said that he was well aware of the value of the great project. He wished, however, to point out some of the laws which had been enacted during its growth.

One was a denial of the rights of the people to the use of the courts of the land. It came out of a law that if a municipality wished to put in a power plant, it would have to make some compensation to those private companies (if such were already on the ground) for the pioneering they had done previous to the coming of the hydro.

This law stood until 1906, when the hydro-electric commission was founded. By its act of incorporation, the commission was especially exempted from the obligation to compensate private companies operating in their territories.

This was not the worst. Certain companies wished to test the law, feeling that they were being crushed by the public. They believed that the legislature had exceeded its jurisdiction. The commission was then even protected from attack by legislation which said that no court should have the authority to grant an injunction restraining, temporarily or otherwise, the construction, maintenance or operation of any works, the location and mode of construction of which have been approved by the commission.

Major Cronyn said that, conceding the work of the commission was of the highest public importance, he challenged anyone to find in the history of the British commonwealth a greater abuse of sovereign power of a parliament than that quoted. It deprived the citizens of their most dearly prized privileges, that of appealing to the courts of the land.

NEW BLOOD SEEN ON RAILWAY BOARD

D. M. McIntyre To Retire As Head of Provincial Body.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Sept. 30.—It was forecasted here today that a partial reorganization of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board is coming. D. M. McIntyre, chairman of the commission, has been granted three months' leave of absence, following an illness which has prevented him from acting for two years, and as Mr. McIntyre is now more than 70 years of age, it is thought likely that he will resign.

The Ontario government will appoint a new chairman shortly after the expiry of Mr. McIntyre's leave, it is said.

The retirement after the coming general elections of C. A. Magrath from the waterways commission, in order that he might devote all his time to the affairs of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, of which he is chairman, is also mentioned by the newspaper, which says that Sir William Hearst may also resign from the federal commission, in which event he might be tendered the chairmanship of the Ontario Municipal Board.

HOUSE OF LA FOLLETTE STILL LEADS POLITICS

Son Follows in Father's Footsteps When Elected To Senate.

Copyright, 1925.

Milwaukee, Wis. Sept. 30. — The House of La Follette continues to dominate Wisconsin politics as it has for more than forty years.

Robert M. La Follette, the thirty-year-old son of the late Senator La Follette, affectionately known as "Fighting Bob," by those who followed him through a stormy career, simply bowled over Edward F. Dithmar of Baraboo, who ran as an independent Coolidge Republican in Tuesday's election.

For years political wiseacres have predicted that Senator La Follette's passing would mark the end of the powerful La Follette machine. But there is nothing in the returns of Tuesday's election to indicate disintegration. The Progressive forces stand intact, while the Conservatives appear worse off than when they went into the senatorial campaign.

The liquor is valued at $3,750,000.

WAR DEBT FORCED CANADA OUTSIDE

Situation of Canada Is Explained by Hon. Raoul Dandurand.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Sept. 30.—President Gaston Doumergue received Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Canadian senator and president of the assembly of the league of nations, at the palace here yesterday, and they engaged in conversation for half an hour. It is understood that when asked by the president what practical result the Canadian representation had achieved at Geneva, Senator Dandurand replied that it had enabled the dominion to justify her non-adherence to the protocol owing to her past heavy war expenditure and the present railway drain. Until these were adjusted, he said, Canada could not consider indefinite further commitments. This attitude, he added, was appreciated by the participants in the assembly of the league, and acknowledged by his election as president of the assembly.

The Canadian representation at Geneva, Senator Dandurand continued, also had enabled the dominion to work with Empire ministers on the international field of diplomacy, each giving the other's point of view. For example, in response to a suggestion that Canada might have done more for imperial defence that she had done, it was pointed out that in her past war expenditure the dominion had incurred future annual taxes to a much greater extent than Great Britain had expected for such defence.

Again, the European diplomats considered that Canada's signing of the fisheries treaty at Washington was an indication of drift from Empire treaties, which should be signed only by ambassadors with force behind them. The Canadian representation held that in the final analysis, ambassadors were only servants of the governments affected by the treaties. If force were necessary as a background to every treaty, why sign? Force was never in mind when treaties were made between North American governments, the senator said.

In conclusion, the Canadian representation at the assembly of the league of nations had enhanced the prestige of the dominion, and this will bring about practical business results, the senator said.

Senator Dandurand will sail on the Mauretania on Saturday.

COW AND MAN COLLIDE, LANTERN FIRES STACK

Many Large Barns Threatened —Neighbors Help To Extinguish Blaze.

Special to The Advertiser.

Warwick, Sept. 30.—When a steer bumped into Leslie Kenzie, fifteenth sideroad, Warwick township, this morning it started a fire which for a time threatened to destroy the large barns on the Kenzie farm. Neighbors with fire extinguishers, aided by the wet condition of the straw stack, finally extinguished the blaze before more than small damage had been done.

Mr. Kenzie was putting cattle into the barn, and as he was passing near the straw stack with a lighted lantern the steer came rushing around the stack. It struck Mr. Kenzie, broke the lantern and scattered burning oil over the straw. Mr. Kenzie and members of his family fought heroically until neighbors came to their assistance with fire extinguishers and the flames were finally extinguished. Recent rains had left the straw wet, and this was of material assistance.

WALKERVILLE FIREMEN DELAY SERIOUS ACTION

Men Continue Work As Mayor Calls Meeting For Friday.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Windsor, Sept. 30.—The threatened resignations of all members of the Walkerville fire department, which were to have gone into effect at midnight tonight, have been held back until Friday of this week. The men decided today to resign rather than strike in protest against reductions in the number of the staff, but agreed to remain at work after Major W. H. Isaacs of the Hiram Walker & Sons, Limited, interceded and promised a meeting of all interested parties.

The system which the commission is determined to adopt does away with the two-shift plan, and means that the men must remain on duty 24 hours a day for a six-day week. Until the Friday meeting the brigade will be allowed to use the present two-platoon system.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Sept. 30.—Ald. Stokes publicly denies this evening that he has any intention of entering the mayoralty race, despite reports which have been circulated. Ald Stokes considers it very unfair that such reports should be given prominence, in view of the fact that he has already pledged his support to Ald. John Jagoe, should the latter be so disposed as to run. Ald. Stokes explains that he will be a candidate for municipal honors in the aldermanic campaign, but not in the mayoralty race.

Many At Convention.

The provincial-wide meeting, for instructional purposes, of the ladies' societies of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, held in this city today under the auspices of the local order, Charity Helpmate lodge, No. 37, was a marked success.

Over 50 delegates were present from distant lodges, and well over 100 partook of the banquet in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium at 6 p.m. The whole day speaks well for the efficiency of the local organization, for the standard of drill and ritual work exemplified was of the highest character. A dance in the Masonic temple this evening concluded the program for the day.

The general committee in charge for the day was Mrs. Martha Fillmore, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Winters. Mrs. Pettit was the secretary.

New Librarian.

Miss W. Reid has been appointed as children's librarian by the public library board. Miss Reid has held the position as assistant librarian for some time, and the appointment os considered very satisfactory. The children's library is growing in usefulness, the September circulation showing an average issue of 102 books a day.

Medal Winner.

Miss Mary Sibley, daughter of Rev. W. E. Sibley and Mrs. Sibley, of Chengtu, China, wins the gold medal for highest standing in the intermediate piano examinations of the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Miss Sibley was a student at Alma College and has returned to pursue her studies at the college this year.

J. H. Gould, of the firm of J. H. Gould & Company, entertained his clerks this evening to a theatre party at the Tivoli, and a dance at the St. Thomas Golf and Country club. The Collegian orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

Clemency Sought.

A petition is being circulated in this city, and largely signed, asking clemency in the case of Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, now serving time at Kingston penitentiary.

According to the records of old residents of the city, on September 30, 1899, there was quite a snowfall in London and St. Thomas.

GODERICH WAREHOUSE OPERATORS ARRESTED

$30,000 Bail Demanded For Men in Charge of Liquor Storehouse.

Special to The Advertiser.

Goderich, Sept. 30.—The bonded warehouse at the Goderich harbor is today in the hands of the law, as the result of a roundup by the local police force, and the three operators of the establishment are lodged in Goderich jail. Last night a sailor was arrested on a charge of having liquor illegally. High Constable Whiteside, Provincial Officer Pellow and Deputy Sheriff Gundry found a case of beer which the mariner said he bought from the operator of the bonded warehouse. Magistrate Reid meted out a fine of $100 and costs for this offence.

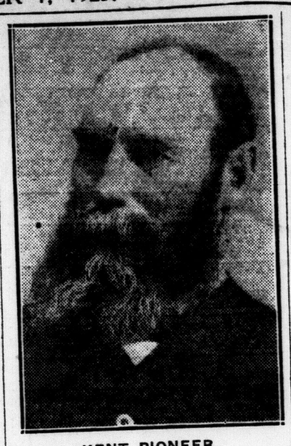

Constable Whiteside this morning visited the building at the harbor and placed Charles Aikman, operator of the business, and his assistants, Fred Brantford and Harold Merritt, under arrest, and confiscated the entire contents of the building, seven cases of Scotch whiskey and 200 cases of beer. The charge preferred against these men is unlawful sale of liquor. Preliminary hearing of the case took place this morning, and the three operators were placed in the county jail. Bail of $10,000 was demanded in each case. Trial comes in a week.

Moscow, Sept. 30.—German commercial concerns are preparing to extend $50,000,000 credit to Soviet Russia in the purchase of agricultural machinery, automobiles, tractors and similar equipment. The negotiations are now under way in Berlin. The semi-official Wolff News Agency of Germany has issued a denial that the German government is in any way concerned in the proposed credit.

SMUGGLING CHARGE FACES BORDERITES

Warrants Issued For Three Windsor Businessmen and Their Wives.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Windsor, Sept. 30.—Warrants were issued today for three Windsor businessmen and their wives in connection with the alleged smuggling of garments valued at $3,000.

The warrants were obtained by W. Albert Jacques, special customs officer from Ottawa, who alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Richardson, 1024 Bruce avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Richardson, 205 Ann street, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Rubin, 844 Windsor avenue, conspired to smuggle the goods from Detroit into Windsor and to sell them at the Richardson & Rubin store, 75 Sandwich street.

The warrant charges the women with the actual smuggling, asserting they carried the goods into Canada wrapped around their bodies, under their street clothes. The men are charged with having the goods in their possession and offering them for sale.

Under a new customs act amendment, the penalty for this is a sentence of not less than one year or more than seven, without the option of a fine. In addition, those found guilty may be assessed heavy fines. The warrants were turned over to the Canadian Mounted police to serve.

RACES ARE FEATURE ILDERTON FALL FAIR

Close Finishes Keep Crowd in Suspense—Exhibits Are Attractive.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Ilderton, Sept. 30.—The most successful fair held here in years closed tonight with a concert and dance. It was the culmination of a gala day, in which the interest of a record crowd of over 3,000 was divided about equally between a spirited racing program and an agricultural display of exceptional merit.

All departments of the fair were decidedly above the average. The only detrimental feature of the day was the weather, which failed, however, to seriously interfere until late in the afternoon, when only a few spectators withstood the cold to witness the final heats in the racing events.

Livestock Exhibits.

In the livestock classes, the prominent exhibitors were Ernie Robson and T. L. Graham with Shorthorns, O'Neil Bros. with Herefords, J. H. Patrick & Son and Ernie Robson with longwool sheep, and W. J. Kennedy and M. Charlton with shortwool. Heavy horses were shown by Harry Robson, T. L. Graham, A. G. Fletcher and Harry McClurg.

The races created keen interest in closely-contested events.

In the 3-minute class, Silver Grattan, owned by Charles Barret, received first money with two firsts and a second. Teddy Mack, owned by S. B. Charlton, came second, with Nellie Coran, owned by Mrs. J. Hill, third, and Ken McKinney, B. Neilson, owner, fourth.

J. H. McDonald won first money in the 2:25 class, with Mack Wood; Charles Barret, owner of Chester Gratan, received second; C. Pettit, Brantford and Harold Merritt, under arrest, and confiscated the entire with Alopera, third, and A. Cunningham with Freddie Patchen, fourth.

Del Go, another horse owned by Pettit, came first in three heats of 13 class; Jack Patchen, Syd Hodgins owner, came second, and Queenie Uncle, owned by Frank Taylor, third.

Novelty Feature.

The sack race formed a novel feature of the grandstand program. In a large field, Ferguson Flood came first by a good margin, obtaining a big lead in the early stage of the contest. Norman Mills was second, with Gordon McNair a close third.

An excellent and appreciated exhibition of hurdle-jumping was given by horses of Medway Farm, owned by John E. Smallman. The success of the fair is chiefly attributable to an energetic and capable directorate and committee, which included J. B. Carmichael, president; Ed. Douglas, secretary-treasurer, and John McNaughton and Alec Taylor, vice-presidents.

STOLEN SARNIA BICYCLE IS SOLD TO FOREST MAN

Forest, Sept. 30.—A young man giving the name of Johnson sold a bicycle to a local citizen on Saturday, telling him that he was on his way from Sarnia to Goderich, but had tired of wheeling and was willing to sell at a sacrifice for $15. In a few hours the purchaser was informed that the bicycle was stolen in Sarnia. When Chief Karr was informed of the case the salesman had made a getaway.

B. C. SUPPORTS CHANGED RATES

Counsel For Pacific Province Declare Railroads Will Gain.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for British Columbia, maintained before the railway commission today, in opposing the application for revision of the McKeown-Oliver order on westward grain rates, that under that order the railway companies would gain rather than lose. He asserted that the rate for a 640-mile haul to Vancouver was 21c, while on a 1,280-mile haul to Fort William it was 26c. Without going into the point at this time, Mr. McGeer declared that the rate to Vancouver should be 18c instead of 21c. The railway companies, Mr. McGeer argued, should be pleased with Vancouver's effort to relieve them of the long, unprofitable haul from Alberta to Fort William. The westward traffic would be more profitable to them. He contended also that removal of discrimination against Vancouver would bring to Canada business now going to Buffalo and to American railways.

The British Columbia counsel declared that the grain trade of Vancouver was being seriously disrupted through not knowing what the rate was to be, and he asked that the application be dismissed at once. If the board could not see its way clear to dismissing it, at least a decision, whatever it was, should not be delayed.

Argument will conclude tomorrow Mr. Woods, representing Alberta and Saskatchewan, will continue the case in opposition to the Montreal application in the morning.

Argument in support of the application for the setting aside of the McKeown-Oliver order, granting Crows Nest Pass rates on grain and flour to westbound traffic to Vancouver, was completed before the railway commission this morning.

The commission was in receipt this morning of a letter from the Quebec board of trade strongly condemning the order.

Special to The Advertiser.

Bothwell, Sept. 30.—The anniversary services of the Elm street United church were a splendid success in spite of the rain. Large congregations attended both services. Rev. A. Spracklin of Alvinston was the preacher for the day and spoke most eloquently. The music was under the leadership of W. J. Kingston and was especially good. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers.

Rev. Milford Smith preached his farewell sermon in the Baptist church Sunday night to a large congregation. Rev. Smith left on Monday for his new church in Kenora.

Ottawa Reports Meighen Losing Public Sympathy As Campaign Goes On.

TORY DREAM FADES

Reverses Here Means Election Defeat—Quebec Cold To Toryism.

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Interest in the political situation on the part of party headquarters in Ottawa has shifted within the last few days from Quebec to Ontario. Politicians and political observers in the capital detect a decided reaction in public sentiment following the end of the first stage of the campaign. Election signs as they are read here indicate a noticeable swelling of the wave of opinion in favor of the government.

The government and its supporters have felt from the outset of the campaign that gains were to be made in Ontario, but within the last week the feeling of the province has become more manifest. As the popular mind is being made up as to the vote on October 29 it is becoming clearer that Ontario is turning more and more to Premier King with increasing confidence in his administration and his policies, as contrasted with the policies of Mr. Meighen.

Conservatives Anxious.

The visible swing in public sentiment in Ontario is being anxiously observed by Conservative leaders because of the confidence they had previously cherished regarding the prospects of the party there. Their most modest estimate had been 60 seats in Ontario. Some of them went so far as to count on 70. They are now beginning to realize that their most sober calculations are subject to serious revision.

Failing substantial gains in Ontario, the opposition party understands that it has little chance of success in the election. The additions to its forces from the Maritimes will be more than offset by Liberal gains in the West. The possibility of any considerable change in the complexion of Quebec is becoming steadily more remote, the hopes raised by the Patenaude move being on the decline.

As to British Columbia, it is felt that the interest of the Pacific province in developing its grain traffic is a handicap to the Meighen party, since Vancouver and other parts of the province interested are not looking to the Conservatives for sympathy with their ambitions.

Following Plan.

Hon. J. A. Robb's prediction of a reduction in the income and sales tax is in line with the direction in which the government has all along been moving. The obstacle to greater tax reduction has been the legacy of fixed obligations which the government inherited. By the working out of its policies, and by the persistent practice of economy, however, the government has been steadily enlarging the possibility of reduction in controllable expenditure. The financial balance of the last fiscal year indicated the approach of the time when further substantial taxation relief might be expected.

The railway commission's hearing of the Montreal application for rescission of the order of September of granting rates on grain and flour to Vancouver proportionate to Crows Nest rates eastward has been attracting attention in political quarters. The opposition have been endeavoring to make political capital out of that order. Arguments in favor of its rescission has not been such as to support this effort, however. The order will stand or fall on its merits alone. Opposition hope that the hearing would be productive of campaign fuel, has not been realized.

Played Hookey Once Too Often

Adventurous St. Marys Lad Sentenced To School.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Marys, Sept. 30.—Appearing before Juvenile Judge Dr. Steele, of Stratford, in police court here yesterday, an 11-year-old St. Marys boy was sentenced to the industrial school in Toronto, as the sequel to a series of adventures and escapades for which the young lad had become notorious in this district. One of his more recent adventures was a trip to London Fair, financed on $5 of his father's money. He finally landed several days later in the hands of the Woodstock police, and he was brought home tired, but thoroughly happy. He has always had a particular aversion to school, and on Monday he secured a bicycle from the Central school, which he was supposed to attend, and set out for Stratford, and he was on his way there when caught. The authorities were of the opinion that he is too hard to keep track of, so he was ordered to the industrial school.

RALLY DAY OBSERVED IN RIDGETOWN CHURCH

Ridgetown, Sept. 30.—A splendid Rally Day service was held in the United church, Ridgetown, on Sunday. Although the weather was not very favorable the attendance was splendid and the enthusiasm was fine. In addition to the ordinary program and the addresses by Rev. D. A. McLean and Rev. A. E. Doan, a pageant was presented portraying the general missionary theme. The school is in a very flourishing condition, due to the efficient work of the officers and teachers.

LIBERALS FAKING, CHARGES MEIGHEN

Says Allegiance To Free Trade Policies Not Genuine.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Oakville, Man., Sept. 30.—"Even in the Progressive party there are protectionists today," declared Hon. Arthur Meighen in the course of an address to electors of his constituency of Portage La Prairie, here today. The Liberals were, and always had been, faking, he said, in their allegiance to the free trade policies. The enforcement of about 10 per cent of the "blessed Progressive policy" had resulted in the crippling of many Canadian industries and the stagnation because of the uncertainty of many more. "Are you satisfied with this result?" he asked. "If you are, just vote for another four years of drift."

In spite of rain and sleet and mired roads, the hall was well filled. Hon. Hugh Armstrong, former member for Portage La Prairie in the Manitoba legislature, was the first speaker. He found himself unable, he said, to find that the Liberal party in federal politics had any policy at all. The building of the National Transcontinental road seemed to him to be the outstanding achievement of the Liberal party during its term of office, and this railway, he said, had resulted only in an addition to the national debt.

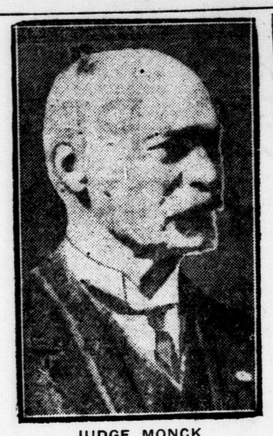

Mr. Meighen, in opening, asked permission to refer to a personal matter. It had been reported in the constituency four years ago, and it was being rumored again now, that during the war days he had tried to obtain exemption for certain young men from military service in the district. He offered "the deed of this building" to anybody who could prove that he had ever interfered with the work of the exemption tribunal for the district. He would give a great deal, he said, to know who were circulating such rumors.

Passing to "subjects that really count," Mr. Meighen asked his audience if it did not find that "most of the talk about iniquities of the tariff is all humbug." He said that H. W. Wood, leader of the Alberta farmers, had recently declared publicly that the tariff was not the real issue in this election and that its importance was being greatly exaggerated.

Even in the Progressive party today there are protectionists, he said. "With the whole Liberal party faking on it and with some of the Progressives going the same way, do you really think you were right in 1921?"

The Progressives in the federal house, he said, had been "merely an appendage, hanging on to the government's coat-tails and excusing the government's failure to carry out anything except about ten per cent of the platform it was elected on.

"Have you got five cents more in your pockets now than you had before this government started in to reduce the tariff?" he asked. It was all very well for Hon. Vincent Massey to praise the government's action as regards sales tax on the raw material for implements, but the question which must be answered was: "Are any of the implements the farmers use any cheaper than they were four years ago?" He said the farmer should be getting implements cheaper because the sales tax had been taken off most of the materials that go into implements. The country had lost the revenue from the sales tax but the farmer was not getting his implements any cheaper.

EFFORTS RESUMED TO RAISE U. S. SUB

All Hope of Imprisoned Men Being Alive Is Abandoned.

Associated Press Despatch.

New London, Conn., Oct. 1.—A desperate effort to determine whether any of the men trapped in the submarine S-51 when she was sent to the bottom last Friday night by the steamship City of Rome still live is being made today.

The wind, which had roughened up the seas for two days and hampered operations, had subsided early today, and as the two giant derricks on which hope of raising the submarine is pinned left Newport to join the rescue fleet 15 miles off shore there was every indication that conditions would be ideal for the first time.

Hope that any of the men aboard the submarine were alive was abandoned yesterday by Rear Admiral R. H. Christie, in charge of the rescue operations, but, acting under orders of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, he has directed his forces to continue efforts to find the men alive or recover the bodies.

If the attempt to raise the S-51 should prove unsuccessful, and much depends upon whether certain of her compartments contain air or water, divers are prepared to resume their work, which was virtually halted yesterday by the rough seas.

BELIEVE UNITY WILL HOLD S. WATERLOO FOR ELLIOTT

Special to The Adertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Galt, Sept. 30.—South Waterloo is one of the several Western Ontario ridings where the forces which oppose reactionary Conservatism have combined forces instead of splitting into groups and assuring the Conservatives of success. With all those opposed to Mr. Meighen and his policies voting for the same man, the Conservatives have little opportunity to win in the riding. At the last general election there were only two candidates, and Wm. Elliott, who has again been endorsed by Progressive, Liberal and Labor, won by 800 from his Conservative opponent, F. S. Scott. Before 1921, the seat had been Conservative since 1900, being represented by G. A. Clare from 1900, and Mr. Scott.

Mr. Elliott is a successful farmer known all through Ontario. He appreciates, and has so stated that Canada must have a tariff and free trade under present conditions is an impossibility. However, he does not believe that there should be industries protected at the cost of the consumer and the great mass of people of the country. In his campaign he is being actively assisted by K. K. Homuth, Labor M.P.P. for South Waterloo. Mr. Homuth has stated that where there is no Labor candidate running he will support the Liberal or Progressive candidate. "Labor can expect nothing from the Conservatives," he declares.

The Conservative in the present campaign is A. M. Edwards, of Galt, who is not reckoned as strong a candidate as Mr. Scott. He has now been in the field for some weeks. The riding includes the city of Galt, the towns and villages of Preston, Hespeler, and New Hamburg, and large farming district of several townships. It is a riding that is not exceeded in Canada in its industrial and agricultural interests. Prosperity is dawning in the riding, and both manufacturing and farming are picking up rapidly. The local supporters of Mr. Elliott are confident that with an aggressive campaign he can win again.

SAFEGUARDING CLAUSE RESULTS IN DEADLOCK

French Proposal Creates Split in U. S. Commission on Debt Funding.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—A split in the United States commission has thrown upon President Coolidge the burden of deciding upon the acceptability of the proposal which the French consider as their final offer in the debt funding negotiations.

Unable to agree upon the question, the United States commissioners delegated a committee of four of their numbers to confer with the president. They met Mr. Coolidge early this morning.

The French offer calls for a total payment of $5,620,000,000 in principal and interest, spread over a period of 62 years, on the recorded debt of $4,210,000,000. For the first five years the payments would be 40 million dollars annually; for the next seven years, 60 millions, with an increase to $100,000,000 annually for the next succeeding 15 years.

The French proposal contains a safeguarding, or security clause for which the French have held out consistently as an indispensable protection for their national solvency. The clause provides for a reopening of the agreement if its terms should in future prove impossible of fulfillment.

It is this clause which is understood to have aroused the opposition of the members of the United States commission.

FALL FAIR FEATURED BY DRAWING CONTEST

Lightweight Team Captures First Place in Event at Watford.

Special to The Advertiser.

Watford, Sept. 30.—The second day of the East Lambton Agricultural society fall fair was quite successful in spite of the extreme cold weather. About 2,000 people attended.

A unique feature this year was the drawing contest for teams of horses over and under 1,400 pounds. Four teams were entered. First prize was won by a lightweight team owned by John Harper of Warwick township, second by a heavier team owned by Ben Williamson of Sutorville, while a team owned by William Moore of Sarnia township came third. The fourth team refused to draw.

Another interesting feature of today's proceedings was the baby show. Three prizes were awarded, Mrs. Basil Williamson, Mrs. Elwood Jones and Mrs. W. H. Brown. A parade of school children from Watford public school, led by the Forest Excelsior band, opened the afternoon's proceedings, and throughout the afternoon the band gave concerts under the baton of Alfred Lapham, bandmaster.

A fine program of harness horse races was run off.

COOLIDGE ASKED FOR DECISION

Finance Minister Caillaux Makes Final Proposals For France.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The French have offered what they consider to be their final proposal, and the United States commissioners, unable to agree among themselves, will lay the problem before the president tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Finance Minister Caillaux, with the aid of a man who has finished an arduous task, sat back calmly awaiting a decision. Tonight he entertains at the French embassy the United States commissioners, with whom he has been engaged in the momentous battle of figures.

France's offer calls for a payment of forty million dollars annually for five years, sixty millions annually during the next seven years, and an annual payment of one hundred millions in the succeeding 50 years. This would aggregate a total payment of $5,620,000,000 in principal and interest on the recorded debt of $4,210,000,000. Calculations showed, therefore, that the interest rate, although not specifically mentioned anywhere, would average two and one half per cent over the life of the proposed agreement.

The offer, described as the best the French delegation felt their government could support, was worked out in a conference of sub-committees of the two commissions. The French gave it almost unanimous support; members of the United States subcommittee agreed only to report it back to their commission, which in turn was compelled to take it to the president.

CHEAPER CABLE RATES URGED BY JOURNALISTS

Imperial Press Conference Advocates Early Establishment of Beam Wireless System.

Associated Press Despatch.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 1.—The imperial press conference got well down to the task of dealing with the resolutions for the consideration of the delegates at today's session. The first one to be considered demanded more and cheaper telegraphic facilities for the newspapers and requested the imperial British cable system to lay another Atlantic cable.

Delegates from South Africa and New Zealand with the assistance of the Australians put through a resolution urging the British postmaster-general to hasten the completion of beam wireless stations and requesting that each one of the dominions have the same rights as the Marconi Wireless company in constructing and operating their own stations in Great Britain.

Canada was mentioned in this connection as a favored party and Lord Burnham, president of the conference, pointed out that it was a private company which was operating the station. He believed the imperial government retained the power of dealing with all the communications which were carried.

On the motion of Sir Harry Brittain, chairman of the arrangements committee, the conference adopted a resolution expressing sympathy with the efforts to link up the British empire by air. The conference closed the sitting with the provisional passage of a resolution which deprecated legislation or any administrative act directing the newspapers what they should and should not publish. This motion which was sponsored by South Africa delegates, was very strongly supported and will be further discussed at tomorrow's session.

FISH SCHOONER RACE POSSIBLE

Gloucester Hankering For Renewal of Contests With Nova Scotia.

Associated Press Despatch.

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 30.—Gloucester fishermen are hankering for a renewal of the series of schooner races with Nova Scotia boats. The prospects for a race this fall have been dubious, but today the United States Racing association received a letter from the Columbia Associates, owners of the schooner Columbia, saying they were ready to meet a Canadian vessel either here or off Halifax.

The letter pointed out that under the rules governing the contests a race, if held this year, should be off Gloucester, but said that the Columbia owners were so confident of the ability of their boat to defeat any Canadian vessel in any waters, that they were willing to waive this and go to Nova Scotia. The committee has not yet taken any action on the letter. The International fishermen's trophy has been held by the donor in Halifax since the calling off of the 1923 competition after a dispute over the legality of one of the races. There was no race last year.

SACK RACE IS FEATURE OF FAIR AT LAMBETH

Glendale School Has Noteworthy Exhibit of Vegetables and Flowers.

Special to The Advertiser. by Staff Reporter.

Lamebth, Sept. 30.—Despite the cold weather, over 2,000 people attended the Lambeth fair today, and voted it the most succesful of the long line of successful fall fairs held here. The exhibits were fully as numerous as last year, and were of better quality, in the opinion of the judges, who stated that the fruit and vegetables compared favorably with the exhibits at Western Fair.

A noteworthy exhibit was that of Glendale school, which won first prize over Lambeth public school. The boys and girls had tastefully arranged the display of all kinds of farm produce and a beautiful flower display.

The clown band from Labatt's Brewery, London, appearing by courtesy of E. M. Burke, manager of Labatt's and a resident of the village, provided the entertainment for the afternoon, and it was real entertainment for old and young alike.

Sack Race.

One of the features of the fair was the sack race. Young men, riding horses bareback, swept down on the empty bags, dismounted, picked up the bags, climbed aboard their steeds once more and raced to the next line of sacks. One youth clinging to his horse's tail finally rolled into the ditch, and the animal finished alone. L. Brown, of Glanworth, who has won many sack-race prizes, was again victorious at Lambeth.

Success of today's fair is largely due to the energetic work of the secretary, J. M. White, of Byron, as well as N. E. Bilyea, president, W. L. Pack, Heber Sutton, Maurice Hooper, R. W. Bogue, J. C. Crinklaw, W. H. Shore, D. Winters, Charles Shore, J. A. Mathewson, W. L. Pack, F. Cornell, J. Poole, G. S. Cornell, Mrs. W. Anguish, Mrs. George Rutledge, Mrs. W. Pack and Miss Pearl Mann

KINGSTON PONIES DEFEAT OSLERS

Former Senior O.B.A.A. Champions Eliminated in Third Game, Semi-Finals.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Oshawa, Sept. 30.—Oslers, the champion senior baseball team of Ontario last year and champions of the city of Toronto this year, were put out of the race for the 1925 provincial title here this afternoon by the Kingston Ponies, titleholders of the Central Ontario baseball league, by a score of 3 to 1. Today's fixture was the deciding game that was made necessary by each team winning its home game. There were more than 3,000 people at the game, which set a record for attendance at games played at Alexandra park. Most of the crowd came from Toronto in motor cars, only a few from Kingston witnessing the battle. Niagara Falls, Kingston and Copper Cliff are the only teams still in the running for the championship. Harry Batstone, star third sacker of the Ponies, announced before the game that if Kingston won he would continue to play baseball until the Limestone City crew is put out of the running.

Every thrill known to baseball was packed into the nine innings, but, due to a chilling wind which blew across the field, the crowd at no time went into ecstacies. The cold breeze was responsible for some loose handling of the ball, but the outfields of both teams starred in nailing flies.

Three different times during the game the bases were filled. Oslers had no less than 15 men stranded on the paths and not a sacrifice hit was made by the team, although Burt did get a sacrifice fly. Teepel, Cherry and Scott, in the outfield for Kingston, were the stars of the game, Teepel pulling down five flies, while Cherry speared four and Scott two. Batstone at third played a wonderful game, having five chances without a misplay. The box score:

U. S. EXPERTS SEE BORERS AT WORK,

University Men From Several States Tour County of Essex.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, Sept. 30.—Seeking first-hand information concerning the havoc wrought by the corn borer in this section of the corn belt, Kent and Essex were toured today by more than a hundred agricultural college heads, professors and entomologists, representing twelve states of the union.

They arrived in the city at noon, and after a luncheon at the New Garner hotel, inspected the work which is being carried on at the local parasite breeding station. They visited badly-infested farms in Raleigh and Romney townships before returning to Windsor, where tomorrow a conference will be held looking to international co-operation in a determined extermination campaign.

Members of the party stated that they found conditions bad in Ohio and Michigan, but that the conditions are much worse in the sister border counties. The reports as to destruction of the borer, they declared, had not been exaggerated. In some cases they found farms with a 100 per cent infestation.

Professor Dean of the Kansas university and entomologist for the state of Kansas, stated that he had been amazed by the alarming increase in the infestation in a year. "The extent of infestation in this period is almost unbelievable," he said, "I would not have thought it possible."

The visitors were accompanied from Toledo by H. G. Crawford and H. McLean and A. B. Baird of the dominion department of agriculture. Prominent agriculturists of the United States who are in the party are Dean C. F. Curtis, Iowa state university; Dean W. C. Coffey of the Minnesota university; Dean G. C. Call, Kansas state agricultural college; W. H. Lorrimar and W. R. Walton, United States department of agriculture; C. J. Caffery, in charge of the corn borer investigation in the United States; L. H. Worthley, in charge of the corn borer control work.

Wheat Yield In Saskatchewan Goes Far Beyond Expectations

Canadian Press Despatch.

Regina, Sept. 30. — Saskatchewan's wheat crop, now that threshing is well advanced, is turning out far better than estimates compiled as late as August 12 would indicate, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the C. P. R., in an interview here today placed the crop now being taken off in this province at 240,550,708 bushels. His estimate in early August was 208,000,000 bushels.

"The general improvement in conditions in this western country is already being reflected in the east, it is so pronounced," Mr. Beatty said.

CHILD MIGRATION TO BE SURVEYED

Child Welfare Council Proposes Impartial Investigation of Facts.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Charges against conditions of juvenile immigration were freely flung at the afternoon session of the child welfare conference here. A rough division of the speakers for and against would place the representatives of the Barnardo Homes, Percy Roberts, and those of the department of immigration on one side, while provincial men in charge of delinquent children, social workers, both professional and voluntary, and at least one mental expert ranged themselves against juvenile immigration as it has been conducted. The result was that the child welfare council proposed to conduct an impartial survey of a given number of such immigrants over a period of years.

Strong feeling was expressed against the child labor involved in juvenile immigration, due to the fact that the average family in Canada accepted the children not as members of the family, but as employees. The charge was made several times that the institutions sending out children were lax in selecting migrants, that the authorities on both sides of the Atlantic were also lax in both mental and physical examination, and that Canada was thus given responsibilities not properly belonging to her. It was recommended that institutions be made responsible for all juvenile immigrants up to 21 years of age, instead of 18 years as at present.

Complaint was made that the names and records of juvenile immigrants were withheld from the provinces both by the institutions and the department of immigration.
