SCOTT PUTS IN CHARGE

Laird-Scott, Label Case Advanced a Stage—Charges Filed in Scott's Plea of Justification—Again on Monday.

Another advance was made in the Laird-Scott libel case on Monday last when Mr. Scott's lawyers filed particulars in his plea of justification.

The charges made by Mr. Scott against Mr. Laird are as follows:

That in October 1906 he received from the contracting firm of Dobson, Jackson & Fry, the sum of $1,500.

That in February 1907 he received from the McComb Sewer Pipe Company the sum of $500.

That during every month of 1904 he received rental at excessive rates from Dobson, Jackson & Fry for cement stored in the warehouse at Regina.

That he used his position as a member of the city council to secure water works connections into the premises of one Reginald Kirk, on the eastern annex, he being at that time interested in that sub-division.

That he used his position as a member of the city council to secure the removal of slaughter houses from in front of the Eastern Annex.

It will be noticed that there is no mention of the $5,000 deal to which Mr. Scott made reference at the preliminary hearing.

The case comes up again on Monday next.

Alliance Says Lord's Day Act Is Now Better Understood and Appreciated—Officers for Next Year—Annual Report.

The annual meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance of Saskatchewan, was held in Knox church, yesterday afternoon. The chair was occupied by Rev. G. C. Hill.

Several matters affecting the work of the Alliance were brought up and discussed.

The officers elected are as follows: President, D. J. Thom. First vice pres., Rev. G. C. Hill. Vice Pres., Rev. E. A. Henry, and Rev. O. Darwin. Sec.-treas., Rev. W. A. Guy.

The following report of the executive was adopted:

EXECUTIVE REPORT

The year's work within the province has been marked by encouragement. Progress has not been rapid but it has been steady and substantial. The friends of reform are often disposed to impatience. Nothing is being done if everything is not done and done immediately. Such are not within the prosecution of the Lord's Day Work, and in no other cause is it more needed. Remember that there is an essential element in progress. With courage and energy we must join wisdom and patience. Perhaps the friends of our cause ought also to be reminded that all the activities of the Alliance and its successes cannot be reported. When by correspondence or conference parties violating the Lord's Day Act have been persuaded to desist, such has been the confidential character of the relations that the facts cannot be given to the public in every instance.

Further the Alliance officers are necessarily dependent on the watchfulness of others and their fidelity in reporting all the facts upon which action of any kind is to be taken. The officers of branches and those who are interested in the defence of the Lord's Day must be our eyes. The secretary, general and associate hold themselves in readiness to undertake any action within the scope of reason and their ability. Having made these preliminary remarks your executive begs to report the following as indicative of progress:

The Lord's Day Act is now better understood and its merits more fully appreciated. Following the passing of the law there was more or less generally prevalent condition of hysteria. Men talked about unjust interference with personal liberty, religious oppression, congestion of traffic, and paralysis of trade as the assured results of the enforcement of the law, and expressed themselves most extravagantly as to the specific provisions of the statute. The excitement has in a large measure, subsided and attention being given to the law itself, rather than to statements about it. Men are discovering that it is reasonable in all its requirements. The campaign work of the Alliance has contributed greatly to the removal of these apprehensions. Copies of the Act have been widely distributed and every effort made to give a just conception of its purpose and an accurate knowledge of its provisions. The recent deliverance of Justice Mabee, the chairman of the Railway Commissioners, has drawn public attention to the care with which the act was prepared and the strength of support given it by Parliament in the form in which it has now been given to the people.

Besides being better understood the Lord's Day Act is being honored in observance. Quite a number of instances could be related of Sunday labor and business corrected and the workmen given the privilege of the rest day. These instances are connected with the operation of railways with railway construction, the business of merchants, farming operation such as threshing, and the work of other callings. In the matter of public works, to refer to a very recent incident, your executive begs to say that when waited upon by the general and associate western secretary, the premier gave the assurance and accorded the privilege of stating it, that instructions would forthwith be issued that such work must immediately cease.

Progress is further noted in the fact that the people are awakening to the value of the Sabbath. Its worth is being recognized not alone in the physical benefits it bestows on those who honor it but in the estimable opportunity it affords for the delights and duties of domestic life, and for the culture in the realm of the moral and spiritual.

And as a feature not unworthy of notice your executive would draw at

TO OPPOSE MOTHERWELL

Sinclair Elliott Will Oppose the Return of the Minister of Agriculture—Fight Between the People and the Machine.

Humboldt, Sask., Nov. 24.—Sinclair Elliott, of Humboldt, barrister, was by a joint convention of Liberals and Provincial Righters here chosen as a candidate to contest the seat in this constituency against the Hon. W. R. Motherwell.

Mr. Elliott described himself as an independent. There would be, he said, contrary to the fondest hopes of the Liberal party, a fight in this constituency, but it would not be a fight as between Liberals and Provincial Righters, but a fight between a discredited member of the government and the Humboldt Liberal machine on the one hand and the people on the other hand.

He alleged that Messrs. Wright and Devine, who were before the convention had been bought off, and said the people should send Motherwell back to where he lost his deposit. Mr. Elliott stamped this constituency for Mr. Little in the campaign against Dr. Noeley, and is one of the brightest speakers in the west. After his nomination Mr. Elliott was called upon to address one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held in the constituency of Humboldt. His audience was roused to fever point. It is believed that Motherwell will do well to save his deposit.

WANTED P. McARA

Citizens Want P. McARA, Jr., to Stand for Mayor for 1909—Finances Should Be Cleaned Up and Expenses Curtailed.

A meeting of a number of business men and others was held in the city hall on Monday evening to discuss civic matters generally. The object seemed to be to get an expression as to the timber available for the council next year as well as the policy to be followed. All the speakers seemed to think that the year 1909 should be the cleaning up year. No new large municipal works should be undertaken during the year and the finances of the city should be placed in a better condition.

The meeting by a standing vote requested P. McARA, Jr., to stand for mayor for the coming year. In reply Mr. McARA promised to give an answer the following day and it was hoped that he would accept as it was considered he was the safest man to preside over the city's affairs for the next year. This is certainly a tribute to Mr. McARA.

However, Mr. McARA feels that he has his hands full with his private affairs and with the affairs of the Regina Collegiate Institute Board of which he is chairman, and consequently has not yet consented to accept the proposal of the citizens.

SIR WILFRID CONGRATULATED
Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is in receipt of many cables and telegrams congratulating him on his 67th birthday. All the members of the cabinet in the capital waited on the premier at his office and extended felicitations. Sir Wilfrid will leave this evening via New York for the southern States, where he will take a fortnight's rest.

INDIANS STARVING

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 20.—Five hundred northern Indians are on the verge of starvation according to information received this morning from Fort George. The tribe who live in a district two hundred miles east, that supply the post had run altogether out of supplies three weeks ago, and were living on what they could beg from the white prospectors. The over running of the country by packs of wolves is primarily responsible for the condition of the Indians. Prospectors from the Injeha declare that these animals have been seen as many as forty in a pack. They have killed all the game in the district.

HOLD-UP IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Nov. 20.—One of the most barefaced holdups of recent years was attempted this afternoon in a thickly populated section of the business part of the city. R. G. Toimie, cashier of the Colonial Bleaching and Printing company while on his way to his office from the bank, carrying a satchel containing $4,000 was stopped by a man, who snatched the valise and pointing a revolver at him exclaimed: "I'll shoot you if you follow me," then the hold-up wheeled and ran along Notre Dame street, the cashier in hot pursuit. The thief seemed to lose his nerve and dropped the bag containing the money and climbed up a hay-loft. Although every effort was made to capture him he is still at large. The streets were crowded at the time of the affair which is regarded by the authorities as one of the boldest attempts at robbery for a long time.

London, Nov. 15.—King Edward is in a bother over his relations. There has been agitation hurrying to and fro of the King's messengers between London and Hanover during the past few days and the result will assume an official announcement soon to be made, cancelling the expected visit of the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland to Windsor castle. This august couple have not visited England together for many years and they were looking expectantly to the contemplated trip. Both the Duke and King Edward are great grandsons of George the Third, and the Duchess is Queen Alexandra's sister, but despite this close relationship the King has decided that the present time is not auspicious for the Cumberland's visit, in view of the fact that the Duke is an open enemy of the Kaiser, and that the latter's famous Daily Telegraph interview intensified the bad feelings which seem always to exist between the people of Germany and England.

TO ELECT A BISHOP

Montreal, Nov. 20.—The Anglican synod meets again on Tuesday next to endeavor to accomplish the task of electing a successor to the late Bishop Carmichael; and as the date for convening draws near interest in the deliberations of that body is growing. The appointment of Bishop Lang of Stepey to the Archbishopric of York, after he was unanimously chosen bishop of Montreal, has put the matter in the same position as it was a month ago, when the synod was unable to choose between Dean Farthing and Dean Evans, and unanimously decided upon Bishop Lang. In the interval there has been much discussion in the press regarding the deadlock between the laity and the clergy at the last meeting, and it is remembered that while the laity went almost solid for Dean Farthing on the last ballot, he also showed gains in the clerical vote. It is thought in Anglican circles that Dean Farthing will, if again put in nomination on Tuesday show increased strength especially in the clergy vote, and there are those who look for his election to that important office.

attention to the more generous consideration accorded the Alliance in the prosecution of its work. Its aims and methods are better understood. It is being credited with not only energy and enterprise but is being regarded worthy of commendation for the reasonableness of its demands and the fairness and considerateness of its methods in the endeavor to secure recognition of the law. It is manifest that its prestige as an organization, whether aim, or method or influence be considered, is on the increase; and especially is it true that the conviction more widely prevalent that in relation to violation of the law the Alliance is a power to be reckoned with.

In surveying the field of opportunity your executive would invite attention to the Railway Problem. This is one of the largest and most serious. There has been some diminution of traffic, and a number of employees in various departments have been given either Sunday or another day or rest. Much more, however, we believe, may yet be done without affecting in any serious manner, the work of transportation. It is just possible that many delays and not a few accidents might be prevented by a more dutiful regard for the day and a more conscientious compliance with the Sunday law. It is just to report in this connection that approaches to officials of the several companies have been welcomed, and they have given earnest consideration to representations made by the Alliance.

The Restaurant and Hotel, because of their relation to the trade of the merchant, raise a serious question of administration. The Alliance has taken the ground that they should in no wise be limited in purveying to the boarding and traveling public in the matter of meals, but they should confine attention to that and refrain from the selling of goods to be taken at the premises, or in other words they should not do merchant's business on Sunday. To this effect decisions have been made by magistrates in various parts of the country, and in these terms also a judgment has recently been given by Mr. Justice Clute of Toronto. The principle involved has therefore been clearly defined and the application of the law to this class of business established beyond question.

The Sunday concert has demanded attention. The real question at issue in this form of entertainment, so far as the Lord's Day Act is concerned, is not generally understood. It is not whether it is a good thing to have these, or whether the young people are better employed when attending such, or whether some charity is to benefit thereby, or even whether the program is to be sacred, the law regards only the business aspect, and under whatever guise of benevolence they may parade, if they are made to serve private gain, the Lord's Day Act demands their suppression. From another point also they must be considered, namely, their far reaching influence. Without doubt they are the forerunners of the entertainments concerning whose baneful influence there can be no question, and the prelude of the open Sabbath, in speaking thus we are quoting history.

Other business calls for consideration: The druggist has his temptation to trespass the bounds confining his Sunday trade to medicines, and surgical appliances necessary for the relieving of suffering, and in relation to him the public is most inconsiderate in many instances. Not only are medicines needlessly asked for, but demands are made for articles from his general stock sold in addition to medicines.

The post office too, has its menace to our Sabbath. It is made too much of a convenience upon the Lord's Day. This seems specially clear, even allowing for western conditions when it is remembered that offices are closed in large centres like Kingston and Toronto. The evil we have learned is not merely that business men continue their contact with business on the day of rest, but there is a growing practice in our towns and cities, of calling to their office clerks, who are called upon to attend to the business arising out of a Sunday mail. It is not difficult to predict ultimate issues of this form of Sunday labor.

The attention of your executive having been drawn in various parts of the province in connection with the contract work for bridges and public buildings, where it has been declared Sunday labor has been carried on only under pressure of necessity, would direct the public thought to the distinction between absolute and avoidable necessity. We have found in many cases, where necessity has been the plea, that by the employment of additional help or by a little forethought such necessity could have been avoided. If that plea is presented by some it to be held valid, it seems clear that almost any business or labor on the Lord's Day can be justified.

In this province as in other parts of the west the problem of dealing with those who wish to recognize the other day than Sunday arises. Much sympathy we believe is needlessly expended on the case of those who are required to comply with the Lord's Day Act. They are not asked to work on their holy day; nor are they asked to worship on ours. They are simply in common with all our citizens called upon to give up their business of their ordinary calling on our national rest day. And the fact that they come here knowing our national habit and sentiment, and to make themselves rich out of our resources suggests that in ordinary courtesy they should conform to all our laws even at the sacrifice of a little in the way of industrial liberty.

Turning to the matter of official attitude in the matter of the enforcement of the act your executive begs to say that the attorney general of the province has signified his readiness to do all in his power to secure the impartial and reasonable enforcement of the law. In giving his consent to a prosecution he makes a requirement that a statutory declaration shall be made by the informant as to the truth of the information given.

We believe that something demands to be done throughout the province to impress local officials with a sense of the responsibility rests on them to secure the recognition of the law. The part taken by the Alliance is purely voluntary as the action of an association whose members are zealous to protect the Sabbath. Upon chief magistrates, police constables, etc., rests the burden of official duty as expressed in their oath of office.

Referring to the activities of the western secretary your executive reports that his whole time has been given to the work of the Alliance in the four western provinces. His time has been occupied visiting branches already established, organizing other places, addressing public meetings, interviewing the authorities, and conferring and corresponding with all those who wished his counsel upon any phase of the Lord's Day questions.

In conclusion attention is drawn to certain convictions that have been impressed by the experience of the year. The need of the rest day, the necessity for sturdy action on its behalf as a permanent constitution in our land, the value of reasonable legislation for its defense, and for the guarantee of the rights of all to the day, the specific virtue of the Lord's Day Act in promoting the end and the effectiveness of special organizations and concentration upon this one phase of social effort as indicated in the work of the Alliance, and finally of the greatness of the obligation resting upon all to fight to use and loyally to defend the Sabbath against its enemies.

The financial report accompanying we are pleased to say, notwithstanding many circumstances of an adverse character shows a balance upon the right side.

Diphtheria Scare.

The Rouleau Enterprise in its last issue gives the whole story of the diphtheria scare along the Soo and produces sufficient evidence to completely exonerate the medical men of that town. The report published in Regina that a doctor had failed to properly diagnose a case, is proved to be fallacious.

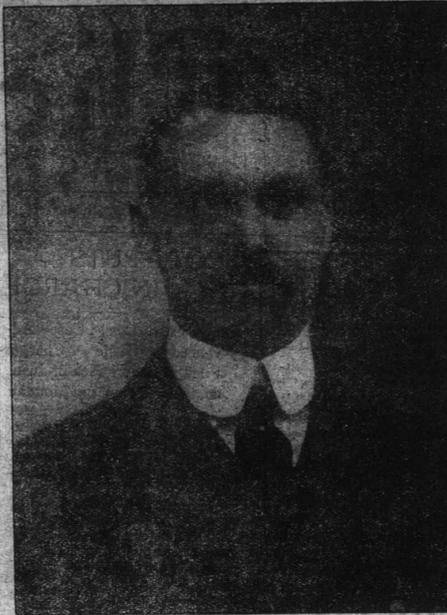

The people of Rouleau resent the injurious publicity given to their town and medical men through the publicity seeking medical health officer of Saskatchewan.

The Enterprise of that town in its article calls upon the medical health officer of the province to make good some of his statements and concludes as follows:

"We believe that every step has been taken to check the disease and we are confident that nothing more could be expected of our local medical men. If the blow aimed at our town and medical men is due to a misunderstanding of Dr. Seymour's report it is up to that periodical to 'eat crow,' and if it is accurate 'so far as the statements were given by Dr. Seymour, well, it is to him we then look for a retraction in the

The weather has been so mild that farming, such as discing and plowing has been frequently possible up to date.

POTTERY WORKS AT ESTEVAN.

The Observer is credibly informed that a company, of which C.P.R. officials are members, have acquired 75 acres adjoining the Eureka Coal & Brick Co. property, and that it is intended to commence operations next spring in the manufacture of all kinds of pottery. An inexhaustible supply of pottery clay is available, and as to coal for furnaces, that can be had on the spot at first cost and for all time. Such an industry will prove a boon to Estevan, as it will not only bring capital into the district, but it will give employment to about sixty men, which will mean a large wage roll and consequently will be spent among the business firms in town.—Estevan Observer.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—S. Rebin and V. Potapoff of Verigin, Sask., are in the city engaged in making purchases for Doukhobors. Rebin is secretary and Potapoff one of the directors of the community. Potapoff stated that the community had about one thousand cattle and four hundred horses which would be disposed of this fall. The crops have been good and there is a large quantity of oats and barley in the possession of the community for marketing.

The wheat which was grown will be delivered at the large mill which had been built at Verigin, and there would be some flour for sale. Potapoff stated that the representatives of the community who were to the city would purchase supplies for seven thousand people which is the present membership of the community. The business of completing the buying would occupy the visitors for several days after which they will return to Verigin.

CONSUMPTIVES, and for extending the fight against the dread White Plague. This Christmas Stamp idea was started in Denmark about four years ago, where the cash returns have built and financed a Consumptive Hospital. A year ago, the Red Cross Society of Denmark sold over 400,000 stamps with the co-operation of stores, churches, clubs, and boys and girls.

A STAMP FOR CANADA. The neat little stamp in red and white, like above cut, and selling at one cent each, is published by the National Sanitarium Association in the interests of the Muskogee Free Hospital. The stamp does not pay postage, but may be put on letters, packages and Christmas cards of all kinds, and will bear the happy Season's Greetings everywhere.

Willing workers all over the Dominion are organizing little bands for stamp-selling. The hospital board is hoping that over a million stamps will be sold before Christmas, and the work for the consumptive poor from sea to sea will be greatly strengthened. Other interesting information may be obtained by writing Mr. J. S. Robertson, Secy.-Treas. of the Association, 317 King Street West, Toronto.

CAN'T GET BUEFALO. The Attempt to Round Up the Bison to be Brought to Canada Proves a Failure—Photographers Experience.

Missoula Mont., Nov. 17.—Despite all the care and precaution exercised in the preparation for the shipment of the remainder of the Pablo bison herd to the national park in Alberta, the herd will remain on the Flathead reservation till spring.

Everything worked according to schedule and the wing fences swung the animals towards the corral gate and the scheme was pronounced a complete success. The shaggy brutes trotted through the gate into the corral with an indifference that should have aroused the suspicion of the men who were driving them.

There was a rumble of the heavy mass getting into motion. Then the dog trot of the bison quickened into a cavalcade of cavalry horses to a bugle call and a gallop with the response of a troop in a cloud of dust the unwieldy beasts charged across the enclosure straight for the high bluff, whose vertical face had been supposed to be insurmountable by anything on foot.

Dust obscured the sight of the beasts but it hung over them like a mantle and its movement marked the course of the quondam property of the Dominion. Straight toward the foot of the bluff the herd charged and those who were watching the movement expected to see a mass of buffalo meat piled up at the foot of the steep cliff.

The herd rushed to the foot of the bluff all right, but it didn't stop there. It scaled that cliff as if the wall was the easiest thing in the world. There was not a moment of hesitation, not a falter. Right up the abrupt wall the bison charged, each making a trail that was a little easier for the one that followed him.

Up the bluff and over the ridge, belching in triumph and twisting their short tails in victory the ungainly gallopers passed and then they spread out, scattered in three different directions, until the work of months was undone and they were their own masters defiant and unconquered.

A short distance up the bluff a photographer from Butte had stationed himself, selecting what he thought was a good vantage point from which to get pictures of the last of the bison while they were yet on American soil. His station was directly in the path of the onrushing beasts and he had not the skill at climbing that was necessary to get out of their way. All he knows is that he grabbed something in the dust and next instant he found himself riding on the back of a galloping buffalo up the cliff.

Civic Government

Stanton, Va., a city which has a population of about 12,000 inhabitants, has a business manager. He was appointed last April and apparently proved a success.

The city retains the form of political organization required by law, and is governed from a legal standpoint by a mayor and city council, says the Washington Herald.

These officers, however, have delegated the purely business functions of local administration to the business manager, elected by them for a period of one year and directly responsible to them. He has saved money, according to his own statement, and given them an economical and efficient service.

For one thing, he was able to place contracts for granolithic paving at 71 cents a square yard, instead of the $2 the council was paying prior to his appointment.

Perhaps Regina would make no mistake in following the example of Stanton.

Liberal Prosperity

"Five years more of prosperity," was the cry of the Liberals prior to the recent general elections. The laboring men were told that there would be work for all and at good wages. The organ of the Liberal party in Regina recently boasted of the prosperity of the country, and yet a few days after it comes out with an article warning the unemployed who were drifting to the larger centres in the province.

The Liberal party boasts of what its immigration policy has done for western Canada. Granting them all they deserve it looks as if there was bad judgment somewhere or else we would not have the warning issued from every large centre from Fort William to Victoria for men to keep away from these places. Why should the cities be burdened during the winter with the unemployed who have not lived in their confines for two months?

Where is the work which means prosperity? Why are there so many unemployed? Is this some of the work that Laurier wanted to finish? Did he want to starve out completely the working men? This question of the unemployed recurring every winter is one which the Department of the Interior ought to consider.

Preventing Discussion

It is intimated that the Laurier government will endeavor at the next session of parliament to introduce a bill amending the rules of debate in the House "with a view to expediting public business and preventing useless prolongations of debates." Dealing with this proposed feature the Toronto Mail and Empire says: "In the new House the opposition will be stronger than it was in the last one. It will enter upon its duties with an energy and determination not in the slightest degree weakened by the result of the elections. Its members go to the House to continue the fight against graft that was interrupted by the closing of the last session. The government is well aware that there is to be no truce in the fight between the opposit on and the entrenched forces of graft. It has good reason to fear that the same aggressiveness as was shown by Mr. Borden and his followers in the last two sessions will, if kept up a session or two longer prove the downfall of the graft system and its protectors. To the government the effect of the scandals brought to light in the two sessions was most damaging. In the minds of honest people throughout the country those revelations produced an indignation that would have swept the government from power had not the grafters spent enough of their ill gotten money upon corruptible voters to save the day. The anti-graft explorations of the opposition had to be restricted if the government was to have any security in office, or any secrecy in its dealings with the greater element. Hence the proposal to introduce the closure, whereby debate can be choked off when it tends to become embarrassing. Along with the gag the government will doubtless use its former coercive measures. When original documents are called for, Mr. Oliver or Mr. Fielding will, no doubt, again have the brazenness to refuse to produce them. Sir Wilfrid Laurier may be expected to be at hand to maintain once more that it is really the custom to lay before the House not the genuine documents, but copies thereof. The plea will again be set up as before that to keep the documents from being stolen or destroyed it is necessary to withhold them from members. The finance minister can be relied upon to lay down at need the outrageous proposition that minorities have no rights, and that every member's rights as a representative of the people are only such as the grace of the majority permits. Upon the activity of the "blockers" too the government will depend. Of the brigade that obstructed the members of the public accounts committee several will not be in the new house. It will be the care of the government to see that they have capable successors. Knowing that the opposition means to keep on the trail of the marauders, the government can be trusted to use every expedient to cover up the latter's escape, and keep wrongdoing concealed.

The intimation that the gag is to be applied in the House forewarns the country, and should forearm all those whose duty it is to combat the graft evil. In particular it should impress upon Mr. Justice Cassels a sense of the importance of carrying his investigations to the very root to which the evil fruits he has discovered at Quebec draw their sustenance. Made at the present time on the morn of a general election, this threat has a gravity that cannot be ignored. If the government can gag the House, it is for Mr. Justice Cassels to show that the government cannot stay the rigor of his enquiry.

Press Comment

(Saturday Sunset, B.C.)

When Sir Thomas Shaughnessy said in Victoria the other day that his company would be glad to forego everything in the shape of a public grant if that were the general policy of the country towards all other railways, he expressed himself just as another prominent official of the C.P.R. did on a recent occasion to me. The time has surely gone by in Canada when railway subsidies should be given. When the C.P.R. was built it was the greatest railway experiment in the world. It was a condition of the Act of Confederation and whether it was good railroading or not, it had to be built in order to complete the organization of the Dominion. Many there were who declared that the railroad would only amount to a streak of rust across the prairies. They did not believe in nor foresee the possibilities of the country. But the resources of the west justified the construction of the road and the tremendous expenditure of public and private capital. The road is a success. The building of a railroad in Canada is no longer an experiment. Railways should no longer be regarded as struggling enterprises, embarking upon a hazardous undertaking and treated as public medics. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy probably appreciated that fact. He knows his own company's success makes it easily possible to secure all the capital necessary for new railways without public subsidies.

(Moose Jaw News.)

A short time ago the Regina Leader expressed the opinion that the failure of many of the Conservative candidates to secure election was due to the fact that they were nominated under orders from Regina. What does it think of Hon. W. R. Motherwell's nomination in Humboldt? A more glaring piece of dictation by the bosses was never perpetrated in this province. Messrs. Calder and Motherwell had to secure nomination not only so, but nomination in safe constituencies. It seemed improbable that a door would be opened in the south, so to the north they looked for help.

But a few matters had to be "fixed." Ardent politicians like Hon. T. MacNutt and Dr. Neely, are not the kind of men to give place to others, unless their soaring ambition is considered and openings provided better than those they are asked to vacate. It is no secret that Dr. Neely has long considered the Dominion parliament as the field most suited to the display of his abilities; and he struggled with Mr. A. J. Adamson for the nomination. The latter person being under a cloud it was considered inadvisable that in his debilitated state he should seek re-election. Mr. Neely then opposed the desire of Dr. Neely. It was decided that he should stand for the Commons. Thus an opening was made for the Minister of Agriculture.

Another safe constituency being desired for the provincial treasurer the alluring temptation of nomination for a sure thing in the Commons was dangled before Hon. Thomas MacNutt. He received the offer as the work of destiny. Here was then Mr.

Calder's opportunity. Yesterday he received the nomination for Saltcoats. Do any say this was not dictation? Dictation is not now considered a pleasant term; perhaps it would be more acceptable to say "fixed."

(Victoria Colonist)

Premier Scott of Saskatchewan who has returned to his prairie home after contributing his efforts to a vain attempt to prevent the election of Conservative candidates in Kootenay and Yale-Cariboo, has been making some observations on the subject. He says that Mr. Borden's attitude in 1907 and as presented by the Conservative candidates in this province in respect to Japanese immigration, "certainly cannot be characterized as one of loyalty to British institutions." These are brave words, but they do not mean anything, except that Mr. Scott is angry at the defeat of the Liberal candidates. We have no desire to fight the election battle over again, but in the interest of truth it seems necessary to define what the attitude of the Conservative party in British Columbia upon the Oriental question is, and what the elections must be understood as demonstrating. It may be stated in a few words. The issue was not the Lemieux agreement nor the Japanese treaty. It was the attitude taken by the premier of Canada in respect to the Oriental question. Sir Wilfrid Laurier with great frankness specifically stated his views on this question in his speech in the Russell theatre at Ottawa. He then sent a message to the people of British Columbia in which he said that our attitude towards the Oriental people is a mistake and that he did not share in our sentiments. To this reply of the people of British Columbia has been given in the only way in which public opinion can be constitutionally expressed under British institutions.

A declaration of this kind seemed imperative because the Lemieux agreement is temporary only and as the postmaster general was sent to Tokio because of the strong feeling of the people of this province, it seemed right to the Conservative party to invite them to make an explicit declaration that their views have in no way changed. When the hard feelings engendered by the contest have worn away, and the question of Oriental immigration again becomes acute, the decision of the electorates of British Columbia will have a potent influence in determining the line of action that shall be taken.

The Colonist feels that its position on this subject, which was similar to the position taken by the Conservative party in this province, will stand the closest investigation. It contended that the suggestion of the Colonial Office should have been adopted by the government of Canada and a provision similar to the Queensland protocol should have been appended to the Japanese treaty. It protested against the right to restrict immigration into Canada being surrendered to a foreign power. It declined to join in the clamor for the abrogation of the treaty. It counselled toleration in the treatment of the Japanese. It approved of Mr. Lemieux's mission. It accepted the result of that mission as temporarily satisfactory and congratulated the minister upon it. Then when the election came on, believing that the opinion of the people should find expression, not as to the Lemieux agreement, but as to the attitude of the government as expressed by the premier, upon the bald question of Oriental immigration, it made that attitude the issue of the campaign, and the people have spoken in no uncertain terms. It may seem fitting to a charged politician to characterize this attitude as one of disloyalty to British institutions, but we venture to think that the sober judgment of all qualified persons will be that the people of this province have pursued a perfectly constitutional course, and one that is not only not prejudicial to the welfare of the empire, but will play an important part in the future consideration of an exceedingly difficult question.

(Toronto News.)

There is a refreshing coolness in the suggestion that all these revelations concerning Marine Department methods have been brought about by the reforming ardor of the government. Ministerial newspapers comment on the stern services of the government in appointing the civil service commission to inquire into the character of the administration, and Judge Cassels to "finish its work." There might be some credit due to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues if that were a true picture of the facts. But the Civil service commission was appointed for other reasons.

No one imagined that Mr. Courtney and his colleagues would turn their attention to the patronage list. Indeed they broke out in an unexpected place. The report of the civil service commission had a stupifying effect upon the Boys in Sixteen. Long and elaborate communications were heaped upon the heads of the commissioners for their interference. For several days Parliament Hill was a veritable Mount Ebal, a mountain of cursing. There was gnashing of teeth in the office of La Presse in Montreal and other Liberal papers throughout Canada were sternly indignant at the allegations made. Efforts were made to prove that Mr. Fyfe was in his dotage and that Mr. Courtney and Mr. Bazin did not know what they were talking about. For months after the commission presented its report there was no mention made of the regulation honorarium of the Dauntless Three. The government and its following were utterly demoralized by the report.

So angry were the ministers that they would not allow the commissioners to make further investigation. Instead they issued a new commission to Judge Cassels, limiting the scope of the enquiry as much as they dared, and trusting, perhaps, that he would not be too ardent. But the judge displayed so much vigor that he surprised the practical politicians. Whatever his bona fides covered in the methods of the marine department has been brought to light in spite of the administration, which has glorified the motto "Be Good to Our Friends."

Over 3,000 Students Trained for Business

The "FEDERAL" Business College has now entered upon its eleventh year of practical educational work. Its graduates are to be found in all the large centers of Canada, where they command the best situations. The school year just entered upon promises to be the most successful in our history. The splendid success of our students taking a course of study in business subjects should as once communicate with the management, as from present indications it may be impossible to gain admission at a little later date. Several new teachers of lengthy experience will be added to the "FEDERAL" staff.

Our Special Home Study Course

is prepared for those who cannot attend college, instruction being given through correspondence, and by teachers who will visit the various centers in the interests of Home Study Students.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Arrangements are being made which it is hoped will permit of the reading room being thrown open to the public on or about the first of December the exact date will be announced by the city newspapers. While the British publications ordered will not likely reach here before January, there will be available for perusal at that date the leading Canadian dailies and monthly and weekly periodicals of Canada and the United States.

A small shipment of books for the library has been received during the past week. This consists of a number of works of recent fiction as well as books relating to history and travel. Altogether there are now on hand about 200 volumes.

As the heavy shipment of books from the contractors are expected to begin to arrive early next month involving a large amount of work in their examination, classification, cataloguing and mechanical preparation and as the hours during which it is proposed to open the library to the public are such as to preclude the possibility of the work being successfully attended to by one person, the board are calling for applications for the position of Lady Library Assistant. It is perhaps well to make clear that the position thus created is not that of Assistant Librarian. The necessity for the latter official not being urgent until the institution is much larger. The office of the Library Assistant is designed to relieve the Librarian, who is also secretary-treasurer of the board of a certain quantity of necessary mechanical and routine work in order that he may devote the greater part of his time to other matters connected with the administration and supervision necessary and to divide with him in an equitable manner the hours of attendance upon the wants of the public. The undersigned will be pleased to give further information as to the duties to, any applicants who may apply to him personally.

The library has recently been presented by W. F. Kerr, managing editor of the Leader Parkman's works, under circumstances of more than ordinary interest which are as follows: Some time ago a debate was held at Indian Head between three representatives of that town and Messrs. W. M. Martin, Douglas J. Thom and W. F. Kerr representing Regina. The subject of debate was "Government Ownership of Public Utilities." The decision of the judge at the close of the debate was in favor of the Regina team and the set of Parkman was handed to the Regina representatives for presentation to the Regina-Public Library whenever such an institution should be established.

Among the recent additions to the reference department of the library is The Catholic Encyclopedia, a colossal work, of which only three of the fifteen volumes have been published. This work, as the preface states, "proposes to give its readers full and authoritative information on the entire cycle of Catholic interests, action and doctrine; what the church teaches and has taught, what she has done and is still doing for the highest-welfare of mankind; her methods past and present; her struggles, her triumphs and the achievements of her members not only for her own benefit but for the broadening and deepening of all true science, literature and art." It differs from the ordinary encyclopedia in omitting facts and information that bear no relation to the church, but it is broad in its scope as well as beautifully printed and illustrated. It will be valuable as a work of reference for students of all denominations as the information contained in its pages can be safely regarded as an authoritative presentation of the views of the church of Rome on many important matters. Every citizen has a right to make himself familiar with the laws of the country in which he lives, but this duty is often sadly neglected and the necessity for it is frequently brought home by unpleasant experiences in courts of justice. The library will offer special facilities for the acquisition for such information as is useful to the average layman, and with this end in view a comprehensive index has just been completed for the card catalogue of the laws of the province. It is hoped to deal with the federal statutes later on.

The library has now the New International Encyclopedia which is acknowledged to be a work of particular excellence and is the latest of American books of this class.

As soon as sufficient works are on hand in the reference department to make it worth while, the undersigned hopes to make arrangements which will make this branch particularly useful to church and other debating societies and with this end in view would be glad if the secretaries of such societies in the city would communicate with him.

J. R. C. HONEYMAN,
Librarian.

HOPE FOR BRIEF SESSION

Dominion Cabinet May Adopt
Closure—The Insurance Act
Will be Discussed—Curtail Expenses.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—At today's cabinet there was a discussion on the coming session, but nothing was definitely mapped out. It is hoped that it will be a brief session, and it is not expected to be heavy in regard to legislation. The insurance act left over from the last session will be one of the most important. There will also be the creating of a portfolio of labor preliminary to the appointment of Mackenzie King.

The adoption of a closure or an act similar to the one in the British law to prevent the undue prolonging of debate on contentious bills, is suggested, although it is not desired to unnecessarily interfere with the freedom of debate.

To meet the temporary falling off in revenue expenditures will be curtailed in every way.

Mackenzie King's acceptance of the government's offer to appoint him as one of its representatives at the international conference in China in January, for the suppression of the opium trade is still tentative. Whether he thinks he can give the best services by accepting the imperial mission, or by remaining at his post in parliament, will be decided in a day or two.

THE PANGS OF SCIATICA

Can Be Cured by the Fair Use
of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Fierce darting pains. Pains like red hot needles being driven through the flesh—in the thigh perhaps down the legs to the ankles—that's sciatica. None but the victim can realize the torture of this trouble. But the sufferer need not grow discouraged for their is a cure in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills enrich the blood, feed the starved sciatic nerve and thus drive out the pain. Mrs. Joseph L. Brown, Wilmot, N.S., was a victim of sciatica and found a cure in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "For a year I was laid up with sciatica from my side to my foot. What I suffered was at times awful. I could not touch my foot to the floor and had to hobble about with a cane. My right leg was drawn up, and I never expected to have the use of it again. I was attended by our family doctor, and tried several other remedies, but with no benefit, and I felt very much discouraged." One day I read of the cure of a similar sufferer through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. I got six boxes, and by the time I had taken them I was completely cured, and have not had the slightest twinge of the trouble since. I am, therefore a very enthusiastic friend of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and recommend them to all who are similarly troubled."

There is no mystery about the cures Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make. They act upon the blood, enriching and purifying it, and in this way feed the nerves and reach the root of the disease. That is why they cure such common ailments as anaemia, pimples and eczema, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, paralysis, and the irregularities in health of growing girls and women. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

UNIONS DISSATISFIED

Believe Their Representatives
Sacrificed Them—The Com-

Terms of the Agreement—
Hardie and McVety Make Statements.

The circumstances surrounding the settlement of the late strike of the mechanical unions on the C.P.R. was made the subject of investigation by a committee representing the various labor organizations affected. This committee sat towards the end of October and was a very representative one, the personnel of which was determined by the vice presidents of the several unions. Their report is a somewhat lengthy and exhaustive one and is severe in its dealings with the executive committee responsible for the settlement, declaring that there was no justification for the great sacrifices entailed in the terms accepted. The report is now in the hands of the various local unions of the system and has been considered by the majority, although it is understood that the general expression of opinion has not yet been received at headquarters here. The machinists union have expressed opposition to the finding, because they are of the opinion that it reflects too strongly on the chairman and secretary of the strike committee, who were both members of the machinists union.

The committee sat from Oct. 21 to 27 inclusive, and their deliberations were delayed and burked at every point by Messrs. McVety and Bell Hardy. It was composed of the grand officers of the machinists, blacksmiths, boilermakers and carmen, and delegates from McAdam Junction, Montreal, Carleton Place,
West Toronto, North Bay, Moose
Jaw, Cranbrook, Nelson, Revelstoke,
Vancouver, Brandon, and the following members of the executive committee, Messrs. J. H. McVety, secretary, R. J. Shore, Wm. Marshall and W. McFarlane. Chairman Bell Hardy was held up in the west by storms, but the committee remained in session until he could reach Winnipeg. He was heard on the last day of the sitting when he spoke on the general question of the settlement,
but refused to speak on the routine
detail of the strike work, claiming that the committee had already heard Secretary McVety, who had the records, and so would be more correct than his own recollection of events might be.

THE REPORT
The report of the committee was
as follows:
Brother Chairman and Delegates Assembled:
We, your committee, appointed to report on the evidence given by the officers and members of the executive committee in Winnipeg, who were responsible for the calling off of the present strike, beg to report as follows:
We have considered very closely the evidence given by Chairman Bro. Bell Hardy, Sec.-Treasurer Bro. Jas. H.
McVety, Brothers Shore, Marshall,
Wark, McFarlane, Taylor.

We have studied deeply the statements referring to the conditions of the labor market in Great Britain and the United States, and the poor condition of trade in this country, and the fact that the men had been working short time for several months previous to the strike, the difficulties of financing such a giantic undertaking, and the threats of some of the men to return to work.

We consider the circumstances mentioned in the evidence before us did not justify Brothers Hardy, McVety, Shore, Marshall, McFarlane and O'Dwyer making such a tremendous sacrifice as that of notifying the minister of labor of the acceptance of the board of conciliation and investigation, thereby calling off the strike without having—

First: Obtained definite and satisfactory terms from the company.

Second: In our opinion in such a crucial moment as that reached at the time the strike was to be called off, the eastern committee should have had an opportunity of considering those terms of settlement, and the step about to be taken.

Thirdly: We consider that in justice to the membership over the system, a referendum vote should have been taken before the committee should take upon themselves a responsibility of such magnitude.

We completely exonerate them from even the suspicion of having received any monetary or other consideration from any source. We believe that everything was done to the best of their judgment, and to their faulty judgment alone can be attributed such a disastrous settlement. For this which we consider an inexcusable weakness, when firmness and strength were most necessary, we feel it our duty in the interests of the federation to recommend as follows:

The retirement from their official capacity in this federation of Chairman Bell Hardy and Sec.-Treas. J.
H. McVety.

We further recommend that Bros.
Shore, Marshall, McFarlane and O'Dwyer be referred to their own organizations, trusting those bodies to deal with them in accordance with the evidence submitted.

In conclusion your committee regret very much that the action of the executive has forced them to take the course as recommended above, considering the great amount of good work done by them previous to the settlement.

Respectfully submitted:
JOHN A. MCLELLAND,
PETER DALY,
FRED GRAY.

Adopted by convention assembled,
Oct. 26, 1908.

QUESTIONS POWER
When the adoption of this report
was before the investigating committee General Chairman Hardy questioned the right of that body to request his resignation. If a successor was elected in the proper manner
there would be an end to the matter.
Secretary McVety said he would not hand in his resignation until asked to do so by the membership. When they asked for his resignation it certainly would be forthcoming,
in the meantime he refused to hand over any papers or other matter in connection with the office.

The committee then added the following rider to its report:

That, whereas we deeply deplore
the circumstances by which we are compelled to take this action, the attitude assumed by Chairman Hardy and Sec.-Treas. McVety in trying to block the work of the convention, and to annul the possibilities of its usefulness under existing conditions by withholding all documents and papers belonging to the federation, and defying the powers of the convention to request their resignations, thus causing an unnecessary delay in the transaction of business, and considering the expense of maintaining this body, we cannot too strongly condemn such unwarranted stubbornness on the part of these brothers.

We strongly recommend that an immediate vote be taken over the system endorsing the action of the convention.

A GENERAL VOTE
Under instructions the provisional chairman and secretary are taking a ballot of all the unions affected on the following question:

1. Do you endorse the action of this convention in retiring the chairman and secretary-treasurer responsible for the recent strike settlement and in calling for the resignation of Bros. Hardy and McVety?

2. Do you endorse this convention in placing an assessment on each working member of the system of one day's pay per month to aid the brothers victimized through the strike
settlement?

This ballot is now engaging the attention of the unions. The Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, the largest

COMPANY BROKE FAITH
The deliberations of the committee developed the regrettable evidence that the C.P.R. had failed in a large measure to even carry out the terms of capitulation which they succeeded in forcing upon the strikers. The unions in Winnipeg and the west have shared much better in this respect than those in the east where the unions have been forced to undergo the greatest hardships, and the strikers have been forced to seek other employment in large numbers. While this phase of the question was under fire Hon. Robert Rogers who was one of the main springs through which the company attained its victory over the men, appeared before the committee, and while admitting violation of the terms by the company, he promised to do everything possible to have the C.P.R. observe its obligations in this respect. Subsequent developments have not gone to prove that he has made the same success of this that he did in effecting the conquest of the unions.

This is proven by the following figures, which were official at the end of October, the latest date to which they have been compiled, regarding the system in which the settlement
terms have been carried out:

Montreal—Machinists—40 per cent.
re-employed; boiler makers 35 per cent.; carmen, 5 per cent.; painters, 20 per cent.; blacksmiths, 15 per cent.; pattern makers, 25 per cent.;
brassworkers, 55 per cent.; carpenters,
50; tinsmith 90; moulders, none.
Of 731 carmen who went out 26 have been re-employed.

Eastern division, outside of Montreal—105 strikers, 55 re-employed.
Atlantic division—103 out of 178.
Lake Superior division—210 out of 234 back.

Winnipeg—Practically all men back.
Nelson—36 out of 86.
Vancouver—85 only out of 243.
Toronto—Carmen 44 out of 221;
other trades about 50 per cent.

MCVETY'S STATEMENT
J. H. McVety, in discussing the strike and its settlement before the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council a few days ago, said the strike was called with the consent of all the international organizations, and of 90 per cent. of the membership involved.
Four or five causes contributed to its failure, chief among which were antipathy of the public and the lack of financial support from the international organizations contributing. It was a case of keeping 6,500 men from starving. Six thousand five hundred men did not receive more than $1.25 apiece during the two months of the strike. Some 1,500 received regular strike pay, but all the others existed on a pittance. In spite of slender financial resources,

the defections were less than 50.
While the men admitted they were beaten after two months' fight, they came back to the position that while they lost they won. They had recognized the advantage of organization,
and the advantages of political action.

McVety declared that the Dominion government and the railway commission allowed the company to violate every act of parliament and every mandate of the commission, but the most potent factor in the result was the condition of the labor market.
The condition of the market in the United States and in the old country allowed the company to get all the men they wanted, many of whom worked on the grim doctrine that it was better to be a scab than a corpse.

The Farley strike-breakers' organization assisted the company early in the fight, and he considered this organization was a power which organized labor would have to reckon
with everywhere on this continent.
The Thiel detective agency, organized and chartered in Canada as well as in the United States imported men from the States under contract.

WAS NO SALE
The men did not lose, because they were sold out," he said, "but because of lack of financial assistance
because the government wanted them to lose, and because the public said
the men asked for conciliation and then would not have it, whereas they had only done so in order to comply with the law."

"When the company assured us, he said, that they would take 90 per cent of the men back in ten days, and the remaining 10 per cent. very soon afterwards, we felt that was the best settlement we could hope to make. I believe we made the best settlement under the circumstances, and that the interests of the men would not have been furthered by a continuance of the fight."

Some said, "Why did you call the strike?" Well in the first place we did not anticipate the conditions. "If the Lord Himself had come down at the beginning of the strike and told the men they could not lick the C.P.R.
in two weeks, they would not have believed him. The fact that the strike was called was due to the men; the fact that it was called at was due to the committee, and I as one of the committee, am willing to take my share of the responsibility."

The speaker concluded by pointing out that the organization remained intact, and work has been resumed.

Armstrong for Treasurer
Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Hugh Armstrong, member for Portage la Prairie, was today sworn in as provincial treasurer in the Roblin government, succeeding J. H. Agnew, deceased.

Hugh Armstrong was born in New York in August 1885, and when but five years old his parents removed to Carleton County, Ont., where he resided until he came to Manitoba in 1893. In 1895 he was married to May, daughter of Henry Younghouse, of Carleton county, and again came west and settled in Portage la Prairie in 1896. He engaged in the fish export industry and built up an excellent business.

When the provincial elections came on in 1892 Mr. Armstrong was a candidate for the riding of Woodlands, and was elected to represent that constituency. He resigned in 1896 to contest Selkirk for a seat in the Commons, but was unsuccessful, losing the seat by one vote.

He again entered the provincial field and was elected by acclamation to represent Portage la Prairie on Feb. 7, 1900, as a by-election caused by the death of D. Garland. He was re-elected in 1903, and in 1907 defeated Edward Brown in a magnificent fight by a majority of 322.

Teddy's Turkey
Providence, R. I., Nov. 12.—On Thanksgiving as usual, a mammoth Rhode Island Turkey is to grace the holiday table at the White House. And as usual the turkey in all probability will come from Connecticut. Most of the Rhode Island Turkeys now come from the Natick state, just as most of the Vermont birds, formerly the best accepted substitutes for the Rhode Island Bird, now comes from Kentucky.

Horace Vose, of Westerly, R. I., known all over the country as the Thanksgiving provider for the president—who has furnished the turkey for every president from Grant to Roosevelt—is on the alert for the best bird reared in this section of New England for the Thanksgiving dinner of the Roosevelt family. As this is to be Mr. Roosevelt's last Thanksgiving, dinner in the White House, Mr. Vose says he hopes to be able to send him a bird that will be a record breaker both as regards size and fine flavor. Mr. Vose has been over the flocks, but as yet is undecided as to what particular turkey will be sent to the president.

Galicians Duped
Some 24 miles north of Prince Albert there is a Galician settlement. In the late election, Harry Bindes was deputy returning officer at St. John, the poll in this settlement. He brings back a very sad story of the condition of affairs in this settlement. The Galicians when they went in, found a large stretch of what they were pleased to term prairie land. That was a dry year. This year and last were wet seasons, and they discovered that they have settled on a marsh, and their land is all under water. One man planted 15 bushels of seed oats and never got a kernel.

Another planted potatoes and harvested nothing, so the tale goes through the settlement. They have to live for the most part on what they can secure by hunting. The settlers have their buildings, and have to leave them. Mr. Bindes says that unless help is rendered them the settlers will starve this winter. About $3,000 spent in digging a drain would furnish relief and give these Galicians some of the best land in the west. The high land is still heavily wooded so that there is nothing for the settlers to do but move out unless they get relief in the shape of a drain. This year at all events, they will have to receive assistance.—Prince Albert Times.

SOLDIER ENDS LIFE
Staff Sergt. Bates of the R. N. W. M. P. Takes His Own Life With a Revolver—Remains Sent East for Interment.

The police and residents of the barracks were horrified last Thursday morning when it was found that Staff-Sergt. Bates had ended his life. The deceased was sergeant in charge of the work at the hospital, behind the hospital proper. The building contained three rooms and a hall. In one room the sergeant slept and another contained two beds used by the orderlies of the hospital. Shortly after six o'clock this morning Bates arose and unlocked Corp. O'Connell, who was asleep in the next room. They had breakfast together about 7.30, and O'Connell immediately went to the hospital to relieve Julia Nash, the night orderly.

When Nash entered the room he found the body of Sergeant Bates lying in a corner in a pool of blood. He immediately notified Corp. O'Connell and Dr. Bell, the police physician. Upon investigation it was found that the body lay before a mirror hanging on the wall. By the Sergeant's side lay a big Colt's revolver which evidently had been used in the tragedy.

Dependancy is supposed to have been the cause of the rash act. The remains were sent east on Friday evening's train to Hareport, Ont., where Mrs. Bates resides, there to be interred. The Police Lodge, A. P. & A. M. attended the services held here.

E. A. PARTRIDGE WRITES AN OPEN LETTER

Calling Upon the Farmers in Saltcoats and Humboldt to Defeat the Two Discredited Saskatchewan Politicians—A Plea for Government Ownership of Public Utilities.

To the Farmer Electors of Humboldt and Saltcoats:

Gentlemen,—
On your constituencies has been conferred the doubtful honor of being regarded as providing "sure thing" seats for two discredited politicians who could not get elected in their own constituencies. Apparently you are expected to be sufficiently deficient in dignity to accept as your representatives other people's leavings.

To seek for nomination in outside ridings is sufficiently brazen under any circumstances, but to attempt to foist themselves on the electors of other constituencies after being defeated in their own, is an impertinence as well.

They have sacrificed the dignity of their leader also. By their stubborn clinging to power after defeat they made it practically impossible for him to do anything else than aid them in their designs upon your constituencies, even though he knew they would be hard for you to swallow.

The chance of your lives to influence for good, both political methods and the attitude of the rulers towards the ruled, lies before you.

If you give Mr. Scott a well merited rebuke for his unresponsiveness to public sentiment, if you would rid public life of two discredited politicians whose views are not in accord with public opinion, if you would strike a blow at machine methods by refusing to elect candidates selected by conventions manipulated by members of the cabinet, and above all, if you would pave the way for provincial government ownership and operation of elevators at all shipping points, the acceptance of the principle of government ownership and operation of provincial railways and the provincial government ownership and operation of coal mines and timber limits, in each case to at least the extent necessary to break the power of extortion enjoyed by the greedy corporations who now levy an inordinate tribute upon our people by virtue of their possession of these public utilities and natural resources; if you would accomplish these things then you must resist the return of Ministers Calder and Motherwell, electing men representative of yourselves in their stead.

The defeat of these men can be brought about and the government impressed with the necessity of hearkening to the voice of the people most effectively by the nomination of an Independent Liberal at a mass meeting of Liberal farmers called in each constituency for that purpose.

If, however, a mass meeting is not called, let the farmers turn out in force on nomination day and after such hurried consultation as may be carried on prior to the meeting, take action similar to that proposed to be taken at a mass meeting.

These candidates must be pledged to strive for the government ownership and operation of the public utilities and natural resources enumerated above, even to the length of helping to defeat the ministry should it decline to embody the demands of the farmers in legislation, but left free in other respects to give their support to the Liberal regime.

In constituencies so overwhelming Liberal in sentiment as Saltcoats and Humboldt, where opposition candidates would not have the ghost of a chance, such action as outlined above could be taken by independent Liberals without any risk of bringing about a party defeat, as the best and most intelligent elements among the non-Liberal farmers would no doubt hasten to discourage any attempt by rabid partisans to make party capital out of a situation designed to advance in a material way the interests of every farmer in the province. Moreover they would support the independent Liberal to a man.

Even should the unexpected happen, and three cornered fights be precipitated resulting in the election of Opposition candidates, the loss of the two seats to a party now enjoying a lead of thirteen in a house of forty-one would work no injury comparable to the benefit to be derived from teaching the government leaders that they cannot with impunity neglect the wishes of the great body of electors in matters having an immediate bearing upon their prosperity.

The lesson of a candidate, elected under such circumstances and on such a platform would be an impressive and salutary one, not alone to the party in power but to the leaders of the opposition as well, who also have signally failed to take advantage of every opportunity to champion the cause of the farmers during the last three sessions of the legislature.

The writer has made a close study of economic questions for many years and hence feels that he knows better than the majority of farmers the advantages that would accrue to the growers of grain by the storage facilities being taken out of private hands and also the urgent necessity for making the railways highways open to the convenience of the poor perial palace to be inspected, and thither some thousands of them journeyed in answer to the command.

We can imagine that Tsu-Hsi's claim to blue blood would be pretty thoroughly sifted by the court officials, and whether the girl discovered one with an itching plian, or whether she fairly proved her birth is a matter of speculation. She was pronounced perfect physically, and was given an enviable horoscope. It was her luck to be among the first ten successful applicants. So that she was installed with a few hundred other girls in the harem, and was left free to plan her next step.

Constitutionally her position was no better than that of any other slave; but it gave her a great opportunity. It was for the real empress that she laid her snares, the other girls sought to fascinate the emperor. They succeeded one after the other, but Tsu-Hsi gradually came to be regarded by the empress as her best friend, and it was she who finally recommended Tsu-Hsi to the attention of the emperor. The other secondary wives she regarded as her rivals. Two Hsi was her friend. Introduced thus favorably to Hsien Feng's notice, Tsu-Hsi ingratiated herself with him. By the time the emperor fled from Peking on the approach of the British and French, in 1860, Tsu had already borne him a son. The real empress had not, but out of friendship for Tsu-Hsi she made no objection to the child being made the favorite baby of the harem.

So when the emperor died Tsu-Hsi's son was declared to be his successor. His mother and the empress were declared to be his guardians, but as there is a Chinese law to the effect that no woman shall rule in China, a council was nominated to govern during the young emperor's minority. Then, for the first time, Tsu-Hsi showed her hand. She induced Prince Kung, the late emperor's brother, to have the council set aside in favor of the two empresses, and himself to become the real regent. She also installed him as her lover, and the prince succumbed to the double temptation. A charge was trumped up against the members of the council, and they were beheaded. Prince Kung proved something of a plotter himself, and the empress had found him difficult to deal with during the latter years of the regency. But when her son came of age Kung was removed, and the path was once more made clear for her, as her own child was completely under control.

His sudden death brought the Dowager the greatest problem of her career. Here legally and logically all her influence vanished like smoke. But Tsu-Hsi took a bold course. In the name of Emperor Hsien-Feng, who had now been dead fourteen years, she adopted another son, the child of her sister, and declared him the heir and the care she had taken in the course of her son's minority to remove her enemies and place her friends in the high places, carried off this coup, and thenceforward for 40 years, she was mistress of all China.

Tom—I'm going to ask your father tonight for your hand. Tess—But you don't seem to be a bit nervous. Tom—No, I've been a life insurance agent and a book canvasser.—Pick-me-up.

HE INHERITED IT
"George, I was terribly shocked today to hear our little Jimmie tell Baby Augusta to go to blazes. Where do you suppose he could possibly have learned to use such a dreadful expression?"
"How the blazes should I know?"

HE KNEW BY EXPERIENCE
A little boy who had just this season joined Sunday school was asked by his mother how he liked it.
"Why!" exclaimed Charlie disgustedly, "they don't know much. The teacher asked what was the collect, and I was the only one who knew." And what did you say, my dear?
"Why I told him pretty quick that it was a pain in the stomach."

The skyscraper had at last reached the limit.
"You are quite a traveller I hear," remarked the man who lived on the ninety-sixth floor of the Shlyby hotel.
"Yes," replied the man who lived on the one hundred and thirty-sixth floor. "Though less than forty years old I have already visited every floor in this building."—Kansas City Times.

HE WAS A WARBLER
You could tell from his hair that he was a musician or something of the sort.
"Yes," he said to the company at large, "the greatest tenor in the land once paid me the biggest compliment I could wish."
"Oh?" remarked some one interrogatively.
"It was like this: I sang without accompaniment—I always have trouble with accompanists; they're so unsympathetic, you know—and at the end of the song he said to me—"
"Do you know when you began without an accompanist I was surprised, when I heard you I was astonished, and when you sat down I was delighted!"
And the sun shone down and lit up the youths' beatific smile of satisfaction.—London Mail.

IDENTIFIED HIM
A tramp passing through the waiting room of the North Western depot spied a small enamelled pin on the floor. He picked it up, looked it over in a careless way and pinned it on the lapel of his coat. The same tramp a few moments later was hit and knocked senseless by a switch engine in the freight yards. The trainmen picked him up and telephoned the police headquarters for an ambulance.
"What did you say his name was?" came over the phone from the desk of the agent.
"Don't know, the man is unconscious," replied the switchman.
"Any papers on him by which you can identify him?" asked the sergeant.
"Not a thing," phoned back the switchman.
"Does he belong to any lodge or union?" inquired the sergeant.
"Hold the line till I look," replied the switchman, and in a moment the desk sergeant was greatly surprised to receive the information:
"Yes, he is a Lady Macabee."—Everybody's.

A local druggist is the authority that these simple harmless ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from our home druggist. The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive Kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness. Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or acting in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

THEIR HOPE. THE PEOPLE

Muskoka's Brave Battle for Needy Consumptives.

It is poor consolation to needy consumptives to say that the Government should make provision for the thousands who suffer and die from tuberculosis in Canada every year. The Government should do a great deal more than they have yet dreamed of doing. But they are not doing it, and in the meantime twelve thousand die annually in the Dominion, from this dread disease. As the situation is to-day, what would be the fate of many consumptives in Canada were it not for the two Homes for Consumptives in Muskoka that during the past eleven years, against many odds, have cared for upwards of three thousand patients in the earlier stages of the disease, whilst in the two sister institutions on the banks of the Humber, those in the more advanced stages are treated. This work in Muskoka is one of pure philanthropy. From the day the first patient was admitted to the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives in April, 1902, not a single applicant has ever been refused admission because of his or her inability to pay. The Government contributes $1.50 per week per patient. The cost of maintenance is $2.25 a week. The difference in the cost of maintenance of all needy patients has through these years been made up by private philanthropy. The Secretary-Treasurer of the Association, Mr. J. S. Robertson, 347 King Street West, Toronto, writes us that, with the financial depression of the past year, the funds of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives have suffered greatly. At the commencement of the winter season the Trustees have to face a heavily overdrawn bank account and have many obligations to meet. Despite these financial worries every applicant is receiving careful consideration and patients are admitted as promptly as beds are made vacant. All through these years the institution has been maintained, not by any rich endowment, for such does not exist, but by the generous contributions of the masses of the people—the small sums rather than the large ones. We frankly say that we do not know, in our experience, of a more worthy and deserving charity, and our hope is that the readers of these lines will respond to the appeal that is now made for funds for the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. Contributions may be sent to Mr. W. J. Gage, 34 Spadina Ave., Chairman of the Executive Committee, or to J. S. Robertson, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Sanitarium Association, 317 King Street West, Toronto, Ontario.
