Friends.

We have been friends together,
In sunshine and in shade;
Since first beneath the chestnut trees
In infancy we played together,
But childhood dwells within thy heart,
A cloud is on thy brow;
For the fount of hope was quailing
—shall a light word part us now?
We have been gay together;
We have laughed at little jests;
We have been friends together—
Warm and joyous in our breasts,
But laughter now flows thy lip,
And sorrow gleams thy brow;
We have been gay together—
—shall a light word part us now?
We have been and together,
We have wept bitter tears
Over the green grass when darkness
Drooped its wings about us;
The voices which are silent there
—would they tell thee that now;
We have been and together,
—shall a light word part us now?
Oh! what shall part us now?

It inspiration still means anything in human life surely this was Gaunt's inspired moment. He had been ignorant of Butler's device. It had taken him by surprise. But when the Cross blazed out above the people, when they rose as one man and sang 'When I survey the Wondrous Cross,' he felt once more, as he had so often felt of late, that he was the servant of events rather than their creator. aware of physical fatigue, still stood at his post, welcoming each fresh volunteer. And still the Cross of Stars blazed overhead, as if in conscious triumph.
All in the meeting closed.
Butler's usually impassive face glowed with emotion.
"Five thousand persons at least must have joined us," he said. "At this rate in a year we shall have a million."
He gathered up sheet after sheet covered with names.
These names represented almost every part of society. The address along the whole length of the town, from the village to the farmhouses.
"Come," said Butler as he led Gaunt away. "There can be no sleep for either of us to-night. I must go at once to the office. You will do well to go through these lists immediately, and enumerate them."
The coroner gave the first bar of the Doxology. There were still in the house some thousands of people to sing it.
And so, back to the House of Joy went Gaunt and his little band of workers. It had been a night of triumph.
The League of Universal Service was founded.
And as Gaunt once more looked from his window across the Square he knew that the vision he had had of a year ago was no hallucination. The stars shone clear, a soft wind, whispering of spring, moved among the trees in the Square; but though he saw no longer a divine man whose diaphanous robe trailed in dim light above the city, yet he heard more clearly than he had ever heard the irresistible voice which proclaimed, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."
"Master, this is Thy city and this is Thy work," he cried. "Use me as Thou wilt, but only use me."
And again the voice replied, "Lo, I am with the stars."
And the stars shined, the eastern glory grew and widened.
The day was once more at the dawn. It alone upon that long path of labor and endeavour which Gaunt must tread to make his dream come true, a ray of sunshine in himself, the first of a youthful mind, and he could not comprehend it in another. A sympathetic father would have recognized in this ferment of undigested ideas the signs of growing intellect; Jordan saw in it only the evidence of dire apostasy. He refused to let the boy return to college, on the ground that he was responsible for his son's moral safety, and must therefore keep the boy under his own eye; of all courses which he could have taken this was the unwise, and the worst. Cut off from the natural comradeship of youth, spied upon and hindered in all his pursuits, left without regular employment, and treated with habitual sarcasm, the boy soon fell into evil courses, less from a liking for them than from a detestation of what passed for good in his father's house. The end came suddenly, when one night coming home late, the boy found his father's door closed against him. The next morning he had disappeared. Inquiries proved vain; he had never since been heard of. Too late Jordan would have given anything against whom the door had been locked on that night of anger; but beyond a tightening of the mouth, and some real lines upon the forehead, Jordan gave no sign of what he felt. The name of Robert was never spoken in his father's presence. It was from that night of the closed door that the mother's sickness began—a sickness beyond the reach of medicine.
In the secret fulness of his heart, Jordan turned for comfort to his daughter, Olivia Jordan, like her brother, was high-spirited, but of a much more ductile nature. When Robert left home, she was too young to understand the causes of the disaster, but she recognized the ceaseless incurable grief of her father, and her heart went out to him. She had shared his confidences, as far as he was capable of imparting them; she had been educated into his views of things; and the mere presence of daily contiguity had shaped her character into a fashion consonant with her father's habits of thought. She had grown into a beautiful and thoughtful woman, conventionally active in Church work, popular among the people, and much loved for her graces of disposition and person.

Olivia Jordan had been present at the great meeting in Madison Square, and had been profoundly impressed. It proved the turning-point of her history. From that moment she had become her father's unwilling judge. It is a terrible hour for parents when the personality which they have created assumes its own rights, and is no more plastic to their control; that hour had now come for Jordan. Olivia heard in silence her father's public and private criticism of Gaunt. She heard with a divided, and lately with a dissenting mind. She had so long trusted her father's judgment that when she at last reached the point of questioning it, the process of revolt was swift. Night after night, as she lay sleepless, it seemed as though some power not herself, a power at once acute and malicious, peered past her together, illumined it, analyzed and dissected it, and finally combined its elements into dreadful coherence. She realized the tendency of her thoughts, and could not help herself. Again and again, by an effort of the will, she dismissed them; always they returned again like a pain which increases after each interval of postponement. The father, whom she had always regarded as wise, she saw now as foolish and misguided. Yet it was not for her to say so. Even though he were a thousandfold more wrong than he was, yet it was her duty to be silent. But she had no sooner reached this conclusion than the mind ran back again like a returning tide, and she felt her silence a worse treachery than the plainest speech could be. She grew pale and thin with the constant agitation of her thoughts. Her cheerfulness left her, and she went about her household tasks with laden feet. For a long time her father had been too absorbed in his own difficulties to notice her dejection, but she knew that the time must come when her secret would be laid bare, and at last it came.

A Minister's Gratitude.

Zam-Buk Cured a Face-Sore Which Defied All Other Remedies for Two Years.

Rev. Charles E. Stafford, of Bridgeburg, Ont., says:—
"I had been much troubled for over two years with a sore on my left cheek. I tried all kinds of salves, lotions, but nothing I procured seemed to have the least bit of effect towards healing the sore. Hearing of Zam-Buk, I decided to give it a trial, and see if it would bring about a cure, as so many other things had failed. I purchased a supply and commenced with the treatment. After several applications, to my great joy, Zam-Buk has effected what for two years I tried in vain to bring about—a complete cure."
Case after case could be quoted in which, as in the above instance, Zam-Buk has worked cures where everything else tried had failed. There is a reason for this. Zam-Buk is the ideal remedy because of its unique ingredients for all skin injuries and diseases.
Away back in the days of the Roman gladiators, secret balm were used for the healing of cuts and injuries sustained in the arena and in battle. Then came a period during which external balms were neglected, followed by a period in which all the balms and embrocations had their base animal fats and oils. Zam-Buk is a pure vegetable preparation, devoid of all animal fats, all mineral coloring matters, and is composed entirely of rich medicinal 'herbal' extracts. Zam-Buk is a combination of Nature's rich healing herbs joined by the most modern scientific methods, and the result is a balm which cures when others fail.
Skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, salt rheum, and prairie itch, are speedily overcome by it. For piles it is fuel—easing the pain and inflammation, and hastening a cure. It also cures burns, scalds, cuts, ulcers, children's sores and eruptions, blood-poisoning, scratches, old wounds, varicose ulcers, &c. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c. a box, or post-free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse harmful and cheap imitations, sometimes represented as 'Just as good.'

Chicken Batter Pudding.

A writer in the Chicago Record Herald gives us the following recipe:
Cut up a fat fowl as for fricassee, severing every joint; season well with salt and pepper and a tablespoon of butter for each chicken, adding a tablespoonful of onion juice when the fowl is half done. Steep very slowly in just enough water to keep them from scorching before the juices of the fowl begin to make their own gravy and keep it hot.
Lay the pieces of chicken in a deep bake-dish, arrange neatly in layers; thick the gravy with browned flour and minced parsley and pour over the chicken.
Have the batter ready, but do not make it too long before the chicken is in the dish. Sift a pint of flour with a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half as much soda and a tablespoonful of salt. Beat two eggs very light, yolks and whites together, stir into a large coffee cupful of milk, add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter; make a hole in the middle of the sifted flour and mix quickly to a rather stiff batter.
Pour this into the hot chicken and gravy, and bake in a steady, yet brisk oven. The batter fills interstices of the meat and absorbs the gravy in cooking.

A Friend to Women.

What most women require to make them strong and healthy, and to restore good complexion and a well rounded form is more blood, more rich, red blood, such as is added to the system by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Headache, indigestion and the weakness and irregularities which accompany exhausted nerves soon disappear when this great restorative treatment is used.

Sunshine.

Says a writer, and very truthfully: Sunshine in the lives and souls of people is just as potent in the realm of home as the sunshine that drives darkness from our world and brings that warmth which is essential to life and growth to the vegetable kingdom. There is a convicting and vivifying power in soul sunshine; for as has been well said, men and women, youth and children; seek the friendship of the sunny-faced. All circles welcome cheerfulness. A sunny face is an open pleasure to the hearts and homes. By its burdens are lightened, care dispelled, sorrow banished, and hope made to reign triumphant where fear and doubt, and despondency held high carnival. Your own life will be sweetened, your own joys heightened, by your own personal, heaven-lightened, sunny face.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 28, 1909.

Next week our town will again be crowded with devotees of Acadia come to honor the old institution and to revive associations of the past.

That cause for which we sacrifice most lies ever the nearest to our hearts, and it is perhaps because of the fact that Acadia owes its existence not to state aid nor to the bounty of rich men, but to a multiplicity of small contributions that come from the givers with the savor of self-denial, that accounts for the wonderful hold which the College has upon a large body of people in the maritime provinces. It is this remarkable devotion, testified to by the manner in which friends of the College rally here at this busy season of the year, that constitutes at once the strength and influence of the institution.

The manner in which Acadia's friends crowd to the closing exercises is calculated to have a good influence all round. It is a good thing for the visitors to receive the intellectual stimulus which is derived from following the educational work of the school. It is a good thing for the young men and women who toil in the lecture-rooms to be made to realize that their progress and success is a matter of interest and concern to so large a college fraternity. It is a good thing for the College to have its friends meet thus and consider the interests of their alma mater. Wolfville is glad to see come and see and if the weather is propitious will put on her gayest apparel to welcome the visitors who being friends of Acadia are her friends as well.

In a few days the College doors will close and the student through which has made the town gay for the past eight months will disperse and become in their several homes just ordinary boys and girls again.

The most of these we will welcome back next autumn, but to a considerable portion the school-days in Wolfville will have become but a memory by the opening of another college year and the real struggle of life will have begun. To these the town bids goodbye with genuine regret. Their three or four years' stay here has almost made Wolfvillians of them and their absence will be felt next autumn when the College bell rings again. Their Wolfville acquaintances, however, will not forget them and none will learn of their success with greater interest and pleasure than the friends they made while here.

Canada first realized the educative value of gardening twenty years ago, observes Maad Going, who contributes an article entitled 'Village Improvement' to the June Canadian Magazine. At first the enterprise owed its life in great measure to the zeal of Dr. Alexander N. Mackay, Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia. He advocated nature study and garden work so ably and effectively that there were fifty-two school gardens in his own province before 1901. In that year the Sir William Macdonald school gardens were established in all the Eastern Provinces, so that Canada can now boast of hundreds of gardens.

The first school gardens were mainly volunteer institutions due to the enthusiasm of the teacher more than to the initiative of the school trustees. But since 1904 there has been a grant coming from the Macdonald Rural Schools Fund, giving an addition of thirty dollars to the yearly salary of the teacher who will qualify for nature work and maintain a garden—twenty dollars for labour, seeds, plants and tools. Prizes have been offered for the most successful gardens in the Province, and in 1904 the first prize was awarded to Knowlton school.

Now it is hoped that the Provinces will carry on the work which the munificence of Sir William Macdonald has started and vote out of the public funds an annual grant to encourage the making of gardens around rural and village schools. This has been already done by Ontario and by New Brunswick. In Ontario the Department of Education have issued a most practical and helpful circular, beautifully illustrated, dealing with the improvement of school-grounds.

Our streets are now receiving their regular spring clean-up and are much improved in appearance thereby. We would like to see this work continued on through the season. 'Tidy, well kept streets are not only a comfort for citizens but are noted and commented upon by visitors to the credit and advantage of the town. A small amount expended during the summer in gathering up litter, lining walks and clipping grass and weeds will prove to be a good investment of civic funds. If this work is to be successful, however, it must have the support of citizens generally. There is no greater menace to clean streets than dirty yards and store sweeping. Let every citizen bear this in mind and make careful provision for waste paper and other litter, which is too often swept out into unenclosed yards and blown by the first favorable breeze upon the street. There is a selfish side to this question that may be considered. Every merchant and business man suffers personally through any discredit brought upon the town in which his business is located. But let this matter be looked upon from a broader standpoint, and let every citizen remember that he, as one of the community, is responsible for his part in the general advancement of the property and well-being of the town. And having seen his duty let him put his shoulder to the wheel.

School Commissioners' Meeting.

The Board of School Commissioners for Kings County met in the Court House, Kentville, on Tuesday, May 18th, inst., at 10 o'clock, a. m.

The Commissioners present were—L. DeV. Chipman, W. W. Pineo, J. H. Hills, A. S. McDonald, J. N. Robinson, C. E. Sanford, D. B. Parker, A. McN. Patterson, W. H. Woodworth, S. S. Strong, F. J. Porter, Lamont Patterson, W. M. Sanford, Henry Shaw and N. I. Bowly.

L. DeV. Chipman was elected chairman for the ensuing year. In the absence of the Inspector of Schools, who on account of a severe attack of pneumonia was not present, S. S. Strong was appointed secretary, pro tem. Perhaps it should be stated that this was the first meeting of the Board that the Inspector did not attend in thirty-six years. From his report it was learned that 133 schools were in operation, taught by 147 teachers, classed as follows, A, 5; B, 40; C, 56; D, 19; Provisional, 21; Males 13; Females 128. Two sections were reported without schools. Pine Woods had school for most of the year. Schools reported in a satisfactory condition.

The Inspector reported two hundred and twenty-five dollars paid out from the School Land Fund of Cornwallis, and three hundred and fifty dollars yet to be paid at end of term, to meet the vote of last year. The fund now stands as follows—On Deposit Receipt in hands of Inspector, three hundred and eighty-eight dollars fifty-three cents; in hands of Treasurer, seven hundred and thirty-five dollars and eighteen cents; total, twelve hundred and twenty-three dollars and seventy-one cents.

The Board voted for next year seventy-five dollars to Pine Woods and twenty-five dollars to each of the poor sections in the township of Cornwallis, provided a sum equal to fifty cents per hundred dollars on the property of each section be collected and expended for the support of schools.

Prospect Section, no. 77, was added to the Poor Section List of last year, and that list continued for another year.

S. S. Strong, A. S. McDonald and W. E. Roscoe were re-appointed a Committee, under Sec. 13 School Act, for another year.

The Committee, on the Petitions from Sand Hill and Aylesford sections, appointed at the last meeting, reported, recommending that the boundaries of Aylesford section be extended, east, to Charles Morton's and Fred Creighton's East Line, which will form the West Line of Sand Hill section. Report adopted.

A petition was presented from Upper Perreux section asking for a change in the bounds between it and Woodside section. This was referred to W. M. Sanford, J. N. Robinson and F. J. Porter to report on at the next annual meeting.

Also a petition from Woodside opposing any change in the bounds. This was referred to S. S. Strong, F. J. Porter and J. N. Robinson to be reported on at next annual meeting.

Also a petition from Perreux Mt. section was referred to W. M. Sanford, J. N. Robinson and F. J. Porter, to be reported on at next annual meeting.

Moved, seconded and unanimously passed that the sympathies of the Board be conveyed to Inspector Roscoe, with the hope that he will soon be enjoying good health again.

Clerk of Board.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS BRING HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO WOMEN AT A CRITICAL TIME.

Few women reach the age of fifty without enduring much suffering and anxiety. Between the years of forty-five and fifty health becomes feeble, and acute weaknesses arise with rheumatic attacks, pains in the back and sides, frequent headaches, nervous ailments and depression of spirits.

The secret of good health between forty-five and fifty depends upon the blood supply. If it is kept rich, red and pure, good health will be the result, and women will pass this critical stage in safety. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills help women of mature years as no other medicine can, for they make the rich, red blood that means good health, and brings relief from suffering. Mrs. C. Donovan, Newcastle, N. B., says: "About two years ago I was greatly run down and very miserable. I do not know what was wrong with me. I was hardly able to drag myself about, had severe headaches and no appetite. I felt so wretched that I hardly cared whether I lived or not. I had often read of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others and I decided to try them, and I can now truthfully say I found them all they are recommended to be. Under their use my health gradually came back; I could eat better, sleep better and felt stronger in every way, and before long I was enjoying as good health as ever I had done."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why they cure such troubles as rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, kidney troubles, headache, sideaches and backaches, and the ailments of growing girls and women of mature years. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Four more new Dreadnoughts are to be laid down in England before the close of the year.

Inter-school Track Meet.

The first provincial Inter-School Meet of N. S. was held on the 25th on the Acadia University grounds and resulted in a decisive victory for Horton Collegiate Academy. The weather conditions and grounds were in ideal condition and excellent work was done. Every event was well contested. Even third places were eagerly fought for as each school was eager to make the best possible showing. Acadia Villa was not represented at the closing exercises of the school took place on the same day. This left five schools. Each was allowed to compete two men in each event and the full number of ten contested in all save several of the field events.

The victory of the H. C. A. was due more to careful preparation and good team work than any natural superiority. The competition in the College practice meets gave them a confidence and knowledge of the event itself. F. Howe, the Horton captain, proved himself the heaviest scorer in the field, capturing 19 1/2 points. P. Atkins, came close with 16 1/2.

The score made by Pictou Academy can hardly be taken to indicate the strength of the team. They had excellent material and put up a hard fight for first in the events. But their men were entered in more contests than they could well stand. Nor did they seem to be in as good condition as the Horton boys. Kirk ran well. He, Cameron and Thompson all showed up well on the score sheet. For Truro, Dickie did the best work and with training should make a hard man to beat. Halifax took the shot and figured in the runs, though not as much as was expected. Quite the feature of the day was the pucky manner in which the Kings Collegiate boys fought their events. Though younger than many of their competitors they ran with spirit. Dupuy took the hurdles and Campbell ran an excellent mile finishing second in about 5 min. 10 sec.

In the high jump some remarkable work was done. Seven men cleared 5 ft. 1 in. Six lasted till the bar was raised to 5 ft. 3 in. Here all save Howe and Goss, both Horton men, dropped out. Howe won with 5 ft. 6 in.

In the sprints Atkins captured first with apparent ease making very creditable time. He runs a strong race and may be expected to figure in future Inter-Collegiate contests.

In the Pole Vault the spectators were treated to a splendid exhibition. Howe and Porter, both of Horton, vaulted 9 ft. 11 1/2 in. with ease. The announcement that this was over three inches above the Acadia record was greeted by cheers for the two vaulters. When the standards are lengthened for the Field Day next Tuesday it will be interesting to see these men go to their limit.

The closest finish was in the Half Mile. Perry Eaton set a hard pace from the crack of the pistol. He soon established a good lead on his competitors. Freeman, of Halifax, tried hard to cut this down in the last lap, but he left his spirit a little too long. Both men ran a very creditable race and Eaton won by inches.

Perhaps the best exhibition of running was seen in the mile. Young and Palmer set the pace and ran the first lap in almost quarter time. They were closely followed by Thompson of Pictou, and Campbell, of the K. C. S., for three laps. Here Thompson swung ahead of his men and began to let out. He increased his lead and finished in 5 min. 51.5 sec. This is considered good time in the Colleges and is remarkable for a high school boy.

An interesting feature of the meet was the last event a Mile Relay. Horton was represented by Kirkpatrick, Atkins, Len. Eaton and Howe. Pictou ran Johnson, Kirk, Morrison and Thompson. The K. C. S. put in Morris, Campbell, Hargreaves and Hunsay. Truro had Doane, Magee, Eiderkin and McLeod. Horton's first man established a lead which his team mates increased. Kirk ran a fine quarter to decrease the lead but he was hopelessly handicapped from the start. The spectators grew very enthusiastic over this the last of a list of twelve events. In fact, the interest throughout was intense in spite of the fact that the meet lasted from 10.30 until 3.30 with no intermission for dinner.

Horton by winning this becomes the owner of a handsome cup which Acacia Villa School Closing.

Acacia Villa School, Hortonville, closed a successful year's work on Tuesday, May 25. The exercises really began on Sunday by the observance of what has long been known as Acadia Villa Sunday, when the Rev. Dr. Johnson, editor of the Wesleyan, preached two admirable sermons especially to the students in the Methodist church. The music of the day was rendered by the boys under the efficient direction of Miss Weddall, who has charge of the musical department.

The morning and early afternoon of Tuesday were devoted to a demonstration of the work in which the students acquitted themselves in a manner highly creditable, both to the instructors and themselves.

The course provided entitles the student, upon certificate, to matriculation into our colleges.

Special mention should be made of the excellent work done in English Literature, History and English Grammar, under the respective direction of W. E. Carmichael, the headmaster, H. Woodbury and C. V. Gregg.

At three o'clock the audience retired to the campus to witness the physical drill and athletic exercises conducted by Messrs. Carmichael and Gregg. The physical development of the boys has been very marked and these exercises told the secret.

It is a significant fact that with a history of nearly fifty years, an average attendance of fifty boys, only one death of a student has taken place at the school during all the years.

A large audience assembled to the evening concert, an entertainment of such general excellence that one finds it difficult to distinguish between the several parts. In musical selections the piano duo, 'Silver Bells,' by Misses Weddall and Woodman, the vocal duet, 'Swing Song,' by the same young ladies displayed musical talent of high order and sweetness of voice worthy of special mention. The ladies' quartette, by Mrs. A. W. Patterson, Misses Stewart, Weddall and Woodman, was a delightful number. The Boys' Glee Club in 'Mountain Maids' imitation, 'The Tar's Farewell' and 'Gaily the Troubadour' went with a splendid swing. Piano solos by Clifford and Edward Steacie, manifested careful work with good promise.

Headings, 'The Telltale,' by Joe Duncaison, 'The Face Against the Pane,' by Esther Lee Goad, a little girl of eight; 'Little Boy Blue,' by Guy Saunders, were all creditably given. Essays, 'Shakespeare's Lovers,' by Laurie Putnam, and 'The Three Favorite Authors,' by Ed. McKenzie, were well written and read with good expression. The prizes were presented and brief addresses given by Dr. H. Chipman, Rev. W. Weddall, Mr. A. McN. Patterson, the former principal, and indeed, the founder of the school, and by Dr. George Johnson.

Amid increasing competition this institution is maintaining its reputation and efficiency and under C. V. Gregg, who, it is understood, takes the position of Headmaster next year, will have associated with him Frank Woodman, of Grand Pre, who receives his degree at Acadia College on Tuesday next, the future success seems well assured.

Wolflip in the South.

We clip the following paragraph from the Henderson, N. C. Gold Leaf, a copy of which reached our table this week:

"Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Harris and their bright and attractive little son, Master Gerald, of Middleton, Nova Scotia, who stopped over in Henderson for a short while on their way home after spending some time at other points, left Monday. They were very favorably impressed with the place and people they met—so much so in fact that they promise to come again when the 'season begins to fly'—nothing preventing. They came South on account of the milder climate, Mr. Harris being a sufferer from asthma, the cold and dampness of his Northern home not agreeing with him in winter. They had been to Southern Pines, Aberdeen, Louisiana and other places, at each of which they formed acquaintances and established warm friendships. Henderson being a bigger town with more attractions, and boasting as fine a climate as any, the regret was that the last was not first with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris made a number of warm friends and admirers during their short stay here. Despite his handicap of ill health Mr. Harris is an agreeable companion, jovial in nature, full of reminiscence and anecdote and the life of any company he engages when he turns himself loose. Mrs. Harris is a very attractive woman, of pleasing personality, an accomplished musician and a gifted singer. She sang a solo at the Presbyterian church Sunday night and those who heard her expressed regret that they had not had an opportunity to hear her before. She has a beautiful voice of high range, full volume and broad compass, and her singing is of a high order.

Those who met Mr. and Mrs. Harris hope they may visit Henderson again."

The W. A. of St. John's church, Wolfville, intend holding a sale of collars, belts and ties on Tuesday, June 1st, at the residence of Mr. T. E. Hutchinson, Main street, opposite the Herbin block. For the benefit of anniversary visitors and others, refreshments will be dispensed. Tea, 8c.; 15c. ice-cream, 10c; also home-made candy, 5c. Admission 5c.

Hospital Robbed of its Victim

Doctors said a surgical operation was necessary but the woman escaped.

Many a time the hospitals have been cheated of their victims by the timely use of some medicine of merit.

In this case the trouble was with the liver and kidneys and the doctors could do no more except by a surgical operation. One was brought about, however, by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Read the lady's letter: Mrs. F. O. Bacon, Baldwin's Mills, Que., writes: 'I was very sick last spring. The doctors said I must go to the hospital for an operation because I had no more kidneys would not get well. I took Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ever since and nothing else. I am feeling well now and doing my own work for a family of seven. I believe there is no equal for stomach trouble. I had some of these pills and they did me nothing else made me well.'

This is the kind of cures that have made Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the standby in thousands of homes for complicated troubles of the digestive system. The pills a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto.

are two necessities of life. They go well together. There is an individuality in every garment that we turn out. No one has a Suit just like yours, as all our cloths are in separate Suit lengths, and just one of a kind. Our Spring Suitings have arrived and they are the neatest and best Cloths ever shown. Easter will soon be here and your suit will look real swell. But give us a little time to make it, and come in early and let us take your measure. Our Work is High Class and our Prices are right.
