

BRITISH MADE GREAT ADVANCE ON EIGHT MILE FRONT

Famous German Salient of Thiepval Combes Utterly Annihilated--Three Towns and 2,300 Prisoners Taken From the Foe--First Use of the Wonderful New Armored Cars by British in the Offensive

BULGARIAN LINE PIERCED AT THREE SEPERATE POINTS Serbs, French and Italo-British Forces All Penetrate Defences of Bulgars and Teutons

London, Sept. 16.—The allied offensive in Macedonia continues in full swing. The Bulgar-German first line defences have been penetrated on the right by the Serbs, in the centre by the French, and on the left by the Italo-British forces. The most notable success during the last 24 hours was scored by the reorganized Serbian army. After a three-day battle in which the Serbian heir-apparent, Prince Alexander, gave the opening signal by personally firing the first gunshot, the Serbs have routed the conquerors of their country all along the front, driving them back upon the town of Gornjevo in an embittered dash at the point of the bayonet, and gained a firm foothold on the crest of Malkanidze mountain, northwest of Ostrovo Lake. In their pursuit of the Bulgars they took the village of Ekslau, driving the defenders back 12 miles. Twenty-five cannon and prisoners, as yet uncounted, fell into Serbian hands. The Bulgars fell back about twelve miles. British and French Advance Simultaneously the allied right wing, formed by the British on the Struma River, took by storm the town of Makukovo and two points to the north, immediately entrenching themselves. They took 100 prisoners and ten machine guns. Meanwhile the French, in the centre, between the Vardar and Lake Doiran, also pushed their lines forward. They scored an advance half a mile deep on a front of about a mile. The German war office admitted yesterday the capture of Malkanidze by the Serbs, "after violent fighting," but asserted that the British east of the Vardar were driven out of German trenches in which they had gained a foothold.

DAILY COURIER GIVING AWAY ONE FIVE PASSENGER TOURING CAR AND TEN OTHER BIG PRIZES

The Largest Contest Ever Put on by Any Newspaper in Brantford or Surrounding Country—Your One Great Chance to Win a Small Fortune For a Little of Your Spare Time—Get Busy To-day and Nominate Yourself or Some Friend

Do you want to win an automobile? Do you want to test your popularity? The Daily Courier is going to give a five-passenger car and ten other valuable premiums to the eleven most popular people, men or women, boys or girls, in the vast territory covered by one of Ontario's best newspapers. Best of all, under the conditions of the Daily Courier's popularity contest, every person has an equal chance to win. Here is the prize list:

- List of Prizes. One five-passenger 1916 Model Touring Car. Two high-priced Talking Machines and Cabinet Stand. Two beautiful Diamond Rings. Two handsome Gold Watches. Two Set Rings and two Seal Rings. Ten per cent. to all who fail to win one of these prizes that are active until the close of the contest.

The contest begins to-day. It will close at 8 p.m., Saturday, November 25, 1916. A full page advertisement on Page 17 of to-day's Daily Courier contains the rules and regulations of the popularity contest, together with a detailed description of the various prizes. Read carefully and if you want to win an automobile, act immediately. There's a coupon for 1,000 votes in the display advertisement. That will insure you a good start. The rest depends upon your popularity, upon your ability to hustle and upon your stick-to-itiveness.

Start Working Now.

If you intend to enter the contest DO IT NOW. Delay will be dangerous and may result in your ultimate defeat. The real hustlers will be out and working before noon, Monday, and they won't stop until the last hour of the contest. Everybody who enters at once is placed on an even footing with the rest. His or her work is securing subscriptions to The Daily Courier which will count in the end. This is the biggest contest ever staged by a newspaper in this part of Ontario. It is sure to bring out the best that is in the hustlers who strive for the magnificent prizes.

Two Districts.

The Daily Courier contest is "different." Any man, woman or child in this territory is eligible. The territory has been divided into two districts, thus giving the person in the rural community a good chance to win the five-passenger touring car, or any of the other prizes, as the person who resides in the heart of Brantford. The rural contestant, in fact, should have a slightly better chance that his city cousin as there are sure to be more contestants to the square inch in Brantford than in the smaller towns or in the rural communities.

Following are the two districts:

District One, the City of Brantford. District Two, all towns and rural routes outside of Brantford. The ability to solicit subscribers is not everything. Popularity counts almost as much. Each day, in The Daily Courier will be published a "daily vote." These votes, clipped out and brought or mailed to the contest manager will But, of course, the special ballots which go with new or renewed subscriptions are going to count the most in the long run.

The Daily Courier has earned and kept its title of "Western Ontario's Best Newspaper," since its start, and the contestant will have no difficulty in introducing his or her business to the public. Those who are already subscribers to The Daily Courier are certain to want to renew. Those who are not subscribers are certain to be open for convincing arguments on your part. Work and popularity will win. Consider your chances and start the ball rolling.

Read the page advertisement in this issue and get busy at once. If you do not thoroughly understand the proposition, either call or write the Contest Manager, Daily Courier, Brantford, Ontario.

REPORT OF THE CANADIAN EYE-WITNESS AT THE FRONT

Saloniki, via London, Sept. 16.—3.10 a.m.—The Bulgarians are falling back in disorder toward Monastir, pursued by the victorious Serbians, according to an official statement issued at Serbian headquarters. The text of the statement follows: "After two days' artillery preparations and the occupation of the enemy's advance post, our troops carried out a decisive attack on the principal Bulgarian positions, in the direction of Florina, which was crowned with complete success. The captured guns are now in our hands and Malakidze are now in our hands. Bulgarian positions at Malkanidze and Malakidze are now in our hands and General Boyadjeff's army is retreating in disorder toward Monastir pursued by our victorious troops. For Twelve Hours the Battle Endured Steadily—Prisoners and Supplies Fall Into the Hands of the British in Large Numbers and Quantities; Excellent Work of Armored Motor Cars

London, Sept. 16.—The now famous German salient line, Thiepval-Combes, is no longer. The British tore it wide open yesterday. In a twelve-hour battle on the eight-mile front from Thiepval to the Kaiser's most powerful guns—150 to a mile—they stormed, pierced, shattered and then occupied that stretch of the German front north of the Somme which hitherto had acted as a defiant block to their advance on Combes and Bapaume. The barrier broken down, Sir Douglas Haig's troops pushed considerably beyond it, in the face of twelve hundred guns of the Somme drive almost as ominously close to Bapaume as it is to Combes and Peronne. "Wunder Werk" Taken by Storm The end of the fighting last night saw the British in possession of practically all the high ground between Combes and the Albert-Pozieres-Bapaume highway. Three towns, Flers, Martinpuich and Courcellette, and High Wood were completely captured, as was the greater part of Bois-leux Wood. The powerful German redoubt called "Wunder Werk" (Wonder Work) because of its supposed impregnability, was taken by storm in the turning of the salient's tip near Thiepval. More than 2,300 prisoners were taken, including sixty-five officers. All this was achieved within a few hours after the German War Office in its regular daily statement early yesterday afternoon had announced: "An attempt by considerable British forces to recapture by an encircling movement our salient line south of Thiepval met with failure." Most Successful Day The day was the most successful for the British since the initial phase of the Somme battle. For three days their infantry had enjoyed comparative rest, while the artillery worked away for yesterday's new crush. The French, though not launching an attack on a large front, worked hand-in-hand with the British in drawing the ring around Combes still closer. The French War Office announced last night that General Foch's troops took a system of German trenches 500 metres deep north of Le Preiz Farm, which fell into their hands on Thursday. Last night the French took by storm a group of miles from Peronne. South of the Somme they captured three Teutish trenches near the village of Bernyen-Sauterre, taking 200 prisoners. Aviators Share in Victory Apart from the results scored yesterday's resumption of the British part in the Somme drive was remarkable for two features. Never before has an attack been marked by such close and successful co-operation by the "eyes of the army," the aviators. The clash of the infantry legions on the blood-soaked ground was accompanied by a battle royal in the air. The British flyers were met by a column of Teuton aviators, the two air fleets vying with one another in daring, tenacity and skill. The British, according to the night report from headquarters, proved their superiority. Thirteen German machines were destroyed; nine others were brought down in a damaged condition. The British lost four. Aviators' Valuable Work The official statement emphasizes the efficient work rendered by the aviators in furnishing "frequent and accurate reports," and with their machine guns engaging the German infantry and artillery in addition to spreading confusion behind the Teutonian lines by shelling the railway stations and aerodromes. The second spectacular feature of the battle was the introduction by the British for the first time of a new type of armored motor car whose powerful traction enabled it to get trenches and shell craters as it got over rough ground. A number of these new "wonder machines" whirled into battle with the infantry yesterday and in the night. Of the hall of shell the men cheered as they charged.

Further Details of British Victory--The Germans Completely Surprised British were putting behind them not only the ridge, but the old second line as well as the first line trenches, which they struggled so hard to cross and were going against the new third line which the Germans had been building under unceasing British shell fire. With the infantry went those new motor cars, across trenches and shell holes. So ludicrous are they in appearance that the British soldiers laughed at them in the midst of the charge. They cheered them as they played their streams of machine gun bullets. Like some prehistoric monsters they must have seemed to the Germans, who had to seek dugout or flight, or else they surrendered. "In one case one hundred Germans surrendered in a body to one of the armored motors. Again an aeroplane reported that one of the motors was moving up a street of the village of Flers, while wildly yelling British infantry followed it. Aeroplanes descended very low during the battle and never were there more fights or more vicious than those yesterday, while the new armored cars were participating in the infantry charges. Altogether the British brought down 13 German planes.

BULGARS RETREAT TOWARD MONASTIR

Saloniki, via London, Sept. 16.—3.10 a.m.—The Bulgarians are falling back in disorder toward Monastir, pursued by the victorious Serbians, according to an official statement issued at Serbian headquarters. CANADIAN TROOPS SHARED IN THE BIG BRITISH VICTORY

Advanced Distance of 1500 Yards After Fierce Fighting--Took Large Number of Prisoners and Quantity of Enemy's Stores

London, Sept. 16.—Information reached us last night that there was nothing for the Canadian infantry to do but walk forward. The position which faced them was strongly fortified both above and underground. Even when the artillery ceased and the infantry went forward it was certain there were many of the enemy still lying and waiting with machine guns to give the Canadian assailants a fierce reception. However, our infantry went forward steadily. I may perhaps be allowed to state that in the cloudburst among them were certain battalions who suffered pretty severely in heavy encounters. They were all right in their movements this time, though advancing steadily and maintaining their driving force even when the casualties began to look large. Germans were found hiding with machine guns in pretty well constructed

U.S. ENQUIRES RE BLOCKADE ORDER

Do Not Wish Neutral Trade Cut Off by Great Britain. Washington, Sept. 16.—The state department to-day sought to learn through diplomatic channels precisely what commodities are included in Great Britain's latest blockade order restricting shipments from the United States to Holland and the Scandinavian countries. If the action is found to shut off any great quantity of American trade with these neutral countries, it doubtless will be regarded seriously by the government. Interest in the effect of the order is enhanced at this time because President Wilson was granted authority by recent legislation to retaliate against countries interfering unduly with American commerce.

THE HUN ATTACKS FAILED.

Paris, Sept. 16, noon—German counter-attacks were made on the French lines both north and south of the Somme last night. They were unsuccessful, the War Office announced to-day. The assaults were delivered to the east of Clerly on the north bank of the river and east of Berny to the south of the stream, below Peronne. During yesterday's fighting the French took 400 prisoners. In a single trench the bodies of 86 dead Germans were picked up.

BRITISH HOLD THREE VILLAGES.

London, Sept. 16, 1.55 p.m.—As a result of their offensive north of the Somme, begun yesterday morning along the six mile front from north of Combes to beyond the Pozieres-Bapaume road, the British hold in their entirety the villages of Courcellette, Martinpuich and Flers, the War Office announced this afternoon.

Wedding Bells

BODDY-ELLIS.
(Dunnville Chronicle)

"In the presence of a congregation of friends that filled St. Paul's church to its capacity, at 12.30 noon yesterday (Thursday) Sept. 14, 1916, Mildred Evelyn, only daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis of Dunnville, became the bride of Captain Albert Hawley Boddy, of the 162nd Parry Sound Battalion, C.E.F., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Boddy of Brantford. The winsome bride was given away by her grandfather, Dr. Charles Walker, rector of St. Paul's, and the ceremony was performed by Capt. E. F. Pennington, chaplain of the 162nd Battalion, assisted by Rev. J. M. Frank Parkinson presided at the organ.

The happy couple were unattended. During the signing of the register Miss Ella Anderson sang most acceptably. The bride wore a tailored travelling suit of wisteria broadcloth trimmed with ermine, and ermine hat to match.

After well appointed dinner they left by the 2.05 P. M. and B. train for a trip to Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and other eastern points. At the depot a large crowd gathered to wish them health, wealth and happiness.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts among which were several handsome checks.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Donnelly and Miss Bessie Elliott of St. Catharines, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Boddy, Walter Boddy, Jr., and Mrs. W. T. Henderson of Brantford, and a large number of friends of Lieut. Boddy will heartily wish for himself and bride, every future happiness.

TEMPERANCE ACT

LAW THIS EVENING
Illegal Hereafter to Sell Liquor at Stores, Clubs or Hotels.

By Courier Leased Wire.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—At seven o'clock this evening the Ontario Temperance Act passed unanimously at the last session of the Provincial Legislature becomes law and thereafter it will be illegal for hotels, stores or clubs to sell, or have in stock intoxicating liquor, or have it on the premises.

On May 1, 1915, the commencement of the last license year, there were granted 1490 licenses in the entire province, namely 1215 tavern, 211 shop, 69 club and four tavern licenses for beer and wine only. On May 1, last, after the passage of the prohibition act, most of these were extended, but 49 were cut off through the adoption of local option in various municipalities last January, and a number were canceled by the Ontario License Board. Slightly fewer than 1,400 licenses therefore, are extinguished by the coming into effect of prohibition, a number of which exceeded in the city of Buffalo. On May 1st, of this year, a total of 851 municipalities in Ontario, 576 were dry.

The progress of restrictive sentiment in this province in the last 40 years is shown by the following figures. In 1875 there were 6185 licenses. In 1885, after ten years of the Prohibition act, in 1895, 3,132, in 1905, 2,836 and in 1915, despite the requirement during the last ten years period of a three-fifths majority in local option contests, only 1,490.

Miss Mona McKay is visiting Miss Irene O'Dowd, Park Ave.

Mrs. E. Sweet leaves for Ottawa next week to join her husband there, Capt. Sweet.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Scarfe have returned from a trip to Boston and other points.

Miss Miller, the well known elocutionist of Hamilton, will be in the city to-day, starting her classes at "The Conservatory," Nelson Street.

Miss Carolyn Marsh and Miss Ethel Marchet, of Hamilton, are the guests of the city of the guests of Miss Pearl Brown enroute for Haverlog College, Toronto.

Mrs. Duncan McCallum and son, of Saskatoon, and Mr. Jack Oldham, Chicago, who have been the guests of their brother, Mr. Harry Oldham and Mrs. Oldham, William Street, left this week for western points.

Mrs. Charlie Robertson, Peterborough, arrived in the city last Saturday, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schuitz, Paris Road, for a few weeks.

Miss Quarry, the well known exponent of the "Montessori Method" arrives in the city to-day from London. Miss Quarry has been attending the Ohio State Normal School, where she has been taking a teachers' summer course.

Many friends of the Rev. Gordon Jones, a former missionary in China will be interested to hear that the stork has recently brought a daughter to his wife, Mrs. Gordon Jones.

Mr. Ed. McCubbin, some years ago a member of the Courier staff, and now chief clerk in the superintendent's office of the Wabash railway, Detroit, is visiting friends in the city and county.

The International Motor Company, of Allentown, Pa., has established the eight-hour day. Several weeks ago machinists at this plant struck for shorter hours and demanded that the company put in force the same work-day prevailing at its plant in Plainfield, N.J. The strike was called off with this understanding.

The Central West Coal Company, of Marietta, Wis., believes in "freedom" to such an extent that it holds back wages it promised imported "free and independent" workmen. The company has a strike of strike-breakers on its hands as a result. Farmer employees demand a nine-hour day, improved working conditions, and a living wage.

Machinists employed in local factories in Dayton, O., have suspended work to enforce an eight-hour day. Practically every machine shop in the city is tied up. The strikers were refused a hall to hold their first meeting and 5,000 machinists and sympathizers listened to stirring addresses while standing on the flat lands along the river bottom.

A terrorizing campaign has been inaugurated by the police department of Detroit, Mich., against 7,000 women and girl cigar-makers, who have suspended work at a score of factories to enforce higher wages and stop the practice of contributing one cigar to the company for every 100 cigars made.

Two guards employed for strike duty by the German-American Portland Cement Company's plant at La Salle, Ill., have been jailed pending a strict inquiry in regard to the death of Stanley Wisien, a striker.

Helpers and laborers employed on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops at Chillicothe, O., to the number of nearly 200, have suspended work because the management refused to raise the wage-rate from 16 1/2 to 21¢ per hour.

Journeyman tailors to the number of 250 are on strike in Boston, Mass., and the employers are bringing in new help from the South to try and break the strike. It is said that in some places women are working for as low as 8¢ per week.

The stage employees' union of Duluth, Minn., as a result of peaceful negotiations, has raised wages materially. Forty carpenters from an increased from $27.50 to $30 per week; property men, from $22.50 to $25 per month, and extra helpers, from 50¢ to 65¢ per hour.

THE SITUATION

Some people, of the impatient sort, were wondering why the British were apparently making time in the Somme fighting, while the French were completing such important operations towards Peronne. They will not wonder now. Haig's forces were simply preparing for another tremendous offensive and it came off yesterday with magnificent results. The drive was towards Bapaume, along an eight-mile front, and as the outcome the famous German line Thiepval-Cambes has been wiped out. Three towns were taken and 2,300 Hun prisoners, and the advance was in the face of twelve hundred of the Kaiser's most powerful guns. The important victory was, in every sense complete. At the same time the French also made a substantial advance and the fact has become fully established that in this entire region the Allies have taken the measure of the best of the German troops and are their masters.

On the Macedonian front the Bulgarian-German lines have been penetrated in the centre by the French, and on the left by the British-Italian forces, while on the right the Serbians have advanced no less a distance than nine miles.

The Roumanians continue to make rapid progress in Transylvania and the Italians are successfully conducting a big offensive in the determination to reach Triest.

Canadians took their part in the latest British victory, and with the usual heroism. The casualty list will be large, but it was sustained under glorious circumstances.

"KEEPING HOTEL"

Commencing with Monday next keeping hotel is going to mean a very different thing from what the term has always previously meant in Ontario. The bar will still remain, but intoxicating liquors can no longer be dispensed therein, only temperance ale and porter and liquids which are classed under the heading of the "soft" variety.

What a change has come over the Province in this respect, compared with former years! There are old men in this community who can remember when there was a tavern every seven miles between here and Hamilton. That was when communication between the two places was by stage coach and the horses were changed at each distance named, the hostelry providing refreshment for travellers and those engaged in the business. The village of Newport, for example, had a flourishing hotel when the boats used to ply between here and Buffalo and other points on the Grand River. Gradually the roadside hotel commenced to disappear in this and other counties, and the trade was mostly left to the hotels and saloons in the cities and towns. It is not very long ago that there were twenty-two of them in this city. Then the saloons were wiped out and the hotels were also gradually lopped off. Finally there has come the edict upon them which imposes an altogether new and drastic order of things with regard to the drinks to be sold.

That hotels are an absolute necessity with regard to meals and accommodation in a community of any size is universally recognized. The travelling public have to be looked after in this respect, and had hotel-keepers, as a class, decided to close their places under the new order of things, some other steps would have had to be taken in the various municipalities, to keep open such establishments. However, for the most part, they have decided to see if they can make a living without the licensed bar, and the outcome will be one in which all classes of citizens will be interested. Certainly they should be given every consideration in the matter of the patronage for which they are now allowed to cater.

PRESIDENT'S SISTER DEAD

By Courier Leased Wire.
 New London, Conn., Sep. 14.—Mrs. Anna Howe, sister of President Wilson, died at 6.40 a.m.

THE INCREASED COST OF NEWS PRINT.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce is issuing a monthly "Commercial Letter" which contains an important review of crop and trade conditions. In the one just issued, it is shown that on the basis of current prices the value of the chief cereal products wheat, oats and barley, will be 37.6 per cent. above the average of the years 1910 to 1915 inclusive. The estimated production of these grains is 567,411,100 bushels, the value of which is $455,034,403 as compared with an average for the same products in the last six years of $330,647,633.

Other interests are dealt with in a concise way, and this is said with regard to the "Pulp and Paper" situation:—

"Although pulp and paper mills in Canada have for some time been operating at full capacity, stocks of news-print are decreasing. Prices of raw and of partly manufactured materials for paper-making are very much higher than they were a year ago, the cause being chiefly the increase in the cost of production, and the greater demand, particularly from the United States. Last year the cut of wood for pulp was far below normal which has resulted in a shortage at a time of increased demand and increased cost. A year ago pulp-wood could be purchased in Northern Ontario at $4 a cord, whereas this year the price is $5.25 and higher. While the most important factor in the increased cost of pulp is the increase in the cost of labor, the difficulty in procuring chemicals is also a contributory item. Up to the present the output of the Canadian paper mills has not been checked by these factors, but during the summer fires and floods have caused some slight loss and interruption, although not to an appreciable extent. Contracts made during the early part of the year or previously, are being filled, but there is a decided reluctance to contract far ahead even at prevailing high prices. Additional increases in the cost of production are feared, and the demand for pulp and news-print will doubtless continue."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Teutons are commencing to be on the run. Pretty soon they will be taking kangaroo jumps.

Dimitrakopoulos having refused to retain the Greek Premiership, the king has now offered the job to Callagvyropoulos. Hellup.

The "ice cold haberdashers" are putting ice cold fear in the breasts of the Huns.

The British are now employing an armored car which is evidently a cork-clotheser. Johnny Bull, when he gets roused, arrives with the goods every time.

The Engineers Society of the University of Toronto has published a war issue in which the names are given of members of the Engineering School who have enlisted for active service. The total is 750. This is only one branch of the University and shows how nobly students have responded to the call of duty.

CHILDREN CRY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

There will be fifty inspectors to enforce the Ontario Temperance Act. Some have already been named, among them Mr. R. J. Eacrett, who will have charge of the County of Brant, including Brantford. Mr. Eacrett for six years has proved a most efficient inspector, and he states that all the hotel keepers here heartily co-operated with him. The License Department is to be congratulated on retaining his services. Matters with regard to the last hours of license still remain almost normal.

LAST DAY

Big Liquor Trade Especially in the Shops.

License Inspector Eacrett One of the Officials Retained.

The hotels and shops have done a big business on the last day of the license system. This is particularly true of the shops, which have been crowded with waiting lines. They had already sold out a great many brands.

The druggists of Brantford having refused to sell spirituous liquors, even on a doctor's certificate, or indeed to handle the same at all, it looks as if a vendor's license might be asked for in this city. Such a vendor, under the act, can only sell on a doctor's requisition.

GRANNY'S ADVENTURE

Granny Grundel in her fairy costume in the Forest of Fairies awoke with a start, put on her grand motley gown and kerchief of cobweb and spread out her purple wings to be sure they were quite all right. Then she went to her work-basket made of pine cone and took forth some pine needles, a thimble made of a lily of the valley, and a twig wound with the silken thread the spiders and silk worms gladly weave for her. Everybody in the forest loved Granny, for she mended and darned the leaves when wind and storm were rough enough to carry her. "Well, Granny Grundel," called a humming bird, "where to-day all spick and span in your cobweb things?" "I go," said Granny, making sure her spectacles were with her. "I go to mend the leaves on a giantess's poplar plume?" "Yes, sir," said Granny flying on. "Believe it or not as you will. Yesterday I saw in the clearing the hat of a giantess with a poplar tree for a plume and a gilded gate for a buckle. The woven straw of the crown I thought was a hill!" Without looking back at the humming bird, Granny went on to the clearing. There, sure enough, lay the giant hat with the poplar plume. Needle in hand, Granny began to mend. She hummed and mended and hastied about, working as hard as grandmothers will. "Mighty careless of the giantess," reflected Granny, "to leave her hat lying about like this, but I dare say she'll be glad to find it mended."

And my dears, at that very minute out of the air came a giant hand. It whisked up the hat with the poplar plume and Granny with it. In almost no time Granny Grundel found herself upon the giantess's head. Yes, she—the giantess had found her hat and put it on! Granny, terrified, looked over her spectacles. She seemed miles above the earth. She crept to the edge of the giant hat and tried to call, but the ear of the giantess looked like a cave and frightened Granny almost to death. "I'm lost! What's more, my voice is too faint and fairy-like to make her hear and my wings are neither strong nor big enough to carry me down—down—down to the Forest of Fairies. What on earth shall I do?" Now at that minute there came a dreadful gust of wind through the plume. It tore Granny from the treetop to which she clung and dropped her in an eagle's nest. And there was a great golden eagle who stared and stared and stared. "Don't you see," said Granny, "if it isn't Granny Grundel. Why, you mended a feather in my wing one day. Remember?" "So," said Granny, rubbing her spectacles, "you live way up here, do you, among the rocks and clouds. My! Well, sir, I'm glad enough to see anybody with strong wings and you're going to take me home, but your nest's in fearful disorder and needs mending." Granny Grundel fell to work and swept and dusted and mended that eagle's nest until you would never have known it. The eagle was delighted. He gave Granny a golden feather to use for a flag-pole on her cottage and carried her home on his golden back. And Granny talked so much about her queer adventure that even the fairy nightingale forgot to sing!

BOY KNIGHTS.
 Prof. Hunt is in the city on last leave before proceeding overseas. He would like to meet all Boy Knights and their friends at their armories on Monday evening, Sept. 18, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

GOLF NOTABLES.
 Mr. George S. Lyon, eight times champion of Canada, with the well-known Toronto professionals, Geo. Cummings, Percy Barrett, and William Freeman, arrived this a.m., and were immediately whisked out to the golf links for their big match for the benefit of the Brantford Red Cross, the links being free to the public for this occasion.

WILL CONTINUE BUSINESS.
 The prohibition decree issued by the Provincial Government and coming into force to-night, will not deprive the city of the Bixel Brewing Co. Mr. Oscar Bixel, president of the company, stated last evening that his firm would continue the manufacture of a high grade beverage, complying with the standard set by the new law. The necessary machinery is being installed and other than this the organization of the plant will remain the same, continuing its high standard of excellence.

A POPULAR MANAGER.
 Mr. W. A. Burrows, who for some time has been manager of the branch of the Merchants' Bank in this city, has been transferred to Toronto. By his courteous and affable demeanor he has made a host of friends, who will be exceedingly sorry to have him leave. At the Brantford club recently he was presented with a pair of bowls and many highly complimentary things were said of him. His successor will be Mr. C. G. COMING HOME. Ald. Dowling received word this morning that Pte. David Lyle will return to Brantford on Tuesday next, arriving by the 7.22, Grand Trunk train.

THE MARKET. There was the best fruit market of the year this morning. Plums, peaches, grapes and apples being comparatively plentiful. There was also a large quantity of tomatoes, while melons were also in evidence.

A DELEGATE. The National Association of Life Underwriters, meet in Convention at St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19, 20, 21. President Wilson will address the convention on Thursday. Mr. J. Burbank, of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, is a delegate from the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, by appointment.

A SUCCESS. The success of the new Canadian war loan is assured and it is expected that it will soon be fully subscribed. Jno. S. Dowling and Co., the well known local brokers, report their sales for the first part of the week to be in excess of the entire amount handled of the last loan.

BUILDING PERMITS. Three permits were issued at the city engineer's office yesterday. They consisted of one to Alfred Rose, 155 Eagle Avenue, for the erection of a brick cottage to cost $1,000, to Ed. Beattie, 10 Victoria street, for a win frame garage to cost $40, and another to R. J. Welsh, for a frame shed covered with galvanized iron to be used for storage purposes, the last named structure to be built at 98 Oxford street, and to cost $30.

JURY PANELS. City Clerk H. F. Leonard has received the decision of the board of selectors of Jurors, which met yesterday afternoon. The number of grand jurors was placed at 46, while the petit jurors will number 164.

PRESENTATION. The Brantford Club bowlers beat the Woodstock bowlers in a match yesterday afternoon and in the evening entertained them to dinner as some recompense. There were speeches and songs, and during the evening Mr. George D. Watt, the secretary of the club, was presented with a handsome case of pipes. Mr. C. Parker, president of the bowling club, made the presentation. Before the gift was made a lemon was solemnly brought in on a tray and Mr. Watt had an idea that this would be the extent of it.

POLICE COURT. At the police court this morning, Wm. Carson, charged with the theft of a bicycle, was remanded until Monday. County Constable Taylor yesterday arrested Jim Gaffney on three old warrants. They were for being drunk in 1913, assaulting Reg. Green in 1914, and the theft of a horse from Mrs. Gaffney, in March, 1914. All these charges were laid over until Thursday. One drunk was fined $3 and another one was warned and allowed to go, it being his first offence.

A SAILOR

The alertness of those in charge of the local affairs of the 215th Battalion was again demonstrated yesterday when they secured Edward Porter, a sailor, within an hour of his arrival in the city. The new recruit was born 22 years ago at Hounslow, Middlesex County England. This is the second case within the week that men have been signed up within an hour of their appearance in the city.

Military policeman Hodge returned this morning to camp, with one soldier who had overstayed his leave.

Contributions of magazines were received yesterday from Mrs. Jno. Powers, Miss Sheer, 73 Alfred St., and another local gentleman who would leave no name.

The members of the Battalion at Camp Borden taking courses are home on leave to-day, telegrams having been sent yesterday from Niagara, sanctioning their leave.

AN EXCEPTIONAL OFFER. On page 17 to-day The Courier tells the story of how the touring car and other valuable prizes may be won in their big subscription-getting contest. As the goods on a merchant's shelves, so is circulation to a newspaper—and The Courier, although enjoying a circulation greatly in excess of that of the majority of papers similarly placed as for population, is anxious that Brantford merchants and Courier readers may have at all times the very best possible newspaper. This is made possible, in both cases, by an increase in circulation and its attendant increase in revenue. The contest is open to every person—regardless of whether they are now subscribers—and together with the invitation to all to take part in this contest, The Courier extends its best wishes for the success of every contestant.

HYDRO ASSOCIATION. Mr. G. Powell, Hamilton, treasurer of the Hydro-Electric Association of Ontario, has written the municipal, urging membership with that body. Most of the factors which might have deterred such action have been removed since the last session of the Legislature, and that the Association is prepared to progress rapidly in the advancement of hydro radicals.

As Brantford will consequently reap the benefits, Mr. Hamilton believes that the city should assume part of the responsibility and financial burden. The fees for membership are $2 for 1000 of population for all places over 5000, and $10 for all places per thousand. Another dollar per year has been added this year, so that Brantford's share would $3 per year for every thousand of the population.

CORN ROAST. That there is still "corn in Egypt," even with a reputed crop failure, was proven last Thursday night, when the members of the Bible Study Class of the Congregational Church, to the number of fifty or more, held a corn roast on the spacious and beautifully decorated grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Mayse, just off the Paris Road. The early portion of the evening was spent in the usual way at such gatherings, by the roasting of corn, and marshmallow, and each other. Then an adjournment to the house was made and an old fashioned six song followed under the leadership of Mr. J. L. Dixon, when the folk song and negro melodies of the past fifty years were again brought to the present. After heartily thanking Mr. and Mrs. Mayse for their hospitality, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King," the gathering dispersed just in time to catch the last car from Paris.

CAPTAIN G. SAGER

Sends a Letter from Bramshott Camp, England.

Gives Some Interesting Information Regarding 125th.

Mr. A. B. Burnley received the following interesting letter from Capt. Sager, of the 125th: Bramshott, Aug. 29, 1916. Mr. A. B. Burnley, Dear Friend—Just a few lines to let you know that the 125th, Canadians, are still in the land of the living, but far from home, but all happy.

We arrived here about 7 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 19th, after an all night's ride on the train, feeling very tired. We had a fine ride on boat. The ocean was very smooth all the way across. Very few of the men were sick. I was not sick a minute. We are all in huts and every man has a straw tick and pillow, so you see they are comfortable. The officers' quarters are fine; also the staff have rooms by themselves, and the company of officers sleep two and three in a room, according to the size of the rooms. Everything is arranged in first class order. We had Sir Sam Hughes here yesterday. He did not have much to say. We expect to be here nearly all winter, but you never know what they will do with you.

Col. Colquhoun called on us last Friday. He had just arrived the day before, and did not know when he would be sent over. It is a very pretty part of England where we are. There are two or three nice places within a couple of miles of the camp, that we can go to after parade hours, that breaks the monotony of camp life.

We need here is tobacco. I, for one, cannot get accustomed to English tobacco. I ordered a week ago from Don McPherson, a round of Senator, which I shipped every two weeks, so I guess it will be supplied alright.

Half of our battalion is on leave now, and the other half will leave on Thursday, but I can not go until Saturday. We get six days. I am going to London for my leave, and probably to Shorncliffe, to see the other Brantford boys.

We have very good weather so far, but to-day it is raining very hard so I am taking advantage of the rain to write a few letters. The quartermaster's job here is some job, believe me. You can hardly have a minute to yourself.

Tell the boys to write and tell us the news from Brantford. That is about the only way to get news from home. Remember me to the members of the Pastime bowling club, and tell any who wish to write to do so. My address is: Capt. G. H. SAGER, 125th Batt, Canadians, Bramshott Camp, Liphook, Hants, England.

Reception to Rev. Jenkins. The Sunday school room of St. Jude's church was the scene of a very pleasant gathering last evening when a social reception was tendered to the pastor, Rev. C. E. Jenkins, who returned this week from the front. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. H. Spence, who spoke briefly, expressing the pleasure felt by all in the return of the pastor, and extending to him a very hearty welcome. Mr. J. O. Broadbent spoke in the same tenor, and Capt. Jenkins replied fittingly, assuring the gathering of the great pleasure which was his to be among them once more, and telling something concerning the work and life at the front. Vocal solos were rendered during the evening by Miss Cornelius and Miss Elsie Senn, and piano numbers by Mr. Trumper and Mrs. Broadbent. Towards the close of the evening, refreshments were served by the Ladies' Guild of the church, following which the singing of the National Anthem served to bring the assemblage to a close. The attendance was of the largest and most enthusiastic.

Music and Drama

Dr. Zell Hunt preceded his hypnotic demonstrations last night with a fifteen minute talk that was a combination of materialism and orthodox theology expressed in classic, technical and slang terms. It was keenly enjoyed by the audience that packed the Colonial to the doors. Lady Burke answered questions under the doctor's control, by clairvoyance, in a startling manner. Then came a class of new subjects, new feats and new fun. Dr. Hunt performed a surgical operation on a local young man without loss of blood and no pain, with a committee standing by on the stage. He then awakened the subject and offered him $25 if he would state where he had been operated on and the young man declared he had not had an operation and could not tell the place. There will be two shows to-night, at 7 o'clock and 9.00. This will be Dr. Hunt's last time in Brantford, so early. It is a great show.

Food is Vacation Coal. The question of vacation has been raised not only for Brantford but for other towns throughout the country. The chief question that arises is: "Will one find good food in the summer resort that one selects?" The picturesque interest of the place is of secondary importance. This present preoccupation of Germany is expressed in its press by unusual inquiries.

For instance, one may read in the Berliner Lokal Anzeiger of June 18 the results of a first investigation. Replies from local managers of hotels at watering places have been received by the paper in great numbers, and several columns of information already have been published.

BANQUET OF THE CHURCH CHOR

Songsters of Wellington St. Church Feted by Executive Last Evening.

The executive of Wellington St. Methodist Church last evening tendered their annual banquet to the officials and members of the choir. The occasion is the concrete form adopted by the officials yearly to assure that body, not only of their appreciation of their services, but also that of the entire congregation.

The first item to command the attention of those present, was the dainty luncheon provided by the ladies of the church, which was a fitting preliminary to the excellent programme which followed.

Mr. Fissette, in a brief chairman's address, spoke a few words of welcome, appropriate to the occasion, and then called upon Mr. Standing, an secretary and "working" member of the committee, to express the sentiments of that body.

Mr. Standing stated that it was doubtful if the quality of music provided by the choir was valued for its real worth. He thought that the enthusiasm of the members would enable them to derive not only pleasure from the services, but also to partake of the ennobling influence of music. He concluded by expressing the hope that the present cordiality existing between the choir and the remainder of the church would continue.

Mr. Darwin, the organist, next recounted the hearty relations enjoyed by the choir with pastor, the musical committee and among the choir themselves. He also referred to the able assistance given him by the various officers and members, and remarked on the increasing attendance and their untiring efforts.

"Happy is the pastor with such a choir as this," were the words used by Dr. Henderson, to express his admiration of the choir, which by its reverence during services, and its dependability under all circumstances was an invaluable aid to him. He deemed it advisable that frequent encouragement should be given to the choir throughout the year, as well as on such occasions as the present.

The president of the choir, Mr. Strickland, modestly appreciated his own accomplishments, crediting Banquet Take Two.

The success achieved during the past year of organization of that body, as well as to the efficient members constituting it. The president, while he did not propose making a formal move of thanks, nevertheless desired to thank the board for their kind remarks and for the splendid entertainment provided by them.

"The Song that Reached My Heart," was then rendered in a most acceptable manner by Mr. Stubbins, on behalf of the Sunday school, added a few complimentary remarks of a humorous nature, making special reference to the extensive repertoire of the soloist, Mrs. Leeming, whose offerings were always so well adapted to the message of the pastor.

A brief speech by Mr. Vanstone followed, he explaining that as his predecessors had covered the ground so thoroughly, little was left for him to say.

Mrs. Leeming rendered "Sunbeam," which was so heartily applauded, that she responded with "Cuckoo," which was also given in her usual pleasing manner.

Mr. Sheppardson and Mr. Charlton the two following speakers, concurred with the opinions previously expressed, laying special emphasis on the state of concord between the choir and the congregation, and prophesying greater achievements in the future.

Dr. Norris then gave an able account of the part taken by the different professions in the present war, after which Miss Hubbard gave a pleasing rendition of "My little grey horse in the West."

Two Gas Wells to be Drilled—Adventures of an A.W.L.

Fire Threatens Simcoe Home—Simcoe Man Returns After 20 Years' Absence.

Simcoe, Sept. 15.—(From our own correspondent)—The Dominion Natural Gas Company has let two contracts for new wells, work to go ahead at once. One will be drilled by W. Haymaker of Port Dover on the farm of Jos. P. Smyth of Lyan Valley, and the other at Lynedock on the Jno. Charlton estate by George Williams, of Lynedock. Up to the present there has been difficulty in getting drillers.

When officers of the 133rd stationed here, secured the erring Pte. Alger, after an exciting chase yesterday evening and lodged him behind the bars, they did not know that he had been before the court at Brantford and had been released on suspended sentence with permission to go to Normandale to see his wife before returning to camp. He is due at the drill hall here at seven a.m. to-morrow. In his effort to escape custody here he dashed away from Q.M.S. Glenn and Private Liekener, ran upstairs in the Battersby House, got out through a window, passed across a roof or two and dropped into the waiting arms of Chief Canning.

Harry Gordon, rejected soldier, got one month from his honour (to-day) for stealing personal effects from his room-mate at Mrs. Friar's boarding house.

Miss Helena Day, M.A., returned to-day to Providence, R.I., to resume her duties as associate principal at the Mary C. Wheeler College.

Warden McDowell was in town to-day attending a court for the appointment of jurors.

Lewis H. Barber has exchanged his Cedar Street residence for the L. G. Sovereign farm on the north side of Main St., and previously owned by E. C. C. Barber of Brantford, who we understand will shortly move here.

Reeve Wm. Walker and Constable H. M. Akins of Dover brought here to-day, on a charge of common assault, Mrs. Arthur Dewey, ne. Miss Eric McQueen. The woman will be examined for sanity. She thinks people are endeavoring to poison her.

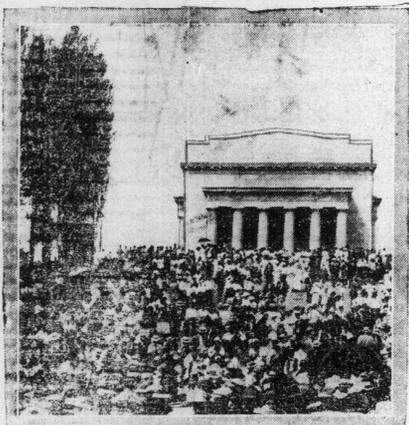

Fire broke out shortly after noon to-day in the residence of Mr. Arthur Osburne, Main St. The contents were removed and the fire checked when only a part of the rear roof was consumed, but smoke and water deluged and blackened the entire interior. Mr. Osburne, who is just recovering from a very serious accident by being drawn into a pulley in the canning factory, sat on a chair in the street while his neighbors removed most of the contents clear of danger. Much sympathy is felt for him in his double misfortune.

James West, absent for twenty-one years, and at times thought to be dead, returned to town on Wednesday. He delivered to the French river, the first crocodile boat built in Simcoe. This was in 1883. Next year, he and Mr. West, of the firm of West and Peachey, delivered a second to Columbus, South America. They returned in 1893 with a boat of a different type, and Jas. stopped to operate it. He is at present in the employ of the United Fruit Co., and has four months leave of absence. He was recognized at once by his brother, ex-Reeve John West.

A rushing business has been done in the past two or three days by John Sutton's liquor store.

REPORT OF THE CANADIAN EYEWITNESS

(Continued from Page 1) constantly in front of our trenches at night. Two encounters with the enemy took place. In one case Lieut. Matthews, with three scouts from an Edmonton battalion, surprised a party of five Germans who were hiding in a large shell crater. Lieut. Matthews threw two bombs among them, killing one German and mortally wounding another. He then jumped into the crater with a knob-kerry and had brained still another of the enemy when he was himself struck through the shoulder by a bayonet. Scout Vernon came to his assistance and shot the fourth German. At the same time the patrol fired a revolver point-blank at Private Lindsay, wounding him in the head and then attempted to escape. Lance Corporal Festerbach caught up a rifle and bayoneted him just as he reached the German wire.

In another instance a patrol of ten men from a Montreal battalion, under command of Captain Laitromboise, encountered in the dark a number of Germans. Each at first took the other for friends. A hand-to-hand struggle then took place, resulting in the capture of one German and the killing of another. The rest of the enemy managed to escape.

Further south a battalion from Regina, recently arrived in France, made a magnificent defense of a hotly-contested locality. Despite a heavy hostile bombardment, a forward company under Captain Cameron, clung to their positions and repelled two enemy attacks with rifle and machine gun fire.

In another instance a patrol of ten men from a Montreal battalion, under command of Captain Laitromboise, encountered in the dark a number of Germans. Each at first took the other for friends. A hand-to-hand struggle then took place, resulting in the capture of one German and the killing of another. The rest of the enemy managed to escape.

Sub Pitcher Lost Game

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The Sox trimmed the Senators 3 to 2 yesterday. Cicotte allowed only three hits, while Shaw was hit hard. Poor base-running and good support, however, held the scoring down. With the count two all in the ninth and a man on third, Thomas supplanted Shaw and cut loose to the next batter with a wild pitch, letting in the winning tally. Score:—R. H. E.
 Washington . . . 010010000—2 3 2
 Chicago . . . 011000001—3 10 2
 Batteries—Shaw, Thomas and Henry; Cicotte and Lapp.

Leafs are Still Losing

The Leafs were defeated by the Bisons in a ragged game at the Stadium yesterday by the score of 6 to 1, thus making it eight defeats out of the last nine games for the local gladiators.
 The champions had it on the locals throughout, as Southpaw Pennock was strong in pinches, while Herbert was touched up freely when his meat runs. Both teams hit the ball hard, while the fielding was not up to the mark, but then the teams are only playing out the schedule.
 Owing to the non-arrival of "Buck" Freeman until after the first inning, the game began with only one umpire. On "Buck's" arrival he was greeted by hearty applause from the Toronto bench, but it being so near the end of the season Freeman did not give any of them a chance to beat it home early by applying the can.

Dodgers Won 5 Inning Game

Brooklyn, N.Y., Sept. 16.—Rain cut short the game between the Pirates and the Dodgers yesterday, but not until five innings had been played, and Brooklyn had the big end of an 8 to 1 score. This favor of fate puts the Dodgers two full games to the good over the Phillies, which, of course, lends just so much more optimism to those who want to see Brooklyn annex the flag.
 Wheat came across with a home run, and by way of adding to the records in the baseball annals, played the twenty-eighth game in which he has made one or two hits. Marquard also was in fine fettle after the initial session, in which the Pittsburgers scored their only marker.
 The rain began just as Mowrey flitted out to Schulte, making the second man down in the fifth. After waiting thirty minutes, the contest was called off by O'Day, the grounds being too wet to continue play. The score:—R. H. E.
 Pittsburg . . . 10000—1 3 0
 Brooklyn . . . 08000—8 12 0
 Batteries—Jacobs, Evans and Wagner; Marquard and Meyers.

Speaker Was Hitless Here

At Cleveland.—Recruit Smith, of the New Orleans club, won his own game from the Athletics when he singled in the ninth inning, driving in the winning run. The score was 3 to 2. "Rookie" Penner started, but gave way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Speaker went hitless. Cleveland thus made a clean sweep of the eleven games played by Philadelphia here this year. The score:—R. H. E.
 Philadelphia . . . 000000000—2 11 2
 Cleveland . . . 000701000—3 18 1
 Batteries—Sheehan and Haley; Penner, Smith and O'Neill.

TY'S RECORD BROKEN

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 16.—Kenzie Kirkham, left fielder for the St. Joseph Western League team, has established what is believed here to be a world's record in batting. In the last 39 times at bat Kirkham has made 32 hits.
 "Ty" Cobb in 1913 set a record of 31 hits in 39 times up. In his last fourteen times at bat Kirkham has hit safely every time. Last season he led the Northern League, hitting .352.

Browns Lost With 6 Twirlers

St. Louis, Sept. 16.—Felder Jones used twenty players, including six pitchers, but lost to the Red Sox, 8 to 3. The Sox clinched the game by scoring six runs in the first two innings. Foster faltered in the fifth, and a fast double play saved Mays, who replaced him. Hard hitting marked the contest throughout. Gardner leading for the visitors with three hits and a walk in the five times he faced the St. Louis pitchers. Score:—R. H. E.
 Boston . . . 241100000—8 15 0
 St. Louis . . . 000120000—3 9 3
 Batteries—Foster, Mays and Thomas; Koob, Davenport Hamilton Flacher, Park, McCabe, Rumlert, Hartley and Severoid.

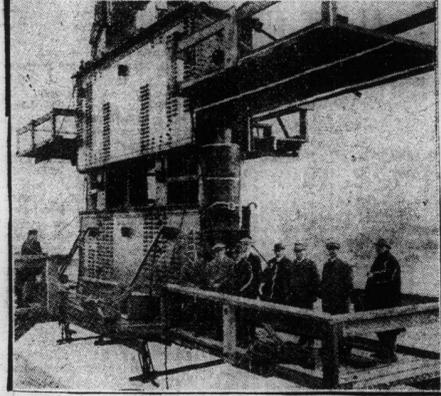

Ty Gained on Tris Yesterday

At Detroit.—The Tigers took the last game of the year with the Yankees yesterday by a score of 4 to 2. Donovan's boys jumped on Dauss for four hits and two runs in the first inning, but after that Dauss steadied down and held the visitors runless. Detroit got their runs by opportunistic hitting and good base running. Cobb got a double and two singles in four times up and stole two bases, while Don's Bush slammed out two triples and a single, all figuring in the run-making. The score:—R. H. E.
 New York . . . 200000000—2 10 1
 Detroit . . . 01101010x—4 10 0
 Batteries—Mogridge and Alexander; Dauss and Stanga.

Wealthy residents of Rosemont and Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia suburbs, have threatened to burn the emergency hospital for the treatment of infantile paralysis being rushed to completion on a remote corner of the estate of Samuel M. Vauclain.

WHY QUEBEC BRIDGE FELL

The casting shown here is blamed for the loss of the Quebec bridge span worth $800,000 and the lives of 12 men. The castings were between the base of the span and the supporting girders. The casting failed and the bridge dropped three feet, and through lack of support, the span buckled and fell into the river.

COBB WILL HAVE TO GO SOME

If He Entertains Hopes for Beating Tris Speaker for Batting Honors.

Ty Cobb gained four points on Tris Speaker in the race for the batting premiership of the American League yesterday. In four times at bat the Tiger star made three hits, one of them a double. He batted against George Mogridge of the Highlanders.
 Speaker in three times up failed to hit safely against Sheehan of the Athletics. Sheehan pitched an inning against Speaker's team on Thursday, but it is believed that he will not pitch against the Indians to-day.
 The up-to-date records of both players, including yesterday's games, follow:—

| | At bat. | Hits. | Avg. |
|---------|---------|-------|------|
| Speaker | 493 | 190 | .385 |
| Cobb | 493 | 187 | .361 |

It will be noticed that Speaker and Cobb have been at bat the same number of times. Speaker, however, has made twelve more hits. To retain the batting crown which he has worn for the last nine years, Cobb must make about fifteen more hits than Speaker in the same number of times at bat during the rest of the season, each will come up about 45 times before the race comes to an end.

LABOR CONGRESS

By Courier Leased Wire.
 Quebec, Sep. 15.—The eighth annual congress of the Canadian Federation of Labor closed yesterday evening, and the following officers were elected:
 President, Charles Pepper, re-elected.
 Vice-president, M. F. Tumpain, re-elected.
 Secretary-Treasurer, G. C. Mercure, re-elected.
 Executive—George Morris and F. Flattman.
 Vice-President for Province of Quebec, Ed. Pepin.
 Vice-President for Ontario, Thos. Morton.
 Vice-President for British Columbia, Ed. Prendergast.
 Vice-President for Nova Scotia, U. S. E. McNeill.

With a Private Branch Exchange system in your store or factory you can talk to the responsible heads of your organization at any time as if they were standing in your presence.
 There is wise economy in saving the time consumed in responding in person whenever you need to talk with them. Facilities for quick communication between departments are indispensable if needless waste is to be stopped.
 Why not speed up your business by cutting down the traffic between departments? Our Contract Department will be glad to give you the benefit of our experience.

The executive will decide later on the city where the next convention will be held.
 Austrian seaplanes at points on the Isonzo front, are reported in an official statement issued by the war office. The statement says:
 "One of our seaplane squadrons on Thursday night attacked batteries and military objects at Vallone. Bombs of a total weight of one and a half tons were dropped and numerous hits obtained, causing extensive fires. Despite heavy shelling from anti-aircraft guns all of our machines returned safely."
 "On Thursday afternoon a seaplane squadron successfully bombarded batteries on the lower Isonzo and Idria Rivers and works near Monfalcone. The squadron returned safely."

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES of BRANTFORD NEWSPAPERS TO BE ADVANCED

Commencing October 1st. next, the subscription rates of the Brantford Daily Courier and the Brantford Daily Expositor will be advanced as follows:

Single Copies - - - - - 2 cents
 Delivered in Brantford - 35c per month ($4.00 per annum in advance)
 By Mail to Outside Points $3.00 per annum

These increases have been necessitated by the tremendous advance in the cost of white paper, labor, metal, and in all other commodities incidental to the production of a newspaper. For over 25 years the subscription prices of the two Brantford papers have remained unchanged, while during that period the price of most other things have doubled and quadrupled. During recent years The Courier and Expositor have actually been sold to the agents and boys, and to the subscriber, when delivery charges are added, for less than the cost of the white paper alone, to say nothing of the hundred and one other charges of which each copy should bear a share. Recently the situation has become so serious that the above advances, commencing October 1st, have become imperative.

Even Advanced Rate is Low by Comparison

Even these advanced rates are much lower than those charged by the papers in London, Belleville, Guelph and many other Canadian cities and many publications which for years have charged the prices the Brantford papers now propose, have announced advances considerably beyond these figures during the last few months.

Subscribers may renew their subscriptions for a period not longer than one year at the present rates, if payment is made before October 1st, but no renewals will be accepted at the old rate after October 1st.

HUN DECORATIONS

(Associated Press Correspondence).
London, Sept. 15.—An Amsterdam despatch quotes the Deutsche Zeitung of Berlin as saying that an army order has been issued announcing that the order pour le merite has been conferred upon General Berthold Von Deimling, commander of the Fifteenth German army corps. The order also announced that General Erich Von Falkenhayn, former chief of the general staff, has received the cross and star of a commander of the Royal House, Order of Hohenzollern with swords. Another Berlin message states that General Freitag Koringen, his hitherto quartermaster-general has been appointed Deputy chief of the general staff.

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 17, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxii, 17-29. Memory Verses, 27-29—Golden Text, Ps. xci. 2—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This chapter is the record of Paul's account of himself and his conversion given to the people from the castle stairs. The chief captain having given him permission to speak after he found out that he was not the leader of a band of murderers, he stood on the stairs, and beckoning with his hand till there was a great silence, he spake unto the people in the Hebrew language, and hearing him speak in their own language, they kept the more silence (xxi, 40; xxii, 1, 2). It was the Jews from Asia who started this riot, and the fact that the Lord had spoken to him from heaven at the time of his conversion in the Hebrew language may have led him thus to decide at this time (xxi, 27; xxii, 14).

When the Spirit records an event or a bit of history several times He must have some special reason for so doing, and desire that we give special attention to it. Note the threefold repetition of Paul's story in chapters ix, xxi and xxii and partially in Phil. iii and I Tim. i and compare the three times repeated record of Hezekiah and Sennacherib in Kings, Chronicles and Isaiah and other repeated records. I have no doubt that the conversion of Saul was typical of the conversion of all Israel, when our Lord shall appear to them in His glory, and on that great day the conversion of all nations through Israel. The miraculous deliverance of Hezekiah and his people from the army of the Assyrians by an angel from heaven is suggestive of the future deliverance of Israel from all nations at the second coming of Christ.

Paul acknowledged that he had been a great persecutor of the followers of Jesus Christ, with the consent and indorsement of the high priest and the elders, and that with letters from them he was on his way to Damascus to bring those that way bound to Jerusalem to be punished when this great event happened to him, and his whole life was changed (verses 3-5). He was full of the spirit of persecution until he had nearly reached Damascus, when suddenly a great light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun at noonday (for it was about noon), shone upon him and caused him to fall to the ground, and he heard a voice saying to him in Hebrew, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" The repetition of the name was unusual, being used in the Old Testament only of Abraham, Jacob, Moses and Samuel (Gen. xxii, 11; xvi, 2; Ex. iii, 4; I Sam. iii, 10), and he wondered to find it caused Saul to think of the God of Israel as revealed to these men.

To Saul's question, "Who art thou, Lord?" the reply came promptly, "I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest" (verses 6-8). What a thrilling reply, what an eye-opening! Jesus Christ really alive from the dead, and all that He said He was, and His followers believed Him to be! Then the persecuted ones were right, and Saul was all wrong. Quickly came the heart cry, "What art thou, Lord?" And being told to go into Damascus and there he would be further instructed, he, having become blind by the great light, was led by the hand of them that were with him into Damascus (verses 9-11). Many in the city were fearing the arrival of this persecutor and no doubt praying to be delivered from his cruel hands. Perhaps some prayed for his conversion, even though he seemed such a hopeless one to pray for. Now, see what God had wrought, and let all who are praying for the salvation of others who are laid on their hearts be of good courage, for when God's clock strikes the hour the thing shall be done—not in your way perhaps, but in His own time and way.

He will see to it (Ps. cxlv, 19). Ever since I wrote on this lesson last, some six or seven years ago, the words of verse 11 have been much with me, "I could not see for the glory of that light." Paul was three days without sight and did neither eat nor drink (chapter ix, 9), but for all the rest of his life he was blind to all but the face of Jesus and deaf to every voice but His, just as Jesus Himself was blind and deaf to all but His Father's face and voice (Isa. xlii, 19). Did you ever pray to be thus blind and deaf? At the hands of Ananias, one of the devout brethren at Damascus, Saul received sight, was baptized and heard his commission, as a "chosen vessel of God, to see that I know His will, hear His voice and be His witness to all men of what he had seen and heard (verses 12-16). Straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that He is the Son of God (chapter ix, 20). This incident of verses 17-21 concerning the trance and vision at Jerusalem in the temple tells us that Saul never forgot the day when he kept the raiment of them that stoned Stephen.

Who can tell how many incidents lead up to and have part in the conversion of a soul? The multitude listened until Paul spoke of being sent unto the gentiles, and then the uproar became so great that the captain had him brought into the castle and had him scourged him to find out what it was all about, but Paul was saved from this as a Roman citizen.

A practically new steam table, with all connections will be sold at Imperial Hotel Auction Sale, Monday and Tuesday.

DIVINE SERVICE AT THE FRONT

Correspondent Tells of Good Work Done by the Chaplains.

London, Sep. 16.—How a chaplain gives help and encouragement to those in the fighting line has been set forth most tellingly in simple incidents related by many a soldier in letters home. The word of sympathy, the gentle rebuke maybe, the trifling service freely rendered—these make up the main armory of the spiritual worker in the field of war. Of the results it is not possible to write, at large. They are noted in the Great Book which has yet to be opened. The chaplain's work is the casting of bread upon the waters.

I am told that the holding of parade services is not regarded as the most palatable part of a chaplain's duty. A good many at home have got out of the habit of attending church regularly; even if the inclination of those at the front were in the other direction, I am afraid it would have to go largely ungratified. Parade services must take place merely when they are possible, and according to the disposition of the forces and the state of the chaplain's engagements.

Congregation of Fifty
I was privileged recently to be present at such a service at a brigade headquarters on the Canadian front. The brigadier fixed the time for the service at 10.30. His reverence, bearing a bagful of little service books noted unpretentiously. Half an hour before the time appointed there was a "heating-up" of officers and men around headquarters. A congregation of about fifty was thus secured.

Hearty Singing
The service took place (like a memorable assembly addressed by a Great Teacher), "where there was much grass in the place." Under the trees, in a spot usually free from enemy shells, a table and half a dozen chairs were placed. The brigadier and his staff occupied the "stand easy," were two deep behind. The padre, seemingly had not much to sit in the way of melody, for after announcing "O God Our Help," he left us to strike the note for ourselves. Somebody in the ranks began the well-known "Salut Anne" tune, which was remembered on the instant by the rest. We had pitched an octave too low, though, and the boundon note was trying to most of the singers. The singing throughout in fact was rather in the style of the lions roaring after their prey, of which the Psalmist writes, but it was hearty enough.

A Made-to-Order Sermon
We had the General Confession, the Creed, some Collects. The men were then "made to sit down" and an address followed. I am inclined to think it was one of the good chaplain's "learn't" addresses, and in saying so I mean nothing in disparagement of it. It had a beginning, a middle, and an ending, each in its due proportion—which cannot be said of all the sermons which are preached by so-called extemporaneous preachers. There was no reference to the war, none to hardships, or bravery, or anything of that kind. The chaplain appreciated that his hearers were aware of all those, and very properly he confined himself to matters which came more within his own province.

Back to Duty
Service lasted about three-quarters of an hour. At the finish everybody returned to the duty of the day—the brigadier to his reports, the policeman to his station at the lane head, the brigade cook to his kitchen. The chaplain motored off to conduct a like ceremony elsewhere. Men at the front tell me they forget the days of the week, they are only able to bear in mind the date of the month. Not far from where our little service had taken place there is a church, shelled to bare walls by the enemy, its congregation dispersed all over France and England.

THIRD SECTION

UNHAPPY WAS L ELIZABETH OF

Deceived in Her Fate by the Court, Shewence—A Curse Joseph's Happiness

On Sunday last, as on every tenth of September for many years, the members of the imperial family in Vienna attend special memorial services in honor of the Emperor Elizabeth, the murdered spouse of Francis Joseph, who was slain by an anarchist at Geneva on September 10, 1898. The career of the Empress Elizabeth, which came to a sudden and tragic end eighteen years ago last Sunday, is an illustration of the proverb that truth is often stranger than fiction.

Elizabeth was a Bavarian princess, the daughter of Maximilian Joseph of Zweibrucken-Birkenfeld. There had been plans on foot for a marriage between the young Austrian emperor and Elizabeth's elder sister, the Princess Helena. When Francis Joseph paid his first visit to the Bavarian court to meet Helena, he was not favorably impressed with that young lady. With the younger sister, the fair Elizabeth, the case was different. He fell in love with her at first sight, and before he left Bavaria a marriage had been arranged.

At that time Elizabeth was a happy, care-free girl of 16, very fond of athletics and with a passion for horses. She was unusually prettily beautiful princess in the world. Elizabeth, a mere child in years and knowledge of the world, was delighted at the prospect of wearing the crown of a great empress. Moreover, she was much smitten with the dash and youthful emperor. It is probable that she was permitted to become acquainted with only the better side of his nature. The emperor selected young Elizabeth for the most desirable Prince Charming who would bear her away to his palace, where they would live happy ever after.

It was on an April day in 1854, when Francis Joseph was in his 24th year, that Elizabeth of Bavaria became his bride, and empress of Austria. The emperor had then occupied the throne a little more than five years, and in that brief period he had brought order out of chaos into which his empire had been plunged in 1848. He had restored the absolutism, abolished the freedom of the press, and dismissed the constitution as a "scrap of paper." He had executed hundreds of the enemies of his regime, and had been dead to all pleas for mercy. He had been stabbed by a young Hungarian tailor, Libenyi, and received wounds so serious that for a time his life had been despaired of. And he had heard, with a smile and a shrug of the shoulders, the curse pronounced upon him by the mother of one of his victims.

"May heaven and hell combine to blast your happiness! May your family be exterminated. May you be smitten in the persons of those you best love. May you and your children be brought to ruin and may your life be wrecked, and yet may you live on in lonely, unbroken and horrible grief to tremble when you recall the name of Karolyi!"
The rose-colored and romantic dream of happiness treasured by the girl empress was not immediately

YES, THAT'S A LITTLE IF YOU IN YOUR MIND

SISTERS THREE

Then he sat down and talked with them, and Audrey brought out the letter which had been sent to them containing various messages and charges, and pointing to a paragraph near to the end, she said—

"Please will you explain to me what my uncle meant when he charged us never to give up the right of way to Rockhaven, which had always belonged to this house?"

Doctor Kingscote's face was a little grave and troubled now.

"It is a long story, which I will give as briefly as possible. On the other side of the Silver Arrow—as our river is called—there is the great house of the district, where the Lebretons have lived for centuries. They own much land all round, and all Rockhaven belongs to them. But they could never purchase either this house on the west or that dark, storm-washed place of the Kildares opposite. Some three generations back the yeoman squire who owned this house, being in difficulties, sold away a large portion of his land—almost all except that which lies just round about. But he maintained the right of way across it to Rockhaven Church, which he and those after him trod regularly, and along which the Rickards are carried to their burial—as your uncle was last week. And any path which is thus used for ever remains a right of way by some law which is perhaps too old to find in any statute book."

"And who wants to interfere with it," asked Gipsy, with kindling eyes.

"My dear young ladies, the Lebretons have tried very hard to close that path. They have made the road carriage-road by which you arrived. They have connected it by a well-made pathway with the little wicket-gate by which you leave your garden and cross to the gap in the plantation which this right of way traverses. Once there were cliff cottages, and their inhabitants used the path too, but now only those are served by it who live on Sunset Crag."

"And we have the right to use it still?"

"Every right; but, as Gaston Lebreton preserves his game, he will probably be anxious to persuade you to abrogate your right. You will understand it has been the cause of trouble and friction between neighbours for a hundred years."

"That is the fault of the Lebretons," said Gipsy quickly; and a flash in her eyes reminded the Doctor of hot-headed Aubrey Vere.

"Yes," he answered quietly, "it is the fault of the Lebretons in the main."

"And our uncle lays a charge upon us?" said Audrey, her eyes upon her letter.

"He has given us everything that makes life happy and rich," said Gipsy, almost hotly; "it would be poor gratitude if we could not fulfil the few charges he has left for us."

Chapter VI.

Allardye could scarcely sleep that night—her happiness was too great, and no wonder.

From a small ten-foot square room, high up above a narrow London street, where the sounds of traffic and of sordid life never entirely ceased, she was transplanted into the low celled but finely proportioned room, with its space for free movement, its gracious tranquillity of atmosphere, its latticed casements facing the west, and its great, clear-paneled window of plate-glass looking southward over a boundless waste of dimpling water, whose whispering voice came up from the depth below.

Allardye pushed her bed near to this window. As she lay she faced the west, but to her left was this open window, letting in soft, sweeping, salt-sharpened airs which caressed her as she lay. All her windows were unblinded and uncurtained.

Not for worlds would she have shut out that vision of stars or that wide, empty space of ethereal peace which brooded over land and sea in the hush of the soft spring night.

She would almost have grudged the sound, dreamless sleep of youth which would have robbed her of these joys. Her slumber came to her in snatches, sweetened by rainbow-tinted dreams which were scarcely less magical than the ecstasy of realization to which she awoke. It was a night long to be remembered—a night of a calm intensity of rapture such as perhaps only such contemplative and dream-woven natures can know.

After a sleep somewhat longer than the rest, Allardye awoke to the consciousness that the miracle of a new day was at hand. Springing up and flinging her quilted gown about her, she leaned out of the big window, her knees upon a cushioned seat, her chin in the hollow of her hands.

"A breath of light, pulse of tender fire."

Swainburne's line leaped into memory as she watched. A waiting stillness, a palpitating pause seemed to hold the sea itself in thrall. The light of the rising sun shone over a shimmering expanse of steely-grey water.

Allardye held her breath in rapture; then with the gesture of one who worships she bent her head as though in prayer. The next moment she threw it back to inhale the breath of dawn.

Then, leaning far out into the radiant light, she looked westward towards the black, mysterious roof which bounded their bay upon the opposite side, and, looking, caught her breath.

How unspcakably wonderful! How mystically glorious!

The black rocks were no longer black; they sparkled like gold, flecked with points of fire. On the plateau nearer to the mainland sparse grassy rock and young corn shimmered. The sea which washed the base of the reef held amethyst lights and purple shadows. Tints of coral and of topaz shot with quivering fire seemed to spring forth to meet her ardent gaze. A magic castle showed itself in glowing prismatic colours in the glory of the dawn. How much was rock and how much building even now could not clearly be distinguished. But here indeed lay a habitation, set apart strangely and touched by a beautiful radiance.

"Sunrise Reef—Sunrise Reef!" breathed Allardye softly to herself. "Oh, you beautiful, beautiful place of sunrise! Some day I must be there to see!"

If Allardye had not slept from excitement and pure joy, Gipsy woke early with these feelings fully developed and astir. She had slept soundly enough, and was all eagerness to explore their domain as she had not been able to do overnight. She was sure that Audrey would be early astir also, and so it came about that the three sisters snatched an informal breakfast long before the appointed time, and scattered each to her own desired occupation within doors or without before the working day had well begun.

Pennyquick was at work in the stables when Gipsy ran round with crusts of bread and lumps of sugar for the horses. Already she and the old man had become friends, and she had learned that the two moor-bred horses which had brought them from the station were used indiscriminately for carriage or farm, that the mare had been "the master's riding-horse," and that the colt was a likely youngster if anybody would take pains to train and handle him. This was to be Gipsy's cherished task, and she was already winning the confidence of the kind-eyed but mettlesome creature. To-day she had not time for more than this. She must go round the small farmstead, and learn how many cows were kept, how many pigs, how many head of poultry. Always the home farm had been her joy in the days of the past, and her remarks and questions showed a shrewdness and understanding which delighted the old farm servant.

"Dance, but you're a vitted maid!" the old man told her at intervals, and she beamed with pleasure at the sound of the implied compliment.

Young Pennyquick, whom she speedily dubbed "Quickpenny," to distinguish him from his elder relatives, was a strong, slow-witted lad who was handy with spade and tools, and had the garden in very fair order. He showed her where the "daffodowndillies" grew, and where the herbaceous borders began to forecast shadow coming glories; and Gipsy felt it no loss that there was no formal garden round the quiet old creeper-grown house. The lawns were green and the paths somewhat moss-grown, but the shrubs had been pruned and trimmed, and gave promise of future glory of colour.

MUSIC AND

Davy Crockett

The story of the great frontier Indian fighter who loved as he fought—with all his might and won what he sought in spite of all obstacles, even the daughter of his aristocratic neighbor, Col. Vaughn.

Across a rugged background of frontier life is woven this sweetest love story of stalwart Davy Crockett and dainty Eleanor Vaughn. She dances beside him when he visits his traps, learns from him the art of woodcraft, and in turn reads to him masterpieces of literature, particularly his favorite hero, Lochinvar.

Eleanor goes to England to be educated; returning, her father dies and her vast estate is under the control of Col. Royston, who through a weakness for gambling, has committed forgery and involved the Vaughn estate in a desperate lawsuit. A professional gambler. To save himself Royston is pledged to accomplish the marriage of Eleanor to Oscar Crampton's nephew, Neil.

Eleanor walks blindly into the net and Davy looks on sore at heart. Eleanor's awakening begins when she is lost in the mountains with Neil, and snowbound in a deserted cabin. Davy discovers them, and while Neil shows a craven spirit of fear, Davy thrusts his arm through the clants in the door and holds it all night against the onslaught of a pack of wolves.

At the grand finale comes when Davy emancipates his hero, Lochinvar, and carries Eleanor away from the altar, a willing captive.

Never has Dustin Farnum had a better role, and never has he risen to more splendid heights in his portrayal.

At the Brant last half of next week.

"It Pays to Advertise."
Another of Cohan and Harris' farce successes is coming! This time it is "It Pays to Advertise," which did phenomenal business on the road last year, surpassing all farces in the matter of creating laughs. This farce will be the important engagement at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday evening, September 20th.

There is not in the amusement world to-day a farce that promotes more laughter than this latest hit of Cohan and Harris. Appealing strongly to men, "It Pays to Advertise," is a business play, but the universal popularity it derived through the authors' holding in the plot, with romance enough to win the enthusiasm of the genuine portion of the audience. It is not a high brow play. It is just a clean, sweet comedy of the farce variety that everyone can understand and appreciate.

Stage Scene 6000 Feet Below Ground
A company of motion picture players headed by Vivian Martin, the popular screen star, has just arrived at the famous Empire mine in Grass Valley, California, and is busily engaged in the filming of several underground scenes. Some of these scenes are being photographed 6000 feet below the ground under extreme difficulties.

This is the first time in the history of motion pictures that scenes were ever filmed at this depth, and some wonderful effects are expected. For Miss Martin's new photoplay "The Right Direction" the undertaking, one of the officials of the Pallas Pictures, who are producing the photoplay, said, "These mines are among the most famous gold mines on the world."

When I started mine engineering thirty years ago, these mines were quoted as the deepest in the world, namely, 750 feet below the ground. They are now over 6000 feet deep on the incline, and have steadily increased from the time of their discovery. They lie near the famous old Idaho mine in Grass Valley which produced seventeen million dollars from the grass routes down. We are most fortunate in securing permission to use these mines, and expect to get the most wonderful backgrounds in these scenes ever displayed in views of this nature."

After the mine scenes are taken the company will enact other bits amidst the beautiful surrounding country. Residence of the mines compare very favorably with some of the most beautiful Los Angeles dwellings, and various elaborate homes will be used in this photoplay.

"The Right Direction" tells the story of a beautiful wait from the temptations of a big Eastern city, who starts out to seek fame and fortune for herself as well as her baby brother. Although California is their destination they start out afoot and meet with many difficulties resulting in an unexpected climax. The production is being staged for the Paramount program by the Pallas organization.

"Dusty" Farnum Back From Vacation.

Tanned a much tanned outdoor color, "Dusty" Farnum, the popular Pallas-Paramount star, arrived back at the studios after another one of those fishing vacations that he frequently takes. The best appreciated unfortunates at the Pallas plant were very much interested in his yarns about his cruise with Zane Gray, the author. His descriptions of the scenic beauties of the spots visited and of cool and refreshing lunches on sheltered beaches whose only inhabitants were wild fowl, made the workers green with envy.

The yarn most enjoyed was about a 230 pound swordfish, which got away after a struggle lasting two and a half hours. Encores of "tell it to me" became so persistent that "Dusty" after listening to heavy condolences from his third auditor, became aware of the too enthusiastic applause at the part where the big fish got away, and refused to tell any more about his trip.

James Van Trees, the Morosco-Pallas cameraman is trying out his new camera stand invention on Vivian Martin's latest subject, "The Right Direction." Van Trees' stand overcomes the difficulties of taking "water stuff" when the waves are choppy, and gives an even picture regardless of how rough the sea is running.

Scene from Cohan and Harris' famous comedy success, It Pays to Advertise, Grand Opera House, Wednesday, Sept. 20th.

CURING BY ALGEBRA

Isabel Stevens Lathrop tells a fascinating story of how Dr. Alexis Carrel is accomplishing a work at the front that a year ago would have been impossible.

She says gangrene is unknown in his hospital, because Dr. Carrel has discovered an antiseptic that will destroy microbes without impairing tissue. Every man in his hospital, she declares, even though he may have been brought in with as many as ten great shrapnel wounds in his body, seems almost in perfect health.

"A man is brought from the trenches with one or a dozen hideous wounds, filled with shrapnel," Mrs. Lathrop says, in relating the marvels of Dr. Carrel's work. "He is put under an X-ray, and the first step is to clear away every particle of foreign matter. To ensure perfect cleanliness, the surgeon cuts away flesh unsparingly. The next step is the whole secret of Dr. Carrel's success; he keeps the wound clean.

"To accomplish this, a rubber tube is inserted in the wound, and the other end of it is attached to the bottle which holds the wonderful cleaning fluid Dr. Carrel has discovered. The fluid drips, night and day, right into the wound.

"The first day after this treatment the soldier's wound is 'dressed.' This is nothing more than removing the gauze that is in the wound. Then an 'impression' of the wound is taken. Something that looks like the film of a kodak is laid on the wound. When it is removed, the outline is there, showing the extent of the injury.

"Then the algebra commences. The 'impression' is taken to the laboratory, where the number of microbes contained in the wound are counted. Each wounded soldier has a chart, upon which the history of his case is recorded day by day. The square centimetres of his wound are measured, and the number of microbes are set down each day as they decrease.

"After a few days the record is plotted algebraically. A line is drawn through the dots which appear on the plot, and the curve of this line, together with the patient's age and the size of the original injury, become factors in an algebraic equation, which, when worked out, gives the exact day upon which the wound will be healed.

"Dr. Carrel told me he had treated 53 cases since adopting this method, only three of which had not healed exactly on the day he had foretold. He showed us the history of one case which had come in February. After four days the date of healing was put down for April 26. On that day it was done."

NEW ELEVATOR.

(Associated Press.)
Petrograd, Sept. 15th.—A new grain elevator of the Imperial Bank will be opened in Samara in the near future. It will be not only the largest elevator in Russia, but, in capacity, the largest in Europe. Its capacity will be over 2,000,000 bushels. Elevator building is being pushed with all energy possible under present difficult conditions for the purpose of developing the elevator system in grain regions of European Russia and Siberia.

BLONDE ESKIMO OF THE ARTIC REGIONS

name, and the navigators who followed him brought to the attention of Europe the Eskimos, who were by this time the sole inhabitants of the district in which the Scandinavians had previously thrived.
"The fate of these Scandinavians had been a sealed book. Had the early English navigators been more enterprising they might have readily penetrated the mystery of these early settlers. Stefanson thinks these Scandinavians moved northward from southwestern Greenland, and then westward until they reached Victoria Island, where the blonde type of Eskimo is now chiefly found. Are these strange people the survivors of these Scandinavian descendants? This view is a plausible explanation of the Scandinavians' disappearance.

Franklin's Expedition
"Here is my explanation:—Two generations ago Franklin's last and fatal expedition sailed. His ship carried 230. They never returned. What of them? Record evidence accounts for half of the expedition, but nothing exists to indicate where the others went. Prevented from returning to their own country I think they cast in their lot with the Eskimos. It was near Victoria land that Franklin perished and in that island most of the blonde Eskimo are to be found to-day. Stefanson places their number at 300, but says they are scattered and many are found in other tribes, but all in that locality. It is from this centre that this mystery of man radiates.

"It is the invariable testimony of the Eskimos I have met who have come in contact with these blonde types that they are strong and resourceful hunters and savage in combat. They dominate those with whom they associate and differ substantially from the mild Eskimos known to explorers in remote latitudes. Obviously their origin in no way relates to that of the people with whom they have been associated for centuries. The marks of their forefathers cannot be eradicated.

"It is this mystery of the north which appeals to me. I may not solve it even if I meet these blonde Eskimos, but it is marvelous how these queer people of the great northland preserve documents and evidences of the ages. Their folklore too is illuminating, but I hope to find some tangible evidence of the blonde man's origin.
"Their implements of civilization are few and crude. Everything that for Grand Prize District No. 1 or 2

Ten per cent. to All Who Fail to Win Any of the Above Prizes

GREATEST PRIZE DISTRIBUTION EVER ATTEMPTED IN THIS PART OF ONTARIO -- TURN YOUR TIME INTO AN AUTO!

WHO MAY ENTER CONTEST

All special ballot votes issued on subscriptions are good until the end of the campaign, and they may be voted at the discretion of the candidate or subscriber.

Votes are not transferable.

Votes will be allowed on subscriptions secured anywhere.

The votes will be counted and canvassed by a committee of prominent citizens.

In case of a tie for any prize, the prize or prizes tied for, one of equal value will be given to each of the candidates tying. Thus, if the two candidates in District No. One having the highest number of votes, should have the same number, a touring car will be awarded to each, and so on for the other district prizes.

Any questions which may arise will be settled by the manager of THE COURIER CONTEST and decision will be absolute and final.

Nominations must have the address of the candidate.

THE COURIER may, at its discretion, add to the prizes named.

Any person residing in Brantford and surrounding country is eligible to enter the campaign.

The Contest Manager reserves the right to reject any nomination.

Votes will be issued on paid subscriptions to THE DAILY COURIER.

A coupon will also be published in THE COURIER, which, when neatly cut out, name filled in, and brought or mailed to the Contest Department will count as 25 votes.

The first thing to do is to enter your name as a candidate, then either call, write, or phone the Contest Department for a receipt book with which to secure subscriptions. Then let all your friends know you are a candidate and request them to save their votes for you.

Candidates may nominate themselves or be nominated by their friends.

No employee or member of employee's family of THE COURIER can enter the contest.

HOW TO WIN A PRIZE

Send in your nomination. You will find on this page a nomination blank that is good for 1,000 votes, which gives you a fine start.

Then enlist the aid of your friends and neighbors. Use your telephone. Let everyone know that you are a candidate before they promise their help to a more enterprising candidate.

You can get votes and subscriptions anywhere from the other districts as well as your own.

Votes will be given on new subscriptions and renewals of old subscriptions that are paid.

Call or send to THE COURIER office for a receipt book. The Contest Manager will be glad to have you call so that he can explain anything you do not understand. Telephone or write to him if you cannot call, and a representative will give you full details.

It is easier to ask questions than to correct mistakes. Do not hesitate to ask questions. The Contest Manager is at THE COURIER office to help you.

Secure every daily vote possible. But work for Special Ballots. They count the most.

Ask your friends to help you. If you belong to a church society, or any organization, let your fellow members know that you expect their help. It will be freely given if you ask before it is given to some other candidate.

Don't forget that the children can do most effective work in collecting Daily Coupons, as well as secure many paid in advance subscriptions.

Should your father, brother, mother, sister, or friend belong to any organization, get them to secure votes and assistance of the members of the organization.

Do not let a day pass without securing some subscriptions and votes. The steady, persistent work is what will make you the winner of a valuable prize. Keeping everlastingly at it always brings success.

Anyone, anywhere can vote for any candidate. Candidates can secure votes and subscriptions anywhere.

Great Prize Contest Starts To-day. Send in Your Nominations. This Contest is Open to Men, Women, Boys, Girls

The time to enter the great contest is to-day. The Candidate who makes an early start is sure of success. Subscriptions to-day are easy to be secured. An automobile is a big prize for some energetic person. Subscriptions bring more votes to-day than any time during the contest. The solution of this problem is do it to-day.

60,000 VOTES For Your First Yearly Subscription, Either Old or New --- GET BUSY---SUCCESS AWAITS YOU

How The Prizes Will Be Awarded

The Candidate having the highest number of votes, regardless of district wins the automobile.

The other prizes will be awarded to the candidate having the following highest number of votes; one prize of each kind for each district; no two prizes of one kind can go to the same district.

Contest Opens Saturday, Sept. 16th Closes Saturday, November 25th

BRITISH ADVANCE
WAS OVER 2

Prisoners Taken No
Over 5400--50 Made and Other Supplies
Two Villages and Lines

London, Sep. 18.—The British in the further attacks on Saturday enlarged the ground gained in Friday's great drive. They captured 51 officers and 1,700 men in straightening out their lines. The number of prisoners taken indicates that the progress made in the course of the "nibbling process" is important. Altogether the British captured in two days' fighting over 4000 men and 116 officers, six guns, fifty machine guns and much material. The German war office on Saturday afternoon admitted the loss to the British of the villages of Courcellette, Martinpuich and Flers.

Two-mile Gain at Points
The total advance made by the British in the two days' fighting, according to Sir Douglas Haig's night report is from one to two miles deep and extends over a front of six miles. The British on Saturday night made a further extension of their gains near Courcellette on a front of 1,000 yards, pushing their lines northward against Bayonne. At the same time they captured the formidable German trench, a mile long, known as the "Danube trench" on a front of about a mile, near Thiepval, and the powerful field work near the Mouquet Farm, bitterly contested for many weeks. To-day Sir Douglas Haig's troops repulsed a series of strong German counter-attacks and consolidated yesterday's gains. They took 249 prisoners, including six officers.

During the fighting a brigade of GREEK MINISTRY IS RESPONSIBLE

Premier Kalageropoulos and Cabinet Accept Demands

By Courier Leased Wire.
Athens, Sep. 17, via London, Sep. 18.—Premier Kalageropoulos announced to-day that the new ministry had assumed full responsibility before the country for its acts. The cabinet evidently accepts the note presented by the Entente powers last June in the same spirit as the previous cabinet. The note referred to said that the Entente powers did not require Greece to abandon neutrality, but demanded demobilization of the Greek army, the formation of a non-political government and the holding of general elections after demobilization had restored the electoral body to normal conditions.

BRITISH AIR RAID.

By Courier Leased Wire.
London, Sept. 18, noon—A raid by British naval aeroplanes on German aerodromes at St. Denis and Westrehem is reported in an official statement issued by the War Office. The statement says:

"Yesterday afternoon a squadron of our aeroplanes carried out a further attack on enemy aerodromes at St. Denis and Westrehem. A large number of bombs were dropped with successful results. One of our machines was obliged to make a forced landing in Holland and the pilot has been interned."

STEAMER AFIRE

By Courier Leased Wire.
Cape Town, South Africa, Sep. 18.—The British steamer Benda, at this port from Montreal, has a fire in No. 2 hold, which has been burning for over a week. It is feared that the cargo is seriously damaged.
