Teachers' Institute.

The teachers of the Counties of Hants and Kings held the Annual Meeting of the Teachers' Institute in Windsor, on the 25th and 26th of April.

One hundred and ten teachers enrolled as members, and many others were in attendance at the meetings.

In opening the President said:—

"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

"We meet here under the Regulations and sanction of the Council of Public Instruction to discuss subjects that pertain to the work in which we are engaged, and concerning which there is yet much to be learned.

"As President of the Association, I wish to give you a hearty welcome to its meetings and invite you to contribute, as you may be able, to the interest and value of these, by participating in the discussions which may arise, and aiding those who have come here to learn.

You have had three quarters of the current year in the school room in close contact with your own school. So much of your attention and thought has been devoted to your own charge that scarcely a passing thought has been given to others. I hope this time then may prove one of relaxation as well as of great profit to you. Each of you has his or her own methods of doing things, of teaching particular subjects; and perhaps you are in possession of some valuable knowledge that some one else has not made his own.
Let it be understood that we come here to give as well as receive; and when the opportunity comes let us not be slow to use it in either of these ways; but especially in the way of giving. Your effort to give to others will increase your own knowledge.
Some of you will find it pleasant to renew old acquaintances, formed at previous meetings or in other ways, others come here for the first time and have yet to form the acquaintances of most of those present. I wish to remind you here that your profession gives you the right to ask for and receive an introduction to others engaged in the same profession as yourself or to introduce yourself. All self formalities we hope may be waived in your eager desire to become acquainted with those who may render you assistance in your work or stimulate you to do better service for the schools entrusted to you than you have been able to do in the past.

"There has been an apparent burden laid upon the teachers in the new topics demanded to be taught in all the schools.

"A careful study of the 'Course' will reveal the fact that these subjects are not new, but have been for a long time among the requirements, and are now only demanding the same recognition of us as other subjects to which more attention has been given in the past.

"The effort to prepare for and teach some of these caused a little irritation and much worry at first; and many felt like leaving the profession; and not a few threatened to do so. Foremost among these topics may be mentioned: callisthenics, music, and nature lessons.

"The first of these when introduced and taught as the condition of the pupils needed the drill, has been found useful in promoting the physical well-being of the pupils and in training to habits of strict attention to the direction of the teacher. The experience of those who have faithfully given this drill a fair trial goes to prove that the time thus spent has been more than saved in other directions.

"The teaching of music caused more heartaches and complaints than any other subject. It was not uncommon to have the teacher tell me she could not teach music. Had it not been for the almost imperative demand laid upon the teachers, in this regard, there would not be to-day music in half of the schools of Kings and Hants. Now at least nine-tenths of them are doing pretty well in music, and a large number of these are doing excellent work. I refer to this because of the praiseworthy way in which the teachers in this District have overcome this apparent obstacle. It should be said that those who had not an opportunity to learn the Tonic Sol-fa system, have, at some expense, spent their Saturday's in going to some central point for instruction, and have thus prepared themselves to teach well.

"The excellent paper on this subject, read at our last Association awakened an interest in it, and since then the work has advanced rapidly.

"The experience of those who have at much pains taught this system of music is that it has saved instead of wasted.

"The pupils become interested and pleased and are delighted to sing and thus weariness and care are forgotten.
In this pleasant frame of mind the pupils address themselves to other work and perform twice as much as they otherwise would in a given time. As a means of discipline music is like magic. There is therefore no loss of time in teaching music to the schools.

"The Nature lessons are the hardest of all to teach. Why? It is so hard to adopt the simple plan that Nature is teaching all the time. The methods of nature must be studied and imitated to teach such lessons successfully.
Nature has her own way. She adapts herself to the material to be wrought upon and the purpose to be attained; and every time, and at the right time does the right thing.

"I will not anticipate the paper to be given upon this subject but say the value of object and nature lessons can scarcely be estimated, in the education of children.

"They need to learn so much through the organ of sight that pains should be taken to appeal to this sense. I hope when the paper on this subject is read there may be a free interchange of thought and a comparison of the methods pursued.

"Let me now refer to the fact that new books in Geometry, Algebra, Chemistry and Physics are being introduced into the schools.

"Some have said in the hope to receive aid in solving some of these difficulties. To meet this case certain gentlemen have willingly consented to answer questions, or work problems from these books. That this may be done successfully you are requested to hand in your questions to me, to-day, and they will be passed over to those gentlemen and attended to at an appointed time to-morrow.

"It has been suggested that a committee be appointed to answer, through the press, questions that may be sent by the teachers from time to time during the year. I can see that such good may be done in this way both to those asking as well as to those answering. If thought desirable, action can be taken in this matter before the close of our meetings.

"I will here ask all who came by rail, to pass their certificates into the Secretary, sometime during to-day or tomorrow morning's session, that they may be filled in and signed as required, to enable you to take advantage of the reduced rates on your return trip.

"These certificates must be presented to the Agent of the D. A. R. not later than 29th and to Agent of I. C. R. by 30th inst. I need not say more at this time than to express my hope that you may all enjoy the meetings of the Association and so profit by what is said that you will resolve to attend all its meetings in future."

Miss Ida A. Parker read the first paper on "The Teacher's Relation to the Moral Well-Being of Her Pupils." She thought the teacher should be what she wanted her pupils to be, and should lead them by example and influence. The training that is worthwhile must cost the most effort. Pupils can be made submissive, with little effort by the strap, and their moral nature not be trained to any good purpose.

Miss Ellen Begg read a paper on the "Minor Mode of the Tonic Sol-fa Notation," and explained many points useful to teachers from the Mediator.

Miss Thersa Farrell taught a lesson on "Patriotism" to a class of grade VI pupils. The British and the Canadian Ensign were explained and their composition made plain to the class. To do this, frequent reference was made to the men who moulded and governed the nation and to the part taken by the chief officials in its government.
The lesson was one of much merit and left a good impression upon the class, and the teachers of the institute.

This was followed by a paper by Mr

Teachers' Institute.

The teachers of the Counties of

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 19, 1895.

Speech for the Dumb.

Mr. J. Fearon, the honored Principal of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb of Nova Scotia, is about to visit Wolfville in the interest of the Institution. He will deliver an address on the work of the School, in the Baptist vestry, on Monday evening, May 13th, at 8 o'clock. Two of the pupils will be present and will go through exercises in speech and lip reading. Some years ago Mr. Fearon visited Wolfville on a similar occasion and those present were delighted with the address and the quickness and correctness of the work by the pupils. We hope a large audience may greet Mr. Fearon on Monday evening. A collection will be taken in aid of the new Building now being erected.

The school has been a great benefit to the unfortunate Deaf and Dumb of the province. The work has been so successful that the demand for enlarged accommodation and equipment has become imperative. In 1894 there were 45 boys and 32 girls in attendance. In his report, the Principal says in his report: "Since its establishment in 1856, the Institution has educated and maintained no less than 396 deaf persons belonging to Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. These, in nearly every case, have been made useful, self-supporting and respectable members of the community. Without the training they received at the Institution they would have grown up ignorant alike of the things of this life and the life to come, and a burden to their friends or to the community in which they resided. Forty years ago no provision whatever existed for the education of the deaf of Nova Scotia; and not only was this the case as regards this province but the same state of affairs existed throughout the length and breadth of Canada. Indeed, to Nova Scotia belongs the credit of being the first province of the Dominion to make at least some legislative provision for the education of her deaf children."

Speech is the deliverer of the human soul, it is said. And, therefore, to give the "children of silence" speech is to deliver their souls. The work is one that appeals directly to every lover of good works. The people of Wolfville will not pass the Institution by when it appeals for sympathy and support. The building to be erected will cost about $50,000 and will be well adapted to the work of the School.

"Beautiful Nova Scotia."

The publication just issued by the Dominion Steamship Co., 12,000 copies of which are to be distributed in the United States with a view to inducing a greater summer travel to the province. The book is a credit to the enterprise and energy of President Baker and the officials of his line. The pages contain well-written descriptions of the various parts of our province of interest to tourists. The engravings are gems of art, representing fishing and shooting scenes, views of the Halifax Gardens, a bird's-eye-view of Halifax, a scene on the Arm, scenes about Grand Pre, Channing, Kentville, Bridgetown, Armapolis, Digby, Yarmouth, etc. The typographical work is excellent. As usual the reference to Wolfville is conspicuous for its brevity, and no place could be found for any illustrations from our beautiful town. This can only be a temporary injury, as Wolfville is becoming year by year better known and more widely appreciated as a favorite summer resort. The Yarmouth line will run four trips a week, commencing June 7th from July will run five trips a week between Yarmouth and Boston. The Dominion Atlantic railway will provide first-class accommodation between Halifax and Yarmouth, the Pullman buffet car, saloon passenger cars, and general equipment being second to none. With such accommodations, and with a beautiful ride through the Land of Evangeline, followed by a short sea trip to Boston by the Yarmouth steamers, it is no wonder this route has become so popular.

The sixth and last entertainment of the season of the "Star Quartet" was given in College Hall on Saturday evening by the Harvard Male Quartette and Miss Jean Berglund, reader. There was a good attendance, and the concert was a most enjoyable one. The singing, both in quartette and solo, was excellent, and evidenced rare talent coupled with thorough training on the part of the performers. Miss Berglund excelled as an elocutionist, rendering a number of fine selections and displaying excellent taste. The program was a lengthy one, and every number was accorded. If the Harvard Quartette come this way again they will be greeted with a good house.

Dr. T. H. Rand has resigned as chancellor of McMaster University. The resignation will be accepted but an effort will likely be made to induce Dr. Rand to accept the chair of Philosophy, under the patronage of Prof. Thomas Fowler to accept a call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Wolfville.

Our installment of the serial "A Life for a Life" is omitted this week to make room for the excellent report of the proceedings of the Teachers' Institute, furnished us by one who was present.

Address read before the Wolfville Woman's Christian Temperance Union, by the retiring President, Mrs. Tufts.

In the life of an organization such as ours, three years is a brief time in which to sum up results.

Perhaps if we glance backward at all it might be well to consider why the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was ever organized in Wolfville.

There was, at that time, in this town, four Christian churches, two temperance societies, a Band of Hope, a prohibitory law for our county, a county inspector and a public sentiment in favor of temperance.

Why should so many of the women of Wolfville whose hands and hearts were already taxed to meet the demands of home and society—why should they care to undertake this added responsibility?

The intelligent Christian women, having pledged themselves to the service of Christ, all of us loving our homes, and some of us having learned to love our country, we could not fail to see in the liquor traffic one of the strongest forces that has ever been arrayed against Christ and His church, the most subtle and alarming foe that has ever invaded the precincts of the home sanctuary, and the most serious hindrance to the welfare of our native land. What wonder that we longed to array ourselves beneath the banner that waves for God and Home and Native Land.

In our separate homes what could any individual effort accomplish? If our hands should prove strong enough to lift one victim from the gutter, still would this traffic be ever manufacturing more than one devoted life could rescue.

We could not call to our aid a law that our brothers were either unable or unwilling to enforce. And so in our separate homes we remained appalled and discouraged by our own conscious helplessness.

We were already aware that out in the wide world of towns and cities there was an organization of women, aiming to accomplish through united effort just what we wished to see done. What wonder that we rallied to the ranks of its beloved leader—under whose bust in Memorial Hall—in the Woman's Temple at Chicago is inscribed this legend from the pen of J. G. Whittier:

"She saw the power of banded ill, But knew that love was mightier still, And organized for doing good The world's united womanhood."

But why not have made a united effort in connection with the existing temperance orders? This question must be answered individually, as some of our best members are to-day connected with both of these societies. Enough that there was no antagonism, no desire to one of helping all we could.

We rejoice in the good work accomplished by these fraternal societies and acknowledge the educating influence they have exerted over our young people. We wish them God-speed in all they may undertake for temperance. Especially do we desire that the Band of Hope may prosper, and are glad to-day to learn of its increased activity. We would urge all members of this union whose time is yet unfilled to the utmost limit by home and other duties, to unite with these societies and help them forward all they may.

But in looking back to the formation of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, we believe to-day God's hand was in the work, and in taking this step "we builded better than we knew." Our chief hope was that we might in some measure influence the enforcement of the Scott Act in our community, and by closing the bar in the two hotels of our town where liquor was sold lessen the temptation in the way of our own sons, and the sons of many other anxious mothers whose hearts were yearning over the welfare of their boys at Wolfville. But we soon found that this society was much more than a temperance organization. We came to recognize it as an important factor in the great uplift of humanity. Perhaps there is nothing that we have accomplished so important to many of us, as has been the educating influence to ourselves of this being connected with this great cosmopolitan body, combining as it does for the overthrow of the liquor traffic, without regard to any sectional or denominational limits, recognizing no distinctions as to social rank, religious creed or intellectual culture, but "including religion as a part of its patriotism, and work for humanity as a large part of its religion."

And yet along more aggressive lines we have not failed entirely. Two hotels each selling liquor more or less openly have found our organization an uncongenial element in this town, and have moved elsewhere, not lessening the sum total of human misery, but removing from our own midst a stumbling block to the feet of unvarying youth. Upward of $600 has been collected in fines under a better enforced law and to-day our town possesses a fund in reserve for expenses connected with the further enforcement of the Scott Act.

It may be that we cannot say to-day that no liquor is sold in Wolfville, but not at any time during the past twenty years, so far as we are aware, has this result been more nearly accomplished. The municipal authorities have now recognized that this matter of law enforcement is their business, and we are willing to let it rest where it belongs when its rest has been secured by wholesome legislation as shall completely eliminate this traffic from our community.

But we are well aware that men cannot be made good by moral legislation. We are already aware that men cannot be made good by moral legislation. We are already aware that men cannot be made good by moral legislation.

Prohibition. The following extract is taken from an address delivered before the last convention of the National W. C. T. U., of America.

The speaker was Dr J. W. Bushford, president Ohio Wesleyan University. "I do not anticipate a short campaign as an easy victory for prohibition.

Indeed, before we shall win the victory at all, the Christian voters of America must call out the reserves. The cause of our sisters are more continuous, and upon the whole are quite as heavy, as the burden which the brothers carry, but women do not suffer the intense pressure of business during the day to which men are subjected.

Hence, in the recent struggle for municipal reform in New York, the leaders found an unexpected source of support in the quiet women of the city. I predict that, not simply in the interests of justice, but because of the Golden Rule, but because of the crisis that is upon us, the twentieth century will witness the summoning of women to the aid of men in the struggle for our higher civilization.

With the granting of equal suffrage will come the outlawry of the saloon. All the liquor papers in the United States recognize this fact, and their opposition to woman suffrage is, if possible, more intense than their hostility to prohibition. Prohibition may be won, and then lost again, if left to us men alone. But with the ballot in the hands of our sisters, prohibition is forever sure.

Prohibition seems to me to be the next step in temperance reform. When I was pastor of a small church in Boston I remember well a young man, the son of wealthy parents, who had broken his mother's heart through drink, and whose father at last ordered him from his home and took his name off the family record.

Broken-hearted the young drunkard turned to a Christian neighbor for help, and presently but weakly started in the Christian life. Christians found a temporary home and work for the young man, and one of us called upon him to encourage him in this new life. One day, alas! a new friend met him on the street, and enticed him into a saloon, and he fell. I shall not soon forget my visit to that saloon-keeper an hour or two after the young man's fall. The saloon-keeper was an old man. When I entered the saloon he was upon the point of pouring out some liquor for some boys. But he set back the bottle and ordered the boys out of the saloon without their drink. I said, "Mr. I am an old man, and I have not come over to abuse you. I have simply come with a solemn message. You have sent more young men down to hell than any other man in this ward. You took Mr. A's money and furnished him liquor for months, when you knew you were breaking his mother's heart. You had heard about the awful tragedy at his home. You knew that the church had been struggling for weeks to get this young man upon his feet, and now for the petty profit on a few drinks of liquor you send him reeling down to ruin again. I believe in hell; and as sure as there is a hell you are on the road to it. You are an old man, and the rest of the journey will be short." The old man's face turned white and then red, and then pale again. He stood hesitating for a moment then turned to the wall and looked down a license and laid it upon the bar and pointing to it said: "Read that." I replied: "I know what it is, Mr. I have looked at me again, and then said in a broken voice: 'I too, believe in hell; and I believe that I am going there because of this license.' But," said he, pointing to his license, "I want to assure you that the citizens of Boston are partners in my business. Here is your solemn grant to me to carry on this traffic. I do the bad work here, night after night until midnight, and then take the carriages through by, in order that I may earn enough to first pay you citizens your share of the profits and then support my family. When a God of justice sends me to hell for this business, the rest of you will follow closely after."

We cannot share in the profits of this business, and then deny the responsibility. Better for us as Christian citizens to say to the drunkard-makers of our land, "We will outlaw the traffic. If you violate the law by selling, we will punish you if we can. But, God helping us, we will never compromise with you and stain our hands with blood money.

As a race advances from barbarism to civilization every great evil passes through three great stages. First, the stage of universal toleration and general practice; second, the legal stage in which the evil is hampered and restricted, and finally prohibited by the state; and third, the moral stage in which the evil is abandoned and the opposite virtue is cultivated through inward impulse and not through outer restraint. Murder and theft and slavery have passed through these three stages. Intemperance has just entered the second stage in which every civilized government is restricting and discouraging the traffic through legislation. The logical and inevitable outcome of such legislation is prohibition. But after all, prohibition can never be the final goal in our modern struggle for temperance. Surely we have not reached our goal as a people when we come to that stage in civilization in which men cease to do wrong from fear of outward punishment. We have reached our resting place only when we have come to that stage in which prohibition leads to universal self-restraint. All the great interests of society are tending toward this goal. Laws are but the outward crutches upon which humanity leans until its feet are strong and its wings are moulted. The day is not far distant when law shall be walled up in love when the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ."

A GREY COUNTY MIRACLE. An Important Statement from a well-known Farmer. He Tells the Story of Eight Years of Suffering and Vain Efforts to Regain Health—How This Great Boon was Finally Obtained.

From the Monitor. Knowing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. to be an honorable and reliable firm we had never any reason to doubt the entire truthfulness of the articles appearing from time to time setting forth the particulars of remarkable cures effected by the use of their Pink Pills. There is scarcely a locality in Canada which has not furnished a case of more or less prominence, and if the particulars so stated, were not accurate, it would be impossible that the public would not find it out and thus the remedy would be discredited. There is therefore every ground to believe that the statements are accurate in every particular. We have now been put in a position to verify one of these cases for ourselves, and we give the results faithfully, giving Pink Pills no word of praise not merited in the case. Messrs F. Clarke & Co., Druggists, of Meaford, who have sold very large quantities of these famous pills, drew our attention to the case, giving us the name of Mr Henry Lamb, a well-known and respected farmer, of St. Vincent township. Having some acquaintance with Mr Lamb we sought an interview, and the following is the substance of his testimony: "About 8 years ago I suffered from an attack of inflammation of the stomach, causing me extreme pain and uneasiness. I was attended by Dr Clarke of Meaford, who brought me around, and I have always given him the credit of saving my life on that occasion. The effects of the attack however remained and I fell into a state of chronic poor health, which completely unitted me for my ordinary work. I was really dragging out a miserable existence. I suffered for over seven years from a constant pain in my stomach, as well as from weakness and continued debility. I tried many advertised remedies which I thought might be suited to my case, but without relief. At length decided to try Dr Williams' Pink Pills. I soon felt the pain in my stomach relieved, and after I had used ten boxes the pain was entirely gone and I now feel like a new man. I can now work half a day at a time without fatigue and as I am still using the pills I confidently expect, as I have every right to do from the great results thus far, to be able to do my work as formerly. I am 57 years of age, and before the attack eight years ago, I always enjoyed good health. I have stated my experience to many people and invariably recommend a trial of Dr Williams' Pink Pills."

The above is the substance of Mr Lamb's story, to which the Monitor may add that we consider him a reliable and trustworthy person who would make no statement which he did not know to be correct and truthful. Dr Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood, and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as leucoderma, stasia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excess of whatever nature.

Dr Williams' Pink Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing their trade mark and wrapper printed in red ink, at 50 cts. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, from either address:

A friend visiting a well-known physician one Sunday found him very busy on that day with his patients. Don't they allow you to rest on Sunday? asked the friend. Sunday I exclaimed the physician, why that's the only day the poor can afford to be ill on—Heaven help them?

A gentleman walking along Lexington Avenue one day encountered two boys who looked so much alike that he stopped them and asked, Are you little boys' twins? They looked up at him for a moment as though they did not exactly know what he meant, then one said meekly, No, sir; we are Methodists.

Nothing Like It. Rev. Charles E. Y. Bourque, P. P. St. Alexandre de Kamouraska, Prov. Quebec, Canada: "As to the merits of your medicine, K. D. O., I can assure you that it has been a great benefit both to myself and to one of my parishioners, for whom I had requested several packages. I am ever troubled again with dyspepsia. I shall not hesitate to make use of your remedy.

We shall be glad to forward to any address free sample of this wonder working Remedy. K. D. O. Co., Ltd., New Glasgow, N. S.

A gentleman was complaining one day of the weather. His servant, a well-enlightened rustic from the country, happened to be within hearing. Please sir I said he as he approached, in an apologetic manner, I'm very sorry, but it is my fault. What do you mean? asked the master. Why, sir, replied the man, with a deprecatory smile, I ought to have mentioned it sooner. But I am sorry to say I broke the barometer about a week ago, and the weather has had all its own way since then.

Gen. Sherman has a good memory for faces, but is apt to forget names. He was walking along the street in Washington one day, in company with a friend when a man stopped him, and smilingly asked for his health. I beg your pardon, said the general, your face seems familiar, but I can't recall your name. I made your shirt, was the reply. Oh, why certainly! Recall you perfectly? exclaimed the general. Colonel, turning to his companion, let me introduce you old army friend, Major Shurz.

A Successful Experiment. Mr. T. Hazellhurst, of Bradford, uses a Specific Remedy with Great Effect.

Bradford, May 6.—Interest has been revived here, through the published descriptions about the Kent case in Ottawa, in the extraordinary recovery from diabetes of Mr. T. Hazellhurst, an esteemed resident of the town. This gentleman suffered very severely from the complaint, losing a great deal of weight, and trying a number of remedies without success. At last when completely run down, he determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in an incredibly short time recovered his health and strength. He attributed his recovery entirely to the use of this valuable remedy, and has recommended it in several cases with marked success.
